Raiders of the Lost Ark (1981) C-115m. * D: Steven Spielberg. Harrison Ford, Karen Allen, Wolf Kahler, Paul Freeman, Ronald Lacey, John Rhys-Davies, Denholm Elliott, Anthony Higgins, Alfred Molina. A roller-coaster ride of a movie, rekindling the spirit of Saturday matinee serials but outdoing them for genuine thrills and chills. Ford plays Indiana Jones, an archaeologist-adventurer who goes globe-trotting in search of a unique religious artifact and runs into bloodcurdling danger every step of the way. Perhaps a bit too much at times, but why carp? Conceived by Spielberg and George Lucas, with Philip Kaufman; scripted by Lawrence Kasdan. Visual effects, editing, sound effects editing, and art direction—set decoration all earned Oscars. Followed by three INDIANA JONES films and TV series The Young Indiana Jones Chronicles. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Raid on Rommel (1971) C-99m. *½ D: Henry Hathaway. Richard Burton, John Colicos, Clinton Greyn, Wolfgang Preiss. Poor excuse to utilize old desert footage (mostly from TOBRUK) and new faces in worn-out WW2 actioner. Techniscope. [PG] ▼●●

Railroaded! (1947) 72m.  D: Anthony Mann. John Ireland, Sheila Ryan, Hugh Beaumont, Ed Kelly, Jane Randolph, Keefe Brasselle. Another tight, well-made, low-budget film noir by Anthony Mann. Ireland is a ruthless gangster who framed Ryan's brother for murder; Beaumont is a cop searching for answers. ▼●●

Railroad Man, The SEE: Man of Iron (1956)

Rails & Ties (2007) C-101m.  D: Alison Eastwood. Kevin Bacon, Marcia Gay Harden,

Miles Heizer, Marin Hinkle, Eugene Byrd, Bonnie Root, Margo Martindale. Railroad engineer (Bacon) runs his train into a woman who has driven her car onto the tracks. She wanted to commit suicide, but her 10-year-old son, left to fend for himself, seeks out the engineer, whom he blames for his mother's demise. Instead he finds a safe haven with Bacon's loving wife (Harden). Utterly contrived story is made tangible and moving by sensitive handling and a sure-footed cast. Directing debut for actress Eastwood, Clint's daughter; her brother Kyle Eastwood co-composed the score. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

Railway Children, The (1970-British) C-109m.  D: Lionel Jeffries. Dinah Sheridan, Bernard Cribbins, William Mervyn, Iain Cuthbertson, Jenny Agutter, Gary Warren. Charming story of youthful trio whose one goal is to clear their father of false espionage prison sentence. Lovely Yorkshire locales add to overall effectiveness. From the novel by E. Nesbit. [G] ▼

Rain (1932) 93m. ½ D: Lewis Milestone. Joan Crawford, Walter Huston, William Gargan, Guy Kibbee, Walter Catlett, Beulah Bondi. Considered a flop in 1932, this version of Maugham's story looks better today. Crawford is good as South Seas island trollop confronted by fire-and-brimstone preacher Huston. Director Milestone does gymnastics with camera during stagger scenes; an interesting antique. Previously filmed as SADIE THOMPSON, then again as DIRTY GERTIE FROM HARLEM U.S.A. and MISS SADIE THOMPSON. Some prints run 77m. ▼

Rain (2001-New Zealand) C-92m. ½ D: Christine Jeffs. Alicia Fulford-Wierzbicki, Sarah Peirse, Marton Csokas, Alistair Browning, Aaron Murphy. Interesting mood piece about an adolescent girl trying to find her way as her parents grow apart during a seaside summer in the early 1970s. Knowing look at a young girl's sexual awakening while she noses into her mother's infidelity. Keenly observed drama will be too low key for some tastes; a sudden burst of melodrama toward the end is jarring. Jeffs adapted Kirsty Gunn's novel. ▼

Rainbow, The (1989-British) C-104m. ½ D: Ken Russell. Sammi Davis, Amanda Donohoe, Paul McGann, Christopher Gable, David Hemmings, Glenda Jackson. Director Russell's most restrained film in years (a relative term) is a prequel to his hit adaptation of D.H. Lawrence's Women in Love, with Davis as a sheltered young schoolteacher who's taken under the wing (sexually and otherwise) of worldly Donohoe. Many beautiful and striking moments don't quite jell, but still worth watching. Jackson appears as the mother of the character she played in WOMEN IN LOVE. [R] ▼

Rainbow Thief, The (1990) C-92m. *½ D:

Alexandro Jodorowsky. Peter O'Toole, Omar Sharif, Christopher Lee, Jude Alderson, Jane Chaplan. Impenetrable parable about an eccentric prince (and heir to a fortune) who lives underground, aided and abetted by a colorful thief. There may be some point to all of this, but it would require too much time to figure out. There's a reason this film never made it to theaters, despite its cast and director. ▼

Rainbow Warrior (1994-U.S.-New Zealand) C-93m. *½ D: Michael Tuchner. Jon Voight, Sam Neill, Bruno Lawrence, Kerry Fox, John Callen, Stacey Pickren. True story of 1985 bombing of a Greenpeace boat in New Zealand and the ensuing investigation. Complex tale of international conflict/intrigue is uninvolved. Neill gives a standout performance as a police superintendent. [PG] ▼

Raining Stones (1993-British) C-90m.  D: Kenneth Loach. Bruce Jones, Julie Brown, Ricky Tomlinson, Tom Hickey, Gemma Phoenix. Riveting drama focusing on a struggling out-of-work laborer (Jones) in grimy Manchester, England, a good Catholic who does whatever he can to scrape together enough money to support his wife and daughter. When faced with purchasing his child's communion dress, he unknowingly borrows its cost from a vicious, usurious loan shark. With telling irony, Loach vividly captures the frustrations and anger of honest workingfolk. ▼

Rainmaker, The (1956) C-121m.  D: Joseph Anthony. Burt Lancaster, Katharine Hepburn, Wendell Corey, Lloyd Bridges, Earl Holliman, Cameron Prud'homme, Wallace Ford. Lancaster is in top form as a charismatic con man who offers hope to a Southwestern town beset by drought, and a woman whose life is at a crossroads. Hepburn is wonderful. N. Richard Nash play was later musicalized on Broadway as 110 in the Shade. VistaVision. ▼

Rainmaker, The (1997) C-135m.  D: Francis Ford Coppola. Matt Damon, Danny DeVito, Claire Danes, Jon Voight, Mickey Rourke, Mary Kay Place, Danny Glover, Teresa Wright, Johnny Whitworth, Dean Stockwell, Virginia Madsen, Roy Scheider, Randy Travis, Andrew Shue. Solid, sure-footed adaptation of John Grisham's best-seller about an idealistic lawyer, fresh from school, who goes to work for a shameless ambulance-chaser, but focuses on the case most important to him: exposing an insurance company's refusal to pay a claim for a young man who is dying of leukemia. Cast to perfection, and filmed on location in Memphis... the finale, though, seems curiously subdued. Officially titled JOHN GRISHAM'S THE RAINMAKER. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

Rain Man (1988) C-133m.  D: Barry Levinson. Dustin Hoffman, Tom Cruise,

Valeria Golino, Jerry Molen, Jack Murdock, Michael D. Roberts, Bonnie Hunt. Young, self-centered hotshot goes home to the Midwest for his father's funeral, and learns not only that he's been cut out of his inheritance, but that he has a grown brother who's autistic, and who's been kept in an institution for most of his life. The balance of the film details the growing relationship between the two men. Top-drawer performances from Hoffman, as the idiot savant, and Cruise, as his selfish sibling, make this a must-see, even though the story meanders and becomes predictable. Director Levinson is the psychiatrist near the end. Winner of Oscars for Best Picture, Director, Actor (Hoffman), and Screenplay (Ronald Bass and Barry Morrow). [R] ▼●●

Rain People, The (1969) C-102m.  D: Francis Ford Coppola. James Caan, Shirley Knight, Robert Duvall, Marya Zimmet, Tom Aldredge, Laurie Crewes. Pregnant Long Island housewife, unable to take married life, flees husband and picks up simple-minded football player on the road. Strong acting and direction triumph over weak script in film whose subject matter was years ahead of its time. [R] ▼●

Rains Came, The (1939) 104m. ½ D: Clarence Brown. Myrna Loy, Tyrone Power, George Brent, Brenda Joyce, Nigel Bruce, Maria Ouspenskaya, Joseph Schildkraut, Mary Nash, Jane Darwell, Marjorie Rambeau, Henry Travers, H. B. Warner, Laura Hope Crews. Louis Bromfield novel reduced to Hollywood hokum, with married socialite Loy setting out to seduce dedicated Indian surgeon Power. Outstanding earthquake and flood scenes; the special effects earned an Academy Award. Remade as THE RAINS OF RANCHIPUR. ▼●

Rains of Ranchipur, The (1955) C-104m. ½ D: Jean Negulesco. Lana Turner, Richard Burton, Fred MacMurray, Joan Caulfield, Michael Rennie, Eugenie Leontovich. Superficial remake of THE RAINS CAME; story of wife of Englishman having affair with Hindu doctor. CinemaScope.

Raintree County (1957) C-168m.  D: Edward Dmytryk. Elizabeth Taylor, Montgomery Clift, Eva Marie Saint, Lee Marvin, Nigel Patrick, Rod Taylor, Agnes Moorehead, Walter Abel, DeForest Kelley. Humongous MGM attempt to outdo GWTW, with Clift as a small-town Hoosier who makes the mistake of marrying Southern belle Taylor before the outbreak of the Civil War. Solid acting and memorable Johnny Green score help compensate for rambling, over-long script; Clift was disfigured in near-fatal car accident during production, and his performance understandably suffers for it. Roadshow version runs 183m. MGM Camera 65. ▼●

Rain Without Thunder (1992) C-86m.  D: Gary Bennett. Betty Buckley, Jeff

Daniels, Frederic Forrest, Graham Greene, Linda Hunt, Carolyn McCormick, Austin Pendleton, Alyssa Rallo, Ali Thomas, Steve Zahn, Robert Earl Jones. Unique futuristic drama, told in documentary style and set in an America in which abortion is illegal. Young Thomas is incarcerated for aborting her pregnancy, and her mother (Buckley) is also put behind bars, convicted under New York State's new Unborn Child Kidnapping Act. Chilling (and politically loaded) tale. [PG-13] ▼

Raise the Red Lantern (1991-China-Taiwan-Hong Kong) C-125m. * D: Zhang Yimou. Gong Li, Ma Jingwu, He Caifei, Cao Cuifeng, Jin Shuyuan, Kong Lin, Ding Weimin, Cui Zhiqiang. Striking look at the life of a young concubine in 1920s China, as university-educated girl (Gong Li) is sent to feudal nobleman's palatial home to become his newest wife. The relationships between her and her predecessors—all of whom live on the premises—and the interaction among the women, the servants, and their master are brilliantly played out. An extraordinary view of sex, loyalty, intrigue, and female bonding. Deliberately paced, but worth watching for the changes in emotion that register on actress Gong Li's face alone. Screenplay by Ni Zhen, from a novel by Su Tong. ▼●●

Raise the Titanic! (1980-British) C-112m. *½ D: Jerry Jameson. Jason Robards, Richard Jordan, David Selby, Anne Archer, Alec Guinness, J. D. Cannon. Long, dull adaptation of Clive Cussler's best-seller about intrigue leading to the biggest salvage job of all time. Silly plotting and laughable dialogue undermine excitement of climactic ship-raising. Technovision. [PG] ▼●●

Raise Your Voice (2004) C-106m.  D: Sean McNamara. Hilary Duff, Rita Wilson, David Keith, Jason Ritter, Oliver James, Rebecca De Mornay, John Corbett, James Avery. Arizona teen with an overprotective father gets accepted at an esteemed L.A. music conservatory for the summer. Upon arrival, absolutely nothing surprising ever happens (unfriendly roommate, cool young professor, bitchy rival for the cute British classmate . . .). Did we mention the climactic recital? Duff's fans may enjoy this; others have been warned. Super 35. [PG] ▼

Raising Arizona (1987) C-92m. ½ D: Joel Coen. Nicolas Cage, Holly Hunter, Trey Wilson, John Goodman, William Forsythe, Sam McMurray, Frances McDormand, Randall (Tex) Cobb, M. Emmet Walsh. Formidably flaky comedy about an odd couple (chronic convenience-store robber Cage and former law-enforcement officer Hunter) who decide to kidnap one of a set of quintuplets, since they can't have a child of their own. Aggressively wacked-out sense of humor may not be for all tastes, but it's a heady mix of irony and slapstick. Look out for those chase scenes! Written by Ethan and Joel Coen; spy cinematography by Barry Sonnenfeld and music by Carter Burwell. [PG-13]▼●●

Raising Cain (1992) C-95m.  D: Brian De Palma. John Lithgow, Lolita Davidovich, Steven Bauer, Frances Sternhagen, Gregg Henry, Tom Bower, Mel Harris, Teri Austin, Gabrielle Carteris, Barton Heyman. Lithgow is the whole show here—literally—with more roles than you can count in this over-the-top thriller about a pair of twin brothers who'll stop at nothing to procure children for their father's scientific experiments. Tongue-in-cheek De Palma exercise (with nods to Hitchcock, Welles, and Michael Powell) is laced with satire, but the chills—and chuckles—don't add up to much. Not for the faint-hearted. [R]▼●●

Raising Helen (2004) C-119m. ½ D: Garry Marshall. Kate Hudson, John Corbett, Joan Cusack, Hayden Panettiere, Spencer Breslin, Abigail Breslin, Helen Mirren, Sakina Jaffrey, Kevin Kilner, Felicity Huffman, Amber Valletta, Joseph Mazzello, Paris Hilton, Bernie Hiller. A busy, single executive assistant to a demanding boss inherits three children when her sister dies. Totally unprepared and inexperienced (unlike her other sister, quintessential homemaker Cusack), she tries to cope with sudden motherhood while making a living. Hudson is well cast in this sentimental slice of Hollywood hokum; it's pleasant but all too pat. Larry Miller and Hector Elizondo appear unbilled. [PG-13]▼●

Raising the Wind (1961-British) C-91m. ½ D: Gerald Thomas. James Robertson Justice, Leslie Phillips, Sidney James, Paul Massie, Kenneth Williams. Zany shenanigans of eccentric group of students at a London school of music; well paced.

Raising Victor Vargas (2003) C-88m.  D: Peter Sollett. Victor Rasuk, Judy Marte, Donna Maldonado, Wilfree Vasquez, Altargracia Guzman. Disarmingly intimate portrait of a self-styled teenage stud on N.Y.C.'s Lower East Side who pursues a snobby girl with such tenacity that he wears down her resistance. A richly detailed slice of life, filmed with such intimacy (often in tight close-up) that you'd swear the conversations were overheard instead of staged. Writer-director Sollett does wonders with a mostly nonprofessional cast. Expanded remake of Sollett's short subject FIVE FEET AND RISING. Remarkably photographed by Tim Orr (GEORGE WASHINGTON). [R]▼●●

Raisin in the Sun, A (1961) 128m. * D: Daniel Petrie. Sidney Poitier, Claudia McNeil, Ruby Dee, Diana Sands, Ivan Dixon, John Fiedler, Louis Gossett. Lorraine Hansberry play receives perceptive handling by outstanding cast in drama of black Chicago family's attempts to find sense in their constrained existence. Remade for TV in 1989 and in 2008. ▼●●

Rally 'Round the Flag, Boys! (1958) C-106m. ½ D: Leo McCarey. Paul Newman, Joanne Woodward, Joan Collins, Jack Carson, Dwayne Hickman, Tuesday Weld, Gale Gordon. Disappointing film of Max Shulman's book about small community in uproar over projected missile base. CinemaScope.●

Rambling Rose (1991) C-112m.  D: Martha Coolidge. Laura Dern, Robert Duvall, Diane Ladd, Lukas Haas, John Heard, Kevin Conway, Robert J. Burke, Lisa Jakub, Evan Lockwood. Evocative tale set in 1930s Georgia, with Dern as an oversexed lost soul of a girl who comes to work for a genteel family headed by Duvall and Ladd. Colorful, nicely detailed, and well acted, with many pleasant surprises along the way. Ladd and Dern were the first real-life mother and daughter to be nominated for Oscars in the same year. Screenplay by Calder Willingham from his autobiographical novel. [R]▼●●

Rambo (2008-U.S.-German) C-91m. *½ D: Sylvester Stallone. Sylvester Stallone, Julie Benz, Matthew Marsden, Graham McTavish, Rey Gallegos, Jake La Botz, Paul Schulze, Ken Howard. Stallone is a bit long in the tooth to be reprising his Rambo character, but here he is in the series' fourth installment (and first in two decades). This time around, everybody's favorite whacked-out Vietnam veteran—action hero emerges from a peaceful retirement in Thailand to rescue some captured missionaries and doctors in Myanmar (Burma). Needlessly bloody and unintentionally laughable. Stallone also co-scripted. Super 35. [R]●

Rambo: First Blood Part II (1985) C-95m.  D: George P. Cosmatos. Sylvester Stallone, Richard Crenna, Charles Napier, Julia Nickson, Steven Berkoff, Martin Kove. Comic-book action saga of one-man army who goes to Cambodia in search of American MIAs and finds he's been duped by Uncle Sam. Never boring but incredibly dumb; if one were to take it seriously, it would also be offensive, as it exploits real-life frustrations of MIA families and Vietnam vets. Followed by RAMBO III. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Rambo III (1988) C-101m. ½ D: Peter Macdonald. Sylvester Stallone, Richard Crenna, Marc de Jonge, Kurtwood Smith, Spiros Focas, Sasson Gabai. A definite improvement over PART II, this one remains firmly footed in the genre of Idiot Action Movies, as our brawny hero goes behind Russian-dominated battle lines in Afghanistan to rescue his friend and former superior (Crenna) from a prison fortress. Lots of explosions to keep things lively—and some (unintentionally?) hilarious dialogue too.

Followed 20 years later by RAMBO. J-D-C Scope. [R]▼●●

Ramona (1936) C-90m.  D: Henry King. Loretta Young, Don Ameche, Kent Taylor, Pauline Frederick, Jane Darwell, Katherine DeMille. Oft-told tale doesn't wear well, with aristocratic Spanish girl Young and outcast Indian Ameche in love and shunned by society. Settings are picturesque.

Rampage (1963) C-98m. ½ D: Phil Karlson. Robert Mitchum, Elsa Martinelli, Jack Hawkins, Sabu, Cely Carillo, Emile Genest. German gamehunter (Hawkins), his mistress (Martinelli), and hunting guide (Mitchum) form love triangle, with men battling for Elsa. Elmer Bernstein's score is memorable.

Rampage (1992) C-97m.  D: William Friedkin. Michael Biehn, Alex McArthur, Nicholas Campbell, Deborah van Valkenburgh, John Harkins, Art La Fleur, Billy Green Bush, Royce D. Applegate, Grace Zabriskie, Carlos Palomino, Andy Romano. A prosecutor has to prove that a serial killer's unspeakably heinous crimes were the product of a legally sane mind. Very rough, not for the squeamish, and not for too many others, either. Shot in 1987. McArthur is exceptionally creepy as the killer. [R]▼●●

Rampage at Apache Wells (1966-German) C-90m.  D: Harold Philipps. Stewart Granger, Pierre Brice, Macha Meril, Harold Leipnitz. Granger stars as Old Shatterhand, who fights for rights of Indians taken in by crooked white men. Adequate acting but atrocious dubbing. Ultrascope.

Ramparts of Clay (1971-French-Algerian) C-85m.  D: Jean-Louis Bertucelli. Leila Schenna. Intriguing film about Tunisian woman, disillusioned with her way of life, who becomes involved with strike between a wealthy company and poor villagers. Very strong for patient, critical viewers; for others, boredom. [PG]▼

Rampo (1994-Japanese) C-100m.  D: Kazuyoshi Okuyama. Naoto Takenaka, Michiko Hada, Masahiro Motoki, Mikijiro Hira. Japanese mystery writer Edogawa Rampo hears of a bizarre murder that is eerily close to the plot of one of his banned murder thrillers. When he meets the widow of the murdered man, he discovers her to be exactly like his fictional heroine. This elegant and lush film was reshot (more than 60 percent new footage) after producer Okuyama was dissatisfied with first director Rentaro Mayuzumi's efforts. Aka THE MYSTERY OF RAMPO. [R]▼●

Ramrod (1947) 94m. ½ D: Andre de Toth. Veronica Lake, Joel McCrea, Arleen Whelan, Don DeFore, Preston Foster, Charles Ruggles, Donald Crisp, Lloyd Bridges. Fairly good Western of territorial dispute between ranch-owner Lake and her father (Ruggles). Good supporting cast.▼

Ran (1985-Japanese-French) C-161m. ½ D: Akira Kurosawa. Tatsuya Naka-

dai, Akira Terao, Jinpachi Nezu, Daisuke Ryu, Mieko Harada, Peter, Hisashi Igawa. Beautifully filmed adaptation of Shakespeare's King Lear, with Nakadai as a warlord who turns over his domain to his eldest son, inducing a power struggle by his two younger sons. Slowly paced and overly expository at the start, epic picks up with two superb battle scenes. Harada is excellent in supporting role as the most evil of women, getting her just desserts in violent fashion. Oscar winner for Costume Design. [R]▼●●

Rancho Deluxe (1975) C-93m. ½ D: Frank Perry. Jeff Bridges, Sam Waterston, Elizabeth Ashley, Charlene Dallas, Clifton James, Slim Pickens, Harry Dean Stanton, Richard Bright, Patti D'Arbanville. Off-beat present-day comedy centers on two casual cattle rustlers; cult favorite written by Thomas McGuane (92 IN THE SHADE), with music by Jimmy Buffett (who also appears in the film). [R]▼●●

Rancho Notorious (1952) C-89m.  D: Fritz Lang. Marlene Dietrich, Arthur Kennedy, Mel Ferrer, Lloyd Gough, Gloria Henry, William Frawley, Jack Elam, George Reeves. Entertaining, unusual Western with Kennedy looking for murderer of his sweetheart, ending up at Marlene's bandit hideout. Colorful characters spice up routine story by Daniel Taradash.▼●●

Random Harvest (1942) 126m. ½ D: Mervyn LeRoy. Ronald Colman, Greer Garson, Philip Dorn, Susan Peters, Henry Travers, Reginald Owen, Bramwell Fletcher, Margaret Wycherly, Ann Richards. Colman is left an amnesiac after WW1, and saved from life in a mental institution by vivacious music-hall entertainer Garson. James Hilton novel given supremely entertaining MGM treatment, with Colman and Garson at their best. Screenplay by Claudine West, George Froeschel, and Arthur Wimperis.▼●●

Random Hearts (1999) C-133m. *½ D: Sydney Pollack. Harrison Ford, Kristin Scott Thomas, Charles S. Dutton, Bonnie Hunt, Dennis Haysbert, Sydney Pollack, Paul Guilfoyle, Peter Coyote, Bill Cobbs, Richard Jenkins, Edie Falco. Sub-par political movie, sub-par D.C. cop movie and sub-par romance get bludgeoned into one in this critical/commercial flop about a police sergeant and congresswoman who discover that their mates—recently killed in the same airliner crash—were having an affair. Gloomy, lugubrious, heavily altered adaptation of Warren Adler's novel suffers from one of the rare constipated Ford performances. Every once in a while it wakes up long enough to remember it's an Internal Affairs movie and that a few heads have to be bashed. [R]▼●

Ransom! (1956) 109m. ½ D: Alex Segal. Glenn Ford, Donna Reed, Leslie Nielsen, Juano Hernandez, Alexander Scourby, Juanita Moore, Robert Keith. Brooding narrative of business tycoon Ford's efforts to rescue his son who's been kidnapped. Remade in 1996.

Ransom (1975) SEE: Terrorists, The

Ransom (1977) C-90m. ½ D: Richard Compton. Oliver Reed, Deborah Raffin, Stuart Whitman, Jim Mitchum, John Ireland, Paul Koslo. Pretty good programmer about a town's efforts to catch a killer. Originally titled ASSAULT ON PARADISE, then MANIAC. ▼

Ransom (1996) C-120m.  D: Ron Howard. Mel Gibson, Rene Russo, Gary Sinise, Delroy Lindo, Lili Taylor, Brawley Nolte, Liev Schreiber, Evan Handler, Donnie Wahlberg, Dan Hedaya. Gripping thriller about a ragged team of kidnapers who snatch the son of a self-made millionaire; soon, what should have been a standard kidnap-and-ransom transaction becomes a dangerous game of cat and mouse between the tycoon and the cocky ringleader. Plenty of twists and turns in this remake of the 1956 film of the same name. That's Nick Nolte's son as the victim. Coscenarist Richard Price appears briefly as Sinise's partner in an early scene. [R] ▼●●

Rapa Nui (1994) C-107m. *½ D: Kevin Reynolds. Jason Scott Lee, Esai Morales, Sandrine Holt, Zac Wallace, George Henare, Eru Potaka-Dewes. Lumbering, highly romanticized saga of Easter Island ("Rapa Nui"), the remote southern Pacific outpost whose mammoth human-faced statues have long baffled historians. Set in 1680, prior to Dutch colonization, with hero Lee (of the Long Ear tribe) and villain Morales (of the Short Ears) as rivals since boyhood, now facing civil war. Climactic endurance test—a grueling race on land and sea—resembles one of those splashy MTV "sports" events. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Rape of Europa, The (2006) C/B&W-117m.  D: Richard Berge, Nicole Newnham, Bonni Cohen. Narrated by Joan Allen. Fascinating documentary compels attention and interest as an examination of Adolf Hitler's obsession with claiming Europe's art masterworks during WW2. Filmmakers celebrate incidents of ingenious heroism—notably the bold removal and concealment of Louvre treasures in France just prior to the German Occupation—and recount the remarkable efforts of the Monuments Men, a unit of U.S. Army specialists charged with locating and recovering art seized by the Nazis. Inspired by an authoritative book of the same title by Lynn H. Nicholas. ▽

Rape of Malaya SEE: Town Like Alice, A Rapid Fire (1992) C-95m.  D: Dwight H. Little. Brandon Lee, Powers Boothe, Nick Mancuso, Raymond J. Barry, Kate Hodge, Tzi Ma, Tony Longo, Michael Paul Chan, Dustin Nguyen, John Vickery.

Showcase for Bruce Lee's handsome son is more like ENTER THE LIZARD, though its script is freewheeling enough to include stopoffs in a nude modeling class, an abandoned bowling alley, and Beijing's Tiananmen Square. A bounty of bullets, but the only love scene backs its standard gauzy navel-'n'-nipple expedition with a strident guitar and an unfortunately named tune: "I Can't Find My Way." Mancuso's amusing bad guy is a standout. [R] ▼●●

Rappin' (1985) C-92m.  D: Joel Silberg. Mario Van Peebles, Tasia Valenza, Charles Flohe, Leo O'Brien, Eriq La Salle, Richie Abanes, Kadeem Hardison, Harry Goz. Just what the world needs, another breakdancing-rap music musical. This one chronicles the plight of breakdancer/ex-con Van Peebles and his conflicts with street gangster Flohe and contractor Goz. [PG] ▼●

Rapture (1965-French) 104m.  D: John Guillermin. Melvyn Douglas, Dean Stockwell, Patricia Gozzi, Gunnell Lindblom, Leslie Sands. Intensive, sensitive account of Gozzi's tragic romance with Stockwell, a man on the run. CinemaScope.

Rapture, The (1991) C-102m.  D: Michael Tolkin. Mimi Rogers, Patrick Bauchau, David Duchovny, Kimberly Cullum, Will Patton, James Le Gros. Beautiful, hedonistic young woman with droning, dead-end job opts for super-Fundamentalist religious fanaticism. Singular drama about one woman's literal ascension to heaven features swinging group sex, one genuinely shocking maternal act, and a straight-faced cameo by at least one Horseman of the Apocalypse. Not for every taste, this much-debated film truly rushes in where virtually no others have dared to tread. Scripted by first-time director Tolkin. Rogers gives a four-barrelled performance. [R] ▼●●

Rare Breed, The (1966) C-108m.  D: Andrew V. McLaglen. James Stewart, Maureen O'Hara, Brian Keith, Juliet Mills, Jack Elam, Ben Johnson, Don Galloway. Cowhand Stewart is changed by British O'Hara's conviction that her Hereford bull, new to Texas, will produce better cattle. Keith (in red wig and beard) has a grand time as a Scottish rancher. Odd part-comedy Western on the unusual subject of improving cattle breeds. Hampered only by too much obvious studio shooting. Panavision. ▼●

Rascal (1969) C-85m. ½ D: Norman Tokar. Steve Forrest, Bill Mumy, Pamela Toll, Bettye Ackerman, Elsa Lanchester, Henry Jones. Disney adaptation of Sterling North's well-regarded autobiographical novel about his boyhood friendship with raccoon; reworked to Disney formula, with pleasant but predictable results. [G] ▼●

Rashomon (1950-Japanese) 88m. * D: Akira Kurosawa. Toshiro Mifune,

Machiko Kyo, Masayuki Mori, Takashi Shimura. Kurosawa's first huge international success is superlative study of truth and human nature; four people involved in a rape-murder tell varying accounts of what happened. The film's very title has become part of our language. Oscar winner as Best Foreign Film. Remade as THE OUTRAGE. ▼●●

Rasputin (1985-Russian) C-107m.  D: Elem Klimov. Alexei Petrenko, Anatoly Romashin, Velta Linei, Alice Freindlikh. Complex, impressive drama with Petrenko appropriately (and at times brilliantly) oily as the famed mad monk. A good film which might have been great if so many hands had not tinkered with it. It allegedly was completed in 1977, screened at the Moscow Film Festival in 1981 (at 148m.), and barred from the West until 1985. Sovscope. ▼

Rasputin and the Empress (1932) 123m.  D: Richard Boleslavsky. John, Ethel, and Lionel Barrymore, Ralph Morgan, Diana Wynyard, Tad Alexander, C. Henry Gordon, Edward Arnold, Jean Parker. Good drama that should have been great, with all three Barrymores in colorful roles, unfolding story of mad monk's plotting against Russia. Contrary to expectations, it's Lionel, not John, who plays Rasputin. The three Barrymores' only film together; Ethel's talkie debut. Wynyard's first film. ▼●●

Rasputin—the Mad Monk (1966-British) C-92m.  D: Don Sharp. Christopher Lee, Barbara Shelley, Richard Pasco, Francis Matthews. Confused historical drama of "monk" who actually controlled Russia before Revolution. Script uncommonly bad; Lee's performance manages to redeem film. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Ratatouille (2007) C-111m. ½ D: Brad Bird. Voices of Patton Oswalt, Ian Holm, Lou Romano, Brian Dennehy, Peter Sohn, Peter O'Toole, Brad Garrett, Janeane Garofalo, Will Arnett, James Remar, John Ratzenberger, Brad Bird. Animated charmer about Remy, a highly cultivated rat with a genius for cooking, who is separated from his family in the French countryside and lands in a Parisian restaurant. There he teams up with a lowly kitchen assistant to become the toast of the town. A few longueurs in the story are compensated by stunning evocation of character and environment; director-writer Bird and Pixar's meticulous attention to detail make this a feast for the eyes. Fine voice work, with Oswalt an endearing Remy and O'Toole a treat as formidable food critic Anton Ego. Oscar winner for Best Animated Feature Film. PixarVision. [G]●

Rathboy (1986) C-105m. *½ D: Sondra Locke. Sondra Locke, Robert Townsend, Christopher Hewett, Larry Hankin, Gerrit Graham, Louie Anderson. Window dresser

Locke stumbles across a half-man, half-rat—then tries to parlay him into show-biz success. Locke's directorial debut is technically competent, but film plays like an E.T./ELEPHANT MAN derivation that's no longer fresh. Barely released. [PG-13] ▼

Ratcatcher (1999-British) C-93m. ½ D: Lynne Ramsay. William Eadie, Tommy Flanagan, Mandy Matthews, Michelle Stewart, Lynne Ramsay, Jr., Leanne Mullen. Impressive feature writing-directing debut for Ramsay, who spins an oddly whimsical tale against the bleakest of backdrops, a dirt-poor Scottish neighborhood. A 12-year-old boy is accidentally involved in another lad's death; suppressing this knowledge adds to his existing anxieties, living with a drunken dad and a worn-down mother. Distinctive but terribly downbeat. ▼●

Rat Race, The (1960) C-105m.  D: Robert Mulligan. Tony Curtis, Debbie Reynolds, Jack Oakie, Kay Medford, Don Rickles, Joe Bushkin. Comedy-drama of would-be musician (Curtis) and dancer (Reynolds) coming to N.Y.C., platonically sharing an apartment, and falling in love. Nice comic cameos by Oakie and Medford. Script by Garson Kanin, from his play.

Rat Race (2001) C-112m. ½ D: Jerry Zucker. Whoopi Goldberg, Jon Lovitz, Rowan Atkinson, Cuba Gooding, Jr., John Cleese, Kathy Najimy, Breckin Meyer, Amy Smart, Seth Green, Vince Vieluf, Lanai Chapman, Paul Rodriguez, Wayne Knight, Dave Thomas, Kathy Bates, Dean Cain. Game attempt to recapture the spirit of IT'S A MAD MAD MAD MAD WORLD, with Las Vegas casino owner Cleese enticing a group of disparate people to participate in a race: the first to get to a New Mexico railroad depot locker will claim two million dollars. Not every comic detour pays off, but there are many laugh-out-loud gags and inspired moments (especially with Atkinson and Lovitz). Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●

Rats, The SEE: Deadly Eyes

Rat's Tale, A (1997-German) C-89m.  D: Michael F. Huse. Lauren Hutton, Beverly D'Angelo, Jerry Stiller, Josef Ostendorf; voices of Dee Bradley Baker, Lynsey Bartilson. A colony of rats living underground in N.Y.C. is threatened by a greedy developer who wants to tear down their wharf—and in the meantime is using a toxic pesticide. Furry marionettes star in this English-language version of a German film with a handful of live actors and occasional special effects. Amusing for young children, but its pacing and European sensibility may not suit some fidgety viewers. Based on the award-winning book by Tor Seidler. [G] ▼●

Rattle of a Simple Man (1964-British) 96m.  D: Muriel Box. Harry H. Corbett, Diane Cilento, Thora Hird, Michael Medwin. Pleasant saucy sex comedy of timid soul Corbett spending the night with Cilento to win a bet; set in London. ▼

Ravagers (1979) C-91m. BOMB D: Richard Compton. Richard Harris, Ann Turkel, Ernest Borgnine, Art Carney, Anthony James, Woody Strode, Alana Hamilton. This instant tax loss finds Harris searching for civilization in 1991 after most human life has been wiped out. Instead, he finds Borgnine. Panavision. [PG]

Raven, The (1935) 62m.  D: Louis Friedlander (Lew Landers). Karloff (Boris Karloff), Bela Lugosi, Irene Ware, Lester Matthews, Samuel S. Hinds. Momentous teaming of horror greats with Lugosi as doctor with Poe obsession, Karloff a victim of his wicked schemes. Hinds is subjected to torture from "The Pit and the Pendulum" in film's climax. Great fun throughout. ▼●●

Raven, The (1943-French) SEE: Le Corbeau

Raven, The (1963) C-86m.  D: Roger Corman. Vincent Price, Boris Karloff, Peter Lorre, Hazel Court, Jack Nicholson, Olive Sturgess. Funny horror satire finds magicians Price and Lorre challenging power-hungry colleague Karloff. Climactic sorcerer's duel is a highlight. Screenplay by Richard Matheson, "inspired" by the Poe poem. Panavision. ▼●●

Ravenous (1999) C-98m. ½ D: Antonia Bird. Guy Pearce, Robert Carlyle, Jeffrey Jones, David Arquette, Jeremy Davies, John Spencer, Stephen Spinella, Neal McDonough, Joseph Running Fox, Sheila Tousey. In 1847, cavalry officer Pearce is sent to a remote California fort, where a stranger (Carlyle) stumbles out of the wintry darkness with a horrifying tale of cannibalism, a tale that isn't over yet . . . Unique blend of comedy, Western, horror, and satire is, obviously, not for every "taste." Grisly and off-putting, but ambitious and intelligent as well. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Ravishing Idiot (1964-French-Italian) 110m.  D: Edouard Molinaro. Anthony Perkins, Brigitte Bardot, Gregoire Aslan, André Luguet. Perkins, disenchanted with capitalism, is recruited by a Soviet spy to pilfer a secret NATO file. Silly, mostly unfunny Cold War comedy. ▼

Raw Deal (1948) 78m.  D: Anthony Mann. Dennis O'Keefe, Claire Trevor, Marsha Hunt, Raymond Burr, John Ireland. Beautifully made, hard-boiled story of O'Keefe escaping from jail and taking out revenge on slimy Burr, who framed him; what's more, he gets caught between love of two women. Tough and convincing, with Burr a sadistic heavy. ▼●●

Raw Deal (1986) C-97m. *½ D: John Irvin. Arnold Schwarzenegger, Kathryn Harrold, Darren McGavin, Sam Wanamaker, Paul Shenar, Steven Hill, Joe Regalbutto, Robert Davi, Ed Lauter, Blanche Baker. Stupid action movie about brawny ex-Fed who helps an old pal clean some

dirty laundry—and bust a major crime ring. Sense of humor helps . . . but not enough. J-D-C Scope. [R] ▼●●

Raw Edge, The SEE: Babysitter, The (1975)

Rawhide (1951) 86m.  D: Henry Hathaway. Tyrone Power, Susan Hayward, Hugh Marlowe, Dean Jagger, Edgar Buchanan, Jack Elam, George Tobias, Jeff Corey. Taut Western saga about a motley gang of no-goods holding Power and Hayward prisoner at a stagecoach way station. Straightforward and unspectacular but well done, with a crackerjack cast and striking use of Lone Pine locations. Remake of 1935 gangster saga SHOW THEM NO MERCY! ▼

Rawhide Years, The (1956) C-85m.  D: Rudolph Maté. Tony Curtis, Colleen Miller, Arthur Kennedy, William Demarest, William Gargan. Youthful Curtis perks this routine fare of gambler trying to clear himself of murder charge.

Raw Meat (1972-British) C-87m. ½ D: Gary Sherman. Donald Pleasence, David Ladd, Sharon Gurney, Christopher Lee, Norman Rossington, Clive Swift. Entertaining though overdone horror tale of descendants of people trapped in an abandoned underground tunnel preying as cannibals on modern-day London travelers. Good atmosphere; filmed at the Russell Square station. Originally titled DEATH LINE. [R] ●

Raw Wind in Eden (1958) C-89m. ½ D: Richard Wilson. Esther Williams, Jeff Chandler, Rossana Podesta, Carlos Thompson, Rik Battaglia. Plane carrying rich couple on way to yachting party crashes on isolated island. Entertaining adventure yarn is mixed with romance and jealousy. Filmed in Italy. CinemaScope.

Ray (2004) C-153m.  D: Taylor Hackford. Jamie Foxx, Kerry Washington, Regina King, Clifton Powell, Aunjanue Ellis, Harry Lennix, Terrence Dashon Howard, Larenz Tate, Bokeem Woodbine, Sharon Warren, Curtis Armstrong, Richard Schiff, C. J. Sanders, David Krumholtz. The genuinely remarkable story of Ray Charles is told within the framework of a conventional Hollywood biopic, anchored by flashbacks to emotional touchstones in Charles' boyhood and spiked by his sensational record hits. Foxx is uncannily perfect (lip-synching Charles' recordings), and the women (Washington as his wife, Ellis as his first vocalist and mistress, King as her replacement—the first Raelette—and Warren as his mother) are superb. Won two Oscars, for Best Actor and Sound Mixing. [PG-13] ▼●

Razorback (1984-Australian) C-95m. BOMB D: Russell Mulcahy. Gregory Harrison, Arkie Whiteley, Bill Kerr, Chris Hayward. Ludicrous horror film about a giant pig terrorizing the Australian countryside. Inauspicious feature debut by music video director Mulcahy. Panavision. [R]▼

Razor's Edge, The (1946) 146m. ½
D: Edmund Goulding. Tyrone Power, Gene Tierney, John Payne. Anne Baxter, Clifton Webb, Herbert Marshall, Lucile Watson, Frank Latimore. Slick adaptation of Maugham's philosophical novel, with Marshall as the author, Power as hero seeking true meaning of life, Baxter in Oscar-winning role as a dipsomaniac, Elsa Lancaster sparkling in bit as social secretary. Screenplay by Lamar Trotti. Long but engrossing; remade in 1984.▼●●

Razor's Edge, The (1984) C-128m. ½
D: John Byrum. Bill Murray, Theresa Russell, Catherine Hicks, Denholm Elliott, James Keach, Peter Vaughan, Brian Doyle-Murray, Saeed Jaffrey. Ambitious, if anachronistic, remake of 1946 film with enough plot for five movies. Young American survives WW1 and begins to question meaning of his life—while his closest friends go through personal crises of their own. It's hard to read much spiritual thought on Murray's deadpan face, but he gives it a good try (and cowrote script with director Byrum). Russell comes off best in the showy role previously played by Anne Baxter. Warts and all, it's still an interesting film. J-D-C Scope. [PG-13]▼●●

Reach for the Sky (1956-British) 123m. ½
D: Lewis Gilbert. Kenneth More, Muriel Pavlow, Alexander Knox, Sydney Tafler, Nigel Green. Sensibly told account of British pilot Douglas Bader, who overcomes the loss of his legs in a crash to continue his flying career. British running time: 135m.▼

Reader, The (2008-U.S.-British-German) C-124m. ½
D: Stephen Daldry. Kate Winslet, Ralph Fiennes, David Kross, Lena Olin, Bruno Ganz, Matthias Habich, Susanne Lothar, Karoline Herfurth, Alexandra Maria Lara, Volker Bruch, Burghart Klausner. In 1950s Germany, a naïve 15-year-old boy (Kross) has a chance encounter with an older woman who becomes his lover; later he learns that she was a guard at a concentration camp. The relationship still colors his life, as we see in modern-day scenes with Fiennes as the boy grown up. David Hare adapted Bernhard Schlink's semi-autobiographical novel that tackles the moral dilemmas facing the generation of Germans who grew up in the years following WW2. Meticulously made and utterly fascinating. Winslet won Best Actress Oscar for her performance. Striking score by Nico Muhly. [R]●

Read My Lips (2001-French) C-115m. ***
D: Jacques Audiard. Vincent Cassel, Emmanuelle Devos, Olivier Gourmet, Olivier Perrier, Olivia Bonamy, Bernard Alane. A partially deaf, ignored female office worker hires a tuggish ex-con as her assistant and they become partners in crime. Fetishistic psychosexual heist thriller doesn't have a likable character in the mix but is so full of unexpected twists and turns you'll get hooked. Cassel and Devos are frighteningly good as the kinky outcasts. Audiard also cowrote. Super 35. [R]▼●

Ready to Rumble (2000) C-106m. *½
D: Brian Robbins. David Arquette, Oliver Platt, Scott Caan, Bill Goldberg, Rose McGowan, Joe Pantoliano, Martin Landau, Diamond Dallas Page, Caroline Rhea. Lowbrow time-waster about simpleminded wrestling addicts Arquette and Caan, who believe the "sport" is for real, and try to help salvage the career of their disgraced favorite wrestler (Platt, embarrassingly miscast). Our "heroes" are portable-toilet maintenance workers, which allows for plenty of bathroom humor. Made in conjunction with WCW (World Championship Wrestling); a number of its stars appear in cameos. [PG-13]▼●

Ready to Wear (Prêt-à-Porter) (1994) C-133m. BOMB
D: Robert Altman. Marcello Mastroianni, Sophia Loren, Kim Basinger, Julia Roberts, Tim Robbins, Anouk Aimée, Stephen Rea, Forest Whitaker, Lauren Bacall, Linda Hunt, Sally Kellerman, Tracey Ullman, Danny Aiello, Teri Garr, Rupert Everett, Richard E. Grant, Lili Taylor, Jean-Pierre Cassel, Jean Rochefort, Michel Blanc, Lyle Lovett, François Cluzet, Sam Robards, Ute Lemper, Chiara Mastroianni, Harry Belafonte, Cher. Mind-numbingly awful Altman collage about the fashion industry as it descends on Paris for the annual runway shows. No plot, no momentum, no point to any of this; a particularly egregious waste of Loren and Mastroianni (who reprise the striptease from YESTERDAY, TODAY AND TOMORROW). Most telling comment is made within the film itself: characters keep stepping in dog poop. Super 35. [R]▼●●

Ready, Willing and Able (1937) 95m. **
D: Ray Enright. Ruby Keeler, Lee Dixon, Allen Jenkins, Louise Fazenda, Carol Hughes, Ross Alexander, Winifred Shaw, Teddy Hart. Undistinguished Warner Bros. musical about college girl who impersonates British star in order to land Broadway role. Notable only for introduction of "Too Marvelous for Words," with a production number featuring a giant typewriter!●

Real Blonde, The (1998) C-105m. *½
D: Tom DiCillo. Matthew Modine, Catherine Keener, Daryl Hannah, Maxwell Caulfield, Elizabeth Berkley, Marlo Thomas, Bridgette Wilson, Kathleen Turner, Christopher Lloyd, Dave Chappelle, Daniel Von Bargen, Denis Leary, Buck Henry, Steve Buscemi, Alexandra Wentworth. N.Y.C. slice-of-life about a wannabe actor and his girlfriend, a makeup artist to a top fashion model. Attempts to tackle such issues as illusion vs. reality, superficiality, sexual role-playing and the worlds of modeling and soap operas. A mixed bag with good individual scenes and performances. How well you respond may depend on your tolerance for Modine's character, who's a jerk. [R]▼●●

Real Cancun, The (2003) C-96m. ½ D: Rick De Oliveira. Reality TV in movie form: a diverse group of young people are chosen to spend spring break at a Mexican resort, and cameras observe their interaction (and massive intake of liquor). One straight-arrow, non-drinking boy becomes the film's focal point. Slickly produced and edited, the results are surprisingly entertaining, although parents may want to shoot themselves—or their kids—after seeing it. Produced by the creators of The Real World, Mary-Ellis Bunim and Jonathan Murray. [R]▼

Real Genius (1985) C-104m. ½ D: Martha Coolidge. Val Kilmer, Gabe Jarret, Michelle Meyrink, William Atherton, Jonathan Gries, Patti D'Arbanville. Idealistic whiz-kid is recruited by self-styled genius (Atherton) to join his college think tank—only to find that its members are being exploited, co-opted, and generally burned out. Potentially clever satire turns into just another youth/revenge comedy with caricatures instead of characters. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Real Glory, The (1939) 95m.  D: Henry Hathaway. Gary Cooper, David Niven, Andrea Leeds, Reginald Owen, Kay Johnson, Broderick Crawford, Vladimir Sokoloff, Henry Kolker. Cooper's fine as Army medic who solves all of Philippines' medical and military problems almost single-handedly after destructive Spanish-American War. Excellent action scenes.▼

Reality Bites (1994) C-99m. ½ D: Ben Stiller. Winona Ryder, Ethan Hawke, Ben Stiller, Janeane Garofalo, Steve Zahn, Swoosie Kurtz, Joe Don Baker, John Mahoney, Harry O'Reilly, Susan Norfleet, David Piner, Keith David, Kevin Pollak, Karen Duffy, David Spade, Renée Zellweger. An incisive examination of Generation X, whose young people are confused, and repelled by the world being handed to them; on the other hand, a traditional love triangle, with Ryder trying to choose between straight-arrow Stiller and laid-back superdude Hawke (who's so cool he doesn't unwrap a candy bar before biting off a piece). Generally well done, with Ryder especially appealing, and Garofalo a standout as her best friend. Debuting director Stiller features his mom, Anne Meara, as a newspaperwoman, and his sister, Amy, as Ryder's "Psychic Phone Partner." Written by Helen Childress (who has a bit as a waitress). Jeanne Tripplehorn has unbilled cameo. [PG-13]▼●●

Real Life (1979) C-99m. ½ D: Albert Brooks. Albert Brooks, Charles Grodin, Frances Lee McCain, J. A. Preston, Matthew Tobin. Writer-director-comedian Brooks' first feature doesn't sustain its comic premise as well as his hilarious

short subjects, but still presents the world's greatest put-on artist in a compatible vehicle, as a shifty opportunist who sets out to make a filmed record of a typical American family. Written by Brooks, Monica Johnson, and Harry Shearer. [PG]▼

Real McCoy, The (1993) C-106m. *½ D: Russell Mulcahy. Kim Basinger, Val Kilmer, Terence Stamp, Gailard Sartain, Zach English, Raynor Scheine. Lame, completely inept caper film with Basinger cast as a cat burglar/ex-con who wants to go straight, but is forced into pulling off one last heist when her son is kidnapped. [PG-13]▼●●

Real Men (1987) C-96m. *½ D: Dennis Feldman. James Belushi, John Ritter, Barbara Barrie, Bill Morey, Iva Andersen, Mark Herrier. Unfunny spy satire with CIA agent Belushi recruiting reluctant Ritter as a courier. Barely released to theaters, and with good reason. [PG-13]▼●●

Real Women Have Curves (2002) C-86m.  D: Patricia Cardoso. America Ferrera, Lupe Ontiveros, Ingrid Oliu, George Lopez, Brian Sites, Soledad St. Hilaire, Jorge Cervera, Jr., Felipe De Alba. Quiet character study of a Mexican-American teenage girl about to graduate from high school and the life decisions she must make. Ontiveros is excellent as a domineering, neurotic mother, and Ferrera is good as the young woman in transition, but the film tries to deal with too much at once and becomes muddled and unfocused. [PG-13]▼

Re-Animator (1985) C-86m.  D: Stuart Gordon. Jeffrey Combs, Bruce Abbott, Barbara Crampton, Robert Sampson, David Gale. Knockout horror thriller and black comedy about H. P. Lovecraft's character Herbert West (Combs), an uptight young medical student who develops a serum to bring the dead back to life. Debut film director Gordon goes entertainingly over the line, especially in an off-color scene involving heroine Crampton and a lustful severed head. Major defect: Richard Band's music score, which is too reminiscent of Bernard Herrmann's classic PSYCHO sound track. Lengthened (and toned down) by Gordon for video. Followed by BRIDE OF RE-ANIMATOR. [R was surrendered]▼●●

Reaping, The (2007) C-96m. *½ D: Stephen Hopkins. Hilary Swank, David Morrissey, Idris Elba, AnnaSophia Robb, Stephen Rea, William Ragsdale, John McConnell. Dopey supernatural "thriller" finds Swank as a disillusioned former missionary who tries to discredit unexplained biblical phenomena. She comes upon a town where the river has turned bloodred and is being inundated with what appear to be the "ten plagues" of the Old Testament. Well-worn premise and indifferent acting sink this enterprise before we can even ask, "What the devil is going on here?" or more important, "Who cares?" Super 35. [R]●

Reap the Wild Wind (1942) C-124m.  D: Cecil B. DeMille. Ray Milland, John Wayne, Paulette Goddard, Raymond Massey, Robert Preston, Susan Hayward, Charles Bickford, Hedda Hopper, Louise Beavers, Martha O'Driscoll, Lynne Overman. Brawling DeMille hokum of 19th-century salvagers in Florida, with Goddard as fiery Southern belle, Milland and Wayne fighting for her, Massey as odious villain. Exciting underwater scenes, with the special effects earning an Oscar. Milland good in off-beat characterization. ▼●●

Rear Window (1954) C-112m. * D: Alfred Hitchcock. James Stewart, Grace Kelly, Wendell Corey, Thelma Ritter, Raymond Burr, Judith Evelyn, Ross Bagdasarian. One of Hitchcock's most stylish thrillers has photographer Stewart confined to wheelchair in his apartment, using binoculars to pass the time "spying" on courtyard neighbors, and discovering a possible murder. Inventive Cornell Woolrich story adapted by John Michael Hayes. Stewart, society girlfriend Kelly, and no-nonsense nurse Ritter make a wonderful trio. Remade for TV in 1998 with Christopher Reeve. ▼●●

Reason to Live, a Reason to Die, A (1974-Italian-French-German-Spanish) C-92m.  D: Tonino Valerii. James Coburn, Telly Savalas, Bud Spencer, Robert Burton. Union Colonel Coburn and seven condemned men attempt to recapture a Missouri fort from brutal Confederate Major Savalas. So-so Western, aka MASSACRE AT FORT HOLMAN. Techniscope. [PG] ▼

Rebecca (1940) 130m. * D: Alfred Hitchcock. Laurence Olivier, Joan Fontaine, George Sanders, Judith Anderson, Nigel Bruce, Reginald Denny, C. Aubrey Smith, Gladys Cooper, Florence Bates, Leo G. Carroll, Melville Cooper. Hitchcock's first American film is sumptuous David O. Selznick production of Daphne du Maurier novel of girl who marries British nobleman but lives in shadow of his former wife. Stunning performances by Fontaine and Anderson; haunting score by Franz Waxman. Screenplay by Robert E. Sherwood and Joan Harrison. Academy Award winner for Best Picture and Cinematography (George Barnes). ▼●●

Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm (1938) 80m. ½ D: Allan Dwan. Shirley Temple, Randolph Scott, Jack Haley, Gloria Stuart, Phyllis Brooks, Helen Westley, Slim Summerville, William Demarest. Contrived but entertaining, with surefire elements from earlier Temple movies tossed into simple story of Scott trying to make Shirley a radio star. No relation to Kate Douglas Wiggin's famous story. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Rebel (1974) C-80m. *½ D: Robert Allen Schnitzer. Antony Page, Sylvester E. Stallone, Rebecca Grimes, Henry G. Sanders.

Tiresome, justifiably obscure time-capsule featuring Stallone, pre-ROCKY stardom, as an alienated political radical (an interesting contrast to Rambo). Original title: NO PLACE TO HIDE. [PG] ▼

Rebel (1985-Australian) C-91m.  D: Michael Jenkins. Matt Dillon, Debbie Byrne, Bryan Brown, Bill Hunter, Ray Barrett, Julie Nihill, Kim Deacon. Odd mixture of drama and music in this tale of traumatized AWOL American GI Dillon, who attaches himself to Sydney cabaret performer Byrne during WW2. Plenty of flash and style, little substance; and Dillon is fatally miscast. Panavision. [R] ▼●

Rebel Rousers (1970) C-78m. ½ D: Martin B. Cohen. Cameron Mitchell, Jack Nicholson, Bruce Dern, Diane Ladd, (Harry) Dean Stanton. Architect Mitchell isn't pleased when Dern holds drag-race to see who will "win" Mitchell's pregnant girlfriend. Nicholson, decked out in outrageous striped pants, steals the show in this amusing time capsule. Filmed in 1967. Aka REBEL WARRIORS. [R] ▼●●

Rebel Warriors SEE: Rebel Rousers

Rebel Without a Cause (1955) C-111m. * D: Nicholas Ray. James Dean, Natalie Wood, Sal Mineo, Jim Backus, Ann Doran, William Hopper, Rochelle Hudson, Corey Allen, Edward Platt, Dennis Hopper, Nick Adams. This portrait of youthful alienation spoke to a whole generation and remains wrenchingly powerful, despite some dated elements. The yearning for self-esteem, the barrier to communication with parents, the comfort found in friendships, all beautifully realized by director Ray, screenwriter Stewart Stern, and a fine cast (far too many of whom met early ends). This was Dean's seminal performance and an equally impressive showcase for young Mineo. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Rebound (2005) C-87m. *½ D: Steve Carr. Martin Lawrence, Wendy Raquel Robinson, Breckin Meyer, Horatio Sanz, Oren Williams, Patrick Warburton, Megan Mullally, Eddy Martin, Steven Christopher Parker, Laura Kightlinger. Hotshot but disgraced college basketball coach gets a chance at redemption by guiding the ragtag hoopsters at the middle school he attended years ago. Slick, minimally humorous vehicle for coexecutive producer/star Lawrence is beyond predictable. Tragically, teenaged costar Tara Correa, who plays "Big Mac" in her film debut, was killed just three months after this film's release. [PG] ▼

Recess: School's Out (2001) C-84m. *½ D: Chuck Sheetz. Voices of James Woods, Andy Lawrence, Pam Segall, Dabney Coleman, Melissa Joan Hart, Jason Davis, April Winchell, Peter MacNicol, Ashley Johnson. Disney's Saturday-morning TV cartoon expanded to feature length, with no additional production values. Young T.J. and the Recess gang spend their summer vacation investigating some shady characters who have taken over the school building and are constructing a strange ray gun. Psychedelic end title sequence featuring Robert Goulet singing "Green Tambourine" is the creative highlight of the picture. [G]▼

Reckless (1935) 96m.  D: Victor Fleming. Jean Harlow, William Powell, Franchot Tone, May Robson, Ted Healy, Nat Pendleton, Rosalind Russell, Henry Stephenson, Leon Waycoff (Ames), Allan Jones, Mickey Rooney, Farina (Allen Hoskins). Big cast, big production, musical numbers—all can't save script of chorus girl tangling up several people's lives. Tired and phony. ▼●

Reckless (1984) C-90m. ½ D: James Foley. Aidan Quinn, Daryl Hannah, Kenneth McMillan, Cliff DeYoung, Lois Smith, Adam Baldwin, Dan Hedaya, Jennifer Grey. Rebellious teenager from wrong side of tracks takes up with straight-arrow coed, who finds in him a sense of danger and excitement missing from her comfortable existence. Nothing here we haven't seen in 1950s films about alienated youth—except for some very contemporary sex scenes—done with sincerity and a pulsing rock soundtrack. Quinn's film debut. [R]▼●

Reckless (1995) C-92m. ½ D: Norman Rene. Mia Farrow, Scott Glenn, Mary-Louise Parker, Tony Goldwyn, Stephen Dorff, Eileen Brennan, Giancarlo Esposito. It's Christmas Eve, and a ditsy, seemingly happy wife (Farrow) is informed by her suddenly remorseful husband that he has taken out a contract on her life. A potentially clever spoof of middle-class marital relations and phony holiday cheer quickly descends into a meandering, thoroughly ridiculous comedy-of-the-absurd. Farrow's character babbles on incessantly; it's no wonder she drives men—as well as the audience—crazy. Adapted by Craig Lucas from his play. [PG-13]▼

Reckless Kelly (1993-Australian-U.S.) C-94m.  D: Yahoo Serious. Yahoo Serious, Melora Hardin, Alexei Sayle, Hugo Weaving, Kathleen Freeman, John Pinette. Modern descendant of Australia's legendary Robin Hood-like outlaw Ned Kelly (who travels around on a sputtering, klunky motorcycle) goes to L.A. to raise money to save his family's island hideout, and gets mixed up with moviemakers. Engagingly silly at the start, with some very funny sight gags, but increasingly tiresome as it moves stateside. Serious also directed, cowrote, and (according to the credits) performed his own stunts. Super 35. [PG]▼

Reckless Moment, The (1949) 82m. ½ D: Max Opuls (Ophuls). James Mason, Joan Bennett, Geraldine Brooks, Henry O'Neill, Shepperd Strudwick. Mason blackmails protective mother Bennett, whose teenage daughter has been involved in a man's death. Noirish melodrama is also a slyly subversive look at a "typical" American family. Henry Garson and R. W. Soderberg adapted Elizabeth S. Holding's novel The Blank Wall. Remade as THE DEEP END. ▼

Reckoning, The (1969-British) C-111m. ½ D: Jack Gold. Nicol Williamson, Rachel Roberts, Paul Rogers, Ann Bell. Contrived, latter day "angry young man" film, with Williamson (excellent as usual) as brooding businessman incapable of living in harmony with society, out to avenge long-ago slight to his father. [R]

Reckoning, The (2003-British-Spanish) C-112m. ½ D: Paul McGuigan. Paul Bettany, Willem Dafoe, Simon McBurney, Gina McKee, Brian Cox, Tom Hardy, Stuart Wells, Matthew Macfadyen, Jared Harris, Vincent Cassel. A priest in 1380 England runs for his life after committing a crime and joins a troupe of traveling actors. The newest village on their journey is reeling from a notorious murder, which inspires the troupe and fires the priest's need for redemption. Interesting story leaves its principal villain (Cassel) offscreen far too long, but benefits from Bettany's strong performance. Super 35. [R]▼

Recon Game SEE: Open Season (1974)

Recruit, The (2003) C-105m. ½ D: Roger Donaldson. Al Pacino, Colin Farrell, Bridget Moynahan, Gabriel Macht, Karl Pruner, Eugene Lipinski. College computer whiz is recruited to join the CIA by veteran Pacino, who warns him that no one is to be trusted and nothing is as it seems—especially during his intense training period at The Farm in Langley, Virginia. Good story with endless twists and moments of nail-biting excitement, pumped up by dynamic star performances . . . but the final story turn is so unexpected, and so unlikely, that it comes as a letdown. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Red (1994-Swiss-French-Polish) C-99m.  D: Krzysztof Kieslowski. Irène Jacob, Jean-Louis Trintignant, Frederique Feder, Jean-Pierre Lorit, Juliette Binoche, Julie Delpy, Benoit Regent, Zbigniew Zamachowski. Final film in Kieslowski's "Three Colors" trilogy which, like BLUE and WHITE, can stand alone with its self-contained story. Fashion model Jacob meets embittered, retired judge Trintignant by accident, then develops relationship with him and enters his cloistered, secret world. Set in Geneva, this is a tale of several intertwining lives: a look at communication—and lack of same—in modern society. Acclaimed, but not for all tastes. This final chapter is subtitled "Fraternity." ▼●

Red (2008) C-93m.  D: Trygve Allister Diesen, Lucky McKee. Brian Cox, Tom Sizemore, Robert Englund, Amanda Plummer, Noel Fisher, Kyle Gallner, Shiloh Fernandez, Richard Riehle, Kim Dickens. Three punk teens harass middle-aged Cox, and one of them shoots and kills his beloved

dog. Starts off promisingly as a morality tale but deteriorates into an obvious, violent revenge saga. Cox is a quietly powerful presence. Based on a book by Jack Ketchum. [R]●

Redacted (2007) C-90m. *½ D: Brian De Palma. Patrick Carroll, Rob Devaney, Daniel Stewart Sherman, Izzy Diaz, Mike Figueroa, Ty Jones, Qazi Freihat, Kel O'Neill. Misguided attempt by De Palma (who made CASUALTIES OF WAR on a much bigger scale) to tell stories of the Iraq war through the eyes of various media outlets. The focus is on a group of out-of-control U.S. soldiers who eventually rape and murder a teenage girl with cameras rolling. Unsavory aspects of the story overwhelm it, while the uniformly amateurish acting completely defeats whatever message was intended. [R]●

Red and the Black, The SEE: Le Rouge et le Noir

Red Badge of Courage, The (1951) 69m. ½ D: John Huston. Audie Murphy, Bill Mauldin, Douglas Dick, Royal Dano, John Dierkes, Arthur Hunnicutt, Tim Durant, Andy Devine. Narrated by James Whitmore. Yankee soldier Murphy flees under fire and is guilt stricken over his apparent lack of courage. Stephen Crane's Civil War novel receives both epic and personal treatment by director Huston. Sweeping battle scenes and some truly frightening Rebel cavalry charges highlight this study of the fine line between cowardice and bravery. Many memorable vignettes: scene of Yankee general promising to share supper with half a dozen different platoons after the upcoming battle is a classic. Heavily re-edited after oddly negative previews; the film's troubled production is recounted in Lillian Ross' book Picture. Remade for TV in 1974. ▼●

Red Ball Express (1952) 83m. ½ D: Budd Boetticher. Jeff Chandler, Alex Nicol, Charles Drake, Hugh O'Brian, Jack Kelly, Jacqueline Duval, Sidney Poitier, Jack Warden. Pretty good WW2 story about real-life truck convoy that was hurriedly created to bring supplies to Patton's Army deep inside German-held territory in France. Screenplay by John Michael Hayes. ▼

Red Beard (1965-Japanese) 185m. ½ D: Akira Kurosawa. Toshiro Mifune, Yuzo Kayama, Yoshio Tsuchiya, Reiko Dan, Kyoko Kagawa, Terumi Niki. Tough but kind doctor Mifune takes intern Kayama under his wing in charity clinic. Unoriginal drama is also way overlong. Tohoscope. ▼●●

Redbelt (2008) C-99m.  D: David Mamet. Chiwetel Ejiofor, Alice Braga, Tim Allen, Emily Mortimer, Rodrigo Santoro, Joe Mantegna, Ricky Jay, David Paymer, Max Martini, Rebecca Pidgeon, Ray Mancini, Jose Pablo Cantillo, John Machado, J. J. Johnston, Jack Wallace. Absorbing drama about a jiu-jitsu instructor (Ejiofor)

whose devotion to the purity of martial arts is put to the test when he's swept into a world of corruption involving fight promoters, a movie star, and his sleazy producer. Striking if densely plotted storyline takes place in a typically unique Mamet environment. Ejiofor is terrific as usual. Super 35. [R]●

Red Circle, The SEE: Le Cercle Rouge
Red Corner (1997) C-122m. ½ D: Jon Avnet. Richard Gere, Bai Ling, Bradley Whitford, Byron Mann, Peter Donat, Robert Stanton, Tsai Chin, James Hong, Tzi Ma. American lawyer, representing cable/satellite TV interests in China, is framed for murdering a sexy model with whom he slept one night. His chances for justice are slim until the female lawyer assigned to his case (Ling) is bold enough to help him fight the system and figure out who's really behind this crime. Repetition and elements of illogic and predictability weaken an otherwise interesting yarn. [R]▼●●

Red Danube, The (1949) 119m. ½ D: George Sidney. Walter Pidgeon, Ethel Barrymore, Peter Lawford, Angela Lansbury, Janet Leigh. Louis Calhern, Francis L. Sullivan. Meandering drama of ballerina Leigh pursued by Russian agents, aided by amorous Lawford; heavy-handed at times.

Red Dawn (1984) C-114m. *½ D: John Milius. Patrick Swayze, C. Thomas Howell, Lea Thompson, Charlie Sheen, Powers Boothe, Ben Johnson, Harry Dean Stanton, Jennifer Grey. Small-town teens become guerrilla fighters when Commies invade U.S. Good premise gunned down by purple prose and posturing—not to mention violence. [PG-13]▼●●

Red Desert (1964-French-Italian) C-118m.  D: Michelangelo Antonioni. Monica Vitti, Richard Harris, Rita Renoir, Carlo Chionetti. Vague, boring tale of Vitti alienated from her surroundings and on the verge of madness. Antonioni's first color film does have its followers, though. ▼●●

Red Doors (2006) C-91m.  D: Georgia Lee. Jacqueline Kim, Freda Foh Shen, Kathy Shao-Lin Lee, Elaine Kao, Mia Riverton, Sebastian Stan, Jayce Bartok, Rossif Sutherland, Tzi Ma. Quirky slice of life about a suburban Chinese-American family; the mother is stereotypically flighty, the father is suicidal, saddened by the passage of time, and each daughter is in the process of ending or beginning a relationship. Well-intentioned but sketchy meditation on the different paths individuals take to find happiness. What is meant to be funny and endearing often comes off as slight and silly. [R]●

Red Dragon (1986) SEE: Manhunter

Red Dragon (2002) C-124m.  D: Brett Ratner. Anthony Hopkins, Edward Norton, Ralph Fiennes, Harvey Keitel, Emily Watson, Mary-Louise Parker, Philip Seymour Hoffman, Anthony Heald, Bill Duke, Ken Leung, Stanley Anderson, Azura Skye, Frankie Fai-

son, John Rubinstein, Lalo Schifrin. Needless remake of MANHUNTER, based on Thomas Harris' novel. FBI agent (Norton) captures Hannibal Lecter, then is forced to consult with the carnivorous inmate as he tries to find a crafty serial killer. Slick production, with an exceptionally good cast, can't disguise a pot-boiler script that's all too obvious. (Gee, do you think the bad guy will go after Norton's family?) Screenplay by Ted Tally, who also adapted THE SILENCE OF THE LAMBS. Frank Whaley and Mary Beth Hurt appear unbilled; Ellen Burstyn's voice is uncredited. Panavision. [R] ▼●

Red Dust (1932) 83m. ½ D: Victor Fleming. Clark Gable, Jean Harlow, Mary Astor, Donald Crisp, Gene Raymond, Tully Marshall, Willie Fung. Robust romance of Indochina rubber worker Gable, his floozy gal Harlow, and visiting Astor, who is married to Raymond, but falls for Gable. Harlow has fine comic touch. Tart script by John Lee Mahin. Remade as MOGAMBO. Also shown in computer-colored version. Panavision. ▼●

Red Dust (2004-British-South African) C-111m. ½ D: Tom Hooper. Hilary Swank, Chiwetel Ejiofor, Jamie Bartlett, Nomhlé Nkyonyeni, Ian Roberts, Greg Latter, Ma-wonga Dominic Tyawa, Marius Weyers. An apartheid drama with a twist: apartheid has ended, and N.Y. lawyer Swank returns to her native South Africa to represent a rising black politician (Ejiofor) who was beaten and tortured while in custody years earlier. Somber drama, based on a novel by Gillian Slovo, explores the possibility of and need for forgiveness in order to heal South Africa's wounds. Well meaning but lacks dramatic spark and fire. Panavision. [R]▶

Red Eye (2005) C-85m.  D: Wes Craven. Rachel McAdams, Cillian Murphy, Brian Cox, Jayma Mays, Jack Scalia, Robert Pine. Craven returns to form with this tight, knowingly hokey thriller that actually thrills while maintaining a sense of humor about itself. McAdams exudes star quality as a hotel manager on an early morning flight terrorized by the deliciously evil Murphy. Part of the fun is experiencing how masterfully the director manipulates the audience using familiar conventions. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●

Red Firecracker, Green Firecracker (1994-Hong Kong) C-116m.  D: He Ping. Hing Jing, Wu Gang, Zhao Xiaorui, Gao Yang. Evocative, romantic tale, beautifully directed and photographed and set in the early 20th century. The heroine is a young woman (Jing) who wears men's clothes and successfully operates her family's fireworks manufacturing business. Her priorities begin to change when she is attracted to a good-looking, wandering artist (Gang). [R] ▼●

Red Garters (1954) C-91m. ½ D: George Marshall. Rosemary Clooney, Jack Carson, Guy Mitchell, Pat Crowley, Gene Barry, Cass Daley, Frank Faylen, Reginald Owen, Buddy

Ebsen. Musical Western spoof gets A for effort—with strikingly stylized color sets, off-beat casting—but falls short of target. ▼●

Redhead and the Cowboy, The (1950) 82m. ½ D: Leslie Fenton. Glenn Ford, Rhonda Fleming, Edmond O'Brien, Morris Ankrum. Action-packed Civil War Western with dance-hall girl Fleming acting as Confederate courier; along the way, she gets apolitical cowboy Ford involved in her cause.

Red-Headed Stranger (1986) C-105m. *½ D: William Wittliff. Willie Nelson, Morgan Fairchild, Katharine Ross, Royal Dano, Sonny Carl Davis. Limp drama, screenwriter Wittliff's directorial debut, about a preacher (Nelson), his wayward wife (Fairchild, in an awful performance), a "good woman" (Ross), and some hooligans that have overridden his town. Adapted from Willie's 1975 album . . . and proof that hit records don't necessarily make good movies. Shot in 1984. [R] ▼●

Red-Headed Woman (1932) 79m.  D: Jack Conway. Jean Harlow, Chester Morris, Una Merkel, Lewis Stone, May Robson, Leila Hyams, Charles Boyer. Harlow has never been sexier than in this precensorship story (by Anita Loos) of a gold-digging secretary who sets out to corral her married boss (Morris). ▼●

Redhead From Wyoming, The (1952) C-80m. ½ D: Lee Sholem. Maureen O'Hara, Alexander Scourby, Alex Nicol, Jack Kelly, William Bishop, Dennis Weaver. Saucy Western pepped up by exuberant O'Hara as girl who falls in love with sheriff while protecting local cattle rustler. ▼▶

Red Heat (1988) C-106m. *½ D: Walter Hill. Arnold Schwarzenegger, James Belushi, Peter Boyle, Ed O'Ross, Larry Fishburne, Gina Gershon, Richard Bright, Oleg Vidov, Pruitt Taylor Vince. Grim-faced Soviet cop tracks a scummy Russian drug dealer to Chicago, where he's partnered with belligerent Belushi from the Chicago P.D. Cheerless, foul-mouthed action film with two of the least appealing characters imaginable as the good guys. This was the first American production allowed to shoot scenes in Moscow's Red Square (. . . but why?). [R] ▼●

Red House, The (1947) 100m.  D: Delmer Daves. Edward G. Robinson, Lon McCallister, Allene Roberts, Judith Anderson, Rory Calhoun, Julie London. Ona Munson. Title refers to strange old house containing many mysteries, providing constant fear for farmer Robinson. Exciting melodrama with fine cast. ▼▶

Redline (2007) C-95m. BOMB D: Andy Cheng. Nadia Bjorlin, Eddie Griffin, Angus Macfadyen, Tim Matheson, Nathan Phillips, Jesse Johnson, Denyce Lawton. Real estate developer Daniel Sadek financed, co-wrote, produced, and provided his exotic car collection for this slow and curious

FAST AND THE FURIOUS wannabe. Gorgeous woman who happens to be an ace driver gets caught up in the world of illegal drag racing competitions in which filthy-rich men with nothing better to do wager big bucks on the outcome. When she's not pushing the pedal to the metal, she fronts a band singing lyrics like, "I want to be your car so you can ride me tonight." Steer clear of this one. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Red Line 7000 (1965) C-110m. ½ D: Howard Hawks. James Caan, Laura Devon, Gail Hire, Charlene Holt, John Robert Crawford, Marianna Hill, James Ward, Norman Alden, George Takei. Attempt by director Hawks to do some kind of expert adventure pic he'd done for 40 years is sabotaged by overly complex script and indifferent acting, but is a faster and less pretentious racing-car drama than GRAND PRIX. Originally ran 127m. ▼●

Red Menace, The (1949) 87m. *½ D: R.G. Springsteen. Robert Rockwell, Hanne Axman, Betty Lou Gerson, Barbara Fuller. War vet Rockwell is duped by the Commies. McCarthyesque propaganda is now an unintentionally funny antique. Narrated by "Lloyd G. Davies, member of the City Council, Los Angeles, California." ▼●

Red Mountain (1951) C-84m. ½ D: William Dieterle. Alan Ladd, Elizabeth Scott, John Ireland, Arthur Kennedy. When Confederate raider Quantrill (Ireland) tries to establish his own empire in the West during the Civil War, it's up to Southern rebel Ladd and neutral Kennedy to stop him.

Red Planet (2000) C-106m.  D: Antony Hoffman. Val Kilmer, Carrie-Anne Moss, Tom Sizemore, Benjamin Bratt, Simon Baker, Terence Stamp. Utterly ordinary sci-fi saga about a mission to Mars in the year 2050. No-nonsense commander Moss is left alone on her ship while her contentious crew checks on a terraforming project on Mars to create food and oxygen. Looks good, but covers awfully familiar dramatic turf. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●

Red Planet Mars (1952) 87m. ½ D: Harry Horner. Peter Graves, Andrea King, Marvin Miller, Herbert Berghof, House Peters, Jr., Vince Barnett. Outrageous sci-fi of scientist deciphering messages from Mars which turn out to be from God. Hilariously ludicrous anti-Communist propaganda (Red Planet Mars, get it?). ▼●

Red Pony, The (1949) C-89m.  D: Lewis Milestone. Myrna Loy, Robert Mitchum, Peter Miles, Louis Calhern, Shepperd Strudwick, Margaret Hamilton, Beau Bridges. John Steinbeck adapted his own stories into this warmhearted screenplay about a farm boy who learns about responsibility when he's given his own pony. Keen observations of family dynamics (with Calhern a delight as Loy's garrulous father) make this a standout, along with

Tony Gaudio's Technicolor camerawork and a justly famous score by Aaron Copland. Remade for TV in 1973. ▼●

Red River (1948) 133m. * D: Howard Hawks. John Wayne, Montgomery Clift, Walter Brennan, Joanne Dru, John Ireland, Noah Beery, Jr., Paul Fix, Coleen Gray, Harry Carey, Jr., Harry Carey, Sr., Chief Yowlachie, Hank Worden. One of the greatest American adventures is really a Western MUTINY ON THE BOUNTY: Clift (in his first film) rebels against tyrannical guardian Wayne (brilliant in an unsympathetic role) during crucial cattle drive. Spellbinding photography by Russell Harlan, rousing Dimitri Tiomkin score; an absolute must. Alternate 125m. version uses Brennan's narration in place of diary pages, which Hawks preferred. Screenplay by Borden Chase and Charles Schnee, from Chase's Saturday Evening Post story. If you blink, you'll miss Shelley Winters dancing with Ireland around a campfire. Remade for TV in 1988 with James Arness. ▼●

Red Road (2006-British-Scottish-Danish) C-113m.  D: Andrea Arnold. Kate Dickie, Tony Curran, Martin Compston, Natalie Press, Andrew Armour. A woman who works as a security officer in Glasgow, intently surveying a bank of video monitors for criminal activity, recognizes a man she thought was gone from her life, then contrives a way to meet him. Why? And will the answer to that question explain why she is so emotionally remote? Intriguing drama takes its time playing out but never loses its hold on the audience. Arnold's feature directing debut is the first of three films to be made based on characters created by Anders Thomas Jensen and Lone Scherfig. Coproduced by Lars von Trier's Zentropa Entertainments5. ●

Red Rock West (1993) C-98m.  D: John Dahl. Nicolas Cage, Dennis Hopper, Lara Flynn Boyle, Timothy Carhart, J.T. Walsh, Dan Shor, Dwight Yoakam. Rock-solid little thriller, crammed with twists, turns and suspense, about honest, unemployed Cage, who's mistaken for a contract killer hired to do in seductive, adulterous Boyle. Nothing that occurs is logical or probable, but the film is so good (and so funny) that you are willing to go along for the ride. Hopper aficionados will savor his performance as "Lyle, from Dallas," the smarriest of psychos, who is the real hit man. This debuted on cable TV. [R] ▼●

Reds (1981) C-200m.  D: Warren Beatty. Warren Beatty, Diane Keaton, Edward Herrmann, Jerzy Kosinski, Jack Nicholson, Paul Sorvino, Maureen Stapleton, Nicolas Coster, Gene Hackman, William Daniels, Max Wright, M. Emmet Walsh, Ian Wolfe, Bessie Love, George Plimpton, Dolph Sweet, Josef Sommer. Sprawling, ambitious film about American idealist/journalist John Reed's involvement with Communism, the

Russian Revolution, and a willful, free-thinking woman named Louise Bryant. Provocative political saga is diffused, and overcome at times, by surprisingly conventional, often sappy approach to the love story (climaxed by Bryant's Little Eva-like journey to Russia over the ice floes). Interesting but wildly overpraised film won Oscars for Beatty as Best Director (he also produced and coscripted), Stapleton as Best Supporting Actress, Vittorio Storaro for Best Cinematography. [PG]▼●●

Red Scorpion (1989) C-102m. BOMB D: Joseph Zito. Dolph Lundgren, M. Emmet Walsh, Al White, T.P. McKenna, Carmen Argenziano, Brion James, Regopstann. Bottom-of-the-barrel actioner with Lundgren a Soviet officer sent to Africa to murder a rebel leader. Followed by direct-to-video sequel. [R]▼●●

Red Shoes, The (1948-British) C-133m. * D: Michael Powell, Emeric Pressburger. Anton Walbrook, Marius Goring, Moira Shearer, Robert Helpmann, Leonide Massine, Albert Basserman, Ludmilla Tcherina, Esmond Knight. A superb, stylized fairy tale. Young ballerina is torn between two creative, possessive men, one a struggling composer, the other an autocratic dance impresario. Landmark film for its integration of dance in storytelling, and a perennial favorite of balletomanes. Brian Easdale's score and Hein Heckroth and Arthur Lawson's art direction-set decoration won Oscars, and Jack Cardiff's cinematography should have. Shearer is exquisite in movie debut.▼●●

Red Skies of Montana (1952) C-99m. ½ D: Joseph M. Newman. Richard Widmark, Jeffrey Hunter, Constance Smith, Richard Boone, Richard Crenna, Charles Buchinsky (Bronson). Trite account of forest-fire fighters, salvaged by spectacular fire sequences.

Red Sky at Morning (1970) C-112m.  D: James Goldstone. Richard Thomas, Catherine Burns, Desi Arnaz, Jr., Richard Crenna, Claire Bloom, John Colicos, Harry Guardino, Strother Martin, Nehemiah Persoff. Unspectacular but pleasing adaptation of Richard Bradford's novel about adolescence in New Mexico during WW2. Comparable to SUMMER OF '42, and in many ways better; Thomas is superb. [PG]

Red Sonja (1985) C-89m. *½ D: Richard Fleischer. Brigitte Nielsen, Arnold Schwarzenegger, Sandahl Bergman, Paul Smith, Ernie Reyes, Jr., Ronald Lacey, Pat Roach. Spectacularly silly sword-and-sorcery saga with female lead, based on pulp writings of Robert E. Howard (of CONAN fame). Might amuse juvenile viewers, but only point of interest for adults is deciding who gives the worse performance, Nielsen or villainess Bergman. Schwarzenegger has a brief guest spot. Technovision. [PG-13]▼●●

Red Sorghum (1987-Chinese) C-91m. ½ D: Zhang Yimou. Gong Li, Jiang Wen, Liu Ji, Teng Rijun, Qian Ming. Evocative, beautifully filmed combination drama/black comedy/fairy tale/epic which chronicles a most untraditional union between a pair of rural lovers during the 1920s. The years pass, a new decade arrives, and with it come Japanese invaders. A triumph for director Yimou. CinemaScope.▼

Red Sun (1972-Italian-French-Spanish) C-112m.  D: Terence Young. Charles Bronson, Ursula Andress, Toshiro Mifune, Alain Delon, Capucine. East meets West in this odd story of samurai warrior pursuing valuable Japanese sword stolen from train crossing American West. Intriguing elements, and refreshingly tongue-in-cheek, but a misfire. [PG]▼●

Red Tent, The (1971-Italian-Russian) C-121m.  D: Mickail K. Kalatozov. Sean Connery, Claudia Cardinale, Hardy Kruger, Peter Finch, Massimo Girotti, Luigi Vannucchi, Mario Adorf. Top-notch adventure saga for kids and adults alike, based on true story of explorer General Nobile (Finch) whose 1928 Arctic expedition turns into disaster. Exciting scenes of survival against elements, dramatic rescue, marred by awkward flashback framework. Connery appears only in a few scenes. [G]▼●●

Red Tide, The SEE: Blood Tide

Red Tomahawk (1967) C-82m. *½ D: R. G. Springsteen. Howard Keel, Joan Caulfield, Broderick Crawford, Scott Brady, Wendell Corey, Richard Arlen, Tom Drake, Ben Cooper, Donald Barry. Captain Keel saves town from Sioux in routine Western with many likable performers in the cast.

Red Violin, The (1998-Canadian-Italian) C-131m.  D: François Girard. Carlo Cecchi, Irene Grazioli, Jean-Luc Bideau, Jason Flemyng, Greta Scacchi, Sylvia Chang, Samuel L. Jackson, Colm Feore, Monique Mercure, Don McKellar, Sandra Oh. Multi-episode film follows the fate of a cursed violin from 17th-century Italy to 18th-century Vienna, 19th-century England, 20th-century China and present-day Montreal. The stories are mostly downbeat and/or frustrating, and the wrapup segment with appraiser Jackson is hard to swallow. Colorful locales and intriguing premises maintain minimal interest throughout. McKellar, who plays Jackson's cohort in the final episode, also coscripted with the director. Oscar-winning score by John Corigliano.▼●

Reefer Madness (1936) 67m. BOMB D: Louis Gasnier. Dave O'Brien, Dorothy Short, Warren McCollum, Lillian Miles, Carleton Young, Thelma White. The granddaddy of all "Worst!" movies; one of that era's many low-budget "Warning!" films depicts (in now-hilarious fashion) how one puff of pot can lead clean-cut teenagers down the road to insanity and death. Miles'

frenzied piano solo is a highlight, but in this more enlightened age, overall effect is a little sad. Later a stage musical, which was filmed for cable TV in 2005. Originally titled THE BURNING QUESTION, then TELL YOUR CHILDREN; beware shorter prints. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Reel Paradise (2005) C-111m. ½ D: Steve James. Famed film exhibitor John Pierson and wife-partner Janet spend a year on Fiji's remote Taveuni showing free films to the locals—from classics to JACKASS: THE MOVIE, though their precocious son thinks JACKASS is a classic. Not in the same league as James' earlier documentaries (HOOP DREAMS, STEVIE), yet its meanderings aren't without interest. The family absorbs as much of the local (anti-New York) culture as the culture absorbs from the movies. Must viewing for buffs, in any event. [R]●

Ref, The (1994) C-93m. ½ D: Ted Demme. Denis Leary, Judy Davis, Kevin Spacey, Robert J. Steinmiller, Jr., Glynis Johns, Raymond J. Barry, Richard Bright, Christine Baranski, Bill Raymond, Bob Ridgely, B. D. Wong. A cocky cat burglar on the lam holds a squabbling yuppie couple hostage on Christmas Eve and quickly learns he's gotten himself into a no-win situation. This caustic comedy is meatier than you might expect, with top-notch performances by Spacey and Davis, but it gets unexpectedly serious—then silly and illogical. Still worth a look. Director Demme is Jonathan's nephew. [R]▼●●

Reflecting Skin, The (1990-British-Canadian) C-95m. ½ D: Philip Ridley. Viggo Mortensen, Lindsay Duncan, Jeremy Cooper, Sheila Moore, Duncan Fraser, David Longworth. Weird, jarring chiller, set in rural Idaho in the early '50s, about a boy (Cooper) who's convinced that the young widow who lives next door is a vampire. He's especially distraught when his older brother becomes her lover. Offbeat to say the least, and not for all tastes, but still worth a look. ▼●●

Reflection of Fear, A (1973) C-89m. ½ D: William A. Fraker. Robert Shaw, Mary Ure, Sally Kellerman, Sondra Locke, Signe Hasso. Muddled story of beautiful girl who becomes the crucial link in chain of violence and murder. [PG]▼

Reflections in a Golden Eye (1967) C-108m. ½ D: John Huston. Elizabeth Taylor, Marlon Brando, Brian Keith, Julie Harris, Robert Forster, Zorro David. Kinky version of Carson McCullers' novel about homosexual army officer in the South. Not really very good, but cast, subject matter, and Huston's pretentious handling make it fascinating on a minor level. Panavision. ▼●

Reformer and the Redhead, The (1950) 90m. ½ D: Norman Panama, Melvin Frank. June Allyson, Dick Powell, David Wayne, Cecil Kellaway, Ray Collins, Robert Keith, Marvin Kaplan. Sassy shenanigans with lawyer—mayoral candidate Powell becoming involved with spunky, idealistic zookeeper's daughter Allyson during controversial political campaign. Powell and Allyson were real-life Mr. and Mrs. at this time. Spring Byington provides the voice of Allyson's mother.

Reform School Girl (1957) 71m. BOMB D: Edward Bernds. Gloria Castillo, Ross Ford, Edward Byrnes, Ralph Reed, Luana Anders, Jack Kruschen, Sally Kellerman. Hokey time capsule about a pretty teen from "the other side of the tracks" (Castillo). After a fatal car mishap, she ends up in reform school. Will she or won't she squeal on the party responsible for her dilemma? Remade for cable TV in 1994. ▼

Reform School Girls (1986) C-94m. *½ D: Tom DeSimone. Linda Carol, Wendy O. Williams, Pat Ast, Sybil Danning, Charlotte McGinnis, Sherri Stoner, Denise Gordy, Tiffany Schwartz. Comic strip-styled spoof of women's prison films offers some knowing winks (director DeSimone also made 1982's THE CONCRETE JUNGLE), but the level of exaggeration is a turnoff, such as imagining veteran rock singer Williams as a teenager. Carol is the innocent young girl learning the ropes in prison, while chubby Ast, an Andy Warhol film graduate, was born to play a prison matron—yet even her campy acting becomes monotonous. [R]▼●●

Regarding Henry (1991) C-107m.  D: Mike Nichols. Harrison Ford, Annette Bening, Bill Nunn, Mikki Allen, Donald Moffat, Nancy Marchand, Elizabeth Wilson, Robin Bartlett, John Leguizamo. High-powered lawyer suffers brain injury and has to start his life all over again—learning to walk, talk, and ultimately, return to his family and job. Potentially interesting story is given polished presentation, but is so placid, and so unrealistic—even trivializing the recovery process—it never achieves any emotional impact. [PG-13]▼●●

Regeneration (1915) 72m. ½ D: Raoul Walsh. Rockcliffe Fellowes, Anna Q. Nilsson, William Sheer, Carl Harbaugh, James Marcus, Maggie Weston. Still stirring and cinematically impressive early gangster film (and social tract) charting the plight and fate of Owen (Fellowes), a surly, charismatic Irish hood, and how his life is affected by Mamie Rose (Nilsson), a young woman who deserts her upper-class roots for life as "a settlement worker in the gangster's district." This vividly realistic melodrama, which portrays the effect of poverty on the human spirit, was filmed on location in N.Y.C.'s Bowery. ▼●●

Regeneration (1997-British-Canadian) C-96m. ½ D: Gillies MacKinnon. Jonathan Pryce, James Wilby, Jonny Lee Miller, Stuart Bunce, David Hayman, Tanya Allen, John Neville, James McAvoy. Famed WWI

poet and decorated British war hero Siegfried Sassoon is declared mentally unstable and sent to a military psychiatric hospital after publishing a denouncement of the war. Strong acting and superb cinematography enhance this talky, stagy adaptation of Pat Barker's prize-winning novel. Pryce is exceptional as an army doctor who tries to heal the soldiers' wounded psyches. Aka BEHIND THE LINES. [R]▼

Reggae Sunsplash (1980-German-Jamaican) C-107m. ½ D: Stefan Paul. Bob Marley, Peter Tosh, Third World, Burning Spear. OK documentary, filmed at the '79 Sunsplash II Festival in Montego Bay, benefits from commanding presences of Marley and company.▼

Reign of Fire (2002-British-Irish-U.S.) C-101m.  D: Rob Bowman. Christian Bale, Matthew McConaughey, Izabella Scorupco, Gerard Butler, Scott James Moutter, David Kennedy, Alexander Siddig, Ned Dennehy, Alice Krige. Bleak tale takes place, for the most part, in the year 2020, when the world has been decimated by fire-breathing dragons. One enclave, holed up in a British castle, tries desperately to survive; then along comes an American military man with a mission (McConaughey) and his troops, who favor an aggressive rather than passive approach. It's hard to care about anyone in this dour story. Panavision. [PG-13]▼

Reign of Terror (1949) 89m.  D: Anthony Mann. Robert Cummings, Arlene Dahl, Richard Hart, Richard Basehart, Arnold Moss, Beulah Bondi. Vivid costume drama set during French Revolution, with valuable diary eluding both sides of battle. Moss is particularly good as the elegantly, eloquently evil Foucher. Stunningly photographed by John Alton; every shot is a painting! Aka THE BLACK BOOK.▼

Reign Over Me (2007) C-128m. ½ D: Mike Binder. Adam Sandler, Don Cheadle, Jada Pinkett Smith, Liv Tyler, Saffron Burrows, Donald Sutherland, Robert Klein, Melinda Dillon, Mike Binder, Jonathan Banks, Rae Allen. Prosperous N.Y.C. dentist (Cheadle) spots his old college roommate (Sandler) on the street one day and presses him for a reunion. It turns out that Sandler has become an inscrutable, obsessive-compulsive hermit since his wife and daughters died on one of the ill-fated flights on 9/11. Writer-director Binder (who plays Sugarman) tries to cover too much ground, cluttering the central story with superfluous characters and trying to create a parallel character portrait for Cheadle . . . but Sandler's dramatic performance is genuinely impressive. HD Widescreen. [R]▼

Reincarnation of Peter Proud, The (1975) C-104m. ½ D: J. Lee Thompson. Michael Sarrazin, Jennifer O'Neill, Margot Kidder, Cornelia Sharpe, Paul Hecht, Tony Stephano. The soul of a man murdered

years before roosts inside Sarrazin, in moderately gripping version of Max Ehrlich's book, adapted by the author. [R]▼

Reindeer Games (2000) C-104m. *½ D: John Frankenheimer. Ben Affleck, Gary Sinise, Charlize Theron, Dennis Farina, James Frain, Donal Logue, Danny Trejo, Isaac Hayes, Gordon Tootoosis, Clarence Williams III, Ashton Kutcher. After five years in prison, a car thief assumes the identity of his cell-mate and takes up with his comrade's gorgeous pen-pal girlfriend. Soon he finds himself in a quicksand pit of crime. Ridiculous story isn't believable for one minute, especially with the shallow performances of its usually capable cast (who all seem to be playing "grown-up" parts from an old movie script). Also available in 124m. director's cut. Super 35. [R]▼

Reivers, The (1969) C-107m. ½ D: Mark Rydell. Steve McQueen, Sharon Farrell, Will Geer, Michael Constantine, Rupert Crosse, Mitch Vogel, Lonny Chapman, Juano Hernandez, Clifton James, Ruth White, Dub Taylor, Allyn Ann McLerie, Diane Ladd; narrated by Burgess Meredith. Picaresque film from Faulkner novel about young boy (Vogel) in 1905 Mississippi who takes off for adventurous automobile trip with devil-may-care McQueen and buddy Crosse. Completely winning Americana, full of colorful episodes, equally colorful characters. Screenplay by Irving Ravetch (who also produced) and Harriet Frank, Jr. Panavision. [M]▼

Relative Values (2000-British) C-88m.  D: Eric Styles. Julie Andrews, Edward Atterton, Jeanne Tripplehorn, William Baldwin, Sophie Thompson, Colin Firth, Stephen Fry. The mother of an English aristocrat schemes to break up his engagement to a sexy Hollywood movie star in this bland adaptation of Noel Coward's drawing-room comedy. The cast is game, headed by Andrews in her first big-screen role in almost a decade, but the direction is unimaginative and the farcical plot (hinging on 1950s British class distinctions) makes much ado about very little. U.S. debut on cable TV. [PG]▼

Relentless (1948) C-93m.  D: George Sherman. Robert Young, Marguerite Chapman, Willard Parker, Barton MacLane, Akim Tamiroff, Mike Mazurki. Good, solid Western story of a man who must catch a wily horse thief in order to prove his own innocence. Young produced this, uncredited, with his Father Knows Best partner Eugene Rodney.

Relentless (1989) C-93m. *½ D: William Lustig. Judd Nelson, Robert Loggia, Leo Rossi, Meg Foster, Patrick O'Bryan, Ken Lerner, Mindy Seeger, Angel Tompkins. Nelson gives his one memorable performance to date, as a serial killer. Otherwise thoroughly routine, and that goes double for the finale. Followed by three sequels, beginning with DEAD ON: RELENTLESS II. [R]▼

Relic, The (1997) C-110m. ½ D: Peter Hyams. Penelope Ann Miller, Tom Sizemore, Linda Hunt, James Whitmore, Clayton Rohner, Chi Muoi Lo, Thomas Ryan, Robert Lesser, Lewis Van Bergen, Constance Towers, John Kapelos, Audra Lindley. As a big natural history museum hosts a glittering reception, a monster runs amok in the shadows. Yes, it's "ALIEN in a museum," but not bad. The monster, done both "live" and by computer graphics, is especially impressive, but the explanation for it is laughable. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Religulous (2008) C-101m. ½ D: Larry Charles. Documentary (of sorts) follows talk show host/comedian/devout atheist Bill Maher's quest to expose the lies and contradictions inherent in organized religion. Provocative, often entertaining film provides some valid insights but never cuts deep enough, content to score laughs off easy interview targets (as well as snippets from Hollywood movies) and becoming as didactic as the religious fundamentalism it abhors. [R] ▼

Reluctant Astronaut, The (1967) C-101m.  D: Edward Montagne. Don Knotts, Leslie Nielsen, Joan Freeman, Arthur O'Connell, Jesse White. Featherweight comedy dealing with hicksville alumnus Knotts becoming title figure; predictable and often not even childishly humorous. For kids only. ▼●●

Reluctant Debutante, The (1958) C-94m. ½ D: Vincente Minnelli. Rex Harrison, Kay Kendall, John Saxon, Sandra Dee, Angela Lansbury. Bright drawing-room comedy which Harrison, Kendall, and Lansbury make worthwhile: British parents must present their Americanized daughter to society. Remade as WHAT A GIRL WANTS. CinemaScope. ▼●

Reluctant Dragon, The (1941) C/B&W-72m.  D: Alfred L. Werker (live-action). Robert Benchley gets a tour of the Walt Disney studio in this pleasant feature that incorporates a number of first-rate cartoon sequences (Baby Weems, The Reluctant Dragon), offers some interesting glimpses of studio at work. Clarence "Ducky" Nash and Florence Gill do cartoon voices, Ward Kimball animates Goofy, Frances Gifford shows Benchley around, and young Alan Ladd appears as one of the story men. Opens in b&w, turns to beautiful Technicolor hues. ▼

Reluctant Saint, The (1962-U.S.-Italian) 105m. ½ D: Edward Dmytryk. Maximilian Schell, Ricardo Montalban, Lea Padovani, Akim Tamiroff, Harold Goldblatt, Mark Damon. Loosely biographical account of St. Joseph of Cupertino, a 17th-century Franciscan whose modest upbringing and simple intellect would never have foretold the religious life he would lead (or the great number of miracles he would perform). Unusual fare; worth a look.

Remains of the Day, The (1993) C-135m. ½ D: James Ivory. Anthony Hopkins, Emma Thompson, James Fox, Christopher Reeve, Peter Vaughan, Hugh Grant, Michael Lonsdale, Tim Pigott-Smith, Patrick Godfrey. HOWARDS END leads are reunited as servants at a baronial English country home—Hopkins a self-sacrificing butler who serves with the utmost discretion, and Thompson an efficient and bright head housekeeper. The two collide over work—and especially over overtures of romance. Looming over these personal stories is the (fascinating) larger tale of the misguided lord of the manor (Fox), who is excitedly making alliances with Nazi sympathizers. Kazuo Ishiguro's novel was adapted by Ruth Prawer Jhabvala, and though film can't quite dispel its literary origin, even almost-great Merchant-Ivory is better than most anything else around. Super 35. [PG] ▼●●

Remains to Be Seen (1953) 89m.  D: Don Weis. Van Johnson, June Allyson, Angela Lansbury, Louis Calhern, Dorothy Dandridge. Disarming comedy based on Howard Lindsay–Russel Crouse play, with Allyson a singer and Johnson the apartment-house manager involved in swank East Side N.Y.C. murder; script by Sidney Sheldon.

Remarkable Andrew, The (1942) 80m. ½ D: Stuart Heisler. William Holden, Ellen Drew, Brian Donlevy, Montagu Love, George Watts, Brandon Hurst, Gilbert Emery, Rod Cameron, Richard Webb, Frances Gifford. Far-fetched but well-played fantasy in which small-town bookkeeper Holden is falsely accused of embezzlement; the ghost of Pres. Andrew Jackson (Donlevy), among other pillars of U.S. history, comes to his rescue. Script by Dalton Trumbo, based on his novel.

Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker, The (1959) C-87m. ½ D: Henry Levin. Clifton Webb, Dorothy McGuire, Charles Coburn, Ray Stricklyn, Jill St. John, Ron Ely, David Nelson. Prodded along by Webb's brittle manner, period tale unfolds of Pennsylvania businessman who leads dual life, with two families (17 kids in all). CinemaScope.

Rembrandt (1936-British) 84m. ½ D: Alexander Korda. Charles Laughton, Elsa Lanchester, Gertrude Lawrence, Edward Chapman, Roger Livesey, Raymond Huntley, John Clements, Marius Goring, Abraham Sofaer. Handsome bio of Dutch painter, full of visual tableaux and sparked by Laughton's excellent performance. One of Gertrude Lawrence's rare film appearances. ▼●●

Remember Me, My Love (2003-Italian) C-125m. ½ D: Gabriele Muccino. Fabrizio Bentivoglio, Laura Morante, Nicoletta Romanoff, Monica Bellucci, Silvio Muccino, Gabriele Lavia, Enrico Silvestrin. Italian domestic drama centered on life, loves, and longings of a family in emotional crisis. The father carries on with a former flame, the daughter wants to be a scantily clad star on a sleazy TV show, the wife wants to resume her dormant acting career, etc. Soapy and overheated at times, but human qualities come through in this sometimes touching story from the director of the superior THE LAST KISS. Super 35. ▼

Remember My Name (1978) C-96m.  D: Alan Rudolph. Geraldine Chaplin, Anthony Perkins, Moses Gunn, Berry Berenson, Jeff Goldblum, Timothy Thomerson, Alfre Woodard, Dennis Franz. Dreamlike film presents fragmented story of woman returning from prison, determined to disrupt her ex-husband's new life. Moody, provocative film definitely not for all tastes; striking blues vocals on soundtrack by Alberta Hunter. Produced by Robert Altman. Woodard's film debut. [R]

Remember the Day (1941) 85m.  D: Henry King. Claudette Colbert, John Payne, John Shepperd (Shepperd Strudwick), Ann Todd, Douglas Croft, Jane Seymour, Anne Revere. Pleasant, tug-at-your-heartstrings Americana, told in flashback, about the effect teacher Colbert has on a student (Croft, who grows up to be presidential nominee Shepperd). Payne is the fellow teacher with whom Colbert falls in love.

Remember the Night (1940) 94m.  D: Mitchell Leisen. Barbara Stanwyck, Fred MacMurray, Beulah Bondi, Elizabeth Patterson, Sterling Holloway. Beautifully made, sentimental story of prosecutor MacMurray falling in love with shoplifter Stanwyck during Christmas court recess; builds masterfully as it creates a very special mood. Script by Preston Sturges. ▼

Remember the Titans (2000) C-113m.  D: Boaz Yakin. Denzel Washington, Will Patton, Donald Faison, Wood Harris, Ryan Hurst, Ethan Suplee, Nicole Ari Parker, Hayden Panettiere, Kip Pardue, Craig Kirkwood, Kate Bosworth, Ryan Gosling. Corny but crowd-pleasing tale of a black man who's named to replace a well-respected football coach at a Virginia high school in the early 1970s . . . and how that coach gets his team to break down racial barriers and work together. Pat and manipulative, but still effective thanks in large part to the power of Washington's performance. Based on a true story. Director's cut runs 120m. Panavision. [PG] ▼

Remo Williams: The Adventure Begins . . . (1985) C-121m. ½ D: Guy Hamilton. Fred Ward, Joel Grey, Wilford Brimley, J. A. Preston, George Coe, Charles Cioffi, Kate Mulgrew, Michael Pataki, William Hickey. Bubble-gum action-adventure yarn based on the popular Destroyer books by Richard Sapir and Warren Murphy, with Ward a N.Y.C. cop recruited by secret society out to avenge society's wrongs (motto:

"Thou shalt not get away with it") . . . then he's trained for job by inscrutable Korean Si-nanju master (Grey). Comes close to scoring bull's-eye but misfires too many times—and goes on too long. [PG-13] ▼

Renaissance (2006-French-British-Luxembourg) C/B&W-105m. ½ D: Christian Volckman. Voices of Daniel Craig, Christine McCormack, Romola Garai, Jonathan Pryce, Ian Holm. The imagery is the star of this noir-ish animated action yarn set in Paris in 2054; the storyline, which is difficult to follow, involves a cop who sets out to find a kidnapped genetics researcher who apparently has pieced together the "protocol for immortality." The motion-capture animation is stark and occasionally stunning, making the film look like a graphic novel come to life . . . but after a while it grows tiresome, as the visuals outweigh the story and characterizations. Super 35. [R] ▼

Renaissance Man (1994) C-129m. ½ D: Penny Marshall. Danny DeVito, Gregory Hines, James Remar, Cliff Robertson, Lillo Brancato, Jr., Stacey Dash, Kadeem Hardison, Richard T. Jones, Khalil Kain, Peter Simmons, Greg Sporleder, Mark Wahlberg, Ben Wright, Ed Begley, Jr., Isabella Hoffmann. A man whose life and career have hit a stone wall gets hired to teach some of the Army's least intelligent recruits some basics of reading. Overlong, overtly corny "feel-good" movie, bolstered by sincere and persuasive performances. Also stands as the kindest portrait of the U.S. Army in recent history. Aka BY THE BOOK. [PG-13] ▼

Renaldo and Clara (1978) C-292m. BOMB. D: Bob Dylan. Bob Dylan, Sara Dylan, Sam Shepard, Ronnee Blakley, Ronnie Hawkins, Joni Mitchell, Harry Dean Stanton, Arlo Guthrie, Bob Neuwirth, Joan Baez, Allen Ginsberg, Mick Ronson, Roberta Flack. Self-important, poorly made fictionalized account of Dylan's Rolling Thunder Revue. Dylan plays Renaldo; his wife Sara is Clara. Pretentious and obnoxious. Dylan later cut it to 122m; what's left is mostly concert footage, but it doesn't help much. Sam Shepard's first film. [R]

Rendez-vous (1985-French) C-82m.  D: André Téchiné. Juliette Binoche, Lambert Wilson, Wadek Stanczak, Jean-Louis Trintignant, Olimpia Carlisi, Dominique Lavanant. Stylish melodrama perceptively investigates the borderline between play-acting and real life as stage actress (Binoche) becomes involved with obsessive live-sex show star Wilson and his mentor, a renowned director (Trintignant). Morbid mood and extreme sex scenes may repel some audiences; stunning widescreen cinematography by Renato Berta. CinemaScope. ▼

Rendezvous in Paris (1996-French) C-100m. ½ D: Eric Rohmer. Clara Bellar, Antoine Basler, Aurore Rauscher, Serge Renko, Michael Kraft, Benedicte Loyer.

Three thoroughly enchanting tales of love, trust and ambivalence, set in the lush urban landscape of Paris. Whether it be a young woman deciding if her boyfriend can be trusted, an "almost" affair between an engaged female student and another man, or a joyless painter and his potentially amorous encounters, these tales are simply told, with a complexity just below the surface that completely captivates. ▼

Rendition (2007) C-122m.  D: Gavin Hood. Jake Gyllenhaal, Reese Witherspoon, Meryl Streep, Alan Arkin, Peter Sarsgaard, Omar Metwally, Igal (Yigal) Naor, Zineb Oukach, Moa Khouas, J. K. Simmons, Bob Gunton. Gyllenhaal, a C.I.A. analyst in North Africa, is troubled by the U.S. government's clandestine interrogation (torture) methods—especially since the foreign-born alleged terrorist "rendered" here looks to be an upstanding American citizen. Witherspoon plays the (thankless) smaller role of the suspect's anxious wife back home. Meanwhile, a Third World Romeo-and-Juliet love story takes up an inordinate amount of screen time. Topical action film tries to be both cerebral and exciting, but the central theme gets buried. U.S. filmmaking debut for Hood, South African director of the Oscar-winning TSOTSI. Super 35. [R] ●

Renegade Girls SEE: Caged Heat

Renegades (1989) C-106m.  D: Jack Sholder. Kiefer Sutherland, Lou Diamond Phillips, Jami Gertz, Rob Knepper, Bill Smitrovich, Floyd Westerman. An undercover cop and a Lakota Indian put aside their differences to team up and chase down a criminal who's done them both wrong. Yet another buddy/cop movie which is just an excuse to keep stuntmen gainfully employed... though it does give Sutherland and Phillips a chance to use the gunslinging technique they learned in YOUNG GUNS. [R] ▼ ● ●

Rennie's Landing SEE: Stealing Time

Reno 911!: Miami (2007) C-84m. *½ D: Robert Ben Garant. Carlos Alazraqui, Mary Birdsong, Robert Ben Garant, Kerri Kenney-Silver, Thomas Lennon, Wendy McLendon-Covey, Niecy Nash, Cedric Yarbrough. If you've heard of Comedy Central's inept crew of cops and are curious to see if they might be the subject for your coming Master's or Ph.D. thesis, this off-the-cuff feature (without the cable commercials that keep their bits aptly bite-sized) will serve as an intro. The Reno sheriff's department, in Miami for a convention, is called upon to protect the city when the regular cops are quarantined amid a bioterrorism attack. Slapdash film never saw a fat joke or masturbation joke it didn't like, though cameos by Paul Rudd and especially Dwayne (The Rock) Johnson are funnier than most of the rest. Coproduced by Danny DeVito, who also appears. Unrated version also available. [R] ●

Rent (2005) C-135m. ½ D: Chris Columbus. Anthony Rapp, Adam Pascal, Rosario Dawson, Jesse L. Martin, Wilson Jermaine Heredia, Idina Menzel, Tracie Thoms, Taye Diggs, Sarah Silverman, Anna Deavere Smith. Close friends in N.Y.C.'s East Village are being evicted from their apartment, and as their lives are further complicated (by crisscrossing relationships, AIDS, drugs, and other ills) they cling to one another for support. Long-awaited film version of Jonathan Larson's 1996 Pulitzer Prize-winning musical play, a modern spin on La Boheme. Preserves the performances of many original cast members and has some vibrant musical moments, but can't make up its mind if it's a real movie (though toward the end there are fade-outs at the close of scenes!). Attempts to "open up" the play fall flat, and second half drags. A mixed bag. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Rent-a-Cop (1988) C-96m. BOMB D: Jerry London. Burt Reynolds, Liza Minnelli, James Remar, Richard Masur, Dionne Warwick, Bernie Casey, Robby Benson, Michael Rooker. Chicago dick Reynolds is suspended after his botched hotel drug bust leaves half a dozen dead; Minnelli's eyewitness hooker helps him track down the bullet-happy killer responsible. Burt seems fatigued but is at least easier to take than his costar's lounge-act prostie. [R] ▼ ● ●

Rentadick (1972-British) C-94m.  D: Jim Clark. James Booth, Julie Ege, Ronald Fraser, Donald Sinden, Michael Bentine, Richard Briers, Spike Milligan. Out of the nether-land between The Goon Show and Monty Python comes this romp written by Python pals John Cleese and Graham Chapman, spoofing formula private-eye flicks. An experimental nerve gas that paralyzes from the waist down has been stolen and Rentadick, Inc. is hired to track down the culprits. ▼

Rent-a-Kid (1995-U.S.-Canadian) C-89m. ½ D: Frank Gerber. Leslie Nielsen, Christopher Lloyd, Matt McCoy, Sherry Miller, Amos Crowley, Cody Jones, Bathiba Lupien, Tony Rosato. When the head of an orphanage takes a vacation, dad Nielsen takes over with a scheme to raise money by renting out children. While predictable, this silly premise is surprisingly and sensitively realized when three children are rented by a hip '90s couple thinking about adopting. A decent family film. [G] ▼ ● ●

Rented Lips (1987) C-82m.  D: Robert Downey. Martin Mull, Dick Shawn, Jennifer Tilly, Robert Downey, Jr., Mel Welles, Shelley Berman, Edy Williams, June Lockhart, Kenneth Mars, Eileen Brennan, Pat McCormick, Michael Horse. Highly uneven comedy, written and produced by Mull, about a pair of down-on-their-luck educational filmmakers (with films like "Aluminum, Your Shiny Friend" to their credit) who become involved with a

porno film crew. Cast of old pros and familiar faces helps. [R]▼

Repentance (1987-Russian) C-155m.  D: Tengiz Abuladze. Avtandil Makharadze, Zeinab Botsvadze, Ketevan Abuladze, Edisher Giorgobiani, Kakhi Kavsadze. A beloved city father dies, but why is his body mysteriously—and continuously—exhumed? This allegory about small town smallmindedness and political repression offers a critical look at the Stalin era, but the result bogs down into a talkfest, and is much too obvious and boring. Completed in 1984; the final part of a trilogy, following THE PLEA (1968) and THE WISHING TREE (1977). [PG]▼●●

Replacement Killers, The (1998) C-86m. ½ D: Antoine Fuqua. Chow Yun-Fat, Mira Sorvino, Michael Rooker, Jürgen Prochnow, Kenneth Tsang, Til Schweiger. Chow's American debut is a disappointingly routine action yarn about a hired assassin who—after failing to kill a cop, as ordered—becomes a target himself. Not bad, but nothing special; hardly a star-making vehicle for this established Hong Kong favorite. Unrated version runs 96m. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Replacements, The (2000) C-118m.  D: Howard Deutch. Keanu Reeves, Gene Hackman, Brooke Langton, Orlando Jones, Jon Favreau, Jack Ward, Rhys Ifans, Michael Jace, Faizon Love, Brett Cullen. Silly, by-the-numbers sports comedy about a bunch of has-beens, eccentrics, and losers who are recruited by coach Hackman as replacement players in the wake of a pro-football strike. Tired and obvious. If you really want to see Hackman play a coach, rent the basketball drama HOOSIERS. [PG-13]▼●

Repo Man (1984) C-92m. ½ D: Alex Cox. Emilio Estevez, Harry Dean Stanton, Vonetta McGee, Olivia Barash, Sy Richardson, Tracey Walter, Susan Barnes, Fox Harris, The Circle Jerks. Instant cult-movie about a new-wave punk who takes a job repossessing cars. Mixes social satire and science-fiction with engaging results, though a little of this film goes a long way. Stanton is perfect as a career repo man who shows Estevez the ropes. [R]▼●●

Report to the Commissioner (1975) C-112m. ½ D: Milton Katselas. Michael Moriarty, Yaphet Kotto, Susan Blakely, Hector Elizondo, Tony King, Michael McGuire, Dana Elcar, Robert Balaban, William Devane, Stephen Elliott, Richard Gere, Vic Tayback, Sonny Grosso. Rookie cop Moriarty accidentally kills undercover cop Blakely and becomes embroiled in department-wide cover-up. Brutal melodrama ranges from realistic to overblown; taut but not always convincing. Script by Abby Mann and Ernest Tidyman. Gere's film debut. [PG]▼

Repossessed (1990) C-84m. *½ D: Bob Logan. Linda Blair, Ned Beatty, Leslie Nielsen, Anthony Starke, Lana Schwab,

Thom J. Sharp. AIRPLANE-style spoof of THE EXORCIST, with Blair herself as a housewife possessed anew by the same demon she was rid of as a child. Too few gags, too many targets, and a poor finale. Blair and Nielsen (as the exorcist) are good. Written by director Logan. [PG-13]▼●●

Repo! The Genetic Opera (2008) C-98m.  D: Darren Lynn Bousman. Anthony Stewart Head, Alexa Vega, Paul Sorvino, Sarah Brightman, Terrance Zdunich, Bill Moseley, Ögre, Paris Hilton, Joan Jett. In the year 2056 a population desperate for organ replacements turns to Big Brother-ish corporation GeneCo and its despotic leader Rotti Largo (Sorvino) to survive. Largo has blackmailed his onetime romantic rival (Head) into becoming a "repo man," harvesting organs as he struggles to shield his teenage daughter (Vega) from the grim world outside her home. Imaginative rock opera with horror movie trappings and comic-book storytelling blended into the mix. Story doesn't hold up to the very end but it's still a wild ride. Based on a stage piece by Darren Smith and Terrance Zdunich (who also appears as the singing narrator). [R]●

Reprieve SEE: Convicts 4

Reprise (2006-Norwegian-Swedish) C-107m.

½ D: Joachim Trier. Espen Klouman Høiner, Anders Danielsen Lie, Christian Rubeck, Odd Magnus Williamson, Pål Stokka, Viktoria Winge, Silje Hagen. Visually kinetic saga of two self-absorbed boyhood friends who share a passion for an elusive Norwegian author and aspire to become successful novelists themselves. How they deal with success and failure, socially and professionally, and how fate deals with them (as intoned by an omnipresent narrator) is the crux of this bold, nonlinear feature inspired, it would seem, by JULES AND JIM. This received critical acclaim in some circles but it's hard to care about these characters. Feature debut for director and cowriter Trier. [R]●

Reptile, The (1966-British) C-90m.  D: John Gilling. Noel Willman, Jennifer Daniels, Ray Barrett, Jacqueline Pearce. Hammer chiller about village girl with strange power to change into snake. Excellent direction, sympathetic characterizations.▼●●

Reptilicus (1962) C-90m. BOMB D: Sidney Pink. Carl Otosen, Ann Smyrner, Mimi Heinrich, Asbjorn Andersen, Marla Behrens. The tail of a prehistoric monster—recently discovered—spawns the full-sized beast. Only good for laughs as script hits every conceivable monster-movie cliché, right to the final shot. Filmed in Denmark.▼●

Repulsion (1965-British) 105m. * D: Roman Polanski. Catherine Deneuve, Ian Hendry, John Fraser, Patrick Wymark, Yvonne Furneaux, James Villiers. Polanski's first English-language film is excellent psychological shocker depicting mental deterioration of sexually repressed girl left alone in her sister's apartment for several days. Hasn't lost a bit of its impact; will leave you feeling uneasy for days afterward. Screenplay by Polanski and Gerard Brach. ▼●●

Requiem for a Dream (2000) C-102m.  D: Darren Aronofsky. Ellen Burstyn, Jared Leto, Jennifer Connelly, Marlon Wayans, Christopher McDonald, Louise Lasser, Keith David, Sean Gulleite. While a young man slides deeper into a life of drugs, his mother, living on her own in a Brooklyn apartment, drifts into a dream world after getting hooked on diet pills. Burstyn is great, and Aronofsky uses attention-getting visuals to tell his story, but his characters' descent into hell is difficult to watch (to say the least). You'd expect no less from a collaboration between Aronofsky and Hubert Selby, Jr.; it's based on the latter's novel. Perhaps the only film to ever credit a Refrigerator Puppeteer! Originally shown in unrated version. [R] ▼●

Requiem for a Gunfighter (1965) C-91m. *½ D: Spencer G. Bennett. Rod Cameron, Stephen McNally, Mike Mazurki, Olive Sturges, Tim McCoy, John Mack Brown, Bob Steele, Lane Chandler, Raymond Hatton. Veteran cast is sole virtue of low-budget Western. Cameron impersonates a judge to ensure that justice is done at murder trial. Techniscope.

Requiem for a Heavyweight (1962) 100m.  D: Ralph Nelson. Anthony Quinn, Jackie Gleason, Mickey Rooney, Julie Harris, Nancy Cushman, Madame Spivy, Cassius Clay (Muhammad Ali). Grim account of fighter, Quinn, whose ring career is over, forcing him into corruption and degradation. His sleazy manager Gleason, sympathetic trainer Rooney, and Harris as unrealistic social worker are all fine. Adapted by Rod Serling from his great teleplay; original running time 87m. ▼●

Requiem for Dominic (1990-Austrian) C-90m. ½ D: Robert Dornhelm. Felix Mitterer, Viktoria Schubert, August Schmolzer, Angelica Schutz, Antonia Rados, Nikolas Vogel. True story about Romanian-born Austrian who returns to his homeland to be with his best friend, who's now accused of committing 80 murders. Set at the beginning of the anti-Communist movement in late 1989. Sometimes powerful, highly political film; director Dornhelm was a childhood friend of the accused man depicted in the story. ▼●

Rescue, The (1986) SEE: Let's Get Harry
Rescue Dawn (2007) C-126m.  D: Werner Herzog. Christian Bale, Steve Zahn, Jeremy Davies, Galen Yuen, Abhijati "Meuk" Jusakul, Chaiyan "Lek" Chunsuttiwat. Gripping reworking of Herzog's 1997 documentary LITTLE DIETER NEEDS TO FLY, about Dieter Dengler

(Bale), a German-born American who came of age in the Black Forest during WW2 and experienced firsthand the destruction of his hometown by American warplanes. Dengler later emigrated to the U.S., became a fighter pilot, and was shot down in 1965 during a top-secret bombing raid over Laos. His obsession to fly results in his being tortured and abused as a prisoner of war. An edge-of-your-seat POW story, this also serves as a commentary about the U.S. involvement in Vietnam. [PG-13] ●

Rescuers, The (1977) C-76m.  D: Wolfgang Reitherman, John Lounsbery, Art Stevens. Voices of Bob Newhart, Eva Gabor, Geraldine Page, Joe Flynn, Jeanette Nolan, Pat Buttram, Jim Jordan, John McIntire. Engaging, well-plotted Disney animated feature about Bernard and Bianca, members of the all-mouse Rescue Aid Society, and their efforts to save a little girl who's been kidnapped. Highlighted by some great supporting characters, including Orville the Albatross (voiced by radio's Fibber McGee, Jim Jordan), Evinrude the dragonfly, and the villainess Madame Medusa. Followed by a sequel. [G] ▼●●

Rescuers Down Under, The (1990) C-74m.  D: Hendl Butoy, Mike Gabriel. Voices of Bob Newhart, Eva Gabor, George C. Scott, John Candy, Tristram Rogers, Adam Ryan, Frank Welker. Entertaining—if plotty—sequel to the 1977 Disney animated feature, with amorous mice Bernard and Bianca, the unlikely agents from the Rescue Aid Society, traveling to Australia to help a young boy in trouble. Animation buffs will notice considerable computer-assisted animation, especially the villain's demon tractor. [G] ▼●●

Reservation Road (2007) C-102m. ½ D: Terry George. Joaquin Phoenix, Mark Ruffalo, Jennifer Connelly, Mira Sorvino, Elle Fanning, John Slattery. A perpetual screwup (Ruffalo) who craves his young son's love and respect swerves on a Connecticut road one evening and strikes a boy dead right in front of his family—then drives away before anyone can identify him. Balance of the story explores the anguish of the bereaved parents—and the driver's overpowering, paralyzing guilt. Intelligent, well-acted adaptation of John Burnham Schwartz's novel (which he wrote with George) . . . but emotionally demanding and tough to watch. [R] ●

Reservoir Dogs (1992) C-99m.  D: Quentin Tarantino. Harvey Keitel, Tim Roth, Michael Madsen, Chris Penn, Steve Buscemi, Lawrence Tierney, Randy Brooks, Kirk Baltz, Eddie Bunker, Quentin Tarantino; voice of Steven Wright. Precocious "shock" debut from writer-director-costar Tarantino echoes THE ASPHALT JUNGLE and THE KILLING: Post-mortem dissection of a fatally bungled jewel robbery boasts at least one unwatchably graphic torture scene

and the 1992 movie year's No. 1 mortality rate. Flashy—maybe too flashy—but fundamentally a story well told; nearly every performance is better than expected, with Tierney in his best role since the '40s. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Resident Evil (2002-German-U.S.-French) C-100m. *½ D: Paul Anderson. Milla Jovovich, Michelle Rodriguez, Eric Mabius, James Purefoy, Colin Salmon, Martin Crewes. Bloody, barely coherent high-tech horror film involving commandos who infiltrate The Hive, a top-secret underground research lab. Their mission: to battle a super-computer gone awry and a mutant virus that has transformed the lab's workers into flesh-eating zombies. This time killer recalls a host of other horror films, from ALIEN to DAWN OF THE DEAD. Based on a popular video game. Followed by three sequels. [R] ▼●

Resident Evil: Apocalypse (2004-German-French-British) C-94m. BOMB D: Alexander Witt. Milla Jovovich, Sienna Guillory, Oded Fehr, Jared Harris, Thomas Kretschmann, Sophie Vavasseur, Mike Epps, Iain Glen. Tiresome follow-up to RESIDENT EVIL plays more like a remake as the T-virus strikes again. As a result, the undead are out and about preying on the uninfected population of Raccoon City. Jovovich agrees to find a scientist's daughter on the condition that he will lead them out of town before a nuclear bomb is dropped. Only for fanatics of the video game. Followed by two sequels. Super 35. [R] ▼●

Resident Evil: Extinction (2007-Canadian-British) C-94m.  D: Russell Mulcahy. Milla Jovovich, Oded Fehr, Ali Larter, Iain Glen, Ashanti, Mike Epps. Third episode in sci-fi franchise finds the biogenetically enhanced Alice (Jovovich) aiding a dwindling group of non-zombies in a wasteland overrun with virus-infected flesh-eaters. Routine postapocalyptic action-adventure, recalling many ROAD WARRIOR knock-offs of the 1980s. Followed by a CGI DVD sequel. Super 35. [R] ●

Respiro (2002-Italian-French) C-90m.  D: Emanuele Crialesce. Valeria Golino, Vincenzo Amato, Francesco Casisa, Veronica D'Agostino, Filippo Pucillo, Muzzi Loffredo. Thoughtful, colorful account of a peasant family in a small Italian fishing village, focusing on an earthy, moody wife-mother (Golino); her family thinks she has a mental problem, but perhaps her dead-end lifestyle is to blame for her acting out. Memorable finale caps this compelling drama about individuals who are trapped and stifled by their environment. [PG-13] ▼●

Restless Breed, The (1957) C-81m.  D: Allan Dwan. Scott Brady, Anne Bancroft, Jim Davis, Scott Marlowe, Evelyn Rudie. Usual Western fare of Brady out to get his father's killer. ▼●●

Restless Years, The (1958) 86m.  D: Helmut Kautner. John Saxon, Sandra Dee, Margaret Lindsay, Teresa Wright, James Whitmore, Luana Patten, Virginia Grey, Jody McCrea. Overblown relic of its era, an Edward Anhalt-scripted PEYTON PLACE clone, in which illegitimate Dee is over-protected by neurotic mom Wright. Trouble comes when sensitive outsider Saxon—from "the wrong side of the tracks"—takes an interest in her. CinemaScope.

Restoration (1995) C-117m.  D: Michael Hoffman. Robert Downey, Jr., Sam Neill, David Thewlis, Polly Walker, Meg Ryan, Ian McKellen, Hugh Grant, Hugh McDiarmid. In 1600s England, a young doctor torn between duty and debauchery opts for the latter when he becomes a court favorite of King Charles II and a dummy bridegroom for one of the king's mistresses. Vivid period piece with contemporary parallels depends on Downey to draw us in—and he's excellent. Opulent production and an earnest cast buoy this film through its metamorphosis from costume romp to social drama, though it does sag during the second half. Oscar winner for Art Direction and Costume Design. Filmed in England and Wales. [R] ▼●●

Resurrecting the Champ (2007) C-111m.  D: Rod Lurie. Samuel L. Jackson, Josh Hartnett, Kathryn Morris, Alan Alda, Teri Hatcher, David Paymer, Peter Coyote, Harry J. Lennix. Engrossing drama, loosely based on fact, about a discontented Denver sportswriter who gets a career boost by profiling a onetime heavyweight contender now barely scraping by as a homeless drunk. Movie intelligently deals with issues of personal and professional integrity, with vivid character turns by Alda, Hatcher, and Coyote, but the main event is Jackson's knockout performance as a bloodied-but-unbowed ex-boxer whose story may be too good to be true. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Resurrection (1980) C-103m. ½ D: Daniel Petrie. Ellen Burstyn, Sam Shepard, Richard Farnsworth, Roberts Blossom, Clifford David, Pamela Payton-Wright, Eva LeGallienne. Beautifully realized story (by Lewis John Carlino) about a woman who returns to life from the brink of death with amazing healing powers. Burstyn's moving performance is the centerpiece of a wonderful and underrated film. [PG] ▼

Resurrection Syndicate, The SEE: Nothing but the Night

Retreat, Hell! (1952) 95m. ½ D: Joseph H. Lewis. Frank Lovejoy, Richard Carlson, Russ Tamblyn, Anita Louise. Grim drama chronicling the Marine withdrawal from Korea's Changjin Reservoir in the wake of a massive Chinese offensive. ▼

Return, The (1980) C-91m. BOMB D: Greydon Clark. Jan-Michael Vincent, Cybill Shepherd, Martin Landau, Raymond Burr,

Neville Brand, Brad Rearden, Vincent Schiavelli. Deadeningly dull story of a "close encounter" and how it affects two children and an old man in a small New Mexico town. Inept from start to finish. Retitled THE ALIEN'S RETURN. ▼

Return, The (2003-Russian) C-105m.  D: Andrei Zvyagintsev. Vladimir Garin, Ivan Dobronravov, Natalia Vdovina, Konstantin Lavronenko, Galina Petrova. A father who has been away for 12 years mysteriously reappears and takes his two sons to a remote island, where the supposed vacation turns into a test of their manhood and maturity. Absorbing and strikingly well made, this is a coming-of-age story like no other. Despite its clear Russian roots, the film deals with universal themes. ▼●

Return, The (2006) C-85m. *½ D: Asif Kapadia. Sarah Michelle Gellar, Peter O'Brien, Adam Scott, Kate Beahan, J. C. MacKenzie, Erin Allison, Sam Shepard. Young woman with a self-mutilation disorder, haunted by a waking dream she's had since age 11, digs into her rural roots to decipher enigmatic visions of bloody murder. Constantly thwarted by tight-lipped townspeople, she discovers that La Salle, Texas, seems to be the next town over from Silent Hill. To say more would spoil the total lack of surprise in this would-be supernatural thriller. Shepard (as the girl's father) tries to ground the film, but both he and Gellar are wasted. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Returner (2002-Japanese) C-117m. ½ D: Takashi Yamazaki. Takeshi Kaneshiro, Anne Suzuki, Goro Kishitani, Kirin Kiki, Yukio Okamoto, Mitsuro Murata, Kisuke Iida. Winsome young time traveler from 2084 tries to alter her war-ravaged future, helped only by a cool, all-but-Invincible Tokyo hit man. The plot—a remix of TERMINATOR, THE MATRIX, THE ABYSS, even E.T.—is buoyed by fine CGI, plenty of gunplay and kickboxing, and two engaging, energetic lead characters. Longish and familiar, but fun. [R] ▼●

Return From the Ashes (1965-British) 105m.  D: J. Lee Thompson. Maximilian Schell, Samantha Eggar, Ingrid Thulin, Herbert Lom, Talitha Pol. Engrossing melodrama of a philandering husband taking up with his stepdaughter when his wife is supposedly killed. Stars lend credibility to far-fetched proceedings. Panavision.

Return From the Past (1967) C-84m. BOMB D: David L. Hewitt. Lon Chaney, John Carradine, Rochelle Hudson, Roger Gentry. Veteran stars wasted in utter monstrosity; five tales of supernatural told here are five too many. Original titles: GALLERY OF HORROR, DR. TERROR'S GALLERY OF HORRORS, THE BLOOD SUCKERS. Totalvision. ▼●

Return From Witch Mountain (1978) C-95m.  D: John Hough. Bette Davis,

Christopher Lee, Kim Richards, Ike Eisenmann, Denver Pyle, Jack Soo, Dick Bakalyan. Sequel to ESCAPE TO WITCH MOUNTAIN has Davis and Lee kidnapping Eisenmann, hoping to put his special powers to evil use. Good fun from Disney. Followed three decades later by RACE TO WITCH MOUNTAIN. [G] ▼●●

Return of a Man Called Horse, The (1976) C-129m.  D: Irvin Kershner. Richard Harris, Gale Sondergaard, Geoffrey Lewis, Bill Lucking, Jorge Luke, Enrique Lucero. Excellent sequel has Harris returning from England to right wrongs done the Yellow Hand Sioux by whites. Sun Vow ceremony now performed by dozen braves. Magnificent score by Laurence Rosenthal; followed by TRIUMPHS OF A MAN CALLED HORSE. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Return of Captain Invincible, The (1983-Australian-U.S.) C-90m. ½ D: Philippe Mora. Alan Arkin, Christopher Lee, Kate Fitzpatrick, Michael Pate. Bizarre, campy comedy about drunken, derelict ex-superhero persuaded to come out of retirement sounds better than it works. Oddly placed musical numbers seem to aim for ROCKY HORROR ambience. Aka LEGEND IN LEOTARDS. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Return of Count Yorga, The (1971) C-97m. ½ D: Bob Kelljan. Robert Quarry, Mariette Hartley, Roger Perry, Yvonne Wilder. The Count goes out for more blood, wreaking havoc on nearby orphanage. [PG] ▼●

Return of Doctor X, The (1939) 62m.  D: Vincent Sherman. Humphrey Bogart, Rosemary Lane, Dennis Morgan, John Litel, Huntz Hall, Wayne Morris. Only Bogart as a creepy lab assistant makes this low-grade sci-fi yarn worth viewing. Despite the title, not a sequel to DOCTOR X. ●

Return of Don Camillo, The (1965-Italian) 115m. ½ D: Julien Duvivier. Fernandel, Gino Cervi, Charles Vissieres, Edouard Delmont. Fernandel is again the irresponsible smalltown Italian priest involved in more projects of goodwill.

Return of Frank James, The (1940) C-92m.  D: Fritz Lang. Henry Fonda, Gene Tierney, Jackie Cooper, Henry Hull, John Carradine, J. Edward Bromberg, Donald Meek. Fonda reprises role from 1939 JESSE JAMES in story of attempt to avenge his brother Jesse's death; colorful production was Tierney's film debut. ▼●●

Return of Jesse James, The (1950) 75m. ½ D: Arthur Hilton. John Ireland, Ann Dvorak, Henry Hull, Hugh O'Brian, Reed Hadley. Compact budget Western dealing with rumors that lookalike for outlaw is notorious gunslinger. ▼●

Return of Martin Guerre, The (1982-French) C-111m.  D: Daniel Vigne. Gérard Depardieu, Nathalie Baye, Roger Planchon, Maurice Jacquemont, Bernard

Pierre Donnadieu. Blockbuster art house hit, based on fact, about a 16th-century peasant who returns to his wife and family a much better person than the misfit he was seven years earlier; could it be that he's really an impostor? No artistic ground-breaker, but a solid romance and history lesson, well acted by the two leads. Alternate version runs 123m. Remade in 1993 as SOMMERSBY. ▼●●

Return of Maxwell Smart, The SEE: Nude Bomb, The

Return of Mr. Moto, The (1965-British) 71m. *½ D: Ernest Morris. Henry Silva, Terrence Longdon, Suzanne Lloyd, Marne Maitland, Martin Wyldck. Silva is miscast as the Oriental sleuth in a drab, lifeless update involving an international crime syndicate out to control world oil production (no, it's not OPEC). ●

Return of October, The (1948) C-98m.  D: Joseph H. Lewis. Glenn Ford, Terry Moore, Albert Sharpe, James Gleason, Steve Dunne. Moore is wholesome girl who thinks her horse (October) is a reincarnation of her favorite uncle, much to her relatives' consternation. Weird comedy written by Norman Panama and Melvin Frank.

Return of Sabata, The (1972-Italian-Spanish) C-106m. *½ D: Frank Kramer (Gianfranco Parolini). Lee Van Cleef, Reiner Schöne, Annabelle Incontrera, Jacqueline Alexandre, Pedro Sanchez (Ignazio Spalla). Last of the spaghetti Western series—and not a moment too soon—finds Van Cleef chasing down some baddies who bilked him out of $5,000. Techniscope. [PG] ▼●

Return of Superfly, The (1990) C-95m. *½ D: Sig Shore. Nathan Purdee, Margaret Avery, Leonard Thomas, Christopher Curry, David Groh, Samuel L. Jackson. Belated (and unnecessary) sequel with Purdee replacing Ron O'Neal as Priest; he's now an ex-drug dealer who goes up against his vicious, violent former cronies. Only interest is Curtis Mayfield's reworking of his original SUPERFLY score to incorporate rap music. [R] ▼

Return of Swamp Thing, The (1989) C-88m. *½ D: Jim Wynorski. Dick Durock, Heather Locklear, Louis Jourdan, Sarah Douglas, Daniel Taylor. The vegetable man superhero learns that mad scientist Jourdan, who's been blending people with animals, has similar designs on his chirpy stepdaughter Locklear. Oafish spoof sequel to straight original can't find a style and wastes time with two unfunny little boys. The comic books are much better. [PG-13] ▼●●

Return of the Bad Men (1948) 90m. ½ D: Ray Enright. Randolph Scott, Robert Ryan, Anne Jeffreys, George "Gabby" Hayes, Jacqueline White, Steve Brodie, Lex Barker. Newly settled Oklahoman Scott gets one female outlaw (Jeffreys) to go straight, but has a tougher time dealing with

Billy the Kid, The Dalton Gang, The Younger Brothers, and a particularly nasty Sundance Kid (Ryan) in this routine Western. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●

Return of the Dragon (1973-Hong Kong) C-91m. ½ D: Bruce Lee. Bruce Lee, Chuck Norris, Nora Miao. Country hick Lee visits relatives who run Chinese restaurant in Italy and helps fight off gangsters trying to take over. Many fine comic and action sequences, including final battle with Chuck Norris in Roman Colosseum. This was made before (but released after) ENTER THE DRAGON, which was Lee's final completed film. Aka WAY OF THE DRAGON. Widescreen. [R] ▼●●

Return of the Fly (1959) 80m. ½ D: Edward L. Bernds. Vincent Price, Brett Halsey, David Frankham, John Sutton, Dan Seymour, Danielle De Metz. Adequate sequel to THE FLY proves "like father, like son." Youth attempts to reconstruct his late father's teleportation machine and likewise gets scrambled with an insect. Followed six years later by CURSE OF THE FLY. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Return of the Jedi (1983) C-131m. ½ D: Richard Marquand. Mark Hamill, Harrison Ford, Carrie Fisher, Billy Dee Williams, Anthony Daniels, Peter Mayhew, Sebastian Shaw, Ian McDiarmid, David Prowse, Alec Guinness, Kenny Baker, Denis Lawson, Warwick Davis; voices of James Earl Jones, Frank Oz. Third installment in the STAR WARS saga is a sheer delight, following the destiny of Luke Skywalker as his comrades reunite to combat a powerful Death Star. Some routine performances are compensated for by ingenious new characters and Oscar-winning special effects. More sentimental and episodic than its predecessors, but carried out in the best tradition of Saturday matinee serials, from which it draws its inspiration. Full title on-screen is: STAR WARS EPISODE VI: RETURN OF THE JEDI. Special edition released in 1997 features enhanced effects and 4m. of additional footage. Followed by two Ewok adventures for TV and the prequel STAR WARS EPISODE I: THE PHANTOM MENACE. J-D-C Scope. [PG] ▼●●

Return of the Killer Tomatoes! (1988) C-99m. *½ D: John De Bello. Anthony Starke, George Clooney, Karen Mistal, Steve Lundquist, Charlie Jones, John Astin. Sequel to ATTACK OF THE KILLER TOMATOES!, this is a mild improvement. In a tomato-fearing world, mad scientist Astin is turning tomatoes into people and vice-versa; our hero falls for an attractive one-time tomato. Long, silly, but has its moments. Notable for early screen appearance by Clooney. Followed by KILLER TOMATOES STRIKE BACK. [PG] ▼●●

Return of the Living Dead, The (1985)

C-90m.  D: Dan O'Bannon. Clu Gulager, James Karen, Don Calfa, Thom Mathews, Beverly Randolph, John Philbin. What starts out as a spoof of George Romero's zombie films (with wonderful comic performance by Karen as supervisor of medical warehouse) loses its footing when the tone, and the violence, turn serious. Directing debut for sci-fi screenwriter O'Bannon. Followed by two sequels and two direct-to-video sequels. [R]▼●●

Return of the Living Dead Part II (1988) C-89m.  D: Ken Wiederhorn. James Karen, Thom Mathews, Michael Kenworthy, Marsha Dietlein, Dana Ashbrook, Suzanne Snyder. Awkward title identifies this as a sequel not to the George Romero zombie classics but rather the 1985 comedy offshoot. Inquisitive kids release deadly gas from a misplaced military canister, causing corpses from a nearby cemetery to rise and wreak havoc. [R]▼●●

Return of the Living Dead III (1993) C-97m. ½ D: Brian Yuzna. Mindy Clarke, J. Trevor Edmond, Kent McCord, Sarah Douglas, James T. Callahan, Mike Moroff, Sal Lopez. A very different approach from the first two entries results in a serious thriller about a teenager who uses the zombie gas to resurrect his girlfriend, with horrendous results. An intelligent, gruesomely imaginative, and tragic love story, but it doesn't know when to quit. [R]▼●●

Return of the Magnificent Seven SEE: Return of the Seven

Return of the Musketeers, The (1989-British-French-Spanish) C-101m. ½ D: Richard Lester. Michael York, Oliver Reed, Frank Finlay, C. Thomas Howell, Kim Cattrall, Richard Chamberlain, Philippe Noiret, Roy Kinnear, Geraldine Chaplin, Christopher Lee, Eusebio Lazaro, Jean-Pierre Cassel, Billy Connolly. Twenty years after the death of Milady de Winter, d'Artagnan (York) tries to reunite the remaining musketeers to save Queen Anne from the machinations of the devious Cardinal Mazarin (deliciously played by Noiret). Lester's follow-up to his two '70s classics is only partially successful, straining for a jaunty charm that just isn't there, but actually gets better as it goes along. Released directly to cable-TV in the U.S. in 1991. Sadly, Roy Kinnear, who played Planchet in all three films, died in an equestrian accident during production. Based on the Alexandre Dumas novel Twenty Years Later. [PG]▼●

Return of the Pink Panther, The (1975-British) C-113m. ½ D: Blake Edwards. Peter Sellers, Christopher Plummer, Catherine Schell, Herbert Lom, Burt Kwouk, Peter Arne, Gregoire Aslan, Andre Maranne, Victor Spinetti. Fourth PANTHER film, and first with Sellers since A SHOT IN THE DARK. Inspector Clouseau is a superb comedy character, but director-writer Edwards thinks big, violent gags are funny. Best part of this diamond-heist farce is the opening title, animated by Richard Williams and Ken Harris. Immediate sequel—THE PINK PANTHER STRIKES AGAIN—is much better. Panavision. [G]▼●●

Return of the Scarlet Pimpernel, The (1938-British) 88m.  D: Hans Schwartz. Barry K. Barnes, Sophie Stewart, Margaretta Scott, James Mason, Francis Lister, Anthony Bushell. Far below stunning original, with lower production values and less-than-stellar cast in costume set in 1790s London and Paris. Original British running time: 94m.

Return of the Secaucus Seven (1980) C-106m.  D: John Sayles. Mark Arnott, Gordon Clapp, Maggie Cousineau, Adam Lefevre, Bruce MacDonald, Jean Passanante, Maggie Renzi, David Strathairn. A simple low-budget film about a weekend reunion of good friends who shared the '60s radical college life and have since gone in different directions. Credible, winning performances (including one by director-writer Sayles, as Howie) enhance a script that seems to tell the story of an entire generation. Filmed with then unknown actors for a reported budget of $60,000! An interesting precursor to THE BIG CHILL. [R]▼●

Return of the Seven (1966) C-96m.  D: Burt Kennedy. Yul Brynner, Robert Fuller, Warren Oates, Jordan Christopher, Claude Akins, Emilio Fernandez. The gang has reformed for more protection in this drab sequel to THE MAGNIFICENT SEVEN; it was a lot more fun when Eli Wallach was the heavy. Followed by GUNS OF THE MAGNIFICENT SEVEN. Aka RETURN OF THE MAGNIFICENT SEVEN. Panavision.▼●●

Return of the Soldier, The (1981-British) C-101m.  D: Alan Bridges. Alan Bates, Julie Christie, Glenda Jackson, Ann-Margret, Ian Holm, Frank Finlay. A shell-shocked soldier comes home from WWI with no memory of the last 20 years, but feels a vague dissatisfaction with his life, as personified by wife Christie. Top cast in this adaptation of Rebecca West's first novel, but it's slow going, and ultimately not that interesting.▼●

Return of the Street Fighter (1974-Japanese) C-76m.  D: Shigehiro Ozawa. Shin-ichi "Sonny" Chiba, Yoko Ichiji, Masafumi Suzuki, Donald Nakajima, Milton Ishibashi. After refusing to carry out a hit for the mob, Chiba is targeted for execution himself. First sequel in the series is just a routine continuation of the original—a mélange of hilariously bad dubbing and brutal martial arts action—highlighted by a vicious fight in a steam bath. Followed by THE STREET FIGHTER'S LAST REVENGE. Action-scope. [R]▼●●

Return of the Tall Blond Man With One

Black Shoe, The (1974-French) C-84m. ½ D: Yves Robert. Pierre Richard, Mireille Darc, Michel Duchaussoy, Jean Rochefort, Jean Carmet. Sequel to the 1972 hit reunites the principals for a lesser if still entertaining sendup of the spy game. Spy chief Rochefort wants violinist Richard killed, but the tall blond avoids danger without even realizing what's happening. Nice shots of Rio and a fairly deft James Bond takeoff help offset slow buildup. ▼

Return of the Texan (1952) 88m.  D: Delmer Daves. Dale Robertson, Joanne Dru, Walter Brennan, Richard Boone, Robert Horton. Flabby Western about Robertson et al. fighting to save his ranch.

Return of the Texas Chainsaw Massacre SEE: Texas Chainsaw Massacre: The Next Generation

Return of the Vampire, The (1943) 69m.  D: Lew Landers. Bela Lugosi, Frieda Inescort, Nina Foch, Roland Varno, Miles Mander, Matt Willis. Lugosi plays a vampire in wartorn London (with a werewolf assistant!) in limp attempt to capitalize on previous success as Dracula. Final scene is memorable, though. ▼●●

Return to Boggy Creek (1977) C-87m.  D: Tom Moore. Dawn Wells, Dana Plato. More sightings of monsters in this sequel to THE LEGEND OF BOGGY CREEK, but this time two children are involved. G-rated nonsense may intrigue young viewers. Followed by THE BARBARIC BEAST OF BOGGY CREEK PART II, which is actually the third Boggy Creek film. [G] ▼

Return to Macon County (1975) C-90m. *½ D: Richard Compton. Don Johnson, Nick Nolte, Robin Mattson, Robert Viharo, Eugene Daniels, Matt Greene. Unworthy follow-up to MACON COUNTY LINE, as youngsters get mixed up in drag races, sex, the law, violence and murder, in about that order. Nolte's first film. [PG] ▼

Return to Me (2000) C-116m.  D: Bonnie Hunt. David Duchovny, Minnie Driver, Carroll O'Connor, Robert Loggia, Bonnie Hunt, David Alan Grier, Joely Richardson, James Belushi, Eddie Jones, William Bronder. Thoroughly engaging romantic comedy-drama about a man who loses his wife, then chances to meet a woman whose life has been saved by a heart transplant. Sincere performances by the leads and a joyous ensemble (including O'Connor as Driver's Irish grandfather and Loggia as her Italian uncle) make this heartwarmer a pleasure to watch. Impressive feature directing debut for Hunt, who costars and wrote the script with Don Lake (who plays the hair transplant man). [PG] ▼●

Return to Never Land (2002) C-72m. ½ D: Robin Budd. Voices of Harriet Owen, Blayne Weaver, Corey Burton, Jeff Bennett, Kath Soucie, Dan Castellaneta,

Spencer Breslin, Russi Taylor, Roger Rees, Clive Revill. Sequel to Disney's PETER PAN is set in wartorn London, where Wendy's sober daughter Jane is kidnapped by Captain Hook and whisked away to Never Land. Peter Pan comes to her rescue and must restore her sense of childhood imagination in order to fly her home. Minor-league Disney feature was produced by the TV animation department for video release, but deemed worthy of theatrical showings instead. OK but strictly for kids. [G] ▼●

Return to Oz (1985) C-110m.  D: Walter Murch. Nicol Williamson, Jean Marsh, Fairuza Balk, Piper Laurie, Matt Clark. Distressingly downbeat sequel to THE WIZARD OF OZ, with Dorothy fleeing a spooky sanitarium in Kansas to return to her beloved land—only to find evil rulers now in charge. Many colorful characters, but few engender any warmth or feeling. Best moments involve Will Vinton's Claymation effects, where rock faces come to life. Best sequence: final showdown with the Nome King. Inauspicious directing debut for celebrated sound technician Murch (who cowrote script). [PG] ▼●●

Return to Paradise (1953) C-100m.  D: Mark Robson. Gary Cooper, Roberta Haynes, Barry Jones, Moira MacDonald. Lackluster South Sea tale of beach bum Cooper in love with native girl; loosely based on James Michener's story. Filmed in Samoa. ▼

Return to Paradise (1998) C-109m. ½ D: Joseph Ruben. Vince Vaughn, Anne Heche, Joaquin Phoenix, David Conrad, Jada Pinkett Smith, Vera Farmiga. Two years after a wild, carefree trip to Malaysia, a woman tracks down two young men in N.Y.C. and tells them that if they don't return, the friend they made during their trip will be hanged for possession of hashish that really belonged to them. A rare contemporary film about responsibility, and a crisis of conscience, is weakened by the introduction of a love story. Still interesting, however, with strong performances all around. Remake of the 1990 French film FORCE MAJEURE. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Return to Peyton Place (1961) C-122m.  D: Jose Ferrer. Carol Lynley, Jeff Chandler, Eleanor Parker, Mary Astor, Robert Sterling, Luciana Paluzzi, Brett Halsey, Gunnar Hellstrom, Tuesday Weld, Bob Crane. Muddled follow-up to PEYTON PLACE suffers from faulty direction, and, save for stalwarts Astor and Parker, miscasting. Followed by TV movie MURDER IN PEYTON PLACE. CinemaScope. ▼●

Return to Salem's Lot, A (1987) C-96m.  D: Larry Cohen. Michael Moriarty, Ricky Addison Reed, Samuel Fuller, Andrew Duggan, Evelyn Keyes, Jill Gatsby, June Havin, Ronee Blakley, James Dixon, David Holbrook, Tara Reid. Anthropologist Moriarty, trying to befriend his estranged

son, is lured to a small Maine town where the populace—almost all vampires—want him to write their history. Typically cheap, oddball Cohen film, which he cowrote, has little to do with Stephen King's novel or the TV movie based on it. [R]▼

Return to Snowy River (1988-Australian) C-97m. ½ D: Geoff Burrowes. Tom Burlinson, Sigrid Thornton, Brian Dennehy, Nicholas Eadie, Bryan Marshall. Follow-up to THE MAN FROM SNOWY RIVER is not nearly as good. Young Burlinson must again prove his worth as he battles villainous Eadie, who's become engaged to his beloved (Thornton). All those shots of galloping horses, however, are still eye-popping. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Return to the Blue Lagoon (1991) C-100m. BOMB D: William A. Graham. Brian Krause, Milla Jovovich, Lisa Pelikan, Garette Patrick Ratliff, Courtney Barilla. The two-year-old son of LAGOON 1's deceased parents is rescued by a ship carrying a widow and her year-old daughter; circumstances (read: cholera) force the trio onto another tropical island, so the kids can eventually partake in PG-13 prurience. [PG-13]▼●●

Return to the Lost World (1994-Canadian) C-99m. *½ D: Timothy Bond. John Rhys-Davies, David Warner, Eric McCormack, Nathania Stanford, Darren Peter Mercer, Tamara Gorski. In this sequel to THE LOST WORLD (1993), shot at the same time in 1991, bad Belgians begin to exploit The Lost World, so Challenger and friends come to the rescue. Long, weary sequel has even fewer dinosaurs than the first film, if that's possible. An insult to Conan Doyle. Good performances by Rhys-Davies and Warner are lost in this world. [PG]▼●

Return to Treasure Island (1954-Australian) SEE: Long John Silver

Reuben, Reuben (1983) C-101m.  D: Robert Ellis Miller. Tom Conti, Kelly McGillis, Roberts Blossom, Cynthia Harris, E. Katherine Kerr, Joel Fabiani, Kara Wilson, Lois Smith. Boozey Scottish poet (an amalgam of Dylan Thomas and Brendan Behan) sponges off hospitable women in New England college town—then falls in love with beautiful young student McGillis (in her film debut). Deliciously witty script by Julius J. Epstein (adapted from writings of Peter DeVries) and fine performances help offset general feeling of anachronism about the film . . . and a curious finale. [R]▼

Reunion (1989-French-German-British) C-110m.  D: Jerry Schatzberg. Jason Robards, Christian Anholt, Samuel West, Alexander Trauner, Françoise Fabian, Maureen Kerwin, Barbara Jefford. Elderly Jewish man journeys back to Stuttgart, Germany, to seek out boyhood friend he hasn't seen since leaving for the U.S. in 1933. Much of the film is told in flashback, with Anholt giving a fine performance as high-school-age Robards, and West equally good as his Aryan chum. Screenplay by Harold Pinter; veteran art director Trauner, who designed the film, has a small role as a porter. Panavision. [PG-13]▼

Reunion in France (1942) 104m.  D: Jules Dassin. Joan Crawford, John Wayne, Philip Dorn, Reginald Owen, Albert Bassermann, John Carradine, Henry Daniell. Glossy romance, with Frenchwoman Crawford believing fiancé Dorn is a Nazi collaborator; she hides (and falls for) American flyer Wayne. Propaganda elements date badly. Watch for Ava Gardner as a salesgirl. ▼

Reveille With Beverly (1943) 78m.  D: Charles Barton. Ann Miller, William Wright, Dick Purcell, Franklin Pangborn, Larry Parks. Miller plays a versatile disk jockey throwing "big show" for servicemen. Jazz fans will shoot that rating higher, since guest stars include Frank Sinatra, Mills Brothers, Bob Crosby, Count Basie, and Duke Ellington.

Revenge (1971-British) SEE: Inn of the Frightened People

Revenge (1979) SEE: Blood Feud

Revenge (1986) C-100m. BOMB D: Christopher Lewis. Patrick Wayne, John Carradine, Bennie Lee McGowan. Boring, filmed sequel to the videotaped horror opus BLOOD CULT details the further goings-on of a Tulsa, Oklahoma, devil-worship cult led this time by (who else?) Carradine, that preys on students for human sacrifices. Strictly for fans of mindless violence; never released theatrically. Director Lewis is (gulp!) Loretta Young's son. [R]▼

Revenge (1990) C-124m. *½ D: Tony Scott. Kevin Costner, Anthony Quinn, Madeleine Stowe, Sally Kirkland, Tomas Milian, Joaquin Martinez, James Gammon, Miguel Ferrer, Joe Santos, John Leguizamo. Navy pilot Costner (yes, Tony—we know you directed TOP GUN) visits power-broker pal Quinn at his posh Mexican estate; soon he and Stowe (Quinn's young Mrs.) are enjoying a closet quickie, in both senses of the term. Ponderous mix of the slick and the sordid died at the box office; the second half—source of the film's title—is especially tough to endure. Director's cut runs 100m. Panavision. [R]▼●

Revenge of Dracula, The SEE: Dracula vs. Frankenstein (1971)

Revenge of Frankenstein, The (1958-British) C-91m.  D: Terence Fisher. Peter Cushing, Francis Matthews, Eunice Gayson, Michael Gwynn, Lionel Jeffries, John Welsh. Sequel to THE CURSE OF FRANKENSTEIN is quite effective with the good doctor still making a new body from others, ably assisted by hunchback dwarf and young medical student. Thought-provoking script has fine atmosphere, especially in color. Followed by THE EVIL OF FRANKENSTEIN. ▼●●

Revenge of the Creature (1955) 82m.  D: Jack Arnold. John Agar, Lori Nelson, John Bromfield, Nestor Paiva, Robert B. Williams. OK sequel to CREATURE FROM THE BLACK LAGOON destroys much of that film's mystery and terror by removing Gill Man from Amazonian home and placing him in Florida oceanarium. Originally in 3-D. Clint Eastwood has his first screen role as lab technician. ▼●●

Revenge of the Dead (1958) 69m. BOMB D: Edward D. Wood, Jr. Duke Moore, Kenne Duncan, Paul Marco, Tor Johnson, John Carpenter, Valda Hansen, Jeannie Stevens, Criswell. Long-lost sequel to BRIDE OF THE MONSTER (and to a lesser extent, PLAN 9 FROM OUTER SPACE) doesn't reach the same heights of lunacy, but is still dreadful enough to tickle any bad-movie fan. "Ghosts" have been sighted in East L.A., so cops Moore and Marco are once more shoved into action; the trail leads to phony mystic Dr. Acula (Duncan, who really looks like he's in a trance). The incomparable Criswell again narrates the proceedings, this time from a coffin. Sat unreleased for 25 years because Wood couldn't pay the lab bill! Retitled NIGHT OF THE GHOULS. ▼●●

Revenge of the Nerds (1984) C-90m.  D: Jeff Kanew. Robert Carradine, Anthony Edwards, Timothy Busfield, Andrew Cassese, Curtis Armstrong, Larry B. Scott, Julie Montgomery, Michelle Meyrink, Ted McGinley, Matt Salinger, John Goodman, Bernie Casey, Jamie (James) Cromwell. Geeky college freshmen, tired of being humiliated by the campus jocks and coed cuties, form their own fraternity, leading to all-out war. As raunchy teen comedies go, not bad, helped by two leads' likable performances. Followed by several sequels. [R] ▼●●

Revenge of the Nerds II: Nerds in Paradise (1987) C-98m. ½ D: Joe Roth. Robert Carradine, Curtis Armstrong, Larry B. Scott, Timothy Busfield, Courtney Thorne-Smith, Andrew Cassese, Donald Gibb, Ed Lauter, Anthony Edwards, Jamie (James) Cromwell. Sequel, set at a fraternity gathering in Ft. Lauderdale, is strictly by-the-numbers; once again the geeky "heroes" manage to triumph over their beefier (but not brainier) college counterparts . . . but this is a lot less fun than the original. Edwards, Carradine's costar in the first picture, makes a token appearance. Followed by 1992 TV sequel. [PG-13] ▼●●

Revenge of the Ninja (1983) C-88m.  D: Sam Firstenberg. Sho Kosugi, Keith Vitali, Virgil Frye, Arthur Roberts, Mario Gallo. Good ninja Kosugi takes on evil ninja Roberts, a heroin smuggler/kidnaper/killer. Kung fu aficionados should enjoy it, otherwise beware. A follow-up to ENTER THE NINJA, followed by NINJA III—THE DOMINATION. [R] ▼●

Revenge of the Pink Panther (1978) C-99m.  D: Blake Edwards. Peter Sellers, Herbert Lom, Robert Webber, Dyan Cannon, Burt Kwouk, Robert Loggia, Paul Stewart, Andre Maranne, Graham Stark, Ferdy Mayne. Sellers' final go-round as bumbling Inspector Clouseau is one of the dullest, until a bright wrap-up in Hong Kong with some good sight gags and plenty of spark from Cannon. The "plot" has Clouseau supposedly murdered, allowing him to find "killer" incognito. Followed by TRAIL OF THE PINK PANTHER. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Revenge of Ukeno-Jo, The SEE: Actor's Revenge, An

Revergers, The (1972) C-112m. BOMB D: Daniel Mann. William Holden, Ernest Borgnine, Susan Hayward, Woody Strode, Roger Hanin, Rene Koldehoff. Rancher goes after those who massacred his family. Hayward (in her final theatrical feature) is the only good thing about this terrible Western. Panavision. [PG]

Revergers' Comedies, The SEE: Sweet Revenge (1999)

Reversal of Fortune (1990) C-120m. ½ D: Barbet Schroeder. Glenn Close, Jeremy Irons, Ron Silver, Annabella Sciorra, Uta Hagen, Fisher Stevens, Jack Gilpin, Christine Baranski, Stephen Mailer, Felicity Huffman. Tantalizing and complex film, embracing drama and very black comedy, sparked by Irons' devastating Oscar-winning performance as the aristocratic, enigmatic Claus von Bülow, who was accused of attempting to murder his socialite wife Sunny. Silver is perfectly cast as real-life Harvard law professor Alan Dershowitz, who agreed to take on the challenge of reversing the jury's decision. Teasingly ambiguous, and one of the most strikingly structured narrative films ever made. Scripted by Nicholas Kazan from Dershowitz's book. Julie Hagerty has small, unbilled role. [R] ▼●●

Revolution (1985) C-123m. BOMB D: Hugh Hudson. Al Pacino, Donald Sutherland, Nastassja Kinski, Joan Plowright, Dave King, Annie Lennox, Steven Berkoff, Jesse Birdsall, Graham Greene, Robbie Coltrane. Only a half-dozen or so movies have dealt more than superficially with the Revolutionary War; thanks to this megabomb, it may be 2776 until we get another one. Pacino, two centuries too contemporary to be convincing, is the trapper whose boat and son are conscripted by the Continental Army; Kinski is the headstrong rebel from a family of Tories. Ludicrous script and acting sink some splendid production values. Reedited by Hudson, with new narration by Pacino, in 2009; this version runs 115m. Super 35. [PG] ▼●●

Revolutionary, The (1970) C-100m.  D: Paul Williams. Jon Voight, Jennifer Salt, Seymour Cassel, Robert Duvall. Tight, well-written study of a college youth who slowly gets drawn into role of political revolutionary with near-tragic results. Hans Koning adapted his novel. [PG] ▼

Revolutionary Road (2008-U.S.-British) C-119m. ½ D: Sam Mendes. Leonardo DiCaprio, Kate Winslet, Kathy Bates, Michael Shannon, Kathryn Hahn, David Harbour, Dylan Baker, Richard Easton, Zoe Kazan, Jay O. Sanders, Max Casella. Intense adaptation of Richard Yates' novel about a young couple whose love cannot overcome a feeling of discontent creeping into their supposedly ideal existence in the suburbs of N.Y.C. in the 1950s. Gloomy, to say the least. Superior acting by the entire ensemble (including the two stars, reunited for the first time since TITANIC in 1997) and meticulous craftsmanship can't compensate for lack of character development that one might find in the book. And where do the couple's kids disappear to all the time? Super 35. [R] ●

Revolution Will Not Be Televised, The (2002-Irish-Dutch-U.S.-German-Finnish-British) C-74m. ½ D: Kim Bartley, Donacha O'Briain. A European film crew on location in Caracas is amazed to find itself amidst a violent uprising that temporarily ousts Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez. Sharp editing and pointed narration strongly suggest covert U.S. involvement in the attempted coup of the charismatic Chavez, who is always center stage in this surprisingly enjoyable documentary. Sound bites contributed by Colin Powell, George Tenet, and Jesse Helms. Aka CHAVEZ: INSIDE THE COUP.

Revolver (2005-British-French) C-115m.  D: Guy Ritchie. Jason Statham, Ray Liotta, Vincent Pastore, André Benjamin, Terence Maynard, Francesca Annis, Andrew Howard, Mark Strong. Gambler spends seven years in prison perfecting his game; when he gets out he defeats (and humiliates) a casino boss, who puts out a hit on him. Two strangers come to his aid and the ultimate con is on—but who's conning who? So confusing it would take a book called Revolver for Dummies to figure it out. Ritchie throws in all the visual gimmicks he can. After a dismal reception in England, he recut the film for long-delayed U.S. release in 2007, to no avail. Super 35. [R] ●

Reward, The (1965) C-92m. ½ D: Serge Bourguignon. Max von Sydow, Yvette Mimieux, Efreim Zimbalist, Jr., Gilbert Roland, Emilio Fernandez, Henry Silva, Rodolfo Acosta. Promising premise and good cast led astray in static Western: group of bounty hunters turn on each other, as greed for larger share of reward money goads them into conflict. CinemaScope.

Rhapsody (1954) C-115m. ½ D: Charles Vidor. Elizabeth Taylor, Vittorio Gassman, John Ericson, Louis Calhern, Michael Chekhov. Three-cornered romance among rich Taylor, violinist Gassman, and pianist Ericson: melodic interludes bolster this soap opera. Script by Fay and Michael Kanin. ▼

Rhapsody in August (1991-Japanese) C-98m. ½ D: Akira Kurosawa. Sachiko Murase, Richard Gere, Hisashi Igawa, Narumi Kayashima. Thoughtful but (by his standards) minor Kurosawa, about the painful memories of a Japanese grandmother who recalls the bombing of Nagasaki at the end of WW2. Gere, in a glorified cameo, doesn't seem too out of place as a Japanese-American member of the old woman's extended clan. The director manages a few memorable visual touches, but talky film never quite recovers from its nearly static opening. [PG] ▼●●

Rhapsody in Blue (1945) 139m.  D: Irving Rapper. Robert Alda, Joan Leslie, Alexis Smith, Oscar Levant, Charles Coburn, Julie Bishop, Albert Basserman, Morris Carnovsky, Herbert Rudley, Rosemary DeCamp, Paul Whiteman, Hazel Scott, Al Jolson. Hollywood biography of George Gershwin is largely pulp fiction, but comes off better than most other composer biopics, capturing Gershwin's enthusiasm for his work, and some of his inner conflicts. Highlight is virtually complete performance of title work. ▼●●

Rhinestone (1984) C-111m. *½ D: Bob Clark. Sylvester Stallone, Dolly Parton, Richard Farnsworth, Ron Leibman, Tim Thomerson. Parton bets that she can turn anyone into a country singer—even N.Y.C. cabdriver Stallone. Contrived, comball comedy with acres of unfunny dialogue. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Rhinoceros (1974) C-101m. BOMB D: Tom O'Horgan. Zero Mostel, Gene Wilder, Karen Black, Robert Weil, Joe Silver, Marilyn Chris. Eugene Ionesco entry in "Theater of the Absurd" makes sorry transition from stage to screen as clerk Wilder refuses to conform by turning into a pachyderm. The performers try. An American Film Theater Production. [PG] ▼●

Rhubarb (1951) 95m.  D: Arthur Lubin. Ray Milland, Jan Sterling, Gene Lockhart, William Frawley, Elsie Holmes, Taylor Holmes, Leonard Nimoy. Eccentric Lockhart owns the Brooklyn Loons baseball team; he dies and leaves the club to his spunky pet cat. Spirited comedy, based on a famous story by H. Allen Smith. ●

Rhythm on the Range (1936) 85m. ½ D: Norman Taurog. Bing Crosby, Frances Farmer, Bob Burns, Martha Raye, Lucille Gleason, Samuel S. Hinds, Louis Prima, Leo-

mid Kinskey. Spoiled N.Y.C. society girl runs away on the eve of her wedding and heads West, tangling with ranch hand Crosby along the way. Engaging, featherweight musical comedy includes Bing's beautiful rendition of "I Can't Escape From You." Extended performance of Johnny Mercer's "I'm an Old Cowhand (from the Rio Grande)" features an unbilled Louis Prima and the Sons of the Pioneers (including Roy Rogers). Remade as PARDNERS. ▼●●

Rhythm on the River (1940) 92m.  D: Victor Schertzinger. Bing Crosby, Mary Martin, Basil Rathbone, Oscar Levant, Oscar Shaw, Charley Grapewin, William Frawley, Lillian Cornell, Wingy Manone. Breezy musical has Crosby ghostwriting music for Rathbone and meeting up with Martin, never dreaming that she's been hired to ghostwrite the lyrics. First-rate songs by Johnny Burke and James Monaco; director Schertzinger contributed "I Don't Want to Cry Any More." Billy Wilder cowrote the story. ▼●●

Rhythm Romance SEE: Some Like It Hot (1939)

Rhythm Thief (1995) 88m. ½ D: Matthew Harrison. Jason Andrews, Eddie Daniels, Kevin Corrigan, Kimberly Flynn, Sean Hagerty, Mark Alfred, Christopher Cooke, Bob McGrath. At once intriguing and pretentious ultra-low-budget portrait of aloof but agonized Andrews, who lives on N.Y.C.'s grimy Lower East Side and earns his keep by selling tapes of illicitly recorded rock music. Original and provocative at times, but too often revels in its artiness. Filmed in 11 days, for $11,000. ▽

Rich and Famous (1981) C-117m.  D: George Cukor. Jacqueline Bisset, Candice Bergen, David Selby, Hart Bochner, Steven Hill, Meg Ryan, Matt Lattanzi, Michael Brandon. Muddled, misguided remake of OLD ACQUAINTANCE, with Bisset and Bergen as women who maintain a stormy friendship for more than 20 years, despite rivalries in love and career. Idiomatic dialogue and Bisset's sexual ruminations weaken what should have been a strong contemporary version of John Van Druten's story. Bisset's company produced. Among guests at Malibu party are Marsha Hunt, Christopher Isherwood, and Roger Vadim; later party offers glimpses of Ray Bradbury, Nina Foch, and Frances Bergen (Candice's mother). Cukor's last film; Meg Ryan's first. [R] ▼●●

Rich and Strange (1932-British) 83m. ½ D: Alfred Hitchcock. Henry Kendall, Joan Barry, Betty Amann, Percy Marmont, Elsie Randolph. Kendall and Barry, married and bored are given money and travel around the world; he has affair with a "princess," while she becomes romantically attached to an explorer. Fragmented, offbeat drama (until the finale). ▼●●

Richard Pryor Here and Now (1983) C-83m. *½ D: Richard Pryor. The comedian's fourth concert film is his least satisfying to date, though hecklers in the audience are as much to blame as any defects in Pryor's material. Some amusing bits on drunks and dopeheads, plus some biting digs at the Reagan White House. Filmed on Bourbon Street in New Orleans. [R] ▼●●

Richard Pryor Is Back Live in Concert (1979) C-78m.  D: Jeff Margolis. Pryor's still funny, but much of the material is ripped off from RICHARD PRYOR—LIVE IN CONCERT, released earlier that year.

Richard Pryor—Live in Concert (1979) C-78m.  D: Jeff Margolis. Pryor on race, sex, machismo, death, filmed in performance in Long Beach, California. The comedian, uncensored, is at his raunchy best. ▼●●

Richard Pryor Live on the Sunset Strip (1982) C-82m. ½ D: Joe Layton. Pryor on Africa, sex, lawyers, his wife, sex, Italian mobsters, more sex, and—invariably—freebasing. Some of it's funny, some isn't, but the audience is always shown doubled over with laughter. [R] ▼●●

Richard's Things (1980-British) C-104m.  D: Anthony Harvey. Liv Ullmann, Amanda Redman, Tim Pigott-Smith, Elizabeth Spriggs, David Markham. Widow Ullmann is seduced by her late husband's girlfriend. Dreary drama, with a catatonic performance by Liv. Screenplay by Frederic Raphael, based on his novel. Made for British TV. [R] ▼

Richard III (1955-British) C-155m. ½ D: Laurence Olivier. Laurence Olivier, John Gielgud, Ralph Richardson, Claire Bloom, Alec Clunes, Cedric Hardwicke, Stanley Baker, Pamela Brown, Michael Gough. Elaborate if stagy version of Shakespeare's chronicle of ambitious 15th-century British king and his court intrigues. Some prints run 139m. VistaVision. ▼●●

Richard III (1995-U.S.-British) C-104m.  D: Richard Loncraine. Ian McKellen, Annette Bening, Jim Broadbent, Robert Downey, Jr., Nigel Hawthorne, Kristin Scott Thomas, Maggie Smith, John Wood, Jim Carter, Adrian Dunbar, Edward Hardwicke, Tim McInnerny, Bill Paterson, Donald Sumpter, Dominic West. Ingenious resetting of Shakespeare's drama of multiple murders and political intrigue in 1930s England, during a Fascist coup. McKellen dominates the screen as the devil incarnate, with a persona for every occasion. Visually compelling, often shocking (with glamour, sex, drugs, and violence), and yet doesn't fully capture the power of McKellen's (and Richard Eyre's) stage production, on which it is based. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Rich Girl (1991) C-96m. ½ D: Joel Bender. Jill Schoelen, Don Michael Paul,

Sean Kanan, Ron Karabatsos, Paul Gleason, Bentley Mitchum. Extremely mild time-filler about "poor little rich girl" Schoelen leaving her life of ease in her daddy's Bel-Air mansion and trying to make it on her own, eventually hooking up with a blue-collar rock singer. [R]▼●

Richie Rich (1994) C-95m. ½ D: Donald Petrie. Macaulay Culkin, John Larroquette, Edward Herrmann, Jonathan Hyde, Christine Ebersole, Stephi Lineburg, Michael McShane, Chelcie Ross, Ben Stein. Amusing kids' film with Culkin as the comic-book character Richie Rich, the world's wealthiest boy—which naturally makes him the target of a scheming bad guy (Larroquette). Hyde is excellent as the boy's very proper valet/companion, and Herrmann and Ebersole are endearing as Richie's parents. Avoids some of the formulaic crudity of John Hughes movies, but weakens during the protracted action finale. Followed by a direct-to-video sequel. [PG]▼●●

Rich in Love (1993) C-105m. ½ D: Bruce Beresford. Albert Finney, Jill Clayburgh, Kathryn Erbe, Kyle MacLachlan, Piper Laurie, Ethan Hawke, Suzy Amis, Alfre Woodard. The people behind DRIVING MISS DAISY have taken Josephine Humphreys' novel and tried hard to weave another evocative Southern tale; they don't really succeed, but there are many fine moments. Film centers on teenager (Erbe, in an award-calibre performance) trying to hold her extended family together; among the members are her idle father (another great Finney portrayal), absent mother, and nutty sister. Beautiful touches both in script and visualization are offset by unfocused, meandering story. [PG-13]▼●●

Rich Kids (1979) C-101m.  D: Robert M. Young. Trini Alvarado, Jeremy Levy, John Lithgow, Kathryn Walker, David Selby, Terry Kiser, Paul Dooley, Olympia Dukakis, Jill Eikenberry. Alvarado and Levy are upper class N.Y.C. kids who become best friends as her parents are dissolving their marriage. Effect of divorce is focal point for this fine acting showcase, which also makes good use of N.Y.C. locations. Produced by Robert Altman. [PG]▼

Rich Man's Wife, The (1996) C-94m. BOMB D: Amy Holden Jones. Halle Berry, Christopher McDonald, Clive Owen, Peter Greene, Charles Hallahan, Frankie Faison, Clea Lewis. Abandoned Berry somehow gets picked up by a shady character following a vacation tiff with her husband. This leads to a murder-blackmail situation conceived by a filmmaker who's seen STRANGERS ON A TRAIN one too many times. Lots of unintentional yuks, but nothing else to recommend this D.O.A. release. [R]▼●●

Richthofen and Brown SEE: Von Richthofen and Brown

Rich, Young and Pretty (1951) C-95m.

½ D: Norman Taurog. Jane Powell, Danielle Darrieux, Wendell Corey, Vic Damone, Fernando Lamas, Marcel Dalio, Una Merkel, Richard Anderson. Frivolous MGM musical with Powell in Paris, sight-seeing and romancing, meeting mother Darrieux. Cowritten by Sidney Sheldon.▼●

Ricochet (1991) C-97m.  D: Russell Mulcahy. Denzel Washington, John Lithgow, Ice T, Kevin Pollak, Lindsay Wagner, Mary Ellen Trainor, Josh Evans, Victoria Dillard, John Amos. Street cop (Washington) becomes a citywide hero when he brings down bad-guy Lithgow—little dreaming that the psycho spends every waking moment in prison planning his revenge. Slick, well-cast, occasionally ugly urban thriller grows more tiresome and predictable as it goes along. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Ricochets (1986-Israeli) C-90m.  D: Eli Cohen. Roni Pincovich, Shaul Mizrahi, Alon Aboutboul, Dudu Ben-Ze'ev, Boaz Ofri. Gritty, uncompromising look at a group of Israeli soldiers living and dying in occupied Lebanon, focusing on the experiences of one young officer. Made as an Israeli Army training film and shot on location; nevertheless, an eloquent anti-war drama.

Riddle of the Sands, The (1979-British) C-102m.  D: Tony Maylam. Simon MacCorkindale, Michael York, Jenny Agutter, Alan Badel, Jurgen Andersen, Olga Lowe, Wolf Kahler. Sailing off the coast of Germany in 1901, yachtsman MacCorkindale stumbles onto what seems to be a plan to invade England, and summons old chum York to help him out. Erskine Childers' novel is considered the prototype of the modern spy thriller, but this adaptation is just too slow and stiff to be really effective. Good to look at, though. Released in the U.S. in 1984. Panavision.▼

Ride a Crooked Trail (1958) C-87m. ½ D: Jesse Hibbs. Audie Murphy, Gia Scala, Walter Matthau, Henry Silva, Joanna Moore. Murphy plays a thief mistaken for a lawman in this otherwise average Borden Chase-scripted Western. Worth watching for Matthau's zesty performance as a bombastic, alcoholic judge. CinemaScope.

Ride a Wild Pony (1976-Australian) C-91m.  D: Don Chaffey. Michael Craig, John Meillon, Robert Bettles, Eva Griffith, Graham Rouse. Genial, atmospheric Disney story about an irresistible pony and the two children—son of poor farm family and crippled rich girl—who vie for its love and ownership. Sentimental tale adapted from James Aldridge's A Sporting Proposition. [G]▼

Ride Back, The (1957) 79m.  D: Allen H. Miner. Anthony Quinn, Lita Milan, William Conrad, Ellen Hope Monroe, Louis Towers. Well-handled account of sheriff and prisoner who find they need each other's help to survive elements and Indian attacks. ▼

Ride Beyond Vengeance (1966) C-100m. ½ D: Bernard McEveety. Chuck Connors, Michael Rennie, Kathryn Hays, Joan Blondell, Gloria Grahame, Gary Merrill, Bill Bixby, James MacArthur, Claude Akins, Paul Fix, Ruth Warrick, Arthur O'Connell, Frank Gorshin, Jamie Farr. Good supporting cast makes the most of stereotyped roles in flashback account of Connors' sundry encounters with outlaws. ■

Ride Clear of Diablo (1954) C-80m. ½ D: Jesse Hibbs. Audie Murphy, Dan Duryea, Susan Cabot, Abbe Lane, Russell Johnson, Jack Elam, Denver Pyle. Cheerful gunslinger Duryea takes a liking to Murphy, a newly minted deputy seeking the cattle rustlers who killed his family. Unassuming, intelligent Western is a good showcase for its likable stars. ▼

Ride 'Em Cowboy (1942) 86m. ½ D: Arthur Lubin. Bud Abbott, Lou Costello, Dick Foran, Anne Gwynne, Johnny Mack Brown, Ella Fitzgerald, Douglass Dumbrille. Good combination of Western, comedy, and musical in A&C vehicle, with Ella and the Merry Macs singing tunes including "A Tisket A Tasket." Foran crooning "I'll Remember April." ▼●●

Ride in the Whirlwind (1965) C-83m. ½ D: Monte Hellman. Cameron Mitchell, Jack Nicholson, Tom Filer, Millie Perkins, Katherine Squire, Rupert Crosse, Harry Dean Stanton. Nicholson coproduced and wrote the screenplay for this offbeat Western about three cowboys who find themselves wrongly pursued as outlaws. Neither as arty nor as intriguing as THE SHOOTING, which was filmed simultaneously. ▼●●

Ride Lonesome (1959) C-73m.  D: Budd Boetticher. Randolph Scott, Karen Steele, Pernell Roberts, James Best, Lee Van Cleef, James Coburn. Typically interesting Boetticher chamber-Western (with a Burt Kennedy script) about a tight-lipped bounty hunter who acquires unwanted companions while bringing in a wanted criminal. Unusually good supporting cast, including Coburn in his film debut. CinemaScope. ■

Rider on the Rain (1970-French) C-115m. ½ D: René Clément. Charles Bronson, Marlene Jobert, Jill Ireland, Annie Cordy. Chilling suspense piece about mysterious man who winds up using Jobert as accomplice when she discovers what he is up to. Best sequence: long, rainy prologue. Story and screenplay by Sebastien Japrisot. [PG] ▼

Riders of the Storm (1986-British) C-92m. *½ D: Maurice Phillips. Dennis Hopper, Michael J. Pollard, Eugene Lipinski, James Aubrey, Nigel Pegram. Unsatisfactory chronicle of Vietnam vets who run a pirate television station and jam right-wing broadcasts; they attempt to sabotage the campaign of a female presidential candidate who is not to their liking. Bright premise, thoroughly stale result. Originally titled THE AMERICAN WAY, at 105m. [R] ▼●

Ride the High Country (1962) C-94m. * D: Sam Peckinpah. Randolph Scott, Joel McCrea, Mariette Hartley, Ron Starr, Edgar Buchanan, R. G. Armstrong, Warren Oates, John Anderson, L. Q. Jones, James Drury. Literate, magnificent Western about two aged firefighter pals who reflect on the paths their lives have taken while guarding gold shipment. Considered by some to be Peckinpah's finest film; breathtaking wide-screen photography (by Lucien Ballard) and scenery, and flawless performances, with Buchanan notable as a drunken judge. Written by N. B. Stone, Jr. Hartley's first film, Scott's last. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Ride the Pink Horse (1947) 101m. ½ D: Robert Montgomery. Robert Montgomery, Wanda Hendrix, Thomas Gomez, Andrea King, Fred Clark, Art Smith, Rita Conde, Grandon Rhodes. Strong film noir of Montgomery coming to small New Mexican town during fiesta to blackmail gangster Clark, but romantic Hendrix and FBI agent Smith keep getting in his way. Taut script by Ben Hecht and Charles Lederer (from the Dorothy B. Hughes novel); super performance by Gomez as friendly carny. Remade for TV as THE HANGED MAN (1964).

Ride the Wild Surf (1964) C-101m. ½ D: Don Taylor. Fabian, Tab Hunter, Barbara Eden, Anthony Hayes, James Mitchum, Shelley Fabares. Formula beach boys tale, set in Hawaii; Jan and Dean sing the title song. It's not Shakespeare, but it is a cut above the usual BEACH PARTY shenanigans, and the surfing footage is great. ▼

Ride to Glory SEE: Deserter, The
Ride to Hangman's Tree, The (1967) C-90m. ½ D: Al Rafkin. Jack Lord, James Farentino, Don Galloway, Melodie Johnson, Richard Anderson, Robert Yuro. Formula Universal backlot Western, of outlaws in old West.

Ride with the Devil (1999) C-134m. ½ D: Ang Lee. Skeet Ulrich, Tobey Maguire, James Caviezel, Jonathan Rhys Meyers, Simon Baker, Jeffrey Wright, Jewel, Tom Wilkinson, Jonathan Brandis, Tom Guiry, Mark Ruffalo. A different take on the Civil War, focusing on the Bushwhackers, Southern guerrilla forces made up largely of young men who stage daring raids on Union farms and towns along the Kansas/Missouri border. Interesting subject matter is diffused by overlong, sometimes unfocused treatment, though the time and place are well drawn. Pop singer Jewel makes an impressive acting debut. 2.35 Research PLC. [R] ▼

Ridicule (1996-French) C-102m.  D: Patrice Leconte. Charles Berling, Jean

Rochefort, Fanny Ardant, Judith Godrèche, Bernard Giraudeau. Spirited tale of an earnest young landowner who tries to obtain an audience with King Louis XVI in order to get grant money for swamp drainage. He soon discovers that the only way to be presented at court is to display a ready (and preferably savage) wit—which, to everyone's surprise, he is willing and able to do. Fine performances in this unusual and original period piece. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Riding Alone for Thousands of Miles (2005-Hong Kong-Chinese-Japanese) C-108m. ½ D: Zhang Yimou. Ken Takakura, Shinobu Terajima, Kiichi Nakai, Li Jiamin, Qiu Lin, Jiang Wen, Yang Zhenbo. Deceptively simple, profoundly moving tale of elderly Takakura, a Japanese fisherman who does not express himself easily and is long estranged from his son. Upon learning his offspring is terminally ill, he heads to China to follow through on his son's attempt to film a rural mask-opera singer, which proves to be no easy task. Wise, poignant film offers a tailor-made role for Takakura, best known for playing Yakuza movie gangsters and loners. [PG] ▽

Riding Giants (2004) C-101m. ½ D: Stacy Peralta. Superior examination of surf culture and the desire to confront the biggest waves imaginable. Effective interviews with legends like Greg Noll illuminate the quest for the ultimate ride and make it palatable to people who might think some of these guys are just nuts. Remarkable new sequences are interspersed with vintage footage for an experience that lifts this well above other surfing documentaries. The director of DOG TOWN AND Z-BOYS outdoes himself with this epic look at the big waves and their conquerors. [PG-13] ▽

Riding High (1950) 112m. ½ D: Frank Capra. Bing Crosby, Coleen Gray, Charles Bickford, Margaret Hamilton, Frances Gifford, James Gleason, Raymond Walburn, William Demarest, Ward Bond, Clarence Muse, Percy Kilbride, Gene Lockhart, Douglass Dumbrille, Harry Davenport, Charles Lane, Frankie Darro. Musical remake of BROADWAY BILL follows it so closely that stock footage with some of the actors in their original parts is included from 1934 film. Crosby is racehorse owner whose nag has yet to come through. OK songs, Capra touch make this pleasing if unmemorable entertainment. Oliver Hardy is fun in rare solo appearance. Joe Frisco appears as himself. ▼●●

Riding in Cars With Boys (2001) C-122m.  D: Penny Marshall. Drew Barrymore, Steve Zahn, Brittany Murphy, James Woods, Adam Garcia, Lorraine Bracco, Sara Gilbert, Desmond Harrington, Peter Facinelli, Rosie Perez, Maggie Gyllenhaal. Well-acted but uneven film inspired by Beverly Donofrio's memoir of a working-class adolescence in 1960s Connecticut, and having her dreams of college—and a writing career—sidetracked by having a baby and marrying Mr. Wrong. Barrymore (always watchable, even as an unsympathetic character) and a strong cast almost succeed in covering the many holes in the script—but ultimately cannot. [PG-13] ▼●

Riding Shotgun (1954) C-74m. ½ D: Andre de Toth. Randolph Scott, Wayne Morris, Joan Weldon, Joe Sawyer, James Millican, Charles Buchinsky (Bronson), Fritz Feld. Typical, undemanding Scott Western of man seeking to clear his reputation. ▽

Riding the Bullet (2004-U.S.-Canadian-German) C-98m. *½ D: Mick Garris. Jonathan Jackson, Erika Christensen, David Arquette, Cliff Robertson, Barbara Hershey, Barry W. Levy, Matt Frewer, Jeff Ballard. While hitchhiking across Maine on Halloween night in 1969 to visit his ill mother, a death-obsessed college student experiences sinister hallucinations and is picked up by a man who may be the Grim Reaper himself. Gory, cliché-ridden snoozefest based on Stephen King's "e-book" story is for the author's hard-core fans only, though it plays like a parody of his work. Aka STEPHEN KING'S RIDING THE BULLET. [R] ▼●

Riding the Rails (1997) C-75m. ½ D: Michael Uys, Lexy Lovell. Acclaimed documentary about the thousands of young people who left home to hop freight trains during the Great Depression—some seeking adventure, some hoping to make a living, some with nowhere else to go. Fascinating interviews with octogenarian survivors of that school of hard knocks; debunks most of the "romance" of hobo life. ▼●

Riffruff (1935) 89m. ½ D: J. Walter Ruben. Jean Harlow, Spencer Tracy, Una Merkel, Joseph Calleia, Victor Kilian, Mickey Rooney. Comedy-drama doesn't always work, but worth viewing for stars playing married couple in fishing business who end up on wrong side of law. ▼

Riffruff (1947) 80m.  D: Ted Tetzlaff. Pat O'Brien, Anne Jeffreys, Walter Slezak, Percy Kilbride, Jerome Cowan, George Givot, Jason Robards (Sr.). Fast-paced story of O'Brien foiling villains' attempts to take over oilfield in Panama. ▼●

Riff Raff (1991-British) C-96m.  D: Ken Loach. Robert Carlyle, Emer McCourt, Ricky Tomlinson, Jimmy Coleman, George Moss, David Finch. Probing, bitingly funny comedy about the ongoing struggle between the classes in England, examining the plight of a blue-collar type (Carlyle), newly arrived in London, who signs on at a construction site. Some of the regional accents and dialects are so indecipherable that subtitles have been added! Screenplay by Bill Jesse, an ex-construction worker. ▼

Rifi (1955-French) 115m. * D: Jules Dassin. Jean Servais, Carl Mohner, Magali

Noel, Robert Manuel, Perlo Vita (Jules Dassin). The granddaddy of all caper/heist movies, centering on quartet of French jewel thieves who find each other more dangerous than the cops. The burglary sequence itself is famous for being in complete silence. Scripted by director Dassin, Rene Wheeler, and Auguste LeBreton, from LeBreton's novel. ▼

Right At Your Door (2007) C-96m. ½ D: Chris Gorak. Mary McCormack, Rory Cochrane, Tony Perez, Scotty Noyd, Jr., Max Kasch, Jon Huertas. When a dirty bomb is unleashed in L.A., panic ensues and a man must quarantine his home to prevent contamination. As the crisis escalates he becomes increasingly worried about locating his wife, who is AWOL from her office. Seems almost like a stage play or a Twilight Zone episode that has been stretched to feature length. Though overlong this modest film builds tension throughout, since its premise is (sad to say) so plausible. [R] ▼

Right Cross (1950) 90m. ½ D: John Sturges. June Allyson, Dick Powell, Lionel Barrymore, Ricardo Montalban. Fairly compact account of boxing world, with sportswriter Powell and fighter Montalban in love with Allyson. One of Marilyn Monroe's early films.

Righteous Kill (2008) C-100m.  D: Jon Avnet. Robert De Niro, Al Pacino, Carla Gugino, Curtis (50 Cent) Jackson, Donnie Wahlberg, Brian Dennehy, John Leguizamo, Trilby Glover, Melissa Leo, Oleg Taktarov, Barry Primus, Rob Dyrdek, Alan Rosenberg. Overly busy whodunit storyline follows manhunt to identify a serial killer who only murders sleazy types "who deserve it," and whose m.o. suggests that he may be a cop. Pairing of De Niro and Pacino as longtime partners on the NYPD gives this film its raison d'être; their commanding presence and effortless teamwork make this movie watchable. Super 35. [R] ▼

Right Hand Man, The (1987-Australian) C-100m. ½ D: Di Drew. Rupert Everett, Hugo Weaving, Catherine McClements, Arthur Dignam, Jennifer Claire. Well-made but only occasionally involving drama about the various troubles of aristocrat Everett, and what happens when he hires stage-coach driver Weaving. Has its moments, but ultimately peters out. [R] ▼

Right Stuff, The (1983) C-193m.  D: Philip Kaufman. Sam Shepard, Scott Glenn, Ed Harris, Dennis Quaid, Fred Ward, Barbara Hershey, Kim Stanley, Veronica Cartwright, Kathy Baker, Pamela Reed, Donald Moffat, Levon Helm, Scott Wilson, David Clennon, William Russ, Jeff Goldblum, Harry Shearer. Off-beat look at the birth of America's space program and the first astronauts, adapted from Tom Wolfe's best-selling book, and tethered to the story of iconoclastic test

pilot Chuck Yeager. Writer-director Kaufman draws all his characters as cartoons (including Lyndon Johnson) except for the pilots—and puts thrillingly realistic recreations of space flights against broadly caricatured scenes on Earth. A real curio of a film, with some astonishing performances, exhilarating moments, but a curious overall air of detachment. Long, but never boring. Winner of four Oscars, including Best Editing, Sound, and Original Score (Bill Conti). The real Chuck Yeager has a cameo role as a bartender. [PG] ▼

Rikki and Pete (1988-Australian) C-107m. ½ D: Nadia Tass. Stephen Kearney, Nina Landis, Tetchie Agbayani, Bill Hunter, Bruno Lawrence, Bruce Spence, Dorothy Allison. Pete is a misfit with a penchant for gimmicky inventions, Rikki is his sister who's still trying to find herself; together they flee to a remote mining village where their lives take some unexpected turns. Follow-up to the delightful MALCOLM by the same writing-directing team (Tass and writer/cinematographer David Parker) hasn't the same sweetness or consistency, but it's admirably quirky, and Parker's Rube Goldberg-ish devices are fun. [R] ▼

Ring, The (1927-British) 73m.  D: Alfred Hitchcock. Carl Brisson, Lillian Hall-Davies, Ian Hunter, Harry Terry, Gordon Harker, Billy Wells, Tom Helmore. Boxers Brisson and Hunter battle over their love for the same woman. Standard scenario is uplifted by Hitchcock's keen eye for detail and imaginative use of visuals to communicate feelings and points of view. Written by Hitchcock and Alma Reville. ▼

Ring, The (2002) C-115m.  D: Gore Verbinski. Naomi Watts, Martin Henderson, David Dorfman, Brian Cox, Jane Alexander, Lindsay Frost, Pauley Perrette, Amber Tamblyn, Sara Rue, Daveigh Chase, Adam Brody. Teenage friends watch a videotape that supposedly causes the viewer to die. (Wouldn't you?) The aunt of one victim, newspaper reporter Watts, determines to find out the truth about the tape and its origins. Opens with a bang, but drags us on a long, winding (and ultimately pointless) investigative path before reaching its silly conclusion. Based on the Japanese movie hit RINGU. Followed by a sequel. [PG-13] ▼

Ring Two, The (2005) C-111m. ½ D: Hideo Nakata. Naomi Watts, Simon Baker, David Dorfman, Elizabeth Perkins, Gary Cole, Sissy Spacek, Ryan Merriman. Fleeing Seattle for the small town of Astoria, Oregon, Watts discovers that the cold-hearted ghost of a loveless child is still after her and her son, as well as anyone else hanging around. Slow and overlong, but often delivers the spooky goods, and director Nakata—who made the Japanese RINGU—uses misty Pacific Northwest locations well. Entire cast is good, especially young Dorfman, but not everything makes sense. This is not a remake of the Japanese sequel to RINGU. Unrated version also available. [PG-13] ▼

Ring-a-Ding Rhythm! (1962-British) 78m.

 D: Richard Lester. Helen Shapiro, Craig Douglas, Felix Felton, Arthur Mullard, John Leyton, Chubby Checker, Del Shannon, Gary "U.S." Bonds, Gene Vincent, Gene McDaniels, Acker Bilk, The Temperance Seven. Shapiro and Douglas—whose characters are called Helen and Craig—organize a rock 'n' roll and Dixieland jazz show. Of interest only for the appearances of Bonds, Vincent, and company—although there's not one memorable song performed. Lester's first feature. British title: IT'S TRAD, DAD!

Ringer, The (2005) C-94m. ½ D: Barry W. Blaustein. Johnny Knoxville, Brian Cox, Katherine Heigl, Geoffrey Arend, Edward Barbanell, Bill Chott, Leonard Flowers, Leonard Earl Howze, Jed Rees. What if a guy, strapped for money, went in on a scheme to pass himself off as a drooling, mentally challenged adult so he can enter (and rig) the Special Olympics? Give the filmmakers (including the Farrelly Brothers, who produced) credit for pulling this off and delivering a film with smiles and heart. Knoxville puts his Jackass persona on hold, working alongside actual Special Olympics participants, who naturally get the last laugh. A generally entertaining, and surprising, comedy. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Ringmaster (1998) C-90m. *½ D: Neil Abramson. Jerry Springer, Jaime Pressly, William McNamara, Molly Hagan, Michael Dudikoff, Ashley Holbrook, Michael Jai White. A mom and daughter share a husband/stepfather in a trailer park, but instead of duking it out in secret, they apply to vent their spleens on Springer's TV show, sharing adjacent hotel accommodations with other profiled subjects. Surprisingly well acted under the circumstances, this otherwise listless junk lacks focus and is thoroughly done in by Springer's sanctimoniousness. Tries to do for the host's career what PRIVATE PARTS did for Howard Stern's and can't even pull off that modest feat. [R] ▼●●

Ring of Bright Water (1969-British) C-107m.  D: Jack Couffer. Bill Travers, Virginia McKenna, Peter Jeffrey, Jameson Clark, Helena Gloag. Fine children's film should be a treat for adults, too; modest story of man's love for his pet otter is intelligently and believably told. Nice acting and photography. [G] ▼

Ring of Fear (1954) C-93m.  D: James Edward Grant. Clyde Beatty, Pat O'Brien, Mickey Spillane, Sean McClory, Marian Carr, John Bromfield. Offbeat murder yarn

set at the Clyde Beatty circus; interesting for acting appearance by Spillane. Beatty plays himself. CinemaScope. ●

Ring of Fire (1961) C-91m. ½ D: Andrew L. Stone. David Janssen, Joyce Taylor, Frank Gorshin, Joel Marston, Doodles Weaver. Assistant sheriff is held hostage by trio of young hoods. Highlight of film is climactic holocaust, including footage of a real Oregon forest fire.

Ringu (1998-Japanese) C-95m.  D: Hideo Nakata. Nanako Matsushima, Miki Nakatani, Hiroyuki Sanada, Yuko Takeuchi, Hitomi Sato, Yoichi Numata. After the mysterious death of her niece, a reporter investigates—and views—a "cursed" videotape that purportedly kills all those who watch it exactly seven days later. Stark cinematic technique suits this subtle, unsettling, and genuinely spooky psychological thriller, in the best tradition of metaphysical Japanese ghost stories, which builds a relentless sense of mounting dread. Based on a novel by Kôji Suzuki ("the Stephen King of Japan"), this became a phenomenon in Asia, inspiring two sequels, a prequel, a Korean version and an American remake, THE RING. ▼●

Rio Bravo (1959) C-141m. ½ D: Howard Hawks. John Wayne, Dean Martin, Ricky Nelson, Angie Dickinson, Walter Brennan, Ward Bond, John Russell, Claude Akins, Bob Steele. Sheriff Wayne tries to prevent a killer with connections from escaping from the town jail, with only a drunken Dino, leggy Angie, gimpzy Brennan, and lockjawed Ricky to help him. Quintessential Hawks Western, patronized by reviewers at the time of its release, is now regarded as an American classic; overlong, but great fun. Written by Leigh Brackett and Jules Furthman. Followed by EL DORADO; sort of remake as ASSAULT ON PRECINCT 13. ▼●●

Rio Conchos (1964) C-107m.  D: Gordon Douglas. Richard Boone, Stuart Whitman, Tony Franciosa, Edmond O'Brien, Jim Brown. Post-Civil War Texas is the setting for this action-filled Western centering around a shipment of stolen rifles, and Boone taking on Franciosa. Brown is notable in his film debut, and there's a zesty performance by O'Brien. CinemaScope. ▼

Rio Grande (1950) 105m.  D: John Ford. John Wayne, Maureen O'Hara, Ben Johnson, Harry Carey, Jr., Victor McLaglen, Claude Jarman, Jr., Chill Wills, J. Carrol Naish, Grant Withers, Pat Wayne. The last of director Ford's Cavalry trilogy (following FORT APACHE and SHE WORE A YELLOW RIBBON), and the most underrated: a vivid look at the gentlemanly spirit of the Cavalry during post-Civil War days . . . and the difficult relationship between an estranged father (commander Wayne) and his son (new recruit Jarman). Beautifully shot by Bert Glennon and Archie Stout, with lovely theme by Victor Young, songs by Sons of the Pioneers (including Ken Curtis). Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Rio Lobo (1970) C-114m.  D: Howard Hawks. John Wayne, Jorge Rivero, Jennifer O'Neill, Jack Elam, Chris Mitchum, Mike Henry, Susana Dosamantes, Victor French, Sherry Lansing, Bill Williams, David Huddleston, Jim Davis, Robert Donner. Hawks' final film is a lighthearted Western in the RIO BRAVO mold, with the Duke as ex-Union colonel out to settle some old scores. Youthful costars are weak, but stays on track thanks to snappy dialogue, crisp action, and riotous performance by Elam as shotgun-toting old looney. Future Paramount studio head Lansing's last film as an actress; George Plimpton has a one-line bit that served as the basis of a TV special. [G] ▼●●

Rio Rita (1942) 91m. ½ D: S. Sylvan Simon. Bud Abbott, Lou Costello, Kathryn Grayson, John Carroll, Tom Conway, Barry Nelson. Vintage Broadway musical brought up to date, with Nazis invading Western ranch where Bud and Lou work; some good music helps this one. Previously filmed in 1929 with Wheeler and Woolsey. ▼●

Riot (1969) C-97m. ½ D: Buzz Kulik. Jim Brown, Gene Hackman, Ben Carruthers, Mike Kellin, Gerald O'Loughlin. Unsurprising but extremely violent prison film; Hackman in stereotyped characterization. Produced by William Castle. [PG—edited from original R rating] ▼

Riot in Cell Block II (1954) 80m.  D: Don Siegel. Neville Brand, Emile Meyer, Frank Faylen, Leo Gordon, Robert Osterloh. Realistic, powerful prison drama still packs a punch. Among the contemporary themes in this 1954 film is "media manipulation," with prisoners trying to use press for leverage. ▼

Riot on Sunset Strip (1967) C-85m. *½ D: Arthur Dreifuss. Aldo Ray, Mimsy Farmer, Michael Evans, Laurie Mock, Tim Rooney, Bill Baldwin. Weak exploitation of real-life mid-'60s riots on the Strip concerns cop Ray's enraged response when his daughter gets involved with drugs and hippies.

Ripley's Game (2003-Italian-British) C-110m. ½ D: Liliana Cavani. John Malkovich, Dougray Scott, Ray Winstone, Lena Headey, Chiara Caselli. Tom Ripley, now living as a gentleman of leisure in Italy, sets up a benign neighbor (Scott) to become an assassin because of a thuggish associate's need for a killer who can't be traced. Malkovich is fine, though his Ripley isn't as intriguing or ambiguous as he's portrayed in PURPLE NOON or THE TALENTED MR. RIPLEY. Starts well but eventually becomes a much-too-conventional thriller. Filmed on colorful Italian and German locations. Patricia Highsmith's novel was made before as THE AMERICAN FRIEND. U.S. debut on cable TV. [R] ▼●

Ripped Off (1971-Italian) C-83m. ½ D: Franco Proserpi. Robert Blake, Ernest Borgnine, Gabriele Ferzetti, Catherine Spaak, Tomas Milian. Boxer Blake, framed for the murder of his corrupt manager, is hounded by detective Borgnine and protected by victim's daughter (Spaak). OK of its type; aka THE BOXER, MURDER IN THE RING, and COUNTER PUNCH. [R] ▼●

Riptide (1934) 90m.  D: Edmund Goulding. Norma Shearer, Robert Montgomery, Herbert Marshall, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Skeets Gallagher, Ralph Forbes, Lilyan Tashman, Helen Jerome Eddy. Silly but entertaining story of vivacious Shearer marrying stodgy British Lord (Marshall), then becoming involved in scandal with Montgomery. Don't miss opening scene where stars are dressed as giant insects for costume party! That's Walter Brennan as a chauffeur; Bruce Bennett is an extra at the bar at Cannes. ▼

Rise and Fall of Legs Diamond, The (1960) 101m.  D: Budd Boetticher. Ray Danton, Karen Steele, Elaine Stewart, Jesse White, Simon Oakland, Robert Lowery, Warren Oates. Snappy chronicle of Depression-days gangster, well balanced between action gun battles and Danton's romancing flashy dolls (like young Dyan Cannon). Outstanding photography by Lucien Ballard. ▼●

Rise: Blood Hunter (2007-U.S.-New Zealand) C-94m. BOMB D: Sebastian Gutierrez. Lucy Liu, Michael Chiklis, James D'Arcy, Carla Gugino, Elden Henson, Julio Oscar Mechoso, Simon Rex, Allan Rich, Fran Kranz, Mako, Marilyn Manson, Nick Lachey, Robert Forster. Reporter Liu, investigating a potentially hot story, stumbles onto a cult of murderous vampires. Slick but staggeringly dumb, with a near-incoherent storyline; Liu wears a constant scowl, and Forster cameos as "Lloyd from Fresno." Unrated version runs 122m. [R] ●

Rise of Louis XIV, The (1966-French) C-100m.  D: Roberto Rossellini. Jean-Marie Patte, Raymond Jourdan, Silvagni, Katharina Renn, Dominique Vincent, Pierre Barrat. Attractive, but somewhat pedantic effort to show colorful court of not-quite straitlaced Louis XIV. Objective, almost documentary-like, but final effect is uninvolved. Made for French TV. Aka THE TAKING OF POWER BY LOUIS XIV. ▼●

Rising of the Moon, The (1957-Irish) 81m. ½ D: John Ford. Introduced by Tyrone Power. Cyril Cusack, Maureen Connell, Noel Purcell, Frank Lawton, Jimmy O'Dea. Trio of flavorful stories about Irish life: "Majesty of the Law," "A Minute's Wait," "1921," as performed by Dublin's renowned Abbey Players.

Rising Sun (1993) C-129m. ½ D: Philip

Kaufman. Sean Connery, Wesley Snipes, Harvey Keitel, Cary-Hirokyu Tagawa, Kevin Anderson, Mako, Ray Wise, Stan Egi, Stan Shaw, Tia Carrere, Steve Buscemi. L.A. cop Snipes and Japan expert Connery investigate a homicide case that implicates a powerful Japanese corporation and a U.S. senator. Stripped-down version of Michael Crichton's detailed and controversial novel (adapted by Crichton and Kaufman) is alternately compelling, confusing, obvious, and silly, with credibility strained to the breaking point. [R]▼●●

Risk, The (1960-British) 81m.  D: Roy Boulting, John Boulting, Tony Britton, Peter Cushing, Ian Bannen, Virginia Maskell, Donald Pleasence, Thorley Walters, Kenneth Griffith, Spike Milligan. Tense drama of spies chasing scientist who has secret formula to combat plague. Good direction, cast. Original British title: SUSPECT.▼●

Risky Business (1983) C-96m.  D: Paul Brickman. Tom Cruise, Rebecca De Mornay, Curtis Armstrong, Bronson Pinchot, Raphael Sbarge, Joe Pantoliano, Nicholas Pryor, Janet Carroll, Richard Masur, Kevin Anderson, Megan Mullally. Piquant, original comedy about a reticent teenager who goes a bit wild while his parents are out of town, and becomes involved—in more ways than one—with a prostitute. Brickman's darkly satiric script is balanced by Cruise's utterly likable (and believable) performance in the lead. [R]▼●●

Rita, Sue and Bob Too (1986-British) C-95m.  D: Alan Clarke. Siobhan Finneran, Michelle Holmes, George Costigan, Lesley Sharp, Willie Ross, Patti Nicholls, Kulvinder Ghir. Rita and Sue, two plain-looking, slightly overweight working class teens, babysit for Bob and his frigid wife . . . and soon, Rita, Sue and Bob are making three-way whoopee. A shamelessly funny, profane, well-acted sleeper that's definitely not for all tastes. Some of the sex scenes—particularly those in Bob's car—are a riot. [R]▼●●

Rite, The (1969-Swedish) 76m.  D: Ingmar Bergman. Ingrid Thulin, Gunnar Bjornstrand, Anders Ek, Erik Hell. Penetrating four-character drama, crammed with symbolism, about a trio of actors—a woman, her husband, and her lover—who have been accused of performing a provocative mime act in public, and come before a judge. Strange, disturbing, sexually frank, and uniquely Bergmanesque, with an anti-censorship point of view. Starkly directed and photographed (by Sven Nykvist); a showcase for all four performers. This was Bergman's first film for television.▼

Rites of Summer SEE: White Water Summer

Ritual (2006) C-106m.  D: Avi Nesher. Jennifer Grey, Craig Sheffer, Daniel Lapaine, Kristen Wilson, Gabriel Casseus,

Tim Curry, Dorothy Cunningham, Carl Bradshaw. Dr. Grey doesn't realize what she's getting herself into when she heads for Jamaica to care for a young man who's convinced he's turning into a zombie. Lame remake of I WALKED WITH A ZOMBIE is tolerable only when sticking to the plot, which isn't often enough. Stephen Tobolowsky appears unbilled. Filmed in 2001, released direct to DVD five years later! Aka TALES FROM THE CRYPT PRESENTS RITUAL. [R]●

Rituals (1978-Canadian) C-100m. *½ D: Peter Carter. Hal Holbrook, Lawrence Dane, Robin Gammell, Ken James, Gary Reineke. Ripoff of DELIVERANCE with Holbrook and four fellow M.D.s terrorized during wilderness vacation. Unpleasant, to say the least. Reissued as THE CREEPER. [R]▼

Ritz, The (1976) C-91m. ½ D: Richard Lester. Jack Weston, Rita Moreno, Jerry Stiller, Kaye Ballard, F. Murray Abraham, Treat Williams, Paul Price, George Coultry, Bessie Love, John Ratzenberger. Brisk filming of Terrence McNally's farce about a schnook fleeing his murderous brother-in-law by hiding in gay baths suffers from feeling that it's all a photographed stage performance. Moreno is memorable recreating her Tony-winning role as no-talent entertainer Googie Gomez. Filmed in England. [R]▼●●

Rivals (1972) C-103m. ½ D: Krishna Shah. Robert Klein, Joan Hackett, Scott Jacoby. A remarriage forces young child to try and murder the new rival for his mother's affections. Offbeat, to say the least. [R]▼

River, The (1951-Indian) C-99m. * D: Jean Renoir. Patricia Walters, Nora Swinburne, Arthur Shields, Radha, Adrienne Corri, Esmond Knight; narrated by June Hillman. Immensely moving, lyrical adaptation of Rumer Godden novel about English children growing up in Bengal. One of the great color films, a total triumph for cinematographer Claude and director Jean Renoir. Scripted by Godden and Renoir.▼●●

River, The (1984) C-122m. ½ D: Mark Rydell. Sissy Spacek, Mel Gibson, Shane Bailey, Becky Jo Lynch, Scott Glenn, Don Hood, Billy Green Bush, James Tolkan. Close-knit family struggles to make good on their farm, which is constantly threatened by river that flows alongside. Spacek's a perfect farm woman (and mother) but Gibson's character is so coldly stubborn that it's hard to empathize. Beautifully shot by Vilmos Zsigmond. [PG-13]▼●●

River Niger, The (1976) C-105m.  D: Krishna Shah. James Earl Jones, Cicely Tyson, Glynn Turman, Lou Gossett, Roger E. Mosley, Jonelle Allen. Intelligent, moving story (based on 1972 Tony Award-winning play) of black family trying to come to terms with the world and themselves. Touching and convincing. [R]▼●

River of Darkness SEE: Eureka (1983)

River of Death (1989) C-111m. *½ D: Steve Carver. Michael Dudikoff, Donald Pleasence, Herbert Lom, Cynthia Erland, Robert Vaughn, L. Q. Jones, Sarah Maur Thorp. Complicated jungle yarn involving a lost city, mad Nazi scientist Vaughn, vengeful Nazi war criminal Pleasence, hero Dudikoff, and the usual hangers-on. Absurd adventure from Alistair MacLean's novel. [R]▼●●

River of No Return (1954) C-91m. ½ D: Otto Preminger. Robert Mitchum, Marilyn Monroe, Rory Calhoun, Tommy Rettig, Murvyn Vye, Douglas Spencer. Mitchum rescues Calhoun and Monroe from leaky raft; Calhoun returns the favor by stealing his horse and abandoning them (and Mitchum's young son) to hostile Indians. Dialogue leaves a lot to be desired, but it's worth watching Mitchum and Monroe at her most beautiful—not to mention some gorgeous locations (seen to best advantage in CinemaScope). ▼●●

River Rat, The (1984) C-93m. ½ D: Tom Rickman. Tommy Lee Jones, Nancy Lea Owen, Brian Dennehy, Martha Plimpton. Occasionally perceptive drama about ex-con Jones, falsely imprisoned for murder, and his arrival home after 13 years in the slammer. Works best when focusing on his relationship with his 12-year-old daughter (Plimpton), but spins out of control when dealing with a search for hidden money. Directorial debut for screenwriter Rickman (COAL MINER'S DAUGHTER). [PG]▼●

River Runs Through It, A (1992) C-123m. ½ D: Robert Redford. Craig Sheffer, Brad Pitt, Tom Skerritt, Emily Lloyd, Brenda Blethyn, Edie McClurg, Stephen Shellen, Vann Gravage, Nicole Burdette, Susan Traylor, Joseph Gordon-Levitt; narration (uncredited) by Robert Redford. A preacher (Skerritt) teaches his sons about life, grace, and love through the art of fly-fishing in their native Montana, but as the boys grow up and follow very different paths they find that fishing is the one bond that still draws them together. Respectful adaptation of Norman Maclean's autobiographical novella. Beautifully filmed in Montana, with Oscar-winning cinematography by Philippe Rousselot . . . but the pace is deliberate, the emotions muted, and the result is a bit sleepy at times. [PG]▼●●

River's Edge, The (1957) C-87m.  D: Allan Dwan. Ray Milland, Anthony Quinn, Debra Paget, Byron Foulger. Melodrama about heel (Milland), his ex-girlfriend (Paget), and her husband (Quinn) trying to cross Mexican border with suitcase of money. Ray has never been nastier. CinemaScope. ●

River's Edge (1986) C-99m.  D: Tim Hunter. Crispin Glover, Keanu Reeves, Ione Skye Leitch, Roxana Zal, Daniel Roebuck, Tom Bower, Constance Forslund,

Leo Rossi, Jim Metzler, Dennis Hopper. Gripping story of teenagers who don't know how to react when one of their friends murders a girl from their clique and leaves her body along the riverbank. Absorbing, if not perfect, study of contemporary kids and their feelings of alienation from grown-ups, from society, and from responsibility . . . with a wild performance by Glover as their self-styled ringleader. Best of all is Hopper, perfectly cast as a leftover biker and druggie who can't relate to the kids' lack of values. Disturbing and thought-provoking—all the more so when you learn that the story was based on a real-life incident! [R]▼●●

River Wild, The (1994) C-108m.  D: Curtis Hanson. Meryl Streep, Kevin Bacon, David Strathairn, Joseph Mazzello, John C. Reilly, Elizabeth Hoffman, Victor H. Galloway, Benjamin Bratt. Exciting, well-wrought adventure yarn about a woman taking her young son and nearly estranged husband on a whitewater raft ride—and falling prey to a pair of bad guys on the lam. Streep's complete credibility, as a wife, mom, and rafting expert, keeps this afloat, along with good performances and vivid action scenes. Panavision. [PG-13]▼●●

Rize (2005) C-86m. ½ D: David LaChapelle. Enlightening documentary examines the evolution of Krumping, an energetic hip-hop-derived style of dancing that emerged from the 1992 L.A. riots. Profiles some of the leaders of this movement and spotlights some of their competitive dance-offs, also revealing the often abysmal, dysfunctional home lives that generate a yearning for self-expression and release. A crowd pleaser at several film festivals. Feature debut for well-regarded photographer and music video director LaChapelle, who expanded this from a short called KRUMPED that debuted at Sundance in 2004. [PG-13] ▼●

Roadblock (1951) 73m. ½ D: Harold Daniels. Charles McGraw, Joan Dixon, Lowell Gilmore, Louis Jean Heydt, Milburn Stone. Insurance investigator's growing attachment to a money-hungry woman leads him to crime. Typical film noir formula, smoothly executed.

Road Builder, The SEE: Night Digger, The

Roadgames (1981-Australian) C-100m. ½ D: Richard Franklin. Stacy Keach, Jamie Lee Curtis, Marion Edward, Grant Page, Bill Stacey. Adequate thriller about truckdriver Keach pursuing a murderer. Curtis is a hitchhiker he picks up. Not bad. Director Franklin, an avowed Hitchcock disciple, went on to make PSYCHO II. Panavision. [PG]▼●

Road Home, The (1999-China) C/B&W-89m. ½ D: Zhang Yimou. Zhang Ziyi, Sun Honglei, Zheng Hao, Zhao Yuelin, Li Bin, Chang Guifa, Sung Wencheng, Liu Qi.

A businessman returns to his rural native village upon the death of his father and recalls how his parents met: his father came to the village as the new schoolteacher, and his mother was instantly smitten. A pleasant but minor film for a great filmmaker, buoyed by an appealing performance by Zhang Ziyi (playing the mother as a girl). Panavision. [G]▼

Road House (1948) 95m.  D: Jean Negulesco. Ida Lupino, Cornel Wilde, Celeste Holm, Richard Widmark, O. Z. Whitehead, Robert Karnes. Psychotic roadhouse owner Widmark deludes himself into thinking he "owns" singer Lupino; when she falls for his childhood friend and employee (Wilde), sparks fly in this entertaining melodrama. Ida even gets to sing, introducing the standard "Again."▼

Road House (1989) C-114m. *½ D: Rowdy Herrington. Patrick Swayze, Kelly Lynch, Sam Elliott, Ben Gazzara, Marshall Teague, Kevin Tighe, Kathleen Wilhoite, The Jeff Healey Band. Bouncer Swayze—an N.Y.U. philosophy major, no less—is hired to clean house at a hellhole Midwest saloon and tangles with local kingpin Gazzara. One broken limb won't suffice when 27 will do; brain-dead yahoo fare is fun for a while. Followed by a direct-to-video sequel. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Roadhouse 66 (1984) C-96m. *½ D: John Mark Robinson. Willem Dafoe, Judge Reinhold, Kaaren Lee, Kate Vernon, Stephen Elliot, Alan Autry. Predictable, paper-thin nonsense about upper-class Reinhold and hitchhiker Dafoe and their troubles in a small Arizona town after their car breaks down. Pretty boring stuff. [R]▼

Roadie (1980) C-105m. *½ D: Alan Rudolph. Meat Loaf, Kaki Hunter, Art Carney, Gailard Sartain, Alice Cooper, Blondie, Roy Orbison, Hank Williams, Jr., Ramblin' Jack Elliot. Fat roadie (Loaf) and skinny aspiring groupie (Hunter) spend nearly two hours of screen time trying to meet Cooper. Talented director Rudolph turns into a Hal Needham clone with loud, excruciatingly dopey comedy. [PG]▼

Road Killers, The (1995) C-89m. ½ D: Deran Sarafian. Christopher Lambert, Craig Sheffer, David Arquette, Josh Brolin, Michelle Forbes, Joseph Gordon-Levitt, Adrienne Shelly. HOT RODS TO HELL redux, updated to the dysfunctional '90s: a group of vacationers (led by stone-faced Lambert), on a road trip through the Nevada desert, are terrorized by a gang of psychos (led by Sheffer in a hilarious hippie wig). Enjoyably trashy drive-in fodder—but since there are no more drive-ins, this one went straight to video. Filmed in 1993 under the title ROADFLOWER. Panavision. [R]▼

Road Show (1941) 87m. ½ D: Hal Roach, Gordon Douglas, Hal Roach, Jr. Adolphe Menjou, Carole Landis, John Hub-

bard, Charles Butterworth, Patsy Kelly, George E. Stone. Offbeat comedy of young man, wrongfully committed to an insane asylum, escaping and joining up with traveling carnival; some bright moments in inconsequential film. Cowritten by Harry Langdon. ▼

Roadside Prophets (1992) C-96m.  D: Abbe Wool. John Doe, Adam Horovitz, David Carradine, John Cusack, Bill Cobbs, Jennifer Balgobin, David Anthony Marshall, Stephen Tobolowsky, Timothy Leary, Arlo Guthrie, Ellie Raab, Don Cheadle. Construction worker Doe, whose best friend is his motorcycle, rides from L.A. to seek the "legendary" city of El Dorado in Nevada. His purpose: to dispose of the ashes of an acquaintance, who died while playing a video game. Along the way he gains a traveling companion (Horovitz) and meets various characters who are leftovers from the 1960s counterculture. A bit too self-consciously hip but a wry, potent look at modern-day alienation and how yesterday's pop culture becomes today's nostalgia. [R]▼●●

Road to Bali (1952) C-90m.  D: Hal Walker. Bob Hope, Dorothy Lamour, Bing Crosby, Murvyn Vye, Ralph Moody. Only color ROAD film has lush trappings, many guest stars and good laughs, as Bob and Bing save Dorothy from evil princess and jungle perils. Carolyn Jones has a bit.▼

Road to Corinth, The (1967-French-Greek-Italian) C-97m.  D: Claude Chabrol. Jean Seberg, Maurice Ronet, Christian Marquand, Michel Bouquet, Saro Urzi, Claude Chabrol, Romain Gary. Sly spy spoof about the wife of a NATO agent in Greece who's framed for his murder and goes on the run to catch the real killer. Meanwhile, she's also trying to find out who's smuggling black boxes into the country that are jamming American radar installations. James Bond/Hitchcock pastiche works as both an entertaining espionage thriller and a surreal satire of the genre. Originally released in the U.S. in an 85m. version called WHO'S GOT THE BLACK BOX? ▼

Road to El Dorado, The (2000) C-89m.  D: Eric "Bibo" Bergeron, Don Paul. Voices of Kevin Kline, Kenneth Branagh, Rosie Perez, Armand Assante, Edward James Olmos, Jim Cummings. Two con-artist pals in the 16th century find themselves on an accidental journey to the legendary city of gold with a map in their hands. Beautifully designed and staged, but relentlessly mediocre, with one-note humor and forgettable Elton John-Tim Rice songs. Great animation doesn't matter if you don't care about the characters. [PG]▼

Road to Eternity, The (1959-Japanese) 183m. ½ D: Masaki Kobayashi. Tat-

suya Nakadai, Michiyo Aratama, Koki Katsura, Jun Tatara, Michio Minami, Ryohei Uchida, Kei Sato, Kenjiro Uemura, Keiji Sada, Minoru Chiaki. In this second in Kobayashi's three-part epic (following NO GREATER LOVE and succeeded by A SOLDIER'S PRAYER), military conscript Kaji (Nakadai) is seen in training and eventually in battle. While surrounded by hostility and violence, he strains to preserve his humanity. Highlights include Kaji's poignant one-night reunion with his wife (Aratama) and an unforgettable final, extended battle sequence. Scripted by Kobayashi and Zenzo Matsuyama, based on a six-volume novel by Junpei Gomikawa. Aka THE HUMAN CONDITION II. Grandscope. D

Road to Glory, The (1936) 95m.  D: Howard Hawks. Fredric March, Warner Baxter, Lionel Barrymore, June Lang, Gregory Ratoff, Victor Kilian. Solid production, direction, and acting make more of script (co-written by William Faulkner) than is really there. Hardened officer Baxter finds his father (Barrymore) serving in his unit in WWI France. Romantic subplot involves officer March and nurse Lang. Unrelated to same-titled film directed by Hawks in 1926. Remake of 1932 French film LES CROIX DE BOIS, using some of its battle footage.

Road to Guantanamo, The (2006-British) C-95m.  D: Michael Winterbottom. Mat Whitecross. Riz Ahmed, Farhad Harun, Waqar Siddiqui, Arfan Usman, Shahid Iqbal, Sher Khan, Jason Salkey, James Buller. Four British Pakistanis—young men who have returned to Karachi on a lark—find that the country of their childhood is no more. While touring in neighboring Afghanistan, they're mistaken for Taliban fighters and become prisoners of war, ending up at the notorious Cuban prison for weeks, then months, then years. Unusual political thriller poses as a documentary, complete with interviews with the "survivors." Harrowing film blames America for its unnecessary military intervention in the Middle East and fictionally shows some tragic repercussions of Bush and Blair's steadfastness. [R] D

Road to Hong Kong, The (1962) 91m. ½ D: Norman Panama. Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Joan Collins, Dorothy Lamour, Robert Morley, Walter Gotell, Peter Sellers. Final ROAD picture was the first in a decade, and while it's fun it lacks the carefree spirit of its predecessors; Bob and Bing are con men who become involved in international intrigue—and space travel! Sellers has a hilarious cameo; Lamour appears briefly as herself. Look fast for the Bob Crosby Band. Filmed in England. **▼●●

Road to Morocco (1942) 83m.  D: David Butler. Bing Crosby, Dorothy Lamour, Bob Hope, Dona Drake, Anthony Quinn, Vladimir Sokoloff, Monte Blue,

Yvonne De Carlo. Typically funny ROAD picture, with Bing selling Bob to slave-trader in mysterious Morocco, both going after princess Lamour. Bing sings "Moonlight Becomes You." **▼●●

Road to Nashville (1967) C-110m. *½ D: Robert Patrick. Marty Robbins, Doodles Weaver, Connie Smith, Richard Arlen. Inept promoter tries to line up talent for Country-Western jamboree. The music's not bad when the plot gets out of the way. Techniscope. **▼●

Road to Perdition (2002) C-117m. ½ D: Sam Mendes. Tom Hanks, Paul Newman, Jude Law, Jennifer Jason Leigh, Stanley Tucci, Daniel Craig, Tyler Hoechlin, Liam Aiken, Dylan Baker, Ciarán Hinds. A Midwestern hit man finds himself in an untenable situation with his surrogate father, a powerful underworld boss, and flees to Chicago with his wide-eyed 12-year-old son during the depths of the Great Depression. A good yarn played out on a grand scale, with dynamic performances, impressive production design by Dennis Gassner, Oscar-winning cinematography by Conrad L. Hall, and the emotional pull of a story about fathers and sons. Further enhanced by Thomas Newman's beautiful score. Screenplay by David Self, from the graphic novel by Max Allan Collins, illustrated by Richard Piers Rayner. Super 35. [R] **▼●

Road to Rio (1947) 100m.  D: Norman Z. McLeod. Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Dorothy Lamour, Gale Sondergaard, Frank Faylen, The Wier Brothers. Bob and Bing are musicians trying to wrest Dorothy from sinister aunt Sondergaard. Very funny outing in series. Songs: "But Beautiful," "You Don't Have to Know the Language," sung with guests The Andrews Sisters. **▼●

Road to Salina (1971-French-Italian) C-96m. ½ D: Georges Lautner. Mimsy Farmer, Robert Walker, Rita Hayworth, Ed Begley, Bruce Pecheur. Enjoyably trashy tale about wanderer who returns to his mother's diner and spends much time making love with a girl who might be his sister. And if that isn't kinky enough for you, Rita does the frug with Ed Begley! Panavision. [R] **▼

Road to Singapore (1940) 84m. ½ D: Victor Schertzinger. Bing Crosby, Dorothy Lamour, Bob Hope, Charles Coburn, Judith Barrett, Anthony Quinn, Jerry Colonna, Monte Blue, Arthur Q. Bryan. Bing and Bob swear off women, hiding out in Singapore; then they meet saronged Lamour. First ROAD film is not the best, but still fun. **▼●●

Road to Utopia (1946) 90m.  D: Hal Walker. Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Dorothy Lamour, Hillary Brooke, Douglass Dumbrille, Jack LaRue, Jim Thorpe. Bob and Bing in the Klondike with usual quota of gags, supplemented by talking animals,

Dorothy's song "Personality," Robert Benchley's dry commentary. ▼●●

Road to Wellville, The (1994) C-117m.  D: Alan Parker. Anthony Hopkins, Bridget Fonda, Matthew Broderick, John Cusack, Dana Carvey, Michael Lerner, Colm Meaney, John Neville, Lara Flynn Boyle, Traci Lind, Camryn Manheim, Norbert Weisser, Carole Shelley. Disappointing adaptation of T. Coraghessan Boyle's comic novel, following the plight of a couple (Fonda, Broderick) after they converge on a turn-of-the-century spa operated in Battle Creek, Michigan, by health zealot John W. Kellogg (the real-life inventor of corn flakes). Maddeningly uneven, with plot threads constantly being picked up and dropped. Carvey is especially wasted as Kellogg's oddball son. Only Hopkins' delightful, over-the-top performance as John W. makes this worth watching. [R] ▼●●

Road to Zanzibar (1941) 92m. ½ D: Victor Schertzinger. Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Dorothy Lamour, Una Merkel, Eric Blore. Weaker ROAD series entry, still amusing, with Bob and Bing circus performers traveling through jungle with Lamour and Merkel, looking for diamond mine. ▼●●

Road Trip (2000) C-91m.  D: Todd Phillips. Breckin Meyer, Seann William Scott, Amy Smart, Paulo Costanzo, DJ Qualls, Rachel Blanchard, Anthony Rapp, Fred Ward, Tom Green, Andy Dick, Horatio Sanz. A college student in upstate N.Y. has to head off an incriminating videotape accidentally sent to his girlfriend in Austin, Texas . . . so he and three others set off on a frantic road trip. Likable teen comedy has the requisite number of gross-out gags and female nudity to please its intended audience . . . but by any standards, it's pretty funny. Hollywood directing debut for Phillips, who made the documentary FRAT HOUSE. Also available in unrated version. Followed by a DVD sequel. [R] ▼●

Road Warrior, The (1981-Australian) C-94m. ½ D: George Miller. Mel Gibson, Bruce Spence, Vernon Wells, Mike Preston, Virginia Hey, Emil Minty, Kjell Nilsson. Sequel to MAD MAX finds Max, now a loner, reluctantly helping tiny oil-producing community defend itself against band of depraved crazies thirsty for precious fuel. Far less original script-wise, but trend-setting visual design and some of the most unbelievable car stunts ever filmed make this equal to, if not better than, the first one. Original title: MAD MAX 2; followed by MAD MAX BEYOND THUNDERDOME. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Roar (1981) C-102m.  D: Noel Marshall. Tippi Hedren, Noel Marshall, John Marshall, Melanie Griffith, Jerry Marshall, Kyalo Mativo. Accident-ridden production that took 11 years and $17 million for

Hedren and husband Marshall to finish. Comedy-adventure about wife and children visiting eccentric scientist husband in jungle after being separated for years is also pro-preservation-of-African-wildlife statement. Nice try, but no cigar. Of additional interest today for early appearance of Hedren's daughter Griffith. Panavision. [PG] Roaring Timber SEE: Come and Get It Roaring Twenties, The (1939) 104m.  D: Raoul Walsh. James Cagney, Priscilla Lane, Humphrey Bogart, Gladys George, Jeffrey Lynn, Frank McHugh, Joe Sawyer. Army buddies Cagney, Bogart, and Lynn find their lives intertwining dramatically after WWI ends. Cagney becomes big-time prohibition racketeer in largely hackneyed script punched across by fine cast, vivid direction. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Robbery (1967-British) C-114m.  D: Peter Yates. Stanley Baker, Joanna Pettet, James Booth, Frank Finlay, Barry Foster, William Marlowe. Another study of the British Royal Mail robbery; few surprises, but generally exciting, well handled. ▼

Robe, The (1953) C-135m. ½ D: Henry Koster. Richard Burton, Jean Simmons, Victor Mature, Michael Rennie, Richard Boone, Jay Robinson, Dawn Addams, Dean Jagger, Jeff Morrow, Ernest Thesiger. Earnest but episodic costume drama from Lloyd C. Douglas novel about Roman centurion who presides over Christ's crucifixion. Burton's Oscar-nominated performance seems stiff and superficial today, while Mature (as his slave Demetrius) comes off quite well! Famed as first movie in CinemaScope, though it was simultaneously shot "fat." Sequel: DEMETRIUS AND THE GLADIATORS. ▼●●

Roberta (1935) 106m.  D: William A. Seiter. Irene Dunne, Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Randolph Scott, Helen Westley, Claire Dodd, Victor Varconi, Candy Candido. The story of this famous Jerome Kern-Otto Harbach musical creaks and groans, but "supporting" characters Astaire and Rogers make up for it in their exuberant dance numbers. You can try counting how many times Scott says "swell," or try to spot young Lucille Ball in fashion-show sequence to get through the rest. Songs include "I Won't Dance," "Lovely to Look At," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," and "Yesterdays." Based on the Alice Duer Miller novel Gowns By Roberta. Remade as LOVELY TO LOOK AT. ▼●●

Robert A. Heinlein's The Puppet Masters SEE: Puppet Masters, The

Robert of Robert (1978-French) C-105m.  D: Claude Lelouch. Charles Denner, Jacques Villeret, Jean-Claude Brialy, Macha Meril, Germaine Montero, Regine. Winning comedy about a friendship between two lonely bachelors named Robert, one an eccentric, impatient cab driver, the other a shy, indecisive apprentice traffic cop. Villeret really scores as the latter.▼

Robin and Marian (1976) C-112m. ½ D: Richard Lester. Sean Connery, Audrey Hepburn, Robert Shaw, Richard Harris, Nicol Williamson, Denholm Elliott, Kenneth Haigh, Ian Holm, Ronnie Barker, Victoria Abril. Middle-aged Robin Hood returns to Sherwood Forest after years in exile, rekindles romance with Maid Marian and faces final challenge against arch-enemy Sheriff of Nottingham. Arid, uninvolved film strips beloved characters of all their magic. "Revisionist" script by James Goldman. [PG]▼●●

Robin and the 7 Hoods (1964) C-123m.  D: Gordon Douglas. Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis, Jr., Bing Crosby, Peter Falk, Barbara Rush, Victor Buono, Sig Ruman, Allen Jenkins, Hans Conried, Jack LaRue, Edward G. Robinson. Rat Pack's final fling is amusing transposition of the merrie legend to 1928 Chicago, with gangleader Sinatra surprised to find he's something of a local hero. No classic, but good-looking and easy to take; Crosby is adroit as gang's elder statesman. Cahn-Van Heusen songs include "My Kind of Town," "Style," "Mr. Boogie." Panavision.▼●●

Robin Hood (1973) C-83m. ½ D: Wolfgang Reitherman. Voices of Brian Bedford, Phil Harris, Monica Evans, Peter Ustinov, Terry-Thomas, Andy Devine, Roger Miller, Pat Buttram, George Lindsey, Carole Shelley. Undistinguished Disney cartoon feature is pleasant enough for kids, but lacks story strength (and heart). Animals fill traditional Robin Hood roles, with Phil Harris' Little John a virtual reprise of his Baloo the Bear from THE JUNGLE BOOK. Disney's live-action THE STORY OF ROBIN HOOD AND HIS MERRIE MEN was much better. [G]▼●●

Robin Hood: Men in Tights (1993) C-102m. ½ D: Mel Brooks. Cary Elwes, Richard Lewis, Roger Rees, Amy Yasbeck, David Chappelle, Mark Blankfield, Tracey Ullman, Eric Allan Kramer, Megan Cavanagh, Mel Brooks, Dom DeLuise, Dick Van Patten, Matthew Porretta, Isaac Hayes, Robert Ridgely, Chuck McCann, Clive Revill. Disappointingly mild Brooks parody with Elwes as the hero of Sherwood Forest, and Rees a hilarious Sheriff of Nottingham. (Brooks himself plays Rabbi Tuchman, a variation on Friar Tuck.) Laughs come in fits and starts, but the film has no momentum and no memorable set pieces. Cameos by Brooks regulars help a bit; DeLuise is hilarious as The Godfather. [PG-13]▼●●

Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves (1991) C-138m.  D: Kevin Reynolds. Kevin Costner, Morgan Freeman, Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio, Christian Slater, Alan Rickman, Geraldine McEwan, Michael McShane, Brian Blessed, Michael Wincott,

Nick Brimble, Jack Wild. A Robin Hood for the '90s, light years removed from the romantic vision of Errol Flynn ... but this gritty, pumped-up version can stand on its own, if you're willing to stick with it through a lumpy first hour, and can accept a very American Costner in the lead. Rough, tough, and rousing at times, with Rickman's off-the-wall approach to the Sheriff of Nottingham a real surprise. Extended edition runs 150m. [PG-13]▼●●

Robinson Crusoe (1952) SEE: Adventures of Robinson Crusoe

Robinson Crusoe (1998) C-91m. ½ D: Rod K. Hardy, George Miller. Pierce Brosnan, William Takaku, Polly Walker, Ian Hart, James Frain, Damian Lewis. Flat retelling of the Defoe classic with Brosnan playing the shipwrecked survivor. Visually appealing, and the actors try, but film lacks an emotional punch. Brosnan's real-life son Sean plays a cabin boy. Shot in 1994; never released theatrically in the U.S. Full on-screen title is DANIEL DEFOE'S ROBINSON CRUSOE. [PG-13]▼●

Robinson Crusoe and the Utopia Robinson Crusoe on Mars (1964) C-109m. ½ D: Byron Haskin. Paul Mantee, Vic Lundin, Adam West. Surprisingly agreeable reworking of the classic Defoe story, with Mantee as stranded astronaut, at first accompanied only by a monkey. "Friday" turns out to be a similarly trapped alien. Beautifully shot in Death Valley by Winton C. Hoch; film's intimate nature helps it play better on TV screens than most wide-screen space films. Techniscope.▼●●

RoboCop (1987) C-103m.  D: Paul Verhoeven. Peter Weller, Nancy Allen, Daniel O'Herlihy, Ronny Cox, Kurtwood Smith, Miguel Ferrer, Robert DoQui, Ray Wise, Felton Perry, Paul McCrane, Del Zamora. The setting: Detroit, in the near future. A cop who dies in the line of duty is transformed into an ultrasophisticated cyborg by the corporation which now runs the police department. Only hitch: this "perfect" cop still seeks revenge on the sadistic creeps who killed him. Sharp, slick, slambang action entertainment, with fantastic stop-motion animation supervised by Phil Tippett (ED 209 is a wow!) ... but its view of life in the future is unremittingly bleak and ugly. Followed by two sequels, an animated and a live-action TV series. Also shown in unrated version. [R]▼●●

RoboCop 2 (1990) C-118m. ½ D: Irvin Kershner. Peter Weller, Nancy Allen, Daniel O'Herlihy, Belinda Bauer, Tom Noonan, Gabriel Damon, Felton Perry, Robert DoQui, Willard Pugh, Patricia Charbonneau. Appallingly (and unnecessarily) mean, ugly sequel in which coldblooded corporation czar O'Herlihy and drug kingpin Noonan threaten to end Robo's existence—while the laboratory whizzes cook up a bigger, "better"

cyborg cop to take his place. Offensively violent and humorless. Phil Tippett's stop-motion animation is the film's only asset. [R] ▼●●
RoboCop 3 (1993) C-105m.  D: Fred Dekker. Robert John Burke, Nancy Allen, Rip Torn, John Castle, Jill Hennessy, CCH Pounder, Mako, Robert D'Qui, Remy Ryan, Bruce Locke. When the evil corporation OCP uses a policelike group to force impoverished Detroit citizens out of their homes, Robocop (Burke) leaves the force and joins the rebellion. The script (by Frank Miller and the director) is smug but crude; though it lacks the first sequel's violence, it's also short on spectacle. Filmed in 1991. [PG-13] ▼●●

Robo Man SEE: Who?

Robot Carnival (1987-Japanese) C-91m.  D: Katsuhiro Otomo, Atsuko Fukushima, Kouji Morimoto, Kiroyuki Kitazume, Mao Lamdo, Hidetoshi Ohmori, Yasuomi Umetsu, Hiroyuki Kitakubo, Takashi Nakamura. Nine animators collaborated to create eight short stories on the subject of robots: there's comic book fantasy, romance, comedy, and spectacle. Not all the stories hit the bull's-eye, but the best are quite good: "Presence," about a man falling in love with his female robot, and "Nightmare," in which a drunk awakens to find his city overrun by mechanical creatures. ▼●●

Robot Monster (1953) 63m. BOMB D: Phil Tucker. George Nader, Gregory Moffett, Claudia Barrett, Selena Royle, John Mylong. Gorilla in diving helmet wipes out entire Earth population save one family and Nader, then spends most of film's running time lumbering around Bronson Canyon trying to find them. One of the genuine legends of Hollywood: embarrassingly, hilariously awful . . . and dig that bubble machine with the TV antenna! Originally in 3-D (except for the dinosaur stock footage from ONE MILLION B.C. and LOST CONTINENT). ▼●●

Robots (2005) C-90m. ½ D: Chris Wedge. Voices of Ewan McGregor, Halle Berry, Robin Williams, Greg Kinnear, Mel Brooks, Drew Carey, Jim Broadbent, Amanda Bynes, Stanley Tucci, Dianne Wiest, Paul Giamatti, Jennifer Coolidge, Dan Hedaya, James Earl Jones, Natasha Lyonne. Naive son of a humble dishwasher sets off for Robot City to pursue his dream of being an inventor; there he learns that his hero, industrialist Bigweld, has been usurped by a greedy capitalist who intends to make older robots obsolete. Inventive CG-animated film has dazzling production design (by children's book author-illustrator William Joyce, who also coproduced); the script is less magical, with an alarming number of derrière jokes, but still entertaining, with a lively voice cast, including various celebrity cameos. [PG] ▼●

Rob Roy (1995-U.S.-Scottish) C-139m.  D: Michael Caton-Jones. Liam Neeson, Jessica Lange, John Hurt, Tim Roth, Eric Stoltz, Andrew Keir, Brian Cox, Brian McCaigie, Gilbert Martin, Vicki Masson.

Absorbing tale of Rob Roy MacGregor, a lowborn man of high ideals in early 1700s Scotland who refuses to sacrifice his integrity to save his skin—or his family's. Beautiful scenery and rugged action (including several sword fights) complement an intelligent script. Deliberately paced, with solid performances from Neeson and Lange, and a delicious, scene-stealing turn by Roth as a smarmy bad guy. Never quite rousing but always entertaining. J-D-C Scope. [R] ▼●●

Rob Roy, the Highland Rogue (1954) C-85m. *½ D: Harold French. Richard Todd, Glynis Johns, James Robertson Justice, Michael Gough, Finlay Currie, Jean Taylor-Smith. Disney's dreariest British film casts Todd as leader of Scottish clan planning uprising against England's King George in 18th century. Turgid and unrewarding. Story told much better in 1995 version. ▼●

Rocco and His Brothers (1960-Italian) 180m. ½ D: Luchino Visconti. Alain Delon, Renato Salvatori, Annie Girardot, Katina Paxinou, Claudia Cardinale, Roger Hanin, Suzy Delair. Sweeping chronicle of familial loyalty and the tainting of innocence, chronicling the plight of idealistic, saintly Rocco (Delon) after he and his mother and brothers leave their rural southern Italian community and settle in Milan. Stunningly photographed by Giuseppe Rotunno. Restored to its original running time in 1991; beware many shorter, visually inferior versions. ▼●●

Rock, The (1996) C-136m.  D: Michael Bay. Sean Connery, Nicolas Cage, Ed Harris, Michael Biehn, William Forsythe, David Morse, John Spencer, John C. McGinley, Tony Todd, Bokeem Woodbine, Danny Nucci, Vanessa Marcil, Anthony Clark, Claire Forlani. Big, loud, often dumb action/suspense yarn about a disgruntled Marine general who takes over Alcatraz, threatening to obliterate San Francisco with high-tech poison gas. Enter FBI biochemist Cage and long-imprisoned British agent Connery—the only man who ever escaped from The Rock—to lead a rescue team onto the island. Plenty of kinetic action and destruction, as well as contrivances and story holes. David Marshall Grant appears unbilled. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Rock-a-Bye Baby (1958) C-103m.  D: Frank Tashlin. Jerry Lewis, Marilyn Maxwell, Connie Stevens, Baccaloni, Reginald Gardiner, James Gleason, Hans Conried. Good-natured schnook Jerry becomes full-time baby-sitter for movie sex-siren Maxwell, who doesn't want her public to know she's had triplets. Loose remake of Preston Sturges's THE MIRACLE OF MORGAN'S CREEK, with many funny moments. That's Lewis' son Gary playing Jerry as a boy in the musical flashback sequence. VistaVision. ▼

Rock-a-Doodle (1992) C-77m.  D: Don Bluth. Voices of Glen Campbell, Christopher

Plummer, Phil Harris, Sandy Duncan, Eddie Deezen, Charles Nelson Reilly, Sorrell Booké, Ellen Greene, Toby Scott Granger. A cocky cock heads for Vegas after suffering a severe blow to his ego, finds success as a nightclub superstar in the Elvis mode. Kiddie cartoon is missing the essential components to make it more than passable entertainment for six-year-olds. [G]▼●●

Rock All Night (1957) 63m.  D: Roger Corman. Dick Miller, Russell Johnson, Jonathan Haze, Abby Dalton, The Platters, Robin Morse. AIP quickie about a pair of killers taking refuge in a bar and terrorizing captive customers. OK Corman pot-boiler with better-than-average performances, and dig this—Johnson's one of the bad guys and Miller's the hero!▼

Rock & Rule (1983) C-85m. ½ D: Clive A. Smith. Voices of Don Franks, Paul Le Mat, Susan Roman, Sam Langevin, Catherine O'Hara. Animated rock fable, with innovative, often dazzling visuals and a solid score (featuring Lou Reed, Debbie Harry, Cheap Trick, Earth, Wind and Fire, Iggy Pop, and others) . . . but story leaves something to be desired. A triumph of technique for Canada's Nelvana animation studio, and certainly worth a look. [PG]▼●●

Rock Around the Clock (1956) 77m.  D: Fred F. Sears. Bill Haley and His Comets, The Platters, Tony Martinez and His Band, Freddie Bell and His Bellboys, Alan Freed, Johnny Johnston. Premise is slim (unknown band brought to N.Y.C. where they become famous) but picture is now a time-capsule look at the emergence of rock 'n' roll. Bill Haley and the Comets perform "See You Later Alligator," "Razzle Dazzle," and the title song; the Platters chip in with "Only You" and "The Great Pretender." Remade as TWIST AROUND THE CLOCK.▼

Rocker, The (2008) C-102m. ½ D: Peter Cattaneo. Rainn Wilson, Christina Applegate, Teddy Geiger, Josh Gad, Emma Stone, Jeff Garlin, Jane Lynch, Jason Sudeikis, Will Arnett, Howard Hesseman, Fred Armisen, Bradley Cooper, Lonny Ross, Jonathan Glaser, Jane Krakowski, Pete Best. Drummer of about-to-be-famous heavy metal band is unceremoniously dumped in favor of record company exec's nephew. After 20 years of wallowing in anonymity he hooks up with some kick-ass high school rockers. Starts off abysmally, improves as it goes along, but then there's that formulaic, barely credible finale. Gets much of its mileage from Wilson's amusing Jack Black imitation. [PG-13]●

Rockers (1978-Jamaican) C-100m.  D: Theodoros Bafaloukos. Leroy Wallace, Richard Hall, Monica Craig, Marjorie Norman, Jacob Miller. Winningly funky though predictable comedy/drama about Rastafarian drummer Wallace's efforts to earn money and crack open the music establishment. Superior reggae score featuring Peter Tosh, Bunny Wailer, Burning Spear, Third World and Gregory Isaacs.▼

Rocketeer, The (1991) C-108m. ½ D: Joe Johnston. Bill Campbell, Jennifer Connelly, Alan Arkin, Timothy Dalton, Paul Sorvino, Terry O'Quinn, Ed Lauter, James Handy, Tiny Ron, Melora Hardin. Campbell plays a rough-and-ready 1930s pilot who stumbles onto a sought-after secret weapon: an air-pack that turns him into a rocket-man. Film captures the look of the '30s, as well as the gee-whiz innocence of Saturday matinee serials, but it's talky—and takes too much time to get where it's going. Dalton has fun as a villain patterned after Errol Flynn. Film buffs will get a kick out of the Rondo Hatton-esque bad guy (courtesy of makeup whiz Rick Baker). Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Rocket Gibraltar (1988) C-100m.  D: Daniel Petrie. Burt Lancaster, Suzy Amis, Patricia Clarkson, Frances Conroy, Sinead Cusack, John Glover, George Martin, Bill Pullman, Kevin Spacey, Macaulay Culkin. A family gathers to celebrate patriarch Lancaster's 77th birthday; his grown-up children love him but don't really understand what he's going through, while his grandchildren make a more emotional connection to the old man . . . and vow to carry out his unusual final wish. Lancaster's presence gives the film authority, and a talented ensemble lends credibility to Amos Poe's script. Culkin is wonderful as Lancaster's canny five-year-old grandson. Filmed at beautiful locations on Long Island. [PG]▼

Rocket Man, The (1954) 79m.  D: Oscar Rudolph. Charles Coburn, Spring Byington, Anne Francis, John Agar, George "Foghorn" Winslow, Beverly Garland. Campy fantasy of Winslow possessing a space gun that turns crooked people honest. Coscripted by Lenny Bruce—so it's no wonder the villain is a politician, who's portrayed as a drunken, cigar-chomping chiseler.

RocketMan (1997) C-94m. BOMB D: Stuart Gillard. Harland Williams, Jessica Lundy, William Sadler, Jeffrey DeMunn, James Pickens, Jr., Beau Bridges, Peter Onorati. Goofball computer expert Williams is the only possible choice to replace an ailing crewman on the first manned expedition to Mars. Predictable "comic" complications ensue, including painfully overstated farting-in-a-spacesuit jokes. Apparently, someone felt Williams was both hilarious and endearing, but we beg to differ. [PG]▼●●

Rocket Science (2007) C-101m.  D: Jeffrey Blitz. Reece Daniel Thompson, Anna Kendrick, Nicholas D'Agosto, Vincent Piazza, Margo Martindale, Aaron Yoo, Josh Kay, Steve Park, Denis O'Hare, Lisbeth Bartlett. Highly idiosyncratic (and unfocused) coming-of-age saga about a stut-

tering high school student who's persuaded to join the debate team by a beautiful girl who offers to mentor him. Pointed, often poignant observations about under- and overachievers dot this unpredictable film, which has its supporters. Scripted by first-time feature director Blitz, who made the hit documentary SPELLBOUND. [R] D

Rockets Galore! SEE: Mad Little Island

Rocketship X-M (1950) 77m. *½ D: Kurt Neumann. Lloyd Bridges, Osa Massen, Hugh O'Brian, John Emery, Noah Beery, Jr. Slightly better than average production of spaceship to moon that is thrown off-course to Mars. Nice photography, good acting. Video version contains new special effects shot in 1976. **▼●●

Rocket to the Moon SEE: Cat-Women of the Moon

Rocking Horse Winner, The (1949-British) 91m. ½ D: Anthony Pelissier. Valerie Hobson, John Howard Davies, John Mills, Ronald Squire, Hugh Sinclair, Charles Goldner, Susan Richards. Truly unique, fascinating drama based on D. H. Lawrence story; small boy has knack for picking racetrack winners, but complications set in before long. Beautifully done. Screenplay by the director. **▼●

Rock My World (2002-Canadian) C-106m.

*½ D: Sidney J. Furie. Peter O'Toole, Joan Plowright, Alicia Silverstone, Jaimz Woolvett, Keram Malicki-Sánchez, Christopher Bolton, Lochlyn Munro. Not-bad comedy set in England (but shot and financed in Canada) went straight to video in the U.S. but is far more engaging than its theatrical fate would indicate. An aristocratic British couple rent their country mansion to a rock band and wind up posing as the butler and cook when the motley crew finally shows up. Watching the interplay develop between these very different generations and cultures is fun and the music is surprisingly catchy. Plowright and O'Toole elevate this lightweight material, making for a couple of harmless hours in front of the telly. Aka GLOBAL HERESY. [R] D

RockRolla (2008-U.S.-British) C-114m.

*½ D: Guy Ritchie. Gerard Butler, Tom Wilkinson, Thandie Newton, Mark Strong, Idris Elba, Tom Hardy, Karel Roden, Toby Kebbell, Jeremy Piven, Chris "Ludacris" Bridges, Jimi Mistry. Jack-of-all-trades Butler and partner Elba borrow money from crime kingpin Wilkinson to clinch a deal, which sets off a domino-like series of events involving a Russian speculator (Roden), his slick accountant (Newton), and assorted other colorful characters. Clever, intricate tapestry of criminal activity with a lethal sense of humor. Writer-director Ritchie tries to recreate a vintage Ritchie movie; less spontaneous and more deliberate than his breakthrough films, but still enjoyable. HD Widescreen. [R] D

Rock 'n' Roll High School (1979) C-93m.

 D: Allan Arkush. P. J. Soles, Vincent Van Patten, Clint Howard, Dey Young, The Ramones, Mary Woronov, Paul Bartel, Alix Elias. A 1950s movie gone berserk. A rock-crazy teenager marshals her fellow students to rebel against the repression of new principal Miss Togar. An irresistible, high-energy comedy set to a nonstop soundtrack of Ramones music (and a few oldies). Soles is wonderful as the group's number one fan, Riff Randell. The songs include "Teenage Lobotomy," "Blitzkrieg Bop," "I Wanna Be Sedated," and "Sheena Is a Punk Rocker." Followed by ROCK 'N' ROLL HIGH SCHOOL FOREVER. [PG] **▼●●

Rock, Pretty Baby (1956) 89m. * D: Richard Bartlett. Sal Mineo, John Saxon, Luana Patten, Edward C. Platt, Fay Wray, Rod McKuen, Shelley Fabares, George Winslow. Prototype of rock 'n' roll entries of 1950s revolving around high school rock group's effort to win big-time musical contest. **▼

Rock, Rock, Rock! (1956) 83m. * D: Will Price. Tuesday Weld, Teddy Randazzo, Alan Freed, Frankie Lyman and The Teenagers, The Moonglows, Chuck Berry, The Flamingos, Johnny Burnette Trio, LaVern Baker, Cirino and The Bowties. Weld, in her film debut and barely out of her training bra, must raise $30 to buy a strapless evening dress for a prom! Filmed on a budget of $6.95—and it shows. But the rock 'n' rollers, particularly Chuck Berry, are lively. Lyman and The Teenagers sing "I'm Not a Juvenile Delinquent." Weld's singing voice was dubbed by Connie Francis. One of the teens is young Valerie Harper. **▼●

Rockshow (1980-British) C-105m. *½ No director credited. Paul McCartney, Linda McCartney, Jimmy McCulloch, Joe English, Denny Laine. Adequate concert film of Paul McCartney and Wings on tour. Effect of Dolby sound recording will be lost on the small screen. [G] **▼

Rock Star (2001) C-106m. *½ D: Stephen Herek. Mark Wahlberg, Jennifer Aniston, Jason Flemyng, Timothy Olyphant, Timothy Spall, Dominic West, Stephan Jenkins, Jason Bonham, Heidi Mark, Dagmara Dominczyk, Rachel Hunter. In the early 1980s, a wide-eyed young man fronts a band that slavishly imitates his favorite heavy-metal group, and then gets an offer to take their lead singer's place. It seems too good to be true, and he comes to learn that it is, but that lesson is obvious to us early on. Simplistic storyline undermines sincere, likable performances by Wahlberg and Aniston (as his girlfriend and manager). Super 35. [R] **▼●

Rockula (1990) C-87m. ½ D: Luca Bercovici. Dean Cameron, Tawny Fere, Susan Tyrrell, Bo Diddley, Thomas Dolby, Toni Basil. Teen vampire Cameron is unable to lose his virginity because of a centuries-old curse. Pretty stale stuff; of interest only for—but not redeemed by—the presence of Diddley. [PG-13]▼●

Rocky (1976) C-119m. ½ D: John G. Avildsen. Sylvester Stallone, Talia Shire, Burt Young, Carl Weathers, Burgess Meredith, Thayer David. This story of a two-bit fighter who gets his “million-to-one shot” for fame, and self-respect, in a championship bout is impossible to dislike, even though it’s just an old B movie brought up to date. Knowing that the film was a similar do-or-die project for writer-star Stallone added to its good vibes. Oscar winner for Best Picture, Director, Editing (Richard Halsey, Scott Conrad). Followed by five sequels. [PG]▼●●

Rocky II (1979) C-119m.  D: Sylvester Stallone. Sylvester Stallone, Talia Shire, Burt Young, Carl Weathers, Burgess Meredith. Officially a sequel, this slightly silly film is more of a rehash, but the climactic bout (and buildup to it) hits home. [PG]▼●●

Rocky III (1982) C-99m. ½ D: Sylvester Stallone. Sylvester Stallone, Talia Shire, Burt Young, Burgess Meredith, Carl Weathers, Mr. T. Here, the Italian Stallion is trained by Apollo Creed after being dethroned by obnoxious Clubber Lang (Mr. T). Stallone’s got a winning formula, but enough already. [PG]▼●●

Rocky IV (1985) C-91m. ½ D: Sylvester Stallone. Sylvester Stallone, Dolph Lundgren, Carl Weathers, Talia Shire, Burt Young, Brigitte Nielsen, Michael Pataki, James Brown. Totally artificial (and unnecessary) sequel has Rocky doin’ what a man’s gotta do—avenging a friend’s demise and fighting for the U.S.A. (and world peace) against a superhuman Russian champ. Still, Stallone knows how to press all the right buttons, especially in a great training montage. [PG]▼●●

Rocky V (1990) C-104m.  D: John G. Avildsen. Sylvester Stallone, Talia Shire, Burt Young, Sage Stallone, Burgess Meredith, Tommy Morrison, Richard Gant. The one-time champ has hit rock bottom (again). He winds up in his old neighborhood, broke and ostracized (again). He trains a young boxer who turns ingrate, and in spite of his own brain damage (from the fight in ROCKY IV) is willing to risk everything on another bout. Again. You pays your money, and you gets what you expects in this Stallone screenplay, but the thrill is gone. Stallone’s real-life son plays Rocky, Jr. Followed by ROCKY BALBOA. [PG-13]▼●●

Rocky Balboa (2006) C-102m. ½ D: Sylvester Stallone. Sylvester Stallone, Burt Young, Milo Ventimiglia, Geraldine Hughes, James Francis Kelly III, Tony Burton, A. J. Benza, Henry G. Sanders, Antonio Tarver. Title character, now a 60-ish widower and restaurant owner who’s alienated from his corporate yuppie son (Ventimiglia), decides to reenter the ring one last time (unless, of course, screenwriter Stallone concocts yet another sequel) to battle the current heavyweight champ. Not as bad as it might have been,

even though it strains credibility; contrived, to be sure, but also curiously endearing. A number of ESPN-type TV personalities appear as themselves. Super 35. [PG]●

Rocky Horror Picture Show, The (1975-British) C-95m.  D: Jim Shaman. Tim Curry, Susan Sarandon, Barry Bostwick, Richard O’Brien, Jonathan Adams, Meatloaf, Little Nell (Campbell), Charles Gray, Patricia Quinn. Outrageously kinky horror movie spoof, spiced with sex, transvestism, and rock music, about a straight couple, Janet and Brad (Sarandon, Bostwick), stranded in an old dark house full of weirdos from Transylvania. Music and lyrics by O’Brien; songs include “Time Warp,” “Dammit Janet,” and “Wild and Untamed Thing.” British running time: 100m. Followed by SHOCK TREATMENT. [R]▼●●

Rocky Mountain (1950) 83m.  D: William Dieterle. Errol Flynn, Patrice Wymore, Scott Forbes, Guinn Williams, Dick Jones, Howard Petrie, Slim Pickens, Chubby Johnson, Buzz Henry, Sheb Wooley, Peter Coe, Yakima Canutt. Solid, unpretentious Western (from an Alan LeMay story) about a Confederate troop led by Flynn that saves a stagecoach from Indian attackers but may not be able to save itself. Filmed in New Mexico. ▼●

Rodan (1956-Japanese) C-70m.  D: Ishiro Honda. Kenji Sawara, Yumi Shirakawa, Akihiko Hirata, Akio Kobori. Colossal pterodactyl hatches in mine, later goes on destructive rampage in Fukuoka. Colorful comic book stuff, all too typical of Toho Studios’ monster formula.▼●●

Roger & Me (1989) C-87m. ½ D: Michael Moore. Inspired, darkly ironic documentary-style film about one man’s attempts to track down General Motors chairman Roger Smith, to show him what his factory closing did to the town of Flint, Michigan, where 30,000 jobs were lost. Filmmaker/narrator Moore creates an irresistible blend of documentary and humorous essay in this unique piece of Americana. Followed in 1992 by Moore’s 24m. short, PETS OR MEAT: THE RETURN TO FLINT. [R]▼●●

Roger Dodger (2002) C-104m. ½ D: Dylan Kidd. Campbell Scott, Jesse Eisenberg, Isabella Rossellini, Elizabeth Berkley, Jennifer Beals, Ben Shenkman, Mina Badie, Chris Stack. Arsenic-drenched portrait of a misanthrope who fancies himself a lady-killer and decides to show his impressionable teenage nephew the ropes in N.Y.C. Scott’s performance is a tour de force from his first moment on-screen, and he’s in fine company with his self-assured female costars, but director Kidd’s relentless, self-consciously clever script leaves an unpleasant aftertaste. [R]▼●

Rogue Cop (1954) 92m.  D: Roy Rowland. Robert Taylor, Janet Leigh, George

Raft, Steve Forrest, Anne Francis, Robert F. Simon, Robert Ellenstein, Alan Hale, Jr., Vince Edwards. Dynamic account of crooked cop Taylor caught between loyalty to his brother and his gangster cohorts. Also shown in computer-colored version.

Rogue's March (1952) 84m.  D: Allan Davis. Peter Lawford, Richard Greene, Janice Rule, Leo G. Carroll. Programmer-costumer set in India (via stock footage and rear projection scenes), with Lawford trying to redeem himself with regiment.

Role Models (2008-U.S.-German) C-99m. ½ D: David Wain. Seann William Scott, Paul Rudd, Christopher Mintz-Plasse, Bobb'e J. Thompson, Elizabeth Banks, Jane Lynch, Ken Marino, Kerri Kenney-Silver, Ken Jeong, David Wain. While Scott is content to work as a mascot for an energy drink, his coworker Rudd feels as if he's stuck in a rut. When the two get in trouble with the law, they are given the choice of doing community service by mentoring kids or going to prison. For the sake of society, they should have chosen the hoosegow. Admittedly formulaic and juvenile, relying heavily on dirty jokes; a talented cast helps mask the film's shortcomings. Lynch is a stand-out. Unrated version runs 101m. [R]▶

Roll Bounce (2005) C-112m. ½ D: Malcolm D. Lee. Bow Wow, Chi McBride, Mike Epps, Wesley Jonathan, Kellita Smith, Meagan Good, Nick Cannon, Jurnee Smollett, Wayne Brady, Tim Kazurinsky. A group of skate-loving teenagers on Chicago's South Side have to prove themselves to the snobs on the other side of town when their local skating rink closes, all while facing the joys and pains of growing up. As fad-based coming-of-age movies go, this is a notch or two below SATURDAY NIGHT FEVER and an improvement over ROLLER BOOGIE. Despite clichés, its '70s atmosphere, energetically filmed roller-skating sequences, and surprisingly engaging characters make it an entertaining diversion. Super 35. [PG-13]▶

Rollerball (1975) C-122m. ½ D: Norman Jewison. James Caan, John Houseman, Maud Adams, John Beck, Moses Gunn, Ralph Richardson. Great-looking but disappointing drama of the 21st century; Caan is the champ at a violent sport in a society where violence has been outlawed. Filmed in Munich and London, adapted by William Harrison from his story Roller Ball Murders. Remade in 2002. [R]▶▶▶

Rollerball (2002-U.S.-German-Japanese) C-98m. *½ D: John McTiernan. Chris Klein, Jean Reno, LL Cool J, Rebecca Romijn-Stamos, Naveen Andrews, Oleg Taktarov, David Hemblen, Paul Heyman. Reckless Klein follows his high school football teammate (LL Cool J) to a Middle Eastern country to play rollerball, a violent arena game that's more a circus than a sport.

Somehow neither one of them figures out that the game's entrepreneur (Reno) will literally kill for good TV ratings. Remake of a not-so-hot movie manages to be even worse than the original. Laughably dumb. Video version is rated R. Panavision. [PG-13]▶▶

Roller Boogie (1979) C-103m. BOMB D: Mark L. Lester. Linda Blair, Jim Bray, Beverly Garland, Roger Perry, Mark Goddard, Sean McClory. Blair, Bray, and friends join forces to thwart evil Goddard from closing local roller skating rink. Made to cash in on roller-disco fad, with amateurish script and performances. [PG]▶▶

Rollercoaster (1977) C-119m.  D: James Goldstone. George Segal, Richard Widmark, Timothy Bottoms, Henry Fonda, Harry Guardino, Susan Strasberg, Helen Hunt, Dorothy Tristan, Craig Wasson, William Prince, Robert Quarry. Silly disaster-type film almost redeemed by Segal's winning performance as civic inspector who tries to nail extortionist (Bottoms) before he sabotages another amusement park. Overlong, but at least home viewers won't have to watch it in "Sensurround." Hunt's film debut. Panavision. [PG]▶▶▶

Rolling Thunder (1977) C-99m.  D: John Flynn. William Devane, Tommy Lee Jones, Linda Haynes, James Best, Dabney Coleman, Lisa Richards, Luke Askew. Devane comes home after eight years as P.O.W. in Vietnam, sees his family murdered, and cold-bloodedly goes for revenge. Intriguing aspects of story (by Paul Schrader) and main characters thrown off-course by graphic violence and vigilante melodramatics. [R]▶▶▶

Rollover (1981) C-118m. *½ D: Alan J. Pakula. Jane Fonda, Kris Kristofferson, Hume Cronyn, Josef Sommer, Bob Gunton, Martha Plimpton. Laughably pretentious, barely comprehensible drama about petrochemical heiress (and former film star) Fonda, banker-troubleshooter Kristofferson, and their high-financial dealings. Cronyn excels as a cunning banker. A rare example of financial science fiction. [R]▶▶

Romance (1930) 76m.  D: Clarence Brown. Greta Garbo, Lewis Stone, Gavin Gordon, Elliott Nugent, Florence Lake, Clara Blandick. Garbo is miscast in this static, hokey early talkie about an Italian opera star who philosophizes about love and has a relationship with an inexperienced young priest (limply played by Gordon).▶

Romance (1999-French) C-97m. *½ D: Catherine Breillat. Caroline Ducey, Sagamore Stévenin, François Berléand, Rocco Siffredi, Reza Habouhossen. Notorious French film from writer-director Breillat about a woman who, rejected by her lover, goes on a sexual odyssey that leads her down some very strange paths. Novelty of a sexual film from a woman's point of view quickly wears off; it's startlingly explicit but strangely un-

erotic—and, more important, dull. Alternate 84m. video version is rated R. ▼

Romance & Cigarettes (2007) C-106m. ½ D: John Turturro. James Gandolfini, Susan Sarandon, Kate Winslet, Steve Buscemi, Bobby Cannavale, Mandy Moore, Mary-Louise Parker, Christopher Walken, Aida Turturro, Barbara Sukowa, Elaine Stritch, Eddie Izzard, Amy Sedaris, Cady Huffman, Tonya Pinkins, David Thornton. Bawdy, highly personal movie from writer-coproducer-director Turturro is an urban musical-romance-comedy-drama, unlike anything you've ever seen. Blue-collar couple Gandolfini and Sarandon are going through one hell of a midlife crisis, thanks to Gandolfini's adultery. Cast belts out songs, karaoke-style (from Tom Jones to Bruce Springsteen). Wildly uneven but endearing love letter to Queens, N.Y. A must for Kate Winslet completists. Panavision. [R]

Romance of a Horsethief (1971-U.S.-Yugoslavian) C-100m. *½ D: Abraham Polonsky. Yul Brynner, Eli Wallach, Jane Birkin, Oliver Tobias, Lainie Kazan, David Opatoshu. Wily Jewish horsetraders scheme to outwit Cossack captain Brynner and his men, in a Polish village circa 1904. A heartfelt endeavor for director Polonsky and actor-screenwriter Opatoshu that just doesn't come off. [PG] ▼

Romance of Rosy Ridge, The (1947) 105m.  D: Roy Rowland. Van Johnson, Thomas Mitchell, Janet Leigh, Marshall Thompson, Selena Royle, Charles Dingle, Dean Stockwell, Guy Kibbee, Jim Davis. Heartfelt post-Civil War tale, set in a Missouri farm community whose residents are still fighting the war. Farmer Mitchell casts suspicious eye on charming stranger Johnson, who is courting his daughter (Leigh, in her film debut). Fascinating, humanist script by soon-to-be-blacklisted Lester Cole (based on a story by MacKinlay Kantor).

Romance on the High Seas (1948) C-99m.  D: Michael Curtiz. Jack Carson, Janis Paige, Don DeFore, Doris Day, Oscar Levant, S. Z. Sakall, Fortunio Bonanova, Eric Blore, Franklin Pangborn. Sparkling, trivial romantic musical set on an ocean voyage, with Doris' star-making feature film debut, singing "It's Magic." "Put 'em in a Box." Easygoing fun. ▼

Romancing the Stone (1984) C-105m.  D: Robert Zemeckis. Kathleen Turner, Michael Douglas, Danny DeVito, Zack Norman, Alfonso Arau, Manuel Ojeda. Very likable high-adventure hokum about mousy writer of romantic fiction who finds herself up to her neck in trouble in Colombia, with only a feisty American soldier-of-fortune as her ally. Silly story never stops moving—with some terrific action and stunts—but it's Turner's enormously appealing performance that really makes the film worthwhile. Sequel: THE JEWEL OF THE NILE. Panavision. [PG] ▼

Roman de Gare (2007-French) C-104m.  D: Claude Lelouch. Fanny Ardant, Dominique Pinon, Audrey Dana, Myriam Boyer, Michele Bernier, Boris Ventura Diaz. Lelouch returns to the style and sophistication of earlier film successes with this entertaining cinematic puzzle in which things and people are not always what they seem to be. Plotlines converge, involving the relationship between a novelist and her ghostwriter and a hairdresser and a stranger who could be a serial killer—or not. Magic, illusion, and lies are at the core of this elegant mystery, which mixes humor and intrigue in equal doses. In order to keep us guessing, Lelouch cast two unknowns in leading roles. HD Widescreen. [R]

Roman Holiday (1953) 119m. ½ D: William Wyler. Audrey Hepburn, Gregory Peck, Eddie Albert, Tullio Carminati. Hepburn got first break and an Oscar as princess, yearning for normal life, who runs away from palace, has romance with reporter Peck. Screenplay by John Dighton and Ian McLellan Hunter, from an Oscar-winning story (written by blacklisted Dalton Trumbo and credited for almost 40 years to Hunter, who acted as his "front"). Utterly charming. Remade for TV in 1987 with Catherine Oxenberg and Tom Conti. ▼

Romanoff and Juliet (1961) C-103m.  D: Peter Ustinov. Peter Ustinov, Sandra Dee, John Gavin, Akim Tamiroff, Rik Von Nutter. Ustinov wrote, directed, and stars in this cold war satire with offspring of U.S. and Russian ambassadors falling in love. Italian locations substitute for mythical country which Ustinov rules.

Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone, The (1961) C-104m.  D: Jose Quintero. Vivien Leigh, Warren Beatty, Lotte Lenya, Jill St. John, Jeremy Spenser, Coral Browne, Cleo Laine, Bessie Love, Jean Marsh. Middle-aged actress retreats to Rome, buying a fling at romance from gigolo Beatty. Lenya, as Leigh's waspish friend, comes off best. Adapted from Tennessee Williams novella. Remade for cable TV in 2003. ▼

Romantic Comedy (1983) C-103m. *½ D: Arthur Hiller. Dudley Moore, Mary Steenburgen, Frances Sternhagen, Janet Eilber, Robyn Douglass, Ron Leibman. Faithful adaptation of Bernard Slade's paper-thin play looks even worse on screen, despite a perfect cast. Moore is a playwright who tries to stifle his feelings for his female writing partner over many years' time. Title sounds suspiciously like a generic product—like Canned Peas or Toilet Tissue. Hold out for brand names. [PG] ▼

Romantic Englishwoman, The (1975-British) C-115m. ½ D: Joseph Losey. Michael Caine, Glenda Jackson, Helmut

Berger, Beatrice Romand, Kate Nelligan, Nathalie Delon, Michel Lonsdale. Caine, a successful novelist married to Jackson, invites Berger into their home to generate material for a screenplay he's writing. Underrated comedy-drama by Tom Stoppard and Thomas Wiseman from Wiseman's novel; stylish and believable. [R]▼

Rome Adventure (1962) C-119m.  D: Delmer Daves. Troy Donahue, Angie Dickinson, Rossano Brazzi, Suzanne Pleshette, Constance Ford, Chad Everett, Al Hirt, Hampton Fancher. Plush soaper with Pleshette as schoolteacher on Roman fling to find romance, torn between roué (Brazzi) and architect (Donahue). As Troy's mistress, Dickinson has some rare repartee. Lush Max Steiner score, Donahue and Pleshette married two years later.▼●●

Romeo and Juliet (1936) 126m. ½ D: George Cukor. Norma Shearer, Leslie Howard, John Barrymore, Edna May Oliver, Basil Rathbone, C. Aubrey Smith, Andy Devine, Reginald Denny, Ralph Forbes. Well-acted, lavish production of Shakespeare's play about ill-fated lovers. Howard and Shearer are so good that one can forget they are too old for the roles. Not the great film it might have been, but a very good one.▼●●

Romeo and Juliet (1954-British) C-140m.  D: Renato Castellani. Laurence Harvey, Susan Shentall, Flora Robson, Mervyn Johns, Bill Travers, Sebastian Cabot; introduced by John Gielgud. Sumptuously photographed in Italy, this pleasing version of Shakespeare's tragedy has the virtue of good casting.▼●

Romeo and Juliet (1966-British) C-126m. ½ D: Paul Czinner. Margot Fonteyn, Rudolf Nureyev, David Blair, Desmond Doyle, Julia Farron, Michael Somes. Anyone interested in dance will want to see this filmed record of the Royal Ballet production, but actually, it doesn't adapt very well to film; zoom lens is poor substitute for immediacy of live performance.▼

Romeo and Juliet (1968-British-Italian) C-138m. ½ D: Franco Zeffirelli. Leonard Whiting, Olivia Hussey, Milo O'Shea, Michael York, John McEnery, Pat Heywood, Robert Stephens; narrated by Laurence Olivier. One of the best cinematic versions of Shakespeare's immortal tale of two young lovers kept apart by their families. Unique for its casting leads who were only 17 and 15, respectively, this exquisitely photographed film (by Pasquale de Santis, who won an Oscar) has a hauntingly beautiful musical score by Nino Rota and Oscar-winning costumes by Danilo Donati. [PG—edited from original G rating]▼●●

Romeo & Juliet (1996) C-120m. ½ D: Baz Luhrmann. Claire Danes, Leonardo DiCaprio, Brian Dennehy, John Leguizamo, Pete Postlethwaite, Paul Sorvino, Christina

Pickles, Vondie Curtis Hall, M. Emmet Walsh, Miriam Margolyes, Diane Venora, Harold Perrineau, Paul Rudd. Arrestingly original, post-modern MTV-style '90s version of Shakespeare's tragic love story, set in Miami. The words are all authentic, the images dizzyingly clever, but the conceit wears thin after a while. What keeps it alive is the earnestness of the two youthful leads, whose passion for one another is tangible and appealing. Postlethwaite also scores strongly as Friar Lawrence. Officially titled—with no apparent irony—WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE'S ROMEO & JULIET. Panavision. [PG-13]▼●●

Romeo Is Bleeding (1993) C-108m. ½ D: Peter Medak. Gary Oldman, Lena Olin, Annabella Sciorra, Juliette Lewis, Roy Scheider, David Proval, Will Patton, Larry Joshua, James Cromwell, Julia Migenes, Dennis Farina, Ron Perlman. Nasty, hopped-up contemporary film noir about a crooked cop who's ordered by a crime-family kingpin to bump off a sexy hit woman. Film's standout virtue—and it's a doozy—is Olin's robust performance as a sadistic dominatrix who ends up strangling her assailant between her thighs and tying him down to electrified bedsprings. Outlandish, sometimes funny, but confuses overcooked with hard-boiled. [R]▼●●

Romeo Must Die (2000) C-115m. ½ D: Andrzej Bartkowiak. Jet Li, Aaliyah, Delroy Lindo, Henry O, Isaiah Washington, Russell Wong, DMX, D.B. Woodside, Anthony Anderson. If there's a Romeo, there must be a Juliet, and this Oakland-set bone-crusher deals with two warring gang families (one African-American, one Chinese) whose straight-and-narrow offspring want no part of the inevitable mayhem. Martial arts star Li's English-language starring debut has toned down the brutality to fashion a movie of slightly broader appeal. OK but overelaborate and overlong. Directorial debut for renowned cinematographer Bartkowiak. Super 35. [R]▼

Rome, Open City SEE: Open City

Romero (1989) C-102m.  D: John Duigan. Raul Julia, Richard Jordan, Ana Alicia, Eddie Velez, Alejandro Bracho, Tony Plana, Lucy Reina, Harold Gould, Al Ruscio, Robert Viharo. Absorbing biography of El Salvador's Archbishop Oscar Romero, chronicling his transformation from passive cleric to eloquent defender of his church and people. Thoughtfully directed with a good script by John Sacret Young and a quietly powerful performance by Julia. The initial feature film financed by officials of the United States Roman Catholic Church. [PG-13]▼●●

Romper Stomper (1992-Australian) C-92m.  D: Geoffrey Wright. Russell Crowe, Daniel Pollock, Jacqueline McKenzie, Alex Scott, Leigh Russell, Daniel Wyllie, James McKenna. Lashing out at Asians in their neighborhood, a gang of white supremacist Melbourne skinheads is gradually reduced to a handful. Well-observed story is extremely tense, with strong doses of violence and sex. Reminiscent of A CLOCKWORK ORANGE, Wright's feature debut is vividly directed and well acted, but whittling the story down to a sexual triangle is a letdown. Very successful (and controversial) in its native Australia. ▼●●

Romulus, My Father (2007-Australian) C-104m. ½ D: Richard Roxburgh. Eric Bana, Franka Potente, Marton Csokas, Kodi Smit-McPhee, Russell Dykstra, Jacek Koman, Alethea McGrath. A close-knit community of immigrants in Victoria gets too close, as a jealous Romanian husband goes mental while his German wife is AWOL with another bloke, their little boy tossed and torn among them all. 1960s melodrama is visually beautiful and convincingly acted, with assured direction by Roxburgh (in the actor's debut behind the camera) . . . but this abusive, violent gut-wrencher is often too much to bear. Adapted from Raimond Gaita's 1998 memoir. [R] ▼

Romy and Michele's High School Reunion (1997) C-91m. ½ D: David Mirkin. Mira Sorvino, Lisa Kudrow, Janeane Garofalo, Alan Cumming, Julia Campbell, Mia Cottet, Kristin Bauer, Camryn Manheim. Best-friend airheads decide to attend their 10-year high school reunion in Tucson . . . then realize that they'd better put on airs if they're going to impress all the A-list snobs who used to make their lives a living hell. Flighty comedy has lulls to match its laughs, but benefits from airtight performances by the two gaudy, likable leads. Followed by a made-for-TV prequel. [R] ▼●●

Ronin (1998) C-121m.  D: John Frankenheimer. Robert De Niro, Jean Reno, Natasha McElhone, Stellan Skarsgård, Jonathan Pryce, Sean Bean, Skipp Sudduth, Michael (Michel) Lonsdale, Jan Triska, Katarina Witt. A group of mercenaries is brought together in France to secure a mysterious package for a high-powered client—but a double-cross leads to a guessing game of whom can be trusted. Great car chases (from the director of GRAND PRIX) are the only draw in this otherwise flat, self-serious espionage yarn. Dialogue about Japanese Ronin doesn't even apply to these characters! Cowriter Richard Weisz is in fact David Mamet. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Roof, The (1956-Italian) 98m. ½ D: Vittorio De Sica. Gabriella Pallotta, Giorgio Listuzzi, Gastone Renzelli, Maria Di Rollo. Thoughtful neorealist account of a simple young married couple in overcrowded post-WW2 Rome, and their attempt to find a home for themselves. Original title: IL TETTO. ▼

Rooftops (1989) C-95m. *½ D: Robert Wise. Jason Gedrick, Troy Beyer, Eddie Velez, Tisha Campbell, Alexis Cruz, Allen

Payne. Routine urban B musical about a teenage white male, his forbidden Hispanic girlfriend, drug pushers, and a form of "combat dancing"—the last employing martial-arts footwork, but without the bone crushing. Sole distinction: that it was directed by veteran Wise, who won an Oscar for the thematically similar WEST SIDE STORY. [R] ▼●●

Rookie, The (1990) C-121m. *½ D: Clint Eastwood. Clint Eastwood, Charlie Sheen, Raul Julia, Sonia Braga, Tom Skerritt, Lara Flynn Boyle, Pepe Serna, Mara Corday. Formula filmmaking that even bored its intended audience. Cop Eastwood chews stogies for breakfast, while new partner Sheen is a rich kid who (from evidence supplied here) apparently enjoys collecting facial contusions. Still, there's one good freeway crackup, the you-asked-for-it teaming of Julia and Braga as Germans, and the sight of handcuffed Clint performing under extreme pressure during Braga's bondage rape of him. (Maybe she saw TIGHTROPE.) Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Rookie, The (2002) C-127m.  D: John Lee Hancock. Dennis Quaid, Rachel Griffiths, Jay Hernandez, Beth Grant, Angus T. Jones, Brian Cox, Rick Gonzalez, Royce D. Applegate. High school teacher/baseball coach inspires his ragtag team to win, and they in turn egg him on to follow his longtime dream of pitching in the major leagues. Upeat, feel-good movie about following your dreams and tying up loose ends in your life. Based on the true story of Jim Morris, who appears briefly as an umpire. Panavision. [G] ▼

Rookie of the Year (1993) C-103m.  D: Daniel Stern. Thomas Ian Nicholas, Gary Busey, Albert Hall, Amy Morton, Dan Hedaya, Bruce Altman, Eddie Bracken, Daniel Stern, Robert Gorman. Amiable film for kids about a boy who, after breaking his arm, turns out to have an incredible fastball pitch, which earns him a spot as the new star pitcher for the Chicago Cubs. Benign (almost to a fault), sometimes broad comedy/fantasy has a paper-thin plot, but makes all the right moves to entertain the youthful audience it's aiming for. First-time feature director Stern gives himself the silliest part in the film, as a dimwitted pitching coach. John Candy appears unbilled as an excitable Cubs broadcaster. Similar in premise to a 1954 film, ROOGIE'S BUMP. [PG] ▼●●

Room at the Top (1959-British) 118m. * D: Jack Clayton. Laurence Harvey, Simone Signoret, Heather Sears, Hermione Baddeley, Donald Wolfitt, Ambrosine Philips, Donald Houston, Wendy Craig. Brilliant drama of Harvey sacrificing Signoret's love to get ahead by marrying factory boss' daughter. Trenchant and powerful adaptation of John Braine novel won Oscars for Signoret and screenwriter Neil Paterson. Followed by

LIFE AT THE TOP and MAN AT THE TOP. ▼●●

Room for One More (1952) 98m.  D: Norman Taurog. Cary Grant, Betsy Drake, Lurene Tuttle, George Winslow, John Ridgely. Grant and Drake are softhearted couple who can't resist adopting needy kids. Sentimental comedy retitled THE EASY WAY; basis for later TV series. ●

Room for Romeo Brass, A (2000-British) C-90m.  D: Shane Meadows. Paddy Considine, Andrew Shim, Frank Harper, Ladene Hall, Vicky McClure, Ben Marshall, Julia Ford, James Higgins, Bob Hoskins, Darren O. Campbell. Poignant and scary story of Romeo and Gavin, two 12-year-old boys whose friendship is put to the test when they meet a childlike man with a violent temper who becomes obsessed with Romeo's older sister. Unique mix of coming-of-age dramedy and psychological suspense is buoyed by Meadows' sensitive direction and an intense De Niro-esque performance from Considine in his debut film. Second part of Meadows' Midlands trilogy (TWENTYFOURSEVEN, ONCE UPON A TIME IN THE MIDLANDS). [R]

Roommates (1995) C-108m. ½ D: Peter Yates. Peter Falk, D. B. Sweeney, Julianne Moore, Ellen Burstyn, Jan Rubes, Frankie Faison, Noah Fleiss, Joyce Reehling, Ernie Sabella, William H. Macy. A movie best described as "nice," about a crotchety, working-class Polish immigrant who raises his grandson when the boy is orphaned, and remains a dominant figure in his life even after the young man is married and a father himself. Falk is in fine form in this mildly entertaining story, based on coscreenwriter Max Apple's own experiences. [PG] ▼●●

Room Service (1938) 78m.  D: William A. Seiter. Groucho, Chico and Harpo Marx, Lucille Ball, Ann Miller, Frank Albertson, Donald MacBride. Broadway farce about destitute producers trying to keep their play afloat—and avoid being evicted from their hotel room—is transformed by scenarist Morrie Ryskind into a vehicle for the Marx Bros. More conventional than their earlier outings, but still has a lot of funny material (and, thankfully, no intrusive songs). Remade as a musical, STEP LIVELY. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Room with a View, A (1986-British) C-115m.  D: James Ivory. Maggie Smith, Helena Bonham Carter, Denholm Elliott, Julian Sands, Daniel Day-Lewis, Simon Callow, Judi Dench, Rosemary Leach, Rupert Graves. Elegant and witty adaptation of E. M. Forster novel about British manners and mores, and a young woman's awakening experiences during a trip (chaperoned, of course) to Florence. Splendid performances, fine attention to detail; only fault is its deliberate pace, which allows interest level to lag from time to time. Won Oscars for screenplay adaptation (Ruth Praver Jhabvala), art direction, and costume design. ▼●●

Rooster Cogburn (1975) C-107m.  D: Stuart Millar. John Wayne, Katharine Hepburn, Anthony Zerbe, Strother Martin, Richard Jordan, John McIntire, Richard Farnsworth. Reprising Wayne's character from TRUE GRIT and teaming him with Hepburn was an obvious attempt to spark an AFRICAN QUEEN-type hit, but starpower is all this film has going for it. Dull story has unlikely duo going after men who murdered Kate's father. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Roosters (1993) C-95m. *½ D: Robert M. Young. Edward James Olmos, Sonia Braga, Maria Conchita Alonso, Danny Nucci, Sarah Lassez. Leaden-paced drama of irresponsible ex-con Olmos, who's consumed by his machismo, and what happens when he returns to his family in the rural Southwest. Uninvolving and at times downright boring, despite all of the characters' simmering emotions. An American Playhouse coproduction. [R] ▼●

Roots of Heaven, The (1958) C-131m. ½ D: John Huston. Errol Flynn, Juliette Greco, Trevor Howard, Eddie Albert, Orson Welles, Herbert Lom, Paul Lukas. Turgid melodramatics set in Africa, with conglomerate cast philosophizing over sanctity of elephants; loosely based on Roman Gary novel. CinemaScope.

Rope (1948) C-80m.  D: Alfred Hitchcock. James Stewart, John Dall, Farley Granger, Cedric Hardwicke, Joan Chandler, Constance Collier, Douglas Dick. Two young men kill prep-school pal, just for the thrill of it, and challenge themselves by inviting friends and family to their apartment afterward—with the body hidden on the premises. Hitchcock's first color film was shot in ten-minute takes to provide a seamless flow of movement, but it remains today what it was then: an interesting, highly theatrical experiment. Inspired by the real-life Leopold-Loeb murder case, which later was depicted in COMPULSION and SWOON. Patrick Hamilton's play was adapted by Hume Cronyn and scripted by Arthur Laurents. ▼●●

Rope of Sand (1949) 104m.  D: William Dieterle. Burt Lancaster, Paul Henreid, Corinne Calvet, Claude Rains, Peter Lorre, Sam Jaffe, John Bromfield, Mike Mazurki. Sturdy cast in adventure tale of smooth thief trying to regain treasure he hid away, with various parties interfering.

Rory O'Shea Was Here (2004-Irish-British-French) C-104m. ½ D: Damien O'Donnell. James McAvoy, Steven Robertson, Romola Garai, Gerard McSorley, Tom Hickey, Brenda Fricker, Alan King, Ruth McCabe, Anna Healy. Sensitive, serio comic Irish drama about a bad-boy quadriplegic (McAvoy) living in a home for the disabled, who befriends a young man with cerebral

palsy and convinces him that they should get their own apartment. They're assisted by an unlikely and beautiful young female caretaker (Garai). The leads (especially Garai) are all terrific in this tearjerker, but they can't quite transcend the familiar CUCKOO'S NEST trappings. Original U.K. title: INSIDE I'M DANCING. Panavision. [R] ▼

Rosalie (1937) 122m.  D: W. S. Van Dyke. Eleanor Powell, Nelson Eddy, Frank Morgan, Edna May Oliver, Ray Bolger, Ilona Massey, Billy Gilbert. Elephantine MGM musical about romance between West Point cadet and mythical-kingdom princess. Living proof that money alone can't make a good movie. Cole Porter score includes "In the Still of the Night." ▼

Rosalie Goes Shopping (1989-German) C-94m.  D: Percy Adlon. Marianne Sägebrecht, Brad Davis, Judge Reinhold, William Harlander, Erika Blumberger, Patricia Zehentmayr, Alex Winter. Bavarian-born Sägebrecht has settled with American husband Davis in Stuttgart, Arkansas, and they have more children than you can count; she's become obsessed with spending money and having possessions, and devises an ingenious plan to beat the bill collector. Delightfully loopy comedy (written by the director, Eleanor Adlon and Christopher Dorherthy). [PG] ▼

Rosa Luxemburg (1986-German) C-116m. ½ D: Margarethe von Trotta. Barbara Sukowa, Daniel Olbrychski, Otto Sander, Adelheid Arndt, Jurgen Holtz, Doris Schade. Sukowa offers a towering performance in this compelling, multileveled biography of the dedicated, idealistic democratic socialist/pacifist/humanist who played a prominent role in German politics in the early years of the century. Extremely provocative and well directed. ▼

Rosary Murders, The (1987) C-101m.  D: Fred Walton. Donald Sutherland, Charles Durning, Belinda Bauer, Josef Sommer, James Murtaugh, John Danelle, Addison Powell, Kathleen Tolan. Mass killer of Motown priests and nuns confesses to Sutherland, who obviously can't inform the cops. Despite a script cowritten by Elmore Leonard, Sutherland's performance is the sole reward. Starts promisingly but soon fizzles. Filmed on location in Detroit. See I CONFESS instead. [R] ▼●

Rose, The (1979) C-134m.  D: Mark Rydell. Bette Midler, Alan Bates, Frederic Forrest, Harry Dean Stanton, Barry Primus, David Keith. Spin-off of the Janis Joplin saga equates show biz with hell, then concentrates on giving the audience too much of the latter. Midler (in her starring debut) and Forrest deliver dynamic performances, but film leaves a lot to be desired. Impressive photography by Vilmos Zsigmond. [R] ▼●●

Rose and the Sword, The SEE: Flesh + Blood (1985)

Rosebud (1975) C-126m. BOMB D: Otto Preminger. Peter O'Toole, Richard Attenborough, Cliff Gorman, Claude Dauphin, John V. Lindsay, Peter Lawford, Raf Vallone, Isabelle Huppert, Kim Cattrall. Nadir for director Preminger and usually competent performers. Arab terrorists kill crew of yacht "Rosebud" and kidnap five wealthy young ladies aboard. O'Toole and Attenborough (to say nothing of former N.Y.C. Mayor Lindsay) are embarrassingly bad. Panavision. [PG] ▼

Rosebud Beach Hotel, The (1984) C-87m. *½ D: Harry Hurwitz. Colleen Camp, Peter Scolari, Christopher Lee, Fran Drescher, Monique Gabrielle, Eddie Deezen, Chuck McCann. Idiotic, fifth-rate comedy about buffoon Scolari, who with girlfriend Camp operates a resort hotel and hires happy hookers as bellgirls. Camp's bright presence raises the rating of this from BOMB. Originally titled THE BIG LOBBY; aka THE NOTTELL HOTEL. [R] ▼

Rose for Everyone, A (1965-Italian) C-107m.  D: Franco Rossi. Claudia Cardinale, Nino Manfredi, Mario Adorf, Akim Tamiroff. Brazilian locale with NEVER ON SUNDAY plot. Girl brings happiness to many men and takes active interest in their private lives as well as their sexual lives. Nice locales, banal story.

Rose Garden, The (1989-U.S.-West German) C-111m. ½ D: Fons Rademakers. Liv Ullmann, Maximilian Schell, Peter Fonda, Jan Niklas, Kurt Hubner. Attorney Ullmann defends Schell on charges of attacking an elderly man whom he recognized as the commandant of a Nazi concentration camp in which his family was killed. Story is earnest and compassionate but uninspired; benefits from fine performances by Ullmann and an almost unrecognizable Schell. [PG-13] ▼●

Roseland (1977) C-103m.  D: James Ivory. Teresa Wright, Lou Jacobi, Geraldine Chaplin, Helen Gallagher, Joan Copeland, Christopher Walken, Lilia Skala, David Thomas. Trilogy set in N.Y.C.'s venerable Roseland Ballroom examines bitter-sweet lives of people who gravitate there. First story is weakest, but other two are absorbing and beautifully performed, with Copeland and Skala as standouts. [PG] ▼

Rose-Marie (1936) 110m.  D: W. S. Van Dyke II. Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy, Reginald Owen, Allan Jones, James Stewart, Alan Mowbray, Gilda Gray. Don't expect the original operetta: story has opera star Jeanette searching for fugitive brother Stewart, as Mountie Nelson pursues the same man. The two fall in love, sing "Indian Love Call," among others. David Niven appears briefly as Jeanette's unsuccessful suitor. Retitled INDIAN

LOVE CALL; previously filmed in 1928, then again in 1954. ▼●

Rose Marie (1954) C-115m. ½ D: Mervyn LeRoy. Ann Blyth, Howard Keel, Fernando Lamas, Bert Lahr, Marjorie Main, Joan Taylor, Ray Collins. More faithful to original operetta than 1936 version, but not as much fun. Mountie Keel tries to "civilize" tomboy Blyth, but falls in love with her instead. Adventurer Lamas completes the triangle. Lahr sings "I'm the Mountie Who Never Got His Man" in comic highlight. CinemaScope. ●

Rosemary's Baby (1968) C-136m. * D: Roman Polanski. Mia Farrow, John Cassavetes, Ruth Gordon, Sidney Blackmer, Maurice Evans, Ralph Bellamy, Elissa Cook, Jr., Patsy Kelly, Charles Grodin. Classic modern-day thriller by Ira Levin, perfectly realized by writer-director Polanski: Farrow is unsuspecting young wife whose husband becomes involved with Satanists and their diabolical plans. Listen closely for Tony Curtis' voice in a phone conversation. Gordon won Best Supporting Actress Oscar. Followed by a made-for-TV sequel, LOOK WHAT'S HAPPENED TO ROSEMARY'S BABY (1976, aka ROSEMARY'S BABY II). [R] ▼●●

Rosemary's Disciples SEE: Necromancy Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead (1990) C-118m.  D: Tom Stoppard. Gary Oldman, Tim Roth, Richard Dreyfuss, Joanna Roth, Iain Glen, Donald Sumpster, Joanna Miles, Ian Richardson. Oldman and Roth are engaging as the puckish incidental characters from Hamlet who wander into a series of (mostly verbal) adventures in and around the royal castle. Full of delicious wordplay and some imaginative visual ideas, but there's a basic lifelessness to this film, proving that it should have remained on stage. Playwright Stoppard's feature film directing debut, an adaptation of his own play. [PG] ▼●●

Rosenstrasse (2003-German) C-136m.  D: Margarethe von Trotta. Katja Riemann, Maria Schrader, Martin Feifel, Jürgen Vogel, Jutta Lampe, Doris Schade, Fedja van Huêt, Carola Regnier. Schrader, a Jewish New Yorker, travels to Germany to meet the elderly woman who sheltered her mother during WW2. Worthy film brings to light a long-forgotten act of heroism against Nazi tyranny, when Aryan women mounted a protest in Berlin after the SS arrested their Jewish husbands—but the result plays like a soap opera. A major disappointment. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Rose of Washington Square (1939) 86m. ½ D: Gregory Ratoff. Tyrone Power, Alice Faye, Al Jolson, William Frawley, Joyce Compton, Hobart Cavanaugh, Louis Prima, Horace McMahon, Moroni Olsen. So-so musical with Faye as a thinly disguised Fanny Brice, who falls head over heels for cocky punk Power (a clone of Nicky Arnstein). Faye gets to sing Brice's signature song, "My Man," but Jolson, essentially playing himself, steals the show performing "Mammy," "California, Here I Come," and other classics. ▼●

Rose Tattoo, The (1955) 117m. ½ D: Daniel Mann. Anna Magnani, Burt Lancaster, Marisa Pavan, Ben Cooper, Virginia Grey, Jo Van Fleet. Magnani shines in Oscar-winning role as earthy, deluded widow in Gulf Coast city who's romanced by rambunctious truck driver Lancaster. Flavorful adaptation of Tennessee Williams play; cinematographer James Wong Howe also won an Oscar. VistaVision. ▼●●

Rosetta (1999-Belgian-French) C-95m.  D: Luc Dardenne, Jean-Pierre Dardenne, Emilie Dequenne, Fabrizio Rongione, Anne Yernaux, Olivier Gourmet, Florian Delain. Unrelenting, cinema vérité-style portrait of a teenage girl who is desperate to escape the harshness of her life. She gets a job, but has no idea how to deal with the world around her—except for the desperate survival techniques she has taught herself. With its hand-held camera and fly-on-the-wall storytelling approach, the film paints a vivid picture, but it's tough to watch, and tougher still to pierce the emotional shell of its main character. Top prize-winner at the Cannes Film Festival. [R] ▼

Rosewood (1997) C-142m. ½ D: John Singleton. Jon Voight, Ving Rhames, Don Cheadle, Bruce McGill, Loren Dean, Esther Rolle, Michael Rooker, Elise Neal, Catherine Kellner. Fact-based story of two neighboring Florida towns, circa 1922–23, and the festering racism that threatens to explode into violence and destroy a law-abiding black community in the process. Rhames (in his biggest role to date) is an outsider who rallies the protest. Well acted and crafted, but turns overly melodramatic. Undoubtedly the most repugnant depiction of Southern "red-necks" since DELIVERANCE. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Rosie! (1967) C-98m.  D: David Lowell Rich. Rosalind Russell, Sandra Dee, Brian Aherne, Audrey Meadows, James Farentino, Vanessa Brown, Leslie Nielsen, Margaret Hamilton. One of Russell's best late-career performances as madcap grandmother, whose children want her money now. Based on a play by Ruth Gordon. Techniscope.

Rotten to the Core (1965-British) 90m.  D: John Boulting. Anton Rodgers, Eric Sykes, Charlotte Rampling, Ian Bannen, Avis Bunnage, Victor Maddern. Well-handled caper of ex-con trio joining forces with crook to carry off large-scale robbery. Panavision.

Rough Cut (1980) C-112m. ½ D: Donald Siegel. Burt Reynolds, Lesley-Anne Down, David Niven, Timothy West, Patrick Magee, Al Matthews, Joss Ackland, Roland Culver. Handsome but uneven romantic caper uses its stars' charm and chemistry to offset weaknesses in script. World-class jewel thief Reynolds falls in love with beautiful woman who's been set up to snag him for Scotland Yard. Filmed in England and Holland. Troubled David Merrick production went through four directors, and scripter Larry Gelbart used a pseudonym; hastily refiled ending is chief giveaway. [PG]▼●

Roughly Speaking (1945) 117m.  D: Michael Curtiz. Rosalind Russell, Jack Carson, Robert Hutton, Jean Sullivan, Alan Hale, Donald Woods, Ray Collins, Mona Freeman, Craig Stevens. Heartfelt biopic about spunky Louise Randall Pierson (Russell), her two very different husbands, and her plight through the ups and downs of the 20th century, all the way to WW2. Russell and Carson, as her easygoing husband number 2, are tops. Pierson scripted, based on her bestseller.▶

Rough Magic (1995-French-British) C-104m.  D: Clare Peploe. Bridget Fonda, Russell Crowe, Jim Broadbent, D. W. Moffett, Kenneth Mars, Paul Rodriguez, Andy Romano, Richard Schiff, Euva Anderson, Michael Ensign. Odd little road movie, with Fonda a magician's assistant in 1950s L.A. who hides out in Mexico with several men in pursuit. Thrust of story concerns "miracle elixirs," a Mayan shaman (female), and farcical situations south of the border. An uneasy mix of genres, faintly reminiscent of THE BIG STEAL. [PG-13]▼●

Rough Night in Jericho (1967) C-97m.  D: Arnold Laven. Dean Martin, George Peppard, Jean Simmons, John McIntire, Slim Pickens, Don Galloway. Gory Western casts Martin as total villain who owns the town. Attractive cast can't fight clichés. Techniscope.▼● likes to gamble, but because he knows how good he is. Provocative, interesting, but never entirely engaging—with enough card-playing jargon to last a lifetime. Super 35. [R]▼●●

Rounders, The (1965) C-85m. ½ D: Burt Kennedy. Glenn Ford, Henry Fonda, Sue Ane Langdon, Hope Holiday, Chill Wills, Edgar Buchanan, Kathleen Freeman. Agreeable comedy-Western from Max Evans' novel about two cowboys and an ornery horse was one of the sleepers of its year; nothing much happens, but cast and scenery make it a pleasant way to kill an hour-and-a-half. Panavision.▼

Rounders (1998) C-121m. ½ D: John Dahl. Matt Damon, Edward Norton, Gretchen Mol, John Turturro, John Malkovich, Famke Janssen, Martin Landau, Michael Rispoli, Josh Mostel, Tom Aldredge, Michael Lombard, Mal Z. Lawrence. Young poker whiz (Damon) tries to give up the game and focus on being a law student. When his longtime pal—aptly nicknamed Worm (Norton)—is released from prison, he soon finds himself caught up again in the allure of high-stakes games, not because he

Round Midnight (1986-U.S.-French) C-131m. ½ D: Bertrand Tavernier. Dexter Gordon, François Cluzet, Gabrielle Haker, Sandra Reaves-Phillips, Lonette McKee, Herbie Hancock, Bobby Hutcherson, Wayne Shorter, John Berry, Martin Scorsese, Philippe Noiret. A boozy American jazzman working in 1950s Paris is virtually adopted by a fan, and their unusual relationship causes them both to thrive. A loving homage to jazz musicians and their world (inspired by the lives of Bud Powell and Lester Young), with a once-in-a-lifetime performance by real-life tenor-sax great Gordon. Music director—and Oscar winner—Herbie Hancock and his colleagues not only create great jazz right on-screen but also help establish a perfect ambiance. Written by Tavernier and David Rayfiel; designed by premier art director Alexandre Trauner. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Roustabout (1964) C-101m. ½ D: John Rich. Elvis Presley, Barbara Stanwyck, Leif Erickson, Joan Freeman, Sue Ane Langdon. Elvis is a free-wheeling singer who joins Stanwyck's carnival, learns the meaning of hard work and true love. Stanwyck and supporting cast make this a pleasing Presley songer, with "Little Egypt" his one outstanding tune. Raquel Welch has a bit, and Teri Garr is one of the dancers. Techniscope.▼●

Rover, The (1967) C-103m. ½ D: Terence Young. Anthony Quinn, Rosanna Schiaffino, Rita Hayworth, Richard Johnson, Ivo Garrani, Mino Doro. Quinn stars as 18th-century pirate whose escape from French authorities is sidetracked by relationship with innocent, feeble-minded girl. Plodding film from Joseph Conrad story; made in Italy, barely released here.▼

Rover Dangerfield (1991) C-74m. ½ D: Jim George, Bob Seeley. Voices of Rodney Dangerfield, Susan Boyd, Ronnie Schell, Ned Luke, Shawn Southwick, Dana Hill. A wisecracking dog thrives on his life in Las Vegas, until fate sends him to a farm in the middle of nowhere-ville. The idea of Dangerfield-style one-liners being spoken by a cartoon dog is fun for a while, but the film wavers uneasily between adult and juvenile appeal. Animation fans should check out the incredible opening shot. Dangerfield wrote, produced, and even contributed lyrics to the songs. [G]▼●

Rowdyman, The (1971-Canadian) C-95m. ½ D: Peter Carter. Gordon Pinsent, Frank Converse, Will Geer, Linda Goranson, Ted Henley. Pinsent is the whole show in this occasionally intriguing but ultimately superficial drama about a hard-living wom-anizer and his fate after accidentally causing the death of a childhood pal. Filmed in Newfoundland; Pinsent also scripted.

Roxanne (1987) C-107m. ½ D: Fred Schepisi. Steve Martin, Daryl Hannah, Rick Rossovich, Shelley Duvall, John Kapelos, Fred Willard, Max Alexander, Michael J. Pollard, Damon Wayans, Matt Lattanzi, Kevin Nealon. Martin fashioned this update of Cyrano de Bergerac as a vehicle for himself, with Hannah as the object of his affection and Rossovich as the empty-headed hunk for whom he "fronts." Extremely likable and sweet-natured romantic comedy set in a sleepy ski town. Peters out somewhere along the line, unfortunately. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Roxie Hart (1942) 75m. ½ D: William Wellman. Ginger Rogers, Adolphe Menjou, George Montgomery, Lynne Overman, Nigel Bruce, Phil Silvers, Spring Byington, Iris Adrian, George Chandler. Fast-moving spoof of Roaring '20s, with Ginger as publicity-seeking dancer on trial for murder, Menjou her overdramatic lawyer. Hilarious antics make up for dry spells; scripted and produced by Nunnally Johnson. Previously filmed in 1927 as CHICAGO, also the title of the later Broadway and movie musical. ▼●

Royal Affairs in Versailles (1954-French) C-152m.  D: Sacha Guitry. Claudette Colbert, Orson Welles, Jean-Pierre Aumont, Edith Piaf, Gérard Philipe, Jean Marais, Sacha Guitry, Micheline Presle, Daniel Gelin, Danielle Delorme. Impressive cast in static, leaden-paced chronicle of the Golden Age of the French monarchy. Guitry plays Louis XIV; also seen are D'Artagnan, Mme. de Pompadour, Moliere, Marie Antoinette, etc. Released in U.S. in 1957. Look fast for Brigitte Bardot. Retitled: AF-FAIRS IN VERSAILLES. ▼

Royal Flash (1975-British) C-98m.  D: Richard Lester. Malcolm McDowell, Alan Bates, Florinda Bolkan, Oliver Reed, Britt Ekland, Lionel Jeffries, Tom Bell, Alastair Sim, Michael Hordern, Joss Ackland, Christopher Cazenove, Bob Hoskins. Comic swashbuckler with McDowell forced to impersonate a Prussian nobleman and marry Ekland. Zippy Lester entry with a fine cast; script by George MacDonald Fraser. from his novel. [PG]▼●

Royal Hunt of the Sun, The (1969-British) C-118m.  D: Irving Lerner. Robert Shaw, Christopher Plummer, Nigel Davenport, Michael Craig, Leonard Whiting, James Donald. Colorful tale of Spanish explorer Pizarro and his quest for gold in South America; from acclaimed stage play by Peter Shaffer, adapted by Philip Yordan. Franscope. [G]▼●

Royal Scandal, A (1945) 94m. ½ D: Ernst Lubitsch, Otto Preminger. Tallulah Bankhead, Charles Coburn, Anne Baxter, William Eythe, Vincent Price, Mischa Auer. Comedy of manners about Catherine the Great of Russia promoting favored soldier Eythe to high rank; started by Lubitsch, "finished" by Preminger. Remake of Lubitsch's 1924 FORBIDDEN PARADISE.

Royal Tenenbaums, The (2001) C-108m. ½ D: Wes Anderson. Gene Hackman, Anjelica Huston, Gwyneth Paltrow, Ben Stiller, Owen Wilson, Luke Wilson, Bill Murray, Danny Glover, Seymour Cassel; narrated by Alec Baldwin. Ne'er-do-well Hackman abandoned his wife and three genius children long ago, but now feels the need to make up for lost time—especially since he's flat broke. Rambling comedy has the same likable, eccentric qualities as the filmmakers' BOTTLE ROCKET and RUSHMORE and benefits from Hackman's savvy performance, but strains for effect and essentially has no story. Written by Anderson and Owen Wilson. Panavision. [R]▼●

Royal Wedding (1951) C-93m.  D: Stanley Donen. Fred Astaire, Jane Powell, Peter Lawford, Sarah Churchill, Keenan Wynn, Albert Sharpe. Pleasant MGM musical (written by Alan Jay Lerner) about brother and sister team who take their show to London at the time of Queen Elizabeth II's wedding, and find romance of their own. Highlights: Astaire's dancing on the ceiling and partnering with a hat-rack, and his dynamite duet with Powell, "How Could You Believe Me When I Said I Loved You (When You Know I've Been a Liar All My Life)?" Burton Lane/Alan Jay Lerner score also includes "Too Late Now." Donen's first solo directing credit. ▼●●

R.P.M. (1970) C-97m. *½ D: Stanley Kramer. Kramer Quinn, Ann-Margret, Gary Lockwood, Paul Winfield, Graham Jarvis, Alan Hewitt. Old-fashioned liberal Quinn becomes head of university, then authorizes a police bust of radicals to save institution (Revolutions Per Minute, get it?). Inept Erich Segal script, equally bad Kramer direction give film certain camp value, but otherwise, look out. [R]▼

Rubin and Ed (1992) C-92m. *½ D: Trent Harris. Crispin Glover, Howard Hesseman, Karen Black, Michael Green, Brittney Lewis. Weird odyssey of two men on a mission to bury a frozen cat. This is one road movie Hope and Crosby never thought of—with good reason. Glover once made an infamous appearance on David Letterman's TV show playing the same character he does here. Letterman kicked him off the show; you can simply stop watching. [PG-13]▼

Ruby (1977) C-84m. ½ D: Curtis Harrington. Piper Laurie, Stuart Whitman, Roger Davis, Janit Baldwin, Crystin Sinclair, Paul Kent. Complex plot has long-dead gangster's spirit possessing deaf-mute girl, sending her on a killing spree at drive-in theater (which specializes in horror movies) run by ex-gang members. A few moments, comic and horrific, stand out in generally uneven supernatural thriller. Some prints run 85m, with a hastily added epilogue. That version is credited to pseudonymous director Allen Smith. [R]▼

Ruby (1992) C-110m. ½ D: John MacKenzie. Danny Aiello, Sherilyn Fenn, Arliss Howard, Tobin Bell, David Duchovny, Richard Sarafian, Joe Cortese, Marc Lawrence. OK speculation about the life and motives of lowlife Jack Ruby, the mob errand boy, FBI informant, and nightclub owner who killed JFK assassin Lee Harvey Oswald. Aiello is good and period re-creations are adequate, but film suffers from too many lawyer-dictated characterizations (Frank Sinatra becomes singer "Tony Montana"). [R]▼

Ruby & Quentin (2003-French-Italian) C-84m.  D: Francis Veber. Gérard Depardieu, Jean Reno, Jean-Pierre Malo, Richard Berry, André Dussollier, Ticky Holgado, Léonor Varela, Aurélien Recoing, Michel Aumont. A hard-boiled criminal (Reno) won't crack under police pressure, so they "sic" their secret weapon on him: a congenital idiot who could drive anyone crazy. Typically funny Veber farce, with a surprisingly thin Depardieu playing the grinning idiot for all it's worth. Aka TAIS-TOI! Technovision.

Ruby Gentry (1952) 82m. ½ D: King Vidor. Jennifer Jones, Charlton Heston, Karl Malden, Josephine Hutchinson. Turgid, meandering account of easy-virtue Southerner Jones marrying wealthy Malden to spite Heston, the man she loves.▼

Ruby in Paradise (1993) C-115m.  D: Victor Nunez. Ashley Judd, Todd Field, Bentley Mitchum, Allison Dean, Dorothy Lyman. Fine independent effort about a young woman who leaves her Tennessee home for a new life in the beach community of Panama City in West Florida. Though too often self-consciously "poetic," this is a refreshingly low-key character study with none of the easy emotional payoffs of typical Hollywood films. The acting is fine, with Judd (sister of singer Wynonna) outstanding in the lead role. Director Nunez also wrote the screenplay. [R]▼

Ruby's Dream SEE: Dear Mr. Wonderful Ruckus (1982) C-91m.  D: Max Kleven. Dirk Benedict, Linda Blair, Ben Johnson, Matt Clark, Richard Farnsworth. Slick but ordinary drive-in fare about a shell-shocked Vietnam vet who becomes object of massive manhunt in sleepy Alabama town. Same basic story as later FIRST BLOOD, but less pretentious. [PG]▼

Rude Awakening (1989) C-100m. *½ D: Aaron Russo, David Greenwalt. Cheech Marin, Eric Roberts, Julie Hagerty, Robert Carradine, Buck Henry, Louise Lasser, Cindy

Williams, Andrea Martin, Cliff DeYoung. "Cheech and Roberts" lacks zing as a comedy-team concept; so does hippie-dippy political farce about a pair of long-haired '60s burnouts who return to N.Y.C. after 20 years in a Central American commune. Henry scrapes up a few chuckles in his only scene. [R]▼

Rude Boy (1980-British) C-133m.  D: Jack Hazan, David Mingay. The Clash, Ray Gange, John Green, Barry Baker, Terry McQuade, Caroline Coon. Angry young rebel Gange is hired by the punk rock group The Clash as a roadie. Gritty, realistic, documentary-like character study; excellent concert footage. Punk rock fans will not be disappointed: others, beware. Most U.S. prints run 120m. [R]▼

Rudolph the Red-nosed Deindeer: The Movie (1998) C-83m.  D: Bill Kowalchuk. Voices of John Goodman, Eric Idle, Bob Newhart, Debbie Reynolds, Richard Simmons, Whoopi Goldberg. Old-fashioned, innocuous animated feature about that reindeer with the very shiny nose is aimed at very young children and adds some new plot twists and characters to the old story, including a fox (Idle), a polar bear (Newhart) and an evil ice queen (Goldberg). The animation is rudimentary, but the movie is a gentle antidote to the plethora of hyperkinetic contemporary cartoons. [G]▼

Rudo y Cursi (2008-Mexican) C-102m.  D: Carlos Cuarón. Gael García Bernal, Diego Luna, Guillermo Francella, Dolores Heredia, Adriana Paz, Jessica Mas. Two brothers (García Bernal and Luna) from a rural village in Mexico are recruited by an oily agent/promoter to play professional soccer in Mexico City. How these competitive, none-too-bright siblings deal with sudden fame, fortune, and a myriad of temptations is all part of the fun. Broadly entertaining comedy turns traditional rags-to-riches stories (and morality plays) inside out, and serves as a great showcase for its two dynamic stars, reunited with the cowriter of their breakout hit, Y TU MAMA TAMBIÉN. P.S. Rudo means tough; Cursi means corny. [R]

Rudy (1993) C-112m.  D: David Anspaugh. Sean Astin, Ned Beatty, Robert Prosky, Charles S. Dutton, Lili Taylor, Jon Favreau, Jason Miller, Vincent (Vince) Vaughn. Rock-solid, immensely entertaining based-on-fact account of Rudy Ruetiger (Astin), a working-class boy intent on realizing his dream of playing football at old Notre Dame—despite his uninspiring academic record and unimposing athletic ability. Few surprises, but it's well acted (with special kudos to Dutton), and a real crowd-pleaser. Director Anspaugh and screenwriter Angelo Pizzo previously worked together on HOOSIERS. [PG]▼

Rudyard Kipling's The Jungle Book (1994) C-110m. ½ D: Stephen Sommers. Jason Scott Lee, Cary Elwes, Lena Headey,

Sam Neill, John Cleese, Jason Flemyng, Stefan Kalipha, Ron Donachie. Agreeably old-fashioned "boys adventure"-style adaptation of Kipling's stories produced under the Disney banner (but with few Disney touches). Lee is simply terrific as Mowgli, the boy raised in the Indian jungle who's brought back to "civilization" by the daughter of a British regiment officer. Sumptuously filmed, with an exciting climax involving a lost city filled with treasure, but somehow never as compelling as it ought to be. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Rudyard Kipling's The Second Jungle Book: Mowgli & Baloo (1997) C-88m. *½ D: Duncan McLachlan. James Williams, Bill Campbell, Roddy McDowall, David Paul Francis, Gulshan Grover, Dyrk Ashton. Bland, unimaginative story of a jungle boy pursued by a circus animal procurer, saved again and again by his animal friends. Some stereotypical characters border on racism; a family film that could give "wholesome" a bad name. Hard to believe Kipling would want his name on it. Filmed in Sri Lanka. Technovision. [PG] ▼●●

Ruggles of Red Gap (1935) 92m. * D: Leo McCarey. Charles Laughton, Mary Boland, Charlie Ruggles, ZaSu Pitts, Roland Young, Leila Hyams. Laughton is marvelous as butler won in poker game by uncouth but amiable westerner Ruggles and socially ambitious wife Boland; ZaSu is spinster he falls in love with. A completely winning movie. Harry Leon Wilson's story was filmed before in 1918 and 1923, then remade as FANCY PANTS. ▼●●

Rugrats Go Wild (2003) C-80m.  D: Norton Virgien, John Eng. Voices of E.G. Daily, Christine Cavanaugh, Kath Soucie, Lacey Chabert, Tim Curry, Bruce Willis, Chrissie Hynde, Nancy Cartwright, Cheryl Chase, Tara Strong, Melanie Chartoff, Jack Riley, Tress MacNeille, Michael Bell, Flea, LL Cool J. Headache-inducing hybrid of two popular animated TV series, Rugrats and The Wild Thornberrys, as the cast of the former washes ashore on an island where the naturalists of the latter show have set up camp. Unimaginative feature plays like a distended TV episode, and not a terribly good one at that. Chief novelty is Willis providing the voice of Spike the dog, who normally doesn't talk. Digital Widescreen. [PG] ▼●

Rugrats in Paris: The Movie (2000) C-78m.  D: Stig Bergqvist, Paul Demeyer. Voices of E.G. Daily, Christine Cavanaugh, Cheryl Chase, Kath Soucie, Jack Riley, Melanie Chartoff, Susan Sarandon, Michael Bell, John Lithgow, Debbie Reynolds, Casey Kasem, Tim Curry, Dan Castellana. Funny follow-up to THE RUGRATS MOVIE is sharper in every department. The babies join their folks in Paris and rescue Chuckie's widower dad from marrying an evil Euro-theme-park executive. Animation and settings are colorful, story is both funny and

sentimental, and Sarandon stands out as the egocentric Coco La Bouche. Followed by RUGRATS GO WILD. [G] ▼●

Rugrats Movie, The (1998) C-79m. ½ D: Norton Virgien, Igor Kovalyov. Voices of E.G. Daily, Christine Cavanaugh, Kath Soucie, Cheryl Chase, Tara Charendoff, Melanie Chartoff, Jack Riley, Joe Alaskey, Phil Proctor, Michael Bell, Tress MacNeille, Busta Rhymes, Tim Curry, Whoopi Goldberg, David Spade, Margaret Cho. Theatrical spinoff of the popular TV cartoon puts Tommy and his infant friends into a nonstop adventure, which begins with the arrival of a new baby brother and escalates as the kids get lost in the woods. Clever and funny, with some likable songs, though even at 79m. it seems padded . . . and loud. Followed by RUGRATS IN PARIS: THE MOVIE. [G] ▼●●

Ruins, The (2008) C-90m.  D: Carter Smith. Jonathan Tucker, Jena Malone, Shawn Ashmore, Laura Ramsey, Joe Anderson, Dimitri Baveas, Sergio Calderón. LITTLE SHOP OF HORRORS meets THE DESCENT as two young couples on vacation in Mexico decide to add a little culture to their trip by exploring an off-the-map Mayan ruin with their new European friends. Little do they know that the ruins are hidden for a very good reason. Gory scenes will have you squirming in your seat, although watching the characters take themselves too seriously is more funny than scary. Adapted by Scott B. Smith from his novel. Unrated version runs 93m. Panavision. [R] ●

Rules of Attraction, The (2002) C-110m. BOMB D: Roger Avary. James Van Der Beek, Ian Somerhalder, Shannyn Sossamon, Jessica Biel, Kip Pardue, Thomas Ian Nicholas, Kate Bosworth, Fred Savage, Eric Stoltz, Clifton Collins, Jr., Faye Dunaway, Swoosie Kurtz, Clare Kramer. Repellent look at amoral college kids whose sole interests are sex, drugs, and booze. The scummiest of them all is Sean Bateman (Van Der Beek), who falls in love with the one woman he can't have (Sossamon). Writer-director Avary, Quentin Tarantino's partner in crime on PULP FICTION, uses a take-no-prisoners approach to Bret Easton Ellis' book, a prequel to American Psycho. Yuccchhhh. [R] ▼●

Rules of Engagement (2000) C-127m. ½ D: William Friedkin. Tommy Lee Jones, Samuel L. Jackson, Guy Pearce, Ben Kingsley, Bruce Greenwood, Blair Underwood, Philip Baker Hall, Anne Archer, Dale Dye. Held responsible for a Middle East embassy massacre in which scores of civilians (and so-called civilians) were killed, Marine officer Jackson calls upon just-retired colleague Jones to defend him in a court-martial after he's left out to dry. Watchable but sometimes silly melodrama finds time for a client-defendant fistfight, and offers a truly novel movie villain: a dastardly government official. Story's punchline has no punch. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Rules of the Game, The (1939-French) 106m. * D: Jean Renoir. Marcel Dalio, Nora Gregor, Mila Parély, Jean Renoir, Gaston Modot, Roland Toutain, Paulette Dubost, Julien Carette, Odette Talazac. Sublime, endlessly imitated film about romantic intrigues at a French country estate, both upstairs and downstairs. Renoir, who costars as Octave, uses the façade of light comedy to satirize (and skewer) the bourgeoisie—their follies, rituals, and class distinctions—as Europe was about to go up in flames. His light touch and extraordinarily fluid staging and camerawork are what make the film still seem so poignant, funny, and fresh. Vilified on its initial release, it was severely cut, then rediscovered decades later and justly hailed as a masterpiece. Reconstructed in the 1960s. ▼●●

Ruling Class, The (1972-British) C-154m. ½ D: Peter Medak. Peter O'Toole, Alastair Sim, Arthur Lowe, Harry Andrews, Coral Browne, Michael Bryant, Carolyn Seymour, Nigel Green, William Mervyn, James Villiers. Hilarious, irreverent black comedy by Peter Barnes about heir to British lordship (O'Toole) who thinks he's Jesus Christ. Overflowing with crazy ideas, people bursting into song, boisterously funny characterizations, and one-and-only Sim as befuddled bishop. Some prints run 130m; the "uncut" version released in 1983 runs 141m. [PG]▼●●

Rumble Fish (1983) 94m.  D: Francis Coppola. Matt Dillon, Mickey Rourke, Diane Lane, Dennis Hopper, Diana Scarwid, Vincent Spano, Nicolas Cage, Christopher Penn, Larry Fishburne, Tom Waits, Sofia Coppola. Ambitious mood piece from S. E. Hinton's young-adult novel about alienated teenager who lives in the shadow of his older brother. Emotionally intense but muddled and aloof; highly stylized, in looks (filmed mostly in black & white) and sounds (with impressionistic music score by Stewart Copeland). Dillon's third Hinton film, Coppola's second (following THE OUTSIDERS). [R]▼●●

Rumble in the Bronx (1996-U.S.-Hong Kong) C-89m. ½ D: Stanley Tong. Jackie Chan, Anita Mui, Bill Tung, Françoise Yip, Marc Akerstream, Garvin Cross, Morgan Lam, Kris Lord. Jackie visits his uncle in America, and agrees to help the woman who's buying the uncle's market to fend off a local gang. Chan's breakthrough film for the U.S. market is slim on story (and even slimmer on credibility). From the '60s-style dubbing to the characterizations, everything is tacky but Jackie; still, he's so engaging he makes up for all the rest, with a nonstop array of eye-popping stunts. The skyline of Vancouver makes a shabby and rather silly substitute for the Bronx. Edited for U.S. release. Technovision. [R]▼●●

Rumor has it . . . (2005-U.S.-German) C-97m. *½ D: Rob Reiner. Jennifer Aniston,

Kevin Costner, Shirley MacLaine, Mark Ruffalo, Richard Jenkins, Christopher McDonald, Mena Suvari. While home for her sister's wedding, Aniston becomes convinced that her late mother, grandmother MacLaine, and future techno-magnate Costner inspired the Charles Webb novel that became THE GRADUATE. Premise is icky (Aniston goes on a fling with a guy she initially thought was her father!) without being pointed. MacLaine gives it a shot with acerbic but unfunny rejoinders. If THE GRADUATE didn't still "live," this would be pretty close to grave robbing. Kathy Bates appears unbilled. [PG-13]●

Rumor of Angels, A (2002) C-95m. ½ D: Peter O'Fallon. Vanessa Redgrave, Ray Liotta, Catherine McCormack, Trevor Morgan, Ron Livingston, George Coe, Michelle Grace. Twelve-year-old boy spending the summer in Maine with his too-busy father and stepmother forms a bond with an odd-seeming older lady who helps him unlock traumatic events in his life, and vice-versa. Nice, sweet story that took nearly 20 years to get made plays a little too much like a Hallmark Hall of Fame TV movie but simply soars whenever Redgrave is on-screen, as she takes somewhat familiar material and lifts it up several notches, making this definitely worth a look. Hawk-Scope. [PG-13]▼●

Rumpelstiltskin (1987) C-84m.  D: David Irving. Amy Irving, Billy Barty, Clive Revill, Priscilla Pointer, John Moulder-Brown, Robert Symonds. Threadbare musical adaptation of the Grimms' fairy tale, with Irving and Barty well cast in the leads. Likely to bore even the small-fry. Filmed in Israel, this was a family affair: writer-director Irving is Amy's brother, and Pointer (who plays the Queen) is her mother. [G]▼●

Run (1990) C-91m. ½ D: Geoff Burrows. Patrick Dempsey, Kelly Preston, Ken Pogue, Alan C. Peterson, Marc Strange, Christopher Lawford. Law student becomes the object of a citywide chase when he accidentally kills the loutish son of the town's Mr. Hood while blowing time in a gambling club. Sheer speed compensates for lack of distinction. Dempsey's "what-me-worry?" quotient is relatively subdued. Not to be confused with Kurosawa's RAN. [R]▼●

Runaway (1984) C-100m.  D: Michael Crichton. Tom Selleck, Cynthia Rhodes, Gene Simmons, Kirstie Alley, Stan Shaw, Joey Cramer, G. W. Bailey. Futuristic comic-book nonsense that actually takes itself seriously. Selleck plays a cop who specializes in tracking down robots that have gone "bad." Simmons (from rock group KISS) is ultra-bad-guy who uses robots and other high-tech devices to carry out his evil deeds. Special effects are good, but characters are cold and story is for the birds. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Runaway Bride (1999) C-116m.  D:

Garry Marshall. Julia Roberts, Richard Gere, Joan Cusack, Hector Elizondo, Rita Wilson, Paul Dooley, Christopher Meloni, Donal Logue, Sela Ward. Slick romantic comedy about a newspaper columnist who becomes intrigued by a small-town Maryland woman who repeatedly leaves grooms at the altar. Reteaming of the stars and director of PRETTY WOMAN delivers the goods, with Gere in particular more engaging than he's ever been onscreen. Super 35. [PG] ▼●●

Runaway Jury (2003) C-127m.  D: Gary Fleder. John Cusack, Gene Hackman, Dustin Hoffman, Rachel Weisz, Bruce Davison, Bruce McGill, Jeremy Piven, Nick Searcy, Jennifer Beals, Bill Nunn, Nora Dunn, Stanley Anderson, Cliff Curtis, Joanna Going, Leland Orser, Orlando Jones, Celia Weston. Entertaining if longish adaptation of John Grisham's novel about a New Orleans lawyer (Hoffman) whose client is suing a major gun manufacturer, claiming culpability for her husband's murder. A cold-blooded jury consultant (Hackman) is working the other side, and there's a wild card, juror Cusack, who seems to have his own agenda. Finale doesn't have the emotional punch it should, but it's such a treat to watch these actors at work it almost doesn't matter. Dylan McDermott and Luis Guzman appear unbilled. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼●

Runaway Train (1985) C-111m.  D: Andrei Konchalovsky. Jon Voight, Eric Roberts, Rebecca De Mornay, Kyle Heffner, John P. Ryan, T. K. Carter, Kenneth McMillan, Stacey Pickren. A rare bird, this film: an existential action movie! Hardened criminal and young accomplice escape from prison and hide out on a train that's barreling through Alaska without an engineer. Tough, violent, with hair-raising action footage and a superb characterization by Voight in his most atypical role to date. Based on a screenplay by Akira Kurosawa. [R] ▼●●

Rundown, The (2003) C-104m. ½ D: Peter Berg. The Rock, Seann William Scott, Rosario Dawson, Christopher Walken, Ewen Bremner, Jon Gries, William Licking, Ernie Reyes, Jr., Stuart Wilson. The Rock is a "retrieval expert" for a loan shark but wants to get out of the business and open a restaurant; first he has to bring back his boss's wayward son from some hellhole in the Amazon jungle. There he gets mixed up in a treasure hunt and runs afoul of an evil mine owner (Walken, playing another one of his patented eccentric slimeballs). This cheerfully derivative adventure is mindlessly entertaining but might have been better with a less campy approach and fewer slo-mo body-slammin' fights and stunts. There's an amusing cameo in the opening scene. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼●

Runestone, The (1992) C-105m.  D: Willard Carroll. Peter Riegert, Joan Sever-

ance, William Hickey, Tim Ryan, Chris Young, Alexander Godunov, Mitchell Laurence, Lawrence Tierney, Dawan Scott. An ancient stone, buried in North America by Norsemen, is unearthed, and promptly turns an archaeologist into an elaborate but unconvincing monster, who slaughters a lot of people with no apparent goal in mind. Handsome production has some interesting moments, but the routine plot weighs it down. Adapted by the director from the novella by Mark E. Rogers. [R] ▼●

Run Fatboy Run (2007-U.S.-British) C-100m.  D: David Schwimmer. Simon Pegg, Thandie Newton, Hank Azaria, Dylan Moran, Matthew Fenton, Harish Patel, Simon Day, India de Beaufort, Ruth Sheen. Lovable loser leaves his pregnant fiancée at the altar. Five years later he realizes the error of his ways and tries to win her back from her slick new boyfriend—or at least earn her respect—by impulsively deciding to compete in a London marathon for which he's ill-prepared. Pegg (who wrote this with Michael Ian Black) somehow takes this familiar material, punctuated with the most obvious gags, and makes it work. Feature directing debut for Friends star Schwimmer. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Run for Cover (1955) C-93m. ½ D: Nicholas Ray. James Cagney, Viveca Lindfors, John Derek, Jean Hersholt, Ernest Borgnine. Offbeat Western has ex-con Cagney becoming sheriff, while his embittered young companion (Derek) grows restive and antagonistic. Interesting touches cannot overcome familiar storyline. Retitled: COLORADO. VistaVision.

Run for the Sun (1956) C-99m.  D: Roy Boulting. Richard Widmark, Jane Greer, Trevor Howard, Peter Van Eyck, Carlos Henning. Third version of THE MOST DANGEROUS GAME has author Widmark and magazine writer Greer stumbling onto strange Mexican plantation run by mysterious Howard and Van Eyck. Engrossing, extremely well made film. SuperScope 235.

Run Lola Run (1998-German) C-88m. ½ D: Tom Tykwer. Franka Potente, Moritz Bleibtreu, Herbert Knaup, Armin Rohde, Joachim Król, Nina Petri. Hyperkinetic, flashy concept film about a young woman who tries to save her boyfriend, who botched a drug deal, by finding 100,000 marks in 20 minutes' time. Style definitely outranks substance in this visually arresting film, which presents three different scenarios of what might happen, but it's wearying after a while. [R] ▼●

Runner Stumbles, The (1979) C-99m. *½ D: Stanley Kramer. Dick Van Dyke, Kathleen Quinlan, Maureen Stapleton, Ray Bolger, Tammy Grimes, Beau Bridges. Sober adaptation of Milan Stitt's Broadway play, based on true story of small-town

priest accused of murdering young nun for whom he'd shown unusual affection. Aloof and unconvincing, with Van Dyke unbearably stiff as the clergyman. [PG]▼

Running (1979-Canadian) C-103m. *½ D: Steven Hilliard Stern. Michael Douglas, Susan Anspach, Lawrence Dane, Eugene Levy, Charles Shamata. Douglas—32, out of work and father of two daughters—wants to run in the Olympics. A few yocks in this absurdly melodramatic jock drama, but not enough of them. [PG]

Running Brave (1983-Canadian) C-105m. ½ D: D. S. Everett (Donald Shebib). Robby Benson, Pat Hingle, Claudia Cron, Jeff McCracken, August Schellenberg, Graham Greene. Story of real-life Olympic champion Billy Mills, who left the Sioux reservation to find his destiny as a runner—and win a gold medal at the 1964 Tokyo Olympics. Modestly entertaining, but too corny and simplistic. [PG]▼●●

Running Free (2000) C-82m.  D: Sergei Bodrov. Chase Moore, Jan Declair, Arie Verveen, Maria Geelbooi; narration by Lukas Haas. Anemic kiddie flick about a lonely foal who befriends a plucky orphan in the South African desert; a reminder that good horse movies are a rare breed. Exotic cinematography can't make up for awkward narration and editing, not to mention a less-than-rousing storyline. Bodrov's first English-language film is a real comedown from PRISONER OF THE MOUNTAINS. Produced by Jean-Jacques Annaud (THE BEAR), who also wrote the story. Super 35. [G]▼

Running Man, The (1963-British) C-103m.  D: Carol Reed. Laurence Harvey, Lee Remick, Alan Bates, Felix Aylmer, Eleanor Summerfield, Allan Cuthbertson. Harvey fakes his death to collect insurance money, but pursuing insurance investigator Bates forces him and wife Remick to go on the lam in Spain. Entertaining but not suspenseful enough. Panavision.

Running Man, The (1987) C-100m. ½ D: Paul Michael Glaser. Arnold Schwarzenegger, Maria Conchita Alonso, Yaphet Kotto, Jim Brown, Richard Dawson, Jesse Ventura, Mick Fleetwood, Dweezil Zappa. It's 2019, and the U.S. is a totalitarian state; framed mass murderer Arnie is ordered to take part in a Most Dangerous Game-type TV show where convicted felons get their one chance for freedom. Relentlessly trashy picture gets big boost from Dawson's sleazy portrayal of the game-show host. Based on a novel by Richard Bachman (Stephen King). [R]▼●●

Running on Emptiness (1988) C-116m. ½ D: Sidney Lumet. Christine Lahti, River Phoenix, Judd Hirsch, Martha Plimpton, Jonas Arby, Ed Crowley, L.M. Kit Carson, Steven Hill, Augusta Dabney. Intense, moving story of onetime student radicals who are still on the run from the

FBI after 17 years—now with two kids in tow, whose lives are stifled for the sake of sheer survival. Quiet and believable throughout, with superior performances by all. Written by Naomi Foner. [PG-13]▼●●

Running Scared (1986) C-106m. ½ D: Peter Hyams. Gregory Hines, Billy Crystal, Steven Bauer, Darlaine Fluegel, Joe Pantoliano, Dan Hedaya, Jonathan Gries, Tracy Reed, Jimmy Smits. Two longtime Chicago street cops (who act more like Dead End Kids) decide maybe it's time to retire—but there's one more scuzzbag to track down first. Crystal lights up the screen, and there's a great car chase on the Chicago El tracks, but otherwise this is pretty blah. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Running Scared (2006-U.S.-Canadian-German) C-122m. *½ D: Wayne Kramer. Paul Walker, Cameron Bright, Vera Farmiga, Karel Roden, Chazz Palminteri, Johnny Messner. When the thuggish Russian meth dealer next door is shot by his physically abused stepson (Bright), Mob flunky Walker must retrieve the missing gun or sleep with some Jersey fishes. The 10-year-old boy is then subjected to more acts of violence and scenes of depravity—some completely gratuitous—than most movies are ever asked to handle. Not without style, but violent and sordid. Super 35. [R]●

Running Time (1997) 70m.  D: Josh Becker. Bruce Campbell, Jeremy Roberts, Anita Barone, Stan Davis, Gordon Jennison, Art LeFleur. Smart, classical heist-gone-wrong thriller made in the all-in-one-take method of ROPE. Shot entirely on real locations in the L.A. area, in gritty black and white. Well acted, suspenseful, both realistic and romantic. ▼●

Running Wild (1973) C-103m.  D: Robert McCahon. Lloyd Bridges, Dina Merrill, Pat Hingle, Morgan Woodward, Gilbert Roland, Lonny Chapman, R. G. Armstrong. Good family-oriented drama about a news photographer (Merrill) who protests treatment of wild horses while doing a story in Colorado. Beautiful scenery complements solid script. [G]▼

Running with Scissors (2006) C-121m.  D: Ryan Murphy. Annette Bening, Gwyneth Paltrow, Jill Clayburgh, Brian Cox, Joseph Fiennes, Evan Rachel Wood, Alec Baldwin, Joseph Cross, Gabrielle Union, Kristin Chenoweth, Dagmara Doniczkyk, Beth Grant, Colleen Camp, Patrick Wilson. Highly uneven adaptation of Augusten Burroughs' bestselling memoir about growing up crazy—with a flamboyant, theatrical mother and a bizarre surrogate family headed by a crackpot psychiatrist (Cox). After a sharp, funny opening it turns dark, twisted, and claustrophobic. Use of '70s/'80s pop recordings in the foreground (rather than the background) of the soundtrack is distracting, to say the least. Great performance piece for Bening, as the self-absorbed mom, and Clayburgh, as Cox's addled but good-hearted wife. Feature debut for writer-director Murphy, creator of TV's Nip/Tuck. Super 35. [R]▼

Run of the Arrow (1957) C-86m. ½ D: Samuel Fuller. Rod Steiger, Sarita Montiel, Brian Keith, Ralph Meeker, Jay C. Flippen, Charles Bronson, Olive Carey, Colonel Tim McCoy. Confederate soldier (played by Steiger with a broad Irish brogue!) cannot accept surrender to the North, aligns himself instead with Sioux Indians after submitting to a grueling test of endurance. Intriguing if not entirely satisfying, with choppy continuity. Angie Dickinson reportedly dubbed Montiel's voice. Video title: HOT LEAD. RKO-Scope.▼

Run of the Country, The (1995-U.S.-British) C-109m.  D: Peter Yates. Albert Finney, Matt Keeslar, Victoria Smurfit, Anthony Brophy, David Kelly, Dearbhla Molloy, Carole Nimmmons, Vinnie McCabe, Clark Trevor. OK, plot-heavy, Irish family drama about the testy relationship between a widowed cop and his university-aged son who eventually gets involved with a woman who threatens dad's plans. Film takes half its length to decide what it wants to be about. Super 35. [R]▼●

Run Silent Run Deep (1958) 93m.  D: Robert Wise. Clark Gable, Burt Lancaster, Jack Warden, Brad Dexter, Nick Cravat, Mary LaRoche, Don Rickles, Eddie Foy III. Battle of wills between officers Gable and Lancaster on WW2 submarine is basis for interesting drama. Script by John Gay, from a novel by Commander Edward L. Beach. One of the great WW2 "sub" pictures.▼

Run, Stranger, Run SEE: Happy Mother's Day Love, George

Runteldat (2002) C-103m.  D: David Raynr. Martin Lawrence returns to his stand-up beginnings in this comedy concert, filmed in Washington, D.C. He announces he intends to deal with his life problems (drugs, etc.), but largely avoids accepting responsibility. Despite the rolling-in-the-aisles response of the audience, it's only occasionally funny; it lacks focus and a sense of purpose. ("Runteldat" seems to mean "run tell that," though its application is unclear.) Full title on-screen is MARTIN LAWRENCE LIVE: RUNTELDT. [R]▼

Run Wild, Run Free (1969-British) C-100m. ½ D: Richard C. Sarafian. John Mills, Mark Lester, Sylvia Syms, Gordon Jackson, Bernard Miles, Fiona Fullerton. Good cast helps leisurely, but better-than-usual children's film about young mute and his love for a white colt; nice subdued photography by Wilkie Cooper. [G]

Rush (1991) C-120m.  D: Lili Fini

Zanuck. Jason Patric, Jennifer Jason Leigh, Sam Elliott, Max Perlich, Gregg Allman, Tony Frank, William Sadler. Gritty adaptation of Kim Wozencraft's novel about a young woman recruited to be an undercover narc in 1970s Texas, joining a man who's already a bit too strung out to be completely effective. First-time director Zanuck skillfully creates an oppressively seedy atmosphere, but can't compensate for the fact that the story—if not the entire premise—of the film is unconvincing. Patric's performance is a standout, ditto Eric Clapton's striking score. [R]▼●●

Rush Hour (1998) C-98m.  D: Brett Ratner. Jackie Chan, Chris Tucker, Elizabeth Peña, Tom Wilkinson, Philip Baker Hall, Mark Rolston, Tzi Ma, Rex Linn, Chris Penn, Ken Leung, Barry Shabaka Henley. Enjoyable action no-brainer with Hong Kong detective Chan coming to L.A. to help his friend, the Chinese consul, rescue his kidnapped daughter. The FBI doesn't want an outsider on the case, however, so they give him to cocky L.A. cop Tucker to baby-sit. Combination of buddy movie, fish-out-of-water comedy, and urban action thriller works well if you don't demand a lot of logic. Followed by two sequels. Panavision. [PG-13]▼●●

Rush Hour 2 (2001) C-90m. ½ D: Brett Ratner. Jackie Chan, Chris Tucker, John Lone, Zhang Ziyi, Roselyn Sanchez, Harris Yulin, Alan King, Kenneth Tsang, Jeremy Piven, Saul Rubinek. Sequel coasts on the formula—and goodwill—of the original, with the stars' personalities carrying a wafer-thin plot. Tucker vacations in Hong Kong and gets involved with Chan's investigation of a crimelord (Lone), which leads them to L.A. and Las Vegas. Some good stunt sequences sprinkled in among the comedy. Don Cheadle appears unbilled. Panavision. [PG-13]▼

Rush Hour 3 (2007) C-91m. ½ D: Brett Ratner. Chris Tucker, Jackie Chan, Max von Sydow, Hiroyuki Sanada, Youki Kudoh, Yvan Attal, Noémie Lenoir, Jing-chu Zhang, Tzi Ma, Dana Ivey, Julie Depardieu, Henry O. An ambassador is gunned down in L.A. while Chan is guarding him. Tucker (now directing traffic) insists on joining him on a trek to Paris to uncover the plot behind this assassination, which is linked to the deadly Chinese Triads. Chan's agile antics and likability and Tucker's machine-gun bursts of dialogue mesh well for a third time, though it all becomes outlandishly silly by the climax. Philip Baker Hall and Roman Polanski (!) appear unbilled. Panavision. [PG-13]▼

Rushmore (1998) C-93m. ½ D: Wes Anderson. Jason Schwartzman, Bill Murray, Olivia Williams, Seymour Cassel, Brian Cox, Mason Gamble, Sara Tanaka, Stephen McCole, Connie Nielsen, Luke Wilson, Andrew Wilson. The saga of a bona fide oddball

who thrives on life at Rushmore prep school in Houston, but complicates his life by falling in love with a first-grade teacher (Williams) and befriending a local tycoon (Murray) who feels a kinship with this young iconoclast. A genuine original, full of keen observational humor and detail, with characters that always ring true. Remarkable debut performance by Schwartzman (son of Talia Shire), and a perfect showcase for Murray. Written by Anderson and Owen Wilson. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Russia House, The (1990) C-123m.  D: Fred Schepisi. Sean Connery, Michelle Pfeiffer, Roy Scheider, James Fox, Klaus Maria Brandauer, John Mahoney, Michael Kitchen, J. T. Walsh, Ken Russell, David Threlfall, Ian McNeice, Christopher Lawford. John le Carré yarn (adapted by Tom Stoppard) contends that the business of spying is alive and well—in spite of glasnost. Connery plays a British publisher drawn into espionage by a Soviet woman (Pfeiffer), who acts as emissary for a volatile friend. Alternately tedious and intriguing, but it never catches fire. Fox is a standout as a British intelligence officer. Technovision. [R] ▼●●

Russian Ark (2002-Russian-German) C-95m.  D: Alexander Sokurov. Sergei Dreidin, Maria Kuznetsova, Leonid Mozgovoy, David Giorgobiani, Alexander Chaban, Maxim Sergeev. Remarkable technical tour de force is the first feature-length film shot in one single take, a steadicam shot moving through more than 30 rooms of St. Petersburg's Hermitage museum (with some 2,000 extras), as director Sokurov tries to tie three centuries of Russian history together. The result is an almost surreal journey through the ages. A must-see for anyone interested in cinema's seemingly limitless possibilities. ▼●

Russian Roulette (1975) C-93m. ½ D: Lou Lombardo. George Segal, Cristina Raines, Bo Brundin, Denholm Elliott, Gordon Jackson, Peter Donat, Louise Fletcher, Val Avery. Assassins threaten to kill Soviet premier Kosygin during his trip to Vancouver; Segal is assigned to capture elusive troublemaker thought to be the hit-man in this violent, unsatisfying thriller. Filmed in Canada. [PG] ▼

Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming, The (1966) C-126m. ½ D: Norman Jewison. Carl Reiner, Eva Marie Saint, Alan Arkin, Brian Keith, Jonathan Winters, Paul Ford, Theodore Bikel, Tessie O'Shea, John Phillip Law, Ben Blue, Andrea Dromm, Dick Schaaf, Parker Fennelly, Doro Merande, Johnnie Whitaker, Michael J. Pollard. Popular comedy about Russian submarine that lands off New England coast was incredibly overrated in 1966; now it's merely a TV sitcom saved by pretty photography and good comic bits by

Arkin and Winters. Script by William Rose from Nathaniel Benchley's novel The Off-Islanders. Alan Arkin's starring film debut. Panavision. ▼●●

Russicum SEE: Third Solution, The Russkies (1987) C-99m. *½ D: Rick Rosenthal. Whip Hubley, Leaf (Joquin) Phoenix, Peter Billingsley, Stefan DeSalle, Susan Walters, Patrick Kilpatrick, Vic Polizos, Charles Frank, Susan Blanchard, Carole King, Summer Phoenix. Feeble reworking of THE RUSSIANS ARE COMING, THE RUSSIANS ARE COMING about Soviet sailor Hubley, washed ashore in Florida, and the trio of youngsters who befriend him. Well meaning in its message of fellowship, but slight. [PG] ▼●●

Rustlers' Rhapsody (1985) C-88m.  D: Hugh Wilson. Tom Berenger, G. W. Bailey, Marilu Henner, Andy Griffith, Fernando Rey, Sela Ward, Patrick Wayne. Good-natured but only sporadically funny send-up of Saturday matinee Westerns. If the old cowboy movies were this dull, they never would have survived. [PG] ▼●●

Rust Never Sleeps (1979) C-103m.  D: Bernard Shakey (Neil Young). Ragged-out but rousing record of Neil Young in concert, with 16 well-performed tunes by rockdom's most lovable downer. My My, Hey, Hey. [PG] ▼●

Ruthless (1948) 104m.  D: Edgar G. Ulmer. Zachary Scott, Louis Hayward, Diana Lynn, Sydney Greenstreet, Lucille Bremer, Martha Vickers, Raymond Burr. Scott steps on everyone to become big shot in this engrossing drama. Greenstreet is especially good as Southern tycoon. ●

Ruthless Four, The (1968-Italian-German) C-96m.  D: Giorgio Capitani. Van Heflin, Gilbert Roland, George Hilton, Klaus Kinski, Sarah Ross. Good Western explores the complicated relationships of four dubious partners in a Nevada gold mine. Apart from the action, it's a pleasure just to watch Heflin and Roland. Aka EVERY MAN FOR HIMSELF, EACH ONE FOR HIMSELF, AND SAM COOPER'S GOLD. Techniscope. [M/PG] ▼●

Ruthless People (1986) C-93m. ½ D: Jim Abrahams, David Zucker, Jerry Zucker. Danny DeVito, Bette Midler, Judge Reinhold, Helen Slater, Anita Morris, Bill Pullman, William G. Schilling, Art Evans. Wealthy DeVito plans to murder his obnoxious wife—unaware that at that moment she's being kidnapped, and equally unaware that his paramour plans to take him for his dough. Clever farce written by Dale Launer has lots of laughs, bright performances, but turns sour: these really are unpleasant people! [R] ▼●●

RV (2006) C-96m. ½ D: Barry Sonnenfeld. Robin Williams, Jeff Daniels, Cheryl Hines, Kristin Chenoweth, Joanna "JoJo" Levesque, Josh Hutcherson, Will Arnett,

Tony Hale. Beleaguered husband and dad takes his fractured family on a camping trip in an unwieldy recreational vehicle—and tries to sneak in some work for his demanding boss on the q.t. Obvious in every way but still pretty funny at times. Daniels and Chenoweth are a hoot as a dense down-home couple that Williams and family encounter on the road and can't get rid of. Super 35. [PG]◆

Ryan's Daughter (1970-British) C-194m. ½ D: David Lean. Robert Mitchum, Trevor Howard, Sarah Miles, Christopher Jones, John Mills, Leo McKern, Barry Foster. Simple love story blown up to gargantuan proportions in western coastal Ireland, where young girl (Miles) marries simple, plodding schoolteacher (Mitchum) and has affair with British soldier (Jones) stationed in town. Elephantine production overpowers Robert Bolt's thin story, admittedly beautiful scenes dwarfing what plot there is. Mills won Oscar in supporting role as the town idiot, as did—most deservedly—cinematographer Freddie Young. Re-edited after film's debut; original running time 206m. Super Panavision 70. [PG]▼●◆

Saadia (1953) C-82m. *½ D: Albert Lewin. Cornel Wilde, Mel Ferrer, Rita Gam, Cyril Cusack, Richard Johnson. Misfire; intellectual story of modernistic Moroccan ruler and doctor vying for love of superstitious native dancing girl.

Sabata (1969-Italian-Spanish) C-107m.  D: Frank Kramer (Gianfranco Parolini). Lee Van Cleef, William Berger, Franco Ressel, Linda Veras, Pedro Sanchez (Ignazio Spalla). First of three spaghetti Westerns is the best, though that isn't saying much. Van Cleef plays a gambler hired by a trio of nasty businessmen to steal $100,000. Needless to say, the transaction becomes trickier than they expected. Sequel: ADIOS, SABATA. Techniscope. [PG]◆

Sabotage (1936-British) 76m.  D: Alfred Hitchcock. Sylvia Sydney, Oscar Homolka, John Loder, Desmond Tester, Joyce Barbour. Elaborately detailed thriller about woman who suspects that her kindly husband (Homolka), a movie theater manager, is keeping something from her. Full of intriguing Hitchcock touches. Based on Joseph Conrad's Secret Agent, originally retitled A WOMAN ALONE for the U.S. ▼●◆

Saboteur (1942) 108m.  D: Alfred Hitchcock. Robert Cummings, Priscilla Lane, Norman Lloyd, Otto Kruger, Alan Baxter, Alma Kruger, Dorothy Peterson, Vaughan Glaser. Extremely offbeat wartime Hitchcock yarn about a munitions worker who's falsely accused of sabotage and forced to take it on the lam. Full of quirky touches, unusual supporting characters, and some outstanding set pieces, including famous Statue of Liberty finale . . . though actual story resolution is unfortunately abrupt. Screenplay by Peter Viertel, Joan Harrison, and Dorothy Parker. ▼●◆

Saboteur, Code Name Morituri, The (1965) 123m. ½ D: Bernhard Wicki. Marlon Brando, Yul Brynner, Janet Margolin, Trevor Howard, Wally Cox, William Redfield, Carl Esmond. Brando highlights great cast in study of anti-Nazi German who helps British capture cargo ship. Cast and Conrad Hall's photography are only assets; script degenerates. Originally released as MORITURI. ▼◆

Sabrina (1954) 113m. ½ D: Billy Wilder. Humphrey Bogart, Audrey Hepburn, William Holden, John Williams, Francis X. Bushman, Martha Hyer, Nancy Kulp. Samuel Taylor's play Sabrina Fair is good vehicle for Hepburn as chauffeur's daughter romanced by aging tycoon Bogart to keep her from his playboy brother (Holden). Offbeat casting works in this fun film. Screenplay by Ernest Lehman, Billy Wilder, and Taylor. Remade in 1995. ▼●◆

Sabrina (1995) C-127m.  D: Sydney Pollack. Harrison Ford, Julia Ormond, Greg Kinnear, Nancy Marchand, John Wood, Richard Crenna, Angie Dickinson, Lauren Holly, Dana Ivey, Miriam Colon, Elizabeth Franz, Fanny Ardant, Paul Giamatti. Enjoyable (if overlong) remake of the 1954 movie about a chauffeur's daughter with a lifelong crush on the handsome younger brother in the wealthy household where her father works. When he finally shows some interest in her, his older sibling tries to woo her away—for strictly business reasons. Credible cast (including Kinnear in an impressive film debut), sure-handed direction and a very funny script by Barbara Benedek and David Rayfield. The Paris scenes are especially lovely. [PG] ▼●◆

Sacco and Vanzetti (1971-French-Italian) C-120m. *½ D: Giuliano Montaldo. Gian Maria Volonte, Riccardo Cucciolla, Milo O'Shea, Cyril Cusack, Rosanna Fratello, Geoffrey Keen. Classic tale of American miscarriage of justice cries for cinematic treatment, but this version makes South Braintree, Massachusetts, look like a town in a Clint Eastwood spaghetti Western. Joan Baez sings title song. [PG]▼◆

Sacred Ground (1983) C-100m. ½ D: Charles B. Pierce. Tim McIntire, Jack Elam, Serene Hedlin, Mindi Miller, Eloy Phil Casados, L. Q. Jones. Fair drama of turmoil resulting when mountain man McIntire, his Apache wife and baby settle on holy Paiute burial ground. [PG]▼

Sacred Hearts (1985-British) C-95m. ½ D: Barbara Rennie. Anna Massey, Katrin Cartlidge, Oona Kirsch, Fiona Shaw, Anne Dyson, Gerard Murphy, Murray Melvin. Repressive, tyrannical Sister Thomas (Massey) ignores the questions, feelings, and fears of her young charges in a convent as the bombs explode around them in WW2 Britain. Sometimes quietly stimulating but also slow and predictable; occasional bits of humor help. ▀

Sacrifice, The (1986-Swedish-French) C-145m. ½ D: Andrei Tarkovsky. Erland Josephson, Susan Fleetwood, Valerie Mairese, Allan Edwall, Gundun Gisladottir. A cataclysmic event occurs during the birthday festivities of intellectual Josephson, who as a result becomes compelled to perform an act of faith. Slow, overly intense, but beautifully filmed (by Sven Nykvist) examination of the need for, and lack of, spirituality in modern society. Decidedly not for all tastes. Tarkovsky's final film. [PG] ▼●●

Saddest Music in the World, The (2004-Canadian) C/B&W-99m.  D: Guy Maddin. Mark McKinney, Isabella Rossellini, Maria de Madeiros, David Fox, Ross McMillan, Darcy Fehr. Deliriously bizarre film pays homage to 1930s moviemaking with a twisted sensibility: Rossellini (in a platinum wig) plays the legless boss of a popular brewery that sponsors an international competition to find the saddest music in the world. The big-money prize inspires cutthroat competition from all the competing countries. Intentionally blurs the line between melodrama and camp, with dreamlike images and ideas typical of Maddin's work. [R] ▼●

Saddle the Wind (1958) C-84m.  D: Robert Parrish. Robert Taylor, Julie London, John Cassavetes, Donald Crisp, Charles McGraw, Royal Dano. Well-acted Western of turned-good rancher (Taylor) fated to shoot it out with brother (Cassavetes). If you've ever wondered what a Western written by Rod Serling would be like, here's your chance. CinemaScope. ▀

Sadie McKee (1934) 92m.  D: Clarence Brown. Joan Crawford, Franchot Tone, Gene Raymond, Edward Arnold, Esther Ralston, Leo G. Carroll, Akim Tamiroff, Gene Austin. Solidly entertaining film follows serpentine story of working-girl Crawford and the three men in her life: smooth-talking Raymond, tipsy millionaire Arnold, earnest employer Tone. Beautifully paced, handsomely filmed. Song: "All I Do Is Dream of You," plus amusing rendition of "After You've Gone" by Austin, Candy Candido. ▼●●

Sadist, The (1963) 91m. ½ D: James Landis. Arch Hall, Jr., Helen Hovey, Richard Alden, Marilyn Manning. Taut little B picture about a psychotic punk who terrorizes three innocent people at a roadside gas station. Hall is distressingly believable as the psycho. Imaginatively shot by Vilmos (billed as William) Zsigmond. Retitled PROFILE OF TERROR. ▀

Sad Sack, The (1957) 98m.  D: George Marshall. Jerry Lewis, Phyllis Kirk, David Wayne, Peter Lorre, Gene Evans, Mary Treen. Disjointed comedy vaguely based on George Baker comic strip of Army misfit. Lorre appears as Arab in last part of film. VistaVision ▼

Safe (1995) C-119m. ½ D: Todd Haynes. Julianne Moore, Xander Berkeley, Peter Friedman, James Le Gros, Mary Carver, Jessica Harper, Brandon Cruz. Well-to-do L.A. housewife becomes allergic to her own environment when almost overnight everyday household chemicals and substances turn into toxins. Intriguing allegorical approach to society's ills—based on a factual case—never really jells, and second half, set at a New Mexico retreat, grows tiresome. Notable mainly for Moore's terrific performance. [R] ▼●●

Safe at Home! (1962) 83m. ½ D: Walter Doniger. Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris, William Frawley, Patricia Barry, Don Collier, Bryan Russell. Kid is pressured into lying to Little League pals about friendship with M&M. The stoic poetry of Jack Webb's acting pales beside that of Maris' in this kiddie time-capsule; leads, cameos by Whitey Ford and Ralph Houk make it a must for Yankee fans... if no one else. ▼

Safe Conduct (2002-French) C-163m. ½ D: Bertrand Tavernier. Jacques Gamblin, Denis Podalydès, Christian Berkel, Marie Gillain, Charlotte Kady, Marie Desgranges, Maria Pitarresi, Thierry Gibault. Long, ambitious, and heroic film about two men who struggle to maintain their integrity while working in the French film industry during WW2, under the supervision of the Germans. Real names and incidents are used in this panoramic and surprisingly humorous story of courage and absurdity in a time of cowardice and crisis. Written by Tavernier and Jean Cosmos, based on the recollections of Jean Aurenche and Jean Devaivre. Super 35. ▼

Safecracker, The (1958-British) 96m.  D: Ray Milland. Ray Milland, Barry Jones, Jeannette Sterke, Ernest Clark, Melissa Stribling, Victor Maddern. Contrived story of burglar who almost goes straight, later forced to use his talents for war effort.

Safe Men (1998) C-99m. ½ D: John Hamburg. Sam Rockwell, Steve Zahn, Michael Lerner, Harvey Fierstein, Mark Ruffalo, Josh Pais, Paul Giamatti, Christina Kirk, Allen Swift. Amusing if flyweight low-budget comedy about a couple of guys—who've never made good at anything—who are mistaken for ace safecrackers by small-time hood Lerner, who puts them to work. Colorful characterizations by Lerner, Fierstein, and Giamatti add zip to this offbeat concoction set in Providence, R.I. Feature debut for writer-director Hamburg. [R] ▼●●

Safe Passage (1994) C-98m.  D: Robert Allan Ackerman. Susan Sarandon, Sam Shepard, Nick Stahl, Marcia Gay Harden, Robert Sean Leonard, Sean Astin, Matt Keeslar, Jeffrey DeMunn, Philip Bosco, Jason London, Rutanya Alda. Self-consciously predictable, TV movie-ish portrait of a dysfunctional family, with Sarandon (solid as usual) as a

woman, estranged from her husband, who's placed her life on hold while raising seven sons. The family pulls together when it learns that one of the boys may have been killed. [PG-13] ▼●●

Safe Place, A (1971) C-94m.  D: Henry Jaglom. Tuesday Weld, Jack Nicholson, Orson Welles, Philip Proctor, Gwen Welles. Spaced-out, water-logged fantasy of weird girl who lives in dream world where she can never grow up. [PG] ▼

Safety Last (1923) 78m.  D: Fred Newmeyer, Sam Taylor. Harold Lloyd, Mildred Davis, Bill Strothers, Noah Young. Crackerjack silent comedy about go-getter Harold determined to make good in the big city includes his justly famous building-climbing sequence—still hair-raising after all these years. ▼

Safety of Objects, The (2003) C-120m. ½ D: Rose Troche. Glenn Close, Dermot Mulroney, Jessica Campbell, Patricia Clarkson, Joshua Jackson, Moira Kelly, Robert Klein, Timothy Olyphant, Mary Kay Place, Kristen Stewart, Alex House. Ambitious adaptation (by Troche) of A. M. Homes' collection of short stories about suburban families whose lives are linked by one tragic incident. Close is a mother clinging to her son, who's on life support; Mulroney has run out on his job but can't tell his family; Place is a restless wife and mother who fancies a fling. Superior acting gives this uneven film a built-in level of interest, but as the pieces of its puzzle come together they don't create a satisfying whole. Shot in 2001. Super 35. [R] ▼

Saga of Gosta Berling, The SEE: Atone-ment of Gosta Berling, The Saga of the Viking Women and Their Voyage to the Waters of the Great Sea Serpent, The SEE: Viking Women and the Sea Serpent

Sahara (1943) 97m. ½ D: Zoltan Korda. Humphrey Bogart, Bruce Bennett, J. Carrol Naish, Lloyd Bridges, Rex Ingram, Richard Nugent, Dan Duryea, Kurt Kreuger. Excellent actioner of British-American unit stranded in Sahara desert in the path of Nazi infantry; Bogie's the sergeant, with fine support by Naish and Ingram. Based on the 1937 Russian film THE THIRTEEN (and reminiscent of THE LOST PATROL); also made as NINE MEN and LAST OF THE COMANCHES; imitated many other times. Remade for cable-TV in 1995 with James Belushi. ▼●●

Sahara (1984) C-104m. *½ D: Andrew V. McLaglen. Brooke Shields, Lambert Wilson, Horst Buchholz, John Rhys-Davies, Ronald Lacey, John Mills, Steve Forrest, Perry Lang, Cliff Potts. Tacky modern variation on THE PERILS OF PAULINE with Brooke filling in for her late father in free-for-all auto race across North African desert in the 1920s, being kidnapped by handsome desert sheik. Any resemblance to a good movie is just a mirage. J-D-C Scope. [PG] ▼

Sahara (2005-U.S.-British-Spanish-German) C-127m. ½ D: Breck Eisner. Matthew McConaughey, Penélope Cruz, Steve Zahn, William H. Macy, Delroy Lindo, Lambert Wilson, Glynn Turman, Rainn Wilson. Dirk Pitt (McConaughey) and his lifelong ex-Navy SEAL pal Al (Zahn) set off in search of a Civil War ironclad that they believe made its way to the River Niger. Along the way they're joined by a World Health Organization doctor who's trying to contain a possible plague in the country of Mali, where all three discover they're facing formidable opposition. Old-fashioned high adventure adapted from one of Clive Cussler's popular Pitt novels has lots of action but an inconsistent tone and too much plot. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Sail a Crooked Ship (1962) 88m. ½ D: Irving S. Brecher. Robert Wagner, Frankie Kovacs, Dolores Hart, Carolyn Jones, Corinne Avalon, Frank Gorshin, Harvey Lembeck. Bungled crime-caper comedy has hilarious moments, but not enough to make it a winner. Based on a Nathaniel Benchley novel. ▼

Sailor Beware (1951) 108m.  D: Hal Walker. Dean Martin, Jerry Lewis, Corinne Calvet, Marion Marshall, Robert Strauss, Vince Edwards; guest, Betty Hutton. Hilarious adventures of Martin & Lewis in the Navy. Induction scenes, boxing sequence are highlights in one of the team's funniest outings. James Dean can be glimpsed in the boxing scene. Remake of THE FLEET'S IN. ▼

Sailor From Gibraltar, The (1967-British) 89m.  D: Tony Richardson. Jeanne Moreau, Ian Bannen, Vanessa Redgrave, Zia Mohyeddin, Hugh Griffith, Orson Welles, Umberto Orsini, Eleanor Bron, John Hurt. Uneven adaptation of Marguerite Duras' novel has Moreau (who even gets to warble a song) as the mythical nymphomaniac wandering the seas in search of reunion with her dream sailor. Boasts an intriguing cast, but Richardson's handheld camera and other 1960s techniques have badly dated.

Sailor of the King (1953-U.S.-British) 83m.  D: Roy Boulting. Jeffrey Hunter, Michael Rennie, Wendy Hiller, Bernard Lee, Peter Van Eyck. Solid WW2 naval action story, based on C. S. Forester novel Brown on Resolution, with Hunter rising to challenge when opportunity arises to attack German raider. British title: SINGLE HANDED. Filmed before in 1935. ▼

Sailor Who Fell From Grace With the Sea, The (1976-British) C-104m.  D: Lewis John Carlino. Sarah Miles, Kris Kristofferson, Jonathan Kahn, Margo Cunningham, Earl Rhodes. A troubled, impressionable boy tries to deal with his widowed mother's love affair with an amiable sailor, and falls under the influence of a morbid young friend. Passionate love scenes and a bizarre ending highlight this unusual film, beautifully shot by Douglas Slocombe on English seacoast locations.

Adapted by the director from a novel by Yukio Mishima. Panavision. [R]▼

Saint, The series SEE: Leonard Maltin's Classic Movie Guide

Saint, The (1997) C-116m.  D: Phillip Noyce. Val Kilmer, Elisabeth Shue, Rade Serbedzija, Valery Nikolaev, Henry Goodman, Alun Armstrong, Emily Mortimer. Spy for hire and master of disguises Simon Templar agrees to steal a fusion formula for a controversial Russian leader—but falls in love with the beautiful professor who cooked up the recipe. Fanciful, globe-trotting action adventure is fun at first but throws credibility out the window early on, and only gets dumber. And how many endings are we supposed to sit through? Bears little resemblance to Leslie Charteris' hero. Listen for the voice on the radio in the final scene, if you make it that far. Panavision. [PG-13]▼

Saint Ex (1995-British) C/B&W-86m.  D: Anand Tucker. Bruno Ganz, Miranda Richardson, Janet McTeer, Ken Stott, Brid Brennan, Eleanor Bron, Katrin Cartlidge, Anna Calder-Marshall. A self-described "work of imagination," poetic and surreal, freely inspired by the life of Antoine de Saint-Exupéry. Not your standard screen biography, as the dramatic narrative is interspersed with interviews of real people who knew the famed aviator and author of The Little Prince. A telling and heartfelt tale of a fascinating man. Richardson plays the spirited and independent-minded woman who is the love of his life. [PG]▼

Saint Jack (1979) C-112m.  D: Peter Bogdanovich. Ben Gazzara, Denholm Elliott, James Villiers, Joss Ackland, Rodney Bewes, George Lazenby, Lisa Lu, Peter Bogdanovich. Absorbing character study of an amiable, ambitious pimp who thrives in Singapore during early 1970s. Fine performances from Gazzara and Elliott, excellent use of location milieu. From a Paul Theroux novel. [R]▼

Saint Joan (1957) 110m.  D: Otto Preminger. Jean Seberg, Richard Widmark, Richard Todd, Anton Walbrook, John Gielgud, Felix Aylmer, Harry Andrews, Barry Jones, Finlay Currie, Bernard Miles, Margot Grahame. Big-scale filming of Shaw's play sounded large thud when released; some good acting, but Seberg (who won her first film role after a nationwide search) not suited to film's tempo, throws production askew. Script by Graham Greene. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Saint of Fort Washington, The (1993) C-108m.  D: Tim Hunter. Matt Dillon, Danny Glover, Rick Aviles, Nina Siemaszko, Ving Rhames, Joe Seneca. Sincere but undistinguished portrayal of N.Y.C.'s homeless, with Glover showing the ropes to new friend Dillon, a mentally impaired youth who snaps photographic studies without any film in his camera. Despite impressive location footage and a downbeat conclusion, this (barely released) film seems slick and old-Hollywood. [R]▼

Saint Ralph (2005-Canadian) C-98m.  D: Michael McGowan. Adam Butcher, Campbell Scott, Jennifer Tilly, Gordon Pinsent, Shauna MacDonald, Tamara Hope, Frank Crudele, Michael Kanev. In Hamilton, Ontario, ambitious 14-year-old Catholic schooler Ralph Walker (Butcher) sets his sights on winning the 1954 Boston Marathon, hoping to awaken his comatose mother through the miracle of his victory. Neither snow nor sleet nor a sternly disapproving headmaster can knock him off track. Scott and Tilly are outstanding as his skeptical but supportive coaches in this comic, touching, pint-sized CHARIOTS OF FIRE. Based on a true story; written by the director. [PG-13]▼

Salaam Bombay! (1988-Indian-British) C-113m.  D: Mira Nair. Shafiq Syed, Sarfuddin Quarrassi, Raju Barnad, Raghubir Yadav, Aneeta Kanwar. Gut-wrenching chronicle of young country boy Syed and his various experiences among the street hustlers, drug peddlers, and prostitutes of Bombay. Unravels as a novel, with a gallery of vividly drawn supporting characters. Fine feature debut for director Nair. ▼

Salamander, The (1981-U.S.-British-Italian) C-101m. *½ D: Peter Zinner. Franco Nero, Anthony Quinn, Martin Balsam, Sybil Danning, Christopher Lee, Cleavon Little, Paul Smith, Claudia Cardinale, Eli Wallach. Colonel Nero attempts to prevent a fascist coup d'état in Italy. A comball script sinks this potentially intriguing drama, from a Morris West novel. ▼

Sallah (1965-Israeli) C-105m.  D: Ephraim Kishon. Haym Topol, Geula Noni, Gila Almagor, Arik Einstein, Shraga Friedman, Esther Greenberg. Topol is amusing as an Oriental Jew who emigrates to Israel with his wife and seven children and is forever scheming to improve his lot. A modest, lighthearted, thoroughly enjoyable satire. ▼

Salo, or The 120 Days of Sodom (1975-Italian) C-117m. BOMB D: Pier Paolo Pasolini. Paolo Bonacelli, Giorgio Cataldi, Umberto P. Quinavalle, Aldo Laletti, Caterina Boratto. Controversial, disturbing adaptation of de Sade's novel, set during WW2 in Italy, where Fascist rulers brutalize and degrade adolescents. Sadism, scatology, and debauchery galore; Pasolini, whose last film this is, wallows in his own sensationalism. ▼

Salome (1953) C-103m. ½ D: William Dieterle. Rita Hayworth, Stewart Granger, Charles Laughton, Judith Anderson, Cedric Hardwicke, Maurice Schwartz. Great cast struggles with unintentionally funny script in biblical drama of illustrious dancer who offers herself to spare John the Baptist. Filmed before with Nazimova in 1923. ▼

Salome's Last Dance (1988-British) C-90m.

*½ D: Ken Russell. Glenda Jackson, Stratford Johns, Nickolas Grace, Imogen Millais-Scott, Douglas Hodge. As Oscar Wilde lounges in a brothel (the same one where his subsequent arrest would lead to his downfall), the proprietor stages a production of the playwright's title work, with Salome, Herod, John the Baptist and Co. all strutting their stuff. Typical Russell litmus test for one's tolerance of the outrageous, but wittier and less oppressive than some of the director's other historical pageants. Grace's weak Wilde aside, the actors do remarkably well under the circumstances. [R] ▼●●

Salon, The (2007) C-99m. * D: Mark Brown. Vivica A. Fox, Darrin Henson, Kym Whitley, Dondre Whitfield, De'Angelo Wilson, Monica Calhoun, Taral Hicks, Garrett Morris, Brooke Burns, Terrence Howard. Preachy variation on BARBERSHOP about the employees of an inner-city Baltimore women's hair salon. While servicing their customers they gossip, complain, and argue; then they learn the government wants to demolish the shop and replace it with a municipal parking lot. Not so much a movie as a soapbox for its characters, too many of them stereotypes; the street wino is particularly annoying. Fox coproduced; Brown, who also scripted, was the cowriter of BARBERSHOP. Based on Shelly Garrett's play Beauty Shop. [PG-13] ●

Salsa (1988) C-97m. * D: Boaz Davidson. Robby Rosa, Rodney Harvey, Magali Alvarado, Miranda Garrison, Moon Orna, Angela Alvarado, Celia Cruz, Tito Puente. All flash and no substance in this DIRTY DANCING-inspired feature-length music video with a Latin beat. Rosa (of the pop group Menudo) stars as a young auto repairman who'd much rather be shaking his body to salsa. Main problem: Where's the script? [PG] ▼●●

Salt and Pepper (1968-British) C-101m. *½ D: Richard Donner. Sammy Davis, Jr., Peter Lawford, Michael Bates, Ilona Rodgers, John LeMesurier. Soho nightclub owners find trouble when two baddies turn up at their club. Contrived, broad comedy. Sequel: ONE MORE TIME. [G] ●

Salt of the Earth (1953) 94m. ½ D: Herbert Biberman. Juan Chacon, Rosaura Revueltas, Will Geer, Mervin Williams, Frank Talavera, Clinton Jencks, Virginia Jencks. Earnest film about Latino mine workers in New Mexico who go on strike—in spite of the tremendous hardships it causes. This film is particularly impressive considering its history—made under difficult conditions (and on a shoestring), with many nonprofessional actors, by blacklisted filmmakers. Produced by Paul Jarrico and written by Michael Wilson, two of Hollywood's more prominent blacklistees. ▼●●

Salton Sea, The (2002) C-103m. ½ D:

D.J. Caruso. Val Kilmer, Vincent D'Onofrio, Adam Goldberg, Luis Guzman, Doug Hutchison, Anthony LaPaglia, Glenn Plummer, Peter Sarsgaard, Deborah Kara Unger, Chandra West, B.D. Wong, R. Lee Ermey, Shirley Knight, Meat Loaf, Danny Trejo. Dreadful film noir-ish thriller with Kilmer as a druggie who's actually a rat for the LAPD . . . or is he? Cluttered story about chance and revenge has more scummy characters than any audience should have to encounter in one movie. [R] ▼●

Salty O'Rourke (1945) 99m.  D: Raoul Walsh. Alan Ladd, Gail Russell, William Demarest, Stanley Clements, Bruce Cabot, Spring Byington. Lively tale of smooth con man Ladd aiming to clean up with jockey Clements, who turns out to be a large headache. Schoolteacher Russell steps in to foil Ladd's plans.

Salute of the Juggler SEE: Blood of Heroes, The

Salut l'Artiste (1974-French) C-102m.  D: Yves Robert. Marcello Mastroianni, Jean Rochefort, Françoise Fabian, Carla Gravina. Light comedy about second-rate actors Mastroianni and Rochefort; the former scampers about while going nowhere; the latter opts out for an ad executive job. Amusing, with first-rate cast and performances. ▼

Salvador (1986) C-123m. *½ D: Oliver Stone. James Woods, James Belushi, Michael Murphy, John Savage, Elpidia Carrillo, Tony Plana, Colby Chester, Cindy (Cynthia) Gibb, John Doe. Uneven but compelling drama based on real experiences of journalist Richard Boyle in strife-ridden El Salvador in 1980–81. Effective propaganda, often potent drama; it takes time to grab hold because lead characters Woods and Belushi are such incredible sleazeballs. Woods' dynamic performance makes up for a lot; his first visit to confession in 32 years is a memorably funny scene. Screenplay by Boyle himself and director Stone. [R] ▼●●

Salvation! (1987) C-80m. ½ D: Beth B. Stephen McHattie, Dominique Davalos, Exene Cervenka, Viggo Mortensen, Rockets Redglare, Billy Bastani. Satire of false TV evangelist (McHattie) who gets involved in a sex incident, was released right after the Jim & Tammy Bakker scandal. Unfortunately, underground filmmaker Beth B directs in the manner of an incoherent music video, swamping McHattie's convincing central performance (resembling a young John Carradine). [R] ▼

Salvatore Giuliano (1962-Italian) 125m. ½ D: Francesco Rosi. Frank Wolff, Salvo Randone, Federico Zardi, Pietro Cammarata, Fernando Cicero. Vivid, documentary-like drama, told in flashback, depicts the career of an infamous post-WW2 Sicilian criminal who rose through the ranks of organized crime, becoming a Mafia chieftain. This fact-based tale intricately weaves a story of political and governmental bureaucracy; it resulted in a real-life investigation of Mafia activities in Italy. Remade as THE SICILIAN. ◻

Salzburg Connection, The (1972) C-92m. *½ D: Lee H. Katzin. Barry Newman, Anna Karina, Klaus Maria Brandauer, Karen Jensen, Joe Maross, Wolfgang Preiss. Terrible film version of Helen MacInnes' best-seller about American lawyer on vacation in Salzburg who gets mixed up with spies; irritating use of slow-motion and freeze-frame gimmicks. Brandauer's debut and only film appearance until MEPHISTO. [PG] ▼

Samar (1962) C-89m.  D: George Montgomery. George Montgomery, Gilbert Roland, Ziva Rodann, Joan O'Brien, Nico Minardos, Mario Barri. Ordinary actioner has Roland as head of prison compound on a Philippine island who rejects inhumane treatment of prisoners and leads them on escape route. ▼

Same Old Song (1997-French-Swiss-British) C-120m.  D: Alain Resnais. Pierre Arditi, Sabine Azema, Jean-Pierre Bacri, Andre Dussollier, Agnes Jaoui, Lambert Wilson, Jane Birkin. Resnais adds a distinctly personal sensibility to this intricately plotted, tongue-in-cheek confection about a group of overindulgent middle-class Parisians who constantly break into lip-synched song as a way of expressing themselves. Bacri and Jaoui scripted this affectionate homage to Dennis Potter (THE SINGING DETECTIVE, PENNIES FROM HEAVEN). Winner of seven César awards. ▼

Same Time, Next Year (1978) C-117m.  D: Robert Mulligan. Ellen Burstyn, Alan Alda. Bernard Slade's two-character Broadway play makes pleasing film, with Alda and Burstyn as adulterous couple who share one weekend a year for 26 years; warm, human comedy-drama reflects changes in American life and attitudes since early '50s in likable fashion. [PG] ▼

Sam Marlowe, Private Eye SEE: Man with Bogart's Face, The

Sammy and Rosie Get Laid (1987-British) C-100m.  D: Stephen Frears. Shashi Kapoor, Claire Bloom, Ayub Khan Din, Frances Barber, Roland Gift, Wendy Gazelle, Suzette Llewellyn. The curious lives of a couple with an open sexual relationship are thrown into disarray by the arrival of his father, a powerful reactionary political figure from India who cannot understand their lifestyle—or what has happened to the traditional British way of life he used to enjoy. Disturbing but monotonous look at social and sexual anarchy in England, written by Hanif Kureishi, who previously collaborated with director Frears on MY BEAUTIFUL LAUNDRETTE. ▼

Sammy Going South SEE: Boy Ten Feet Tall, A

Samson and Delilah (1949) C-128m.  D: Cecil B. DeMille. Victor Mature, Hedy Lamarr, George Sanders, Angela Lansbury, Henry Wilcoxon, Olive Deering, Fay Holden, Russell (Russ) Tamblyn, George Reeves, Tom Tyler, Fritz Leiber, Mike Mazurki. With expected DeMille touches, this remains a tremendously entertaining film. Mature is surprisingly good as Samson, though his famous fight with lion is hopelessly phony; also difficult to swallow idea of Lansbury being Lamarr's older sister. Sanders supplies biggest surprise by underplaying his role as the Saran. This won Oscars for its Art Direction-Set Decoration and Costumes. Remade for TV in 1984 (with Mature as Samson's father) and 1996. ▼

Sam's Son (1984) C-104m.  D: Michael Landon. Eli Wallach, Anne Jackson, Timothy Patrick Murphy, Hallie Todd, Alan Hayes, Jonna Lee, Michael Landon. Landon wrote, directed, and appears briefly in this autobiographical saga about an underdog kid, who's a champion javelin thrower, and his loving but frustrated father, who never got to pursue his dreams. Wallach's performance as the father is major asset of this sometimes syrupy film. [PG] ▼

Sam's Song (1969) C-92m. *½ D: Jordan Leondopoulos (John Shade, John C. Broderick). Robert De Niro, Jennifer Warren, Jered Mickey, Martin Kelley, Viva. Dreary film about film editor's weekend with friends on Long Island, interesting only for early De Niro performance. Extensive reshooting includes new characters played by Lisa Blount and Sybil Danning; film was reissued in 1979 as THE SWAP. Video title: LINE OF FIRE. [R] ▼

Samurai Cowboy (1993-Canadian) C-101m. ½ D: Michael Keusch. Hiromigo Go, Catherine Mary Stewart, Matt McCoy, Conchata Ferrell, Robert Conrad. A Japanese businessman, enthralled with classic American Western movies, buys a ranch in Montana and attempts to live his dream of becoming a cowboy. Although hampered by a predictable plot and many formula characters, Japanese pop star Go's ingratiating performance enhances this likable tale. ▼

Sam Whiskey (1969) C-96m.  D: Arnold Laven. Burt Reynolds, Clint Walker, Ossie Davis, Angie Dickinson, Rick Davis, William Schallert, Woodrow Parfrey. Modestly mounted, uninteresting Western wasting talents of good cast. Schemer Whiskey coerced into organizing heist of golden bullion. For Western aficionados and Reynolds addicts only. [M/PG] ▼

San Antonio (1945) C-111m.  D: David Butler. Errol Flynn, Alexis Smith, S. Z. Sakall, Victor Francen, Florence Bates, John Litel, Paul Kelly. Elaborate Western has predictable plot but good production values as good guy Flynn tangles with cunning villains Francen and Kelly while romancing singer Smith. Screenplay by The Searchers novelist Alan LeMay and W. R. Burnett. ▼

Sanctuary (1961) 100m.  D: Tony Richardson. Lee Remick, Yves Montand, Bradford Dillman, Harry Townes, Odetta, Howard St. John, Jean Carson, Reta Shaw, Strother Martin. Flat melodrama about a Southern governor's daughter (Remick) and her plight after she's raped by bootlegger Montand. Awkward adaptation (by James Poe) of William Faulkner's novels Sanctuary (previously filmed as THE STORY OF TEMPLE DRAKE) and Requiem for a Nun and Ruth Ford's stage adaptation of the latter. CinemaScope.

Sanders (1963-British) C-83m.  D: Lawrence Huntington. Richard Todd, Marianne Koch, Albert Lieven, Vivi Bach, Jeremy Lloyd. Loose adaptation of Edgar Wallace novel Sanders of the River follows police inspector's investigation of murder in an African hospital and discovery of hidden silver mine. British title DEATH DRUMS ALONG THE RIVER. Todd repeated role of Harry Sanders in 1964 COAST OF SKELETONS. Techniscope.

Sanders of the River (1935-British) 98m.  D: Zoltan Korda. Paul Robeson, Leslie Banks, Nina Mae McKinney, Robert Cochran, Martin Walker. Dated adventure story (by Edgar Wallace) about river patrol officer maintains interest today, particularly for Robeson's strong presence and African location shooting. A fascinating relic of the sun-never-sets school of British imperialism. Sanders character revived in 1960s' SANDERS (DEATH DRUMS ALONG THE RIVER) and COAST OF SKELETONS. ▼

Sandlot, The (1993) C-101m. ½ D: David Mickey Evans. Tom Guiry, Mike Vitar, Patrick Renna, Chauncey Leopardi, Marty York, Brandon Adams, Denis Leary, Karen Allen, James Earl Jones, Maury Wills, Art La Fleur. Innocuous film for kids about a '60s sandlot baseball team, their acceptance of the new kid on the block, and their ongoing battle with a ferocious neighboring dog. No real insight or resonance here (and incredibly condescending, heavy-handed narration)—but a pleasant enough time-filler for younger viewers. Arliss Howard and Brooke Adams appear unbilled. Followed by two direct-to-video sequels. J-D-C Scope. [PG] ▼

Sand Pebbles, The (1966) C-179m.  D: Robert Wise. Steve McQueen, Richard Attenborough, Richard Crenna, Candice Bergen, Mako, Marayat Andriane, Simon Oakland, Larry Gates, Gavin MacLeod. McQueen gives one of his finest performances as cynical sailor on U.S. gunboat cruising China's Yangtze River in 1926. Long but generally compelling drama mixes traditional action and romance with some pointed notions about American imperial-

ism (and a few parallels to Vietnam). Splendidly photographed by Joseph MacDonald. Panavision. ▼

Sandpiper, The (1965) C-116m. ½ D: Vincente Minnelli. Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton, Eva Marie Saint, Charles Bronson, Robert Webber, Torin Thatcher, Morgan Mason, Tom Drake. Ordinary triangle love affair. Beatnik Taylor in love with Burton, who is married to Saint. Nothing new, but beautiful California Big Sur settings help; so does Oscar-winning theme, "The Shadow of Your Smile." Written by Dalton Trumbo and Michael Wilson. Panavision. ▼

Sandpit Generals, The SEE: Wild Pack, The

Sandra (1965-Italian) 100m. ½ D: Luchino Visconti. Claudia Cardinale, Jean Sorel, Michael Craig, Marie Bell, Renzo Ricci, Amalia Troiani. A small-town Italian beauty returns home with her American husband to attend a ceremony in memory of her Jewish father, who died in a concentration camp, setting off a series of emotional entanglements with her unfaithful mother and incestuous brother. Well acted but awfully soapy and melodramatic for Visconti.

Sands of Beersheba (1966) 90m.  D: Alexander Ramati. Diane Baker, David Opatoshu, Tom Bell, Paul Stassino. Sluggish account of the Arab-Israeli conflict, involving a non-Jewish American whose fiancé died in the 1948 Palestinian war, an Israeli gunrunner, a Jew-hating Arab terrorist, and the latter's father who's tired of all the bloodshed. The issues remain compelling, but the film is mostly a bore. ▼

Sands of Iwo Jima (1949) 110m.  D: Allan Dwan. John Wayne, John Agar, Adele Mara, Forrest Tucker, Arthur Franz, Julie Bishop, Richard Jaeckel, Wally Cassell, Richard Webb. Enormously popular WW2 saga, with Wayne in one of his best roles as a tough Marine top-sergeant. Story and characters are pretty two-dimensional, and a bit worn from having been copied so many times since, but it's still good entertainment; use of authentic combat footage is striking. Wayne's first Oscar-nominated performance. The three surviving Marine vets who raised the American flag on Mt. Suribachi have small parts. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Sands of the Kalahari (1965-British) C-119m.  D: Cy Endfield. Stuart Whitman, Stanley Baker, Susannah York, Harry Andrews, Theodore Bikel, Nigel Davenport. Well-done story of plane crash survivors struggling through desert and battling simian inhabitants (and each other). Panavision.

San Francisco (1936) 115m. ½ D: W. S. Van Dyke II. Clark Gable, Jeanette MacDonald, Spencer Tracy, Jack Holt, Jessie Ralph, Ted Healy, Shirley Ross, Al Shean. Top-grade entertainment with

extremely lavish production. Jeanette overdoes it a bit as the belle of San Francisco, but the music, Tracy's performance, and earthquake climax are still fine. Originally had footage of Golden Gate Bridge under construction; other rhythmically edited shots of S.F. were changed for later reissue. Script by Anita Loos. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Sanjuro (1962-Japanese) 96m.  D: Akira Kurosawa. Toshiro Mifune, Tatsuya Nakadai, Takashi Shimura, Yuzo Kayama, Reiko Dan. Sequel to YOJIMBO has shabby, wandering samurai Mifune aiding nine bumbling younger warriors in exposing corruption among the elders of their clan. Satirical comic-book actioner features a typically deadpan Mifune performance. Tohoscope. ▼●●

San Quentin (1937) 70m. ½ D: Lloyd Bacon. Pat O'Brien, Humphrey Bogart, Ann Sheridan, Veda Ann Borg, Barton MacLane. Warner Bros. formula prison film; convict Bogart's sister (Sheridan) loves O'Brien, who's captain of the guards. MacLane is memorable as tough prison guard. ●

Sansho the Bailiff (1954-Japanese) 125m. * D: Kenji Mizoguchi. Kinuyo Tanaka, Kisho Hanayagi, Kyoko Kagawa, Eitaro Shindo, Ichiro Sugai. Epic, poetic drama of 11th-century Japan, focusing on the tribulations of a family. Kindly father, a provincial governor, is exiled; children (Hanayagi, Kagawa) become slaves; mother (Tanaka) is sold as a prostitute. Haunting, with stunning direction and cinematography (by Kazuo Miyagawa). Original running time 130m. Aka THE BAILIFF. ▼●●

Santa Claus (1985) C-112m. ½ D: Jeannot Szwarc. Dudley Moore, John Lithgow, David Huddleston, Burgess Meredith, Judy Cornwell, Jeffrey Kramer, Christian Fitzpatrick, Carrie Kei Heim. Story of how Santa came to be starts out so wonderfully—with eye-filling looks at his North Pole toy factory, reindeer, and sleigh—that it's too bad the rest of the film (with contemporary tale of humbug kid and greedy toy magnate) can't measure up. Still entertaining, just a bit less magical than it should have been. Referred to as SANTA CLAUS: THE MOVIE everywhere but on-screen! J-D-C Scope. [PG] ▼●●

Santa Claus Conquers the Martians (1964) C-80m. BOMB D: Nicholas Webster. John Call, Leonard Hicks, Vincent Beck, Donna Conforti. Absurd low-budget fantasy (with a Milton Delugg score!) about Santa and two Earth children being abducted to Mars to help solve some of their domestic problems—like kids watching too much TV. One of the Martian tykes is Pia Zadora! Aka SANTA CLAUS DEFEATS THE ALIENS. ▼●

Santa Clause, The (1994) C-97m.  D: John Pasquin. Tim Allen, Judge Reinhold,

Wendy Crewson, Eric Lloyd, David Krumholtz, Peter Boyle, Larry Brandenburg, Mary Gross, Paige Tamada. Neglectful divorced dad inadvertently frightens Santa off his roof and, when he puts on the deceased St. Nick's suit, begins to turn into Santa Claus himself—first on the outside, and then, more significantly, on the inside. Clever script by Steve Rudnick and Leo Benevenuti takes a potential one-joke idea and develops it in interesting and unexpected ways, effectively infusing heart and sentiment into its 1990s sensibility. Impressive screen debut for Allen. Followed by two sequels. [PG] ▼●●

Santa Clause 2, The (2002) C-104m.  D: Michael Lembeck. Tim Allen, Elizabeth Mitchell, David Krumholtz, Eric Lloyd, Judge Reinhold, Wendy Crewson, Spencer Breslin, Liliانا Mummy, Art LaFleur, Aisha Tyler, Kevin Pollak, Jay Thomas, Michael Dorn, Molly Shannon. Sequel finds the human-turned-Santa learning that unless he finds a wife, he'll cease to exist. Revisiting his former home, he falls in love with the unlikeliest candidate—and in the process helps straighten out his troubled teenage son. Sweet, noncynical Disney film is played with conviction and charm; good family entertainment. [G] ▼●

Santa Clause 3: The Escape Clause, The (2006) C-98m.  D: Michael Lembeck. Tim Allen, Martin Short, Elizabeth Mitchell, Eric Lloyd, Judge Reinhold, Wendy Crewson, Alan Arkin, Spencer Breslin, Liliانا Mummy, Ann-Margret, Abigail Breslin, Art LaFleur, Aisha Tyler, Kevin Pollak, Jay Thomas, Peter Boyle, Zach Mills. Third time's not the charm for this Disney series, as Santa (Allen) is forced to bring his earthly in-laws (Arkin and Ann-Margret) to the North Pole for a visit without revealing his identity, while jealous Jack Frost (Short) tries to hijack Christmas for his own greedy purposes. All this negativity doesn't make for much fun. Allen coproduced. [G] ●

Santa Fe (1951) C-89m.  D: Irving Pichel. Randolph Scott, Janis Carter, Jerome Courtland, Peter Thompson, John Archer, Warner Anderson, Roy Roberts, Jock Mahoney. Routine account of brothers in post-Civil War days, on opposite sides of the law. ▼●

Santa Fe Passage (1955) C-90m.  D: William Witney. John Payne, Faith Domergue, Rod Cameron, Slim Pickens. Routine wagon train westward; Indian attacks, love among the pioneers, etc.

Santa Fe Satan SEE: Catch My Soul

Santa Fe Trail (1940) 110m.  D: Michael Curtiz. Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland, Raymond Massey, Ronald Reagan, Alan Hale, Guinn Williams, William Lundigan, Ward Bond, Van Heflin, Gene Reynolds, John Litel, Charles Middleton. Lopsided picture can't make up its mind

about anything: what side it's taking, what it wants to focus on, etc. Worthless as history, but amid the rubble are some good action scenes as Jeb Stuart (Flynn) and cohorts go after John Brown (Massey). Reagan plays Flynn's West Point classmate and romantic rival, George Armstrong Custer(!). Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Santa Sangre (1989-Italian-Mexican) C-121m.  D: Alejandro Jodorowsky. Axel Jodorowsky, Blanca Guerra, Sabrina Denison, Guy Stockwell, Thelma Tixou, Adan Jodorowsky, Faviola Elenka Tapia. Grotesque story about an entertainer whose act consists of performing as the arms for his armless mother; he's also an unwilling murderer. Made in luxurious color with dreamy art direction, this lacks the intellectual charge of Jodorowsky's earlier films. Filmed in English. [Shown both in NC-17 and R-rated versions] ▼●●

Santee (1973) C-93m.  D: Gary Nelson. Glenn Ford, Michael Burns, Dana Wynter, Jay Silverheels, Harry Townes, John Larch, Robert Wilke, Robert Donner. Bounty hunter Ford, whose boy has been murdered, adopts son of outlaw he has just killed. OK Western. [PG] ▼●

Saphead, The (1921) 78m. ½ D: Herbert Blaché. Buster Keaton, William H. Crane, Carol Holloway, Edward Connelly, Irving Cummings, Beulah Booker. Buster (in his feature-film debut) is shoehorned into a pleasant but conventional plot about a wealthy boob whose impending marriage is imperiled when he's framed for a stock swindle. Keaton is fine but not allowed to express his unique comic personality. Based on a Broadway play that was filmed once before as THE LAMB (1915) with Douglas Fairbanks. Villain Cummings later became a top director at 20th Century-Fox. ▼●●

Sapphire (1959-British) C-92m.  D: Basil Dearden. Nigel Patrick, Yvonne Mitchell, Michael Craig, Paul Massie, Bernard Miles, Earl Cameron, Rupert Davies, Yvonne Buckingham. When music student is murdered, it is discovered she was passing as white. Considered daring in its day, still absorbing today—both as entertainment and social comment. Fine performances. Story and screenplay by Janet Green (with additional dialogue by Lukas Heller). ▼

Saps At Sea (1940) 57m.  D: Gordon Douglas. Stan Laurel, Oliver Hardy, James Finlayson, Ben Turpin, Richard Cramer, Harry Bernard. L&H comedy is short and sweet: Ollie has breakdown working in horn factory, tries to relax on a small boat with Stan . . . and that's impossible. Cramer is a memorable heavy. Harry Langdon was one of the writers. ▼●●

Saraband (1948-British) C-95m.  D: Basil Dearden. Stewart Granger, Joan Greenwood, Flora Robson, Françoise Rosay,

Frederick Valk, Peter Bull, Anthony Quayle, Michael Gough, Megs Jenkins, Christopher Lee. Lavish, tearful romance with Greenwood torn between royal responsibility and love for young rogue. British title: SARABAND FOR DEAD LOVERS. ▼

Saraband (2003-Swedish) C-107m.  D: Ingmar Bergman. Liv Ullmann, Erland Josephson, Börje Ahlstedt, Julia Dufvenius. Ullmann and Josephson return as Marianne and Johan, the dysfunctional couple they created so unforgettably in SCENES FROM A MARRIAGE, reunited thirty years after their divorce and involved in family turmoil. A prominent subplot involving Johan's son and granddaughter is less effective, but it's a joy to see the two stars together; their scenes have the rich, deep emotional complexity that characterizes Bergman's best films. Another quibble: the antiseptic digital cinematography leaves one yearning for the raw quality that 16mm afforded its predecessor. Originally made for Swedish television. Bergman's final film as director. [R] ●

Saracen Blade, The (1954) C-76m. *½ D: William Castle. Ricardo Montalban, Betta St. John, Rick Jason, Carolyn Jones, Whitfield Connor. Pretty bad 13th-century stuff, with young man avenging death of father. Unbelievable script traps cast.

Sarafina! (1992-U.S.-British-French) C-115m. ½ D: Darrell James Roodt. Whoopi Goldberg, Leleti Khumalo, Miriam Makeba, John Kani, Mbongeni Ngema. Wobbly film version of the anti-apartheid musical stage hit about a young South African black girl inspired by teacher Goldberg, who's courting trouble by deviating from the curriculum mandated by the white power structure. Arguably the most violent musical ever (taking what was abstract on stage and literalizing it), a key indication of the film's uncertain style. [PG-13] ▼●●

Sarah Silverman: Jesus Is Magic (2005) C-70m. ½ D: Liam Lynch. Sarah Silverman, Brian Posehn, Bob Odenkirk, Laura Silverman, Steve Agee. If all of the world's invisible social tensions coalesced into a cheerfully offensive, politically incorrect comedian with a surprisingly cute voice, you'd have Sarah Silverman. It's hard to know what to make of such a creature, but one thing seems certain: by joking about taboo issues that many choose to ignore (9/11, the Holocaust, Jesus, Jewishness, AIDS, race, and sex), she forces the audience to think about them. Often-hilarious concert film is needlessly interrupted by several poorly produced musical numbers. ●

Saratoga (1937) 94m. ½ D: Jack Conway. Clark Gable, Jean Harlow, Lionel Barrymore, Frank Morgan, Walter Pidgeon, Una Merkel, Cliff Edwards, George Zucco, Hattie MacDaniel, Margaret Hamilton. Harlow's last film—she died during production—has stand-in Mary Dees doing many scenes, but comes off pretty well, with Jean as granddaughter of horse-breeder Barrymore, Gable an influential bookie. ▼●

Saratoga Trunk (1945) 135m. *½ D: Sam Wood. Gary Cooper, Ingrid Bergman, Flora Robson, Jerry Austin, John Warburton, Florence Bates. Elaborate but miscast, overlong version of Edna Ferber's novel of New Orleans vixen Bergman and cowboy Cooper. Unbearable at times. Made in 1943. ▼

Satan Bug, The (1965) C-114m. ½ D: John Sturges. George Maharis, Richard Basehart, Anne Francis, Dana Andrews, Edward Asner, Frank Sutton, John Larkin, Henry Beckman. Overlooked little suspense gem, loosely based on Alistair MacLean novel, detailing nerve-racking chase after lunatic who's stolen flasks containing horribly lethal virus from government lab. Taut script (by Edward Anhalt and James Clavell) and direction, stunning photography by Robert Surtees. Panavision. ▼●

Satanic Rites of Dracula, The SEE: Count Dracula and His Vampire Bride

Satan Met a Lady (1936) 75m.  D: William Dieterle. Bette Davis, Warren William, Alison Skipworth, Arthur Treacher, Winifred Shaw, Marie Wilson, Porter Hall. Dashiell Hammett's Maltese Falcon incognito; far below 1941 remake. William is private eye, Davis the mysterious client, Skipworth the strange woman searching for priceless artifact (here, a ram's horn). Filmed in 1931 and 1941 as THE MALTESE FALCON. ▼

Satan Never Sleeps (1962) C-126m.  D: Leo McCarey. William Holden, Clifton Webb, France Nuyen, Athene Seyler, Martin Benson, Edith Sharpe. Dreary goings-on of two priests holding fast when Communist China invades their territory. McCarey's last film. CinemaScope. ▼

Satan's Cheerleaders (1977) C-92m.  D: Greydon Clark. Kerry Sherman, John Ireland, Yvonne DeCarlo, Jacqueline Cole, Jack Kruschen, John Carradine, Sydney Chaplin. Amusing drive-in fodder about a busload of high school cheerleaders who fall into clutches of a demonic cult. Humor and a cast full of old pros help, but this film is too tame to be really effective. [R] ▼

Satan's Claw SEE: Blood on Satan's Claw, The

Satan's Harvest (1970) C-104m.  D: Douglas K. Stone (George Montgomery). George Montgomery, Tippi Hedren, Matt Monro, Davy Kaye, Brian O'Shaughnessy. American detective Montgomery inherits South African ranch and discovers it to be headquarters for a drug smuggling operation. Colorful scenery, tepid story. ▼

Satan's Playthings SEE: In the Devil's Garden

Satan's Sadists (1970) C-88m. BOMB D: Al Adamson. Russ Tamblyn, Scott Brady,

Kent Taylor, John Cardos, Greydon Clark, Regina Carrol, William Bonner. Renegade cyclists on the loose down the highway. Change the channel. [R] ▼●

Satan's Skin SEE: Blood on Satan's Claw, The

Satisfaction (1988) C-92m. BOMB D: Joan Freeman. Justine Bateman, Liam Neeson, Trini Alvarado, Britta Phillips, Julia Roberts, Scott Coffey. Bubble-gum theatrical release about a four-girl/one-guy garage band that gets its first break rocking in a wealthy summer resort town. With the entire band shackled up in a single room, figure out where sole male member Coffey sleeps—or how he sleeps. Duds like this were more fun in the 1950s. Retitled GIRLS OF SUMMER. [PG-13] ▼●

Saturday Night and Sunday Morning (1960-British) 90m. ½ D: Karel Reisz. Albert Finney, Shirley Anne Field, Rachel Roberts, Norman Rossington. Grim yet refreshing look at angry young man, who in a burst of nonconformity alters the lives of girlfriends Field and Roberts. Superbly enacted. Script by Alan Sillitoe, from his novel. One of the first and best of Britain's "angry young men" dramas of the '60s. ▼●

Saturday Night Fever (1977) C-119m.  D: John Badham. John Travolta, Karen Lynn Gorney, Barry Miller, Joseph Cali, Paul Pape, Donna Pescow, Julie Bovasso, Denny Dillon, Robert Costanza, Fran Drescher. Travolta's first starring film is thoughtful study of Brooklyn youth who finds only meaning in his life when dancing at local disco. Film pulses to dynamic Bee Gees music score ("Night Fever," "How Deep Is Your Love," "Staying Alive," etc). Plethora of street language may offend some, but not in "alternate" 108m. PG-rated version, where dialogue and certain scenes have been changed or dropped entirely. Later a Broadway musical. Sequel: STAYING ALIVE. [R] ▼●

Saturday's Children (1940) 101m. *½ D: Vincent Sherman. John Garfield, Anne Shirley, Claude Rains, Lee Patrick, George Tobias, Roscoe Karns, Dennie Moore, Elisabeth Risdon. N.Y.C.-based story of poor, hardworking Shirley, her dreamer-boy-friend Garfield, and what happens when they marry. Rains steals film as Shirley's sacrificing father. Based on Maxwell Anderson play previously filmed in 1929 and (as MAYBE IT'S LOVE) in 1935.

Saturday's Hero (1951) 111m. *½ D: David Miller. John Derek, Donna Reed, Sidney Blackmer, Alexander Knox. Football player Derek wins a college scholarship, then discovers he isn't expected to spend much time in class. Pretty good attack on collegiate sports remains fairly timely; Reed is fine as love interest. Look quickly for Aldo Ray (in film debut).

Saturday the 14th (1981) C-75m. *½ D: Howard R. Cohen. Richard Benjamin, Paula Prentiss, Severn Darden, Jeffrey Tambor, Kari Michaelson, Kevin Brando, Rosemary DeCamp. Limp horror film parody, with Benjamin and Prentiss moving into a weird house and dealing with an assortment of menacing types. A follow-up came along seven years later. [PG]▼

Saturday the 14th Strikes Back (1988) C-78m. BOMB D: Howard R. Cohen. Jason Presson, Ray Walston, Avery Schreiber, Patty McCormack, Julianne McNamara, Rhonda Aldrich, Leo V. Gordon. Follow-up to 1981 turkey is even worse, if that seems imaginable: a schlocky, amateurish spoof of horror films with a bevy of monsters attacking Presson on his birthday. [PG]▼

Saturn 3 (1980-British) C-88m.  D: Stanley Donen. Farrah Fawcett, Kirk Douglas, Harvey Keitel, Douglas Lambert. Flashy but empty-headed outer-space opus, with Douglas and Fawcett menaced by Keitel and his sex-starved robot Hector; good-looking package with nothing inside. [R]▼

Savage, The (1952) C-95m. ½ D: George Marshall. Charlton Heston, Susan Morrow, Peter Hanson, Joan Taylor, Ted de Corsia. Heston is sincere and energetic as white man raised by the Indians and forced to choose sides when skirmishes break out. Savage Attraction SEE: Hostage (1983)

Savage Eye, The (1960) 68m.  D: Ben Maddow, Sidney Meyers, Joseph Strick. Barbara Baxley, Herschel Bernardi, Gary Merrill, Jean Hideoy. Documentary-style drama of divorcee Baxley trying to start life anew in L.A.; contrived but intriguing.▼

Savage Grace (2008) C-97m. *½ D: Tom Kalin. Julianne Moore, Stephen Dillane, Eddie Redmayne, Elena Anaya, Unax Ugalde, Belén Rueda, Hugh Dancy. Creepy chronicle of socially ambitious Barbara Daly's marriage to arrogant Brooks Backeland, the Bakelite plastics heir, and their troubled relationship with their son Tony. Six vignettes, set in various locations around the globe, span the years 1946 to 1972—though no one seems to age except the boy. Off-putting portrait of a decadent life offers no illumination or reward for watching. Based on the book by Natalie Robins and Steven M. L. Aronson.▶

Savage Innocents, The (1960-Italian-French-British) C-110m. ½ D: Nicholas Ray. Anthony Quinn, Yoko Tani, Peter O'Toole, Marie Yang, Anna May Wong. Striking but uneven film about conflict of civilization vs. simple ways of Eskimo people. Quinn gives remarkable performance as native Eskimo; beautiful documentary-type location photography combined with studio work. O'Toole's voice is dubbed. Super Technirama 70.

Savage Is Loose, The (1974) C-114m. BOMB D: George C. Scott. George C.

Scott, Trish Van Devere, John David Carson, Lee H. Montgomery. Scott produced, directed, starred in and even distributed this farrago about the eventual incest between mother and son after they, along with dad, have been stranded on an island for years. Not very stimulating. Panavision. [R]▼

Savage Messiah (1972-British) C-100m.  D: Ken Russell. Dorothy Tutin, Scott Antony, Helen Mirren, Lindsay Kemp, Peter Vaughan. Thoughtful, if intense chronicle of the platonic affair between sculptor Henri Gaudier-Brzeska (Antony), who died in WW1 at age 24, and Sophie Brzeska (Tutin). A convincing, impressive "portrait of an artist as a young man." [R]▼

Savage Nights (1992-French) C-126m.  D: Cyril Collard. Cyril Collard, Romane Bohringer, Carlos Lopez, Corine Blue, Claude Winter, Maria Schneider. Rude, socially irresponsible, in-your-face AIDS movie with raw, subjective power. Collard, who in real life succumbed to the disease just three days before his film swept France's César Awards, plays a bisexual moviemaker/musician who reacts to his biological death warrant by sleeping around unprotected with sassy teenager Bohringer and rugby player Lopez, who are both messed up on their own. Occasionally ugly, but can't be dismissed. Imagine these characters taking over the Dean, Wood, and Mineo roles in REBEL WITHOUT A CAUSE.▼

Savage Pampas (1966-Spanish) C-100m.  D: Hugo Fregonese. Robert Taylor, Ron Randall, Ty Hardin, Rosenda Monteros. Remake of 1946 Argentinian film PAMPA BARBARA. Taylor is rugged army captain combating outlaw Randall whose gang is made up of army deserters. Adequate actioner. Superpanorama 70.▼

Savages, The (2007) C-113m. ½ D: Tamara Jenkins. Laura Linney, Philip Seymour Hoffman, Philip Bosco, Peter Friedman, David Zayas, Gbenga Akinagbe, Cara Seymour, Margo Martindale, Debra Monk. A brother and sister who aren't especially close must come together when their long-estranged father is left alone, in need of constant care. In dealing with this sudden challenge they also have to contend with unfinished business in their own relationship. He's a serious-minded theater professor with a hard outer shell; she's a neurotic would-be playwright who's still trying to find her way in life. Three great actors—Linney, Hoffman, and Bosco—sink their teeth into Jenkins' beautifully nuanced, heart-rending screenplay. [R]▶

Savage Sam (1963) C-103m. ½ D: Norman Tokar. Brian Keith, Tommy Kirk, Kevin Corcoran, Dewey Martin, Jeff York, Royal Dano, Marta Kristen. Sequel to Disney's OLD YELLER has Keith and country neighbors trying to rescue children who've been kidnapped by Indians. Savage

Sam, canine son of Old Yeller, helps track down the tribe. Colorful but uneven. ▼

Savage Seven, The (1968) C-96m. *½ D: Richard Rush. Robert Walker, Jr., Larry Bishop, Adam Roarke, Max Julien, Duane Eddy, Joanna Frank, Penny Marshall. Below-par motorcycle melodrama that lives up to its title but nothing else. ▼

Savannah Smiles (1982) C-107m. ½ D: Pierre DeMoro. Mark Miller, Donovan Scott, Bridgette Andersen, Peter Graves, Chris Robinson, Michael Parks. A rich little girl (Andersen) runs away from home and reforms criminals. Fair morality tale for kids, written by leading actor Miller. [PG] ▼

Saved! (2004) C-92m. ½ D: Brian Dannelly. Jena Malone, Mandy Moore, Macaulay Culkin, Patrick Fugit, Heather Matarazzo, Eva Amurri, Martin Donovan, Mary-Louise Parker, Chad Faust, Valerie Bertinelli. Malone plays a senior at a Christian high school who has never questioned her faith, until her boyfriend tells her he thinks he's gay. When her prayer-inspired solution to the problem makes her an outcast, she sees her friends (especially class leader Moore) and even her mother in a brand-new light. Satire of religious hypocrisy by first-time feature director Dannelly and cowriter Michael Urban loses its footing after a promising start but benefits from a talented ensemble. Later a stage musical. [PG-13] ▼

Save the Last Dance (2001) C-105m. ½ D: Thomas Carter. Julia Stiles, Sean Patrick Thomas, Kerry Washington, Fredro Starr, Terry Kinney, Bianca Lawson, Vince Green, Garland Whitt. By-the-numbers tale of white-bread teen Stiles, a wannabe professional ballerina, who moves to Chicago to live with her estranged jazz musician father after her mother's death. She becomes involved with Thomas, and discovers the liberating force of hip-hop. Attractive performances elevate this clichéd teen culture/romantic drama. [PG-13] ▼

Save the Tiger (1973) C-101m.  D: John G. Avildsen. Jack Lemmon, Jack Gilford, Laurie Heineman, Norman Burton, Patricia Smith, Thayer David, Lara Parker. Pretentious Steve Shagan script about dress manufacturer trying to reconcile hero-worship of his childhood with degradations he submits himself to in business world. Film purports to be totally honest, but phoniness comes through; David has best scenes as professional arsonist. Lemmon won Best Actor Oscar. [R] ▼

Saving Face (2005) C-97m.  D: Alice Wu. Michelle Krusiec, Joan Chen, Lynn Chen, Jin Wang, Guang Lan Koh, Jessica Hecht, Ato Essandoh, David Shih, Brian Yang. Entertaining, well-observed comedy about Chinese-American doctor Krusiec (who can't admit that she's a lesbian) and her tradition-bound mother Joan Chen (who won't explain how she's gotten pregnant at the age of 48). Romantic and cultural complications abound in this heartfelt and genuinely funny film, an impressive debut feature for writer-director Wu. [R] ▼

Saving Grace (1986) C-112m. *½ D: Robert M. Young. Tom Conti, Fernando Rey, Erland Josephson, Giancarlo Giannini, Donald Hewlett, Edward James Olmos, Patricia Mauerci. Youthful Pope Conti, overwhelmed by meaningless duties and a general feeling of uselessness, sneaks incognito out of the Vatican and into a small Italian village that has lost its spirit. If you're going to spin a whopper like this, don't pace it so slowly that the audience has too much time to ponder the improbabilities. Technovision. [PG] ▼

Saving Grace (2000-British) C-93m. ½ D: Nigel Cole. Brenda Blethyn, Craig Ferguson, Martin Clunes, Tcheky Karyo, Jamie Foreman, Bill Bailey, Valerie Edmond, Leslie Phillips, Phyllida Law. A newly impoverished widow with a green thumb is prevailed upon by her gardener to use her skills to grow marijuana, with surprising results. Impish comedy is great fun until the climax, when it becomes silly and loses all connection to reality. Ferguson (who plays the gardener) cowrote and coproduced. Super 35. [R] ▼

Saving Private Ryan (1998) C-169m. ½ D: Steven Spielberg. Tom Hanks, Edward Burns, Tom Sizemore, Jeremy Davies, Vin Diesel, Adam Goldberg, Barry Pepper, Giovanni Ribisi, Matt Damon, Dennis Farina, Ted Danson, Harve Presnell, Dale Dye, Bryan Cranston, David Wohl, Paul Giamatti, Ryan Hurst, Harrison Young. Trenchant WW2 drama about an Army captain (Hanks) assigned to take his squad of seven men into France, locate a private whose three brothers have been killed in combat... and give him a ticket home. Conventional elements in the script are balanced by a genuinely complex examination of heroism in the field, and overpowered by the most realistic, relentlessly harrowing battle footage ever committed to a fiction film. Spielberg (aided immeasurably by cameraman Janusz Kaminski and a superb creative team) has created the ultimate vision of war as hell on earth. Oscars include Best Director, Cinematography, Editing (Michael Kahn). [R] ▼

Saving Shiloh (2006) C-90m.  D: Sandy Tung. Scott Wilson, Gerald McRaney, Jason Dolley, Ann Dowd, Kyle Chavarria, Jordan Garrett, Taylor Momsen, Bonnie Bartlett, Kari. Third in the SHILOH series finds McRaney replacing Michael Moriarty, along with a new young lead (Dolley) and a new dog. This time the cute beagle and his human friend learn more about their curmudgeon of a neighbor Judd (Wilson) while collecting clues to solve a murder. Same pleasant-natured entertainment as the first two films, but not as good as its intentions. [PG] ▼

Saving Silverman (2001) C-91m. *½ D: Dennis Dugan. Jason Biggs, Amanda Peet, Steve Zahn, Jack Black, Amanda Detmer, R. Lee Erney, Neil Diamond. Dreadful exercise in Farrelly-esque gross-out fare about two dudes (Black, Zahn) who kidnap their best pal's bitchy girlfriend to prevent him from getting married. Funny premise is botched by violent slapstick and an unrelenting mean streak. A giddy wrap-up featuring Neil Diamond, in his first screen appearance since THE JAZZ SINGER (1980), barely redeems this from complete BOMB-dom. R-rated version also available. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Savior, The (1998) C-103m.  D: Peter Antonijevic. Dennis Quaid, Nastassja Kinski, Stellan Skarsgård, Sergej Trifunovic, Natasa Ninkovic. Earnest drama about a man who, after a personal tragedy, joins the Foreign Legion and winds up as a cold-blooded fighting machine. But when he comes upon a young woman about to give birth in Bosnia, he takes care of her and soon becomes emotionally attached to both the mother and infant. Quaid is excellent. Super 35. [R]▼

Saw (2004) C-103m.  D: James Wan. Cary Elwes, Danny Glover, Monica Potter, Leigh Whannell, Michael Emerson, Tobin Bell, Ken Leung, Makenzie Vega, Shawnee Smith, Dina Meyer. Two strangers (Elwes, Whannell) awaken to find themselves held prisoner by an unknown maniac in an abandoned warehouse bathroom. The psychopath enjoys devising gruesome torture games for unsuspecting victims, while cops Glover and Leung seek to end his sadistic crime spree. Unpleasant but intense, effective thriller in the SE7EN vein. Scripted by Whannell from a story he devised with the director. Timid or squeamish viewers may not want to watch this alone . . . or ever. Followed by four sequels. [R]▼

Saw II (2005) C-93m. ½ D: Darren Lynn Bousman. Donnie Wahlberg, Shawnee Smith, Tobin Bell, Franky G, Glenn Plummer, Dina Meyer, Emmanuelle Vaugier, Beverley Mitchell, Erik Knudsen, Tim Burd. Sadistic sequel finds fiendish mastermind "Jigsaw" holding a group of strangers captive in a spooky, booby-trapped house. Plenty of gore for fans, as the victims race the clock while a lethal gas fills their lungs. Wahlberg is the lead cop on the case, but can he match wits with this twisted madman? Unrated edition is 95m. [R]▼

Saw III (2006) C-108m.  D: Darren Lynn Bousman. Tobin Bell, Shawnee Smith, Angus Macfadyen, Bahar Soomekh, Mpho Koaho, Dina Meyer, Barry Flatman, Lyriq Bent, J. LaRose, Costas Mandylor, Alan Van Sprang, Donnie Wahlberg. The blade has begun to dull on this franchise as a feeble Jigsaw (Bell) uses his protégée (Smith) to carry out his master plan of torturing the privileged. At the

same time, they have kidnapped a brain surgeon and are forcing her to try to save his sorry carcass. Weak story and acting help sink this; Soomekh's performance as the medic is horrid (and not in the good sense). Unrated version runs 113m. "Director's Cut" runs 120m. [R]▼

Saw IV (2007) C-92m. ½ D: Darren Lynn Bousman. Tobin Bell, Costas Mandylor, Scott Patterson, Betsy Russell, Lyriq Bent, Athena Karkanis, Justin Louis, Simon Reynolds, Donnie Wahlberg, Angus Macfadyen, Shawnee Smith, Bahar Soomekh, Dina Meyer. Jigsaw is dead, but his ingenious torture devices mysteriously continue, with law enforcement agents Mandylor and Patterson on the trail. We also learn how and why a successful architectural engineer morphed into this Satan. Decent rebound from its lackluster predecessor, this entry is less claustrophobic than usual, though many performances are typically subpar—which is almost part of the perverse appeal. [R]▼

Saw V (2008) C-92m. *½ D: David Hackl. Tobin Bell, Costas Mandylor, Scott Patterson, Betsy Russell, Mark Rolston, Julie Benz, Carlo Rota, Mike Butters, Meagan Good, Greg Bryk, Donnie Wahlberg, Danny Glover. Rival law enforcement investigators Mandylor (about as expressive as a mummy) and Patterson (still grimly ultra-determined) try to thwart the never-ending killings of Jigsaw, who, for a corpse, has plenty of screen time in this deadly dull fifth installment. The now-standard "strangers imprisoned in a dank warehouse maze of torture games" subplot is weaker than ever (even the gross-out factor is, relatively speaking, quite tame). This entry is almost a total buzz-killer. Unrated version runs 96m. [R]▼

Sawdust and Tinsel (1953-Swedish) 92m. * D: Ingmar Bergman. Harriet Andersson, Ake Gronberg, Anders Ek, Gudrun Brost, Hasse Ekman, Annika Tretow. Sparks fly in this beautiful, allegorical film set in a small-time circus and focusing on the relationship between circus owner Gronberg and his oversexed mistress (Andersson). A key credit in Bergman's developing maturity as a filmmaker. AKA THE NAKED NIGHT.▼

Saxon Charm, The (1948) 88m.  D: Claude Binyon. Robert Montgomery, Susan Hayward, John Payne, Audrey Totter, Harry Morgan, Cara Williams, Harry Von Zell, Heather Angel. Well-acted but unconvincing study of ruthless producer, with Montgomery miscast in lead role. Still interesting, with fine work from playwright Payne, wife Hayward, and chanteuse Totter.

Say Amen, Somebody (1982) C-100m. * D: George T. Nierenberg. Willie Mae Ford Smith, Thomas A. Dorsey, Sallie Martin, The Barrett Sisters, The O'Neal Brothers. Wonderful documentary about gospel music and two of its shining stars, "Mother" Willie Mae Ford Smith and "Professor" Thomas Dorsey, that brings us into their lives as well as their careers and demonstrates the power of music sung from the heart. A genuine treat. [G]▼●●

Say Anything ... (1989) C-100m.  D: Cameron Crowe. John Cusack, Ione Skye, John Mahoney, Lili Taylor, Amy Brooks, Pamela Segall, Jason Gould, Loren Dean, Bebe Neuwirth, Eric Stoltz, Chynna Phillips, Joanna Frank. Satisfying teenage comedy-drama about a self-assured loner who goes after the Class Brain, and finds her surprisingly human. Amusing, endearing, and refreshingly original; written by first-time director Crowe. Cusack's real-life sister Joan plays his sister here, and Lois Chiles has a cameo as Skye's mother; both appear unbilled. [PG-13]▼●●

Say Hello to Yesterday (1971-British) C-91m. *½ D: Alvin Rakoff. Jean Simmons, Leonard Whiting, Evelyn Laye, John Lee, Jack Woolgar, Constance Chapman. Ridiculous plot concerning 40-year-old Simmons' affair with 22-year-old Whiting. Symbolic touches by director Rakoff further shroud purpose of film. [PG]▼

Say It Isn't So (2001) C-96m. *½ D: James B. Rogers. Heather Graham, Chris Klein, Orlando Jones, Sally Field, Richard Jenkins, John Rothman, Brent Briscoe, Sarah Silverman. Agreeably unambitious Klein falls for the new hairdresser in town (Graham)—only to learn, after mutually satisfying sexual activity, that she's his sister. Even the Farrelly Brothers' names in the credits—as producers—couldn't keep this gross-out comedy from flopping. Film is only for those who want to experience Field as they've never seen or even imagined before; the crude humor extends even to her. [R]▼●

Sayonara (1957) C-147m. ½ D: Joshua Logan. Marlon Brando, Ricardo Montalban, Miiko Taka, Miyoshi Umeki, Red Buttons, Martha Scott, James Garner. Romantic James Michener tale of Korean War pilot Brando falling in love with Japanese entertainer Taka; extremely well acted, with Oscar-winning support from Buttons and Umeki, and statuettes also going to the art direction-set decoration. Theme song by Irving Berlin. Paul Osborn wrote the screenplay. Technirama.▼●●

Say One for Me (1959) C-119m. *½ D: Frank Tashlin. Debbie Reynolds, Bing Crosby, Robert Wagner, Ray Walston, Les Tremayne, Connie Gilchrist, Stella Stevens, Frank McHugh, Joe Besser, Sebastian Cabot. Bing plays a Broadway priest who gets mixed up with a chorus girl (Debbie) and a TV charity show. Terribly contrived; no memorable music. CinemaScope.

Scalawag (1973) C-93m. *½ D: Kirk Douglas. Kirk Douglas, Mark Lester, Don Stroud, Neville Brand, Lesley-Anne Down, Phil

Brown, Danny DeVito; voice of Mel Blanc. TREASURE ISLAND goes West in this weak adaptation, with a hammy Kirk as one-legged cuthroat; songs turn up when you least expect them. Filmed in Yugoslavia. [G]

Scalphunters, The (1968) C-102m. ½ D: Sydney Pollack. Burt Lancaster, Shelley Winters, Ossie Davis, Telly Savalas, Armando Silvestre, Nick Cravat, Dabney Coleman. Western comedy about a fur trapper and his highly educated slave has its moments, but isn't funny enough, nor exciting enough, nor pointed enough to qualify as all-out success. Cast helps. Panavision.▼●

Scam (1993) C-101m.  D: John Flynn. Christopher Walken, Lorraine Bracco, Miguel Ferrer, Martin Donovan, Daniel Von Bargen. Con artist Bracco and greedy ex-fed Walken form a stormy alliance to scam a bundle in underworld cash. This would-be erotic thriller was made for theatrical release but premiered on cable. [R]▼

Scamp, The SEE: Strange Affection
Scandal (1989) C-106m.  D: Michael Caton-Jones. John Hurt, Joanne Whalley-Kilmer, Bridget Fonda, Ian McKellen, Leslie Phillips, Britt Ekland, Daniel Massey, Roland Gift, Jeroen Krabbé. Absorbing look at the people behind Britain's incredible government-sex scandal of the early '60s, with Whalley-Kilmer just right as impressionable showgirl Christine Keeler, and Hurt outstanding as Stephen Ward, the social gadfly and sexual provocateur who introduces Keeler to Cabinet Minister John Profumo (whose wife, incidentally, was a former film star, Valerie Hobson). Fascinating and credible; a good job by first-time director Michael Caton-Jones. Screenplay by Michael Thomas. Original 114m. British version was trimmed to avoid an X-rating in the U.S. Both versions are available on video. [R]▼●●

Scandal at Scourie (1953) C-90m. ½ D: Jean Negulesco. Greer Garson, Walter Pidgeon, Donna Corcoran, Agnes Moorehead, Arthur Shields. Tepid Garson-Pidgeon entry set in Canada, involving Protestant couple who shock community when they plan to adopt a Catholic child.

Scandal in Paris, A (1946) 106m.  D: Douglas Sirk. George Sanders, Carole Landis, Akim Tamiroff, Signe Hasso, Gene Lockhart, Alan Napier, Alma Kruger. Stylish (though studio-bound) 18th-century story based on the memoirs of the notorious Frenchman Eugene Vidocq, whose life of crime reaches a crossroads when he encounters a young woman who idolizes him. Witty script was tailor-made for Sanders. Aka THIEVES' HOLIDAY.▼●

Scandalous (1984) C-94m.  D: Rob Cohen. Robert Hays, John Gielgud, Pamela Stephenson, Jim Dale, M. Emmet Walsh, Bow Wow Wow. Featherbrained farce about investigative TV reporter who runs afoul of team of con artists as he tries to extricate himself from murder charge. Alternately stupid and obnoxious, with Gielgud presumably having fun as a disguise-happy sharpster. [PG]▼●

Scandalous John (1971) C-113m.  D: Robert Butler. Brian Keith, Michele Carey, Rick Lenz, Harry Morgan, Simon Oakland, Alfonso Arau, Bill Williams, Bruce Glover, John Ritter, Iris Adrian. Spirited Disney comedy-Western chronicling what happens when elderly, lovably ornery rancher Keith refuses to sell his land to a developer. Keith's crafty performance as a modern-day Don Quixote gives this one a lift. Panavision. [G]▼

Scandal Sheet (1952) 82m.  D: Phil Karlson. Broderick Crawford, Donna Reed, John Derek, Rosemary DeCamp, Henry O'Neill, Henry (Harry) Morgan. Engrossing melodrama about an ambitious editor who accidentally kills his ex-wife, then finds his ace reporters investigating the story. Based on a Samuel Fuller novel.

Scanner Cop (1994-Canadian-U.S.) C-94m. ½ D: Pierre David. Daniel Quinn, Darlaine Fluegel, Richard Grove, Mark Rolston, Richard Lynch, Hilary Shepard, James Horan, Gary Hudson, Luca Berco-vici, Brion James. Rookie Quinn, a powerful telepath (scanner) since childhood, uses his powers, which might destroy him, to track a renegade scientist who's causing ordinary people to kill cops. Despite logic and acting lapses, an entertaining entry—and welcome change of direction—in the SCANNERS series. [R]▼●

Scanner Cop II: Volkin's Revenge SEE: Scanners: The Showdown

Scanner Darkly, A (2006) C-100m.  D: Richard Linklater. Keanu Reeves, Robert Downey, Jr., Woody Harrelson, Winona Ryder, Rory Cochrane, Melody Chase, Sean Allen, Natasha Valdez, Chamblee Ferguson. In a run-down future, three aging slackers share an Orange County tract house: surfer dude Harrelson, armed and paranoid Downey, and tire jockey Reeves, who's got a secret . . . he's a narc. Every day he dons a scramble suit to hide his ID and ferret out bad guys who peddle brain-rotting Substance D. Bleak cautionary tale about loss of self, rendered in eye-popping roto-scoped animation that dimensionalizes deluded abusers who are way more than dazed and confused. Adapted by Linklater from Philip K. Dick's novel. [R]●

Scanners (1981-Canadian) C-102m. ½ D: David Cronenberg. Jennifer O'Neill, Stephen Lack, Patrick McGoohan, Lawrence Dane, Charles Shamata. Title refers to superbrains who can read minds and cause others' heads to explode; here, a "good" scanner helps doctors track down a bad one. Rather plodding treatment of interesting idea, aided somewhat by great

(if yucky) special effects. Followed by several sequels. [R]▼●●

Scanners II: The New Order (1991-Canadian) C-105m.  D: Christian Duguay. David Hewlett, Deborah Raffin, Yvan Ponton, Isabelle Meijas, Tom Butler, Raoul Trujillo. Would-be despotic police officer conspires with scientist to trap "scanners" (people with strong ESP abilities), but complications arise when they confront a scanner with principles. OK for what it is. David Cronenberg had no connection with this sequel to his 1981 film. [R]▼●

Scanners III: The Takeover (1992-Canadian) C-101m. BOMB D: Christian Duguay. Liliana Komorowska, Valerie Valois, Daniel Pilon, Collin Fox, Claire Cellucci, Michael Copeman, Steve Parrish. A new drug turns good "scanners" bad, and makes Komorowska into yet another telekinetic megalomaniac. Poorly acted, badly written, plodding trifle reduces evil to mere cruelty, and Cronenberg's original ideas to absurdity. Awful. [R]▼●

Scanners: The Showdown (1994) C-95m. ½ D: Steve Barnett. Daniel Quinn, Patrick Kilpatrick, Khrystyne Haje, Stephen Mendel, Robert Forster, Brenda Swanson, Jerry Potter, Jewel Shepard. Evil scanner Kilpatrick returns to L.A. with a new power—he can suck the life out of other scanners—and a lust for revenge on scanner cop Quinn, who sent him to prison. Effective, entertaining sequel to SCANNER COP delivers its goods with solid B-movie skill. Aka SCANNER COP II: VOLKIN'S REVENGE. [R]▼●

Scapegoat, The (1959-British) 92m. ½ D: Robert Hamer. Alec Guinness, Bette Davis, Nicole Maurey, Irene Worth, Peter Bull, Pamela Brown, Geoffrey Keen. Decent acting rescues a fuzzy script. French gentleman murders his wife, tries to involve his British lookalike in scheme. Davis has small but impressive role as the guilty Guinness' dope-ridden mother. Adapted by Hamer and Gore Vidal from a Daphne du Maurier novel.

Scaramouche (1952) C-118m. ½ D: George Sidney. Stewart Granger, Eleanor Parker, Janet Leigh, Mel Ferrer, Henry Wilcoxon, Lewis Stone, Nina Foch, Richard Anderson, Robert Coote. Excellent cast in rousing adaptation of Sabatini novel of illustrious ne'er-do-well who sets out to avenge friend's death, set in 18th-century France. Impeccably done. Highlight is climactic sword duel—the longest in swashbuckling history. Screenplay by Ronald Millar and George Froeschel. Filmed before in 1923.▼●●

Scarecrow (1973) C-115m.  D: Jerry Schatzberg. Gene Hackman, Al Pacino, Dorothy Trislan, Eileen Brennan, Ann Wedgeworth, Richard Lynch. Drifter Hackman, who wants to start car-wash business, meets drifter Pacino, who has abandoned his wife. Moody, not altogether successful tale benefits from top performances and photography (by Vilmos Zsigmond), plus good use of locations. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Scared Stiff (1953) 108m. ½ D: George Marshall. Dean Martin, Jerry Lewis, Elizabeth Scott, Carmen Miranda, Dorothy Malone. Usual Martin and Lewis hijinks with duo on spooky Caribbean island inherited by Scott; Jerry and Carmen make a wild team. Remake of Bob Hope's THE GHOST BREAKERS.▼●●

Scared to Death (1947) C-65m. *½ D: Christy Cabanne. Bela Lugosi, Douglas Fowley, Joyce Compton, George Zucco, Nat Pendleton, Angelo Rossitto, Molly Lamont. Lugosi's only color film is a dreadful, cheaply made chiller. A beautiful murder victim chronicles how she came to meet her demise. Lugosi plays Leonide, a hypnotist.▼●●

Scarface (1932) 90m. ½ D: Howard Hawks. Paul Muni, Ann Dvorak, George Raft, Boris Karloff, Karen Morley, Vince Barnett, Osgood Perkins, C. Henry Gordon. Powerful gangster film is the most potent of the 1930s, with Muni delivering emotionally charged performance as Capone-like mobster with more than just a soft spot for his sister (Dvorak). Raw, harsh, and brimming with unobtrusive symbolism; five writers include Ben Hecht and W. R. Burnett. Filmed in 1931, release delayed by censors. The full title is SCARFACE, THE SHAME OF THE NATION. Remade in 1983.▼●●

Scarface (1983) C-170m. *½ D: Brian De Palma. Al Pacino, Steven Bauer, Michelle Pfeiffer, Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio, Robert Loggia, Miriam Colon, F. Murray Abraham, Paul Shenar, Harris Yulin. 1932 gangster movie updated by making lead character a Cuban refugee in Miami, and changing profession from bootlegging to drug-dealing . . . but this film wallows in excess and unpleasantness for nearly three hours, and offers no new insights except that crime doesn't pay. At least the 1932 movie moved. Even so, this has become a pop-culture phenomenon, with Pacino's Tony Montana an underdog hero! Screenplay by Oliver Stone. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Scarlet Blade, The SEE: Crimson Blade, The

Scarlet Claw, The (1944) 74m. ½ D: Roy William Neill. Basil Rathbone, Nigel Bruce, Gerald Hamer, Arthur Hohl, Miles Mander, Ian Wolfe, Paul Cavanagh, Kay Harding. The ominous marshes of a French-Canadian village provide the setting for gruesome mutilation murders in this excellent Sherlock Holmes mystery, moodily photographed by George Robinson. Clearly the best of the series.▼●

Scarlet Diva (2001-Italian) C-91m. *½ D: Asia Argento. Asia Argento, Jean Shepard, Vera Gemma, Fabio Camilli. Lurid, pretentious navel-gazing from the actress daughter of Italian horror-meister Dario Argento. All about a 26-year-old drug-fueled pregnant starlet who travels from N.Y.C. to L.A. to Amsterdam in search of her American lover, only to be pursued by men and women who will stop at nothing to rape her. Cult film's biggest revelation is how willing the smoldering Argento is to get naked.●

Scarlet Empress, The (1934) 110m.  D: Josef von Sternberg. Marlene Dietrich, John Lodge, Louise Dresser, Sam Jaffe, C. Aubrey Smith, Edward Van Sloan. Von Sternberg tells the story of Catherine the Great and her rise to power in uniquely ornate fashion, with stunning lighting and camerawork and fiery Russian music. It's a visual orgy; dramatically uneven, but cinematically fascinating.▼●

Scarlet Hour, The (1956) 95m.  D: Michael Curtiz. Carol Ohmart, Tom Tryon, Jody Lawrence, James Gregory, Elaine Stritch, E. G. Marshall, Edward Binns. Sluggish study of marital discord leading to murder. VistaVision.

Scarlet Letter, The (1926) 80m.  D: Victor Seastrom. Lillian Gish, Lars Hanson, Henry B. Walthall, Karl Dane, William H. Tooker, Marcelle Corday. Excellent, though liberal, adaptation of Hawthorne classic about Hester Prynne (Gish) who bears scar of adultery in Salem, having had clandestine affair with minister Hanson. Filmed several times in the silent era, and in 1934, 1973, 1979 (for TV), and 1995.

Scarlet Letter, The (1934) 70m.  D: Robert G. Vignola. Colleen Moore, Hardie Albright, Henry B. Walthall, Cora Sue Collins, Alan Hale, Virginia Howell, William Farnum, Betty Blythe. Slow, poorly directed, though not uninteresting version of the Nathaniel Hawthorne novel. Moore is miscast as Hester Prynne; Walthall repeats his role from the 1926 version as Roger Prynne. A real curio.▼●

Scarlet Letter, The (1973-German) C-90m.  D: Wim Wenders. Senta Berger, Lou Castel, Hans-Christian Blech, Yella Rottlander, Yelina Samarina, William Layton. Absorbing version of the oft-filmed Hawthorne classic, with Berger as Hester Prynne, Blech as Roger Prynne, and Castel as Rev. Dimmesdale. While it lacks the spontaneity of Wenders' other early films, there is much to ponder and relish here: in particular, Wenders' portrayal of the immigrant New England settlers. Remade in 1995. Filmed in Spain.▼

Scarlet Letter, The (1995) C-135m. BOMB D: Roland Joffé. Demi Moore, Gary Oldman, Robert Duvall, Joan Plowright, Robert Prosky, Edward Hardwicke, Roy Dotrice, Dana Ivey, George Aguilar, Amy Wright, Diane Salinger, Eric Schweig; voice of Jodhi May. Hokey adaptation of Nathaniel Hawthorne's classic novel throws

in everything from witch hunts to Indian attacks to a controversial happy ending—all to no avail. Moore is woefully miscast as Hester Prynne (though she sure fills a Puritan frock), Oldman gives a histrionic performance, while Duvall is simply incomprehensible. “Erotic” love scenes are especially embarrassing, in soft focus with phallic candles and a chirpy Disney bird (credited as Rudy the Robin) who sings for sexual freedom! J-D-C Scope. [R]▼●●

Scarlet Pimpernel, The (1935-British) 95m. ½ D: Harold Young. Leslie Howard, Merle Oberon, Raymond Massey, Nigel Bruce, Bramwell Fletcher, Anthony Bushell, Joan Gardner, Melville Cooper. Excellent costumer with Howard leading double life, aiding innocent victims of French revolution while posing as foppish member of British society. Baroness Orczy’s novel was scripted by Robert E. Sherwood, Sam Berman, Arthur Wimperis, and Lajos Biro; produced by Alexander Korda. Remade for TV in 1982. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Scarlet Street (1945) 103m.  D: Fritz Lang. Edward G. Robinson, Joan Bennett, Dan Duryea, Margaret Lindsay, Rosalind Ivan. Meek, henpecked Robinson is pulled into world of crime and deception by seductive Bennett and her manipulative boyfriend Duryea. Stars and director of THE WOMAN IN THE WINDOW keep it interesting, but don’t match earlier film. Dudley Nichols adapted this remake of Jean Renoir’s LA CHIENNE. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●

Scars of Dracula (1970-British) C-94m.  D: Roy Ward Baker. Christopher Lee, Dennis Waterman, Jenny Hanley, Christopher Matthews, Wendy Hamilton. Good fang work as young couple tangles with Dracula in search of the young man’s missing brother. Last of Hammer’s period Draculas; followed by DRACULA A.D. 1972. [R]▼●●

Scary Movie (2000) C-88m. ½ D: Keenen Ivory Wayans. Jon Abrahams, Carmen Electra, Shannon Elizabeth, Anna Faris, Kurt Fuller, Regina Hall, Lochlyn Munro, Cheri Oteri, Dave Sheridan, Marlon Wayans, Shawn Wayans, Rick Ducommun, David L. Lander. L-o-o-o-o-o-w-brow spoof of the SCREAM trilogy and TV hits of the late ’90s. Ribald, raunchy, and raucous, with gags that would embarrass a frat boy; the fact that the MPAA gave this an R surprised even Hollywood. Costars Shawn and Marlon were among the six writers; director Keenen has a small part. Followed by three sequels. Super 35. [R]▼●

Scary Movie 2 (2001) C-82m. *½ D: Keenen Ivory Wayans. Shawn Wayans, Marlon Wayans, Anna Faris, Regina Hall, Chris Masterson, Kathleen Robertson, Chris Elliott, James Woods, Tim Curry, Tori Spelling, David Cross, Natasha Lyonne, Andy

Richter, Veronica Cartwright; voice of Vitamin C. Distressingly flat, unentertaining sequel finds Faris and friends invited to spend weekend as an experiment in haunted mansion. Filmmakers must have felt that one crummy remake of THE HAUNTING just wasn’t enough. [R]▼●

Scary Movie 3 (2003) C-84m.  D: David Zucker. Anna Faris, Charlie Sheen, Simon Rex, Leslie Nielsen, Regina Hall, Camryn Manheim, Anthony Anderson, Queen Latifah, Jeremy Piven, Eddie Griffin, Pamela Anderson, Jenny McCarthy, George Carlin, Darrell Hammond, Denise Richards, D.L. Hughley, Drew Mikuska, Jianna Ballard. An improvement over the second installment—what wouldn’t be?—as SIGNS, THE RING, and 8 MILE are all spoofed. Faris, now a TV reporter, and Hall are the only returning cast members (though they play new characters, if anyone’s keeping track). Scattershot laughs, as you’d expect from the director and cowriter of AIRPLANE! and NAKED GUN (Nielsen appears here as the president of the U.S.) but hardly inspired. Many pop culture figures appear in cameos. Unrated version also available. [PG-13] ▼●

Scary Movie 4 (2006) C-83m.  D: David Zucker. Anna Faris, Regina Hall, Craig Bierko, Leslie Nielsen, Charlie Sheen, Bill Pullman, Carmen Electra, Anthony Anderson, Cloris Leachman, Chris Elliott, Molly Shannon, Michael Madsen, Simon Rex, Kevin Hart, Shaquille O’Neal, Dr. Phil McGraw, James Earl Jones. This time the parodists pair Faris (sending up THE GRUDGE) and Bierko (spoofing Tom Cruise in WAR OF THE WORLDS) with THE VILLAGE, SAW, and a dollop of BROKEBACK MOUNTAIN. Hall is back as Faris’ (extraneous) sidekick and Nielsen returns briefly as the U.S. President. Mining adolescent “comedy” from recent movie hits is wearing awfully thin. [PG-13] ●

Scavenger Hunt (1979) C-117m. BOMB D: Michael Schultz. Richard Benjamin, James Coco, Scatman Crothers, Ruth Gordon, Cloris Leachman, Cleavon Little, Roddy McDowall, Robert Morley, Richard Mulligan, Tony Randall, Dirk Benedict, Willie Aames, Stephanie Faracy, Meat Loaf, Carol Wayne, Arnold Schwarzenegger. Vincent Price dies, and his relatives and servants are practically forced to kill each other for his inheritance by collecting commodities, wild animals, etc. in an allotted time. Hard to believe a comedy with so much talent could misfire so greatly, but it does; only Mulligan manages to get some laughs. [PG] ▼

Scene of the Crime (1949) 94m.  D: Roy Rowland. Van Johnson, Arlene Dahl, Gloria DeHaven, Tom Drake, Leon Ames, John McIntire, Donald Woods, Norman Lloyd, Jerome Cowan. Bland, talky film noir in which hard-boiled L.A. cop Johnson sets out to solve the murder of his ex-partner, who might have been on the take.

Scene of the Crime (1986-French) C-90m.

 D: André Téchiné. Catherine Deneuve, Danielle Darrieux, Wadek Stanczak, Nicholas Giraudi, Victor Lanoux, Jean Bousquet, Claire Nebout. Stylish, Chabrol-like drama about an unhappy young boy (Giraudi), his equally unhappy mother (Deneuve), and what results when escaped convict Stanczak invades their lives. Entertaining, perceptive, if occasionally uneven examination of repression and desperation. ▼

Scenes From a Mall (1991) C-87m. **

D: Paul Mazursky. Bette Midler, Woody Allen, Bill Irwin, Daren Firestone, Rebecca Nickels, Paul Mazursky. Affluent L.A. couple, celebrating their anniversary, spend the day together at a mall, where various revelations cause their marriage to unravel. Bette and Woody make a terrific couple, but after a promising start the seriocomic script takes some strange turns and leaves reality behind. Fans of the stars should take a look, but this one ranks as a major disappointment. [R] ▼

Scenes From a Marriage (1973-Swedish)

C-168m. * D: Ingmar Bergman. Liv Ullmann, Erland Josephson, Bibi Andersson, Jan Malmsjö, Anita Wall. Passionate, probing and honest look at a marriage, its disintegration, and the relationship that follows. Ullmann and Josephson are remarkable throughout this intimate and often painful portrait, originally made as six TV episodes and edited into feature-length by writer-director Bergman. The characters are seen 30 years later in SARABAND. Original version runs 299m. [PG] ▼

Scenes From the Class Struggle in Beverly Hills (1989) C-102m. *½ D: Paul

Bartel. Jacqueline Bisset, Ray Sharkey, Mary Woronov, Robert Beltran, Ed Begley, Jr., Wallace Shawn, Arnetia Walker, Paul Bartel, Paul Mazursky, Rebecca Schaeffer. Bizarre, scattershot sex romp with various characters of various classes playing musical beds in Beverly Hills. Tries to be outrageous and irreverent while satirizing L.A. types and lifestyles, but mostly inane, veering uncomfortably between drama and farce. The best thing about this is its title. [R] ▼

Scene of a Woman (1974-Italian) C-104m.

 D: Dino Risi. Vittorio Gassman, Alessandro Momo, Agostina Belli. Blind, arrogant army captain Gassman galavants through Italy, sensing the presence of attractive women along the way; hapless private Momo is his guide on this fateful trip. Gassman shines in this sharply observed black comedy-drama, based on a novel by Giovanni Arpino. Remade in the U.S. in 1992. Original Italian title: PROFUMO DI DONNA. [R] ▼

Scent of a Woman (1992) C-157m. ½

D: Martin Brest. Al Pacino, Chris O'Donnell,

James Rebhorn, Gabrielle Anwar, Philip S. (Seymour) Hoffman, Richard Venture, Bradley Whitford, Rochelle Oliver, Frances Conroy. Timid prep school student earns much-needed money on a long weekend taking a job as companion to crusty, blind, hard-drinking ex-Army colonel—little dreaming the colonel has his own agenda. Enjoyable (if barely believable) story galvanized by Pacino's bravura, Oscar-winning performance. Bo Goldman's script is seriously weakened by a story appendage that plays like leftover material from DEAD POETS SOCIETY. Based on the 1974 Italian film PROFUMO DI DONNA. [R] ▼

Scene of Green Papaya, The (1993-

French-Vietnamese) C-104m.  D: Hung Tran Anh. Tran Nu Yen-Khe, Lu Man San, Truong Thi Loc, Nguyen Anh Hoa, Vuong Hoa Hoi. Thoughtful, carefully observed drama about a ten-year-old servant girl who comes to work in a Saigon household in 1951; the scenario details her relationships with the various household members and concludes a decade later with her growing into a beautiful young woman. Unhurried in its execution and filled with lingering shots, the film is as captivating as its title. ▼

Schindler's List (1993) C/B&W-195m.

* D: Steven Spielberg. Liam Neeson, Ben Kingsley, Ralph Fiennes, Caroline Goodall, Jonathan Sagalle, Embeth Davidtz, Malgoscha Gebel, Shmulik Levy, Mark Ivanir, Beatrice Macola. Staggering adaptation of Thomas Keneally's best-seller about the real-life Catholic war profiteer who initially flourished by sucking up to the Nazis, but eventually went broke saving the lives of more than 1,000 Polish Jews by employing them in his factory, manufacturing crockery for the German army. Filmed almost entirely on location in Poland, in gritty b&w, but with a pace to match the most frenzied Spielberg works, this looks and feels like nothing Hollywood has ever made before. The three central characters rate—and receive—unforgettable performances: Neeson, who's towering as Oskar Schindler; Kingsley, superb as his Jewish accountant (and conscience); and Fiennes, who's frightening as the odious Nazi commandant. Outstanding screenplay by Steven Zaillian and cinematography by Janusz Kaminski. Spielberg's most intense and personal film to date. Seven Oscars include Best Picture, Director, Adapted Screenplay, Art Direction, Cinematography, Editing, and Original Score (John Williams). [R] ▼

Schizopolis (1997) C-99m.  D: Steven

Soderbergh. Steven Soderbergh, Betsy Brantley, David Jensen. Giddy mélange of surrealism, satire, silliness, and old-fashioned underground filmmaking written, directed by, and starring Soderbergh. A broad-ranging jab at modern society and its ills, its tone is arch, its technique one of non sequiturs, and its audience likely to be small. But if you latch onto it early enough, you may find (as we did) that it's fun—and funny—to watch. ▼●

Schlock (1971) C-80m. ½ D: John Landis. Saul Kahan, Joseph Piantadosi, Eliza Garrett, John Landis. Landis' first film is enjoyable spoof of B horror flicks; director (in gorilla suit by Rick Baker) plays missing link on the loose in small town. Many in-jokes for film buffs. Aka THE BANANA MONSTER. [PG] ▼●

School Daze (1988) C-114m. ½ D: Spike Lee. Larry Fishburne, Giancarlo Esposito, Tisha Campbell, Kyme, Joe Seneca, Art Evans, Ellen Holly, Ossie Davis, Bill Nunn, Branford Marsalis, Kadeem Hardison, Spike Lee, Darryl M. Bell, Joie Lee, Tyra Ferrell, Jasmine Guy, Gregg Burge, Kasi Lemmons, Samuel L. Jackson, Phyllis Hyman. Comedy-cum-fantasy about life on a black college campus in the South, where one self-serious student activist fights a lonely battle not only against the administration, but the pervasive mindlessness of his fellow students, most of whom are wrapped up in fraternity and sorority nonsense. Writer-director-costar Lee offers much entertainment and some provocative ideas, though he doesn't follow up on his initial premise until the anticlimactic final scene. [R] ▼●●

School for Scoundrels (1960-British) 94m.  D: Robert Hamer. Ian Carmichael, Terry-Thomas, Janette Scott, Alastair Sim, Dennis Price, Peter Jones, Edward Chapman. Wimpy Carmichael, about to lose the girl of his dreams to pushy Thomas, attends the title institute, where he learns "one-upmanship" and "gamesmanship." Clever, funny, veddy British satire. Full title on-screen is SCHOOL FOR SCOUNDRELS OR HOW TO WIN WITHOUT ACTUALLY CHEATING. Remade in 2006. ▼●

School for Scoundrels (2006) C-101m.  D: Todd Phillips. Billy Bob Thornton, Jon Heder, Jacinda Barrett, Michael Clarke Duncan, Luis Guzmán, David Cross, Horatio Sanz, Sarah Silverman, Matt Walsh, Todd Louiso, Dan Fogler, Bob Stephenson, Ben Stiller. Nerdy guy who lets people step all over him is recruited by a mysterious entrepreneur who runs a class for worms in need of turning. But our would-be hero isn't prepared for his "teacher" to start playing dirty tricks on him. Most contemporary comedies are too crude for our taste, but this one is terminally bland and never takes off as it repeatedly promises to do. Remake of the 1960 British comedy. Unrated version runs 107m. Panavision. [PG-13] ●

School of Flesh, The (1998-French) C-107m. ½ D: Benoit Jacquot. Isabelle Huppert, Vincent Martinez, Vincent Lindon, Marthe Keller, François Berléand, Da-

nièle Dubroux, Bernard LeCoq. The always-watchable Huppert plays a well-to-do 40-ish woman who, against her better judgment, falls into an obsessive relationship with a young stud (Martinez) whom she meets at a bar in Paris. Candid examination of relationships is unmemorable, but benefits from star charisma. Based on the novel by Yukio Mishima. Panavision. [R] ▼●

School of Rock, The (2003) C-108m. ½ D: Richard Linklater. Jack Black, Joan Cusack, Mike White, Sarah Silverman, Joey Gaydos, Jr., Maryam Hassan, Kevin Clark, Rebecca Brown, Robert Tsai, Caitlin Hale, Aleisha Allen, Miranda Cosgrove, Amy Sedaris. Perpetual screw-up Black, who fancies himself a hard-core rocker, pretends to be roommate White and takes a substitute-teaching job at a tony private school. There he finds the raw material for his dream band: a roomful of musically talented kids. Writer-costar White tailored this script for Black, who's simply perfect. Cusack is hilarious as his uptight principal. Delightful comedy hits all the right notes—for audiences of all ages. Frank Whaley appears unbilled. [PG-13] ▼●

School That Ate My Brain, The SEE: *Zombie High

School Ties (1992) C-107m. ½ D: Robert Mandel. Brendan Fraser, Matt Damon, Chris O'Donnell, Randall Batinkoff, Andrew Lowery, Cole Hauser, Amy Locane, Zeljko Ivanek, Kevin Tighe, Ed Lauter, Peter Donat, Michael Higgins, Ben Affleck, Anthony Rapp. In the 1950s, a Jewish student (well played by Fraser) with working-class roots wins a football scholarship to a snooty prep school, where he's victimized by anti-Semitism. Youth-oriented film tackles an important subject, but it's strained and obvious. [PG-13] ▼●●

Science of Sleep, The (2006-French-Italian) C-105m. ½ D: Michel Gondry. Gael García Bernal, Charlotte Gainsbourg, Alain Chabat, Miou-Miou, Pierre Vanneck, Emma de Caunes, Aurélie Petit. Bernal's charismatic performance (in English) anchors this fanciful film about a childlike man who lives in a constant state of confusion about what's real and what's happening in his dreams. When he falls in love with his attractive next-door neighbor, his anxiety about their uncertain relationship blurs the line even more. Gondry's script meanders, but his constantly imaginative visual touches help to compensate. [R] ●

Scissors (1991) C-105m.  D: Frank De Felitta. Sharon Stone, Steve Railsback, Ronny Cox, Michelle Phillips. Sexually traumatized Stone is driven mad—à la GASLIGHT—by objects that seemingly come to life in her apartment. Unfortunately, Stone is forced to carry off these histrionics in a generally lifeless, slow-moving production. Interesting idea could have been better executed (no pun intended). [R]▼●

Scooby-Doo (2002) C-87m.  D: Raja Gosnell. Freddie Prinze, Jr., Sarah Michelle Gellar, Matthew Lillard, Linda Cardellini, Rowan Atkinson, Miguel A. Nunez, Jr., Isla Fisher, Sugar Ray. Hanna-Barbera's TV cartoon canine gets the big-screen treatment as Scooby and pals try to solve a mystery on Spooky Island. Flat comic whodunit with a computer-generated title character; a mild diversion for kids and older fans of the vintage series. Followed by a sequel. [PG]▼

Scooby-Doo 2: Monsters Unleashed (2004) C-91m.  D: Raja Gosnell. Freddie Prinze, Jr., Sarah Michelle Gellar, Matthew Lillard, Linda Cardellini, Seth Green, Alicia Silverstone, Peter Boyle, Tim Blake Nelson. It is what it is. [PG]▼

Scoop (2006-British-U.S.) C-96m.  D: Woody Allen. Woody Allen, Scarlett Johansson, Hugh Jackman, Ian McShane, Romola Garai, Fenella Woolgar, Charles Dance, John Standing, Richard Johnson, Anthony Head, Julian Glover, Margaret Tyzack. Larkish comedy-fantasy-mystery plays like an afterpiece to MATCH POINT, also set in London. A famous reporter returns from the dead to tip off college journalist Johansson that wealthy, well-connected Jackman may be a serial killer. She enlists the help of stage magician Allen to get close to Jackman and break the case. Endearingly silly and off the cuff, but you may have to be a Woodyphile to truly enjoy it. Allen is in good comic form as a walking show-business cliché. [PG-13]▼

Scorchy (1976) C-99m. ½ D: Hikmet Avedis. Connie Stevens, Cesare Danova, William Smith, Marlene Schmidt, Normann Burton, Joyce Jameson, Greg Evigan. Tawdry actioner with Stevens as Seattle undercover cop who sets out to bust high-level drug ring. Plenty of action and gore. [R]▼

Score, The (2001) C-120m.  D: Frank Oz. Robert De Niro, Edward Norton, Marlon Brando, Angela Bassett, Gary Farmer, Paul Soles, Jamie Harrold. A master thief who lives a double life as a Montreal jazz club owner decides to pull one more job, then settle down, but an eager young cohort spells trouble from the start. Deliberate, almost laconic in its pacing, this caper never loses its grip. Worth watching for the cast alone; Brando, in his final screen role, is great fun in a colorful performance as De Niro's client/fence. Jazz singers Cassandra Wilson and Mose Allison appear briefly. Panavision. [R]▼

Scorpio (1973) C-114m. ½ D: Michael Winner. Burt Lancaster, Alain Delon, Gayle Hunnicutt, Paul Scofield, John Colicos, J. D. Cannon, Joanne Linville. Tough espionage film of CIA agent in trouble, and hired killer who wants to go straight but finds himself caught in the system. Good action, dialogue amid familiar trappings. [PG]▼●

Scorpion King, The (2002) C-88m. ½ D: Chuck Russell. The Rock (Dwayne Johnson), Kelly Hu, Steven Brand, Michael Clarke Duncan, Grant Heslov, Peter Facinelli, Ralf Moeller, Bernard Hill, Roger Rees. Follow-up to the two MUMMY movies features wrestler The Rock as a warrior who accepts the task of assassinating a desert despot (Brand). An entertaining old-fashioned B movie writ large, with nonstop action, special effects, muscular heroes, and beautiful women. The Rock is quite good as an action star, but even at this running time the story seems padded out. Followed by a DVD sequel. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Scotland, Pa. (2002) C-103m. ½ D: Billy Morrisette. James LeGros, Maura Tierney, Christopher Walken, Kevin Corrigan, James Rebhorn, Tom Guiry, Amy Smart, Andy Dick, Timothy Speed Levitch, Geoff Dunsworth. Joe McBeth (LeGros) is stuck in a go-nowhere fast-food job in 1970s Pennsylvania, until his wife hatches a scheme to murder the boss and climb the ladder of success. Modern-day Macbeth has many clever ideas, enthusiastic performances and ingenious production design, but runs out of steam as the story grows dark and nasty. Walken is a welcome comedic presence as Inspector McDuff. Written by debuting director Morrisette; Tierney is his wife. [R]▼

Scott Joplin (1977) C-96m. ½ D: Jeremy Paul Kagan. Billy Dee Williams, Clifton Davis, Godfrey Cambridge, Art Carney, Seymour Cassel, Eubie Blake, Margaret Avery, Sam Fuller. Well-made, colorful but down-beat life story of famed ragtime composer. Made for TV, then given fitful theatrical release. Best sequence: the barrelhouse piano "duel." [PG]▼

Scott of the Antarctic (1948-British) C-110m. ½ D: Charles Frend. John Mills, Derek Bond, Harold Warrender, James Robertson Justice, Reginald Beckwith, Kenneth More, John Gregson, Christopher Lee. Unrelenting docudrama of determined British explorer Robert Falcon Scott (Mills), highlighting the details of his last expedition to the South Pole. This saga of bravery and endurance features an especially moving finale. Music by Vaughan Williams, who later used part of this score in his seventh symphony. ▼

Scoundrel in White SEE: High Heels (1972)

Scout, The (1994) C-107m.  D: Michael Ritchie. Albert Brooks, Brendan Fraser, Diane Wiest, Anne Twomey, Lane Smith, Michael Rapaport, Barry Shabaka Henley, Tony Bennett, George Steinbrenner, Marcia Rodd. Woefully disappointing baseball yarn, with Brooks as a hard-luck N.Y. Yankees scout who finds a powerhouse pitcher and batter . . . with some serious psychological problems. Funny at first, with Brooks in good form; then takes a sharp left turn toward drama and never recovers. Brooks cowrote the final screenplay (based on an article by Roger Angell) with partner Monica Johnson. Many ballplayers and sports-casters appear as themselves. [PG-13] ▼

●●
Scream (1996) C-110m.  D: Wes Craven. Neve Campbell, Skeet Ulrich, Drew Barrymore, Rose McGowan, Matthew Lillard, Jamie Kennedy, Courteney Cox, David Arquette, Liev Schreiber, Linda Blair. Murderer, obsessed with horror movies, begins slaughtering teens in a small city just a year after Campbell's mother was murdered—and the killer seems to be targeting people she knows. Well-drawn characters, suspenseful situations, several plot twists and entertaining movie references highlight this snappy horror thriller, one of Craven's best. Henry Winkler appears unbilled. Followed by two sequels. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Scream 2 (1997) C-120m. ½ D: Wes Craven. David Arquette, Neve Campbell, Courteney Cox, Sarah Michelle Gellar, Jamie Kennedy, Laurie Metcalf, Elise Neal, Jerry O'Connell, Timothy Olyphant, Jada Pinkett, Liev Schreiber, Lewis Arquette, Duane Martin, Rebecca Gayheart, Portia de Rossi, Omar Epps, David Warner, Heather Graham, Kevin Williamson. Valiant survivor Campbell is in college when STAB, a movie based on the murder spree depicted in SCREAM, is released—and more murders begin. As good a sequel as the filmmakers could have done; it's only the climactic showdown that disappoints. As in the first film, there are plenty of slashes and scares, as well as humor. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Scream 3 (2000) C-116m. ½ D: Wes Craven. David Arquette, Neve Campbell, Courteney Cox Arquette, Patrick Dempsey, Scott Foley, Lance Henriksen, Matt Keeslar, Jenny McCarthy, Emily Mortimer, Parker Posey, Deon Richmond, Patrick Warburton, Liev Schreiber, Jamie Kennedy, Kelly Rutherford, Josh Pais, Heather Matarazzo, Roger Corman. "Finale" of the SCREAM trilogy, set in Hollywood on the soundstages of STAB 3: RETURN TO WOODSBORO. Several actors (Posey, Keeslar, etc.) play "stars" who are portraying your SCREAM favorites. Wonder who's trying to slice them up, one by one? Fun for fans, with some choice cameos. Panavision. [R] ▼

Scream and Scream Again (1970-British) C-95m. ½ D: Gordon Hessler. Vincent Price, Christopher Lee, Peter Cushing, Judy Huxtable, Alfred Marks, Peter Sallis. Distinguished cast does their damndest to enliven (no pun intended) tired, confusing plot concerning mad scientist's organ/limbs experiments and race of emotionless beings he creates. [M/PG] ▼●●

Scream, Blacula, Scream! (1973) C-95m.

 D: Bob Kelljan. William Marshall, Don Mitchell, Pam Grier, Michael Conrad, Richard Lawson. Poor sequel to BLACULA finds black vampire recalled from eternal rest and forced to go out and nibble again in contemporary black U.S. [PG] ▼

Screamers (1995-Canadian) C-107m. ½ D: Christian Duguay. Peter Weller, Roy Dupuis, Jennifer Rubin, Andy Lauer, Charles Powell, Ron White, Michael Caloz, Liliana Komorowska. 2078: War has devastated a distant planet; the few human survivors are pitted against "Screamers," self-evolving robots programed to kill. Now the Screamers are able to look exactly like human beings. Intelligent sci-fi action thriller is undermined by a bad ending. Cowritten by Dan O'Bannon; based on the short story "Second Variety" by Philip K. Dick. Followed by a DVD sequel 14 years later. [R] ▼●●

Screaming Mimi (1958) 79m.  D: Gerd Oswald. Anita Ekberg, Phil Carey, Harry Townes, Gypsy Rose Lee, Romney Brent, Red Norvo. Lurid low-budget melodrama about a woman who cracks up after being assaulted, takes a job as exotic dancer in Lee's nightclub but remains under the influence of a possessive psychiatrist. Strange, kinky film that sounds more interesting than it really is.

Scream of Fear (1961-British) 81m.  D: Seth Holt. Susan Strasberg, Christopher Lee, Ann Todd, Ronald Lewis. Only wheelchair-bound Strasberg sees her father's corpse—while stepmom Todd insists he's on a trip. Good Hammer thriller written by Jimmy Sangster. Original British title: TASTE OF FEAR. ▼

Screwed (2000) C-82m. BOMB D: Scott Alexander, Larry Karaszewski. Norm Macdonald, Dave Chappelle, Elaine Strich, Danny DeVito, Daniel Benzali, Sherman Hemsley, Sarah Silverman. Title describes your inevitable state if you waste just two minutes watching this woeful attempt to revive screwball slapstick. Chauffeur Macdonald works for a stingy baking tycoon (Strich) who won't even buy him a uniform—so he decides to kidnap her attack-mode pet dog and hold it for ransom. Movie tries everything—even making DeVito a mortician who's also vice-president of Jack Lord's fan club—but fizzles for the duration. Directing debut for the writers of ED WOOD and THE PEOPLE VS. LARRY FLYNT. [PG-13] ▼

Screw Loose (1999-Italian) C-85m.  D: Ezio Greggio. Ezio Greggio, Mel Brooks, Julie Condra, Gianfranco Barra, Randi Ingerman. Heavy-handed farce about an inept businessman who promises his dying father that he'll find the American who saved his life during WW2. Brooks hams it up, but the results are only sporadically funny. Shot in both English- and Italian-language versions. [R]▼

Scrooge (1935-British) 78m. ½ D: Henry Edwards. Sir Seymour Hicks, Donald Calthrop, Robert Cochran, Mary Glynne, Oscar Asche, Maurice Evans. Faithful adaptation of A Christmas Carol, with an impressive Sir Seymour (who also cowrote the script) as Scrooge. Dickens' era brought colorfully to life.▼

Scrooge (1970-British) C-118m.  D: Ronald Neame. Albert Finney, Alec Guinness, Edith Evans, Kenneth More, Laurence Naismith, Michael Medwin, David Collings, Gordon Jackson, Roy Kinnear, Kay Walsh. Handsome musicalization of Dickens' A Christmas Carol, with Finney genially hamming it up in the title role and Guinness a surprisingly fey Marley's Ghost. Leslie Bricusse's score is pretty forgettable, save effervescent "Thank You Very Much"; lovely sets by Terry Marsh and evocative title design by Ronald Searle. Pannavision. [G]▼

Scrooged (1988) C-101m.  D: Richard Donner. Bill Murray, Karen Allen, John Forsythe, John Glover, Bobcat Goldthwait, David Johansen (Buster Poindexter), Carol Kane, Robert Mitchum, Nicholas Phillips, Michael J. Pollard, Alfre Woodard, Mabel King, John Murray, Brian Doyle-Murray. Ostensibly a hip, funny rereading of Dickens' A Christmas Carol, with Murray as a venal TV executive. The laughs are mild and widely scattered, and toward the end the film seems to want us to take its brotherhood message seriously. Or does it? Features a variety of "guest stars." [PG-13]▼

Scrubbers (1982-British) C-90m.  D: Mai Zetterling. Chrissie Cotterill, Amanda York, Elizabeth Edmonds, Kate Ingram, Kathy Burke. Life in a teenage girls' borstal (reform school), complete with heartbreak, cruelty, lesbianism, suicide. Harrowing but repetitious, and the hows and whys of the girls' anger is never explored. [R]▼

Scudda Hoo! Scudda Hay! (1948) C-95m.  D: F. Hugh Herbert. June Haver, Lon McCallister, Walter Brennan, Anne Revere, Natalie Wood. Any film with a title like that can't be all good, and it isn't; McCallister's life is devoted to two mules. Marilyn Monroe can be glimpsed in a canoe—it's her first film appearance.

Scum (1979-British) C-98m. ½ D: Alan Clarke. Ray Winstone, Mick Ford, John Judd, Phil Daniels, John Blundell, Ray Burdis, Julian Firth. The horrors of a borstal (British reform school). Harrowing but familiar; the accents are almost unintelligible. An earlier TV version was commissioned, then banned by the BBC. Alternate version runs 78m. [R]▼

Seabiscuit (2003) C-140m.  D: Gary Ross. Tobey Maguire, Jeff Bridges, Chris

Cooper, Elizabeth Banks, Gary Stevens, William H. Macy, Kingston DuCoeur, Eddie Jones, Ed Lauter, Michael O'Neill, Royce D. Applegate, Annie Corley, Sam Bottoms; narrated by David McCullough. Astonishing true story of three men whom fate drew together in the depths of the Great Depression: a go-getting entrepreneur with a hole in his life (Bridges), an overweight jockey who's led a hardscrabble existence (Maguire), and a loner with a gift for training horses (Cooper), even a down-and-out nag like Seabiscuit. Writer-director Ross' distillation of Laura Hillenbrand's best-selling book makes all the right moves, then keeps selling the story as if it needed to be driven across. Still a beautifully crafted film. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Sea Chase, The (1955) C-117m. ½ D: John Farrow. John Wayne, Lana Turner, Tab Hunter, David Farrar, Lyle Bettger, James Arness, Claude Akins. Strange WW2 film, with Wayne as German (!) captain of fugitive ship with unusual cargo, assorted crew, plus passenger/girlfriend Turner. CinemaScope.▼

Sea Devils (1953-British) C-91m.  D: Raoul Walsh. Yvonne De Carlo, Rock Hudson, Maxwell Reed, Denis O'Dea, Michael Goodliffe, Bryan Forbes. Smuggler Hudson becomes involved in the activities of British spy De Carlo in this unmemorable programmer set in the Napoleonic era. Filmed on and around the Channel Islands.▼

Sea Gull, The (1968-British) C-141m. ½ D: Sidney Lumet. James Mason, Vanessa Redgrave, Simone Signoret, David Warner, Harry Andrews, Eileen Herlie, Denholm Elliott. Tasteful but reverentially slow-moving transcription of Chekhov play. Signoret's accent becomes rather disconcerting among British players, all trying to be 19th-century Russians. [G]

Sea Gypsies, The (1978) C-101m.  D: Stewart Raffill. Robert Logan, Heather Rattray, Mikki Jamison-Olsen, Shannon Saylor, Cjon Damiri Patterson. Nice family adventure has Logan sailing round the world with daughters, journalist Jamison-Olsen, and little stowaway Patterson, learning to survive when shipwrecked in Alaska. Fine location filming. [G]▼

Sea Hawk, The (1940) 127m. * D: Michael Curtiz. Errol Flynn, Brenda Marshall, Claude Rains, Donald Crisp, Flora Robson, Alan Hale, Henry Daniell, Una O'Connor, Gilbert Roland, Edgar Buchanan. Top-notch combination of classy Warner Bros. costumer and Flynn at his dashing best in adventure on the high seas; lively balance of piracy, romance, and swordplay, handsomely photographed and staged, with rousing Erich Wolfgang Korngold score. Has nothing to do with the Sabatini novel, which was filmed faithfully in

1924. Restored for video, with additional final scene intended for British audiences, in which Queen Elizabeth I offers morale-building war-time message. Beware of shorter prints. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Sea Inside, The (2004-Spanish-French-Italian) C-125m. ½ D: Alejandro Amenábar. Javier Bardem, Belén Rueda, Lola Dueñas, Mabel Rivera, Celso Bugallo, Clara Segura. A man who has lived as a quadriplegic for 28 years battles for the right to die, but his family—and even a lawyer who agrees to represent him—goes through a variety of emotions about his struggle and its possible outcome. Imaginatively told, with an extraordinary performance by Bardem. Oscar winner for Best Foreign Language Film. Scripted by the director and Mateo Gil, based on the life of Ramón Sampedro. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Sea Killer SEE: Beyond the Reef

Seance on a Wet Afternoon (1964-British) 115m. * D: Bryan Forbes. Kim Stanley, Richard Attenborough, Patrick Magee, Nanette Newman, Judith Donner, Gerald Sim, Maria Kazan, Margaret Lacey. Gripping drama of crazed medium Stanley involving husband Attenborough in shady project. Brilliant acting, direction in this must-see film. Forbes adapted Mark McShane's novel and coproduced the film with Attenborough. Remade in Japan in 2000 as SEANCE. ▼●

Sea of Grass, The (1947) 131m. ½ D: Elia Kazan. Katharine Hepburn, Spencer Tracy, Melvyn Douglas, Phyllis Thaxter, Robert Walker, Edgar Buchanan, Harry Carey. Plodding drama from Conrad Richter story of farmer-rancher feud over New Mexico grasslands. Walker stands out in hardworking but unsuccessful cast. ▼

Sea of Love (1989) C-112m. ½ D: Harold Becker. Al Pacino, Ellen Barkin, John Goodman, Michael Rooker, William Hickey, Richard Jenkins, Christine Estabrook, Barbara Baxley, Patricia Barry, Samuel L. Jackson, Jacqueline Brookes, John Spencer. Streetwise cop, going through mid-life crisis, falls in love with a suspect while investigating a serial murder case. Tough, smart, sexy urban thriller with a dynamite script by Richard Price, a perfect role for Pacino, and a steamy showcase for Barkin. [R] ▼●●

Sea of Sand SEE: Desert Patrol

Search, The (1948) 105m. * D: Fred Zinnemann. Montgomery Clift, Ivan Jandl, Aline MacMahon, Jarmila Novotna, Wendell Corey. Poignant drama of American soldier Clift caring for concentration camp survivor Jandl in postwar Berlin, while the boy's mother desperately searches all Displaced Person's Camps for him. Beautifully acted and directed; won a Best Story Academy Award for Richard Schweizer and David Wechsler and a special prize for Jandl for outstanding juvenile performance. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Search and Destroy (1981) C-93m.  D: William Fruet. Perry King, Tisa Farrow, Don Stroud, Park Jong Soo, George Kennedy. Undistinguished actioner about former South Vietnamese official Soo seeking revenge against American G.I.s King and Stroud. Filmed in 1978. [PG] ▼●

Search and Destroy (1995) C-90m. *½ D: David Salle. Griffin Dunne, Illeana Douglas, Dennis Hopper, Christopher Walken, John Turturro, Rosanna Arquette, Ethan Hawke, Martin Scorsese. A badly-in-hock worm on the outer limits of show biz schemes to obtain financing for his dream movie project, an adaptation of the pop-psychologist rantings of a men's-movement guru. Despite a black-comedy-dream cast and participation by executive producer Scorsese (who directed the thematically comparable THE KING OF COMEDY), this diffuse film grows progressively out of control before collapsing entirely. Directorial debut for N.Y. artist Salle. [R] ▼●●

Searchers, The (1956) C-119m. * D: John Ford. John Wayne, Jeffrey Hunter, Vera Miles, Ward Bond, Natalie Wood, John Qualen, Harry Carey, Jr., Olive Carey, Antonio Moreno, Henry Brandon, Hank Worden, Ken Curtis, Lana Wood, Dorothy Jordan, Pat Wayne. Superb Western saga of Wayne's relentless search for niece (Wood) kidnapped by Indians, spanning many years. Color, scenery, photography all splendid, with moving, insightful Frank Nugent script to match (based on Alan LeMay's novel). And who could ever forget that final shot? Remade and imitated many times since (CARAVANS, WINTERHAWK, GRAYEAGLE, etc.). VistaVision. ▼●●

Search for One-Eyed Jimmy, The (1996) C-82m. *½ D: Sam Henry Kass. John Turturro, Samuel L. Jackson, Steve Buscemi, Michael Badalucco, Ray "Boom Boom" Mancini, Anne Meara, Jennifer Beals, Nicholas Turturro, Aida Turturro, Holt McCallany, Sam Rockwell, Tony Sirico. Oddball story of a documentary filmmaker, fresh out of college, who returns to his old Brooklyn neighborhood and finds cinematic inspiration as his camera follows the trail of a missing local lowlife. Funny premise, fine cast, but never lives up to its promise. A must for Turturro fans, however, as most of the family turns up here. Filmed in 1993. [R] ▼●●

Search for Signs of Intelligent Life in the Universe, The (1991) C-120m.  D: John Bailey. Clever re-creation of Lily Tomlin's 1985 one-woman Broadway show. Her characterizations run the gamut from bag lady (narrating the proceedings) to teen punk to New Age Woman, with much of the material in a feminist vein. Written by longtime Tomlin collaborator Jane Wagner.

(The title is misspelled on purpose.) See also LILY TOMLIN, a 1986 documentary chronicling Tomlin and Wagner's preparation for the show. [PG-13]▼

Search for the Mother Lode: The Last Great Treasure SEE: Mother Lode

Searching for Bobby Fischer (1993) C-110m. ½ D: Steven Zaillian. Joe Mantegna, Max Pomeranc, Joan Allen, Ben Kingsley, Laurence Fishburne, Michael Nirenberg, Robert Stephens, David Paymer, William H. Macy, Dan Hedaya, Anthony Heald, Josh Mostel, Tony Shalhoub, Austin Pendleton. Compelling, surefooted drama, based on a true story: A father discovers that his 7-year-old son has a genius for chess, and enters him in competition, losing sight of what this does to the boy's psyche—and his pure enjoyment of the game. Poignant, heart-rending at times (especially for any parent) and exceptionally well done. Screenplay by first-time director Zaillian, from the book by Fred Waitzkin, who's the real-life chess whiz's father. [PG]▼●●

Searching Wind, The (1946) 108m. ½ D: William Dieterle. Robert Young, Sylvia Sydney, Ann Richards, Dudley Digges, Douglas Dick, Albert Basserman. Talky but historically fascinating drama, scripted by Lillian Hellman and based on her play, about a deluded U.S. ambassador (Young) in Europe in the years before WW2. Socialite Richards is his wife, journalist Sidney the woman he really loves. Hellman's scenario mirrors, and condemns, the international politics that allowed Hitler to come to power.

Sea Serpent, The (1986-Spanish) C-92m. ½ D: Gregory Greens. Timothy Bottoms, Taryn Power, Jared Martin, Ray Milland, Gerard Tichy, Carole James. In order to clear his name, discredited captain Bottoms searches for sea monster that has been roused from the deep by A-bomb tests. Childish sci-fi with a monster depicted by puppets! Shot in 1984. Milland's last film. ▼

Sea Shall Not Have Them, The (1954-British) 91m.  D: Lewis Gilbert. Michael Redgrave, Dirk Bogarde, Anthony Steel, Nigel Patrick, Nigel Green, Rachel Kempson. British bomber plane is forced down in the ocean during WW2; a rescue attempt is made. ▼

Seaside Swingers (1965-British) C-94m. ½ D: James Hill. John Leyton, Mike Sarne, Freddie and The Dreamers, Ron Moody, Liz Fraser. Group of teenagers working at seaside resort prepare for major talent contest which is to be the highlight of the summer season. Should have given them all the hook. Techniscope. ▼

Season of Dreams SEE: Stacking

Season of Passion (1959-Australian) 93m. ½ D: Leslie Norman. Anne Baxter, John Mills, Angela Lansbury, Ernest Borgnine, Janette Craig. Tasteful study of human relationships; Mills and Borgnine are country workers who each year come to the city for their fling with Baxter and Lansbury. Based on Ray Lawlor's play, Summer of the 17th Doll.

Sea Wall, The SEE: This Angry Age

Sea Wife (1957-British) C-82m.  D: Bob McNaught. Richard Burton, Joan Collins, Basil Sydney, Ronald Squire, Cy Grant. Disarming yarn of Burton and Collins surviving a torpedoed ship. He falls in love with her, not knowing she's a nun. Set during WW2. CinemaScope. ▼

Sea Wolf, The (1941) 90m. ½ D: Michael Curtiz. Edward G. Robinson, John Garfield, Ida Lupino, Alexander Knox, Gene Lockhart, Barry Fitzgerald, Stanley Ridges. Bristling Jack London tale of brutal but intellectual sea captain Robinson battling wits with accidental passenger Knox, as brash seaman Garfield and fugitive Lupino try to escape. Script by Robert Rossen. Originally released at 100m. Remade many times (BARRICADE, WOLF LARSEN, etc.), as well as several silent versions. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Sea Wolves, The (1980-British-U.S.) C-120m.  D: Andrew V. McLaglen. Gregory Peck, Roger Moore, David Niven, Trevor Howard, Barbara Kellerman, Patrick Macnee. You may have to be over 30 to like this true story of a retired British cavalry unit undertaking an espionage operation in WW2, but it's both action filled and funny. The target: a German radio transmitter on a ship in an Indian port. Moore can't shake his Bond image, and Peck struggles with his British accent, so nothing is to be taken very seriously. Script by Reginald Rose. [PG]▼

Sebastian (1968-British) C-100m. ½ D: David Greene. Dirk Bogarde, Susanah York, Lilli Palmer, John Gielgud, Margaret Johnston, Nigel Davenport. Flashy but cluttered espionage film of counterintelligence agent Bogarde, who deciphers codes for England, becoming enmeshed in international battle of wits. Intriguing, colorful, but a bit trying; look for Donald Sutherland in a small role. ▼

Second Best (1994-British-U.S.) C-105m.  D: Chris Menges. William Hurt, John Hurt, Chris Cleary Miles, Keith Allen, Jane Horrocks, Prunella Scales, Alan Cumming, Jodhi May. Pensive drama with Hurt excellent in an unusual role: an unmarried, terminally shy, 42-year-old postmaster in a small Welsh town who attempts to adopt a deeply troubled 10-year-old boy (Miles). [PG-13]▼●

Second Best Secret Agent in the Whole Wide World (1965-British) C-96m. ½ D: Lindsay Shonteff. Tom Adams, Veronica Hurst, Peter Bull, Karel Stepanek, John Arnatt. Snappy James Bondish entry, with virtue of satirical performance by Adams; he prevents the Russians from stealing scientist

Stepanek's anti-gravity invention. Original British title: LICENSED TO KILL. Sequel: WHERE THE BULLETS FLY. ▼

Second Chance (1953) C-81m. ½ D: Rudolph Maté. Robert Mitchum, Linda Darnell, Jack Palance, Reginald Sheffield, Roy Roberts, Dan Seymour, Fortunio Bonanova, Milburn Stone. Two runaways—gambler's girlfriend Darnell and tainted prizefighter Mitchum—fall in love in Mexico. Complications arise when Palance arrives with orders to kill Darnell. OK melodrama, made in 3-D. ▼●

Second Chorus (1940) 83m.  D: H. C. Potter. Fred Astaire, Paulette Goddard, Artie Shaw and His Orchestra, Charles Butterworth, Burgess Meredith. Routine musical comedy with Astaire and Meredith as musicians who want to join Shaw's band; they both have designs on Goddard. Not enough music and hardly any dancing, but what's there is fun. Fred and Paulette dance to "(I Ain't) Hep to That Step but I'll Dig It." ▼

Second Coming of Suzanne, The (1974) C-90m. ½ D: Michael Barry. Sondra Locke, Paul Sand, Jared Martin, Richard Dreyfuss, Gene Barry, Penelope Spheeris. Pretentious time capsule about an egocentric counterculture filmmaker (Martin) who recruits the title character (Locke) to star in his latest epic, a re-creation of the story of Christ! At its very best, this is very bad Fellini; writer-director Barry is the son of Gene (who executive-produced). Strictly for Dreyfuss completists. Aka SUZANNE. ▼

Second-Hand Hearts (1981) C-102m. BOMB D: Hal Ashby. Robert Blake, Barbara Harris, Collin Boone, Amber Rose Gold, Bert Remsen, Shirley Stoler. Blake, beer-bellied and jowly, is Loyal Muke (rhymes with Puke), middle-aged drifter, who married Dinette Dusty (Harris) while in a drunken stupor. Pointless, confusing, overblown, a comedy that is embarrassingly unfunny. Even the usually reliable Harris can't salvage this mess. Filmed in 1979 as THE HAMSTER OF HAPPINESS. [PG]

Secondhand Lions (2003) C-107m.  D: Tim McCanlies. Michael Caine, Robert Duvall, Haley Joel Osment, Kyra Sedgwick, Nicky Katt, Michael O'Neill, Deirdre O'Connell, Emmanuelle Vaugier, Josh Lucas, Adrian Pasdar. A negligent mother deposits her son with his eccentric great-uncles, who live as recluses on a quiet Texas property. The boy soon discovers that there's more to his new guardians than meets the eye, especially when Caine starts spinning tales about their globe-trotting adventures as young men. Likable, old-fashioned fairy-tale yarn is elevated by the sheer presence of its two veteran stars, and young Osment, who holds his own alongside them. If you buy into this, you'll forgive its flaws. Written by the director. Super 35. [PG] ▼

Second Jungle Book: Mowgli & Baloo, The SEE: Rudyard Kipling's The Second Jungle Book: Mowgli & Baloo

Seconds (1966) 106m. ½ D: John Frankenheimer. Rock Hudson, Salome Jens, John Randolph, Will Geer, Jeff Corey, Murray Hamilton, Wesley Addy. Frustrated middle-aged businessman is transformed into new identity (Hudson) but finds himself at odds with old and new life conflicts. Fascinating from start to finish, with good performances, striking camerawork by James Wong Howe; script by Lewis John Carlino. On video only in the original European version which features just over 1m. of additional footage. ▼●

Second Sight (1989) C-84m. BOMB D: Joel Zwick. John Larroquette, Bronson Pinchot, Bess Armstrong, Stuart Pankin, John Schuck, James Tolkan, William Prince, Christine Estabrook, Cornelia Guest. Super-psychic Pinchot and an otherworldly entity assist ex-cop Larroquette's Second Sight Detective Agency; if that's not enough, there's a cute-'n'-perky nun as love interest! No psychic was needed to gauge how long this one would last in theaters. [PG] ▼●

Second Thoughts (1983) C-98m. BOMB D: Lawrence Turman. Lucie Arnaz, Craig Wasson, Ken Howard, Anne Schedeen, Arthur Rosenberg, Peggy McCay. Dreary, laughably unrealistic account of lawyer Arnaz divorcing banker Howard and, to her regret, taking up with idealistic Wasson, who is still living in the 1960s. [PG] ▼

Second Time Around, The (1961) C-99m. ½ D: Vincent Sherman. Debbie Reynolds, Andy Griffith, Steve Forrest, Juliet Prowse, Thelma Ritter, Isobel Elsom. Mild comic Western with widow Debbie moving to Arizona, becoming sheriff, tangling with suitors Griffith and Forrest. CinemaScope.

Second Woman, The (1951) 90m. ½ D: James V. Kern. Robert Young, Betsy Drake, John Sutton, Florence Bates, Morris Carnovsky, Henry O'Neill, Jean Rogers. Atmospheric psychological drama with architect Young becoming increasingly unstable as a result of his fiancée's death on the eve of their wedding. Is he a danger to himself and his new girlfriend Drake? ▼

Secret Admirer (1985) C-98m. ½ D: David Greenwalt. C. Thomas Howell, Lori Loughlin, Kelly Preston, Dee Wallace Stone, Cliff De Young, Leigh Taylor-Young, Fred Ward, Casey Siemaszko, Corey Haim. Comedy of errors about an unsigned love letter that causes chain of confusion among some teenagers and their parents. Cute farce with some appealing performers, but surrenders to the obvious too often. Nice score by Jan Hammer. [R] ▼● blend of comedy and thriller elements which don't quite mesh; Carroll and Gielgud are secret agents who pose as man and wife while on assignment in Switzerland to kill enemy spy. One of Hitchcock's oddest films. ▼●●

Secret Agent, The (1936-British) 86m. ½ D: Alfred Hitchcock. John Gielgud, Madeleine Carroll, Robert Young, Peter Lorre, Percy Marmont, Lilli Palmer. Strange

Secret Agent, The (1996-British) C-95m. BOMB D: Christopher Hampton. Bob Hoskins, Patricia Arquette, Gérard Depardieu, George Spelvin, Jim Broadbent, Christian Bale, Eddie Izzard, Elizabeth Spriggs, Julian Wadham, Peter Vaughan. Stultifying adaptation of the Joseph Conrad novel about Verloc (Hoskins), an anarchist who actually is a secret agent for the Russian government in late 19th-century London; his wife (Arquette) has no idea of his activities. Guaranteed to drive you to slumber land despite its cast (including an unbilled Robin Williams). Aka JOSEPH CONRAD'S THE SECRET AGENT. [R] ▼●●
Secret Agent 00 SEE: Operation Kid Brother

Secretary (2002) C-112m.  D: Steven Shainberg. James Spader, Maggie Gyllenhaal, Jeremy Davies, Patrick Bauchau, Stephen McHattie, Oz Perkins, Jessica Tuck, Amy Locane, Lesley Ann Warren. Intriguing black comedy about the relationship between a young woman, recently released from a mental institution, and her new boss, a lawyer who thrives on sadomasochism. Often fascinating exploration of obsessive (some might say sick) behavior and two people's struggle to find common ground. Goes astray toward the end, but still a bold and provocative film, with superb performances by Gyllenhaal and Spader. [R] ▼●

Secret Beyond the Door (1948) 98m.  D: Fritz Lang. Joan Bennett, Michael Redgrave, Anne Revere, Barbara O'Neil, Natalie Schafer. Tedious Lang misfire along lines of Hitchcock's SUSPICION, with Bennett believing her husband is a demented murderer. ▼

Secret Bride, The (1935) 64m. ½ D: William Dieterle. Barbara Stanwyck, Warren William, Glenda Farrell, Grant Mitchell, Arthur Byron. State Attorney General William secretly weds governor's daughter Stanwyck, and summarily learns that her father may be taking bribes from a convicted embezzler. Tidy, well-acted drama.

Secret Ceremony (1968-British) C-109m. ½ D: Joseph Losey. Elizabeth Taylor, Mia Farrow, Robert Mitchum, Pamela Brown, Peggy Ashcroft. Farrow resembles Taylor's dead daughter, Taylor resembles Farrow's dead mother, and their meeting has strange results. Excellent psychological drama. [R] ▼

Secret Friends (1992-U.S.-British) C-97m. BOMB D: Dennis Potter. Alan Bates, Gina Bellman, Frances Barber, Tony Doyle, Joanna David, Colin Jeavons, Ian McNeice, Davyd Harries. Amnesiac Bates is a deeply

disturbed, guilt-ridden, and jealous man whose young, sexy wife (Bellman) is a constant pain to him. Film, set in part on long train journey, gives new meaning to the term "jumping back and forth in time"; result is appalling, incomprehensible mish-mash. Only film to be directed by esteemed writer Dennis Potter, suggested by his novel Ticket to Ride. Buffs may enjoy McNeice and Harries as throwbacks to Basil Radford and Naughton Wayne.

Secret Fury, The (1950) 86m.  D: Mel Ferrer. Claudette Colbert, Robert Ryan, Jane Cowl, Paul Kelly, Vivian Vance, Philip Ober. Unknown person tries to drive Claudette crazy to prevent her marriage to Ryan. Exciting whodunit with twist ending.

Secret Garden, The (1949) 92m.  D: Fred M. Wilcox. Margaret O'Brien, Herbert Marshall, Dean Stockwell, Gladys Cooper, Elsa Lanchester. Young girl who comes to live at run-down Victorian estate finds abandoned garden, devotes herself to it and eventually changes the lives of everyone living there. Vividly atmospheric film with some color sequences. Based on the classic children's book by Frances Hodgson Burnett. Remade as a TV movie in 1987 and as a feature in 1993, as well as a Broadway musical. ▼

Secret Garden, The (1993) C-101m.  D: Agnieszka Holland. Kate Maberly, Heydon Prowse, Andrew Knott, Maggie Smith, Laura Crossley, John Lynch, Walter Sparrow, Irène Jacob. Handsome remake of the children's classic, with Maberly as the 10-year-old orphan who restores an abandoned garden in her uncle's eerie Victorian manor. Well crafted, but doesn't sustain the drama of its story as well as the 1949 version. Francis Ford Coppola was executive producer. [G] ▼●●

Secret Heart, The (1946) 97m. ½ D: Robert Z. Leonard. Claudette Colbert, Walter Pidgeon, June Allyson, Lionel Barrymore, Robert Sterling, Patricia Medina, Marshall Thompson. Narrated by Hume Cronyn. This is Allyson's film, as young girl obsessed with dead father, unable to accept stepmother Colbert. Film creates eerie mood, and acting is good, but it's off-beat and not for all tastes.

Secret Honor (1984) C-90m. ½ D: Robert Altman. Philip Baker Hall. Richard Nixon, with a Chivas Regal assist, paces around his study in a near-psychotic rail against Hiss, Castro, Ike, Kissinging, and anyone named Kennedy. Hall's one-man stage show is fluidly filmed and outrageously conceived—a titillating one-of-a-kind for anyone who rooted for Khrushchev in the Kitchen Debates. Aka LORDS OF TREASON. ▼●

Secret Invasion, The (1964) C-95m.  D: Roger Corman. Stewart Granger, Mickey Rooney, Raf Vallone, Henry Silva, Ed

Byrnes, Mia Massini. Good action, location photography, and direction in story of British Intelligence using criminals to work behind enemy lines in WW2 Yugoslavia. Panavision. D

Secret Life of an American Wife, The (1968) C-92m.  D: George Axelrod. Walter Matthau, Anne Jackson, Patrick O'Neal, Edy Williams, Richard Bull, Paul Napier. Talky, generally unfunny farce about neglected wife who decides to pose as a call girl with one of her husband's clients—a screen lover (Matthau). Disappointing next to the writer-director's hilarious LORD LOVE A DUCK. [R] **▼

Secret Life of Bees, The (2008) C-110m.  D: Gina Prince-Bythewood. Queen Latifah, Dakota Fanning, Jennifer Hudson, Alicia Keys, Sophie Okonedo, Paul Bettany, Nate Parker, Tristan Wilds, Hilarie Burton. Emotional journey set in the deep South of 1964. An unloved girl flees from her abusive father, with her black housekeeper in tow, and finds refuge in the home of a warm-hearted woman (Latifah) who lives with her two sisters and operates a thriving business manufacturing honey. Here the two lost souls discover an oasis that almost makes them forget the brutality they've left behind—until ugliness rears its head once more. Sue Monk Kidd's novel is vividly brought to life by writer-director Prince-Bythewood and an ideal cast. Panavision. [PG-13] D

Secret Life of Walter Mitty, The (1947) C-110m. ½ D: Norman Z. McLeod. Danny Kaye, Virginia Mayo, Boris Karloff, Fay Bainter, Ann Rutherford, Florence Bates, Thurston Hall. Formula comedy casts Danny as milquetoast who dreams of manly glory. Not much Thurber here, but daytime sequences are lots of fun, and so is Kaye's famous "Anatole of Paris" patter number. Young Robert Altman, smiling and smoking a cigarette, appears as an extra in a nightclub scene with Kaye. **▼●●

Secret Life of Words, The (2005-Spanish) C-115m.  D: Isabel Coixet. Sarah Polley, Tim Robbins, Javier Cámara, Sverre Anker Ousdal, Eddie Marsan, Julie Christie, Daniel Mays, Leonor Watling. An emotionally remote young woman who works robotically at a factory job is ordered to take a vacation by her boss. Instead, she volunteers to serve as nurse to a severe-burn victim (Robbins) on an oil rig. The insular, isolated life on the rig—which has only a skeleton crew in the wake of a terrible accident—suits her fine, but her patient persists in trying to get her to open up. Intriguing character study with a great performance by Polley and agreeable sketches of the motley characters who work on the rig. Written by the director. D

Secret Lives of Dentists, The (2002) C-105m.  D: Alan Rudolph. Campbell Scott, Hope Davis, Denis Leary, Robin Tunney, Jon Patrick Walker, Kevin Carroll, Kate Clinton,

Lydia Jordan, Cassidy Hinkle. Intelligent, absorbing scenes from a marriage about a suburban dentist couple with three daughters. Scott suspects his wife is having an affair, and his decision not to confront her results in his summoning up visions of his most difficult patient (Leary). Benefits from two terrific lead performances and wry direction from Rudolph. Only sign of halitosis: a little Leary, as Scott's ranting, chain-smoking id, goes a long way. Based on the Jane Smiley novella The Age of Grief, adapted by playwright Craig Lucas. [R] **▼●

Secret of Blood Island, The (1965-British) C-84m.  D: Quentin Lawrence. Barbara Shelley, Jack Hedley, Charles Tingwell, Patrick Wymark. Woman agent Shelley parachutes into Malaya during WW2, ends up incognito in a prisoner-of-war camp. Mindless timekiller. Video title: P.O.W.: PRISONERS OF WAR. **▼

Secret of Dorian Gray, The SEE: Dorian Gray

Secret of Dr. Mabuse, The SEE: 1,000 Eyes of Dr. Mabuse, The Secret of My Success, The (1965-British) C-99m. *½ D: Andrew L. Stone. James Booth, Shirley Jones, Stella Stevens, Honor Blackman, Amy Dalby, Lionel Jeffries. Film certainly doesn't succeed. Naive boy is taken in by several crafty females on his road to maturity. Picturesque settings, variety of characterizations by Jeffries. Panavision.

Secret of My Success, The (1987) C-110m. ½ D: Herbert Ross. Michael J. Fox, Helen Slater, Richard Jordan, Margaret Whitton, John Pankow, Fred Gwynne, Elizabeth Franz, Christopher Durang, Mercedes Ruehl. Naive but bright, ambitious young man from the sticks hustles his way into the corporate world of N.Y.C., deftly juggling the various complications he encounters. Likable comedy goes on too long, gets most of its juice from Fox's energetic and appealing performance. [PG-13] **▼●●

Secret of NIMH, The (1982) C-82m. ½ D: Don Bluth. Voices of Elizabeth Hartman, Derek Jacobi, Dom DeLuise, John Carradine, Peter Strauss. When her family homestead is threatened, a young widowed mouse seeks help, and comes upon a secret society of superintelligent rats. Well-animated adaptation of Robert C. O'Brien's prize-winning children's book, but not as involving, or as well paced, as it ought to be. First feature from Don Bluth Productions, the studio founded by a group of former Disney artists. Shannen Doherty is the voice of one of the mice children. Followed by a direct-to-video sequel. [G] **▼●●

Secret of Roan Inish, The (1994) C-102m.  D: John Sayles. Jeni Courtney, Eileen Colgan, Mick Lally, Richard Sheridan, John Lynch. Gentle, charming tale of a girl who is sent to live with her grandparents on the west coast of Ireland and discovers the myths and magic that have affected her family. A "small" story to be sure, but it gradually works its spell on you, with an admirably unselfish tone (perfectly embodied in solemn young Courtney), moody cinematography from Haskell Wexler, and remarkable "performances" from the seals and gulls that populate the film. Adapted from Rosalie Frye's novella The Secret of Ron Mor Skerry by director Sayles, who also edited. [PG] ▼●●

Secret of Santa Vittoria, The (1969) C-140m. ½ D: Stanley Kramer. Anthony Quinn, Anna Magnani, Vima Lisi, Hardy Kruger, Sergio Franchi, Renato Rascel, Eduardo Ciannelli, Giancarlo Giannini, Valentina Cortese. Entertaining comedy from Robert Crichton's novel of Italian town which hides a million bottles of wine from occupying Germans in WW2. Story wanders, however, with needless subplots that make it overlong. Kruger excellent as civilized German officer. Panavision. [M/PG] ▼

Secret of the Grain, The (2007-French) C-154m.  D: Abdellatif Kechiche. Habib Boufares, Hafsia Herzi, Faridah Benkhetache, Abdelhamid Aktouche, Bouraouïa Marzouk, Hatika Karaoui, Alice Hourï. Robust, often startlingly realistic slice of life about a Tunisian immigrant who's laid off from his longtime job at a French shipyard. We meet his large, boisterous family, including his ex-wife (who's a wonderful cook), his longtime mistress, and her loving, self-possessed daughter. Through their conversations, arguments, and everyday encounters we assemble a richly detailed portrait of one man's legacy to his real and extended family—and where they stand in modern French society—as everyone pitches in to help him turn an abandoned freighter into a restaurant. Overlong but rewarding. Written by the director.

Secret of the Red Orchid, The SEE: Puzzle of the Red Orchid, The

Secret Places (1985-British) C-96m. ½ D: Zeldia Barron. Marie-Theres Relin, Tara MacGowran, Claudine Auger, Jenny Agutter, Cassie Stuart, Ann-Marie Gwatkin. Two schoolgirls from very different backgrounds form a friendship that leads to heartbreak on the eve of WW2; set in small English village. Warm, often moving film that somehow falls short. Lead roles are well played by Relin (daughter of Maria Schell) and MacGowran (daughter of Jack MacGowran). [PG] ▼

Secret Policeman's Other Ball, The (1982-British) C-91m.  D: Julien Temple, Roger Graef. John Cleese, Peter Cook, Michael Palin, Graham Chapman, Terry Jones, Pete Townshend, Sting, Phil Collins, Eric Clapton, Jeff Beck, Eleanor Bron, Pamela Stephenson, Alexei Sayle. Poorly photographed but entertaining distillation of two concerts (in 1979 and

1981) organized as fund-raisers for Amnesty International. Almost as much music as comedy, but several funny bits by Cook and the Python boys stand out, including hilarious "Cheese Shop" routine. [R] ▼●●

Secret Rapture (1993-British) C-96m.  D: Howard Davies. Juliet Stevenson, Joanne Whalley-Kilmer, Penelope Wilton, Neil Pearson, Alan Howard, Robert Stephens. Disappointing psychological thriller about vulnerable Stevenson, who was extremely close to her just-deceased father, and who must contend with her shrill, tyrannical sister (Wilton). Good cast flounders in David Hare's one-note script (based on his play); much of its bite regarding greed and business-as-usual amorality in Thatcherite England has been toned down. [R] ▼●●

Secrets (1971) C-86m. ½ D: Philip Saville. Jacqueline Bisset, Per Oscarsson, Shirley Knight Hopkins, Robert Powell, Tarka Kings, Martin C. Thurley. A husband, wife, and daughter all have sexual experiences during the course of a day, which must remain secrets. Dull, somewhat pretentious film notable only for nude Bisset in passionate lovemaking scene. Released in 1978. [R] ▼

Secrets & Lies (1996-British) C-142m. ½ D: Mike Leigh. Brenda Blethyn, Marianne Jean-Baptiste, Timothy Spall, Phyllis Logan, Claire Rushbrook, Elizabeth Berrington, Michele Austin, Alison Steadman. Another of filmmaker Leigh's compelling portraits of ordinary people and the sometimes extraordinary circumstances of their lives; here, a young black woman goes in search of her birth parents and discovers that her mother is a working-class white woman. Emotionally wrenching at times, but also endearingly funny. Superlative performances spark this long, deliberately paced, but rewarding slice of life. [R] ▼●●

Secret Service of the Air (1939) 61m.  D: Noel Smith. Ronald Reagan, John Litel, Ila Rhodes, James Stephenson, Eddie Foy, Jr., Rosella Towne. Reagan stars as Lt. Brass Bancroft, a pilot who joins the Secret Service and exposes a smuggling ring. Fast-paced Warner Bros. B entry, the first of a series of four.

Secret Six, The (1931) 83m. ½ D: George Hill. Wallace Beery, Lewis Stone, Clark Gable, Jean Harlow, Johnny Mack Brown, Ralph Bellamy, Marjorie Rambeau, John Miljan. Hard-boiled gangster saga with powerhouse cast; sluggish at times, but worth seeing for milk-drinking racketeer Beery, aristocratic crime lord Stone, moll-with-a-heart-of-gold Harlow, et al.

Secrets of an Actress (1938) 71m.  D: William Keighley. Kay Francis, George Brent, Ian Hunter, Gloria Dickson, Isabel Jeans, Penny Singleton, Dennie Moore. Run-of-the-mill romantic melodrama with actress Francis attracting distraught Brent, an unhappily married architect.

Secrets of Life (1956) C-75m.  D: James Algar. Narrated by Winston Hibler. Disney True-Life Adventure features closeup looks at plant life, insect life, sea creatures, and natural wonders like volcanoes. Wonderful footage includes time-lapse photography of plants set to a rousing bolero on the soundtrack. ▼

Secrets of Women (1952-Swedish) 114m.  D: Ingmar Bergman. Anita Bjork, Karl-Arne Holmsten, Jarl Kulle, Maj-Britt Nilsson, Birger Malmsten, Eva Dahlbeck, Gunnar Bjornstrand. Episodic early Bergman drama about several women in a summer house who confide about their relationships with their men. Final sequence, with Dahlbeck and Bjornstrand trapped in an elevator, is most fascinating. ▼

Secret Things (2002-French) C-112m. *1/2 D: Jean-Claude Brisseau. Coralie Revel, Sabrina Seyvecou, Roger Mirmont, Fabrice Deville, Blandine Bury, Olivier Soler, Viviane Théophildès. A jaded exotic dancer befriends a shy young woman and both use their seductive powers to rise in the business world, with unforeseen consequences. Laughably pretentious treatise on love, voyeurism, and sexual politics grows more ludicrous as it goes on and, despite copious nudity, is never as shocking or as probing as it thinks it is. ▼

Secret War of Harry Frigg, The (1968) C-110m.  D: Jack Smight. Paul Newman, Sylva Koscina, Andrew Duggan, Tom Bosley, John Williams, Vito Scotti, James Gregory. Noncom soldier selected to free five generals held captive during WW2 in this slick but inane comedy, one of Newman's few real losers. Techniscope. ▼

Secret Ways, The (1961) 112m. 1/2 D: Phil Karlson. Richard Widmark, Sonja Ziemann, Senta Berger, Charles Regnier. Much on-location shooting helps strengthen caper with Widmark as grim American sent into Communist Hungary to plan escape of pro-West refugee; from an Alistair MacLean novel.

Secret Weapon SEE: Sherlock Holmes and the Secret Weapon

Secret Window (2004) C-95m.  D: David Koepf. Johnny Depp, John Turturro, Maria Bello, Timothy Hutton, Charles S. Dutton, Len Cariou, Joan Haney. A creepy stranger knocks on the door of a writer's rural lakeside house and accuses him of plagiarizing one of his stories. As the man's threats grow more ominous, the writer begins to wonder if he's going crazy—which also concerns his ex-wife and the local sheriff. Writer-director Koepf's adaptation of a Stephen King novella repeatedly teases the audience but offers very little suspense. The ending isn't much of a revelation, and even the significance of the title is trifling.

Depp's presence is the film's major asset. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Secret Yearnings SEE: Good Luck, Miss Wyckoff

Secuestro Express (2005-Venezuelan) C-86m.  D: Jonathan Jakubowicz. Mía Maestro, Rubén Blades, Carlos Julio Molina, Pedro Perez, Carlos Madera, Jean Paul Leroux. Tarantinoesque film focuses on a young upper-middle-class couple kidnapped in broad daylight by three thugs who demand a ransom from the girl's wealthy father. As they are taken on a wild ride through the bowels of modern-day Caracas, they attempt to turn the tables on their abductors. If motion sickness is a problem, it might be wise to skip this frenetic, fast-paced picture. Jakubowicz shoots this like a video game, squandering an opportunity to say something serious about an ongoing crisis in many countries. [R] ▼

Seduced and Abandoned (1964-Italian) 118m. 1/2 D: Pietro Germi. Stefania Sandrelli, Saro Urzi, Lando Buzzanca, Leopoldo Trieste. Fast-paced, richly flavorful bedroom romp involving the fate of a Don Juan who manages to impregnate his fiancée's kid sister. A follow-up in spirit to Germi's DIVORCE—ITALIAN STYLE, this very funny film cleverly lampoons sexual tradition. ▼

Seducers, The SEE: Death Game

Seducing Dr. Lewis (2003-Canadian) C-108m. 1/2 D: Jean-François Pouliot. Raymond Bouchard, Dominic Michon-Dagenais, Guy-Daniel Tremblay, Nadia Drouin, Rita Lafontaine, Roc LaFortune, Réal Bossé, Guy Vaillancourt. Start with LOCAL HERO, throw in a little THE FULL MONTY, mix with WAKING NED DEVINE and you have the recipe for this harmless comic tale of a small fishing village promised a much-desired new factory if they can lure a full-time M.D. to their town. Filled with the usual assortment of oddballs one finds in this type of film; the setting, Québec's Harrington Harbour Island, is gorgeous. Original French title: LA GRANDE SÉDUCTION. ▼

Seduction, The (1982) C-104m. BOMB D: David Schmoeller. Morgan Fairchild, Michael Sarrazin, Vince Edwards, Andrew Stevens, Colleen Camp, Wendy Smith Howard. A flashy L.A. TV newswoman is terrorized by a persistent fan. Preposterous, derivative film is neither suspenseful nor titillating, despite its title and sexy star (in her first movie vehicle). Super 35. [R] ▼

Seduction of Joe Tynan, The (1979) C-107m. 1/2 D: Jerry Schatzberg. Alan Alda, Barbara Harris, Meryl Streep, Rip Torn, Charles Kimbrough, Melvyn Douglas. Earnest but shallow drama (written by Alda) about young senator who faces moral dilemmas while climbing political ladder in Washington. Ludicrous resolution really hurts film as a whole. [R] ▼

Seduction of Mimi, The (1972-Italian) C-89m.  D: Lina Wertmuller. Giancarlo Giannini, Mariangela Melato, Agostina Belli, Elena Fiore. Mimi is actually a man (Giannini) whose stubbornness and stupidity get him into trouble politically and sexually. Climactic scene where he tries to make love to an impossibly obese woman is unforgettable. Entertaining film was later Americanized as WHICH WAY IS UP? Released in the U.S. in 1974. [R] ▼

Seed of Chucky (2004) C-87m.  D: Don Mancini. Jennifer Tilly, Hannah Spearritt, John Waters, Redman, Keith-Lee Castle, Steve Lawton, Jason Flemyng, Tony Gardner; voices of Billy Boyd, Brad Dourif. Fifth in the CHILD'S PLAY puppet-horror franchise is the silliest yet, as Hollywood decides to make a movie based on the (now-deceased) Chucky and Tiffany legend. Son Glen (voiced by LORD OF THE RINGS star Boyd) gets wind of it and comes to L.A. to bring his parents back to life, and they wreak havoc on the production. Tilly plays herself, taking no prisoners in an over-the-top self-portrait that garners the movie's only real laughs. Series creator-writer Mancini directs for the first time and might want to hand himself a better script next time. [R] ▼

See Here, Private Hargrove (1944) 100m.  D: Wesley Ruggles. Robert Walker, Donna Reed, Keenan Wynn, Robert Benchley, Bob Crosby, Grant Mitchell. Marion Hargrove's anecdotes of Army life make an amusing, episodic film; Benchley hilarious as Reed's garrulous dad. Sequel: WHAT NEXT, CORPORAL HARGROVE? Seeing Other People (2004) C-90m.  D: Wally Wolodarsky. Jay Mohr, Julianne Nicholson, Lauren Graham, Bryan Cranston, Josh Charles, Jonathan Davis, Matt Davis, Andy Richter, Helen Slater, Liz Phair, Alex Borstein, Mimi Rogers. Small-scale but smart, funny comedy, set in L.A., about a happy couple on the verge of getting married when she decides they ought to have sexual experiences with other people before they tie the knot. Well cast and well written by the director and Maya Forbes, sitcom veterans who are married in real life. Super 35. [R] ▼

Seekers, The (1954-British) C-90m. ½ D: Ken Annakin. Jack Hawkins, Glynis Johns, Noel Purcell, Inia Te Wiata, Laya Raki. Adequate adventure drama, set in the early 1800s, as British sailor Hawkins, along with his new wife and best friend, settles in New Zealand. The colorful location filming (especially among the Maoris) is a plus. Original U.S. title: LAND OF FURY. ▼

Seeker: The Dark is Rising, The (2007) C-99m.  D: David L. Cunningham. Alexander Ludwig, Ian McShane, Frances Conroy, Christopher Eccleston, Gregory Smith, Amelia Warner, James Cosmo, Wendy Crewson. Youngsters may appreciate this formulaic fantasy-adventure, based on Susan Cooper's

novel, about a plucky adolescent (Ludwig) who learns on his 14th birthday that he's destined to save the human race from the forces of darkness. Adults are more likely to dismiss this action-packed yet oddly uninvolved trifle as a knockoff of the HARRY POTTER films. Super 35. [PG] ●

Seems Like Old Times (1980) C-102m.  D: Jay Sandrich. Goldie Hawn, Chevy Chase, Charles Grodin, Robert Guillaume, Harold Gould, George Grizzard, Yvonne Wilder, T. K. Carter. Neil Simon's homage to 1930s screwball farces is quite enjoyable, with Goldie as a good-hearted lawyer whose ex-husband (Chase) disrupts her life and threatens the career of her new spouse (Grodin). Funny lines and situations all the way up to pointless finale. Feature debut of TV comedy director Sandrich. [PG] ▼ ●

See No Evil (1971-British) C-89m.  D: Richard Fleischer. Mia Farrow, Dorothy Alison, Robin Bailey, Diane Grayson, Lila Kaye. Terrifying chiller by Brian Clemens; blind girl slowly discovers that her uncle's entire family has been murdered and that the killer is silently stalking her. Watch out for the boots. British title: BLIND TERROR. [PG] ▼ ●

See No Evil (2006) C-83m. *½ D: Gregory Dark. Kane, Christina Vidal, Michael J. Pagan, Samantha Noble, Steven Vidler. Formulaic slasher pic aimed at genre fans with an insatiable appetite for eye gouging and flesh ripping. World Wrestling Entertainment superstar Kane (real name: Glen Jacobs) is suitably humongous as a hulking psycho who annihilates average juvenile delinquents in a gone-to-seed hotel. [R] ●

See No Evil, Hear No Evil (1989) C-103m.  D: Arthur Hiller. Richard Pryor, Gene Wilder, Joan Severance, Kevin Spacey, Kirsten Childs, Alan North, Anthony Zerbe. Wilder and Pryor are reteamed in this stupid comedy about a deaf man and a blind man who inadvertently become murder suspects and take it on the lam, hoping to catch the real killers. Five writers (including Wilder) are credited for this labored, foul-mouthed comedy; two such talented stars deserve better. [R] ▼ ● ●

See Spot Run (2001) C-94m. *½ D: John Whitesell. David Arquette, Michael Clarke Duncan, Leslie Bibb, Paul Sorvino, Joe Viterelli, Angus T. Jones, Steven R. Schirripa, Anthony Anderson. A bumbling mailman and his would-be girlfriend's son adopt a runaway dog that turns out to be an FBI agent targeted for assassination by mobster Sorvino. Clumsy slapstick comedy for kids has only a few funny moments and a main character who's an imbecile. This represents the combined efforts of five writers! [PG] ▼ ●

See You in the Morning (1989) C-119m.  D: Alan J. Pakula. Jeff Bridges, Alice Krige, Farrah Fawcett, Linda Lavin, Drew Barrymore, Lukas Haas, David Dukes, Frances Sternhagen, Theodore Bikel, George Hearn, Macaulay Culkin, Robin Bartlett. Bridges and Krige follow a bumpy road to a second marriage (for both of them), trying to erase bad memories and lingering problems . . . and having to win over each other's children. Overall intelligence, warmth, and gentility cannot overcome a certain patness (and forced cuteness) in director Pakula's script—or the greater problem of not knowing when to wrap things up. [PG-13]▼●

Seize the Day (1986) C-93m. ½ D: Fielder Cook. Robin Williams, Joseph Wiseman, Jerry Stiller, Glenn Headly. Williams is outstanding as Tommy Wilhelm, pushing 40 and a failure by society's standards, who's broke, much abused, and desperate for love. Wiseman and Stiller offer fine support as his coldhearted father and a con man he naively trusts. A small masterpiece, like the Saul Bellow novel on which it's based, with a faithful screenplay by Ronald Ribman. Plenty of familiar faces in small roles: Tony Roberts, Richard Shull, John Fiedler, Jo Van Fleet, William Hickey, Eileen Heckart, many others.▼●●

Seizure (1974-Canadian) C-93m.  D: Oliver Stone. Jonathan Frid, Martine Beswick, Christina Pickles, Joe Sirola, Herve Villechaize, Mary Woronov, Troy Donahue. Stone's directorial debut is stylish but incoherent shocker in which novelist Frid, his family and friends are forced to play games of death by trio of evil weirdos who may or may not be his nightmares come to life. [PG]▼●

Selena (1997) C-130m. ½ D: Gregory Nava. Jennifer Lopez, Edward James Olmos, Jon Seda, Constance Marie, Jacob Vargas, Lupe Ontiveros, Jackie Guerra, Rebecca Lee Meza. Glossy, congenially corny biography of the spirited young Tejano singer whose dreams of showbiz fame were cut short by her murder (just as she was about to win success as a crossover performer). Lopez offers a dynamic, star-making turn as Selena and Olmos also scores as her loving but possessive father. Ironically, the film does more to solidify Selena's celebrity than she was able to accomplish in her short lifetime. Super 35. [PG]▼●●

Sellout, The (1952) 83m. ½ D: Gerald Mayer. Walter Pidgeon, John Hodiak, Audrey Totter, Paula Raymond, Cameron Mitchell, Karl Malden, Everett Sloane, Thomas Gomez. Small-town newspaper editor Pidgeon finds himself in over his head when he tries to get the goods on corrupt sheriff Gomez. OK exposé drama.

Seminole (1953) C-87m. ½ D: Budd Boetticher. Rock Hudson, Barbara Hale, Anthony Quinn, Richard Carlson, Hugh O'Brian, Russell Johnson, Lee Marvin, James Best. Capable cast in unusual drama about earnest cavalry lieutenant Hudson trying to help Indian tribe's efforts to remain free of white man law.

Semi-Pro (2008) C-91m.  D: Kent Alterman. Will Ferrell, Woody Harrelson, André Benjamin, Maura Tierney, Andrew Daly, Will Arnett, Andy Richter, Rob Corddry, Jackie Earle Haley, David Koechner, Kristen Wiig, Ed Helms, Patti LaBelle, Tim Meadows. Retro-'70s comedy about a one-hit wonder disco crooner (Ferrell) who buys a struggling Detroit basketball team. Installing himself as player, owner, and chief promoter, he attempts to make the team NBA-worthy with a little help from a fading vet hoopster (Harrelson) and a raw-talented up-and-comer (Benjamin). Profane, silly movie tries to do for basketball what SLAP SHOT did for hockey . . . but Ferrell's shtick is wearing thin by now. Super 35. [R]●

Semi-Tough (1977) C-108m.  D: Michael Ritchie. Burt Reynolds, Kris Kristofferson, Jill Clayburgh, Robert Preston, Bert Convy, Lotte Lenya, Roger E. Mosley, Richard Masur, Carl Weathers, Brian Dennehy, Ron Silver. Easygoing comedy about two football stars and their mutual girlfriend wanders too much to hit any major targets but has some funny moments. Reynolds' charm makes up for film's other deficiencies. Adapted from Dan Jenkins' novel by Ring Lardner, Jr. (who took his name off the credits) and Walter Bernstein. Later a brief TV series. [R]▼●●

Senator Was Indiscreet, The (1947) 74m.  D: George S. Kaufman. William Powell, Ella Raines, Peter Lind Hayes, Arleen Whelan, Ray Collins, Hans Conried. Wit-playwright Kaufman's only directorial fling turns out quite well, with Powell as Senator whose diary causes embarrassment. Entertaining satire.▼

Sender, The (1982-British) C-91m.  D: Roger Christian. Kathryn Harrold, Zeljko Ivanek, Shirley Knight, Paul Freeman, Sean Hewitt, Harry Ditson. Solid thriller about telepathic, suicidal Ivanek, unable to control his powers, who transfers his nightmares to psychiatrist Harrold and causes havoc in a hospital. Very good of its type. [R]▼●●

Send Me No Flowers (1964) C-100m.  D: Norman Jewison. Rock Hudson, Doris Day, Tony Randall, Clint Walker, Paul Lynde, Hal March, Edward Andrews, Patricia Barry. Hypochondriac Rock, convinced he has a short time to live, has Randall find new husband for wife Doris. Funny script by Julius J. Epstein; Lynde is a riot as aggressive cemetery plot salesman.▼●●

Seniors, The (1978) C-87m.  D: Rod Amateau. Jeffrey Byron, Gary Imhof, Dennis Quaid, Lou Richards, Priscilla Barnes, Alan Reed, Edward Andrews, Robert Emhardt, Alan Hewitt. Four collegians open a bogus sex clinic, which mushrooms into a multimillion-dollar business. Alternately silly and satirical, with some innocuous nudity thrown in. Veteran character actors help a great deal. Written by Stanley (PILLOW TALK) Shapiro.

Video title: THE SENIOR. [R]▼

Sense and Sensibility (1995) C-135m.

½ D: Ang Lee. Emma Thompson, Alan Rickman, Kate Winslet, Hugh Grant, James Fleet, Harriet Walter, Gemma Jones, Elizabeth Spriggs, Robert Hardy, Greg Wise, Imelda Staunton, Imogen Stubbs, Hugh Laurie, Emilie François, Tom Wilkinson. Vivid, contemporary reading of Jane Austen's novel about two newly impoverished sisters—one impulsive and flirtatious, the other repeatedly thwarted and forced to suppress her feelings of love. Perfectly cast and performed, a spirited and moving look at social mores and how disparate personalities dealt with them in early 19th-century England. Thompson won an Oscar for Best Screenplay Adaptation. [PG]▼●●

Senseless (1998) C-93m.  D: Penelope Spheeris. Marlon Wayans, David Spade, Matthew Lillard, Rip Torn, Brad Dourif, Tamara Taylor, Richard McGonagle. Embroiled in cutthroat competition for a job, college business major gets a dose of one-upmanship when he agrees to take an injection of sense-enhancing "green stuff" as part of a campus lab experiment. Beware those side effects, and beware a comedy in which guinea pig Wayans outmugs even another Marlon (Brando)—when he played mad Dr. Moreau). Torn is amusing as the kind of corporate smoothie he can now play in his sleep. [R]▼●●

Sense of Loss, A (1972-U.S.-Swiss) C/B&W-135m.  D: Marcel Ophuls. Thoughtful documentary about the continuing, never-ending political conflict—and violence—in Northern Ireland. Not up to Ophuls' previous film, THE SORROW AND THE PITY, but still heartbreaking in its most powerful moments.▼

Senso (1954-Italian) C-115m. ½ D: Luchino Visconti. Alida Valli, Farley Granger, Massimo Girotti, Heinz Moog. Carefully paced study of human emotions, chronicling the relationship between earthy, materialistic Austrian officer Granger and his aristocratic Italian mistress (Valli). An intriguing union of the neorealism of Visconti's earlier work and the lush romanticism often found in his later films. Retitled WANTON CONTESSA. English-language version, titled THE WANTON COUNTESS, features dialogue by Tennessee Williams and Paul Bowles!▼

Sensuous Nurse, The (1976-Italian) C-78m. *½ D: Nello Rossati. Ursula Andress, Jack Palance, Duilio Del Prete, Luciana Paluzzi, Lino Toffolo, Mario Pisu. Voluptuous Ursula hires on to help hasten the demise of a wealthy vintner with a heart condition by keeping his pulse racing in this smarmy sex comedy. Ursula does look great in the nude, however. [R]▼

Sentimental Journey (1946) 94m.  D:

Walter Lang. John Payne, Maureen O'Hara, William Bendix, Cedric Hardwicke, Glenn Langan, Mischa Auer, Connie Marshall. Maudlin yam of dying actress O'Hara adopting little girl to give husband Payne a companion when she is gone; no holds barred here. Remade as THE GIFT OF LOVE and as a 1984 TV movie.

Sentinel, The (1977) C-93m.  D: Michael Winner. Cristina Raines, Ava Gardner, Chris Sarandon, Burgess Meredith, Sylvia Miles, Jose Ferrer, Arthur Kennedy, John Carradine, Christopher Walken, Eli Wallach, Jerry Orbach, Jeff Goldblum, Beverly D'Angelo, Martin Balsam, William Hickey, Tom Berenger. Slick but empty-headed shocker about N.Y.C. fashion model who rents Brooklyn Heights brownstone, finds it's full of demons and she's to be the next sentinel guarding the gateway to Hell. Good cast makes it somewhat endurable, but climax is awfully yucky. Freely based on Jeffrey Konvitz' best-seller. [R]▼

Sentinel, The (2006) C-107m. ½ D: Clark Johnson. Michael Douglas, Kiefer Sutherland, Eva Longoria, Kim Basinger, Martin Donovan, Ritchie Coster, Blair Brown, David Rasche, Paul Calderon, Gloria Reuben. Decorated Secret Service Agent—who's having an affair with the First Lady—is blackmailed, which leads another agent (and onetime friend) to believe he's the "inside man" suspected of conspiring to kill the President. Slick action-thriller is lively and entertaining until a crucial moment three-quarters of the way through, when it goes flat and credibility becomes a serious issue. Director Johnson has a small but significant role as one of Douglas' fellow agents. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Senza Pietà SEE: Without Pity

Separate Lies (2005-British) C-87m.  D: Julian Fellowes. Tom Wilkinson, Emily Watson, Rupert Everett, Hermione Norris, John Warnaby, Richenda Carey, Linda Bassett, John Neville. The lives of a well-heeled barrister (Wilkinson) and his wife (Watson) are disrupted upon the arrival in their community of good-looking, patronizing Everett. Adding to the mix is a hit-and-run accident in which their housekeeper's husband is killed. Razor-sharp drama explores the reasons why people lie to themselves and to those closest to them, and puts forth the notion that there is turmoil in even the most seemingly placid lives. The three leads—particularly Wilkinson—are in fine form. First-time director Fellowes scripted, from Nigel Balchin's 1951 novel A Way Through the Wood. [R]▼

Separate Lives (1995) C-102m. *½ D: David Madden. Linda Hamilton, James Belushi, Vera Miles, Elisabeth Moss, Drew Snyder. Limp psychosexual thriller has detective (Belushi) on the trail of a murderer who's killing the patients of his sexy group therapist (Hamilton)—while she's convinced she's committing them herself. Predictable and bland. [R]▼

Separate Peace, A (1972) C-104m. BOMB D: Larry Peerce. John Heyl, Parker Stevenson, William Roerick, Peter Brush, Victor Bevine, Scott Bradbury. Supposedly sensitive story of two roommates in a 1940s prep school, taken from John Knowles' overrated novel, is enough to make anyone gag. Story is morbid, acting amateurish, and direction has no feeling at all for the period. A total bummer. Remade for cable TV in 2003. [PG]▼

Separate Tables (1958) 99m. * D: Delbert Mann. Burt Lancaster, Rita Hayworth, David Niven, Deborah Kerr, Wendy Hiller, Gladys Cooper, Cathleen Nesbitt, Rod Taylor, Felix Aylmer. Terence Rattigan's pair of romantic playlets set at English seaside resort are reworked here into superb drama in the GRAND HOTEL vein; Lancaster and Hayworth are divorced couple trying to make another go of it, Hiller is his timid mistress, Niven a supposed war hero, Kerr a lonely spinster dominated by mother Cooper. Bouquets all around, especially to Oscar winners Niven and Hiller. Screenplay by Rattigan and John Gay.▼●●

Separate Ways (1981) C-92m.  D: Howard Avedis. Karen Black, Tony LoBianco, Arlene Golonka, David Naughton, Jack Carter, Sharon Farrell, William Windom, Robert Fuller, Noah Hathaway, Sybil Danning. Low-budget U.S. answer to A MAN AND A WOMAN has former race-car driver LoBianco suffering marital problems with wife Black, exacerbated by her one-night stand with younger man Naughton. Good cast is wasted. [R]▼●

September (1987) C-82m.  D: Woody Allen. Denholm Elliott, Mia Farrow, Elaine Stritch, Sam Waterston, Jack Warden, Diane Wiest. Six people vent their angst during a weekend in the country. Intelligent and well acted, but after a while it dawns on you that there's no earthly reason to be interested in these people and their whining. Stritch is a standout as Mia's flamboyant mom, and it's hard to completely dislike a film that plugs jazz pianist Art Tatum so vigorously. Set in Vermont but filmed completely on a soundstage. Writer-director Allen fared better with his earlier drama, INTERIORS. [PG]▼●●

September Affair (1950) 104m. ½ D: William Dieterle. Joseph Cotten, Joan Fontaine, Françoise Rosay, Jessica Tandy, Robert Arthur, Fortunio Bonanova, Jimmy Lydon. Trim romance of married man Cotten and pianist Fontaine who find that they're listed as dead in plane crash and now have chance to continue their affair. Makes effective use of classical music and Walter Huston's recording of "September Song" (which once again became a hit).▼●

September Dawn (2007) C-111m. ½ D:

Christopher Cain. Jon Voight, Trent Ford, Tamara Hope, Jon Gries, Huntley Ritter, Krisinda Cain, Shaun Johnston, Lolita Davidovich, Terence Stamp. Fictionalized Romeo and Juliet-style love story about a Mormon boy and a Christian girl in 1857 Utah set against the backdrop of a controversial, real-life (if little-known) incident in which 120 men, women, and children from her wagon train are ruthlessly murdered. Film places blame for the massacre on Mormon leaders, including Brigham Young (Stamp), although this is vehemently denied by the church. Low-budget (but handsome-looking) drama blends facts with Hollywood speculation to create a fairly compelling tale. Director Cain coscripted; his son Dean has a cameo as Joseph Smith. [R]●

September Storm (1960) C-99m. BOMB D: Byron Haskin. Joanne Dru, Mark Stevens, Robert Strauss, Asher Dann, M. Jean-Pierre Kerien, Vera Valmont. Scheming fashion model joins a group of adventurers searching for buried treasure off the coast of Majorca. Film's only novelty is that it was shot in 3-D CinemaScope.

September 30, 1955 (1978) C-101m. ½ D: James Bridges. Richard Thomas, Susan Tyrrell, Deborah Benson, Lisa Blount, Thomas Hulce, Dennis Quaid, Dennis Christopher. Arkansas undergrad, well played by Thomas, goes off his nut when James Dean dies, with tragic results for a girl friend. Original, if excessively uneven drama, is worth consideration for being one of the few films to deal at all seriously with the movie star mystique. Original title: 9/30/55. [PG]▼●●

Seraphim Falls (2007) C-115m.  D: David Von Ancken. Pierce Brosnan, Liam Neeson, Michael Wincott, John Robinson, Ed Lauter, Robert Baker, Jimmy Simpson, Nate Mooney, Anjelica Huston, Kevin J. O'Connor, Shannon Zeller, Xander Berkeley, Angie Harmon, Wes Studi, Tom Noonan. Beautifully photographed (by John Toll) widescreen Western set a few years after the Civil War about a colonel who embarks on a search for a man with whom he must settle a score. Entertaining to see Neeson as a man on a mission and Brosnan using his ingenuity to avoid capture in the wide-open wilderness. Testosterone-heavy scenario is entirely watchable and offers solid roles to its two stars. Panavision. [R]●

Serenade (1956) C-121m. ½ D: Anthony Mann. Mario Lanza, Joan Fontaine, Sarita Montiel, Vincent Price, Joseph Calleia, Vince Edwards. James M. Cain novel becomes surface soap of Lanza, the protégé of swank Fontaine, manipulated by manager Price and loved by earthy Montiel; spotty musical interludes.▼

Serendipity (2001) C-91m.  D: Peter Chelsom. John Cusack, Kate Beckinsale, Jeremy Piven, Molly Shannon, Eugene Levy, John Corbett, Bridget Moynahan, Lucy Gordon. A chance meeting in N.Y.C. leads to a romantic evening for Cusack and Beckinsale, but she chooses to leave it to fate to decide if they should ever see each other again. Several years later, on the eve of his wedding, Cusack decides he simply must find her. Endearing romantic comedy with appealing stars and wonderful support from Piven and Levy. Buck Henry appears unbilled. [PG-13] ▼

Serenity (2005) C-119m. ½ D: Joss Whedon. Nathan Fillion, Gina Torres, Alan Tudyk, Morena Baccarin, Adam Baldwin, Jewel Staite, Sean Maher, Summer Glau, Ron Glass, Chiwetel Ejiofor, David Krumholtz, Sarah Paulson, Michael Hitchcock. Five hundred years in the future, a mercenary and his crew on the ragtag airship Serenity battle the powerful Alliance and try to deprogram a teenage girl whose telepathic powers have been turned to the dark side. Whedon gives fans of his canceled 2002 TV series Firefly a chance to round out its unfinished story, while providing a self-contained continuity for newcomers. A sort of low-rent STAR WARS with Fillion as the Han Solo-ish antihero, this feature has spunk and spirit but goes on too long. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Sergeant, The (1968) C-107m.  D: John Flynn. Rod Steiger, John Phillip Law, Ludmila Mikael, Frank Latimore, Elliott Sullivan. Predictable drama, set in France, about homosexual Army sergeant Steiger and his desire for handsome private Law. Director Flynn has nice eye for detail, but overall, film doesn't make much of an impression. [R] ▼

Sergeant DeadHead (1965) C-89m. *½ D: Norman Taurog. Frankie Avalon, Deborah Walley, Eve Arden, Cesar Romero, Fred Clark, Buster Keaton, Gale Gordon, Harvey Lembeck. Bungling Army sergeant goes into space with a chimpanzee and undergoes personality change. Oh, that poor monkey. Also known as SERGEANT DEADHEAD, THE ASTRONUT. Panavision.

Sergeant Rutledge (1960) C-111m.  D: John Ford. Jeffrey Hunter, Woody Strode, Constance Towers, Billie Burke, Carleton Young, Juano Hernandez, Willis Bouchee, Mae Marsh, Hank Worden, Jack Pennick. Arresting story of a black U.S. Cavalry officer on trial for rape and murder; his story is pieced together in flashback during his court-martial. Unusual subject matter for its time, solidly presented by Ford (with some occasionally awkward comic relief). Strode is commanding in the central role. ▼

Sergeant Ryker (1968) C-85m. ½ D: Buzz Kulik. Lee Marvin, Bradford Dillman, Vera Miles, Peter Graves, Lloyd Nolan, Murray Hamilton. Adapted from TV film The Case Against Sergeant Ryker, story concerns court-martial of Marvin in title role, an Army sergeant during Korean War suspected of being a traitor; Miles is his wife and Dillman the dynamic defense attorney. Aka TORN BETWEEN TWO VALUES. ▼

Sergeant Steiner SEE: Breakthrough (1978)

Sergeants 3 (1962) C-112m. ½ D: John Sturges. Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis, Jr., Peter Lawford, Joey Bishop, Ruta Lee, Henry Silva. Second reworking of GUNGA DIN is amusing, but not up to 1939 original. This time it's out West with the Rat Pack as cavalry sergeants. Davis can't eclipse Sam Jaffe as Gunga Din, though. Panavision. ▼

Sergeant York (1941) 134m. ½ D: Howard Hawks. Gary Cooper, Walter Brennan, Joan Leslie, George Tobias, Stanley Ridges, Margaret Wycherly, Ward Bond, Noah Beery, Jr., June Lockhart. Excellent story of pacifist York (Cooper) drafted during WWI, realizing purpose of fighting and becoming hero. Oscar-winning performance by Cooper in fine, intelligent film, balancing segments of rural America with battle scenes. John Huston was one of the writers. Also available in computer-colored version. ▼

Serial (1980) C-86m.  D: Bill Persky. Martin Mull, Tuesday Weld, Sally Kellerman, Bill Macy, Tom Smothers, Christopher Lee, Peter Bonerz, Jennifer McAlister, Nita Talbot, Stacey Nelkin, Barbara Rhoades, Pamela Bellwood. Trenchant satire on Marin County, Cal., and its residents' obsession with various freakish fads, sexual trends, and psychological mumbo-jumbo, with a Frank Capra-esque finale. Mull (in his first starring role) plays the only sane one in the bunch. Adapted from Cyra McFadden's column and book. [R] ▼

Serial Mom (1994) C-93m. ½ D: John Waters. Kathleen Turner, Sam Waterston, Ricki Lake, Matthew Lillard, Scott Wesley Morgan, Walt MacPherson, Justin Whalin, Patricia Dunnock, Mink Stole, Mary Jo Catlett, Traci Lords, Patricia Hearst, Suzanne Somers. Beaming, cheerful Turner is the perfect mom to her suburban family; she's also a serial killer, bumping off anyone who offends her sense of family values. The main target of this movie's satirical barbs are those who would turn murderers into media heroes, but it takes plenty of other potshots along the way. Blander than most of Waters' films, this works only intermittently, despite a knockout performance from Turner. [R] ▼

Series 7: The Contenders (2001) C-88m. ½ D: Daniel Minahan. Brooke Smith, Glenn Fitzgerald, Marylouise Burke, Michael Kaycheck, Richard Venture, Merritt Wever, Donna Hanover, Angelina Phillips. Imagine a Survivor-type show where the contestants literally have to kill each other! That's the premise of this jet-black satire of reality TV. It's all a bit too ironic and postmodern for its own good, but it's still fun, in a sick vein, especially when we follow Dawn (Smith, who's terrific), the reigning champion with ten kills who happens to be pregnant and about to burst! [R] ▼

Serpent, The SEE: Night Flight From Moscow

Serpent and the Rainbow, The (1988) C-98m.  D: Wes Craven. Bill Pullman, Cathy Tyson, Zakes Mokae, Paul Winfield, Brent Jennings, Theresa Merritt, Michael Gough. Ambitious (by Craven standards) but gratuitously chillier about a real-life anthropologist's experiences with black magic and voodoo in Haiti. Well done, but wallows in its atmosphere and special effects; however, Craven fans will boost the rating by a star. Based on the book by Wade Davis. [R] ▼●●

Serpent of the Nile (1953) C-81m. *½ D: William Castle. Rhonda Fleming, William Lundigan, Raymond Burr, Michael Ansara, Julie Newmar. Antony and Cleopatra, B-movie style; good for a few laughs, anyway. Producer Sam Katzman used leftover sets from Rita Hayworth's SALOME.

Serpent's Egg, The (1978-German-U.S.) C-120m. *½ D: Ingmar Bergman. Liv Ullmann, David Carradine, Gert Frobe, Heinz Bennent, Glynn Turman, James Whitmore. Smorgasbord of depravities makes story of Jewish trapeze artist in pre-WW2 Germany an overwhelmingly unpleasant movie experience. Sven Nykvist's camerawork is brilliant as usual, but Carradine is fatally miscast. [R] ▼●

Serpico (1973) C-129m. ½ D: Sidney Lumet. Al Pacino, John Randolph, Jack Kehoe, Biff McGuire, Barbara Eda-Young, Cornelia Sharpe, Tony Roberts, James Tolkan, Lewis J. Stadlen, M. Emmet Walsh, F. Murray Abraham, Kenneth McMillan. Tough, exciting filmization of Peter Maas book based on true-life accounts of N.Y.C. undercover cop whose nonconformism—and exposure of department corruption—isolate him from the force. Screenplay by Waldo Salt and Norman Wexler. Look for Judd Hirsch as a cop. Followed by a TV movie and short-lived series. [R] ▼●●

Servant, The (1963-British) 115m. ½ D: Joseph Losey. Dirk Bogarde, James Fox, Sarah Miles, Wendy Craig, Catherine Lacey, Patrick Magee. Insidious story of moral degradation as corrupt manservant Bogarde becomes master of employer Fox; superb study of brooding decadence. Scripted by Harold Pinter. ▼●

Serving Sara (2002) C-99m.  D: Reginald Hudlin. Matthew Perry, Elizabeth Hurley, Bruce Campbell, Cedric the Entertainer, Vincent Pastore, Amy Adams, Joe Viterelli, Terry Crews, Jerry Stiller. Lackluster comedy about a N.Y.C. process server who makes a deal with his "mark" to find her philandering husband and serve him with her divorce papers—in return for half of her take. This takes them on a bumpy road to Texas. It's a long way from IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT. Mike Judge appears unbilled as a motel clerk. [PG-13] ▼●

Sesame Street Presents Follow That Bird

(1985) C-88m. ½ D: Ken Kwapis. Carol Spinney, Jim Henson, Frank Oz, Paul Bartel, Sandra Bernhard, John Candy, Chevy Chase, Joe Flaherty, Waylon Jennings, Dave Thomas. Sweet, simple film about Sesame Street's beloved Big Bird, who's placed in foster home but tries to hitchhike back to Sesame Street. Aimed solely at young children, who should enjoy it—though for adults nothing can top Oscar the Grouch's opening anthem. Cute songs throughout. [G] ▼●●

Session 9 (2001) C-100m.  D: Brad Anderson. David Caruso, Peter Mullan, Brendan Sexton III, Stephen Gevedon, Paul Guilfoyle, Josh Lucas. A ragtag asbestos-removal team's new job site is an immense, abandoned insane asylum. Since the crew doesn't get along well from the get-go, just imagine the teasing, taunting, and tensions unleashed in the dark corridors day after day. Genuinely spooky film unfortunately suffers from underdeveloped characters. Written by the director and costar Gevedon. Claustrophobics beware. HD 24P Widescreen. [R] ▼●

Session With the Committee, A (1969) C-90m. ½ D: Del Jack. Peter Bonerz, Barbara Bosson, Garry Goodrow, Carl Gottlieb, Jessica Myerson, Christopher Ross, Melvin Stewart, Don Sturdy (Howard Hesseman). Filmed collection of five skits by L.A. comic troupe isn't exactly "pure" cinema, but has the same appeal as a good comedy record album. Plenty of laughs. [PG] ▼

Set It Off (1996) C-121m.  D: F. Gary Gray. Jada Pinkett, Queen Latifah, Vivica A. Fox, Kimberly Elise, Blair Underwood, John C. McGinley, Anna Maria Horsford, Ella Joyce, Charlie Robinson, Chaz Lamar Shepard, Dr. Dre. Four black women from the L.A. projects decide to beat the system by robbing banks, and end up testing their friendship to deadly ends. Frustrating, over-directed film wants to be a hard-edged urban drama but relies on pyrotechnics and car chases for impact. Even worse is an unnecessary romantic subplot between Pinkett and suave banker Underwood. Latifah's powerhouse performance as a gun-toting lesbian gives the film a much needed jolt of realism. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Set-Up, The (1949) 72m. ½ D: Robert Wise. Robert Ryan, Audrey Totter, George Tobias, Alan Baxter, James Edwards, Wallace Ford. Gutsy account of washed-up fighter refusing to give up or go crooked; Ryan has never been better. Art Cohn's pungent screenplay was inspired by a narrative poem(!) by Joseph Moncure March. Photographed by Milton Krasner. Played out in real time—as you'll see by the clock shown in opening and closing shots. ▼●●

Seven (1979) C-100m.  D: Andy Sidaris. William Smith, Barbara Leigh, Guich Koock, Art Metrano, Martin Kove, Richard Le Pore, Susan Kiger. Brawny Smith is hired by U.S. intelligence to destroy Hawaiian crime syndicate, which he does with enthusiastic team of "specialists." Violent, sexy, tongue-in-cheek action yarn includes the "shooting the swordsmen" gag later immortalized in RAIDERS OF THE LOST ARK. [R]▼

Se7en (1995) C-127m.  D: David Fincher. Brad Pitt, Morgan Freeman, Kevin Spacey, Gwyneth Paltrow, Richard Roundtree, R. Lee Ermye, John C. McGinley, Julie Araskog, Mark Boone Junior, John Cassini, Reginald E. Cathey, Peter Crombie, Hawthorne James, Michael Masseur, Leland Orser, Richard Portnow. Dedicated detective (Freeman) breaks in his replacement (Pitt) during his last week before retiring—then stumbles onto the trail of a serial killer who's out to punish perpetrators of the seven deadly sins. Exceptionally well-crafted, intelligently written, and well-acted thriller . . . but also extremely unsettling, almost oppressive at times. Not much violence per se, but the film seems to wallow in the depths of human depravity it so passionately decries. Super 35. [R]▼●●

Seven Alone (1975) C-96m. ½ D: Earl Bellamy. Dewey Martin, Aldo Ray, Anne Collings, Dean Smith, Stewart Petersen. OK family-wilderness picture on true story of seven children who make perilous 2,000 mile trek West during the 1800s after their parents die en route. [G]▼

Seven Angry Men (1955) 90m.  D: Charles Marquis Warren. Raymond Massey, Debra Paget, Jeffrey Hunter, James Best, Dennis Weaver, Dabbs Greer, Ann Tyrrell. Good historical drama of John Brown (Massey) and family fighting to free slaves during 1800s. Massey is fine in lead role, which he previously played in SANTA FE TRAIL.

Seven Beauties (1976-Italian) C-115m. * D: Lina Wertmuller. Giancarlo Giannini, Fernando Rey, Shirley Stoler, Elena Fiore, Enzo Vitale. Director-writer Wertmuller's masterpiece follows a small-time Casanova through the horrors of WW2 battle and imprisonment in a concentration camp, where he learns to survive—at any cost. Giannini is superb in this harrowing, unforgettable film. [R]▼

Seven Brides for Seven Brothers (1954) C-103m. * D: Stanley Donen. Howard Keel, Jane Powell, Jeff Richards, Russ Tamblyn, Tommy Rall, Virginia Gibson, Julie Newmeyer (Newmar), Ruta Kilmonis (Lee), Matt Mattox. Rollicking musical perfectly integrates song, dance, and story: Keel's decision to get himself a wife (Powell) inspires his rowdy brothers to follow suit. Tunesful Johnny Mercer—Gene DePaul score (with Oscar-winning musical direction by Adolph Deutsch and Saul Chaplin), but it's Michael Kidd's energetic dance numbers that really stand out, with rare screen work by dancers Jacques D'Amboise and Marc Platt. The bam-raising sequence is an absolute knockout. Screenplay by Albert Hackett, Frances Goodrich, and Dorothy Kingsley, from a Stephen Vincent Benet story. Later a TV series and a Broadway musical. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Seven Brothers Meet Dracula, The (1974-British-Hong Kong) C-72m.  D: Roy Ward Baker. Peter Cushing, David Chiang, Julie Ege, Robin Stewart, Shih Szu, John Forbes-Robertson. Vampire hunter Van Helsing (Cushing) is in China in the late 19th century to vanquish Dracula with the help of some karate-chopping assistants. Odd blend of Kung Fu action, supernatural, and Dracula themes reportedly worked better in original 89m. version called LEGEND OF THE 7 GOLDEN VAMPIRES. Aka SEVEN GOLDEN VAMPIRES—THE LAST WARNING! Panavision. [R]▼●●

7 Capital Sins (1961-French-Italian) 113m.  D: Jean-Luc Godard, Roger Vadim, Sylvaine Dhomme, Edouard Molinaro, Philippe De Broca, Claude Chabrol, Jacques Demy. Marie-Jose Nat, Dominique Patureau, Jean-Marc Tennberg, Perrette Pradier. Potpourri of directors and talents play out modern parables concerning anger, envy, gluttony, greed, laziness, lust, and pride. Aka SEVEN DEADLY SINS and LES SEPT PECHES CAPITAUX. Dyaliscope.▼

Seven Chances (1925) 56m. ½ D: Buster Keaton. Buster Keaton, T. Roy Barnes, Snitz Edwards, Ruth Dwyer, Frankie Raymond, Jules Cowles. Buster will inherit a fortune if he's married by 7:00 that evening; a miscommunication with his girlfriend leads to his pursuit by thousands of would-be brides. The highlight: a furious chase down a hill in which Buster dodges dozens of oversized boulders! One of Keaton's silent gems. That's young Jean Arthur as a switchboard operator who turns down Buster's marriage proposal. Remade as THE BACHELOR (1999). ▼●●

Seven Cities of Gold (1955) C-103m. ½ D: Robert D. Webb. Richard Egan, Anthony Quinn, Jeffrey Hunter, Rita Moreno, Michael Rennie. Average spectacle adventure has good cast and fair direction. "Roughneck" learns ways of God in search for fabled Indian treasure in Western U.S. CinemaScope.▼

Seven Days in May (1964) 118m.  D: John Frankenheimer. Burt Lancaster, Kirk Douglas, Fredric March, Ava Gardner, Edmond O'Brien, Martin Balsam, George Macready, Whit Bissell, Hugh Marlowe. Absorbing, believable story of military scheme to overthrow the government. Fine cast includes Lancaster as the general planning the coup and Douglas as the colonel who discovers the plot, March as U.S.

President; intelligent suspense in Rod Serling screenplay from Fletcher Knebel and Charles W. Bailey novel. John Houseman made his screen acting debut in small but crucial role. Remade for cable as THE ENEMY WITHIN. ▼●●

Seven Days to Noon (1950-British) 93m. * D: John Boulting. Barry Jones, Olive Sloane, Andre Morell, Sheila Manahan, Hugh Cross, Joan Hickson. Superbly paced thriller (from Paul Dehn and James Bernard's Oscar-winning story) about scientist threatening to explode bomb in London if his demands are not met. Screenplay by Roy Boulting and Frank Harvey.

Seven Different Ways SEE: Quick, Let's Get Married

7 Faces of Dr. Lao (1964) C-100m.  D: George Pal. Tony Randall, Barbara Eden, Arthur O'Connell, John Ericson, Kevin Tate, Argentina Brunetti, Noah Beery, Jr., Minerva Urecal, John Qualen, Lee Patrick. Engaging fantasy of Western town brought to its senses by parables performed by mysterious traveling circus; tour de force for Randall, who plays six roles. William Tuttle won special Oscar for makeup creations. Based on Charles G. Finney's novel The Circus of Dr. Lao. ▼●●

Seven Golden Vampires—The Last Warning! SEE: Seven Brothers Meet Dracula, The

Seven Graves for Rogan SEE: Time to Die, A (1983)

Seven Hills of Rome (1958) C-104m. ½ D: Roy Rowland. Mario Lanza, Peggie Castle, Marisa Allasio, Renato Rascel, Rosella Como. Formula vehicle for Lanza, as a television star who retreats to Rome and falls in love; mellow than usual, with nice scenery and supporting cast. Technirama. ▼●

Seven Hours to Judgment (1988) C-89m.  D: Beau Bridges. Beau Bridges, Ron Leibman, Julianne Phillips, Reggie Johnson, Al Freeman, Jr. Bridges directs himself in an earnest but farfetched revenge saga as the hapless judge whom nut case Leibman feels had been too lenient with the minority punks who killed Leibman's wife; Ron retaliates by kidnapping Beau's beautiful spouse (Phillips) and setting Bridges on a survival quest in a tough part of town. [R] ▼●●

Seven Little Foy's, The (1955) C-95m.  D: Melville Shavelson. Bob Hope, Milly Vitale, George Tobias, Billy Gray, James Cagney. Pleasant biography of vaudevillian Eddie Foy and his performing family. Hope lively in lead role, Cagney guests as George M. Cohan; their table-top dance duet is the movie's high point. Vista-Vision. ▼

Seven Men From Now (1956) C-78m.  D: Budd Boetticher. Randolph Scott, Gail Russell, Lee Marvin, Walter Reed, John Larch, Donald Barry. Scott tracks down

seven bandits who held up Wells Fargo station and killed his wife. Solid Western, first of seven from the Scott-Boetticher team, with a script by Burt Kennedy. Marvin is terrific. ●

Seven Minutes, The (1971) C-116m. ½ D: Russ Meyer. Wayne Maunder, Marianne McAndrew, Philip Carey, Yvonne De Carlo, Jay C. Flippen, Edy Williams, John Carradine, Harold J. Stone. Host of fine character actors fail to save laughable adaptation of Irving Wallace's best-seller about pornography trial; interesting mainly as Meyer's only "straight" film. Look for Tom Selleck as a publisher. [PG—edited from original R rating]

Seven Notes in Black SEE: Psychic, The

Seven-Per-Cent Solution, The (1976) C-113m.  D: Herbert Ross. Nicol Williamson, Alan Arkin, Vanessa Redgrave, Robert Duvall, Laurence Olivier, Joel Grey, Samantha Eggar, Jeremy Kemp, Charles Gray, Regine. Sherlock Holmes meets Sigmund Freud in this handsome, entertaining film adapted by Nicholas Meyer from his novel. Shifts gears from serious drama to tongue-in-cheek adventure, but stays on target all the way. Nice score by John Addison. [PG] ▼●●

Seven Pounds (2008) C-123m. *½ D: Gabriele Muccino. Will Smith, Rosario Dawson, Michael Ealy, Barry Pepper, Woody Harrelson, Elpidia Carrillo, Robinne Lee, Bill Smitrovich, Joe Nunez, Tim Kelleher, Gina Hecht. IRS agent calls on various people to determine if they're worthy of the good deeds he intends to perform on their behalf. But why? Enervating film withholds the answers so long that it's difficult to engage with Smith's tortured protagonist. As the answers become clear the film is more off-putting than ever. Strange vehicle for the popular star. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Seven Samurai (1954-Japanese) 141m. * D: Akira Kurosawa. Toshiro Mifune, Takashi Shimura, Yoshio Inaba, Ko Kikura, Seiji Miyaguchi, Minoru Chiaki. Classic film about 16th-century Japanese village which hires professional warriors to fend off bandits. Kurosawa's "far-east Western" has served as model for many films since, including American remake THE MAGNIFICENT SEVEN (a title once given this film for U.S. release). The complete 208m. version is even more impressive for its humanity as well as its powerful action sequences. ▼●●

Seven Seas to Calais (1962-Italian) C-102m. ½ D: Rudolph Maté, Primo Zeglio. Rod Taylor, Keith Michell, Irene Worth, Anthony Dawson, Basil Dignam. Minor but entertaining swashbuckler with Taylor as Sir Francis Drake. CinemaScope.

Seven Sinners (1940) 87m.  D: Tay Garnett. Marlene Dietrich, John Wayne, Albert Dekker, Broderick Crawford, Anna

Lee, Mischa Auer, Billy Gilbert. Alluring Dietrich makes Wayne forget about the Navy for a while in this engaging action-love story with excellent supporting cast. Remade as SOUTH SEA SINNER. ▼●●

17 Again (2009) C-102m. ½ D: Burr Steers. Zac Efron, Matthew Perry, Leslie Mann, Thomas Lennon, Melora Hardin, Sterling Knight, Michelle Trachtenberg, Hunter Parrish, Jim Gaffigan, Nicole Sullivan, Margaret Cho. Twenty years after a life-altering decision, a former high school basketball star (Perry) is given the opportunity to become a teenager again in order to change his future—and his lousy marriage. Efron's nuanced, intriguing performance (and a talented cast) make this otherwise predictable and uneven film enjoyable. Super 35. [PG-13]

1776 (1972) C-141m.  D: Peter H. Hunt. William Daniels, Howard da Silva, Ken Howard, Donald Madden, Ron Holgate, David Ford, Blythe Danner, Roy Poole, Virginia Vestoff, John Cullum. America's first Congress in struggle for independence from Britain provides framework for this unique musical by Sherman Edwards and Peter Stone. Almost all of the original Broadway cast remain, with Daniels as John Adams and da Silva as Benjamin Franklin leading the pack. Laserdisc version ran 176m., incorporating footage director Hunt was forced to cut from original release; he then supervised a revised edition for DVD running 166m. Panavision. [G]▼●●

7th Cavalry (1956) C-75m. ½ D: Joseph H. Lewis. Randolph Scott, Barbara Hale, Jay C. Flippen, Jeanette Nolan, Frank Faylen. Scott plays an officer who must prove that he didn't desert Custer at the Little Bighorn battle. ▼

Seventh Coin, The (1992) C-95m. *½ D: Dror Soref. Alexandra Powers, Navin Chowdhry, Peter O'Toole, John Rhys-Davies, Ally Walker, Julius Washington, Nicholas Kallsen. Teen-oriented action-adventure film lacking action and adventure. O'Toole, believing he's King Herod reincarnated, pursues two youths who have a precious coin which belonged to Herod. O'Toole looks and acts wacky. Remember: reading is fun. [PG-13]▼●●

Seventh Continent, The (1989-Austrian) C-104m. ½ D: Michael Haneke. Birgit Doll, Dieter Berner, Leni Tanzer, Udo Samel, Silvia Fenz, Robert Dietl, Elisabeth Rath, Georges Kern, Georg Friedrich. Haneke's theatrical feature debut as writer-director is a disturbing account of middle-class malaise, following the lives of an ordinary (albeit emotionally disconnected) family: a husband, wife, and their young daughter. Starkly directed with Haneke initially, and revealingly, filming his actors' hands, feet, and torsos—but not their faces. Each se-

quence is short and abrupt, and ends in a blackout. Final extended sequence is positively devastating . . . and it's all based on a true story! First in a trilogy, followed by BENNY'S VIDEO and 71 FRAGMENTS OF A CHRONOLOGY OF CHANCE. ▽

Seventh Cross, The (1944) 110m.  D: Fred Zinnemann. Spencer Tracy, Signe Hasso, Hume Cronyn, Jessica Tandy, Herbert Rudley, Felix Bressart, Ray Collins, Alexander Granach, Agnes Moorehead, George Macready, Steven Geray, Kaaren Verne, George Zucco. Seven men escape from Nazi concentration camp and are pursued by the Gestapo. Exciting film makes strong statement about a cynic who regains hope when others risk their lives to save him. Tandy and Cronyn's first film together. An early winner for Zinnemann. ▼

7th Dawn, The (1964-British) C-123m. *½ D: Lewis Gilbert. William Holden, Susannah York, Capucine, Tetsuro Tamba, Michael Goodliffe. Dreary tale of personal and political conflict among WW2 allies—now adversaries—in postwar Malaya. ▼

7th Heaven (1927) 719m. ½ D: Frank Borzage. Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, Ben Bard, David Butler, Marie Mosquini, Albert Gran. One of the most famous screen romances of all time does not hold up as perfectly as one would like; Gaynor won first Academy Award as Diane, mistreated Paris waif redeemed and revived by cocky sewer-worker Chico (Farrell). His performance weakens film, as does terrible war subplot and finale. Still interesting, though; beautifully filmed, with lovely theme "Diane." Gaynor received her Oscar for this film, SUNRISE, and STREET ANGEL. Also won Oscars for Screenplay (Benjamin Glazer) and Director. Remade in 1937. ▼ ▽

Seventh Heaven (1937) 102m.  D: Henry King. Simone Simon, James Stewart, Jean Hersholt, Gregory Ratoff, Gale Sondergaard, J. Edward Bromberg, John Qualen. Famous silent film of poignant lovers in France doesn't do as well this time, with Gallic Stewart and soggy script.

Seven Thieves (1960) 102m. ½ D: Henry Hathaway. Edward G. Robinson, Rod Steiger, Joan Collins, Eli Wallach, Alexander Scourby, Michael Dante, Berry Kroeger, Sebastian Cabot. Taut caper of well-planned Monte Carlo heist, with excellent cast giving credibility to far-fetched premise. CinemaScope. ▼ ▽

Seventh Seal, The (1957-Sweden) 96m. * D: Ingmar Bergman. Max von Sydow, Gunnar Bjornstrand, Nils Poppe, Bibi Andersson, Bengt Ekerot. Sydow, a disillusioned knight on his way back from the Crusades, tries to solve the mysteries of life while playing chess game with Death, who has offered him a short reprieve. Spellbinding, one-of-a-kind masterpiece helped gain Bergman international acclaim. ▼●●

Seventh Sign, The (1988) C-98m. *½ D: Carl Schultz. Demi Moore, Michael Biehn, Jürgen Prochnow, Peter Friedman, Manny Jacobs, John Taylor, Lee Garlington, Akosua Busia, John Heard, Ian Buchanan. Pregnant Moore is convinced it's apocalypse now and that boarder Prochnow wants her baby for his end-of-the-world machinations. Could be; look out for dead ocean life, icy deserts, and rivers running with blood. Supernatural grab bag is directed with all the zeal one brings to a documentary on stock portfolios; result has an extraordinarily high "oh, come on" quotient. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Seventh Sin, The (1957) 94m. ½ D: Ronald Neame. Eleanor Parker, Bill Travers, Françoise Rosay, George Sanders, Jean-Pierre Aumont, Ellen Corby. Remake of W. Somerset Maugham's THE PAINTED VEIL has virtue of Parker's earnest performance as adulterous wife of a doctor who redeems herself during an epidemic; set in Hong Kong and inner China. CinemaScope.

Seventh Veil, The (1945-British) 95m. ½ D: Compton Bennett. James Mason, Ann Todd, Herbert Lom, Hugh McDermott, Albert Lieven. Superb psychological drama of pianist Todd, left as ward to her neurotic cousin Mason. Psychiatrist Lom uses hypnosis to enable Todd to regain her professional and personal sanity. All three stars are first-rate in one of the key British films of the forties. Muriel and Sydney Box's screenplay won an Oscar. ▼●●

Seventh Victim, The (1943) 71m.  D: Mark Robson. Tom Conway, Kim Hunter, Jean Brooks, Evelyn Brent, Elizabeth Russell, Hugh Beaumont, Erford Gage, Isabel Jewell, Barbara Hale. Offbeat Val Lewton chiller of innocent Hunter stumbling onto N.Y.C. group of devil-worshippers. Genuinely eerie. ▼●●

7th Voyage of Sinbad, The (1958) C-87m. ½ D: Nathan Juran. Kerwin Mathews, Kathryn Grant (Crosby), Richard Eyer, Torin Thatcher. Top-notch adventure/fantasy pits hero Sinbad against unscrupulous magician (Thatcher) who has reduced Princess Grant to miniature size. Good pacing, eye-popping special effects by Ray Harryhausen (including famed duel with skeleton), music score by Bernard Herrmann. A winner all the way. ▼●●

71 Fragments of a Chronology of Chance (1994-Austrian-German) C-95m.  D: Michael Haneke. Gabriel Cosmin Urdes, Lukas Miko, Otto Grünmandl, Anne Benent, Udo Samel, Branko Samarovski, Claudia Martini, Georg Friedrich. Chilling, challenging tapestry-like portrait of isolated, alienated people whose lives are presented in snippets, including a scruffy runaway boy, a sullen orphaned girl, a solitary old man, and an unhappily married couple. Mixed in are TV news reports involving violence and conflict across the globe, and Michael Jackson being accused of child abuse. Not unexpectedly, these "fragments" are bookended by a tragedy. A celluloid treatise on the manner in which TV numbs the senses. Third in a trilogy, written by the director, following THE SEVENTH CONTINENT and BENNY'S VIDEO. ●

Seven-Ups, The (1973) C-103m. ½ D: Philip D'Antoni. Roy Scheider, Tony LoBianco, Bill Hickman, Richard Lynch, Victor Arnold. THE FRENCH CONNECTION producer directed this unofficial sequel, with Scheider scoring as a tough cop. Action outweighs plot, and car chase is one of the best yet filmed. Shot in N.Y.C. [PG] ▼●●

Seven Waves Away SEE: Abandon Ship
Seven Ways From Sundown (1960) C-87m. ½ D: Harry Keller. Audie Murphy, Barry Sullivan, Venetia Stevenson, John McIntire, Kenneth Tobey. Murphy is Texas ranger assigned to bring in seasoned killer Sullivan, with usual results.

7 Women (1966) C-87m.  D: John Ford. Anne Bancroft, Sue Lyon, Margaret Leighton, Flora Robson, Mildred Dunnock, Anna Lee, Betty Field, Eddie Albert, Mike Mazurki, Woody Strode. Flat soaper of dedicated missionaries in China in 1935, menaced by warrior cutthroats. Despite cast and director, a dull film. Ford's last feature. Panavision. ●

Seven Year Itch, The (1955) C-105m.  D: Billy Wilder. Marilyn Monroe, Tommy (Tom) Ewell, Evelyn Keyes, Sonny Tufts, Victor Moore, Oscar Homolka, Carolyn Jones, Doro Merande, Robert Strauss. While Ewell's wife is vacationing in the country, wide-eyed Tom fantasizes about the sexpot who moves in upstairs. This film entered the ranks of pop culture when Marilyn stepped on a subway grating wearing a billowy white skirt . . . but writer-director Wilder had to skirt censorship issues in adapting George Axelrod's Broadway play, and the results are much tamer than the original (though still entertaining). Marilyn is delightful. Clever titles by Saul Bass. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Seven Years in Tibet (1997) C-136m.  D: Jean-Jacques Annaud. Brad Pitt, David Thewlis, B. D. Wong, Mako, Danny Denzongpa, Victor Wong, Jamyang Jamtsho Wangchuk. Long but absorbing tale of Austrian mountaineer/adventurer Heinrich Harrer, whose attempt to scale a formidable Himalayan mountain peak in 1939 is interrupted by WW2—and whose subsequent adventures bring him to Tibet and the holy city of Lhasa, normally closed to outsiders. There he meets and is befriended by the 14-year-old Dalai Lama. Pitt is excellent as Harrer, a difficult character because he is selfish and arrogant—until he learns humility in Tibet. Magnificently filmed. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●●

Severance (2006-British-German) C-96m.

 D: Christopher Smith. Toby Stephens, Danny Dyer, Laura Harris, Tim McInnerny, Claudie Blakley, Andy Nyman, Babou Ceesay, David Gilliam, Matthew Baker. A group of British sales employees of a multinational weapons firm are traveling by chartered bus to a remote Eastern European location for a company retreat. Very quickly, however, all plans are off as the bickering bunch is stranded in one very scary forest. With its sly wit and violent mayhem this corporate-slasher film scores by updating an age-old movie staple with diverting flair. [R] ●

Severed Head, A (1971-British) C-96m.

 D: Dick Clement. Ian Holm, Lee Remick, Richard Attenborough, Claire Bloom, Clive Revill, Jennie Linden. Sophisticated sex comedy-drama seemed out of step with the youthful '70s, looks better today; vintner Holm is expected to keep a stiff upper lip while wife Remick has an open affair with her shrink (Attenborough). Sharp performances, thoughtful adaptation of the Iris Murdoch novel by Frederic Raphael. [R]

Sex and Death 101 (2007) C-117m. ½ D:

Daniel Waters. Simon Baker, Winona Ryder, Leslie Bibb, Mindy Cohn, Julie Bowen, Neil Flynn, Patton Oswalt, Frances Fisher. All heck breaks loose when a glitch in the earth's computer hard drive informs a young man (Baker), via e-mail, of his past and future sexual exploits. Problem is, he's engaged to be wed and his fiancée's name is nowhere near the end of the list. What's a fellow to do? Thrown into this fantastical comic stew is a femme fatale serial killer (Ryder) bent on revenge against any male crossing her path. Rely on suspending disbelief for this one; mindless but pleasant enough. [R] ●

Sex and Lucía (2001-Spanish) C-128m.

½ D: Julio Medem. Paz Vega, Tristán Ulloa, Najwa Nimri, Daniel Freire, Elena Anaya, Javier Cámara. Sizzling Spanish import about a young waitress seeking solace on a Mediterranean island after the loss of her boyfriend, a writer. During her stay she rediscovers herself and uncovers a past relationship. Worth seeing just for Vega's dazzling presence. At times too metaphysical but mostly just . . . well, physical. This film played unrated in theaters to avoid an inevitable NC-17. HD 24P Widescreen. ▼●

Sex and the City (2008) C-145m.  D:

Michael Patrick King. Sarah Jessica Parker, Kim Cattrall, Kristin Davis, Cynthia Nixon, Chris Noth, Candice Bergen, Jennifer Hudson, David Eigenberg, Evan Handler, Jason Lewis, Mario Cantone, Joanna Gleason, Malcolm Gets, Gilles Marini. Exuberant follow-up to Darren Star's hit TV series about four inseparable gal-pals. Their leader—and our

narrator—Carrie Bradshaw (Parker) is about to do the unthinkable and marry her longtime lover, Mr. Big (Noth), but the best laid plans . . . Funny, insightful, and sexually candid, this entertaining movie puts a 21st-century spin on female friendship in middle age. Hudson is a welcome addition as a new assistant who has the same dreams and aspirations Parker did when she first came to N.Y.C. Written by the director, a series veteran; based on the book by Candace Bushnell. Alternate version runs 157m. Super 35. [R] ●

Sex and the Other Man (1996) C-89m.

*½ D: Karl Slovin. Stanley Tucci, Kari Wuhrer, Ron Eldard. Impotent Eldard discovers his sex-starved girlfriend (Wuhrer) about to hop into bed with her yuppie wimp boss (Tucci), and promptly goes bonkers. Good cast flounders in this poorly scripted, sloppily directed psychodrama. [R] ▼●●

Sex and the Single Girl (1964) C-114m.

½ D: Richard Quine. Natalie Wood, Tony Curtis, Lauren Bacall, Henry Fonda, Mel Ferrer, Fran Jeffries, Edward Everett Horton, Larry Storch, Stubby Kaye, Count Basie and Orchestra. Helen Gurley Brown's book shoved aside, title used to exploit fairly amusing tale of smut-magazine editor Curtis wooing notorious female psychologist Wood. Bacall and Fonda wrap it up as a battling married couple. Coscripted by Joseph Heller. ▼●●

Sex Drive (2008) C-109m. *½ D: Sean

Anders. Josh Zuckerman, Clark Duke, Amanda Crew, James Marsden, Seth Green, David Koechner, Brian Posehn, Alice Greczyn, Katrina Bowden. High school senior Zuckerman finally has the chance to lose his virginity to a girl he met on the Internet. He and his best friends (Duke, Crew) embark on a road trip to meet up with the girl and make all of his dreams come true—or so he thinks. Crude, predictable gags and situations abound, though the cast does its best. Unrated version runs 129m. [R] ●

Sex, Drugs, Rock & Roll (1991) C-96m.

½ D: John McNaughton. Eric Bogosian. Industrial-strength performance film of Bogosian's one-man stage show, locking us in a room with ten insufferables it would be a pleasure to avoid. Keenly observed, though, with Bogosian a brilliant mimic; film should benefit from at-home showings, enabling viewers to absorb as much or little as they want in a single sitting. [R] ▼

Sex Is Comedy (2002-French-Portuguese)

C-92m.  D: Catherine Breillat. Anne Parillaud, Grégoire Colin, Roxane Mesquida, Ashley Wanninger, Dominique Colladant, Bart Binnema. Turgid semi-autobiographical account of a filmmaker (Parillaud) and the problems she encounters while shooting a difficult sex scene with two performers who loathe each other. Mesquida, who plays the actress, appeared in a similar sequence in Breillat's FAT GIRL; this film is an offshoot. Off-putting, barefaced Breillat ego trip, but still of interest as a peek into the filmmaking process, showing how a tyrannical, insecure director attempts to control her actors. [R] ▼

Sex Kittens Go to College (1960) 94m. BOMB D: Albert Zugsmith. Mamie Van Doren, Tuesday Weld, Mijanou Bardot (Bridgette's sister), Louis Nye, Martin Milner, Mickey Shaughnessy, Pamela Mason, (Norman) "Woo Woo" Grabowski, Jackie Coogan, John Carradine. Priceless title and cast fail to deliver in shockingly unfunny comedy; new head of college science department (Mamie, working very hard to convince us she's a genius) turns out to be an ex-stripper. Finding a movie with worse direction would be almost as impossible as finding another movie with a night club jazz combo fronted by Conway Twitty! Don't say you weren't warned. Aka THE BEAUTY AND THE ROBOT.

sex, lies, and videotape (1989) C-100m.  D: Steven Soderbergh. James Spader, Annie MacDowell, Peter Gallagher, Laura San Giacomo. A selfish, successful lawyer—whose wife has turned frigid and whose sister-in-law has become his lover—welcomes an old college friend for a visit, little dreaming the effect he'll have on all of them. This intriguing, exceptionally well-acted first feature for writer-director Soderbergh took top prize at the Cannes Film Festival; its deliberate pace and talky nature are reminiscent of an Eric Rohmer film—and like one of his, it's not to everyone's taste. [R] ▼

Sextette (1978) C-91m. BOMB D: Ken Hughes. Mae West, Tony Curtis, Ringo Starr, Dom DeLuise, Timothy Dalton, George Hamilton, Alice Cooper, Keith Moon, Rona Barrett, Walter Pidgeon, George Raft. Astonishing is the only word for this comedy about a Hollywood glamor queen whose many ex-husbands keep popping up during her latest honeymoon. Naturally there's curiosity value in seeing octogenarian Mae still strutting her stuff, but it wears out pretty fast. Her last movie, based on her play Sex. [PG] ▼

Sexy Beast (2001-British-Spanish) C-88m. ½ D: Jonathan Glazer. Ray Winstone, Ben Kingsley, Ian McShane, Amanda Redman, Cavan Kendall, Julianne White, Alvaro Monje, James Fox. A retired British gangster, living the good life in Spain, is visited by a vicious hood who wants him to work one more job. Stylish, brutal, modern-day gangster yarn has good performances—including a bravura turn by Kingsley as the ferocious visitor—but leaves a bad aftertaste. Super 35. [R] ▼

S.F.W. (1995) C-92m. BOMB D: Jefery Levy. Stephen Dorff, Reese Witherspoon, Jake Busey, Joey Lauren Adams, Pamela

Gidley, David Barry Gray, Jack Noseworthy, Richard Portnow, Annie McEnroe, Natasha (Gregson) Wagner, Tobey Maguire, Gary Coleman. Self-described "serio-comedy about terrorism, beer, and talk shows" centers on a surly young rebel who becomes a nationwide hero after being held hostage for 36 days by convenience-store terrorists. Woe-fully self-deluding in terms of its own importance, strident film at least provides the catch phrase to summarize its worth: title stems from anti-hero Dorff's constant spouting of "S.F.W." (So [expletive] What?). [R] ▼

Sgt. Bilko (1996) C-94m.  D: Jonathan Lynn. Steve Martin, Dan Aykroyd, Phil Hartman, Glenne Headly, Daryl Mitchell, Max Casella, Eric Edwards, Dan Ferro, John Marshall Jones, Brian Ortiz, Pamela Segall, Catherine Silvers, Chris Rock, Richard Herd, Travis Tritt. Master Sergeant Ernie Bilko has a moneymaking scheme for every occasion at Fort Baxter, Kansas. His superior, Col. Hall (Aykroyd), looks the other way until the sergeant's long-ago nemesis Major Thorn (Hartman) turns up and seeks revenge. Amiable recycling of the classic 1950s Nat Hiken TV comedy series, which starred Phil Silvers; that's his daughter Catherine as the owlish, uptight Pentagon auditor. Martin remains a first-rate farceur and is surrounded by a highly capable comedy cast. Super 35. [PG] ▼

Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band (1978) C-111m. *½ D: Michael Schultz. Peter Frampton, The Bee Gees, George Burns, Frankie Howerd, Donald Pleasence, Sandy Farina, Dianne Steinberg, Billy Preston, Steve Martin, Earth, Wind & Fire. Attempt to link songs from The Beatles' classic album into some sort of storyline just doesn't work; sequences range from tolerable to embarrassing. As to The Bee Gees' acting talent, if you can't say something nice . . . Panavision. [PG] ▼

Shack Out on 101 (1955) 80m.  D: Edward Dein. Terry Moore, Frank Lovejoy, Lee Marvin, Keenan Wynn, Whit Bissell. Lee Marvin is Slob in this trash classic about the efforts of hash slinger Moore to combat Communism while juggling the lecherous advances of nearly all her co-stars. Absolutely one of a kind, with most of the action taking place on a single shabby set (Wynn's beanery). ▼

Shades of Fear (1993-British) C-92m.  D: Beeban Kidron. Rakiye Ayola, John Hurt, Jonathan Pryce, Vanessa Redgrave, Dorothy Tutin. Flat, disappointing drama about a young woman (Ayola) who aspires to become a pilot and the various characters who cross her path as she sails for England. Scripted by Jeanette Winterson, who wrote the far superior ORANGES ARE NOT THE ONLY FRUIT, the British telefilm which helped establish Kidron's reputation.

Original title: GREAT MOMENTS IN AVIATION. [R]▼

Shadey (1985-British) C-106m. ½ D: Philip Saville. Antony Sher, Billie Whitelaw, Patrick Macnee, Lesley Ash, Larry Lamb, Bernard Hepton, Katherine Helmond. Occasionally funny but mostly uninvolved comedy-fantasy-thriller about the title character (Sher), who is able to transmit to film visions from his mind. He wants to use his ability only for peaceful purposes—yet he also needs money for a sex-change operation. Helmond's role is best, that of a hilariously unpredictable, looney Lady.▼

Shadow, The (1994) C-108m. ½ D: Russell Mulcahy. Alec Baldwin, John Lone, Penelope Ann Miller, Peter Boyle, Ian McKellen, Tim Curry, Jonathan Winters, Sab Shimono, Andre Gregory, James Hong, Arsenio "Sonny" Trinidad, Joseph Maher, John Kapelos, Max Wright, Ethan Phillips, Larry Joshua. Lamont Cranston, having lived a life of moral degradation, is "reborn" as a singleminded crimefighter with the ability to cloud men's minds. This adaptation of the venerable pulp novels and beloved radio show (brought to the screen before in the late 1930s, and in a 1940 serial) comes frustratingly close to working, but fails. Cranston is both inscrutable and uninteresting. Great production design and wonderful effects get lost in a movie that keeps the viewer at arm's length throughout. And what a waste of a great supporting cast! [PG-13]▼

Shadowboxer (2006) C-93m.  D: Lee Daniels. Helen Mirren, Cuba Gooding, Jr., Stephen Dorff, Vanessa Ferlito, Joseph Gordon-Levitt, Macy Gray. Hit woman Mirren and her partner Gooding have an unusual personal and professional relationship, but he's unprepared for her to make the decision she does when confronted with an assignment that calls for her to shoot a pregnant young woman. The two stars are at their very best in this highly offbeat, brutally violent sleeper, best taken as stylized storytelling and not as a slice of real life. Panavision. [R]▼

Shadow Conspiracy (1997) C-103m. BOMB D: George P. Cosmatos. Charlie Sheen, Donald Sutherland, Linda Hamilton, Stephen Lang, Ben Gazzara, Nicholas Turturro, Sam Waterston, Charles Cioffi, Theodore Bikel, Gore Vidal, Terry O'Quinn, Paul Gleason, Penny Fuller. White House whiz kid Sheen learns of a sinister conspiracy in the highest levels of the government, but soon becomes a target of the sinister killer himself. Painfully obvious, wearily derivative, and driven by ludicrous coincidences. Panavision. [R]▼

Shadowlands (1985-British) C-90m.  D: Norman Stone. Joss Ackland, Claire Bloom, David Waller, Rupert Baderman, Rhys Hopkins. Poignant, wise, quietly rewarding drama about British writer C. S.

Lewis (Ackland), a confirmed bachelor, and how he is changed when he falls in love with American divorcée Bloom. Lovely performances by the stars; exceptional award-caliber script by William Nicholson, who later turned this into a stage play. Aka C. S. LEWIS: THROUGH THE SHADOWLANDS. Remade in 1993.▼

Shadowlands (1993-British) C-130m. ½ D: Richard Attenborough. Anthony Hopkins, Debra Winger, Edward Hardwicke, Michael Denison, Joseph Mazzello, John Wood, Robert Fleming, Peter Howell, Peter Firth. Absorbing tale of British writer C. S. Lewis (The Lion, The Witch and the Wardrobe) whose comfortable if rigid life as an Oxford don in the 1950s is shaken by his meeting with a forthright American poet, Joy Gresham. Intelligent and moving, with Hopkins in peak form and Winger his match; the supporting actors are equally good. Filmed on location at Oxford. Adapted by William Nicholson from his 1985 television script and subsequent play. Panavision. [PG]▼

Shadow Magic (2000-Chinese-German) C-115m.  D: Ann Hu. Jared Harris, Xia Yu, Xing Yufei, Liu Peiqi, Lu Liping. In what could be called CHINESE PARADISO, the earliest days of China's film industry are portrayed in this story of a traveling Englishman. His show, called "shadow magic," causes wonder and conflict all around as it turns the camera's eye on people who see themselves and their country in a way they never have before. Delightful look at early-20th-century China and the culture-bridging effect only movies seem to achieve. Feature debut for N.Y.-based director Hu. [PG]▼

Shadow of a Doubt (1943) 108m. ½ D: Alfred Hitchcock. Teresa Wright, Joseph Cotten, Macdonald Carey, Patricia Collinge, Henry Travers, Wallace Ford, Hume Cronyn. Perceptive Americana intertwined with story of young girl who slowly comes to realize her beloved Uncle Charley is really the Merry Widow murderer; Cronyn steals film as nosy pulp-story fan, in his film debut. Scripted by Thornton Wilder, Alma Reville, and Sally Benson from Gordon McDonell's story. Remade in 1958 (as STEP DOWN TO TERROR) and for TV in 1991.▼

Shadow of the Thin Man (1941) 97m.  D: W. S. Van Dyke II. William Powell, Myrna Loy, Barry Nelson, Donna Reed, Sam Levene, Alan Baxter. Nick and Nora probe murder at a race track and run into the usual assortment of shady characters in this agreeable fourth entry in the series, notable for famed future acting teacher Stella Adler in a rare film role (as a gambler's moll). Look fast for Ava Gardner walking by a car at the race track.▼

Shadow of the Vampire (2000-U.S.-British)

C-93m. ½ D: E. Elias Merhige. John Malkovich, Willem Dafoe, Cary Elwes, John Aden Gillet (Aden Gillett), Eddie Izzard, Udo Kier, Catherine McCormack. Colorful and amusing fiction about the making of F.W. Murnau's classically creepy German silent film NOSFERATU. Malkovich is good as always as the fastidious filmmaker; Dafoe is exceptional as Max Schreck, an actor (or is he?) cast as the vampire. Film has a unique look and feel. Screenplay by Steven Katz. Super 35. [R]▼

Shadow of the Wolf (1993-Canadian-French) C-112m.  D: Jacques Dorfman. Lou Diamond Phillips, Toshiro Mifune, Jennifer Tilly, Bernard-Pierre Donnadiou, Donald Sutherland. Overwrought adventure epic set in the Arctic, in which a murder sets the stage for an Eskimo couple's battle against the overwhelming odds of nature and fate. Based on the best-selling Canadian novel Agaguk, this film looks expensive—and is—but despite the talent in front of the camera and behind it (including Oscar-winning cinematographer Billy Williams), the scenery easily upstages the drama. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●

Shadow of Zorro, The (1962-Italian) C-84m. *½ D: Joaquin Romero Marchent. Frank Latimore, Maria Luz Galicia, Mario Felciani, Marco Tullii. Clumsy film with lackluster performance by Latimore in title role of Don Jose, who combats outlaws masked as Zorro. Aka ZORRO THE AVENGER. Totalscope.▼

Shadow on the Wall (1950) 84m.  D: Patrick Jackson. Ann Sothern, Zachary Scott, Gigi Perreau, Nancy Davis (Reagan), Kristine Miller, John McIntire, Barbara Billingsley. Clever noir-ish melodrama with young Perreau traumatized when she thinks she sees her beloved father (Scott) murder her adulterous stepmother. Davis has one of her best roles as a psychiatrist.

Shadow Play (1986) C-95m. *½ D: Susan Shadburne. Dee Wallace Stone, Cloris Leachman, Ron Kuhlman, Barry Laws, Al Strobel. Tepid chiller about playwright Stone, and the psychological problems she's been facing since her lover's demise. Very minor fare. [R]▼

Shadows (1960) 87m.  D: John Cassavetes. Hugh Hurd, Lelia Goldoni, Ben Carruthers, Anthony Ray, Rupert Crosse, Tom Allen (Reese). Cassavetes' first film as director, an improvisational, groundbreaking, independently made effort about a light-skinned black girl (Goldoni) who becomes involved with a Caucasian (Ray). Formless, crude, but strikingly realistic, with great use of N.Y.C. locations. Look fast for Cassavetes, Genia Rowlands, Seymour Cassel, and Bobby Darin.▼●

Shadows and Fog (1992) 86m.  D: Woody Allen. Woody Allen, Kathy Bates, John Cusack, Mia Farrow, Jodie Foster,

Fred Gwynne, Julie Kavner, Madonna, John Malkovich, Kenneth Mars, Kate Nelligan, Donald Pleasence, Lily Tomlin, Philip Bosco, Robert Joy, Wallace Shawn, Kurtwood Smith, Josef Sommer, David Ogden Stiers, John C. Reilly, W. (William) H. Macy. A Kafkaesque nightmare, shrouded in fog, is Woody-ized with only mildly comic results. A strangler who strikes at night terrorizes a city—and a nebbish who's caught between conspiratorial factions in the town. A galaxy of stars pop up in cameo roles, which is more a distraction than an asset. [PG-13]▼●●

Shadows of the Peacock SEE: Echoes of Paradise

Shadows Run Black (1986) C-89m. *½ D: Howard Heard. William J. Kulzer, Elizabeth Troser, Shea Porter, George J. Engelson, Dianne Hinkler. Routine slasher film about cop tracking supposed vigilante killer who is preying on a high school ring dealing in drugs and prostitution. An early role for Kevin Costner. Filmed in 1981.▼

Shadowzone (1990) C-89m.  D: J. S. Cardone. David Beecroft, Louise Fletcher, Shawn Weatherly, James Hong, Miguel Nunez, Lu Leonard, Frederick Flynn. Experiments in human sleep have unlocked a path to another dimension, and a monster invades an isolated underground government lab in Nevada. Basically just another ALIEN imitation, but it's reasonably suspenseful, well produced on a low budget. Written by the director.▼●

Shadrach (1998) C-86m.  D: Susanna Styron. Andie MacDowell, Harvey Keitel, John Franklin Sawyer, Monica Bugajski, Scott Terra, Darrell Larson, Deborah Hedwall, Daniel Treat; narrated by Martin Sheen. Nicely realized film set in Virginia in 1935. A 99-year-old former slave walks hundreds of miles to the ramshackle property now owned by Keitel and MacDowell so he can die on the land where he was born. Though he's a stranger—and a strange presence indeed—the family feels compelled to help him. Kudos to first-time director Styron; the film is adapted from a short story by her father William. [PG-13]▼●●

Shaft (1971) C-100m.  D: Gordon Parks. Richard Roundtree, Moses Gunn, Charles Cioffi, Christopher St. John, Drew Bundini Brown, Gwenn Mitchell, Lawrence Pressman, Antonio Fargas. Slick, upbeat entertainment has Ernest Tidyman's black private-eye John Shaft hired to find kidnapped daughter of Harlem ganglord. Heavy doses of sex and violence professionally packaged by director Parks. Isaac Hayes' theme won Oscar. Followed by two sequels and a TV series. Remade (very loosely) in 2000. [R]▼●●

Shaft (2000) C-98m.  D: John Singleton. Samuel L. Jackson, Vanessa Williams, Jeffrey Wright, Christian Bale, Busta Rhymes,

Dan Hedaya, Toni Collette, Richard Roundtree, Ruben Santiago-Hudson, Josef Sommer, Lynne Thigpen, Philip Bosco, Pat Hingle, Mekhi Phifer. Fiercely independent N.Y.C. detective (nephew of same-named John Shaft, played by Roundtree) allows personal feelings to affect his behavior in dealing with a smug, racist criminal (Bale) and a Dominican drug lord (Wright). Jackson cuts a dashing figure in Armani, Isaac Hayes's theme song still resonates, but there's no sex in this slick update of the 1971 crime thriller. Gordon Parks, who made the original SHAFT, has a cameo. Super 35. [R]▼●

Shaft in Africa (1973) C-112m.  D: John Guillermin. Richard Roundtree, Frank Finlay, Vonetta McGee, Neda Arneric, Cy Grant, Jacques Marin. Strong action vehicle for Roundtree finds detective Shaft forced into helping African nation stop latter-day slave trading. Extremely tough and violent. Script by Stirling Silliphant. Panavision. [R]▼●

Shaft's Big Score! (1972) C-104m.  D: Gordon Parks. Richard Roundtree, Moses Gunn, Drew Bundini Brown, Joseph Mascolo, Kathy Imrie, Wally Taylor, Joe Santos. Dynamic sequel to SHAFT (reteaming director Parks and writer Ernest Tidyman) has private eye Roundtree running afoul of the underworld as he investigates a friend's murder. Sexy, violent, with hair-raising chase finale; Parks also did the music. Panavision. [R]▼●

Shag (1988) C-98m. ½ D: Zelda Barron. Phoebe Cates, Scott Coffey, Bridget Fonda, Annabeth Gish, Page Hannah, Robert Rusler, Tyrone Power, Jr., Jeff Yagher, Carrie Hamilton, Shirley Anne Field. Southern belle high-school grad Cates is about to get married, so her three girlfriends decide to take her on a "last fling" weekend to Myrtle Beach. Pleasant outing set in 1963 with an unusually appealing and talented young cast. [PG]▼●●

Shaggy D.A., The (1976) C-91m.  D: Robert Stevenson. Dean Jones, Suzanne Pleshette, Tim Conway, Keenan Wynn, Jo Anne Worley, Dick Van Patten. Sequel to Disney's SHAGGY DOG is winning slapstick romp, with Jones as helpless victim of transformations. Cast is peppered with a score of movie veterans in supporting and bit parts. Followed by THE RETURN OF THE SHAGGY DOG. [G]▼●●

Shaggy Dog, The (1959) 104m. ½ D: Charles Barton. Fred MacMurray, Jean Hagen, Tommy Kirk, Annette Funicello, Tim Considine, Kevin Corcoran, Cecil Kellaway, Alexander Scourby. Disney's first slapstick comedy has fine fantasy premise (a boy who turns into a sheepdog through ancient spell) but sluggish script. Some good gags, but not up to later Disney standard. Jack Albertson has bit part as reporter. Sequels: THE SHAGGY D.A. and a

1987 TV movie, THE RETURN OF THE SHAGGY DOG. Remade in 2006 and for TV in 1994. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Shaggy Dog, The (2006) C-98m.  D: Brian Robbins. Tim Allen, Robert Downey, Jr., Kristin Davis, Danny Glover, Spencer Breslin, Zena Grey, Jane Curtin, Philip Baker Hall, Craig Kilborn, Laura Kightlinger. Deputy D.A. Allen is so wrapped up in his work he's lost touch with his wife and kids; then a bite from a mystical Tibetan sheepdog turns him into a canine! Five writers created this needlessly complicated remake of the 1959 Disney comedy and its 1976 sequel, THE SHAGGY D.A. Takes a long time to get to the Funny Stuff, and never pays off as well as it should. Adults will bemoan the waste of talent; kids may be less judgmental. Super 35. [PG]●

Shaka Zulu SEE: Mark of the Hawk, The Shakedown (1950) 80m. ½ D: Joseph Pevney. Howard Duff, Peggy Dow, Brian Donlevy, Bruce Bennett, Peggie Castle, Anne Vernon, Lawrence Tierney. Fast-paced but familiar chronicle of ambitious photographer Duff, who uses any and all means—starting with blackmail—to get ahead. Look for Rock Hudson as a doorman.

Shakedown (1988) C-90m.  D: James Glickenhaus. Peter Weller, Sam Elliott, Patricia Charbonneau, Blanche Baker, Antonio Fargas, Richard Brooks, Tom Waits, Kathryn Rossetter, Paul Bartel, John C. McGinley. Entertaining actioner with public defender Weller and undercover cop Elliott combining forces to rid N.Y.C. of drugs and corruption. Good of its kind, with oodles of sensational stuntwork to compensate for the dearth of originality. [R]▼●●

Shake Hands With the Devil (1959) 110m. ½ D: Michael Anderson. James Cagney, Don Murray, Dana Wynter, Glynis Johns, Michael Redgrave, Cyril Cusack, Sybil Thorndike, Richard Harris. Gripping drama of war-torn Ireland in 1920s, with American student trying to stay aloof, but, drawn by circumstances, he joins rebel army led by iron-willed Cagney. Strikingly filmed on location.▼

Shake, Rattle and Rock (1956) 72m.  D: Edward L. Cahn. Touch (Mike) Connors, Lisa Gaye, Sterling Holloway, Fats Domino, Joe Turner, Tommy Charles, Margaret Dumont, Raymond Hatton. Sub-par 1950s rock film with standard plot about adults trying to put the lid on kids' music, benefitting from presences of Domino, Turner, and veteran character actors. Partially remade in 1994 for cable TV.▼

Shaker Run (1985-New Zealand) C-90m.  D: Bruce Morrison. Cliff Robertson, Leif Garrett, Lisa Harrow, Shane Briant, Ian Mune, Peter Rowell, Peter Hayden, Bruce Phillips. Robertson adds character to this otherwise predictable (and implausible) car chase drama. He's a crusty American stunt driver, touring in New Zealand, who unknowingly becomes involved in a plot to transport a stolen virus. ▼●●

Shakespeare in Love (1998) C-122m.

½ D: John Madden. Joseph Fiennes, Gwyneth Paltrow, Geoffrey Rush, Judi Dench, Simon Callow, Colin Firth, Imelda Staunton, Ben Affleck, Tom Wilkinson, Martin Clunes, Antony Sher. Spirited, entertaining speculation about a love affair that inspired Will Shakespeare (Fiennes) to write Romeo and Juliet. Witty, sensual, and peopled with colorful characters. Climactic performance in the 16th-century theater is as vivid a re-creation of theatergoing in Shakespeare's time as anyone could hope for. Screenplay by Marc Norman and Tom Stoppard. Rupert Everett appears unbilled as Christopher Marlowe. Winner of seven Oscars including Best Picture, Screenplay, Actress (Paltrow), Supporting Actress (Dench), Costumes (Sandy Powell), Score (Stephen Warbeck). Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Shakespeare Wallah (1965-Indian) 115m.

 D: James Ivory. Shashi Kapoor, Felicity Kendal, Geoffrey Kendal, Laura Liddell, Madhur Jaffrey, Utpal Dutt. Playboy Kapoor, who has an actress-mistress, romances Felicity Kendal, a member of a two-bit English theatrical company touring Shakespeare in India. Simple, poignant drama. ▼

Shakes the Clown (1991) C-83m. BOMB

D: Bobcat Goldthwait. Bobcat Goldthwait, Julie Brown, Blake Clark, Adam Sandler, Tom Kenny, Sydney Lassick, Paul Dooley, Florence Henderson, Tim Kazurinsky, La Wanda Page, Robin Williams. Excruciating would-be-comic mishmash about an alcoholic clown (Goldthwait) whose slowly disintegrating "career" virtually collapses when he's framed on a murder rap. Aimless, crude, and headache-inducing, not even salvaged by Williams' brief, unbilled appearance as a mime teacher. Not the cultish black comedy one would like it to be. Goldthwait also scripted. [R] ▼●●

Shakiest Gun in the West, The (1968)

C-101m. ½ D: Alan Rafkin. Don Knotts, Barbara Rhoades, Jackie Coogan, Donald Barry, Ruth McDevitt, Frank McGrath. Remake of Bob Hope's THE PALEFACE provides Knotts with one of his better vehicles, as Philadelphia dentist who finds himself out West, tangled up with gunslingers and beautiful Rhoades. Techniscope. ▼●●

Shalako (1968-British) C-113m. *½ D:

Edward Dmytryk. Sean Connery, Brigitte Bardot, Stephen Boyd, Jack Hawkins, Peter Van Eyck, Honor Blackman, Woody Strode, Alexander Knox, Valerie French. European aristocrats on hunting tour of New Mexico during 1880s are menaced by Apaches. Supposed potent casting of Connery and Bardot can't revive slow-moving Western, based on a Louis L'Amour novel. Franscope.

[M/PG] ▼

Shalimar (1978-Indian) C-85m. *½ D:

Krishna Shah. Rex Harrison, Sylvia Miles, John Saxon, Dharmendra, Zenat Aman, Shammi Kapoor. Wily Harrison invites the world's greatest thieves to try and steal the world's most valuable ruby from his custody—at the risk of their lives. This was filmed in both English and Hindi-language versions, but the results were so dull that the English print never made it to theaters. Video title: DEADLY THIEF. ▼

Shallow Grave (1994-Scottish) C-94m.

 D: Danny Boyle. Kerry Fox, Christopher Eccleston, Ewan McGregor, Ken Stott, Keith Allen, Colin McCredie. Three Edinburgh roommates—a sardonic trio with an iconoclastic worldview—take in a boarder. When they find him dead, and a suitcase full of money in his possession, their worst instincts rise to the surface and involve them in a snowballing scheme to keep the cash. Razor-sharp thriller from screenwriter John Hodge and first-time feature director Boyle is as cold as ice (and too mean-spirited for some tastes) but fascinating at the same time. A Scottish variation on BLOOD SIMPLE with stylistic ties to that flamboyant film. [R] ▼●●

Shallow Hal (2001) C-114m.  D: Bobby

Farrelly, Peter Farrelly. Gwyneth Paltrow, Jack Black, Jason Alexander, Joe Viterelli, Rene Kirby, Bruce McGill, Tony Robbins, Susan Ward, Zen Gesner, Brooke Burns, Rob Moran. Would-be stud Black pursues women strictly for their looks, until self-help guru Robbins hypnotizes him to see only their inner beauty. Thus, an obese Paltrow looks slim and beautiful in his eyes, and he falls madly in love with her. Lumbering attempt at a message movie from the creators of DUMB & DUMBER, with too few laughs—and too much hypocrisy—to score as either comedy or morality tale. [PG-13] ▼

Shall We Dance (1937) 116m. ½ D:

Mark Sandrich. Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Eric Blore, Edward Everett Horton, Ann Shoemaker, Jerome Cowan, Harriet Hoctor. Lesser Astaire-Rogers is still top musical, with Gershwin's "Let's Call The Whole Thing Off," "They All Laughed," and "They Can't Take That Away From Me" holding together flimsy plot about dance team pretending to be wed. ▼●●

Shall We Dance? (1996-Japanese) C-118m.

½ D: Masayuki Suo. Koji Yakusho, Tamiyo Kusakari, Naoto Takenaka, Eriko Watanabe, Akira Emoto, Yu Tokui, Hiromasa Taguchi, Reiko Kusamura. Beautifully realized film of middle-aged businessman (Yakusho), who secretly yearns to break out of the rigid conformity of his daily life, encountering the world of ballroom dance. Deliberately paced and laced with humor, with a

game cast. Ballerina-turned-actress Kusakari matches Yakusho's fine performance. Written by the director. Remade in 2004. [PG]▼●●
Shall We Dance (2004) C-106m. ½ D: Peter Chelsom. Richard Gere, Jennifer Lopez, Susan Sarandon, Stanley Tucci, Bobby Cannavale, Lisa Ann Walter, Omar Benson Miller, Anita Gillette, Richard Jenkins, Nick Cannon. Adequate remake of the Japanese hit with Gere as a Chicago lawyer who's devoted to his family but immersed in the banality of everyday life; on an impulse, he begins taking ballroom dancing lessons with sultry Lopez. Likable enough, but far too predictable; lacks the heart and soul of the original. [PG-13] ▼●

Shame (1949) SEE: Not Wanted

Shame (1962) SEE: Intruder, The

Shame (1968-Swedish) 103m. * D: Ingmar Bergman. Liv Ullmann, Max von Sydow, Gunnar Bjornstrand, Sigge Furst, Birgitta Valberg, Hans Alfredson. Powerful, brilliantly acted drama (written by the director) examines how married concert violinists are morally challenged by a civil war that rages across their island. One of Bergman's best. [R]▼●

Shame (1988-Australian) C-90m.  D: Steve Jodrell. Deborra-Lee Furness, Tony Barry, Simone Buchanan, Gillian Jones, Peter Aaenensen, Margaret Ford. Unusual, watchable, but not terribly successful feminist revenge piece, as femme motorcyclist/lawyer takes on a village of goons who look the other way when a gang of teen boys rapes a 16-year-old girl. Strange mix of genres—biker movie, neo-Western, and more—but no MAD MAX. Remade for U.S. TV. [R]▼●

Shameless Old Lady, The (1965-French) 94m.  D: Rene Allio. Sylvie, Malka Ribovska, Victor Lanoux, Etienne Bierry. Bertolt Brecht story charmingly brought to the screen. Sylvie is terrific as old woman who lives alone and follows a drab and uneventful routine until there is a strange turnabout in her relationships with others.▼

Shame of the Jungle (1975-French-Belgian) C-73m. *½ D: Picha, Boris Szulzinger. Voices of Johnny Weissmuller, Jr., John Belushi, Bill Murray, Brian Doyle-Murray, Christopher Guest, Andrew Duncan. Raunchy cartoon spoof of Tarzan films, created by Belgian cartoonist Picha, then Americanized for U.S. release in 1979 by Saturday Night Live writers Anne Beatts and Michael O'Donoghue, with stars of that show providing voices. Crass, unfunny, and unattractive, despite a promising start. Original French-language version ran 85m. [R—edited from original X rating]▼

Shaming, The SEE: Good Luck, Miss Wyckoff

Shampoo (1975) C-109m. ½ D: Hal Ashby. Warren Beatty, Julie Christie, Goldie Hawn, Lee Grant, Jack Warden, Tony

Bill, Carrie Fisher, Howard Hesseman. Muddy satire of morals and mores in Southern California, centered around restless hairdresser and his demanding female customers. Some bright moments lost in dreary comedy-drama by Beatty and Robert Towne. Fisher's film debut; Grant won Best Supporting Actress Oscar. [R]▼●●

Shamus (1973) C-106m.  D: Buzz Kulik. Burt Reynolds, Dyan Cannon, Giorgio Tozzi, John Ryan, Joe Santos. Exciting but mindless story of offbeat private-eye trying to crack bizarre case while recovering from numerous beatings, jumpings, and other heroic exploits. [PG]▼●●

Shane (1953) C-118m. * D: George Stevens. Alan Ladd, Jean Arthur, Van Heflin, (Walter) Jack Palance, Brandon de Wilde, Ben Johnson, Edgar Buchanan, Emile Meyer, Elisha Cook, Jr. Former gunfighter Ladd comes to defense of homesteaders and is idolized by their son. Palance is unforgettable in role of creepy hired gunslinger. Classic Western is splendid in every way. Breathtaking cinematography by Loyal Griggs won an Oscar. Screenplay by A. B. Guthrie, Jr., from the Jack Schaefer novel. Arthur's final film. Shot in 1951. Later a brief TV series. ▼●●

Shanghai Express (1932) 80m.  D: Josef von Sternberg. Marlene Dietrich, Anna May Wong, Warner Oland, Clive Brook, Eugene Palette, Louise Closser Hale. Dated but prime Dietrich vehicle, grandly photographed by Lee Garmes (who won an Oscar). Marlene is Shanghai Lily, Brook her old flame, Oland a cruel war lord, Wong a spunky partisan, in Jules Furthman-scripted yarn of train ride through China during civil warfare. Remade as PEKING EXPRESS.▼●

Shanghai Gesture, The (1941) 98m.  D: Josef von Sternberg. Gene Tierney, Walter Huston, Victor Mature, Ona Munson, Maria Ouspenskaya, Phyllis Brooks, Albert Bassermann, Eric Blore, Mike Mazurki. Slow, overblown drama of Huston discovering daughter Tierney in Asian gambling setup. Intriguing direction somehow never makes it. The mural is by artist (and actor) Keye Luke!▼●●

Shanghai Knights (2003) C-114m.  D: David Dobkin. Jackie Chan, Owen Wilson, Aaron Johnson, Thomas Fisher, Aidan Gillen, Fann Wong, Donnie Yen, Gemma Jones. Inane follow-up to SHANGHAI NOON sends Chan and Wilson to 1887 London to recover a precious royal seal that Chan's father was guarding in the Forbidden City of China. The star teaming is no longer fresh, the story is as phony as the bogus Victorian settings, and the comedy is strained throughout this manufactured sequel. Chan's action scenes are the only bright spots. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●

Shanghai Noon (2000) C-110m. ½ D: Tom Dey. Jackie Chan, Owen Wilson, Lucy

Liu, Brandon Merrill, Roger Yuan, Rafael Baez, Walton Goggins, Xander Berkeley, Jason Connery. In 1881, a faithful servant to Chinese princess follows her from the Forbidden City to Nevada, where she's been taken by kidnapers; along the way he forms a thorny partnership with a slick outlaw who's got the gift of gab. Enjoyable if uneven Western comedy gets better as it goes along and Chan goes into action; still no match for Jackie's Asian starring vehicles. Followed by SHANGHAI KNIGHTS. Panavision. [PG-13]▼

Shanghai Surprise (1986) C-97m. BOMB D: Jim Goddard. Sean Penn, Madonna, Paul Freeman, Richard Griffiths, Philip Sayer, Clyde Kusatsu, Kay Tong Lim. Missionary Madonna hires adventurer Penn (her then real-life husband) to capture a cache of stolen opium (for medicinal purposes only) in 1937 China. It's all stupefyingly dull. As one critic noted, it's tough for Penn to succeed in the grand adventure movie tradition when the screen legend he most reminds you of here is Ratso Rizzo. Coexecutive producer George Harrison, who appears briefly as a nightclub singer, wrote the songs. [PG-13]▼

Shanghai Triad (1995-Chinese-French) C-109m.  D: Zhang Yimou. Gong Li, Li Baotian, Li Suejian, Shun Chun, Wang Xiao Xiao. Absorbing tale of Chinese underworld in the 1930s, focusing on a boy who's hired to be the silent servant of a pampered nightclub queen—the mistress of one of Shanghai's gangland bosses. An intriguing companion piece to American gangster movies, and another dazzling showcase for leading lady Gong Li. [R]▼

Shanks (1974) C-93m.  D: William Castle. Marcel Marceau, Tsilla Chelton, Philippe Clay, Cindy Eilbacher, Helena Kallianiotis, Larry Bishop. One of the strangest movies ever made: mute puppeteer Marceau is given device by dying inventor (also Marceau) which can animate dead bodies. Relatively little dialogue in this bizarre horror-fantasy; alternately amusing and disturbing, with unique performances by three top mimes. A real curio from Castle; his final film as director. [PG]

Shaolin Soccer (2001-Hong Kong) C-111m.  D: Stephen Chow. Stephen Chow, Vicki Zhao, Ng Mang Tat, Patrick Tse Yin, Cecilia Cheung, Karen Mok, Vincent Kok, Li Hui. Injured soccer player discovers a down-and-out kung fu master (Chow) with a strong kick and decides to build a team around him. His goal: to beat the team coached by the man who caused his lameness so many years ago. Marriage of underdog story with martial arts and special effects was a huge comedy hit in Hong Kong for writer-director-star Chow, but loses something in translation, playing like a souped-up SON OF FLUBBER. Opened in Hong Kong at 97m., then expanded by Chow. [PG-13]▼

Shape of Things, The (2003) C-97m. ½ D: Neil LaBute. Rachel Weisz, Paul Rudd, Gretchen Mol, Frederick Weller. Nerdy college student falls in love with a feisty art major who persuades him to improve his appearance. Their relationship also has an impact on his best friends, who have just gotten engaged. LaBute adapted his stage play (with its original N.Y. cast), which starts with a surprisingly light tone and then, inevitably, turns sour. The story's "lesson" is flawed at best, exposing only LaBute's certainty about the foulness of human nature. Panavision. [R]▼

Shape of Things to Come, The (1979-Canadian) C-95m. *½ D: George McCowan. Jack Palance, Carol Lynley, John Ireland, Barry Morse, Nicholas Campbell, Eddie Benton. Lackluster, low-budget remake of H. G. Wells story has nothing in common with 1936 THINGS TO COME, as few survivors of Earth's destruction are now living in peril on the moon. Diehard sci-fi fans may want to take a look, but it's hardly worth the trouble. [PG]▼

Shark! (1969-U.S.-Mexican) C-92m.  D: Samuel Fuller. Burt Reynolds, Barry Sullivan, Arthur Kennedy, Silvia Pinal, Enrique Lucero, Charles Berriochoa. Tired drama of adventurers diving for shark-guarded treasure earned some infamy when a stunt diver was killed by one of the beasts. Fuller disowned this production, which was taken out of his hands and re-edited. Reissued as MAN-EATER. [R—edited from original M rating]▼

Shark Boy of Bora Bora SEE: Beyond the Reef

Sharks' Treasure (1975) C-95m.  D: Cornel Wilde. Cornel Wilde, Yaphet Kotto, John Nellson, Cliff Osmond, David Canary, David Gilliam. Old-fashioned adventure yarn about diving for sunken treasure in the Caribbean is peppered with physical-fitness messages from director-writer-starWilde. [PG]▼

Shark Tale (2004) C-90m.  D: Vicky Jensen, Bibi Bergeron, Rob Letterman. Voices of Will Smith, Robert De Niro, Renée Zellweger, Jack Black, Angelina Jolie, Martin Scorsese, Peter Falk, Michael Imperioli, Vincent Pastore, Doug E. Doug, Ziggy Marley. Amusing underwater CG animated feature about a cocky street character (bearing Smith's voice and persona) who has big dreams and spins equally big lies. After saving the life of a fishy godfather's wimpy son, the two improbable allies find themselves in hot water—in more ways than one. Formulaic, but still fun, with enough clever ideas to amuse parents as well as kids. Film buffs will enjoy Sykes, a puffer fish who has Scorsese's eyebrows as well as his voice. [PG]▼

Sharky's Machine (1981) C-119m.  D: Burt Reynolds. Burt Reynolds, Rachel Ward, Vittorio Gassman, Brian Keith,

Charles Durning, Bernie Casey, Henry Silva, Earl Holliman, Richard Libertini, John Fiedler, Darryl Hickman, Hari Rhodes. Jarring, loud, and extremely bloody actioner; vice cop Reynolds' vendetta against underworld honcho Gassman intensifies after he falls for one of his $1000-a-night hookers (Ward). Action scenes are competently staged, but you'll eventually become numbed by all the sleaze; film's weirdest aspect is its mainstream jazz score. Based on the William Diehl novel, but won't fool anyone who's ever seen LAURA. [R]▼●●

Shatter SEE: Call Him Mr. Shatter

Shattered (1972) SEE: Something to Hide
Shattered (1991) C-98m. ½ D: Wolfgang Petersen. Tom Berenger, Bob Hoskins, Greta Scacchi, Joanne Whalley-Kilmer, Corbin Bernsen, Theodore Bikel. Man survives catastrophic car accident, but as an amnesiac; trying to piece his life back together, he uncovers growing evidence that things were not quite right even before the crash. Extremely well-made Hitchcock-like thriller comes closer to hitting the mark than most such pretenders, but still falls short. Implausibilities undo a capable cast. [R]▼●●

Shattered (2007-U.S.-British) C-95m. BOMB D: Mike Barker. Pierce Brosnan, Gerard Butler, Maria Bello, Claudette Mink, Callum Keith Rennie, Peter Keleghan. The perfect couple (Butler and Bello) have their lives turned upside down when their young daughter is kidnapped by sadistic Brosnan. They are then put through a series of twisted tests of love, trust, and betrayal to keep their child alive. Dull and pointless. [R]●

Shattered Glass (2003) C-94m. ½ D: Billy Ray. Hayden Christensen, Peter Sarsgaard, Chloë Sevigny, Rosario Dawson, Melanie Lynskey, Steve Zahn, Hank Azaria, Mark Blum, Ted Kotcheff. Reporter Stephen Glass endears himself to his colleagues at The New Republic magazine as he writes a series of colorful, amusing feature stories... until a rival discovers serious discrepancies in one of his pieces, and editor Chuck Lane (Sarsgaard) is forced to confront Glass' credibility. Based on a now-famous journalistic scandal from 1998, this well-made, entertaining film should have been a knockout, but the missing ingredient is a three-dimensional main character: Glass remains a cipher. Directing debut for screenwriter Ray. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●

Shaun of the Dead (2004-British) C-97m.  D: Edgar Wright. Simon Pegg, Kate Ashfield, Lucy Davis, Nick Frost, Dylan Moran, Bill Nighy, Penelope Wilton, Jessica Stevenson, Rafe Spall. Engaging comedy about a young working stiff (Pegg) who slowly—very slowly—begins to realize that London has been overrun by the walking dead. His only ally is his no-account roommate, his only thought, to rescue his girlfriend (who just broke up with him) and his mum. Clever and funny, whether you're a fan of the zombie genre or not. From the team responsible for the British TV series Spaced. Written by the director and leading actor Pegg. Super 35. [R]▼●

Shawshank Redemption, The (1994) C-142m. ½ D: Frank Darabont. Tim Robbins, Morgan Freeman, Bob Gunton, William Sadler, Clancy Brown, Gil Bellows, James Whitmore, Mark Rolston, Jeffrey DeMunn, Paul McCrane. Straight-arrow banker Robbins is railroaded for a double murder and sent to prison for life in the late 1940s. Fellow lifer Freeman and his buddies eventually come to admire Robbins' moral code—and his ability to get things done, in spite of a heinous warden and brutal prison guard. Widely praised film is well crafted but terribly overlong, and (like much of Stephen King's non-horror writing) hollow and predictable. First-time feature director Darabont adapted King's novella Rita Hayworth and Shawshank Redemption. [R]▼●●

She (1935) 95m.  D: Irving Pichel, Lansing C. Holden. Helen Gahagan, Randolph Scott, Helen Mack, Nigel Bruce, Gustav von Seyffertitz. Escapist adventure on a grand scale, from H. Rider Haggard's story of expedition seeking Flame of Eternal Life, which has been given to one all-powerful woman. Gahagan's cold personality is major drawback, but film is still fun, with outstanding Max Steiner score. Some prints run 89m. Previously filmed in 1917 and 1926, remade several times. Also available in computer-colored version. ●

She (1965-British) C-106m. ½ D: Robert Day. Ursula Andress, John Richardson, Peter Cushing, Bernard Cribbins, Christopher Lee, Andre Morell. Effective refilming of H. Rider Haggard's fantasy of love-starved eternal queen, seeking the reincarnation of her long-dead lover. The two leads certainly are attractive. Followed by THE VENGEANCE OF SHE. Hammerscope. ▼●●

She (1985-Italian) C-106m. BOMB D: Avi Neshet. Sandahl Bergman, David Goss, Quin Kessler, Harrison Muller, Elena Wiedermann, Gordon Mitchell. Bottom-of-the-barrel remake, loosely based on the H. Rider Haggard novel, chronicling the various adventures of the title character (Bergman). Shot in 1982. ▼

Sheba, Baby (1975) C-89m.  D: William Girdler. Pam Grier, Austin Stoker, D'Urville Martin, Rudy Challenger, Dick Merrillfield. Middling black action-melodrama with Grier as female private eye trying to help father and friend save their loan business. Less sex and violence than usual, but weak script and amateurish acting. [PG]▼●

She-Beast, The (1966-Italian-Yugoslavian) C-74m. ½ D: Michael Reeves. Barbara

Steele, John Karlsen, Ian Ogilvy, Mel Welles, Jay Riley, Richard Watson. A witch killed by Transylvanian villagers in 18th century comes back to life as modern, attractive English girl on her honeymoon. Really tacky, though it has some laughs. Crosscope. ▼●

She Couldn't Say No (1954) 89m. *½ D: Lloyd Bacon. Robert Mitchum, Jean Simmons, Arthur Hunnicutt, Edgar Buchanan, Wallace Ford, Raymond Walburn, Pinky Tomlin. Silly fluff about wealthy, misguided young Simmons, who shows up in Progress, Arkansas, with a scheme to shower its citizens with free money; Mitchum is out of his element as the town doctor. A real dud. ▼

She-Creature, The (1956) 77m.  D: Edward L. Cahn. Marla English, Tom Conway, Chester Morris, Ron Randall, Frieda Inescort, Cathy Downs, El Brendel, Jack Mulhall, Frank Jenks. Bizarre blend of CREATURE FROM THE BLACK LAGOON and THE SEARCH FOR BRIDEY MURPHY. Evil hypnotist uses mesmerized assistant to call back the murderous ghost of the sea creature of which she is a reincarnation. Slow and preposterous but effectively moody, with one of Paul Blaisdell's more memorable monsters, which he also plays. Really odd cast. Remade as CREATURE OF DESTRUCTION and again for cable in 2001. ●

She Dances Alone (1981-U.S.-Austrian) C-87m.  D: Robert Dornhelm. Kyra Nijinsky, Bud Cort, Patrick Dupond, Sauncey Le Sueur, Max von Sydow. Engrossing blend of reality and fiction, with Cort a director attempting to make a documentary about the late, legendary dancer Vaslav Nijinsky, starring Nijinsky's plump, aging, single-minded daughter Kyra. Her overwhelming presence dominates this strikingly unusual film. Von Sydow appears as himself, and that's his voice reading Nijinsky's diary.

She-Devil (1989) C-99m.  D: Susan Seidelman. Meryl Streep, Roseanne Barr, Ed Begley, Jr., Linda Hunt, Sylvia Miles, Elizabeth Peters, Bryan Larkin, A Martinez. When her slimeball husband walks out on her, unliberated housewife Barr sets out to methodically destroy his life—while creating one for herself. Extremely disappointing comedy offers no surprises and no irony; what it has is a magnificent comedic performance by Streep as the glamorous, self-absorbed romance novelist who lures Roseanne's husband away. Based on Fay Weldon's novel The Life and Loves of a She-Devil, which spawned a British miniseries. [PG-13] ▼●●

She Done Him Wrong (1933) 66m. * D: Lowell Sherman. Mae West, Cary Grant, Gilbert Roland, Noah Beery, Rochelle Hudson, Rafaella Ottiano, Louise Beavers. West repeats her stage role of Diamond Lil in

Gay 90s spoof. Grant is invited by Mae to come up and see her sometime—he does, fireworks result. Mae sings “Frankie and Johnny” and “Easy Rider” in her best film, which she coscripted from her Broadway hit. ▼●●

Sheena (1984) C-117m. BOMB D: John Guillermin. Tanya Roberts, Ted Wass, Donovan Scott, Elizabeth of Toro. Tanya looks great as the queen of jungle jiggle, but Mother Nature forgot to endow her with a script. Supposed to be campy, but it's just plain awful. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Sheepman, The (1958) C-85m.  D: George Marshall. Glenn Ford, Shirley MacLaine, Leslie Nielsen, Mickey Shaughnessy, Edgar Buchanan. Modest, entertaining comedy-Western with Ford battling Nielsen for sheep herds and MacLaine, though not always in that order. Shaughnessy is typically amusing. Written by genre vets William Bowers and James Edward Grant. CinemaScope.

She Gets What She Wants SEE: Slap Her, She's French

She Hate Me (2004) C-138m. ½ D: Spike Lee. Anthony Mackie, Kerry Washington, Ellen Barkin, Monica Bellucci, Jim Brown, Ossie Davis, Jamel Debbouze, Brian Dennehy, Woody Harrelson, Bai Ling, Lonette McKee, Paula Jai Parker, Q-Tip, John Turturro, Chiwetel Ejiofor, Sarita Choudhury, Joie Lee. Bright exec at a pharmaceuticals firm blows the whistle on his crooked bosses, only to find himself the scapegoat for their shenanigans. Strapped for money, he accepts his ex-fiancée's cold-cash offer to impregnate her and her lesbian lover. Only Spike Lee could have concocted this mishmash of sexual comedy, social commentary, and polemics. Some good scenes and funny moments are offset by heavy-handedness and speechifying. Cowriter Michael Genet appears as Mackie's brother. [R] ▼●

Sheik, The (1921) 80m.  D: George Melford. Rudolph Valentino, Agnes Ayres, Adolphe Menjou, Walter Long, Lucien Littlefield, George Waggener. Ayres, a “civilized” woman, falls completely under the spell of desert chieftain Valentino. The silent film that helped create the Valentino legend is hokey and campy, but still entertaining. It's easy to see why women went crazy for the Latin star. Racist/imperialist angle of the story is equally fascinating. Followed by SON OF THE SHEIK. ▼●

Sheila Levine Is Dead and Living in New York (1975) C-113m. BOMB D: Sidney J. Furie. Jeannie Berlin, Roy Scheider, Rebecca Dianna Smith, Janet Brandt, Sid Melton. Dead is right. Gail Parent's sardonically funny novel about a Jewish American Princess trying to make good in N.Y.C. becomes an unbelievably

bad movie, that just goes on and on. Panavision. [PG]

Sheltering Sky, The (1990) C-137m.  D: Bernardo Bertolucci. Debra Winger, John Malkovich, Campbell Scott, Jill Bennett, Timothy Spall, Eric Vu-An, Sotigui Koyate, Paul Bowles. Infuriatingly long, dense story of a married American couple who travel to North Africa in the late 1940s, with a friend in tow, hoping for some sort of adventure to spark their odd, repressed relationship. Paul Bowles' novels are often referred to as unfilmable, and this is certainly proof of that. Vividly atmospheric, well acted, and sexually explicit, but this is a journey you may not want to take. Bowles narrates and appears on-screen as mysterious man in bar. [R] ▼●●

Shenandoah (1965) C-105m.  D: Andrew V. McLaglen. James Stewart, Doug McClure, Glenn Corbett, Patrick Wayne, Rosemary Forsyth, Katharine Ross, Tim McIntire, Paul Fix, Denver Pyle, George Kennedy, James Best, Harry Carey, Jr., Dabbs Greer, Strother Martin. Rousing, well-acted saga of Virginia widower indifferent to War between the States until his family is involved. Sentimental drama captures heartbreak of America's Civil War. Basis for later Broadway musical. Ross's film debut. ▼●●

Shepherd of the Hills (1941) C-98m.  D: Henry Hathaway. John Wayne, Betty Field, Harry Carey, Beulah Bondi, James Barton, Samuel S. Hinds, Marjorie Main, Ward Bond, Marc Lawrence, John Qualen. Beautifully mounted production of Harold Bell Wright story about Ozark mountain folk, and a man who lives his life in the shadow of a curse: the promise to kill the man who abandoned his mother. Wayne is excellent, and surrounded by fine character actors, with unusual roles for Lawrence and Main. Fuzzy Knight sings a sentimental song ("Happy Hunting Ground") as he did in the not dissimilar THE TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE. Exquisitely shot by Charles Lang, Jr., and W. Howard Greene; filmed before in 1919 and 1928, then remade in 1963. ▼●

Sheriff of Fractured Jaw, The (1959-British) C-103m. ½ D: Raoul Walsh. Kenneth More, Jayne Mansfield, Henry Hull, William Campbell, Bruce Cabot, Robert Morley. Innocuous Western spoof with Englishman More handed job of sheriff in war-torn town, which he handles surprisingly well. CinemaScope. ▼●

Sherlock Holmes series SEE: Leonard Maltin's Classic Movie Guide

Sherlock Holmes (1932) 68m. ½ D: William K. Howard. Clive Brook, Ernest Torrence, Miriam Jordan, Alan Mowbray, Herbert Mundin, Reginald Owen. Genteel, stylish approach to Holmes, set in modern-day London; pleasing but subdued. Torrence is a most enjoyable Moriarty.

Sherlock Holmes and the Secret Weapon (1942) 68m.  D: Roy William Neill. Basil Rathbone, Nigel Bruce, Lionel Atwill, Kaaren Verne, William Post, Jr., Dennis Hoey, Mary Gordon, Holmes Herbert. Holmes is hired to protect the inventor of a new bombsight from the deadly clutches of Moriarty (Atwill). Exciting entry with Hoey scoring as the comically maladroit Inspector Lestrade. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Sherlock Holmes and the Spider Woman SEE: Spider Woman, The

Sherlock Holmes and the Voice of Terror (1942) 65m. ½ D: John Rawlins. Basil Rathbone, Nigel Bruce, Evelyn Ankers, Reginald Denny, Thomas Gomez, Henry Daniell, Montagu Love. First entry in the Universal Rathbone-Bruce series is probably the least impressive, but still enjoyable once you accept the premise of Victorian Holmes (with a particularly risible haircut) battling Nazi saboteurs in WW2 England. Excellent supporting performances by Gomez (in his film debut) and Ankers. Aka VOICE OF TERROR. ▼●●

Sherlock Holmes and the Woman in Green SEE: Woman in Green, The

Sherlock Holmes Faces Death (1943) 68m.  D: Roy William Neill. Basil Rathbone, Nigel Bruce, Hillary Brooke, Milburn Stone, Arthur Margetson, Halliwell Hobbes, Dennis Hoey. The deductive master and his blundering companion check into a mansion for convalescing war officers where a series of murders occurs. Very amusing entry replete with a strange clock tower, a subterranean crypt, and a human chessboard. Look for Peter Lawford in a bit as a sailor. ▼●●

Sherlock Holmes in Washington (1943) 71m. ½ D: Roy William Neill. Basil Rathbone, Nigel Bruce, Marjorie Lord, Henry Daniell, George Zucco, John Archer, Gavin Muir. Holmes and Watson are off to D.C. in search of some hidden microfilm in this cheeky entry notable for its strong WW2 propaganda content and Watson's fascination with American bubble-gum. ▼●

Sherlock Holmes' Smarter Brother SEE: Adventure of Sherlock Holmes' Smarter Brother, The

Sherlock, Jr. (1924) 45m. * D: Buster Keaton. Buster Keaton, Kathryn McGuire, Ward Crane, Joseph Keaton, Erwin Connolly. Keaton reached his pinnacle with this brilliant and hilarious story of a hapless projectionist who walks right into the screen and takes part in the imaginary detective drama unfolding. Sublime study of film and fantasy, which has undoubtedly influenced countless filmmakers such as Woody Allen, Jacques Rivette, even Buñuel. ▼●●

Sherman's March (1986) C-157m. * D: Ross McElwee. Totally unique documentary odyssey, as romantic sadsack

McElwee retraces the title Civil War trek while simultaneously examining the mystique of Southern womanhood. Overlong by a half hour, but the flesh-and-blood subjects end up getting to you the way people in real life do; CRIMES OF THE HEART suffers terribly by comparison. Hilarious subplot involving Burt Reynolds. Followed by sequel, TIME INDEFINITE.▼

SherryBaby (2006) C-96m.  D: Laurie Collyer. Maggie Gyllenhaal, Brad William Henke, Sam Bottoms, Kate Burton, Giancarlo Esposito, Ryan Simpkins, Danny Trejo, Rio Hackford. Compelling film about a recent parolee trying to connect with her young daughter, who's now in the custody of her brother and sister-in-law. Character study of a tough, drug-addicted woman who's trying to make her way back into a society just waiting for her to relapse and return to prison. Scenes with her parole officer (Esposito) are particularly powerful as Gyllenhaal proves she is one of her generation's finest actresses. Worth watching for her superb, gut-wrenching performance. Written by the director. [R]▼

She's All That (1999) C-96m. ½ D: Robert Iscove. Freddie Prinze, Jr., Rachael Leigh Cook, Matthew Lillard, Paul Walker, Jodi Lyn O'Keefe, Kevin Pollak, Anna Paquin, Kieran Culkin, Elden Henson, Usher Raymond, Kimberly "Lil Kim" Jones, Tim Matheson, Debbi Morgan, Alexis Arquette, Clea DuVall, Chris Owen. High school hunk who's just been dumped by his bitchy but popular girlfriend accepts a bet that he can turn a geeky girl into prom queen. Naturally, he falls in love for real . . . and of course, the geeky girl (Cook) is already quite pretty. Fairly innocuous, predictable teen fare with a likable cast. Sarah Michelle Gellar appears unbilled. [PG-13]▼

She's Gotta Have It (1986) C/B&W-84m.  D: Spike Lee. Tracy Camilla Johns, Tommy Redmond Hicks, John Canada Terrell, Spike Lee, Raye Dowell, Bill Lee, S. Epatha Merkerson. Breezy, funky film about a sexy, independent black woman and the three "macho" men who compete for her undivided attention. The acting is far from smooth; film's streetwise charm compensates. Breakthrough film for writer-director Lee, who also appears as the iconoclastic Mars; his father, Bill Lee, wrote the music score. One charming sequence is filmed in color. [R]▼

She's Having a Baby (1988) C-106m. ½ D: John Hughes. Kevin Bacon, Elizabeth McGovern, Alec Baldwin, Isabel Lorca, William Windom, Cathryn Damon, Holland Taylor, James Ray, Dennis Dugan, John Ashton, Edie McClurg, Paul Gleason, Lili Taylor. Trials and tribulations of a young couple as they embark on marriage, domestic life, and impending parenthood, as told by the young husband, who feels trapped from the start and questions the meaning of it all. Likable enough comedy-drama grows monotonous after a while; the stars are very appealing, however. Many famous faces appear at the finale. [PG-13]▼

She's Out of Control (1989) C-95m. *½ D: Stan Dragoti. Tony Danza, Catherine Hicks, Wallace Shawn, Dick O'Neill, Ami Dolenz, Laura Mooney, Derek McGrath, Dana Ashbrook, Matthew Perry. Superficial expanded sitcom with Danza offering a one-note performance as a widower suffering anxiety pangs over the budding sexuality of daughter Dolenz (whose real-life dad is ex-Monkee Micky). This one seems as if it was spit out of a computer. [PG]▼

She's So Lovely (1997-French-U.S.) C-97m.  D: Nick Cassavetes. Sean Penn, Robin Wright Penn, John Travolta, Harry Dean Stanton, Debi Mazar, James Gandolfini, Gena Rowlands, Burt Young, Chloe Webb. An errant husband's latest rage sends him to a mental hospital. Meanwhile, his slightly mad wife remarries, gets her life in order, and raises three children. When husband number one is released ten years later, he sees no reason why he and his ex shouldn't pick up just where they left off. This edgy, extremely well acted comedy-drama could only have been written by John Cassavetes, and it was; his son directed, and his widow (Rowlands) appears in a small role. 2.35 Research PLC. [R]▼

She's the Man (2006) C-105m.  D: Andy Fickman. Amanda Bynes, Channing Tatum, Laura Ramsey, Robert Hoffman, Alex Breckenridge, Jonathan Sadowski, Julie Hagerty, Vinnie Jones, David Cross. Shallow time-killer with the appealing Bynes. Farcical to a fault, this unpteenth cross-dressing story finds the new girl on campus disguising herself as her AWOL brother in order to get closer to the "cool" jock who lusts after the best-looking girl in school. Cast looks like they just jumped off the cover of Tiger Beat. Screenplay credit reads "inspired by Twelfth Night by William Shakespeare," but unfortunately this film is to Shakespeare what Paris Hilton is to Meryl Streep. Or, no great shakes. [PG-13]▼

She's the One (1996) C-96m. ½ D: Edward Burns. Edward Burns, Jennifer Aniston, Cameron Diaz, John Mahoney, Maxine Bahns, Mike McGlone, Leslie Mann, Anita Gillette, Frank Vincent. Amusing comedy about a guy, still smarting from catching his fiancée cheating on him three years ago, who marries on impulse, while his cocky married brother turns out to be a philanderer. Winning performances, funny lines and situations abound, though it starts to go flat toward the finale. Writer-director Burns' second film, following THE BROTHERS McMULLEN. Original songs written and performed by Tom Petty. [R]▼

She's Working Her Way Through College (1952) C-101m. ½ D: H. Bruce Humber-

stone. Virginia Mayo, Ronald Reagan, Gene Nelson, Don DeFore, Phyllis Thaxter, Patrice Wymore, Roland Winters. Reworking of THE MALE ANIMAL diminishes the role of the professor (played by Reagan), showcasing Mayo instead, as a burlesque star who tries to bury her past and pursue a college education. Pleasant but minor musical.

She Wore a Yellow Ribbon (1949) C-103m. ½ D: John Ford. John Wayne, Joanne Dru, John Agar, Ben Johnson, Harry Carey, Jr., Victor McLaglen, Mildred Natwick, George O'Brien, Arthur Shields, Francis Ford, Noble Johnson, Tom Tyler. Director Ford's stock company in fine form. Wayne excellent as cavalry officer about to retire, unwilling to walk out on impending war with Indians. Beautifully filmed in color by Oscar-winning Winton C. Hoch, but a bit top-heavy with climaxes. Second of Ford's cavalry trilogy; followed by RIO GRANDE. ▼●●

Shillingbury Blowers, The (1980-British) C-82m. *½ D: Val Guest. Trevor Howard, Robin Nedwell, Diane Keen, Jack Douglas, Sam Kydd, John LeMesurier. Dated trifle about cantankerous Howard and cronies resisting attempts by young Nedwell to improve the band in an Olde English village.

Shiloh (1997) C-93m.  D: Dale Rosenbloom. Blake Heron, Michael Moriarty, Scott Wilson, Ann Dowd, J. Madison Wright, Rod Steiger, Bonnie Bartlett, Frannie. A beagle, training to be a hunting dog, runs away from its cruel owner and meets up with a lonely preteen. Not your usual boy-and-his-dog tale (no one falls down a mine shaft), it chronicles Heron's attempts to buy the dog from its master. Good cast, solid family values, but lumbering story never picks up. Followed by two sequels. [PG] ▼●●

Shiloh 2: Shiloh Season (1999) C-96m.  D: Sandy Tung. Michael Moriarty, Zachary Browne, Scott Wilson, Rod Steiger, Bonnie Bartlett, Ann Dowd, Frannie. The boy and his dog return in this sequel which deals with why people are bad and whether they can change. More life lessons explored by a game cast, but the story plods. Followed by SAVING SHILOH. [PG] ▼●

shinbone alley (1971) C-86m. ½ D: John D. Wilson, David Detiege. Voices of Eddie Bracken, Carol Channing, John Carradine, Alan Reed, Sr. Genuinely odd animated feature based on a Broadway musical (by Joe Darion and Mel Brooks) about Don Marquis' famous characters of archy, the lovesick, philosophical cockroach, and mehitabel, the object of his affection, a hedonistic cat. Episodic, to say the least, with some witty and tuneful moments, and great vocal performances by Bracken and Channing. Not really for kids. Aka ARCHY AND MEHITABEL. [G] ▼●

Shine (1996-Australian) C-105m. ½ D: Scott Hicks. Geoffrey Rush, Armin Mueller-Stahl, Noah Taylor, Alex Rafalowicz, Sonia Todd, Lynn Redgrave, John Gielgud, Nicholas Bell, Googie Withers. Young piano prodigy is pushed to the breaking point by his smothering father. As a dysfunctional adult, he eventually finds peace in the very thing that drove him to the edge: his music. He also finds love for the first time in his life. Arresting film based on the true story of David Helfgott, with a great cast, led by an astonishing Rush in his Oscar-winning performance. [PG-13] ▼●●

Shine a Light (2008) C/B&W-122m. ½ D: Martin Scorsese. Mick Jagger, Keith Richards, Charlie Watts, Ronnie Wood. Having documented legends like The Band and Bob Dylan, Scorsese takes on the "greatest rock band ever." Capturing a 2006 Rolling Stones concert in the rather intimate setting of N.Y.C.'s Beacon Theatre, the director places his cameras seemingly everywhere (manned by Robert Richardson's team of A-list cinematographers) and brilliantly captures the raw energy of this legendary band. A unique view of the masters of one medium from the master of another; if it doesn't thrill baby boomers then they can't get no satisfaction from any filmed rock concert. [PG-13] ●

Shine On Harvest Moon (1944) 112m. ½ D: David Butler. Ann Sheridan, Jack Carson, Dennis Morgan, Irene Manning, S. Z. Sakall, Marie Wilson, The Step Brothers. Lives of great entertainers Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth make for fairly entertaining musical. Finale in color.

Shiner (2001-British) C-99m.  D: John Irvin. Michael Caine, Martin Landau, Frances Barber, Claire Rushbrook, Frank Harper, Andy Serkis, Matthew Marsden, Gary Lewis. Obvious yam, with echoes of King Lear, about a seedy London promoter who manages to stage a major boxing bout for his son—only to see his dream of glory, and almost everything else he holds dear, crumble to bits. Caine is always interesting to watch, but this is just a potboiler. Released direct to video in U.S. J-D-C Scope. [R] ▼●

Shining, The (1980) C-142m.  D: Stanley Kubrick. Jack Nicholson, Shelley Duvall, Danny Lloyd, Scatman Crothers, Barry Nelson, Joe Turkel, Anne Jackson. Intriguing but ineffectual adaptation of Stephen King's thriller about a man who becomes off-season caretaker at isolated resort hotel—and almost immediately begins to lose his mind. Nicholson goes off the wall so quickly there's no time to get involved in his plight. Some eerie scenes, to be sure, but the film goes on forever. Cut by Kubrick after premiering at 146m. Remade for TV in 1997. [R] ▼●●

Shining Hour, The (1938) 80m. ½ D: Frank Borzage. Joan Crawford, Margaret Sullavan, Robert Young, Melvyn Douglas, Fay Bainter, Allyn Joslyn, Hattie McDaniel, Frank Albertson. N.Y.C. nightclub performer Crawford marries into Wisconsin farm family, leading to emotional fireworks.

Crawford and Sullavan (as her sister-in-law) provide interesting contrast in this overwrought soap opera. ▼

Shining Star (1975) C-100m. *½ D: Sig Shore. Harvey Keitel, Ed Nelson, Cynthia Bostick, Bert Parks, Jimmy Boyd, Michael Dante. Low key yarn about mob-dominated recording company. Poor sound and photography. Saved—barely—by intriguing look behind the scenes of music business. Music by Earth, Wind and Fire. Originally titled THAT'S THE WAY OF THE WORLD. ▼

Shining Through (1992) C-127m. ½ D: David Seltzer. Michael Douglas, Melanie Griffith, Liam Neeson, Joely Richardson, John Gielgud, Francis Guinan, Patrick Winczewski, Sylvia Syms. Overlong, overbaked spy drama/romance set in WW2, with a very appealing Griffith as an outspoken young woman who falls in love with her boss (Douglas), and convinces him to let her take a dangerous assignment in Berlin—though she has no espionage experience except what she's seen in movies. Lavish production and empathic performance by Griffith make this palatable—but the story gets more implausible as it reaches its climax. Based on the novel by Susan Isaacs. Panavision. [R] ▼

Ship Ahoy (1942) 95m. ½ D: Edward Buzzell. Eleanor Powell, Red Skelton, Virginia O'Brien, Bert Lahr, John Emery, Tommy Dorsey Orchestra, Frank Sinatra, Jo Stafford. Nonsensical plot of Skelton thinking U.S. agent is working for Axis; shipboard yarn has some salty dancing and singing, good Dorsey numbers featuring drummer Buddy Rich. ▼

Ship of Fools (1965) 149m. * D: Stanley Kramer. Vivien Leigh, Oskar Werner, Simone Signoret, Jose Ferrer, Lee Marvin, Jose Greco, George Segal, Elizabeth Ashley, Michael Dunn, Charles Korvin, Lilia Skala. GRAND HOTEL at sea in pre-WW2 days. Superb cast including Leigh, in her last film, as disillusioned divorcée, Werner and Signoret as illicit lovers, Marvin as punchy baseball player. Penetrating drama, when not a soaper. Script by Abby Mann from Katherine Anne Porter's novel; won Oscars for Cinematography (Ernest Laszlo) and Art Direction. ▼

Shipping News, The (2001) C-111m.  D: Lasse Hallström. Kevin Spacey, Julianne Moore, Judi Dench, Cate Blanchett, Pete Postlethwaite, Scott Glenn, Rhys Ifans, Gordon Pinsent, Jason Behr, Larry Pine, Jeannette Arnette, Marc Lawrence. A man beaten down by life is brought—by circumstance—to his ancestral home of Newfoundland, where he begins to gain confidence in himself as the skeletons in his family closet emerge. An unbeatable cast brings this sympathetic adaptation of E. Annie Proulx's Pulitzer Prize-winning novel to life; the setting contributes as much as the actors. Super 35. [R] ▼

Ship That Died of Shame, The (1955-British) 91m.  D: Basil Dearden. Richard Attenborough, George Baker, Bill Owen, Virginia McKenna, Roland Culver, Bernard Lee, Ralph Truman. Crew of British gunboat reteams after WW2 and uses the same vessel for smuggling purposes, until "it" begins to rebel at their increasingly grimy exploits. Fine cast in offbeat drama. Retitled PT RAIDERS and cut to 78m. ▼

Shipwrecked (1990-Norwegian) C-91m.  D: Nils Gaup. Stian Smestad, Gabriel Byrne, Louisa Haigh, Trond Munch, Bjorn Sundquist, Eva Von Hanno, Kjell Stormoen. Young Smestad signs on a South Seas voyage as cabin boy; just before pirate/passenger Byrne is about to take over the ship, a hurricane strands the lad on the very island where Byrne's treasure booty is hidden. Enjoyable pirate yarn with an exciting HOME ALONE-like finish when Smestad booby-traps the island against the invading pirates. A Disney release. Panavision. [PG] ▼

Shiri (1999-Korean) C-125m.  D: Je-gyu Kang. Suk-kyu Han, Min-sik Choi, Kang-ho Song, Yun-jin Kim. G-men partners, one of them a groom-to-be, race to stop a chameleon assassin from blowing up Seoul in the name of reunification. This imitation John Woo actioner offers the usual excessively bloody violence, sentimental melodrama, noisy gunplay, and laser-bright visuals, but its credibility is elevated by fiercely charged political motivations. A major Asian box-office hit. [R] ▼

Shirley Valentine (1989-U.S.-British) C-108m.  D: Lewis Gilbert. Pauline Collins, Tom Conti, Alison Steadman, Julia McKenzie, Joanna Lumley, Bernard Hill, Sylvia Syms. Collins repeats her London and Broadway stage triumphs in the role of a saucy, middle-aged, married woman who feels that life has passed her by—until she gets the opportunity to travel to Greece, sans husband. Collins' endearing performance (much of it talking directly to the audience) makes this a must, smoothing over lulls in Willy Russell's adaptation of his own stage play. The same team made EDUCATING RITA. [R] ▼

Shivers SEE: They Came From Within
Shoah (1985-French) C-503m. * D: Claude Lanzmann. Remarkable documentary, shown in two parts, each lasting about four and a half hours, chronicling the memories of those who lived through the Holocaust—both victims and oppressors. Lanzmann's persistent interview approach hammers away at details in order to intensify our cumulative response . . . and we begin to see exactly how the unthinkable became a reality. A unique and eloquent film. ▼

Shock (1946) 70m.  D: Alfred L. Werker. Vincent Price, Lynn Bari, Frank Latimore, Anabel Shaw, Michael Dunne, Reed Hadley. A woman becomes traumatized after witnessing a murder—and the psychiatrist who takes her case just happens to be the killer. Intriguing premise, so-so result. ▼●

Shock (1979) SEE: Beyond the Door II

Shock Corridor (1963) C/B&W-101m.  D: Samuel Fuller. Peter Breck, Constance Towers, Gene Evans, James Best, Hari Rhodes. Journalist Breck gets admitted to mental institution to unmask murderer, but soon goes crazy himself. Powerful melodrama with raw, emotional impact. Fuller also produced and wrote the script; imaginative photography by Stanley Cortez. Three sequences are in color. ▼●●

Shocked SEE: Mesmerized

Shocker (1989) C-110m. BOMB D: Wes Craven. Michael Murphy, Peter Berg, Cami Cooper, Mitch Pileggi, Sam Scarber, Heather Langenkamp, Theodore Raimi, Richard Brooks, Dr. Timothy Leary. Teenager Berg, son of policeman Murphy, is psychically linked to mass murderer, but when the killer is executed, his spirit is free to inhabit a series of victims. Writer-director Craven attempted to create a new Freddy Krueger with this misbegotten farago, a waste of excellent special effects and some good ideas. [R] ▼●●

Shocking Miss Pilgrim, The (1947) C-85m.  D: George Seaton. Betty Grable, Dick Haymes, Anne Revere, Allyn Joslyn, Gene Lockhart, Elizabeth Patterson. Labored story of 1870s Boston woman in business world. Fair Gershwin score includes "For You, For Me, For Evermore."

Shockproof (1949) 79m.  D: Douglas Sirk. Cornel Wilde, Patricia Knight, John Baragrey, Esther Minciotti, Howard St. John. Parole officer Wilde is lured into love affair with parolee Knight which threatens to destroy him. Stylish film noir, co-written by Samuel Fuller, which unfortunately cops out at the end.

Shock to the System, A (1990) C-91m. ½ D: Jan Egleson. Michael Caine, Elizabeth McGovern, Peter Riegert, Swoosie Kurtz, Will Patton, Jenny Wright, John McMartin, Barbara Baxley. Caine adds luster to this so-so black comedy as a harried ad executive who discovers how easy it is to kill anyone in his way after he's passed over for a promotion. Has its moments as a topical look at greed, corporate-style, but could have been far more pointed and involving. [R] ▼●● Shock Treatment (1964) 94m.  D: Denis Sanders. Stuart Whitman, Carol Lynley, Roddy McDowall, Lauren Bacall, Olive Deering, Ossie Davis, Donald Buka, Bert Freed, Douglass Dumbrille. Out-of-work actor (Whitman) goes undercover at state mental asylum to discover whereabouts of murderer McDowall's supposed million-dollar stash. Odd, unsatisfying melodrama. CinemaScope.

Shock Treatment (1981) C-94m. *½ D: Jim Sharman. Jessica Harper, Cliff De Young, Richard O'Brien, Patricia Quinn,

Charles Gray, Ruby Wax, Nell Campbell. Dreary, disappointing spin-off from THE ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW, with same director and many cast members. Brad and Janet (played here by De Young and Harper) find themselves contestants (or more appropriately, prisoners) on a TV game show—spoofed far more successfully in MELVIN AND HOWARD. [PG] ▼●

Shock Waves (1975) C-86m.  D: Ken Wiederhorn. Peter Cushing, Brooke Adams, John Carradine, Fred Buch, Jack Davidson, Luke Halpin. On an island near Florida, pleasure boaters encounter a recluse (Cushing), who turns out to be the creator and guardian of underwater Nazi zombies, left over from WW2. Oddball, partly effective low-budgeter. Adams' film debut. Aka DEATH CORPS. [PG] ▼●

Shoeshine (1946-Italian) 93m. * D: Vittorio De Sica. Rinaldo Smerdoni, Franco Interlenghi, Anniello Mele, Bruno Ortensi, Pacifico Astrologo. A brilliant, haunting neorealist drama about two youngsters struggling to survive in war-scarred Italy; they become involved with black marketeering and are sent to reform school. This deservedly won a special Oscar—before Best Foreign Film prizes were awarded. ▼●

Shoes of the Fisherman, The (1968) C-157m.  D: Michael Anderson. Anthony Quinn, Laurence Olivier, Oskar Werner, David Janssen, Vittorio De Sica, Leo McKern, John Gielgud, Barbara Jefford. Pope Quinn, a Russian who spent 20 years as a political prisoner in Siberia, tries to fend off atomic war plus starvation in Red China for half a film while correspondent Janssen tries to patch up his petty marital problems the rest of the time. Fine cast is wasted in slapdash film version of Morris L. West's best-seller, dully directed by Anderson. Panavision. [G] ▼●●

Shogun Assassin (1981-Japanese-U.S.) C-86m. ½ D: Kenji Misumi, Robert Houston. Tomisaburo Wakayama, Masahiro Tomikawa, voices of Lamont Johnson, Marshall Efron. Coherent film brilliantly edited out of two different features in Japanese Sword of Vengeance series about samurai warrior who travels across countryside pushing his young son in a baby cart, stopping only to get involved in inordinate amounts of combat. Americanized version, narrated by child, is absolutely stunning visual ballet of violence and bloodletting. Sort of a sequel to LIGHTNING SWORDS OF DEATH. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Shogun Assassin II SEE: Lightning Swords of Death

Shoot (1976-Canadian) C-98m. BOMB D: Harvey Hart. Cliff Robertson, Ernest Borgnine, Henry Silva, James Blendick, Larry Reynolds, Les Carlson, Kate Reid, Helen Shaver. There's a faint echo of DELIVERANCE in this ludicrous tale of gun-happy pals who allow the shooting of one hunter to escalate into warfare. Supposedly anti-gun, the film is also apparently anti-entertainment. [R]▼

Shoot 'Em Up (2007) C-86m. *½ D: Michael Davis. Clive Owen, Paul Giamatti, Monica Bellucci, Stephen McHattie, Greg Bryk, Daniel Pilon, Ramona Pringle, Julian Richings, Tony Munch. Mystery man (Owen) who has an uncanny knack for killing people with sharp carrots (!) delivers a woman's baby during a shootout, then protects the infant from a crazed hit man (Giamatti) with the help of a lactating hooker (Bellucci). All of this somehow is tied into a bone marrow-harvesting scheme involving a corrupt presidential candidate. Insane plot is matched by cartoonish, over-the-top action, tongue-in-cheek gore, and ridiculous stylistics that try to make John Woo look like Ozu. Despite the game efforts of the slumming cast, this sleazy film leaves a bad aftertaste. Super 35. [R]▶

Shooter (2007) C-124m. ½ D: Antoine Fuqua. Mark Wahlberg, Michael Peña, Danny Glover, Kate Mara, Elias Koteas, Rhona Mitra, Ned Beatty, Jonathan Walker, Justin Louis, Tate Donovan, Rade Sherbedgia, Levon Helm, Lane Garrison. Highly trained military marksman (Wahlberg) lives in seclusion since a terrible incident that occurred on duty three years earlier. Now he's approached by a government official (Glover) to help prevent a presidential assassination plot by figuring out all the angles. But things don't go as planned, and Wahlberg is forced to become a one-man army. Good action-thriller overplays its hand and becomes ludicrous in the final act. The "bad guys" act so broadly you'd think they were playing in a Roy Rogers Western. Based on Stephen Hunter's novel Point of Impact. Panavision. [R]▶

Shoot First (1952-British) 88m. ½ D: Robert Parrish. Joel McCrea, Evelyn Keyes, Herbert Lom, Marius Goring, Roland Culver, Laurence Naismith, Joan Hickson. Routine espionage tale with McCrea as an American colonel in England, who believes he accidentally killed a man, and becomes involved with spies. Screenplay by Eric Ambler. Originally titled: ROUGH SHOOT.

Shooting, The (1967) C-82m.  D: Monte Hellman. Millie Perkins, Jack Nicholson, Will Hutchins, Warren Oates. Cryptic, unconventional Western with deceptively familiar revenge "story." Ultimately powerful film, with offbeat performance by Nicholson as a hired gun . . . and an incredible, unexpected finale. Filmed simultaneously with RIDE IN THE WHIRLWIND.▼●●

Shooting Fish (1997-British) C-93m. ½ D: Stefan Schwartz. Dan Futterman, Stuart Townsend, Kate Beckinsale, Claire Cox, Dominic Monaghan, Nickolas Grace, Peter Capaldi. Annette Crosbie, Jane Lapotaire, Phyllis Logan. Smooth-talking American con artist and British techno-geek team up in London to

scam the rich; the catch is they may or may not be "giving to the poor" as they claim. Beckinsale is the innocent but brainy temp who assists them. Amiably frantic farce in the spirit of 1960s Swinging London caper comedies is lightweight fun. Original British running time 112m. Super 35. [R]▶●●

Shooting Party, The (1984-British) C-98m. ½ D: Alan Bridges. James Mason, Dorothy Tutin, Edward Fox, Cheryl Campbell, John Gielgud, Gordon Jackson, Aharon Ipale, Rupert Frazer, Robert Hardy, Judi Bowker. Rewarding film about varied personalities, intrigues, and conflicts that crisscross during weekend shooting party in 1913. Mason, the weekend's host, presides over all with grace, wit, and understanding. A telling look at class structure and class consciousness; screenplay by Julian Bond from Isabel Colegate's novel. ▼▶

Shootist, The (1976) C-99m. ½ D: Don Siegel. John Wayne, Lauren Bacall, Ron Howard, James Stewart, Richard Boone, Hugh O'Brian, Harry Morgan, Rick Lenz, John Caradine, Sheree North, Scatman Crothers. Intelligent story about a legendary gunfighter who learns he has cancer and tries to die in peace, but cannot escape his reputation. A fitting (and poignant) valedictory to Wayne's career. Miles Hood Swarthout and Scott Hale adapted Glendon Swarthout's novel. [PG]▼●●

Shoot Loud, Louder . . . I Don't Understand (1966-Italian) C-100m.  D: Eduardo De Filippo. Marcello Mastroianni, Raquel Welch, Guido Alberti, Leopoldo Trieste. Surrealistic but flat film in which Mastroianni plays antique dealer whose life suddenly becomes very complex. Panoramica.▼▶

Shoot Out (1971) C-95m.  D: Henry Hathaway. Gregory Peck, Pat Quinn, Robert F. Lyons, Susan Tyrrell, Jeff Corey, James Gregory, Rita Gam, Dawn Lyn. Same producer, director and screenwriter of TRUE GRIT in another Western about cowboy and little girl. Formula doesn't work; in spite of title, film has too much talk and not enough action. [PG]▼▶

Shoot the Moon (1982) C-123m.  D: Alan Parker. Albert Finney, Diane Keaton, Karen Allen, Peter Weller, Dana Hill, Viveka Davis, Tracey Gold, Tina Yothers, Leora Dana. Highly charged, emotional drama about the breakup of a marriage. The insights and emotional touchstones of Bo Goldman's script—and superlative acting—help make up for strange gaps of logic and credibility. We learn precious little about what makes the central characters tick; director Parker gives us picture-postcard views of Marin County, California, instead. [R]▼●●

Shoot the Piano Player (1960-French) 81m.  D: François Truffaut. Charles Aznavour, Marie Dubois, Nicole Berger, Michele Mercier, Albert Remy. Atmospheric early Truffaut gem. Aznavour is

marvelous as a former concert pianist who traded in his fame and now plays in rundown Parisian cafe. His ambitious girlfriend wants him to resume his career, but he gets involved with gangsters and murder instead. This film, more than any other, reflects the influence of Hollywood low-budget melodramas on Truffaut and his cinematic style. Dyaliscopic. ▼●●

Shoot to Kill (1988) C-110m. ½ D: Roger Spottiswoode. Sidney Poitier, Tom Berenger, Kirstie Alley, Clancy Brown, Richard Masur, Andrew Robinson, Kevin Scannell, Frederick Coffin. Big-city cop (Poitier) is forced to team up with stubborn mountain guide (Berenger) to go into the wilds of the Pacific Northwest in search of a hunting party being led by the guide's girlfriend (Alley)—and infiltrated by a ruthless killer whom Poitier is determined to capture. Slick but highly improbable tale strains credibility, but keeps its grip thanks mostly to a riveting Poitier (his first starring role in ten years). Super 35 [R] ▼●●

Shop Around the Corner, The (1940) 97m. ½ D: Ernst Lubitsch. Margaret Sullavan, James Stewart, Frank Morgan, Joseph Schildkraut, Sara Haden, Felix Bressart, William Tracy, Charles Smith. The ultimate in sheer charm, a graceful period comedy about coworkers in a Budapest notions shop who don't realize that they are lonelyhearts penpals. Superbly scripted by Samson Raphaelson, from Nikolaus Laszlo's play Parfumerie. Later musicalized as IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMERTIME, brought to Broadway as She Loves Me, remade as YOU'VE GOT MAIL. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Shopgirl (2005-U.S.-British) C-116m.  D: Anand Tucker. Steve Martin, Claire Danes, Jason Schwartzman, Bridgette Wilson-Sampras, Sam Bottoms, Frances Conroy, Rebecca Pidgeon. Stylish romantic comedy about a young woman, recently transplanted to L.A., who finds herself wooed in very different ways by a wealthy older businessman and a slobby young guy. Unique meditation on loneliness and the yearning for physical and emotional contact—adapted by Martin from his own novella—is witty, philosophical, and melancholy, though more than a bit self-conscious. Danes is marvelous in the title role. Martin also coproduced. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Shop on Main Street, The (1965-Czech) 128m. * D: Jan Kadar, Elmar Klos, Josef Kroner, Ida Kaminska, Han Slivkova, Frantisek Holly, Martin Gregor. Potent, poignant drama set in WW2 Czechoslovakia, where an old Jewish woman loses her small button shop, and depends on man who takes it over to shield her from further persecution. Oscar winner as Best Foreign Film. Originally titled THE SHOP ON HIGH STREET. ▼●●

Shopworn Angel, The (1938) 85m.  D: H. C. Potter. Margaret Sullavan, James Stewart, Walter Pidgeon, Hattie McDaniel, Sam Levene, Nat Pendleton. Stewart and Sullavan are always a fine pair, even in this fairly routine soap. Naive soldier falls in love with loose-moraled actress, who gradually softens under his influence. Beautifully done, including Slavko Vorkapich's masterful opening WWI montage. Remake of 1929 film with Gary Cooper and Nancy Carroll; filmed again as THAT KIND OF WOMAN. ▼●●

Shortbus (2006) C-102m. ½ D: John Cameron Mitchell. Sook-Yin Lee, Paul Dawson, Lindsay Beamish, PJ DeBoy, Raphael Barker, Peter Stickles, Jay Brannan, Justin Bond, Alan Mandell, Adam Hardman, Ray Rivas. Married couples, gay couples, lonely singles, transsexuals, and others just off the street hang at a N.Y.C. club, Shortbus, in order to overcome their unique (to say the least) sexual problems. Amidst all the orgies and couplings (and that's real sex going on) there's a surprising emotional undertone. The actors are all appealing, but be warned: with its full-frontal, almost non-stop sexual content, this is not for everyone. Released without a rating in order to avoid an NC-17 tag. Written by the director. ▼●●

Short Circuit (1986) C-98m. ½ D: John Badham. Ally Sheedy, Steve Guttenberg, Fisher Stevens, G. W. Bailey, Austin Pendleton, Brian McNamara, voice of Tim Blaney. State-of-the-art robot develops a mind of its own and decides that it doesn't want to go "home" to weapons company from which it escaped. Sheedy is cute as the animal-lover who becomes protective of "No. 5," the equally cute robot. E. T. clone is good fodder for kids but too formula-bound for our taste. Followed by a sequel. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Short Circuit 2 (1988) C-110m.  D: Kenneth Johnson. Fisher Stevens, Michael McKean, Cynthia Gibb, Jack Weston, Dee McCaffrey, David Hemblen, voice of Tim Blaney. Innocuous (but overlong) sequel has malaprop-prone Stevens and No. 5 (now called Johnny Five) out on their own, falling in with would-be toymaker McKean and bad-guy Weston. Okay for kids, with some chuckles for adults here and there. [PG] ▼●●

Short Cuts (1993) C-189m. ½ D: Robert Altman. Andie MacDowell, Bruce Davison, Jack Lemmon, Julianne Moore, Matthew Modine, Anne Archer, Fred Ward, Jennifer Jason Leigh, Chris Penn, Lili Taylor, Robert Downey, Jr., Madeleine Stowe, Tim Robbins, Lily Tomlin, Tom Waits, Frances McDormand, Peter Gallagher, Annie Ross, Lori Singer, Lyle Lovett, Buck Henry, Huey Lewis, Robert DoQui, Darnell Williams, Michael Beach, Charles Rocket, Dirk Blocker. Mordant mosaic of unpleasant, unhappy lives in Southern California, adapted from the short stories of Raymond Carver. Altman paints on another oversized canvas, with a series of marginally interconnected vignettes about various couples, parents, lovers, and friends (from a phone-sex purveyor who feeds her baby while plying her trade to a children's party clown seized by melancholia) . . . played by a virtual who's who of contemporary talent. As a feat—a directorial achievement—it's something to behold and admire, but as entertainment it's less rewarding. One of the stories depicted here is expanded and retold in JINDABYNE. Super 35. [R]▼●●

Short Cut to Hell (1957) 87m. ½ D: James Cagney, Robert Ivers, Georgann Johnson, William Bishop, Murvyn Vye, Yvette Vickers, Roscoe Ates. Generally taut, if uninspired remake of Graham Greene's THIS GUN FOR HIRE, about killer reevaluating his situation. Only fling at directing by Cagney, who also makes an on-camera introduction. VistaVision.

Short Eyes (1977) C-104m. ½ D: Robert M. Young. Bruce Davison, Jose Perez, Nathan George, Don Blakely, Shawn Elliott, Curtis Mayfield, Freddy Fender. Raw, uncompromisingly powerful story of men in prison, from Miguel Pinero's highly acclaimed play. Utterly realistic film was shot at N.Y.C.'s now-shuttered Men's House of Detention, known as The Tombs. Title is prison slang for child molester (played by Davison). Scripted by Pinero, who also appears as GoGo. Retitled: SLAMMER. [R]▼●

Short Fuse SEE: Good to Go

Short Time (1990) C-97m. ½ D: Gregg Champion. Dabney Coleman, Matt Frewer, Teri Garr, Barry Corbin, Joe Pantoliano, Xander Berkeley, Rob Roy, Jak-Erik Eriksen. Street-cop Coleman thinks he has a short time to live, and decides to get himself killed on the job so his wife and son will be taken care of financially. Incredible action stunts commingle uneasily with touches of sentiment in this middling comedy; Coleman is so good he almost pulls it off singlehandedly. [PG-13]▼●

Shot at Glory, A (2002) C-115m. ½ D: Michael Corrente. Robert Duvall, Michael Keaton, Ally McCoist, Brian Cox, Kirsty Mitchell, Cole Hauser, Morag Hood, Libby Langdon. In Scotland, the coach of a second-string soccer team (Duvall, with authentic burr) hopes his returning son-in-law, a superstar player, will take his team to the top, but the two are estranged and the team's American owner wants to take it to Ireland. Handsomely shot on Scottish locations, and well acted, but predictability—and too many off-the-field entanglements—make it hard to care what happens. Released in the UK in 2001. Panavision. [R]▼●

Shot in the Dark, A (1964) C-101m.

* D: Blake Edwards. Peter Sellers, Elke Sommer, George Sanders, Herbert Lom, Tracy Reed, Burt Kwouk, Graham Stark, Andre Maranne, Turk Thrust (Bryan Forbes). Second Inspector Clouseau comedy is far and away the funniest, with the great detective convinced gorgeous Sommer is innocent of murder despite all evidence to the contrary. Gaspingly hilarious farce never slows down for a second, with memorable scene in a nudist colony. Script by Edwards and William Peter Blatty; fine Henry Mancini score. Series debuts of Lom, Kwouk, Stark, and Maranne; last Clouseau film (excluding 1968's INSPECTOR CLOUSEAU, made by other hands) until THE RETURN OF THE PINK PANTHER in 1975. Panavision.▼●●

Shout, The (1978-British) C-87m. ½ D: Jerzy Skolimowski. Alan Bates, Susannah York, John Hurt, Robert Stephens, Tim Curry. Well-filmed but obscure yarn about an off-his-nut wanderer who dominates the household of a young married couple. Title refers to his aboriginal ability to kill by shouting. Worth a look on a slow evening. [R]▼

Shout (1991) C-89m. BOMB D: Jeffrey Hornaday. John Travolta, James Walters, Heather Graham, Richard Jordan, Linda Fiorentino, Scott Coffey, Glenn Quinn, Frank von Zerneck, Michael Bacall. Preposterous '50s twaddle about the birth of rock 'n' roll, with Travolta as a fugitive hired as music teacher and bandmaster at an ill-defined Texas school for wayward youths. Prisoner Walters and warden's daughter Graham are the kissy-facers who form a forbidden alliance. WHEEZE would have been a better title for this turkey. Film debut of Gwyneth Paltrow. [PG-13]▼●●

Shout at the Devil (1976-British) C-119m. ½ D: Peter R. Hunt. Lee Marvin, Roger Moore, Barbara Parkins, Ian Holm, Rene Kolldehoff. Plot-heavy action nonsense, set in Mozambique, about a poacher, his daughter and an expatriate Englishman who eventually set out to blow up a German battle cruiser at the outset of WW1. Occasionally fun but overlong. Original British running-time: 144m. Panavision. [PG]▼●

Show, The (1995) C/B&W-90m. ½ D: Brian Robbins. Craig Mack, Dr. Dre, Naughty by Nature, Run-DMC, Slick Rick, Snoopy Dogg, Tha Dogg Pound. Spotty concert and backstage documentary still has enough to satisfy fans of rap and hip-hop, contrasting the younger breed—a couple of whom have had serious scrapes with the law—with the wizened old-breed performers like LL Cool J and members of Run-DMC. Film's non-linear structure comes off as more haphazard than creative. [R]▼●●

Show Boat (1936) 113m.  D: James Whale. Irene Dunne, Allan Jones, Helen

Morgan, Paul Robeson, Charles Winninger, Hattie McDaniel. Entertaining treatment of Jerome Kern—Oscar Hammerstein II musical (filmed before in 1929) mixes music, sentiment, and melodrama, with enough great moments to make up for the rest: Robeson doing “Old Man River,” Morgan singing her unforgettable “Bill,” etc. Originally an Edna Ferber novel; Hammerstein also wrote the screenplay. Filmed again in 1951. ▼●

Show Boat (1951) C-107m.  D: George Sidney. Kathryn Grayson, Ava Gardner, Howard Keel, Joe E. Brown, Marge and Gower Champion, Robert Sterling, Agnes Moorehead, Leif Erickson, William Warfield. MGM’s Technicolor valentine to this old-fashioned musical about life on a Mississippi show boat; acted with sincerity, stylishly shot and staged. Gardner makes a beautiful and poignant Julie. Timeless Jerome Kern—Oscar Hammerstein II songs include “Bill” (lyrics by P. G. Wodehouse), “Can’t Help Lovin’ That Man,” “Make Believe,” “Old Man River.” ▼●●

Show Business (1944) 92m. ½ D: Edwin L. Marin. Eddie Cantor, Joan Davis, George Murphy, Nancy Kelly, Constance Moore. If you like Cantor or Davis you’ll enjoy this vaudeville musical entirely supported by them. Followed by IF YOU KNEW SUSIE. ▼●

Showdown (1963) 79m. ½ D: R. G. Springsteen. Audie Murphy, Kathleen Crowley, Charles Drake, Harold Stone, Skip Homeier, Strother Martin, L.Q. Jones. Tough Western yarn with drifters Murphy and Drake abducted by outlaw gang who force them to help convert stolen securities into cash.

Showdown (1966) SEE: Trampers, The Showdown (1973) C-99m. ½ D: George Seaton. Rock Hudson, Dean Martin, Susan Clark, Donald Moffat, John McLiam, Ed Begley, Jr. Two friends in love with the same woman go their separate ways, until Hudson (now a sheriff) is forced to hunt down Martin (now a robber). Agreeable but unexceptional Western yarn was Seaton’s final film. Todd-AO 35. [PG] ▼

Showdown at Williams Creek (1991-Canadian) C-97m.  D: Allan Kroeger. Tom Burlinson, Donnelly Rhodes, Michelle Thrush, John Pyper Ferguson, Alex Bruhanski, Raymond Burr. Compelling allegory of racism, exploitation, greed, and survival in the Northwest Territory during the 19th century. The scenario, which unravels in flashback, details the journey of Irishman Burlinson from British army officer to scruffy “squaw man” on trial for murder. Based on actual events. [R] ▼●

Showdown in Little Tokyo (1991) C-76m. BOMB D: Mark L. Lester. Dolph Lundgren, Brandon Lee, Carey-Hiroyuki Tagawa, Tia Carrere, Toshiro Obata. Knuckleheaded martial-arts actioner, with Lundgren and

Lee (the son of Bruce Lee) going up against Japanese mobsters. Poorly directed, acted, and (especially) scripted. [R] ▼●●

Shower (1999-Chinese) C-92m. ½ D: Zhang Yang. Pu Cun Xin, Zhu Xu, Jiang Wu, He Zheng. Bittersweet, thoroughly winning tale of a businessman (Pu) who pays a visit to his father, the operator of a public bathhouse that’s about to be torn down and replaced by a high-rise; the old man also looks after his sweet but slow-witted younger son. Zhang effectively contrasts the fast pace of modern life with the value of tradition, as symbolized by the taking of a fast, impersonal shower vs. luxuriating in a bath. [PG-13] ▼●

Showgirls (1995) C-131m. BOMB D: Paul Verhoeven. Elizabeth Berkley, Kyle MacLachlan, Gina Gershon, Glenn Plummer, Robert Davi, Alan Rachins, Gina Raveri, Lin Tucci, Greg Travis, Patrick Bristow. Stupefyingly awful movie—whose creators swear to have made it with serious intentions—about a young, hotheaded drifter who hitches her way to Vegas, becomes a “lap dancer,” and then a full-fledged showgirl, discovering that sex and career moves are hopelessly intertwined. Part soft-core porn, part hokey backstage drama, full of howlingly hilarious dialogue. Berkley sets the tone for her performance in an early scene in which she expresses fury by vigorously spewing ketchup over her french fries. Written by Joe Eszterhas. Released on video in alternate R-rated format with 61 seconds cut, and 20 seconds of footage altered by using different camera angles. Super 35. [NC-17] ▼●●

Show of Force, A (1990) C-93m.  D: Bruno Barreto. Amy Irving, Robert Duvall, Andy Garcia, Lou Diamond Phillips, Kevin Spacey, Joe Campanella, Erik Estrada, Priscilla Pointer, Hattie Winston. Oddly stagnant political thriller about Puerto Rico’s 1978 version of Watergate. Irving plays a local TV reporter convinced that the F.B.I. set up and killed two political radicals to earn voting support for the current governor. Garcia’s role is a glorified cameo; Phillips is surprisingly effective as a flamboyant villain. [R] ▼●●

Show People (1928) 82m. ½ D: King Vidor. Marion Davies, William Haines, Dell Henderson, Paul Ralli, Harry Gribbon, Polly Moran. Delightful silent comedy about a girl from the sticks who tries to crash Hollywood—and succeeds, but not as she expected to. Davies’ best movie vehicle confirms her comic talent, and offers a lively glimpse behind the scenes of movie-making. Some amusing guest-star cameos include director Vidor, who plays himself in the closing scene. ▼●

Showtime (2002) C-95m.  D: Tom Dey. Robert De Niro, Eddie Murphy, Rene Russo, Pedro Damián, Mos Def, Frankie R. Faison,

William Shatner, Nestor Serrano, Kadeem Hardison. Veteran L.A. cop De Niro is punished for his reckless ways by being assigned to work on a new reality TV show with Murphy, an eager but inexperienced partner (who's also a wannabe actor). What starts out as a satire of TV cop shows and movies eventually becomes the very thing it's spoofing. The stars have almost nothing to work with here. The star's daughter, Drena De Niro, plays Russo's assistant. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●

Shrek (2001) C-88m.  D: Andrew Adamson, Vicky Jenson. Voices of Mike Myers, Eddie Murphy, Cameron Diaz, John Lithgow, Vincent Cassel, Jim Cummings, Kathleen Freeman. An antisocial troll is joined by a talkative donkey as he goes on a quest to save a beautiful princess. Funny spoof of fairy-tale sagas with some good laughs, not all of them aimed at children. Computer-animated fable mixes heightened reality with fanciful designs; from Pacific Data Images, the folks who made ANTZ. Based on a children's book by William Steig. Alternate version runs 91m. Winner of the first Oscar for Best Animated Feature. Followed by a 3-D short, two sequels, and a holiday TV special, Shrek the Halls. [PG] ▼

Shrek 2 (2004) C-88m. ½ D: Andrew Adamson, Kelly Asbury, Conrad Vernon. Voices of Mike Myers, Eddie Murphy, Cameron Diaz, Julie Andrews, John Cleese, Antonio Banderas, Rupert Everett, Jennifer Saunders, Conrad Vernon, Larry King, Joan Rivers. Sequel to the 2001 megahit tries to devise enough story to justify another feature, with middling results. Newlyweds Shrek and Fiona visit her parents, who don't know their daughter has married an ogre. Then a crafty Fairy Godmother does everything in her power to split up the couple so her son, Prince Charming, can claim Fiona as his bride. Skillfully made, but pointless and short on laughs; Banderas comes off best as a Zorro-like Puss in Boots. [PG]▼

Shrek the Third (2007) C-93m.  D: Chris Miller. Voices of Mike Myers, Eddie Murphy, Cameron Diaz, Antonio Banderas, Julie Andrews, John Cleese, Rupert Everett, Eric Idle, Justin Timberlake, Seth Rogen, Larry King, John Krasinski, Ian McShane, Cheri Oteri, Regis Philbin, Amy Poehler, Maya Rudolph, Amy Sedaris. When the king of Far Far Away dies, it's up to the big green ogre to take his place, but he doesn't want the job. So he, Donkey, and Puss in Boots go off in search of the only other heir to the throne. Third trip to the well finds the water stale and filled with silt . . . but kids may still be entertained. [PG]▼

Shrieking, The SEE: Hex

Shrimp on the Barbie, The (1990) C-86m. *½ D: Alan Smithee. Cheech Marin, Emma Samms, Vernon Wells, Terence Cooper, Jeanette Cronin, Carole Davis. Marin goes

Down Under, gets a job as waiter in a Mexican restaurant, winds up posing as the fiancé of a wealthy heiress to thwart her powerful father. Cheech shows some charm, but you know something's up when the director takes his name off the project. Shot in New Zealand. Video version runs 87m., and is rated R. [PG-13]▼●

Shrunken Heads (1994) C-86m. ½ D: Richard Elfman. Aeryk Egan, Becky Herbst, A. J. Damato, Bo Sharon, Darris Love, Bodhi Elfman, Meg Foster, Julius Harris. Clever special effects enliven this run-of-the-mill Full Moon horror-comedy in which Haitian voodoo master Harris revives three murdered kids, who seek revenge against the trash responsible for their deaths. Title music composed by the director's brother, Danny Elfman. [R]▼●

Shutter (2008) C-85m.  D: Masayuki Ochiai. Joshua Jackson, Rachael Taylor, Megumi Okina, David Denman, John Hensley, Maya Hazen, James Kyson Lee. Young married couple is shocked when they find ghostly images on a roll of film they develop. Soon they are haunted by the spirit of a Japanese girl the husband may have known before. Original 2004 film was a huge hit in its native Thailand; this remake is set in Japan with American stars, and a Japanese cast and director. Attempt to duplicate the success of movies like THE GRUDGE and THE RING is defeated by mundane plotting and dopey dialogue. Alternate version runs 90m. [PG-13]▼

Shuttered Room, The (1967-British) C-99m. ½ D: David Greene. Gig Young, Carol Lynley, Oliver Reed, Flora Robson. Young couple inherit old house in New England, threatened by local toughs and unseen presence. Good cast deserves better material; even revelation is tame. Based on an August Derleth-H. P. Lovecraft story. Video title: BLOOD ISLAND.▼

Shut Up & Sing (2006) C-93m.  D: Barbara Kopple, Cecilia Peck. Fascinating documentary on the flare-up that occurred near the beginning of the Iraq war when superstar country group The Dixie Chicks told a foreign concert audience they were ashamed to be from the same state as President George W. Bush. With cameras seemingly following the trio 24 hours a day, we see the repercussions the statement had on their lives and careers. Remarkable not only for its political content but as a primer on how a show-business career is made and marketed. Like very few movies of its ilk, this one shows us the "Chicks" machine at work with an image transformation played out in extreme close-up. Backstage drama is melded with several fine concert sequences. [R]▼

Shy People (1987) C-118m. ½ D: Andrei Konchalovsky. Jill Clayburgh, Barbara Hershey, Martha Plimpton, Mare Winning-

ham, Merritt Butrick, John Philbin, Don Swayze, Pruitt Taylor Vince. N.Y.C. photojournalist Clayburgh ventures into the Louisiana bayous (dragging along rebellious daughter Plimpton and a totally inappropriate wardrobe) to research a Cosmopolitan article on a very distant branch of her family. Hodgepodge film is implausible, melodramatic, ridiculous—and fascinating. Recommended chiefly for Hershey's riveting performance (as the head of the backwoods clan), and for cinematographer Chris Menges' remarkable opening shot of Manhattan. J-D-C Scope. [R]▼●

Sibling, The SEE: So Evil, My Sister

Sibling Rivalry (1990) C-88m.  D: Carl Reiner. Kirstie Alley, Bill Pullman, Carrie Fisher, Jami Gertz, Scott Bakula, Sam Elliott, Ed O'Neill, Frances Sternhagen, John Randolph, Paul Benedict, Bill Macy, Matthew Laurance. Black comedy about a repressed woman, stuck in a tedious marriage; at the urging of her sister, she has a fling with a chance acquaintance—who dies after an afternoon of mad, passionate sex. And that's just the beginning of the story. Some clever ideas get bogged down in this heavy-handed film. [PG-13]▼●●

Sicilian, The (1987) C-115m. BOMB D: Michael Cimino. Christopher Lambert, Terence Stamp, Barbara Sukowa, Giulia Boschi, Joss Ackland, John Turturro, Richard Bauer, Ray McAnally, Barry Miller, Joe Regalbuto, Aldo Ray. Militantly lugubrious bio of Salvatore Giuliano, who took on Church, State, and Mafia in an attempt to promote Sicily's secession from Italy in the late 1940s. Gore Vidal contributed to the screenplay, credited to Steve Shagan. The 146-minute director's cut () is available on cassette and actually seems shorter, thanks to more coherency and Sukowa's strengthened role. Neither version, though, can overcome two chief liabilities: Cimino's missing sense of humor and Lambert's laughably stone-faced performance. Title figure was previously the subject of Francesco Rosi's 1962 SALVATORE GIULIANO. J-D-C Scope. [R]▼●●

Sicilian Clan, The (1969-French) C-121m.  D: Henri Verneuil. Jean Gabin, Alain Delon, Lino Ventura, Irina Demick, Amedeo Nazzari, Sydney Chaplin. Gangland family's plans for jewel heist grow increasingly complex; crime caper on grandiose scale, totally implausible but great fun. Gabin is smooth head of clan, Delon a young ambitious thief hired for the occasion. Panavision. [PG]

Sicko (2007) C-123m. ½ D: Michael Moore. Provocative exposé of American health care is alternately entertaining and infuriating, focusing less on the uninsured than on people who have supposed coverage. Moore lets various victims of the system speak for themselves, then enters the picture to show us how other countries deal with the issue. In a heart-rending climax he takes some of his interviewees to Cuba, of all places, where they receive not only care but compassion. Moore makes no pretense of fairness, objectivity, or thoroughness—but still strikes home in what may be his best film to date. [PG-13]●

Sid and Nancy (1986) C-111m.  D: Alex Cox. Gary Oldman, Chloe Webb, Drew Schofield, David Hayman, Debby Bishop, Tony London, Perry Benson, Gloria LeRoy, Courtney Love. Harrowing look at the bizarre, self-destructive, and curiously compelling relationship between British punk rock singer Sid Vicious (of The Sex Pistols) and American groupie Nancy Spungen in the 1970s. Director Cox achieves a masterful level of docu-realism, then laces it with allegorical dream images, with striking results. At the core of the film are two remarkable performances, by Oldman and Webb, who don't seem to be performing at all: they are Sid and Nancy. A downer, to be sure, but fascinating. [R]▼●●

Siddhartha (1973) C-95m. ½ D: Conrad Rooks. Shashi Kapoor, Simi Garewal, Romesh Shama, Pinchoo Kapoor, Zul Velani, Amrik Singh. Uneven version of Hermann Hesse novel follows Indian as he leaves family to find more exciting life. Too arty, but on-location photography by Sven Nykvist (Ingmar Bergman's cinematographer) is often dazzling. Panavision. [R]▼●

Sidecar Racers (1975-Australian) C-100m.  D: Earl Bellamy. Ben Murphy, Wendy Hughes, John Clayton, Peter Graves, John Meillon, John Derum. Murphy becomes a champion sidecar racer; the usual. [PG]

Side Out (1990) C-100m. *½ D: Peter Israelson. C. Thomas Howell, Peter Horton, Courtney Thome-Smith, Harley Jane Kozak, Christopher Rydell, Terry Kiser, Randy Stoklos, Sinjin Smith, Kathy Ireland. College kid comes to Southern California for a summer job evicting tenants for his sleazy uncle but instead winds up joining with one of his intended victims for the ultimate beach volleyball match. Sand, surf, and sun are the sole highlights of this no-brainer which purports to be the first major studio film about volleyball. What's next? Badminton? [PG-13]▼●●

Side Street (1949) 83m.  D: Anthony Mann. Farley Granger, Cathy O'Donnell, James Craig, Paul Kelly, Edmon Ryan, Paul Harvey, Jean Hagen, Charles McGraw, Adele Jergens, Harry Bellaver, Whit Bissell. Story of part-time postman Granger impulsively stealing a wad of money, and finding himself involved with gangsters and murder, is bolstered by striking N.Y.C. locations and stark cinematography by Joseph Ruttenberg. The chase finale is a highlight.●

Sidewalks of London (1938-British) 84m.  D: Tim Whelan. Charles Laughton,

Vivien Leigh, Rex Harrison, Tyrone Guthrie, Larry Adler. Laughton is superb as a busker (street entertainer), with Leigh almost matching him as his protégée, who uses and abuses all in her quest for success as a stage star (a character not unlike Scarlett O'Hara!). Top entertainment . . . until that ill-conceived final sequence. Original British title: ST. MARTIN'S LANE. ▼

Sidewalks of New York (2001) C-107m. ½ D: Edward Burns. Edward Burns, Rosario Dawson, Heather Graham, Stanley Tucci, David Krumholtz, Dennis Farina, Brittany Murphy, Callie Thorne, Aida Turturro. Generally funny comedy about the romantic entanglements of a group of New Yorkers, some likable and others self-absorbed. Has an unmistakable Woody Allen-ish feel, but Burns' script is no match for Allen. Graham blatantly imitates Diane Keaton's Annie Hall; her character is even named Annie. Tucci is on target as a smarmy, philandering dentist. [R] ▼

Sidewalk Stories (1989) 97m.  D: Charles Lane. Charles Lane, Nicole Alysia, Sandye Wilson, Darnell Williams, Trula Hoosier. Charming, Chaplinesque fantasy that, in its own modest way, boldly comments on the plight of the homeless in America. Lane stars as a homeless man struggling for survival on the streets of Greenwich Village who finds himself caring for a cute toddler whose father has been stabbed by muggers. There's almost no dialogue; Marc Marder's evocative score adds immeasurably to the film's mood. Don't miss this sweet, gentle sleeper. [R]

Sideways (2004) C-126m. ½ D: Alexander Payne. Paul Giamatti, Thomas Haden Church, Virginia Madsen, Sandra Oh, Mary-louise Burke, Jessica Hecht. Giamatti gives another great—and thoroughly natural, totally believable—performance as a would-be author, passionate oenophile, and social misfit who takes a college pal off for a week in California wine country before he gets married. Along the way, this odd couple meets two attractive women who seem to return their interest. Told with wit, truth, compassion, and the eye for detail that marks all of Payne's work. Oscar-winning screenplay by Payne and Jim Taylor, adapted from Rex Pickett's previously unpublished novel. [R] ▼

Sidney Sheldon's Bloodline SEE: Bloodline

Siege, The (1998) C-116m.  D: Edward Zwick. Denzel Washington, Annette Bening, Bruce Willis, Tony Shalhoub, Sami Bouajila, Ahmed Ben Larby, Liana Pai, Mark Valley, Jack Gwaltney, David Proval, Lance Reddick. Terrorists set off bombs all over N.Y.C., crippling the city and leading to the imposition of martial law—including concentration camps for all Arabs, foreigners and citizens alike. Soon the general in charge (a cardboard Willis) is behaving like a tyrant, clashing with FBI man Washington and CIA agent Bening (both excellent). Well made and suspenseful. Super 35. [R]

▼ ● ●
Siege of Syracuse (1962-Italian) C-97m. *½ D: Pietro Francisci. Rossano Brazzi, Tina Louise, Enrico Maria Salerno, Gino Cervi. No less than Archimedes defends Syracuse from invading armada by use of giant mirrors that make ships burst into flames. Despite that, it's routine. Dyaliscope.

Siege of the Saxons (1963-British) C-85m. ½ D: Nathan Juran. Janette Scott, Ronald Lewis, Ronald Howard, John Laurie, Mark Dignam. Colorful escapism about King Arthur's daughter trying to protect her kingdom, and her right to marry the knight she chooses, from takeover by nefarious Edmund of Cornwall.

Siegfried SEE: Die Nibelungen
Siesta (1987) C-97m. *½ D: Mary Lambert. Ellen Barkin, Gabriel Byrne, Jodie Foster, Martin Sheen, Grace Jones, Julian Sands, Isabella Rossellini. Sky diver Barkin ends up dissheveled and semi-nude in Spain (by way of Death Valley); her subsequent odyssey has something to do with murder (which may actually be a fantasy) and a taxi driver with rusty teeth who keeps trying to rape her. So-called experimental film is a throwback to some of the more incomprehensible efforts of the 1960s. Music score by Miles Davis. Barkin and Byrne later married in real life. [R] ▼ ●

Signal 7 (1983) C-92m. ½ D: Rob Nilsson. Bill Ackridge, Dan Leegant, Bob Elross, Hagit Farber, John Tidwell, Herb Mills. Touching and revealing but rambling stream-of-consciousness tale of middle-aged cabdrivers—their camaraderie, illusions, desperation. Ambitious but uneven; dedicated, appropriately, to John Cassavetes. Shot on video then transferred to 16mm. for theatrical release. ▼ ●

Sign of the Cross, The (1932) 124m. ½ D: Cecil B. DeMille. Fredric March, Elissa Landi, Claudette Colbert, Charles Laughton, Ian Keith, Vivian Tobin, Nat Pendleton, Joe Bonomo. Well-meaning but heavy-handed account of Christians seeking religious freedom in Rome under Emperor Nero. Very slow going, despite fine work by March as Marcus Superbus, Laughton as Nero, and especially Colbert as alluring Poppaea. Reissued in 1944 at 118m. with many cuts of sexy and sadistic scenes, and a nine-minute WW2 prologue added. ▼ ●

Sign of the Pagan (1954) C-92m. ½ D: Douglas Sirk. Jeff Chandler, Jack Palance, Ludmilla Tcherina, Rita Gam, Jeff Morrow, Alexander Scourby. Uneven script hampers story of Attila the Hun threatening Rome; Sirk's stylish direction helps somewhat. CinemaScope.

Sign of Zorro, The (1960) 91m. *½ D: Norman Foster, Lewis R. Foster. Guy Williams, Henry Calvin, Gene Sheldon, Britt Lomond, George J. Lewis, Lisa Gaye. Several episodes of Disney's Zorro TV show pasted together; clumsy continuity undermines what charm the series had to offer. ▼

Sign o' the Times (1987) C-85m.  D: Prince. Prince, Sheila E., Sheena Easton, Dr. Fink, Miko Weaver, Levi Seacer, Jr., Wally Safford, Gregory Allen Brooks, Boni Boyer. Mostly punchy Prince concert film, shot in Rotterdam and Minnesota, features 13 numbers, some overhead photography and lots of bump and grind from both sexes. Stolen to some degree by star drummer Sheila E.; otherwise "live" film features Sheena Easton's rock video "U Got the Look." [PG-13] ▼

Signpost to Murder (1965) 74m. ½ D: George Englund. Stuart Whitman, Joanne Woodward, Edward Mulhare, Alan Napier, Joyce Worsley, Murray Matheson. Escapee from prison for criminally insane seeks shelter in home of woman whose husband is away. Contrived plot mars thriller but strong performances help. Panavision.

Signs (2002) C-106m. ½ D: M. Night Shyamalan. Mel Gibson, Joaquin Phoenix, Cherry Jones, Rory Culkin, Abigail Breslin, Patricia Kalember. A minister who's lost his way after the death of his wife discovers strange crop signs outside his home and soon finds his family threatened. Creepy movie about ultra-close encounters with invading aliens is thwarted by its own ambitions to tackle even bigger subjects like faith, fate, and the order of the universe. When it dwells on those matters it's downright silly at times, but when it sticks to the scary stuff it makes you jump. Written by the director, who also plays Ray. [PG-13] ▼

Signs & Wonders (2000-French-U.S.) C-108m.  D: Jonathan Nossiter. Stellan Skarsgård, Charlotte Rampling, Deborah Kara Unger, Dimitris Katalifos, Ashley Remy. Unusual drama about a crumbling American marriage in Athens, Greece. After having an extramarital affair, a husband becomes blindly determined to win back his wife, even though she's now romantically involved with a Greek political activist. Plays like an art-house sociopolitical FATAL ATTRACTION with multiple stalkers, but it's worth sticking with thanks to an intelligent script and intense performances from Rampling and Skarsgård as a couple on the brink. [R] ▼

Signs of Life (1989) C-91m. ½ D: John David Coles. Arthur Kennedy, Kevin J. O'Connor, Vincent Phillip D'Onofrio, Michael Lewis, Beau Bridges, Kate Reid, Kathy Bates, Mary-Louise Parker, Georgia Engel. A generations-old boat-building business in Maine closes its doors, and the

people, young and old, who've spent their lives working there try to figure out what to do next. An ideal showcase for Kennedy (in his first film in ten years) and a talented cast, but superlative acting cannot completely make up for an air of familiarity in Mark Malone's script. A PBS American Playhouse production. [PG-13] ▼

Silas Marner (1985-British) C-92m. ½ D: Giles Foster. Ben Kingsley, Jenny Agutter, Patrick Ryecart, Jonathan Coy, Freddie Jones, Frederick Treves, Angela Pleasence. Solid, marvelously detailed version of the George Eliot novel with Kingsley quite moving as the title character, a weaver who becomes a recluse after he's falsely accused of thievery and sent into exile. Reworked in 1994 as A SIMPLE TWIST OF FATE. ▼

Silence, The (1963-Swedish) 95m. ½ D: Ingmar Bergman. Ingrid Thulin, Gunnel Lindblom, Hakan Jahnberb, Birger Malmsten. Stark, forceful symbolic narrative of two sisters who stop at a hotel in a North European city. One sister (Thulin) is a frustrated lesbian with no future, the other (Lindblom) a free-loving mother of a 10-year-old boy. The last in Bergman's trilogy on faith, following THROUGH A GLASS DARKLY and WINTER LIGHT. ▼

Silence (1974) C-88m. ½ D: John Korty. Will Geer, Ellen Geer, Richard Keltom, Ian Geer Flanders, Craig Kelly. Outdoor drama of autistic boy Flanders lost in the wilderness is a Geer family affair, interestingly done. Aka CRAZY JACK AND THE BOY. [G] ▼

Silence of the Hams, The (1994) C-81m. BOMB D: Ezio Greggio. Dom DeLuise, Billy Zane, Joanna Pacula, Charlene Tilton, Martin Balsam, Stuart Pankin, John Astin, Phyllis Diller, Bubba Smith, Larry Storch, Rip Taylor, Shelley Winters. Zane is a rookie FBI agent on the trail of a serial killer; DeLuise is the psychotic criminal he turns to for help. Lame comedy in the AIRPLANE! tradition spoofs THE SILENCE OF THE LAMBS and PSYCHO. Film buffs might want to note cameos by such directors as Joe Dante and John Carpenter. Others might want to avoid the movie altogether. [R] ▼

Silence of the Lambs, The (1991) C-118m. ½ D: Jonathan Demme. Jodie Foster, Anthony Hopkins, Scott Glenn, Ted Levine, Anthony Heald, Brooke Smith, Diane Baker, Kasi Lemmons, Charles Napier, Tracey Walter, Roger Corman, Chris Isaak. FBI trainee Foster is recruited to attempt to get through to a brilliant psychotic criminal, "Hannibal the Cannibal" Lecter (Hopkins), in the hope that he may help catch a serial killer. Almost unbearably intense, brilliantly acted (by Foster and Hopkins), and cannily put together—though the subject material is at times repellent. Based on the Thomas Harris best-seller; the Hannibal character appeared in a previous Harris adaptation, MANHUNTER. Oscar winner for Best Picture, Actor (Hopkins), Actress (Foster), Director, and Adapted Screenplay (Ted Tally). Followed 10 years later by HANNIBAL. [R]▼●●

Silence of the North (1981-Canadian) C-94m.  D: Allan Winton King. Ellen Burstyn, Tom Skerritt, Gordon Pinsent, Jennifer McKinney, Donna Dobrijevic, Colin Fox. OK drama of independent-minded Burstyn surviving in the Canadian wilderness. Beautiful scenery; based on a true story. Panavision. [PG]▼

Silencers, The (1966) C-102m. ½ D: Phil Karlson. Dean Martin, Stella Stevens, Dalilah Lavi, Victor Buono, Robert Webber, James Gregory, Arthur O'Connell, Cyd Charisse, Roger C. Carmel, Nancy Kovack. Donald Hamilton's secret agent Matt Helm is pulled out of "retirement" to combat Buono's efforts to destroy a U.S. atomic testing site. First of four theatrical Helms is far and away the best, with Stevens just wonderful as well-meaning klutz. Sequel: MURDERERS' ROW. ▼●●

Silent Assassins (1988) C-92m. ½ D: Lee Doo-yong, Scott Thomas. Sam J. Jones, Linda Blair, Jun Chong, Phillip Rhee, Bill Erwin, Gustav Vintas, Mako, Rebecca Ferratti, Stuart Damon. Well-made actioner has commando Jones whip into action when a scientist is kidnapped by baddies for his secret biological-warfare formula. His helpers, Chong and Rhee, doubled as film's producers and fight choreographers. ▼

Silent Enemy, The (1958-British) 92m. ½ D: William Fairchild. Laurence Harvey, Dawn Addams, John Clements, Michael Craig. British Naval frogmen, headed by Harvey, are assigned to combat enemy counterpart during WW2; underwater sequences well handled, with some pre-THUNDERBALL gimmicks. ▼

Silent Fall (1994) C-100m. *½ D: Bruce Beresford. Richard Dreyfuss, Linda Hamilton, John Lithgow, J.T. Walsh, Ben Faulkner, Liv Tyler. When an autistic youngster (Faulkner) is the only witness to his parents' bloody double murder, controversial shrink Dreyfuss tries to unlock the boy's mind in an attempt to crack the case. Murky all the way, and predictable nearly all the way, except for an ill-advised "light" wrap-up that'll make you take a loud fall out of your seat. Barely released. [R]▼●●

Silent Hill (2006-U.S.-French) C-127m. *½ D: Christophe Gans. Radha Mitchell, Sean Bean, Laurie Holden, Alice Krige, Deborah Kara Unger, Kim Coates, Tanya Allen, Jodelle Ferland, Colleen Williams. Don't check this movie for parenting tips. When her little girl starts drawing strange images and uttering the words "silent hill" as she sleepwalks through recurring nightmares, the mother actually finds the obscure place on a map and drives her daughter straight into the fog-laden, deserted ghost town it has become. Another video game becomes a hokey excuse for a two-hour-plus horror movie. Dialogue is so laughable it might be advisable to watch SILENT HILL with the sound turned off. Super 35. [R]●

Silent Movie (1976) C-86m. ½ D: Mel Brooks. Mel Brooks, Marty Feldman, Dom DeLuise, Bernadette Peters, Sid Caesar, Harold Gould, Ron Carey, guests Burt Reynolds, James Caan, Liza Minnelli, Paul Newman, Anne Bancroft, Marcel Marceau, Harry Ritz. Disappointing attempt to revive silent comedy, with Brooks as movie producer hoping for comeback. Blackout gags range from very funny to misfire. Results are only mild instead of the knockout they should have been. [PG]▼●●

Silent Night, Bloody Night (1973) C-87m.  D: Theodore Gershuny. Patrick O'Neal, James Patterson, Mary Woronov, Astrid Heeren, John Carradine, Walter Abel. Uneven low-budgeter about escaped killer from insane asylum terrorizing small New England town, and inhabitants of mysterious old mansion that's up for sale. [R]▼●

Silent Night, Deadly Night (1984) C-79m. BOMB D: Charles E. Sellier, Jr. Lilyan Chauvan, Gilmer McCormick, Toni Nero, Robert Brian Wilson, Britt Leach. Controversial—and worthless—splatter movie about a psychotic (Wilson), dressed in a Santa suit, who commits brutal ax-murders. Theaters that played this film were picketed; what next—the Easter Bunny as a child molester? "Uncut and uncensored" DVD runs 85m. Followed by four sequels! [R]▼●●

Silent Night, Deadly Night Part II (1987) C-88m. BOMB D: Lee Harry. Eric Freeman, James L. Newman, Elizabeth Kaitan. Embarrassing (and unnecessary) follow-up to the Santa Claus-killer film has hero's younger brother continuing the psychotic carnage. About half the footage here is lifted from the original film (including a memorable scene featuring Linnea Quigley); new scenes are perfunctory. [R]▼●●

Silent Night, Deadly Night III—Better Watch Out! (1989) C-91m.  D: Monte Hellman. Samantha Scully, Bill Moseley, Richard Beymer, Robert Culp, Eric Da Re, Laura Herring. Shrewdly made sequel pits now grown killer from Part II against young blind woman linked to him by ESP. Well made, with touches of black comedy, but still only a slasher movie, less gruesome than most. Santa Claus is not the heavy this time—he's a victim. [R]▼●●

Silent Night, Deadly Night 4 (1990) C-90m. *½ D: Brian Yuzna. Maud Adams, Tommy Hinkley, Allyce Beasley, Clint Howard, Neith Hunter, Jeanne Bates, Laurel Lockhart. Investigating a strange death, a young woman would-be reporter becomes involved with witches, large bugs, worms, and Clint Howard. Though intelligent, it's gratuitously gruesome, dull, poorly acted, and bizarrely anti-feminist. Christmas elements are completely superfluous. Actual title on-screen is INITIATION: SILENT NIGHT, DEADLY NIGHT 4. [R]▼●

Silent Night, Deadly Night 5: The Toy-maker (1991) C-90m.  D: Martin Kitrosser. Jane Higginson, William Thone, Tracy Frain, Mickey Rooney, Brian Bremer, Neith Hunter, Clint Howard. Toys are out to kill a little boy at Christmastime, but who's responsible? Drunken toymaker Petto (Rooney) or his odd son Pino? (The names are clumsy clues.) Overplotted but OK horror thriller with a lot of sex. No plot connection to earlier films in series. [R]▼●

Silent Night, Evil Night SEE: Black Christmas

Silent Partner, The (1978-Canadian) C-103m.  D: Daryl Duke. Elliott Gould, Christopher Plummer, Susannah York, Celine Lomez, Michael Kirby, Ken Pogue, John Candy. Offbeat film about crafty bank teller Gould playing cat-and-mouse with psychotic robber Plummer. Well directed, with fine eye for detail, but bursts of graphic violence are jarring. Nice score by Oscar Peterson. Screenplay by Curtis Hanson. [R]▼●

Silent Rage (1982) C-105m. *½ D: Michael Miller. Chuck Norris, Ron Silver, Steven Keats, Toni Kalem, William Finley, Brian Libby, Stephen Furst. Small-town Texas sheriff Norris versus sickie killer Libby, a Frankenstein-like creation of science. Ho-hum. [R]▼●

Silent Running (1971) C-89m.  D: Douglas Trumbull. Bruce Dern, Cliff Potts, Ron Rifkin, Jesse Vint. Space-age ecology tale of botanist's fight on space station to keep Earth's final vegetation samples from being destroyed. Interesting film marked directorial debut of special effects whiz Trumbull (2001, CLOSE ENCOUNTERS). Script by Deric Washburn, Michael Cimino, and Steven Bochco; unusual score by Peter Schickele. [G]▼●

Silent Screem (1980) C-87m. *½ D: Denny Harris. Rebecca Balding, Cameron Mitchell, Avery Schreiber, Barbara Steele, Yvonne De Carlo. Another illogical, obvious kids-caught-in-erie-old-house melodrama. Some scares, but who cares? [R]▼●

Silent Tongue (1994) C-98m. BOMB D: Sam Shepard. Richard Harris, Alan Bates, River Phoenix, Dermot Mulroney, Sheila Tousey, Jeri Arredondo, Tantoo Cardinal, Bill Irwin, David Shiner, The Red Clay Ramblers. While his son goes delirious in the New Mexico prairie, dragging around the corpse of his halfbreed bride, Harris tries to negotiate a deal for her sister from medicine show proprietor Bates (who sired both girls). If you wonder how a movie with this cast could remain on the shelf for two years, proceed at your own peril. Phoenix's penultimate film

(released after his death), though it gives him nothing to do. Shepard also wrote the script. Panavision. [PG-13]▼●

Silent World, The (1956-French) C-86m.  D: Jacques-Yves Cousteau, Louis Malle. Frederic Duman, Albert Falco, Jacques-Yves Cousteau. Academy Award-winning documentary account of an expedition above and—most memorably—below the sea's surface by Captain Cousteau and his divers and crew. Beautifully photographed; Malle's first film.

Silk (2007-Canadian-Italian-Japanese) C-109m.  D: François Girard. Michael Pitt, Keira Knightley, Kôji Yakusho, Alfred Molina, Sei Ashina, Kenneth Welsh. Beautiful but bland period piece, based on popular novel by Alessandro Baricco, about a 19th-century French merchant (Pitt) who falls for a mysterious local beauty (Ashina) while bargaining for silkworms in Japan. Unfortunately, he has a loving wife (Knightley) at home, so nothing good comes of this. Molina adds a bit of life to ponderous proceedings as the merchant's roguish boss, but that's not quite enough. Super 35. [R]▼

Silk Road, The (1992-Chinese-Japanese) C-126m. *½ D: Junya Sato. Koichi Sato, Toshiyuki Nishida, Tsunehiko Watase, Daijiro Harada, Takahiro Tamura. Extravagant but hokey, overly melodramatic epic set in 11th-century China, about a young man (Koichi Sato) who becomes involved in various adventures and falls in love with a princess. The much-hyped battle scenes are nicely done, but fall short next to those in other films (for example, Kurosawa's KAGEMUSHA and RAN). [PG-13]▼●

Silk Stockings (1957) C-117m.  D: Rouben Mamoulian. Fred Astaire, Cyd Charisse, Janis Paige, Peter Lorre, George Tobias, Jules Munshin, Joseph Buloff, Barrie Chase. Words, music, dance blend perfectly in stylish remake of Garbo's NINOTCHKA. This time Charisse is cold Russian on Paris mission. Astaire the movie producer man-about-town who warms her up. Score by Cole Porter includes "All of You" and "Stereophonic Sound"; Mamoulian's final film. CinemaScope.▼●

Silkwood (1983) C-128m.  D: Mike Nichols. Meryl Streep, Kurt Russell, Cher, Craig T. Nelson, Diana Scarwid, Fred Ward, Ron Silver, Charles Hallahan, Josef Sommer, Sudie Bond, Henderson Forsythe, E. Katherine Kerr, Bruce McGill, David Strathairn, M. Emmet Walsh, Ray Baker, Tess Harper, Anthony Heald. Superb performances, and vivid dramatization of workaday life in an Oklahoma nuclear-parts factory, give strength to a flawed film. Streep is outstanding as real-life Karen Silkwood, but anyone who followed news story knows how this film will end, and that places a special burden on such a long, slowly paced film. Script by Nora Ephron and Alice Arlen. [R]▼●●

Silverado (1985) C-132m.  D: Lawrence Kasdan. Kevin Kline, Scott Glenn, Kevin Costner, Danny Glover, John Cleese, Rosanna Arquette, Brian Dennehy, Linda Hunt, Jeff Goldblum, Ray Baker, Joe Seneca, Lynn Whitfield, Jeff Fahey, Richard Jenkins, Sheb Wooley, James Gammon. Sprawling, well-made Western about four unlikely comrades who join forces against some very bad guys. First major Hollywood Western in a long time is no classic but offers ample entertainment by throwing in everything but the kitchen sink—and never stops moving. Just don't think about it too hard. Script by Mark and Lawrence Kasdan, fine score by Bruce Broughton. Super Techniscope. [PG-13]▼●●

Silver Bears (1978) C-113m.  D: Ivan Passer. Michael Caine, Cybill Shepherd, Louis Jourdan, Martin Balsam, Stephane Audran, Tommy Smothers, David Warner, Charles Gray, Jay Leno. Entertaining comedy better suited to TV than theater screens; fine cast in story of high-level chicanery in world silver market. Adapted from Paul Erdman's novel by Peter Stone; filmed in Switzerland and Morocco. [PG]▼

Silver Bullet (1985) C-95m.  D: Daniel Attias. Corey Haim, Gary Busey, Megan Follows, Everett McGill, Terry O'Quinn, Robin Groves, Leon Russom, Bill Smitrovich, Lawrence Tierney; voice of Tovah Feldshuh. What can it be that's terrorizing a small town by the light of the full moon? The answer is a werewolf, but it takes the folks in this movie a long time to figure that out. Well-acted but often stupid and unbelievable horror tale from Stephen King's novelette Cycle of the Werewolf. Aka STEPHEN KING'S SILVER BULLET. J-D-C Scope. [R]▼●●

Silver Chalice, The (1954) C-144m.  D: Victor Saville. Virginia Mayo, Pier Angeli, Jack Palance, Paul Newman, Walter Hampden, Joseph Wiseman, Alexander Scourby, Lorne Greene, E. G. Marshall, Natalie Wood. Newman's screen debut is undistinguished in story of Greek who designs framework for cup used at Last Supper. This is the film Newman once apologized for in a famous Hollywood trade ad. From the Thomas Costain novel; Greene's first film, too. CinemaScope.▼●●

Silver City (1951) C-90m.  D: Byron Haskin. Edmond O'Brien, Yvonne De Carlo, Richard Arlen, Gladys George, Barry Fitzgerald. Capable cast is above this mish-mash set in the mining area of the West, with usual rivalry over gals and ore.

Silver City (1984-Australian) C-110m. ½ D: Sophie Turkiewicz. Gosia Dobrowolska, Ivar Kants, Anna Jemison, Steve Bisley, Debra Lawrence. Fair soaper about love affair between Polish immigrants

Dobrowolska and Kants in 1940s Australia. The catch: He is married to her close friend. Panavision. [PG]▼

Silver City (2004) C-124m. ½ D: John Sayles. Chris Cooper, Danny Huston, Richard Dreyfuss, Maria Bello, James Gammon, Daryl Hannah, Kris Kristofferson, Mary Kay Place, Tim Roth, Thora Birch, David Clennon, Miguel Ferrer, Michael Murphy, Billy Zane, Alma Delfino, Sal López, Luis Saguar, Ralph Waite. Ensemble piece about a reporter-turned-investigator who's hired to see who might be trying to sabotage the gubernatorial campaign of Colorado's favored son. A film noir-ish mystery is the framework for Sayles' attack on political corruption, corporate greed, and the apathy and resignation of a generation that once tried to change the world. Cooper does a slyly funny impression of Pres. George W. Bush, with a perfectly cast Murphy as his kingmaker dad. Plotter than it needs to be, and fairly obvious, but still entertaining and relevant. [R]▼●

Silver Dream Racer (1980-British) C-111m. *½ D: David Wickes. David Essex, Beau Bridges, Cristina Raines, Clarke Peters, Harry H. Corbett, Diane Keen, Lee Montague, Sheila White. Hackneyed drama chronicling the trials of garage-mechanic-turned-motorcyclist Essex as he strives to win the Big Race. Essex wrote and performed music score as well. Panavision. [PG]▼

Silver Lode (1954) C-80m. ½ D: Allan Dwan. John Payne, Elizabeth Scott, Dan Duryea, Dolores Moran, Emile Meyer, Harry Carey, Jr., Morris Ankrum, Stuart Whitman, Alan Hale, Jr. A Western town's respected citizen (Payne) is accused of thievery and murder on his wedding day by a slimy U.S. "marshal" (Duryea). So-so melodrama is a fascinating relic of its era as both a HIGH NOON variation and an obvious allegory of HUAC/McCarthyist hypocrisy. The action unfolds on July 4, and the villain is named "McCarty"!▼●

Silver River (1948) 110m. *½ D: Raoul Walsh. Errol Flynn, Ann Sheridan, Thomas Mitchell, Bruce Bennett, Tom D'Andrea, Barton MacLane, Monte Blue. Mediocre Flynn vehicle: Ann and Errol marry out West, he becomes corrupt.▼

Silver Streak (1976) C-113m.  D: Arthur Hiller. Gene Wilder, Jill Clayburgh, Richard Pryor, Patrick McGeehan, Ned Beatty, Ray Walston, Scatman Crothers, Clifton James, Richard Kiel, Fred Willard. Nutty blend of comedy, romance, action and suspense as mild-mannered editor Wilder becomes involved in murder plot on cross-country train ride. Switch from comedy to violence is sometimes jarring, but on the whole a highly entertaining picture. One of the best Wilder/Pryor pairings. Imitation Hitchcock written by Colin Higgins. [PG]▼●●

Simba (1955-British) C-99m. ½ D:

Brian Desmond Hurst. Dirk Bogarde, Virginia McKenna, Basil Sydney, Donald Sinden. Fine cast in story of young man arriving in Kenya only to find brother killed by Mau Maus. Some grisly scenes. ▼

Simian Line, The (2001) C-106m. ½ D: Linda Yellen. Lynn Redgrave, Jamey Sheridan, Harry Connick, Jr., Cindy Crawford, Samantha Mathis, William Hurt, Tyne Daly, Eric Stoltz, Dylan Bruno, Monica Keena, Jeremy Zelig. Small-scale film intertwines four couples' lives at crossroads: Redgrave is insecure about her relationship with her much-younger lover (Connick, Jr.), especially when a young couple moves in next door. What's more, her house is haunted by ghosts of long ago (Mathis, Hurt). Highly uneven, with the mystical elements the weakest, but marked by fine performances from Redgrave, Connick, and a surprisingly good Crawford. [R] ▼

Simon (1980) C-97m. ½ D: Marshall Brickman. Alan Arkin, Madeline Kahn, Austin Pendleton, Judy Graubart, William Finley, Fred Gwynne, Adolph Green. Uneven comedy about psychology professor (Arkin) who's brainwashed by group of think-tank weirdos to believe he's come from another planet. There's a cruel edge to the humor, and signs of a serious film trying to break out, in screenwriter Brickman's directorial debut. [PG] ▼

Simon Birch (1998) C-113m.  D: Mark Steven Johnson. Ian Michael Smith, Joseph Mazzello, Ashley Judd, Oliver Platt, David Strathairn, Dana Ivey, Beatrice Winde, Jan Hooks, Jim Carrey. Fable set in the early 1960s about a young boy with arrested growth (real-life 11-year-old Smith) who believes he's part of God's plan, and is destined to be a hero. That destiny is hard to discern in his sad, often frustrated life; the bright spot is his friendship with Mazzello, who's also an outsider as a bastard child in a small town. Well-made tearjerker loosely adapted from John Irving's novel A Prayer for Owen Meany; manipulative, borderline mushy at times, but very well done. [PG] ▼ ●

SIMONE (2002) C-117m.  D: Andrew Niccol. Al Pacino, Catherine Keener, Winona Ryder, Evan Rachel Wood, Jay Mohr, Pruitt Taylor Vince, Jason Schwartzman, Stanley Anderson, Rachel Roberts. One-joke idea about a desperate filmmaker who, fed up with temperamental stars, creates his new discovery on a computer—and then can't get anyone to believe she doesn't exist. Alas, no one in the film is real, which makes it hard to accept, even as satire. There are echoes of FROM NOON TILL THREE, MEET JOHN DOE, even THE RETURN OF MARTIN GUERRE . . . but to no effect. From the writer of THE TRUMAN SHOW. Elias Koteas and Rebecca Romijn-Stamos appear unbilled. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

Simon Magus (2000-German-British) C-

105m.  D: Ben Hopkins. Noah Taylor, Embeth Davidtz, Rutger Hauer, Ian Holm, Stuart Townsend, Sean McGinley, Terence Rigby, Amanda Ryan. Shunned by his Jewish community because of his claims that he has the ability to put a "curse" on crops and often talks to the Devil, Simon (Taylor) becomes the unlikely key player in the local tug-of-war to bring a railway station to a backwater village in the 1800s. Minor, off-beat directing debut for Hopkins; memorable only for a quirky lead performance by the talented Taylor and some fine supporting players.

Simon of the Desert (1965-Mexican) 45m.

* D: Luis Buñuel. Claudio Brook, Silvia Pinal, Hortensia Santovena, Enrique Alvarez Felix. Hilarious parable about a bearded ascetic who plops himself atop a pillar to communicate with God better. Could only have been made by one filmmaker; even by Buñuel's standards, the ending of this one is pretty wild. ▼

Simon Sez (1999) C-85m. BOMB D: Kevin Elders. Dennis Rodman, Xin-Xin Xiong, Dane Cook, Natalia Cigliuti, Filip Nolic, Emma Sjöberg. Absolutely dreadful actioner with Rodman—the NBA's most famous cross-dressing power forward—playing a James Bond-like Interpol agent who sets out to rescue a kidnapped heiress. Bottom of the barrel in all departments. [PG-13] ▼

Simpatico (1999) C-106m.  D: Matthew Warchus. Nick Nolte, Jeff Bridges, Sharon Stone, Catherine Keener, Albert Finney, Shawn Hatosy, Kimberly Williams, Liam Waite. Bridges is a Kentucky millionaire horseman whose life comes apart when he hears from a boyhood pal (Nolte) who threatens to expose their dark, longtime secret. Film's overheated tone seems unwarranted by the material itself, but it's great fun watching old-pro Finney. Based on a play by Sam Shepard. [R] ▼

Simple Men (1992) C-105m.  D: Hal Hartley. Robert Burke, William Sage, Karen Sillas, Elina Löwensohn, Martin Donovan, Mark Chandler Bailey. Original, ingratiating tale of brothers Burke and Sage, who set out in search of their fugitive father, a former Brooklyn Dodgers all-star shortstop who, in the 1960s, became a bomb-throwing anarchist. Infused with a wry sense of humor and consistent offbeat tilt, but the emotions underneath are genuine, and that's what makes the film so endearing. A PBS American Playhouse coproduction. [R] ▼ ●

Simple Plan, A (1998) C-121m. ½ D: Sam Raimi. Bill Paxton, Billy Bob Thornton, Bridget Fonda, Brent Briscoe, Gary Cole, Chelcie Ross, Jack Walsh, Becky Ann Baker. Wintry tale of three men—a family man, his slow-witted brother, and the latter's redneck pal—who stumble onto a cache of money in a

downed airplane. Their decision to keep the cash quickly snowballs into a whirlpool of tension that leads to other crimes. Thornton's exceptional performance makes the film worth seeing, but the story—and its mild-mannered characters' sudden transformation—simply doesn't ring true. Adapted by Scott B. Smith from his novel. [R]▼●●

Simple Story, A (1978-French) C-110m.

 D: Claude Sautet. Romy Schneider, Bruno Cremer, Claude Brasseur, Arlette Bonnard. Fortyish laborer examines her life after aborting a child and dropping her lover. Schneider gives one of her best performances in this graceful drama.▼

Simple Twist of Fate, A (1994) C-106m.

½ D: Gillies MacKinnon. Steve Martin, Gabriel Byrne, Catherine O'Hara, Stephen Baldwin, Laura Linney, Byron Jennings, Michael des Barres, Ed Grady, Kristoffer Tabori, Anne Heche. Circumstances drive a man to become a recluse and a miser, until an orphaned toddler wanders into his life. Martin produced, wrote, and starred in this adaptation of George Eliot's novel Silas Marner, an odd choice of material that yields an interesting if never quite arresting story. Some of the most entertaining moments are also the most incongruous, when the sober-faced lead character suddenly—and unexpectedly—becomes funny, à la Steve Martin. [PG-13]▼●●

Simple Wish, A (1997) C-89m. ½ D:

Michael Ritchie. Martin Short, Mara Wilson, Kathleen Turner, Robert Pastorelli, Amanda Plummer, Francis Capra, Ruby Dee, Teri Garr. Amusing family film about a bungling male fairy godmother who tries to help a little girl whose wish is to see her father get a part in a new musical play. Short and Wilson are fun, Turner is over the top as a wicked witch, and the special effects are good . . . though the film never quite takes off. Highlight for grownups is the bogus Andrew Lloyd Webber-ish musical play Two Cities which figures in the plot. (Director Ritchie wrote the songs with Lucy Simon.) [PG]▼●●

Simply Irresistible (1999) C-96m.  D:

Mark Tarlov. Sarah Michelle Gellar, Sean Patrick Flanery, Patricia Clarkson, Dylan Baker, Christopher Durang, Larry Gilliard, Jr., Betty Buckley, Amanda Peet. Old-fashioned, overcooked romantic comedy-fantasy about a talentless chef (Gellar) struggling to keep her late mother's restaurant afloat, who is transformed by a magical crab (!) into a master cook whose concoctions seem to have special powers. Along the way, she becomes romantically involved with an executive (Flanery) who is setting up a gourmet restaurant. Occasionally likable, but far too predictable. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●●

Simpsons Movie, The (2007) C-87m. ***

D: David Silverman. Voices of Dan Castellaneta, Julie Kavner, Nancy Cartwright, Year-

ley Smith, Hank Azaria, Harry Shearer, Marcia Wallace, Tress MacNeille, Pamela Hayden, A. (Albert) Brooks, Joe Mantegna, Tom Hanks. Springfield is quarantined under a huge dome by the EPA (and President Schwarzenegger), and eventually marked for destruction, after Homer causes an environmental disaster by dumping a massive amount of poop from his pet pig into the local lake. Can he save the town and win back the affection of his fed-up family? Long-running TV cartoon's debut on the big—and ultrawide—screen is entertaining, albeit not as sharply satirical as the best episodes of the series. Digital Widescreen. [PG-13]●

Sin, The SEE: Good Luck, Miss Wyckoff Sinbad and the Eye of the Tiger (1977-British) C-113m. *½ D: Sam Wanamaker. Patrick Wayne, Jane Seymour, Taryn Power, Margaret Whiting, Patrick Troughton. Dreary followup to GOLDEN VOYAGE OF SINBAD has unusually hackneyed script (even for this kind of film), disappointing Ray Harryhausen effects, and goes on forever. For patient kids only. Taryn is Tyrone Power's daughter. [G]▼●●

Sinbad: Legend of the Seven Seas (2003)

C-86m.  D: Tim Johnson, Patrick Gilmore. Voices of Brad Pitt, Catherine Zeta-Jones, Michelle Pfeiffer, Joseph Fiennes, Dennis Haysbert, Timothy West, Adriano Giannini. Entertaining animated blend of adventure, fantasy, comedy, and romance as bad-boy Sinbad takes on a noble mission to save his boyhood pal, the prince—whose fiancée tags along for the ride. Pitt and Zeta-Jones play bantering, bickering romantic leads with great verve, even if it's hard to forget whose voices we're listening to. Pfeiffer is also fun as Eris, the goddess of chaos. Slick production needlessly injects computer-generated monsters into the already good-looking 2-D world it's created. [PG]▼●

Sinbad the Sailor (1947) C-117m.  D:

Richard Wallace. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Maureen O'Hara, Anthony Quinn, Walter Slezak, George Tobias, Jane Greer, Mike Mazurki, Sheldon Leonard. Tongue-in-cheek swashbuckler, with lavish color production. Great fun.▼●●

Sincerely Yours (1955) C-115m. BOMB

D: Gordon Douglas. Liberace, Joanne Dru, Dorothy Malone, William Demarest, Richard Eyer, Lurene Tuttle. Remake of George Arliss' THE MAN WHO PLAYED GOD becomes a ludicrous vehicle for Liberace. Camp classic written by Irving Wallace, with the star's brother George serving as musical adviser.▼●●

Since You Went Away (1944) 172m.

½ D: John Cromwell. Claudette Colbert, Jennifer Jones, Joseph Cotten, Shirley Temple, Monty Woolley, Hattie McDaniel, Agnes Moorehead, Craig Stevens, Keenan Wynn, Nazimova, Robert Walker,

Lionel Barrymore. Tear-jerker supreme with Colbert at her valiant best. Story of family suffering through WW2 with many tragedies and complications dates a bit, but still is very smooth film. Producer David O. Selznick wrote the screenplay, from Margaret Buell Wilder's book. Beautifully photographed by Lee Garmes and Stanley Cortez. Max Steiner's score won an Oscar. Film debuts of Guy Madison (then an actual sailor, in the role of sailor Harold Smith) and John Derek (an extra). ▼●●

Sin City (2005) C-124m. *½ D: Frank Miller, Robert Rodriguez. Bruce Willis, Clive Owen, Jessica Alba, Benicio Del Toro, Rosario Dawson, Jaime King, Brittany Murphy, Mickey Rourke, Carla Gugino, Elijah Wood, Devon Aoki, Alexis Bledel, Powers Boothe, Michael Clarke Duncan, Josh Hartnett, Rutger Hauer, Michael Madsen, Nick Stahl, Nicky Katt, Marley Shelton. Vignettes, both short and long, from Frank Miller's graphic novels about a violent, corrupt city full of hard-boiled characters (and naked women) are brought to life in a computer-enhanced film noir world. Stylish, audacious, but completely artificial; the initial excitement of watching these images soon dies off but the film refuses to do the same. Miller fans and adolescent boys will probably rate this much higher. Quentin Tarantino is billed as Special Guest Director. On-screen title is FRANK MILLER'S SIN CITY. Alternate version runs 147m. HD 24P Widescreen. [R] ▼●

Sinful Davey (1969-British) C-95m. ½ D: John Huston. John Hurt, Pamela Franklin, Nigel Davenport, Ronald Fraser, Robert Morley, Fidelma Murphy, Maxine Audley, Brenda Fricker. Tale of 19th-century Scottish highwayman and his love for a "nice" girl is rather ordinary, but does have pleasant performance by Franklin. Based on a true story. Anjelica Huston has a bit part. Panavision. [M/PG]

Sinful Life, A (1989) C-90m.  D: William Schreiner. Anita Morris, Rick Overton, Dennis Christopher, Mark Rolston, Cynthia Sziget, Blair Tefkin, Cynthia Songe. Very offbeat comedy (filmed on a low, low budget) about a former Sonny and Cher dancer named Claire Vin Blanc who fights to keep her rather unusual child, Baby, from being removed to a more "respectable" environment. Not for everyone, but it does give Morris a great vehicle for her comedic talent. Based on the play Just Like the Pom Pom Girls, originally presented by L.A.'s Groundlings comedy troupe. [R] ▼●

Sing (1989) C-97m. BOMB D: Richard Baskin. Lorraine Bracco, Peter Dobson, Jessica Steen, Louise Lasser, George DiCenzo, Patti LaBelle, Cuba Gooding, Jr. Title refers to a true-life, decades-old tradition—a song-dance competition (or "Sing") between seniors and underclassmen in Brooklyn high schools. Script (by Dean Pitchford) is decades old, too: B-movie clichés about a

rebel, a "nice" girl, an understanding teacher, and jelly-spined administrators all locking horns during pageant rehearsals. Threatens to go over the brink throughout . . . and eventually does. [PG-13] ▼●

Sing and Swing (1963-British) 75m.  D: Lance Comfort. David Hemmings, Veronica Hurst, Jennifer Moss, John Pike. Virtue of modest musical is Hemmings in lead role of messenger boy who joins pals in combo; they record a song, and find their musical career in full sway. Originally titled LIVE IT UP.

Singapore (1947) 79m. ½ D: John Brahm. Fred MacMurray, Ava Gardner, Roland Culver, Richard Haydn, Spring Byington, Thomas Gomez, Porter Hall. Alluring drama of trader/pearl smuggler MacMurray returning to Singapore after a five-year absence, recalling his previous romantic relationship with Gardner. He thinks she was killed during a Japanese bombing attack, but she really was a victim of amnesia. The characters in this seem to be very loosely modeled after those in CASABLANCA. Remade as ISTANBUL. ▼

Singapore, Singapore (1968-French) C-103m.  D: Bernard Toublanc Michel. Sean Flynn, Marika Green, Terry Downes, Marc Michel, Peter Gayford, Denis Berry. So-so espionage tale interesting primarily for Flynn (Errol's son) playing a CIA agent looking into the disappearance of a number of Marines in Singapore. Based on Jean Bruce's novel. Aka FIVE ASHORE IN SINGAPORE.

Sing, Baby, Sing (1936) 87m.  D: Sidney Lanfield. Alice Faye, Adolphe Menjou, Gregory Ratoff, Ted Healy, Patsy Kelly, Tony Martin. Pleasant musicomedie stolen by Menjou as John Barrymore prototype involved with publicity-seeking Faye. Songs: "When Did You Leave Heaven?," "You Turned the Tables on Me," title tune. The Ritz Brothers are quite good in their feature-film debut.

Sing Boy Sing (1958) 90m.  D: Henry Ephron. Tommy Sands, Lili Gentle, Edmond O'Brien, John McIntire, Nick Adams, Diane Jergens, Josephine Hutchinson, Jerry Paris, Regis Toomey. A teen idol and Elvis Presley clone (Sands) is manipulated by his cold-hearted manager (O'Brien) and kept apart from his roots. Muddled relic of its era, which purports to expose the evils of rock 'n' roll and showbiz (in between Sands' endless musical numbers). CinemaScope.

Singer Not the Song, The (1961-British) C-129m. ½ D: Roy (Ward) Baker. Dirk Bogarde, John Mills, Mylene Demongeot, Eric Pohlmann. Offbeat, sluggish yam set in Mexico involving conflict of Catholic priest and local bandit to control the town, with Demongeot in love with the clergyman. CinemaScope. ▼

Singing Detective, The (2003) C-109m. ½ D: Keith Gordon. Robert Downey, Jr.,

Robin Wright Penn, Mel Gibson, Jeremy Northam, Katie Holmes, Carla Gugino, Adrien Brody, Jon Polito, Saul Rubinek, Alfie Woodward, Amy Aquino. A writer who's hospitalized with a horrific skin condition fantasizes about his gumshoe alter ego and hallucinates a series of musical numbers that relate to his problems, both real and imagined. The late Dennis Potter reconceived his brilliant 1986 British miniseries as an American-based feature film, and changed the time period from the 1940s to the 1950s, but in compressing (and even lightening the tone of) the material he lost some of its impact. The results are uneven, though still often striking. Gibson also coproduced. Super 35. [R] ▼●

Singing Nun, The (1966) C-98m.  D: Henry Koster. Debbie Reynolds, Ricardo Montalban, Greer Garson, Agnes Moorehead, Chad Everett, Katharine Ross, Ed Sullivan, Juanita Moore, Tom Drake. Syrupy comic-book stuff based on real-life Belgian nun whose devotion is split between religious work and making hit records. Panavision. ▼●

Singin' in The Rain (1952) C-102m. * D: Gene Kelly, Stanley Donen. Gene Kelly, Debbie Reynolds, Donald O'Connor, Jean Hagen, Cyd Charisse, Millard Mitchell, Douglas Fowley, Madge Blake, Rita Moreno. Perhaps the greatest movie musical of all time, fashioned by Betty Comden and Adolph Green from a catalogue of Arthur Freed-Nacio Herb Brown songs. The setting is Hollywood during the transition to talkies, with Hagen giving the performance of a lifetime as Kelly's silent screen costar, whose voice could shatter glass. Kelly's title number, O'Connor's "Make 'Em Laugh," are just two highlights in a film packed with gems. Later a Broadway musical. ▼●

Single Girl, A (1995-French) C-90m. ½ D: Benoit Jacquot. Virginie Ledoyen, Benoit Magimel, Dominique Valadie, Vera Briole, Michel Bompil, Jean-Cretien Sibertin-Blanc. Bright, scintillating slice-of-life, told in real time, about a young woman (Ledoyen) whose personal life is complicated to say the least, and who must contend with additional pressures in her new job as a room-service waitress in a fancy hotel. Exudes the freshness and spontaneity of the early French New Wave; 19-year-old Ledoyen (who seems like Anna Karina reborn) offers a star-making performance. ▼●

Single Handed SEE: Sailor of the King
Single Room Furnished (1968) C-93m. *½ D: Matteo Ottaviano (Matt Cimber). Jayne Mansfield, Dorothy Keller, Fabian Dean, Billy M. Greene, Martin Horsey, Walter Gregg. Pathetic woman, twice impregnated and thrice deserted, decides to become prostitute. Mansfield's last film, released after her death, opens with Walter Winchell tribute and degenerates as she attempts to display serious acting talent. ▼●

Singles (1992) C-99m. ½ D: Cameron

Crowe. Bridget Fonda, Matt Dillon, Campbell Scott, Kyra Sedgwick, Sheila Kelley, Jim True, Bill Pullman, James Le Gros, Devon Raymond, Camilo Gallardo, Ally Walker, Jeremy Piven, Paul Giamatti, Tim Burton. Life in the Seattle singles scene; it ain't easy. Lively seriocomedy with some appealing performances (especially by Scott and Sedgwick), but never as solid—or as insightful—as you hope it will be. Film has music, setting, and style galore, but also a rather uneven script. Eric Stoltz (who has appeared in all of the director's films), Tom Skerritt, and Peter Horton have amusing cameos. [PG-13] ▼●

Single Standard, The (1929) 73m.  D: John S. Robertson. Greta Garbo, Nils Asther, John Mack Brown, Dorothy Sebastian, Lane Chandler. Greta is a San Francisco debutante, a free soul who breaks convention and has an affair with artist Asther. Pretty silly stuff, but Garbo is as beautiful as ever. From an Adela Rogers St. Johns novel. ▼●

Single White Female (1992) C-107m. ½ D: Barbet Schroeder. Bridget Fonda, Jennifer Jason Leigh, Steven Weber, Peter Friedman, Stephen Tobolowsky, Frances Bay, Rene Estevez, Ken Tobey. Self-employed N.Y. career woman (Fonda), her engagement kaput, ends up sharing her dream apartment with the Roommate from Hell. PERSONA meets Roman Polanski's entire oeuvre in well-acted thriller that's terrific for about an hour—until standard slasher-pic silliness sets in. Screendom's first psychological probing to wrap up with a Chrissie Hynde vocal. Based on John Lutz novel SWF Seeks Same. Followed by a direct-to-video sequel. [R] ▼●

Sing, You Sinners (1938) 88m.  D: Wesley Ruggles. Bing Crosby, Fred MacMurray, Donald O'Connor, Elizabeth Patterson, Ellen Drew, John Gallaudet. Gambling gay-blade Crosby can't face responsibility, despite prodding of brother MacMurray. Fine film with "I've Got a Pocketful of Dreams" and memorable "Small Fry" number featuring young O'Connor.

Sinister Invasion (1971-Mexican-U.S.) C-90m. BOMB D: Jack Hill, Juan Ibanez. Boris Karloff, Enrique Guzman, Christa Linder, Maura Monti, Yerye Beirute, Sergio Kleiner. 19th-century scientist Karloff's experiments accidentally summon aliens who dominate a local Ripper-like killer. Cheap, flaccid, ugly film, one of four Karloff worked on simultaneously in 1968; unfortunately this was his last film work. Aka INCREDIBLE INVASION, INVASION SINIESTRA, and ALIEN TERROR. ▼

Sinister Urge, The (1960) 75m. BOMB D: Edward D. Wood, Jr. Kenne Duncan, Duke Moore, Carl Anthony, Jean Fontaine, Dino Fantini, Jeanne Willardson. Dedicated cops Duncan and Moore set out to smash the "smut picture racket," which is

run by a brassy blonde who writes with a four-foot quill pen. One of Wood's least-known works demonstrates with complete conviction how photos of plump women in their underwear are the principal cause of juvenile delinquency. Aka THE YOUNG AND THE IMMORAL. ▼●●

Sink the Bismarck! (1960-British) 97m.  D: Lewis Gilbert. Kenneth More, Dana Wynter, Carl Mohner, Laurence Naismith, Geoffrey Keen, Karel Stepanek, Michael Hordern. Good WW2 film based on fact. Exciting sea battles as British navy starts deadly hunt for famed German war vessel. Script by Edmund H. North. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Sinner's Holiday (1947) SEE: Christmas Eve

Sin Nombre (2009-U.S.-Mexican) C-96m.  D: Cary Joji Fukunaga. Paulina Gaitan, Edgar Flores, Kristyan Ferrer, Tenoch Huerta Mejía, Diana García, Luis Fernando Peña, Héctor Jiménez. Vivid, painfully believable drama about a Honduran girl who reluctantly joins her father and uncle in boarding a train for Mexico as the first step toward emigrating to the U.S. Meanwhile, a Mexican gang member whose leader has betrayed his trust joins the trek, though he knows he's a marked man. Borders on melodrama, with almost Shakespearean overtones yet palpably real every step of the way. Impressive feature debut for writer-director Fukunaga. Super 35. [R]

Sin Noticias de Dios SEE: Don't Tempt Me Sin of Harold Diddlebock, The (1947) 90m. ½ D: Preston Sturges. Harold Lloyd, Frances Ramsden, Jimmy Conlin, Raymond Walburn, Edgar Kennedy, Arline Judge, Lionel Stander, Rudy Vallee. Fascinating idea of updating Lloyd's 1920s character to show what's happened to that go-getter doesn't fulfill its promise. Aimless comedy can't top opening sequence from THE FRESHMAN (1925), despite enthusiasm of fine cast. Reedited to 79m. and reissued in 1950 as MAD WEDNESDAY. ▼●

Sin of Madelon Claudet, The (1931)  73m. D: Edgar Selwyn. Helen Hayes, Lewis Stone, Neil Hamilton, Robert Young, Cliff Edwards, Jean Hersholt, Marie Prevost, Karen Morley, Charles Winninger, Alan Hale, Frankie Darro. First-rate, fast-moving soapier in the MADAME X vein, about a woman who sacrifices everything so her illegitimate son will have a good life. Hayes won an Oscar portraying woman who goes from bumpkin to Parisian sophisticate to suffering mother to haggard street-walker—and she's terrific. ▼

Sins of Lola Montes, The SEE: Lola Montes

Sins of Rachel Cade, The (1961) C-124m. ½ D: Gordon Douglas. Angie Dickinson, Peter Finch, Roger Moore, Woody Strode, Rafer Johnson, Juano Hernandez, Mary Wickes, Scatman Crothers. Turgid melodrama set in Belgian Congo with Dick-

inson a missionary nurse involved in romance and native conflicts. ▼

Sioux City (1994) C-102m. ½ D: Lou Diamond Phillips. Lou Diamond Phillips, Salli Richardson, Melinda Dillon, Lise Cutter, Apesanahkwat, Gary Farmer, Ralph Waite, Tantoo Cardinal, Adam Roarke. Overworked doctor Phillips, Lakota Indian by birth but adopted as a child by an affluent Jewish couple, goes on vacation and returns to the reservation where he was born; there, he learns of the death of his real mother, faces anti-Indian sentiment, and ultimately confronts the mysteries of his past. Sensitive handled drama is engrossing and suspenseful until the ridiculous finale. [PG-13] ▼●

Siren of Bagdad (1953) C-77m. ½ D: Richard Quine, Paul Henreid, Patricia Medina, Hans Conried, Charlie Lung. Comedy-adventure of magician and friend trying to save dancing girls in slave market. Conried provides film's best moments.

Sirens (1994-Australian-British) C-94m.  D: John Duigan. Hugh Grant, Tara Fitzgerald, Sam Neill, Elle Macpherson, Portia de Rossi, Kate Fischer, Pamela Rabe, Ben Mendelsohn, John Polson. Piquant social comedy about a young, liberal British minister and his wife who drop in on scandalous Australian artist Norman Lindsay (Neill), and find themselves seduced (somewhat) by his libertarian ways—and his three gorgeous, free-thinking models, who have no qualms about posing nude. Some may be attracted by the prospect of seeing supermodel Macpherson naked, but she also delivers a good performance. Droll and imaginative work by writer-director Duigan (who also appears onscreen as the earnest minister). Artist Lindsay was portrayed by James Mason in the 1969 film AGE OF CONSENT. [R] ▼●●

Sir Henry at Rawlinson End (1980-British) 72m. ½ D: Steve Roberts. Trevor Howard, Patrick Magee, Denise Coffey, J. G. Devlin, Sheila Reid, Harry Fowler. Howard is fine as an eccentric, alcoholic aristocrat who attempts to exorcise a family spirit from his domain. Strange but entertaining, and veddy British.

Sirocco (1951) 98m. ½ D: Curtis Bernhardt. Humphrey Bogart, Marta Toren, Lee J. Cobb, Everett Sloane, Gerald Mohr, Zero Mostel, Nick Dennis, Onslow Stevens, Ludwig Donath, Harry Guardino, Jeff Corey. Bogart's company produced this slick if superficial paraphrase of CASABLANCA with Bogie as a gunrunner who's the unofficial boss of Damascus in 1925, vying with French military officer Cobb for the affections of Toren. A strong supporting cast adds flavor. ▼●●

Sister Act (1992) C-100m.  D: Emile Ardolino. Whoopi Goldberg, Maggie Smith, Harvey Keitel, Bill Nunn, Kathy Najimy, Wendy Makkena, Mary Wickes, Robert Miranda, Richard Portnow, Joseph Maher.

A Reno lounge singer, targeted for murder by her mobster boyfriend, hides out in a convent—where she shakes things up as the new choir director. Crowd-pleasing comedy, cannily written (by Joseph Howard, aka Paul Rudnick) and directed, with a plum part for Whoopi—though veteran character actress Wickes has many of the funniest lines. Followed by a sequel. [PG]▼●●

Sister Act 2: Back in the Habit (1993) C-106m. ½ D: Bill Duke. Whoopi Goldberg, Maggie Smith, Kathy Najimy, Barnard Hughes, Mary Wickes, James Coburn, Michael Jeter, Wendy Makkena, Sheryl Lee Ralph, Robert Pastorelli, Thomas Gottschalk, Jennifer Love Hewitt. Affable piffle unconvincingly finds Goldberg back with the nuns, coaching students in a choral competition as heavy Coburn plots to close their school. Though someone involved apparently saw THE BELLS OF ST. MARY'S a few too many times, needless sequel does send you out with a smile, thanks to a smashing musical finale and an end-credit sequence that's the best thing in the picture. Very slow going at first. [PG]▼●●

Sisterhood of the Traveling Pants, The (2005) C-119m.  D: Ken Kwapis. Amber Tamblyn, Alexis Bledel, America Ferrera, Blake Lively, Jenna Boyd, Bradley Whitford, Nancy Travis, Rachel Ticotin, Mike Vogel, Leonardo Nam. Story follows four best friends spending their first summer apart from one another and sharing a magical pair of jeans. Despite being of various shapes and sizes, each of them fits perfectly into the pants, and as every girl has her turn with them, life-changing events occur. Sweet but not sappy; the four leads give excellent performances in a charming coming-of-age tale. Based on the popular young-adult book by Ann Brashares. Followed by a sequel. Panavision. [PG]▼●

Sisterhood of the Traveling Pants 2, The (2008) C-111m.  D: Sanaa Hamri. Amber Tamblyn, Alexis Bledel, America Ferrera, Blake Lively, Rachel Nichols, Tom Wisdom, Rachel Ticotin, Leonardo Nam, Michael Rady, Shohreh Aghdashloo, Blythe Danner. The four pals are now in college and their friendship has been strained, so when summer arrives they go their separate ways, no longer dependent on each other—and the fabled pair of jeans—to see them through, or so they think. Simple, straightforward sequel nearly matches the spirit and charm of the original, and even returns to picture-postcard Greece; the four appealing actresses are in fine form. Kyle MacLachlan appears unbilled. [PG-13]●

Sister-in-Law, The (1974) C-85m.  D: Joseph Ruben. John Savage, W. G. McMillan, Anne Saxon, Meredith Baer, Jon Oppenheim, Tom Mahoney. Interesting curio has Savage becoming involved with destructive title character as his brother's

dupe in drug-smuggling. Hurt by needlessly negative finale. Savage also composed the score and sings several folk ballads pleasantly. [R]▼●

Sister Kenny (1946) 116m. ½ D: Dudley Nichols. Rosalind Russell, Alexander Knox, Dean Jagger, Philip Merivale, Beulah Bondi, Dorothy Peterson. Russell shines in title role, as Australian nurse who initiated treatment for polio. Engrissing drama is among the better Hollywood biopics. Scripted by Nichols, Knox, and Mary McCarthy, from Elizabeth Kenny's autobiography And They Shall Walk.▼●

Sister My Sister (1994-British) C-102m.  D: Nancy Meckler. Julie Walters, Joely Richardson, Jodhi May, Sophie Thurstfield. Compelling psychological drama about a dour madame (Walters), obsessed with her respectability, who controls her ungainly daughter (Thurstfield) and two maids (Richardson, May); the latter are sisters who share a complicated emotional—and sexual—bond. Strains among the characters build, leading to emotional fireworks. A based-on-fact story that served as the basis of Jean Genet's The Maids. [R]▼●

Sisters, The (1938) 98m.  D: Anatole Litvak. Errol Flynn, Bette Davis, Anita Louise, Ian Hunter, Donald Crisp, Beulah Bondi, Jane Bryan, Lee Patrick, Mayo Methot, Laura Hope Crews, Dick Foran, Henry Travers, Patric Knowles, Alan Hale. Davis, Louise, and Bryan are sisters whose marital problems are traced in this lavish film; Bette's got the most trouble, of course, with unreliable husband Flynn in San Francisco, 1905.▼

Sisters (1973) C-93m.  D: Brian De Palma. Margot Kidder, Jennifer Salt, Charles Durning, Barnard Hughes, William Finley, Mary Davenport, Olympia Dukakis. De Palma's first venture into Hitchcock territory, about separated Siamese twins (Kidder), one of whom is a homicidal maniac, and the reporter (Salt) who—shades of REAR WINDOW—thinks she witnessed one of the slayings. Eerie, gory, tremendously suspenseful, with one of Bernard Herrmann's most chilling scores. Remade for DVD in 2007. [R]▼●

Sisters, The (2005) C-113m. *½ D: Arthur Allan Seidelman. Maria Bello, Elizabeth Banks, Erika Christensen, Stephen Culp, Tony Goldwyn, Mary Stuart Masterson, Eric McCormack, Alessandro Nivola, Chris O'Donnell, Rip Torn, Greg Foote. Chekhov's play Three Sisters "inspired" an American version (by Richard Alfieri), which has now inspired this deadly film about four siblings who just can't seem to get along. Talk about your dysfunctional families! The Russian setting of the original has been replaced by a faculty lounge in a N.Y.C. university, where endless chunks of verbose dialogue are hurled at one another by a starry, if uneven, cast. Most of the

drivel uttered by this assemblage of academics wouldn't get a passing grade. [R] Sister, Sister (1987) C-91m. *½ D: Bill Condon. Eric Stoltz, Jennifer Jason Leigh, Judith Ivey, Dennis Lipscomb, Anne Pitoniak, Benjamin Moulton. Leigh and Ivey are title siblings, two women with myriad problems and repressions. They've converted their parents' mansion into a dreary guest house . . . one which you will not want to visit. Thoroughly unappealing. Super 35. [R] **▼●●

Sisters, or the Balance of Happiness (1979-German) C-95m. ½ D: Margarethe von Trotta. Jutta Lampe, Gudrun Gabriel, Jessica Fruh, Rainer Delventhal, Konstantin Wecker. Slow but not unrewarding psychological study of the complex relationship between two sisters; one, a successful executive secretary, is supporting the other, a graduate student in biology. **▼

Sister Streetfighter (1975-Japanese) C-81m. *½ D: Kazuhiko Yamaguchi. Etsuko "Sue" Shiomi, Mie "May" Hayakawa, Hiroshi "Harry" Kondo, Shinichi "Sonny" Chiba, Sanae Obori, Tatsuya Nanjo. Shiomi kicks some major butt when her spy brother is captured by drug runners in Hong Kong. The most outlandishly campy and cartoonish of the STREET FIGHTER series, this is a crudely made concoction of sex and sadism, with Chiba only appearing in a few scenes. Actionscope. [R] **▼●●

Sitting Bull (1954) C-105m.  D: Sidney Salkow. Dale Robertson, Mary Murphy, J. Carrol Naish, Iron Eyes Cody, John Litel, Bill (William) Hopper. Sluggish Western about cavalry major Robertson, who is compassionate toward the Sioux and clashes with his superiors over their disregard for Indian rights. CinemaScope. **▼

Sitting Ducks (1980) C-90m.  D: Henry Jaglom. Michael Emil, Zack Norman, Patrice Townsend, Irene Forrest, Richard Romanus, Henry Jaglom. Energetic, funny sleeper about timid Syndicate accountant Emil and womanizing pal Norman, who take a day's collections and rip off the Mob. Emil and Norman have comedy team potential as the bickering buddies, Townsend (then Mrs. Jaglom) is luscious as a woman they pick up. Lots of belly laughs. [R] **▼

Sitting Pretty (1948) 84m. ½ D: Walter Lang. Robert Young, Maureen O'Hara, Clifton Webb, Richard Haydn, Louise Allbritton, Ed Begley. Webb is perfect as self-centered genius who accepts job as full-time babysitter in gossip-laden suburban town. Highly entertaining, followed by the MR. BELVEDERE comedies. **▼

Sitting Target (1972-British) C-93m. *½ D: Douglas Hickox. Oliver Reed, Jill St. John, Ian McShane, Edward Woodward, Frank Finlay, Freddie Jones. Reed breaks out of prison to settle two scores—one of them with his cheating wife (St. John). Violent, generally unpleasant film. [R]

Situation, The (2007) C-106m.  D: Philip Haas. Connie Nielsen, Damian Lewis, Mido Hamada, Saïd Amadis, Nasser Memarzia, Mahmoud El Lozy, John Slattery, Tom McCarthy, Driss Roukh. American journalist (Nielsen) covers the war in Iraq and juggles romantic involvements with a U.S. intelligence officer (Lewis) and an Iraqi photographer (Hamada). Lackluster attempt to involve us in a love triangle while portraying various points of view about the "situation" in Iraq. First screenplay by journalist Wendell Steavenson isn't nearly as interesting as the many documentaries covering the subject. **▶

Situation Hopeless—But Not Serious (1965) 97m.  D: Gottfried Reinhardt. Alec Guinness, Michael Connors, Robert Redford, Anita Hoefler, Mady Rahl, Paul Dahlke. Odd little comedy, from a Robert Shaw novel, about German clerk Guinness holding two American (Redford, Connors) prisoners for years after WW2 has ended. Interesting characterization by Guinness, but a flat film.

Six Black Horses (1962) C-80m.  D: Harry Keller. Audie Murphy, Dan Duryea, Joan O'Brien, George Wallace. O'Brien pays two men to take her across Indian lands, intending to murder gunman of duo who killed her husband. Mediocre Western with a Burt Kennedy script apparently left over from the Randolph Scott—Budd Boetticher series.

Six Bridges to Cross (1955) 96m. ½ D: Joseph Pevney. Tony Curtis, Julia (Julie) Adams, George Nader, Sal Mineo, Jay C. Flippen. Entertaining tale of career criminal Curtis and the events leading up to a major heist; loosely based on the infamous Boston Brink's truck robbery. Mineo's film debut.

Six Days Seven Nights (1998) C-101m.  D: Ivan Reitman. Harrison Ford, Anne Heche, David Schwimmer, Jacqueline Obradors, Temuera Morrison, Allison Janney, Douglas Weston, Danny Trejo, Taj Mahal. Entertaining romantic comedy about a N.Y.C. career woman who's forced to interrupt an idyllic tropical vacation with her boyfriend for a business side trip. Then her charter plane crash-lands, and she's stranded on a deserted island with her pilot—who's not exactly her type (and vice versa). An obvious setup is played out with great verve by the stars. Ford is especially loose and funny. Panavision. [PG-13] **▼●●

Six Degrees of Separation (1993) C-111m.  D: Fred Schepisi. Stockard Channing, Will Smith, Donald Sutherland, Ian McKellen, Mary Beth Hurt, Bruce Davison, Richard Masur, Anthony Michael Hall, Heather Graham, Eric Thal, Anthony Rapp, Osgood Perkins, Catherine Kellner, Jeffrey Abrams, Kitty Carlisle Hart. Stylish, opened-up adaptation by John Guare of his stage success about a handsome con man who convinces well-off, gullible New Yorkers that he is

Sidney Poitier's son. Impressively acted film flows smoothly in its first two acts, before the satire gives way to chest-thumping tragedy. Dominant virtue is the widescreen snap Schepisi gives to the N.Y. settings, both indoors and out. Based on a true incident. Many N.Y.C. society types pop up in cameos. Super 35. [R]▼●●

Six of a Kind (1934) 62m.  D: Leo McCarey. W. C. Fields, George Burns, Gracie Allen, Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland, Alison Skipworth. George and Gracie drive Mary and Charlie crazy traveling westward on vacation; Fields as pool-playing sheriff adds to confusion. Zany, wonderful nonsense. ▼●

Six Pack (1982) C-110m.  D: Daniel Petrie. Kenny Rogers, Diane Lane, Erin Gray, Barry Corbin, Terry Kiser, Bob Hannah, Anthony Michael Hall. Stock car driver more or less inherits six orphans whose idea of good clean fun is stripping down someone else's auto. Not as bad as it sounds, but it won't make your day, either; Rogers' theatrical debut. [PG]▼●

Six-Pack Annie (1975) C-88m.  D: Graydon F. David. Lindsay Bloom, Jana Bellan, Ray Danton, Joe Higgins, Stubby Kaye, Louisa Moritz, Richard Kennedy, Doodles Weaver, Bruce Boxleitner, Pedro Gonzalez-Gonzalez, Sid Melton. Minor drive-in classic has busty Bloom as a young girl who goes to Miami to become a hooker to raise money to save her mom's failing diner. Includes a very funny bit by Kennedy as a drunk Texan. [R]

16 Blocks (2006-U.S.-German) C-102m.  D: Richard Donner. Bruce Willis, Mos Def, David Morse, Jenna Stern, Casey Sander, Cylk Cozart, David Zayas, Robert Racki. A burnt-out N.Y.C. cop is given the no-brainer job of escorting a witness from lockup to the courthouse, but their 16-block journey is interrupted by assassins who want the witness dead. It turns out there are no clear-cut good guys or bad guys in this suspenseful yarn laced with incisive character snapshots and the irresistible ingredient of a man in need of redemption. Action scenes are pulse-pounding, and the performances first-rate. Super 35. [PG-13]●

Sixteen Candles (1984) C-93m.  D: John Hughes. Molly Ringwald, Anthony Michael Hall, Michael Schoeffling, Paul Dooley, Justin Henry, Gedde Watanabe, Blanche Baker, Carlin Glynn, Edward Andrews, Billie Bird, Carole Cook, Max Shallowater, John Cusack, Joan Cusack, Jami Gertz, Beth Ringwald, Haviland Morris. A girl turns 16 and dreams of finding Mr. Right—little dreaming that he's already got his eye on her. Observant, potentially winning comedy cluttered up with cheap jokes and offensive material. Redeemed somewhat by Ringwald's charming performance and Hall's engaging portrayal of a would-be hustler. [PG]▼●●

6th Day, The (2000) C-124m.  D: Roger Spottiswoode. Arnold Schwarzenegger, Tony Goldwyn, Michael Rapaport, Robert Duvall,

Michael Rooker, Sarah Wynter, Wendy Crewson, Ken Pogue, Christopher Lawford. Interesting sci-fi premise set in the near future, when cloning animals is common but cloning human beings is illegal. After ordering a hit on helicopter pilot Schwarzenegger, megalomaniac tycoon Goldwyn has a "copy" made; instead, there are two Arnolds on the loose, seeking revenge. Entertaining if overly plotty film benefits from a sharp sense of humor. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●

633 Squadron (1964-British) C-101m. ½ D: Walter Grauman. Cliff Robertson, George Chakiris, Maria Perschy, Harry Andrews. Pretentious WW2 aviation film about the group's air mission to bomb German-run factory in Norway. Robertson and Chakiris are stiff-lipped throughout; script by James Clavell and Howard Koch. Panavision. ▼●●

Sixth Man, The (1997) C-107m. ½ D: Randall Miller. Marlon Wayans, Kadeem Hardison, Kevin Dunn, Michael Michele, David Paymer, Gary Jones. Disney couldn't stop at remaking ANGELS IN THE OUTFIELD and THE ABSENT MINDED PROFESSOR: they had to combine them, in this cloying fantasy about a dead college basketball star who spurs his brother (Wayans) and their team to gravity-defying court feats. Your brain will need a liberal application of Ben-Gay after being pummeled by the idiocy of this foul-mouthed comedy. Wayans mugs outrageously, but he had to do something. [PG-13]▼●●

Sixth Sense, The (1999) C-107m. ½ D: M. Night Shyamalan. Bruce Willis, Toni Collette, Haley Joel Osment, Olivia Williams, Donnie Wahlberg, Glenn Fitzgerald, Mischa Barton. Exceptional thriller about a dedicated child psychologist who faces his greatest challenge in reaching—and understanding—a young boy who spends his life paralyzed by fear, because he lives in a world of ghosts. Young Osment is extraordinarily good; the film is sinuous and creepy without being manipulative. Writer-director Shyamalan also has a cameo as a doctor. [PG-13]▼●

Sixty Six (2006-British) C-95m.  D: Paul Weiland. Helena Bonham Carter, Eddie Marsan, Gregg Sulkin, Peter Serafinowicz, Catherine Tate, Stephen Rea, Ben Newton, Richard Katz, Geraldine Somerville. A misfit lad with an eccentric family relates the misadventures leading up to his bar mitzvah in 1966—the same year England played Germany in the World Cup. Billed, rather disarmingly, as "a true-ish story" based on director Weiland's experiences. Slight but endearingly funny, well-cast comedy of recognition. [PG-13]●

Six Weeks (1982) C-107m.  D: Tony Bill. Dudley Moore, Mary Tyler Moore, Katherine Healy, Shannon Wilcox, Bill Calvert, Joe Regalbutto. Curiously unmoving tearjerker about a politician who meets

a precocious young girl who's dying of leukemia, and becomes involved with her mother. Genteel, well acted (Dudley is absolutely charming) but hollow; the characters just don't ring true. Healy, in real life, is an award-winning ballerina. Dudley also composed the score. [PG]▼●

Sizzle Beach, U.S.A. (1986) C-93m. BOMB D: Richard Brander. Terry Congie, Leslie Brander, Roselyn Royce, Kevin Costner. Ultra-low-budget beach-bimbo junk, of interest solely as the first film appearance of Costner. Made in 1974. [R]▼●●

Skateboard (1977) C-97m.  D: George Gage. Allen Garfield, Kathleen Lloyd, Leif Garrett, Richard Van Der Wyk, Tony Alva, Antony Carbone. In trouble with his bookie, Garfield organizes local skateboarders into moneymaking team. Good premise given lackluster treatment. [PG]▼

Skatetown, U.S.A. (1979) C-98m. *½ D: William A. Levey. Scott Baio, Flip Wilson, Ron Palillo, Ruth Buzzi, Dave Mason, Greg Bradford, Kelly Lang, Billy Barty, Dorothy Stratten. Comedy-fantasy for the light of heart and slow of brain, with occasionally amusing comedy bits spicing plotless look at the ultimate roller-disco palace. Film's only real distinction is that it's better than ROLLER BOOGIE. Film debut of Patrick Swayze. [PG]

Skeeter (1994) C-91m. ½ D: Clark Brandon. Tracy Griffith, Jim Youngs, Charles Napier, Jay Robinson, William Sanderson, Eloy Casados, John Putsch, Saxon Trainor, Stacy Edwards, Michael J. Pollard, Buck Flower. Mysterious deaths around a dwindling desert community are traced to toxic waste and the crow-sized mosquitoes it has spawned. Good acting and imaginative, inventive direction result in a funny little thriller that almost overcomes its routine story. ▼●●

Skeleton Key, The (2005) C-104m.  D: Iain Softley. Kate Hudson, Gena Rowlands, John Hurt, Peter Sarsgaard, Joy Bryant, Maxine Barnett. New Orleans nursing student Hudson gets a job at a decrepit house in the bayous where she cares for mute, paralyzed Hurt and takes orders from his domineering sister Rowlands. Using a key that opens every door, she finds hoodoo (not voodoo) paraphernalia in the attic, and mysterious events follow. Well produced and occasionally suspenseful, but populated with unpleasant characters and a story that develops too slowly. Another in a long line of horror thrillers aimed at a female audience. Panavision. [PG-13]▼●

Sketches of Frank Gehry (2006) C-83m.  D: Sydney Pollack. Highly personal portrait of the innovative architect, seen through the eyes of his longtime friend filmmaker Pollack. We get to see the artist at work, collaborating with his team, at home in the space he designed, and hear his life story in his own words—and those of various friends, colleagues, and patrons, ranging from Philip Johnson to Dennis Hopper. Because Gehry is candid and at ease with Pollack, the film is both entertaining and illuminating. [PG-13]●

Ski Bum, The (1971) C-136m. BOMB D: Bruce Clark. Zalman King, Charlotte Rampling, Joseph Mell, Dimitra Arliss, Anna Karen. Deservedly obscure film version of Roman Gary's novel about a ski bum who goes establishment, winds up a pawn in a shady business deal. Aka POINT ZERO. [R]▼

Skidoo (1968) C-98m. ½ D: Otto Preminger. Jackie Gleason, Carol Channing, Frankie Avalon, Fred Clark, Michael Constantine, Frank Gorshin, John Phillip Law, Peter Lawford, Burgess Meredith, George Raft, Cesar Romero, Mickey Rooney, Groucho Marx, Austin Pendleton. Avalon plays an up-and-coming gangster, Groucho a mob kingpin named "God," and every single credit to the film is sung. Consequently, about one in a thousand will have the temperament to like this; everyone else will sit there dumbstruck. Music score by Harry Nilsson. Groucho's final film. Panavision. [M]

Ski Fever (1969) C-98m. *½ D: Curt Siodmak. Martin Milner, Claudia Martin, Vivi Bach, Dietmar Schoenherr, Toni Saylor, Dorit Dom. American ski instructor giving lessons in Austria to finance his education is unpleasantly surprised to learn his duties include entertaining guests after hours. Why complain when most of them are good-looking girls? Claudia is Dean Martin's daughter. [M]

Skin Deep (1989) C-101m. ½ D: Blake Edwards. John Ritter, Vincent Gardenia, Alyson Reed, Joel Brooks, Julianne Phillips, Chelsea Field, Nina Foch, Denise Crosby, Michael Kidd, Sheryl Lee Ralph. Successful L.A. writer can't keep his hedonistic life on track—not with diversions around like wine (he's an alcoholic), women (he's insatiable), and song (Cole Porter's a favorite). Spotty, often obvious comedy from writer-director Edwards does have some real laughs—and some unforgettable condoms. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Skin Game, The (1931-British) 86m.  D: Alfred Hitchcock. Edmund Gwenn, Jill Esmond, John Longden, C. V. France, Helen Haye, Phyllis Konstam. Gwenn adds the only spark of life to this dull adaptation of the Galsworthy play about rivalry between neighboring landowners. Hitchcock claims he didn't make it by choice, and one can believe it considering the many long, static dialogue scenes; very atypical of the master.▼●

Skin Game (1971) C-102m. ½ D: Paul Bogart. James Garner, Louis Gossett, Susan Clark, Brenda Sykes, Edward Asner, Andrew Duggan. Exceptional comedy about Garner and Gossett running con-game posing as master and slave in pre-Civil War era. Serious

undertones enhance this offbeat, entertaining film; Clark delightful as female con-artist who joins duo. Scripter "Pierre Marton" is Peter Stone. Remade for TV by Burt Kennedy as SIDEKICKS in 1974. Panavision. [PG] ▼

Skins (2002) C-87m. ½ D: Chris Eyre. Graham Greene, Eric Schweig, Gary Farmer, Noah Watts, Lois Red Elk, Michelle Thrush, Nathaniel Arcand, Chaske Spencer. Deeply emotional film about two Oglala Sioux brothers, raised in the dirt-poor region of Wounded Knee; one becomes a policeman, the other a hopeless, embarrassing drunk, but the bond between them remains strong. A moving story of love, guilt, and accountability. The film's polemics are woven into an absorbing, personal story, and distinguished by two exceptional lead performances. Adapted from Adrian C. Louis' novel by Jennifer D. Lyne. [R] ▼

Skinwalkers (2007-U.S.-Canadian-German) C-110m. *½ D: James Isaac. Jason Behr, Elias Koteas, Rhona Mitra, Kim Coates, Natassia Malthe, Matthew Knight, Sarah Carter, Tom Jackson, Rogue Johnston, Barbara Gordon, Shawn Roberts, Wendy Crewson. Twelve-year-old Knight and his mother are unaware that the other members of their family are "good" werewolves who protect them. They battle a band of "bad" werewolves who are determined to kill the boy, and the result is yet another hackneyed horror movie. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Ski Party (1965) C-90m.  D: Alan Rafkin. Frankie Avalon, Dwayne Hickman, Deborah Walley, Yvonne Craig, Robert Q. Lewis, Bobbi Shaw, Aron Kincaid. BEACH PARTY gang puts on some clothes in this one, but the shenanigans are the same. Guest star Lesley Gore sings "Sunshine, Lollipops and Rainbows." James Brown sings "I Got You." Panavision. ▼

Skipped Parts (2000) C-93m.  D: Tamra Davis. Jennifer Jason Leigh, Mischa Barton, Bug Hall, R. Lee Ermye, Angela Featherstone, Peggy Lipton, Brad Renfro, Michael Greyeyes, Drew Barrymore. In 1963, a despotic Southern millionaire sends his slutty daughter and her son packing for Wyoming, where they try to fit in—and he learns the facts of life from a girl who befriends him. All-too-familiar territory gets uneven treatment; adapted by Tim Sandlin from his novel. Barrymore appears in several scenes as Hall's dream girl. Released direct to video. Widescreen. [R] ▼

Skirts Ahoy! (1952) C-109m. ½ D: Sidney Lanfield. Esther Williams, Joan Evans, Vivian Blaine, Barry Sullivan, Keefe Brasselle, Billy Eckstine, Dean Miller, Margalo Gillmore, Jeff Donnell, Keenan Wynn. Chipper cast can't buoy this musical of three WAVE recruits and their romantic entanglements. Blaine virtually recreates her GUYS AND DOLLS character; Debbie Reynolds and

Bobby Van sparkle in a specialty song-and-dance routine. ▼

Ski Troop Attack (1960) 63m.  D: Roger Corman. Michael Forest, Frank Wolff, Wally Campo, Richard Sinatra, James Hoffman, Sheila Carol, Roger Corman. Wintery WW2 adventure with five U.S. soldiers on skis behind enemy lines in Germany. OK Corman low-budgeter. ▼

Skull, The (1965-British) C-83m. ½ D: Freddie Francis. Peter Cushing, Patrick Wymark, Christopher Lee, Nigel Green, Jill Bennett, Michael Gough, George Coulouris, Patrick Magee. Good cast lends needed support to questionable script (based on a Robert Bloch story) of skull of Marquis de Sade that has mysterious powers. Techniscope. ▼

Skullduggery (1970) C-105m. *½ D: Gordon Douglas. Burt Reynolds, Susan Clark, Roger C. Carmel, Chips Rafferty, Edward Fox, Wilfrid Hyde-White, Pat Suzuki, Rhys Williams. In New Guinea, Reynolds and Clark find gentle ape people called the Tropi; their humanity has to be proved in court to keep them from being slaughtered by developers. Unusual but unsuccessful story whose author had his name removed from the credits. Panavision. [M/PG] ▼

Skulls, The (2000) C-106m. BOMB D: Rob Cohen. Joshua Jackson, Paul Walker, Hill Harper, Leslie Bibb, Christopher McDonald, William Petersen, Craig T. Nelson, Steve Harris, Malin Akerman. Quickly termed THE NUMBSKULLS, this Ivy League groaner deals with an unnamed university (it might be Yale because it's not Slippery Rock) and the power-mad chicanery of its secret organization. Inspid acting, dialogue and situations abound, with the film asking us to believe that a treacherous act could be covered up when it's been videotaped and a couple dozen well-connected high-rollers know about it. Followed by two direct-to-video sequels. [PG-13] ▼

Sky Above The Mud Below, The (1961-French) C-90m.  D: Pierre-Dominique Gaisseau. Narrated by William Peacock. Academy Award-winning documentary showing variety of primitive life found within confines of Dutch New Guinea. ▼

Sky Bandits (1986-British) C-92m. BOMB D: Zoran Perisic. Scott McGinnis, Jeff Osterhage, Ronald Lacey. McGinnis and Osterhage are a poor man's BUTCH CASSIDY AND THE SUNDANCE KID in this dreary adventure of two Western buddies' aerial exploits during WWI. Poorly cast and has nothing to offer but high-flying special effects, designed by director Perisic (who made Chris Reeve "fly" in SUPERMAN). [PG]

Sky Blue (2003-Korean) C-86m. ½ D: Moon-Saeng Kim. Voices of David Naughton, Kirk Thornton, Catherine Cavadini. Decades

after a catastrophic worldwide environmental disaster, wealthy city-dwelling survivors go to war with the working-class outsiders over the mining of an energy source, which is also a deadly pollutant. Korean-made sci-fi anime feature is a dazzling visual tour-de-force, filled with violent action and impressive animation, but is less successful as an ecological cautionary tale.

Sky Captain and the World of Tomorrow (2004-U.S.-British-Italian) C-107m.  D: Kerry Conran. Gwyneth Paltrow, Jude Law, Angelina Jolie, Giovanni Ribisi, Michael Gambon, Bai Ling, Omid Djalili. Elaborate homage to Saturday matinee serials and their vision of the future, set in 1939. Law is a hero for hire, Paltrow a plucky reporter and ex-girlfriend, Ribisi his sidekick, and Jolie an exotic captain of an amphibious squadron. All the settings were rendered on a computer (designed by writer-director Conran) and look great, but they only underscore the film's artificiality. Those old serials were energetic; this film is inert. Ribisi and Jolie seem to be having the most fun. The late Laurence Olivier appears on a giant screen, reminiscent of the Wizard of Oz. Law coproduced. [PG] ▼

Sky High (2005) C-100m. ½ D: Mike Mitchell. Michael Angarano, Kurt Russell, Kelly Preston, Danielle Panabaker, Kevin Heffernan, Lynda Carter, Mary Elizabeth Weinstead, Bruce Campbell, Dave Foley, Kevin McDonald, Steven Strait, Dee-Jay Daniels, Nicholas Braun, Kelly Vitz, Will Harris, Cloris Leachman. Teenaged son of two superheroes, The Commander and Jetstream, feels he can never measure up—especially when on his first day at Sky High he's forced to admit that unlike his classmates, he hasn't yet acquired any super powers. Benign film for kids is well acted but doesn't have much pizzazz, despite the clever concept and visual effects. Carter is amusingly cast as high school principal Powers. Super 35. [PG]

Skyjacked (1972) C-100m. ½ D: John Guillermin. Charlton Heston, Yvette Mimieux, James Brolin, Claude Akins, Jeanne Crain, Susan Dey, Roosevelt Grier, Mariette Hartley, Walter Pidgeon, Ken Swofford, Leslie Uggams, Mike Henry, John Hillerman. Commercial flight hijacked to Russia. Entertaining for first half, even exciting; second half deteriorates. Good cast will distract some from tedium elsewhere. Retitled: SKY TERROR. Panavision. [PG]

Skylark (1941) 94m. ½ D: Mark Sandrich. Claudette Colbert, Ray Milland, Brian Aherne, Binnie Barnes, Walter Abel, Ernest Cossart, Grant Mitchell. Sophisticated romance with Aheme trying to take Claudette away from business-minded husband Milland. Stars are at their peak in this smooth adaptation of Samson Raphaelson play.

Sky Pirates (1986-Australian) C-86m. *½ D: Colin Eggleston. John Hargreaves, Meredith Phillips, Max Phipps, Bill Hunter, Simon Chilvers, Alex Scott. Yet another RAIDERS-INDIANA JONES variation, about an aircraft that crashes through a time warp, a search for a special stone, and other assorted nonsense. Boring and confusing, but Hargreaves earns an A for effort. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

Sky Riders (1976) C-93m.  D: Douglas Hickox. James Coburn, Susannah York, Robert Culp, Charles Aznavour, Harry Andrews, John Beck. Lively thriller about a political kidnapping, highlighted by spectacular sequences of hang-gliding. The aerial derring-do and the magnificent Greek scenery make this one worth sitting through. Todd-AO 35. [PG] ▼

Skyscraper Wilderness SEE: Big City (1937)

Sky's the Limit, The (1943) 89m.  D: Edward H. Griffith. Fred Astaire, Joan Leslie, Robert Benchley, Robert Ryan, Elizabeth Patterson, Marjorie Gateson. Fred's a flier on leave who meets photographer Leslie; Benchley's dinner speech, Astaire's "One For My Baby" and "My Shining Hour" make this worthwhile. ▼●

Sky Terror SEE: Skyjacked

Sky West and Crooked SEE: Gypsy Girl Slacker (1991) C-97m.  D: Richard Linklater. Weird, unique social satire about various contemporary drop-outs in Austin, Texas, who—like the beatniks of the '50s and hippies of the '60s—have formed their own subculture. They're loaded with thoughts and ideas, none of which they seem capable of acting upon. Shot in a free-form style, and featuring a large cast of nonprofessional actors. That's writer-director Linklater as the young man in the taxi. [R] ▼●●

Slackers (2002) C-87m. BOMB D: Dewey Nicks. Jason Schwartzman, Devon Sawa, Jason Segel, Michael Maronna, James King, Laura Prepon, Joe Flaherty, Mamie Van Doren. Three college buddies have cheated their way to senior year, but when nerdy Schwartzman discovers their secret, he blackmails them into setting him up with campus beauty King. Repellent excuse for a comedy, even by 21st-century teen-movie standards. A couple of surprise movie-star cameos add nothing to the mix, though Van Doren's scene is memorable—for all the wrong reasons. [R] ▼

Slam (1998) C-103m. ½ D: Marc Levin. Saul Williams, Sonja Sohn, Bonz Malone, Beau Sia, Lawrence Wilson. Extraordinary fly-on-the-wall filmmaking technique makes this story of a D.C. ghetto victim seem absolutely real from start to finish. Sent to prison, he has an awakening there and realizes that he cannot endure, or condone, the endless cycle of violence in his community, and uses his gift for poetry as an outlet. Cowritten by its leading actors

(Williams, Sohn, Malone) with Levin and Richard Stratton. [R]▼●●

Slamdance (1987) C-100m. BOMB D: Wayne Wang. Tom Hulce, Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio, Virginia Madsen, Harry Dean Stanton, Millie Perkins, Don Opper, Adam Ant, John Doe. Underground cartoonist/painter Hulce, devoted to his ex-wife and young child, is framed—apparently by the entire population of L.A.—for the murder of party girl Madsen. Weird, without compensating originality. Lifeless melodrama deals only peripherally with the “club” scene; there is as much slamdancing in PYGMALION. [R]▼●●

Slam Dunk Ernest (1995) C-92m. *½ D: John Cherry. Jim Varney, Cyk Cozart, Miguel A. Nunez, Jr., Lester Barrie, Colin Lawrence, Richard Leacock, Jay Brazeau, Lossen Chambers, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Likable dolt Ernest P. Worrell wants to play basketball with his coworkers; they let him play benchwarmer instead, until a pair of magic shoes transforms him into a hoop star. Secondary characters are more interesting than Varney in this direct-to-video release. For Ernest fans only. Followed by ERNEST IN THE ARMY. [PG]▼●

Slammer SEE: Short Eyes

Slams, The (1973) C-97m.  D: Jonathan Kaplan. Jim Brown, Judy Pace, Roland “Bob” Harris, Frank de Kova, Ted Cassidy. Mindless actioner has Brown in L.A. prison after stashing away a heroin cache and $1.5 million. Halfway through, comedy takes over for a fast pickup. [R]

Slander (1956) 81m. ½ D: Roy Rowland. Van Johnson, Ann Blyth, Steve Cochran, Marjorie Rambeau, Richard Eyer. Slick, superficial “inside study” of the smut magazines, focusing on their exclusivity on a TV personality.

Slap Her, She’s French (2002-German-U.S.) C-93m.  D: Melanie Mayron. Piper Perabo, Jane McGregor, Trent Ford, Michael McKean, Julie White, Brandon Smith, Jesse James. Ambitious Texas teen (McGregor) whose dream is to host Good Morning America decides it would be a good move to take in a foreign-exchange student—but the French girl (Perabo) who comes to live with her family is not the meek young thing she pretends to be. Heavy-handed comedy with little to recommend it except McGregor’s energetic performance as the picture-perfect heroine. Aka SHE GETS WHAT SHE WANTS. [PG-13]●

Slappy and the Stinkers (1998) C-78m. BOMB D: Barnett Kellman. B. D. Wong, Bronson Pinchot, Jennifer Coolidge, Joseph Ashton, Gary LeRoi Gray, David Dukes, Sam McMurray. Inane story of a group of completely, irresponsibly unsupervised nerdy seven-year-olds rescuing a sea lion against his will. Along the way they torture the head of their boarding school with their antics. A totally unfunny comedy, and a waste of talent on both sides of the camera. [PG]▼●

Slap Shot (1977) C-122m.  D: George Roy Hill. Paul Newman, Michael Ontkean, Lindsay Crouse, Jennifer Warren, Melinda Dillon, Strother Martin, Jerry Houser, Swoosie Kurtz, (M.) Emmet Walsh, Kathryn Walker, Paul Dooley. Newman is star of bush-league hockey team that’s going nowhere until they decide to play dirty. Uneven but raucously funny at times, with very satisfying wrap-up. Andrew Duncan is hilarious as local sports broadcaster; barbed (and very profane) script by Nancy Dowd. Followed by two DVD sequels. [R]▼●●

Slapstick (Of Another Kind) (1984) C-82m. *½ D: Steven Paul. Jerry Lewis, Madeline Kahn, Marty Feldman, Jim Backus, John Abbott, Pat Morita, Samuel Fuller, Merv Griffin, Steven Paul; voice of Orson Welles. Lewis and Kahn give birth to enormous, deformed twins (also Lewis and Kahn) who are in reality alien messengers capable of solving the world’s problems—as long as they’re not separated. Given that cast and a Kurt Vonnegut novel as source material, you’d think there’d be no way to screw it up, but writer/producer/director/costar Paul manages; some funny things do survive (Fuller and the elder Lewis come off best), but overall, pretty appalling. Filmed in 1982. [PG]▼●

Slate, Wyn & Me (1987-Australian) C-90m.  D: Don McLennan. Sigrid Thornton, Simon Burke, Martin Sacks, Tommy Lewis, Lesley Baker. Meandering drama of brothers Burke and Sacks, who rob a bank, kill a cop . . . and kidnap Thornton, who witnesses their crime. Potentially intriguing tale falls flat after twenty minutes. Panavision. [R]▼

Slattery’s Hurricane (1949) 83m. ½ D: Andre de Toth. Richard Widmark, Linda Darnell, Veronica Lake, John Russell, Gary Merrill. Weather pilot Widmark, in midst of storm, thinks back on his life; Darnell and Lake are his two loves. Interesting idea; coscripted by Herman Wouk, who later expanded it into a novel.

Slaughter (1972) C-92m.  D: Jack Starrett. Jim Brown, Stella Stevens, Rip Torn, Don Gordon, Cameron Mitchell, Marlene Clark, Robert Phillips. Stevens and Torn are far too good for this violent tripe about ex-Green Beret Brown who goes after syndicate after it kills his parents. Sequel: SLAUGHTER’S BIG RIP-OFF. Todd-AO 35. [R]▼●

Slaughterhouse-Five (1972) C-104m.  D: George Roy Hill. Michael Sacks, Ron Leibman, Eugene Roche, Sharon Gans, Valerie Perrine, John Dehner, Holly Near, Perry King. Sometimes draggy, sometimes on-target, sprawling view of life through eyes of one Billy Pilgrim, professional nobody who becomes “unstuck” in time.

Big-budget adaptation of Kurt Vonnegut's bizarre fantasy novel is hard going for those unfamiliar with author's point of view, gains through repeat viewings. [R]▼●

Slaughter in San Francisco (1981-Hong Kong) C-87m. BOMB D: William Lowe. Don Wong, Chuck Norris, Sylvia Channing, Robert Jones, Dan Ivan. Former cop Wong seeks vengeance on murderer of his partner; Norris, in a supporting role, is the bad guy. Shoddy production will disappoint chop-socky genre buffs. Filmed in 1973; released to take advantage of Norris' subsequent popularity. Aka KARATE COP and CHUCK NORRIS VS. THE KARATE COP. Widescreen. [R]▼

Slaughter's Big Rip-Off (1973) C-93m. *½ D: Gordon Douglas. Jim Brown, Ed McMahon, Brock Peters, Don Stroud, Gloria Hendry, Dick Anthony Williams, Art Metrano. Slaughter's still playing cat and mouse with the Mob in this dreary actioner; McMahon gives his role as the Syndicate head better than it deserves. Todd-AO 35. [R]▼

Slave, The (1963-Italian) C-102m. *½ D: Sergio Corbucci. Steve Reeves, Jacquesernas, Gianna Maria Canale, Claudio Gora. Interminable Italian spectacle. Son of Spartacus learns story of father, vows vengeance. Good photography only asset. Aka SON OF SPARTACUS. CinemaScope.

Slave Girls SEE: Prehistoric Women

Slave of the Cannibal God (1978-Italian) C-93m. *½ D: Sergio Martino. Ursula Andress, Stacy Keach, Claudio Cassinelli, Antonio Marsina, Franco Fantasia. Tooglamorous Andress captured by natives and painted in preparation for sacrifice in a scene virtually identical to that directed by ex-husband John Derek for current wife Bo years later in TARZAN, THE APE MAN. Aka MOUNTAIN OF THE CANNIBAL GOD. Techniscope. [R]▼

Slavers (1978-German) C-102m.  D: Jurgen Goslar. Trevor Howard, Ron Ely, Britt Ekland, Jurgen Goslar, Ray Milland, Ken Gampu, Cameron Mitchell. Pulp-fiction stuff about slave trading in Africa during the 19th century. Good cast saddled with second-rate script. [R]▼

Slaves (1969) C-110m. *½ D: Herbert J. Biberman. Stephen Boyd, Dionne Warwick, Ossie Davis, Marilyn Clark, Gale Sondergaard, Shepperd Strudwick, Nancy Coleman, Julius Harris, David Huddleston. Strange cast in revisionist drama about Kentucky slave Davis standing up for his rights; might have meant something in the '60s, but now it's just laughable, with Boyd properly embarrassed as Simon Legree-type "Massa." Notable only as Sondergaard's first film after 20-year blacklist, courtesy director-cowriter (and husband) Biberman.

Slave Ship (1937) 92m.  D: Tay Garnett. Warner Baxter, Wallace Beery, Elizabeth Allan, Mickey Rooney, George Sanders, Jane Darwell, Joseph Schildkraut. Rousing drama of slave ship rebellion with fine atmosphere, good Beery-Rooney teaming, plenty of action. Story by William Faulkner. Slaves of New York (1989) C-125m. *½ D: James Ivory. Bernadette Peters, Adam Coleman Howard, Chris Sarandon, Mary Beth Hurt, Nick Corri, Madeleine Potter, Mercedes Ruehl, Betty Comden, Steve Buscemi, Michael Schoeffling, Tammy Grimes, Charles McCaughan, Anthony LaPaglia. Misguided filming of Tama Janowitz's bestselling collection of stories, set among the too-hip-for-words denizens of N.Y.C.'s downtown art world. As the central character, the talented Peters seems all wrong: too intelligent to spend most of the film being humiliated by her boyfriend (Howard). Overlong and unfocused. Janowitz (who plays Abby) scripted. [R]▼●

Slayground (1984-British) C-89m. *½ D: Terry Bedford. Peter Coyote, Billie Whitelaw, Philip Sayer, Bill Luhr, Mel Smith. Dreary actioner about robber Coyote on the lam from a hired killer. Whitelaw in particular is wasted as an amusement park owner. Based on a novel by Donald E. Westlake, writing as Richard Stark. [R]▼

SLC Punk! (1999-U.S.-Australian) C-97m. ½ D: James Merendino. Matthew Lillard, Michael Gorrjian, Annabeth Gish, Jennifer Lien, Christopher McDonald, Devon Sawa, Adam Pascal, Til Schweiger. Seriocomic coming of age about punk rocker Stevo and his best pal, Heroin Bob, whose pursuit of "total chaos" is at odds with living in conservative Salt Lake City, Utah, circa 1985. Writer-director Merendino has real affection for the punk scene, but it would've worked better without overused gimmick of having the lead character talk directly to the camera. Charismatic performance from Lillard. Panavision. [R]▼

Sleazy Uncle, The (1991-Italian) C-105m. ½ D: Franco Brusati. Vittorio Gassman, Giancarlo Giannini, Andrea Ferreol, Stefania Sandrelli, Beatrice Palme. Playfully lecherous uncle (Gassman) is forced to seek temporary asylum with his rich, repressed nephew (Giannini). Predictably, uncle Gassman's outrageous antics—which range from seducing Giannini's mistress and passing out his blood-test certificates to all the ladies ("for your security")—result in setting Giannini's placid life on its ear. A little too laid back to achieve the farcical comedy attempted here. ▼

Sleeper (1973) C-88m. ½ D: Woody Allen. Woody Allen, Diane Keaton, John Beck, Mary Gregory, Don Keifer, John McLiam. Woody turns to slapstick in this engagingly silly tale of a man who's frozen in 1973 and awakened 200 years later. Typical Allen combination of great jokes and duds, with more sight-gags than usual and energetic score by the Preservation Hall Jazz Band. Screenplay by Allen and Marshall Brickman. [PG] ▼●●

Sleepers (1996) C-147m. ½ D: Barry Levinson. Kevin Bacon, Robert De Niro, Dustin Hoffman, Jason Patric, Brad Pitt, Minnie Driver, Brad Renfro, Bruno Kirby, Vittorio Gassman, Billy Crudup, Ron Eldard, Terry Kinney. Absorbing tale of young friends in N.Y.C.'s Hell's Kitchen who wind up in reform school, where they endure a living hell at the hands of sadistic guards. Later in life, one of them (now working for the D.A.) sows the seeds for revenge. Based on Lorenzo Carcaterra's purportedly nonfiction book, the movie grabs and holds you but never quite convinces; the resolution is too pat. Strong performances. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Sleeping Beauty (1959) C-75m.  D: Clyde Geronimi. Voices of Mary Costa, Bill Shirley, Eleanor Audley, Verna Felton, Barbara Jo Allen (Vera Vague), Barbara Luddy. Walt Disney's most expensive and elaborate animated feature (at the time) is actually a simple, straightforward telling of the classic fairy tale, with music adapted from Tchaikovsky, and such memorable characters as Flora, Fauna, and Merryweather (the three good fairies) and the evil witch Maleficent. Highlight: the final, fiery confrontation between Maleficent and Prince Phillip. Strikingly designed (in widescreen) by artist Eyvind Earle. Super Technirama 70. ▼●●

Sleeping Car, The (1990) C-87m.  D: Douglas Curtis. David Naughton, Judie Aronson, Kevin McCarthy, Jeff Conaway, Ernestine Mercer, John Carl Buechler, Dani Minnick. Good-looking but heavily overstated horror film pitting Naughton and friends against a vicious ghost haunting an old railway sleeping car, now used as an apartment. [R] ▼●●

Sleeping Car Murder, The (1965-French) 90m.  D: Costa-Gavras. Simone Signoret, Yves Montand, Pierre Mondy, Jean-Louis Trintignant, Jacques Perrin, Michel Piccoli, Catherine Allegret, Charles Denner. Quick-paced, atmospheric police-chasing-mad-killer movie. Nice photography by Jean Tournier; original action good but dubbing hurts. Based on a Sebastian Japrisot novel. Costa-Gavras' directorial debut. CinemaScope.

Sleeping Dogs (1977-New Zealand) C-107m.  D: Roger Donaldson. Sam Neill, Ian Mune, Warren Oates, Nevan Rowe, Donna Akersten, Ian Watkin, Bill Julliff, Clyde Scott. Muddled thriller about apolitical loner Neill unable to remain aloof from repressive government and revolutionaries during workers' strike. Fascinating concept defeated by confusing direction, illogical plot development, insufficiently defined characters. Michael Seresin's top-notch cinematography helps. The first New Zealand film ever to open in the U.S. ▼●

Sleeping Tiger, The (1954-British) 89m.  D: Victor Hanbury (Joseph Losey). Alexis Smith, Dirk Bogarde, Alexander Knox, Hugh Griffith, Patricia McCarron, Billie Whitelaw. Well-done drama with Knox a psychiatrist who takes low-life criminal Bogarde into his home, much to the consternation of his wife (Smith, in one of her best roles); the result is sexual and emotional fireworks. Losey's first film made outside the U.S., where he was blacklisted; this accounts for the pseudonym. ▼●

Sleeping With the Enemy (1991) C-98m.  D: Joseph Ruben. Julia Roberts, Patrick Bergin, Kevin Anderson, Elizabeth Lawrence, Kyle Secor, Claudette Nevins. Practically suspense-less thriller about a young woman who flees from her brutal husband and tries to start life anew in Iowa. Unabashed star vehicle for Roberts (complete with "cute" montage set to the oldie "Brown-Eyed Girl") is relentlessly predictable. [R] ▼●●

Sleepless in Seattle (1993) C-104m.  D: Nora Ephron. Tom Hanks, Meg Ryan, Bill Pullman, Ross Malinger, Rosie O'Donnell, Rob Reiner, Gaby Hoffmann, Victor Garber, Rita Wilson, Barbara Garrick, Carey Lowell, Calvin Trillin, Dana Ivey, David Hyde Pierce. Woman who's just gotten engaged hears a widower on a call-in radio show talking about his departed wife and becomes obsessed with meeting him, convinced that he may be her destiny. Sweet romantic comedy, with perfectly cast stars, though its repeated allusions to the old tearjerker AN AFFAIR TO REMEMBER make you wonder if the only way to generate old-fashioned romance in a '90s movie is to invoke a product of Hollywood's Golden Age. Coscripted by Ephron. [PG] ▼●●

Sleep, My Love (1948) 97m.  D: Douglas Sirk. Claudette Colbert, Robert Cummings, Don Ameche, Hazel Brooks, Rita Johnson, George Coulouris, Keye Luke, Raymond Burr, Ralph Morgan. Familiar territory covered by excellent cast as Ameche tries to drive wife Claudette crazy; Cummings saves her. From a Leo Rosten novel.

Sleepover (2004) C-89m.  D: Joe Nussbaum. Alexa Vega, Mika Boorem, Jane Lynch, Sam Huntington, Sara Paxton, Brie Larson, Scout Taylor-Compton, Douglas Smith, Jeff Garlin, Steve Carell. OK, where have we seen this before? Young girls about to become high school freshmen embark on an all-night scavenger hunt to beat their more popular rivals, but of course the real victory is what they learn about themselves in the process. Mind-numbing fluff for anyone but its target audience. [PG] ▼●

Sleepwalkers (1992) C-91m. ½ D: Mick Garris. Brian Krause, Mädchen Amick, Alice Krige, Jim Haynie, Cindy Pickett,

Lyman Ward, Ron Perlman, Dan Martin, Glenn Shadix. A mother-and-son pair of "sleepwalkers" move to a Norman Rockwell-ish Midwestern town, looking for prey. The shape-changing Sleepwalkers live on the life force of teenage virgins, but the target this time (Amick) is one tough cookie. Stephen King's script is thinly plotted and confusing, but the movie is directed with flair and a nicely twisted sense of humor. Excellent effects. Cameos by Joe Dante, John Landis, Clive Barker, Tobe Hooper, and King himself, as well as an unbilled one by Mark Hamill. Aka STEPHEN KING'S "SLEEPWALKERS." [R] ▼●●

Sleepwalking (2008-U.S.-Canadian) C-101m.  D: William Maher. Nick Stahl, AnnaSophia Robb, Charlize Theron, Dennis Hopper, Woody Harrelson, Deborra-Lee Furness, Mathew St. Patrick. Theron is a struggling single mother (and poor role model) to a preteen daughter in a rural town. After they move in with her younger brother (Stahl) things get even worse. Balance of story features the bonding of uncle and niece, eking out a life in town and on the road until, eventually, the source of much of the family's pain is revealed. Unsurprising melodrama lays it on thick. Coproducer Theron's screen time is limited; Stahl is quite moving as an invisible member of working-class society. Super 35. [R] ●

Sleep With Me (1994) C-86m.  D: Rory Kelly. Craig Sheffer, Eric Stoltz, Meg Tilly, Todd Field, Thomas Gibson, Parker Posey, Adrienne Shelly, Susan Traylor, Tegan West, June Lockhart, Quentin Tarantino, Joey Lauren Adams. Forgettable three-sided romance; as Stoltz and Tilly are about to be married, their best friend (Sheffer) declares his love for her. A self-indulgent study of self-absorption. Scripted by six writers, each of whom contributed a different section of the film. The one standout scene has Tarantino explaining his unique theory about the subtext of TOP GUN. [R] ▼●●

Sleepy Hollow (1999) C-105m.  D: Tim Burton. Johnny Depp, Christina Ricci, Miranda Richardson, Michael Gambon, Casper Van Dien, Jeffrey Jones, Richard Griffiths, Ian McDiarmid, Michael Gough, Christopher Walken, Marc Pickering, Lisa Marie, Christopher Lee, Alun Armstrong. Convoluted and unsatisfying script defeats a good-looking revision of the Washington Irving classic. Depp is fun as a bumbling constable who tries to use scientific methods to figure out a series of killings in New York's Hudson Valley. Burton must have had fun figuring out how many different ways he could show beheadings . . . yet the film is anything but scary. Oscar-winning Art Direction by Rick Heinrichs and Peter Young. Martin Landau appears unbilled. [R] ▼●●

Slender Thread, The (1965) 98m. ½ D: Sydney Pollack. Sidney Poitier, Anne

Bancroft, Telly Savalas, Steven Hill, Edward Asner, Dabney Coleman. Interchange between stars is the whole film in an interesting idea that doesn't fulfill potential. Bancroft takes overdose of sleeping pills and calls crisis clinic for help; college student volunteer Poitier tries to keep her on phone while rescue is organized. Filmed on location in Seattle; written by Stirling Silliphant, music by Quincy Jones. Pollack's directorial debut. ▼

Sleuth (1972) C-138m. * D: Joseph L. Mankiewicz. Laurence Olivier, Michael Caine. Lighthearted mystery tour de force for two stars, adapted by Anthony Shaffer from his hit play about games-playing mystery writer Olivier leading his wife's lover (Caine) into diabolical trap. But who gets the last laugh on whom? Delicious from start to finish; remarkable production design by Ken Adam. Mankiewicz's last film. Remade in 2007. [PG] ▼●●

Sleuth (2007) C-86m. BOMB D: Kenneth Branagh. Michael Caine, Jude Law. Fabulously successful mystery novelist invites a young man who's been carrying on with his wife to his home, where he hopes to entrap him—both physically and psychologically. Reinvention of Anthony Shaffer's play (filmed in 1972 with Caine—as the younger character—and Laurence Olivier) by Harold Pinter has had every ounce of entertainment drained from it. Unbelievably bad, especially given the talent involved. Pinter appears as a talk-show guest on Caine's television set. Panavision. [R] ●

Sliding Doors (1998-U.S.-British) C-108m. ½ D: Peter Howitt. Gwyneth Paltrow, John Hannah, John Lynch, Jeanne Tripplehorn, Zara Turner, Douglas McFerran, Paul Brightwell, Virginia McKenna. Likable romantic comedy explores—in parallel scenes—what happens when Paltrow catches her boyfriend sleeping with another woman, and what would have happened if she'd missed her train and not walked in at that moment. The doltish boyfriend (Lynch) and his extremely bitchy paramour (Tripplehorn) are overstated, unsympathetic characters who bring down the otherwise bright proceedings. Paltrow, sporting a British accent, is delightful; so is Scotsman Hannah. Writing and directing debut for Howitt. [PG-13] ▼●●

Slight Case of Murder, A (1938) 85m. ½ D: Lloyd Bacon. Edward G. Robinson, Jane Bryan, Allen Jenkins, Ruth Donnelly, Willard Parker, John Litel, Edward Brophy, Harold Huber, Bobby Jordan, Margaret Hamilton. Robinson's in peak comedy form as gangster who goes straight when Prohibition ends. This hilarious adaptation of a play by Damon Runyon and Howard Lindsay has brewer Robinson going bankrupt in a rented summer house filled with characters and corpses. Remake: STOP, YOU'RE KILLING ME. ●

Slightly Dangerous (1943) 94m.  D: Wesley Ruggles. Lana Turner, Robert Young, Walter Brennan, Dame May Whitty, Eugene Pallette, Florence Bates, Alan Mowbray, Bobby (Robert) Blake. Slightly ridiculous comedy of waitress Turner who claims to be daughter of wealthy industrialist. Good cast in trivial piece of fluff.

Slightly Scarlet (1956) C-99m. ½ D: Allan Dwan. John Payne, Arlene Dahl, Rhonda Fleming, Kent Taylor, Ted de Corsia, Lance Fuller. Effective study (from a James M. Cain novel) of big-city corruption; Payne involved with dynamic sister duo (Fleming, Dahl). Arlene steals the show as tipsy ex-con sister. SuperScope. ▼

Slim (1937) 80m. ½ D: Ray Enright. Pat O'Brien, Henry Fonda, Stuart Erwin, Margaret Lindsay, Dick Purcell, John Litel, Jane Wyman. Interesting story of men who string high-voltage wire, with Lindsay the girl who comes between tough veteran O'Brien and novice Fonda. Good performances all around. A semi-remake of TIGER SHARK; remade as MANPOWER.

Slime People, The (1962) 76m. BOMB D: Robert Hutton. Robert Hutton, Les Tremayne, Susan Hart, Robert Burton. Lumpy, lizardy people from beneath the Earth wall off Los Angeles with curtain of fog. Movie talks itself to death. ▼

Sling Blade (1996) C-134m. ½ D: Billy Bob Thornton. Billy Bob Thornton, Dwight Yoakam, J. T. Walsh, John Ritter, Lucas Black, Natalie Canerday, James Hampton, Robert Duvall, Rick Dial, Jim Jarmusch. Fascinating portrait of a mentally deficient man sprung from prison 20 years after killing his mother and her boyfriend; now he attempts to blend into "real life," helped by a boy who befriends him. Incredibly controlled performance by Thornton (who also wrote and directed) anchors this long but rewarding tale, which leads to a somewhat inevitable finale. Young Black is exceptional as Thornton's new friend, country singer Yoakam is first-rate as a short-fused bully, and Ritter is terrific in a most unusual part. Oscar winner for Best Screenplay Adaptation; based on the short film SOME CALL IT A SLING BLADE. [R] ▼

Slingshot, The (1993-Swedish) C-102m. ½ D: Ake Sandgren. Jesper Salen, Stellan Skarsgård, Basia Frydman, Niclas Ölund, Ernst-Hugo Järegård. Odd childhood remembrance, from 78-year-old Roland Schutt's autobiographical novel, about a 10-year-old outcast in 1920s Sweden: Mom's a Russian Jew, Dad's a socialist, and young Roland (Selen) fashions slingshots from the condoms sold by mother on the black market. Perhaps tries to pack too much material into one film, but this was a great success in Sweden. [R] ▼

Slipper and the Rose, The (1976-British) C-146m.  D: Bryan Forbes. Richard

Chamberlain, Gemma Craven, Annette Crosbie, Michael Hordern, Margaret Lockwood, Christopher Gable, Kenneth More, Edith Evans. Bright musical version of Cinderella in which everyone (including veteran British actors) sings and dances; Craven is delightful as Cindy. Songs by the Sherman Brothers. Good fun. Panavision. [G] ▼

Slipping-Down Life, A (2004) C-111m.  D: Toni Kalem. Lili Taylor, Guy Pearce, John Hawkes, Sara Rue, Irma P. Hall, Tom Bower, Shawnee Smith, Veronica Cartwright, Marshall Bell, Bruno Kirby, Clea DuVall. Introverted young woman becomes obsessed with an iconoclastic singer-songwriter, and even carves his name on her forehead. Somehow this sparks an actual relationship between the two social misfits. Taylor's radiant performance is the main attraction here; otherwise, Kalem's adaptation of Anne Tyler's Southern Gothic novel is slow going. Pearce does his own singing, which is pretty good. Filmed in 1998. [R] ▼

Slip Slide Adventures SEE: Water Babies, The

Slipstream (1989-British) C-92m.  D: Steven M. Lisberger. Bill Paxton, Bob Peck, Mark Hamill, Kitty Aldridge, Eleanor David, F. Murray Abraham, Ben Kingsley, Robbie Coltrane. In the future, nature has rebelled, sending people scurrying to live in valleys away from the high-speed slipstream (high winds) that dominates the planet. Unfortunately this unusual setting has little to do with standard story of adventurer Paxton, who swipes a captive from tough bounty hunter Hamill (delivering a top-notch performance). Just as story should be building to a peak, it lurches into clumsy satire. This big-scale production never made it to theaters in the U.S. [PG-13] ▼

Slipstream (2007) C-96m. BOMB D: Anthony Hopkins. Anthony Hopkins, Stella Arroyave, John Turturro, Christian Slater, Jeffrey Tambor, Michael Clarke Duncan, Fionnula Flanagan, Camryn Manheim, S. Epata Merckerson, Christopher Lawford, Kevin McCarthy. Self-consciously "experimental" miasma from writer-director-actor-composer Hopkins and his real-life spouse Arroyave—who costars as Gina—is only for the terminally curious. Hopkins plays a screenwriter who seems to be losing his grip on reality and is summoned to the Mojave Desert, where a movie shoot is going very awry. Moments of coherence are undermined by whiplash-inducing editing of Hopkins' fever-dream screenplay. HD Widescreen. [R] ▼

Slither (1973) C-97m.  D: Howard Zieff. James Caan, Peter Boyle, Sally Kellerman, Louise Lasser, Allen Garfield, Richard B. Shull. Engaging film is essentially a massive shaggy dog joke; colorful gallery of characters engaged in hunt for elusive cache of money. Perhaps a bit too airy, but perfect TV fare. [PG] ▼

Slither (2006-U.S.-Canadian) C-95m. *****
 D: James Gunn. Nathan Fillion, Elizabeth Banks, Michael Rooker, Gregg Henry, Tania Saulnier, Brenda James, Don Thompson, Jenna Fischer, Rob Zombie, Lloyd Kaufman. Zombie movie connoisseurs will relish this gory, gross—and expertly devised—horror-comedy involving a meteorite that lands near a small town and discharges a slimy, flesh-eating extraterrestrial. Crammed with equal doses of scares and chuckles; writer-director Gunn, who penned the remake of DAWN OF THE DEAD, references a slew of earlier films, from the original INVASION OF THE BODY SNATCHERS and THE BLOB to vintage David Cronenberg and John Carpenter. [R] **▼●●

Sliver (1993) C-109m. * D: Phillip Noyce. Sharon Stone, William Baldwin, Tom Berenger, Polly Walker, Colleen Camp, Amanda Forman, Martin Landau, CCH Pounder, Nina Foch, Keene Curtis, Nicholas Pryor. Lonely Stone moves into a tall, slender, and luxurious Manhattan apartment building with a history of unusual deaths. Writer Berenger pursues her, though she's more interested in Baldwin; however, she soon comes to suspect one of the two is a killer. Robert Evans' handsomely produced sex-and-murder mystery (emphasis on sex) was severely damaged by reshooting (which changed identity of the killer), but Joe Eszterhas' script was already pretentious and exploitive. From Ira Levin's novel. Alternate unrated version runs 107m. Panavision. [R] **▼●●

Slow Burn (2007) C-93m. * D: Wayne Beach. Ray Liotta, LL Cool J (James Todd Smith), Mekhi Phifer, Jolene Blalock, Chiwetel Ejiofor, Taye Diggs, Guy Torry, Bruce McGill, Frank Schorpion, Fisher Stevens, Donny Falsetti, Barbara Alexander. Confusing drama centers around a district attorney who gets caught up in a gang-related investigation, an interrogation with a shady street-smart leader, and a confrontation with a manipulative but attractive assistant D.A., among others. As Liotta tries to piece together the puzzle the movie collapses under the weight of its disjointed story. Despite a good cast, this weak attempt at film noir doesn't make much sense. Completed in 2005. [R] **▼●●

Slow Dancing in the Big City (1978) C-101m. *½ D: John G. Avildsen. Paul Sorvino, Anne Ditchburn, Nicolas Coster, Anita Dangler, Hector Jaime Mercado. Straight-faced romantic absurdity about Jimmy Breslin-like columnist who falls for ailing ballerina who has been told she should no longer dance; he also befriends a little Hispanic orphan/junkie. Shameless climax will fry your brain cells with its bathos. [PG]

Slugger's Wife, The (1985) C-105m. *½
 D: Hal Ashby. Michael O'Keefe, Rebecca De Mornay, Martin Ritt, Randy Quaid, Cleavant Derricks, Lisa Langlois, Loudon

Wainwright III. Remarkably unappealing Neil Simon original about a boorish baseball star who falls in love with a singer. Dull and disjointed, full of mediocre music—in short, a mess! The team's manager is played by film director (and former actor) Martin Ritt. [PG-13] **▼●●

Slumber Party '57 (1977) C-89m. BOMB
 D: William A. Levey. Noelle North, Bridget Hollman, Debra Winger, Mary Ann Appleseith, Rainbeaux Smith, Rafael Campos, Will Hutchins, Joyce Jillson, Joe E. Ross. Smutty, sloppily made schlock about a group of girls who swap tales about their sexual initiations, which are recreated in flashback. Of interest only for the appearance of Winger, in her film debut. [R] **▼●●

Slumber Party Massacre (1982) C-78m. *½
 D: Amy Jones. Michele Michaels, Robin Stille, Michael Vellea, Andre Honore, Debra Deliso, Gina Mari. Girls have overnight party, boys clown around, crazed killer does them all in. The screenplay, incredibly, is by feminist author Rita Mae Brown. If it's supposed to be a parody, it's about as clever as Hogan's Heroes. Followed by two sequels. [R] **▼●●

Slumdog Millionaire (2008-British-U.S.) C-120m.  D: Danny Boyle. Dev Patel, Freida Pinto, Madhur Mittal, Anil Kapoor, Irrfan Khan, Tanay Hemant Chhedha, Tanvi Ganesh Lonkar, Ashutosh Lobo Gajiwala, Ayush Mahesh Khedekar, Rubina Ali, Azharuddin Mohammed Ismail. Young man about to win a fortune on India's version of the game show Who Wants to Be a Millionaire? is accused of cheating. Then in flashbacks we learn how his tumultuous, often tortured experiences as an orphan on the streets of Bombay have enabled him to relate to and answer all of the questions on the show. Through a cascade of images and sounds director Boyle immerses us in his character's world and takes us along on this remarkable, often painful, life journey, moving from darkness to light for a truly joyful finale. Simon Beaufoy wrote the screenplay, inspired by the novel Q&A by Vikas Swarup. Winner of eight Oscars: Best Picture, Director, Adapted Screenplay, Cinematography (Anthony Dod Mantle), Editing (Chris Dickens), Sound, Score (A. R. Rahman), and Song ("Jai-Ho"). Super 35. [R] **▼●●

Slums of Beverly Hills (1998) C-91m. *****
 D: Tamara Jenkins. Natasha Lyonne, Alan Arkin, Marisa Tomei, Kevin Corrigan, Jessica Walter, Carl Reiner, Rita Moreno, Eli Marienthal, David Krumholtz, Mena Suvari. Keenly observed, semi-autobiographical slice-of-life from novice director-writer Jenkins, set in the 1970s, about the Abramowitz clan, "Jewish Joads" who move from one low-rent living space to another as the poorest inhabitants of the title municipality. The focus is on Lyonne, the only sane person in a sweetly insane environment, as she attempts to deal with her sexual awakening. Razor-sharp and right on the money. [R]▼●●

Small Back Room, The (1949-British) 106m. ½ D: Michael Powell, Emeric Pressburger. David Farrar, Jack Hawkins, Kathleen Byron, Anthony Bushell, Michael Gough, Leslie Banks, Robert Morley, Cyril Cusack, Renee Asherson. Mature, powerful story of crippled munitions expert Farrar, who's frustrated by his infirmity and mindless government bureaucracy during WW2. Robert Morley appears un-billed. ▼●

Small Change (1976-French) C-104m. * D: François Truffaut. Geory Desmouceaux, Philippe Goldman, Claudio Deluca, Frank Deluca, Richard Golfier, Laurent Devlaemnick. Thoroughly charming, intelligent film examines the lives of young children—their joys, sorrows, frustrations, adventures—in a small French village. Wise, perceptive, and witty. [PG]▼●●

Small Circle of Friends, A (1980) C-112m. BOMB D: Rob Cohen. Brad Davis, Karen Allen, Jameson Parker, Shelley Long, John Friedrich, Gary Springer. Cloyingly cute by-the-numbers treatment of '60s campus turmoil as an apparently moronic ménage à trois tries to make it through Harvard. Almost makes one long for R.P.M. [R] ▼●●

Smallest Show on Earth, The (1957-British) 80m.  D: Basil Dearden. Bill Travers, Virginia McKenna, Margaret Rutherford, Peter Sellers, Bernard Miles, Leslie Phillips. Charming, often hilarious comedy about a couple who inherit a run-down movie house and its three equally run-down attendants (Sellers, Rutherford, Miles). Lovely scene in which the three veterans express their love for silent films. ▼●

Small Faces (1995-Scottish-English) C-108m. ½ D: Gillies MacKinnon. Iain Robertson, Joseph McFadden, J. S. Duffy, Laura Fraser, Garry Sweeney, Clare Higgins, Kevin McKidd, Mark McConnochie. Grim look at a working-class family of three boys in 1968 Glasgow, focusing on the youngest (Robertson), barely a teenager, and his indoctrination into gang warfare. Straightforward and powerful. Written by the director and his brother, Billy MacKinnon. [R]▼●●

Small Soldiers (1998) C-99m. ½ D: Joe Dante. Kirsten Dunst, Gregory Smith, Jay Mohr, Phil Hartman, Kevin Dunn, Denis Leary, David Cross, Ann Magnuson, Wendy Schaal, Dick Miller, Robert Picardo; voices of Tommy Lee Jones, Frank Langella, Ernest Borgnine, Jim Brown, Bruce Dern, George Kennedy, Clint Walker, Christopher Guest, Michael McKean, Harry Shearer, Sarah Michelle Gellar, Christina Ricci. Overeager toy

marketer puts military microchips into new combat figures; all hell breaks loose as they declare war on their "enemy" toys. Good premise is weakened by a predictable script. Computer animation is terrific, and director Dante throws in bonuses for film buffs—using cast members from THE DIRTY DOZEN and THIS IS SPINAL TAP as voices, adopting the BRIDE OF FRANKENSTEIN music at a key moment. Hartman's final film. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼●●

Small Time Crooks (2000) C-94m. ½ D: Woody Allen. Woody Allen, Tracey Ullman, Hugh Grant, Elaine May, Michael Rapaport, Jon Lovitz, Tony Darrow, Elaine Stritch, George Grizzard. Unusually lightweight comedy from Allen about an ex-con dishwasher who convinces his wife (Ullman) to invest their life's savings in a scheme to rob a bank. Instead, their "front" for the robbery, a cookie store, becomes a success, and wealth goes to her head. Slight, often unfocused, but entertaining, with enjoyable performances and a rare screen appearance by May. [PG]▼●

Small Town Girl (1936) 108m.  D: William Wellman. Janet Gaynor, Robert Taylor, Binnie Barnes, Lewis Stone, Andy Devine, James Stewart. Breezy romance about Gaynor trapping Taylor into marriage while he's drunk, then working to win him over when he's sober.

Small Town Girl (1953) C-93m. ½ D: Leslie Kardos. Jane Powell, Farley Granger, Ann Miller, S. Z. Sakall, Billie Burke, Bobby Van, Robert Keith, Nat King Cole, Fay Wray. Bland MGM musical pairing playboy Granger and apple-pie Powell, who meet when he's thrown in jail by her father for speeding through town. Van's human pogo-stick number and Miller's "I've Gotta Hear That Beat," with Busby Berkeley's disembodied orchestra, are highlights. ▼●●

Small Town in Texas, A (1976) C-95m.  D: Jack Starrett. Timothy Bottoms, Susan George, Bo Hopkins, Art Hindle, Morgan Woodward, John Karlen. Bottoms seeks revenge against heinous sheriff Hopkins, who framed him on a drug charge and has stolen his wife (George). Not bad, but you know what to expect. Techniscope. [PG]▼

Small Voices (2003-Filipino) C-109m. ½ D: Gil Portes. Alessandra de Rossi, Dexter Doria, Gina Alajar, Amy Austria, Bryan Homecillo, Pjero Rodriguez. A new teacher in a remote elementary school, not much older than her charges, attempts to organize a student chorus despite opposition from impoverished parents and a disinterested faculty. Nothing startlingly new here, but fact-based film succeeds as a heart-rending and heart-warming tale, with storytelling that's earnest to a fault.

Smart Alec (1986) C-88m.  D: Jim

Wilson. Ben Glass, Natasha Kautsky, Antony Alda, Lucinda Crosby, Kerry Remsen, Orson Bean, David Hedison, Bill Henderson, Zsa Zsa Gabor. Dull, silly (but not inaccurate) account of pint-sized eccentric Glass, an aspiring filmmaker, and his repeated frustrations as he attempts to finance his movie. Kautsky is most attractive as the model he covets as his leading lady. Aka THE MOVIE MAKER. ▼

Smart Money (1931) 90m. ½ D: Alfred E. Green. Edward G. Robinson, James Cagney, Margaret Livingstone, Evalyn Knapp, Noel Francis. Known as Cagney and Robinson's only costarring film, but Robinson really stars, as lucky barber who becomes big-time gambler. Cagney is fine as Robinson's crony; watch for Boris Karloff in a bit as a shady gambler. ▽

Smart People (2008) C-95m. ½ D: Noam Murro. Dennis Quaid, Sarah Jessica Parker, Thomas Haden Church, Ellen Page, Ashton Holmes, Christine Lahti. Curmudgeonly English lit professor Quaid, a widower, presides over a dysfunctional household including his supersmart teenage daughter, an alienated son, and (lately) an adopted brother who acts like an average adolescent. Then he strikes up a hesitant relationship with a former student who's now a physician. Bittersweet comedy-drama isn't uninteresting but the script feels undernourished. Super 35. [R] ▽

Smashing the Crime Syndicate SEE: Hell's Bloody Devils

Smashing Time (1967-British) 96m. ½ D: Desmond Davis. Rita Tushingham, Lynn Redgrave, Michael York, Anna Quayle, Ian Carmichael. Two girls come to London to crash big-time. Spoof of trendy fashion/show biz world tries to turn Redgrave and Tushingham into Laurel and Hardy, with middling results. Slapstick scenes only mildly funny. ▼ ▽

Smash Palace (1981-New Zealand) C-100m.  D: Roger Donaldson. Bruno Lawrence, Anna Jemison, Greer Robson, Keith Aberdin, Desmond Kelly. Lawrence is more interested in his cars than wife Jemison, who craves attention and affection. Sometimes confusing and overly melodramatic, but still worthwhile—particularly when focusing on their 7-year-old daughter (Robson). ▼ ● ●

Smash-up Alley (1972) C-83m.  D: Edward J. Lakso. Darren McGavin, Richard Petty, Kathie Browne, Noah Beery, Jr., Pierre Jalbert, L. Q. Jones. Stock-car racer Petty plays himself, McGavin is his father, Lee, in this forgettable chronicle of their careers. Aficionados of the sport may enjoy it, however. Aka 43: THE PETTY STORY. [G] ▼ ▽

Smash-up: The Story of a Woman (1947) 103m.  D: Stuart Heisler. Susan Hayward, Lee Bowman, Marsha Hunt, Eddie Albert, Carl Esmond, Carleton Young.

Hayward is excellent as an insecure nightclub singer who gives up her career when she weds soon-to-be radio star Bowman . . . and finds herself helplessly mired in alcoholism. This was Hayward's breakthrough role after a decade in Hollywood, and it deservedly earned her her first Oscar nomination. Taut script by John Howard Lawson, from an original story by Dorothy Parker and Frank Cavett. ▼ ▽

Smile (1975) C-113m. ½ D: Michael Ritchie. Bruce Dern, Barbara Feldon, Michael Kidd, Geoffrey Lewis, Nicholas Pryor, Colleen Camp, Joan Prather, Annette O'Toole, Melanie Griffith, Maria O'Brien. Hilarious, perceptive satire centering around the behind-the-scenes activity at a California "Young American Miss" beauty pageant, presented as a symbol for the emptiness of American middle-class existence. One of the unsung films of the 1970s, written by Jerry Belson; Kidd is terrific as the contest's career-slumped choreographer. Later a Broadway musical. [PG] ▼ ● ●

Smile (2005) C-107m.  D: Jeffrey Kramer. Sean Astin, Mika Boorem, Beau Bridges, Yi Ding, Linda Hamilton, Cheri Oteri, Essie Shure, Jonathon Trent, Erik von Detten. Wildly uneven but well-meaning film (inspired by director Kramer's daughter) about a girl who leaves the comforts of Malibu High to travel to China as part of the Doctor's Gift program (which receives some proceeds from the film's profits). There she meets a facially deformed girl from a small village and helps to make her "smile" again. Poorly structured screenplay spends nearly an hour setting up the main action and dwells endlessly on an unnecessary subplot about the young high schooler's virginity. Reminiscent of a preachy after-school special. [PG-13] ▽

Smile Like Yours, A (1997) C-98m. BOMB D: Keith Samples. Greg Kinnear, Lauren Holly, Joan Cusack, Jay Thomas, France Nuyen, Christopher McDonald, Donald Moffat, Shirley MacLaine, Ben Stein. He's an engineer, she designs perfumes, and together they cannot conceive a child. The maladroit comic result is so strange that it turns into its year's definitive "what were they thinking of?" movie. That's '60s star Nuyen wielding fertility instruments straight from the Chamber of Horrors. Super 35. [R] ▼ ● ●

Smiles of a Summer Night (1955-Swedish) 108m. * D: Ingmar Bergman. Ulla Jacobsson, Eva Dahlbeck, Margit Carlquist, Harriet Andersson, Gunnar Bjornstrand, Jarl Kulle. One of the finest romantic comedies ever made, a witty treatise on manners, mores, and sex during a weekend at a country estate in the late 19th century. Inspired the Broadway musical and subsequent film A LITTLE NIGHT MUSIC (as well as Woody Allen's A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S SEX COMEDY). ▼ ● ●

Smiley Face (2007-U.S.-German) C-84m.

*½ D: Gregg Araki. Anna Faris, Danny Masterson, Adam Brody, Rick Hoffman, Jane Lynch, John Krasinski, Marion Ross, Michael Hitchcock, John Cho, Danny Trejo. Loser goes from A to Z when she devours her roommate's maryjane-spiked cupcakes, propelling this slacker into an episodic series of pot-fueled misadventures. But this colorful, technically adept comedy simply isn't funny; a big disappointment from onetime indie wunderkind Araki. Roscoe Lee Browne narrates, as himself. Scott "Carrot Top" Thompson has a three-second cameo. [R]●

Smiling Fish and Goat on Fire (2000) C-90m.

*½ D: Kevin Jordan. Derick Martini, Steven Martini, Christa Miller, Bill Henderson, Rosemarie Addeo. Two L.A. brothers finally grow up when they meet their true loves. Made on a shoestring budget of $40,000, this practically plotless film may have been a labor of love but it's awfully low octane. Subplot about an 80-year-old black man who worked on Paul Robeson movies feels totally extraneous, though Henderson is good in the role. Title relates to the brothers' nicknames given to them by their half-Native American grandmother. [R]▼●

Smiling Lieutenant, The (1931) 88m. ***

D: Ernst Lubitsch. Maurice Chevalier, Claudette Colbert, Miriam Hopkins, Charlie Ruggles, George Barbier, Hugh O'Connell, Elizabeth Patterson. Utterly charming Lubitsch confection about a Viennese lieutenant who's forced to marry the naive, mousy Princess of Flausenthurm (Hopkins) when in fact he's in love with violinist Colbert. Pretty racy for its time. Highlight: the leading ladies singing "Jazz Up Your Lingerie." Based on the operetta The Waltz Dream, which was filmed under that title in Germany in 1928.●●

Smilin' Through (1932) 97m.  D:

Sidney Franklin. Norma Shearer, Fredric March, Leslie Howard, O. P. Heggie, Ralph Forbes. Sentimental romantic tale (with fantasy elements) about an embittered old man who lost his love on their wedding day but finds new reason to live when he must raise his orphaned niece (who looks exactly like his long-ago fiancée). Polished MGM production gets a bit poky midway through but leads to satisfying finale. Director Franklin originally filmed this with Norma Talmadge in 1922; it was remade in 1941.▼

Smilin' Through (1941) C-100m. ½ D:

Frank Borzage. Jeanette MacDonald, Gene Raymond, Brian Aherne, Ian Hunter, Francis Robinson, Patrick O'Moore. Glossy remake of sentimental story about romance and rivalry spreading over two generations; lacks conviction of 1932 version, though MacDonald and Raymond are a good match (they married in real life). ▼

Smilla's Sense of Snow (1997-German-Swedish-Danish) C-121m.  D: Bille August. Julia Ormond, Gabriel Byrne, Richard Harris, Robert Loggia, Vanessa Redgrave, Jim Broadbent, Peter Capaldi, Tom Wilkinson. Disappointing adaptation of Peter Hoeg's novel, with Ormond as an alienated woman who is devastated by death of neighboring Inuit boy—and obsessed with uncovering details of his possible murder. Part soul-searching saga, action story, romance, and medical thriller . . . and none of it gels. Admittedly a great woman's role, but it gets muddled in the execution. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Smith! (1969) C-112m.  D: Michael

O'Herlihy. Glenn Ford, Nancy Olson, Dean Jagger, Keenan Wynn, Warren Oates, Chief Dan George. Offbeat Disney drama of stubborn, pro-Indian farmer Ford who steps forward to help Indian accused of murder. Well done, with good characterizations, but low-key qualities soften impact. [G]▼

Smithereens (1982) C-90m. ½ D:

Susan Seidelman. Susan Berman, Brad Rinn (Rijn), Richard Hell, Roger Jett, Nada Despotovitch, Kitty Summerall, Christopher Noth. Gritty little character study of selfish, self-assured, rootless hustler Berman, and her vague dreams of success as a punk-rock band manager. Solid characterizations and simple, fluid direction; the sequence with the hooker and her chicken salad sandwich is memorable. [R]▼●●

Smoke (1995) C-112m.  D: Wayne

Wang. William Hurt, Harvey Keitel, Stockard Channing, Harold Perrineau, Jr., Forest Whitaker, Victor Argo, Erica Gimpel, Clarice Taylor, Giancarlo Esposito, Ashley Judd. A tapestry of lives that intertwine around a Brooklyn smoke shop; key figures include the philosophical manager (Keitel), a burnt-out novelist (Hurt), a worldly wise teenager (Perrineau) whom Hurt more or less adopts, and the boy's actual father (Whitaker), whom he hasn't seen since infancy. Another of Wang's low-key, barely-there narratives that won't enchant every viewer, but does offer considerable pleasure. The actors are compelling and credible; several cast members appear in a second film, BLUE IN THE FACE. Written by Paul Auster. [R]▼●●

Smoke Signals (1998) C-88m. ½ D:

Chris Eyre. Adam Beach, Evan Adams, Irene Bedard, Gary Farmer, Tantoo Cardinal, Cody Lightning, Simon Baker, Michelle St. John, Tom Skerritt, Cynthia Geary. Two Coeur d'Alene Indians—tough, brooding Beach and likable, nerdy Adams—travel from their Idaho reservation to Phoenix to retrieve the remains of the former's dead father, and discover some truths about themselves along the way. Amusing, quirky road movie offers a refreshing Native

American point of view, but is too schematic in setting up relationships and themes. However, it does have the memorable chant "John Wayne's Teeth." [PG-13] ▼●●

Smokey and the Bandit (1977) C-96m.

 D: Hal Needham. Burt Reynolds, Sally Field, Jackie Gleason, Jerry Reed, Mike Henry, Paul Williams, Pat McCormick. Box-office smash is one long comedy chase, as bootlegger Reynolds outraces Sheriff Gleason for nearly the entire film. Directorial debut of ace stuntman Needham is (expectedly) brimming with stunts. About as subtle as The Three Stooges, but a classic compared to the sequels and countless rip-offs which followed. [PG] ▼●●

Smokey and the Bandit II (1980) C-104m.

*½ D: Hal Needham. Burt Reynolds, Jackie Gleason, Jerry Reed, Dom DeLuise, Sally Field, Paul Williams, Pat McCormick, John Anderson. Strange sequel to 1977 hit has Bandit and friends agreeing to truck a pregnant elephant to Texas. Unfortunately, film has hardly any action, and its main character is portrayed as an embittered egomaniac. Some laughs, but not enough to overcome these obstacles. [PG] ▼●●

Smokey and the Bandit Part 3 (1983) C-88m.

BOMB D: Dick Lowry. Jackie Gleason, Jerry Reed, Colleen Camp, Paul Williams, Pat McCormick, Mike Henry, Burt Reynolds. Desperate attempt to wring more laughs from this formula, with Gleason as a flustered red-neck sheriff and Reed as his latest nemesis. Originally filmed as SMOKEY IS THE BANDIT, with Gleason playing both roles; when preview audiences were confused, the film was reshot with Reed replacing the "second" Gleason. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Smokey Bites the Dust (1981) C-85m.

BOMB D: Charles B. Griffith. Jimmy McNichol, Janet Julian, Walter Barnes, Patrick Campbell, Kari Lizer, John Blyth Barrymore. Young McNichol kidnaps homecoming queen, much to the consternation of her sheriff father. Poor excuse for a movie, with all its car-chase action bodily lifted from such earlier films as EAT MY DUST, GRAND THEFT AUTO, THUNDER AND LIGHTNING, and MOVING VIOLATION. [PG] ▼

Smokin' Aces (2007) C-109m.

*½ D: Joe Carnahan. Jeremy Piven, Ryan Reynolds, Alicia Keys, Peter Berg, Jason Bateman, Ben Affleck, Andy Garcia, Ray Liotta, Common, Martin Henderson, Taraji P. Henson, Chris Pine, Nestor Carbonell, Curtis Armstrong, Alex Rocco, David Proval, Wayne Newton. Good cast can't save this unwieldy patchwork of farce, action, and drama. Piven is a Vegas entertainer about to inform on the mob who is tracked by a horde of assassins, bounty hunters, and unsavory characters. Keys is solid in her screen debut as one of the

bounty hunters, but the story is a mess and director Carnahan seems to be in love with ludicrous, over-the-top violence. Matthew Fox is unrecognizable in a cameo as a security person. Super 35. [R] ●

Smoky (1946) C-87m.  D: Louis King. Fred MacMurray, Anne Baxter, Burl Ives, Bruce Cabot, Esther Dale, Roy Roberts. First-rate family film from Will James story of man's devotion to his horse. Previously filmed in 1933, then again in 1966.

Smoky (1966) C-103m.  D: George Sherman. Fess Parker, Diana Hyland, Katy Jurado, Hoyt Axton, Chuck Roberson. Third version of the horse opera about especially independent horse named Smoky who knows what he wants.

Smooth Talk (1985) C-92m. ½ D: Joyce Chopra. Treat Williams, Laura Dern, Mary Kay Place, Levon Helm, Elizabeth Berkeley. Disarmingly realistic depiction of teenage girl's growing pains and family relations takes sharp left turn when Williams enters as mysterious (and alluring) stranger . . . and all but deadens rest of the film. Worth seeing if only for Dern's fine performance. Impressive feature debut for documentary director Chopra; script by Tom Cole from a Joyce Carol Oates short story. Originally made for PBS' American Playhouse. [PG-13] ▼●●

Smorgasbord SEE: Cracking Up

Smother (2008) C-92m. *½ D: Vince Di Meglio. Diane Keaton, Dax Shepard, Liv Ullmann, Ken Howard, Jerry Lambert, Selma Stern, Mike White. Cringe-inducing sitcom-style movie about a 60-ish eccentric who leaves her husband and moves in with her carpet-salesman son and his schoolmarm spouse. Ensuing meddling and misunderstandings over the course of a painfully miserable week are almost totally funny-free with way too many third-act Serious Scenes. Keaton makes a valiant but futile effort. [PG-13] ●

Snake Eyes (1998) C-99m.  D: Brian De Palma. Nicolas Cage, Gary Sinise, Carla Gugino, Stan Shaw, Kevin Dunn, Mike Starr. Slick, corrupt Atlantic City cop finds himself in the midst of a multi-level conspiracy after a shooting at a heavyweight prizefight. Slick, kinetic filmmaking technique (by De Palma and cinematographer Stephen H. Burum) can only carry this unappealing story so far. By the finale, it's hard to care much about anyone—or anything—in the picture. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Snake People (1970-Mexican-U.S.) C-90m.

BOMB D: Jhon Ibanez (Juan Ibanez and Jack Hill). Boris Karloff, Julissa, Charles (Carlos) East, Ralph Bertrand, Tongolele. Police captain tries to investigate an island where voodoo, LSD, and snake-worshippers run rampant. Ludicrous horror film wastes Karloff's talent. One of the last four films Karloff made; he shot his scenes in 1968.

Original title: ISLE OF THE SNAKE PEOPLE. Aka CULT OF THE DEAD. ▼◆
Snake Pit, The (1948) 108m. ½ D: Anatole Litvak. Olivia de Havilland, Mark Stevens, Leo Genn, Celeste Holm, Glenn Langan, Helen Craig, Leif Erickson, Beulah Bondi, Lee Patrick, Natalie Schafer, Ruth Donnelly, Frank Conroy, Minna Gombell, Ann Doran, Betsy Blair, Isabel Jewell. One of the first films to deal intelligently with mental breakdowns and the painstakingly slow recovery process. Gripping film set in mental institution lacks original shock value but still packs a good punch, with de Havilland superb. Screenplay by Frank Partos and Millen Brand, from the Mary Jane Ward novel. ▼◆◆
Snakes on a Plane (2006) C-105m. ½ D: David R. Ellis. Samuel L. Jackson, Julianna Margulies, Nathan Phillips, Rachel Blanchard, Flex Alexander, Kenan Thompson, Lin Shaye, David Koehn, Bobby Cannavale, Todd Louiso. It isn't like the old days when you called the box office to see what was playing and the response was, "PHFFFT" or "ZOTZ!" Here you know what you're getting, and for the lovers having taboo sex in the overly cramped jet lavatory, it's a lot more than chafed behinds. Why? Because an indicted thug tries to silence a witness by crashing an entire passenger plane through hissing means. You can bet FBI agent Jackson has conflicting ideas about this. The premise is fun, but a premise is just about all there is. Super 35. [R]◆
Snapper, The (1993-British) C-95m.  D: Stephen Frears. Colm Meaney, Tina Kellegher, Ruth McCabe, Colm O'Byrne, Eanna Macliam, Ciara Duffy, Joanne Gerard, Peter Rowen, Fionnula Murphy, Karen Woodley, Pat Laffan, Brendan Gleeson. Wonderful adaptation of Roddy Doyle's novel about a working-class Irish family, and the teenage daughter who finds herself pregnant—with the circumstances too embarrassing to discuss. Vivid, funny, and believable, sparked by good performances—especially Meaney as the bewildered (but basically good-hearted) father; he also appeared earlier in THE COMMITMENTS, the first of Doyle's Barrytown trilogy. Followed by THE VAN. [R]▼◆◆
Snatch. (2000) C-102m.  D: Guy Ritchie. Benicio Del Toro, Dennis Farina, Vinnie Jones, Brad Pitt, Rade Sherbedgia, Jason Statham, Alan Ford, Mike Reid, Robbie Gee, Lennie James, Stephen Graham, Jason Flemyng. Writer-director Ritchie's follow-up to LOCK, STOCK AND TWO SMOKING BARRELS is a similarly energized, violent farce about sleazy underworld types (involved in everything from a diamond heist to a bare-knuckle boxing match) whose agendas—and bodies—collide. Populated by characters with names like Franky Four Fingers. Pitt is amusing as a garble-mouthed Irish gypsy fighter. Fresh, funny, and full of punch. [R]▼◆◆

Sneakers (1992) C-126m. ½ D: Phil Alden Robinson. Robert Redford, Dan Aykroyd, Ben Kingsley, Mary McDonnell, River Phoenix, Sidney Poitier, David Strathairn, Timothy Busfield, George Hearn, Stephen Tobolowsky, James Earl Jones. High-tech caper yarn about an offbeat security team that takes on a dangerous assignment to steal a "black box" containing volatile security secrets. Redford is in fine form in a lighthearted leading-man role, and his "team" is fun, but why does this story take so long to unravel—and why does it jettison every shred of believability toward the end? [PG-13]▼◆◆
Sniper, The (1952) 87m.  D: Edward Dmytryk. Adolphe Menjou, Arthur Franz, Marie Windsor, Richard Kiley, Mabel Paige. Excellent, realistically filmed drama of mentally deranged sniper (Franz) who can't help himself from killing unsuspecting women. Fine performances by all.◆
Sniper (1993) C-98m.  D: Luis Llosa. Tom Berenger, Billy Zane, J.T. Walsh, Aden Young, Ken Radley, Dale Dye, Richard Lineback. A tough Marine sergeant and a green Olympics marksman team up in the Panamanian jungle to eliminate a rebel honcho and his drug lord bankroller. Plodding film is as life affirming as a broken septic tank, and about as useful; the slow-motion bullet trajectories are a little livelier than the actors. Followed by two direct-to-video sequels. [R]▼◆◆
Snoopy Come Home (1972) C-70m.  D: Bill Melendez. Voices of Chad Webber, David Carey, Stephen Shea, Bill Melendez. Charming Peanuts feature (the second) centering around Snoopy, the world's most independent pooch. [G]▼◆◆
Snow Angels (2008) C-106m.  D: David Gordon Green. Kate Beckinsale, Sam Rockwell, Michael Angarano, Deborah Allen, Jeannette Arnette, Griffin Dunne, Peter Blais, Brian Downey, Nicky Katt, Amy Sedaris, Olivia Thirlby, Tom Noonan. Life in a small American town is examined in this adaptation of Stewart O'Nan's best seller about the intersecting fates of a young man, his ex-babysitter, her soon-to-be ex-husband, and their daughter. Played out against a snowy, frigid backdrop that serves to underscore the depressing story being told. Acting is first-rate but film only sporadically makes you care about these people. Super 35. [R]◆
Snowball Express (1972) C-99m.  D: Norman Tokar. Dean Jones, Nancy Olson, Harry Morgan, Keenan Wynn, Johnny Whitaker, Michael McGreevey. Jones plays N.Y. accountant who inherits battered hotel in Rockies and tries to convert it into ski lodge. Slapstick ski chase is highlight of formula Disney comedy. [G]▼◆◆

Snow Cake (2006-British-Canadian) C-113m.  D: Marc Evans. Alan Rickman, Sigourney Weaver, Carrie-Anne Moss, Emily Hampshire, James Alfordi, Callum Keith Rennie, David Fox, Jayne Eastwood. Solitary middle-aged man with a troubled past picks up a young female hitchhiker while driving across Canada; the out-of-left-field event that happens next profoundly affects the rest of the story and the lives of all its characters. Quirky, thoughtful drama is refreshing for its profound humanity. Weaver is tremendous as the hitchhiker's autistic mother. D

Snow Creature, The (1954) 70m. *½ D: W. Lee Wilder. Paul Langton, Leslie Denison, Teru Shimada, Rollin Moriyama. Yeti brought back from Himalayas languishes in customs while officials wrangle over whether it is cargo or a passenger. Dull film at least has virtue of being made for adults, though only kids may like it now. VD

Snow Day (2000) C-89m.  D: Chris Koch. Chris Elliott, Mark Webber, Jean Smart, Schuyler Fisk, Iggy Pop, Pam Grier, Chevy Chase, John Schneider, Zena Grey, Emmanuelle Chriqui, Connor Matheus, J. Adam Brown. A late-season snowstorm closes upstate N.Y. schools, allowing for plot threads spotlighting local weatherman Chase and two of his children: an adolescent boy who is smitten with his dream girl, and his kid sister, who takes on comically sadistic snowplow driver Elliott. Predictable family film, a Nickelodeon production. Fisk (who plays Webber's tomboyish pal) is the daughter of Sissy Spacek. [PG]VD

Snow Dogs (2002) C-99m.  D: Brian Levant. Cuba Gooding, Jr., James Coburn, Sisqó, Nichelle Nichols, M. Emmet Walsh, Graham Greene, Brian Doyle-Murray, Joanna Bacaloso, Jean-Michel Paré. Miami dentist goes to Alaska for the reading of his mother's will and is persuaded to follow his destiny by learning to race her team of sled dogs. Clumsy Disney film is aimed at kids who only respond to the broadest kind of comedy. Gooding may set a new record for the most times a leading man falls down in one movie! [PG]VD

Snow Falling on Cedars (1999) C-126m.  D: Scott Hicks. Ethan Hawke, James Cromwell, Richard Jenkins, James Rebhorn, Sam Shepard, Eric Thal, Max von Sydow, Youki Kudoh, Rick Yune, Jan Rubes, Celia Weston, Max Wright, Željko Ivanek, Daniel von Bargen. Ambitious but unsuccessful adaptation of David Guterson's best-selling novel. Flashback-laden story skips from the 1930s to the 1950s on an island in the Pacific Northwest where a boy falls in love with a Japanese-American girl. Equal parts murder mystery, forbidden romance, history lesson (about racial prejudice), and courtroom drama. Hawke is dull, but von Sydow livens things up as an aged but clever attorney. Self-consciously arty

photography by Robert Richardson. Panavision. [PG-13]VD

Snow Job (1972) C-90m. *½ D: George Englund. Jean-Claude Killy, Danielle Gaubert, Cliff Potts, Vittorio De Sica. Heist film involving the taking of $250,000 in loot. Although professional skier Killy is appropriate star for film set against the Alps, he can't act; neither can the beautiful Gaubert. Panavision. [PG]

Snows of Kilimanjaro, The (1952) C-117m.  D: Henry King. Gregory Peck, Susan Hayward, Ava Gardner, Hildegarde Neff, Leo G. Carroll. Peck finds his forte as renowned writer critically injured while on safari in Africa, trying to decide if he found any meaning to his past; based on Hemingway story. VD

Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs (1937) C-83m. * D: David Hand. Voices of Adriana Caselotti, Harry Stockwell, Lucille LaVerne, Scotty Mattraw, Roy Atwell, Pinto Colvig, Otis Harlan, Billy Gilbert, Moroni Olsen. Walt Disney's groundbreaking animated feature film—the first of its kind—is still in a class by itself, a warm and joyful rendition of the classic fairy tale, enhanced by the vivid personalities of the seven dwarfs. Only a real-life Grumpy could fail to love it. Songs include "Whistle While You Work," "Heigh Ho," and "Some Day My Prince Will Come." VD

Snow White and the Three Stooges (1961) C-107m. BOMB D: Walter Lang. Three Stooges, Patricia Medina, Carol Heiss, Buddy Baer, Guy Rolfe, Edgar Barrier. Big mistake with skating star Heiss as Snow White, Three Stooges as ... the Three Stooges. Comics aren't given much to do, despite title; rest of film is rather stodgy. Even kids won't be thrilled with it. CinemaScope. VD

Snow White: A Tale of Terror (1997-U.S.-British) C-101m.  D: Michael Cohn. Sigourney Weaver, Sam Neill, Gil Bellows, Taryn Davis, Brian Glover, David Conrad, Monica Keena. We're not in Disneyland here, kiddies. Extremely dark, rather bloody, live-action version of the Brothers Grimm fairy tale and an exercise in Gothic horror, with over-the-top Weaver as the evil stepmother. Filmed on location in various castles in the Czech Republic and in Prague Government Park, doubling for the Black Forest. Great (if sadistic) fun. Made for theaters; debuted on cable in U.S. Aka THE GRIMM BROTHERS' SNOW WHITE. VD

Snow White in the Land of Doom SEE: Happily Ever After

Soapdish (1991) C-95m.  D: Michael Hoffman. Sally Field, Kevin Kline, Robert Downey, Jr., Cathy Moriarty, Whoopi Goldberg, Elisabeth Shue, Carrie Fisher, Garry Marshall, Teri Hatcher, Paul Johanson, Costas Mandylor, Stephen Nichols,

Kathy Najimy, Ben Stein. Farcical comedy about a soap opera queen who's losing her grip—on the show, and her life. Field and Kline are a treat to watch playing larger-than-life characters, but Whoopi is wasted, Downey is miscast, and the script (by Robert Harling and Andrew Bergman) thinks "frantic" equals "funny." Any one scene in TOOTSIE tops this hands down. Leeza Gibbons' best film work to date; John Tesh also appears. [PG-13] ▼●●

S.O.B. (1981) C-121m. ½ D: Blake Edwards. Julie Andrews, William Holden, Richard Mulligan, Robert Preston, Robert Vaughn, Loretta Swit, Larry Hagman, Marisa Berenson, Robert Webber, Stuart Margolin, Craig Stevens, Shelley Winters, Rosanna Arquette, Jennifer Edwards, Robert Loggia, John Pleshette, Larry Storch, Gene Nelson, Joe Penny, Corbin Bernsen. A producer hatches a scheme to turn his latest turkey into a hit: juice it up with pornography and have his wife-star (Andrews) bare her breasts. A glib satire on modern-day Movieland (and writer-director Edwards' revenge for Hollywood's treatment of him in the early '70s) throws in everything from black humor to slapstick, with wildly uneven results. Holden's last film. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

So big! (1932) 80m.  D: William A. Wellman. Barbara Stanwyck, George Brent, Dickie Moore, Guy Kibbee, Bette Davis, Mac Madison, Hardie Albright, Alan Hale. Disappointing adaptation of Edna Ferber's saga of an orphaned girl who becomes a schoolteacher in the midst of a farming community and raises her son to aspire to big things. Abrupt continuity and sudden aging of its lead character keep this from amounting to very much. Stanwyck and Davis are both in the final scene—but never appear on screen together! Filmed before in 1925, remade in 1953.

So Big (1953) 101m.  D: Robert Wise. Jane Wyman, Sterling Hayden, Nancy Olson, Steve Forrest, Martha Hyer, Tommy Rettig. Superficial but engrossing Edna Ferber soap/saga about teacher who brings up son to be self-sufficient. Filmed before in 1925 and 1932.

So Close (2002-Hong Kong) C-111m. ½ D: Cory Yuen. Shu Qi, Zhao Wei, Karen Mok, Song Seung Hun, Michael Wai, Yasuaki Kurata, Derek Wan. Two sisters, ostensibly ultra-tech computer surveillance operators, are secretly—gasp!!—assassins decimating a murderously corrupt corporation suit by suit. Fighting tooth and nail with gun and sword, they're countered by a clever policewoman similarly well versed in martial arts. Super-flashy action set pieces far outplay the draggy interpersonals in this chop-socky CHARLIE'S ANGELS wannabe. [R] ▼●

So Dark the Night (1946) 71m. ½ D: Joseph H. Lewis. Steven Geray, Micheline

Cheirel, Eugene Borden, Ann Codee, Egon Brecher, Helen Freeman. Famous Parisian detective is put to work during his holiday in the French countryside. Impressively made B movie, something of a sleeper in its time, suffers only for lack of charisma on the part of its (mostly unknown) cast.

So Dear to My Heart (1949) C-84m. ½ D: Harold Schuster. Burl Ives, Beulah Bondi, Bobby Driscoll, Luana Patten, Harry Carey. Warm, nostalgic Disney film about young boy's determination to raise a black sheep and bring him to State Fair competition. Brimming with period charm and atmosphere; several animated sequences, too. Songs include "Lavender Blue (Dilly Dilly)." Screenplay by John Tucker Battle, from Sterling North's book Midnight and Jeremiah. ▼●●

Sodom and Gomorrah (1963-Italian) C-154m. ½ D: Robert Aldrich. Stewart Granger, Pier Angeli, Stanley Baker, Anouk Aimée, Rossana Podesta. Lavish retelling of life in biblical twin cities of sin. Strong cast, vivid scenes of vice, gore, and God's wrath, make this overly long tale of ancient Hebrews fairly entertaining. ▼●

So Ends Our Night (1941) 117m. ½ D: John Cromwell. Fredric March, Margaret Sullavan, Frances Dee, Glenn Ford, Anna Sten, Erich von Stroheim, Allan Brett. Superior filmization of Erich Maria Remarque story of German (March) rejecting Nazi reign, fleeing his country with hot pursuit by Axis agents. Written by Talbot Jennings from Remarque's novel Floresam. ▼●

So Evil My Love (1948) 109m.  D: Lewis Allen. Ray Milland, Ann Todd, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Leo G. Carroll, Raymond Huntley, Martita Hunt, Hugh Griffith. Excellent study of corruption; scoundrel Milland drags innocent Todd into larceny at expense of Fitzgerald.

So Evil, My Sister (1972) C-76m.  D: Reginald LeBorg. Susan Strasberg, Faith Domergue, Sydney Chaplin, Charles Knox Robinson, Steve Mitchell, Kathleen Freeman, John Howard. Gothic B-movie thriller with veteran cast has Strasberg and Domergue as sisters playing cat-and-mouse with the police who are investigating the mysterious death of Strasberg's husband. Several clever twists in the final reel are worth waiting for. Retitled PSYCHO SISTERS. Video title: THE SIBLING. [R] ▼ and overlong. Mynster offers an effectively subtle performance as Sofie. ▼●

Sofie (1992-Danish-Norwegian-Swedish) C-146m. ½ D: Liv Ullmann. Karen-Lise Mynster, Erland Josephson, Ghita Norby, Jesper Christensen, Torben Zeller, Stig Hoffmeyer. Ullman's directorial debut (which she also coscripted) is a thoughtful but uneven, Bergmanesque tale of a young Jew in late 19th-century Copenhagen who is unable to break free of family tradition, ruining her one chance at true love. Beautifully detailed but episodic (especially in its second half)

So Fine (1981) C-91m.  D: Andrew Bergman. Ryan O'Neal, Jack Warden, Mariangela Melato, Richard Kiel, Fred Gwynne, Mike Kellin, David Rounds. Wacky comedy about professor-son of a N.Y.C. garment manufacturer who is dragged into the business and inadvertently succeeds with an idea for see-through jeans. Film goes off in unexpected directions—some of them surprisingly silly—but remains funny most of the time. Writer Bergman's directorial debut. [R] ▼●

Soft Beds, Hard Battles SEE: Undercovers Hero

Soft Fruit (2000-Australian-U.S.) C-101m.  D: Christina Andreef. Jeanie Drynan, Linal Haft, Russell Dykstra, Genevieve Lemon, Sacha Horler, Alicia Talbot. Four grown children—three sisters and a brother who's just gotten out of jail—return home to be with their mother, who's dying of liver cancer. Amiable enough mix of comedy and drama about an oddball family doesn't add up to much. Scripted by the director. [R] ▼

Soft Skin, The (1964-French) 120m.  D: François Truffaut. Françoise Dorleac, Jean Desailly, Nelly Benedetti. Moody tale of married businessman drawn into tragic affair with beautiful airline stewardess; smooth direction uplifts basic plot. ▼●●

So I Married an Axe Murderer (1993) C-93m. ½ D: Thomas Schlamme. Mike Myers, Nancy Travis, Anthony LaPaglia, Amanda Plummer, Brenda Fricker, Debi Mazar, Matt Doherty. A guy who's always avoided commitment by finding absurd reasons to break up with his girlfriends finally meets Miss Right—and then comes to believe that she's a notorious axe murderer! Myers is ingratiating and funny (especially in a second role as his own contrary Scottish father) but the film never shifts into high gear. Cameos by such familiar comic personalities as Charles Grodin, Steven Wright, Phil Hartman, and Michael Richards seem mostly gratuitous. Alan Arkin appears unbilled. [PG-13] ▼●●

Solarbabies (1986) C-94m. BOMB D: Alan Johnson. Richard Jordan, Jami Gertz, Jason Patric, Lukas Haas, Charles Durning, Peter DeLuise, Adrian Pasdar, Sarah Douglas, Frank Converse, Terrence Mann, Kelly Bishop. Futuristic teen junk has Gertz and her mostly male cohorts imprisoned by Nazi-like Jordan inside a fortress; the group plots an escape with the help of "Bohdi"—an ancient mystical force. Appallingly bad stinker from (Mel) Brooksfilm that barely got released. J-D-C Scope. [PG-13] ▼●●

Solar Crisis (1990-U.S.-Japanese) C-112m. ½ D: Alan Smithee (Richard Sarafian). Tim Matheson, Charlton Heston, Peter Boyle, Annabel Schofield, Corin

Nemec, Jack Palance, Tetsuya Bessho, Dorian Harewood, Brenda Bakke. Futuristic sci-fi thriller with Matheson leading a save-the-planet mission to the sun to prevent a solar flare from destroying the earth. Fine special effects, quality acting, and suspenseful story in space, marred by earth antics of bad boy Boyle who (preposterously) wants to sabotage the mission. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●●

Solaris (1972-Russian) C-165m. ½ D: Andrei Tarkovsky. Natalya Bondarchuk, Donatas Banionis, Yuri Yarovet, Anatoly Solonitsin. Mind-bending, metaphysical sci-fi about a psychologist who's sent to a space station to investigate mysterious deaths and discovers supernatural phenomena. Slow moving and occasionally pretentious, but hypnotic once one adjusts, and an undoubted tour de force by Tarkovsky, who also cowrote the screenplay. Remade in 2002. Sovscope. ▼●●

Solaris (2002) C-99m.  D: Steven Soderbergh. George Clooney, Natasha McElhone, Jeremy Davies, Viola Davis, Ulrich Tukur. In the near future, psychologist Clooney is summoned to a space station where the crew has been acting strange, to say the least. There he meets an eerie replica of his dead wife! Ice-cold adaptation (by Soderbergh) of Stanislaw Lem's science-fiction novel, distinguished by Philip Messina's striking production design and a strong performance by Clooney. All that's missing is the ability to care about his character. Filmed before in 1972. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

Solas (2000-Spanish) C-98m.  D: Benito Zambrano. Ana Fernández, María Galiana, Carlos Alvarez-Novoa. A trio of lonely people—an embittered, alcoholic woman, her provincial mother, and a kind-hearted neighbor widower—get a second chance at life in this poignant film. All three lead performances are terrific, and despite a somewhat rushed wrap-up, the film earns our affections honestly. As much a tribute to unconventional families as Almodóvar's ALL ABOUT MY MOTHER. ▼●

Soldier, The (1982) C-96m. *½ D: James Glickenhaus. Ken Wahl, Klaus Kinski, William Prince, Alberta Watson, Jeremiah Sullivan. CIA superagent Wahl takes on Russian terrorists who have planted a plutonium bomb in a Saudi Arabian oil field. Clichéd, violent drama. [R] ▼

Soldier (1998) C-98m.  D: Paul Anderson. Kurt Russell, Jason Scott Lee, Connie Nielsen, Sean Pertwee, Michael Chiklis, Gary Busey, Jason Isaacs, Jared Thorne, Taylor Thorne. In the near future, Russell, raised to be a soldier, is declared obsolete, thought dead, and dumped on a planet used as a garbage heap. He's befriended by people who crash-landed there some time before; then his old fighting partners show up to "cleanse" the planet. Russell is good, but the movie is derivative, the "science" ludicrous, and the outcome highly predictable. Please come back, Shane. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Soldier Blue (1970) C-112m. *½ D: Ralph Nelson. Candice Bergen, Peter Strauss, Donald Pleasence, John Anderson, Jorge Rivero, Dana Elcar, James Hampton. Well-meaning attempt to dramatize U.S. mistreatment of the Indians (and perhaps equate it with Vietnam) wasn't very good then and hasn't improved; bulk of the film is still cutesy romance between two survivors of Indian attack, climaxed by cavalry's slaughter of entire village in sequence that remains almost unwatchable. Panavision. [PG—edited from original R rating] ▼●●

Soldier in Skirts SEE: Triple Echo

Soldier in the Rain (1963) 88m.  D: Ralph Nelson. Jackie Gleason, Steve McQueen, Tuesday Weld, Tony Bill, Tom Poston, Ed Nelson, John Hubbard, Adam West. Strange film wavers from sentimental drama to high comedy. Gleason is swinging sergeant, McQueen his fervent admirer. Script by Blake Edwards and Maurice Richlin from William Goldman's novel. ▼●

Soldier of Fortune (1955) C-96m.  D: Edward Dmytryk. Clark Gable, Susan Hayward, Michael Rennie, Gene Barry, Tom Tully, Alex D'Arcy, Anna Sten. Gable is hired to find Susan's husband (Barry) held captive in Hong Kong. Rennie is good as police chief. Scripted by Ernest K. Gann, from his novel. CinemaScope. ▼●

Soldier of Orange (1979-Dutch) C-165m. ½ D: Paul Verhoeven. Rutger Hauer, Jeroen Krabbé, Peter Faber, Derek De Lint, Eddy Habbema, Susan Penhaligon, Edward Fox. The lives of six wealthy, carefree Dutch university students are irrevocably altered when the Germans occupy their homeland in 1940. Superior drama, with Hauer coming into his own as a handsome aristocrat who becomes involved in the Resistance. Based on autobiographical novel by Erik Hazelhoff. [R] ▼●●

Soldier's Daughter Never Cries, A (1998) C-127m. ½ D: James Ivory. Kris Kristofferson, Barbara Hershey, Leelee Sobieski, Jesse Bradford, Anthony Roth Costanzo, Dominique Blanc, Jane Birkin. Picaresque story of an expatriate American family living in Paris during the '60s and '70s, and what happens when they move back home. Kristofferson is excellent as a macho novelist, and Sobieski and Bradford are equally good as his kids, who are going through various teenage crises, but the film loses its grip when it shifts to America and becomes much more mundane. Based on an autobiographical novel by Kaylie Jones, whose father was author James Jones. [R] ▼●●

Soldiers of Fortune SEE: You Can't Win 'Em All

Soldier's Prayer, A (1961-Japanese) 196m. ½ D: Masaki Kobayashi. Tatsuya Naka-

dai, Yusuke Kawazu, Tamao Nakamura, Chishu Ryu, Taketoshi Naitô, Reiko Hitomi, Kyôko Kishida, Fujio Suga. Final installment of Kobayashi's three-part rumination on the horrors of WW2 (after NO GREATER LOVE and THE ROAD TO ETERNITY) is set in the waning days of the conflict. Here, Kaji (Nakadai) and other soldiers and civilians struggle to stay alive in the desolate Manchurian countryside. Meanwhile, Kaji wonders if his beloved wife is still living, and if he will ever find her. The finale is haunting . . . and fitting. Scripted by Kobayashi, Zenzo Matsuyama, and Koichi Inagaki, based on a six-volume novel by Jumpei Gomikawa. Aka THE HUMAN CONDITION III. Grandscope. ●

Soldier's Story, A (1984) C-101m. ½ D: Norman Jewison. Howard E. Rollins, Jr., Adolph Caesar, Dennis Lipscomb, Art Evans, Denzel Washington, Larry Riley, David Alan Grier, Robert Townsend, Patti LaBelle, Wings Hauser, Trey Wilson. Electrifying drama by Charles Fuller from his Pulitzer Prize-winning play (featuring most of original Negro Ensemble Company cast) about murder of a black officer at Southern military post in the 1940s. A solid whodunit plus a probing look at racism within black ranks. It was inspired by Herman Melville's Billy Budd. Can't completely escape its stage origins but still a riveting film. [PG] ▼●●

Soldier's Tale, A (1988) C-94m. ½ D: Larry Parr. Gabriel Byrne, Marianne Basler, Judge Reinhold, Paul Wyatt. Poignant, thought-provoking WW2 story of a beautiful woman accused of being a German collaborator by the French resistance. Byrne plays a British soldier who tries to protect her. Reinhold is on screen for all of three minutes. [R] ▼●●

Soldiers Three (1951) 87m.  D: Tay Garnett. Stewart Granger, Walter Pidgeon, David Niven, Robert Newton, Cyril Cusack, Greta Gynt, Robert Coote, Dan O'Herlihy. Boisterous action-adventure with light touch; GUNGA DIN—esque story has three soldiering comrades in and out of spats with each other as they battle in 19th-century India. Loosely based on stories by Rudyard Kipling.

Solid Gold Cadillac, The (1956) 99m.  D: Richard Quine. Judy Holliday, Paul Douglas, Fred Clark, John Williams, Arthur O'Connell, Hiram Sherman, Neva Patterson, Ray Collins; narrated by George Burns. Dazzling Judy in entertaining comedy of small stockholder in large company becoming corporate heroine by trying to oust crooked board of directors. George S. Kaufman—Howard Teichman play adapted by Abe Burrows. Jean Louis earned an Oscar for the costumes. Last scene in color. ▼●

Sol Madrid (1968) C-90m. ½ D: Brian G. Hutton. David McCallum, Stella Ste-

vens, Telly Savalas, Ricardo Montalban, Rip Torn, Pat Hingle, Paul Lukas, Michael Ansara. Old-fashioned but solid thriller about police, Mafia, and running heroin from Mexico. Panavision.

Solo (1996-U.S.-Mexican) C-94m.  D: Norberto Barba. Mario Van Peebles, William Sadler, Adrien Brody, Seidy Lopez, Abraham J. Verduzco, Barry Corbin. Solo is an android who has a crisis of conscience when he directly disobeys an order that would result in the murder of innocent people. This sets him on a collision course with his creators, particularly a sadistic colonel. Standard action for nondiscerning fans of the genre. Van Peebles is actually quite appealing in the lead. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼●●

Solo Con Tu Pareja (1991-Mexican) C-94m.  D: Alfonso Cuarón. Daniel Giménez Cacho, Claudia Ramírez, Luis de Icaza, Astrid Hadad, Dobrina Liubomirova, Isabel Benet. A womanizing Mexico City copywriter gets his comeuppance when he is falsely diagnosed as being H.I.V. positive, thanks to a spurned nurse who was one of his many conquests. Cowritten with his brother Carlos, Cuarón's feature debut (not released in the U.S. until 2006) is a breezily dark sex comedy in the early-Almodóvar style, strikingly shot by the director's regular cinematographer, Emmanuel Lubezki. Aka LOVE IN THE TIME OF HYSTERIA. ▽

Soloist, The (2009-U.S.-British-French) C-117m. ½ D: Joe Wright. Jamie Foxx, Robert Downey, Jr., Catherine Keener, Tom Hollander, Lisa Gay Hamilton, Nelsan Ellis, Rachael Harris, Stephen Root, Lorraine Tossaint. Los Angeles Times columnist Steve Lopez (Downey) writes a piece about street musician Nathaniel Ayers (Foxx), whose mental illness has defeated his natural talent. He feels compelled to help Ayers but doesn't comprehend the magnitude of the man's problems, or how tough it is to be responsible for another human being. True story offers moments of soaring emotions (most of them inspired by Beethoven music), contrasted against the squalor of homelessness in downtown L.A. To its credit this isn't a glib, feel-good movie—but on the other hand it's painfully difficult to watch. Panavision. [PG-13]

Solomon and Gaenor (1999-British) C-100m. ½ D: Paul Morrison. Ioan Gruffudd, Nia Roberts, Sue Jones-Davies, William Thomas, Mark Lewis Jones, Maureen Lipman, David Horovitch. Heartfelt, albeit predictable, Romeo and Juliet-style love story, set in poverty-stricken 1911 Wales, about a forbidden romance between Roberts, the offspring of rigid churchgoers, and Gruffudd, a Jewish fabric peddler who hides his religion from his lover and her clan. [R] ▼ ▽

Solomon and Sheba (1959) C-120m.  D: King Vidor. Yul Brynner, Gina Lollobrigida, George Sanders, Marisa Pavan, John Crawford, Alejandro Rey, Harry An-

draws. Splashy spectacle with alluring Gina and stoic Brynner frolicking in biblical days. Tyrone Power died during filming in Spain, was replaced by Brynner who re-filmed Power's early scenes. Some long shots still show Power, not Brynner. Vidor's final film as director. Restored to 139m. on laserdisc. Super Technirama 70. ▼●●

So Long at the Fair (1950-British) 90m.  D: Terence Fisher, Anthony Darnborough. Jean Simmons, Dirk Bogarde, David Tomlinson, Honor Blackman, Cathleen Nesbitt, Felix Aylmer, Andre Morell, Betty Warren. Atmospheric drama set during 1889 Paris Exposition with English woman searching for brother who's mysteriously vanished. Worth a look for fans of the offbeat.

Somebody Killed Her Husband (1978) C-97m. *½ D: Lamont Johnson. Farrah Fawcett-Majors, Jeff Bridges, John Wood, Tammy Grimes, John Glover, Patricia Elliott. First starring feature for the ex-Charlie's Angel was redubbed "Somebody Killed Her Career" by industry wags, but in any case, this tepid comedy-mystery-romance written by Reginald Rose has little to recommend it. Filmed in Manhattan. [PG]

Somebody to Love (1995-French) C-103m. ½ D: Alexandre Rockwell. Rosie Perez, Harvey Keitel, Anthony Quinn, Michael DeLorenzo, Steve Buscemi, Samuel Fuller, Stanley Tucci, Steven Randazzo, Sam Rockwell. Occasionally inspired but mostly meandering slice-of-life with Perez giving her all as a spirited taxi dancer who has moved from Brooklyn to L.A. in the hope of making it big in showbiz. Keitel is her middle-aged has-been actor/lover, DeLorenzo the young man who falls for her and tries to impress her by becoming involved with mobster Quinn. Buscemi is outstanding as a transvestite taxi dancer. Watch for Quentin Tarantino as a bartender, Lelia Goldoni as a waitress. [R] ▼●●

Somebody Up There Likes Me (1956) 113m. ½ D: Robert Wise. Paul Newman, Pier Angeli, Everett Sloane, Eileen Heckart, Sal Mineo, Joseph Buloff, Robert Loggia, Steve McQueen. Top biography of boxer Rocky Graziano's rise from N.Y.C. sidewalks to arena success with fine performance by Newman. Script by Ernest Lehman; cinematographer Joseph Ruttenberg won an Oscar. Film debut of Loggia. Title song sung by Perry Como. ▼●●

Some Call It Loving (1973) C-103m. BOMB D: James B. Harris. Zalman King, Carol White, Tisa Farrow, Richard Pryor. Slow, pretentious fantasy transplanting the story of Sleeping Beauty (played by Farrow, Mia's younger sister) to modern California. As her Prince Charming, King gives a sleepwalking nonperformance. Pryor's

vulgar turn as a pathetic graffiti artist/wino clashes with the rest of the picture. [R]▼

Some Came Running (1958) C-136m.  D: Vincente Minnelli. Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Shirley MacLaine, Martha Hyer, Arthur Kennedy, Nancy Gates. Slick adaptation of James Jones' novel about disillusionment in a small midwestern town in the late 1940s; more character study than narrative. MacLaine is especially good as luckless floozy who's stuck on Sinatra; Elmer Bernstein's music score also a standout. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Some Girls (1988) C-94m.  D: Michael Hoffman. Patrick Dempsey, Jennifer Connelly, Sheila Kelley, Andre Gregory, Florinda Bolkan, Lila Kedrova. Odd little comedy about American college student Dempsey and the various complications when he spends Christmas in Quebec City with girlfriend Connelly's family. Gregory rises above the material as Connelly's eccentric father. [R]▼●

Some Girls Do (1969-British) C-93m. ½ D: Ralph Thomas. Richard Johnson, Daliah Lavi, Beba Loncar, Robert Morley, Sydney Rome, James Villiers. Brisk thriller involving Bulldog Drummond (played with a lack of dash by Johnson) vs. long-time archenemy Carl Peterson (Villiers), who is trying to sabotage Britain's supersonic plane plans. Morley is a delight as an eccentric teacher of high cuisine. Sequel to DEADLIER THAN THE MALE (1967). [G]

Some Kind of a Nut (1969) C-89m. BOMB D: Garson Kanin. Dick Van Dyke, Angie Dickinson, Rosemary Forsyth, Zohra Lampert, Elliott Reid, Pippa Scott. Banker Van Dyke loses his job when he grows a beard. Pathetic "contemporary" comedy dates more than Kanin's films of the '30s and '40s. [M/PG]

Some Kind of Hero (1982) C-97m.  D: Michael Pressman. Richard Pryor, Margot Kidder, Ray Sharkey, Ronny Cox, Lynne Moody, Olivia Cole, Paul Benjamin. Pryor rises above uneven, poorly directed comedy-drama about Vietnam veteran who's in for a few surprises when he returns home after six years as a POW. Based on a James Kirkwood novel. [R]▼●●

Some Kind of Wonderful (1987) C-93m. ½ D: Howard Deutch. Eric Stoltz, Lea Thompson, Mary Stuart Masterson, Craig Sheffer, John Ashton, Elias Koteas, Molly Hagan, Candace Cameron, Chynna Phillips, Scott Coffey. Adorable tomboy Master-son loves Stoltz, but it takes him the entire film to realize she is better for him than the flashier Thompson. Deutch and producer John Hughes have, in effect, done a sex-switch remake of their own PRETTY IN PINK; the OK result has strong performances by both female leads, and surprises by not making Thompson a snooty bitch. [PG-13]▼●●

Some Like It Hot (1939) 64m. ½ D: George Archainbaud. Bob Hope, Shirley Ross, Una Merkel, Gene Krupa, Richard Denning. Sideshow owner Hope takes advantage of Ross to raise money for show. Airy comedy includes song "The Lady's In Love With You." Retitled RHYTHM ROMANCE; based on a play previously filmed (in 1934) as SHOOT THE WORKS. ▼

Some Like It Hot (1959) 119m. * D: Billy Wilder. Jack Lemmon, Tony Curtis, Marilyn Monroe, Joe E. Brown, George Raft, Pat O'Brien, Nehemiah Persoff, Joan Shawlee, Mike Mazurki. Legendary comedy by Wilder and I.A.L. Diamond about two musicians who witness the St. Valentine's Day Massacre and try to elude their pursuers by joining an all-girl band heading for Miami. Sensational from start to finish, with dazzling performances by Lemmon and Curtis, a memorably comic turn by Monroe as Sugar Kane, and Oscar-winning costumes by Orry-Kelly. Brown has film's now-classic closing line. Based on a 1935 French movie, FANFARE D'AMOUR. Basis for hit Broadway musical Sugar. ▼●●

Some May Live (1967) 105m.  D: Vernon Sewell. Joseph Cotten, Martha Hyer, Peter Cushing, John Ronane. Unexciting suspenser set in contemporary Saigon with Cotten a U.S. Intelligence officer setting a trap for the espionage agent within his department. Retitled: IN SAIGON, SOME MAY LIVE.

Some Mother's Son (1996-U.S.-British-Irish) C-112m. ½ D: Terry George. Helen Mirren, Fionnula Flanagan, Aidan Gillen, David O'Hara, John Lynch, Tim Woodward. Respectable but muted true-life story about a hunger strike staged by a jailed IRA member in the early 1980s, with Mirren a prisoner's mom who becomes involved in the struggle upon realizing that she doesn't really have a choice. No match for IN THE NAME OF THE FATHER, which treated comparable subject matter far more passionately. Coproduced by Jim Sheridan; associate-produced by Mirren. [R]▼●

Someone Behind the Door (1971-French) C-97m.  D: Nicolas Gessner. Charles Bronson, Anthony Perkins, Jill Ireland, Henri Garcin, Adriano Magestretti. Neuro-psychiatrist (Perkins) turns an amnesiac murderer (Bronson) into his tool for revenge on his philandering wife; farfetched melodrama. [PG]▼●●

Someone Else's America (1996-British-French) C-96m. ½ D: Goran Paskaljevic. Tom Conti, Maria Casares, Miki Manojlovic, Sergei Trifunovic, Zorka Manojlovic. Spanish immigrant moves his blind mother to Brooklyn in hopes of pursuing the American dream. His efforts to make it in the Land of the Free are often amusing, and well observed by Belgrade-born Paskal-jevic. Slight but charming character study that speaks a universal language. Casares is well remembered for such earlier films as ORPHEUS and THE TESTAMENT OF ORPHEUS. [R]▼

Someone Like You (2001) C-97m.  D: Tony Goldwyn. Ashley Judd, Hugh Jackman, Greg Kinnear, Marisa Tomei, Ellen Barkin, Catherine Dent, Peter Friedman. Dumped by her coworker boyfriend (Kinnear), a TV talent booker (Judd) becomes obsessed with her own "new cow theory," that men leave women like bulls go through herds of cows. She's so consumed she doesn't realize she's falling for her hunky roommate (Jackman). Starts brightly with appealing performances but quickly turns formulaic, leading to a lame finale. Based on the novel Animal Husbandry by Laura Zigman. Blink and you'll miss a cameo by Ashley's mom, Naomi Judd, as a makeup artist. [PG-13]▼

Someone to Love (1987) C-111m. ½ D: Henry Jaglom. Henry Jaglom, Andrea Marcovicci, Sally Kellerman, Orson Welles, Michael Emil, Oja Kodar, Dave Frishberg, Stephen Bishop, Ronce Blakley, Kathryn Harrold, Monte Hellman, Jeremy Kagan, Miles Kreuger. Jaglom is Danny, a filmmaker who's seeking "someone to love." He throws a Valentine's Day party where he questions various friends on the subject . . . and films their responses. Welles, in his last screen appearance, is on hand to offer various insights and profundities, and they're the best thing in this alternately boring and interesting experiment. [R]▼●●

Someone to Watch Over Me (1987) C-106m.  D: Ridley Scott. Tom Berenger, Mimi Rogers, Lorraine Bracco, Jerry Orbach, John Rubinstein, Andreas Katsulas, Tony DiBenedetto, James Moriarty. Happily married N.Y.C. cop becomes infatuated with the wealthy and beautiful woman he's assigned to protect from a death threat. Solid romantic thriller, compassionately and believably told; director Scott's warmest film to date (and just as stylish as ever). [R]▼●●

Somersault (2004-Australian) C-106m.  D: Cate Shortland. Abbie Cornish, Sam Worthington, Lynette Curran, Nathaniel Dean, Erik Thomson, Leah Purcell, Hollie Andrew, Olivia Pigeot. Raw, razor-sharp drama depicting the plight of an alluring adolescent runaway (Cornish), a child in a woman's body who is lusted after by men, though too young and inexperienced to be aware of her sexual power. Impressive debut feature for writer-director Shortland, with Cornish offering a vivid, award-caliber performance.●

something big (1971) C-108m. BOMB D: Andrew V. McLaglen. Dean Martin, Brian Keith, Honor Blackman, Carol White, Ben Johnson, Albert Salmi, Paul Fix, Denver Pyle. Repellent "comedy"-Western detailing long-running feud between outlaw Martin and cavalry colonel Keith; "happy ending" consists of Dino robbing a stagecoach and mowing down hundreds of Mexicans with a gatling gun—all to a peppy Marvin Hamlisch score. Bleech. [PG]

Something for Everyone (1970) C-112m. ½ D: Harold Prince. Angela Lansbury, Michael York, Anthony Corlan, Heidelinde Weis, Eva-Maria Meineke, Jane Carr. Very black comedy about amoral, bisexual young man (York) who manipulates staff and family of impoverished Countess (Lansbury) to his advantage. Intriguing but needlessly protracted story; Broadway director Prince's first film, made in Bavaria. [R]▼

Something for the Birds (1952) 81m. ½ D: Robert Wise. Patricia Neal, Victor Mature, Edmund Gwenn, Larry Keating. Mild romantic froth, with Mature and Neal on opposite sides of issue in lobbying for bird sanctuary protection.

Something in the Wind (1947) 89m. ½ D: Irving Pichel. Deanna Durbin, Donald O'Connor, Charles Winninger, Helena Carter. Mild comedy of errors with Durbin as female disk jockey who sings, too. Easy to take, amusing.▼●

Something Is Out There SEE: Day of the Animals

Something New (2006) C-99m.  D: Sanaa Hamri. Sanaa Lathan, Simon Baker, Mike Epps, Donald Faison, Blair Underwood, Wendy Raquel Robinson, Alfre Woodard, Golden Brooks, Taraji P. Henson, Earl Billings, John Ratzenberger. Hard-working black career woman finds herself attracted to a white landscape architect—in spite of her better judgment and the disapproval of friends and family. Veteran TV writer-producer Kriss Turner offers a fresh take on romantic comedy and prejudice, presenting an honest picture of successful blacks who still have battles to fight on a daily basis. Pokes fun at stereotyping on both sides of the racial fence. Lathan and Baker couldn't be more appealing. [PG-13]●

Something of Value (1957) 113m.  D: Richard Brooks. Rock Hudson, Dana Wynter, Sidney Poitier, Wendy Hiller, Fredrick O'Neal. Robert Ruark's novel transformed to screen, sharply detailing brutal Mau Mau warfare in Kenya. Hudson and Poitier are fine as British colonial farmer and his childhood friend; Hiller memorable as widow struggling to retain dignity and spirit.▼●

Something's Gotta Give (2003) C-128m.  D: Nancy Meyers. Jack Nicholson, Diane Keaton, Keanu Reeves, Frances McDormand, Amanda Peet, Jon Favreau, Paul Michael Glaser, Rachel Ticotin. A self-styled Lothario with a penchant for younger women heads to his current girlfriend's weekend home, only to find her mother there; to his own amazement, he finds himself attracted to

her, even as she is pursued by a much younger man. Entertaining comedy for (and about) grown-ups with delightful performances by the two leads. Written by the director. Stay through the credits to hear Jack sing "La Vie en Rose." [PG-13] ▼

Something Short of Paradise (1979) C-91m.  D: David Helpern, Jr. Susan Sarandon, David Steinberg, Jean-Pierre Aumont, Marilyn Sokol, Joe Grifasi, Robert Hitt. Aptly titled romantic comedy pairs movie theater manager Steinberg and magazine writer Sarandon, but offers little; Steinberg's character is particularly obnoxious in this blatant ANNIE HALL rip-off. Film buffs will enjoy main-title sequence comprised of old movie ads. [PG] ▼

Something Special (1986) C-93m.  D: Paul Schneider. Pamela Segall, Patty Duke, Eric Gurry, John Glover, Mary Tanner, Seth Green, Jeb Ellis-Brown, John David Cullum, Corey Parker. Cute, original, generally pleasing little comedy-drama-fantasy about a 14-year-old girl (Segall, in a spunky performance) who wants to become a male—and has her wish granted. Bogs down when the adults are around, but it's still perfect fare for older kids. A shorter version, with tamer language, runs 86m. Original title: WILLY MILLY. Aka I WAS A TEENAGE BOY. [PG-13] ▼

Something to Hide (1972-British) C-100m. *½ D: Alastair Reid. Peter Finch, Shelley Winters, Colin Blakely, Linda Hayden, John Stride. All-out marital fighting match between memorably overwrought Winters and Finch deteriorates into unconvincing melodrama concerning pregnant trollop Hayden and Finch's eventual mental breakdown. Unpleasant. Retitled: SHATTERED. ▼

Something to Live For (1952) 89m. ½ D: George Stevens. Joan Fontaine, Ray Milland, Teresa Wright, Douglas Dick, Rudy Lee. Turgid melodrama trying to be another THE LOST WEEKEND. Fontaine is alcoholic in love with Milland, but he's married.

Something to Sing About (1937) 93m.  D: Victor Schertzinger. James Cagney, Evelyn Daw, William Frawley, Mona Barrie, Gene Lockhart. Low-budget musical doesn't live up to its title, with Cagney the only real asset in this lightweight story of a N.Y. bandleader who goes to Hollywood. Forgettable songs. Reissued at 82m. as BATTLING HOOFER. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Something to Talk About (1995) C-106m. ½ D: Lasse Hallström. Julia Roberts, Dennis Quaid, Robert Duvall, Gena Rowlands, Kyra Sedgwick, Brett Cullen, Haley Aull, Muse Watson, Anne Shropshire. A somewhat scattered Southern woman discovers her husband is playing around and tries to cut him off, but strong ties—and

his involvement in the family business (a prosperous horse farm)—make it hard to do. The cast is amiable, the film is good looking, but Callie Khouri's screenplay is unfocused and never gives us a handle on Roberts' character. Sedgwick gets a license to steal (scenes, that is), with all the funniest lines in the picture. David Huddleston appears unbilled. [R] ▼

Something Wicked This Way Comes (1983) C-94m. ½ D: Jack Clayton. Jason Robards, Jonathan Pryce, Diane Ladd, Pam Grier, Royal Dano, Shawn Carson, Vidal Peterson, Mary Grace Canfield, James Stacy; narrated by Arthur Hill. A mysterious carnival pitches its tent outside an idyllic American town in the early part of the century and fulfills the dreams of its citizens—for a heavy price. Told from a young boy's point of view, film has affecting moments, but never really hits its stride, with the ultimate "revelation" about Mr. Dark and his carnival no surprise at all. Disappointing Disney production of Ray Bradbury's classic story, scripted by the author. [PG] ▼

Something Wild (1961) 112m. ½ D: Jack Garfein. Carroll Baker, Ralph Meeker, Mildred Dunnock, Martin Kosleck, Jean Stapleton. Bizarre study of rape victim Baker falling in love with would-be attacker Meeker, coming to rational understanding with mother Dunnock. N.Y.C. location scenes perk melodramatic soap.

Something Wild (1986) C-113m.  D: Jonathan Demme. Jeff Daniels, Melanie Griffith, Ray Liotta, Margaret Colin, Tracey Walter, Dana Preu, Jack Gilpin. Straight-arrow businessman Daniels goes for a joyride with a flaky, sexy girl he chances to meet, and in the course of a couple of days she turns his life inside out. Many surprising twists and turns as this film veers from kooky comedy to violent melodrama, but end result isn't satisfying, especially with tacked-on happy ending. Filmmakers John Waters and John Sayles have amusing cameos as a used-car salesman and a motorcycle cop, respectively. [R] ▼

Sometimes a Great Notion (1971) C-114m.  D: Paul Newman. Paul Newman, Henry Fonda, Lee Remick, Michael Sarrazin, Richard Jaeckel, Linda Lawson. Disappointing film version of Ken Kesey's mammoth novel about modern-day loggers in Oregon. Jaeckel's performance is outstanding and movie has one great scene involving a drowning, but otherwise film is a letdown. Retitled NEVER GIVE A INCH (the family's motto) for TV. Panavision. [PG] ▼

Somewhere I'll Find You (1942) 108m. ½ D: Wesley Ruggles. Clark Gable, Lana Turner, Robert Sterling, Patricia Dane, Reginald Owen, Lee Patrick, Charles Dingle, Sara Haden, Rags Ragland, Van Johnson, Leonid Kinskey, Grady Sutton, Keye Luke. Turner and Gable are improbable as WW2 war correspondents, but their love scenes between battles are most convincing. Film debut of Keenan Wynn. ▼

Somewhere in the Night (1946) 108m.

½ D: Joseph L. Mankiewicz. John Hodiak, Nancy Guild, Lloyd Nolan, Richard Conte, Josephine Hutchinson, Fritz Kortner, Sheldon Leonard, Whit Bissell, Jeff Corey, Henry (Harry) Morgan. Satisfactory drama of amnesiac Hodiak trying to discover his true identity and getting mixed up with mobsters and murder; not up to later Mankiewicz efforts. ▶

Somewhere in Time (1980) C-103m. *½

D: Jeannot Szwarc. Christopher Reeve, Jane Seymour, Christopher Plummer, Teresa Wright, Bill Erwin, George Voskovec, Tim Kazurinsky, W. (William) H. Macy, George Wendt. Superficial tearjerker about unhappy playwright Reeve who falls in love with a 70-year-old photograph of an actress (Seymour), then wills himself back in time to meet her. Stilted dialogue, corny situations, pretty scenery (on Mackinac Island). Script by Richard Matheson from his novel Bid Time Return. [PG] ▼●●

Somewhere Tomorrow (1983) C-87m.

 D: Robert Wiemer. Sarah Jessica Parker, Nancy Addison, Tom Shea, Rick Weber, Paul Bates, James Congdon. Offbeat drama about fatherless teen who, after seeing TOPPER on TV and bumping her head, meets the ghost of a boy who's been killed in a plane crash. Not without flaws, but still charming and moving. [PG] ▼

Sommersby (1993-U.S.-French) C-113m.

½ D: Jon Amiel. Richard Gere, Jodie Foster, Bill Pullman, James Earl Jones, William Windom, Brett Kelley, Richard Hamilton, Maury Chaykin, Lanny Flaherty, Frankie Faison, Wendell Wellman, Clarice Taylor, Ronald Lee Erney. Gere returns to his home in the postwar South, after six years' imprisonment during the Civil War, but his wife can't quite believe he's the same man she married. Sumptuously designed and photographed (in Virginia), this is the kind of film that takes you to another time and place, but despite strong performances, the characters remain aloof—and so does their plight. Executive produced by Gere. Remake of the French hit THE RETURN OF MARTIN GUERRE. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●●

Son, The (2002-Belgian-French) C-100m.

½ D: Jean-Pierre Dardenne, Luc Dardenne. Olivier Gourmet, Morgan Marinne, Isabella Soupart, Rémy Renaud, Nassim Hassani. Quiet, methodical man teaches carpentry to boys who have just been released from prison or reform school, but he takes special interest in one teenager. The reason is revealed to us gradually, like everything else in this exceptional film. A powerful study of repressed emotions and the reality behind pent-up thoughts of revenge and closure. The Dardennes make brilliant use of handheld camera and natural locations to give the film a tangible sense of reality; naturalistic performances complete the picture. ▼

Sonatine (1994-Japanese) C-94m.  D:

Takeshi Kitano. Beat Takeshi, Tetsu Watanabe, Aya Kokumai, Masanobu Katsumura, Susumu Terashima. Well-observed portrait of a middle-aged gangster who's looking to his future when he's asked to settle a dispute between two warring factions of yakuza on Okinawa. Writer-director-star Kitano (who acts under the name of Beat Takeshi) isn't timid about depicting violence, but he does it with style. [R] ▼●●

Songcatcher (2001) C-105m. * D:

Maggie Greenwald. Janet McTeer, Aidan Quinn, Pat Carroll, Jane Adams, Gregory Cook, Iris DeMent, E. Katherine Kerr, Emmy Rossum, David Patrick Kelly, Taj Mahal. Beautifully rendered tale of an independent-minded musicologist (McTeer) who collects folk songs in Appalachia in the early 20th century. Carroll is wonderful as the earth mother. Written by the director. [PG-13] ▼

Song for Martin, A (2001-Danish-German-Swedish) C-118m. ½ D: Bille August. Sven Wollter, Viveka Seldahl, Reine Brynolfsson, Linda Källgren, Lisa Werlinder, Peter Engman, Klas Dahlstedt, Lo Wahl, Kristina Törnqvist. A woman begins a new life when she marries a famous composer, then struggles as he succumbs to Alzheimer's disease. Sensitive drama with fine performances, but also a long, diligent haul to a foregone conclusion with the inescapable effect of a TV movie. ▼

Song Is Born, A (1948) C-113m. ½ D:

Howard Hawks. Danny Kaye, Virginia Mayo, Hugh Herbert, Steve Cochran, Felix Bressart; guest stars Benny Goodman, Louis Armstrong, Charlie Barnet, Lionel Hampton, Tommy Dorsey. A group of dowdy intellectuals need to learn about jazz to write an intelligent entry for their upcoming encyclopedia. Watered-down remake of BALL OF FIRE (also directed by Hawks) does give Danny some good material, and enables a formidable array of jazz greats to do their stuff (including Benny Goodman, made up as one of the bookish pros). ▼●

Song of Bernadette, The (1943) 156m.

* D: Henry King. Jennifer Jones, William Eythe, Charles Bickford, Vincent Price, Lee J. Cobb, Anne Revere, Gladys Cooper. Overlong but excellent story of religious French girl in 1800s who sees great vision, incurs local wrath because of it. George Seaton adapted Franz Werfel's best-selling novel. Four Oscars include Best Actress, Cinematography (Arthur Miller), Score (Alfred Newman). That's Linda Darnell, unbilled, as the Virgin Mary. ▼●●

Song of Love (1947) 119m. ½ D: Clarence Brown. Katharine Hepburn, Paul Henreid, Robert Walker, Henry Daniell, Leo G. Carroll, Gigi Perreau, Tala Birell, Henry Stephenson. Classy production but slow-moving story of Clara Schuman (Hepburn), her composer husband (Henreid), and good friend Brahms (Walker). ▼

Song of Norway (1970) C-142m. BOMB D: Andrew L. Stone. Florence Henderson, Toralv Maurstad, Christina Schollin, Frank Porretta, Edward G. Robinson, Harry Secombe, Robert Morley, Oscar Homolka. A poor biography of composer Edvard Grieg, with weak and abridged versions of his best music. Beautiful to look at, but a dud. Super Panavision 70. [G] ▼

Song of Songs, The (1933) 90m. ½ D: Rouben Mamoulian. Marlene Dietrich, Brian Aherne, Lionel Atwill, Alison Skipworth, Hardie Albright, Helen Freeman. Naïve country girl Dietrich falls in love with sculptor Aherne, for whom she poses in the nude . . . but Atwill, a wealthy reprobate, manages to marry her. Humdrum story made worthwhile by good performances. Dietrich is luminous in her first Hollywood film not directed by Josef von Sternberg. ▼

Song of the Islands (1942) C-75m.  D: Walter Lang. Betty Grable, Victor Mature, Jack Oakie, Thomas Mitchell, Hilo Hattie, George Barbier, Billy Gilbert. Mature (with sidekick Oakie) visits idyllic Pacific island and falls in love with Grable, but romance is hindered by feuding between their fathers. Buoyant Technicolor fluff, full of engagingly silly songs by Mack Gordon and Harry Owens. ▼●

Song of the South (1946) C-94m. ½ D: Wilfred Jackson (animation), Harve Foster (live-action). Ruth Warrick, James Baskett, Bobby Driscoll, Luana Patten, Lucile Watson, Hattie McDaniel, Glenn Leedy. Lonely, misunderstood little boy, living on a plantation in the Old South, finds his only happiness in the tales spun by Uncle Remus. Sentimental but moving story serves as framework for three terrific Disney cartoon sequences featuring Brer Rabbit, Brer Fox, and Brer Bear (based on writings of Joel Chandler Harris). Superb blend of live-action and animation, sincere performances (Baskett earned a special Academy Award for his), and tuneful songs including Oscar-winning "Zip a Dee Doo Dah" make this a treat. Available only on Japanese import laserdisc. ●

Song of the Thin Man (1947) 86m. ½ D: Edward Buzzell. William Powell, Myrna Loy, Keenan Wynn, Dean Stockwell, Philip Reed, Patricia Morison, Gloria Grahame, Jayne Meadows, Don Taylor, Leon Ames. Nick and Nora search for clues to a murder in the dark and mysterious atmosphere of N.Y.C. jazz clubs. Eleven-year-old Stockwell portrays Nick, Jr., in this sixth and final

series entry, still amiable and entertaining thanks to the stars' chemistry. ▼●●

Song Remains the Same, The (1976) C-136m.  D: Peter Clifton, Joe Massot. Amateurish mixture of fantasy sequences and documentary footage from Led Zeppelin's 1973 tour is for fans only. Even without the stereo sound, film will still clean out all eight sinus cavities. [PG] ▼●

Song to Remember, A (1945) C-113m. ½ D: Charles Vidor. Cornel Wilde, Paul Muni, Merle Oberon, Stephen Bekassy, Nina Foch, George Coulouris, Sig Arno. Colorful but superficial biography of Chopin (Wilde) with exaggerated Muni as his mentor, lovely Oberon as George Sand; good music, frail plot. ▼●

Song Without End (1960) C-141m. ½ D: Charles Vidor, George Cukor. Dirk Bogarde, Capucine, Genevieve Page, Patricia Morison, Ivan Desny, Martita Hunt, Lou Jacobi. Beautiful music (scoring won an Oscar) submerged by dramatics of composer Franz Liszt's life. Bogarde tries; settings are lavish. Vidor died during filming, Cukor completed picture. CinemaScope. ▼●

Songwriter (1984) C-94m. ½ D: Alan Rudolph. Willie Nelson, Kris Kristofferson, Melinda Dillon, Rip Torn, Lesley Ann Warren, Mickey Raphael, Rhonda Dotson, Richard C. Sarafian. Loose, friendly, rambling film about a couple of country singers—one of whom (Nelson) has become an entrepreneur but calls on his old partner Kris to help him outwit a greedy backer (played by film director Sarafian). Doesn't add up to much but certainly pleasant to watch, with top supporting cast and lots of music. [R] ▼●●

Son In Law (1993) C-95m.  D: Steve Rash. Pauly Shore, Carla Gugino, Lane Smith, Cindy Pickett, Mason Adams, Patrick Renna, Dennis Burkley, Dan Gauthier. Liberated college freshman brings her dorm's biggest goof home to the family farm over Thanksgiving break, passing him off as her fiancé to discourage a hometown lout from proposing. Exactly what you would expect, even more so when Shore teaches square-dancers the funky chicken. Even on his best days Pauly Shore is an acquired taste, but at least the film isn't mean-spirited. Gugino has an infectious cackle. Brendan Fraser appears unbilled. [PG-13] ▼●●

Sonny (2002) C-110m. ½ D: Nicolas Cage. James Franco, Brenda Blethyn, Mena Suvari, Harry Dean Stanton, Scott Caan, Seymour Cassel, Brenda Vaccaro. Just out of the army and looking for work, Franco's Sonny is reluctant to return to mom Blethyn's family business: working out of a New Orleans brothel. But though he fancies recent live-in Suvari, his natural talent as a male stud is too impressive to ignore . . .

especially when so many other doors are slammed in his face. Overheated but compelling Southern Gothic tale gives Stanton his best role in years as a mysterious, melancholy hang-around friend, and Vaccaro a variation on her role in MIDNIGHT COWBOY. Look for a semi-disguised Cage in one late barroom scene. This marks the actor's feature directing debut. [R] ▼

Sonny and Jed (1973-Italian) C-98m.  D: Sergio Corbucci. Tomas Milian, Telly Savalas, Susan George, Rosanna Janni, Laura Betti. Lighthearted spaghetti Western that teams escaped convict, pillaging his way across Mexico, with free-spirited gal who wants to be an outlaw. Shiny-domed Telly is determined lawman dogging their every move. Techniscope. [R] ▼

Sonny Boy (1990) C-98m. BOMB D: Robert Martin Carroll. David Carradine, Paul L. Smith, Brad Dourif, Conrad Janis, Sydney Lassick, Alexandra Powers, Michael Griffin. Repulsive, socially unredeemable waste of celluloid detailing gruesome up-bringing of abused "sonny boy" who's kidnapped by wacko couple Smith and his "wife" Carradine (who plays the role in full drag). Filmed for no apparent reason except to offend and appall. Panavision. [R] ▼

Son of a Gunfighter (1966-Spanish) C-92m. *½ D: Paul Landres. Russ Tamblyn, Kieron Moore, James Philbrook, Fernando Rey. Title tells all in oater peppered with Anglo-Saxon actors and bits of the Old West. CinemaScope.

Son of Blob SEE: Beware! The Blob

Son of Captain Blood, The (1962-U.S.-Italian-Spanish) C-88m. *½ D: Tulio Demicheli. Sean Flynn, Ann Todd, Alessandra Panaro, Jose Nieto, John Kitzmiller. Interesting only in that Errol Flynn's 23-year-old son plays the son of the character Errol portrayed in CAPTAIN BLOOD. Ann Todd sparkles as the lad's mother (Olivia de Havilland's character in the original). Otherwise, routine. Filmed in Spain, from a screenplay by Casey Robinson (who also penned the 1935 CAPTAIN BLOOD). CinemaScope. ▼

Son of Darkness: To Die For II (1991) C-95m.  D: David F. Price. Rosalind Allen, Michael Praed, Scott Jacoby, Steve Bond, Amanda Wyss, Remy O'Neill, Devin Corrie Sims. Busy plot: Vlad Tepesh is now Dr. Max Schreck, at a hospital in the mountains, in pursuit of heroine who has unknowingly adopted his half-vampire baby. Beautifully shot, and tries to be romantic—but it's routine. [R] ▼

Son of Dracula (1943) 78m.  D: Robert Siodmak. Lon Chaney, Jr., Robert Paige, Louise Allbritton, Evelyn Ankers, Frank Craven, J. Edward Bromberg, Samuel S. Hinds. Mysterious gentleman named Alucard turns up in the Deep South to sample the local cuisine. One of Universal's most atmospheric

chillers, with crisp acting, fine effects . . . and an unexpected finale. ▼

Son of Dracula (1974-British) C-90m. *½ D: Freddie Francis. Harry Nilsson, Ringo Starr, Rosanna Lee, Freddie Jones, Dennis Price, Skip Martin. Offbeat but uninspired rock horror pic with seven tunes by Nilsson, who plays the title character. Ringo produced. Retitled: YOUNG DRACULA. [PG]

Son of Flubber (1963) 100m. ½ D: Robert Stevenson. Fred MacMurray, Nancy Olson, Keenan Wynn, Tommy Kirk, Elliott Reid, Joanna Moore, Leon Ames, Ed Wynn, Charlie Ruggles, Paul Lynde, Jack Albertson. Silly, disjointed sequel to THE ABSENT MINDED PROFESSOR has new inventions—flubbergas, dry rain—and appropriate slapstick highlights, to compensate for uneven script. Helped, too, by cast full of old pros, especially Lynde as smug sportscaster. ▼

Son of Frankenstein (1939) 99m.  D: Rowland V. Lee. Basil Rathbone, Boris Karloff, Bela Lugosi, Lionel Atwill, Josephine Hutchinson, Edgar Norton, Donnie Dunagan. Third in the series (after BRIDE) finds late doctor's son attempting to clear family name by making the Monster "good." He should live so long. Lavishly made shocker is gripping and eerie, if a bit talky, with wonderfully bizarre sets by Jack Otterson and Lugosi's finest performance as evil, broken-necked blacksmith Ygor. Karloff's last appearance as the Monster. Look fast for Ward Bond(!) as a constable guarding Castle Frankenstein from angry villagers late in film. Sequel: THE GHOST OF FRANKENSTEIN. ▼

Son of Fury (1942) 98m.  D: John Cromwell. Tyrone Power, Gene Tierney, George Sanders, Frances Farmer, Roddy McDowall, Kay Johnson, John Carradine, Elsa Lanchester, Harry Davenport, Dudley Digges, Ethel Griffies. Good costumer about aristocratic Sanders abusing nephew Power, who flees to desert isle to plan revenge; Tierney's on the island, too. Remade as TREASURE OF THE GOLDEN CONDOR. ▼

Son of Godzilla (1967-Japanese) C-86m. *½ D: Jun Fukuda. Tadao Takashima, Akira Kubo, Bibari Maeda, Akihiko Hirata, Kenji Sahara. Godzilla and son are threatened by giant mantises and a huge spider in this good-natured monster rally, but where's Mrs. Godzilla when you really need her? Some of the same footage later seen in GODZILLA'S REVENGE. Tohoscope. ▼

Son of Kong, The (1933) 70m. ½ D: Ernest B. Schoedsack. Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack, Victor Wong, John Marston, Frank Reicher, Lee Kohlmar. Disappointing sequel to KING KONG, hurriedly put together—and it shows. Armstrong is back as Carl Denham, who retraces his steps

from the first film and discovers Kong's cute li'l offspring. Mostly comedic film has some good moments, and Willis O'Brien's effects are still superb. ▼●●

Son of Lassie (1945) C-102m. ½ D: S. Sylvan Simon. Peter Lawford, Donald Crisp, June Lockhart, Nigel Bruce, William Severn, Leon Ames, Fay Helm, Donald Curtis, Nils Asther, Helen Koford (Terry Moore). War-themed sequel to popular LASSIE COME HOME with Lawford and Lockhart playing adult roles of McDowall and Taylor. Crisp and Bruce are now training dogs for the war effort and Lassie's son (both roles played here by talented collie Pal) accompanies pilot Lawford to Nazi-occupied Norway. ▼

Son of Monte Cristo, The (1940) 102m.  D: Rowland V. Lee. Louis Hayward, Joan Bennett, George Sanders, Florence Bates, Lionel Royce, Montagu Love, Clayton Moore. Nothing new in big-scale swashbuckler, but very well done with Hayward battling Sanders and vying for Bennett's hand. ▼●●

Son of Paleface (1952) C-95m. ½ D: Frank Tashlin. Bob Hope, Jane Russell, Roy Rogers, Douglass Dumbrille, Bill Williams, Harry Von Zell, Iron Eyes Cody. One of Hope's best; same basic set-up as THE PALEFACE, but the presence of Rogers gives this one a satirical punch the original doesn't have. Full of director-cowriter Tashlin's cartoonlike gags; the scene where Hope and Trigger share the same bed is an unheralded comedy classic. ▼●●

Son of Rambow (2008-British-French) C-95m.  D: Garth Jennings. Bill Milner, Will Poulter, Jules Sitruk, Jessica Stevenson, Neil Dudgeon, Ed Westwick. The setting is England in the early 1980s. A lonely, fatherless boy (Milner) whose family is part of a strict religious sect finds an exhilarating outlet for his vivid imagination: making home movies with an unlikely new friend, a cheeky miscreant (Poulter) who happens to have a video camera. Together they emulate the adventures of Sylvester Stallone's Rambo character from FIRST BLOOD. Endearingly eccentric view of the pain and wonder of boyhood from the Hammer & Tongs production team, with a larky music score by Joby Talbot. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

Son of Satan SEE: Whip and the Body, The

Son of Sinbad (1955) C-88m. *½ D: Ted Tetzlaff. Dale Robertson, Sally Forrest, Lili St. Cyr, Vincent Price. Limp Arabian Nights adventure has Sinbad, captured by caliph, forced to perform wonders to win freedom and save Baghdad from evil Tamerlane. Look fast for Kim Novak as one of the ladies garbed in full-length hooded capes. SuperScope. ▼

Son of Spartacus SEE: Slave, The

Son of the Bride (2001-Argentinian-Spanish) C-124m.  D: Juan José Campanella. Ricardo Darín, Héctor Alterio, Norma Aleandro, Eduardo Blanco, Natalia Verbeke, Gimena Nóbile. Health crisis forces fortyish man to deal with the past and face his future in a new, mature way he once never dreamed possible. Sophisticated, warm, funny and altogether engaging film puts a human focus on troubled Argentina in a manner audiences anywhere in the world can respond to. Touching film reunites THE OFFICIAL STORY's Aleandro and Alterio in a wedding that's hard to forget. Darín is splendid. Well worth seeing. [R] ▼

Son of the Mask (2005) C-95m. BOMB D: Lawrence Guterman. Jamie Kennedy, Alan Cumming, Bob Hoskins, Ben Stein, Traylor Howard, Steven Wright, Kal Penn. Kennedy isn't ready to be a father but conceives a baby anyway, wearing a supernatural mask. It, in turn, is coveted by a Norse god's son (Cumming, in another of his leftover Paul Reubens roles). The god himself is played by Hoskins, in layers of makeup, and by this time the creaks are louder than anything in THE SON OF THE SHEIK. So-called sequel to THE MASK (1994) is raucous without mercy, and burdened by a charmless cast; it has to plunder Chuck Jones' cartoon ONE FROGGY EVENING to glean even a few good moments. [PG] ▼

Son of the Pink Panther (1993) C-93m. *½ D: Blake Edwards. Roberto Benigni, Herbert Lom, Claudia Cardinale, Burt Kwouk, Debrah Farentino, Robert Davi, Graham Stark, Jennifer Edwards, Anton Rodgers. Feeble attempt to revive the series, with Benigni as the son of inept Inspector Clouseau, on the trail of a kidnapped princess (Farentino) with plenty of misfired sight gags along the way. Lom, Cardinale, Kwouk, and Stark reprise their roles from past entries, and Benigni's enthusiasm helps, but Peter Sellers is sorely missed. Opening animation/live-action credits with Bobby McFerrin's version of the Panther theme is best part of film. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Son of the Shark (1993-French) C-88m. ½ D: Agnes Merlet. Ludovic Vandendaele, Erick Da Silva, Sandrine Blancke, Maxime Leroux. Harrowing, sobering fact-based slice-of-life about two out-of-control pre-teen brothers (Vandendaele and Da Silva, in dazzling performances), who've been abandoned by their mother and abused by their father. One minute they are childlike, the next they are hoodlums who terrorize their hometown. They are neither romanticized nor depicted as villains or victims; the point is that there is no adult around to nurture their good instincts. A grimly realistic film, gutwrenching and heartbreaking. Panavision. ▼

Son of the Sheik, The (1926) 72m.  D: George Fitzmaurice. Rudolph Valentino, Vilma Banky, Agnes Ayres, Karl Dane, Bull Montana. Sequel to THE SHEIK contains flavorful account of desert leader who falls in love with dancing-girl Banky. Handsomely mounted silent film is first-rate adventure/romance, with tongue slightly in cheek. Valentino plays a dual role in this, his last film. ▼●●

Sons and Lovers (1960-British) 103m. ½ D: Jack Cardiff. Trevor Howard, Dean Stockwell, Wendy Hiller, Mary Ure, Heather Sears, William Lucas, Donald Pleasence, Ernest Thesiger. Grim D. H. Lawrence story of sensitive youth Stockwell egged on by mother to make something of his life, away from coalmining town and drunken father Howard. Script by Gavin Lambert and T.E.B. Clarke. Freddie Francis' rich cinematography won an Oscar. CinemaScope.

Sons of Katie Elder, The (1965) C-122m.  D: Henry Hathaway. John Wayne, Dean Martin, Martha Hyer, Michael Anderson, Jr., Earl Holliman, Jeremy Slate, James Gregory, George Kennedy, Paul Fix, Dennis Hopper, John Litel, Strother Martin. Typical Western with Duke, Holliman, Anderson, and Martin the rowdy sons of frontier woman Katie Elder, who set out to learn why she died broke. Film marked return to big screen for Wayne after first highly publicized cancer operation. Lively fun. Music score by Elmer Bernstein. Panavision. ▼●●

Sons of the Desert (1933) 69m. ½ D: William A. Seiter. Stan Laurel, Oliver Hardy, Charley Chase, Mae Busch, Dorothy Christy, Lucien Littlefield. L&H's best feature film; duo sneaks off to fraternal convention without telling the wives; then the fun begins, with Chase as hilariously obnoxious conventioneer. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Son's Room, The (2001-Italian-French) C-87m.  D: Nanni Moretti. Nanni Moretti, Laura Morante, Jasmine Trinca, Giuseppe Sanfelice, Silvio Orlando, Claudia Della Seta, Stefano Accorsi, Sofia Vigliar. Quietly moving examination of a family torn apart by sudden tragedy. Moretti plays a mild-mannered analyst whose well-ordered life threatens to crumble under the pressure. Subtle, perceptive, and moving. Moretti also coscripted. ▼

Sophie's Choice (1982) C-157m. ½ D: Alan J. Pakula. Meryl Streep, Kevin Kline, Peter MacNicol, Rita Karin, Stephen D. Newman, Josh Mostel; narrated by Josef Sommer. Streep's Oscar-winning performance is the centerpiece (and raison d'être) for this slavishly faithful, but deadeningly slow-moving, adaptation of William Styron's book about a Polish woman's attempt to justify her existence in America after surviving a living hell during WW2. Nestor Almendros' camera is in love with Streep, but her stunning characterization can't carry the film alone. [R] ▼●●

Sophie Scholl: The Final Days (2005-German) C-117m. ½ D: Marc Rothemund. Julia Jentsch, Fabian Hinrichs, Gerald

Alexander Held, Johanna Gastdorf, André Hennicke, Florian Stetter. Gripping true story set in 1943 Munich, based in part on newly discovered documents and testimonials. Siblings Hans and Sophie Scholl, members of the White Rose student resistance movement, are arrested after distributing anti-Nazi leaflets. Film follows Sophie's verbal sparring with a Gestapo interrogator intent on breaking her spirit . . . but Sophie is an intellectual of unusual poise. Impressive filmmaking, focusing on words and ideas, made more vivid by the spare, drab settings. Sophie's story has been told in other films, including THE WHITE ROSE. Written by Fred Breinersdorfer. ▼

Sophie's Place SEE: Crooks and Coronets So Proudly We Hail! (1943) 126m.  D: Mark Sandrich. Claudette Colbert, Paulette Goddard, Veronica Lake, George Reeves, Sonny Tufts, Barbara Britton, Walter Abel. Flag-waving soaper of nurses in WW2 Pacific, headed by Colbert. Versatile cast, action scenes and teary romancing combine well in this woman's service story. Dated but still entertaining. ▼

Sorcerer (1977) C-122m. ½ D: William Friedkin. Roy Scheider, Bruno Cremer, Francisco Rabal, Amidou, Ramon Bieri, Peter Capell. Four fugitives in seedy Latin American town try to buy freedom by driving trucks of nitroglycerine over bumpy roads to help put out oil fire. Expensive remake of THE WAGES OF FEAR never really catches hold in spite of a few astounding scenes. Strange electronic score by Tangerine Dream. [PG] ▼●●

Sorcerers, The (1967-British) C-87m. ½ D: Michael Reeves. Boris Karloff, Catherine Lacey, Ian Ogilvy, Elizabeth Ercy, Susan George. Interesting but flawed low-budgeter. Husband-and-wife scientist team attempt to perfect domination-of-will techniques, persuade young man (Ogilvy) to join experiments. Downhill from there. ▼

Sordid Lives (2001) C-111m. BOMB D: Del Shores. Olivia Newton-John, Beau Bridges, Delta Burke, Bonnie Bedelia, Beth Grant, Ann Walker, Kirk Geiger, Leslie Jordan. More hick hijinks from writer-director Shores (author of DADDY'S DYIN' . . . WHO'S GOT THE WILL?) about an eccentric Texas family dealing with a variety of repressed emotions when their matriarch dies. Horribly filmed, endless parade of ear-piercing trailer-trash clichés and "meaningful" moments that are embarrassing. The performances, alas, match the subtlety of the writing. Shores adapted his own play. Now has a cult following. ▼

Sorority Boys (2002) C-94m. *½ D: Wallace Wolodarsky. Barry Watson, Harland Williams, Michael Rosenbaum, Melissa Sagemiller, Heather Matarazzo, Kathryn Stockwood, James Daughton, Stephen Furst, Mark Metcalf, Peter Scolari, Wendie Jo Sperber,

John Vernon. Crude comedy about three sexist frat boys forced into passing themselves off as women and taking refuge in a sorority house. A more appropriate title would be SOME LIKE IT STUPID. Aging baby boomers will note the presence in the cast of several aging graduates of ANIMAL HOUSE. [R]▼

Sorority Girl (1957) 60m. ½ D: Roger Corman. Susan Cabot, Dick Miller, Barbara Crane, Fay Baker, June Kenney, Barboura O'Neill. Lumbering tale of angst and alienation, 1950s-style. The heroine (Cabot) is a wealthy but warped college coed; she can't fit in with the members of her sorority, so she lashes out at everyone around her. A female version of Calder Willingham's End as a Man, filmed that same year as THE STRANGE ONE. Remade in 1994 as CONFESSIONS OF A SORORITY GIRL and in 2000 as CONFESSIONS OF SORORITY GIRLS. ▼

Sorrento Beach SEE: Hotel Sorrento

Sorrow and the Pity, The (1970-Swiss) 260m. * D: Marcel Ophuls. Incredibly ambitious documentary about France's performance during WW2 is a total success. Film never becomes dull, in spite of four-and-a-half-hour length, even though bulk of footage is devoted to interviews with those who lived through the Nazi threat. A truly great film. 1999 reissue runs 249m. [PG] ▼

Sorrowful Jones (1949) 88m. ½ D: Sidney Lanfield. Bob Hope, Lucille Ball, William Demarest, Mary Jane Saunders, Bruce Cabot, Thomas Gomez. Average racetrack comedy, actually a remake of LITTLE MISS MARKER and hardly as good.▼●

Sorry, Haters (2006) C-86m.  D: Jeff Stanzler. Robin Wright Penn, Abdellatif Kechiche, Sandra Oh, Aasif Mandvi, Élodie Bouchez, Fred Durst, Josh Hamilton. Hot-button film about a Muslim cabdriver in Manhattan who becomes involved with a passenger, an emotionally distraught businesswoman. Topical thriller attempts to deal with tensions and prejudices in post-9/11 N.Y.C. Good performances help, but Stanzler's script goes wildly askew.▶

Sorry, Wrong Number (1948) 89m.  D: Anatole Litvak. Barbara Stanwyck, Burt Lancaster, Ann Richards, Wendell Corey, Ed Begley, Leif Erickson, William Conrad. Overly complicated adaptation of famous radio thriller, but still a tense study of woman overhearing murder plan on telephone, discovering she's to be the victim. Stanwyck won an Oscar nomination for her bravura performance; adapted—or rather, expanded—by Lucille Fletcher, from her radio drama (which starred Agnes Moorehead). Remade for cable TV in 1989 with Loni Anderson.▼

So This Is New York (1948) 79m.  D: Richard Fleischer. Henry Morgan, Rudy Vallee, Bill Goodwin, Hugh Herbert, Leo Gorcey, Virginia Grey, Dona Drake.

Cheaply filmed but hilarious adaptation of Ring Lardner's The Big Town. Morgan's wife inherits money and they decide to go to N.Y.C., encountering its strange ways. Ingenious, offbeat script by Carl Foreman and Herbert Baker; radio/TV star Morgan fares well in screen debut, helped by top supporting cast.

Sotto, Sotto (1984-Italian) C-105m. ½ D: Lina Wertmuller. Enrico Montesano, Veronica Lario, Luisa de Santis, Massimo Wertmuller. Obvious, but not unentertaining, tale of Lario, who finds herself attracted to longtime best friend de Santis; her husband (Montesano), a sexist animal with a fragile ego, then goes comically berserk. Incidentally, actor Wertmuller is the director's nephew. [R]▼

Soul Food (1997) C-114m.  D: George Tillman, Jr. Vanessa L. Williams, Vivica A. Fox, Nia Long, Brandon Hammond, Michael Beach, Mekhi Phifer, Irma P. Hall. When Chicago-based black matriarch Hall, the glue that holds her family together, falls ill, grandson Hammond does his best to step in. A rare '90s movie about family values that really works. Excellent ensemble cast in a poignant story that is honest and heart-warming. [R]▼●

Soul Man (1986) C-101m.  D: Steve Miner. C. Thomas Howell, Arye Gross, Rae Dawn Chong, James Earl Jones, Melora Hardin, Leslie Nielsen, James B. Sicking, Max Wright, Jeff Altman, Julia Louis-Dreyfus, Ron Reagan. Young man desperate to go to Harvard Law School masquerades as a black in order to get minority scholarship. Slick but distressingly superficial; if this is the 1980s version of social satire, we're all in trouble. [PG-13]▼●

Soul Men (2008) C-103m. ½ D: Malcolm D. Lee. Samuel L. Jackson, Bernie Mac, Sharon Leal, Sean Hayes, Adam Herschman, Affion Crockett, Jennifer Coolidge, John Legend, Isaac Hayes. Death of a Motown-type singing star inspires onetime backup singer Mac to locate his estranged partner (Jackson) and persuade him to travel cross-country to perform at a memorial concert at the Apollo Theater in Harlem. Road trip/reunion/buddy comedy is pretty thin but it's still fun to watch Jackson and Mac together, especially when they sing and put on their performance moves. Ends with footage that pays tribute to Isaac Hayes and especially Mac, both of whom died before the film's release. Super 35. [R]▶

Soul of Nigger Charley, The (1973) C-104m. ½ D: Larry Spangler. Fred Williamson, D'Urville Martin, Denise Nicholas, Pedro Armendariz, Jr., Richard Farnsworth. Weak sequel to LEGEND OF NIGGER CHARLEY finds Charley trying to free slaves held captive by former Confederate Army officer in Mexico. Panavision. [R]

Soul Plane (2004) C-86m. *½ D: Jessy Terrero. Tom Arnold, Kevin Hart, Method Man, K. D. Aubert, Godfrey, Brian Hooks, D. L. Hughley, Arielle Kebbel, Mo'Nique, Ryan Pinkston, Missi Pyle, Sommore, Sofia Vergara, Gary Anthony Williams, John Witherspoon, Snoop Dogg. Young man who's always loved planes wins one hundred million dollars in a lawsuit and starts his own all-black airline. Arnold and his all-white family wind up on the first flight. Slight plot supports a nonstop string of (largely L.A.-centric) jokes, some of them funny, most of them vulgar, many of them bouncing off, if not reinforcing, stereotypes of black culture. How much you laugh is strictly a matter of personal taste. At least it's short. Unrated version runs 92m. [R] ▼

Souls at Sea (1937) 92m.  D: Henry Hathaway. Gary Cooper, George Raft, Frances Dee, Olympe Bradna, Henry Wilcoxon, Harry Carey, Robert Cummings, Joseph Schildkraut, George Zucco, Virginia Weidler. Fine actioner with Cooper and Raft struggling to save lives during ship tragedy; Cooper wrongly accused of irresponsibility. The stars make a good team here. ▼

Souls for Sale SEE: Confessions of an Opium Eater

Soul Survivors (2001) C-85m. BOMB D: Steve Carpenter. Melissa Sagemiller, Casey Affleck, Wes Bentley, Eliza Dushku, Angela Featherstone, Luke Wilson. A young woman and her three friends have one last night of celebration before going their separate ways for college. Unfortunately, something goes terribly wrong. Supernatural, horror, teensploitation, reality/fantasy grab bag set to pulsing music, this movie shamelessly steals ideas from good movies—and bad ones too. So-called “Killer Cut” is rated R. [PG-13] ▼

Soul to Soul (1971) C-95m.  D: Denis Sanders. Wilson Pickett, Ike and Tina Turner, Santana, Roberta Flack, Les McCann, Willie Bobo, Eddie Harris, The Staple Singers. Good documentary of American soul, jazz and gospel performers in a concert commemorating the 14th anniversary of Ghanaian independence. Pickett is in top form singing “Funky Broadway” and “Land of 1,000 Dances.” [G] ▼

Sound and the Fury, The (1959) C-115m. ½ D: Martin Ritt. Yul Brynner, Joanne Woodward, Margaret Leighton, Stuart Whitman, Ethel Waters, Jack Warden, Albert Dekker. Strange adaptation of William Faulkner novel becomes plodding tale of girl seeking independence from strict family rule in the South. CinemaScope.

Sound Barrier, The SEE: Breaking the Sound Barrier

Sounder (1972) C-105m. * D: Martin Ritt. Cicely Tyson, Paul Winfield, Kevin Hooks, Carmen Mathews, Taj Mahal, James Best, Janet MacLachlan. Beautiful film,

romanticizing in a positive sense experiences of black sharecropper family in 1930s—and the maturation of young Hooks. Full of fine performances that make characters utterly real. Mahal also composed the score. Screenplay by Lonnie Elder III from William Armstrong's novel. Remade for TV in 2003. Sequel: PART 2, SOUNDER. Panavision. [G] ▼

Sounder, Part Two SEE: Part 2, Sounder

Sound of Music, The (1965) C-174m. ½ D: Robert Wise. Julie Andrews, Christopher Plummer, Eleanor Parker, Peggy Wood, Richard Haydn, Anna Lee, Portia Nelson, Norma Varden, Marni Nixon. The children: Charmian Carr, Nicolas Hammond, Heather Menzies, Duane Chase, Angela Cartwright, Debbie Turner, Kym Karath. Call it corn if you like, but blockbuster Rodgers & Hammerstein musical based on Austria's real-life Von Trapp family, who fled their homeland in 1938 to escape from Nazi rule, pleased more people than practically any other film in history. Fine music, beautiful scenery help offset coy aspects of script. Five Oscars include Best Picture, Director, Score Adaptation (Irwin Kostal), Editing (William Reynolds). Screenplay by Ernest Lehman, based on the Howard Lindsay–Russel Crouse Broadway show. Songs include “Do Re Mi,” “Climb Ev'ry Mountain” and title tune. Todd-AO ▼

Sound of Thunder, A (2005–U.S.–German–Czech) C-103m. *½ D: Peter Hyams. Edward Burns, Catherine McCormack, Ben Kingsley, Jemima Rooper, David Oyelowo, Wilfried Hochholdinger, August Zirner, Corey Johnson. In Chicago, 2055, a company takes expeditions back in time to hunt dinosaurs. Precautions are taken, but (of course) something goes wrong, and a tiny change in the past sends alterations down through time that our heroes try to set right. Misguided expansion of Ray Bradbury short story with mediocre effects and a confusing script. It's easy to see why this remained on the shelf so long. Filmed in 2002. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

Soupeçon (1979–French) C-93m. ½ D: Jean-Charles Tacchella. Jean Carmet, Marie Dubois, Alain Doutey, Rachel Jenvein, Jose Laccioni. Middle-aged couple (Carmet, Dubois) decide to separate after a quarter century of marriage. Spirited and attractively played, but still forgettable; a disappointment from the director of COUSIN, COUSINE.

Soup for One (1982) C-87m. ½ D: Jonathan Kaufer. Saul Rubinek, Marcia Strassman, Gerrit Graham, Teddy Pendergrass, Richard Libertini, Andrea Martin, Lewis J. Stadlen. Sometimes winning but uneven account of single New Yorker Rubinek searching for his dream girl. The cast is game; solid work by 26-year-old director Kaufer. [R]▼

Soup to Nuts (1930) 71m. ½ D: Benjamin Stolloff. Ted Healy, Charles Winninger, Frances McCoy, Lucile Browne, Stanley Smith, Hallam Cooley, Roscoe Ates, Billy Barty. Oddball early talkie about a shopkeeper in trouble and some neighborhood firemen; written by cartoonist Rube Goldberg. Chief point of interest today is film debut of Healy's sidekicks The Three Stooges, then actually four in number (Moe, Larry, Shemp, and Fred Sanborn). They provide the movie's highlight, doing their vaudeville routine. ▽

Source, The (1999) C-88m.  D: Chuck Workman. Pop-style documentary on the Beat movement, drawing on archival footage of Jack Kerouac plus fresh material on William Burroughs and Allen Ginsberg. Audience-friendly rather than scholarly, this lively film serves as an excellent primer on this seminal movement in American culture. Key poems by Kerouac, Burroughs, and Ginsberg are performed on-camera by a well-chosen Johnny Depp, Dennis Hopper, and John Turturro, respectively. ▼

Sour Grapes (1998) C-92m. ½ D: Larry David. Steven Weber, Craig Bierko, Matt Keeslar, Karen Sillas, Robyn Peterman, Viola Harris, Jennifer Leigh Warren. Bierko hits a $400,000 slot machine jackpot at a casino; Weber, his doctor cousin, thinks he's due half the loot because he loaned him the necessary quarters. Occasionally very funny, the movie is undermined by overemphatic "comedy" acting, unsympathetic characters, and a sitcom approach. Writer-director David cocreated Seinfeld, which explains both the good and the bad stuff here. [R]▼●●

South Central (1992) C-99m. ½ D: Steve Anderson. Glenn Plummer, Byron Keith Minns, LaRita Shelby, Carl Lumbly, Lexie D. Bingham, Christian Coleman. Sobering, well-meaning drama of life and desperation in inner-city L.A. is similar in theme to (but not nearly as effective as) BOYZ N THE HOOD. Plummer is aces as an embattled street-gang veteran who undergoes an odyssey of transformation, and determines to spare his young son (Coleman) from the ravages of gang life. Anderson scripted, based on the novel Crips by L.A. schoolteacher Donald Baker. The executive producer was Oliver Stone. [R]▼●●

Southern Comfort (1981) C-106m.  D: Walter Hill. Keith Carradine, Powers Boothe, Fred Ward, Franklyn Seales, T. K. Carter, Lewis Smith, Les Lannom, Peter Coyote, Brion James. Macho National Guardsmen patronize Cajuns in the Louisiana swamp, much to their regret. Survival-

of-the-fittest yarn is an intellectually muddled, Grade B DELIVERANCE, despite its crisp direction. [R]▼●●

Southerner, The (1945) 91m. * D: Jean Renoir. Zachary Scott, Betty Field, Beulah Bondi, J. Carrol Naish, Norman Lloyd, Bunny Sunshine, Jay Gilpin, Estelle Taylor, Percy Kilbride, Blanche Yurka. Superb drama of family struggling to make farmland self-supporting against serious odds. Renoir adapted George Sessions Perry's novel Hold Autumn in Your Hand. ▼

South: Ernest Shackleton and the Endurance Expedition (1919-British) 88m. *½ D: Frank Hurley. Extraordinary document of the fabled 1915 Ernest Shackleton expedition to Antarctica and the stranded crew's efforts to save themselves. The story has been recounted and dramatized since then, but nothing can compare to this original, straightforward account—with startlingly clear footage that looks as if it was shot this morning. ▼

Southern Star, The (1969-British-French-U.S.) C-102m. ½ D: Sidney Hayers. George Segal, Ursula Andress, Orson Welles, Ian Hendry, Harry Andrews, Michel Constantin. Uneven combination comedy-adventure detailing multiparty chase for possession of unusually large diamond boasts beautiful locations in Senegal, Africa, but not much else. Based on a Jules Verne novel. Techniscope. [M/PG]

Southern Yankee, A (1948) 90m.  D: Edward Sedgwick. Red Skelton, Brian Donlevy, Arlene Dahl, George Coulouris, Lloyd Gough, John Ireland, Charles Dingle, Joyce Compton. Hilarious Skelton comedy set during Civil War with Red a bumbling Yankee spy down South. Reminiscent of silent comedies, since Buster Keaton devised many of the film's gags. ▼

Southland Tales (2007) C-144m. ½ D: Richard Kelly. Dwayne Johnson, Seann William Scott, Sarah Michelle Gellar, Mandy Moore, Justin Timberlake, Nora Dunn, John Larroquette, Bai Ling, Jon Lovitz, Cheri Oteri, Amy Poehler, Lou Taylor Pucci, Miranda Richardson, Wallace Shawn, Holmes Osborne, Kevin Smith, Christopher Lambert, Janeane Garofalo, Beth Grant, Zeldia Rubinstein, Curtis Armstrong, Will Sasso. Impressive cast is wasted in an overlong, overwrought wallow set in 2008 Southern California 3 years after a disastrous nuclear attack on Texas has turned America into a police state. Focuses on several people trying to survive in this postapocalyptic environment, including a B-action-film actor, a porn star turned TV commentator, and an L.A. police officer on a journey of self-discovery when his personality is split in two. Even more convoluted and disjointed than it sounds. Super 35. [R] ▽

South of Heaven, West of Hell (2000) C-127m.  D: Dwight Yoakam. Dwight Yo-

kam, Vince Vaughn, Billy Bob Thornton, Bridget Fonda, Peter Fonda, Paul Reubens, Bud Cort, Bo Hopkins, Matt Clark, Noble Willingham, Scott Wilson, Luke Askew, Michael Jeter, Joe Ely, Warren Zevon. Standard Western plot of redemption pits marshal Yoakam against his former "foster family" of outlaws, led by Bible-toting patriarch Askew. Cowriter/director/composer/star Yoakam overreached in this overlong story, and seems to have given his large cast free rein. Executive produced by Buck Owens. Runs 100m. on VHS. Panavision. [R]▼▼

South of St. Louis (1949) C-88m. ½ D: Ray Enright. Joel McCrea, Alexis Smith, Zachary Scott, Dorothy Malone, Douglas Kennedy, Alan Hale, Victor Jory. Three ranching partners (McCrea, Scott, Kennedy) fall into dispute over land, money, Civil War gun-running, and women. Unmemorable Western has good cast, fast pacing, and Technicolor on its side.▼

South Pacific (1958) C-151m. ½ D: Joshua Logan. Rossano Brazzi, Mitzi Gaynor, John Kerr, Ray Walston, Juanita Hall, France Nuyen, Tom Laughlin, voice of Giorgio Tozzi. Disappointing filmization of great Rodgers & Hammerstein show; adaptation of James Michener's moving vignettes about WW2 life on Pacific island needs dynamic personalities to make it catch fire, and they aren't here. Even location filming is lackluster. Adequate but hardly memorable. Songs include "Some Enchanted Evening," "There Is Nothing Like a Dame." Among the sailors and servicemen you'll spot John Gabriel, Ron Ely, Doug McClure, and James Stacy. Originally shown at 171m. Remade in 2001 for TV. Todd-AO. ▼●●

South Park: Bigger, Longer & Uncut (1999) C-81m.  D: Trey Parker. Voices of Trey Parker, Matt Stone, Mary Kay Bergman, Isaac Hayes, George Clooney, Brent Spiner, Minnie Driver, Dave Foley, Eric Idle, Mike Judge, Nick Rhodes, Stewart Copeland. The pint-sized, animated kids of South Park, Colorado, are so fond of the new R-rated Terrance and Phillip movie that they start imitating its rude dialogue. This inspires the parents of South Park to mount a campaign against the movie's stars—and homeland, Canada. Sharp, funny (and yes, foul-mouthed) satire, based on the irreverent TV series; sparked by great songs by Parker and Marc Shaiman. [R]▼●●

South Sea Woman (1953) 99m. ½ D: Arthur Lubin. Burt Lancaster, Virginia Mayo, Chuck Connors, Arthur Shields, Paul Burke. Murky tropical isle story of love and deceit with soldier Lancaster sparking with Mayo.●

So Well Remembered (1947-British) 114m.  D: Edward Dmytryk. John Mills, Martha Scott, Trevor Howard, Patricia Roc,

Richard Carlson, Ivor Barnard. Author James Hilton narrates saga (adapted by John Paxton) of earnest newspaper editor (Mills) determined to improve living conditions in factory town, sidetracked by marriage to blindly ambitious woman (Scott). Very young Juliet Mills has bit part.●

Soylent Green (1973) C-100m.  D: Richard Fleischer. Charlton Heston, Edward G. Robinson, Leigh Taylor-Young, Chuck Connors, Joseph Cotten, Brock Peters, Paula Kelly, Whit Bissell, Mike Henry, Dick Van Patten. Well-intentioned but cardboard adaptation of Harry Harrison's science-fiction classic Make Room! Make Room! In the year 2022, Manhattan has become an overcrowded hellhole; cop Heston, investigating murder of bigwig, stumbles onto explosive government secret (which you'll figure out long before he does). Robinson is splendid in his final film; title refers to a precious foodstuff made of soybeans and lentils. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Spaceballs (1987) C-96m. ½ D: Mel Brooks. Mel Brooks, John Candy, Rick Moranis, Bill Pullman, Daphne Zuniga, Dick Van Patten, George Wyner, Michael Winslow, Lorene Yarnell, John Hurt, Ronny Graham, Rhonda Shear; voices of Joan Rivers, Dom DeLuise. Likably silly parody of STAR WARS (years after the fact) is basically a collection of jokes, both verbal and visual. Enough of them are funny to make for pleasant, if not hilarious, fare. Surprisingly innocuous for Brooks and Co., with Mel tackling two roles, including the diminutive Yogurt. Super 35. [PG]▼●●

SpaceCamp (1986) C-107m.  D: Harry Winer. Kate Capshaw, Lea Thompson, Kelly Preston, Larry B. Scott, Leaf (Joaquin) Phoenix, Tate Donovan, Tom Skerritt, Barry Primus, Terry O'Quinn. Or, BRATS IN SPACE, the story of some kids who wouldn't rate at McDonald's College of Hamburger Knowledge, but somehow get chosen to train at NASA summer camp—and accidentally get launched into space. There's a cute robot, but other special effects are way below par. [PG]▼●●

Space Children, The (1958) 69m.  D: Jack Arnold. Michel Ray, Peggy Webber, Adam Williams, Jackie Coogan, Johnny Washbrook. Strange force brainwashes children into performing sabotage at Pacific nuclear test site. Antiwar film isn't up to Arnold's other '50s science-fiction classics, but is sufficiently offbeat to warrant a peek.

Space Chimps (2008) C-81m. *½ D: Kirk DeMico. Voices of Andy Samberg, Cheryl Hines, Jeff Daniels, Kristin Chenoweth, Kenan Thompson, Jane Lynch, Stanley Tucci, Patrick Warburton, Zack Shada, Omid Abtahi. Lame, unfunny animated tale has free-wheeling Ham III, grandson of the first chimp astronaut, sent into space along with two other dimwitted simians on a mission to eliminate the evil leader of another planet. Paint-by-numbers CGI animation is flat and the lifeless script is full of hoary gags. Digital Widescreen. [G] D

Space Cowboys (2000) C-129m. ½ D: Clint Eastwood. Clint Eastwood, Tommy Lee Jones, Donald Sutherland, James Garner, Marcia Gay Harden, James Cromwell, Blair Brown, William Devane, Loren Dean, Courtney B. Vance, Rade Sherbedgia, Barbara Babcock. Amiable yarn about onetime hotshot Air Force pilots who are recruited by NASA—in desperation—to rescue a Russian satellite built with now-obsolete technology only they can comprehend. Barely believable but good-natured fun, especially for fans of the stars. Panavision. [PG-13] VD

Spaced Invaders (1990) C-102m. *½ D: Patrick Read Johnson. Douglas Barr, Royal Dano, Ariana Richards, J. J. Anderson, Gregg Berger, Kevin Thompson, Jimmy Briscoe. Martians, out to “kick some Earthling butt,” fly into a Mayberry-type burg after mistaking a Halloween rebroadcast of Orson Welles’ War of the Worlds for legitimate invasion orders. Have you ever noticed that Welles couldn’t get financing for decades, but movies like this keep getting made? Criminally overlong. [PG] VD

Spacehunter: Adventures in the Forbidden Zone (1983-Canadian) C-90m. *½ D: Lamont Johnson. Peter Strauss, Molly Ringwald, Ernie Hudson, Andrea Marcovicci. Title character roams a planet’s barren wasteland in order to rescue three damsels in distress, who are being held captive by a vicious mutant called Overdog. Boring and obnoxious, even in 3-D. Panavision. [PG] VD

Space Jam (1996) C-87m.  D: Joe Pytka. Bugs Bunny, Michael Jordan, Wayne Knight, Theresa Randle, Larry Bird, Charles Barkley, Patrick Ewing, Muggsy Bogues, Larry Johnson, Patricia Heaton, Dan Castellana; voices of Danny DeVito, Billy West, Dee Bradley Baker, Bob Bergen, Bill Farmer, June Foray. A “high-concept” movie that actually works: basketball superstar Jordan is sucked into Looney Tune Land to help Bugs Bunny, Daffy Duck, Porky Pig and Co. square off against a group of space invaders in a do-or-die basketball game. Jordan is very engaging, the vintage characters perform admirably (although whoever “airbrushed” them had a heavy hand), and the computer-generated special effects are a collective knockout. Bill Murray appears unbilled, and many sports figures appear as themselves. [PG] VD

Spaceman in King Arthur’s Court, A SEE: Unidentified Flying Oddball

Space Master X-7 (1958) 71m.  D: Edward Bernds. Bill Williams, Robert Ellis, Lyn Thomas, Paul Frees, Joan Barry, Thomas Browne Henry, Moe Howard. A returning satellite brings with it a fast-growing fungus, dubbed “Blood Rust.” Williams and Ellis track down the woman who is unknowingly spreading the deadly stuff. Routine but competent. Moe plays a cab driver. Regalscope.

Space Mission of the Lost Planet SEE: Vampire Men of the Lost Planet

Space Rage (1985) C-77m. BOMB D: Conrad Palmisano. Richard Farnsworth, Michael Paré, John Laughlin, Lee Purcell, Lewis Van Bergen, William Windom. Meek space Western is set on a prison planet. Farnsworth is ex-cop who straps on his laser beam six-shooter to teach Paré and the other outlaws a lesson; he should’ve turned the laser on this bomb instead! [R] V

Space Raiders (1983) C-82m.  D: Howard R. Cohen. Vince Edwards, David Mendenhall, Patsy Pease, Thom Christopher, Luca Bercovici, Dick Miller. This toothless adventure is another Roger Corman-produced space opera using special effects footage and music from BATTLE BEYOND THE STARS. Acceptable genre fare for the undemanding viewer. [PG] V

Spaceship SEE: Creature Wasn’t Nice, The

Space Travellers SEE: Marooned

Space Vampires SEE: Astro-Zombies, The

Spanglish (2004) C-131m.  D: James L. Brooks. Adam Sandler, Téa Leoni, Paz Vega, Cloris Leachman, Shelbie Bruce, Sarah Steele, Ian Hyland, Thomas Haden Church. Strong-minded Mexican woman goes to work for a well-to-do L.A. family, causing reverberations within that dysfunctional clan—and changing the life of her impressionable young daughter. Sandler gives a mushy performance as the father/husband (a star chef, though we never get a sense of his mastery in the kitchen), while Leoni is stunningly strident as his wife. There are nuggets—a good scene here, a moment of sharp observation there—in writer-director Brooks’ script, but mostly it’s a mess. [PG-13] VD

Spanish Prisoner, The (1998) C-112m. ½ D: David Mamet. Campbell Scott, Steve Martin, Rebecca Pidgeon, Ben Gazzara, Ricky Jay, Felicity Huffman, Ed O’Neill, J. J. Johnston. Naive young man, who’s developed a secret and highly valuable program for a high-tech company, is concerned that he won’t be properly compensated and thus is easy prey for those who would steal the secret. Too easy, if you ask us, and that’s the problem with this ice-cold but intriguing Mamet screenplay: we didn’t buy it at crucial points in its serpentine story. Scott and Martin are excellent; leading lady Pidgeon is Mrs. Mamet. [PG] VD

Spanking the Monkey (1994) C-106m. ½ D: David O. Russell. Jeremy Davies, Alberta Watson, Benjamin Hendrickson, Carla Gallo, Matthew Puckett, Judette Jones. Just your average black comedy about masturbation and incest: Bright teenager is told by his traveling-salesman father that he must sacrifice a prestigious summer internship to stay home and tend to his bedridden mother. The intimacy of having to take care of her every need soon leads to unexpected behavior. Debuting writer-director Russell shows assuredness and maintains credibility throughout (thanks, too, to bull's-eye performances), but the tone of the film wavers uncomfortably from comedy to drama. A film festival sleeper and audience favorite. ▼●●

Sparkle (1976) C-100m. ½ D: Sam O'Steen. Philip M. (Michael) Thomas, Irene Cara, Lonette McKee, Dwan Smith, Mary Alice, Dorian Harewood, Tony King. Rise of singing group not unlike The Supremes suffers from cliché overdose, but benefits from slick filmmaking, good musical numbers (by Curtis Mayfield), vivid performance by McKee. Worth comparing to later (and similar) Broadway musical Dreamgirls. [PG] ▼●

Spartacus (1960) C-184m. ½ D: Stanley Kubrick. Kirk Douglas, Laurence Olivier, Jean Simmons, Tony Curtis, Charles Laughton, Peter Ustinov, John Gavin, Nina Foch, Herbert Lom, John Ireland, Charles McGraw, Woody Strode, Joanna Barnes. Epic-scale saga with Douglas as a rebellious slave who leads a crusade for freedom against the forces of the Roman Empire. Overlength (particularly in fully restored version released in 1991) and some dramatic weaknesses are offset by Alex North's magnificent score, staggering battle scenes, and the delicious performances of Olivier, Laughton, and especially Ustinov, who won a Best Supporting Actor Oscar for his scene-stealing work. Oscars also went to Art Direction, Costume Design, and Russell Metty's Cinematography. Screenplay by Dalton Trumbo from the Howard Fast novel. Cut for 1967 reissue. In restored print, Anthony Hopkins dubbed Olivier's voice for notorious bathing scene with Curtis. Remade for cable TV in 2004. Super Technirama 70. ▼●●

Spartan (2004) C-107m.  D: David Mamet. Val Kilmer, Derek Luke, William H. Macy, Ed O'Neill, Kristen Bell, Saïd Taghmaoui, Linda Kimbrough, Tia Texada, Clark Gregg, J.J. Johnston, Natalia Nogulich, Matt Malloy, Alexandra Kerry. A military operations specialist accustomed to following orders finds himself in unfamiliar territory when he has to think for himself—and use his initiative—to rescue the kidnapped daughter of the President of the U.S. Writer-director Mamet gives us a leading character who's so off-putting, in a plot so convoluted, that when there's finally some tension and excitement toward the end it's too little, too late. David Paymer appears unbilled. Super 35. [R] ▼●

Spasms (1983-Canadian) C-87m. BOMB D: William Fruet. Peter Fonda, Oliver Reed, Kerrie Keane, Al Waxman, Marilyn Lightstone. Reed has a telepathic—or,

should we say, telepathetic—connection with a deadly serpent. Grade Z junk; filmed in 1981. Aka DEATH BITE. [R] ▼●

Spawn (1997) C-97m.  D: Mark A. Z. Dippé. John Leguizamo, Michael Jai White, Martin Sheen, Theresa Randle, D. B. Sweeney, Nicol Williamson, Melinda Clarke, Miko Hughes. Government assassin White is killed by evil boss Sheen and goes to Hell, where a demon endows him with great powers and returns him to Earth. Despite the efforts of infernal clown Leguizamo, he becomes a hero. Baroque visual style is film's major virtue, but that can't overcome the many faults, including a boring, familiar, and illogical plot. Love that cape, though. From Todd McFarlane's comic book. Director's cut, rated R, has over a minute of additional footage. [PG-13] ▼●●

Spawn of the North (1938) 110m.  D: Henry Hathaway. George Raft, Henry Fonda, Dorothy Lamour, Louise Platt, John Barrymore, Akim Tamiroff, Lynne Overman. Action-packed film of Alaskan fisheries with good cast; Lamour surprisingly good. Barrymore amusing as talky newspaperman. The special photographic and sound effects earned a special Academy Award. Remade as ALASKA SEAS. ▼

Speaking Parts (1989-Canadian) C-92m.  D: Atom Egoyan. Michael McManus, Arsinée Khanjian, Gabrielle Rose, Tony Nardi, David Hemblen, Patricia Collins, Gerard Parkes. Fascinating account of laundry worker Khanjian and her fixation on aspiring actor McManus, who finds himself in an unusual relationship with screenwriter Rose. Sinuous story about three lost souls whose lives intersect, in person and on video. Very much of a piece with writer-director Egoyan's other work. ▼●●

Special (2008) C-81m. ½ D: Hal Haberman, Jeremy Passmore. Michael Rapaport, Paul Blackthorne, Josh Peck, Robert Baker, Jack Kehler, Alexandra Holden, Ian Bohan, Christopher Darga. Shy social misfit signs up for a clinical drug-testing program and becomes convinced that the pill he's taking has given him super powers, just like his comic-book heroes. Slight, small-scale film has surprisingly good visual effects and stunt work, but its real strength is Rapaport's convincing performance in the lead. Written by the directors, making their feature-film debuts. Released in the U.K. in 2006. [R] ●

Special Agent (1935) 78m. ½ D: William Keighley. Bette Davis, George Brent, Ricardo Cortez, Jack LaRue, Henry O'Neill. Programmer about Brent using Davis to get low-down on racketeer Cortez.

Special Day, A (1977-Italian-Canadian) C-106m. ½ D: Ettore Scola. Sophia Loren, Marcello Mastroianni, John Vernon, Françoise Berd, Nicole Magny. Two lonely people chance to meet on an eventful day in 1938; Loren is frumpy housewife, Mastroianni

a troubled homosexual. Fine performances bolster this pleasant but trifling film. ▼●●

Special Delivery (1976) C-99m.  D: Paul Wendkos. Bo Svenson, Cybill Shepherd, Michael Gwynne, Tom Atkins, Sorrell Booke, Jeff Goldblum, Vic Tayback, Deidre Hall, Gerrit Graham. Diverting comedy-action caper has Vietnam vets led by Svenson robbing a bank. When only Svenson escapes, he has to contend with nutty artist Shepherd (who's quite good) and killers after he stuffs the loot into a mailbox. Aka DAN-GEROUS BREAK. [PG] ▼

Special Effects (1984) C-93m. ½ D: Larry Cohen. Zoe Tamerlis, Eric Bogosian, Brad Rijn, Kevin O'Connor, Bill Oland. Intriguing but uneven tale of a down-on-his-luck director who films the murder of a young actress, and commences making a movie about his deed. He even finds someone to star in his epic who resembles his victim; both are played by Tamerlis. [R] ▼

Specialist, The (1975) C-93m.  D: Hikmet Avedis. Ahna Capri, John Anderson, Adam West, Alvy Moore, Christiane Schmidtmer, Marlene Schmidt. Campy exploitation film has Capri well cast as a zaftig female version of usual macho killer-for-hire. Writer-producer Schmidt (director Avedis' wife) plays West's wife. [R] ▼

Specialist, The (1994) C-109m.  D: Luis Llosa. Sylvester Stallone, Sharon Stone, James Woods, Rod Steiger, Eric Roberts, Mario Ernesto Sanchez. Explosives expert and freelance hit man Stallone, sullenly suffering angst over his CIA activities, is approached by Stone, who wants him to kill Roberts, the man who murdered her parents years earlier. But Stallone has been targeted by kinetic bad guy Woods and Cuban gangster Steiger, Roberts' father (who sounds like Ricky Ricardo and looks like Fred Mertz). Woods, in a funny, dynamic performance, breezily walks off with the movie. And he's welcome to it. Some good stunts and good work by Stone help keep it watchable. [R] ▼●●

Specials, The (2000) C-82m.  D: Craig Mazin. Rob Lowe, Jamie Kennedy, Thomas Haden Church, Paget Brewster, Judy Greer, Jordan Ladd, Sean Gunn, John Doe, Kelly Coffield, James Gunn, Barry Del Sherman, Melissa Joan Hart. A squad of L.A. superheroes loses morale when their lucrative action-figure deal goes awry. Wacko comic cheapie isn't just a MYSTERY MEN re-tread, but never quite comes together despite game cast and flashes of wit. Funniest character is Minute Man; nobody gets his name right even though his superpower is that he can shrink. [R] ▼

Special Section (1975-French) C-110m.  D: Costa-Gavras. Louis Seigner, Michel Lonsdale, Jacques Perrin, Bruno Cremer, Pierre Dux, Henri Serre. Overlong, excessively wordy drama of true happening in occupied Paris in 1941. Four expendables are tried and ceremonially condemned for the murder of a young German naval cadet. Some interest. [PG]

Special Treatment (1980-Yugoslavian) C-94m.  D: Goran Paskaljevic. Ljuba Tadic, Dusica Zegarac, Danilo Stojkovic, Milena Dravic, Petar Kralj. Fanatical doctor Tadic brings a group of alcoholics he's been treating to a brewery to show off his skills as a healer; of course, his charges don't remain sober for long. Strange, deadpan comedy is occasionally slow but mostly funny.

Species (1995) C-111m. ½ D: Roger Donaldson. Ben Kingsley, Michael Madsen, Forest Whitaker, Natasha Henstridge, Alfred Molina, Marg Helgenberger, Whip Hubley, Michelle Williams, Jordan Lund. DNA-tampering scientists at a Utah facility ultimately get theirs after creating a murderous creature, complete with tentacles, who's packaged like a blond centerfold. Fast and not without entertainment value, but don't look at yourself in the mirror too closely if you end up defending it. Direction is somewhat sturdier than the script, which has its share of (we think) unintentional howlers. Followed by three sequels; the latter two are direct-to-video. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Species II (1998) C-95m. BOMB D: Peter Medak. Natasha Henstridge, Michael Madsen, Marg Helgenberger, Mykelti Williamson, Justin Lazard, James Cromwell, George Dzundza, Richard Belzer. The first man on Mars gets infested with alien DNA, and begins raping women who immediately, and fatally, give birth. Elsewhere, scientists have re-created the half-alien woman from the first film, hoping she'll be nice this time. Compared to this clunker, the first looks like a collaboration between Arthur C. Clarke and Ray Bradbury. Peter Boyle appears unbilled. [R] ▼●●

Speechless (1994) C-98m. ½ D: Ron Underwood. Michael Keaton, Geena Davis, Christopher Reeve, Bonnie Bedelia, Ernie Hudson, Charles Martin Smith, Gailard Sartain, Ray Baker, Mitchell Ryan, Harry Shearer, Steven Wright. Keaton and Davis fall in love, unaware that they work as speechwriters for opposing political candidates in a tough Arizona senate race. Cheerful contemporary comedy, with amusing digs at politics and the news media. How well you tolerate the ups and downs of the script and its protracted climax will depend on your fondness for the two stars. [PG-13] ▼●●

Speed (1936) 70m.  D: Edwin L. Marin. James Stewart, Wendy Barrie, Una Merkel, Ted Healy, Weldon Heyburn, Ralph Morgan, Patricia Wilder. Stewart enhances this star-building quickie (one of eight features he made in 1936) as a test-car driver who's developed a high-speed carburetor. Most of the racing action consists of blatant rear-projection and stock footage.

Speed (1994) C-116m. ½ D: Jan De Bont. Keanu Reeves, Dennis Hopper, Sandra Bullock, Jeff Daniels, Joe Morton, Alan Ruck, Glenn Plummer, Richard Lineback. Incredibly kinetic, supercharged action yarn about an elite SWAT-team cop (Reeves) who's targeted by a psycho/mastermind (Hopper), and led onto an L.A. city bus that's triggered to explode. If you're going to make a nonstop action movie, this is the way to do it—with expert pacing, eye-popping stunts and special effects, and characters who make sense. A bull's-eye! Oscar winner for Best Sound and Sound Effects Editing. Followed by a sequel. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Speed 2: Cruise Control (1997) C-121m. BOMB D: Jan De Bont. Sandra Bullock, Jason Patric, Willem Dafoe, Temuera Morrison, Brian McCardie, Christine Firkins, Colleen Camp, Lois Chiles, Jeremy Hotz, Bo Svenson, Glenn Plummer, Tim Conway. Mind-numbingly stupid action yarn opens with a chase scene that makes no sense, and never improves. Bullock (whose character here is especially annoying) agrees to go on a Caribbean cruise with boyfriend Patric, an L.A.P.D. officer. When madman Dafoe takes control of the ship, Patric feels it's his duty to try and stop him. Did anyone read the script before signing on for this one? Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●●

Speed Racer (2008) C-129m.  D: The Wachowski Brothers. Emile Hirsch, Christina Ricci, Susan Sarandon, John Goodman, Matthew Fox, Roger Allam, Paulie Litt, Benno Fürmann, Hiroyuki Sanada, Rain, Richard Roundtree, Kick Gurry. Driving fast cars is all Speed Racer (Hirsch) cares about—even after a crash takes his older brother's life. A ruthless corporate giant wants to sponsor him, but his heart is still with his Pop's independent racing team. High-octane, CGI-crazy update of Tatsuo Yoshida's 1960s TV series has a thimbleful of story but takes more than two hours to tell! Racing scenes are video games writ large, so unreal there's no emotion attached to them. HD Widescreen. [PG] ●

Speedtrap (1977) C-98m.  D: Earl Belamy. Joe Don Baker, Tyne Daly, Richard Jaeckel, Robert Loggia, Morgan Woodward, Timothy Carey. Private eye Baker is called in by the cops to trap an elusive car thief, and teamed with policewoman Daly. Good cast and predictable screeching tires can't save muddled script. [PG] ▼

Speedway (1968) C-94m.  D: Norman Taurog. Elvis Presley, Nancy Sinatra, Bill Bixby, Gale Gordon. Routine Presley tuner with Elvis starring as a bighearted stockcar racer and Sinatra along for the ride as a tax inspector. Richard Petty, Cale Yarborough and other real-life auto racers are featured. Panavision. ▼●●

Speedy (1928) 86m.  D: Ted Wilde. Harold Lloyd, Ann Christy, Bert Wood-

ruff, Brooks Benedict. Contrived but enjoyable comedy has Harold trying to save N.Y.C.'s last horse-drawn trolley, run by his girlfriend's grandfather, from extinction. Vivid N.Y.C. location work includes hair-raising chase scene, and appealing cameo by Babe Ruth as himself. ▼●

Speed Zone! (1989) C-95m. *½ D: Jim Drake. Peter Boyle, Donna Dixon, John Candy, Eugene Levy, Tim Matheson, The Smothers Brothers, Matt Frewer, Joe Flaherty, Shari Belafonte, Art Hindle, John Schneider, Jamie Farr, Lee Van Cleef, Michael Spinks, Brooke Shields, Alyssa Milano, Carl Lewis. Yet another variation on the CANNONBALL RUN cross-country road race, with Boyle as a sheriff who's determined to stop the race before it begins. Pointless, derivative, and unfunny, a particular waste of such talents as Candy, Levy, and Flaherty. You know you're in trouble when Brooke Shields gives the funniest performance in the film! [PG] ▼●

Spellbinder (1988) C-99m.  D: Janet Greek. Timothy Daly, Kelly Preston, Rick Rossovich, Diana Bellamy, Audra Lindley, Cary-Hiroyuki Tagawa, Anthony Crivello, Roderick Cook, Stefan Gierasch. L.A. lawyer falls for a mysterious beauty, slowly learns she's a witch, a member of a coven that wants her back as a sacrifice. A why-both? occult thriller: slick, empty, and extremely predictable. [R] ▼

Spellbound (1945) 111m. ½ D: Alfred Hitchcock. Ingrid Bergman, Gregory Peck, Leo G. Carroll, John Emery, Michael Chekhov, Wallace Ford, Rhonda Fleming, Bill Goodwin, Regis Toomey. Absorbing tale of psychiatrist Bergman trying to uncover Peck's hangups; Dali dream sequences, innovative (and Oscar-winning) Miklos Rozsa score help Hitchcock create another unique film. Based on novel The House of Dr. Edwardes by Francis Beeding; screenplay by Ben Hecht. In original theatrical prints, a key gunshot was shown in color. ▼●●

Spellbound (2003) C-97m. ½ D: Jeffrey Blitz. Terrific documentary that follows eight very different young contestants who participate in the 1999 National Spelling Bee. An enormously entertaining and often pointed examination of ideas about success and the American dream, with the final spelling duel as riveting as anything to be found in a fiction film. [G] ▼●

Spencer's Mountain (1963) C-119m.  D: Delmer Daves. Henry Fonda, Maureen O'Hara, James MacArthur, Donald Crisp, Wally Cox, Veronica Cartwright, Victor French. Mawkish sudsor about Wyoming landowner Fonda who keeps promising to build another family house. Good cast stuck with inferior script. Based on the Earl Hamner, Jr. novel; later developed into The Waltons. Panavision. ▼●●

Spent (2000) C-91m.  D: Gil Cates, Jr. Jason London, Charlie Spradling, Phill Lewis, Erin Beaux, James Parks, Richmond Arquette, Barbara Barrie, Gilbert Cates, Rain Phoenix, Margaret Cho. Ambitious but unconvincing portrait of addiction, deception, and denial, centering on a hopeless young movie industry wannabe whose chronic gambling is getting out of hand. He's surrounded by troubled souls, including a roommate (Parks) who refuses to acknowledge his sexual preference and a girlfriend (Spradling) who's an alcoholic. Aka SPENT. ▼

Spetters (1980-Dutch) C-115m.  D: Paul Verhoeven. Hans van Tongeren, Toon Agerber, Renee Soutendijk, Maarten Spanjer, Marianne Boyer, Rutger Hauer. Adolescent shenanigans and dreams in Holland; teenagers sleep around and race their motorcycles while idolizing race champ Hauer. Graphically sexual, with crisp direction by Verhoeven; luscious Soutendijk scores as an ambitious hash-slinger. [R] ▼

Sphere (1998) C-133m. *½ D: Barry Levinson. Dustin Hoffman, Sharon Stone, Samuel L. Jackson, Peter Coyote, Liev Schreiber, Queen Latifah. Failed sci-fi saga (from Michael Crichton novel) about a group of scientists from different disciplines who are brought to a super-secret underwater site where the U.S. Navy has discovered a mysterious wreckage. What does it signify? Where did it come from and when? Intriguing set-up leads nowhere, with increasingly stupid behavior from the principals and ridiculous chapter headings that lend supposed import to each new sequence. A bust. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Sphinx (1981) C-117m. *½ D: Franklin J. Schaffner. Lesley-Anne Down, Frank Langella, Maurice Ronet, John Gielgud, Martin Benson, John Rhys-Davies. Harried Egyptologist Down continuously eludes death as she searches for a mystery tomb. Awful script, mummylike performances, impressive Egyptian scenery. Adapted by John Byrum from Robin Cook novel. Panavision. [PG] ▼

Spice World (1997-British) C-92m. ½ D: Bob Spiers. The Spice Girls (Mel B, Emma, Mel C, Geri, Victoria), Richard E. Grant, Alan Cumming, Roger Moore, George Wendt, Claire Rushbrook, Mark McKinney, Richard O'Brien, Barry Humphries, Jason Flemyng, Naoki Mori, Meat Loaf, Bill Paterson, Jools Holland, Stephen Fry, Richard Briers. A fantasy look at several days in the lives of the pop phenomenon The Spice Girls and their existence with road manager Grant, leading up to a concert at Albert Hall in London. Amusing, vapid, sometimes silly but lively vignettes featuring the five flashy females who took the pop world by storm in the late '90s. Cameos by Elton John, Bob Hoskins, Bob Geldof, Elvis Cos-

tello, The Dream Boys, Jonathan Ross, and Jennifer Saunders. [PG] ▼

Spider, The (1958) SEE: Earth vs the Spider

Spider (2002-Canadian-British) C-90m.  D: David Cronenberg. Ralph Fiennes, Miranda Richardson, Gabriel Byrne, Bradley Hall, Lynn Redgrave, John Neville, Gary Reineke. Intriguing but relentlessly downbeat film about a seriously disturbed man paralyzed by memories of his childhood with an abusive father and a hardworking, well-meaning mother. We discover the source of his misery through flashbacks, but as the pieces come together they're not terribly surprising. Richardson's artful handling of multiple roles is the film's major asset, and Fiennes is good as usual. Scripted by Patrick McGrath, from his novel. [R] ▼

Spider Baby (1964) 81m. ½ D: Jack Hill. Lon Chaney, Jr., Sid Haig, Jill Banner, Mantan Moreland, Beverly Washburn, Carol Ohmart. Not bad little chiller about the antics of a very unusual—and very sick—family. At its best it's both scary and funny. Chaney is the clan's chauffeur and sings the title song! The full title is SPIDER BABY OR, THE MADDEST STORY EVER TOLD. Aka THE LIVER EATERS. ▼

Spider-Man (2002) C-121m. ½ D: Sam Raimi. Tobey Maguire, Willem Dafoe, Kirsten Dunst, James Franco, Cliff Robertson, Rosemary Harris, J. K. Simmons, Gery Becker, Bill Nunn. Big-budget Hollywood version of a Saturday matinee serial: High school nerd who's never had the nerve to speak to the beautiful girl next door is bitten by a spider and mutates into Spider-Man, crime fighter. Slick entertainment, with Maguire a likable Peter Parker, but the cartoony effects distance (rather than involve) us in his springy moments of action, and the story runs out of gas long before two hours are up. Lucy Lawless, Randy Savage, Bruce Campbell, and Stan Lee make brief appearances. Based on characters created for Marvel Comics by Lee and Steve Ditko. Followed by two sequels. [PG-13] ▼

Spider-Man 2 (2004) C-127m. ½ D: Sam Raimi. Tobey Maguire, Kirsten Dunst, James Franco, Alfred Molina, Rosemary Harris, J. K. Simmons, Donna Murphy, Daniel Gillies, Dylan Baker, Bill Nunn, Willem Dafoe, Cliff Robertson, Bruce Campbell. A brilliant scientist (the always masterful Molina) loses control of his latest experiment, turns into the maniacal Dr. Octopus (or Doc Ock)—and blames Spider-Man for his tragic failure. Possibly the best comic-book movie ever made, rich in emotion as well as big, exciting action sequences. What's more, its visual effects are far superior to those in the first SPIDER-MAN movie. Screenplay by Alvin Sargent, based on screen story by Alfred Gough, Miles Millar, and Michael Chabon.

Oscar winner for Visual Effects. Alternate version runs 136m. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Spider-Man 3 (2007) C-139m.  D: Sam Raimi. Tobey Maguire, Kirsten Dunst, James Franco, Thomas Haden Church, Topher Grace, Bryce Dallas Howard, Rosemary Harris, J. K. Simmons, James Cromwell, Theresa Russell, Dylan Baker, Bill Nunn, Bruce Campbell, Elizabeth Banks, Ted Raimi, Willem Dafoe, Cliff Robertson. All the worst qualities of a manufactured sequel converge here: dorky Peter Parker's relationship with Mary Jane goes on the rocks (so it can be fixed), villainous Harry Osborn turns good while Spider-Man, infected by an alien fungus, turns bad, an escaped convict is molecularly transformed into Sandman (to provide another menace), and Peter acquires a ruthless rival at the Daily Bugle (for even more villainy). Slickly made but often boring and ineffectual, leading up to a climax where—surprise!—Spidey cries real tears. Special effects can't save an inferior script. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Spiders, The (1919-German) 137m.  D: Fritz Lang. Carl de Vogt, Ressel Orla, Lil Dagover, Georg John, Bruno Lettinger. Intrepid explorer/adventurer de Vogt—an early cross between Indiana Jones and James Bond—vies with evil Spider cult for mystic Incan diamond. First two chapters ("The Golden Lake" and "The Diamond Ship") of never completed four-part serial abound with lost civilizations, human sacrifice, pirate treasure, and too many perils to count. Lang's obsession with a diabolical underworld foreshadows his DR. MABUSE films. An exciting curio; the earliest of Lang's films to survive. German title: DIE SPINNEN. ▼●●

Spider's Stratagem, The (1970-Italian) C-100m.  D: Bernardo Bertolucci. Giulio Brogi, Alida Valli, Tino Scotti, Pippo Campanini, Franco Giovannelli. Young man visits the provincial town where his anti-Fascist father was assassinated 30 years earlier, is rejected by the populace at every turn. Exceedingly atmospheric puzzler, from a Jorge Luis Borges short story, boasts some of the most beautiful color cinematography (by Vittorio Storaro) in memory. ▼

Spiderwick Chronicles, The (2008) C-97m.  D: Mark Waters. Freddie Highmore, Mary-Louise Parker, Nick Nolte, Sarah Bolger, Andrew McCarthy, Joan Plowright, David Strathairn; voices of Seth Rogen, Martin Short. Newly divorced woman and her three kids move to a spooky old family mansion where ghostly spirits prevail. Then Jared, the most sensitive of the kids (Highmore), unearths a long-hidden book, a "field guide" compiled by their great-great-uncle Arthur Spiderwick, which contains the secrets of the fairies and goblins that surround them—and places the entire family in great peril. Highly imaginative, emotionally satisfying fantasy-adventure adapted from Tony DiTerlizzi and Holly Black's books. The

special effects are impressive but always in the service of the story. Super 35. [PG] ▼

Spider Woman, The (1944) 62m.  D: Roy William Neill. Basil Rathbone, Nigel Bruce, Gale Sondergaard, Dennis Hoey, Mary Gordon, Arthur Hohl, Alec Craig. A mysterious villainess is responsible for a series of deaths in which the victims are driven to suicide after being bit by poisonous spiders. Rip-roaring entry with thrills to spare; one of the best in the Sherlock Holmes series. ▼

Spider Woman Strikes Back, The (1946) 59m. *½ D: Arthur Lubin. Brenda Joyce, Gale Sondergaard, Kirby Grant, Rondo Hatton, Milburn Stone, Hobart Cavanaugh. Pitiiful waste of fine actress Sondergaard in campy thriller with zero relation to earlier Sherlock Holmes feature. ▼

Spies (1928-German) 143m. ½ D: Fritz Lang. Rudolf Klein-Rogge, Gerda Maurus, Willy Fritsch, Lupu Pick, Fritz Rasp. Silent spy-thriller still packs a wallop as government agent Fritsch determines to thwart seemingly-respectable Klein-Rogge, a wheelchair-bound master-fiend with an uncanny resemblance to Lenin! One of Lang's early masterpieces, aka SPIONE. Restored in 2004, eclipsing 90m. prints that circulated for years. ▼●●

Spies à Go Go SEE: Nasty Rabbit, The

Spies Like Us (1985) C-109m.  D: John Landis. Chevy Chase, Dan Aykroyd, Steve Forrest, Donna Dixon, Bruce Davison, William Prince, Bernie Casey, Tom Hatten, Matt Frewer. Chase and Aykroyd become government spies—never dreaming that they've been set up as decoys. Engagingly silly comedy patterned after the Hope-Crosby ROAD pictures, with at least one pertinent cameo appearance and minor roles filled by a number of film directors (Michael Apted, Constantin Costa-Gavras, Joel Coen, Sam Raimi, Martin Brest, Bob Swaim, Terry Gilliam, Ray Harryhausen). Written by Aykroyd, Lowell Ganz, and Babaloo Mandel, from a story by Aykroyd and Dave Thomas. [PG] ▼●●

Spike of Bensonhurst (1988) C-91m.  D: Paul Morrissey. Sasha Mitchell, Ernest Borgnine, Anne DeSalvo, Sylvia Miles, Geraldine Smith, Maria Patillo, Talisa Soto. Blah Mafia comedy with Mitchell as an ambitious Brooklyn street kid who dreams of becoming a boxing champ—and finds himself in trouble when he courts the daughter of the local mob boss (Borgnine). Ethnic stereotypes abound. [R] ▼●●

Spikes Gang, The (1974) C-96m. *½ D: Richard Fleischer. Lee Marvin, Ron Howard, Charlie Martin Smith, Arthur Hunnicutt, Noah Beery, Gary Grimes. Veteran gunfighter turns a trio of runaway boys into bank robbers; old-hat storyline has humor, but not much else. [PG]

Spinal Tap SEE: This Is Spinal Tap

Spinout (1966) C-90m. ½ D: Norman Taurog. Elvis Presley, Shelley Fabares, Diane McBain, Deborah Walley, Cecil Kellaway, Una Merkel, Warren Berlinger, Carl Betz. Typical Presley vehicle finds the singer racing autos and wooing the girls. Elvis' songs ("Beach Shack," "Adam and Evil," "Smorgasbord") are far from his best. Panavision. ▼●●

Spiral Road, The (1962) C-145m. *½ D: Robert Mulligan. Rock Hudson, Burl Ives, Gena Rowlands, Geoffrey Keen, Will Kuluva, Neva Patterson. Jan de Hartog's novel about love, leprosy, and lunacy in Java makes for an interminable moviegoing experience. Hudson at his most wooden, Mulligan's direction at its most impersonal. ▽

Spiral Staircase, The (1946) 83m. ½ D: Robert Siodmak. Dorothy McGuire, George Brent, Ethel Barrymore, Kent Smith, Rhonda Fleming, Gordon Oliver, Elsa Lanchester, Rhys Williams, Sara Allgood. Superb Hitchcock-like thriller with unforgettable performance by McGuire as mute servant in eerie household which may be harboring a killer. Well scripted by Mel Dinelli, adapting Ethel Lina White's novel Some Must Watch. Remade in 1975. ▼●●

Spiral Staircase, The (1975-British) C-89m.  D: Peter Collinson. Jacqueline Bisset, Christopher Plummer, Sam Wanamaker, Mildred Dunnock, Gayle Hunnicutt, John Phillip Law, Elaine Stritch. Stellar cast gives Ethel Lina White's mystery novel Some Must Watch another go in a somewhat mechanical fashion that can't touch the 1946 version. ▼

Spirit, The (2008) C-108m. *½ D: Frank Miller. Gabriel Macht, Eva Mendes, Scarlett Johansson, Samuel L. Jackson, Sarah Paulson, Dan Lauria, Paz Vega, Eric Balfour, Jaime King, Louis Lombardi. Graphic novelist Miller's first solo foray into directing (after collaborating on SIN CITY) is an awkward, annoyingly illogical live-action adaptation of Will Eisner's celebrated comic strip about a deceased cop who returns to life as a masked vigilante. The storyline is a mishmash, the direction is clunky, and you may well cringe at the sight of Jackson (as The Octopus, the Spirit's arch-nemesis) decked out in Nazi regalia. Miller and Eisner fans will be sorely disappointed. Miller also scripted. HD Widescreen. [PG-13] ▽

Spirited Away (2001-Japanese) C-125m. ½ D: Hayao Miyazaki. Voices of Daveigh Chase, Jason Marsden, Suzanne Pleshette, Michael Chiklis, Lauren Holly, John Ratzenberger, Tara Strong. While moving to a new home in the suburbs, a sullen, easily frightened 10-year-old and her parents discover a hillside tunnel that leads into an enchanted world. Japanese animation maestro Miyazaki's abiding interest in the supernatural and the inner lives of children

(especially little girls) is in full flower here. A wondrous work of art with an astonishing array of gorgeous images and fantastically imagined creatures, this won an Oscar for Best Animated Film. The English dubbing, produced by TOY STORY director John Lasseter, is outstanding. [PG] ▼ ▽

Spirit Is Willing, The (1967) C-100m. *½ D: William Castle. Sid Caesar, Vera Miles, Barry Gordon, John McGiver, Cass Daley, Mary Wickes, Jesse White, Harvey Lembeck, Jay C. Flippen, Jill Townsend, John Astin, Doodles Weaver. Some good comedy performers are thrown away in stupid comedy about Caesar and family's summer house that happens to be haunted; based on Nathaniel Benchley's The Visitors.

Spirit of 76, The (1991) C-82m. *½ D: Lucas Reiner. David Cassidy, Olivia d'Abo, Geoff Hoyle, Leif Garrett, Jeff McDonald, Steve McDonald, Barbara Bain, Julie Brown, Tommy Chong, Iron Eyes Cody, Devo, Carl Reiner, Rob Reiner, Moon Zappa. Three time-travelers from 2176 trying to find the true basis of America think they've arrived in 1776, but it's really 1976. Limp spoof of the 1970s simply catalogues the fads, styles, and fashions. Director and cowriter Reiner is Carl's son, Rob's brother. Sofia Coppola did the costumes. [PG-13] ▼ ▽

Spirit of St. Louis, The (1957) C-138m.  D: Billy Wilder. James Stewart, Patricia Smith, Murray Hamilton, Marc Connelly. Long but inventive presentation of Lindbergh's flight across the Atlantic is mainly a tour de force by Stewart, backed by good Franz Waxman music score. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Spirit of the Beehive (1973-Spanish) C-95m. ½ D: Victor Erice. Fernando Fernan Gomez, Teresa Gimpera, Ana Torrent, Isabel Telleria. Torrent is unforgettable as a lonely little village girl who sees Boris Karloff's FRANKENSTEIN in the town hall and becomes entranced by the monster. Her sister convinces her the monster is still alive, and she treks off into the countryside to find him. Delicate and haunting, a masterful piece of filmmaking. ▼ ▽

Spirit of the Dead SEE: Asphyx, The Spirits of the Dead (1968-French-Italian) C-117m. ½ D: Roger Vadim, Louis Malle, Federico Fellini. Brigitte Bardot, Alain Delon, Jane Fonda, Terence Stamp, Peter Fonda, James Robertson Justice. Narrated by Vincent Price. Three separate Poe tales, impossible to describe, delightful to watch, done with skill and flair by three top directors. [R] ▼●●

Spirit: Stallion of the Cimarron (2002) C-83m.  D: Kelly Asbury, Lorna Cook. Voices of Matt Damon, James Cromwell, Daniel Studi. Autobiography of a wild horse who loves running free through the vast expanse of the West, until he's captured and brought to a U.S. cavalry fort. There he meets his one human friend, a Lakota Indian. Beautifully designed, with superior animation (the horse characters all express themselves in pantomime) and many exciting moments; fine, vigorous family fare. Songs by Bryan Adams. Digital wide-screen. [G]▼

Spite Marriage (1929) 75m.  D: Edward Sedgwick. Buster Keaton, Dorothy Sebastian, Edward Earle, Leila Hyams, William Bechtel. Keaton's last silent is also one of his most underrated, a very funny film about a pants-presser who becomes infatuated with a stage actress. Plottier than usual for Buster, but full of great set pieces. Remade as I DOOD IT. ▼●●

Spitfire (1934) 88m.  D: John Cromwell. Katharine Hepburn, Robert Young, Ralph Bellamy, Martha Sleeper, Sara Haden, Sidney Toler, High Ghery (Bob Burns). Bizarre, boring melodrama with Hepburn sorely miscast in one of her oddest roles: Trigger, a spirited, single-minded but superstition-laden Ozark tomboy who attracts married engineer Young. This one's only for the curious. ▼

Spitfire (1942-British) 117m.  D: Leslie Howard. Leslie Howard, David Niven, Rosamund John, Roland Culver, Anne Firth, David Home, J. H. Roberts, Derrick de Marney, Bernard Miles, Patricia Medina. Howard plays R.J. Mitchell, who developed the ace fighting-plane Spitfire which later became one of the Allies' most valuable WW2 assets. Good biographical drama. Howard's last screen appearance. Original title: THE FIRST OF THE FEW. U.S. version cut to 90m. ▼

Spitfire Grill, The (1996) C-116m. ½ D: Lee David Zlotoff. Alison Elliott, Ellen Burstyn, Marcia Gay Harden, Will Patton, Kieran Mulroney, Gailard Sartain. Ex-convict Elliott arrives in the small, gossip-driven town of Gilead, Maine, and goes to work for Burstyn at the title-named restaurant, hoping to rebuild her life. Sincere, well-acted story goes awry toward the end with contrivance and melodrama; still, Elliott and Burstyn give memorable performances. Written by the director. Later an off-Broadway musical. [PG-13] ▼●●

Splash (1984) C-111m.  D: Ron Howard. Daryl Hannah, Tom Hanks, John Candy, Eugene Levy, Dody Goodman, Richard B. Shull, Shekya Greene, Howard Morris. Entertaining comedy about a man who falls in love with a mermaid, who's played to perfection by Hannah. Buoyant cast, winning gags make this a lot of fun, despite a tendency toward overlength. Script by Lowell Ganz, Babaloo Mandel, and Bruce Jay Friedman. Followed by a TV movie sequel in 1988. [PG] ▼●●

Splendor (1999) C-93m. ½ D: Gregg Araki. Kathleen Robertson, Johnathon

Schaech, Matt Keeslar, Kelly Macdonald, Eric Mabius. Amusing modern-day romantic comedy with a twist: a willing heroine can't decide between two handsome guys she meets the same evening, so she winds up living with both of them. After such a spiky start, it's too bad it winds up being so conventional . . . but the spirits are high and the cast is engaging. Almost benign for filmmaker Araki. [R]▼

Splendor in the Grass (1961) C-124m.  D: Elia Kazan. Natalie Wood, Warren Beatty, Pat Hingle, Audrey Christie, Sean Garrison, Sandy Dennis, Phyllis Diller, Barbara Loden, Zohra Lampert, Gary Lockwood. Sentimental sudser by William Inge (who won an Oscar) about emotionally broken girl (Wood) rebuilding her life; set in late 1920s Midwest. Film debuts of Beatty, Dennis, and Diller; look for Inge as the minister. Remade for TV in 1981. ▼●●

Split, The (1968) C-91m. *½ D: Gordon Flemyng. Jim Brown, Diahann Carroll, Julie Harris, Ernest Borgnine, Gene Hackman, Jack Klugman, Warren Oates, James Whitmore, Donald Sutherland. Cast is good, but it's no match for routine, clichéd story of plot to rob L.A. Coliseum during a Rams game. Only for those who love caper movies. Panavision. [R]

Split Decisions (1988) C-95m.  D: David Drury. Gene Hackman, Craig Sheffer, Jeff Fahey, Jennifer Beals, John McLiam, Eddie Velez, Carmine Caridi, James Tolkan. Violent family drama set amidst the world of boxing and three generations of prize-fighters. Basically just another ROCKY ripoff, but Hackman, in a supporting role, stands out as usual. [R]▼●●

Split Image (1982) C-111m.  D: Ted Kotcheff. Michael O'Keefe, Karen Allen, Peter Fonda, James Woods, Elizabeth Ashley, Brian Dennehy, Ronnie Scribner, Pamela Ludwig, Michael Sacks, Peter Horton. Solid drama of nice middle-class boy (superbly played by O'Keefe) who falls for Allen and is brainwashed into joining a cult headed by Fonda. Top performances by Dennehy as O'Keefe's father, Woods as a deprogrammer. Panavision. [R]▼

Split Second (1992-U.S.-British) C-90m. *½ D: Tony Maylam. Rutger Hauer, Kim Cattrall, Neil Duncan, Alun Armstrong, Pete Postlethwaite, Ian Drury, Robert Eaton, Michael J. Pollard. In London's near future, tough cop Hauer is after the serial killer who murdered his partner and is saddled with new partner Duncan. The murderer is an ALIEN-like monster, the plot mashes together fantasy and sci-fi elements, and the movie is a derivative, tedious mess. Won't someone rescue Hauer from this kind of junk? [R]▼●●

Splitting Heirs (1993-U.S.-British) C-86m.  D: Robert Young. Rick Moranis, Eric Idle, Barbara Hershey, Catherine Zeta

Jones, John Cleese, Sadie Frost, Stratford Johns. A loser (Idle) learns he's really a duke and tries to reclaim his title from the bogus heir (Moranis). Strained comedy in the Monty Python tradition, filled with puns, sight gags, and silliness—only some of which is funny. Idle executive produced and coscripted. [PG-13]▼●●

Spoiled Children (1977-French) C-113m.  D: Bertrand Tavernier. Michel Piccoli, Christine Pascal, Michel Aumont, Gerard Jugnot, Arlette Bonnard, Georges Riquier, Gerard Zimmerman. Enticing, penetrating tale which examines, among other issues, the particular problems faced by artists—in this case, a famous but blocked writer-director (Piccoli) who becomes involved with a younger woman (Pascal) and in a tenants' battle with his apartment building's abusive landlord. Fine performances. The semi-autobiographical script was penned by Tavernier with Pascal and Charlotte Dubreuil. ▼

Spoilers, The (1942) 87m. ½ D: Ray Enright. Marlene Dietrich, Randolph Scott, John Wayne, Margaret Lindsay, Harry Carey, Richard Barthelmess. Retelling of famous Yukon tale has good cast but thuds out as average Western, with Dietrich as stereotyped saloon gal. Previously filmed in 1914, 1923, and 1930, then again in 1955.▼●●

Spoilers, The (1955) C-84m. ½ D: Jesse Hibbs. Anne Baxter, Jeff Chandler, Rory Calhoun, Barbara Britton, Raymond Walburn. Fifth filming of Rex Beach's Klondike actioner; elaborate fight scene, better than ever.

SpongeBob SquarePants Movie, The (2004) C-87m.  D: Stephen Hillenburg. Voices of Tom Kenny, Bill Fagerbakke, Clancy Brown, Rodger Bumpass, Mr. Lawrence, Alec Baldwin, Scarlett Johansson, Jeffrey Tambor. Popular (and absorbent) TV cartoon character hits the big screen as he and starfish pal Patrick search for King Neptune's crown, which has been stolen by the nefarious Plankton as part of his diabolical Plan Z. The animation may just be serviceable, but the story and overall mood are unapologetically, contagiously goofy, and filled with moments of inspired silliness. Stay through the end credits. David Hasselhoff appears (naturally) as himself. [PG] ▼●

Spontaneous Combustion (1990) C-97m. *½ D: Tobe Hooper. Brad Dourif, Cynthia Bain, Jon Cypher, William Prince, Dey Young, Melinda Dillon, Dale Dye, Dick Butkus, John Landis. Paranoia fuels this misfired horror thriller dealing with spontaneous human combustion, allegedly a reality. Here, however, the blazing deaths are due to the FIRESTARTER-like mental powers of Dourif, the result of yet another evil government experiment. Badly paced and ludicrous. Cowritten by the director. [R]▼●●

Spook Who Sat By the Door, The (1973) C-102m. *½ D: Ivan Dixon. Lawrence Cook, Paula Kelly, Janet League, J. A. Preston, Paul Butler. Cook, token black in the CIA, uses his knowledge to organize bands of teenaged guerrillas to bring whiteness to his knees. Offbeat but offensive, and way too talky for cheap action fare. [PG]▼●

Sporting Blood (1931) 82m. ½ D: Charles Brabin. Clark Gable, Ernest Torrence, Madge Evans, Lew Cody, Marie Prevost, J. Farrell MacDonald. Minor but likable film about a thoroughbred horse and its various owners; Gable is a tough-guy gambler ("C'mere, woman," he says to Evans, grabbing her for a clinch). Beautifully photographed by Harold Rosson.

Spot SEE: Dogpound Shuffle

Spring and Port Wine (1970-British) C-101m.  D: Peter Hammond. James Mason, Susan George, Diana Coupland, Marjorie Rhodes, Arthur Lowe. Unpretentious little gem about the generation gap in a lower-middle-class English family. Mason has one of his better later roles as the strict patriarch.

Spring Break (1983) C-101m. BOMB D: Sean S. Cunningham. David Knell, Steve Bassett, Perry Lang, Paul Land, Richard B. Shull, Corinne Alphen. Life among the party-animals who trek to Fort Lauderdale during Easter vacation. Where are Frankie and Annette when you really need them? [R]▼●

Springfield Rifle (1952) C-93m. ½ D: Andre de Toth. Gary Cooper, Phyllis Thaxter, David Brian, Lon Chaney, Jr., Paul Kelly, Phil Carey, Guinn Williams. Unmemorable Cooper fare, with Gary joining up with outlaws to determine who's stealing government arms.▼●

Spring Forward (2000) C-110m. ½ D: Tom Gilroy. Ned Beatty, Liev Schreiber, Campbell Scott, Ian Hart, Peri Gilpin, Bill Raymond, Catherine Kellner, Hallee Hirsh. Quietly powerful chamber piece about a Connecticut parks maintenance man and his new helper, a young hothead just out of prison. Perceptive drama in which each vignette reveals another layer of the characters' personalities as their friendship deepens from one season to the next. Beatty and Schreiber are simply great. Feature-film writing and directing debut for actor/playwright/theater director Gilroy. [R]▼●

Spring Parade (1940) 89m.  D: Henry Koster. Deanna Durbin, Robert Cummings, Mischa Auer, Henry Stephenson, Butch and Buddy, Anne Gwynne. Delightful Austrian fluff with Durbin romancing Cummings, working for baker S. Z. Sakall, dancing with wacky Auer, and singing, of course.●

Springtime in the Rockies (1942) C-91m.  D: Irving Cummings. Betty Grable,

John Payne, Carmen Miranda, Cesar Romero, Charlotte Greenwood, Edward Everett Horton, Jackie Gleason. Near-definitive 1940s Fox musical: Grable at her prettiest, Miranda at her silliest (doing a Brazilian "Chattanooga Choo Choo"), Technicolor at its lushest, and Harry James and His Band at their best, with Helen Forrest introducing "I Had the Craziest Dream." The "plot"—about a bickering Broadway duo—is neither too tiresome nor too intrusive. Good fun all the way. ▼●

Sprung (1997) C-105m. ★½ D: Rusty Cundieff. Tisha Campbell, Rusty Cundieff, Paula Jai Parker, Joe Torry, John Witherspoon, Jennifer Lee, Clarence Williams III, Isabel Sanford, Sherman Hemsley. Forgettable and hopelessly predictable plot about a young couple who try planning the perfect wedding for their friends. Unbelievable situations, incredibly hokey sentiment overcome this amateurish attempt at creating a '90s screwball comedy. Preston Sturges is probably spinning in his grave. [R] ▼●●

Spun (2003) C-96m. BOMB D: Jonas Akerlund. Jason Schwartzman, John Leguizamo, Brittany Murphy, Mena Suvari, Patrick Fugit, Peter Stormare, Alexis Arquette, Deborah Harry, Eric Roberts, Mickey Rourke. Schwartzman enters a whole new world when he meets junkie Murphy at the home of dealer Leguizamo. Music-video-style treatment of the drug culture is nonjudgmental, but so scummy that it's hard to find anything redeeming about the characters or the film itself. But if you really want to see Suvari sitting on the toilet, this is the movie for you! Score by Billy Corgan, who also appears in a cameo along with Ron Jeremy, Tony Kaye, China Chow, and Rob Halford. [R] ▼●

Spy Game (2001-U.S.-German) C-127m. ★★ D: Tony Scott. Robert Redford, Brad Pitt, Catherine McCormack, Stephen Dillane, Larry Bryggman, Marianne Jean-Baptiste, David Hemmings, Charlotte Rampling. As he's about to retire from the CIA, Redford learns that his onetime protégé is being held by a hostile government and determines to save him—which, due to political complications, is not the Agency's priority. The men's relationship is then traced in an ultimately wearying parade of flashbacks. Redford and Pitt are in fine form and work well together, but the movie rambles, and Scott's hyperactive visual style (replete with meaningless helicopter shots) cannot compensate. Panavision. [R] ▼●

Spy Hard (1996) C-81m. ★★ D: Rick Friedberg. Leslie Nielsen, Nicollette Sheridan, Charles Durning, Marcia Gay Harden, Barry Bostwick, Andy Griffith, John Ales, Elya Baskin, Mason Gamble, Carlos Laucha, Stephanie Romanov, Clyde Kusatsu, Julie Brown, Eddie Deezen, Julie Payne, Thom Sharp. Mild James Bond spoof with

Nielsen as Agent WD-40, locking horns with master criminal General Rancor (Griffith). Steady stream of gags (ribbing everything from HOME ALONE to TRUE LIES), mostly silly, sometimes funny, too often sloppy or misfired. Nielsen is much better than the material. Many familiar faces in surprise cameos. Best of all: Weird Al Yankovic's title sequence and song. Nielsen also coexecutive-produced. [PG-13] ▼●●

Spy in Black, The (1939-British) 82m. ★★★ D: Michael Powell. Conrad Veidt, Sebastian Shaw, Valerie Hobson, Marius Goring, June Duprez, Helen Haye, Cyril Raymond, Hay Petrie. Intriguing espionage melodrama set in WW1 Scotland with Veidt as German naval officer/spy and Hobson a charming double agent. Nice surprise twists in story, with bittersweet romance worked in. That's Bernard Miles as the desk clerk in the opening scene. Scripted by Emeric Pressburger and Roland Pertwee; first collaboration of Powell and Pressburger. Original U.S. title: U-BOAT 29. ▼●●

Spy Kids (2001) C-86m. ★★★ D: Robert Rodriguez. Antonio Banderas, Carla Gugino, Alexa Vega, Daryl Sabara, Alan Cumming, Tony Shalhoub, Teri Hatcher, Cheech Marin, Robert Patrick, George Clooney. A brother and sister discover that their parents are secret agents when Mom and Dad are kidnapped and they must come to the rescue. High-flying, high-tech fantasy adventure has enough humor and imagination to entertain both parents and kids, with delightful performances by Banderas and Cumming. Two neat songs by Danny Elfman add to the fun. A rare family film that's cool without being crude. Rodriguez also scripted and edited. Followed by two sequels. [PG] ▼●

Spy Kids 2: The Island of Lost Dreams (2002) C-99m. ★★★ D: Robert Rodriguez. Antonio Banderas, Carla Gugino, Alexa Vega, Daryl Sabara, Emily Osment, Matt O'Leary, Mike Judge, Ricardo Montalban, Holland Taylor, Christopher McDonald, Danny Trejo, Cheech Marin, Steve Buscemi, Alan Cumming, Bill Paxton, Tony Shalhoub. Entertaining sequel focuses more on the kids, and their new, pint-sized competitors in the junior spy game, as they try to unlock the secret of a mysterious island. Banderas has some very funny moments as the prideful dad who also has to suffer from the meddling of his know-it-all in-laws (perfectly played by Taylor and Montalban). Rodriguez again provides a panoply of outlandish special-effects creatures—with a nice nod to Ray Harryhausen. [PG] ▼●

Spy Kids 3-D: Game Over (2003) C-89m. ★★½ D: Robert Rodriguez. Antonio Banderas, Carla Gugino, Alexa Vega, Daryl Sabara, Ricardo Montalban, Holland Taylor, Sylvester Stallone, Mike Judge, Matt O'Leary, Emily Osment, Cheech Marin,

Courtney Jines, Bobby Edner, Ryan James Pinkston. Juni (Sabara) is recruited by the President of the U.S. to rescue his sister from the virtual-reality world created by the sinister Toymaker (Stallone). Helter-skelter story is a thin, if amiable, excuse for the kids to go through their paces in a video-game environment. Stallone has fun with multiple identities, and there are cameos by former series costars (George Clooney, Tony Shalhoub, Alan Cumming, Steve Buscemi, Danny Trejo, Bill Paxton) as well as Salma Hayek and Elijah Wood. The parents barely appear in this one, but grandfather Montalban is genuinely heroic. Rodriguez wrote, edited, photographed, coproduced, did the music and production design, and was co-visual effects supervisor. [PG] ▼

S*P*Y*S (1974) C-87m. BOMB D: Irvin Kershner. Donald Sutherland, Elliott Gould, Zouzou, Joss Ackland, Shane Rimmer, Vladak Sheybal. Sutherland-Gould teaming fails to regenerate MASH electricity in a good director's worst film. Laughless CIA spoof about the defection of a Russian dancer is unworthy of anyone's time. [PG] ▼

Spy Who Came In from the Cold, The (1965) 112m. *½ D: Martin Ritt. Richard Burton, Claire Bloom, Oskar Werner, Peter Van Eyck, George Voskovec, Sam Wanamaker, Cyril Cusack, Michael Hordern, Bernard Lee. John le Carré's potent account of a Cold War spy's existence—minus glamorous trappings of movie cliché. Burton is excellent as embittered agent at the end of his career. Scripted by Paul Dehn and Guy Trosper. ▼

Spy Who Loved Me, The (1977) C-125m. *½ D: Lewis Gilbert. Roger Moore, Barbara Bach, Curt Jurgens, Richard Kiel, Caroline Munro, Bernard Lee, Lois Maxwell, Desmond Llewelyn. Rousing, lavishly produced James Bond adventure with wily 007 joining forces with a seductive Russian agent to quash arch-villain Stromberg's (Jurgens) plans for world destruction. At his best doing battle with a persistent steel-toothed goon, menacingly played by seven-foot-two-inch Kiel. Grand fun for one and all; Carly Simon sings Marvin Hamlisch's theme, "Nobody Does It Better." Panavision. [PG] ▼

Spy with a Cold Nose, The (1966-British) C-93m.  D: Daniel Petrie. Laurence Harvey, Daliah Lavi, Lionel Jeffries, Eric Portman, Denholm Elliott, Colin Blakely, Paul Ford. Spoof on secret agent movies. British agents plant bug in bulldog Disraeli, gift to Russian ambassador. Cast tries to keep story afloat. ▼

Spy With My Face, The (1966) C-88m. *½ D: John Newland. Robert Vaughn, Santa Berger, David McCallum, Leo G. Carroll. Another expanded Man From U.N.C.L.E. TV series entry, with Vaughn matching wits with his double (working for foreign powers); Berger is the enemy femme fatale.

Squanto: A Warrior's Tale (1994) C-101m. * D: Xavier Koller. Adam Beach, Mandy Patinkin, Michael Gambon, Nathaniel Parker, Eric Schweig, Donal Donnelly, Stuart Pankin, Alex Norton, Irene Bedard. Thoughtful, painstakingly observed Disney yarn which follows the plight of a 17th-century American Indian (Beach) who is abducted by British traders and taken back to England. At the scenario's core are Squanto's conflicts with (and spiritual similarities to) some reclusive monks. A film to be savored by children and adults alike. [PG] ▼

Square Dance (1987) C-112m. ½ D: Daniel Petrie. Jason Robards, Jane Alexander, Winona Ryder, Rob Lowe, Deborah Richter, Guich Kooch. Top-notch performances bolster this much too leisurely look at a Texas teenage girl's coming of age, as she leaves her dour grandfather's farm to be with her feisty mom in Fort Worth. Alexander (who coproduced with fellow actor Charles Haid) is a standout as the mother; Lowe effects a real change of pace playing a retarded man befriended by Ryder. Shown on TV as HOME IS WHERE THE HEART IS. [PG-13] ▼

Square Jungle, The (1955) 86m. ½ D: Jerry Hopper. Tony Curtis, Pat Crowley, Ernest Borgnine, Paul Kelly, Jim Backus. Overly familiar boxing yarn with Curtis the fighter on the way up.

Squeaker, The (1965-German) 95m. ½ D: Alfred Vohrer. Heinz Drache, Eddi Arent, Klaus Kinski, Barbara Ruttig. Overly complex actioner with a variety of plots spinning from action of underworld selling off proceeds of diamond robbery. From an Edgar Wallace novel previously filmed in 1930 and 1937. Ultrascope. ▼

Squeeze, The (1980-Italian) C-100m. *½ D: Anthony M. Dawson (Antonio Margheriti). Lee Van Cleef, Karen Black, Edward Albert, Lionel Stander, Robert Alda, Angelo Infanti. Good cast wasted in humdrum caper film about a retired thief (Van Cleef) breaking open one last safe. Filmed in N.Y.C. [R] ▼

Squeeze, The (1987) C-101m. BOMB D: Roger Young. Michael Keaton, Rae Dawn Chong, Liane Langland, Leslie Bevis, John Davidson, Meat Loaf, Ronald Guttman. Dreadful comedy, almost completely devoid of laughs, with Keaton as a con man who gets involved in murder and mayhem. Davidson plays a slick but corrupt TV lottery host. [PG-13] ▼

Squeeze (1997) C-89m.  D: Robert Patton-Spruill. Tyrone Burton, Eddie Cutanda, Phuong Van Duong, Geoffrey Rhue, Russell G. Jones, Leigh Williams. Three Boston ghetto youths are caught between the violent gang and drug life on the streets and a promise of hope and a better life found in their local youth center. The conflict the teens go through is well played out with terrific performances, especially Burton's, but the dialogue is sometimes stilted and the ending too pat. Great visual style; shot on location in Boston in 1995. [R]▼

Squid and the Whale, The (2005) C-88m.

½ D: Noah Baumbach. Jeff Daniels, Laura Linney, Jesse Eisenberg, Owen Kline, Anna Paquin, William Baldwin. Intimate look at a family coming apart at the seams in 1980s Brooklyn. The two boys, aged 12 and 16, don't know what to make of the rift in their parents' relationship; he's a self-absorbed novelist, given to opinionated pronouncements and fierce competition; she's a loving mother who's coming into her own as a writer. Youthful angst and the dissolution of a relationship have seldom been better portrayed. Searing, semiautobiographical drama written by Baumbach. Everyone is good, but Daniels scores a knockout. Young Kline is the son of Kevin Kline and Phoebe Cates. [R]▼

Squirm (1976) C-92m.  D: Jeff Lieberman.

Don Scardino, Patricia Percy, R. A. Dow, Jean Sullivan, Peter MacLean. Above-average horror outing builds to good shock sequences: when power line falls to the ground on rainy Georgia night, it drives large, slimy sandworms from the ground, which terrorize small town. [PG—edited from original R rating]▼

Squizzly Taylor (1982-Australian) C-89m.

 D: Kevin Dobson. David Atkins, Jacki Weaver, Alan Cassell, Michael Long, Kim Lewis, Steve Bisley. Atkins shines as the title character, a famous gangster in 1920s Melbourne. Enjoyable, with the era colorfully re-created.▼

Sssssss (1973) C-99m.  D: Bernard L. Kowalski.

Strother Martin, Dirk Benedict, Heather Menzies, Richard B. Shull, Tim O'Connor, Jack Ging. Well-done horror tale of doctor who finds a way of transforming man into King Cobra. Exceptional job by makeup master John Chambers. [PG]▼

Stacey (1973) C-79m. *½ D: Andy Sidaris.

Anne Randall, Alan Landers, James Westmoreland, Cristina Raines, Anitra Ford, Marjorie Bennett. Voluptuous former Playmate Randall stars as near-superwoman private eye on absurdly complex case involving murder, blackmail, and a Moonie-like cult. Very sexy and violent, but not very good, with grating, obnoxious score by jazz veteran Don Randi. Aka STACEY AND HER GANGBUSTERS. [R]▼

Stacking (1987) C-109m.  D: Martin Rosen.

Christine Lahti, Frederic Forrest, Megan Follows, Jason Gedrick, Ray Baker, Peter Coyote, James Gammon, Kaiulani Lee, Jacqueline Brookes, Irene Daily. Some fine performers (and performances) are wasted in this boring, ever so obvious account of the various experiences and troubles of a young teen (Follows), growing up in the rural West in the early 1950s. More or less a clone of the far superior DESERT BLOOM. Originally titled SEASON OF DREAMS. [PG]▼

Stacy's Knights (1983) C-95m. ½ D:

Jim Wilson. Andra Millian, Kevin Costner, Eve Lilih, Mike Reynolds, Garth Howard, Ed Semenza. Millian is Plain Jane struck with blackjack gambling fever who recruits a squad of sharpies to break a casino after her young mentor (Costner) is killed by the casino's goons. Unexciting B-movie offers insight into the world of professional gambling and features a flavorful performance by Costner in his first leading role. (Wilson and screenwriter Michael Blake later reteamed with Costner to make DANCES WITH WOLVES.) [PG]▼

Stage Beauty (2004-U.S.-British-German)

C-105m. ½ D: Richard Eyre.

Billy Crudup, Claire Danes, Rupert Everett, Tom Wilkinson, Ben Chaplin, Hugh Bonneville, Richard Griffiths, Edward Fox, Zoë Tapper. In 17th-century England, the most beautiful and celebrated actress on the stage is a man, Ned Kynaston (Crudup). When the whimsical King Charles II repeals the ban forbidding women from acting, Kynaston is not just unemployable; he is crushed. Colorful, well-cast period piece doesn't completely convince us that its central character (and his sexual confusion) is all that interesting. Screenplay by Jeffrey Hatcher, from his play Complete Female Stage Beauty. Super 35. [R]▼

Stagecoach (1939) 96m. * D: John Ford.

Claire Trevor, John Wayne, Andy Devine, John Carradine, Thomas Mitchell, Louise Platt, George Bancroft, Donald Meek, Berton Churchill, Tim Holt, Tom Tyler, Chris-Pin Martin, Francis Ford, Jack Pennick. One of the great American films, and a landmark in the maturing of the Western, balancing character study (as disparate passengers travel together on the same stagecoach) and peerless action (in a lengthy Indian attack, featuring Yakima Canutt's famous stuntwork). Also the film that propelled John Wayne to genuine stardom. Mitchell won an Oscar as the drunken doctor, as did the music score. Script by Dudley Nichols, from Ernest Haycox's story "Stage to Lordsburg" (whose plot is reminiscent of Guy de Maupassant's Boule de Suif). Filmed in Ford's beloved Monument Valley on the Arizona-Utah border. Remade in 1966 and as a TVM in 1986. Also shown in computer-colored version.▼

Stagecoach (1966) C-115m. ½ D: Gordon Douglas.

Ann-Margret, Alex Cord, Red Buttons, Michael Connors, Bing Crosby, Bob Cummings, Van Heflin, Slim Pickens, Stefanie Powers, Keenan Wynn.

Colorful, star-studded Western is OK, but can't hold a candle to the 1939 masterpiece. Overlong, with only occasional action scenes to liven it up. Wayne Newton sings the title song! CinemaScope.

Stage Door (1937) 90m. * D: Gregory La Cava. Katharine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers, Adolphe Menjou, Andrea Leeds, Gail Patrick, Constance Collier, Lucille Ball, Eve Arden, Ann Miller, Ralph Forbes, Franklin Pangborn, Jack Carson. Theatrical boarding house is setting for wonderful film, from Edna Ferber—George S. Kaufman play. Dynamite cast includes Hepburn as rich girl trying to succeed on her own, Menjou as propositioning producer, Leeds as hypersensitive actress, and several stars-to-be: Lucille Ball, Ann Miller, and Eve Arden. Scripted by Morrie Ryskind and Anthony Veiller. ▼●●

Stage Door Canteen (1943) 132m. ½ D: Frank Borzage. Cheryl Walker, William Terry, Marjorie Riordan, Lon McCallister, Margaret Early, Michael Harrison (Sunset Carson). Wartime story of romance between soldier and hostess at N.Y.C.'s fabled canteen is filled with cameos, walk-ons, speeches, and musical numbers by an incredible battery of stars, including Katharine Hepburn, Harpo Marx, Paul Muni, Helen Hayes, Benny Goodman, Count Basie, Edgar Bergen. Many prints run 93m. ▼●●

Stage Fright (1950) 110m. ½ D: Alfred Hitchcock. Marlene Dietrich, Jane Wyman, Michael Wilding, Richard Todd, Kay Walsh, Alastair Sim, Joyce Grenfell, Sybil Thorndike, Patricia Hitchcock. Drama student Wyman turns undercover sleuth when actress' husband is murdered; some exciting moments, but the Master misses on this one. Filmed in London with delightful British supporting cast; Marlene sings "The Laziest Gal in Town." ▼●●

Stage Struck (1958) C-95m. ½ D: Sidney Lumet. Henry Fonda, Susan Strasberg, Joan Greenwood, Christopher Plummer, Herbert Marshall. Faded remake of MORN-ING GLORY retelling the ascent of Broadway-bound actress. Supporting cast hampered by unconvincing Strasberg in lead role and by unreal theater world atmosphere. ▼●

Stage to Thunder Rock (1964) C-82m.  D: William F. Claxton. Barry Sullivan, Marilyn Maxwell, Lon Chaney, Jr., Scott Brady, John Agar, Keenan Wynn, Allan Jones. One of producer A. C. Lyles' hum-drum Westerns with veteran stars; this one has Sullivan as a sheriff who's put in the position of having to arrest the outlaw family that raised him. Techniscope.

Staircase (1969-British) C-100m.  D: Stanley Donen. Richard Burton, Rex Harrison, Cathleen Nesbitt, Beatrix Lehmann. Shock value of Burton and Harrison as a gay couple was all this film had going for it in 1969, and nothing has changed since then, except heightened sophistication of audiences. A curio, to be sure. Dudley Moore composed the score. Panavision. [R] Stairway to Heaven SEE: Matter of Life and Death, A

Stakeout (1987) C-115m.  D: John Badham. Richard Dreyfuss, Emilio Estevez, Aidan Quinn, Madeleine Stowe, Dan Lauria, Forest Whitaker, Ian Tracey, Earl Billings. While working with his partner on a stakeout, cop Dreyfuss falls in love with the woman he's supposed to be watching. Wildly improbable, and ultimately downright silly, but entertaining throughout, thanks to sharp dialogue and performances, and some big laughs. Dreyfuss and Estevez make a great team. Written by Jim Kouf. Followed by a sequel, ANOTHER STAKEOUT. [R] ▼●●

Stakeout on Dope Street (1958) 83m. *½ D: Irvin Kershner. Yale Wexler, Jonathan Haze, Morris Miller, Abby Dalton, Herschel Bernardi. Trio of youths discover cache of heroin, believing their futures will now be uncomplicated; good premise poorly executed.

Stalag 17 (1953) 120m. * D: Billy Wilder. William Holden, Don Taylor, Otto Preminger, Robert Strauss, Harvey Lembeck, Richard Erdman, Peter Graves, Neville Brand, Sig Ruman, Ross Bagdasarian, Gil Stratton, Jr. The pinnacle of all WW2 POW films. Holden (in Oscar-winning performance) is super-cynical sergeant suspected of being Nazi spy. Wilder brilliantly blends drama with comedy to show monotonous, anxiety-ridden life of POWs. Wonderful comic relief by Strauss and Lembeck (repeating their Broadway roles), plus superb turn by Preminger as Nazi camp commander. Scripted by Wilder and Edwin Blum, from Donald Bevan and Edmund Trzcinski's play. ▼●●

Stalker (1979-Russian) C/B&W-160m.  D: Andrei Tarkovsky. Alexander Kaidanovsky, Nikolai Grinko, Anatoli Solonitsin, Alice Friedlicht. Stark, eerie, cerebral story of title character, who guides intellectuals Grinko and Solonitsin through the "Zone," a mysterious, forbidden wasteland. Very slow but well acted and rewarding. ▼●

Stalking Moon, The (1969) C-109m.  D: Robert Mulligan. Gregory Peck, Eva Marie Saint, Robert Forster, Noland Clay, Russell Thorson, Frank Silvera. Army scout helps white woman who has lived with the Apaches to escape with her young half-breed son, while boy's father comes after them. Potentially interesting Western is both slick and dull; nice photography by Charles Lang. Panavision. [G] ▼●

Stallion Road (1947) 91m.  D: James V. Kern. Ronald Reagan, Alexis Smith, Zachary Scott, Peggy Knudsen, Patti Brady, Harry Davenport. Dedicated veterinarian

Reagan and novelist friend Scott vie for the affection of horse rancher Smith; low-key drama written by Stephen Longstreet.

Stamboul Quest (1934) 88m. ½ D: Sam Wood. Myrna Loy, George Brent, Lionel Atwill, C. Henry Gordon, Mischa Auer. Exotic combination of romance and intrigue with German spy Loy falling in love with American student Brent in WWI Turkey. Herman Mankiewicz's script based on true story also filmed as FRAULEIN DOKTOR.

Stand Alone (1985) C-90m.  D: Alan Beattie. Charles Durning, Pam Grier, James Keach, Bert Remsen, Barbara Sammeth, Lu Leonard, Luis Contreras. Vigilante opus has miscast Durning as a war vet who goes after Latino thugs who are preying on his neighborhood. Grier is wasted in a goody-two-shoes role. Spectacle of overwrought Durning running around in action scenes is unintentionally funny. [R]▼

Stand and Deliver (1987) C-105m. ½ D: Ramon Menendez. Edward James Olmos, Lou Diamond Phillips, Rosana de Soto, Andy Garcia, Will Gotay, Ingrid Oliu, Virginia Paris, Mark Eliot. Olmos gives a tour-de-force performance in this outstanding drama as a tough, demanding teacher who inspires his East L.A. barrio students to pass an Advanced Placement Calculus Test . . . and that's only the beginning of the story. Based on fact, with a screenplay by director Menendez and Tom Musca. This American Playhouse feature is a triumph for all concerned. [PG]▼●●

Standard Operating Procedure (2008) C-116m.  D: Errol Morris. Documentarian MORRIS follows up his Oscar-winning THE FOG OF WAR with this disturbing examination of the wartime scandal at Iraq's Abu Ghraib, the site of human torture and abuse of Iraqi prisoners by a group of American soldiers. Participants indicted themselves by recording all their atrocities with video and still cameras (although Morris also stages reenactments). Effective doc also features several interviews with the military personnel who took part. Resembles nothing so much as a horror film. Beware of extremely graphic images and re-creations that may be too stomach-churning for some viewers. [R]▼

Standard Time SEE: Anything But Love Stand by Me (1986) C-87m.  D: Rob Reiner. Wil Wheaton, River Phoenix, Corey Feldman, Jerry O'Connell, Kiefer Sutherland, Casey Siemaszko, John Cusack, Richard Dreyfuss. Affectionate Americana looking back at boyhood friendship and adventures in the 1950s (and narrated by Dreyfuss, representing author Stephen King, whose novella "The Body" is the basis for this film). Irresistible and wholly believable performances from all four youthful leads. Only complaint: the high volume of four-letter words, decidedly not characteristic of the 1950s. [R]▼●●

Stander (2003-Canadian-German-South African) C-116m.  D: Bronwen Hughes. Thomas Jane, Ashley Taylor, David O'Hara, Dexter Fletcher, Deborah Kara Unger, Marius Weyers. True account of South African police captain Andre Stander who, frustrated with his unwilling involvement in apartheid, becomes a notorious criminal, leading the Stander Gang on a string of daily robberies in the early '80s. Gripping story well told, with a strong performance by Jane in the title role. This might seem like hokum if it weren't based on a true story. [R]▼

Stand-In (1937) 91m.  D: Tay Garnett. Leslie Howard, Humphrey Bogart, Joan Blondell, Alan Mowbray, Marla Shelton, C. Henry Gordon, Jack Carson. Enjoyable spoof of Hollywood, with stuffy banker Howard sent to assess dwindling fortunes of Colossal Pictures, becoming involved with perky stand-in Blondell and mercurial producer Bogart to save company from ruin. Sags in second half.▼

Standing in the Shadows of Motown (2002) C-108m.  D: Paul Justman. Narrated by Andre Braugher. Entertaining documentary about the unsung musicians (known as The Funk Brothers) who helped to create the Motown sound in the 1950s, '60s, and '70s, and played on countless hit records. Newly staged concert sequences with contemporary singers like Joan Osborne, Meshell Ndegeocello, Ben Harper, Bootsyl Collins, Montell Jordan, and Chaka Khan are intercut with interviews of the still-vibrant players. Dramatic re-creations of remembered moments are weak, but the music is irresistible. Based on Allan Slutsky's book. [PG]▼

Stand Up and Be Counted (1972) C-99m. *½ D: Jackie Cooper. Jacqueline Bisset, Stella Stevens, Steve Lawrence, Gary Lockwood, Lee Purcell, Loretta Swit, Hector Elizondo. Touted as first film about Women's Lib; writer Bisset returns to home town, first becomes aware of abuses women must endure. Cardboard all the way; only standout is Stevens' comic performance. Script by Bernard Slade. [PG]

Stand Up and Cheer (1934) 69m.  D: Hamilton MacFadden. Warner Baxter, Madge Evans, James Dunn, Sylvia Froos, John Boles, Shirley Temple, Ralph Morgan, Aunt Jeimima, Mitchell and Durant, Nick (Dick) Foran, Nigel Bruce, Stepin Fetchit. Dismal musical fantasy about big-time show producer Baxter being named Secretary of Amusement by the President, to chase the country's Depression blues. Tough sledding until Shirley Temple shows up with Dunn to perform "Baby Take a Bow" (which helped make her a star). Originally released at 80m. Also shown in computer-colored version.▼

Stand Up and Fight (1939) 97m.  D: W. S. Van Dyke II. Wallace Beery, Robert Taylor, Florence Rice, Charles Bickford, Charley Grapewin, Selmer Jackson. OK Western with railroading pioneer Taylor meeting crisis after crisis, battling stubborn stage-rider Beery. James M. Cain was one of the writers.

Stanley (1972) C-106m.  D: William Grefe. Chris Robinson, Alex Rocco, Susan Carroll, Steve Alaimo, Mark Harris, Paul Avery. Classic depiction of the Vietnam veteran as a one-dimensional psycho: Robinson cannot relate to any other human being; his only friends are poisonous snakes, which he uses to gain revenge on anyone who mistreats him. WILLARD with snakes instead of rats. [PG]▼

Stanley & Iris (1990) C-104m. ½ D: Martin Ritt. Jane Fonda, Robert De Niro, Swoosie Kurtz, Martha Plimpton, Harley Cross, Jamey Sheridan, Feodor Chaliapin, Zohra Lampert, Loretta Devine, Julie Garfield. Beleaguered working-class Fonda, still grieving over the loss of her husband eight months before, chances to meet De Niro, a loner who harbors a terrible secret—he can't read. She winds up tutoring him, and they circle each other warily before deciding if they're in love. Story is flat and underdeveloped, but the screen presence and charm of two great stars make it worth watching. Panavision. [PG-13]▼

Stanley and Livingstone (1939) 101m.  D: Henry King. Spencer Tracy, Nancy Kelly, Richard Greene, Walter Brennan, Charles Coburn, Cedric Hardwicke, Henry Hull, Henry Travers, Miles Mander. Elaborate production with Tracy as determined reporter who searches turn-of-the-20th-century Africa for missing missionary (Hardwicke). Entertaining drama with beautifully understated performance by Tracy.▼

Star, The (1952) 89m. ½ D: Stuart Heisler. Bette Davis, Sterling Hayden, Natalie Wood, Warner Anderson, Minor Watson, June Travis. An Oscar-winning actress tries to deal with the fact that her career is over, her money is gone, and she must find some way to put her life together. Modest film, shot on locations all around L.A., has many moments of truth (and a typically compelling performance by Davis) to make up for its excesses.▼

Star! (1968) C-176m. ½ D: Robert Wise. Julie Andrews, Richard Crenna, Michael Craig, Daniel Massey, Robert Reed, Bruce Forsyth, Beryl Reid, Jenny Agutter, Tony LoBianco, Conrad Bain, Roy Scheider, Bernard Fox. Razzle-dazzle biography of stage star Gertrude Lawrence never rings true, but does have mammoth production numbers worth seeing (especially in color). Julie tries, but never comes across; Massey is amusing if affected as Noel Coward (his real-life godfather). After box office flop, film was trimmed to 120m.

and retitled THOSE WERE THE HAPPY TIMES. Todd-AO. [G]▼

Star Chamber, The (1983) C-109m. ½ D: Peter Hyams. Michael Douglas, Hal Holbrook, Yaphet Kotto, Sharon Gless, James B. Sicking, Joe Regalbutto, Don Calfa, DeWayne Jessie, Jack Kehoe. Young judge, frustrated by having to turn rapists and murderers free because of legal technicalities, is drawn into a secret judicial society. Well done, but too predictable, and ultimately too unbelievable, to really score. Panavision. [R]▼

Starcrash (1979-Italian) C-92m. *½ D: Lewis Coates (Luigi Cozzi). Marjoe Gortner, Caroline Munro, Christopher Plummer, David Hasselhoff, Robert Tessier, Joe Spinell, voice of Hamilton Camp. Grinning Gortner and sexy Munro are recruited to save the universe from destruction by bad-guy Spinell. Moronic sci-fi movie with variable special effects; unless you're a Munro fan, it's only good for a few laughs, nothing more. Aka FEMALE SPACE INVADERS. [PG]▼

Stardom (1999-Canadian-French) C-100m.  D: Denys Arcand. Jessica Paré, Dan Aykroyd, Charles Berling, Thomas Gibson, Frank Langella, Robert Lepage, Patrick Huard. Trenchant look at our media culture as an attractive young Canadian hockey player (Paré) is transformed into a model and then a celebrity. Dead-on satire seen through the "eyes" of superficial TV shows that cover the celebrity beat. Arcand scripted with J. Jacob Potashnik. [R]▼

Stardust (1975-British) C-107m. ½ D: Michael Apted. David Essex, Adam Faith, Larry Hagman, Keith Moon, Dave Edmunds, Ines Des Longchamps, Edd Byrnes. Powerful sequel to THAT'LL BE THE DAY follows amazing rise and fall of Beatles-like rock group and its lead singer (Essex). Candid, provocative, and utterly believable. [R]

Stardust (2007) C-125m.  D: Matthew Vaughn. Claire Danes, Michelle Pfeiffer, Robert De Niro, Charlie Cox, Sienna Miller, Ricky Gervais, Jason Flemyng, Rupert Everett, Peter O'Toole, Mark Strong, David Kelly; narrated by Ian McKellen. To prove his love for the fairest maiden in the land (Miller), our wide-eyed young hero (Cox) ventures into the forbidden kingdom of Stormhold to bring back a fallen star. The star has taken human form, however, and is being sought by others in the kingdom whose motives are not so pure—including a malevolent witch (played with gusto by Pfeiffer). Wondrously imaginative fantasy yarn, adapted from Neil Gaiman's novel, creates a world all its own and is dotted with colorful characters, but goes on far too long. Panavision. [PG-13]▼

Stardust Memories (1980) 91m.  D: Woody Allen. Woody Allen, Charlotte

Rambling, Jessica Harper, Marie-Christine Barrault, Tony Roberts, Daniel Stern, Amy Wright. Woody plays a character not unlike himself who's persuaded to attend a film-seminar weekend, at which he's hounded by fans, favor-seekers, groupies, studio executives, relatives, and lovers. Pointed, serio-comic look at fame and success—though many viewers found it simply narcissistic. Look sharp for Sharon Stone on passing train; Louise Lasser and Laraine Newman appear unbilled. [PG] ▼●●

Star 80 (1983) C-102m. ★½ D: Bob Fosse. Mariel Hemingway, Eric Roberts, Cliff Robertson, Carroll Baker, Roger Rees, David Clennon, Josh Mostel, Sidney Miller, Jordan Christopher, Keenen Ivory Wayans, Stuart Damon, Ernest Thompson. Straight-forward telling of a lurid tale: innocent Dorothy Stratten's mental seduction by small-time hustler Paul Snider, who promoted her career as a Playboy centerfold and movie starlet, then murdered her in a rage of jealousy. Extremely well-crafted, well-acted movie that leaves viewer with nothing but a feeling of voyeurism—and no redeeming insights. Fosse's final film. See also TV movie version DEATH OF A CENTERFOLD. [R] ▼●●

Stargate (1994-French-U.S.) C-119m. ★½ D: Roland Emmerich. Kurt Russell, James Spader, Viveca Lindfors, Jaye Davidson, Alexis Cruz, Mili Avital, Leon Rippey, John Diehl, Carlos Lauchu, Djimon (Hounsou), French Stewart, Rae Allen, Richard Kind. A scholar of ancient languages and hieroglyphics (Spader) is recruited to help the military penetrate the mystery of a stone gateway which, in fact, leads to other planets in our universe. Interesting odyssey, impressively mounted and jammed with visual effects, but loses its way dramatically. Davidson (of CRYING GAME fame) is featured as a sort of fey Ming the Merciless. Followed by a made-for-TV movie, a TV series, and a DVD movie. Alternate version runs 128m. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●●

Starhops (1978) C-92m. ★ D: Barbara Peeters. Dorothy Buhrman, Sterling Frazier, Jillian Kesner, Peter Paul Liapis, Paul Ryan, Anthony Mannino, Dick Miller. Ultra-low-budget formula film about three car hops who try to salvage a failing drive-in. Not bad of its type; screenplay by Stephanie Rothman. [R] ▼

Star in the Dust (1956) C-80m. ★★ D: Charles Haas. John Agar, Mamie Van Doren, Richard Boone, Leif Erickson, Coleen Gray, James Gleason. Intriguing cast is wasted in this trite tale of sheriff Agar forced to fight his townfolk to retain law and order. Look for Clint Eastwood as a ranch hand.

Star Is Born, A (1937) C-111m. ★★★½ D: William Wellman. Fredric March, Janet Gaynor, Adolphe Menjou, May Robson,

Andy Devine, Lionel Stander, Franklin Pangborn. Two remakes haven't dimmed the glow of this drama about a self-destructive actor and the young movie hopeful he marries. March and Gaynor are at their best and 1930s flavor (captured in early Technicolor) is a plus; screenplay by Dorothy Parker, Alan Campbell, and Robert Carson was inspired in part by 1932 film WHAT PRICE HOLLYWOOD? Oscar-winner for original story (by Carson and director Wellman) and W. Howard Greene's cinematography. ▼●●

Star Is Born, A (1954) C-170m. ★★ D: George Cukor. Judy Garland, James Mason, Charles Bickford, Jack Carson, Tom Noonan. Powerful semi-musical remake of the 1937 classic, with Garland and Mason at their peaks as doomed Hollywood star couple, she on the way up, he down. Incisive script by Moss Hart; great Harold Arlen-Ira Gershwin songs include spell-binding "The Man That Got Away" and the showstopping "Born in a Trunk" sequence by Leonard Gershe. Badly cut to 154m. after premiere engagements of 181m.; restored in 1983 to present length using still photos to cover missing bits of footage. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Star Is Born, A (1976) C-140m. ★½ D: Frank Pierson. Barbra Streisand, Kris Kristofferson, Gary Busey, Oliver Clark, Paul Mazursky, Marta Heflin, M.G. Kelly, Sally Kirkland, Robert Englund. By-now familiar story is given an unconvincing treatment, with change of setting to the world of rock music. Only comes to life during Streisand's vibrant numbers, which transcend script and surrounding drama; she and Paul Williams won an Oscar for song "Evergreen." Screenplay by Pierson, Joan Didion, and John Gregory Dunne. ▼●●

Star Kid (1998) C-101m. ★★ D: Manny Coto. Joseph Mazzello, Joey Simmrin, Danny Masterson, Richard Gilliland, Corinne Bohrer, Ashlee Levitch. A lonely boy finds a "cyborgsuit"—superpowered alien armor—in a junkyard, and has fun trying it out. Comic book–like but occasionally entertaining. [PG] ▼●●

Star Knight (1986-Spanish) C-90m. ★½ D: Fernando Colomo. Klaus Kinski, Harvey Keitel, Fernando Rey, Maria Latorre, Miguel Bosé. Infantile fantasy about a spaceship that lands in a Spanish lake in medieval times and is thought to be a dragon. Keitel (Bronx accent intact) is the only cast member who isn't dubbed. OK special effects. Originally titled: THE KNIGHT OF THE DRAGON. ▼●●

Starlift (1951) 103m. ★★ D: Roy Del Ruth. Janice Rule, Dick Wesson, Ron Hagerthy, Richard Webb. Flimsy account of GI romancing an actress, allowing for scenes of movie stars entertaining troops. Cameos by Warner Bros. people like

Cagney, Virginia Mayo, Ruth Roman, Doris Day, Gordon MacRae, etc. ●

Starlight Hotel (1987-New Zealand) C-93m.  D: Sam Pillsbury. Peter Phelps, Greer Robson, Marshall Napier, The Wizard, Alice Fraser, Patrick Smyth. Nice little film about the exploits of troubled teen Robson and psychologically scarred WWI vet Phelps. A friendly film about a most unlikely friendship. Warrick Attewell's cinematography is a standout. [PG]▼●

Starlight Slaughter SEE: Eaten Alive!

Star Maker, The (1939) 80m. ½ D: Roy Del Ruth. Bing Crosby, Louise Campbell, Laura Hope Crews, Ned Sparks, Ethel Griffies, Billy Gilbert. Crosby plays Gus Edwards, vaudeville impresario who turned talented youngsters into stars. Pleasant musical doesn't always stick to facts. Originally 94m.

Star Maker, The (1995-Italian) C-117m.  D: Giuseppe Tornatore. Sergio Castellitto, Tiziana Bodato, Franco Scaldati, Leopoldo Trieste, Clelia Rondinella, Tano Cimarosa, Jane Alexander. CINEMA PARADISO's Tornatore offers up the flip side of that beloved film in this period piece about a self-described talent scout who tours Sicily selling screen tests and the pipe dream of a movie career to naive locals who fall prey to his sales pitch. Maybe PARADISO is just too tough an act to follow, but this one doesn't even come close. Tornatore coscripted, from his story. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Starman (1984) C-115m. ½ D: John Carpenter. Jeff Bridges, Karen Allen, Charles Martin Smith, Richard Jaeckel. Extremely pleasant, genteel sci-fi about alien who lands on earth, abducts young widow to help him travel cross-country so he can rendezvous with spaceship. Her toughest problem: he's made himself look just like her late husband, and she finds herself attracted to him. Familiar, derivative storyline is given solid boost by two lead performances. Later a TV series. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Star Maps (1997) C-95m. ½ D: Miguel Arteta. Douglas Spain, Efrain Figueroa, Kandeeyce Jordan, Martha Velez, Lysa Flores. Occasionally potent but uneven allegorical drama about an 18-year-old with movie-star aspirations who returns from Mexico to L.A. and goes to work for his father as a male prostitute in a ring which is fronted by the selling of "star maps" of celebrity homes. Done in by its preachy tone and lack of depth. [R]▼●

Star of India (1954-British) C-84m. ½ D: Arthur Lubin. Cornel Wilde, Jean Wallace, Herbert Lom. So-so costumer, overly earnest. Wilde is Gallic nobleman trying to reestablish his rightful inheritance.

Star of Midnight (1935) 90m.  D: Stephen Roberts. William Powell, Ginger Rogers, Paul Kelly, Gene Lockhart, Ralph Morgan, Leslie Fenton, J. Farrell MacDonald. Flip, but not terribly funny, comedy-mystery in the THIN MAN vein, with a convoluted story that doesn't offer much involvement. Powell plays a lawyer who enjoys solving cases more than trying them in court.▼●

Stars and Bars (1988) C-94m. BOMB D: Pat O'Connor. Daniel Day-Lewis, Harry Dean Stanton, Martha Plimpton, Matthew Cowles, Joan Cusack, Maury Chaykin, Deirdre O'Connell, Will Patton, Steven Wright, Keith David, Laurie Metcalf, Glenna Headly, Spalding Gray, Rockets Redglare. A complete misfire, with Day-Lewis thoroughly wasted as a British art expert who treks to America to purchase a Renoir, and instead tangles with hick Stanton and other assorted eccentrics. Overbaked, unfunny, and embarrassing. [R]▼●

Stars and Stripes Forever (1952) C-89m. ½ D: Henry Koster. Clifton Webb, Robert Wagner, Ruth Hussey, Debra Paget, Finlay Currie. Diverting, fictionalized biography of bandmaster John Philip Sousa, well played by Webb, with standard march tunes worked into plot nicely.▼

Stars Fell on Henrietta, The (1995) C-110m. ½ D: James Keach. Robert Duvall, Aidan Quinn, Frances Fisher, Brian Dennehy, Lexi Randall, Kaytlyn Knowles, Billy Bob Thornton, Victor Wong, Paul Lazar, Spencer Garrett, Park Overall, Dylan Baker. Old-fashioned (and a tad contrived) folktale set in the Depression-era Texas dust bowl stars Duvall as a wily old oil prospector who charms a cotton farmer and his wife into believing their land is a valuable rig. Suffers mainly from overlength. A real labor of love from the people at Malpasco, Clint Eastwood's production company. Expert casting and superb contributions from cinematographer Bruce Surtees and production designer Henry Bumstead (plus a lush score by David Benoit) keep things enjoyable. That's director Keach's wife Jane Seymour in the opening saloon shot, and Fisher and Eastwood's daughter as Mary. Panavision. [PG]▼●

Starship Invasions (1977-Canadian) C-87m. *½ D: Ed Hunt. Robert Vaughn, Christopher Lee, Daniel Pilon, Helen Shaver, Henry Ramer. Abducted by good aliens to help battle bad aliens who are trying to take over earth, UFO expert Vaughn helps save the day with his pocket calculator. Good cast wasted in film boasting the worst special effects since PLAN 9 FROM OUTER SPACE. [PG]▼

Starship Troopers (1997) C-129m.  D: Paul Verhoeven. Casper Van Dien, Dina Meyer, Denise Richards, Jake Busey, Neil Patrick Harris, Clancy Brown, Seth Gilliam, Patrick Muldoon, Michael Ironside, Rue McClanahan. A gung-ho WW2 movie transplanted to the future, when high school kids are encouraged to become "citizens" by enlisting in the army and serving the state. Little do they dream that they'll be engaged in a full-scale war against marauding insects. With Verhoeven at the helm, you know this

won't be subtle, but it's so sharp, energetic, and (at times) funny that it transcends being a "giant bug" movie. Not for the squeamish, with its graphic dismemberment of humans and insects, but robust entertainment just the same. Based on the novel by Robert A. Heinlein. The incredible creature animation was supervised by Phil Tippett. Tippett directed the 2004 sequel, which debuted on cable TV. A second sequel was released direct to DVD. [R] ▼●●

Stars in My Crown (1950) 89m. ½ D: Jacques Tourneur. Joel McCrea, Ellen Drew, Dean Stockwell, Alan Hale, Lewis Stone, Ed Begley, Amanda Blake, James Arness, Juano Hernandez. Gentle, moving story of a quiet but persuasive minister in rural 19th-century America; episodic film creates warm feeling for characters and setting. Prime Americana from Joe David Brown's popular novel. Also interesting for pre-Guns casting of Arness and Blake. ▼

Starsky & Hutch (2004) C-100m. ½ D: Todd Phillips. Ben Stiller, Owen Wilson, Vince Vaughn, Juliette Lewis, Snoop Dogg, Fred Williamson, Amy Smart, Carmen Electra, Jason Bateman, Chris Penn, Brande Roderick, Molly Sims. Comedic take on the 1970s TV cop show pairs straight-arrow cop with a new partner who's more of a slacker. Their goal: nailing slick drug dealer Vaughn. Stiller and Wilson do what Stiller and Wilson usually do; Snoop Dogg is the freshest member of the cast as Huggy Bear, the local mover and shaker. Plenty of '70s music and fashions on hand; the only thing missing is laughs. Even some star cameos are bungled. Will Ferrell appears unbilled. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●

Stars Look Down, The (1939-British) 110m. * D: Carol Reed. Michael Redgrave, Margaret Lockwood, Edward Rigby, Emyln Williams, Nancy Price, Cecil Parker, Linden Travers. Classic adaptation of A. J. Cronin's novel (coscripted by the author) about Welsh coal miners struggling against dangerous working conditions, and Redgrave as a collier's son who intends to run for office. Gripping all the way. ▼●

Star Spangled Girl (1971) C-92m. *½ D: Jerry Paris. Sandy Duncan, Tony Roberts, Todd Susman, Elizabeth Allen. Very unfunny Neil Simon comedy about the saccharine-sweet girl-next-door who falls in with two ultraradical campus newspaper editors. [G] ▼●

Star Spangled Rhythm (1942) 99m.  D: George Marshall. Bing Crosby, Ray Milland, Bob Hope, Veronica Lake, Dorothy Lamour, Susan Hayward, Dick Powell, Mary Martin, Alan Ladd, Paulette Goddard, Cecil B. DeMille, Arthur Treacher, Preston Sturges, Eddie Anderson, Robert Preston, William Bendix, many others. Paramount's silly but agreeable star-packed WW2 extravaganza, filled with songs and sketches. There's a slight plot, about a studio switchboard operator (Betty Hutton) and gate guard (Victor Moore); the latter has told his son (Eddie Bracken), a sailor, that he's the studio's boss. Better numbers include "(That Old) Black Magic," "Time to Hit the Road to Dreamland." ▼●●

Starstruck (1982-Australian) C-95m.  D: Gillian Armstrong. Jo Kennedy, Ross O'Donovan, Pat Evison, Margo Lee, Max Cullen, John O'May, Geoffrey Rush. Bright little musical comedy about a teenage boy who's determined to promote his cousin to singing stardom as a new-wave rocker . . . no matter what it takes. Amiable tongue-in-cheek outing pokes fun at Hollywood musicals and media hype. Original Australian running time 102m. [PG] ▼●●

Starter for Ten (2006-U.S.-British) C-95m. ½ D: Tom Vaughan. James McAvoy, Alice Eve, Rebecca Hall, Catherine Tate, Dominic Cooper, Benedict Cumberbatch, Charles Dance, Lindsay Duncan. Working-class boy with a thirst for knowledge manages to get into college in the mid-1980s, where he finds he still has a lot to learn about dealing with real-life issues like friendship, loyalty, and the opposite sex. Pleasant if bland and derivative, until the final act. David Nicholls adapted his novel. [PG-13] ●

Starting Out in the Evening (2007) C-110m. ½ D: Andrew Wagner. Frank Langella, Lauren Ambrose, Lili Taylor, Adrian Lester, Jessica Hecht, Michael Cumpsty, Joel West. Aging, widowed literary lion is approached by a grad student who's writing a thesis about him. He attempts to rebuff her but she ingratiates herself, becomes important to him—and in the process, opens up old emotional wounds. Meanwhile, his 40-ish daughter (Taylor) tries to get her life on track. Mature, nuanced drama is anchored by Langella's masterful performance, complemented by director Wagner's keen, almost tactile, observations of a fast-fading Manhattan milieu. Wagner and Fred Parnes adapted Brian Morton's novel. Impressively photographed by Harlan Bosmajian. [PG-13] ●

Starting Over (1979) C-106m.  D: Alan J. Pakula. Burt Reynolds, Jill Clayburgh, Candice Bergen, Charles Durning, Frances Sternhagen, Austin Pendleton, Mary Kay Place, Wallace Shawn, Daniel Stern, Anne De Salvo, Charles Kimbrough. Likable comedy about divorced man who falls in love but can't erase feelings for his ex-wife; top performances but unfortunately, story goes awry toward conclusion for a lackluster turn of events and denouement. Scripted by James L. Brooks, from the Dan Wakefield novel. Look quickly for Kevin Bacon as a young husband. [R] ▼●●

Star Trek (2009) C-126m. ½ D: J. J. Abrams. Chris Pine, Zachary Quinto, Leonard Nimoy, Eric Bana, Bruce Greenwood, Karl Urban, Zoë Saldana, Simon Pegg, John Cho, Anton Yelchin, Ben Cross, Winona Ryder,

Chris Hemsworth, Jennifer Morrison, Faran Tahir, Clifton Collins, Jr., Tyler Perry. Energetic, inventive prequel to Gene Roddenberry's landmark TV series imagines how the crew of the U.S.S. Enterprise came together—and how a fiery, rule-breaking James T. Kirk (Pine) and a half-Vulcan, half-human Spock (Quinto) became lifelong friends. Opens with a big action sequence, then Roberto Orci and Alex Kurtzman's screenplay carefully develops its characters and their relationships, never allowing visual effects to overpower the content. Nimoy makes a welcome return as the older Spock. Soaring score by Michael Giacchino. Panavision. [PG-13]

Star Trek: First Contact (1996) C-110m.

 D: Jonathan Frakes. Patrick Stewart, Jonathan Frakes, Brent Spiner, LeVar Burton, Michael Dorn, Gates McFadden, Marina Sirtis, Alfre Woodard, James Cromwell, Alice Krige, Robert Picardo. Capt. Picard lives his worst nightmare as the villainous Borg (who almost overtook him in a two-part TV episode) land on earth with domination their goal. The solution: the crew travels back in time to 2063 to make sure a cockeyed scientist (Cromwell) fulfills his role in history with a precedent-setting rocket flight. Story goes on a bit, following two concurrent threads, but series fans will have no complaints. Krige is a standout as the seductive Borg Queen. Feature directing debut for Frakes, better known as Riker. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●●

Star Trek Generations (1994) C-118m.

 D: David Carson. Patrick Stewart, William Shatner, Malcolm McDowell, Jonathan Frakes, Brent Spiner, LeVar Burton, Michael Dorn, Gates McFadden, Marina Sirtis, James Doohan, Walter Koenig, Barbara March, Gwyneth Walsh, Alan Ruck. The old guard gives way to the new, as Capt. Kirk (Shatner) passes the baton to a new Starfleet commander, Capt. Picard (Stewart). Episodic adventure yarn plays like an elongated segment of the Next Generation TV series; not inspired, perhaps, but entertaining just the same, with some impressive special effects. Oddly enough, the weakest segment is the climactic teaming of Picard and Kirk, which seems like a leftover from an old Saturday matinee serial. Whoopi Goldberg appears unbilled as Guinan. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Star Trek: Insurrection (1998) C-103m.

 D: Jonathan Frakes. Patrick Stewart, Jonathan Frakes, Brent Spiner, LeVar Burton, Michael Dorn, Gates McFadden, Marina Sirtis, F. Murray Abraham, Donna Murphy, Anthony Zerbe, Gregg Henry, Daniel Hugh Kelly. Good entry in the long-running series has the crew befriending the eternally youthful residents of a Shangri-La-like planet whose existence is threatened by the vengeful Ru'afu (Abraham). Picard (Stewart) even has a dalliance with one of the women there (Murphy). Reliably entertaining for Star Trek fans. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Star Trek: Nemesis (2002) C-117m.  D: Stuart Baird. Patrick Stewart, Jonathan Frakes, Brent Spiner, LeVar Burton, Michael Dorn, Marina Sirtis, Gates McFadden, Tom Hardy, Ron Perlman, Shannon Cochran, Dina Meyer, Jude Ciccollella, Kate Mulgrew, Wil Wheaton. Satisfying if formulaic series entry has Riker and Troi celebrating their marriage when the Enterprise crew is confronted with a dual challenge: facing a villain who is an evil clone of Captain Picard and examining an adversarial prototype of the android Data. Entertaining, though the conclusion is never in doubt; Stewart's commanding performance anchors the film. Spiner gets costory credit—and sings a few bars of "Blue Skies." Whoopi Goldberg appears unbilled. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

Star Trek—The Motion Picture (1979)

C-132m. ½ D: Robert Wise. William Shatner, Leonard Nimoy, DeForest Kelley, Stephen Collins, Persis Khambatta, James Doohan, Nichelle Nichols, Walter Koenig, George Takei, Majel Barrett, Grace Lee Whitney, Mark Lenard. The crew of the Enterprise is reunited to combat a lethal force field headed toward Earth. Slow, talky, and derivative, somewhat redeemed by terrific special effects and majestic Jerry Goldsmith score; still, mainly for purists. Video version—generally considered an improvement—runs 143m. Director's edition released in 2002 is 136m. and rated PG. Followed by many sequels—and several new TV series! Panavision. [G] ▼●●

Star Trek II: The Wrath of Khan (1982)

C-113m.  D: Nicholas Meyer. William Shatner, Leonard Nimoy, DeForest Kelley, Ricardo Montalban, James Doohan, Walter Koenig, George Takei, Nichelle Nichols, Kirstie Alley, Bibi Besch, Merritt Buttrick, Paul Winfield. Kirk and the Enterprise crew must do battle with the nefarious villain of 1967's "Space Seed" episode. A bit hokey and pretentious at times, but a likable adventure overall, with nice touches of warmth and humor. Director's edition runs 116m. Originally released without the "II" in its title. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Star Trek III: The Search for Spock (1984)

C-105m.  D: Leonard Nimoy. William Shatner, DeForest Kelley, James Doohan, George Takei, Walter Koenig, Nichelle Nichols, Christopher Lloyd, Robin Curtis, Merritt Buttrick, Mark Lenard, Dame Judith Anderson, James B. Sikking, John Larroquette, Robert Hooks, Miguel Ferrer, Leonard Nimoy. Picking up where #2 left off, Kirk reassembles his crew and shanghai's the Enterprise to try and rescue Spock while both he and the rapidly destructing Genesis Planet are endangered by a Klingon warship (led by Lloyd, in an ineffectual performance). Subdued sci-fi outing very much in keeping with tone of the original TV series. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Star Trek IV: The Voyage Home (1986)

C-119m. ½ D: Leonard Nimoy. William Shatner, Leonard Nimoy, DeForest Kelley, James Doohan, George Takei, Walter Koenig, Nichelle Nichols, Jane Wyatt, Catherine Hicks, Mark Lenard, Robin Curtis, Robert Ellenstein, John Schuck, Brock Peters. The Enterprise crew takes a sharp left turn toward comedy in this uncharacteristic—and very entertaining—movie. Story has the familiar characters time-traveling back to the 20th century in order to save the Earth of the future, with the help of some humpback whales. Sheer novelty of the comic tone excuses some forays into the obvious; it's all in fun. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Star Trek V: The Final Frontier (1989) C-106m.  D: William Shatner. William Shatner, Leonard Nimoy, DeForest Kelley, James Doohan, Walter Koenig, Nichelle Nichols, George Takei, David Warner, Laurence Luckinbill, Charles Cooper. The Enterprise crew takes off on an emergency mission when an apparent madman takes over a distant planet and holds its interstellar ambassadors hostage; his motives, however, turn out to be anything but terroristic. Dramatically shaky trek starts off with a case of the cutes, and gets worse before it (finally) gets better. A weak entry in the series. Shatner's feature-film directing debut; he also shares story credit. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Star Trek VI: The Undiscovered Country (1991) C-109m.  D: Nicholas Meyer. William Shatner, Leonard Nimoy, DeForest Kelley, James Doohan, Walter Koenig, Nichelle Nichols, George Takei, Kim Cattrall, Christopher Plummer, Mark Lenard, Grace Lee Whitney, Brock Peters, Kurtwood Smith, Rosana DeSoto, David Warner, Iman, John Schuck, Michael Dorn, Christian Slater. The Enterprise crew is assigned to negotiate truce with Klingon leader, only to fall prey to a trap set by one of his renegade cohorts (Plummer, in a deliciously flamboyant performance). Entertaining saga cowritten by director Meyer. Nimoy helped concoct the story and also executive produced. Video version has 2m. of additional footage. Super 35. [PG]▼●●

Start the Revolution Without Me (1970) C-91m.  D: Bud Yorkin. Gene Wilder, Donald Sutherland, Hugh Griffith, Jack MacGowran, Billie Whitelaw, Victor Spinetti, Ewa Aulin, Orson Welles. Madcap comedy involving two sets of mismatched twins who meet just before French Revolution. Somewhat ignored in 1970, now has a deserved cult following; the cast, especially Wilder, is hilarious. [PG]▼

Startup.com (2001) C-103m. ½ D: Chris Hegedus, Jehane Noujaim. Riveting cinéma vérité-style documentary about two boyhood friends—one a computer whiz, the other a business brain—who join forces to start an online service. The enterprise is fraught with all the pitfalls that plague contemporary business—from fund-raising to ethical issues. The filmmakers followed their subjects for more than a year to create this incredibly dramatic and resonant film, a cautionary tale for our time. Produced by D.A. Pennebaker. [R]▼

Star Wars (1977) C-121m. ½ D: George Lucas. Mark Hamill, Harrison Ford, Carrie Fisher, Peter Cushing, Alec Guinness, Anthony Daniels, Kenny Baker, voice of James Earl Jones (as Darth Vader). Elaborate, imaginative update of Flash Gordon incredibly became one of the most popular films of all time. It's a hip homage to B-movie ethics and heroism in the space age, as a callow youth (Hamill) becomes an interplanetary hero with the help of some human and robot friends. R2-D2 and C-3P0 steal the show. Won seven Oscars for various technical achievements and John Williams' rousing score. Full title onscreen (on re-release prints) is STAR WARS EPISODE IV: A NEW HOPE. Followed by THE EMPIRE STRIKES BACK and RETURN OF THE JEDI. Special Edition released in 1997 features souped-up special effects and about 4m. of new footage. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Star Wars Episode I: The Phantom Menace (1999) C-133m.  D: George Lucas. Liam Neeson, Ewan McGregor, Natalie Portman, Jake Lloyd, Samuel L. Jackson, Frank Oz, Pernilla August, Terence Stamp, Ian McDiarmid, Hugh Quarshie, Ray Park, Ahmed Best, Brian Blessed, Sofia Coppola, Keira Knightley. Qui-Gon Jinn (Neeson) and his protégé Obi-Wan Kenobi (McGregor) try to negotiate peace but find themselves in the midst of war instead; while attempting to protect the Queen of Naboo (Portman), they stop over on the planet Tatooine, where they encounter young Anakin Skywalker (Lloyd), who clearly has a special gift. The beginning of Lucas' epic saga resembles his first STAR WARS film in both story and tone, with quantum leaps forward in special effects—including computer-generated characters (like comic-relief character Jar Jar Binks) who seem astonishingly real. Not a lot of heart, but certainly a lot of fun in Saturday matinee serial fashion. Followed by a sequel. Arriscope. [PG]▼

Star Wars Episode II: Attack of the Clones (2002) C-143m.  D: George Lucas. Ewan McGregor, Natalie Portman, Hayden Christensen, Christopher Lee, Samuel L. Jackson, Frank Oz, Ian McDiarmid, Pernilla August, Temuera Morrison, Jimmy Smits, Jack Thompson, Ahmed Best, Anthony Daniels, Kenny Baker. Ten years after Episode I, Anakin Skywalker is beginning to resent his father figure, Obi-Wan Kenobi, and finds himself falling in love with Padmé, the former queen. Lavish production showcases an overlong story that serves mainly as a transition between Episodes I and III in this ongoing saga. Wooden characterizations and dialogue don't help... but

the computer-generated Yoda is terrific, and the coliseum action sequence (an homage to Ray Harryhausen) is a knockout. HD 24P Widescreen. [PG] ▼

Star Wars Episode III: Revenge of the Sith (2005) C-140m.  D: George Lucas. Ewan McGregor, Natalie Portman, Hayden Christensen, Ian McDiarmid, Samuel L. Jackson, Christopher Lee, Jimmy Smits, Frank Oz, Peter Mayhew, Temuera Morrison, Ahmed Best, Kenny Baker, Anthony Daniels, Keisha Castle-Hughes; voice of James Earl Jones. The Star Wars saga comes full circle as Anakin Skywalker (Christensen), in a desperate attempt to protect his wife, Padmé Amidala (Portman), succumbs to a persuasive Chancellor Palpatine and embraces the dark side of the Force. Long, uneven, but meticulously crafted entry in the six-part story has some of the same faults as its immediate predecessors, but delivers an emotional wallop as it brings the “prequel trilogy” to a conclusion. Yoda dominates every scene he’s in—and gives the best performance in the film! HD 24P Widescreen. [PG-13] ●

Star Wars: The Clone Wars SEE: Clone Wars, The

State and Main (2000) C-105m.  D: David Mamet. Alec Baldwin, William H. Macy, Philip Seymour Hoffman, Sarah Jessica Parker, Rebecca Pidgeon, Charles Durning, Patti LuPone, David Paymer, Julia Stiles, Ricky Jay, Michael Higgins, Clark Gregg, J. J. Johnston. Writer-director Mamet has fun depicting the adventures of a desperate film crew that moves into—and takes over—a small New England town. The observations are perceptive, and the performances delicious (especially Macy as the director who can talk anybody into anything), though it may strike some that Mamet has chosen too easy a target. [R] ▼

State Fair (1933) 96m.  D: Henry King. Janet Gaynor, Will Rogers, Lew Ayres, Sally Eilers, Norman Foster, Louise Dresser, Victor Jory, Frank Craven. Not just a Rogers vehicle, but slice of life '30s-style as farm family gets ready for annual outing to state fair: Mom’s entering bake-off contest, Dad the pig contest, son and daughter looking for first love. Great atmosphere, good performances. Phil Stong’s novel has been remade twice (so far!).

State Fair (1945) C-100m.  D: Walter Lang. Jeanne Crain, Dana Andrews, Dick Haymes, Vivian Blaine, Charles Winninger, Fay Bainter, Donald Meek, Frank McHugh, Percy Kilbride. Remake of the 1933 film is bright, engaging musical of family’s adventures at Iowa State Fair; colorful, with fine Rodgers and Hammerstein songs (their only film score), including “That’s for Me,” “Grand Night for Singing,” Oscar-winning “It Might As Well Be Spring.” Retitled IT HAPPENED ONE SUMMER for TV. ▼●●

State Fair (1962) C-118m. BOMB D: Jose Ferrer. Pat Boone, Bobby Darin, Pamela Tiffin, Ann-Margret, Alice Faye, Tom

Ewell, Wally Cox. Remake of sprightly 1945 musical is pretty bad. Faye came out of retirement to play Tiffin’s mother—a bad mistake. Ewell even sings to a pig! Third-rate Americana. CinemaScope. ▼

Statement, The (2003-Canadian-French-British) C-120m. *½ D: Norman Jewison. Michael Caine, Tilda Swinton, Jeremy Northam, Noam Jenkins, Charlotte Rampling, Matt Craven, Alan Bates, John Neville, Ciarán Hinds, David De Keyser, William Hutt. Woefully artificial rendering of Brian Moore’s novel about a French Nazi collaborator who kills seven Jews in 1944 and spends the next five decades in hiding—with the help of the Catholic church. In 1992, a judge (Swinton) is handed the political hot potato of finding and prosecuting him, but he proves to be as elusive as ever. While based on historical truths, there isn’t a convincing moment, despite a good cast and location filming in France. Written by Ronald Harwood. [R] ▼

State of Grace (1990) C-134m. ½ D: Phil Joanou. Sean Penn, Ed Harris, Gary Oldman, Robin Wright, John Turturro, Burgess Meredith, John C. Reilly. Three strong actors play Irish-American mobsters (inspired by real-life gang, the Westies) contending with the police, the Mafia, and Yuppie gentrification in N.Y.C.’s Hell’s Kitchen (a neighborhood now known as Clinton!). Combination of moody stylishness and extreme violence nearly succeeds, but script is more meandering than incisive. This is basically Cagney terrain with a Scorsese-De Niro spin; Oldman and especially Harris tear the screen. [R] ▼●●

State of Play (2009-U.S.-British-French) C-127m. ½ D: Kevin Macdonald. Russell Crowe, Ben Affleck, Rachel McAdams, Helen Mirren, Robin Wright Penn, Jason Bateman, Jeff Daniels, Michael Berresse, Harry Lennix, Josh Mostel, Michael Weston, Barry Shabaka Henley, Viola Davis. Colorful, old-school D.C. newspaper reporter Crowe tries to link two seemingly unrelated murders, then a third (involving a female aide to hotshot Congressman Affleck—who happens to be Crowe’s old roommate) seems to indicate that there’s a larger conspiracy afoot. Meanwhile Crowe is paired up with blogger McAdams, who’s never done on-the-ground reporting before. Engrossing, well-cast thriller is also a paean to the dying newspaper business—but drops the ball at the finale, which simply isn’t satisfying. Adapted from the acclaimed 2003 BBC miniseries. Panavision. [PG-13]

State of Siege (1973-French) C-120m.  D: Costa-Gavras. Yves Montand, Renato Salvatori, O. E. Hasse, Jacques Weber, Jean-Luc Bideau, Evangeline Peterson. Highly controversial film, based on fact, about political assassination in Uruguay; interesting, but way too one-sided to be truly effective. ▼

State of the Union (1948) 124m. ½

D: Frank Capra. Spencer Tracy, Katharine Hepburn, Angela Lansbury, Van Johnson, Adolphe Menjou, Lewis Stone, Raymond Walburn, Margaret Hamilton, Carl (Alfalfa) Switzer, Charles Lane, Tor Johnson. Contemporary as ever, this literate comedy-drama (adapted from the Howard Lindsay-Russel Crouse play) casts Tracy as an industrialist who struggles to keep his integrity as he's swallowed into the political machinery of running for President. Hepburn is his wife and conscience, Lansbury a power-hungry millionairess backing the campaign, Van Johnson the sardonic campaign manager. Great entertainment. ▼●●

State of Things, The (1982-German) 120m.  D: Wim Wenders. Allen Goorwitz (Garfield), Samuel Fuller, Paul Getty III, Roger Corman, Patrick Bauchau. Fascinating if uneven mystery from Wenders, centering on what happens as a film crew attempts to complete a remake of Corman's THE DAY THE WORLD ENDED on location in Portugal. Interesting as a peek behind the scenes at the filmmaking process, and as an homage to Corman. ▼●●

State Property (2002) C-88m. BOMB D: Abdul Malik Abbott. Beanie Sigel, Jay-Z, Damon Dash, Memphis Bleek, Omillio Sparks, Brother Newz, Oschino, Sundy Carter, Dee Lee, Tyran "Ty-Ty" Smith. Violent junk about the rise (and inevitable fall) of a cocky, brutal gangsta, a Philadelphia drug lord named Beans (Sigel). The characters endlessly utter the "f" and "n" words, and are as demeaning and stereotypical as those played decades earlier by Stepin Fetchit. [R] ▼●

State Secret (1950-British) 104m.  D: Sidney Gilliat. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Glynis Johns, Herbert Lom, Jack Hawkins, Walter Rilla. American doctor tries to flee Middle European country after he discovers its real leader has been assassinated and replaced with a double. Intelligent and witty suspense yarn; screenplay by Gilliat, from a Roy Huggins novel. Originally released in U.S. as THE GREAT MANHUNT.

Stateside (2004-U.S.-German) C-97m.  D: Revere Anselmo. Rachael Leigh Cook, Jonathan Tucker, Agnes Bruckner, Val Kilmer, Joe Mantegna, Daniel Franzese, Carrie Fisher, Diane Venora, Ed Begley, Jr., Paul Le Mat, Joanne Pankow, George DiCenzo. Ill-fated love story between a young Marine and a schizophrenic musician who's confined to a mental hospital. Though family and friends try to keep these two messed-up kids apart, it doesn't always work out that way. Strange, disjointed romance has lots of loose ends with nothing tying them together. Impressive cast members appear mostly in misbegotten cameos. Kilmer is a hoot as the D.I.; look for an unbilled Penny Marshall as a lieutenant. Super 35. [R] ▼●

Static (1985) C-93m. ½ D: Mark Romanek. Keith Gordon, Amanda Plummer,

Bob Gunton, Barton Heyman, Lily Knight, Jane Hoffman. Annoyingly uneven comedy-drama about a strange young man (Gordon) and his rather unusual invention, a TV which can supposedly tune in to heaven. Sometimes genuinely touching and funny, but long stretches are deadening and dull. Gunton steals the film with his expert performance as a hilariously paranoid street evangelist. Written by leading actor Gordon and director Romanek. [R] ▼●●

Station, The (1990-Italian) C-92m.  D: Sergio Rubini. Sergio Rubini, Margherita Buy, Ennio Fantastichini. Engrossing comedy-drama, with director Rubini starring as an unpretentious rural railroad clerk. His peaceful life is disrupted by the arrival of a beautiful woman on the lam from her brutal boyfriend. The manner in which the three characters interrelate forms the crux of this engaging, allegorical sleeper. ▼

Station Agent, The (2003) C-88m.  D: Tom McCarthy. Peter Dinklage, Patricia Clarkson, Bobby Cannavale, Raven Goodwin, Paul Benjamin, Michelle Williams, Richard Kind, Josh Pais. Refreshingly original indie about three lonely people who become friends in a quiet lakefront N.J. town: a dwarf who inherits (and moves into) a decrepit railroad depot, a young hotshot who operates the food wagon outside, and a divorced woman who's trying to get over some emotional hurdles. A small, observant, eminently satisfying film. Writer and first-time director McCarthy tailored the leading roles for these three actors. [R] ▼●

Stationmaster's Wife, The (1977-German) C-111m. ½ D: Rainer Werner Fassbinder. Kurt Raab, Elisabeth Trissenaar, Gustav Bayrhammer, Bernhard Helfried, Udo Kier, Volker Spengler. Studied, stylized look at a beautiful woman's affairs and manipulation of her husband in pre-Hitler Germany. Some telling moments, and fine performances, but awfully slow going. Made for German television at 200m. Released theatrically in U.S. in 1983. ▼●

Station Six-Sahara (1964-British) 99m. *½ D: Seth Holt. Carroll Baker, Peter Van Eyck, Ian Bannen, Denholm Elliott, Biff McGuire. Dreary yarn of five love-starved men who find something new to fight over when sexpot Baker and her estranged husband crash land at their desert oasis. Written by Bryan Forbes and Brian Clemens. Station West (1948) 80m.  D: Sidney Lanfield. Dick Powell, Jane Greer, Tom Powers, Steve Brodie, Gordon Oliver, Raymond Burr, Agnes Moorehead, Burl Ives, Guinn Williams, Regis Toomey. Entertaining adaptation of Luke Short story about undercover military intelligence officer Powell stirring up trouble in Western town to find who's behind series of gold robberies. Script (by Frank Fenton and Winston Miller) has sharp dialogue throughout. Originally released at 92m. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Statue, The (1970-British) C-84m. BOMB D: Rod Amateau, David Niven, Vira Lisi, Robert Vaughn, Ann Bell, John Cleese, David Mills. Poor comedy concerning 20-foot statue (replica of Niven) with enormous male organ. [R] ▼

Statutory Affair SEE: Lola (1969)

Stavisky . . . (1974-French-Italian) C-118m. ½ D: Alain Renais. Jean-Paul Belmondo, Charles Boyer, François Périer, Anny Duperey, Michel Lonsdale, Roberto Bisacco, Claude Rich, Gérard Depardieu. Stylish bio of French swindler of the early 1930s; pleasant cast, lavish photography (by Sacha Vierny), fine Stephen Sondheim score. Screenplay by Jorge Semprun. [PG] ▼

Stay (2005) C-99m.  D: Marc Forster. Ewan McGregor, Naomi Watts, Ryan Gosling, Janeane Garofalo, B. D. Wong, Bob Hoskins, Kate Burton, Michael Gaston, Mark Margolis, Elizabeth Reaser, Amy Sedaris, Isaach De Bankolé. Shrink McGregor becomes psychologically unhinged as he takes on a new patient, a deeply disturbed, suicidal college student. Ambitious film plays with concepts of time, reality, and the meaning of sanity and insanity, as dead people come alive and the past, present, and future blend. . . . but it's all a jumble, despite some arresting visuals. A disappointment from Forster (MONSTER'S BALL, FINDING NEVERLAND). You might add the Brooklyn Bridge to the cast list. Super 35. [R] ●

Stay Alive (2006) C-85m.  D: William Brent Bell. Jon Foster, Samaira Armstrong, Frankie Muniz, Sophia Bush, Adam Goldberg, Jimmi Simpson, Milo Ventimiglia. Hard-core video gamers test an underground horror survival title, only to die gruesomely, one by one, exactly like their digital avatars. The culprit: 17th-century Hungarian "Blood Countess" Elizabeth Báthory, who haunts the game and hunts its players. Startling juxtaposition of real life and realm life is the New Orleans-set thriller's sole thrill, but it's a good one. As for the dramaturgy, Báthory—even if undead—should sue for defamation. Alternate version runs 101m. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Stay As You Are (1978-French) C-95m. *½ D: Alberto Lattuada. Marcello Mastroianni, Nastassia Kinski, Francisco Rabal, Monica Randall, Giuliana Calandra. Yawner with a twist: Kinski, the teenaged romance of middle-aged Mastroianni, may be his illegitimate daughter. For those who want to see Kinski during her nymphet stage; others beware. ▼

Stay Away, Joe (1968) C-102m. *½ D: Peter Tewksbury. Elvis Presley, Burgess Meredith, Joan Blondell, Katy Jurado, Thomas Gomez, Henry Jones, L. Q. Jones. Bad film, even for Presley, about contemporary Indians. Reinforces stereotypes, fails to entertain. Panavision. [M/PG] ▼ ● ●

Stay Hungry (1976) C-103m.  D: Bob Rafelson. Jeff Bridges, Sally Field, Arnold Schwarzenegger, R. G. Armstrong, Robert Englund, Helena Kallianiotes, Roger Mosley, Scatman Crothers, Fannie Flagg, Joanna Cassidy, Richard Gilliland, Ed Begley, Jr., John David Carson, Joe Spinell. Charles Gaines novel about body-building in the "New South" is eccentric mixture of comedy and drama, but many fine scenes; happy performances from Field and Schwarzenegger make it worthwhile. [R] ▼ ● ●

Staying Alive (1983) C-96m.  D: Sylvester Stallone. John Travolta, Cynthia Rhodes, Finola Hughes, Steve Inwood, Julie Bovasso, Frank Stallone. Sequel to SATURDAY NIGHT FEVER is fashioned by director/cowriter Stallone into a ROCKY-type vehicle for Travolta, who juggles two women in his life while trying to score as a dancer on Broadway. Broadway show finale, Satan's Alley (billed, with amazing accuracy, as a musical trip through Hell) is a camp classic, but neither the script nor the music (mostly by Sly's brother Frank) are in a class with the original 1977 film. Look closely for Patrick Swayze as a fellow terpsichorean. [PG] ▼ ● ●

Staying Together (1989) C-91m. ½ D: Lee Grant. Sean Astin, Stockard Channing, Melinda Dillon, Jim Haynie, Levon Helm, Dinah Manoff, Dermot Mulroney, Tim Quill, Keith Szarabajka, Daphne Zuniga. Close-knit small-town family, with three boys on the verge of manhood, gets pulled in all directions. Pat comedy-drama has one too many subplots, though entire cast is good. [R] ▼ ● ●

Stay Tuned (1992) C-87m. *½ D: Peter Hyams. John Ritter, Pam Dawber, Jeffrey Jones, Eugene Levy, David Tom, Heather McComb, Bob Dishy, Joyce Gordon, Erik King, Salt 'n' Pepa. Terminal couch potato Ritter unwittingly makes a pact with Devilish Jones, and finds himself and his wife sucked into a TV world in which they're part of the shows, from wrestling to private-eye mysteries. Promising premise goes nowhere in this dismal comedy; the only chuckles come from quick spoofs of TV titles, and the only segment that works is an animated cartoon supervised by the great Chuck Jones. Panavision. [PG] ▼ ● ●

Steagle, The (1971) C-90m.  D: Paul Sylbert. Richard Benjamin, Chill Wills, Cloris Leachman, Jean Allison, Susan Tyrrell. Missile crisis causes professor to go berserk and try living in lifestyles that previously were mental fantasies. Farfetched. [R] ▼ ●

Steal Big, Steal Little (1995) C-135m.  D: Andrew Davis. Andy Garcia, Alan Arkin, Rachel Ticotin, Joe Pantoliano, Holland Taylor, Ally Walker, David Ogden Stiers, Charles Rocket, Richard Bradford, Kevin McCarthy. Amiable mess of a movie with plot strands going in all directions; a real shame, too, because there's a nice feel

to this modern fable about twin brothers, separated in childhood, who take different paths in life. One greedily pursues money and power, the other grows up with a free-spirited share-the-wealth ideal. Garcia has never been more engaging. Set and shot in Santa Barbara, California. [PG-13] ▼●●

Stealing Beauty (1996-French-Italian-British-U.S.) C-119m.  D: Bernardo Bertolucci. Jeremy Irons, Liv Tyler, Joseph Fiennes, Sinead Cusack, Rachel Weisz, Stefania Sandrelli, Jean Marais, D. W. Moffett, Donal McCann, Jason Flemyng. 19-year-old American girl spends the summer at a villa in Tuscany filled with wildly divergent characters and discovers her own independence as she affects the lives of all those around her. Bertolucci returns to his Italian roots for this charming contemporary story. Tyler is a star in the making here, and Irons is touching as a dying man who finds renewed life from this young visitor. Bertolucci co-scripted, from his story. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Stealing Harvard (2002) C-83m. *½ D: Bruce McCulloch. Tom Green, Jason Lee, Leslie Mann, Megan Mullally, Dennis Farina, Tammy Blanchard, Richard Jenkins, Chris Penn, John C. McGinley, Seymour Cassel, Linda Cardellini. Engaged Lee's $30,000 nest egg goes poof when he's rudely reminded of a years-ago offer to put trailer-dwelling niece Blanchard through school. Now, she's become Harvard material, and it's up to Lee's pal Green to help him come up with the cash. "Tom Green" and "Harvard" should never appear on the same marquee, though not every movie can get Farina (as Lee's future in-law) into a dress. He makes it look almost as off-the-rack as this script. [PG-13] ▼

Stealing Heaven (1988-British-Yugoslav) C-115m.  D: Clive Donner. Kim Thomson, Derek de Lint, Denholm Elliott, Mark Jax, Bernard Hepton, Kenneth Cranham, Angela Pleasence, Rachel Kempson. Beautifully photographed (if somewhat anachronistic) period piece about the real-life 12th-century lovers Abelard and Héloïse. Intelligent treatment even incorporates discussions of theology in the context of this passionate romance. Threatened with an X rating, film was trimmed to 108m. for U.S. release; both versions available on video. [R] ▼●●

Stealing Home (1988) C-98m. *½ D: Steven Kampmann, Will Aldis. Mark Harmon, Jodie Foster, William McNamara, Blair Brown, Harold Ramis, Jonathan Silverman, Richard Jenkins, John Shea, Ted Ross, Helen Hunt, Thatcher Goodwin, Yvette Crosby. Has-been baseball player is summoned home to take care of the ashes of an old friend, who killed herself. Story flashes back to his relationship with her at several ages. Earnest but pat, semi-autobiographical script (by the directors) is helped immeasurably by Foster's

wise, outstanding performance as the late friend, a troubled free spirit. [PG-13] ▼●●

Stealing Time (2003) C-99m. *½ D: Marc Fusco. Charlotte Ayanna, Ethan Embry, Peter Facinelli, Scott Foley, Jennifer Gamer, Paul Dooley. Well-meaning but muddled account of four recent college graduates, all anxious to start their real-world lives, who deal with their frustrations as they attempt to realize their dreams. Then one of them learns he is terminally ill. Tries desperately to be philosophical and poignant but then, confusingly and annoyingly, morphs into a caper film . . . a bad one at that! Aka RENNIE'S LANDING. [R] ▼

Stealth (2005) C-121m.  D: Rob Cohen. Josh Lucas, Jessica Biel, Jamie Foxx, Sam Shepard, Richard Roxburgh, Joe Morton, Ian Bliss, Ebon Moss-Bachrach; voice of Wentworth Miller. It's TOP GUN with HAL-9000 as a pilot. Hotshot Navy pilots Lucas, Biel, and Foxx are presented with the fourth member of their team: a plane that flies itself, so smart it has a personality. When the aircraft ventures beyond its programming, highly predictable crises ensue. Expensive action thriller with lots of effects but hollow characters. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

Steal This Movie (2000) C-111m.  D: Robert Greenwald. Vincent D'Onofrio, Janeane Garofalo, Jeanne Tripplehorn, Kevin Pollak, Donal Logue, Kevin Corrigan, Troy Garity, Joyce Gordon, Bernard Kay. One-dimensional portrait of celebrated 1960s/70s political activist Abbie Hoffman, founder of the Yippie movement, who spent years hiding out from the Feds. D'Onofrio (who coexecutive produced) is good, but the film is disappointingly superficial. Garofalo and Tripplehorn are well cast as the women in Hoffman's life. Garity plays his real-life father, Tom Hayden. [R] ▼

Steamboat Bill, Jr. (1928) 71m.  D: Charles F. Riesner. Buster Keaton, Ernest Torrence, Marion Byron, Tom Lewis, Tom McGuire. Buster plays a milquetoast who must prove his manhood to steamboat captain father (Torrence). Not one of Keaton's best silents, but there are great moments, and classic, eye-popping cyclone finale. ▼●●

Steamboat 'Round the Bend (1935) 81m.  D: John Ford. Will Rogers, Anne Shirley, Irvin S. Cobb, Eugene Pallette, Bertin Churchill, John McGuire, Stepin Fetchit, Francis Ford, Pardon Jones, Charles Middleton. Enjoyable Ford/Rogers period-piece of steamboat captain (Rogers) who pilots a ramshackle floating waxworks museum, from which he also dispenses highly alcoholic cure-all medicine. Shirley is particularly good as swamp-girl taken in by Rogers. Churchill shines in comic role of river prophet "The New Moses." Climactic steamboat race is a gem. Released posthumously after Rogers' tragic death. ▼

Steamboy (2004-Japanese) C-126m. ½ D: Katsuhiro Ôtomo. Voices of Anna Paquin, Alfred Molina, Patrick Stewart, Kari Wahlgren. Set in Victorian England, this elaborate, overlong anime feature by the director of AKIRA runs out of steam (no pun intended) midway through. Youngster Ray Steam is entrusted with a "steam ball," an incredible source of energy at the heart of a feud between his power-mad father and eccentric reclusive grandfather. It all comes to a head during action-packed climax, when father's gargantuan Steam Tower runs amok through London. Too much talk, not enough action, though there are compelling visuals, elaborate production design, and first-rate animation. Original version (available in subtitled form) runs 140m. [PG-13] ▾

Steaming (1985-British) C-95m. ½ D: Joseph Losey. Vanessa Redgrave, Sarah Miles, Diana Dors, Patti Love, Brenda Bruce, Felicity Dean, Sally Sagoe. Disappointing adaptation of the Nell Dunn play, about the interactions of a group of women in a run-down London steam bath. Not all that bad, really, with collectively above-average performances, but sorely lacks the humor that made it work so well on stage. Director Losey's last film, and Dors' as well. [R] ▾

Steel (1980) C-99m. ½ D: Steve Carver. Lee Majors, Jennifer O'Neill, Art Carney, George Kennedy, Harris Yulin, Terry Kiser, Richard Lynch, Roger Mosley, Albert Salmi, R. G. Armstrong. Fast-moving, entertaining time-killer about construction workers struggling to complete a skyscraper on schedule. Filmed in Lexington, Ky. Aka LOOK DOWN AND DIE and MEN OF STEEL. [PG] ▾

Steel (1997) C-97m. *½ D: Kenneth Johnson. Shaquille O'Neal, Annabeth Gish, Judd Nelson, Richard Roundtree, Irma P. Hall, Ray J., Charles Napier. Film version of DC Comics' "Steel" with basketball great Shaq in the title role, as a tall superhero with a heart of gold, wearing a funny metal suit and doing battle with stereotypical enemies of modern civilization. As endearing as Shaq can be, he should definitely not give up his day job. [PG-13] ▾

Steel Bayonet (1957-British) 84m.  D: Michael Carreras. Leo Genn, Kieron Moore, Michael Medwin, Robert Brown. Military unit is ordered to defend deserted farmhouse/lookout base at all costs. Tame WW2 film set in Africa; watch for Michael Caine as a German soldier. Hammerscope.

Steel Dawn (1987) C-100m.  D: Lance Hool. Patrick Swayze, Lisa Niemi, Christopher Neame, Brion James, Anthony Zerbe, John Fujioka, Brett Hool. Futuristic rehash of SHANE has Swayze as the mysterious warrior who ends up protecting pretty farmer Niemi (his real-life wife) and her cute son against evil Zerbe and his henchmen. Filmed on attractive desert locations in southern Africa, this failed to extend Swayze's meteoric success in DIRTY DANCING. [R] ▾

Steele Justice (1987) C-95m.  D: Robert Boris. Martin Kove, Sela Ward, Ronny Cox, Bernie Casey, Joseph Campanella, Soon-Teck Oh, Jan Gan Boyd, Robert Kim, Peter Kwong, Shannon Tweed, Sarah Douglas. Howlingly absurd action-revenge yarn with beefy Vietnam vet Kove investigating the murder of a Vietnamese friend and his family in L.A., and going after former Viet general who's now a drug lord in America. Nagging doubts persist—do the filmmakers intend this to be so funny?—but Kove's impromptu wound-cauterizing scene makes it all worthwhile. [R] ▾

Steel Helmet, The (1951) 84m. ½ D: Samuel Fuller. Gene Evans, Robert Hutton, Steve Brodie, James Edwards, Richard Loo, Sid Melton. Evans is a gutsy American sergeant caught in dizzying turn of events in early days of Korean war; solid melodrama written by Fuller, with surprisingly contemporary view of war itself. ▾

Steel Magnolias (1989) C-118m.  D: Herbert Ross. Sally Field, Dolly Parton, Shirley MacLaine, Daryl Hannah, Olympia Dukakis, Julia Roberts, Tom Skerritt, Sam Shepard, Dylan McDermott, Kevin J. O'Connor, Bill McCutcheon, Ann Wedgeworth, Janine Turner. Slick comedy-drama about several years in the lives of the women who congregate at Parton's beauty parlor in a small Louisiana town. No TERMS OF ENDEARMENT, but does provide solid entertainment. Written by Robert Harling, who expanded his own one-set play for the screen (and plays the minister here). Super 35. [PG] ▾

Steelyard Blues (1973) C-93m.  D: Alan Myerson. Jane Fonda, Donald Sutherland, Peter Boyle, Garry Goodrow, Howard Hesseman, John Savage. Entertaining comic concoction by David S. Ward about band of misfits who become involved in nutty project of rejuvenating abandoned airplane. Amiably antiestablishment film highlights Boyle as an ingenious fantasist named Eagle. [PG] ▾

Stella (1990) C-109m.  D: John Erman. Bette Midler, John Goodman, Trini Alvarado, Stephen Collins, Marsha Mason, Eileen Brennan, Linda Hart, Ben Stiller, William McNamara. Update of the perennial soaper STELLA DALLAS goes with the times on only one plot element: in this version, Stella doesn't marry the father of her child. Tolerable for a while, but hopelessly anachronistic. [PG-13] ▾

Stella Dallas (1937) 106m.  D: King Vidor. Barbara Stanwyck, John Boles, Anne Shirley, Barbara O'Neil, Alan Hale, Tim Holt, Marjorie Main. Definitive soap opera (from Olive Higgins Prouty's novel) of woman who sacrifices everything for her daughter; Stanwyck gives one of her finest performances. Tearjerking score by Alfred Newman. Filmed before in 1925; remade in 1990 as STELLA. ▼●●

St. Elmo's Fire (1985) C-108m. ½ D: Joel Schumacher. Rob Lowe, Demi Moore, Andrew McCarthy, Judd Nelson, Ally Sheedy, Emilio Estevez, Mare Winningham, Martin Balsam, Jon Cutler, Joyce Van Patten, Andie MacDowell, Blake Clark, Matthew Laurance, Anna Maria Horsford. Slick vehicle for some charismatic young actors, as recent college grads having a hard time coping with Real Life. Invites comparison to THE BREAKFAST CLUB and THE BIG CHILL, but these "young adults" are pretty immature, and so is the film, written by director Schumacher. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Step Brothers (2008) C-98m.  D: Adam McKay. Will Ferrell, John C. Reilly, Richard Jenkins, Mary Steenburgen, Kathryn Hahn, Adam Scott, Seth Rogen, Horatio Sanz, Andrea Savage, Lurie Poston, Elizabeth Yozamp. Ferrell and Reilly are 40-year-olds still living at home with their single parents; they suddenly become stepbrothers when their respective mom and dad meet each other, marry, and move in together—all before the opening credits! Crux of the film has them trying to adjust to each other while being threatened with eviction. Dumb comedy milks its premise for some occasional laughs. Unrated version runs 105m. Super 35. [R] ●

Stepfather, The (1987) C-98m.  D: Joseph Ruben. Terry O'Quinn, Jill Schoelen, Shelley Hack, Stephen Shellen, Charles Lanyer. Engrossing thriller has well-cast O'Quinn as a meek-looking guy desperately seeking to have the perfect little family. He turns out to be a psycho who marries widows and eventually erupts into violence. Thoughtful screenplay by Donald E. Westlake and taut direction by Ruben highlight this sleeper. Story by Westlake, Carolyn Lefcourt, and Brian Garfield. Followed by two sequels. [R] ▼●●

Stepfather II (1989) C-86m. *½ D: Jeff Burr. Terry O'Quinn, Meg Foster, Jonathan Brandis, Caroline Williams, Mitchell Laurance, Henry Brown, Leon Martell, Renata Scott. Mad family killer O'Quinn escapes from the booby hatch, sets himself up in suburbia as a marriage counselor, and starts courting a potential new wife (Foster). Inferior sequel is completely devoid of suspense and looks cheap, but O'Quinn still manages to deliver a good performance. [R] ▼●●

Stepford Wives, The (1975) C-115m.  D: Bryan Forbes. Katharine Ross, Paula Prentiss, Peter Masterson, Nanette Newman, Patrick O'Neal, Tina Louise, Dee Wallace, William Prince. Effective chiller finds suburban housewives Ross and Prentiss trying to understand perpetually blissful

state of the women of Stepford, Connecticut. Script by William Goldman from Ira Levin's best-seller. Seven-year-old Mary Stuart Masterson makes her film debut (playing the daughter of real-life dad Peter Masterson). Followed by three inferior TV sequels (REVENGE OF THE STEPFORD WIVES, THE STEPFORD CHILDREN, and THE STEPFORD HUSBANDS) and a 2004 remake. [PG] ▼●●

Stepford Wives, The (2004) C-93m.  D: Frank Oz. Nicole Kidman, Matthew Broderick, Bette Midler, Glenn Close, Christopher Walken, Roger Bart, David Marshall Grant, Jon Lovitz, Faith Hill, Mike White. Recently fired workaholic TV exec Kidman moves with husband Broderick and their kids to a Connecticut community where everything seems perfect—a little too perfect—especially the docile housewives. Misguided remake of the 1975 movie substitutes broad comedy for the eeriness that made the original (based on Ira Levin's novel) so effective. What's more, the concept was fresh back then; now the term "Stepford wife" has entered the vernacular and there's no suspense at all. Written by Paul Rudnick. [PG-13] ▼●

Stephanie Daley (2007) C-92m.  D: Hilary Brougher. Tilda Swinton, Amber Tamblyn, Timothy Hutton, Denis O'Hare, Jim Gaffigan, Deirdre O'Connell, Halley Feiffer, Kel O'Neill, Melissa Leo, Caitlin Van Zandt, Novella Nelson. When a 16-year-old girl is accused of killing her newborn baby during a ski trip, forensic psychologist Swinton—who's about to have her first child—is hired to determine whether the teenager was fully aware of what she did. As Tamblyn recounts her experiences, Swinton attempts to come to terms with her fears about her own pregnancy. Provocative and satisfying drama, written by director Brougher, explores two women at different stages of their lives. The acting is superior. [R] ●

Stephen King's Cat's Eye SEE: Cat's Eye
Stephen King's Graveyard Shift SEE: Graveyard Shift

Stephen King's Riding the Bullet SEE: Riding the Bullet

Stephen King's Silver Bullet SEE: Silver Bullet

Stephen King's "Sleepwalkers" SEE: Sleepwalkers

Stephen King's The Night Flier SEE: Night Flier, The

Stephen King's Thinner SEE: Thinner
Step Into Liquid (2003) C-88m.  D: Dana Brown. Entertaining, eye-catching surfer documentary in which a bevy of beautiful bodies—a who's who of contemporary surfers—hit the waves at locations around the globe. Director is the son of Bruce Brown, who explored the subject in THE ENDLESS SUMMER and THE ENDLESS SUMMER II. ●

Step Lively (1944) 88m.  D: Tim Whelan. Frank Sinatra, George Murphy, Adolphe Menjou, Gloria DeHaven, Eugene Pallette, Anne Jeffreys, Walter Slezak. Brisk musical remake of ROOM SERVICE with producer Murphy wheeling and dealing to get his show produced. Engagingly frantic, with sharp dialogue, funny contribution by Slezak as the hotel manager. If you blink you'll miss (brunette) Dorothy Malone as switchboard operator in lobby. ▼

Stepmom (1998) C-125m.  D: Chris Columbus. Susan Sarandon, Julia Roberts, Ed Harris, Jena Malone, Liam Aiken, Lynn Whitfield. Slick, big-studio, all-star treatment of life after divorce. Sarandon plays a woman who objects to the presence of her ex's girlfriend in her children's lives. Glossy melodrama with occasional touches of humor; the leads outshine the mawkish material. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●●

Stepmother, The (1971) C-94m. *½ D: Hikmet Avedis. Alejandro Rey, John Anderson, Katherine Justice, John D. Garfield, Marlene Schmidt, Claudia Jennings, Duncan McLeod. Rey is okay as anti-hero of this cheapie murder-suspenser in the Hitchcock mold. John Garfield's son is unimpressive in support. Aka IMPULSION. [R] ▼

Steppenwolf (1974) C-105m. ½ D: Fred Haines. Max von Sydow, Dominique Sanda, Pierre Clementi, Carla Romanelli, Alfred Bailloux. Literal adaptation of Herman Hesse's unfilmable novel about a misanthropic writer and an enigmatic young woman. Visually jazzy, rarely boring, but a dead end. [R] ▼●●

Stepping Out (1991) C-106m.  D: Lewis Gilbert. Liza Minnelli, Shelley Winters, Bill Irwin, Ellen Greene, Julie Walters, Robyn Stevan, Jane Krakowski, Sheila McCarthy, Andrea Martin, Carol Woods, Nora Dunn. Harmless blue-haired musical soaper about a smorgasbord group of Buffalo tap-dancing aspirants who bicker under Minnelli's tutelage. Richard Harris (not the actor) adapted his play, glitzed up by director Gilbert. There's a gratuitous show-stopping piece at the end for Liza-watchers, while Winters has some genuinely affecting moments as the piano accompanist. [PG] ▼●

Step Up (2006) C-103m.  D: Anne Fletcher. Channing Tatum, Jenna Dewan, Rachel Griffiths, Mario, Drew Sidora, Damae Radcliff, De'Shawn Washington, Heavy D, Isaiah Washington. Monosyllabic urban punk with some major dance moves—but little else—is busted vandalizing a school of the arts, earning 200 hours of community service as a janitor at the scene of the crime. There he falls for a student ballerina and initiates an adagio both in and out of the rehearsal hall. Teen musical culminates with the Big Show, combining hip-hop with ballet, like Eminem en pointe. Director-choreographer Fletcher also plays the dance teacher, whose style suggests Martha Graham trying to breakdance. Followed by a sequel. J-D-C Scope. [PG-13] ●

Step Up 2 the Streets (2008) C-98m.  D: Jon Chu. Briana Evigan, Robert Hoffman, Adam G. Sevani, Cassie Ventura, Danielle Polanco, Will Kemp, Channing Tatum. Troublesome tomboy Evigan (daughter of TV star Greg) enrolls at a performing arts school, where she assembles a dance crew made up of fellow outcasts, hoping to compete in an underground dance battle called the Streets. Story takes a distant backseat to the incredible dancing, culminating in an exciting finale. Tatum's brief cameo is the only connection to STEP UP. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Sterile Cuckoo, The (1969) C-107m.  D: Alan J. Pakula. Liza Minnelli, Wendell Burton, Tim McIntire. Lonely Pookie Adams (Minnelli) forces herself on shy freshman Burton, who's impelled to pay attention. Winning look at young love and sensitive feelings gives Liza a stand-out role, with Burton equally fine as naive boy who eventually outgrows her. Dory Previn's song "Come Saturday Morning" is featured. Producer Pakula's directorial debut. Based on a novel by John Nichols. [PG] ▼●

Stevie (1978-British) C-102m.  D: Robert Enders. Glenda Jackson, Mona Washbourne, Alec McCowen, Trevor Howard. Film version of Hugh Whitmore's London stage play about British poetess Stevie Smith (Jackson), who lives with her maiden aunt (Washbourne). Finely wrought character study; excellent performances. [PG] ▼

Stevie (2003) C-145m. ½ D: Steve James. Documentary from HOOP DREAMS director is just as powerful in its own way. Filmed over an extended period, it's a poignant portrait of a rural Illinois trouble magnet to whom James, in earlier times, was an official Big Brother. Now the youth is awaiting sentencing for an alleged offense far more serious than his usual scrapes: sexually abusing his 8-year-old cousin. Best scene reunites Stevie with the first, and most loving, of his many foster-home parents (some of whom abused him). This is really a movie that leaves you wondering, "What if...?" ● an ex-con who sets out to avenge the death of an old buddy and finds himself knee-deep in ugly drug dealers. Originally set for release in 1984, then pulled back for some reshooting, which apparently didn't help. Based on an Elmore Leonard novel. [R]▼●

St. Helens (1981) C-90m. ½ D: Ernest Pintoff. Art Carney, David Huffman, Cassie Yates, Ron O'Neal, Bill McKinney, Albert Salmi. Mount St. Helens is about to erupt, and old codger Carney (named Harry Truman!) refuses to leave his home. Not too bad, with a fine Carney performance; based on a true story. [PG] ▼●

Stick (1985) C-109m. *½ D: Burt Reynolds. Burt Reynolds, Candice Bergen, George Segal, Charles Durning, Jose Perez, Richard Lawson, Alex Rocco, Tricia Leigh Fisher, Dar Robinson. Incredibly boring underworld melodrama about

Stick It (2006) C-105m.  D: Jessica Bendinger. Jeff Bridges, Missy Peregrym, Vanessa Lengies, Nikki SooHoo, Maddy Curley, Kellan Lutz, John Patrick Amedori, Jon Gries, Gia Carides, Polly Holliday, Julie Warner, Annie Corley. The writer of BRING IT ON makes her directing debut with this story of competition, dirty tricks, and behind-the-scenes juice in the world of teenage gymnastics. Peregrym is a washout with personal problems who walked away from a championship and now has nowhere to go but back to training with Bridges. Diffuse screenplay (by Bendinger) strays in too many directions and stumbles to a ho-hum finish. [PG-13]●

Sticky Fingers (1988) C-97m.  D: Catlin Adams. Helen Slater, Melanie Mayron, Danitra Vance, Eileen Brennan, Carol Kane, Loretta Devine, Stephen McHattie, Christopher Guest, Gwen Welles. Dippy roommates find themselves the custodians of a suitcase full of drug money, which they proceed to "borrow" and spend. Earnest attempt at wacky, female-slanted comedy goes completely askew. Likable stars and a high energy level can't keep it afloat. Scripted by director Adams and costar Mayron. [PG-13]▼●

Stiffs SEE: Out Cold (1989)

Stiff Upper Lips (1998-British) C-94m.  D: Gary Sinyor. Peter Ustinov, Prunella Scales, Georgina Cates, Samuel West, Sean Pertwee, Robert Portal, Brian Glover, Frank Finlay. A high-born young woman falls in love with a handsome peasant. Anemic spoof of Merchant-Ivory films and the type of fodder that turns up on Masterpiece Theatre. Some easy laughs here and there, but as parodies go this one is second-rate.▼

Stigmata (1999) C-103m. *¹/₂ D: Rupert Wainwright. Patricia Arquette, Gabriel Byrne, Jonathan Pryce, Nia Long, Thomas Kopache, Rade Sherbedgia (Serbedzija), Enrico Colantoni, Dick Latessa, Portia de Rossi. A lotta Sturm, a lotta Drang, but not much else in this EXORCIST derivation about a young woman who quite suddenly suffers from bloody attacks (à la stigmata) and hallucinations . . . and the Vatican scientist/priest who comes to investigate. Loud, flamboyant (with meaningless close-ups of coffee pouring, an egg frying, etc.), but hopeless. Super 35. [R]▼

Stiletto (1969) C-98m. *¹/₂ D: Bernard Kowalski. Alex Cord, Britt Ekland, Patrick O'Neal, Joseph Wiseman, Barbara McNair, Roy Scheider, Charles Durning, M. Emmett Walsh. Weak Mafia melodrama about handsome killer who lives

like a playboy, kills for money. Repercussions abound when he decides to quit his job. From the Harold Robbins novel. Look fast for Raul Julia in a party scene. [R]▼

Still Breathing (1998) C-108m. ¹/₂ D: James F. Robinson. Brendan Fraser, Joanna Going, Celeste Holm, Ann Magnuson, Lou Rawls, Angus MacFadyen, Toby Huss, Paolo Seganti, Michael McKean, Junior Brown, The Jim Cullum Jazz Band. One of those supposedly "magical" romances, in which two complete opposites (San Antonio puppeteer/dreamer Fraser and L.A. con artist/cynic Going) eventually find each other. Two fine lead performances help lift this above the routine and keep it from being overly syrupy. [PG-13]▼

Still Crazy (1998-U.S.-British) C-97m.  D: Brian Gibson. Stephen Rea, Billy Connolly, Jimmy Nail, Timothy Spall, Bill Nighy, Juliet Aubrey, Helena Bergstrom, Bruce Robinson, Rachael Stirling. Amiable film about the reunion of a 1970s rock band called Strange Fruit and its star-crossed musicians, whose resentments and peccadilloes are still fresh after 20 years. Built on a surefire foundation, the story has just enough twists to keep you guessing where it's going and a gallery of enjoyable performances. Bonus: the music is actually good. [R]▼●

Still of the Night (1982) C-91m.  D: Robert Benton. Roy Scheider, Meryl Streep, Jessica Tandy, Joe Grifasi, Sara Botsford, Josef Sommer. Yet another disappointing homage to Hitchcock in this tale of a psychiatrist attracted to a woman who may or may not have murdered one of his patients. A cold film with more plot holes than one would care to count. [PG]▼

Still Smokin' (1983) C-91m. BOMB D: Thomas Chong. Cheech Marin, Thomas Chong, Hansman In't Veld, Carol Van Herwijnen, Shirleen Stroker, Susan Hahn. Rock bottom. Not even the most forgiving C & C fans can justify this nonmovie that climaxes a scant plot involving an Amsterdam film festival with twenty minutes of laughless concert footage. An unreleaseable film that somehow made it to theaters—for five-day runs. [R]▼●

Sting, The (1973) C-129m. ¹/₂ D: George Roy Hill. Paul Newman, Robert Redford, Robert Shaw, Charles Durning, Ray Walston, Eileen Brennan, Harold Gould, Dana Elcar, Jack Kehoe, Dimitra Arliss, Charles Dierkop, Sally Kirkland. Two small-time Chicago con men try to put "the sting" on a high-roller from N.Y.C. (Shaw) after he has one of their pals killed. This long but entertaining film won seven Oscars, including Best Picture, Director, and Screenplay (David S. Ward), and sparked national revival of Scott Joplin's ragtime music (arranged here by Oscar winner Marvin Hamlisch). Sequel: THE STING II. [PG]▼●

Sting II, The (1983) C-102m. *½ D: Jeremy Paul Kagan. Jackie Gleason, Mac Davis, Teri Garr, Karl Malden, Oliver Reed, Bert Remsen. Even as recent sequels go, this tardy follow-up to the Oscar winner is pretty limp. Gleason and Davis (in Newman's and Redford's roles!) rig a boxing match designed to shaft Malden, with Reed (in Shaw's role) as an unknowing cog in the scheme. Despite the male milieu, only Garr delivers a lively performance. Oddly, David S. Ward wrote this one, too. [PG]▼●●

Stingray (1978) C-100m. *½ D: Richard Taylor. Sherry Jackson, Christopher Mitchum, Bill Watson, Les Lannom, Sondra Theodore, Bert Hinchman. Low-grade mix of action, blood, and comedy as Mitchum and Lannom buy a Stingray, unaware that it's filled with stolen loot and dope, prompting pursuit by murderous Jackson. Filmed in and around St. Louis. Aka ABIGAIL: WANTED. [PG]▼

Stir (1980-Australian) C-100m. ½ D: Stephen Wallace. Bryan Brown, Max Phipps, Dennis Miller, Michael Gow, Phil Motherwell, Gary Waddell. Harrowing tale of life in prison, focusing on the jailors' brutality and culminating in riots and destruction. Excellent performances by all, particularly Brown; a memorable first feature for Wallace. Screenplay by Ben Jewson, based on first-hand experience.

Stir Crazy (1980) C-111m.  D: Sidney Poitier. Gene Wilder, Richard Pryor, Georg Stanford Brown, JoBeth Williams, Miguelangel Suarez, Craig T. Nelson, Barry Corbin, Erland van Lidth de Jeude, Lee Purcell. Broadly funny film about two yoyos who bungle their way into prison. No great shakes in terms of script or direction; just a lot of good laughs. Screenplay by Bruce Jay Friedman; lively score by Tom Scott. Later a brief TV series. [R]▼●●

Stir of Echoes (1999) C-99m. ½ D: David Koepf. Kevin Bacon, Kathryn Erbe, Kevin Dunn, Ileana Douglas, Liza Weil, Conor O'Farrell, Jenny Morrison, Zachary David Cope. Working-class Chicagoan undergoes hypnosis for a lark and suddenly finds himself haunted by visions and premonitions—just like his five-year-old son, who sees ghosts. Intriguing film plays with our emotions and becomes increasingly unpleasant as it goes along. Koepf adapted Richard Matheson's novel. Followed by a direct-to-DVD sequel. [R]▼●●

Stitches (1985) C-89m. BOMB D: Alan Smithee (Rod Holcomb). Parker Stevenson, Geoffrey Lewis, Brian Tochi, Robin Dearden, Eddie Albert. Derivative comedy about medical students' hijinks is not titillating or funny enough to be diverting. Director Holcomb had his name removed from the credits after film was doctored during postproduction. [R]▼

St. Ives (1976) C-93m.  D: J. Lee

Thompson. Charles Bronson, John Houseman, Jacqueline Bisset, Harry Guardino, Maximilian Schell, Harris Yulin, Dana Elcar, Elisha Cook, Michael Lerner, Daniel J. Travanti. Muddled yarn about would-be writer Bronson who becomes a pawn for wealthy conniver Houseman and his beautiful associate (Bisset) and finds himself involved in murder. Glossy but stupid. Look for Jeff Goldblum and Robert Englund as hoods. [PG]▼●

St. Louis Blues (1958) 93m.  D: Allen Reisner. Nat "King" Cole, Eartha Kitt, Ruby Dee, Pearl Bailey, Juano Hernandez, Cab Calloway, Ella Fitzgerald, Mahalia Jackson. Treacly dramatics interspersed with outstanding musical performances in this so-called biography of W. C. Handy (Cole, in his lone starring role), who composed the title tune. Billy Preston plays Handy as a boy. VistaVision.

St. Louis Kid (1934) 67m. ½ D: Ray Enright. James Cagney, Patricia Ellis, Allen Jenkins, Robert Barrat, Addison Richards. Breezy Cagney vehicle casts him and Jenkins as truckdriving buddies who have a knack for getting into trouble—and wind up in the middle of a war between a dairy trust and angry farmers.

St. Martin's Lane SEE: Sidewalks of London

Stolen Children (1992-Italian-French) C-112m. ½ D: Gianni Amelio, Enrico Lo Verso, Valentina Scalici, Giuseppe Ieracitano, Florence Darel, Marina Golovine. A sister and brother are dragged across half of Italy after their no-good mother is arrested; they've been neglected, and the girl knows more about the business of prostitution than any 11-year-old should. Young military man Lo Verso, charged with transporting these unwanted wards of the state, grows to care about them. Stunning, simple film (a multi-award winner in Europe) harks back to the Italian Neo-realist school, with three unbeatable performances. Scripted by Sandro Petraglia, Stefano Rulli, and the director. Original title: IL LADRO DI BAMBINI. ▼

Stolen Hours, The (1963) C-100m. ½ D: Daniel Petrie. Susan Hayward, Michael Craig, Diane Baker, Edward Judd, Paul Rogers. Hayward takes Bette Davis' DARK VICTORY, transplants it to contemporary England, in tale of woman with fatal illness trying to get as much out of life as she can. Original is far superior in all departments. ▼

Stolen Kisses (1968-French) C-87m.  D: François Truffaut. Jean-Pierre Léaud, Delphine Seyrig, Michel Lonsdale, Claude Jade, Harry Max, Daniel Ceccaldi. This alternately touching and hilarious film about an inept but likable jerk-of-all-trades is possibly Truffaut's best movie and one of the best treatments of young love ever put on the screen. Third in his Antoine Doinel series, followed by BED AND BOARD. [R]▼●

Stolen Life, A (1946) 107m. ½ D:

Curtis Bernhardt. Bette Davis, Glenn Ford, Dane Clark, Walter Brennan, Charlie Ruggles, Bruce Bennett, Peggy Knudsen. A twin takes her sister's place as wife of the man they both love in this slick but far-fetched soaper with Bette in dual role; remake of 1939 film with Elisabeth Bergner. Only movie produced by Davis. ▼●

Stolen Summer (2002) C-90m. ½ D: Pete Jones. Aidan Quinn, Bonnie Hunt, Kevin Pollak, Eddie Kaye Thomas, Mike Weinberg, Adi Stein, Brian Dennehy. Catholic boy in Chicago whose teacher keeps warning him that he's headed for Hell decides to do something to earn himself a place in Heaven: converting a Jew to Christianity. Child's-eye story of faith and tolerance set in the 1970s is simple and sincere; it wears its heart on its sleeve but dares to swim against the tide of cynicism. Produced by Ben Affleck and Matt Damon as part of their "Project Greenlight" endeavor to give struggling filmmakers a chance. [PG] ▼●

Stomp the Yard (2007) C-114m. ½ D: Sylvain White. Columbus Short, Meagan Good, Ne-Yo, Darrin Henson, Brian J. White, Laz Alonso, Valerie Pettiford, Harry Lennix, Chris Brown. DIRTY DANCING meets BOYZ N THE HOOD in this energetic musical drama in which a South L.A. youth discovers talent for an old tradition when he starts "stepping" after transferring to an Atlanta college. In doing so he becomes the focus of a major competition between dueling fraternities. Story has a nice message but it's Short's high "stepping" style that carries the day—and the film. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Stone Angel, The (2008-Canadian-British) C-115m.  D: Kari Skogland. Ellen Burstyn, Christine Horne, Cole Hauser, Wings Hauser, Ellen Page, Kevin Zegers, Dylan Baker, Luke Kirby. Multigenerational tale based on a beloved 1964 Canadian novel casts Burstyn as a proud, stubborn 90-year-old who evades her son's plan to put her in a nursing home, instead heading up north to relive memories (in flashback) of her youth and marriage to a gruff husband (played at different ages by father and son Wings and Cole Hauser). Sheer scope of the story, spanning several decades, eludes writer-director Skogland, who employs a rushed TV cutting style that truncates whatever pleasures were found in Margaret Laurence's book. Burstyn is in fine form. Super 35. [R] ●

Stone Boy, The (1984) C-93m. ½ D: Chris Cain. Robert Duvall, Jason Presson, Glenn Close, Frederic Forrest, Wilford Brimley, Gail Youngs, Cindy Fisher, Linda Hamilton, Dean Cain. Tragedy sends a simple farming family into shock, and leaves the youngest boy to sort out his problems on his own. Perceptive and poignant look at the way people react to serious situations in real life, with a gallery of outstanding

performances. May be too slow and introspective for some viewers' taste. Film debut of Cain (the director's stepson). [PG] ▼●

Stone Cold (1991) C-90m. *½ D: Craig R. Baxley. Brian Bosworth, Lance Henriksen, William Forsythe, Arabella Holzboog, Sam McMurray. Football's "Boz" infiltrates a gang of Mississippi bikers whose extortion antics have caught the attention of both the Feds and the Mob. Only some amazing stunts save this silliness from the BOMB scrap heap. Written and executive produced by Walter Doniger, who once directed Mantle and Maris in SAFE AT HOME! [R] ▼●●

Stone Cold Dead (1980-Canadian) C-97m. ½ D: George Mendeluk. Richard Crenna, Paul Williams, Linda Sorenson, Belinda J. Montgomery, Charles Shamata, George Chuvalo. Cop Crenna versus mobster Williams. Compact little drama. [R] ▼

Stoned (2006-British) C-102m. *½ D: Stephen Woolley. Leo Gregory, Paddy Considine, David Morrissey, Ben Wishaw, Monet Mazur, Tuva Novotny, Amelia Warner. Movie alleges that debauched and deposed Rolling Stones guitarist Brian Jones didn't just drown in his swimming pool but was drowned by his builder-turned-gofer. Mick Jagger, Keith Richards, and Anita Pallenberg are among the supporting characters. This can't miss, you say? It does. For a biopic about early Brit rock see BACK-BEAT, and for one about star resentment, see AUTO FOCUS. Focus is the problem here, or lack of it. And a movie about the Stones that's missing Stones music is a fuzzy-brained concept to begin with. ●

Stone Killer, The (1973) C-95m. ½ D: Michael Winner. Charles Bronson, Martin Balsam, David Sheiner, Norman Fell, Ralph Waite. Good action in thriller about hard-headed cop trying to unravel chain of mystery that leads to elaborate plan using Vietnam vets to stage underworld massacre. Well made but pretty violent. [R] ▼●

Stone Reader (2003) C-128m.  D: Mark Moskowitz. Filmmaker Moskowitz, an avid reader, revisits a 1972 novel called The Stones of Summer and determines to find out what ever happened to its author, Dow Mossman, who never published again despite strong reviews for his debut book. In his search he talks to literary critics, teachers, writers, and fellow readers, not just about the elusive Mossman but about the nature of books and how they affect their readers. An offbeat but fascinating odyssey, especially for book lovers. [PG-13] ▼●

Stonewall (1995-U.S.-British) C-99m. ½ D: Nigel Finch. Guillermo Diaz, Fred Weller, Brendan Corbalis, Bruce MacVittie, Luis Guzman, Duane Boutte, Matthew Faber. Historic look-back at the 1969 Greenwich Village bar riot that sparked the gay rights movement, told as a fictitious personal story about a young Puerto Rican drag queen (the terrific Diaz) who becomes politically conscious when he falls in love with an idealistic midwestern hippie. Important subject matter deserved better, bigger-budgeted film, but this is still an effective portrait of discrimination. Director Finch died of AIDS shortly after the film was completed. Isaiah Washington has a bit part as a cop. [R]▼●●

Stony Island (1978) C-97m.  D: Andrew Davis. Richard Davis, Edward Stony Robinson, Ronnie Barron, George Englund, Gene Barge, Susanna Hoffs, Rae Dawn Chong. Independent feature, filmed in Chicago, about an integrated group of youthful rhythm and blues performers and the death of an older black musician, nicely played by Barge. Fine music sequences and use of urban locations make up for lack of character and story development. Aka MY MAIN MAN FROM STONY ISLAND. [PG]

Stooge, The (1953) 100m. ½ D: Norman Taurog. Dean Martin, Jerry Lewis, Polly Bergen, Eddie Mayehoff, Marion Marshall. Egocentric singer (Martin) learns the hard way just how important his stage (Lewis) is to his success. Martin & Lewis go dramatic with middling results. Completed in 1951, not released for two years.▼●

Stoogemania (1985) C-83m. *½ D: Chuck Workman. Josh Mostel, Melanie Chartoff, Sid Caesar, Josh Miner, Thom Sharp. Well-meaning but completely unfunny tale of one Howard F. Howard, whose passion for The Three Stooges has overtaken his life. Incorporates real footage of the Stooges, and while most of it is far from their best, it's still vastly superior to the new material in this feature. For those who care, some of the Stooge footage is computer-colored. [PG]▼

Stoolie, The (1974) C-90m. ½ D: John G. Avildsen. Jackie Mason, Dan Frazer, Marcia Jean Kurtz, Anne Marie. Flawed but interesting little film, with Mason as a paid police informer who absconds to Miami with $7,500 in an attempt to "retire."▼●

Stop! Look! and Laugh! (1960) 78m. ½ D: Jules White. The Three Stooges, Paul Winchell, Jerry Mahoney, Knucklehead Smiff, The Marquis Chimps, Officer Joe Bolton. Original Stooges' funniest sequences strung together by ventriloquist Paul Winchell and dummies is aimed at children. Much of it is familiar, but still amusing.▼●

Stop-Loss (2008) C-112m.  D: Kimberly Peirce. Ryan Phillippe, Abbie Cornish, Channing Tatum, Joseph Gordon-Levitt, Ciarán Hinds, Timothy Olyphant, Victor Rasuk, Rob Brown, Mammie Gummer, Josef Sommer, Linda Emond, Alex Frost, Laurie Metcalf. After losing some of his men in a bloody ambush in Iraq, Army staff sergeant Phillippe and other members of his squadron return home to Texas and find readjusting to "normal" life to be difficult—if not impossible. Then Phillippe is told that

instead of being mustered out he's been "stop-losed," set for another tour of duty overseas. Moving story of young men torn apart (literally and figuratively) by a brutal war and a hypocritical military agenda. Veers toward melodrama at times, but it still has the ring of truth. [R]●

Stop Making Sense (1984) C-88m. * D: Jonathan Demme. Brilliantly conceived, shot, edited, and performed Talking Heads concert film benefits from the presence of a major filmmaker behind the camera, as well as the imagination of lead singer/mastermind David Byrne. One of the greatest rock movies ever made; video version runs 99m. and contains three extra tunes.▼●

Stop Me Before I Kill! (1961-British) 109m.  D: Val Guest. Claude Dauphin, Diane Cilento, Roland Lewis, Françoise Rosay. Turgid dramatics: mentally unhinged man's new marriage is threatened by his illness and his psychiatrist's yen for his wife. Originally titled THE FULL TREATMENT. Megascope.

Stop! or My Mom Will Shoot (1992) C-87m. *½ D: Roger Spottiswoode. Sylvester Stallone, Estelle Getty, JoBeth Williams, Roger Rees, Martin Ferrero, Gailard Sartain, Dennis Burkley, Ving Rhames. Cop Stallone is joined by his loud-mouthed, gun-toting mamma (Getty), and they erase crime from the streets of L.A. One-joke action-comedy which quickly wears thin; Getty's character, meant to be funny, comes off as thoroughly obnoxious. [PG]▼●●

Stop the World—I Want to Get Off (1966-British) C-98m. ½ D: Philip Saville. Tony Tanner, Millicent Martin, Leila Croft, Valerie Croft. One of producer Bill Sargent's photographed stage presentations, this one preserves Anthony Newley and Leslie Bricusse's allegorical musical about an everyman named Littlechap and his bouts with life and success. A bit heavy-handed, though the score includes "What Kind Of Fool Am I?" Opens in b&w, then changes to color. Remake as SAMMY STOPS THE WORLD.▼●●

Stop, You're Killing Me (1952) C-86m.  D: Roy Del Ruth. Broderick Crawford, Claire Trevor, Virginia Gibson, Sheldon Leonard, Margaret Dumont. Mild froth based on Damon Runyon story of racketeer Crawford going legitimate. Remake of A SLIGHT CASE OF MURDER.

Stork Club, The (1945) 98m. ½ D: Hal Walker. Betty Hutton, Barry Fitzgerald, Don DeFore, Andy Russell, Iris Adrian, Robert Benchley. Hat-check girl Hutton mysteriously becomes wealthy in fanciful musicomedey, mainly for Betty's fans. She sings "Doctor, Lawyer, Indian Chief."▼●

Stormbreaker SEE: Alex Rider, Operation Stormbreaker
Storm Center (1956) 85m. *½ D: Daniel Taradash. Bette Davis, Brian Keith, Kim

Hunter, Paul Kelly. Librarian becomes center of controversy over censorship and Communism. Not even Davis can uplift clichés. An inauspicious directorial debut by veteran screenwriter Taradash.

Storm Fear (1955) 88m.  D: Cornel Wilde. Cornel Wilde, Jean Wallace, Dan Duryea, Lee Grant, Dennis Weaver, David Stollery, Steven Hill. Wounded bank robber Wilde and two partners take refuge in farm home of his honest but sickly brother Duryea. Snowstorm increases group tensions and suspense. Well-developed characters in Horton Foote's script are enhanced by good acting. Based on the novel by Clinton Seeley.

Storm in a Teacup (1937-British) 87m.  D: Victor Saville, Ian Dalrymple. Vivien Leigh, Rex Harrison, Sara Allgood, Cecil Parker, Arthur Wontner, Ivor Barnard. Witty social comedy, set in a provincial Scottish village, with Harrison a journalist who reports on a pompous politician's cruel treatment of a widow who is unable to afford a dog-license fee. At the same time, he finds himself falling in love with the bureaucrat's daughter (Leigh). ▼

Storm Over Asia (1928-Russian) 93m. ½ D: V. I. Pudovkin. Valeri Inkizhinov, A. Dedinstev, V. Tzoppi, Paulina Belinskaya. Sweeping, visually stunning drama, set in 1920, about a Mongolian trapper, thrust out of his village after a dispute with an American fur trader, who becomes a Soviet partisan. Eventually, he's discovered to be a descendant of Genghis Khan, and is set up as a puppet Mongolian ruler by the British army of occupation. Filmed in Central Asia; especially memorable are the sequence in which the trapper is almost shot and the finale. AKA THE HEIR TO GENGHIS KHAN. ▼

Storm Over the Nile (1955-British) C-113m. ½ D: Zoltan Korda, Terence Young. Anthony Steel, Laurence Harvey, James Robertson Justice, Mary Ure, Christopher Lee. Remake of THE FOUR FEATHERS (also directed by Korda) with stock footage from the original lacks class and flair, but story is still good; script by R. C. Sherriff. CinemaScope.

Storm Warning (1951) 93m. ½ D: Stuart Heisler. Ginger Rogers, Ronald Reagan, Doris Day, Steve Cochran, Hugh Sanders, Lloyd Gough, Ned Glass. Feverish but engrossing story of a woman who discovers that her sister (Day) has married a loutish Ku Klux Klansman. Good cast, with Reagan in one of his better roles as a crusading D.A.; cowritten by Richard Brooks. ▼

Stormy Monday (1988-British) C-93m.  D: Mike Figgis. Melanie Griffith, Tommy Lee Jones, Sting, Sean Bean, James Cosmo, Mark Long, Brian Lewis. Extremely stylish film noir about the convergence of four characters in the economically depressed city of Newcastle, where Sting runs a jazz club, and a ruthless American businessman (Jones) hopes to make a killing in redevelopment. More atmosphere than story here, and told at a very deliberate pace, but strong performances by all four leads and striking visual ideas by writer-director Figgis (and cinematographer Roger Deakins) definitely compensate. Figgis is also credited with the music score. [R] ▼

Stormy Weather (1943) 77m. ½ D: Andrew L. Stone. Lena Horne, Bill (Bojangles) Robinson, Cab Calloway and His Band, Katherine Dunham, Fats Waller, Dooley Wilson, The Nicholas Brothers. This musical offers a legendary lineup of black performers, with Lena singing title song, Fats performing "Ain't Misbehavin'"; others doing what they do best. Only problem: a silly storyline that improbably pairs Bojangles and Horne romantically. ▼

Story of Adele H. The (1975-French) C-97m. ½ D: François Truffaut. Isabelle Adjani, Bruce Robinson, Sylvia Marriott, Reubin Dorey, Joseph Blatchley, M. White. Understated drama of young woman (the daughter of author Victor Hugo) obsessed with a soldier who does not return her love. Adjani's performance is excellent, but film is curiously unmoving. Shot in simultaneous English and French-language versions. [PG] ▼

Story of Alexander Graham Bell, The (1939) 97m.  D: Irving Cummings. Don Ameche, Loretta Young, Henry Fonda, Charles Coburn, Spring Byington, Gene Lockhart, Polly Ann Young. Ameche overacts at times in his famous title role, but entertaining version of inventor is given plush 20th Century-Fox presentation. ▼

Story of a Love Story (1973-French) C-110m. ½ D: John Frankenheimer. Alan Bates, Dominique Sanda, Evans Evans, Lea Massari, Michel Auclair, Laurence De Monaghan. Writer Bates has an extramarital affair with Sanda—or is it his imagination? Interesting premise, middling result. Originally titled IMPOSSIBLE OBJECT; never released theatrically. ▼

Story of a Marriage, The SEE: On Valentine's Day and 1918

Story of a Three Day Pass, The (1967-French) 87m.  D: Melvin Van Peebles. Harry Baird, Nicole Berger, Christian Marin, Pierre Doris. Flawed but impressive film about affair between black American soldier and white French girl. Also on tape as LA PERMISSION. ▼

Story of a Woman (1970) C-90m. ½ D: Leonardo Bercovici. Bibi Andersson, Robert Stack, James Farentino, Annie Girardot, Didi Perego, Mario Nascimbene. Turgid tale of pianist who tries to remain faithful to her husband, even though she's still hung up on old flame; Bibi is wasted. [R]

Story of Boys and Girls, The (1991-Italian) C-92m.  D: Pupi Avati. Lucretia della Rovere, Davide Bechini, Valeria Bruni Tedeschi, Lina Bernardi, Anna Bonaiuto,

Alessandro Haber, Enrico Maria Modugno. A country beauty invites her fiancé's elegant Bolognese family to a 20-course banquet in Italy's Emilia Romagna farmland in 1936. Easygoing, keenly observed comedy of culture clashing, whose subliminal effect isn't completely apparent until the film's conclusion. Have a snack handy. ▼

Story of Dr. Wassell, The (1944) C-140m. ½ D: Cecil B. DeMille. Gary Cooper, Laraine Day, Signe Hasso, Dennis O'Keefe, Paul Kelly, Philip Ahn, Barbara Britton. Story of real-life dedicated Navy doctor who saved fighting men in Java during WW2; slow-moving adaptation of the James Hilton book. Far from top-grade DeMille or Cooper. ▼

Story of Esther Costello, The (1957-British) 103m. ½ D: David Miller. Joan Crawford, Rossano Brazzi, Heather Sears, Lee Patterson, Fay Compton, Bessie Love, Ron Randell. Socialite rehabilitates impoverished blind and deaf girl and promotes charity fund in her name. Interesting look at charity huckstering but melodrama is overwrought and often unintentionally funny. ▼

Story of G.I. Joe, The (1945) 109m. ½ D: William Wellman. Burgess Meredith, Robert Mitchum, Freddie Steele, Wally Cassell, Jimmy Lloyd. Meredith is superb as war correspondent Ernie Pyle living with Yank soldiers on front lines to report their stories; Mitchum's first outstanding film role as soldier. Full title: ERNIE PYLE'S STORY OF G.I. JOE. ▼

Story of Gilbert and Sullivan, The SEE: Great Gilbert and Sullivan, The Story of Gosta Berling, The SEE: Atonement of Gosta Berling, The Story of Louis Pasteur, The (1936) 85m. ½ D: William Dieterle. Paul Muni, Josephine Hutchinson, Anita Louise, Donald Woods, Fritz Leiber, Porter Hall, Akim Tamiroff. The achievements of the famous French scientist are chronicled in this engrossing film. Muni gives Oscar-winning performance; writers Sheridan Gibney and Pierre Collings also won. ▼

Story of Mankind, The (1957) C-100m.  D: Irwin Allen. Ronald Colman, Cedric Hardwicke, Vincent Price; guest stars Hedy Lamarr, Groucho, Harpo, Chico Marx, Virginia Mayo, Agnes Moorehead, Francis X. Bushman, Charles Coburn, Marie Windsor, John Carradine, Dennis Hopper. Ambitious in concept, laughable in juvenile results. Henrik Van Loon book of highlights of man's history becomes string of clichéd costume episodes, badly cast, and packed with stock footage; the Marxes don't even appear together! Colman's last film.

Story of Piera, The (1983-Italian-French) C-105m.  D: Marco Ferreri. Isabelle Huppert, Hanna Schygulla, Marcello Mastroianni, Bettina Gruhn, Tanya Lopert. Odd chronicle of the lifelong relationship between nutty, sensuous Schygulla and her daughter (Gruhn as a pre-teen, then Huppert). Ferreri presents a liberated alternative for relating as a wife, mother, daughter, woman; however, the result is mostly rambling, boring.

Story of Qiu Ju, The (1992-Chinese) C-100m. ½ D: Zhang Yimou. Gong Li, Lei Lao Sheng, Liu Pei Qi, Ge Zhi Jun, Ye Jun, Yang Liu Xia. Exceptional drama about a naive but determined Chinese farm woman (Li), who demands to receive an explanation and simple apology after her husband is beaten up by the obstinate chief of her village. This deft, ironic story of a woman's search for justice examines government bureaucracy and how regulations and rules often have little to do with the real needs of people. [PG] ▼

Story of Robin Hood and His Merrie Men, The (1952) C-83m.  D: Ken Annakin. Richard Todd, Joan Rice, Peter Finch, James Hayter, James Robertson Justice, Martita Hunt, Hubert Gregg, Michael Hordern. Zesty, colorful retelling of the familiar story, filmed in England by Walt Disney with excellent cast. Not as personality oriented as other versions, but just as good in its own way. ▼

Story of Ruth, The (1960) C-132m. ½ D: Henry Koster. Elana Eden, Stuart Whitman, Tom Tryon, Peggy Wood, Viveca Lindfors, Jeff Morrow. Static biblical non-epic retelling story of woman renouncing her "gods" when she discovers true faith. CinemaScope. ▼

Story of Seabiscuit, The (1949) C-93m.  D: David Butler. Shirley Temple, Barry Fitzgerald, Lon McCallister, Rosemary DeCamp, Donald MacBride, Pierre Watkin. Technicolor hokum with Fitzgerald as the toora-loora trainer who convinces Charles S. Howard (Watkin) that the title horse has real possibilities. Temple is Fitzgerald's niece, whose brother was killed in a racing accident. Never a great film, this is now rendered meaningless (if not downright ludicrous) by Laura Hillenbrand's book and the 2003 adaptation, SEABISCUIT. ▼

Story of the Weeping Camel, The (2004-German-Mongolian) C-87m. ½ D: Byambasuren Davaa, Luigi Falorni. Fascinating docudrama about a family of shepherds in a remote part of Mongolia's Gobi Desert who assist their camel herd in giving birth. When one of the animals has a difficult delivery she rejects the colt, forcing the family to resort to a traditional ritual and find a musician who can get the camel to nurse her baby. Masterfully filmed, using real people in real situations, even though it's a "story" being enacted by its participants. [PG] ▼

Story of Three Loves, The (1953) C-122m.  D: Vincente Minnelli, Gottfried Reinhardt. Pier Angeli, Moira Shearer, Ethel Barrymore, Kirk Douglas, Farley Granger, Leslie Caron, James Mason, Agnes Moorehead, Zsa Zsa Gabor. Bittersweet trio of love stories, told as flashbacks involving passengers on ocean liner.

Story of Us, The (1999) C-95m.  D: Rob Reiner. Bruce Willis, Michelle Pfeiffer, Tim Matheson, Rob Reiner, Rita Wilson, Julie Hagerty, Jayne Meadows, Tom Poston, Betty White, Red Buttons. A couple on the verge of splitting reflect on their 15-year marriage—and try to understand where it went wrong. Sympathetic portrayal of married life has likable performances on its side, but its moments of keen observation are too often undercut by annoying, sitcom-style dialogue that bears no relation to real life. Paul Reiser appears unbilled. [R]▼●●

Story of Vernon & Irene Castle, The (1939) 93m.  D: H. C. Potter. Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Edna May Oliver, Walter Brennan, Lew Fields. Fred and Ginger take an unusual turn, downplaying their usual breezy comedy to portray America's hugely popular early-20th-century husband-and-wife dance team. Many fine period dance numbers and songs. This was the last Astaire-Rogers film until THE BARKLEYS OF BROADWAY ten years later. Incidentally, that's young Marge Champion (then known as Marjorie Belcher) as Irene's girlfriend.▼●●

Story of Will Rogers, The (1952) C-109m.  D: Michael Curtiz. Will Rogers, Jr., Jane Wyman, Carl Benton Reid, James Gleason, Mary Wickes, Eddie Cantor. One of few show biz biographies that rings true, with Rogers Jr. faithfully portraying his father, rodeo star turned humorist; Wyman is his loving wife, Cantor appears as himself.

Story of Women (1988-French) C-110m.  D: Claude Chabrol. Isabelle Huppert, Francois Cluzet, Marie Trintignant, Nils Tavernier, Louis Ducreux. Huppert gives one of her best performances as a woman who builds a thriving career as an abortionist in Vichy France—and becomes the last of her sex to be guillotined in her country. Ironic, fact-based story provides Chabrol with one of his best subjects; the director is in top form here.▼

Story on Page One, The (1959) 123m.  D: Clifford Odets. Rita Hayworth, Anthony Franciosa, Gig Young, Mildred Dunnock, Hugh Griffith, Sanford Meisner, Robert Burton. Lovers Hayworth and Young are accused of killing Rita's husband, hire Franciosa to represent them in court. Odets' stark film has high tension and sincere performances, although Dunnock's Mama portrayal is a bit much. CinemaScope.

Storytelling (2002) C-88m.  D: Todd Solondz. Selma Blair, Leo Fitzpatrick, Aleksa Palladino, Robert Wisdom, Noah Fleiss, Paul Giamatti, John Goodman, Julie Hagerty, Lupe Ontiveros, Jonathan Osser, Franka Potente, Steve Railsback, Xander Berkeley, Crista

Moore. Two-part film offers some wry observations about everyday cruelty in typical Solondz fashion, but little resonance. In "Fiction," writing student Blair breaks off with her disabled boyfriend/college classmate and sleeps with her angry black teacher. In "Non-Fiction," a blowhard would-be documentary filmmaker chronicles a typical affluent suburban N.J. family, little suspecting the drama that's unfolding right under his nose. Film's conclusion leaves us wanting. [R]▼

Storyville (1992) C-112m. *½ D: Mark Frost. James Spader, Joanne Whalley-Kilmer, Jason Robards, Piper Laurie, Charlotte Lewis, Michael Warren, Michael Parks, Chuck McCann, Charles Haid, Chino Fats Williams, Woody Strode, Jeff Perry. Young, obscenely wealthy Louisiana congressional candidate Spader discovers skeletons deeply hidden in his family's closet. Good performances can't save this muddled and obtuse contemporary drama; the murder, mayhem, and mistresses are more than anyone will care about. [R]▼●●

Stowaway (1936) 86m. ½ D: William A. Seiter. Robert Young, Alice Faye, Shirley Temple, Eugene Palette, Helen Westley, Arthur Treacher. Predictable yet engaging shipboard story with Faye and Young romancing, Temple the incurably curious child. Shirley even speaks Chinese! Also shown in computer-colored version.▼

Straight on Till Morning (1972-British) C-96m.  D: Peter Collinson. Rita Tushingham, Shane Briant, Tom Bell, Annie Ross, Claire Kelly. Offbeat thriller, but not terribly effective. Naive Tushingham journeys from Liverpool to London to find a willing male to impregnate her, meets ladykiller Briant. The title, if you don't know, is derived from Peter Pan. Video titles: TILL DAWN DO US PART and DRESSED FOR DEATH. [R]▼

Straight Out of Brooklyn (1991) C-91m. ½ D: Matty Rich. George T. Odum, Ann D. Sanders, Lawrence Gilliard, Jr., Barbara Sanon, Reana E. Drummond, Mark Malone. Sobering look at a working-class black family's dead-end existence in the housing projects of Brooklyn, N.Y., and a young man's foolish scheme to turn their lives around. Ambitious and interesting first feature for teenaged writer-director Rich (who also appears on-screen as the talkative Larry). Extremely rough-edged, but redeemed by some fine performances—and searing emotions. [R]▼●●

Straight Story, The (1999) C-111m. ½ D: David Lynch. Richard Farnsworth, Sissy Spacek, Harry Dean Stanton, Jane Galloway Heit, Everett McGill, Jennifer Edwards-Hughes. Wonderful, deceptively simple slice of Americana (based on a true story) about a 73-year-old Iowa man who drives a lawnmower some 300 miles to see his ailing brother, with whom he hasn't spoken in a decade. Its measured pace and episodic quality may not appeal to everyone, but its charm and belief in the basic decency of people make it very special indeed. Farnsworth shines in the leading role. Director Lynch's most benign film. Written by Mary Sweeney and John Roach. Panavision. [G]▼●

Straight Talk (1992) C-91m. ★½ D: Barnett Kellman. Dolly Parton, James Woods, Griffin Dunne, Michael Madsen, Deirdre O'Connell, John Sayles, Teri Hatcher, Spalding Gray, Jerry Orbach, Philip Bosco, Charles Fleischer, Jay Thomas. New-in-town Dolly is mistaken for the just-hired psychologist at a Chicago radio station, but is a hit on the air with her down-home advice. About as credible as Parton's romance with costar Woods, who despite his billing was completely missing from the film's coming attraction. [PG]▼●●

Straight Through the Heart (1983-German) C-91m.  D: Doris Dörrie. Beate Jensen, Sepp Bierbichler, Gabrielle Litty, Nuran Filiz. Highly original, sharply observed tale of a rather peculiar young girl (nicely played by Jensen) and her relationship with divorced, lonely, middle-aged dentist Bierbichler. An impressive initial feature from Dörrie (the director of MEIN . . .).

Straight Time (1978) C-114m.  D: Ulu Grosbard. Dustin Hoffman, Theresa Russell, Harry Dean Stanton, Gary Busey, M. Emmet Walsh, Sandy Baron, Kathy Bates, Rita Taggart. Hoffman knocks heads with slimy parole officer Walsh following his release from prison and begins a downward slide. Engrossing if not particularly distinguished melodrama gets a real shot in the arm from terrific supporting performances. Hoffman started directing the film himself, then turned it over to Grosbard. Based on the novel No Beast So Fierce by Edward Bunker, who also appears in film as Mickey. [R]▼●

Straight to Hell (1987) C-86m. BOMB D: Alex Cox. Sy Richardson, Joe Strummer, Dick Rude, Courtney Love, Dennis Hopper, Elvis Costello, Grace Jones, Jim Jarmusch, The Pogues. "Self-indulgent" is an understated way of describing this spaghetti Western spoof, written by cult director Cox and costar Rude. Has the insistent air of a hip in-joke, except that it isn't funny. In fact, it's awful. [R]▼●

Strait-Jacket (1964) 89m. ★½ D: William Castle. Joan Crawford, Diane Baker, Leif Erickson, Anthony Hayes, Howard St. John, Rochelle Hudson, George Kennedy. Crawford served 20 years for axe murders; now, living peacefully with daughter Baker, murders start again and she's suspected. Crawford's strong portrayal makes this one of the best in the BABY JANE genre of older-star shockers; script by Robert Bloch.▼●●

Stranded (1987) C-80m.  D: Tex Fuller. Ione Skye, Joe Morton, Maureen O'Sullivan, Susan Barnes, Cameron Dye, Michael Greene, Brendan Hughes. A couple of effective moments cannot uplift this unrewarding sci-fi entry about aliens who come to earth, taking teen Skye and grandmother O'Sullivan hostage. [PG-13]▼●

Strange Affair, The (1968-British) C-106m. ★½ D: David Greene. Michael York, Jeremy Kemp, Susan George, Jack Watson, Nigel Davenport, George A. Cooper, Barry Fantoni. Pretty good police melodrama about young recruit York's dallying with sexy hippie and superior Kemp's failure to get needed conviction; George steals the show in one of her first film appearances. Techniscope. [R]

Strange Affair of Uncle Harry, The (1945) 80m.  D: Robert Siodmak. George Sanders, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Ella Raines, Sara Allgood, Moyna MacGill, Samuel S. Hinds. Engrossing melodrama about mild-mannered Sanders falling in love, but unable to break from grip of domineering sister (Fitzgerald). Vivid, if not always believable, with unfortunate ending demanded by 1940s censorship. Produced by longtime Hitchcock associate Joan Harrison. Originally titled UNCLE HARRY.▼●

Strange Affection (1957-British) 84m.  D: Wolf Rilla. Richard Attenborough, Colin Petersen, Jill Adams, Terence Morgan. A teacher decides to take in a boy who's been accused of murdering his drunkard father. Decent British drama. Original British title: THE SCAMP.

Strange Bedfellows (1965) C-98m. ★½ D: Melvin Frank. Rock Hudson, Gina Lollobrigida, Gig Young, Terry-Thomas, Nancy Kulp. Hudson ambles through another marital mix-up comedy, this one with fiery Gina and lots of slapstick. Mild entertainment; filmed in London.▼●

Strange Behavior (1981-New Zealand) C-98m.  D: Michael Laughlin. Michael Murphy, Louise Fletcher, Dan Shor, Fiona Lewis, Arthur Dignam, Scott Brady, Charles Lane. This shocker about grisly murders in a small Midwestern town (shot in New Zealand!) got inexplicably good reviews in many quarters. You may rightly wonder what all the shouting was about. Originally titled DEAD KIDS. Panavision. [R]▼●

Strange Brew (1983) C-90m. ★½ D: Dave Thomas, Rick Moranis. Dave Thomas, Rick Moranis, Max von Sydow, Paul Dooley, Lynne Griffin, voice of Mel Blanc. Uneven but likably goofy film about Bob and Doug, the beer-guzzling McKenzie Brothers introduced on the SCTV show. Lags at times, but keeps coming up with funny scenes, especially when playing with the conventions of moviemaking. The stars also directed and cowrote the film, the first in Hoserama. Loosely based on, believe it or not, Hamlet. Moranis and Thomas

later did variations on these characters—as moose—in BROTHER BEAR. [PG]▼●●
Strange Cargo (1940) 113m.  D: Frank Borzage. Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, Ian Hunter, Peter Lorre, Albert Dekker, Paul Lukas, Eduardo Ciannelli. Intriguing allegorical film of prisoners escaping from Devil's Island with Christ-like presence of Hunter. Not for all tastes, but there are fine, realistic performances and flavorful Franz Waxman score.▼

Strange Case of Madeleine SEE: Madeleine

Strange Days (1995) C-122m. ½ D: Kathryn Bigelow. Ralph Fiennes, Angela Bassett, Juliette Lewis, Tom Sizemore, Michael Wincott, Vincent D'Onofrio, Glenn Plummer, Brigitte Bako, Richard Edson, William Fichtner, Josef Sommer, Chris Douridas, Todd Graff. Dazzling but uneasy mixture of futuristic action and social relevance. Fiennes is a hustler selling mental recordings of real-life experiences, to which some become addicted; then he stumbles into a murky murder conspiracy involving his clients. Bombastic and overambitious, but manages to capture, in fits, the addictive thrill of virtual reality. (An interracial romance between Fiennes and Bassett doesn't ring true in the end.) Cowritten by Jay Cocks and James Cameron. Super 35. [R]▼●●

Strange Door, The (1951) 81m. *½ D: Joseph Pevney. Charles Laughton, Boris Karloff, Sally Forrest, Richard Stapley, Michael Pate, Alan Napier, Paul Cavanagh. Laughton camps it up in this heavy-handed, obvious adaptation of a Robert Louis Stevenson story about a sadistic squire and his nefarious schemes. Karloff has a thankless role as a servant named Voltan.▼●●

Strange Fascination (1952) 80m.  D: Hugo Haas. Hugo Haas, Cleo Moore, Mona Barrie, Rick Vallin, Karen Sharpe. A concert pianist's career—and luck—fall apart because of his obsessive love for a young blonde. Starts interestingly but descends into hollow melodrama. Produced, directed, and written by Haas.

Strange Illusion (1945) 80m.  D: Edgar G. Ulmer. James Lydon, Sally Eilers, Warren William, Regis Toomey. Intriguing but unconvincing melodrama, a B-movie update of Hamlet, with teenaged Lydon having doubts about smooth-talker (William) who's wooing his widowed mother (Eilers). Typically bizarre Ulmer touches in this low-budget quickie.▼

Strange Impersonation (1946) 68m.  D: Anthony Mann. Brenda Marshall, William Gargan, Hillary Brooke, George Chandler, Ruth Ford, H. B. Warner, Lyle Talbot. Marshall gives a first-rate performance in this grade-B film noir about a research scientist whose face is horribly disfigured in a so-called accident. Plastic surgery enables her to unravel the mystery behind that incident and seek revenge. Perhaps the definitive Hillary Brooke movie.▼

Strange Interlude (1932) 110m.  D: Robert Z. Leonard. Norma Shearer, Clark Gable, May Robson, Maureen O'Sullivan, Robert Young, Ralph Morgan, Henry B. Walthall, Alexander Kirkland. Talky Eugene O'Neill play becomes marathon of inner thoughts revealed only to audience in chronicle of Gable, Shearer, et al. growing old without resolving their problems. Engrossing film, with Shearer at her radiant best.▼

Strange Invaders (1983) C-94m. ½ D: Michael Laughlin. Paul LeMat, Nancy Allen, Diana Scarwid, Michael Lerner, Louise Fletcher, Wallace Shawn, Fiona Lewis, Kenneth Tobey, June Lockhart. Affectionate spoof of '50s sci-fi films (with a touch of '80s New Wave), about a Midwestern town overtaken by aliens. Has a wonderful feel to it but suffers from weak writing and lethargic pacing. Evocative score by John Addison. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Strange Lady in Town (1955) C-112m. ½ D: Mervyn LeRoy. Greer Garson, Dana Andrews, Cameron Mitchell, Lois Smith, Walter Hampden, Nick Adams. Unsuccessful grand-scale soaper-Western. Set in 1880s, Garson is the doctor coming to Santa Fe, involved with Andrews, perplexed by outlaw brother Mitchell. CinemaScope.

Strange Love of Martha Ivers, The (1946) 116m.  D: Lewis Milestone. Barbara Stanwyck, Kirk Douglas, Elizabeth Scott, Van Heflin, Judith Anderson, Darryl Hickman. Gripping melodrama, with Stanwyck bound to her husband by crime she committed long ago. Douglas' film debut.▼●●

Strange One, The (1957) 100m.  D: Jack Garfein. Ben Gazzara, George Peppard, Pat Hingle, Mark Richman, Geoffrey Horne, James Olson. Bizarre military school account of far-out Gazzara's peculiar hold over various underclassmen. Remarkably frank version of Calder Willingham's End as a Man, scripted by the author; also filmed as SORORITY GIRL. Film debuts of Gazzara and Peppard.▼

Strange Planet (1999-Australian) C-92m.  D: Emma-Kate Croghan. Claudia Karvan, Naomi Watts, Alice Garner, Tom Long, Aaron Jeffery, Felix Williamson, Hugo Weaving, Rebecca Frith. Scattershot account of a year in the lives of three twentysomething female friends and three equivalent males. Attempts to offer a profound take on the transitory nature of relationships among contemporary young people, but the result is superficial. Notable for Watts' eye-opening performance as the most sensitive of the women.▼

Stranger, The (1946) 95m.  D: Orson Welles. Orson Welles, Loretta Young, Edward G. Robinson, Richard Long, Martha

Wentworth. Fine study of escaped Nazi war criminal Welles sedately living in small Connecticut town, about to marry unsuspecting Young. Robinson nicely understates role as federal agent out to get him. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Stranger, The (1967-Italian-French) C-105m. ½ D: Luchino Visconti. Marcello Mastroianni, Anna Karina, Bernard Blier, Georges Wilson, Bruno Cremer. Excellent adaptation of Albert Camus' existential novel about a man who feels completely isolated from society. Mastroianni is perfectly cast in lead.

Stranger, The (1987-U.S.-Argentine) C-88m. ½ D: Adolfo Aristarain. Bonnie Bedelia, Peter Riegert, Barry Primus, David Spielberg, Marcos Woinski. Clever if occasionally shallow thriller about Bedelia, who observes killings . . . and gets amnesia while the culprits are out to get her. Fairly entertaining most of the way, but could have been much better. Filmed in Buenos Aires. [R] ▼

Stranger, The (1994) SEE: Kabloonak

Stranger Among Us, A (1992) C-109m. ½ D: Sidney Lumet. Melanie Griffith, Eric Thal, John Pankow, Tracy Pollan, Lee Richardson, Mia Sara, Jamey Sheridan, Jake Weber, James Gandolfini, Burt Harris. N.Y.C. cop Griffith goes to live among Brooklyn's Hasidic community of religious Jews in order to find the "insider" who murdered one of them. Intriguing at first, but the story gets stalled along the way and never gets back on track, especially in the far-fetched finale. Griffith is surprisingly credible as a policewoman. [PG-13] ▼●●

Stranger and the Gunfighter, The (1976-Italian-Hong Kong) C-107m. ½ D: Anthony Dawson (Antonio Margheriti). Lee Van Cleef, Lo Lieh, Patty Shepard, Julian Ugarte, Karen Yeh. Lively, low-grade tongue-in-cheek actioner has hard-drinking cowboy joining forces with kung fu expert to recover missing fortune, with portions of the map tattooed on the posteriors of assorted lovelies. Amusing mix of spaghetti Western and karate thriller. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Stranger at My Door (1956) 85m. ½ D: William Witney. Macdonald Carey, Patricia Medina, Skip Homeier, Louis Jean Heydt, Stephen Wootton, Slim Pickens. Offbeat Western about clergyman jeopardizing his family's safety when he tries to reform an outlaw. Solid performances in this original script by Barry Shipman. Highlighted by some truly remarkable scenes with an untamed horse.

Stranger in Between (1952-British) 84m.  D: Charles Crichton. Dirk Bogarde, Elizabeth Sellars, Kay Walsh, Jon Whiteley, Geoffrey Keen. Modest but very entertaining film about orphan boy who grows to understand murderer as both flee police in England. Warm, compassionate performances. Original British title: HUNTED.

Stranger in the House SEE: Black Christ-mas

Stranger in Town, A (1943) 67m.  D: Roy Rowland. Frank Morgan, Richard Carlson, Jean Rogers, Robert Barrat, Porter Hall, Chill Wills, Donald MacBride, John Hodiak. Enjoyable Capra-esque tale about a Supreme Court justice (Morgan) who gets mixed up in a small town's corrupt politics while on a fishing vacation. Highly amusing second feature that skillfully satirizes serious issues and features a gang of crooked politics worthy of a Preston Sturges film. ▶

Stranger in Town, A (1966-Italian-U.S.) C-86m. ½ D: Vance Lewis (Luigi Vanza). Tony Anthony, Frank Wolff, Yolanda Modio, Gia Sandri. Poor imitation of Sergio Leone Western finds Anthony blood-bathing a murderous bandit into submission. Sequel: THE STRANGER RETURNS. [R]

Stranger Is Watching, A (1982) C-92m.  D: Sean S. Cunningham. Kate Mulgrew, Rip Torn, James Naughton, Shawn Von Schreiber, Barbara Baxley, Stephen Joyce. Psychopath Torn kidnaps TV newscaster Mulgrew and young Von Schreiber, holding them hostage in catacombs beneath Grand Central Station. Convoluted thriller from the director of FRIDAY THE 13TH. [R] ▼●

Stranger on the Prowl (1953-Italian) 82m. ½ D: Joseph Losey. Paul Muni, Vittorio Manunta, Joan Loring, Aldo Silvani. Murky drama of Muni a fugitive on the run who tries to set a young would-be crook straight.

Stranger on the Third Floor (1940) 64m.  D: Boris Ingster. Peter Lorre, John McGuire, Margaret Tallichet, Charles Waldron, Elisha Cook, Jr. Reporter's testimony has convicted Cook in brutal murder case, but the newspaperman has second thoughts. Excellent sleeper, with one nightmare montage that's a knockout. ▼●●

Stranger Returns, The (1968-U.S.-Italian) C-90m. BOMB D: Vance Lewis (Luigi Vanza). Tony Anthony, Dan Vadis, Daniele Vargas, Marco Guglielmi, Jill Banner. Sequel to A STRANGER IN TOWN has Anthony chasing solid gold stagecoach full of thieves. Worthless. [R]

Strangers (1953) SEE: Voyage in Italy

Strangers, The (2008) C-90m.  D: Bryan Bertino. Liv Tyler, Scott Speedman, Glenn Howerton. Couple about to embark on a road trip spend the night at his father's cabin deep in the woods. A knock on the door in the middle of the night is the first step into a nightmarish experience in which they are emotionally and physically tormented by three masked figures who offer no explanation for their attacks. Not terribly scary, in spite of insistent bursts of music and loud effects on the soundtrack . . . but even worse, it's pointless. Super 35. [R] ▶

Strangers in Good Company (1991-Canadian) C-100m.  D: Cynthia Scott. Alice Diablo, Constance Carneau, Winifred Holden, Cissy Meddings, Mary Meigs, Catherine Roche, Michelle Sweeney, Beth Webber. Slow-paced but rewarding study of a group of women temporarily stuck in the Canadian wilderness when their bus breaks down. All the actresses play themselves in this unusual film from the National Film Board of Canada. It's mainly talk, as we learn about the hopes and sorrows of women who share their feelings during an interlude in their lives. [PG] ▼

Strangers in the Night (1944) 56m. ½ D: Anthony Mann. William Terry, Virginia Grey, Helene Thimig, Edith Barrett, Anne O'Neal. An eccentric old woman harbors a dark secret in her hilltop home on the California coast, and lures a wounded soldier (just back from combat) there on the promise of meeting her beautiful daughter. Intriguing story idea gets silly by the end, but it's still a pretty good B, full of the shadowy staging favored by young director Mann.

Strangers Kiss (1984) C-94m. ½ D: Matthew Chapman. Peter Coyote, Victoria Tennant, Blaine Novak, Dan Shor, Richard Romanus, Linda Kerridge. Interesting, offbeat little film about the making of a low-budget movie, circa 1955, and the off-camera relationship between lead actors Novak and Tennant. Novak also cowrote screenplay with director Chapman, inspired by Stanley Kubrick's KILLER'S KISS. [R] ▼

Strangers on a Train (1951) 101m. * D: Alfred Hitchcock. Farley Granger, Ruth Roman, Robert Walker, Leo G. Carroll, Patricia Hitchcock, Marion Lorne. Walker gives his finest performance as psychopath involved with tennis star Granger in "exchange murders." Lorne is unforgettable as doting mother; so is merry-go-round climax. First-class Hitchcock, based on a Patricia Highsmith novel and coscripted by Raymond Chandler. Remade as ONCE YOU KISS A STRANGER and the inspiration for THROW MOMMA FROM THE TRAIN. British version of film, now available, runs almost two minutes longer, has a different ending and franker dialogue in the first scene where Granger and Walker meet. ▼●

Stranger's Return, The (1933) 89m. ½ D: King Vidor. Lionel Barrymore, Miriam Hopkins, Franchot Tone, Stuart Erwin, Irene Hervey, Beulah Bondi. A young woman, recently separated from her husband, leaves the city to stay at her grandfather's farm. Here she finds her roots, as well as a kindred spirit in neighboring farmer Tone, a college graduate. Why this rich, mature, beautifully made film isn't better known is a mystery. Phil Stong helped adapt his own novel for director Vidor.

Strangers When We Meet (1960) C-117m. ½ D: Richard Quine. Kirk Douglas, Kim Novak, Ernie Kovacs, Barbara Rush, Walter Matthau, Virginia Bruce, Kent Smith. Expensive soaper with attractive stars; both are married, but fall in love with each other. Script by Evan Hunter, from his novel. CinemaScope. ▼

Strangers With Candy (2006) C-86m. ½ D: Paul Dinello, Amy Sedaris, Stephen Colbert, Paul Dinello, Dan Hedaya, Deborah Rush, Ian Holm, Elizabeth Harnois, Joseph Cross, Kristen Johnston, Justin Theroux. Jerri Blank (Sedaris), a 47-year-old juvenile delinquent, gets out of prison and returns to high school. Prequel to the cult TV comedy show feels like a half-hour episode stretched to feature length, and the formula wears thin. Still, writer-performers Sedaris, Colbert, and Dinello create a satisfying amount of genuinely tasteless hilarity as they inject the proceedings with their bizarre sensibilities and off-kilter comic timing. A number of famous faces appear in cameo roles. [R] ▼

Stranger Than Fiction (2006) C-113m.  D: Marc Forster. Will Ferrell, Maggie Gyllenhaal, Emma Thompson, Dustin Hoffman, Queen Latifah, Tony Hale, Tom Hulce, Linda Hunt, Kristin Chenoweth. Buttoned-down IRS auditor (Ferrell) suddenly becomes aware that his life is being narrated—but only he can hear the woman's voice. Then the author (Thompson), who's been suffering from writer's block, discovers that the character she's created is real, and she holds his life in her hands. Clever concept by writer Zach Helm is fully realized by a fine cast and creative visual interpretation by Forster. Ferrell is good in a seriocomic role. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Stranger Than Paradise (1984) 90m.  D: Jim Jarmusch. John Lurie, Eszter Balint, Richard Edson, Cecillia Stark. Simple story of a nondescript young man, his doltish best friend, and his 16-year-old female cousin who comes to America from Hungary. Critically acclaimed comedy-road movie is, at its worst, a bit slow; at its best, original, ingratiating, and extremely funny. Independently filmed and developed from a 30m. short. Screenplay by Jarmusch, music by Lurie. [R] ▼●●

Stranger Wore a Gun, The (1953) C-83m.  D: Andre De Toth. Randolph Scott, Claire Trevor, Joan Weldon, George Macready, Alfonso Bedoya, Lee Marvin, Ernest Borgnine, Pierre Watkin, Roscoe Ates. Scott works as a spy for Quantrell's Raiders but severs his ties after they murder and plunder their way through Lawrence, Kansas; he soon discovers that it won't be easy to escape his past. Poorly developed story relies on a sturdy cast to get by. Bedoya

is spectacularly unfunny as a comic-relief villain. One of the first 3-D films, full of action aimed directly at the camera. ▼

Strange Shadows in An Empty Room (1977) C-99m. *½ D: Martin Herbert (Alberto DeMartino). Stuart Whitman, John Saxon, Martin Landau, Tisa Farrow, Gayle Hunnicutt, Carole Laure. Far-fetched, violent film has police detective Whitman searching for his sister's murderer. Tawdry stuff; filmed in Montreal as BLAZING MAGNUMS (a far more appropriate title). Panavision. [R] ▼

Strange Vengeance of Rosalie, The (1972) C-107m.  D: Jack Starrett. Bonnie Bedelia, Ken Howard, Anthony Zerbe. Offbeat story of Indian girl who holds man captive in rambling house. Far-fetched tale goes way off-base. [PG]

Strange Wilderness (2008) C-85m. BOMB D: Fred Wolf. Steve Zahn, Allen Covert, Jonah Hill, Kevin Heffernan, Peter Dante, Ashley Scott, Harry Hamlin, Robert Patrick, Joe Don Baker, Justin Long, Jeff Garlin, Ernest Borgnine, Blake Clark, Oliver Hudson. Painfully unfunny farce about producers of a ratings-challenged wildlife TV series who desperately seek Bigfoot in the wilds of Ecuador. You can't help feeling embarrassed for Zahn, as the clueless host, when a wild turkey chomps on his private parts and won't let go. Shelved for nearly two years before a fleeting theatrical run. Panavision. [R] ▼

Strange Woman, The (1946) 100m. ½ D: Edgar G. Ulmer. Hedy Lamarr, George Sanders, Louis Hayward, Gene Lockhart, Hillary Brooke. Lamarr offers one of her best performances as a shrewish young woman in 19th-century Maine who affects the lives of three very different men. Nicely directed by Ulmer; a rare instance in which he was allowed a Grade-A cast. ▼

Strangler, The (1964) 89m.  D: Burt Topper. Victor Buono, David McLean, Ellen Corby, Jeanne Bates, Wally Campo, James (B.) Sikking. Buono gives fine performance as mother-dominated mad killer who strangles women and pitches a city into frenzy. Inspired by the real-life Boston Strangler killings. ▼

Strangers of Bombay, The (1960-British) 81m. ½ D: Terence Fisher. Andrew Cruickshank, Marne Maitland, Guy Rolfe, Paul Stassino, Jan Holden. Grisly story of fanatical Indian cult attempting to drive British from trading station. Good cast helped by tense direction. Megascopic. ▼

Strapless (1989-British) C-103m. ½ D: David Hare. Blair Brown, Bruno Ganz, Bridget Fonda, Hugh Laurie, Alan Howard, Billy Roch, Camille Coduri, Alexandra Pigg, Michael Gough, Gary O'Brien. American doctor Brown, living and working in London, hits 40 and finds herself at a crossroads, just as her 25-year-old sister

arrives for an extended vacation. Brown is fine, and Fonda completely winning in this studied, sometimes ponderous story of the need to face emotions head-on, no matter where they may lead. [R] ▼

Strategic Air Command (1955) C-114m. ½ D: Anthony Mann. James Stewart, June Allyson, Frank Lovejoy, Barry Sullivan, Bruce Bennett, Rosemary DeCamp. Film only gets off the ground when Stewart does, as baseball player recalled to air force duty; Allyson is his sugary wife. VistaVision. ▼

Stratton Story, The (1949) 106m. ½ D: Sam Wood. James Stewart, June Allyson, Frank Morgan, Agnes Moorehead, Bill Williams, Jimmy Dykes, Bill Dickey. Stewart is fine as Monty Stratton, the baseball player whose loss of one leg did not halt his career; well played by good cast, including ballplayers Dykes and Dickey. Oscar winner for story (Douglas Morrow); screenplay by Morrow and Guy Trosper. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Strawberry and Chocolate (1994-Cuban) C-110m. ½ D: Tomas Gutierrez Alea, Juan Carlos Tabio. Jorge Perugorria, Vladimir Cruz, Mirta Ibarra, Francisco Gattorono, Marilyn Solaya. Entertaining and sympathetic account of the unlikely friendship between David, a heterosexual and devoted Communist who knows nothing of the arts (and is depressed over being dumped by his girlfriend), and homosexual, cultured Diego, who's full of life and doesn't care much for politics. Controversial in its home country, but notable too as the first Cuban film ever nominated for a Best Foreign Film Oscar. [R] ▼

Strawberry Blonde, The (1941) 97m.  D: Raoul Walsh. James Cagney, Olivia de Havilland, Rita Hayworth, Alan Hale, Jack Carson, George Tobias, Una O'Connor, George Reeves. Cagney's dynamic in entertaining turn-of-the-century story of dentist infatuated with gold-digger Hayworth, and his subsequent marriage to de Havilland. Remade in 1948 as ONE SUNDAY AFTERNOON, the title of the 1933 Gary Cooper film of which this is a remake. ▼

Strawberry Statement, The (1970) C-103m.  D: Stuart Hagmann. Bruce Davison, Kim Darby, Bob Balaban, James Kunen, Jeannie Berlin, Bud Cort, David Dukes, James Coco, Bert Remsen. Cluttered adaptation of James Kunen's book about Columbia University's riots tries to be too many things at once—comedy, social commentary, musical. Good performances. Script by Israel Horowitz (who also plays Dr. Benton). [R] ▼

Straw Dogs (1971) C-113m. ½ D: Sam Peckinpah. Dustin Hoffman, Susan George, Peter Vaughan, T. P. McKenna, Peter Arne. One of the most controversial

violence-themed films of its day. Hoffman portrays American mathematician whose pacifism is put to supreme test when he and British wife George move to isolated village and are menaced by local hooligans. Screenplay by Peckinpah and David Zelag Goodman from Gordon Williams' novel The Siege of Trenchers Farm. David Warner appears unbilled. Filmed in England. Original running time: 118m. [R]▼●●

Stray Dog (1949-Japanese) 122m. ****

D: Akira Kurosawa. Toshiro Mifune, Takashi Shimura, Keiko Awaji. Classic Japanese film noir, most effective as a look at life in post-WW2 Tokyo. Mifune does well as a detective whose gun is stolen; he sets out on an odyssey to reclaim his weapon, and to seek out a killer. Although not as well known as RASHOMON, this film is just as important to career of Kurosawa and the growth of Japanese cinema.▼●●

Strayed (2003-French) C-95m.  D: André Téchiné. Emmanuelle Béart, Gaspard Ulliel, Grégoire Leprince-Ringuet, Clémence Meyer, Jean Fornerod, Samuel Labarthe. In 1940, as the Nazis advance into Paris, a bourgeois widow (Béart) and her two children flee to the countryside, where they meet a resourceful, illiterate 17-year-old (Ulliel), who teaches them how to survive and further affects their lives. Intense drama offers an intimate account of the chaos of war and how it affects both individuals and families.▼

Streamers (1983) C-118m.  D: Robert Altman. Matthew Modine, Michael Wright, Mitchell Lichtenstein, David Alan Grier, Guy Boyd, George Dzundza. A couple of days in an army barracks at the dawn of America's involvement in Vietnam becomes a parable about manhood, death and relationships between the races. Overlong and depressing but still worthwhile, with fine performances in meaty roles. Screenplay by David Rabe, from his play. [R]▼●●

Streetcar Named Desire, A (1951) 122m.

* D: Elia Kazan. Marlon Brando, Vivien Leigh, Kim Hunter, Karl Malden. Stunning production of Tennessee Williams' play, with Brando as the animalistic Stanley Kowalski and Leigh as his wistful, neurotic sister-in-law, Blanche Dubois, pressed together in a grim New Orleans tenement. Oscars went to Leigh, Hunter, and Malden for their flawless performances, as well as for the art direction-set decoration—but it's Brando who left an indelible mark on audiences. Highly influential jazz score by Alex North. Rereleased in 1993 with 4m. of footage that was censored in 1951, playing up the sexual tension between Blanche and Stanley and Stella's carnal attraction to her husband. Remade twice for TV.▼●●

Street Fight SEE: Coonskin

Street Fighter, The (1974-Japanese) C-91m. ½ D: Shigehiro Ozawa. Sonny

Chiba, Gerald Yamada, Doris Nakajima, Tony Cetera, Teijo Shikeharo. Japan's answer to Bruce Lee, Shinichi "Sonny" Chiba, who takes on both the Mafia and Yakuza in this cult film notable for the level of its bone-crunching, blood-spurting violence. Staged with more skill than most kung fu epics, the plentiful fight scenes required four action directors. Title sequence for U.S. version designed by Jack Sholder, who later directed THE HIDDEN. Originally rated X, then re-rated R after being cut to 75m. Unrated version released on video. Followed by RETURN OF THE STREET FIGHTER. Actionscope. [X]▼●●

Street Fighter (1994) C-97m. BOMB D: Steven E. de Souza. Jean-Claude Van Damme, Raul Julia, Ming-Na Wen, Damian Chapa, Kylie Minogue, Simon Callow, Roshan Seth, Wes Studi, Andrew Bryniarski, Adrian Cronauer. "Allied Nations" commando Van Damme and his action team battle high-tech warlord Julia (looking depressingly gaunt in his final theatrical film) who's holding hostages ransom for $20 billion, and conducting mutation experiments in his mad-scientist lab. Callow, a costar of FOUR WEDDINGS AND A FUNERAL, plays a prissy A.N. undersecretary in the worst movie to date inspired by a video game. Plays more like FOUR HUNDRED FUNERALS AND NO SEX. Followed by STREET FIGHTER II: THE ANIMATED MOVIE and a 2009 sequel. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●●

Street Fighter's Last Revenge, The (1974-Japanese) C-79m.  D: Shigehiro Ozawa. Shinichi "Sonny" Chiba, Etsuko "Sue" Shiomi, Masafumi Suzuki, Frankie Black, Reiko Ike, Willy Dosey. Chiba swears vengeance on the mob after doing a job for them and getting double-crossed when it's payoff time. Third entry in the ultraviolent series offers more of the same, although Chiba is fashioned as a Bondian secret agent type this time around. Highlight: a character gets knocked into a coffin and sent through a crematory! Followed by SISTER STREET-FIGHTER. Actionscope. [R]▼●●

Street Fighter: The Legend of Chun-Li (2009-U.S.-Japanese-Canadian) C-96m. BOMB D: Andrzej Bartkowiak. Kristin Kreuk, Chris Klein, Neal McDonough, Michael Clarke Duncan, Robin Shou, Moon Bloodgood, Edmund Chen, Josie Ho. Pointless new film version of the popular video game series finds pretty martial arts-trained Asian-American Chun-Li (Kreuk) spurred into action in Bangkok after her father is kidnapped. She uses all her wiles to snuff out the main bad guy, local crime lord McDonough, and his henchmen, led by the imposing Duncan. The 1987 game inspired a 1994 film version, which is CITIZEN KANE compared to this inept action vehicle, where even the centerpiece fight sequences

are lamely choreographed and hopelessly contrived. When Interpol agent Klein yells, "Bomb! Get out now!" it would be wise to heed his advice. Super 35. [PG-13] D

Street Gang SEE: Vigilante

Street Justice (1989) C-94m. *½ D: Richard S. Sarafian. Michael Ontkean, Joanna Kerns, Catherine Bach, J.D. Cannon, Jeanette Nolan, Richard Cox, William Windom, Sandra Currie. Standard Western plot transposed to modern city setting: loner hero cleans up corrupt town dominated by ruthless, wealthy family. Slow, unconvincing, and instantly forgettable. [R] **▼

Street Kings (2008) C-108m.  D: David Ayer. Keanu Reeves, Forest Whitaker, Hugh Laurie, Chris Evans, Martha Higareda, Cedric "The Entertainer" Kyle, Jay Mohr, John Corbett, Terry Crews, Naomie Harris, Common, Cle Sloan, The Game, Amaury Nolasco, Daryl Gates. Violent L.A. police (i.e., racial) drama makes old Joseph Wambaugh fodder seem positively quaint: Reeves is a very tough, alcoholic psychocop who is at the center of numerous gang/revenge/corruption/internal affairs maneuvers/conspiracies. Action-packed and somewhat entertaining (James Ellroy concocted the story and coscripted), but awfully far-fetched. Reeves seems to put more sweat into portraying emotional depth than into chasing bad guys. Super 35. [R] D

Street of Shame (1956-Japanese) 96m. ½ D: Kenji Mizoguchi. Machiko Kyo, Ayako Wakao, Aiko Mimasu, Michiyo Kogure. The stories of various prostitutes in Dreamland, a Tokyo brothel, are sensitively handled in Mizoguchi's last completed film. Kyo is particularly memorable as a tough, cynical lady of the night; her scene with her father is a highlight. **▼

Street of Sorrow, The SEE: Joyless Street, The

Streets (1990) C-86m. ½ D: Katt Shea Ruben. Christina Applegate, David Mendenhall, Eb Lottimer, Patrick Richword, Alan Stock, Alexander Folk, Mel Castelo, Kay Lenz. Serious, well-made story of runaways living in Venice, California, is compromised by concurrent story of psychotic cop who's a serial killer of prostitutes. Applegate is excellent as illiterate heroine. Understated but shockingly violent at times. [R] **▼

Street Scene (1931) 80m. ½ D: King Vidor. Sylvia Sydney, William Collier, Jr., David Landau, Estelle Taylor, Walter Miller, Beulah Bondi. Heartbreakingly realistic account of life in N.Y. tenements, and younger generation's desperation to get out. Elmer Rice's Pulitzer Prize-winning play (adapted by him) enhanced by fine performances, George Barnes' striking camerawork, Alfred Newman's classic music score. **▼

Street Smart (1987) C-97m. *½ D: Jerry

Schatzberg. Christopher Reeve, Kathy Baker, Mimi Rogers, Morgan Freeman, Jay Patterson, Andre Gregory, Anna Maria Horsford. Out-of-favor writer for a slick Manhattan magazine pitches a high-profile study of N.Y.C. pimpdom; unable to find a cooperative subject, he fakes the story, which boomerangs when the D.A. concludes the story is about a real-life murder suspect. Intriguing idea, based on screenwriter David Freeman's own experience at New York magazine, but just misses; powerhouse performances by pimp Freeman and hooker Baker make up for Reeve's blandness in the lead. [R] **▼

Streets of Fire (1984) C-93m.  D: Walter Hill. Michael Paré, Diane Lane, Rick Moranis, Amy Madigan, Willem Dafoe, Deborah Van Valkenburgh, Richard Lawson, Rick Rossovich, Bill Paxton, Lee Ving, Robert Townsend, Elizabeth Daily, Marine Jahan, Ed Begley, Jr., Olivia Brown, Matthew Laurance, The Blasters. Female rock star is kidnapped by sadistic bikers, and her embittered ex-boyfriend agrees to bring her back—for a price. This "rock 'n' roll fable" is actually a 1950s B movie brought up to date with pulsating rock score (principally by Ry Cooder), state-of-the-art visuals, and a refusal to take itself too seriously. Unfortunately, near the climax the glitter gives out and we're left with the story—which can't carry film to a really satisfying conclusion. Stunningly photographed (mostly on a soundstage, believe it or not) by Andrew Laszlo. [PG] **▼

Streets of Gold (1986) C-95m. *½ D: Joe Roth. Klaus Maria Brandauer, Adrian Pasdar, Wesley Snipes, Angela Molina, Elya Baskin, Rainbow Harvest, John Mahoney. Former Russian boxing champ, now a dishwasher in Brooklyn, trains two street kids for U.S. boxing team—hoping to beat his former Russian coach. Well-meaning "feel-good" movie along ROCKY lines; utterly ordinary but for Brandauer's performance. [R] **▼

Streets of Laredo (1949) C-92m.  D: Leslie Fenton. William Holden, Macdonald Carey, Mona Freeman, William Bendix, Stanley Ridges, Alfonso Bedoya. Muddled Western of outlaws Carey, Holden, and Bendix, and how the latter two come to be Texas Rangers; in fact, this is a remake of THE TEXAS RANGERS. Fans of THE TREASURE OF THE SIERRA MADRE will appreciate Bedoya's characterization.

Streets of Sin SEE: Not Wanted

Streetwalkin' (1984) C-85m. BOMB D: Joan Freeman. Melissa Leo, Dale Midkiff, Antonio Fargas, Julie Newmar, Leon Robinson, Annie Golden. Ultra-slick, sleazy, hopelessly predictable trash about hooker-with-a-heart-of-gold and her sadistic, unbelievably stupid pimp. [R] **▼

Street With No Name, The (1948) 91m. ***

D: William Keighley. Mark Stevens, Richard Widmark, Lloyd Nolan, Barbara Lawrence, Ed Begley, Donald Buka. Fine movie based on actual F.B.I. case of agent uncovering head of city mob. Suspense well handled. Follow-up to THE HOUSE ON 92nd STREET. Remade as HOUSE OF BAMBOO. ▼●

Strictly Ballroom (1992-Australian) C-94m.  D: Baz Luhrmann. Paul Mercurio, Tara Morice, Bill Hunter, Barry Otto, Pat Thompson, Gia Carides, Peter Whitford, John Hannan. Spirited, allegorical musical about a young, competitive ballroom dancer (Mercurio) who outrages his mother, and the "establishment," by insisting on dancing his own provocative steps; he takes on a new ugly-duckling partner (Morice) who blooms under his tutelage. This crowd-pleaser sacrifices credibility for caricature but despite its rough edges emerges a winner. [PG] ▼●●

Strictly Business (1991) C-83m.  D: Kevin Hooks. Tommy Davidson, Joseph C. Phillips, Anne Marie Johnson, David Marshall Grant, Halle Berry, Jon Cypher, Sam (Samuel L.) Jackson, Kim Coles, James McDaniel, Paul Provenza, Annie Golden, Sam Rockwell. Corporate man-on-the-move with a "yuppie-plus" girlfriend falls for a pretty show-biz hopeful, then enlists the aid of an indolent mailroom employee to loosen up his act, and increase his funk quotient. Silly, simplistic comedy. Director Hooks appears in a small role. [PG-13] ▼●●

Strike (1924-Russian) 73m. ½ D: Sergei Eisenstein. Grigori Alexandrov, Maxim Strauch, Mikhail Gomarov, Alexander Antonov, Judith Glizer. Eisenstein's debut feature is a still-powerful, vivid account of a 1912 factory workers strike in Czarist Russia and its violent suppression. An appropriate prelude to POTEMKIN; some prints run 82m. ▼●

Strike! (1998) SEE: All I Wanna Do

Strike (2007-German-Polish) C/B&W-104m. ½ D: Volker Schlöndorff. Katharina Thalbach, Andrzej Chyra, Dominique Horwitz, Andrzej Grabowski, Dariusz Kowalski, Krzysztof Kiersznowski, Ewa Telega. Fact-based account of Agnieszka Kowalska (Thalbach), a relentless, tough-minded Gdansk dockworker whose struggle for workers' rights resulted in the birth of Poland's Solidarity movement. The character is a stand-in for Anna Walentynowicz, a colleague of Lech Walesa (Chyra) during the formation of Solidarity. Dramatically uneven, but still effective in showing how individual acts of conscience occasionally lead to enormous social or cultural change. ● miners' strike in the Australian coal fields during the 1930s, culminating with the workers—many of them Communist Party members—barricading themselves in their mine. Seems a bit romanticized but still taut, perceptive, and extremely well made.

Strikebound (1983-Australian) C-100m.  D: Richard Lowenstein. Chris Haywood, Carol Burns, Hugh Keays-Byrne, Rob Steele, Nik Forster. Documentarylike chronicle, based on actual incidents, of a

Strike It Rich (1990-British) C-87m. *½ D: James Scott. Robert Lindsay, Molly Ringwald, John Gielgud, Max Wall, Simon de la Brosse. Second film version of Graham Greene novella Loser Takes All, about an obscure conglomerate accountant talked into honeymooning beyond his means in Monte Carlo following a chance encounter with the firm's Grand Old Man. The leads in DRIVING MISS DAISY have more sexual chemistry than postnuptial Lindsay and Ringwald; sole compensations are Gielgud and '50s production design. [PG] ▼●●

Strike Up the Band (1940) 120m. ½ D: Busby Berkeley. Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, Paul Whiteman, June Preisser, William Tracy, Larry Nunn, Margaret Early, Ann Shoemaker. Rooney is leader of high school band hoping to compete in Paul Whiteman's nationwide radio contest. Typical Mickey-Judy fare, with good songs: "Our Love Affair" and an extended finale featuring the Gershwins' title tune. George Pal contributes a unique segment featuring a symphony performed by animated pieces of fruit (an idea apparently hatched by Vincente Minnelli). ▼●●

Striking Distance (1993) C-101m.  D: Rowdy Herrington. Bruce Willis, Sarah Jessica Parker, Dennis Farina, Tom Sizemore, Brion James, Robert Pastorelli, Timothy Busfield, John Mahoney, Andre Braugher, Jodi Long. Slick but empty, overly familiar thriller about maverick Pittsburgh river cop Willis, who bucks the status quo within his department, and becomes a pawn in a case involving a serial killer. [R] ▼●●

Stripes (1981) C-105m. ½ D: Ivan Reitman. Bill Murray, Harold Ramis, Warren Oates, P. J. Soles, Sean Young, John Candy, John Larroquette, Judge Reinhold, Timothy Busfield, Bill Paxton. Loser Murray joins the Army in this predictable service comedy, which somehow pulled in millions at the box office. Sometimes funny, but eminently forgettable. Ramis, who plays Murray's buddy, also coscripted. Brief appearances by Joe Flaherty and Dave Thomas. Extended edition runs 122m. [R] ▼●●

Stripped to Kill (1987) C-88m. ½ D: Katt Shea Ruben. Kay Lenz, Greg Evigan, Norman Fell, Pia Kamakahi, Tracey Crowder, Debby Nassar. Who's killing the classy strippers of L.A.? It's up to policeman Lenz to find out, by posing as a stripper herself. Stylish, inventive Roger Corman B production hampered by too many strip numbers. Followed by a 1989 sequel. [R] ▼●

Stripper, The (1963) 95m. ½ D: Franklin Schaffner. Joanne Woodward, Richard

Beymer, Claire Trevor, Carol Lynley, Robert Webber, Gypsy Rose Lee, Louis Nye, Michael J. Pollard. Aging stripper falls in love with teen-age boy in this OK filmization of William Inge's play A Loss of Roses. Director Schaffner's first movie. CinemaScope. ▼

Striptease (1996) C-115m. BOMB D: Andrew Bergman. Demi Moore, Armand Assante, Burt Reynolds, Ving Rhames, Robert Patrick, Paul Guilfoyle, Rumer Willis, Frances Fisher. Unspeakingly dreary—not to mention dreadful—movie (based on Carl Hiaasen's novel) about a woman who's lost custody of her young daughter to her sleazeball ex-husband and becomes a stripper in order to raise money fast for a court appeal. Then she becomes entangled with a horny congressman. Not funny enough, or dramatic enough, or sexy enough, or bad enough, to qualify as entertainment in any category. That's Moore's real-life daughter playing her little girl. Unrated video version includes 2m. of additional footage. [R] ▼●●

Stroke of Midnight (1991) C-91m. *1/2 D: Tom Clegg, Rob Lowe, Jennifer Grey, Andrea Ferreol, Elizabeth Vitali, Rebecca Potok, Sacha Brignet. Direct-to-video dud about completely self-absorbed fashion mogul Lowe's search for a "new face" to represent his line of clothes; of course, he's barely aware of aspiring shoe designer Grey, who works for him. Poorly executed Cinderella yarn—replete with magic shoes. Unfortunately, there's no magic in this movie. [PG] ▼●

Stroker Ace (1983) C-96m. BOMB D: Hal Needham. Burt Reynolds, Ned Beatty, Jim Nabors, Lon Anderson, Parker Stevenson, Bubba Smith, John Byner, Frank O. Hill. One of Burt's worst has him as champion race-car driver and pea-brain who delights in tormenting his sponsor (Beatty) and leering at buxom Anderson. Lame "good old boy" hijinks, punctuated with TV stock footage of race-car crackups! Note: Jim Nabors sings, too. [PG] ▼●

Stromboli (1949-Italian) 81m. *1/2 D: Roberto Rossellini. Ingrid Bergman, Mario Vitale, Renzo Cesana, Mario Sponza. Rambling dreariness with refugee Bergman marrying fisherman Vitale; even an erupting volcano doesn't jar this plodding film, which was boycotted in the U.S. because Bergman had left her husband for Rossellini. Original 107m. version is now available, but is little improvement over U.S. release (which was edited by Alfred Werker and has a different ending). ▼

Stronger Than the Sun (1980-British) C-101m.  D: Michael Apted. Francesca Annis, Tom Bell. Annis is excellent as a nuclear power plant worker who attempts to expose a radioactive leak. Timely drama bears a striking resemblance to the Karen Silkwood story.

Strongest Man in the World, The (1975) C-92m.  D: Vincent McEveety. Kurt Russell, Joe Flynn, Eve Arden, Cesar Romero, Phil Silvers, Dick Van Patten, Harold Gould, James Gregory. Third of Disney's cookie-cutter student comedies with Russell and pals again discovering a magic formula—this one for super-strength—and battling crooks who want to get their hands on it. Good opening and closing, but even kids may find it draggy midway through. [G] ▼●

Strong Man, The (1926) 78m.  D: Frank Capra. Harry Langdon, Priscilla Bonner, Gertrude Astor, Brooks Benedict, Arthur Thalasso, Robert McKim, William V. Mong. Baby-faced Langdon's best movie (and Capra's feature-film debut) casts him as a WWI veteran who comes to America in search of the girl he corresponded with during the war. Many fine set pieces make this a memorable comedy; the star never fared as well again. ▼●●

Strong Medicine (1979) C-84m. 1/2 D: Richard Foreman. Kate Mannheim, Scotty Snyder, Bill Raymond, Harry Roskoleno, Ron Vawter, Carol Kane, Raul Julia, Buck Henry, Wallace Shawn. Alternately fascinating, boring, surreal chronicle of the various activities and adventures of a mad, manic, eccentric woman. Foreman is an innovative theater director; ultimately, this film is an acquired taste.

Stroszek (1977-German) C-108m.  D: Werner Herzog. Bruno S., Eva Mattes, Clemens Scheitz. Berlin street singer and former mental patient Bruno S. joins with whore (Mattes) and aging eccentric (Scheitz) to travel to the gold-paved streets of America the promised-land—which turns out to be dreary, rural Wisconsin. Most effective as tragicomic, ultimately bitter ridicule of American society. ▼●

Stuart Little (1999) C-92m.  D: Rob Minkoff. Geena Davis, Hugh Laurie, Jonathan Lipnicki, Jeffrey Jones, Julia Sweeney, Alyce Beasley, Brian Doyle-Murray, Dabney Coleman, Estelle Getty; voices of Michael J. Fox, Nathan Lane, Chazz Palminteri, Jennifer Tilly, Bruno Kirby, David Alan Grier, Steve Zahn. Cute family film loosely based on E. B. White's much-loved book about a mouse, adopted by a human family, who falls prey to the plotting of a jealous housecat. Sincere human performances and remarkable computer animation of Stuart make this entertaining for young and old alike. Followed by a sequel and a direct-to-video animated feature. [PG] ▼●

Stuart Little 2 (2002) C-72m. 1/2 D: Rob Minkoff. Geena Davis, Hugh Laurie, Jonathan Lipnicki; voices of Michael J. Fox, Nathan Lane, Melanie Griffith, James Woods, Steve Zahn. Stuart is feeling a bit lonely until he rescues a bird named Margalo from an attacking falcon and takes her into the Little home. Not much of a story here—

more a series of vignettes—but the characters are appealing, the animation is skillful, and Lane's dialogue as Snowbell the cat is hilarious, all of which makes up for the film's shortcomings. Good entertainment for kids. [PG] ▼

Stuart Saves His Family (1995) C-95m.  D: Harold Ramis. Al Franken, Laura San Giacomo, Vincent D'Onofrio, Shirley Knight, Harris Yulin, Lesley Boone, John Link Graney, Julia Sweeney. Feature-film vehicle for Stuart Smalley, writer-performer Franken's endearingly dippy self-affirmation advocate from Saturday Night Live TV skits ("I'm good enough, I'm smart enough, and doggone it, people like me"). Unfortunately, this purported comedy about Stuart's attempts to wrest himself from his dysfunctional family (and the blight caused by his alcoholic father) becomes deadly serious! [PG-13] ▼

Stuck (2008-U.S.-Canadian) C-85m.  D: Stuart Gordon. Stephen Rea, Mena Suvari, Russell Hornsby, Rukiya Bernard, Carolyn Purdy-Gordon. Often shockingly hilarious black comedy, loosely based on a notorious real-life incident, about a downsized white-collar drone (Rea) who has a close encounter with an oncoming car, then remains painfully stuck in the windshield while left to die in a garage by the monstrously self-absorbed driver (Suvari). As Rea struggles to survive the mishap (and Suvari's attempts to finish him off), this ingeniously nasty small-budget indie slyly suggests that the last best hope for a hard-luck loser is to be placed in a situation where there's nothing left to lose. [R] ▼

Stuck on You (2003) C-118m. *½ D: Bobby Farrelly, Peter Farrelly. Matt Damon, Greg Kinnear, Eva Mendes, Cher, Wen Yann Shih, Pat Crawford Brown, Ray "Rocket" Valliere, Seymour Cassel, Michael Callan, Griffin Dunne, Rhona Mitra, Jessica Cauffiel. Inscrutable Farrelly Brothers comedy about conjoined twins, one of whom yearns to pursue an acting career in Hollywood. This rara avis is a one-joke movie where even the one joke isn't very good. As usual, the filmmakers make fun of people with disabilities and warmly embrace them at the same time. Various celebrities appear in cameos, most notably Meryl Streep. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Stud, The (1978-British) C-95m. BOMB D: Quentin Masters. Joan Collins, Oliver Tobias, Sue Lloyd, Mark Burns, Walter Gotell, Emma Jacobs. A waiter works his way up in the world (so to speak) by sleeping with the boss' wife. Idiotic softcore porn written by Jackie Collins (Joan's sister). Followed by THE BITCH. [R] ▼

Student Bodies (1981) C-86m. *½ D: Mickey Rose. Kristen Riter, Matthew Goldsby, Richard Brando, Joe Flood, Joe Talarowski. Spoof of HALLOWEEN-type

pictures has a promising start, then simply falls apart; ending is particularly bad. Plagued by production problems, as indicated by producing credit for the ubiquitous and nonexistent Allen Smithee (Michael Ritchie here). [R] ▼

Student Nurses, The (1970) C-89m. ½ D: Stephanie Rothman. Elaine Giftos, Karen Carlson, Brioni Farrell, Barbara Leigh, Reni Santoni, Richard Rust. First of five "nurse" movies produced by Roger Corman is easily the best, with good cast, comparatively thoughtful script (cowritten by Rothman), along with expected sex and action; most interesting subplot concerns guilt by young activist nurse after she accidentally shoots a cop. Followed by PRIVATE DUTY NURSES. [R] ▼

Student Prince, The (1954) C-107m.  D: Richard Thorpe. Ann Blyth, Edmund Purdom, John Ericson, Louis Calhern, Edmund Gwenn. Romberg music, dubbed voice of Mario Lanza chief assets in venerable operetta about heir to throne sent to Heidelberg for one last fling, where he falls in love with barmaid Blyth. Filmed before (sans music) in 1919 and 1927. CinemaScope. ▼

Student Prince in Old Heidelberg, The (1927) 105m. * D: Ernst Lubitsch. Ramon Navarro, Norma Shearer, Jean Hersholt, Gustav von Seyffertitz, Philippe de Lacy, Edgar Norton, George K. Arthur, Edythe Chapman. Silent version of Sigmund Romberg's famed operetta has youthful prince Navarro breaking out of his cloistered life—for the first time—and attending Heidelberg University, where he falls in love with a commoner, pretty barmaid Shearer. This is Lubitsch at his best, an absolute delight from start to finish, and truly the kind of charmer "they just don't make anymore." Also known as OLD HEIDELBERG. Previously filmed in 1919; remade (with music) in 1954. ▼

Student Teachers, The (1973) C-79m. ½ D: Jonathan Kaplan. Susan Damante, Brooke Mills, Bob Harris, John Cramer, Dick Miller, Don Steele, Robert Phillips, Charles Dierkop. Antics at Valley High School, with both feminist and "alternate learning center" concepts mixed into the usual sexploitation package. Freewheeling direction by Kaplan; followed by SUMMER SCHOOL TEACHERS. [R] ▼

Studs Lonigan (1960) 95m. ½ D: Irving Lerner. Christopher Knight, Frank Gorshin, Venetia Stevenson, Carolyn Craig, Jack Nicholson, Dick Foran. Interesting if not altogether successful adaptation of James T. Farrell's "notorious" novel about a restless, sexually active young man in 1920s Chicago. Good period atmosphere, but script makes unfortunate compromises with 1960 taste and censorship. Nicholson is one of Studs' cronies; Foran is impressive as Studs'

father. Scripted and produced by Philip Yordan. Basis for a 1979 TV miniseries. ▼

Study in Terror, A (1965-British) C-94m.

 D: James Hill. John Neville, Donald Houston, Georgia Brown, John Fraser, Anthony Quayle, Barbara Windsor, Robert Morley, Cecil Parker, Frank Finlay, Kay Walsh, Judi Dench. Compact little thriller pits Sherlock Holmes against Jack the Ripper; violent, well paced, and well cast. For another version of Holmes vs. the Ripper, see MURDER BY DECREE. ▼

Stuff, The (1985) C-93m. ½ D: Larry Cohen. Michael Moriarty, Andrea Marcovici, Garrett Morris, Paul Sorvino, Scott Bloom, Danny Aiello, James Dixon, Alexander Scourby, Russell Nye, Brian Bloom, Rutanya Alda. The new dessert sensation that's sweeping the country turns out to be deadly stuff indeed. Typically slapdash Larry Cohen production has some engaging performances, and the spirit of silly '50s science-fiction films, but doesn't always come off—as horror or comedy. It does have its moments, however—and a bunch of familiar "Commercial Spokespersons." [R] ▼

Stunt Man, The (1980) C-129m. * D: Richard Rush. Peter O'Toole, Steve Railsback, Barbara Hershey, Chuck Bail, Allen Garowitz (Garfield), Adam Roarke, Alex Rocco, Sharon Farrell, Philip Bruns. An outrageous black comedy in which reality and make-believe blur. Fugitive Railsback stumbles onto a movie set, where he accidentally causes the death of their ace stunt man; director O'Toole offers to hide him from the police—if he'll replace the stunt man. Crammed with first-rate action and sly wit, plus a mesmerizing performance by O'Toole as the Christ-like Eli Cross. Attention must be paid, but the rewards are more than ample. Dazzlingly scripted (by Lawrence B. Marcus from Paul Brodeur's novel) and directed; amusing score by Dominic Frontiere. Filmed in 1978. [R] ▼

Stunts (1977) C-89m. ½ D: Mark L. Lester. Robert Forster, Fiona Lewis, Joanna Cassidy, Darrell Fetty, Bruce Glover, James Luisi. When a stunt man dies while making a film, his brother (Forster) takes his place in order to probe the "accident." Engaging B movie with terrific action scenes and a wild helicopter-and-car finale. Retitled WHO IS KILLING THE STUNTMEN? [PG] ▼

Stupids, The (1996) C-94m. ½ D: John Landis. Tom Arnold, Jessica Lundy, Bug Hall, Alex McKenna, Mark Metcalf, Matt Keeslar, Frankie Faison, Christopher Lee, Jenny McCarthy. Likably goofy film for kids about a lunkhead family that somehow gets involved in espionage and an illegal weapons scheme. The cast is ideal, straight-facedly portraying these well-meaning morons (from the children's books by James Marshall and Harry Allard); the tone of the film is admirably consistent and often quite funny. As usual Landis features cameos by other directors, including Robert Wise, Gillo Pontecorvo, Costa-Gavras, Atom Egoyan, Norman Jewison, and David Cronenberg. And yes, that's Captain Kangaroo (Bob Keeshan) as the museum curator. Remember, trust in the Lloyd. [PG] ▼

St. Valentine's Day Massacre, The (1967) C-100m. ½ D: Roger Corman. Jason Robards, Jr., George Segal, Ralph Meeker, Jean Hale, Clint Ritchie, Frank Silvera, Joseph Campanella, Bruce Dern. This had the makings of a good film, but they blew it, with Robards (as Al Capone) and Segal (doing a Jimmy Cagney imitation) overacting as they've never done before. So much shooting throughout film that final massacre seems tame by comparison. Many familiar faces appear throughout: Harold Stone, Kurt Krueger, Milton Frome, Mickey Deems, John Agar, Reed Hadley, Alex D'Arcy, etc. Pay close attention and you'll see Jack Nicholson, too! Panavision. ▼

Sub-A-Dub-Dub SEE: Hello Down There Subject Was Roses, The (1968) C-107m.

 D: Ulu Grosbard. Patricia Neal, Jack Albertson, Martin Sheen, Don Saxon, Elaine Williams, Grant Gordon. Frank D. Gilroy's Pulitzer Prize-winning play about young veteran's strained relationship with his parents makes a generally good film. This was Neal's first film after her near fatal stroke. Sheen and Oscar winner Albertson recreated their Broadway roles. Gilroy adapted his own play for the screen. [G] ▼

Submarine Command (1951) 87m. ½ D: John Farrow. William Holden, Nancy Olson, William Bendix, Don Taylor. Predictable but acceptable post-WW2 account of naval military life; Olson is wholesome love interest.

Submarine Patrol (1938) 95m. ½ D: John Ford. Richard Greene, Nancy Kelly, Preston Foster, George Bancroft, Slim Summerville, John Carradine, J. Farrell MacDonald, Maxie Rosenbloom, Jack Pennick, Elisha Cook, Jr. Routine actioner with tough captain Foster revitalizing beat-up Splinter Fleet ship and demoralized crew for duty in WW1.

Submarine X-1 (1968-British) C-89m. ½ D: William Graham. James Caan, Rupert Davies, David Sumner, William Dysart, Norman Bowler. After losing submarine in battle with German ship, naval officer Caan gets second chance in daring raid with midget subs. Standard WW2 fare. [G] ▼

Subspecies (1991) C-90m.  D: Ted Nicolaou. Michael Watson, Laura Tate, Anders Hove, Michelle McBride, Irina Movila, Ivan J. Rado, Angus Scrimm. Nasty vampire is after some American

girls but has to contend with his good-vampire brother. Actually shot in Transylvania on picturesque locations, but the director has no idea how to set up shock scenes. Followed by four sequels. [R]▼●●

Substance of Fire, The (1996) C-101m.

 D: Daniel Sullivan. Ron Rifkin, Tony Goldwyn, Timothy Hutton, Sarah Jessica Parker, Lee Grant, Eric Bogosian, Elizabeth Franz, Gil Bellows, Roger Rees, Ronny Graham, Adolph Green, George Morfogen, Debra Monk, Viola Davis. Literate, intelligent adaptation of Jon Robin Baitz' Off-Broadway play about a brilliant but inordinately arrogant—and deeply troubled—Holocaust survivor (Rifkin). Now a book publisher, he's obsessed with publishing an extensive history of Nazi medical experiments, rather than a potentially lucrative novel that may save his company from financial ruin. Not surprisingly, he has alienated his three grown children. Extremely well acted, especially by Rifkin (who created his role onstage). Baitz scripted. [R]▼●●

Substitute, The (1996) C-114m.  D:

Robert Mandel. Tom Berenger, Diane Venora, Ernie Hudson, Glenn Plummer, William Forsythe, Richard Brooks, Cliff De Young. The CIA goes to high school in this preposterous but entertaining action story of agent Berenger who substitutes for teacher/girlfriend Venora when her leg is broken by a gang member. When he's not disciplining students, this substitute is busy exposing and fighting drug smugglers. Mindless diversion. Followed by three sequels. [R]▼●●

Subterfuge (1968-British) C-92m.  D:

Peter Graham Scott. Gene Barry, Joan Collins, Richard Todd, Suzanna Leigh, Michael Rennie. American agent Barry is forced into helping British Intelligence in this routine espionage drama.▼

Subterraneans, The (1960) C-89m. ½ D:

Ranald MacDougall. Leslie Caron, George Peppard, Janice Rule, Roddy McDowall, Anne Seymour, Jim Hutton, Scott Marlowe. Glossy, superficial study of life and love among the beatniks, with pure cornball stereotype performances; MGM was not the studio for this one. Script by Robert Thom, from the Jack Kerouac novel. Music by Andre Previn, who also appears on screen along with such jazz artists as Gerry Mulligan, Carmen McRae, Art Pepper, Art Farmer, Shelly Manne. CinemaScope.

Suburban Commando (1991) C-90m.

½ D: Burt Kennedy. Hulk Hogan (Terry Bollea), Christopher Lloyd, Shelley Duvall, Larry Miller, William Ball, JoAnn Dearing, Jack Elam, Roy Dotrice, Michael Faustino. Engaging film for kids about outer-space warrior who comes to earth for some r&r, and gets involved in the lives of a somewhat

stressed-out suburban family. Hogan is surprisingly likable as a vigilante/crusader in this comic vehicle which he coexecutive-produced. [PG]▼●●

Suburbans, The (1999) C-90m. *½ D:

Donal Lardner Ward. Donal Lardner Ward, Amy Brenneman, Craig Bierko, Will Ferrell, Jennifer Love Hewitt, Tony Guma, Bridgette Wilson, Ben Stiller, Jerry Stiller, Robert Loggia. Pointless trifle about a one-hit-wonder band from the 1980s attempting to revitalize their career. Not even the Stillers can make it work. [R]▼●

Suburbia (1983) SEE: Wild Side, The

subUrbia (1996) C-118m. ½ D: Richard

Linklater. Giovanni Ribisi, Steve Zahn, Amie Carey, Samia Shoaih, Ajay Naidu, Nicky Katt, Jayce Bartok, Parker Posey, Dina Spybey. Knowing, laced-in-acid son-of-SLACKER, depicting a group of aimless, alienated 20-year-olds who hang out in a generic suburban parking lot, where various frictions and jealousies emerge—especially upon the appearance of one of their old pals, who has become a rock star. Collectively well acted and pungently scripted by Eric Bogosian (based on his play), though its stage origins weigh it down a bit. [R]▼●●

Subway (1985-French) C-104m.  D:

Luc Besson. Isabelle Adjani, Christopher Lambert, Richard Bohringer, Michel Galabru, Jean-Hugues Anglade. Dripping in new wave style and attitude, this (literally) underground fable, set in the Paris métro, where various lives intertwine, is utterly aimless and pointless. Intrigues and amuses at first, and then just runs out of steam. Technovision. [R]▼●●

Subway to the Stars (1987-Brazilian)

C-103m. ½ D: Carlos Diegues. Guilherme Fontes, Milton Gonçalves, Taumaturgo Ferreira, Ze Trindade, Ana Beatriz Wilten. Gritty, grim account of young sax player Fontes and his experiences as he roams the back streets of Rio in search of his missing girlfriend. Has its moments of insight, but overall too meandering. [R]▼

Success, The (1963-Italian) 103m.  D:

Dino Risi. Vittorio Gassman, Anouk Aimée, Jean-Louis Trintignant. Intelligent delineation by Gassman as businessman overwhelmed by success urge makes this drama worthy.

Success (1979) SEE: American Success Company, The

Success Is the Best Revenge (1984-British)

C-90m. ½ D: Jerzy Skolimowski. Michael York, Joanna Szerbic, Michael Lyndon, George Skolimowski, Michel Piccoli, Anouk Aimée, John Hurt. Intriguing if uneven yarn about a Polish director (York) in exile in London and his rebellious teen son (Lyndon), who is anxious to explore his heritage. Skolimowski—himself an exile—explores the meaning of living in a country other than one's own, but he fared better with previous film, MOON-LIGHTING. ▼●

Such a Gorgeous Kid Like Me (1972-French) C-98m. ½ D: François Truffaut. Bernadette Lafont, Claude Brasseur, Charles Denner, Guy Marchand, Philippe Léotard. Delightful black comedy of female murderer who relates her sordid past to criminology student, gradually entices him just as she did her former "victims." Lafont ideal in leading role. [R]

Such Good Friends (1971) C-100m.  D: Otto Preminger. Dyan Cannon, James Coco, Jennifer O'Neill, Ken Howard, Nina Foch, Laurence Luckinbill, Louise Lasser, Burgess Meredith, Sam Levene. Tart black comedy about man going to hospital, prompting wife (Cannon) to reexamine their relationship and learn about his romantic sideline activities. Fine ensemble acting buoys acidly funny script (by Elaine May, who used a pseudonym); from the Lois Gould novel. [R]

Sudan (1945) C-76m.  D: John Rawlins. Maria Montez, Jon Hall, Turhan Bey, Andy Devine, George Zucco, Robert Warwick. Queen Montez escapes evil prime minister Zucco with help of Hall and Bey in colorful but empty adventure-romance. Montez and Hall's last pairing.

Sudden Death (1995) C-110m. *½ D: Peter Hyams. Jean-Claude Van Damme, Powers Boothe, Raymond J. Barry, Whittni Wright, Ross Malinger, Dorian Harewood, Paul Mochnick, Kate McNeil, Michael Gaston, Audra Lindley. Sardonic mastermind Boothe holds the Vice President hostage in a private box during Stanley Cup hockey playoffs in Pittsburgh, demanding a few billion, or he'll blow up the whole arena. But fire inspector Van Damme is on the job, and Boothe has unwisely captured our hero's daughter . . . DIE HARD clone bludgeons credulity to death early on, and the movie never recovers, despite plenty of action and effects. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Sudden Fear (1952) 110m.  D: David Miller. Joan Crawford, Jack Palance, Gloria Grahame, Bruce Bennett, Touch (Mike) Connors, Virginia Huston. Wealthy playwright Crawford discovers new husband Palance (an actor whom she once fired) is planning to kill her; she uses her writing skills to concoct a scheme to make him trip himself up. Solid suspense thriller with many neat twists. ▼●●

Sudden Impact (1983) C-117m. ½ D: Clint Eastwood. Clint Eastwood, Sondra Locke, Pat Hingle, Bradford Dillman, Paul Drake, Jack Thibaut, Albert Popwell. Fourth DIRTY HARRY vehicle relies on durable formula, as maverick cop gives us vicarious pleasure of doing in society's scum, but this entry is longer, and sillier, than need be.

Locke plays a woman taking out murderous revenge on men (and one lesbian!) who raped her and her sister years ago. Michael V. Gazzo appears unbilled. Followed by THE DEAD POOL. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Suddenly (1954) 77m. ½ D: Lewis Allen. Frank Sinatra, Sterling Hayden, James Gleason, Nancy Gates, Willis Bouchee, Kim Charney, Paul Frees, Christopher Dark, Charles Smith. Sinatra leads trio of paid assassins who take over house in small town where the President will pass on his way to a fishing trip. White-knuckle thriller, written by Richard Sale, with Sinatra excellent in thoroughly detestable role; rest of cast equally fine. "Suddenly," incidentally, is the name of the town. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Suddenly, Last Summer (1959) 114m. ½ D: Joseph L. Mankiewicz. Elizabeth Taylor, Katharine Hepburn, Montgomery Clift, Mercedes McCambridge, Albert Dekker. Fascinating if talky (though cleaned-up) Tennessee Williams yarn about wealthy Southern matriarch (Hepburn), her supposedly mad niece (Taylor) and a neurosurgeon (Clift); grandly acted. Adaptation by Gore Vidal. Remade for TV in 1992 with Maggie Smith. ▼●●

Sudden Terror (1970-British) C-95m.  D: John Hough. Mark Lester, Lionel Jeffries, Susan George, Tony Bonner, Jeremy Kemp. Adequate variation on boy-who-cried-wolf theme: prankish youngster witnesses murder of visiting dignitary, but can't convince others. Almost ruined by self-conscious direction. Originally titled EYEWITNESS. [PG] ▼

Suez (1938) 104m.  D: Allan Dwan. Tyrone Power, Loretta Young, Annabella, Henry Stephenson, Maurice Moscovitch, Joseph Schildkraut, Sidney Blackmer, J. Edward Bromberg, Sig Ruman, Nigel Bruce, Miles Mander, George Zucco, Leon Ames. Power is 19th-century French architect (and dreamer) Ferdinand de Lesseps, who pursues a single-minded goal of building the Suez Canal; his real problem is choosing between aristocratic Loretta and down-to-earth Annabella. Entertaining and elaborate hokum which apparently bears no resemblance to history.

Sugar (2009) C-118m.  D: Anna Boden, Ryan Fleck. Algenis Perez Soto, Rayniel Rufino, Andre Holland, Michael Gaston, Jaime Tirelli, José Rijo, Ann Whitney, Richard Bull, Ellary Porterfield. Illuminating portrait of a 19-year-old baseball player from the Dominican Republic nicknamed Sugar (Perez Soto), who leaves his family and friends to come to America, where he is assigned to a team in Iowa as his first step toward the major leagues. A poignant look at cultural disorientation, this leisurely, very low-key character study isn't really a sports movie—although it does offer a revealing look at the business end of American baseball. Real-life Dominican-

bom major leaguer Rijo plays Alvarez. Second feature for the writing-directing team that made HALF NELSON. Super 35. [R]

Sugar and Spice (2001) C-81m.  D: Francine McDougall. Marley Shelton, James Marsden, Mena Suvari, Marla Sokoloff, Rachel Blanchard, Melissa George, Alexandra Holden, Sara Marsh, Sean Young. Five high school cheerleader pals rally around their squad captain when she becomes pregnant (by the school's new hot-shot quarterback) . . . and stage a robbery in order to help her out. Only mildly amusing, though the cast is enthusiastic, and Marsden is fun as an egocentric doofus. Alternate version runs 84m. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Sugarbaby (1985-German) C-87m. ½ D: Percy Adlon. Marianne Sägebrecth, Eisi Gulp. It's love at first sight for chubby mortuary attendant Sägebrecth and subway-train driver Gulp in this droll romantic satire. Players and story are offbeat, but the avant-garde lighting effects and camera movements by cinematographer Johanna Heer become annoying. Remade as BABYCAKES for American TV.▼

Sugar Cane Alley (1984-French) C-107m. ½ D: Euzhan Palcy. Darling Legitimus, Garry Cadenat, Routa Seck, Joby Bernabe, Francisco Charles. Beautifully made, heartfelt drama about an 11-year-old boy and his all-sacrificing grandmother, surviving in a Martinique shantytown during the 1930s. Rich, memorable characterizations; a humanist drama of the highest order. [PG]▼

Sugarfoot (1951) C-80m. ½ D: Edwin L. Marin. Randolph Scott, Adele Jergens, Raymond Massey, S. Z. Sakall, Arthur Hunnicutt. Above-par Scott Western. Randy is ex-Rebel officer who encounters his old adversary in Arizona.

Sugar Hill (1974) C-91m.  D: Paul Maslansky. Marki Bey, Robert Quarry, Don Pedro Colley, Richard Lawson, Betty Anne Rees, Zara Cully. Bey stars as "Sugar" Hill, who avenges the mob's rubout of her fiancé, conjuring up black zombies from the grave. Outlandish blend of blaxploitation, revenge, and voodoo/horror elements. [PG]▼

Sugar Hill (1994) C-123m.  D: Leon Ichaso. Wesley Snipes, Michael Wright, Theresa Randle, Clarence Williams III, Abe Vigoda, Larry Joshua, Ernie Hudson, Leslie Uggams, Khandi Alexander, Raymond Serra, Joe Dallesandro, Vondie Curtis-Hall. So-what crime melodrama featuring Snipes and Wright as Roemello and Raynathan Skuggs, drug-dealing siblings in Harlem. Unlike the more zealous Raynathan, the solitary, soulful Roemello yearns for a career change. Shades of SUPERFLY! Dense and preposterous; you'll be as bored with the film as Roemello is with his life. [R]▼

Sugarland Express, The (1974) C-109m. ½ D: Steven Spielberg. Goldie Hawn,

Ben Johnson, Michael Sacks, William Atherton, Steve Kanaly, Louise Latham. Perfect entertainment, based on fact, about a young fugitive couple fleeing to Sugarland, Texas, to reclaim their son (whom they refuse to give up for adoption), and the cops who pursue them throughout Texas. Spielberg's first theatrical feature, written by Hal Barwood and Matthew Robbins. Panavision. [PG]▼

Sugar Town (1999-U.S.-British) C-92m.  D: Allison Anders, Kurt Voss. Ally Sheedy, Rosanna Arquette, John Taylor, Jade Gordon, Michael Des Bares, Larry Klein, Beverly D'Angelo, Vincent Berry, Richmond Arquette, Lucinda Jenney, Martin Kemp. Amusing mosaic of L.A. life featuring a handful of characters whose lives dovetail: a music-world wannabe who'll do anything to get ahead, an uptight single woman who attracts the wrong guys like a magnet, and a band made up of washed-up '80s rock stars, to name a few. Slight, made on a shoestring, but sharp and well observed; good cast includes a number of real-life musicians. Written by the directors. [R]▼

Suicide Kings (1998) C-106m. ½ D: Peter O'Fallon. Christopher Walken, Denis Leary, Henry Thomas, Sean Patrick Flanery, Jay Mohr, Jeremy Sisto, Johnny Galecki, Laura San Giacomo, Laura Harris, Cliff De Young, Brad Garrett. Intriguing premise: a group of spoiled rich kids abduct a smooth underworld character and hold him hostage to gain leverage in the kidnaping of Thomas' sister. But during one long night, the mobster (Walken, in fine form) sizes up his captors and plays on their weaknesses. Well-thought-out chamber piece, with some good story twists and first-rate performances; too bad the wrapup isn't as strong as the rest of the film. [R]▼

Sullivans, The (1944) 111m.  D: Lloyd Bacon. Anne Baxter, Thomas Mitchell, Selena Royle, Ward Bond, Bobby Driscoll, Addison Richards. Homey, patriotic but fictionalized story of the real-life Sullivan brothers of Waterloo, Iowa, who fought together in WW2. Knowing the outcome of this story makes it very sad to watch. The Sullivans are played by Edward Ryan, John Campbell, James Cardwell, John Alvin, and George O'Farman, Jr. Aka THE FIGHTING SULLIVANS. ▼

Sullivan's Travels (1942) 90m. * D: Preston Sturges. Joel McCrea, Veronica Lake, Robert Warwick, William Demarest, Margaret Hayes, Porter Hall, Eric Blore, Robert Greig, Jimmy Conlin, Al Bridge, Franklin Pangborn. Tired of making fluff, movie director McCrea decides to do a "serious" film; to research it, he sets out with 10¢ in his pocket to experience life in "the real world." Slapstick and sorrow blend seamlessly in this landmark Hollywood satire, which grows more pertinent with each

passing year. A unique achievement for writer-director Sturges. ▼●●

Summer (1986-French) 96m. ½ D: Eric Rohmer. Marie Riviere, Lisa Heredia, Vincent Gauthier, Beatrice Romand, Carita. Sensitive but whiny Riviere, abandoned by friends on the eve of a group vacation, goes it alone with initially lonely results. Seemingly more improvised than the other Rohmers, this demands viewer patience and some tolerance of Riviere's "difficult" personality, but patience is rewarded. Finale is quite moving, in what emerges as one of the director's better efforts, from his series "Comedies and Proverbs." [R] ▼●●

Summer and Smoke (1961) C-118m. ½ D: Peter Glenville. Geraldine Page, Laurence Harvey, Una Merkel, John McIntire, Pamela Tiffin, Rita Moreno, Thomas Gomez, Earl Holliman, Casey Adams, Lee Patrick. Spinster Page is in love with young doctor Harvey, but he's understandably not interested; vivid adaptation of Tennessee Williams play, set in 1916 in small Mississippi town, with torrid performances making up for frequent staginess. Atmospheric score by Elmer Bernstein. Panavision. ▼●

Summer Camp Nightmare (1987) C-87m. *½ D: Bert L. Dragin. Chuck Connors, Charles Stratton, Adam Carl, Harold Pruett, Melissa Brennan, Tom Fridley, Nancy Calabrese. Synthetic update of LORD OF THE FLIES has young Fascist Stratton staging a small-scale revolution by having kids take over two adjoining summer camps, imprisoning the adults. Stratton good in difficult role, but plot gimmicks fail to convince, especially the kids' quickie descent into barbarism. Based on William Butler's novel The Butterfly Revolution. [PG-13] ▼●●

Summer Catch (2001) C-104m.  D: Mike Tollin. Freddie Prinze, Jr., Jessica Biel, Matthew Lillard, Brian Dennehy, Fred Ward, Jason Gedrick, Brittany Murphy, Bruce Davison, Marc Blucas, Wilmer Valderrama. Substandard comedy/romance/coming-of-age story set in Cape Cod, with underprivileged baseball player Prinze falling for local rich girl, then having to deal with her snobby father, while tending his budding career. Takes itself too seriously, though Lillard adds welcome comedy relief. Beverly D'Angelo and John C. McGinley appear unbilled. [PG-13] ▼

Summer City (1976-Australian) C-83m.  D: Christopher Fraser. John Jarratt, Mel Gibson, Phil Avalon, Steve Bisley, James Elliot, Debbie Forman. Slight, low-budget rock 'n roll road movie detailing the escapades of four buddies who head out of Sydney for a surfing weekend. The shy, quiet one is played by Mel Gibson—it's his screen debut. Aka COAST OF TERROR. ▼●

Summer Fling SEE: Last of the High Kings, The

Summer Heat (1987) C-90m.  D: Michie Gleason. Lori Singer, Anthony Edwards, Bruce Abbott, Kathy Bates, Clu Gulager. How soon will sultry farm wife Singer, neglected by husband Edwards, succumb to the charms of hired hand Abbott? Not long enough for you to want to sit through this bore. Summer Heat, indeed . . . [R] ▼●●

Summer Holiday (1948) C-92m. ½ D: Rouben Mamoulian. Mickey Rooney, Walter Huston, Frank Morgan, Agnes Moorehead, Butch Jenkins, Selena Royle, Marilyn Maxwell, Gloria De Haven, Anne Francis. Lavish musical remake of AH, WILDERNESS! with Rooney (who played the younger brother in 1935) as the young man coming of age. Extremely good-looking film, with exquisite use of Technicolor, but dramatically unexceptional—and not nearly as good as the earlier film. This version was made in 1946. ▼●●

Summer Holiday (1963-British) C-107m.  D: Peter Yates. Cliff Richard, Laurie Peters, David Kossoff, Ron Moody, The Shadows, Melvyn Hayes, Una Stubbs, Teddy Green, Jeremy Bulloch. Richard, Hayes, Green, and Bulloch travel through Europe on a bus in this silly but cheerful musical; inauspicious directorial debut by Yates. CinemaScope. ●

Summer House, The (1993-British) C-82m.  D: Waris Hussein. Jeanne Moreau, Joan Plowright, Julie Walters, Lena Headey, David Threlfall, Maggie Steed, John Wood, Catherine Schell. An actors' field day, as flamboyant Moreau comes to stay with her girlhood friend Walters (now a frumpy housewife in 1950s Croydon) when her strangely reticent daughter is about to be married—to the twit next door. Plowright is wonderful as the idiot-groom's aged mother; her scenes with Moreau are a real treat. Based on the novel The Clothes in the Wardrobe by Alice Thomas Ellis. Made for British television. ▼●●

Summer Interlude SEE: Illicit Interlude

Summer Love (1958) 85m.  D: Charles Haas. John Saxon, Molly Bee, Rod McKuen, Judi Meredith, Jill St. John, George Winslow, Fay Wray, Edward Platt, Shelley Fabares, Troy Donahue. Sequel to ROCK, PRETTY BABY has Saxon et al. hired to perform at summer resort camp; perky performances.

Summer Lovers (1982) C-98m.  D: Randal Kleiser. Peter Gallagher, Daryl Hannah, Valerie Quennessen, Barbara Rush, Carole Cook. This one's a matter of tolerance: Any movie that makes you think seriously about having a ménage à trois on a Greek island can't be all bad, but here's a film that's on an even lower intellectual level than you'd expect from the director of THE BLUE LAGOON. Bouncy rock soundtrack. [R] ▼●●

Summer Magic (1963) C-110m. ½ D:

James Neilson. Hayley Mills, Burl Ives, Dorothy McGuire, Deborah Walley, Eddie Hodges, Una Merkel. Disney's reshoot of MOTHER CAREY'S CHICKENS has McGuire as widow who raises family on a shoestring in rambling Maine house. Burl sings "The Ugly Bug Ball." Pleasant but forgettable. ▼●

Summer Night, with Greek Profile, Almond Eyes and Scent of Basil (1987-Italian) C-94m. *½ D: Lina Wertmüller. Mariangela Melato, Michele Placido, Roberto Herlitzka, Massimo Wertmüller. Melato's presence, in a sexual cat-and-mouse tale, might lead one to expect another SWEPT AWAY, but this is light years removed: a relentlessly heavy-handed comedy about a rich, sexy Italian capitalist who abducts a notorious terrorist and tries to give him a taste of his own medicine . . . until she finds herself attracted to him. This "night" seems like it will never end! ▼●

Summer of '42 (1971) C-102m.  D: Robert Mulligan, Jennifer O'Neill, Gary Grimes, Jerry Houser, Oliver Conant, Katherine Allentuck, Christopher Norris, Lou Frizell. Enticing if unprofound nostalgia by Herman Raucher about teenager Grimes with crush on young war bride O'Neill. Captures 1940s flavor, adolescent boyhood, quite nicely. Michel Legrand won an Oscar for the score. Followed by CLASS OF '44. [PG—originally rated R] ▼●●

Summer of Sam (1999) C-142m.  D: Spike Lee. John Leguizamo, Adrian Brody, Mira Sorvino, Jennifer Esposito, Anthony LaPaglia, Ben Gazzara, Bebe Neuwirth, Patti LuPone, Mike Starr, Michael Rispoli, John Savage, Michael Badalucco, Jimmy Breslin, Spike Lee. Mosaic of Italian-American characters living in the Bronx during the steamy summer of 1977, when the serial killer known as Son of Sam terrorized N.Y.C., firing both passions and paranoia. Interesting, mostly unpleasant slice of life/period piece goes on much too long . . . and gets pretty sleazy. Cowriters Michael Imperioli and Victor Colicchio appear as Midnight and Chickie, respectively. [R] ▼●

Summer of '64 SEE: Girls on the Beach, The

Summer Place, A (1959) C-130m.  D: Delmer Daves. Richard Egan, Dorothy McGuire, Sandra Dee, Arthur Kennedy, Troy Donahue, Constance Ford, Beulah Bondi. Lushly photographed (by Harry Stradling) soaper of adultery and teenage love at resort house on Maine coast. Excellent Max Steiner score (the theme was a big hit); based on the Sloan Wilson novel. ▼●●

Summerplay SEE: Illicit Interlude

Summer Rental (1985) C-88m. ½ D: Carl Reiner. John Candy, Karen Austin, Richard Crenna, Rip Torn, John Larroquette, Richard Herd, Lois Hamilton, Carmine Caridi. Breezy, low-key comedy about a working stiff's refusal to let some arrogant fat cats spoil his family's vacation in Florida. Candy proves he can be endearing in a realistic characterization—and still be funny. [PG] ▼●●

Summer School (1987) C-98m. ½ D: Carl Reiner. Mark Harmon, Kirstie Alley, Robin Thomas, Dean Cameron, Gary Riley, Shawnee Smith, Courtney Thorne-Smith. Harmon is delinquent high school teacher forced to spend his vacation trying to educate group of delinquent students. Not bad as these films go: decent acting, OK pacing, some good laughs . . . with extra chuckles for fans of TEXAS CHAINSAW MASSACRE and those movie-critic TV shows. Director Reiner has a cameo as Harmon's predecessor. [PG-13] ▼●●

Summer School Teachers (1975) C-87m.  D: Barbara Peeters. Candice Rialson, Pat Anderson, Rhonda Leigh-Hopkins, Dick Miller. Well-paced, episodic film of three girls' romantic adventures while teaching high school. A followup to THE STUDENT TEACHERS. [R] ▼

Summer Stock (1950) C-109m.  D: Charles Walters, Judy Garland, Gene Kelly, Eddie Bracken, Marjorie Main, Gloria De Haven, Phil Silvers, Hans Conried. Kelly's theater troupe takes over Judy's farm, she gets show biz bug. Thin plot, breezy Judy, frantic Silvers, chipper De Haven. Judy sings "Get Happy," Kelly dances on newspapers. ▼●●

Summer Storm (1944) 106m.  D: Douglas Sirk. George Sanders, Linda Darnell, Edward Everett Horton, Sig Ruman, Anna Lee, Sarah Padden, Frank Orth. Darnell has one of her best roles as beautiful woman who brings tragedy to all involved with her, including herself; from Chekhov's story "The Shooting Party."

Summer Story, A (1988-British) C-95m.  D: Piers Haggard. Imogen Stubbs, James Wilby, Ken Colley, Sophie Ward, Susannah York, Jerome Flynn. Beautifully made romantic drama, circa 1902, set and filmed entirely in rural southwestern England. Young London lawyer Wilby and farm girl Stubbs fall deeply in love; he soon must make decisions of the mind and heart that could change their lives forever. The two leads are superb. Penelope Mortimer adapted John Galsworthy's story "The Apple Tree." [PG-13] ▼

Summertime (1955) C-99m. ½ D: David Lean. Katharine Hepburn, Rossano Brazzi, Isa Miranda, Darren McGavin, Mari Aldon, Andre Morell. Lifting film of spinster vacationing in Venice, falling in love with married man. Hepburn's sensitive portrayal is one of her best. Screenplay by Lean and H.E. Bates, from Arthur Laurents' play The Time of the Cuckoo. Beautifully filmed on location by Jack Hildyard. ▼●●

Summertime Killer (1973-French-Italian-Spanish) C-109m.  D: Antonio Isasi. Karl Malden, Christopher Mitchum, Raf Vallone, Claudine Auger, Olivia Hussey. Varied cast in OK revenge meller about a man pursuing his father's murderers. Lots of action, if not much continuity. [PG]▼

Summertree (1971) C-88m.  D: Anthony Newley. Michael Douglas, Jack Warden, Brenda Vaccaro, Barbara Bel Geddes, Kirk Callaway, Bill Vint, Rob Reiner. Highly acclaimed (if overrated) off-Broadway play by Ron Cowen fails as a film; Douglas plays a young music student who clashes with parents over Vietnam War. [PG]▼

Summer Wishes, Winter Dreams (1973) C-93m.  D: Gilbert Cates. Joanne Woodward, Martin Balsam, Sylvia Sidney, Dori Brenner, Ron Rickards. Sensitive character study of frigid woman (Woodward) obsessed by her childhood, upset by her own aloofness towards others; Balsam equally good as understanding husband. [PG]▼

Summer With Monika (1953-Swedish) 96m. ½ D: Ingmar Bergman. Harriet Andersson, Lars Ekborg, John Harryson, Georg Skarstedt, Dagmar Ebbesen, Ake Gronberg. A brief affair between two working-class youngsters, aggressive Andersson and boyish Ekborg, results in the birth of their baby and marriage. Simple storyline has been filmed before and since, but rarely with such sensitivity. Video title: MONIKA.▼

Sum of All Fears, The (2002) C-124m. ½ D: Phil Alden Robinson. Ben Affleck, Morgan Freeman, James Cromwell, Liev Schreiber, Alan Bates, Bridget Moynahan, Philip Baker Hall, Ron Rifkin, Bruce McGill, Ciarán Hinds, Marie Matiko, Colm Feore, Josef Sommer, Michael Byrne. Follow-up to CLEAR AND PRESENT DANGER with Affleck taking over from Harrison Ford as Jack Ryan. Convoluted tale has a fascist using the new president of Russia to draw the U.S. into war, in an attempt to destroy both countries and establish a united Europe as the new world power. Tries to have it both ways, with a story rooted in reality—but hinging on coincidences and improbabilities. Affleck acquires himself adequately as Tom Clancy's CIA agent hero, surrounded here by a top-notch cast. Panavision. [PG-13]▼

Sum of Us, The (1994-Australian) C/B&W-99m. ½ D: Kevin Dowling, Geoff Burton. Jack Thompson, Russell Crowe, John Polson, Deborah Kennedy, Mitch Matthews, Joss Moroney, Julie Herbert. Sincere tale about the relationship between a young, gay man (Crowe) and his devoted, widowed father (Thompson), who is refreshingly tolerant of his son's lifestyle. Two solid performances help put this one over, but it's almost undone by the annoying device of having the characters speak to the camera. Scripted by David Stevens, based on his play. ▼●●

Sun Also Rises, The (1957) C-129m.  D: Henry King. Tyrone Power, Ava Gardner, Mel Ferrer, Errol Flynn, Eddie Albert, Gregory Ratoff, Juliette Greco, Marcel Dalio, Henry Daniell, Robert Evans. Hemingway story of expatriates in Parisian 1920s has slow stretches; worthwhile for outstanding cast, especially Flynn as a souse. European and Mexican locations add flavor to tale of search for self-identity. Remade (poorly) for TV in 1984. CinemaScope.▶

Sunburn (1979) C-94m. ½ D: Richard C. Sarafian. Farrah Fawcett-Majors, Charles Grodin, Art Carney, Joan Collins, Alejandro Rey, William Daniels. Insurance investigator Grodin has Farrah pose as his wife in order to crack a murder/suicide case in Acapulco. Sloppily made film benefits from appealing performances. Eleanor Parker, Keenan Wynn, and John Hillerman get co-starring billing but barely appear at all. [PG]▼

Sunchaser, The (1996) C-122m. *½ D: Michael Cimino. Woody Harrelson, Jon Seda, Anne Bancroft, Alexandra Tydings, Matt Mulhern, Talisa Soto, Richard Bauer, Lawrence Pressman, Harry Carey, Jr., Brett Harrelson. Brilliant but insensitive doctor Harrelson is taken captive by sensitive but dying gang banger Seda, and is forced to drive into the Southwest in search of a lake of spiritual renewal. Misbegotten mess tries to touch all trendy bases, scrambling American Indian mysticism, "New Age" theories and buddy-movie clichés into the format of a road movie. Harrelson and Seda are good, Bancroft is wasted. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Sunday (1997) C-93m.  D: Jonathan Nossiter. David Suchet, Lisa Harrow, Jared Harris, Larry Pine, Joe Grifasi, Arnold Bakus. Moving drama of a former corporate executive—now homeless—crossing paths in Queens, N.Y., with an out-of-work actress. What unfolds is essentially a two-character story of middle-aged romance, with harsh reminders of "real life" all around. Suchet and Harrow make flawless leads, though film is admittedly not for all tastes.▼▶

Sunday, Bloody Sunday (1971-British) C-110m.  D: John Schlesinger. Glenda Jackson, Peter Finch, Murray Head, Peggy Ashcroft, Tony Britton, Maurice Denham, Vivian Pickles, Frank Windsor, Bessie Love, Jon Finch. Glenda loves Murray, but Peter loves Murray, too. Murray loves both, in very good, adult script by Penelope Gilliatt. Schlesinger's direction less forceful than usual, also less effective. Head's bland portrayal offsets brilliant work by Jackson and Finch. A mixed bag. Look for Daniel Day-Lewis as a young vandal. [R]▼●●

Sunday in New York (1963) C-105m.  D: Peter Tewksbury. Cliff Robertson, Jane Fonda, Rod Taylor, Robert Culp, Jim

Backus. Entire cast bubbles in this Norman Krasna sex romp of virginal Fonda discovering N.Y.C. and love. Peter Nero's score is perky.

Sunday in the Country, A (1984-French) C-94m. ½ D: Bertrand Tavernier. Louis Ducreux, Sabine Azema, Michel Aumont, Genevieve Mnich, Monique Chaumette, Claude Winter. An elderly widowed French impressionist who never quite made the grade indulges in title gathering with offspring who never quite fulfilled his expectations. Painterly, lovingly acted drama owes not a little to Jean Renoir's A DAY IN THE COUNTRY and is no less affecting for that. Among the best imports of the mid-1980s. [G]▼

Sunday Lovers (1980) C-127m. *½ D: Bryan Forbes, Edouard Molinaro, Dino Risi, Gene Wilder. Roger Moore, Lynn Redgrave, Priscilla Barnes, Lino Ventura, Robert Webber, Ugo Tognazzi, Sylva Koscina, Gene Wilder, Kathleen Quinlan. Love and sex in four countries. British segment, with Moore, is old-hat farce. French vignette, with Ventura, is intriguing but doesn't go anywhere. Italian skit is broadly funny at times. American contribution, written by, directed by, and starring Wilder, is a pretentious fable of a sanitarium patient, and embarrassingly bad. [R]

Sundays and Cybele (1962-French) 110m. ½ D: Serge Bourguignon. Hardy Kruger, Nicole Courcel, Patricia Gozzi, Daniel Ivernel. Intelligently told account of shell-shocked Kruger finding source of communication with the world via orphaned waif Gozzi, with tragic results. Splendidly realized, Oscar winner as Best Foreign Language Film. Filmed in Franscope.▼

Sunday's Children (1992-Swedish) C-118m.  D: Daniel Bergman. Henrik Linnros, Thommy Berggren, Lena Endre, Jakob Leygraf, Malin Ek, Birgitta Valberg, Borje Ahlstedt. Bergman (son of Ingmar) expertly directs his father's evocative, autobiographical script about a young boy called Pu (Linnros) and his connection to his minister father and other family members; also depicted is the adult Pu's disquieting relationship with his elderly dad. A deeply personal film; Bergman's family history also is explored in FANNY AND ALEXANDER, THE BEST INTENTIONS, and PRIVATE CONFESSIONS.▼

Sunday Too Far Away (1975-Australian) C-95m.  D: Ken Hannam. Jack Thompson, John Ewart, Reg Lye. The rivalries and problems of macho sheep shearers, focusing on gutsy Thompson, a champion of his trade. Simple and solid.▼

Sunday Woman, The (1976-Italian) C-110m.  D: Luigi Comencini. Marcello Mastroianni, Jacqueline Bisset, Jean-Louis Trintignant, Aldo Reggiani, Pino Caruso. Detective Mastroianni investigates murder

among idle rich in Torino, falls in love with wealthy Bisset. Good whodunit makes interesting observation about social structure. [R] Sundown (1941) 90m. ½ D: Henry Hathaway. Gene Tierney, Bruce Cabot, George Sanders, Harry Carey, Joseph Calleia, Dorothy Dandridge, Reginald Gardiner. Tierney is surprisingly cast as native girl who assists British troops in Africa during WW2; fairly interesting, lushly photographed by Charles Lang, but it never scores. Also shown in computer-colored version.▼

Sundowners, The (1950) C-83m. ½ D: George Templeton. Robert Preston, Cathy Downs, Robert Sterling, John Barrymore, Jr., Jack Elam, Chill Wills. Preston shines in this Western about brothers on opposite sides of the law. Filmed in Texas; written by Alan LeMay (The Searchers).▼

Sundowners, The (1960) C-133m. * D: Fred Zinnemann. Deborah Kerr, Robert Mitchum, Peter Ustinov, Glynis Johns, Dina Merrill, Chips Rafferty, Michael Anderson, Jr., Lola Brooks, Wylie Watson, Mervyn Johns. First-rate film of Australian family who travel to allow the husband to shear sheep at various ranches. Entire cast excellent, Kerr especially fine. Isobel Lennart adapted Jon Cleary's novel. Wonderfully filmed on location by Jack Hildyard.▼

Sundown, the Vampire in Retreat (1991) C-104m.  D: Anthony Hickox. David Carradine, Morgan Brittany, Bruce Campbell, Jim Metzler, Maxwell Caulfield, Deborah Foreman, M. Emmet Walsh, John Ireland, John Hancock, Dabbs Greer, Bert Remsen. Overplotted vampire comedy-drama set in present-day American West, as a family happens upon a town populated by bloodsuckers trying—but failing—to “go straight.” Unpleasantly smug, with nothing to be smug about. Panavision.▼

Sunflower (1969-Italian) C-101m.  D: Vittorio De Sica. Sophia Loren, Marcello Mastroianni, Ludmilla Savelyeva, Anna Carena. Weak love story of woman who searches for her lost lover. Sophia is wasted in this soppy tale. Original title: I GIRASOLI. [G]▼

Sunnyside (1979) C-100m. *½ D: Timothy Galfas. Joey Travolta, John Lansing, Stacey Pickren, Andrew Rubin, Michael Tucci, Talia Balsam, Joan Darling. John Travolta's brother made bid for stardom in this cliché-ridden picture about a street kid who wants to end local gang warfare and leave that life behind. Sorry, Joey. [R]▼

Sunny Side of the Street (1951) C-71m. *½ D: Richard Quine. Frankie Lane, Terry Moore, Jerome Courtland, Audrey Long. Moore has fickle notions over aspiring Laine in this low-grade musical, with such guest stars as Billy Daniels, Toni Arden.

Sunnyside Up (1929) 122m.  D: David Butler. Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, El

Brendel, Marjorie White, Joe Brown, Frank Richardson, Jackie Cooper. Charming antique, quite impressive for early-talkie musical. Fluffy story of tenement girl Gaynor falling in love with wealthy Farrell sufficient excuse for DeSylva-Brown-Henderson songs: "I'm a Dreamer," "If I Had a Talking Picture of You," title tune, and bizarre production number to "Turn on the Heat." ▼

Sunrise (1927) 110m * D: F. W. Murnau. George O'Brien, Janet Gaynor, Bodil Rosing, Margaret Livingston, J. Farrell MacDonald. Exquisite silent film is just as powerful today as when it was made, telling simple story of farmer who plans to murder his wife, led on by another woman. Triumph of direction, camerawork, art direction, and performances, all hauntingly beautiful. Screenplay by Carl Mayer, from Hermann Suderman's story. Cinematographers Karl Struss and Charles Rosher won Oscars, as did the film for "artistic quality of production." Gaynor also won Best Actress Oscar (shared for her performances in 7TH HEAVEN and STREET ANGEL). Remade in Germany as THE JOURNEY TO TILSIT. Full title on-screen is SUNRISE—A SONG OF TWO HUMANS. ▼●●

Sunrise at Campobello (1960) C-143m.  D: Vincent J. Donehue. Ralph Bellamy, Greer Garson, Hume Cronyn, Jean Hagen, Ann Shoemaker, Alan Bunce, Tim Considine, Zina Bethune, Frank Ferguson, Lyle Talbot. Sincere story of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, his battles in politics and valiant struggle against polio. Well acted; Bellamy (re-creating his Tony-winning stage role) and Garson are the Roosevelts. Script by Dore Schary, from his hit play. ▼●●

Sunset (1988) C-107m. *½ D: Blake Edwards. Bruce Willis, James Garner, Malcolm McDowell, Mariel Hemingway, Jennifer Edwards, Kathleen Quinlan, Patricia Hodge, Richard Bradford, M. Emmet Walsh, Joe Dallesandro. Cowboy star Tom Mix (Willis) joins forces with legendary marshal Wyatt Earp (Garner) to solve a serpentine whodunit involving the seamier side of Tinseltown. Appallingly abysmal murder-mystery set in late 1920s Hollywood; unpleasant and unbelievable from the word go. Willis registers zero playing one of movie's most magnetic stars, while Garner saves this piece of junk from being a total BOMB with his effortless charisma. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Sunset Blvd. (1950) 110m. * D: Billy Wilder. Gloria Swanson, William Holden, Erich von Stroheim, Nancy Olson, Fred Clark, Jack Webb, Hedda Hopper, Buster Keaton, Cecil B. DeMille, Anna Q. Nilsson. Legendary Hollywood black comedy about faded silent-film star Norma Desmond (Swanson), living in the past with butler

(von Stroheim), who shelters hack screenwriter (Holden) as boyfriend. Bitter, funny, fascinating; Gloria's tour de force. Three Oscars include Best Screenplay (Wilder, Charles Brackett, D. M. Marshman, Jr.) and Score (Franz Waxman). Later a Broadway musical. ▼●●

Sunset Park (1996) C-99m. ½ D: Steve Gomer. Rhea Perlman, Fredro Starr, Carol Kane, Terrence Dashon Howard, Camille Saviola, De'Aundre Bonds, James Harris, Anthony Hall. Feisty N.Y.C. teacher Perlman, hoping to make enough money to retire to St. Croix, becomes the coach of an all-black high school basketball team. The premise is contrived, and the Great Teacher story is a cliché by now, but the acting is good and the characters well drawn. Perlman's husband Danny DeVito was one of the producers. [R] ▼●●

Sunshine (1999-Hungarian-British-German-Canadian) C-182m.  D: Istvan Szabo. Ralph Fiennes, Rosemary Harris, Rachel Weisz, Jennifer Ehle, Molly Parker, Deborah (Kara) Unger, James Frain, John Neville, Miriam Margolyes, David De Keyser, William Hurt, Bill Paterson. Ambitious but trite, rambling soap opera chronicling a Hungarian-Jewish family over three generations, beginning in mid-19th century. Fiennes plays three roles; the middle one, a world-champion fencer and self-hating Jew, is the most intriguing. Themes are worthy, but results are obvious and overwrought. Scripted by Szabo and Israel Horowitz. [R] ▼●

Sunshine (2007-U.S.-British) C-107m. ½ D: Danny Boyle. Cillian Murphy, Chris Evans, Rose Byrne, Michelle Yeoh, Hiroyuki Sanada, Cliff Curtis, Troy Garity, Benedict Wong, Mark Strong; voice of Chipu Chung. Intriguing sci-fi story set in 2057, almost entirely on sophisticated spaceship Icarus II as it travels toward our imperiled sun. Brilliant, multicultural crew faces unforeseen dilemmas, crises, and some heated (and entertaining) personality clashes. Frequent collaborators Boyle and screenwriter Alex Garland have concocted a cinematic voyage that initially impresses but falters toward a far-fetched denouement. Hawk-Scope. [R] ●

Sunshine Boys, The (1975) C-111m.  D: Herbert Ross. Walter Matthau, George Burns, Richard Benjamin, Lee Meredith, Carol Arthur, Howard Hesseman, Ron Rifkin, Fritz Feld, Jack Bernardi, F. Murray Abraham. Two cranky ex-vaudevillians are persuaded to reteam for a TV special in this popular Neil Simon comedy, from his Broadway play. Some of the "humor" is abrasive, but Matthau and Oscar-winning Burns are masters at work. This was George's first starring film role since HONOLULU in 1939. Remade for TV in 1997. [PG] ▼●●

Sunshine Cleaning (2009) C-102m.  D:

Christine Jeffs. Amy Adams, Emily Blunt, Alan Arkin, Jason Spevack, Steve Zahn, Mary Lynn Rajsakub, Clifton Collins, Jr., Eric Christian Olsen, Paul Dooley, Kevin Chapman, Judith Jones. In Albuquerque, N.M., struggling single mom Adams starts a business mopping up crime scenes—though she has no experience in this highly specialized field—and recruits her slacker sister (Blunt) to help out. Likable comedy-drama about siblings whose lives have been shaped and shadowed by the early death of their mother. The two stars are perfectly cast and aided by a handpicked ensemble. Impressive debut script by Megan Holley. Super 35. [R]

Sun Shines Bright, The (1953) 90m.  D: John Ford. Charles Winninger, Arleen Whelan, John Russell, Stepin Fetchit, Milburn Stone, Russell Simpson, Francis Ford, Grant Withers, Slim Pickens, Mae Marsh, Jane Darwell, Clarence Muse, Jack Pennick, Patrick Wayne. This was director Ford's favorite film, a picaresque remake of JUDGE PRIEST with Winninger involved in political contest in small Southern town. Fine array of Ford regulars in character roles. Video and TV version is 100m. print prepared by Ford but never released. ▼

Sunshine State (2002) C-141m.  D: John Sayles. Edie Falco, Jane Alexander, Ralph Waite, Angela Bassett, James McDaniel, Mary Alice, Bill Cobbs, Gordon Clapp, Mary Steenburgen, Timothy Hutton, Tom Wright, Marc Blucas, Perry Lang, Miguel Ferrer, Charlayne Woodard, Clifton James, Alan King. Rich, Saylesian slice of life set on a Florida island where longtime residents, from both the black and white communities, are forced to deal with "progress" as developers see nothing but dollar signs. A mosaic of character studies, brought to life by wonderful actors. [PG-13] ▼

Sun Valley Serenade (1941) 86m.  D: H. Bruce Humberstone. Sonja Henie, John Payne, Glenn Miller and His Orchestra, Milton Berle, Lynn Bari, Joan Davis, Dorothy Dandridge, The Nicholas Brothers. Light musicomedy with Henie a war refugee, Payne her foster parent, traveling with the Miller band and manager Berle to Sun Valley. Songs: "It Happened In Sun Valley," "In the Mood," "Chattanooga Choo-Choo," "I Know Why (And So Do You)." ▼●

Super, The (1991) C-86m. *½ D: Rod Daniel. Joe Pesci, Vincent Gardenia, Madolyn Smith-Osborne, Ruben Blades, Stacey Travis, Carole Shelley, Paul Benjamin, Kenny Blank. N.Y.C. slumlord Pesci is forced to move in with his tenants. A worthy idea, and Pesci is watchable as always, but the execution is all wrong: the scenario disastrously veers to comedy when it shouldn't, and the sentimental elements are utterly unbelievable. [R] ▼●●

Superbabies: Baby Geniuses 2 (2004) C-

88m. BOMB D: Bob Clark. Jon Voight, Justin Chatwin, Scott Baio, Vanessa Angel, Skyler Shayne, Gerry Fitzgerald, Leo Fitzgerald, Myles Fitzgerald, Whoopi Goldberg. Sequel to BABY GENIUSES casts Voight as a media mogul out to brainwash children via a tot-aimed TV network. He wants to use them to take over the world, but a band of tykes catches on and sets out to stop him. Gimmick has kids speaking to each other, thanks to creepy computer-generated lip movement. Crude humor makes this not just bad but insulting. Super 35. [PG] ▼

Superbad (2007) C-112m.  D: Greg Mottola. Jonah Hill, Michael Cera, Christopher Mintz-Plasse, Bill Hader, Seth Rogen, Martha MacIsaac, Emma Stone, Aviva, Joe Lo Truglio, Kevin Corrigan. Nerdy friends Hill and Cera are desperate to have girlfriends—and maybe sex itself—before going to college. They get the chance when they're invited to a party by a hot girl from their high school, but naturally, complications arise. Raunchy comedy features an almost endless torrent of vulgar (and very funny) language . . . but it's also an apt, occasionally even sensitive study of young, confused desires and the inevitable embarrassments that go along with them. Screenplay by Rogen and Evan Goldberg; coproduced by Judd Apatow. 119m. unrated version also available. [R] ▼

Superchick (1973) C-94m.  D: Ed Forsyth. Joyce Jillson, Louis Quinn, Thomas Reardon, Tony Young, John Carradine, Uschi Digard, Mary Gavin (Candy Samples). Silly but harmless drive-in fodder has Jillson (better known as an astrologer) as blonde, free-loving stewardess (juggling boyfriends in several cities) who's so desirable she adopts a mousey brunette disguise to get her work done. [R] ▼

Supercop SEE: Police Story III: Supercop Super Cops, The (1974) C-94m. ½ D: Gordon Parks. Ron Leibman, David Selby, Sheila Frazier, Pat Hingle, Dan Frazer. Fast, funny, tough telling of the exploits of the Batman and Robin team of David Greenberg (Leibman) and Robert Hantz (Selby) who used unorthodox methods to stop the drug market in Brooklyn's black Bedford-Stuyvesant area. Filmed on location, with Greenberg and Hantz in bits. [PG]

Supercross (2005) C-80m. *½ D: Steve Boyum. Steve Howey, Mike Vogel, Cameron Richardson, Sophia Bush, Aaron Carter, Channing Tatum, Robert Patrick, Robert Caradine. Also known as SUPERCROSS THE MOVIE (for those who need things spelled out), this film presents a thin plot about two disparate brothers who are suddenly thrust into the world of hyper-competitive uber-bike championships after the mysterious death of their father. One of the boys is sponsored, which allows plenty of opportunity to hawk everything from motor oil to tires. Product placement never had it so good. A lame-brained ESPN program passing for a movie. [PG-13]●

Superdad (1974) C-96m. BOMB D: Vincent McEveety. Bob Crane, Kurt Russell, Barbara Rush, Joe Flynn, Kathleen Cody, Dick Van Patten, Joby Baker, B. Kirby, Jr. (Bruno Kirby), Ed Begley, Jr. Disney generation gap comedy is superb. Crane competes with daughter's fiancé in effort to prove future son-in-law worthy. [G]▼●

Superdude SEE: Hangup

Superfly (1972) C-96m.  D: Gordon Parks Jr. Ron O'Neal, Carl Lee, Sheila Frazier, Julius W. Harris, Charles McGregor. Morally dubious but undeniably exciting tale of Harlem drug dealer out for the last killing before he quits the business. Film was accused of glorifying drug pushers. Benefits from excellent Curtis Mayfield score. Sequels: SUPERFLY T.N.T. and THE RETURN OF SUPERFLY. [R]▼●

Superfly T.N.T. (1973) C-87m. BOMB D: Ron O'Neal. Ron O'Neal, Roscoe Lee Browne, Sheila Frazier, Robert Guillaume, Jacques Sernas, William Berger, Roy Bosier. Confused, sloppily constructed and executed B film about black ex-drug pusher, dissatisfied with idyllic existence in Europe, deciding to aid official from African country (Browne). Followed years later by THE RETURN OF SUPERFLY. [R]▼

Super Fuzz (1981-U.S.-Italian) C-94m. *½ D: Sergio Corbucci. Terence Hill, Ernest Borgnine, Joanne Dru, Marc Lawrence, Julie Gordon, Lee Sandman. Rookie Miami cop Hill is exposed to radiation, gains superpowers and takes on mobster Lawrence. Pretty poor, including the special effects. Also known as SUPER-SNOOPER. Originally 106m. [PG]▼●

Supergirl (1984-British) C-114m. *½ D: Jeannot Szwarc. Faye Dunaway, Helen Slater, Peter O'Toole, Peter Cook, Brenda Vaccaro, Mia Farrow, Simon Ward, Marc McClure, Hart Bochner, Maureen Teefy, Matt Frewer. This comic-book movie is a superdrag: long, dull, heavy-handed. Slater is cute but bland in title role; Dunaway is a predictably campy villainess. Also available in 138m. director's cut and 124m. European version. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Supergrass, The (1985-British) C-105m.  D: Peter Richardson. Adrian Edmondson, Jennifer Saunders, Peter Richardson, Dawn French, Keith Allen, Nigel Planer, Robbie Coltrane. To impress a girl, Edmondson innocently brags that he's a big-time drug dealer—much to his regret. In-offensive comedy. [R]▼

Superhero Movie (2008) C-82m.  D: Craig Mazin. Drake Bell, Sara Paxton, Christopher McDonald, Leslie Nielsen, Kevin Hart, Marion Ross, Brent Spiner, Robert Joy, Jeffrey Tambor, Nicole Sullivan,

Tracy Morgan, Simon Rex, Dan Castellaneta, Pamela Anderson, Keith David, Regina Hall, Craig Bierko, John Getz, Charlene Tilton, Robert Hays, Li'l Kim. After being bitten by a genetically altered dragonfly, high school outcast Bell develops super powers. Like Spider-Man, he makes himself a suit and attempts to save the world, only to be confronted by a villain named The Hourglass (McDonald). Parodying films from BAT-MAN BEGINS to FANTASTIC FOUR, this spoof's low-grade humor may make you cringe at times but it does provide some laughs—amidst a barrage of flatulence jokes and pop-culture references. Alternate version runs 86m. [PG-13]●

Superman (1978) C-143m. ½ D: Richard Donner. Christopher Reeve, Margot Kidder, Marlon Brando, Gene Hackman, Ned Beatty, Jackie Cooper, Marc McClure, Glenn Ford, Valerie Perrine, Phyllis Thaxter, Jeff East, Trevor Howard, Susannah York, Maria Schell, Terence Stamp, Sarah Douglas, Harry Andrews, Lise Hilboldt, Larry Hagman, John Ratzenberger. Dynamic, grandly entertaining saga of the Man of Steel, tracing his life from Krypton to Smallville to Metropolis, mixing equal parts sincerity, special effects (which earned a special Oscar), and send-up. Great fun. The network TV version added 49m. of outtakes—including cameos by Noel Neill and Kirk Alyn as Lois Lane's parents. 2001 video release runs 151m. Followed by three sequels. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Superman II (1981) C-127m.  D: Richard Lester. Christopher Reeve, Margot Kidder, Gene Hackman, Ned Beatty, Jackie Cooper, Valerie Perrine, Susannah York, Clifton James, E. G. Marshall, Marc McClure, Terence Stamp, Sarah Douglas, Jack O'Halloran. Screw the Superman legend, forget logic, and full speed ahead: that's the attitude of this flashy sequel, wherein three villains from Krypton, with powers just like Superman's, threaten the Earth—while Lois Lane and the Man of Steel fall in love. Full of great effects and entertainingly played, but lacking the sense of awe and wonder of the original film, adding cruelty and violence instead. Released in Europe in 1980. In 2006, Richard Donner supervised a recut for DVD, using footage he shot before the producers replaced him with Lester. Overall story is the same, but there are many different scenes, including one with Brando. The tone of this version is at once less comic and more epic. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Superman III (1983) C-123m. *½ D: Richard Lester. Christopher Reeve, Richard Pryor, Annette O'Toole, Jackie Cooper, Marc McClure, Annie Ross, Pamela Stephenson, Robert Vaughn, Margot Kidder. Appalling sequel trashes everything that

Superman is all about for the sake of cheap laughs and a costarring role for Pryor, as computer operator who unwittingly gives villainous Vaughn a chance to conquer the Man of Steel. Director Lester's opening slapstick ballet is a funny set piece, but doesn't belong in this movie. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Superman IV: The Quest for Peace (1987) C-90m.  D: Sidney J. Furie. Christopher Reeve, Gene Hackman, Jackie Cooper, Marc McClure, Jon Cryer, Sam Wanamaker, Mark Pillow, Mariel Hemingway, Margot Kidder, Jim Broadbent. Superman does his bit for world peace by ridding the globe of nuclear weapons—which inspires Lex Luthor to become a black-market arms profiteer. He also challenges Superman by creating Nuclear Man. Disappointing fantasy adventure is pretty ordinary, with second-rate special effects. Sincere performances help a lot. Reeve receives costory credit on this one (along with 2nd unit directing). J-D-C Scope. [PG]▼●●

Superman and the Mole-Men (1951) 58m.  D: Lee Sholem. George Reeves, Phyllis Coates, Jeff Corey, Walter Reed, J. Farrell MacDonald, Stanley Andrews. Reporters Clark Kent and Lois Lane go to small town to see the world's deepest oil well; instead, they discover that "molemen" have climbed out of the well, from their home at the center of Earth. This very low-budget feature served as a pilot for the long-running TV series Adventures of Superman, but it's more serious (and less fun) than the subsequent show—and we don't even get to see Superman fly! But it's still great to watch Reeves as the Man of Steel. Edited down and retitled "The Unknown People" to run as a TV Superman two-parter. ▼●●

Superman Returns (2006) C-154m.  D: Bryan Singer. Brandon Routh, Kate Bosworth, Kevin Spacey, James Marsden, Frank Langella, Eva Marie Saint, Parker Posey, Kal Penn, Sam Huntington, James Karen, Peta Wilson, Jack Larson, Noel Neill. Superman has disappeared for five years. Now he returns to Earth, only to find that Lois Lane has given birth to a child—and Lex Luthor is a free man. Traditionalist's view of the Man of Steel emphasizes romance and keeps campiness to a minimum. Newcomer Routh is an appealing Superman and Clark Kent. Fun to watch until the third act, which drags. Through movie magic Marlon Brando reappears as Superman's father, Jor-El, in footage derived from 1978's SUPERMAN. HD Widescreen. [PG-13]●

Super Mario Bros. (1993) C-104m. *½ D: Rocky Morton, Annabel Jankel. Bob Hoskins, John Leguizamo, Dennis Hopper, Samantha Mathis, Fisher Stevens, Richard Edson, Fiona Shaw, Lance Henrik-

sen. Super, indeed! This overblown, effects-laden turkey chronicles the convoluted story of the title boys from Brooklyn (Hoskins, Leguizamo), plumber-siblings who go up against the villainous King Koopa (Hopper), a semi-human dinosaur who instigates the kidnapping of Daisy (Mathis), a princess who possesses a magical meteorite fragment. This listless film has far less appeal than the video game that inspired it. [PG]▼●●

Supernatural (1933) 64m. ½ D: Victor Halperin. Carole Lombard, Randolph Scott, Vivienne Osborne, H. B. Warner, Alan Dinehart, Beryl Mercer, William Farnum. Interesting little thriller—most unusual for its time—about a woman on Death Row who upon her execution transfers her personality to an innocent victim. ▼

Supernaturals, The (1986) C-85m. BOMB D: Armand Mastroianni. Maxwell Caulfield, Talia Balsam, Bradford Bancroft, LeVar Burton, Bobby DiCicco, Scott Jacoby, Nichelle Nichols. Ludicrous fantasy has butch drill sergeant Nichols (better known as Lt. Uhura on Star Trek) leading young troops on maneuvers, accidentally stumbling on Rebel ghosts from the Civil War who are seeking revenge. Boring tale has the production values of a home movie; never released theatrically. [R]▼

Supernova (2000) C-90m. *½ D: Thomas Lee. James Spader, Angela Bassett, Lou Diamond Phillips, Robert Forster, Robin Tunney, Peter Facinelli. Alan Smithee gets competition that neither he nor the industry needs; Lee is a pseudonym for director Walter Hill, who took his name off this costly but listlessly derivative space adventure. Story deals with a hospital ship rescuing a battered freighter that has sent out a distress call in "black hole" territory. Spader and Phillips are so pumped up that you wonder where they're getting the celestial weight-room time. Video version is rated R. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●●

Super Size Me (2004) C-100m.  D: Morgan Spurlock. Arresting "personal documentary" in the Michael Moore vein: Spurlock decides to monitor the results of eating three meals a day for a month at McDonald's. Even his doctors are surprised by the effect on his system. In fact, the film is about much more than a wacky experiment; it's a wide-ranging indictment of Americans' poor eating habits, corporate (and even civic) complicity in our fast-food culture, and the alarming epidemic of obesity that has resulted. Surprisingly entertaining and informative. Alternate PG version also available. [PG-13]▼●

Supersnooper SEE: Super Fuzz

Superstar (1999) C-81m. *½ D: Bruce McCulloch. Molly Shannon, Will Ferrell, Elaine Hendrix, Tom Green, Harland Williams, Mark McKinney, Glynis Johns, Emmy Laybourne. One-note comedy in which Shannon re-creates her Saturday Night Live

character of Mary Katherine Gallagher, a dorky, self-deluded Irish Catholic schoolgirl who wears the unsexiest white underwear, dreams of fame, and pursues the most popular boy in class (Ferrell). Little improvement over such SNL-derived feature films as IT'S PAT and A NIGHT AT THE ROXBURY. [PG-13]▼●●

Superstar: The Life and Times of Andy Warhol (1991) C-87m.  D: Chuck Workman. Tom Wolfe, Sylvia Miles, David Hockney, Taylor Mead, Dennis Hopper, and a Campbell's Soup spokesman are just some of the many who offer comment on N.Y.C.'s life of the party—and if Workman can't find much old footage of his subject conjugating nouns and verbs, it may not exist. Inevitably entertaining, though Warhol seems no less enigmatic at the conclusion.▼

Super Troopers (2002) C-103m. ½ D: Jay Chandrasekhar. Jay Chandrasekhar, Brian Cox, Daniel von Barga, Marisa Coughlan, Jim Gaffigan, Erik Stolhanske, Steve Lemme, Kevin Heffeman, Paul Soter. A bumbling group of Vermont state troopers get a second chance to save their jobs from being taken over by the local police when they stumble onto a drug ring. Gleefully raunchy comedy is just a string of gags but a lot of them surprisingly hit. First Hollywood feature from comedy troupe Broken Lizard plays like an anarchic cross between the Farrellys and Monty Python. [R]▼

Support Your Local Gunfighter (1971) C-92m.  D: Burt Kennedy. James Garner, Suzanne Pleshette, Jack Elam, Harry Morgan, John Dehner, Joan Blondell, Dub Taylor, Ellen Corby, Henry Jones, Marie Windsor, Dick Curtis, Chuck Connors, Grady Sutton. Engaging comedy-Western, not a sequel to SHERIFF despite director and cast. Con artist Garner tries to profit from mining dispute by passing off bumbling Elam as notorious gunslinger. Seemingly endless list of character actors adds sparkle, with Elam giving his most side-splitting performance as "Swiftly" Morgan; his final line is a gem. [G]▼

Support Your Local Sheriff! (1969) C-93m. ½ D: Burt Kennedy. James Garner, Joan Hackett, Walter Brennan, Harry Morgan, Jack Elam, Bruce Dern, Henry Jones, Gene Evans. Delightful Western parody in which no-fisted Garner tames lawless town by using his wits, breaking all the rules—and kicking virtually every Western cliché in the pants. Brennan is wonderful spoofing his Old Man Clanton character from MY DARLING CLEMENTINE, but Hackett's wealthy klutz, Elam's inept deputy, and Dern's bratty killer are also fine. Written and produced by William Bowers. [G]▼●●

Suppose They Gave a War and Nobody Came? (1970) C-113m. ½ D: Hy

Averback. Tony Curtis, Brian Keith, Ernest Borgnine, Suzanne Pleshette, Ivan Dixon, Bradford Dillman, Tom Ewell, Don Ameche, Arthur O'Connell, John Fiedler. Awful title obscures surprisingly strong satire about strained relations between red-neck town and nearby Army base eventually reaching the breaking point. No real "good guys" in this unusual film; not without flaws, but certainly worth a look. Later ripped off by TANK. [M/PG]▼

Sure Fire (1993) C-86m.  D: Jon Jost. Tom Blair, Kristi Hager, Robert Ernst, Kate Dezina, Philip R. Brown. Provocative tale of smug, hot-shot entrepreneur (Blair), who concocts a scheme to build summer houses in Utah for city-dwelling Californians. Another impressive, visually arresting feature from acclaimed independent filmmaker Jost.▼

Sure Thing, The (1985) C-94m. ½ D: Rob Reiner. John Cusack, Daphne Zuniga, Anthony Edwards, Boyd Gaines, Tim Robbins, Lisa Jane Persky, Viveca Lindfors, Nicollette Sheridan. Amusing film updates IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT as two college students who don't get along find themselves traveling cross-country together. Utterly predictable, but cute. [PG-13]▼●●

Surf Ninjas (1993) C-86m. BOMB D: Neal Israel. Ernie Reyes, Jr., Rob Schneider, Nicolas Cowan, Leslie Nielsen, Tone Loc, Ernie Reyes, Sr., Keone Young, Kelly Hu, John Karlen. Fast-talking Southern California surf dudes travel to a distant Asian kingdom to regain their throne as lost crown princes. Are you following this so far? If you care what happens next, this may be your kind of movie. [PG]▼●●

Surf Party (1964) 68m. BOMB D: Maury Dexter. Bobby Vinton, Jackie De Shannon, Patricia Morrow, Kenny Miller. Teenagers meet and mate in Malibu. Waterlogged.▼

Surf's Up (2007) C-85m.  D: Ash Brannon, Chris Buck. Voices of Shia LaBeouf, Jeff Bridges, Zoey Deschanel, James Woods, Jon Heder, Diedrich Bader, Mario Cantone. A surfing penguin from Shiverpool, Antarctica, heads to a sunny tropical island to compete in a championship contest. Cleverly made in the style of a behind-the-scenes documentary, this charming animated comedy boasts striking visuals (the big-wave surfing sequences are knockouts) and a funky, laid-back quality. Bridges' performance as Geek is perfectly in tune with all of this. [PG]●

Surf II (1984) C-91m. *½ D: Randall Badat. Eddie Deezen, Linda Kerridge, Cleavon Little, Peter Isaacksen, Lyle Waggoner, Eric Stoltz, Morgan Paull, Ruth Buzzi, Carol Wayne, Terry Kiser. Creditable cast washes ashore in '80s spoof of '70s gore films and '60s surfer films (with appropriate oldies on the soundtrack). Deezen's always good for a few laughs, but the film's best joke is its title: there never was a SURFI. [R]▼

Surprise Package (1960-British) 100m. ½ D: Stanley Donen. Yul Brynner, Mitzi Gaynor, Barry Foster, Eric Pohlmann, Noel Coward, George Coulouris. Versatile Brynner tries screwball comedy, not doing too badly as devil-may-care gambler planning big-time robbery; Gaynor is sprightly leading lady. Script by Harry Kurnitz, from the Art Buchwald novel.▼

Surrender (1987) C-95m.  D: Jerry Belson. Sally Field, Michael Caine, Steve Guttenberg, Peter Boyle, Jackie Cooper, Julie Kavner, Louise Lasser, Iman. Attractive cast injects little energy into this tired, familiar comedy about confused Field, oft-married Caine, and their complicated courtship. Even Caine's charm cannot save it. Scripted by the director. [PG]▼●

Surrogate, The (1984-Canadian) C-95m. ½ D: Don Carmody. Art Hindle, Carole Laure, Shannon Tweed, Michael Ironside, Jim Bailey, Marilyn Lightstone, Jackie Burroughs. Clever whodunit has handsome couple (Tweed and Hindle) reluctantly turning to sex surrogate Laure to help with their marital problems. Solid Canadian cast punches home contrived script in which nearly every character (including top female impersonator Bailey, as Tweed's best friend) appears to be a psychotic suspect. [R]▼

Survival Run (1980) C-90m. *½ D: Larry Spiegel. Peter Graves, Ray Milland, Vincent Van Patten, Pedro Armendariz, Jr., Alan Conrad. Graves, Milland, and company stalk teenagers stranded in the desert. The object is murder; the film is dreadful. [R]▼

Survive! (1976-Mexican) C-86m. *½ D: Rene Cardona (Sr.). Pablo Ferrel, Hugo Stiglitz, Luz Maria Aguilar, Fernando Larranga, Norma Lazareno. Survivors of a South American plane crash are forced to cannibalize each other in order to stay alive. Based on a true incident, but do you really care? Same story retold in U.S. film ALIVE. [R]●

Surviving Christmas (2004) C-92m. BOMB D: Mike Mitchell. Ben Affleck, James Gandolfini, Christina Applegate, Catherine O'Hara, Josh Zuckerman, Bill Macy, Jennifer Morrison, Udo Kier, Stephanie Faracy, Stephen Root, David Selby. Self-involved businessman (Affleck) without domestic ties suddenly yearns for an ideal family Christmas . . . so he purchases kin for the holidays. Scrooge is proven right with this awful, lowbrow mess of a comedy. [PG-13]▼

Surviving Picasso (1996) C-125m.  D: James Ivory. Anthony Hopkins, Natascha McElhone, Julianne Moore, Joss Ackland, Joan Plowright, Peter Eyre, Jane Lapotaire, Joseph Maher, Diane Venora, Bob Peck, Peter Gerety, Dominic West, Susannah Harker, Dennis Boutsikaris. Pablo Picasso

uses women, then tosses them away, but a young artist ventures into a relationship with him just the same, certain that this time it will be different. McElhone makes an impressive film debut as the willing "victim," but it's Hopkins' charismatic performance as the ego-driven artist that makes this worth seeing. One must be willing to accept a lack of European accents—and the absence of genuine Picasso art. [R]▼●

Surviving the Game (1994) C-96m. *½ D: Ernest Dickerson. Rutger Hauer, Ice-T, Gary Busey, F. Murray Abraham, Charles S. Dutton, John C. McGinley, Jeff Corey. Only the absence of Maria Conchita Alonso keeps this unpteenth variation of THE MOST DANGEROUS GAME from having the definitive schlock action cast, as destitute Ice-T is unwittingly hired to perform vague duties at a secluded woody resort, only to learn he's the prey of high-roller hunters. Sub-routine chase pic is Confusion City all the way; it's difficult to believe that the same plot could be recycled less than a year after John Woo's far more stylish HARD TARGET. [R]▼●

Survivors, The (1983) C-102m.  D: Michael Ritchie. Walter Matthau, Robin Williams, Jerry Reed, James Wainwright, Kristen Vigard, Anne Pitoniak, John Goodman. Two disparate men lose their jobs and find their lives intertwined when they identify a robber and are told that they'll be "fixed." One (Williams) decides to arm himself to the teeth in this combination black comedy and social satire. Likable stars do their best with scattershot script credited to Michael Leeson. [R]▼●

Susana (1951-Mexican) 82m. ½ D: Luis Buñuel. Rosita Quintana, Fernando Soler, Victor Manuel Mendoza, Matilde Palou. A voluptuous orphan of the storm, engagingly played by Quintana, undermines the loving fabric of the family that rescues her. Well handled and staged by Buñuel, until the cop-out finale.▼

Susan and God (1940) 115m. ½ D: George Cukor. Joan Crawford, Fredric March, Ruth Hussey, John Carroll, Rita Hayworth, Nigel Bruce, Bruce Cabot, Rose Hobart, Rita Quigley, Marjorie Main, Gloria De Haven. Crawford is satisfying as woman whose religious devotion loses her the love of her family. Gertrude Lawrence fared better on stage. Screenplay by Anita Loos, based on Rachel Crothers' play.▼

Susan Lenox: Her Fall and Rise (1931) 76m. ½ D: Robert Z. Leonard. Greta Garbo, Clark Gable, Jean Hersholt, John Miljan, Alan Hale. A young woman flees from her loutish father—who wants to marry her off—and finds refuge with Gable, but circumstances keep them apart until the final clinch. Contrived melodrama made compelling by the ever-mesmerizing Garbo.▼

Susannah of the Mounties (1939) 78m.

½ D: William A. Seiter. Shirley Temple, Randolph Scott, Margaret Lockwood, J. Farrell MacDonald, Moroni Olsen, Victor Jory. Mountie Scott raises orphan Shirley in this predictable but entertaining Temple vehicle. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●

Susan Slade (1961) C-116m. ½ D: Delmer Daves. Troy Donahue, Dorothy McGuire, Connie Stevens, Lloyd Nolan, Brian Aherne, Bert Convy, Kent Smith. Slick soaper, beautifully photographed by Lucien Ballard. McGuire pretends to be mother of daughter's (Stevens) illegitimate child. Donahue is Connie's true love. ●

Susan Slept Here (1954) C-98m. ½ D: Frank Tashlin. Dick Powell, Debbie Reynolds, Anne Francis, Glenda Farrell, Alvy Moore. Screenwriter Powell agrees to look after high-spirited delinquent Reynolds in this "cute" sex comedy, which has the distinction of being the only film in history ever narrated by an Oscar statuette! ▼●

Suspect, The (1944) 85m. ½ D: Robert Siodmak. Charles Laughton, Ella Raines, Dean Jagger, Molly Lamont, Henry Daniell, Rosalind Ivan. Superb, Hitchcock-like thriller of henpecked London tobacconist Laughton planning to get his wife out of the way so he can pursue lovely Raines.

Suspect (1960) SEE: Risk, The

Suspect (1987) C-121m.  D: Peter Yates. Cher, Dennis Quaid, Liam Neeson, John Mahoney, Joe Mantegna, Philip Bosco, E. Katherine Kerr. Dedicated public defender (Cher) battles a nearly hopeless case, representing a deaf derelict accused of murder, with the unexpected help of one of her jurors (Quaid). Entertaining film manages to override its many implausibilities, with Cher turning in a fine and utterly believable performance. [R] ▼●●

Suspect Zero (2004) C-99m.  D: E. Elias Merhige. Aaron Eckhart, Ben Kingsley, Carrie-Anne Moss, Harry Lennix, William Mapother. Troubled FBI agent (Eckhart), just transferred to the New Mexico office, suspects that the man they're trying to track down for a string of disappearances and murders is not exactly what he seems. Complex premise, reminiscent at times of RED DRAGON, with striking visual style, is hindered by the oppressive nature of the material and the fact that there's no one to care about. [R] ▼●

Suspended Animation (2003) C-114m. *½ D: John D. Hancock. Alex McArthur, Laura Esterman, Sage Allen, Rebecca Harrell, Fred Meyers, Maria Cina, Jeff Puckett. Hollywood animation filmmaker on a winter vacation is held captive, MISERY-style, by a pair of crazed sisters. He escapes and returns to Malibu, obsessed with the (now supposedly dead) women who caused his ordeal. Well produced, but the story is unpleasant and suffers from a rotten ending. Most of the characters lack appeal, though

Esterman is quite good as one of the sisters.

[R] ▼●

Suspicion (1941) 99m. ½ D: Alfred Hitchcock. Cary Grant, Joan Fontaine, Cedric Hardwicke, Nigel Bruce, Dame May Whitty, Isabel Jeans, Heather Angel, Leo G. Carroll. Fontaine won Oscar for portraying wife who believes husband Grant is trying to kill her. Suspenser is helped by Bruce as Cary's pal, but finale (imposed by the Production Code) leaves viewer flat. Scripted by Samson Raphaelson, Joan Harrison, and Alma Reville (Hitchcock's wife), from Before the Fact by Francis Iles (Anthony Berkeley). Remade as a TVM in 1987. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Suspiria (1977-Italian) C-98m.  D: Dario Argento. Jessica Harper, Stefania Casini, Joan Bennett, Alida Valli, Flavio Bucci, Udo Kier. Terrifying tale of American student (Harper) attending European ballet school that turns out to be a witches' coven. Often dumb plot is enriched and overcome by brilliant camerawork, atmosphere, music score and performance (by Argento and rock group Goblin). Originally cut to 92m. for U.S. release. Followed by INFERNIO. Technovision. [R] ▼●●

Suture (1993) 93m.  D: Scott McGehee, David Siegel. Dennis Haysbert, Mel Harris, Dina Merrill, Sab Shimono, Michael Harris, David Graf, Fran Ryan, John Ingle. Unique, off-the-wall tale of Vincent (Michael Harris), who is suspected of murdering his father; he hatches a scheme to fake his own death, substituting the body of his estranged half-brother, Clay (Haysbert), as his corpse. Although these men remark on their uncanny physical resemblance, Vincent is white and Clay is black: a joke which only the audience is in on. A novel and perceptive film about identity. An impressive debut for writer-director-producer duo McGehee and Siegel. Super 35. ▼●●

Suzanne SEE: Second Coming of Suzanne, The

Suzy (1936) 99m.  D: George Fitzmaurice. Jean Harlow, Franchot Tone, Cary Grant, Lewis Stone, Benita Hume. Fine cast sinks in this soapy romantic spy drama set in WW1, with Grant as French flier who falls in love with Harlow. Brightest moment has Cary crooning "Did I Remember?" ▼

Svengali (1931) 82m.  D: Archie Mayo. John Barrymore, Marian Marsh, Donald Crisp, Carmel Myers, Bramwell Fletcher, Luis Alberni. Absorbing tale of artist's obsession with young girl, Trilby, who becomes singing artist under his hypnotic spell. Prime Barrymore in interesting production with bizarre Paris sets by Anton Grot, memorable visual effects. Followed by THE MAD GENIUS. ▼●●

Svengali (1955-British) C-82m. ½ D: Noel Langley. Hildegard Neff, Donald

Wolfit, Terence Morgan, Noel Purcell, Alfie Bass. Lacks flair of earlier version of du Maurier's novel about mesmerizing teacher and his actress-pupil Trilby. Robert Newton, originally cast as Svengali, quit in mid-production but can still be seen in some long shots. ▼

Swamp Thing (1982) C-91m. ½ D: Wes Craven. Louis Jourdan, Adrienne Barbeau, Ray Wise, David Hess, Nicholas Worth. Research scientist continues to love Barbeau from afar even after a chemical turns him into walking vegetation. This was better as a DC comic, though Jourdan's villainous camping in this sweet-natured monster pic is almost on a level with Vincent Price's standard routine. Followed by THE RETURN OF SWAMP THING and a cable TV series. [PG] ▼

Swamp Water (1941) 90m. ½ D: Jean Renoir. Dana Andrews, Walter Brennan, Anne Baxter, Walter Huston, Virginia Gilmore, John Carradine, Ward Bond, Guinn Williams, Eugene Palette, Joe Sawyer, Mary Howard. Renoir's first American film is moody but erratic thriller set in the Okefenokee. Trapper Andrews finds fugitive Brennan hiding in the swamp, tries to clear him of murder rap without letting on that he knows the man's whereabouts. Powerhouse cast, handsome production, weakened by cornball dialogue and miscasting of Brennan. Remade as LURE OF THE WILDERNESS.

Swamp Women (1955) C-73m. *½ D: Roger Corman. Carole Mathews, Marie Windsor, Beverly Garland, Touch (Michael) Connors, Jil Jarmyn, Susan Cummings. Heavy-handed nonsense with New Orleans police-woman Mathews going undercover, hooking up with notorious trio of female crooks who escape from jail and head out after stolen diamonds. Fans of Windsor and Garland will not want to miss it. Retitled: SWAMP DIAMONDS, CRUEL SWAMP. ▼

Swan, The (1956) C-112m.  D: Charles Vidor. Grace Kelly, Alec Guinness, Louis Jourdan, Agnes Moorehead, Jessie Royce Landis, Brian Aherne, Leo G. Carroll, Estelle Winwood. Mild Molnar comedy of manners has attractive cast but not much sparkle. Jourdan good as Kelly's suitor, but she's promised to prince Guinness. Filmed before in 1925 and (as ONE ROMANTIC NIGHT) in 1930. CinemaScope. ▼

Swanee River (1939) C-84m. ½ D: Sidney Lanfield. Don Ameche, Al Jolson, Andrea Leeds, Felix Bressart, Russell Hicks. Bio of Stephen Foster where every song he writes is cued by a line of dialogue; clichés fill the movie, but it's fun on that level. Jolson is terrific as E. P. Christy; minstrel numbers are exceptionally well done. Other Foster bios are HARMONY LANE and I DREAM OF JEANIE.

Swann in Love (1984-French) C-110m.

½ D: Volker Schlöndorff. Jeremy Irons, Ornella Muti, Alain Delon, Fanny Ardant, Marie-Christine Barrault, Nathalie Juvet. Lavish but lifeless telescoping of Proust's Remembrance of Things Past with Irons surprisingly stiff as French aristocrat obsessed with scandalous, lower-class Muti in 1885 Paris. Redeemed somewhat by the latter and Delon (as a homosexual baron), a sexy under-the-covers love scene, and Sven Nykvist photography. [R] ▼

Swan Princess, The (1994) C-90m.  D: Richard Rich. Voices of Jack Palance, Howard McGillin, Michelle Nicastro, Liz Callaway, John Cleese, Steven Wright, Sandy Duncan. Charmless, by-the-numbers animated fantasy about Prince Derek and Princess Odette, who seem fated to wed; barriers arise when they quarrel, and a sorcerer transforms the princess into a swan. Partially based on the fable that inspired Swan Lake. Too imitative of Disney's BEAUTY AND THE BEAST for its own good. In fact, the film was made by former Disney animators. Followed by two sequels. [G] ▼

Swap, The SEE: Sam's Song

Swarm, The (1978) C-116m. BOMB D: Irwin Allen. Michael Caine, Katharine Ross, Richard Widmark, Henry Fonda, Richard Chamberlain, Olivia de Havilland, Fred MacMurray, Ben Johnson, Lee Grant, Jose Ferrer, Patty Duke Astin, Slim Pickens, Bradford Dillman. This formula disaster film from Irwin Allen portrays killer bee invasion with no sting at all; succeeds only in wasting a lot of talented actors. For masochists only: runs even longer (156m.) on DVD. Panavision. [PG] ▼

Swashbuckler (1976) C-101m. BOMB D: James Goldstone. Robert Shaw, James Earl Jones, Peter Boyle, Genevieve Bujold, Beau Bridges, Geoffrey Holder, Avery Schreiber, Anjelica Huston. Poorly constructed, bubble-headed picture—laced with kinky PG sex scenes—would make Errol Flynn turn over in his grave. Incredible waste of talent. Panavision. [PG] ▼

Swastika Savages SEE: Hell's Bloody Devils

S.W.A.T. (2003) C-116m. ½ D: Clark Johnson. Samuel L. Jackson, Colin Farrell, Michelle Rodriguez, James Todd Smith aka LL Cool J, Josh Charles, Jeremy Renner, Brian Van Holt, Olivier Martinez. Slick, if not especially original, cops-and-robbers action yarn about maverick L.A.P.D. sergeant Jackson being hired to train an elite S.W.A.T. team. He deliberately recruits the force's misfits and square pegs, who meet their match in a wily French criminal (Martinez). The pulsating music is wall-to-wall, and the action, while not always brilliantly staged, is just good enough. Steve Forrest,

star of the vintage TV series of the same name, has a cameo. A hip-hop song sung over the closing credits is called "Samuel Jackson." Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Sweeney Todd, The Demon Barber of Fleet Street (1936-British) 68m.  D: George King. Tod Slaughter, Bruce Seton, Stella Rho, Eve Lister, Ben Soutten, D.J. Williams. Not many chills in this adaptation of the George Dibdin-Pitt play (later one of the sources for the Broadway musical Sweeney Todd by Stephen Sondheim and Hugh Wheeler), but it does contain a quintessential eye-rolling performance by Britain's master of grand guignol, Tod Slaughter, playing the sadistic barber who dumps his customers into the cellar and turns them into meat pies. Photographed by Ronald Neame. Not released in the U.S. until 1939. ▼

Sweeney Todd: The Demon Barber of Fleet Street (2007) C-117m.  D: Tim Burton. Johnny Depp, Helena Bonham Carter, Alan Rickman, Timothy Spall, Sacha Baron Cohen, Jayne Wisener, Jamie Campbell Bower, Edward Sanders, Laura Michelle Kelly. Stylized adaptation of the legendary Stephen Sondheim-Hugh Wheeler musical about a barber seeking revenge against 19th-century London society because of the judge who unjustly imprisoned him—and stole his wife and young daughter. Burton's naturally morbid sensibilities mesh well with Sondheim's dark, brooding score. The result—whose textual changes will certainly pain Broadway purists—may not be as powerful as the original, but it actually works as a film. Depp and Bonham Carter (who, like the entire cast, do their own singing) bring gravity and wit to their roles, and the physical production is grimly spectacular. Oscar winner for Best Art Direction (Dante Ferretti and Francesca Lo Schiavo). Not for the squeamish. [R] ▼

Sweet and Lowdown (1999) C-95m. ½ D: Woody Allen. Sean Penn, Samantha Morton, Uma Thurman, Brian Markinson, Anthony LaPaglia, James Urbaniak, Gretchen Mol, John Waters, Brad Garrett. A Woody Allen diversion about a fictional jazz guitarist of the 1930s, Emmet Ray (brilliantly played by Penn), who's a musical genius but a rotten human being. Morton is a stand-out as a naive (and mute) woman with whom he has an unlikely relationship. Music is great, period flavor impeccable, but the story wanders. Howard Alden doubles Penn's guitar playing. Allen appears on-screen as one of the experts recalling Emmet Ray's career. [PG-13] ▼

Sweet Bird of Youth (1962) C-120m. ½ D: Richard Brooks. Paul Newman, Geraldine Page, Shirley Knight, Ed Begley, Rip Torn, Mildred Dunnock, Madeleine Sherwood, Philip Abbott, Corey Allen. Tennessee Williams' play, cleaned up for

the movies, still is powerful drama. Newman returns to Southern town with dissipated movie queen Page, causing corrupt town "boss" Begley (who won an Oscar) to have him fixed proper. Glossy production with cast on top of material. Scripted by Brooks. Newman, Page, Sherwood, and Torn reprised their Broadway performances. Remade for TV in 1989 with Elizabeth Taylor. CinemaScope. ▼

Sweet Body of Deborah, The (1969-Italian-French) C-105m. BOMB D: Romolo Guerrieri. Carroll Baker, Jean Sorel, Evelyn Stewart, Luigi Pistilli, Michel Bardinet. Convoluted soapier about murder, suicide, blackmail, and other sordid goings-on. This "body" really sags. Techniscope. [R]

Sweet Candy SEE: Candy Stripe Nurses Sweet Charity (1969) C-153m.  D: Bob Fosse. Shirley MacLaine, John McCormack, Ricardo Montalban, Sammy Davis, Jr., Chita Rivera, Paula Kelly, Stubby Kaye, Ben Vereen, Lee Roy Reams. Fine, overlooked adaptation of the Broadway musical written by Neil Simon, and based on Fellini's NIGHTS OF CABIRIA, about prostitute-with-heart-of-gold who falls in love with naive young man who doesn't know about her "work." Cy Coleman-Dorothy Fields score includes "Big Spender," "If They Could See Me Now," rousing "Rhythm of Life." Script by Peter Stone. Fosse's debut as film director. Look for Bud Cort and Kristoffer Tabori as flower children. Also shown in 145 and 147m. versions—one with a happy ending, one not! Panavision. [G] ▼

Sweet Country (1986) C-150m. BOMB D: Michael Cacoyannis. Jane Alexander, Franco Nero, Carole Laure, Joanna Pettet, Irene Papas, Randy Quaid, Jean-Pierre Aumont. Grueling, heavy-handed drama of a family's reactions to the 1973 Chilean revolution. Notable for idiotic miscasting (Laure and Pettet as Papas' daughters; Quaid as a lip-smacking, lecherous soldier named Raoul). Quite a comedown for ZORBA THE GREEK director Cacoyannis, who includes tasteless sexploitation footage for good measure. Filmed in Greece. [R] ▼

Sweet Dreams (1985) C-115m. ½ D: Karel Reisz. Jessica Lange, Ed Harris, Ann Wedgeworth, David Clennon, James Staley, Gary Basaraba, John Goodman, P.J. Soles. Flavorful look at 1950s country singing star Patsy Cline can't escape déjà vu from so many other show-biz biopics. Focuses mainly on Cline's marriage to ne'er-do-well Harris, which also has a too-familiar ring. Made worthwhile by truly fine performances (including Wedgeworth as Patsy's mother) and a lot of wonderful music (Lange lip-syncs to Cline's original recordings). [PG-13] ▼

Sweet Ecstasy (1962-French) 75m. ½ D: Max Pécas. Elke Sommer, Pierre Brice,

Christian Pezy, Claire Maurier. Silly soaper about life among the wealthy, beautiful, decadent, selfish young on the Riviera. Sommer is a cynical sexpot with an endless supply of false eyelashes. CinemaScope. ▼

Sweetest Thing, The (2002) C-84m. ½ D: Roger Kumble. Cameron Diaz, Christina Applegate, Selma Blair, Thomas Jane, Jason Bateman, Parker Posey, Georgia Engel. Loopy comedy—scripted by South Park writer and standup comic Nancy M. Pimental—tracks the misadventures of three over-sexed girlfriends who make Betty and Veronica seem like eggheads. Attempt to put good-looking women into the kind of raunchy comedy usually associated with guys is wildly uneven, but hard to dislike. Johnathon Schaech (Applegate's real-life husband) appears unbilled. [R] ▼

Sweethearts (1938) C-114m. ½ D: W. S. Van Dyke II. Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy, Frank Morgan, Florence Rice, Ray Bolger, Mischa Auer. Enjoyable but overlong; Nelson and Jeanette are stage stars of Victor Herbert operetta who are manipulated by their producer (Morgan) into having a marital spat. Handsome color production filled with Herbert melodies. Cinematographer Oliver Marsh won an Oscar. ▼

Sweet Hearts Dance (1988) C-101m. ½ D: Robert Greenwald. Don Johnson, Susan Sarandon, Jeff Daniels, Elizabeth Perkins, Kate Reid, Justin Henry, Holly Marie Combs, Heather Coleman. Comedy-drama, set in a small Vermont town, about the breakup of a marriage between two high-school sweethearts—just as their longtime friend is embarking on a serious relationship. Engaging cast, led by Johnson in a very appealing performance, but after a while you wish the two lead characters would just get on with it. Written by Ernest Thompson. [R] ▼

Sweet Hereafter, The (1997-Canadian) C-110m.  D: Atom Egoyan. Ian Holm, Sarah Polley, Bruce Greenwood, Tom McCamus, Arsinée Khanjian, Alberta Watson, Gabrielle Rose, Maury Chaykin, David Hemblen. Tenacious lawyer comes to a Canadian town that's been shattered by a schoolbus accident in which many of its children were killed. He tries to convince the parents to hire him to sue whoever may be responsible—if, indeed, anyone is. Meanwhile, he tries to deal with his fragmented relationship with his own drug-addicted daughter. Egoyan brings his quiet, elliptical approach to Russell Banks' novel and creates a haunting film that's hard to forget... though not for every taste. Holm is simply superb. Panavision. [R] ▼

Sweet Home Alabama (2002) C-109m.  D: Andy Tennant. Reese Witherspoon, Josh Lucas, Patrick Dempsey, Candice Bergen,

Mary Kay Place, Fred Ward, Jean Smart, Ethan Embry, Melanie Lynskey, Courtney Gains, Mary Lynn Rajsckub, Dakota Fanning. Rising N.Y.C. fashion designer is engaged to the mayor's son—but returns home to Alabama to get her estranged husband to sign their divorce papers, which he's put off for seven years. Once there she feels pangs of homesickness and an unexplainable attraction to her slothful ex. Lazy romantic comedy doesn't bother to flesh out any of its characters or explain their motivations; even as fluff, it falls short. Only Witherspoon's sunny presence keeps this one afloat. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Sweetie (1989-Australian) C-97m. ½ D: Jane Campion. Genevieve Lemon, Karen Colston, Tom Lycos, Jon Darling, Dorothy Barry. New Zealander Campion's off-beat account of an unbalanced, demanding young woman (Lemon), and her relationship with her weak, obsessive sister (Colston) and her parents. Some brilliant directorial touches, but too many sequences simply don't work. Unsettling, occasionally depressing, and not for all tastes. [R] ▼

Sweet Kill SEE: Arousers, The
Sweet Land (2005) C-110m. ½ D: Ali Selim. Elizabeth Reaser, Tim Guinee, Alan Cumming, John Heard, Alex Kingston, Ned Beatty, Lois Smith, Patrick Heusinger, Stephen Pelinski, Paul Sand. Beautifully realized depiction of rural post-WWI Minnesota and the German mail-order bride who causes a stir in the close-knit Norwegian community. Reaser is exceptional, but whole cast shines (including Smith, 50 years after her film debut in EAST OF EDEN) in this moving drama of immigration, love, and hardship. Scripted by the director; based on Will Weaver's short story "A Gravestone Made of Wheat." [PG] ▼

Sweet Liberty (1986) C-107m.  D: Alan Alda. Alan Alda, Michael Caine, Michelle Pfeiffer, Bob Hoskins, Lise Hilboldt, Lillian Gish, Saul Rubinek, Lois Chiles. Amiable but aimless comedy of college professor who becomes involved with a movie troupe as his historical novel is filmed. Ingratiating cast maintains some level of interest, with funny turns by Caine as a cocky leading man and Hoskins as an eager-to-please screenwriter. But deep down inside, it's really shallow. [PG] ▼

Sweet Lies (1986) C-96m. *½ D: Nathalie Delon. Treat Williams, Joanna Pacula, Julianne Phillips, Laura Manszky, Norbert Weisser, Bernard Fresson. Boring romantic comedy with Williams sorely miscast as an insurance-company detective involved in sexual shenanigans with a trio of women while on assignment in Paris. [R] ▼

Sweet Lorraine (1987) C-91m.  D: Steve Gomer. Maureen Stapleton, Trini Alvarado, Lee Richardson, John Bedford Lloyd, Giancarlo Esposito, Edith (Edie) Falco, Todd

Graff, Evan Handler, Freddie Roman. The Lorraine is a cozy little Catskill hotel that's way past its prime; Stapleton is its proprietress, Alvarado her granddaughter who spends a summer working in its kitchen. There's a wealth of atmosphere and some sturdy characterizations in this warm, friendly, very personal slice-of-life sleeper. [PG-13]▼

Sweet Love, Bitter (1967) 92m. ½ D: Herbert Dansk. Dick Gregory, Don Murray, Diane Varsi, Robert Hooks, John Randolph. Intriguing film about the unlikely friendship between a great jazz musician (Gregory) who's seen better days and a college professor who's hit the skids (Murray). Loosely based on the life of jazz legend Charlie "Bird" Parker; dated in some ways, but also a fascinating artifact of its time. Its comments on race relations are still as potent as ever.▼

Sweet Nothing (1996) C-90m.  D: Gary Winick. Michael Imperioli, Mira Sorvino, Paul Calderon, Lisa Langford. Tragic story of a family affected by the horrors of drugs. Father looking to make a better life for his wife and kids gets in way over his head in the seedy world of crack, becoming both a user and a seller. Grim film offers unappealing characters and storyline, showing the harrowing effects of drug addiction on innocent lives. Made in 1993, before Sorvino's Oscar-winning turn in MIGHTY APHRODITE, but released (just barely) after. [R]▼

Sweet November (1968) C-114m. ½ D: Robert Ellis Miller. Sandy Dennis, Anthony Newley, Theodore Bikel, Burr DeBenning, Sandy Baron, Marj Dusay, Martin West. Kooky Dennis takes a new lover every month, helping insecure men find confidence, then sending them away; her plans go awry when one of them (Newley) insists on marrying her. Some touching moments in this likable (if implausible) comedy-drama by Herman Raucher. Remade in 2001.▼

Sweet November (2001) C-119m. ½ D: Pat O'Connor. Keanu Reeves, Charlize Theron, Jason Isaacs, Greg Germann, Liam Aiken, Lauren Graham, Frank Langella, Ray Baker, Robert Joy. Kooky San Francisco woman persuades uptight, career-driven man to spend one month with her so she can transform him into more of a human being . . . as she has for many guys before him. Harmless fluff is neither spontaneous nor convincing enough, though Reeves and Theron give it their best shot. Remake of the 1968 movie. [PG-13]▼

Sweet Revenge (1977) C-90m. BOMB D: Jerry Schatzberg. Stockard Channing, Sam Waterston, Franklin Ajaye, Richard Doughty. Public defender Waterston falls in love with a car thief (Channing) in this turkey, originally called DANDY, THE ALL-AMERICAN GIRL. Panavision. [PG]

Sweet Revenge (1999-British-French-U.S.) C-90m.  D: Malcolm Mowbray. Sam

Neill, Helena Bonham Carter, Kristin Scott Thomas, Liz Smith, Rupert Graves, Martin Clunes, Steve Coogan, Charlotte Coleman, John Wood. Two suicidal souls vow to avenge the people who wronged them in this twist on STRANGERS ON A TRAIN. Quirky comedy has moments, but too few, though the lead actors seem to delight in this (uneven) blend of slapstick and mayhem. Based on the plays by Alan Ayckbourn. U.S. debut on cable TV. Original British title: THE REVENGERS' COMEDIES. [PG-13]▼

Sweet Ride, The (1968) C-110m. *½ D: Harvey Hart. Tony Franciosa, Michael Sarrazin, Jacqueline Bisset, Bob Denver, Michael Wilding, Michele Carey, Warren Stevens. Absurd claptrap about a tennis bum, a surfer, and a beautiful girl; some of the Malibu scenery is nice. Panavision. [R] Sweet Rosie O'Grady (1943) C-74m. ½ D: Irving Cummings. Betty Grable, Robert Young, Adolphe Menjou, Reginald Gardiner, Virginia Grey, Phil Regan. Pleasant musical of ex-burlesque star and exposé reporter. Menjou steals film as editor of Police Gazette. Previously filmed as LOVE IS NEWS; remade again as THAT WONDERFUL URGE.

Sweet 16 (1981) C-90m.  D: Jim Sotos. Bo Hopkins, Susan Strasberg, Don Stroud, Dana Kimmell, Aleisa Shirley, Don Shanks, Steve Antin, Logan Clarke, Patrick Macnee, Michael Pataki, Larry Storch, Henry Wilcoxon, Sharon Farrell. Standard terror film (with good cast) set in Texas about a rash of murders occurring as Shirley's 16th birthday approaches. Identity of the vengeful murderer is quite predictable; integration of a racial prejudice (persecuting Indians) subplot doesn't work. Hopkins plays his slightly slow-witted Southern sheriff role for the umpteenth time. [R]▼

Sweet Sixteen (2002-British-German-Spanish) C-106m.  D: Ken Loach. Martin Compston, Anmarie Fulton, William Ruane, Michelle Abercromby, Michelle Coulter, Gary McCormack, Tommy McKee. Another gritty, grimly realistic slice of life from Loach, this one about 15-year-old Liam (Compston), a career-criminal-in-training, and his dysfunctional Glasgow family; he loves (and is protective of) his mother, who is completing a stretch in the pen. Occasionally rambles, but still a sobering look at the forces that contribute to a young man's dead-end existence. The dialogue is laced with profanity, and the Scottish accents are so thick that the film is English-subtitled.▼

Sweet Smell of Success (1957) 96m. ½ D: Alexander Mackendrick. Burt Lancaster, Tony Curtis, Marty Milner, Sam Levene, Barbara Nichols, Susan Harrison, Joe Frisco, Chico Hamilton Quintet. Searing Clifford Odets-Ernest Lehman script about ruthless, all-powerful columnist J. J. Hunsecker (Lancaster) and a smarmy press agent (Curtis) who'll do anything to curry his favor. Vivid performances, fine jazz score by Elmer Bernstein, outstanding camerawork by James Wong Howe that perfectly captures N.Y.C. nightlife. Later a Broadway musical. ▼●●

Sweet Sweetback's Baad Asssss Song (1971) C-97m.  D: Melvin Van Peebles. Melvin Van Peebles, Rhetta Hughes, Simon Chuckster, John Amos. Van Peebles produced, directed, financed, wrote, scored, and stars in this angry, violent, reverse-racist blaxploitation drama as a superstud who runs, runs, runs from the police. Visually exciting, surprisingly effective. Controversial (and X-rated) when first released. Van Peebles' son Mario chronicled the making of this film in BAADASSSSS! [R]▼●●

Sweet Talker (1990-Australian) C-88m. ½ D: Michael Jenkins. Bryan Brown, Karen Allen, Chris Haywood, Bill Kerr, Bruce Spence, Bruce Myles, Paul Chubb, Peter Hehir, Justin Rosniak. Amiable if thoroughly familiar tale of a con man who comes to a remote Australian coastal town to sell his bill of goods, falls in love, and has second thoughts about going through with the con. Pleasant, picturesque, and predictable. Brown cowrote the story. [PG]▼●●

Sweet Violent Tony SEE: Cuba Crossing
Sweet William (1980-British) C-92m. ½ D: Claude Whatham. Sam Waterston, Jenny Agutter, Anna Massey, Geraldine James, Daphne Oxenford, Rachel Bell, Arthur Lowe, Tim Pigott-Smith. Waterston is charming as an erratic ALFIE-like bigamist who seduces Agutter in this OK entertainment. [R]▼

Swept Away (2002-British) C-89m.  D: Guy Ritchie. Madonna, Adriano Giannini, Jeanne Tripplehorn, Bruce Greenwood, Elizabeth Banks, David Thornton, Michael Beattie, Yorgo Voyagis. Tame remake of Lina Wertmuller's fiery SWEPT AWAY... with Giannini doing a creditable job in the part created by his father, and Madonna (directed by her real-life husband) giving one of her better performances as the spoiled rich bitch who's cast away with him on a deserted island. Ill-advised music-video-style sequences only remind us that it is Madonna, which doesn't help us believe in her character. Not a disgrace, as media coverage indicated, but utterly unmemorable. [R]▼●

Swept Away ... by an unusual destiny in the blue sea of August (1974-Italian) C-116m. * D: Lina Wertmuller. Giancarlo Giannini, Mariangela Melato. A slovenly sailor is cast adrift on an island with his employer, a rich, selfish woman. Cut off from society, he reverses their roles, stripping her of pride and vanity, and controlling her completely. This fascinating and provocative adult film put writer-director Wertmuller on the map in this country. Remade in 2002. [R]▼●●

Swept From the Sea (1998-U.S.-British)

C-114m.  D: Beeban Kidron. Rachel Weisz, Vincent Perez, Ian McKellen, Kathy Bates, Joss Ackland, Tony Haygarth, Zoë Wanamaker, Tom Bell. Nineteenth-century melodrama of a silent servant girl who falls in love with the sole survivor of a shipwreck, a Ukrainian emigrant. This tragic romance is the talk of the entire disapproving town. Gorgeous scenery and storms galore can't save this sluggish, shallow film "inspired by" the haunting Joseph Conrad novel Amy Foster. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●●

Swimfan (2002) C-86m.  D: John Polson. Jesse Bradford, Erika Christensen, Shiri Appleby, Kate Burton, Clayne Crawford, Jason Ritter, Kia Joy Goodwin, Dan Hedaya, Michael Higgins. Waterlogged teenage version of FATAL ATTRACTION with Christensen as a new girl in town who sets her sights on high school swimming champion Bradford—who already has a girlfriend—and doesn't take rejection well. Even as a formula film this falls short, becoming outlandish, with laughable plot turns and dialogue. J-D-C Scope. [PG-13]▼●

Swimmer, The (1968) C-94m. ½ D: Frank Perry. Burt Lancaster, Janet Landgard, Janice Rule, Tony Bickley, Marge Champion, Bill Fiore, Kim Hunter, Joan Rivers. Middle-aged man swims from pool to pool on journey home during hot afternoon; each pool evokes past moments and events. Fascinating, vastly underrated film adapted from John Cheever short story; Lancaster is superb, and location filming in Connecticut perfectly captures mood. Script by Eleanor Perry. [M/PG]▼●●

Swimming Pool (2003-French-British) C-102m. ½ D: François Ozon. Charlotte Rampling, Ludivine Sagnier, Charles Dance, Marc Fayolle, Jean-Marie Lamour, Mireille Mossé. A creatively and emotionally blocked mystery writer (Rampling) vacations in her editor's French villa, then the editor's sexy, uninhibited daughter (Sagnier) shows up, leading to unexpected consequences for both of them. Intriguing psychological character study develops a sinuous, tantalizing mood, then turns to literal melodrama and never quite recovers. Rampling and Sagnier are very good—and very sexy. Unrated version also available. [R]▼●

Swimming to Cambodia (1987) C-87m.  D: Jonathan Demme. Spalding Gray talks for nearly an hour and a half—about life in general, and about his experiences in Cambodia, where he spent some time while appearing in a minor role in THE KILLING FIELDS. There is no reason why a lengthy monologue should become such a fascinating film—but it does, thanks to Gray's storytelling skills, and Demme's artful (and subtle) direction. An unusual and rewarding experience. Followed by MONSTER IN A BOX.▼●●

Swimming Upstream (2003-Australian)

C-97m.  D: Russell Mulcahy. Geoffrey Rush, Judy Davis, Jesse Spencer, Tim Draxl, Deborah Kennedy, David Hoflin, Craig Homer, Brittany Byrnes, Mitchell Dellevergin. Fact-based story of two Australian teenage swimmers and their working-class family. In the 1950s, a piano-playing mama's boy (Spencer) is coaxed by his boorish father into striving for glory in the pool. Then Dad unfathomably pushes his other son (Draxl) to rival his sibling in increasingly competitive races. Rush and Davis predictably shine as the parents in an abusive marriage, but film is overly melodramatic. Scripted and coexecutive produced by Anthony Fingleton, from the memoir he coauthored with his sister, Diane. Original Australian running time 114m. [PG-13] ▼

Swimming With Sharks (1994) C-93m.  D: George Huang. Kevin Spacey, Frank Whaley, Michelle Forbes, Benicio Del Toro, Jerry Levine, T. E. Russell, Roy Dotrice. Young man signs on as the new assistant to venal Hollywood exec Buddy Ackerman and learns new facets of the word "abusive" . . . until the day he exacts revenge on his tormentor. Dark, "inside" comedy is a one-joke idea (written by first-time director Huang, who—not surprisingly—toiled as an underling in the film biz), but Spacey's performance as the modern-day monster is galvanizing. He alone makes the film worth seeing. Incidentally, Spacey also coproduced the picture. [R] ▼

Swim Team (1979) C-92m *½ D: James Polakoff. James Daughton, Stephen Furst, Richard Young, Jenny Neumann, guest star Buster Crabbe. Can the Whalers reverse their seven-year losing streak as a swim team? Can you sit through this terrible movie to find out? [PG] ▼

Swindle, The (1955-Italian) 92m. ½ D: Federico Fellini. Broderick Crawford, Giulietta Masina, Richard Basehart, Franco Fabrizi. Absorbing Fellini tale, which he coscripted, about a trio of small-time crooks who go about fleecing peasants in Italy, each planning for a better life. The spotlight is on the eldest, a world-weary loser nicely played by Crawford. Not among the director's best; still an intriguing portrait of hope and desperation. Aka THE SWINDLERS. Original title: IL BIDONE. ▼

Swindle, The (1997-French) C-101m.  D: Claude Chabrol. Isabelle Huppert, Michel Serrault, François Cluzet, Jean-François Balmer, Jackie Berroyer. Absorbing comedy/caper film with Huppert and Serrault perfectly cast as a pair of con artists who may or may not be scheming to cheat each other. The crux of the story is set at a Swiss dentists' convention, where Huppert hooks up with enigmatic Cluzet. Slick, engaging entertainment. ▼

Swinger, The (1966) C-81m.  D: George Sidney. Ann-Margret, Tony Franciosa, Robert Coote, Horace McMahon, Nydia West-

man. Brassy, artificial yarn of good-girl Ann-Margret posing as swinger to impress girlie magazine editor Franciosa.

Swingers (1996) C-96m. ½ D: Doug Liman. Jon Favreau, Vince Vaughn, Ron Livingston, Patrick Van Horn, Alex Desert, Deena Martin, Katherine Kendall, Brooke Langton, Heather Graham. Slight but entertaining look at single life in L.A. from a guy's point of view. Main character is a comedian who broke up with his girlfriend six months earlier and hasn't yet gotten over her. Some pointed jabs at L.A. life distinguish this contemporary urban tale, a kind of hip update of AMERICAN GRAFFITI. Leading actor Favreau wrote the script; director Liman also photographed it. [R] ▼

Swing High, Swing Low (1937) 95m.  D: Mitchell Leisen. Carole Lombard, Fred MacMurray, Charles Butterworth, Jean Dixon, Dorothy Lamour, Harvey Stephens, Anthony Quinn. Musical drama with cornball plot of musician MacMurray's rise and fall. Redeemed somewhat by good cast, glossy production. From the stage play Burlesque, made before as THE DANCE OF LIFE and remade as WHEN MY BABY SMILES AT ME. ▼

Swingin' Summer, A (1965) C-80m. *½ D: Robert Sparr. James Stacy, William Wellman, Jr., Quinn O'Hara, Martin West, Allan Jones, Raquel Welch. The Righteous Brothers, The Rip Chords, Gary Lewis and The Playboys, Jody Miller. Typically thin storyline (about three guys who open a dance hall) as an excuse for music numbers by various guest stars. Techniscope. ▼

Swing Kids (1993) C-112m.  D: Thomas Carter. Robert Sean Leonard, Christian Bale, Frank Whaley, Barbara Hershey, Tushka Bergen, David Tom, Julia Stemberger, Jayce Bartok, Noah Wyle. This year's NEWSIES, and poor Bale is in both. Transparent Yank actors struggle through a THREE COMRADES kind of yarn about the Nazi persecution of German teens who openly embrace American swing music—taboo, because it employs so many black musicians. Singularly weird enough to carry a mild fascination, but it's the kind of film that needs daring flamboyance to have a prayer of coming off. Eye-messaging production design by Allan Cameron. Kenneth Branagh appears unbilled in a key role as a Nazi. [PG-13] ▼

Swing Shift (1984) C-100m.  D: Jonathan Demme. Goldie Hawn, Kurt Russell, Christine Lahti, Ed Harris, Fred Ward, Sudie Bond, Holly Hunter, Patty Maloney, Roger Corman, Belinda Carlisle. Misfired attempt to fashion fictional story around real-life situation of housewives who became factory workers during WW2. All the women are interesting (especially Lahti, in a wonderful performance), but the men are shallow and poorly defined—and consequently, so is the film. Pseudonymous screenplay credit for "Rob Morton" masks several top writers, with half-an-hour reportedly shot by another director at producer Hawn's insistence. [PG]▼●●

Swing Time (1936) 103m. * D: George Stevens. Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Victor Moore, Helen Broderick, Eric Blore, Betty Furness. One of the best Astaire-Rogers films, with stars as dance team whose romance is hampered by Fred's engagement to girl back home (Furness). Fine support by Moore and Broderick, unforgettable Jerome Kern-Dorothy Fields songs "A Fine Romance," "Pick Yourself Up." Oscar-winning "The Way You Look Tonight." Astaire's Bojangles production number is a screen classic.▼●●

Swing Vote (2008) C-119m.  D: Joshua Michael Stern. Kevin Costner, Kelsey Grammer, Paula Patton, Dennis Hopper, Nathan Lane, Stanley Tucci, Madeline Carroll, George Lopez, Mare Winningham, Judge Reinhold. Sharp, funny, relevant comedy about a quirk of fate that leaves the determination of a U.S. presidential campaign in the hands of one not-so-solid citizen—an irresponsible, beer-swilling single dad (Costner). His young daughter takes the situation much more seriously than he does, especially as a media circus mushrooms around them . . . and he gradually undergoes an awakening. Genuinely Capraesque movie has a terrific cast that makes the most of the screenplay by director Stern and Jason Richman. Many newscasters and celebrities appear in cameos. Worth comparing to THE GREAT MAN VOTES (1939). Super 35. [PG-13]●

Swing Your Lady (1938) 79m. *½ D: Ray Enright. Humphrey Bogart, Frank McHugh, Louise Fazenda, Nat Pendleton, Penny Singleton, Allen Jenkins, Ronald Reagan, Weaver Bros. and Elvira. Bogart promotes wrestler Pendleton; embarrassing comedy is easily his worst starring effort. Reagan appears briefly as a sportswriter.

Swiss Conspiracy, The (1975-U.S.-German) C-88m.  D: Jack Arnold. David Janssen, Senta Berger, John Ireland, John Saxon, Elke Sommer, Ray Milland, Anton Diffring. Confusing cat-and-mouse intrigue set in Switzerland, where Janssen is hired to protect valued bank customers with large secret accounts. [PG]▼●

Swiss Family Robinson (1940) 93m.  D: Edward Ludwig. Thomas Mitchell, Edna Best, Freddie Bartholomew, Tim Holt, Terry Kilburn. Mitchell decides to move family to Australia for a purer life, but shipwreck strands them on a remote island where his three spoiled sons learn honest values. Excellent adaptation of Johann Wyss book boasts impressive special effects, strong performances, and much darker elements than the later Disney version. Uncredited opening narration by Orson Welles.▼

Swiss Family Robinson (1960) C-128m. ½ D: Ken Annakin. John Mills, Dorothy McGuire, James MacArthur, Janet Munro, Sessue Hayakawa, Tommy Kirk, Kevin Corcoran. Rollicking entertainment Disney-style, with shipwrecked family building island paradise, neatly dispatching Hayakawa and his pirate band. Pure escapism, larger than life. Panavision.▼●●

Swiss Miss (1938) 72m.  D: John Blystone. Stan Laurel, Oliver Hardy, Della Lind, Walter Woolf King, Eric Blore, Adia Kuznetzoff, Charles Judels. Contrived romantic story with music tries hard to submerge L&H, but Stan and Ollie's scenes save film, especially when Ollie serenades his true love with Stan playing tuba.▼

Switch (1991) C-104m. *½ D: Blake Edwards. Ellen Barkin, Jimmy Smits, JoBeth Williams, Lorraine Bracco, Tony Roberts, Perry King, Bruce Martyn Payne, Catherine Keener, Téa Leoni. Inferior ripoff of GOODBYE, CHARLIE about a philandering male who's shot by a vindictive conquest and returns to earth as a woman. Old-hat premise with precious few opportunities to exploit Edwards' flair for cartoonish physical humor. Barkin is sole saving grace, far better than anything else in the film. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Switchback (1997) C-121m. ½ D: Jeb Stuart. Dennis Quaid, Danny Glover, R. Lee Ermye, Jared Leto, Ted Levine. DIE HARD/FUGITIVE screenwriter Stuart debuts as director of this thriller about the kidnapping of an FBI agent's son, and the pursuit of the serial killer who has him. Preposterous plot devices are overshadowed by excellent cast. You really care what happens to these people. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Switchblade Sisters (1975) C-91m.  D: Jack Hill. Robbie Lee, Joanne Nail, Monica Gayle, Kitty Bruce, Marlene Clark, Michael Miller. Pretty good cheapie about a female gang, although feminism clearly takes a back seat to action. Predates the cycle of gang films by four years; Bruce is Lenny's daughter. Originally released as THE JEZEBELS (the gang's name); reissued as PLAYGIRL GANG. [R]▼●●

Switching Channels (1988) C-105m.  D: Ted Kotcheff. Kathleen Turner, Burt Reynolds, Christopher Reeve, Ned Beatty, Henry Gibson, George Newbern, Al Waxman, Ken James, Joe Silver, Charles Kimbrough, Tony Rosato. TV reporter Turner tries to quit her job to marry wealthy Reeve, but her boss (and ex-husband) Reynolds isn't going to give her up so easily. Surprisingly good remake of THE FRONT PAGE/HIS GIRL FRIDAY updated to the satellite-television era, but less effective in its use of satire and occasional melodrama than its classic predecessors. All three stars are terrific. [PG]▼●

Swoon (1992) 92m.  D: Tom Kalin. Daniel Schlachet, Craig Chester, Ron Vawter, Michael Kirby, Michael Stumm, Valda Z. Drabla, Natalie Stanford. Impressive low-budget stunt of a movie about Chicago's legendary Leopold-Loeb "thrill" killing, with added subtext about the climate of homophobia that figured in the jury's reaction to one of the century's most heinous crimes. Daring and original (though with severe dramatic limitations) and a fascinating companion piece to Hollywood's ROPE and COMPULSION; moody use of black-and-white. ▼●●

Sword and the Rose, The (1953) C-93m. ½ D: Ken Annakin. Richard Todd, Glynis Johns, James Robertson Justice, Michael Gough, Jane Barrett. Colorful filming of When Knighthood Was in Flower, with Johns as Mary Tudor, who uses wiles and power to kindle romance with Todd—but runs afoul of villainous Duke (Gough). Rich period flavor, fine performance by Justice as King Henry VIII. Filmed in England by Walt Disney. ▼●●

Sword and the Sorcerer, The (1982) C-100m.  D: Albert Pyun. Lee Horsley, Kathleen Beller, Simon MacCorkindale, George Maharis, Richard Lynch, Richard Moll, Robert Tessier, Nina Van Pallandt, Anna Bjorn, Jeff Corey. Aided by resurrected warlock Maharis, nasty Lynch enslaves the kingdom, and it's up to sword-swinging Horsley to save the day. Strictly second-rate in scripting, acting, and production, with just enough bloodletting to please undemanding fans of this kind of stuff. [R] ▼●●

Swordfish (2001) C-99m. ½ D: Dominic Sena. John Travolta, Hugh Jackman, Halle Berry, Don Cheadle, Vinnie Jones, Sam Shepard, Drea de Matteo, Rudolf Martin, Zach Grenier. Notorious computer hacker Jackman is shanghaied by master criminal Travolta to do his bidding in this action-crime caper, framed in flashback. Some terrific post-MATRIX action moments and stunt set pieces are the only saving grace, as it becomes silly and unreasonably far-fetched. Derivation of the title is never fully explained, but we'd like to think it's from the Marx Brothers' HORSE FEATHERS. Panavision. [R] ▼●

Sword in the Stone, The (1963) C-75m. ½ D: Wolfgang Reitherman. Voices of Ricky Sorenson, Sebastian Cabot, Karl Swenson, Junius Matthews. One of Disney's weakest animated features follows a young boy named Wart, who is destined to become King Arthur—with the considerable help of Merlin the Magician. Mildly entertaining and fast moving, but dialogue heavy, and full of "modern" references that remove much of the magic and wonder from T. H. White's story. Highlight: wizard's duel between Merlin and Madame Mim. ▼●●

Sword of Lancelot (1963-British) C-116m.

½ D: Cornel Wilde. Cornel Wilde, Jean Wallace, Brian Aherne, George Baker. Camelot comes alive, minus music, with profuse action and splendid scenery. Some may find Wilde's approach too juvenile, overly sincere, and Aherne a bit too cavalier. Originally titled LANCELOT AND GUINEVERE. Panavision. ▼●

Sword of the Conqueror (1961-Italian) C-85m. *½ D: Carlo Campogalliani. Jack Palance, Eleonora Rossi-Drago, Guy Madison, Carlo D'Angelo. Flabby epic not livened by cast or sets; set in 6th-century Byzantine empire days. CinemaScope. ▼

Sword of the Ninja SEE: Challenge, The (1982)

Sword of The Valiant (1985-British) C-101m.  D: Stephen Weeks. Miles O'Keefe, Cyrielle Claire, Leigh Lawson, Sean Connery, Trevor Howard, Peter Cushing, Ronald Lacey, Lila Kedrova, John Rhys-Davies. Connery (as the Green Knight) may only be on-screen for a few scenes, but he adds zest to this lumbering account of a chivalrous young squire (a wooden O'Keefe) who must solve a riddle in one year or die. Remake of GAWAIN AND THE GREEN KNIGHT by the same filmmakers... and not much of an improvement! Filmed in 1982. J-D-C Scope. [PG] ▼●

Swordsmen of Siena, The (1961-Italian) C-97m.  D: Etienne Perier. Stewart Granger, Sylva Koscina, Christine Kaufmann, Tullio Carminati, Gabriele Ferzetti. Predictable swashbuckler about 16th-century adventurer with mixed loyalties who becomes involved in Spanish underground movement. Good cast saddled with tired script. CinemaScope. Sydney SEE: Hard Eight

Sydney White (2007) C-108m.  D: Joe Nussbaum. Amanda Bynes, Sara Paxton, Matt Long, John Schneider, Jack Carpenter, Jeremy Howard, Crystal Hunt. Contemporary take on Snow White and The Seven Dwarfs. Freshman Bynes is rejected from her deceased mother's sorority by its president (Paxton), who's also the most popular girl on campus. The outcast is then taken in by an unofficial fraternity consisting of seven "dorks." Soon she finds herself challenging her own university's elitist Greek system, increasing her popularity and finding her very own Prince Charming. Harmless, somewhat amusing, but best suited to loyal fans of Bynes. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Sylvester (1985) C-102m.  D: Tim Hunter. Richard Farnsworth, Melissa Gilbert, Michael Schoeffling, Constance Towers, Pete Kowanko, Arliss Howard, James Gammon. Seemingly surefire story of a girl and her horse can't clear the hurdles because lead character isn't terribly likable. Some nice riding sequences but uneven narrative (by Carol Sobieski) weighs it down. [PG] ▼●●

Sylvia (1965) 115m. ½ D: Gordon Douglas. Carroll Baker, George Maharis, Joanne Dru, Peter Lawford, Viveca Lindfors, Edmond O'Brien, Aldo Ray, Ann Sothern. Baker's prelude to HARLOW is much better, despite overuse of flashbacks and rambling episodes; she plays a bad girl turned good with melodrama unfolding as detective Maharis investigates her life.

Sylvia (1985-New Zealand) C-98m.  D: Michael Firth. Eleanor David, Nigel Terry, Tom Wilkinson, Mary Regan, Joseph George, Eileen Glover. David gives a strong performance as famed educator Sylvia Ashton-Warner, who struggled in the early 1940s to buck New Zealand's educational establishment with innovative reading methods for Maori children. Adapted from her works Teacher and I Passed This Way. Shirley MacLaine's otherwise unbearable TWO LOVES, based on an Ashton-Warner semiautobiographical story, makes an interesting cross reference. [PG]▼

Sylvia (2003-British) C-105m.  D: Christine Jeffs. Gwyneth Paltrow, Daniel Craig, Jared Harris, Blythe Danner, Michael Gambon, Amira Casar. Incisive portrait of Sylvia Plath, the celebrated American poet of the 1950s and '60s, whose life was intermittently lifted out of a suicidal fog by her love for British poet Edward "Ted" Hughes. Not destined to be a feel-good film, this relies largely on Paltrow to give the character color and shading, and she does. Danner, Paltrow's real-life mother, plays her mother here. Super 35. [R] ▼

Sylvia Scarlett (1935) 94m.  D: George Cukor. Katharine Hepburn, Cary Grant, Brian Aherne, Edmund Gwenn, Natalie Paley, Dennie Moore. Offbeat, charming comedy-drama; Hepburn and ne'er-do-well father Gwenn take to the road when he gets in trouble. She disguises as a boy as they travel with Cockney Grant in touring show. Most unusual film made interesting by performances of Hepburn and Grant in their first film together. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Sympathy for Mr. Vengeance (2002-Korean) C-121m. ½ D: Park Chan-wook. Song Kang-ho, Shin Ha-gyun, Bae Du-na, Im Ji-eun, Han Bo-bae, Kim Se-dong, Lee Dae-yeon. A deaf-mute's harebrained kidnapping plot to pay for a kidney transplant for his dying sister spins out of control into a bloody cycle of retribution. First of the director's "revenge trilogy" is a stylish blend of surreal imagery, pitch-black humor, narrative confusion, and stomach-turning violence. Superbly made, but morally dubious and not for the squeamish. Followed by OLD-BOY and LADY VENGEANCE. Original running time 129m. Super 35. [R]▶

Sympathy for the Devil (1970-French) C-92m.  D: Jean-Luc Godard. Muddled documentary which utilizes the Rolling Stones as a catchall for interspersed study of revolution. Godard's cut, titled ONE

PLUS ONE and running somewhat longer, is still extant. ▼

Synanon (1965) 107m. ½ D: Richard Quine. Chuck Connors, Stella Stevens, Alex Cord, Richard Conte, Eartha Kitt, Edmond O'Brien, Chanin Hale, Alejandro Rey. Potentially powerful study of dope-addiction treatment via the Synanon House methods bogs down in pat romantic tale with stereotyped performances.

Syncopation (1942) 88m.  D: William Dieterle. Adolphe Menjou, Jackie Cooper, Bonita Granville, George Bancroft, Ted North, Todd Duncan, Frank Jenks, Rex Stewart, Connee Boswell, Hall Johnson Choir. Promising but pedestrian story of early jazz travels from New Orleans to Chicago, focusing on trumpeter Cooper (who's dubbed by Bunny Berigan). Good music throughout; at the very end, there's a jam session featuring Benny Goodman, Charlie Barnet, Gene Krupa, Harry James, Jack Jenny, Joe Venuti, and Alvino Ray.

Synecdoche, New York (2008) C-124m.  D: Charlie Kaufman. Philip Seymour Hoffman, Samantha Morton, Michelle Williams, Catherine Keener, Emily Watson, Diane Wiest, Jennifer Jason Leigh, Hope Davis, Tom Noonan. A tormented stage director whose private life is disintegrating channels his frustrations into a massive theatrical project. Screenwriter Kaufman (in his directorial debut) incorporates many of his darkly comic, non-sequitur trademarks at first, then grows melancholy and downbeat as his hero confronts the futility of his quest to understand what his life is all about. Clever and original but wearying, not unlike its main character. The cast is uniformly fine. Super 35. [R]▶

Syriana (2005) C-128m. ½ D: Stephen Gaghan. George Clooney, Matt Damon, Jeffrey Wright, Chris Cooper, William Hurt, Mazhar Munir, Tim Blake Nelson, Amanda Peet, Christopher Plummer, Alexander Siddig, David Clennon, Robert Foxworth, Max Minghella, Jamey Sheridan, Nicky Henson, Jayne Atkinson, Viola Davis. Complex, intriguing drama follows multiple storylines involving characters who affect and are affected by the politics of the Middle East, U.S. oil interests, and government corruption on all sides. "Labyrinthine" doesn't begin to describe this, a rare political thriller with smarts and a conscience; extremely well made, with a terrific cast. Gaghan's script was "suggested" by Robert Baer's book See No Evil. Clooney won a Supporting Actor Oscar. Super 35. [R]▶

Syrian Bride, The (2004-Israeli-French-German) C-97m. ½ D: Eran Riklis. Hiyam Abbass, Makram J. Khoury, Clara Khoury, Ashraf Barhoum, Eyad Sheety, Evelyne Kaplun, Julie-Anne Roth. Contemplative, multilayered exploration of the state of the Middle East, centering on events preceding an arranged marriage between a Syrian television actor and a Druze from the Golan Heights; the nuptials will result in the bride's permanent separation from her family. This compassionate film is loaded with recognizable, fully fleshed-out characters, and deals insightfully with feelings and issues both personal and political. Written by the director and Suha Arraf. Super 35. D

System, The SEE: Girl-Getters, The

Table for Five (1983) C-122m.  D: Robert Lieberman. Jon Voight, Richard Crenna, Marie-Christine Barrault, Millie Perkins, Roxana Zal, Robby Kiger, Son Hoang Bui, Kevin Costner. Solid (and unabashed) tearjerker with Voight as a divorced man who tries to make up for being an absentee father by taking his three children on a cruise to Europe—little dreaming how tough an experience it will turn out to be. Curl up and have a good cry. [PG] **▼●

Taboo (1999-Japanese) C-100m.  D: Nagisa Oshima. Beat Takeshi (Takeshi Kitano), Ryuhei Matsuda, Shinji Takeda, Tadanobu Asano, Koji Matoba, Masato Ibu. The austere atmosphere of a mid-19th-century samurai warrior academy is rattled to its core upon the arrival of a new student (Matsuda), a multitalented young fighter who also is effeminate and flirtatious. Provocative drama explores the essence of machismo and the nature of sexuality in a repressed society. Originally titled GOHATTO. **▼●

Tabu—A Story of the South Seas (1931) 82m. ½ D: F.W. Murnau. Anna Chevalier, Matahi, Hitu, Jean, Jules, Kong Ah. Fascinating melding of ethnographic documentary and narrative, about pearl fisherman Matahi and his ill-fated love for young Chevalier, who's been deemed by the gods as taboo to all men. Shot in Tahiti in 1929, produced and scripted by Murnau and Robert Flaherty; the latter left the project in mid-production because of differences in opinion with Murnau—who died in a car accident just prior to the film's premiere. Floyd Crosby's cinematography won an Academy Award. **▼●

Tadpole (2002) C-78m.  D: Gary Winick. Sigourney Weaver, John Ritter, Bebe Neuwirth, Aaron Stanford, Robert Iler, Adam LeFevre, Ron Rifkin, Kate Mara. A fresh comic look at a younger-man-older-woman relationship. Stanford hits just the right note as a self-possessed, preppie high school student who rejects the youth and naiveté of girls his age—because he's got a crush on his worldly stepmother (Weaver). Clever comedy set in N.Y.C., with touches of French farce, is short and sweet. Shot on digital video. [PG-13] **▼●

Taffin (1988-British) C-96m.  D: Francis Megahy. Pierce Brosnan, Ray McAnally, Alison Doody, Jeremy Child, Patrick Bergin. Dull thriller about a bill collector

(an uncharismatic Brosnan) and his exploits as he takes on some shady businessmen attempting to build a chemical plant in an Irish village. [R] **▼●

Tag: The Assassination Game (1982) C-92m.  D: Nick Castle, Robert Carradine, Linda Hamilton, Kristine De Bell, Bruce Abbott, Michael Winslow, Frazer Smith. A role-playing game, played by college students with toy guns, turns deadly when one player (Abbott) becomes unhinged and substitutes real bullets. Short on sense and suspense, with some unintended laughs along the way. Aka EVERYBODY GETS IT IN THE END. [PG] **▼

Tailor of Panama, The (2001-U.S.-Irish) C-109m. ½ D: John Boorman. Pierce Brosnan, Geoffrey Rush, Jamie Lee Curtis, Catherine McCormack, Brendan Gleeson, Leonor Varela, Harold Pinter, Mark Margolis, Daniel Radcliffe. A rotter from the British secret service is relocated to Panama City, where he aligns himself with a well-connected (but double-dealing) tailor to get the lay of the land. Genuinely nasty espionage tale/character study is novel at first but eventually becomes off-putting. Rush is extremely good. John Le Carré adapted his book with director Boorman and Andrew Davies. Panavision. [R] **▼●

Tai-Pan (1986) C-127m. *½ D: Daryl Duke. Bryan Brown, Joan Chen, John Stanton, Tim Guinee, Bill Leadbitter, Russell Wong, Kyra Sedgwick, Bert Remsen, Janine Turner. Spectacularly silly adventure yarn based on James Clavell's sprawling novel about 19th-century trade baron who establishes his headquarters in Hong Kong. So much story is telescoped, and so many accents are poor and plot points handled with sledgehammer subtlety that there's nothing left to do but treat the whole thing as a goof—or skip it altogether. Actually filmed in China, if that matters. J-D-C Scope. [R] **▼●

Tais-Toi! SEE: Ruby & Quentin

Take, The (1974) C-93m.  D: Robert Hartford-Davis. Billy Dee Williams, Eddie Albert, Vic Morrow, Frankie Avalon, Albert Salmi. Tepid action pic concerns police lieutenant Williams' efforts to stop syndicate chief Morrow while accepting bribe money on the side. Surprisingly neat cameo by Avalon as a cheap crook. [PG]

Take a Girl Like You (1970-U.S.-British) C-101m. ½ D: Jonathan Miller. Hayley Mills, Oliver Reed, Noel Harrison, Sheila Hancock, John Bird, Aimi MacDonald, Ronald Lacey, Penelope Keith. Hayley's a young schoolteacher intent on staying virginal until her wedding day. Reed and Harrison are intent on proving otherwise. Pleasant fare with good cast. Based on a Kingsley Amis novel. [R] **▼

Take a Hard Ride (1975) C-109m.  D: Anthony Dawson (Antonio Margheriti). Jim Brown, Lee Van Cleef, Fred William-

son, Catherine Spaak, Jim Kelly, Dana Andrews, Barry Sullivan, Harry Carey, Jr. Oddball Western filmed in Canary Islands. Brown must carry large bankroll across Mexican border, attracts a colorful band of "comrades" for his journey, runs afoul of bandit Van Cleef. Good personalities wasted in blah script. [PG]▼●

Take a Letter, Darling (1942) 93m.  D: Mitchell Leisen. Rosalind Russell, Fred MacMurray, Constance Moore, Robert Benchley, Macdonald Carey, Dooley Wilson, Cecil Kellaway. Witty repartee as advertising exec Roz hires MacMurray as secretary, but relationship doesn't end there. Benchley is wry as Russell's game-playing business partner.

Take Down (1978) C-107m.  D: Kieth Merrill. Edward Herrmann, Kathleen Lloyd, Lorenzo Lamas, Maureen McCormick, Nick Beauvy, Kevin Hooks, Stephen Furst. Serious look at high school wrestling, focusing on rebellious student Lamas and reluctant coach Herrmann. Well done.▼

Take Her, She's Mine (1963) C-98m.  D: Henry Koster. James Stewart, Sandra Dee, Audrey Meadows, Robert Morley, Philippe Forquet, John McGiver, Bob Denver, Irene Tsu. Obvious family comedy with Stewart the harried father of wild teen-age daughter Dee. Predictable gags don't help. Script by Nunnally Johnson, from the Broadway hit by Phoebe and Henry Ephron; later ripped off by THE IMPOSSIBLE YEARS. Look for James Brolin in airport scene. CinemaScope.

Take Me Out to the Ball Game (1949) C-93m.  D: Busby Berkeley. Frank Sinatra, Esther Williams, Gene Kelly, Betty Garrett, Edward Arnold, Jules Munshin, Richard Lane, Tom Dugan. Contrived but colorful turn-of-the-century musical, with Williams taking over Sinatra and Kelly's baseball team. "O'Brien to Ryan to Goldberg" and Kelly's "The Hat My Father Wore on St. Patrick's Day" are musical highlights.▼●●

Take Me to Town (1953) C-81m. ½ D: Douglas Sirk. Ann Sheridan, Sterling Hayden, Philip Reed, Lee Patrick, Lane Chandler, Lee Aaker. Unpretentious Americana of saloon singer Sheridan on the lam, finding love with widowed preacher Hayden and his three children.

Taken (2008-French) C-91m.  D: Pierre Morel. Liam Neeson, Maggie Grace, Famke Janssen, Xander Berkeley, Leland Orser, Jon Gries, David Warshofsky, Katie Cassidy, Holly Valance. Former CIA op Neeson has given up his career to make up for being an absentee father to his now-teenaged daughter. When she's abducted while visiting Paris he springs into action, using all his "special skills" to find her, even if it requires leaving a trail of carnage in his wake. Slick, visceral, and never dull, this action yarn starts well but becomes utterly preposterous. Cowritten and

produced by Luc Besson. Unrated version runs 93m. Super 35. [PG-13]●

Take the High Ground! (1953) C-101m.  D: Richard Brooks. Richard Widmark, Karl Malden, Elaine Stewart, Steve Forrest, Carleton Carpenter, Russ Tamblyn, Jerome Courtland. Taut account of infantry basic training with on-location filming at Fort Bliss, Texas, helping.

Take the Lead (2006) C-117m. *½ D: Liz Friedlander. Antonio Banderas, Rob Brown, Alfre Woodard, Yaya DaCosta, John Ortiz, Laura Benanti, Jonathan Malen. Hackneyed cross between Dancing With the Stars and TO SIR, WITH LOVE, not to mention other big-hearted teacher-in-the-ghetto films . . . yet it's based on a true story. Kinda. Dance instructor Pierre Dulaine (Banderas) comes to an inner-city high school to teach its most hardened kids ballroom dancing. Before you can say Lambada, he's got gangbangers cha-cha-cha-ing like hip-hop reincarnations of Fred and Ginger. Some of the dancing is good, but the storytelling is stale. Dulaine inspired the far more engaging documentary MAD HOT BALLROOM. [PG-13]●

Take the Money and Run (1969) C-85m.  D: Woody Allen. Woody Allen, Janet Margolin, Marcel Hillaire, Jacquelyn Hyde; narrator, Jackson Beck. Woody's first film as director/writer/star is full of funny ideas, telling documentary-style, life story of compulsive thief. Nonstop parade of jokes; some work, some don't, but the ones that do are a riot! Louise Lasser seen briefly. [M/PG]▼●●

Take This Job and Shove It (1981) C-100m. ½ D: Gus Trikonis. Robert Hays, Art Carney, Barbara Hershey, David Keith, Tim Thomerson, Martin Mull, Eddie Albert, Penelope Milford. Hays returns to his hometown with orders from his conglomerate to modernize an old-fashioned brewery . . . but being with his old cronies, and one-time girlfriend, effects a change of attitude. Unpretentious film named after '70s hit record by Johnny Paycheck has Capraesque flavor at times, but eventually settles for obvious formula schtick. [PG]▼●

Taking Care of Business (1990) C-107m. ½ D: Arthur Hiller. James Belushi, Charles Grodin, Anne DeSalvo, Loryn Locklin, Stephen Elliott, Hector Elizondo, Veronica Hamel, Mako, Gates McFadden, John de Lancie, Terrence McNally. At the outset of a weekend business trip, Grodin loses his pocket organizer, which holds the keys to his very existence; escaped convict Belushi finds the combination wallet and appointment book, and assumes Grodin's identity for an eventful weekend. Cute comedy, with Belushi's most appealing role to date . . . but goes on a bit too long. [R]▼●●

Taking Lives (2004) C-103m.  D: D.J. Caruso. Angelina Jolie, Ethan Hawke, Kiefer

Sutherland, Gena Rowlands, Olivier Martinez, Tchéky Karyo, Jean-Hugues Anglade, Paul Dano, Marie-Josée Croze. Tough thriller gives Jolie a perfect part as a cool, collected FBI profiler who's called to Montreal to help solve the latest in a series of brutal murders. Her utter professionalism may be compromised by her attraction to eyewitness Hawke. Not for the squeamish, this film offers surprises, genuine shocks, and of course some red herrings to keep you off-balance. Jon Bokenkamp adapted Michael Pye's novel. Director's cut runs 109m. Super 35. [R]▼

Taking of Beverly Hills, The (1991) C-118m.  D: Sidney J. Furie. Ken Wahl, Matt Frewer, Harley Jane Kozak, Robert Davi, Lee Ving James, Branscombe Richmond, Lyman Ward, Michael Bowen, William Prince, Ken Swofford, George Wyner. The owner of L.A.'s pro football team masterminds a false toxic spill, which allows his flunkies to loot the estates of Beverly Hills' rich-and-famous while the owners are temporarily whisked away to shelter. Quarterback Wahl ends up literally lobbing a few bombs in this speedy stupidity, which languished unreleased for well over a year. Look for Pamela Anderson as a cheerleader. Panavision. [R]▼

Taking Off (1971) C-93m. ½ D: Milos Forman. Lynn Carlin, Buck Henry, Linnea Heacock, Audra Lindley, Paul Benedict, Georgia Engel, Vincent Schiavelli. Forman's first American film is beguilingly funny look at American life-styles from two generations' point of view, centering on runaway girl (Heacock) who drives parents (Carlin, Henry) into new experiences of their own. Carly Simon seen as one of auditioning singers. Screenplay by Forman, John Guare, Jean-Claude Carrière, and John Klein. Another of the auditioning singers is Bobo (Kathy) Bates! [R]

Taking of Pelham One Two Three, The (1974) C-104m. ½ D: Joseph Sargent. Walter Matthau, Robert Shaw, Martin Balsam, Hector Elizondo, Earl Hindman, Dick O'Neill, Jerry Stiller, Tony Roberts, Lee Wallace, Doris Roberts, Kenneth McMillan, Julius Harris, James Broderick, Sal Viscuso. Ruthless Shaw and three cohorts hijack N.Y.C. subway train, hold passengers for one million in cash—to be delivered in one hour! Outstanding thriller, laced with cynical comedy, bursts with heart-stopping excitement, terrific performances, and first-rate editing. Crackerjack Peter Stone screenplay greatly improves John Godey's best-seller; pulsating score by David Shire. Remade for TV in 1998. Panavision. [R]▼

Taking of Power by Louis XIV, The (1966-French) SEE: Rise of Louis XIV, The

Taking Sides (2002-French-German-British) C-108m.  D: István Szabó. Harvey Keitel, Stellan Skarsgård, Moritz Bleibtreu, Birgit Minichmayr, Ulrich Tukur, Oleg Ta-

bakov, R. Lee Ermey. Disappointing film based on the life of Wilhelm Furtwängler, conductor of the Berlin Philharmonic during the Nazi era who was investigated in postwar Germany. Ronald Harwood adapted his play, exploring the dilemma of artists in a time of political upheaval and turmoil, but it's too stacy to really work as a film. Uninspired direction by Szabó, who dealt with similar themes in the superior MEPHISTO. ▼

Talented Mr. Ripley, The (1999) C-139m. ½ D: Anthony Minghella. Matt Damon, Gwyneth Paltrow, Jude Law, Cate Blanchett, Philip Seymour Hoffman, Jack Davenport, James Rebhorn, Sergio Rubini, Philip Baker Hall, Celia Weston, Lisa Eichhorn. An unscrupulous (and penisless) young man accepts a job from an American millionaire to find his wastrel son in Italy and convince him to come home. Instead, Tom Ripley (Damon) befriends the young man and aspires to live his carefree life . . . at any price. Two-thirds of a really good movie; Minghella's free adaptation of Patricia Highsmith's novel goes adrift toward the end. Attractive cast and gorgeously views of Italy compensate. Worth comparing to earlier version of same story, PURPLE NOON. Dennis Hopper plays Tom Ripley in THE AMERICAN FRIEND. John Malkovich assumes the role in RIPLEY'S GAME. [R]▼

Talent for Loving, A (1969) C-110m.  D: Richard Quine. Richard Widmark, Topol, Cesar Romero, Genevieve Page, Judd Hamilton, Caroline Munro. Rambunctious Western concerning a professional gambler trapped into marrying within rich Mexican family cursed by the Aztecs with a talent for loving. From Richard Condon's novel. Video title: GUN CRAZY. [PG]▼

Talent for the Game (1991) C-91m. *½ D: Robert M. Young. Edward James Olmos, Lorraine Bracco, Jamey Sheridan, Terry Kinney, Jeffrey Corbett. Cliché-ridden story of California Angels baseball scout Olmos, who discovers a superior pitching talent on an Idaho farm. Kinney is slimy as a billionaire who buys the team. This struck out in its scant theatrical release and went right to the shelves—er, the video shelves. [PG]▼

Tale of Africa, A SEE: Afurika Monogatari

Tale of a Vampire (1992-British-Japanese) C-93m. *½ D: Shimako Sato. Julian Sands, Suzanna Hamilton, Kenneth Cranham, Marian Diamond, Michael Kenton. London: Lonely vampire Sands becomes attracted to librarian Hamilton, who resembles his lost love . . . but mysterious Cranham is keeping an eye on both of them. Horror thriller emphasizes romance; it's good looking and well acted, but ponderous and pretentious. [R]▼

Tale of Despereaux, The (2008) C-93m.  D: Sam Fell, Robert Stevenhagen. Voices of

Matthew Broderick, Sigourney Weaver, Emma Watson, Dustin Hoffman, Robbie Coltrane, Christopher Lloyd, Kevin Kline, Tracey Ullman, Richard Jenkins, Frank Langella, William H. Macy, Stanley Tucci, Frances Conroy, Ciarán Hinds. Unusually brave little mouse embarks on an adventure that changes the lives of an unhappy rat, a homely servant girl, and a princess. Visually attractive, but a confusing and slowly paced animated film with little of interest for grown-ups. Even the all-star voice cast sounds bored. Based on the book by Kate DiCamillo. Digital Widescreen. [G]▼

Tale of Springtime, A (1989-French) C-112m.  D: Eric Rohmer. Anne Teysedre, Hugues Quester, Florence Darel, Eloise Bennett, Sophie Robin. Typically refreshing, perceptive Rohmer concoction, about high school philosophy teacher Teysedre; she meets and befriends young Darel, who tries to match her up with her father. Not his best work, but a little Rohmer goes a long way. The first of the filmmaker's "Tales of the Four Seasons," followed by A TALE OF WINTER.▼

Tale of Two Cities, A (1935) 128m. * D: Jack Conway. Ronald Colman, Elizabeth Allan, Edna May Oliver, Reginald Owen, Basil Rathbone, Blanche Yurka, Isabel Jewell, Walter Catlett, Henry B. Walthall, H. B. Warner, Donald Woods. Dickens' panorama of the 1780s French Revolution becomes an MGM blockbuster, with Colman as carefree lawyer awakened to responsibility, aiding victims of the Reign of Terror. Stage star Blanche Yurka creates a memorable Mme. Defarge in her film debut. Tremendous cast in a truly lavish production. Written for the screen by W. P. Lipscomb and S. N. Behrman. Also shown in computer-colored version.▼●●

Tale of Two Cities, A (1958-British) 117m.  D: Ralph Thomas. Dirk Bogarde, Dorothy Tutin, Cecil Parker, Stephen Murray, Athene Seyler, Christopher Lee, Donald Pleasence, Ian Bannen. Faithful retelling of Dickens story in this well-made British production, with Bogarde a good Sydney Carton. Remade again for TV in 1980.▼

Tale of Winter, A (1992-French) C-114m. ½ D: Eric Rohmer. Charlotte Véry, Frédéric Van Den Driessche, Michel Voletti, Hervé Furic, Ava Loraschi, Christiane Desbois. Hairdresser Véry has an affair with an itinerant cook at a beachside resort. They lose touch, and she has his child. She's romanced by two very different suitors, but can't decide upon the one with whom to settle. Bittersweet allegory about not accepting second-best in love; however, it's difficult to sympathize with Véry's flaky character. The second of Rohmer's "Tales of the Four Seasons."▼

Tales From the Crypt (1972-British) C-92m. ½ D: Freddie Francis. Ralph

Richardson, Peter Cushing, Joan Collins, Richard Greene, Patrick Magee, Ian Hendry, Nigel Patrick. Five stories of terror involving deceit, mayhem, and a few well-timed laughs. Nothing extraordinary, however; based on the old E. C. comics. Followed by VAULT OF HORROR. [PG]▼

Tales From the Crypt, Part II SEE: Vault of Horror

Tales From the Crypt Presents Bordello of Blood SEE: Bordello of Blood

Tales From the Crypt Presents Demon Knight (1995) C-92m.  D: Ernest Dickerson. Billy Zane, William Sadler, Jada Pinkett, Brenda Bakke, CCH Pounder, Thomas Haden Church, Charles Fleischer, Dick Miller. Tepid terror tale of a dashing demon and avenging angel vying for the souls of a band of outsiders (town drunkard, lonely prostitute, etc.). Tries for tongue-in-cheek humor but only supplies some gross-out gore and a fair share of t&a. Based on the HBO TV series. [R]▼●●

Tales From the Crypt Presents Ritual SEE: Ritual

Tales From the Darkside: The Movie (1990) C-93m.  D: John Harrison. Deborah Harry, Matthew Lawrence, Christian Slater, Robert Sedgwick, Julianne Moore, David Johansen (Buster Poindexter), William Hickey, James Remar, Rae Dawn Chong, Robert Klein, Steve Buscemi. Boy imprisoned by suburban cannibal Harry tells her three horror stories—about a walking mummy, a supernatural cat, and a vow made to a gargoyle—to stave off being served as a main course. Good production values, but the stories are tepid; only the third one, by Michael McDowell, has a kick (the first two are by Arthur Conan Doyle and Stephen King). Connection to TV series of the same name is tenuous at best. [R]▼●●

Tales From the Hood (1995) C-98m.  D: Rusty Cundieff. Corbin Bernsen, Lamont Bentley, De'Aundre Bonds, Rosalind Cash, Rusty Cundieff, Anthony Griffith, David Alan Grier, Brandon Hammond, Wings Hauser, Sam Monroe, Paula Jai Parker, Joe Torry, Clarence Williams III, Tom Wright. Four horror stories with African-American themes are told to three black hoodlums by a bizarre mortician (Williams). The first (a walking corpse) and the third (vengeful dolls) are standard plots with a racial twist, but the second (boy terrorized by monster at his door) and the fourth (gang member subjected to behavior modification) are something different. Good direction, colorful acting, and nifty effects put this above average for horror anthologies of any color. Spike Lee was the executive producer. [R]▼●●

Tales of Beatrix Potter SEE: Peter Rabbit and Tales of Beatrix Potter

Tales of Hoffmann, The (1951-British) C-127m. ½ D: Michael Powell, Emeric Pressburger. Moira Shearer, Robert Rounse-

ville, Leonide Massine, Robert Helpmann, Pamela Brown. Jacques Offenbach's fantasy opera of student who engages in bizarre dreams, revealing three states of his life. Striking and offbeat film, not for all tastes. Beware of 118m. prints. Famous score conducted by Sir Thomas Beecham. ▼●●

Tales of Manhattan (1942) 118m.  D: Julien Duvivier. Charles Boyer, Rita Hayworth, Henry Fonda, Ginger Rogers, Charles Laughton, Edward G. Robinson, Ethel Waters, Paul Robeson, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, Thomas Mitchell, Cesar Romero, George Sanders. Charming film about the effect a dress tailcoat has on its various owners; five episodes, alternately amusing, poignant, ironic. Our favorite: down-and-out Robinson attending 25th class reunion. Pictorially stylish throughout; photographed by Joseph Walker. Video version has 9m. W. C. Fields episode deleted from original theatrical release. ▼

Tales of Ordinary Madness (1983-Italian) C-107m. *½ D: Marco Ferreri. Ben Gazzara, Ornella Muti, Susan Tyrrell, Tanya Lopert, Roy Brocksmith. Pretentious swill about poet Gazzara who boozes endlessly and meets the oddest assortment of women. Gazzara, and especially Tyrrell, have never been worse. Based on stories by Charles Bukowski. ▼●●

Tales of Terror (1962) C-90m.  D: Roger Corman. Vincent Price, Peter Lorre, Basil Rathbone, Debra Paget, Maggie Pierce, Leona Gage, Joyce Jameson. Four Edgar Allan Poe stories distilled by Richard Matheson into three-part film, with Lorre's comic performance as vengeful husband walling up adulterous wife the standout. Price appears in all three segments. Notable for its odd widescreen and color effects. Panavision. ▼●●

Tales That Witness Madness (1973-British) C-90m. *½ D: Freddie Francis. Kim Novak, Georgia Brown, Joan Collins, Jack Hawkins, Donald Houston, Peter McEneaney, Suzy Kendall, Donald Pleasence. Absurd collection of four lame Twilight Zone-like stories. A waste of time and talent. [R] ▼

Talion SEE: Eye for an Eye, An (1966)

Talk About a Stranger (1952) 65m.  D: David Bradley. George Murphy, Nancy Davis (Reagan), Billy Gray, Kurt Kasznar, Lewis Stone. A lonely boy tries to prove reclusive neighbor Kasznar killed his dog. Good use of California orchard locations, well-judged direction, and John Alton's moody photography result in a fine little B that deserves to be better known.

Talkin' Dirty After Dark (1991) C-86m. *½ D: Topper Carew. Martin Lawrence, John Witherspoon, Phyllis Yvonne Stickney, Jedda Jones, "Tiny" Lister, Jr., Darryl Sivad. A night in the life of a black L.A. comedy club, on-stage and off; broad

(to say the least), energetically vulgar, and poorly made. [R] ▼●●

Talking Picture, A (2003-Portuguese-French-Italian) C-95m.  D: Manoel de Oliveira. Leonor Silveira, Filipa de Almeida, John Malkovich, Irene Pappas, Catherine Deneuve, Stefania Sandrelli, Luís Miguel Cintra. Unique, compelling exercise in cinematic philosophizing by 95-year-old master de Oliveira. A history teacher sails to Bombay with her precocious young daughter, showing her some of the world's great sights and explaining the wars that have been fought over them. Along the way, the solicitous ship's captain (Malkovich) leads a high-minded conversation with three striking women from different countries who discuss their views of modern civilization. Unexpected turn of events makes de Oliveira's ultimate point about the state of the world post 9/11. ▶

Talk of Angels (1998) C-96m. ½ D: Nick Hamm. Polly Walker, Frances McDormand, Vincent Perez, Franco Nero, Marisa Paredes, Penelope Cruz, Rossy de Palma. An Irish governess for a wealthy Spanish family falls in love with their married anarchist son. Strong supporting cast and sumptuous period detail can't quite make up for lackluster script and lethargic lead performances from Walker and Perez. McDormand is good in a small role as a repressed lesbian. [PG-13] ▼●●

Talk of the Town, The (1942) 118m. * D: George Stevens. Jean Arthur, Ronald Colman, Cary Grant, Glenda Farrell, Edgar Buchanan, Charles Dingle, Rex Ingram, Emma Dunn, Tom Tyler, Lloyd Bridges. Intelligent comedy with brilliant cast; fugitive Grant hides out with unsuspecting professor Colman and landlady Arthur, and tries to convince legal-minded Colman there's a human side to all laws. Splendid film written by Irwin Shaw and Sidney Buchman. ▼●●

Talk Radio (1988) C-110m. ½ D: Oliver Stone. Eric Bogosian, Alec Baldwin, Ellen Greene, Leslie Hope, John C. McGinley, John Pankow, Michael Wincott. Eric Bogosian's one-set play (written with Ted Savinar) is fleshed out for this feature film about an abrasive talk-show host who puts down his many callers but can't get his own life together. Well acted, extremely well shot and directed, but one's enjoyment may depend on one's tolerance for this kind of talk-radio host. Stone and Bogosian collaborated on the screenplay, which also incorporated elements of Steven Singular's book Talked to Death: The Life and Murder of Alan Berg. [R] ▼●●

Talk to Her (2002-Spanish) C-112m. * D: Pedro Almodóvar. Javier Cámara, Darío Grandinetti, Leonor Watling, Rosario Flores, Geraldine Chaplin, Mariola Fuentes. One-of-

a-kind film about two comatose women and the men who love them, in very different ways. Superb, haunting meditation on love, desire, and loneliness could only have been made by Almodóvar. A silent-film segment is outrageous and unforgettable. Sad, funny, shocking, beautifully filmed and acted. A masterpiece. Almodóvar won an Oscar for Best Original Screenplay. Panavision. [R] ▼

Talk to Me (2007) C-118m. ½ D: Kasi Lemmons. Don Cheadle, Chiwetel Ejiofor, Cedric the Entertainer, Taraji P. Henson, Mike Epps, Vondie Curtis Hall, Martin Sheen. Cocky convict "Petey" Greene tries to parlay his stint as a prison d.j. into a bona fide radio career in Washington, D.C., during the turbulent 1960s. Buttoned-down radio exec Ejiofor resists him at first and then realizes he can hitch his wagon to this budding star. "Inspired by" real-life characters, screenplay follows current events and changing times, but loses its focus—and momentum—along the way, though Cheadle's electrifying performance makes this worth seeing. Super 35. [R] ▶

Talladega Nights: The Ballad of Ricky Bobby (2006) C-108m.  D: Adam McKay. Will Ferrell, John C. Reilly, Sacha Baron Cohen, Gary Cole, Michael Clarke Duncan, Leslie Bibb, Jane Lynch, Amy Adams, Andy Richter, Molly Shannon, Greg Germann, David Koechner, Pat Hingle, Rob Riggle. Silly saga of a boy who's always wanted to "go fast" and finally gets his chance, but as a NASCAR champion his ego expands to the size of the Goodyear blimp. Broad comedy has a big following, but Ferrell (who coscripted with McKay) keeps hitting the same notes—and yes, he runs around in his underwear. Various celebrities and race-car personalities appear as themselves. Unrated version runs 121m. Super 35. [PG-13] ▶

Tall Blond Man With One Black Shoe, The (1972-French) C-90m.  D: Yves Robert. Pierre Richard, Bernard Blier, Jean Rochefort, Mireille Darc, Jean Carmet. Engaging French farce with rival secret agents making life a shambles for the Tall Blond Man (Richard) who's been innocently pegged a spy. Followed by RETURN OF . . . in 1974 and an American remake (THE MAN WITH ONE RED SHOE) in 1985. [PG] ▼

Tall Guy, The (1989-British) C-90m. ½ D: Mel Smith. Jeff Goldblum, Emma Thompson, Rowan Atkinson, Emil Wolk, Geraldine James, Kim Thomson, Anna Massey. Quirky comedy of downtrodden American actor living in London, playing second banana to a vile star comedian (Atkinson) in a West End revue. Love, allergies, naked strangers, and the lead in a wickedly inspired musical version of The Elephant Man ensue. Goldblum is great in this spotty satire. Screenplay by Richard Curtis. [R] ▼

Tall in the Saddle (1944) 87m.  D: Edwin L. Marin. John Wayne, Ella Raines, Ward Bond, Gabby Hayes, Elisabeth Risdon, Raymond Hatton, Paul Fix, Audrey Long. Fast-paced, entertaining Western with Wayne a cowhand who becomes involved in affairs of rancher Raines. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Tall Men, The (1955) C-122m.  D: Raoul Walsh. Clark Gable, Jane Russell, Robert Ryan, Cameron Mitchell, Juan Garcia, Harry Shannon, Emile Meyer, Mae Marsh. Large-scale Western with Gable and Mitchell as ex-Rebels who sign on for Ryan's cattle drive, and in short order all three are fighting Indians, blizzards, and each other (over Russell, of course). Pretty dull. CinemaScope. ▼

Tall Story (1960) 91m. ½ D: Joshua Logan. Anthony Perkins, Jane Fonda, Ray Walston, Marc Connelly, Anne Jackson, Murray Hamilton, Elizabeth Patterson, Bob Wright, Bart Burns, Gary Lockwood. Fast-moving froth about man-hungry coed Fonda (in film debut) falling in love with college basketball star Perkins. Based on Howard Lindsay-Russel Crouse play. ▼

Tall T, The (1957) C-78m.  D: Budd Boetticher. Randolph Scott, Richard Boone, Maureen O'Sullivan, Henry Silva, Skip Homeier, John Hubbard, Arthur Hunnicutt. Scott becomes involved with kidnapped O'Sullivan, and tries to undermine unity of outlaw gang holding them prisoner. Solid Western all the way, scripted by Burt Kennedy from an Elmore Leonard story. ▼

Tall Tale (1995) C-96m.  D: Jeremiah Chechik. Patrick Swayze, Oliver Platt, Roger Aaron Brown, Nick Stahl, Scott Glenn, Stephen Lang, Jared Harris, Catherine O'Hara, Moira Harris, Joseph Grifasi, John P. Ryan, Scott Wilson. Misfired revisionist take on tall-tale heroes Pecos Bill, Paul Bunyan, John Henry, and Calamity Jane, who (in an extended dream sequence) enter the life of an unhappy young boy whose farmer father is being threatened by an evil land developer. Follows a Wizard of Oz story structure, but its dark, neurotic tone obliterates the occasional moments of wonder. O'Hara has little more than a cameo as Calamity Jane; Burgess Meredith and William H. Macy appear unbilled. Panavision. [PG] ▼

Tall Target, The (1951) 78m.  D: Anthony Mann. Dick Powell, Paula Raymond, Adolphe Menjou, Marshall Thompson, Ruby Dee, Will Geer. Gripping suspense as detective Powell follows tip that Abraham Lincoln is going to be assassinated during 1861 train ride. Interestingly, Powell's character is named John Kennedy!

Tamahine (1963-British) C-85m.  D: Philip Leacock. Nancy Kwan, John Fraser, Dennis Price, Coral Browne, Dick Dentley, Derek Nimmo, Justin Lord, Michael Gough, James Fox, Allan Cuthbertson. Curious British comedy trifle, about a sheltered but uninhibited Polynesian girl upsetting the order of an upper-crust men's university, might have been retitled Tamahine, Tell Me True, since it plays just like a Tammy movie. Cute but forgettable, notable only for its fine British cast. CinemaScope.

Tamango (1957-French) C-98m.  D: John Berry. Dorothy Dandridge, Curt Jurgens, Jean Servais, Roger Hanin, Guy Mairesse, Alex Cressan. Stirring historical drama in which newly enslaved black African Cressan stirs revolt while being transported to Cuba aboard a slave ship. Dandridge is excellent in the complex role of a slave who is ship captain Jurgens' mistress. Way ahead of its time, and ripe for rediscovery. Based on a novelette by Prosper Merimée. CinemaScope. ▼

Tamarind Seed, The (1974) C-123m.  D: Blake Edwards. Julie Andrews, Omar Sharif, Anthony Quayle, Daniel O'Herlihy, Sylvia Sims, Oscar Homolka. Well-mounted espionage/romance story set in London, Paris, and Barbados; shows what a capable director can do with sappy material. Panavision. [PG] ▼

Taming of the Shrew, The (1967-U.S.-Italian) C-126m. ½ D: Franco Zeffirelli. Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton, Vernon Dobtcheff, Michael Hordern, Natasha Pyne, Michael York, Cyril Cusack, Alan Webb, Victor Spinetti. Colorful version of Shakespeare's romp is well served by Richard and Elizabeth, good supporting cast, lovely photography, and fine musical score by Nino Rota. Shakespeare purists may object, but Zeffirelli has succeeded in making a film instead of a photographed stage play. Scripted by Suso Cecchi d'Amico, Paul Dehn, and Zeffirelli. Panavision. ▼●●

T.A.M.I. Show, The (1964) 100m.  D: Steve Binder. The Rolling Stones, James Brown, Chuck Berry, Marvin Gaye, The Supremes, Jan and Dean, Gerry & The Pacemakers, Smokey Robinson & The Miracles, Lesley Gore, Billy J. Kramer & The Dakotas. Historic rock and r&b concert at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium was covered by television cameras and kinescoped onto film by whiz-kid Binder. Invaluable document of music history, with great early Mick Jagger and electrifying footwork by Brown. (Two of those go-go dancers are Teri Garr and Toni Basil!) Originally 113m., with Beach Boys sequence that was later cut (although they're still visible in the finale). Title stands for Teenage Awards Music International. Followed by THE BIG T.N.T. SHOW; see also THAT WAS ROCK. ▼

Tam Lin SEE: Ballad of Tam Lin, The
Tammy and the Bachelor (1957) C-89m.  D: Joseph Pevney. Debbie Reynolds,

Walter Brennan, Leslie Nielsen, Mala Powers, Fay Wray, Sidney Blackmer, Mildred Natwick, Louise Beavers. Unpretentious if cutesy romantic corn of country girl Reynolds falling in love with pilot Nielsen whom she's nursed back to health after plane crash. Followed by two sequels and a TV series. CinemaScope. ▼●

Tammy and the Doctor (1963) C-88m. ½ D: Harry Keller. Sandra Dee, Peter Fonda, Macdonald Carey, Beulah Bondi, Margaret Lindsay, Reginald Owen, Adam West. Sugary fluff involving homespun Tammy (Dee) courted by a doctor (Fonda, in his film debut); supporting cast adds touching cameos. ▼●

Tammy and the Millionaire (1967) C-87m.  D: Sidney Miller, Ezra Stone, Leslie Goodwins. Debbie Watson, Frank McGrath, Denver Pyle, George Furth, Donald Woods, Dorothy Green. Four episodes of the TV series spliced into low-grade feature, diluting the fuzzy folksy charm of backwoods girl trying to better the world.

Tammy Tell Me True (1961) C-97m.  D: Harry Keller. Sandra Dee, John Gavin, Virginia Grey, Beulah Bondi, Cecil Kellaway, Edgar Buchanan. Tired romance of girl coming to college for first time, makes name for herself by helping dean of women. Script and acting very uneven. ●

Tampono (1986-Japanese) C-114m. ½ D: Juzo Itami. Ken Watanabe, Tsutomu Yamazaki, Nobuko Miyamoto, Koji Yakusho. Funny, original comedy-satire about one of everybody's favorite subjects: food. The scenario, which unravels as a series of vignettes, concerns a truck driver who helps a widow make her noodle shop a viable business. A clever, irreverent delight. ▼●●

T&A Academy SEE: H.O.T.S.

Tango (1998-Argentinian-Spanish) C-114m.  D: Carlos Saura. Miguel Ángel Solà, Cecilia Narova, Mía Maestro, Juan Carlos Copes, Julio Bocca, Juan Luis Galardo. Mesmerizing film, not unlike Saura's earlier CARMEN, in which the planning of a performance blurs the line between drama and real life. A middle-aged choreographer plans an ambitious tango piece, which (to the dismay of his backers) will also trace the recent history of Argentina. He also becomes involved with his leading dancer, until now the girlfriend of his principal backer. Long, but full of incredible moments and superlative dance numbers; sinuously photographed by Vittorio Storaro. Univision. [PG-13] ▼●●

Tango & Cash (1989) C-98m.  D: Andrei Konchalovsky. Sylvester Stallone, Kurt Russell, Terry Hatcher, Jack Palance, Brion James, James Hong, Marc Alaimo. Rumored $55 million budget must have gone for male hairstyling in congenitally derivative narc caper about two competitive cops who take on Mr. Big. Surprisingly tolerable, though, with a nifty prison break sequence and a pleasingly relaxed Stallone. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Tango Bar (1988-Puerto Rican-Argentinian) C-90m.  D: Marcos Zurinaga. Raul Julia, Valeria Lynch, Ruben Juarez. Perceptive, entertaining "political musical" about a tango dancer who left Argentina when the military coup occurred and is now reunited with her longtime partner Julia after ten years in exile. Serves as both an anthology of the tango and a tale of Argentina's recent political history. Crammed with clips of film and TV personalities, from Fred Astaire to Fred Flintstone, doing the tango. ▼

Tango Lesson, The (1997-U.S.-French-Argentinean) C/B&W-101m.  D: Sally Potter. Sally Potter, Pablo Veron, Carlos Copello, Olga Besio, Caroline Iotti, Gustavo Naveira. A middle-aged British filmmaker named Sally (played by Potter) promises to cast in a movie a distinguished Argentinean tango dancer named Pablo (Veron, who is the same) if he only will give her dance lessons. Film charts their evolving relationship. Striking, provocative (not to mention highly risky and deeply personal) film which blends fiction and reality. Nicely photographed (mostly in black-and-white) by Robby Müller. [PG] ▼

Tank (1984) C-113m.  D: Marvin Chomsky. James Garner, G.D. Spradlin, C. Thomas Howell, Shirley Jones, Jenilee Harrison, James Cromwell, Dorian Harewood. One-dimensional rehash of SUPPOSE THEY GAVE A WAR AND NOBODY CAME? turns that film's shades of gray into simplistic good-guy/bad-guy story. Teenage son of career military man is wrongfully jailed by vindictive redneck sheriff; Dad goes to rescue him with the help of his own Sherman tank. Odd to find Garner in such a cornball movie. [PG] ▼●●

Tank Girl (1995) C-104m.  D: Rachel Talalay. Lori Petty, Ice-T, Naomi Watts, Don Harvey, Jeff Kober, Reg E. Cathey, Scott Coffey, Malcolm McDowell, Ann Cusack, Brian Wimmer, Iggy Pop, James Hong. In the waterless future of 2033, tough, smart-mouthed survivor Petty joins forces with mutated kangaroos to combat evil McDowell, who schemes to corner the world's water. Aggressively trendy, self-consciously hip, with animated interludes and attitude to spare, this might have worked had it been well directed—but it's not. Petty is a lot of fun, though. Based on the British comic book. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Tao of Steve, The (2000) C-90m.  D: Jenniph Goodman. Donal Logue, Greer Goodman, Kimo Wills, Ayelet Kaznelson, David Aaron Baker, Nina Jaroslaw. Likable comedy about layabout Dex (Logue), a self-styled ladies' man who follows the Tao of Steve, a code for being cool. Having the knack of bedding women at will, Dex is flustered when he actually falls in love with one. Smart and original, anchored by Logue's engaging performance. Leading lady Goodman cowrote the screenplay with director Goodman, who's also her sister, and Duncan North, the model for Dex. [R] ▼●

Tap (1989) C-110m.  D: Nick Castle. Gregory Hines, Suzanne Douglas, Sammy Davis, Jr., Savion Glover, Joe Morton, Dick Anthony Williams, Terrence McNally, Sandman Sims, Bunny Briggs, Steve Condos, Jimmy Slyde, Pat Rico, Arthur Duncan, Harold Nicholas, Etta James. Slight, old-fashioned but engaging story of a man who shuns his tap-dancing heritage for the good life and easy money he can make pulling jewel robberies . . . until the call of the tap is just too strong. A loving tribute to tap, with some clever contemporary touches by writer-director Castle (whose same-named father was a top choreographer). Hines has never been better; Davis is a standout as Little Mo (in his final feature film), and the challenge dance with old-time hoofers is a special treat. [PG-13] ▼●●

Tape (2001) C-86m.  D: Richard Linklater. Ethan Hawke, Uma Thurman, Robert Sean Leonard. Highly effective three-character, one-set piece takes place in a dingy hotel room, and focuses on the interaction of a hyper, ill-mannered slacker-drug dealer (Hawke), his old school friend (Leonard), who has become a filmmaker, and a woman they once knew but have not seen in years (Thurman). Scripted by Stephen Belber, based on his play, and shot on digital video. [R] ▼●

Tapeheads (1988) C-97m.  D: Bill Fishman. John Cusack, Tim Robbins, Doug McClure, Connie Stevens, Clu Gulager, Mary Crosby, Katy Boyer, Lyle Alzado, Jessica Walter, Susan Tyrrell, Junior Walker, Sam Moore. Energetic but pretentious and silly account of Cusack and Robbins' escapades and adventures as they try to make it in the L.A. music world. Too clever for its own good. Robbins coscripted and wrote the song "Repave America," which later turned up in his film BOB ROBERTS. [R] ▼●●

Taps (1981) C-126m. ½ D: Harold Becker. Timothy Hutton, George C. Scott, Ronny Cox, Sean Penn, Tom Cruise, Brendan Ward. Hutton leads fellow students in armed takeover of their military academy, hoping their "clout" will keep it from being torn down. Earnest performances help carry this film, which plays all its cards too soon, leaving a lot of dead space before its predictable outcome. Penn's film debut. [PG] ▼●

Tarantula (1955) 80m.  D: Jack Arnold. John Agar, Mara Corday, Leo G. Carroll, Nestor Paiva, Ross Elliott, Eddie Parker. Scientist Carroll's new growth formula works a little too well, and pretty soon there's a humongous spider chewing up the countryside. One of the best giant-insect films, with fast pacing, convincing special effects, and interesting subplot detailing formula's effect on humans. That's Clint Eastwood as the jet squadron leader in final sequence. ▼●●

Taras Bulba (1962) C-122m. ½ D: J. Lee Thompson. Tony Curtis, Yul Brynner, Christine Kaufmann, Sam Wanamaker, George Macready. Cardboard costumer of 16th-century Ukraine, centering on Cossack life and fighting. Nice photography (on location in Argentina) by Joe MacDonald and fine musical score by Franz Waxman. The Gogol novel was previously filmed in 1936 in France (TARASS BOULBA) and in 1939 in England (THE REBEL SON). Panavision. ▼●●

Target (1985) C-117m.  D: Arthur Penn. Gene Hackman, Matt Dillon, Gayle Hunnicutt, Victoria Fyodorova, Josef Sommer, Guy Boyd, Herbert Berghof. Ordinary guy and his teenage son are suddenly plunged into world of international intrigue when wife/mom is kidnapped while vacationing in Paris. Some good action scenes help, but story is so farfetched, key scenes so badly written, and film so overlong that it has to count as a misfire. Reteaming of Hackman and director Penn certainly promised better. [R] ▼●●

Target (1995-Indian) C-122m.  D: Sandip Ray. Om Puri, Mohan Agashe, Anian Srivastava, Baroon Champa Chakravarty. Intimate story of working-class life in India, directed by the son of Satyajit Ray from his late father's screenplay. A gangato, a hunter of the lowest caste (Puri), is hired by a rich and nasty landowner (Agashe) to lead his next safari. The hunter has to live with the landowner's oppressed peasants, and before long he rebels. Stunning countryside locations shot by Barun Raha, who worked on the elder Ray's last three films.

Target Earth (1954) 75m. ½ D: Sherman Rose. Richard Denning, Virginia Grey, Kathleen Crowley, Richard Reeves, Whit Bissell, Robert Roark, Steve Pendleton. People in deserted city trapped by invading robot force. Competently acted movie starts off beautifully but bogs down too soon. ▼●●

Target: Embassy SEE: Embassy

Target: Harry (1969) C-81m. *½ D: Henry Neill (Roger Corman). Vic Morrow, Suzanne Pleshette, Victor Buono, Cesar Romero, Stanley Holloway, Charlotte Rampling, Michael Ansara, Ahna Capri. Humdrum redoing of THE MALTESE FALCON, with the three stars mirroring Bogart, Astor, and Greenstreet. Originally shot for TV. Aka HOW TO MAKE IT. [R]

Target of an Assassin (1976-South African) C-102m.  D: Peter Collinson. Anthony Quinn, John Phillip Law, Simon Sabela, Marius Weyers, Sandra Prinsloo. Fairish thriller story about two men who conspire against black African leader—one, a paid assassin, the other a desperate down-and-outer who kidnaps him for ransom. Original title: TIGERS DON'T CRY; aka THE LONG SHOT, AFRICAN RAGE, and FATAL ASSASSIN. [PG] ▼●

Targets (1968) C-90m. ½ D: Peter Bogdanovich. Boris Karloff, Tim O'Kelly, Nancy Hsueh, James Brown, Sandy Baron, Arthur Peterson, Peter Bogdanovich. Karloff (as more or less himself) intends to retire, claiming his films can't compete with the horrors of everyday life; meanwhile, O'Kelly proves it by going out and shooting everybody in sight. Bogdanovich's first feature is incredibly suspenseful, with sweat-inducing climax at drive-in theatre; excellent photography by Laszlo Kovacs. Some prints still have brief gun-control prologue, which was added after Robert Kennedy's assassination. That's Mike Farrell as victim in phone booth. [R] ▼●

Tarnation (2004) C-88m. ½ D: Jonathan Caouette. Alternately fascinating, frustrating, and uncomfortable to watch, this nakedly personal cinematic diary of a young gay filmmaker's challenge living with a mentally ill mother documents his entire life from photos, Super 8 films, answering-machine messages, clippings, and scraps to piece together the extraordinary puzzle of a difficult youth. Caouette's eventual redemption makes the journey worthwhile, though it's still more a therapy session than a documentary. Primitively edited using Apple computer's iMovie program. Caouette claims the film was made for $218, but you could have fooled us; it looks as if it could have cost twice that! (In truth, many thousands of dollars in music and clip clearances were required to release the movie.) ▼●

Tarnished Angels, The (1958) 91m. ½ D: Douglas Sirk. Rock Hudson, Dorothy Malone, Robert Stack, Jack Carson, Robert Middleton, Troy Donahue, William Schallert. Compelling adaptation of William Faulkner's fatalistic drama Pylon, set in 1930s, with Hudson as newspaperman drawn to barnstorming pilot Stack—his curious life-style and ethics, his put-upon wife, and his frustrated mechanic. CinemaScope. ▼

Tartars, The (1961-Italian) C-83m.  D: Richard Thorpe. Orson Welles, Victor Mature, Folco Lulli, Liana Orfei. Welles' performance as Burundai, head of Tartar invasion of Volga River, plus appearance of Mature, are only distinguishing features of otherwise routine spectacle. Totalscope.

Tarzan series SEE: Leonard Maltin's Classic Movie Guide

Tarzan (1999) C-88m.  D: Kevin Lima, Chris Buck. Voices of Tony Goldwyn, Minnie Driver, Glenn Close, Rosie O'Donnell, Brian Blessed, Nigel Hawthorne, Lance Henriksen, Wayne Knight. Vibrant animated Disney take on Edgar Rice Burroughs' classic

character, with brilliant staging, terrific songs (by Phil Collins), and likable characters (especially Jane, colorfully and amusingly voiced by Driver). Storyline, involving a greedy, hot-headed hunter, almost seems too conventional—and predictable—for all the visual innovations and superior efforts that surround it. Oscar winner for Best Song, “You’ll Be in My Heart.” Followed by a direct-to-video sequel and a TV series. Later a Broadway musical. [G]▼

Tarzan and His Mate (1934) 105m. ½ D: Cedric Gibbons, Jack Conway. Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O’Sullivan, Neil Hamilton, Paul Cavanagh, Forrester Harvey. Jane’s jilted fiancé (Hamilton) returns to the jungle with a rapacious ivory poacher and tries to get Tarzan to lead them to the elephant graveyard, but the native couple is having too much fun swinging. Opulent, action-packed entry codirected by MGM’s famed art director Gibbons, and notable for pre-Code sexual candor and a distinct lack of clothes. Beware 95m. prints. ▼●●

Tarzan and the Amazons (1945) 76m. ½ D: Kurt Neumann. Johnny Weissmuller, Brenda Joyce, Johnny Sheffield, Henry Stephenson, Maria Ouspenskaya, Barton MacLane. Archeologists seeking to plunder Amazon treasures have to deal with Tarzan first in this amusing nonsense highlighted by the diminutive Ouspenskaya as the Amazon Queen!▶

Tarzan and the Great River (1967) C-99m. *½ D: Robert Day. Mike Henry, Jan Murray, Manuel Padilla, Jr., Diana Millay, Rafer Johnson. Childish entry about an Amazonian despot, although borscht-belt comedian Murray is good for a few (unintentional) laughs. Location filming in South America adds little. Panavision.

Tarzan and the Green Goddess (1938) 72m. *½ D: Edward Kull. Herman Brix (Bruce Bennett), Ula Holt, Frank Baker, Don Castello, Lewis Sargent. More juvenile jungle escapades, with an educated Ape Man. Derived from 1935’s THE NEW ADVENTURES OF TARZAN serial, produced by Edgar Rice Burroughs’ own company and filmed on location in Guatemala. Contains footage not used in serial. ▼▶

Tarzan and the Huntress (1947) 72m.  D: Kurt Neumann. Johnny Weissmuller, Brenda Joyce, Johnny Sheffield, Patricia Morison, Barton MacLane. Familiar bungle in the jungle about Tarzan fighting a zoologist (Morison) who’s trying to make off with a menagerie. Weissmuller was tired by this time, and so were the plots.▶

Tarzan and the Jungle Boy (1968) C-99m. *½ D: Robert Day. Mike Henry, Alizia Gur, Ronald Gans, Rafer Johnson, Ed Johnson, Steven Bond. A tedious search for the son of a drowned geologist, though Henry isn’t bad as the Ape Man. Panavision.

Tarzan and the Leopard Woman (1946)

72m.  D: Kurt Neumann. Johnny Weissmuller, Brenda Joyce, Johnny Sheffield, Acquanetta, Edgar Barrier, Tommy Cook. Tarzan and Boy take on a murder cult, and almost pay with their lives. The series was becoming increasingly silly, though it’s still fun by Saturday matinee standards.▶

Tarzan and the Lost City (1998-Australian-U.S.-German) C-105m. *½ D: Carl Schenkel. Casper Van Dien, Jane March, Steven Waddington, Winston Ntshona, Rapulana Seiphemo, Ian Roberts. Tarzan returns to Africa on eve of his wedding to Jane; she follows, and together they fight off mercenaries trying to plunder the “mythic city” of Opar. Lousy film—even by jungle adventure standards. Van Dien equates jaw-clenching with acting, and he must be the shortest Lord of the Apes on record. Oddly, the producer of this also made the classy GREYSTOKE. Super 35. [PG]▼●●

Tarzan and the Lost Safari (1957-British) C-84m.  D: H. Bruce Humberstone. Gordon Scott, Yolande Donlan, Robert Beatty, Betta St. John, Wilfrid Hyde-White, George Coulouris. Color and widescreen spruce up this entry about the passengers of a plane that crashes in the jungle, who are pursued by savage Oparians. But Tarzan still speaks in monosyllables, and the story is pretty slow going. RKO-Scope.

Tarzan and the Mermaids (1948) 68m. ½ D: Robert Florey. Johnny Weissmuller, Brenda Joyce, Linda Christian, John Lanenz, George Zucco, Fernando Wagner. Tarzan comes to the aid of a native (stunning Christian) who’s being forced to wed a phony island “God” by evil high-priest Zucco. Outlandish, often campy outing filmed in Mexico. Weissmuller hung up his loincloth after this.▶

Tarzan and the She-Devil (1953) 76m. *½ D: Kurt Neumann. Lex Barker, Joyce MacKenzie, Raymond Burr, Monique Van Vooren, Tom Conway. Boring hokum about ivory poachers led by seductive Van Vooren. Barker’s last appearance as Tarzan. Burr is an exceptionally good heavy.▶

Tarzan and the Slave Girl (1950) 74m.  D: Lee Sholem. Lex Barker, Vanessa Brown, Robert Alda, Hurd Hatfield, Arthur Shields, Anthony Caruso, Denise Darcel. When a tribe of lion worshippers kidnaps Jane (Brown) and alluring half-breed Darcel, it’s Tarzan, Cheetah, and friends to the rescue.▶

Tarzan and the Trappers (1958) 74m. *½ D: Charles Haas, Sandy Howard. Gordon Scott, Eve Brent, Rickie Sorensen, Leslie Bradley. Cheaply made hokum about evil white hunters on an expedition to find a lost city filled with treasure. Edited together from three episodes of a Tarzan TV series that never got off the ground.▶

Tarzan and the Valley of Gold (1966) C-90m. ½ D: Robert Day. Mike Henry, David Opatoshu, Manuel Padilla, Jr., Nancy Kovack, Don Megowan. Ex-football star Henry takes over the loincloth (after doffing his suit and tie!) in a hunt for kidnapers and jewel thieves. This Tarzan-for-the-60's is pretty good, if you can accept the Ape Man as a jungle James Bond. Excellent location filming in Mexico. Panavision.

Tarzan Escapes (1936) 89m.  D: Richard Thorpe. Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan, John Buckler, Benita Hume, William Henry, Herbert Mundin. Graphically violent (for its time), and energetically directed, this entertaining entry has Tarzan captured by a hunter who wants to put him on exhibition in England. This film was completely reshot and reworked when the original version proved too potent and blood-curdling for preview audiences; as a result there are some plot holes in what might have been the best Tarzan movie of all. ▼●●

Tarzan Finds a Son! (1939) 90m.  D: Richard Thorpe. Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan, Johnny Sheffield, Ian Hunter, Frieda Inescort, Laraine Day, Henry Wilcoxon. The jungle lovers find a child whose parents were killed in a plane crash and fight his greedy relatives to adopt him in this diverting entry. This was to be O'Sullivan's final appearance as Jane, but the end was reshot so she could return (in TARZAN'S SECRET TREASURE). ▼●●

Tarzan Goes to India (1962-British) C-86m. ½ D: John Guillermin. Jock Mahoney, Mark Dana, Simi, Leo Gordon, Jai. At the request of a dying maharajah, Tarzan tries to save a herd of elephants imperiled by the construction of a dam. Location shooting helps. CinemaScope.

Tarzan of the Apes (1918) 55m. ½ D: Scott Sidney. Elmo Lincoln, Enid Markey, True Boardman, Kathleen Kirkham, Gordon Griffith. The very first Tarzan film is a surprisingly watchable and straightforward telling of the Greystoke tale, though Lincoln looks like he's about 50 years old, with a beer belly to boot. ▼

Tarzan's Deadly Silence (1970) C-99m. *½ D: Robert L. Friend, Lawrence Dobkin. Ron Ely, Manuel Padilla, Jr., Jock Mahoney, Woody Strode, Gregorio Acosta. A maniacal soldier plans to capture an African village with his private army; a two-part TV episode released as a feature. [G]

Tarzan's Desert Mystery (1943) 70m. ½ D: William Thiele. Johnny Weissmuller, Nancy Kelly, Johnny Sheffield, Otto Kruger, Joseph Sawyer, Lloyd Corrigan, Robert Lowery. Tarzan vs. Nazis, take two, with some evil Arabs and prehistoric creatures (including a giant spider) thrown in for good measure. ●

Tarzan's Fight for Life (1958) C-86m.  D: H. Bruce Humberstone. Gordon Scott, Eve Brent, Rickie Sorensen, Jil

Jarmyn, James Edwards, Woody Strode. The jungle do-gooder helps a medic fight superstitious natives and a conniving witch doctor. Cheesy series entry with the cast stomping around a studio jungle set.

Tarzan's Greatest Adventure (1959-British) C-88m.  D: John Guillermin. Gordon Scott, Anthony Quayle, Sara Shane, Niall MacGinnis, Scilla Gabel, Sean Connery. Honorable attempt to upgrade the series' quality, with Tarzan on the trail of diamond-hunting scoundrels (including a young Connery). A superior action yarn shot on location in Africa, more adult than most of its predecessors. Tarzan has a much expanded vocabulary in this one.

Tarzan's Hidden Jungle (1955) 73m.  D: Harold Schuster. Gordon Scott, Vera Miles, Peter Van Eyck, Jack Elam, Rex Ingram. Scott's debut as Tarzan is a competent, if unexciting, outing focusing on his battle with evil hunter Elam who tries to butcher half the animal kingdom.

Tarzan's Jungle Rebellion (1970) C-92m. *½ D: William Witney. Ron Ely, Manuel Padilla, Jr., Ulla Stromstedt, Sam Jaffe, William Marshall, Lloyd Haynes. Compilation of a two-part episode from the NBC TV series is substandard in all departments. [G]

Tarzan's Magic Fountain (1949) 73m. ½ D: Lee Sholem. Lex Barker, Brenda Joyce, Evelyn Ankers, Albert Dekker, Alan Napier, Charles Drake, Henry Brandon. Barker's first series entry, and one of his most endurable, as Tarzan finds a secret valley where nobody ages—unless they leave. (Sound a bit like LOST HORIZON?) Too bad the rest of the Barker films weren't as good. Elmo Lincoln, the screen's first Tarzan, has a bit part. ●

Tarzan's New York Adventure (1942) 72m. ½ D: Richard Thorpe. Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan, Johnny Sheffield, Virginia Grey, Charles Bickford, Paul Kelly, Russell Hicks, Chill Wills. When Boy is snatched from the jungle by nasty circus owners, Tarzan swings into action across the seas and over the Brooklyn Bridge to retrieve him. Seems pretty original until you realize that KING KONG was made a decade earlier! Still, an amusing entry; Tarzan's first encounter with indoor plumbing is truly memorable. O'Sullivan's final appearance in the series. ▼●●

Tarzan's Peril (1951) 79m. ½ D: Byron Haskin. Lex Barker, Virginia Huston, George Macready, Douglas Fowley, Dorothy Dandridge, Alan Napier. White gun-runners out to get Tarzan try to stir up trouble between warring tribes in this fairly respectable entry with an interesting supporting cast. Dandridge is excellent, if wasted in a small role. ●

Tarzan's Revenge (1938) 70m.  D: D. Ross Lederman. Glenn Morris, Eleanor

Holm, George Barbier, C. Henry Gordon, Hedda Hopper, George Meeker. Olympic decathlon champ Morris cavorts capably enough in this adventure about an evil African ruler who covets perky Holm (a champion swimmer herself). No other Tarzan film had the Ape Man off screen for such long stretches, however. ▼●

Tarzan's Savage Fury (1952) 80m.  D: Cyril Endfield. Lex Barker, Dorothy Hart, Patric Knowles, Charles Korvin, Tommy Carlton. Slackly handled entry about diamond thieves who trick Tarzan into being their guide. ●

Tarzan's Secret Treasure (1941) 81m. ½ D: Richard Thorpe. Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan, Johnny Sheffield, Reginald Owen, Barry Fitzgerald, Tom Conway. Melodramatic entry about greedy gold seekers who try to dupe Tarzan into helping them. Tarzan and Jane's treehouse has become pretty elaborate by now. ▼●●

Tarzan's Three Challenges (1963) C-92m. ½ D: Robert Day. Jock Mahoney, Woody Strode, Ricky Der, Tsuruko Kobayashi, Earl Cameron. Tarzan protects a young heir to the throne in Thailand from his malevolent uncle in this picturesque entry that includes a wicked machete fight. The athletic Mahoney became deathly ill while filming in India—which is all too obvious from his dramatic weight loss during the course of the picture. Dyaliscope.

Tarzan the Ape Man (1932) 99m.  D: W. S. Van Dyke. Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan, C. Aubrey Smith, Neil Hamilton, Doris Lloyd. British genre meets jungle savagery when the daughter of an English hunter is captured by Tarzan and decides she prefers his primal charms to those of her upper-crust fiancé. The original Weissmuller-MGM Tarzan entry is a little starchy, but still holds up thanks to a plush production and vivid atmosphere (with jungle footage provided by TRADER HORN). Also shown in a computer-colored version. ▼●●

Tarzan, the Ape Man (1959) C-82m. BOMB D: Joseph Newman. Denny Miller, Joanna Barnes, Cesare Danova, Robert Douglas, Thomas Yangha. Take one blond UCLA basketball star (Miller), the production values of a pep rally, steal Johnny Weissmuller's famous yell and (tinted) footage of him swinging through the trees, add a pseudo African jazz score by Shorty Rogers, and you get a cheesy, inept effort by MGM to reuse safari footage from KING SOLOMON'S MINES for the umpteenth time.

Tarzan, the Ape Man (1981) C-112m. BOMB D: John Derek. Bo Derek, Richard Harris, Miles O'Keefe, John Phillip Law, Wilfrid Hyde-White. Deranged "re-make" of original Tarzan film lacks action, humor, and charm—and nearly forced editors of this book to devise a rating lower than BOMB. Forget about Weissmuller comparisons: O'Keefe makes Elmo Lincoln look like Edwin Booth. [R] ▼●●

Tarzan the Fearless (1933) 85m. *½ D: Robert Hill. Buster Crabbe, Jacqueline Wells (Julie Bishop), E. Alyn Warren, Edward Woods, Philo McCullough, Matthew Betz, Frank Lackteen, Mischa Auer. Feature version of a crude serial about a scientific expedition to find the lost city of Zar. Crabbe's Tarzan is even more tight-lipped than Weissmuller's. ▼●

Tarzan the Magnificent (1960-British) C-88m.  D: Robert Day. Gordon Scott, Jock Mahoney, Betta St. John, John Carradine, Alexandra Stewart, Lionel Jeffries, Earl Cameron. Tarzan captures a murderer and faces numerous perils trying to escort him to the police through the jungle. Similarly mature follow-up to TARZAN'S GREATEST ADVENTURE, with a strong supporting cast. Ironically, villain Mahoney would take over the lead role from Scott in the next entry.

Tarzan Triumphs (1943) 78m.  D: William Thiele. Johnny Weissmuller, Frances Gifford, Johnny Sheffield, Stanley Ridges, Sig Ruman. First of the series made by RKO features stunning Gifford (who earlier starred as Edgar Rice Burroughs' JUNGLE GIRL in a Republic serial) as the princess of a lost city invaded by Nazi paratroopers. WW2 propaganda all the way, with Tarzan an incongruous participant, but still an entertaining and energetic programmer. Cheetah's curtain-closing bit with the Nazis' short-wave radio is not to be missed. ●

Task Force (1949) 116m. ½ D: Delmer Daves. Gary Cooper, Jane Wyatt, Wayne Morris, Walter Brennan, Julie London, Bruce Bennett, Stanley Ridges, Jack Holt. Well-made but unremarkable story of a Naval officer's career, tracing aircraft carrier development. Originally shown with some scenes in color. ▼●

Taste of Cherry, A (1997-Iranian) C-98m. ½ D: Abbas Kiarostami. Homayon Ershadi, Abdolrahman Bagheri, Afshin Khorsheed Bakhtiari, Safar Ali Moradi. Fascinating film about a brooding man who rides around Tehran in a Range Rover trying to find someone who will accept a generous fee to bury him after he commits suicide. The man's encounters with several diverse candidates flesh out his haunting and original story, which disappoints only at the very end. A contemplation of humanity quite unlike any other captured on film. Written by the director. [PG] ▼●

Taste of Fear SEE: Scream of Fear

Taste of Honey, A (1961-British) 100m. ½ D: Tony Richardson. Rita Tushingham, Robert Stephens, Dora Bryan, Murray Melvin, Paul Danquah. Homely young girl who has affair with black sailor and becomes pregnant is cared for by homosexual friend. Shelagh Delaney's London and Broadway stage hit is poignant and uncompromising film with fine, sensitive performances. Screenplay by Delaney and Richardson. ▼

Taste of Others, The (2000-French) C-112m.  D: Agnes Jaoui. Jean-Pierre Bacri, Anne Alvaro, Agnes Jaoui, Gerard Lanvin, Christiane Millet, Brigitte Catillon, Alain Chabat. Sharply observed romantic comedy that offers food for thought on the passions and yearnings of contemporary middle-aged men and women, spotlighting a wealthy, ill-mannered—and married—businessman (Bacri) who is drawn to a vain, attractive actress (Alvaro); a secondary relationship involves the businessman's bodyguard (Lanvin) and a barmaid (Jaoui). Bacri and Jaoui scripted; they're married in real life. Super 35. ▼

Taste the Blood of Dracula (1970-British) C-95m. ½ D: Peter Sasdy. Christopher Lee, Geoffrey Keen, Gwen Watford, Linda Hayden, Roy Kinnear, Ralph Bates. Fourth in Hammer series (after DRACULA HAS RISEN FROM THE GRAVE) with Lee as famed vampire out to avenge death of Black Magic wizard by affluent thrill seekers in Victorian England. Not bad, but what was point of having Dracula in film? Beginning and end best parts. Sequel: SCARS OF DRACULA. [PG] ▼

Tatie Danielle (1991-French) C-110m.  D: Etienne Chatiliez. Tsilla Chelton, Catherine Jacob, Isabelle Nanty, Neige Dolsky, Eric Prat, Laurence Favrier. Chelton plays an elderly, extremely unpleasant and manipulative widow who wreaks havoc on the people caring for her as she mourns the loss of her husband. Another delight from the director of LIFE IS A LONG QUIET RIVER, but this time the comedy is a good deal blacker. Renowned stage actress Chelton is wonderful as a woman so mean the movie's ads proclaimed her "the real Terminator." ▼

Tattered Dress, The (1957) 93m. ½ D: Jack Arnold. Jeff Chandler, Jeanne Crain, Jack Carson, Gail Russell, George Tobias. Slowly paced but watchable account of lawyer Chandler defending society couple accused of murder; Crain is his sympathetic wife. CinemaScope.

Tattoo (1981) C-103m. ½ D: Bob Brooks. Bruce Dern, Maud Adams, Leonard Frey, Rikke Borge, John Getz, Peter Iachangelo. Mentally ill tattoo-artist Dern kidnaps fashion model Adams so he can use her body as a canvas. Improbable, sleazy melodrama; screenplay by Joyce Buñuel (Luis's daughter-in-law) from a story by director Brooks. [R] ▼

Taxi! (1932) 70m. ½ D: Roy Del Ruth.

James Cagney, Loretta Young, George E. Stone, Dorothy Burgess, Guy Kibbee, Leila Bennett, Cotton Club Orchestra. Hokey but colorful Depression melodrama of warring N.Y.C. cab drivers, with Cagney fine as a hotheaded hack. Yes, that's George Raft as his dance-contest rival. Nothing can top Jimmy's opening bit in Yiddish!

Taxi (2004) C-97m. ½ D: Tim Story. Queen Latifah, Jimmy Fallon, Henry Simmons, Jennifer Esposito, Gisele Bündchen, Ann-Margret, Ana Cristina De Oliveira, Christian Kane. Hot-shot cabbie teams up with an incompetent hot-dog cop in this weak action-comedy. Latifah and Fallon are strangers-turned-buddies out to catch a team of bank robbers (who happen to look like supermodels). Not a good showcase for the Queen or for former Saturday Night Live member Fallon. Produced by Luc Besson, based on the 1998 French film of the same name, which he wrote and coproduced. Extended version runs 112m. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Taxi Blues (1990-Russian-French) C-110m. ½ D: Pavel Lounguine. Piotr Mamonov, Piotr Zaitchenko, Vladimir Kachpour, Natalia Koliakanova, Hal Singer. Controversial, laced-in-acid tragicomedy chronicling the relationship between a brutish, narrow-minded Moscow cabdriver and an alcoholic Jewish musician: characters who become symbols of the Old and New Russia. Lounguine deservedly earned the best director prize at the Cannes Film Festival for this important, provocative film. ▼

Taxi Driver (1976) C-113m.  D: Martin Scorsese. Robert De Niro, Cybill Shepherd, Harvey Keitel, Peter Boyle, Jodie Foster, Albert Brooks, Leonard Harris, Joe Spinell, Martin Scorsese. To some, Scorsese and writer Paul Schrader's perception of hell—as a crazed taxi driver's vision of N.Y.C.—was brilliant. To us, this gory, cold-blooded story of sick man's lurid descent into violence is ugly and unredeeming. (It's undeniably influential to a generation of filmmakers; some scenes and images have become iconic.) Judge for yourself. Searing performances and Bernard Herrmann's final music score are among film's few virtues. [R] ▼

Taxing Woman, A (1987-Japanese) C-126m. ½ D: Juzo Itami. Nobuko Miyamoto, Tsutomu Yamazaki. Disarming contemporary comedy about a tireless, single-minded investigator for the Japanese Revenue Service, and her confrontation with a hotshot businessman who thinks he knows all the angles when it comes to cheating the government. Somewhat overlong, but delightful, with a winning performance by Miyamoto (writer-director Itami's wife) in the lead. Followed by a sequel. ▼

Taxing Woman's Return, A (1988-Japanese) C-127m.  D: Juzo Itami. Nobuko Miyamoto, Rentaro Mikuni, Masahiko

Tsugawa, Tetsuro Tamba, Toru Masuoka, Takeya Nakamura, Hosei Komatsu, Mihoko Shibata. Miyamoto "returns" as the dedicated tax investigator; here, she takes on a gaggle of industrialists, politicians, mobsters, and other assorted hypocrites who've conspired to grossly inflate Tokyo's real estate values. On-the-mark satire is as pointed and knowing as it is funny. ▼

Taxi to the Dark Side (2007) C-106m. ½ D: Alex Gibney. Historically important, imperatively queasy documentary begins with the 2002 detention, torture, and death of an Afghanistan taxi driver in American custody at Bagram prison—despite scant evidence of his linkage to al-Qaeda or the Taliban (he was never, in fact, charged). From here, it's noted, there was a predictably scant leap to further prisoner abuses at Guantanamo Bay and Abu Ghraib that rocked the world. A wide array of interviewees includes guards, fellow prisoners, reporters, Bush administration personnel, and more. Masterful achievement took the Oscar for Best Documentary. [R] ▼

Taxman, The (1999) C-100m.  D: Avi Nesher. Joe Pantoliano, Robert Townsend, Wade Dominguez, Michael Chiklis, Elizabeth Berkley, Fisher Stevens, Casey Siemaszko, Mike Starr. Investigator for the N.Y. state tax office becomes obsessed with a trail he's certain leads to big-time criminal activities involving Russian immigrants in Brighton Beach. Rare leading role for Pantoliano, who's in fine form, but story lags and characters are not fully drawn. Based on a true story written by a former tax investigator. [R] ▼

Taza, Son of Cochise (1954) C-79m. ½ D: Douglas Sirk. Rock Hudson, Barbara Rush, Gregg Palmer, Bart Roberts (Rex Reason), Morris Ankrum, Joe Sawyer. Actually two sons: one wants to live peacefully with the white man, the other thinks Geronimo has a better idea. Sirk's only Western is uneven follow-up to BROKEN ARROW—with Jeff Chandler popping in just long enough to die—but sweeping action scenes and sympathetic treatment of Indians help. Originally in 3-D.

Tea and Sympathy (1956) C-122m.  D: Vincente Minnelli. Deborah Kerr, John Kerr, Leif Erickson, Edward Andrews, Darryl Hickman, Dean Jones, Norma Crane. Glossy but well-acted version of Robert Anderson play about prep school boy's affair with a teacher's wife, skirting homosexual issues. Both Kerrs give sensitive portrayals; they and Erickson re-create their Broadway roles. Scripted by the playwright. CinemaScope. ▼ ●

Teacher, The (1974) C-98m.  D: Hikmet Avedis. Angel Tompkins, Jay North, Anthony James, Marlene Schmidt, Sivi Aberg, Barry Atwater, Med Flory. Trashy but enjoyable film has "older" woman Tompkins introducing North (TV's Dennis the Menace all grown up) to sex, while a psychopathic killer (James) threatens both their lives. John Cassavetes' and Gena Rowlands' mummies have cute cameos as disapproving bystanders in a restaurant scene. [R] ▼ ● ●

Teachers (1984) C-106m.  D: Arthur Hiller. Nick Nolte, JoBeth Williams, Judd Hirsch, Ralph Macchio, Lee Grant, Richard Mulligan, Allen Garfield, Royal Dano, Laura Dem, Morgan Freeman, William Schallert, Crispin Glover, Zohra Lampert, Art Metrano. "Outrageous" blend of comedy-drama set in urban high school (and filmed in Columbus, Ohio). Seemingly patterned after Paddy Chayefsky's THE HOSPITAL and NET-WORK but nowhere near as good. Slick, well cast, but dramatically disjointed and obvious at every turn. [R] ▼ ● ●

Teacher's Pet (1958) 120m.  D: George Seaton. Clark Gable, Doris Day, Gig Young, Mamie Van Doren, Nick Adams, Charles Lane. Self-educated city editor Gable clashes with journalism teacher Day in this airy, amusing comedy. Young is memorable as Doris' intellectual boyfriend. Written by Fay and Michael Kanin. VistaVision. ▼ ● ●

Teacher's Pet (2004) C-73m.  D: Timothy Björklund. Voices of Nathan Lane, Kelsey Grammer, Shaun Fleming, Debra Jo Rupp, David Ogden Stiers, Jerry Stiller, Paul Reubens, Megan Mullally, Rob Paulsen, Wallace Shawn, Estelle Harris, Jay Thomas. Lightning-paced, irreverently funny film based on the Disney animated TV series about a dog who disguises himself as a boy in order to attend school with his master. They're separated during summer vacation, until Pet sees a mad doctor on TV who says he can transform an animal into a human being—permanently. Lane, Grammer, and company sing some clever new songs written by the show's creators. Designed by Gary Baseman in a style somewhere between underground comics and pop art. Officially titled DISNEY'S TEACHER'S PET. [PG] ▼ ●

Teaching Mrs. Tingle (1999) C-95m. *½ D: Kevin Williamson. Helen Mirren, Katie Holmes, Barry Watson, Marisa Coughlan, Liz Stauber, Jeffrey Tambor, Michael McKean, Molly Ringwald, Vivica A. Fox. When they confront a coldhearted teacher who can destroy their college dreams, three high school students accidentally knock her out, then tie her to her bed in order to talk her into changing her ways. Preposterous premise is devoid of story, interest or suspense, with only Mirren's icy, sarcastic performance to recommend it. Williamson (making his directing debut) scripted, but this is a far cry from SCREAM. Lesley Ann Warren appears unbilled. [PG-13] ▼ ●

Tea for Two (1950) C-98m. ½ D: David Butler. Doris Day, Gordon MacRae, Gene Nelson, Patrice Wymore, Eve Arden, Billy De Wolfe, S. Z. Sakall, Bill Goodwin,

Virginia Gibson. Pleasant but unexceptional musical very loosely based on the stage play No, No, Nanette (which was filmed before in 1930 and 1940). Day bets uncle Sakall she can answer no to every question for the length of a weekend—in order to win her chance to star in a Broadway show. ▼●●

Teahouse of the August Moon, The (1956) C-123m. ½ D: Daniel Mann. Marlon Brando, Glenn Ford, Machiko Kyo, Eddie Albert, Paul Ford, Henry (Harry) Morgan. Outstanding comedy scripted by John Patrick from his hit play of Army officers involved with Americanization of post-WW2 Okinawa. A warm and memorable film. Paul Ford recreates his Broadway role and nearly steals the show. Based on book by Vern J. Sneider. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Team America World Police (2004) C-96m. *½ D: Trey Parker. Voices of Trey Parker, Matt Stone. Blundering (if well-meaning) squad of Americans fight terrorism around the world but meet their match in North Korean leader Kim Jung Il. The South Park boys run around in a pointless film enacted by marionettes (a spoof of Gerry Anderson's Thunderbirds series of old). Unlike their sharp, on-target TV scripts and previous films, this one repeatedly swings and misses at such easy targets as politically outspoken actors. Even the songs are uninspired. Heavy-handed, sour, and, worst of all, not funny. One scene of wild puppet sex will probably rate an asterisk in film histories. Unrated version runs 98m. Super 35. [R] ▼●

Tears of the Black Tiger (2000-Thailand) C-109m. ½ D: Wisit Sasanatieng. Chartchai Ngamsan, Stella Malucchi, Supakorn Kitsuwon, Arawat Ruangvuth, Sombati, Pairoj Jaisingha. Boy from the wrong side of the tracks falls in love with an upper-class girl; he grows up to be a notorious bandit called the Black Tiger, while her father plans to marry her off to the policeman in charge of capturing Tiger and his gang. Campy, candy-colored, and very bloody, this Thai cowboy soap opera with songs pays homage to classic Westerns (mostly Spaghetti) and the highly stylized films of Seijun Suzuki. Fun for a while, but its extreme artificiality becomes self-conscious and exhausting. Alternate version runs 101m. ●

Tears of the Sun (2003) C-118m.  D: Antoine Fuqua. Bruce Willis, Monica Bellucci, Cole Hauser, Eamonn Walker, Nick Chinlund, Fionnula Flanagan, Malick Bowens, Tom Skerritt, Chad Smith. Stoic Navy SEAL commander Willis and his squadron are sent to evacuate a female doctor from a Nigerian village, but she opens his eyes to the terrorism the people around her have been subjected to. Eventually Willis must decide whether to help. Well-made action film bears a message that doing the right thing isn't a political decision but a humanist one. Undermined more than once by awkward dialogue and miscasting of the very sexy Bellucci. Director's "extended" cut runs 146m. Panavision. [R] ▼●

Tea with Mussolini (1999-Italian-British) C-117m.  D: Franco Zeffirelli. Cher, Maggie Smith, Judi Dench, Joan Plowright, Lily Tomlin, Baird Wallace, Charlie Lucas, Massimo Ghini, Paolo Seganti, Paul Chequer. A boy whose mother has died and whose father has all but abandoned him is raised by a group of eccentric British women in 1930s Florence. The coming of war has great impact on the women—known as the Scorpioni—and their flamboyant American counterparts in the artsy expatriate community, but cannot sever ties between the young man and his "surrogate mothers." Entertaining if not always focused comedy-drama based on director Zeffirelli's own experiences as a youth; co-scripted by John Mortimer. [PG] ▼●

Ted & Venus (1991) C-100m. *½ D: Bud Cort. Bud Cort, James Brolin, Kim Adams, Carol Kane, Rhea Perlman, Woody Harrelson, Martin Mull, Timothy Leary, Cassandra Peterson, Gena Rowlands. Cort's directing debut is a hard-to-take tale of an obnoxious Southern California misfit who relentlessly pursues his "dream woman." Cameos by familiar faces add little to this modest production. [R] ▼●

Teddy Bears' Picnic (2002) C-80m. BOMB D: Hary Shearer. John Michael Higgins, Ming-Na, Henry Gibson, David Rasche, Robert Mandan, Morgan Fairchild, Michael McKean, Harry Shearer, Justin Kirk, George Wendt, Kenneth Mars, Bob Einstein, John O'Hurley, Howard Hesseman, Fred Willard, Annabelle Gurwitsch, Joyce Hyser, Kurtwood Smith, Larry Miller. Wretched botch by actor/writer/director/producer Shearer ostensibly satirizing northern California rustic retreat of the rich and powerful (here called Zambesi Glen). Real disappointment considering the comic talent involved. Alan Thicke and Peter Marshall play themselves. ▼●

Teenage Cave Man (1958) 66m.  D: Roger Corman. Robert Vaughn, Darrah Marshall, Leslie Bradley, Frank De Kova. Vaughn, light years away from THE YOUNG PHILADELPHIANS or S.O.B., is the title character, a prehistoric adolescent hankering for greener pastures, in this AIP quickie with predictable "surprise" ending. Superama. ▼●

Teenage Doll (1957) 68m.  D: Roger Corman. June Kenney, Fay Spain, Richard Devon, Dorothy Neumann. Title dish doesn't want to spend school nights at home in her room, gets involved with punk peers. This above-average sleazy B won't obscure memory of Dreyer and Ozu, but is true to its era. ▼●

Teenage Dream SEE: Flying

Teen-age Millionaire (1961) C/B&W-84m. BOMB D: Lawrence Doheny. Jimmy Clanton, ZaSu Pitts, Rocky Graziano, Diane Jer-

gens, Chubby Checker, Jackie Wilson, Dion, Marv Johnson, Bill Black, Jack Larson, Vicki Spencer, Sid Gould, Maurice Gosfield. Deadening musical about teenager Clanton, with a huge inheritance, who becomes a pop star. The rock acts are unusually and annoyingly tame here.

Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles (1990) C-93m.  D: Steve Barron. Judith Hoag, Elias Koteas, Sam Rockwell; voices of Robbie Rist, Kevin Clash, Brian Tochi, David McCharen, Corey Feldman. Four mutated turtles who live in the sewers of N.Y.C. with their ninja master (an oversized rat from Japan) befriend a plucky TV reporter and help crack an insidious crime wave. The wacked-out comic book creation of Kevin Eastman and Peter Laird (which led to a hit animated TV series) should have inspired a much better movie. Badly written, flatly directed, and murky-looking, it jump-starts every now and then—but not often enough. Strongest asset is the design and articulation of the Turtles by Jim Henson's Creature Shop. Followed by three sequels. [PG] ▼●●

Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles II: The Secret of the Ooze (1991) C-88m. *½ D: Michael Pressman. Paige Turco, David Warner, Ernie Reyes, Jr., Michelan Sisti, Leif Tilden, Kenn Troman, Mark Caso, Kevin Clash, Raymond Serra, Vanilla Ice. The evil Shredder finds one remaining container of the ooze that caused the turtles to mutate in the first place. Brainless sequel aims lower than first film, and strips the half-shell heroes of any personality (even having them call each other by nicknames—Raf instead of Raphael, Donny instead of Donatello). Appearance by Vanilla Ice, performing a ninja turtle rap song, is the nadir. [PG] ▼●●

Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles III (1993) C-96m.  D: Stuart Gillard. Elias Koteas, Paige Turco, Stuart Wilson, Sab Shimono, Vivian Wu, Mark Caso, Matt Hill, Jim Rapposa, David Fraser, James Murray. The guys bolt the sewer for feudal Japan to help rebel villagers conquer an evil lord. SEVEN SAMURAI it ain't (nor Russ Meyer's THE SEVEN MINUTES, either), but those who still care will find a more mellowed-out Turtles saga, complete with a lecture by Raphael on the dangers of violence. Like totally Woodstock, dude! [PG] ▼●●

Teenage Psycho Meets Bloody Mary, The SEE: Incredibly Strange Creatures Who Stopped Living and Became Mixed-Up Zombies, The

Teen-age Rebel (1956) 94m. ½ D: Edmund Goulding. Ginger Rogers, Michael Rennie, Betty Lou Keim, Mildred Natwick, Rusty Swope, Warren Berlinger, Lilli Gentle, Louise Beavers, Irene Hervey. Pat yet provocative film of divorcée Rogers, now remarried, trying to reestablish understanding with her daughter. CinemaScope.

Teenagers From Outer Space (1959)

86m. BOMB D: Tom Graeff. David Love, Dawn Anderson, Harvey B. Dunn, Bryant Grant, Tom Lockyear (Tom Graeff). Ridiculous sci-fi about alien youths who bring monster to Earth, shown as the shadow of a lobster! Very, very cheap; but still a camp classic. Besides directing and playing a small part, Graeff wrote, produced, photographed, and edited! ▼●

Teenage Zombies (1957) 73m. BOMB D: Jerry Warren. Don Sullivan, Katherine Victor, Steve Conte, Paul Pepper, Bri Murphy, Mitzi Albertson. Victor captures teenagers snooping around her island, imprisons them for experiments. Typically awful Warren horror film with long stretches in which nothing happens . . . and incidentally, no teenage zombies! Remade as FRANKENSTEIN ISLAND. ▼●

Teen Witch (1989) C-105m.  D: Dorian Walker. Robyn Lively, Dan Gauthier, Joshua Miller, Dick Sargent, Zeldia Rubinstein, Lisa Fuller, Shelley Berman. Teen comedy with a moral, about a girl who, one week before her sixteenth birthday, learns that she's a descendant of some bona fide Salem witches . . . and uses her newfound magical powers to snare a football hero as boyfriend. Some nice ideas, but mostly falls flat. Berman is funny as a stuffy English teacher who becomes a victim of the teenage witch's black magic. [PG-13] ▼●

Teen Wolf (1985) C-91m.  D: Rod Daniel. Michael J. Fox, James Hampton, Scott Paulin, Susan Ursitti, Jerry Levine, Jim MacKrell. Teenager with usual growing pains discovers that he's also a were wolf—and that this finally makes him popular at school. Pleasant at best, but anemic comedy has nowhere to go. Best moments come from TV comedy writer-producer (and former comic) Jay Tarses as Fox's athletic coach. Followed by an animated TV series and TEEN WOLF TOO. [PG] ▼●●

Teen Wolf Too (1987) C-95m. BOMB D: Christopher Leitch. Jason Bateman, Kim Darby, John Astin, Paul Sand, James Hampton, Mark Holton. Limp comedy, chronicling the adventures of the Teen Wolf's cousin (Bateman), makes the original seem like Preston Sturges in his prime. Excruciating. [PG] ▼●

Teeth (2008) C-88m. ½ D: Mitchell Lichtenstein. Jess Weixler, John Hensley, Josh Pais, Hale Appleman, Ashley Springer, Vivienne Benesch, Lenny von Dohlen, Nicole Swahn, Julia Garro, Adam Wagner. Dawn (Weixler) is an active church member and helps guide young people around her to remain abstinent until marriage. However, as she is faced with her own budding sexuality, she discovers that she isn't like the other girls; she has something known as vagina dentata. Kitschy and not for the faint of heart. The ultimate in female empowerment, though it may leave some men scarred for life. The director is the son of artist Roy Lichtenstein. [R]▼

Telefon (1977) C-102m.  D: Don Siegel. Charles Bronson, Lee Remick, Donald Pleasence, Tyne Daly, Patrick Magee, Alan Badel, Sheree North. Slick espionage thriller from Walter Wager's ingenious novel; Bronson is Russian agent sent to stop crazy defector from triggering hypnotized spies to commit sabotage throughout U.S. Daly is terrific as wisecracking computer expert. Script by Stirling Silliphant and original director Peter Hyams. [PG]▼

Telephone, The (1988) C-82m. BOMB D: Rip Torn. Whoopi Goldberg, Severn Darden, Amy Wright, Elliott Gould, John Heard. Goldberg may have hit rock bottom with this clinker in which she's cast as an out-of-work actress with major psychological problems. The star sued to prevent this version from being released. Terrible script by Harry Nilsson and Terry Southern. Hang up on this wrong number. Actor Torn's directing debut. [R]▼

Telling Lies in America (1997) C-101m.  D: Guy Ferland. Kevin Bacon, Brad Renfro, Maximilian Schell, Calista Flockhart, Paul Dooley, Jonathan Rhys Myers, Luke Wilson. Evocative and well-done Joe Eszterhas-scripted memoir, set in Cleveland during the early 1960s, about a Hungarian-born teen (Renfro), an outsider trying to find his place in pre-Beatles rock 'n' roll America. Bacon is the standout here, offering an award-calibre performance as the boy's mentor, a slick, payola-taking disc jockey. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Tell It to the Judge (1949) 87m ½ D: Norman Foster. Rosalind Russell, Robert Cummings, Gig Young, Marie McDonald, Harry Davenport, Douglass Dumbrille. Flyweight marital farce with Russell and Cummings in and out of love every ten minutes; enjoyable if you like the stars.▼

Tell Me a Riddle (1980) C-90m ½ D: Lee Grant. Melvyn Douglas, Lila Kedrova, Brooke Adams, Dolores Dorn, Bob Elross, Joan Harris, Zalman King. Thoughtful but static filmization of Tillie Olsen's novella chronicling the relationship between a dying woman and her husband of 40 years. Well acted by Douglas and Kedrova; Grant's first feature as director. That's Peter Coyote as the young Douglas. [PG]▼

Tell Me Lies (1968-British) C-118m.  D: Peter Brook. Glenda Jackson, The Royal Shakespeare Company, Kingsley Amis, Stokely Carmichael, Paul Scofield. Strange, unsuccessful combination of songs, skits, and newsreel footage attacking U.S. involvement in Vietnam wasn't even liked by doves. Interesting now merely as historical document.

Tell Me That You Love Me, Junie Moon (1970) C-112m. ½ D: Otto Preminger. Liza Minnelli, Ken Howard, Robert Moore,

James Coco, Kay Thompson, Fred Williamson, Nancy Marchand, Anne Revere. Moving story of three misfits who decide to live together: facially scarred Minnelli, epileptic Howard, wheelchair-bound homosexual Moore. Moments of comedy, melodrama, compassion expertly blended by Preminger in one of his best films; adapted from her novel by Marjorie Kellogg. [PG]

Tell No One (2006-French) C-126m.  D: Guillaume Canet. François Cluzet, André Dussollier, Marie-Josée Croze, Kristin Scott Thomas, Nathalie Baye, François Berléand, Jean Rochefort, Gilles Lellouche, Marina Hands, Philippe Lefebvre, Olivier Marchal. The police have never stopped being suspicious of pediatrician Cluzet since the mysterious death of his wife eight years ago—even though he was cleared—so when a new body is dug up near the crime scene he becomes their leading suspect. At the same time, he is given reason to believe his wife may be alive after all. Complex but exciting thriller is packed with plot twists and action, expertly handled by actor-turned-director Canet, who coscripted this adaptation of Harlan Coben's American novel (and appears briefly in flashbacks as the sleazy Philippe Neuville). Super 35.▼

Tell-Tale Heart, The (1963-British) 81m. ½ D: Ernest Morris. Laurence Payne, Adrienne Corri, Dermot Walsh, Selma Vaz Dias. Atmospheric Edgar Allan Poe yarn about a meek librarian who becomes obsessed, sexually and otherwise, with his pretty new neighbor—but she shows more of an interest in his charming and good-looking best friend.▼

Tell Them Willie Boy Is Here (1969) C-96m.  D: Abraham Polonsky. Robert Redford, Katharine Ross, Robert Blake, Susan Clark, Barry Sullivan, Charles McGraw, John Vernon. Massive manhunt for Indian who killed in self-defense pretends to be more important than it is, but is so well crafted the preaching can be overlooked. Moodily photographed by Conrad Hall. The blacklisted Polonsky's first film since FORCE OF EVIL 21 years before. Panavision. [PG—originally rated M]▼

Temp, The (1993) C-96m.  D: Tom Holland. Timothy Hutton, Lara Flynn Boyle, Faye Dunaway, Dwight Schultz, Oliver Platt, Steven Weber, Colleen Flynn, Scott Coffey, Dakin Matthews. Another "(Fill in the blank) From Hell" movie—this one suggesting what Eve Harrington might have been like with a psychotic streak and a penchant for office work instead of backstage-Broadway groupiedom. Surprisingly bearable until office casualties sparked by schemer Boyle's temporary employment become way too silly. [R]▼

Tempest (1959-Italian) C-125m. ½ D: Alberto Lattuada. Silvana Mangano, Van Heflin, Viveca Lindfors, Geoffrey Horne, Oscar Homolka, Robert Keith, Agnes Moorehead, Finlay Currie, Vittorio Gassman, Helmut Dantine. Turgid, disjointed costumer set in 18th-century Russia, loosely based on Pushkin novel about peasant uprising to dethrone Catherine the Great (Lindfors). Technirama.

Tempest (1982) C-140m.  D: Paul Mazursky. John Cassavetes, Gena Rowlands, Susan Sarandon, Vittorio Gassman, Raul Julia, Molly Ringwald, Sam Robards, Paul Stewart. Aimless comedy, loosely based on Shakespeare's play, has Cassavetes as a N.Y.C. architect who tries to solve his midlife crisis by moving to a Greek island with his teenage daughter. Appealing cast, beautiful scenery, some engaging scenes . . . but they don't quite add up. [PG]▼

Tempter, The (1974-Italian) C-96m. BOMB D: Alberto de Martino. Carla Gravina, Mel Ferrer, Arthur Kennedy, George Coulouris, Alida Valli, Umberto Orsini. Frenzied but pointless rip-off of THE EXORCIST with Gravina as Ferrer's demonized daughter. Bleech. Aka THE ANTICHRIST. [R]▼

Tempress, The (1926) 117m. ½ D: Fred Niblo. Greta Garbo, Antonio Moreno, Roy D'Arcy, Marc MacDermott, Lionel Barrymore, Virginia Brown Faire. Garbo's second American film is dated curio about wicked woman who drives men to death and destruction, only to have her own life ruined by falling in love with Moreno. Adapted from Blasco-Ibanez; some prints run 95m.▶

Tempress Moon (1996-Hong Kong-Chinese) C-127m.  D: Chen Kaige. Gong Li, Leslie Cheung, Zhou Yemang, Kevin Lin, He Saifei, Zhang Shi. Elaborate epic, set in and around Shanghai in the 1920s, about the long and involved relationship between a boy and girl raised together in an ancestral palace—and their renewed relationship in adult life after the former becomes an underworld character. There's opium, blackmail, implied incest, you name it—but so little cohesion that the U.S. distributor had to affix the equivalent of a baseball scoreboard at the movie's beginning so that audiences would know what was happening. [R]▼

10 (1979) C-122m.  D: Blake Edwards. Dudley Moore, Julie Andrews, Bo Derek, Robert Webber, Dee Wallace, Sam Jones, Brian Dennehy, Max Showalter, Don Calfa, Nedra Volz, James Noble, Doug Sheehan. Middle-aged songwriter finds himself hung up on sex, especially when he sets eyes on beautiful Derek. Blake Edwards' idea of a real sophisticated movie; sporadically funny but tiresome, glib, and pompous. Panavision. [R]▼●

Ten, The (2007) C-96m. BOMB D: David Wain. Paul Rudd, Famke Janssen, Winona Ryder, Jessica Alba, Adam Brody, Gretchen

Mol, Justin Theroux, A. D. Miles, Oliver Platt, Ken Marino, Rob Corddry, Kerri Kenney-Silver, Liev Schreiber, Ron Silver, Bobby Cannavale, Thomas Lennon, Robert Ben Garant, Jason Sudeikis. Smugly unfunny collection of go-nowhere skits relating to the Ten Commandments, hosted by Rudd (the film's coproducer), who plays an unhappily married man. Many talented performers are stuck on the same sinking ship, steered by Wain and Marino of The State. This breaks the Eleventh Commandment: Thou Shalt Not Make a Crummy Movie. [R]▶

Tenacious D: The Pick of Destiny (2006) C-92m. ½ D: Liam Lynch. Jack Black, Kyle Gass, J. R. (Jason) Reed, Ronnie James Dio, Paul F. Tompkins, Troy Gentile, Dave Grohl, Amy Adams. Wacky fantasy-comedy about the formation of Black and Gass' singing team Tenacious D and their search for a magical guitar pick. Broad, silly, with an animated segment and occasional gag cameos. Lightly likable throughout, but probably best left to fans of the act. Gentile is almost eerie in his replication of Black as a boy. [R]▶

Tenant, The (1976-French-U.S.) C-125m. ½ D: Roman Polanski. Roman Polanski, Isabelle Adjani, Melvyn Douglas, Jo Van Fleet, Shelley Winters, Bernard Fresson, Lila Kedrova, Claude Dauphin. Unique, bizarrely cast horror film about a timid clerk who rents an apartment whose previous inhabitant attempted suicide. Critically drubbed upon release but a latter-day cult item. Fine photography by Sven Nykvist. [R]▼

Tenants, The (2006) C-97m.  D: Danny Green. Dylan McDermott, Snoop Dogg, Rose Byrne, Seymour Cassel, Niki J. Crawford, Aldis Hodge. Grim drama, set in Brooklyn during the early 1970s, about a liberal—and very naïve—Jewish writer who is the lone resident of a graffiti-strewn tenement. As he obsessively pounds away on his typewriter, attempting to complete a book, he befriends a Jekyll-and-Hyde-like black man, a wannabe novelist who is at once friendly and uncompromisingly hostile. Intriguing story is based on a novel by Bernard Malamud, but what might have been a potent exploration of race relations is ponderous and melodramatic. [R]▶

Ten Canoes (2006-Australian-Italian) C/B&W-92m.  D: Rolf de Heer, Peter Djigirr. Crusee Kurrdal, Jamie Dayindi Gulpilil Dalaithngu, Richard Birrinbirrin, Peter Minygululu, Frances Djulibing; narrated by David Gulpilil Ridjimiril Dalaithngu. Absorbing, beautifully filmed two-part story. The first, shot in b&w, involves an Aborigine tribesman who covets one of the wives of his older brother; the second, in color, illustrates a story he is told that mirrors his yearning. First feature made in an Aboriginal language, executed with the assistance of the Ramingining people, many of whom appear on-screen. Super 35. ▽

Ten Commandments, The (1923) 146m.  D: Cecil B. DeMille. Theodore Roberts, Charles de Roche, Estelle Taylor, Richard Dix, Rod La Rocque, Leatrice Joy, Nita Naldi, Agnes Ayres. Biblical story, told in compact form (but on a gargantuan scale—with several scenes in two-color Technicolor) is only first portion of this silent film. The rest is a modern-day parable involving two brothers, one a saint, the other a sinner—and it's anything but subtle. Still, it's good entertainment in the best DeMille style. Remade in 1956, for TV in 2006, and as an animated feature in 2007. ▼

Ten Commandments, The (1956) C-220m. * D: Cecil B. DeMille. Charlton Heston, Yul Brynner, Anne Baxter, Edward G. Robinson, Yvonne De Carlo, Debra Paget, John Derek, Cedric Hardwicke, H.B. Warner, Henry Wilcoxon, Nina Foch, Martha Scott, Judith Anderson, Vincent Price, John Carradine, Woodrow (Woody) Strode. Vivid storytelling at its best. Biblical epic follows Moses' life from birth and abandonment through manhood, slavery, and trials in leading the Jews out of Egypt. Few subtleties in DeMille's second handling of this tale (first filmed in 1923) but few lulls, either. Parting of the Red Sea, writing of the holy tablets are unforgettable highlights. Oscar-winning special effects. VistaVision. ▼

Ten Days That Shook the World SEE: October

Ten Days Wonder (1972-French) C-101m. ½ D: Claude Chabrol. Orson Welles, Anthony Perkins, Marlene Jobert, Michel Piccoli, Guido Alberti. Ellery Queen meets Claude Chabrol in erratic but moody mystery concerning Perkins' love affair with stepmother Jobert. Film doesn't work, but is often fascinating to watch. [PG] ▼

Tender Comrade (1943) C-102m. ½ D: Edward Dmytryk. Ginger Rogers, Robert Ryan, Ruth Hussey, Patricia Collinge, Mady Christians, Kim Hunter, Jane Darwell. Rogers and friends live communally while their men are out fighting the war, a situation that caused this Dmytryk-Dalton Trumbo collaboration to be labeled as Communist propaganda by HUAC in later years. Some unbearable—and ironically, pro-American—speechifying, but occasionally fascinating as social history. ▼

Tender Flesh SEE: Welcome to Arrow Beach

Tender Is the Night (1962) C-146m. ½ D: Henry King. Jennifer Jones, Jason Robards, Jr., Joan Fontaine, Tom Ewell, Jill St. John, Paul Lukas. Sluggish, unflavorful version of F. Scott Fitzgerald novel with Jones unsatisfactory as mentally unstable wife of psychiatrist Robards; Fontaine is her chic sister; set in 1920s Europe. CinemaScope.

Tender Mercies (1983) C-92m.  D: Bruce Beresford. Robert Duvall, Tess Harper, Allan Hubbard, Betty Buckley, Ellen Barkin, Wilford Brimley, Lenny Von Dohlen, Paul Gleason. Winning but extremely low-key film about a country singer who finds the inspiration to put his life back together when he meets an attractive young widow and her little boy. Duvall's Oscar-winning performance is the real attraction here, though the whole cast is excellent; Horton Foote's screenplay (also an Oscar winner) is not so much a story as a series of vignettes. Incidentally, Duvall wrote two of his own songs for the film. [PG] ▼

Tender Scoundrel (1966-French-Italian) C-94m. *½ D: Jean Becker. Jean-Paul Belmondo, Nadja Tiller, Robert Morley, Genevieve Page. Dumb story of delightful rogue and ladies' man who is constantly on the hustle. Techniscope.

Tender Trap, The (1955) C-111m. ½ D: Charles Walters. Frank Sinatra, Debbie Reynolds, Celeste Holm, David Wayne, Carolyn Jones, Lola Albright, Tom Helmore, James Drury. Silly romp of swinging, set-in-his-ways N.Y.C. bachelor Sinatra, who meets his match in determined, marriage-minded Reynolds. A real time capsule of 1950s attitudes toward men, women, and sex. Impeccable support from Holm and Wayne; memorable Cahn-Van Heusen title tune. Julius J. Epstein adapted the Max Shulman and Robert Paul Smith play. CinemaScope. ▼

Tenebrae SEE: Unsane

Ten From Your Show of Shows (1973) 92m. * D: Max Liebman. Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner, Howard Morris, Louis Nye. Incomparable collection from early '50s TV show displaying comic genius of four stars, working with classic material by Mel Brooks, among others. Ten skits include FROM HERE TO ETERNITY spoof, silent-movie sendup, Swiss clock, and final, unbearably funny takeoff on This Is Your Life. A must. [G] ▼

Ten Gentlemen From West Point (1942) 102m.  D: Henry Hathaway. George Montgomery, Maureen O'Hara, John Sutton, Laird Cregar, Victor Francen, Harry Davenport, Ward Bond, Tom Neal, Ralph Byrd, Douglass Dumbrille. Early years of West Point, with focus on vicious commander Cregar and other assorted military film clichés; somehow, it's still entertaining.

10 Items or Less (2006) C-82m. ½ D: Brad Silberling. Morgan Freeman, Paz Vega, Bobby Cannavale, Anne Dudek, Kumar Pallana, Leonardo Nam, Jennifer Echols. Slight but disarming character study of a movie actor who goes to a supermarket to research a role and winds up spending the day with checker

Vega. Something of a lark for writer-director Silberling and actor-producer Freeman, who's seldom given a chance to be this lighthearted on-screen. His charm and charisma (and some sly in-jokes about Hollywood) make this worth seeing. [R]▼

Ten Little Indians (1966-British) 92m. ½ D: George Pollock. Hugh O'Brian, Shirley Eaton, Fabian, Leo Genn, Stanley Holloway, Wilfrid Hyde-White, Daliah Lavi, Dennis Price. Fair remake of Agatha Christie's whodunit AND THEN THERE WERE NONE, with suspects trapped in remote Alpine mansion. Originally released with gimmick of murder-minute for audience to guess killer. Remade again in 1975 and 1989.▼

Ten Little Indians (1975-British) C-98m. *½ D: Peter Collinson. Oliver Reed, Elke Sommer, Herbert Lom, Richard Attenborough, Charles Aznavour, Stéphane Audran, Gert Frobe, Adolfo Celi; voice of Orson Welles. Third rendering of Agatha Christie whodunit, set this time in Iran. Great plot cannot survive such tired retelling. [PG]▼

Ten Little Indians (1989) C-98m. BOMB D: Alan Birkinshaw. Donald Pleasence, Frank Stallone, Sarah Maur Thorp, Brenda Vaccaro, Herbert Lom, Warren Berlinger, Paul L. Smith, Moira Lister. Producer Harry Alan Towers' third redo of the Christie classic is his worst yet. This time he isolates an uninteresting cast in an African safari camp in the 1930s, and boringly plods through this once-intriguing, now-weary plot. [PG]▼●

Tennessee's Partner (1955) C-87m. ½ D: Allan Dwan. John Payne, Rhonda Fleming, Ronald Reagan, Coleen Gray, Morris Ankrum. Offbeat little Western with Payne excellent in an unusual "heel" characterization, Reagan accidentally becoming his pal. Based on a Bret Harte story. Filmed in SuperScope.▼

Ten North Frederick (1958) 102m.  D: Philip Dunne. Gary Cooper, Diane Varsi, Suzy Parker, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Tom Tully, Ray Stricklyn, Stuart Whitman, Barbara Nichols. Grasping wife (Fitzgerald) prods her husband (Cooper) into big-time politics, with disastrous results. He finds personal solace in love affair with much younger woman (Parker). Good performances in somewhat soapy adaptation of John O'Hara novel. CinemaScope.▼

10 Rillington Place (1971-British) C-111m.  D: Richard Fleischer. Richard Attenborough, Judy Geeson, John Hurt, Pat Heywood, Andre Morell, Bernard Lee. Low-key presentation of famous John Christie-Timothy Evans murder case that rocked Great Britain in the late 1940s. No overt editorializing but psychological undertone exists; outstanding performances

by entire cast and location filming inseparable with film's total effect. [PG]▼●

Ten Seconds to Hell (1959-U.S.-British) 93m. ½ D: Robert Aldrich. Jeff Chandler, Jack Palance, Martine Carol, Robert Cornthwaite, Dave Willock, Wesley Addy. Chandler and Palance are almost believable as Germans involved in defusing bombs in Berlin, while competing for Carol's affection. Also shown in computer-colored version.

Tentacles (1977-Italian) C-90m. *½ D: Oliver Hellman (Ovidio Assonitis). John Huston, Shelley Winters, Henry Fonda, Bo Hopkins, Delia Boccardo, Cesare Danova. Giant octopus threatens a seaside community in this rip-off of JAWS. Some unexpected casting and the spectacle of having killer whales emerge the heroes save the picture from total decay. Technovision. [PG]▼

Ten Tall Men (1951) C-97m. ½ D: Willis Goldbeck. Burt Lancaster, Jody Lawrence, Gilbert Roland, Kieron Moore. Tongue-in-cheek Foreign Legion tale, with dynamic Lancaster pushing the action along.

Tenth Avenue Angel (1948) 74m. BOMB D: Roy Rowland. Margaret O'Brien, Angela Lansbury, George Murphy, Phyllis Thaxter, Warner Anderson, Rhys Williams, Barry Nelson, Connie Gilchrist. Capable cast is lost in terrible, syrupy script about 8-year-old tenement girl O'Brien, her attachment to ex-con Murphy, and how she learns various, obvious lessons about faith. Filmed in 1946.

10 Things I Hate About You (1999) C-97m. ½ D: Gil Junger. Heath Ledger, Julia Stiles, Joseph Gordon-Levitt, Larisa Oleynik, David Krumholtz, Andrew Keegan, Susan May Pratt, Larry Miller, Daryl "Chill" Mitchell, Allison Janney, David Leisure, Letters to Cleo, Save Ferris. Over-protective dad rules that his pretty, popular daughter Bianca can only date when his hostile older daughter Katerina does. Several guys interested in Bianca therefore hire someone to pursue her doggedly unfriendly sister. Cute teen-comedy takeoff of The Taming of the Shrew set at Padua High School. Janney is great fun as Ms. Perky. [PG-13]▼●

10:30PM Summer (1966-U.S.-Spanish) C-85m.  D: Jules Dassin. Melina Mercouri, Romy Schneider, Peter Finch, Julián Mateos, Isabel Maria Pérez, Beatriz Savón. A couple traveling in a foreign country encounters problems and complications in their relationship. Largely unknown, all but forgotten Dassin film made in Spain is typical of similarly pretentious and mostly incoherent '60s fare. Mercouri is watchable as always; her scenes with Schneider pop off the screen. Scripted by Dassin and Marguerite Duras, from her novel.▼

10,000 BC (2008) C-109m.  D: Roland Emmerich. Steven Strait, Camilla Belle, Cliff Curtis, Joel Virgel, Affif Ben Badra,

Mo Zinal, Nathanael Baring, Mona Hammond, Marco Khan; narrated by Omar Sharif. Tale of prehistoric life follows a small group who leave their tribe of mammoth hunters in an effort to rescue others captured by slavers. This leads them to a pre-Egyptian city of ruthless pyramid-builders and much adventure. Earnest, well produced on rugged locations with occasionally good effects, but for the most part as ludicrous as other films of this type. Features cinema's first superfluous saber-tooth tiger. Super 35. [PG-13] ▾

Ten Thousand Bedrooms (1957) C-114m.

 D: Richard Thorpe. Dean Martin, Anna Maria Alberghetti, Eva Bartok, Dewey Martin, Walter Slezak, Paul Henreid, Jules Munshin, Marcel Dalio, Dean Jones. Dean's first film without Jerry Lewis seemed to spell doom for his career; it's a lightweight but overlong musical romance with Dino as a playboy hotel-manager in Rome. CinemaScope.

Tenth Victim, The (1965-Italian) C-92m.

 D: Elio Petri. Marcello Mastroianni, Ursula Andress, Elsa Martinelli, Salvo Randone, Massimo Serato. Cult sci-fi of futuristic society where violence is channeled into legalized murder hunts. Here, Ursula hunts Marcello. Intriguing idea, well done. Based on Robert Sheckley's story "The Sixth Victim." ▾

Ten 'til Noon (2007) C-88m. ½ D: Scott Storm.

Alfonso Freeman, Rick D. Wasserman, Rayne Guest, Jenya Lano, Thomas Kopache, Daniel Hagen, Dylan Kussman, Jennifer Hill, George Williams, Daniel Nathan Spector, Jason Hamer, Paul J. Alessi. Low-rent, Tarantinoesque crime thriller with a gimmick. A man is awakened by a gun-wielding assassin who tells him he's going to die in 10 minutes. We then live the same tense 10 minutes with a series of interlocking characters. The conclusion isn't as satisfying as the buildup, but Paul Osborne's script has some clever ideas. [R]

Ten to Midnight (1983) C-100m.  D:

J. Lee Thompson. Charles Bronson, Andrew Stevens, Gene Davis, Lisa Eilbacher, Wilford Brimley, Geoffrey Lewis. Handsome psycho-killer does his woman-killing in the nude, but runs afoul of police detective Bronson, whose daughter he terrorizes. Kicked off the force for falsifying evidence against the killer, Bronson goes on his usual Death Wish rampage. Ultraviolent, kinkier-than-average Bronson vehicle. [R] ▾

Ten Wanted Men (1955) C-80m.  D:

Bruce Humberstone. Randolph Scott, Jocelyn Brando, Richard Boone, Skip Homeier, Leo Gordon, Donna Martell. Conventional Western programmer with cattleman Scott's dream of law and order smashed by ambitions of ruthless rival Boone. ▾

Ten Who Dared (1960) C-92m. BOMB D: William Beaudine. Brian Keith, John

Beal, James Drury, R. G. Armstrong, Ben Johnson, L. Q. Jones. Dreadful Disney film based on true story of Major John Wesley Powell's exploration of Colorado River in 1869; cast is drowned in clichés, while action is sparse. Forget it. ▾

Teorema (1968-Italian) C-98m.  D: Pier Paolo Pasolini. Terence Stamp, Silvana Mangano, Massimo Girotti, Anna Wiazemsky, Laura Betti, Andres Jose Cruz. Pointed but obvious, occasionally hokey political/sexual fable, with Stamp cast as a young stranger who may be Christ—or Satan. He leaves an irrevocable impression on a bourgeois family by sleeping with its every member. Reworked as DALLAS DOLL, with Sandra Bernhard in the Stamp role! ▾

Tequila Sunrise (1988) C-116m. ½ D:

Robert Towne. Mel Gibson, Michelle Pfeiffer, Kurt Russell, Raul Julia, J.T. Walsh, Arliss Howard, Ann Magnuson, Arye Gross. Lifelong friends, one a supposedly retired drug dealer, the other a fast-rising L.A. cop, are forced to confront each other, both in business and in vying for the affections of a sleek restaurant owner. All three leads exude considerable charisma, but after a snappy start the script leads them nowhere. Veteran director Budd Boetticher plays a judge. Disappointing result for writer-director Towne. [R] ▾

Teresa (1951) 102m.  D: Fred Zinnemann. Pier Angeli, John Ericson, Patricia Collinge, Richard Bishop, Peggy Ann Garner, Ralph Meeker, Bill Mauldin, Edward Binns, Rod Steiger. Ambitious but slow-moving psychological drama of a sensitive young man (Ericson), saddled with a mother from hell, who meets and marries a sweet young Italian (Angeli) while fighting in Italy during WW2. Steiger plays a psychiatrist in his screen debut. See if you can spot Lee Marvin as a GI on board the ship returning to the U.S.

Teresa's Tattoo (1993) C-95m. BOMB D:

Julie Cypher. C. Thomas Howell, Nancy McKeon, Lou Diamond Phillips, Casey Siemaszko, Jonathan Silverman, Adrienne Shelly, Diedrich Bader, Anthony Clark, Tippi Hedren, k.d. lang, Joe Pantoliano, Mary Kay Place, Mare Winningham, Nanette Fabray, Majel Barrett. Moronic kidnapppers' equally moronic hostage accidentally drowns, and guess who's her double? A brainy doctoral candidate in applied mathematics. The laughs are nil in this alleged comedy, with a name cast going slumming. Melissa Etheridge (who did the original songs) appears as a hooker. Kiefer Sutherland appears unbilled as a cop. [R] ▾

Terminal, The (2004) C-128m.  D: Steven Spielberg. Tom Hanks, Catherine Zeta-Jones, Stanley Tucci, Chi McBride, Diego Luna, Barry Shabaka Henley, Kumar Palana, Zoë Saldana, Eddie Jones, Jude Cicco-

lella, Michael Nouri, Benny Golson. Good-hearted man from Eastern Europe lands at Kennedy Airport just as turmoil in his country causes his passport to be suspended. As a result, he's forced to live inside the airport, where he makes friends and becomes the bête noir of uptight security official Tucci. Spielberg takes a page from Frank Capra's LADY FOR A DAY and asks us to accept a sweet, optimistic fable—not easy for some people to do in this day and age. [PG-13] ▼

Terminal Bliss (1992) 91m. ½ D: Jordan Alan. Timothy Owen, Luke Perry, Estee Chandler. Modern teen-angst drama of disaffected rich kids as they betray each other, seduce one another's girlfriends, act self-indulgent, and seem bored by life. Major attraction here is Beverly Hills 90210 heartthrob Perry—though he poses no major threat to James Dean. Made in 1987. [R] ▼

Terminal Choice (1985-Canadian) C-97m. *½ D: Sheldon Larry. Joe Spano, Diane Venora, David McCallum, Robert Joy, Don Francks, Nicholas Campbell, Ellen Barkin. Deadly doings at a hospital; good cast wasted in this unsavory thriller. Also known as DEATHBED. [R] ▼

Terminal Island (1973) C-88m. *½ D: Stephanie Rothman. Phyllis Elizabeth Davis, Don Marshall, Barbara Leigh, Sean Kenney, Roger Mosley, Tom Selleck, Jo Morrow. Cynical exploitation film about futuristic offshore California penal colony where murderers are sent in lieu of abolished death penalty. Reissued a decade later to capitalize on the presence of several future stars, including Magnum P.I.'s Selleck and Mosley. [R] ▼

Terminal Man, The (1974) C-107m.  D: Mike Hodges. George Segal, Joan Hackett, Richard A. Dysart, Jill Clayburgh, Donald Moffat, Matt Clark, James (B.) Sikking, Ian Wolfe, Steve Kanaly, Lee DeBroux. Cold but engrossing thriller has computer scientist Segal coming under influence of computers in his brain which cause violence. Well acted; based on the Michael Crichton novel. [PG] ▼

Terminal Station SEE: Indiscretion of an American Wife

Terminal Velocity (1994) C-103m.  D: Deran Sarafian. Charlie Sheen, Nastassja Kinski, James Gandolfini, Christopher McDonald, Gary Bullock, Melvin Van Peebles, Hans R. Howes. Hotshot skydiving instructor Sheen is horrified when, on her first jump, his student Kinski plummets to her death—or does she? While trying to prove what really happened, he's plunged into intrigue, danger, and romance. Fast paced and witty, this is a bright variation on Hitchcock themes that, blessedly, never pretends to take itself very seriously. Sheen is miscast, but Kinski is terrific; so are the action scenes. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

Terminator, The (1984) C-108m. ½ D: James Cameron. Arnold Schwarzenegger, Michael Biehn, Linda Hamilton, Paul Winfield, Lance Henriksen, Rick Rossovich, Earl Boen, Dick Miller, Bill Paxton. A cyborg is sent here from the future to kill a seemingly innocent woman. Schwarzenegger is perfectly cast as violence-prone robot who cannot be stopped. Terrific action picture never lets up for a minute—a model for others to follow. Director Cameron cowrote with producer Gale Anne Hurd (inspired by the works of Harlan Ellison). Followed by three sequels and a TV series spinoff. [R] ▼

Terminator 2: Judgment Day (1991) C-136m. ½ D: James Cameron. Arnold Schwarzenegger, Linda Hamilton, Edward Furlong, Robert Patrick, Earl Boen, Joe Morton, S. Epatha Merkerson, Castulo Guerra, Danny Cooksey, Jenette Goldstein, Xander Berkeley. A “kinder, gentler” cyborg from the future returns, this time to protect the soon-to-be savior of humanity from destruction by a rival terminator. Box-office smash has special effects to knock your socks off (especially the “liquid metal”), and action to spare, but like so many sequels, lacks the freshness of the first film and gives us no one to root for. Oscar winner for Best Makeup, Sound, Sound Effects Editing, and Visual Effects. Some versions feature additional footage. Super 35. [R] ▼

Terminator 3: Rise of the Machines (2003) C-110m.  D: Jonathan Mostow. Arnold Schwarzenegger, Nick Stahl, Claire Danes, David Andrews, Kristanna Loken, Mark Famiglietti, Christopher Lawford. A sleek, sexy new terminator (Loken) returns to kill a now-grown-up John Connor (Stahl), but a T-101 (Schwarzenegger) is on her trail. Not as innovative as the original, or as overblown as the sequel, this one simply entertains, with lots of large-scale action and special effects. Its weakest moments: trying to play off Arnold's “I'll be back” catchlines. Stan Winston's robotic creations are as impressive as ever. Super 35. [R] ▼

Terminator Salvation (2009) C-114m.  D: McG. Christian Bale, Sam Worthington, Anton Yelchin, Moon Bloodgood, Bryce Dallas Howard, Common, Jane Alexander, Helena Bonham Carter, Jadagraceberry, Michael Ironside, Ivan Gvera, Terry Crews; voice of Linda Hamilton. In the year 2018 a handful of surviving humans wage war with the machines that rule the planet, run by a network known as Skynet. John Connor (Bale) is part of the armed resistance trying to destroy this army of terminators—but he doesn't know what to make of a superstrong stranger (Worthington) who shows up with no memory of where he came from. Viscerally exciting (if sometimes ear-splitting) blend of action and science fiction has visual effects to spare but

boils down to an epic battle between the good guys and the bad. Super 35. [PG-13]

Termini Station (1989-Canadian) C-105m.  D: Allan King. Colleen Dewhurst, Megan Follows, Gordon Clapp, Debra McGrath, Leon Pownall, Elliott Smith, Norma Dell'Agnese, Hanna Lee. Dreary, unenlightening portrait of an angst-ridden family: the father was killed in what may have been a suicide, the mother has become an alcoholic, the son a self-absorbed heel, the daughter a grim-faced prostitute. Tennis, anyone? ▼

Term of Trial (1962-British) 113m. ½ D: Peter Glenville. Laurence Olivier, Simone Signoret, Sarah Miles, Terence Stamp, Roland Culver, Hugh Griffith. Talky story of schoolmaster charged with assault by young Miles, and subsequent trial's effect on Olivier's wife, Signoret. Despite fine cast, a wearisome film. Miles' film debut.

Terms of Endearment (1983) C-132m. * D: James L. Brooks. Shirley MacLaine, Debra Winger, Jack Nicholson, John Lithgow, Jeff Daniels, Lisa Hart Carroll, Danny DeVito. Wonderful mix of humor and heartache follows the relationship of a mother and daughter over the years. Consistently offbeat and unpredictable, with exceptional performances by all three stars; first-time director Brooks also wrote the screenplay from Larry McMurtry's novel. Won Oscars for MacLaine, Nicholson, Screenplay, Director, and Best Picture. Sequel: THE EVENING STAR. [PG] ▼ ● ●

Terrible Beauty, A SEE: Night Fighters

Terror, The (1963) C-81m. ½ D: Roger Corman. Boris Karloff, Jack Nicholson, Sandra Knight, Dick Miller. Engaging chiller nonsense with Karloff the mysterious owner of a castle where eerie deeds occur; set on Baltic coast in 1800s. This is the legendary Corman quickie for which all of Karloff's scenes were shot in less than three days as the sets (from THE RAVEN) were being torn down around them! Vista-scope. ▼ ● ●

Terror at Red Wolf Inn SEE: Terror House

Terror at the Opera (1987-Italian) C-107m. ½ D: Dario Argento. Cristina Marsillach, Ian Charleson, Urbano Barberini, Daria Nicolodi, Corallina G. Tassoni. Horror opus about a young diva who's being stalked by a madman. As customary with Argento, this is stylish but nonsensical, with some over-the-top gore, backed up by a screeching rock score and insane camera calisthenics. Also available in updated version. Aka OPERA. Super 35. [R] ▼ ●

Terror Beneath the Sea (1970-Japanese) C-85m. *½ D: Hajimo Sato. Peggy Neal, Andrew Hughes, Shinichi (Sonny) Chiba, Mike Daneen, Eric Nielson. Mad scientist creates monsters from human prisoners in an underwater city. The usual. ▼ ●

Terror By Night (1946) 60m. ½ D: Roy William Neill. Basil Rathbone, Nigel Bruce, Alan Mowbray, Dennis Hoey, Renee Godfrey, Mary Forbes. Sherlock Holmes dodges death at every turn while guarding a priceless diamond on a bullet-train en route from London to Edinburgh. Lesser, later entry does give Mowbray a fine supporting role. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼ ● ●

Terror Castle SEE: Horror Castle

Terror From Under the House SEE: Inn of the Frightened People

Terror Hospital SEE: Beyond the Living Terror House (1972) C-98m. *½ D: Bud Townsend. Linda Gillin, Arthur Space, John Neilson, Mary Jackson, Michael Macready. A young woman gets more than she bargained for when she wins a "vacation" trip to an old mansion. Pre-dates other cannibalism efforts, and doesn't take itself that seriously—but still not very good. Aka CLUB DEAD, THE FOLKS AT RED WOLF INN, and TERROR AT RED WOLF INN. Some prints run 83m. Video title: TERROR ON THE MENU. [PG—edited from original R rating] ▼ ●

Terror in a Texas Town (1958) 80m. ½ D: Joseph H. Lewis. Sterling Hayden, Sebastian Cabot, Carol Kelly, Eugene Martin, Ned Young, Victor Millan. Offbeat Western drama about Scandinavian whaler (Hayden) who comes to his father's farm in Texas, finds town terrorized by Cabot, who's forcing everyone to sell their oil-rich land. Incredible final showdown. ▼ ●

Terror in the Aisles (1984) C/B&W-85m. *½ D: Andrew J. Kuehn. Nancy Allen, Donald Pleasence. Endless collage of film clips from almost 75 terror movies, from ALIEN to WAIT UNTIL DARK, with the kitchen sink in between. There's silly commentary from Allen and Pleasence, sitting in a simulated movie house, and just too much footage for it all to make any sense. For diehard genre addicts only. [R] ▼

Terror in the Wax Museum (1973) C-93m. *½ D: Georg Fenady. Ray Milland, Broderick Crawford, Elsa Lanchester, Maurice Evans, Shani Wallis, John Carradine, Louis Hayward, Patric Knowles, Mark Edwards. Low-grade murder mystery takes little advantage of wax museum horror potential; a good cast wasted. If you look closely you can see the "wax figures" moving. [PG] ▼

Terror in Toyland SEE: You Better Watch Out

Terrorist, The (1999-Indian) C-95m.  D: Santosh Sivan. Ayesha Dharkar, Parmeshwaran, Vishnu Vardhan, Bhanu Prakash, K. Krishna, Sonu Sisupal, Vishwas. Contemplative, multilayered portrait of the title character (Dharkar), a 19-year-old fighter in a guerilla war against an unnamed enemy who is recruited as a suicide bomber. Her mission is to assassinate a politician, and it is guaranteed to end in her death. The film's strength is that she is depicted insightfully, as a human being, rather than as a one-dimensional villain or heroine. Well worth seeing. ▼

Terrorists, The (1975-British) C-97m. *½ D: Caspar Wrede. Sean Connery, Ian McShane, Jeffrey Wickham, Isabel Dean, John Quentin. Muddled thriller about political terrorism and airline hijacking is indifferently acted by Connery and McShane, amateurishly directed, and tediously unspooled. Pity, because premise is sound and photography (by Sven Nykvist) is smashing. Original British title: RANSOM. Filmed in Norway. [PG] ▼

Terrornauts, The (1967-British) C-75m. *½ D: Montgomery Tully. Simon Oates, Zena Marshall, Charles Hawtreay, Patricia Hayes, Stanley Meadows, Max Adrian. Alien forces kidnap an entire building on Earth, people and all. Based on Murray Leinster's novel The Wailing Asteroid, this sci-fi film is hampered by low budget. ▼

Terror of Dr. Hichcock SEE: Horrible Dr. Hichcock, The

Terror of Frankenstein (1975-Swedish-Irish) C-91m.  D: Calvin Floyd. Leon Vitali, Per Oscarsson, Nicholas Clay, Stacey Dornig, Jan Ohlsson. Literate, well-made adaptation of the classic story, definitely worth a look for horror buffs. This is the most faithful of all film versions of Mary Shelley's novel. Original title: VICTOR FRANKENSTEIN. ▼

Terror of Mechagodzilla (1975-Japanese) C-83m. *½ D: Ishiro Honda. K. Sasaki, Tomoko Ai, Akihiko Hirata, Kenji Sahara. Mechagodzilla is restored by villains and sent to destroy Godzilla again, aided by the remote-controlled Titanosaurus. Colorful and full of brawling monsters. Toho scope. ▼

Terror of Sheba, The SEE: Persecution Terror of the Tongs

Terror of the Tongs (1961-British) C-79m. ½ D: Anthony Bushell. Geoffrey Toone, Burt Kwouk, Brian Worth, Christopher Lee, Richard Leech. Atmospheric British thriller of captain searching for killers of daughter; eventually breaks entire Tong society in Hong Kong. Good acting but may be a little gruesome for some viewers. Released theatrically in b&w. ▼

Terror of Tiny Town, The (1938) 63m. *½ D: Sam Newfield. Billy Curtis, Yvonne Moray, Little Billy, John Bambury. If you're looking for a midget musical Western, look no further. A typical sagebrush plot is enacted (pretty badly) by a cast of little people, and the indelible impression is that of characters sauntering into the saloon under those swinging doors! ▼

Terror on the Menu SEE: Terror House Terror's Advocate (2007-French) C-137m.  D: Barbet Schroeder. Forceful, unsettling

documentary chronicling the life of Jacques Vergès, a lawyer who fought for the Free French during WW2 and later became notorious for defending such war criminals and terrorists as Klaus Barbie, Slobodan Milosevic, and Carlos the Jackal. He also wed one of his clients: Djamilia Bouhired, an Algerian who planted bombs during the French-Algerian war. Schroeder poses some provocative questions about his subject's convictions and motivations. Does he have a political agenda, or is he merely an egomaniac? ▼

Terror Train (1980-Canadian) C-97m.  D: Roger Spottiswoode. Ben Johnson, Jamie Lee Curtis, Hart Bochner, David Copperfield, Derek Mackinnon, D. D. Winters (Vanity), Timothy Weber. Fraternity hires a train for a night-long graduation costume party only to have an ex-member, emotionally scarred by an initiation prank, come aboard, disguised and uninvited, to seek revenge. Stylish photography—by John (A CLOCKWORK ORANGE) Alcott, of all people—and novelty of killer donning the costume of each successive victim lift this above most of the others in this disreputable genre. [R] ▼

TerrorVision (1986) C-85m. BOMB D: Ted Nicolaou. Diane Franklin, Mary Woronov, Gerrit Graham, Chad Allen, Bert Remsen, Alejandro Rey, Randi Brooks, Sonny Carl Davis. Inept direction and overacting sink this cartoonish tale of a family and friends' reactions when a monster from outer space emerges from their TV set. Watch the old Outer Limits episode instead. [R] ▼

Terror Within, The (1988) C-88m.  D: Thierry Notz. Andrew Stevens, Starr Andreoff, Terri Treas, George Kennedy, John LaFayette, Tommy Hinkley. Grim horror/sci-fi concoction set after plague has wiped out 99 percent of humanity. An underground medical center is attacked by hybrid monsters born of human women and bent on creating more of the same. Low-budget Roger Corman production is a cross between ALIEN and THE DAY THE WORLD ENDED, with a routine, predictable plot. Followed by a sequel. [R] ▼

Terror Within II, The (1992) C-89m. *½ D: Andrew Stevens. Andrew Stevens, Stella Stevens, Chick Vennera, R. Lee Ermey, Burton "Bubba" Gilliam, Clare Hoak. More monsters vs. more scientists in underground bunker after catastrophic plague. Debuting director (and star) Stevens, looking like Rambo, fogs the cheap sets and shows a few good ideas, but his own absurd story sinks it all. That's his mom in a costarring part. [R] ▼

Tess (1979-French-British) C-170m. ½ D: Roman Polanski. Nastassia Kinski, Peter Firth, John Bett, Tom Chaddon, Rosemary Martin, Leigh Lawson, Sylvia Coleridge. Handsome, evocative adaptation of Thomas

Hardy's Tess of the D'Urbervilles, with Kinski in her star-making performance as the strong-willed girl from a poor family whose fortunes rise and fall when she is foisted onto polite society. Long but engrossing. Oscar winner for Cinematography, Costume Design, and Art Direction. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Tess of the Storm Country (1960) C-84m. ½ D: Paul Guilfoyle. Diane Baker, Jack Ging, Lee Philips, Archie Duncan, Nancy Valentine, Bert Remsen, Wallace Ford. Leisurely reworking of Grace Miller White novel set in Pennsylvania Dutch country. Here, Tess (Baker) becomes immersed in a dispute between farmers, Mennonites, and chemical plant operators who are polluting the environment. Previously filmed in 1914, 1922, and 1932. CinemaScope.

Testament (1983) C-89m. ½ D: Lynne Littman. Jane Alexander, William Devane, Roxana Zal, Ross Harris, Lukas Haas, Philip Anglim, Lilia Skala, Leon Ames, Rebecca De Mornay, Mako, Lurene Tuttle, Kevin Costner. Admirably understated drama about a small town contending with nuclear holocaust, focusing on one tight-knit family. Restrained and effective, with a heartrending performance by Alexander. Screenplay by John Sacret Young, from a story by Carol Amen. Originally made for PBS' American Playhouse. [PG]▼●●

Testament of Dr. Mabuse, The (1932-German) 121m. ½ D: Fritz Lang. Rudolf Klein-Rogge, Otto Wernicke, Gustav Diessl, Karl Meixner. Criminal mastermind controls his underworld empire even while confined to an insane asylum! Fabled character from Lang's silent-film epic returns in less stylized but no less entertaining crime story—which even incorporates supernatural elements. Film was a subject of controversy during Nazi era. Lang returned to this character once more for THE 1,000 EYES OF DR. MABUSE in 1960, but other hands remade this script in 1962. Aka THE LAST WILL OF DR. MABUSE. Some prints run 75m. Retitled THE CRIMES OF DR. MABUSE.▼

Testament of Orpheus, The (1959-French) 80m. ½ D: Jean Cocteau. Jean Cocteau, Edouard Dermit, Henri Cremieux, Jean-Pierre Léaud, Alice Sapritch, Françoise Christophe, Yul Brynner, Daniel Gélín, Maria Casares, François Perier, Charles Aznavour, Pablo Picasso, Luis Miguel Dominguin, Lucia Bosé, Jean Marais, Brigitte Bardot, Roger Vadim, Claudine Auger. Cocteau's deeply personalized farewell is a catalogue of his philosophies and phantasies. Occasionally too artsy, his reverie has no storyline per se, just a succession of astonishingly dreamy images with a seemingly impossible cast. A few moments are in startling color. Third in his Orphic Trilogy after THE BLOOD OF A POET and ORPHEUS. Full title on screen is THE

TESTAMENT OF ORPHEUS OR DO NOT ASK ME WHY.▼

Testimony (1987-British) C/B&W-157m.  D: Tony Palmer. Ben Kingsley, Terence Rigby, Ronald Pickup, John Shrapnel, Sherry Baines, Robert Stephens, Murray Melvin, Robert Urquhart. Ambitious, overlong biopic of composer Dmitri Shostakovich focuses on his political problems in the Soviet Union. Kingsley brings depth to the leading role, and Nic Knowland provides fabulous widescreen camerawork in b&w (with flashes of color), but these attributes cannot overcome a turgid narrative. Panavision.●

Test of Love, A (1984-Australian) C-93m.  D: Gil Brealey. Angela Punch McGregor, Drew Forsythe, Wallas Eaton, Simon Chilvers, Liddy Clark, Tina Arhondis. Moving, inspirational, if a bit too predictable story of a young teacher (Punch McGregor), and her attempts to reach a disabled girl (Arhondis, whose performance is truly wonderful). Based on a true story; originally titled ANNIE'S COMING OUT. [PG]▼

Test Pilot (1938) 118m.  D: Victor Fleming. Clark Gable, Myrna Loy, Spencer Tracy, Lionel Barrymore, Samuel S. Hinds, Marjorie Main, Gloria Holden, Louis Jean Heydt. Blend of romantic comedy and drama doesn't always work, but with those stars it's well worth watching. Tracy steals film as Gable's mechanic/pal in story of daredevils who try out new aircraft. Based on a Frank "Spig" Wead story.▼

Tex (1982) C-103m.  D: Tim Hunter. Matt Dillon, Jim Metzler, Meg Tilly, Bill McKinney, Frances Lee McCain, Ben Johnson, Emilio Estevez, Jack Thibreau. First of S. E. Hinton's young-adult best sellers to reach the screen (via the Disney company) is an understated but likable tale of a boy whose mother has died, whose father is away, whose brother is trying to raise him with no money and little patience . . . and whose self-esteem is nil. Straightforward little drama. Hinton has a cameo as a teacher. [PG]▼●●

Texas (1941) 93m.  D: George Marshall. William Holden, Glenn Ford, Claire Trevor, George Bancroft, Edgar Buchanan. High-level Western of two friends, one a rustler, the other a cattleman, competing for Trevor's affection.▼

Texas Across the River (1966) C-101m.  D: Michael Gordon. Dean Martin, Alain Delon, Joey Bishop, Rosemary Forsyth, Peter Graves, Tina Marquand (Aumont), Andrew Prine, Michael Ansara, Dick (Richard) Farnsworth. Diverting takeoff on cowboy-and-Indian films, with Bishop hilarious as a deadpan Indian and Marquand cute as a young Indian maiden. Techniscope.▼●

Texas Carnival (1951) C-77m.  D: Charles Walters. Esther Williams, Howard Keel, Red Skelton, Ann Miller, Keenan

Wynn, Tom Tully, Red Norvo. Emptier than usual, this flabby MGM musical about penniless carry mistaken for millionaire leaves fine cast high and dry with no fresh material. ▼●

Texas Chain Saw Massacre, The (1974) C-83m.  D: Tobe Hooper. Marilyn Burns, Gunnar Hansen, Edwin Neal, Allen Danzinger, Paul A. Partain, William Vail. Travelers in rural Texas encounter crazed family of bizarros who have a committed though unusual sense of what cuts of meat you need for good barbecue. Sweat-inducing, claustrophobic, unrelenting suspense-comic-horror film. Classic and influential—and nowhere nearly as violent as it's reputed to be. Narrated by an unbilled John Larroquette. Remade in 2003. Followed by three sequels. [R] ▼●●

Texas Chainsaw Massacre, The (2003) C-98m. *½ D: Marcus Nispel. Jessica Biel, Jonathan Tucker, Erica Leerhsen, Mike Vogel, Eric Balfour, Andrew Bryniarski, R. Lee Ermey, David Dorfman; narrated by John Larroquette. Teenagers in Texas are attacked by an inbred family of cannibals. This remake is intense but completely lacks the leavening sense of humor that enhanced the original. Once it kicks into gear, it's brutally unrelenting toward its unappealing characters—and the audience. Followed by the "prequel" THE TEXAS CHAINSAW MASSACRE: THE BEGINNING. [R] ▼

Texas Chainsaw Massacre 2, The (1986) C-95m. BOMB D: Tobe Hooper. Dennis Hopper, Caroline Williams, Bill Johnson, Jim Siedow, Bill Moseley. Hooper returns with a mind-numbing, pretentious sequel. Hopper plays a nutty ex-Texas Ranger obsessed with revenge against the crazed family of Texas cannibals, while deejay Williams is simply looking to save her own skin when the cannibals go after her following a broadcast that angers them. Frenetic overacting and unfunny attempts at black humor sink this mess. Followed by LEATHERFACE: TEXAS CHAINSAW MASSACRE III. [R] ▼●●

Texas Chainsaw Massacre: The Beginning, The (2006) C-91m. *½ D: Jonathan Liebesman. Jordana Brewster, Taylor Handley, Diora Baird, Matthew Bomer, Lee Tergesen, R. Lee Ermey, Andrew Bryniarski; narrated by John Larroquette. When the ideas for endless sequels wear out, bring on the prequels! This one creates a backstory for the chainsaw-wielding Leatherface, set in the 1970s. Two teen brothers and their girlfriends go on a final fling before shipping off to Vietnam, get caught up in the infamous house of horrors and face-lifts after a car accident brings them to the attention of the evil local sheriff. There is nothing to suggest the '70s period; it's all about graphic violence. This is one "beginning" whose ending can't come quickly enough. Unrated version runs 96m. Super 35. [R] ●

Texas Chainsaw Massacre: The Next Generation (1997) C-84m. *½ D: Kim Henkel. Renée Zellweger, Matthew McConaughey, Robert Jacks, Tonie Perenski, Lisa Newmyer, Tyler Cone, John Harrison. More Texas teenagers are menaced by a backwoods family of murderous maniacs. Though a semi-remake of the first film, it's nowhere near as interesting or scary—no chainsaws, no cannibalism. Writer-director Henkel tries for profundity at the end and blows it, but it's clear why Zellweger and the scenery-devouring McConaughey went on to bigger things. Aka RETURN OF THE TEXAS CHAINSAW MASSACRE; that version runs 94m. [R] ▼●

Texas Detour (1978) C-92m.  D: Hikmet Avedis. Patrick Wayne, Mitch Vogel, Lindsay Bloom, R. G. Armstrong, Priscilla Barnes, Cameron Mitchell. Typical low-grade action picture about a macho stunt driver. [R] ▼

Texas Lady (1955) C-86m.  D: Tim Whelan. Claudette Colbert, Barry Sullivan, Greg Walcott, Horace McMahon, John Litel. Genteel oater with Colbert lovely as crusading newspaper editor in old West. Mediocre script. SuperScope. ▼

Texas Rangers, The (1936) 95m.  D: King Vidor. Fred MacMurray, Jack Oakie, Jean Parker, Lloyd Nolan, Edward Ellis. Fine, elaborate Western of three comrades who split up; MacMurray and Oakie become rangers, Nolan an outlaw. Remade as STREETS OF LAREDO; sequel: THE TEXAS RANGERS RIDE AGAIN. ▼●

Texas Rangers, The (1951) C-74m.  D: Phil Karlson. George Montgomery, Gale Storm, Jerome Courtland, Noah Beery, Jr. Aimless Western involving Texas law enforcers against gang of outlaws. ▼

Texas Rangers, The (2001) C-90m. ½ D: Steve Miner. James Van Der Beek, Dylan McDermott, Usher Raymond, Ashton Kutcher, Robert Patrick, Rachael Leigh Cook, Alfred Molina, Tom Skerritt, Leonor Varela, Randy Travis, Matt Keeslar, Jon Abrahams, Vincent Spano, Oded Fehr, Joe Spano. Young man joins the recently formed Texas Rangers to avenge the death of his family and becomes an aide to the unit's enigmatic leader (McDermott). Beautifully mounted widescreen Western isn't bad, but its story is superficial and derivative. Of the young stars, Van Der Beek fares best, while Molina has fun as a sneering villain. This sat on the shelf for almost two years. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●

Texasville (1990) C-123m. ½ D: Peter Bogdanovich. Jeff Bridges, Cybill Shepherd, Annie Potts, Timothy Bottoms, Cloris Leachman, Randy Quaid, Eileen Brennan, William McNamara, Angie Bolling. Mildly diverting sequel to THE LAST PICTURE SHOW, from Larry McMurtry's novel, revealing that time has turned a number of the leading characters into Texas caricatures. No real plot to speak of, just a series of vignettes, some better than others. Potts stands out as Bridges' brassy wife, with Shepherd trying to assert the seriousness of her underwritten role by wearing no makeup and looking as bad (realistic?) as possible in every single shot. [R] ▼●●

Texan, The (1966) C-91m.  D: Lesley Selander. Audie Murphy, Broderick Crawford, Diana Lorys, Luz Marquez, Antonio Casas, Antonio Perel. Routine Spanish-made Western pits ex-lawman Murphy against ruthless frontier town boss Crawford. Techniscope. ▼●

Thank God, It's Friday (1978) C-90m. BOMB D: Robert Klane. Donna Summer, Valerie Landsburg, Terri Nunn, Chick Vennera, Ray Vitte, Jeff Goldblum, Paul Jabara, Debra Winger, Andrea Howard, The Commodores (with Lionel Richie). Perhaps the worst film ever to have won some kind of Oscar (for Summer's hit song, "Last Dance"), this one-night-in-the-life-of-a-disco comedy is about as monotonous and uninventive as disco music itself. [PG] ▼●

Thanks a Million (1935) 87m.  D: Roy Del Ruth. Dick Powell, Ann Dvorak, Fred Allen, Patsy Kelly, Alan Dinehart, Margaret Irving, Paul Whiteman and Orchestra, Yacht Club Boys. Very entertaining musical of crooner Powell running for governor, with help of wisecracking manager Allen, sweetheart Dvorak, and blustery politician Raymond Walburn. Good fun, with several breezy tunes and specialties by Whiteman and Yacht Club Boys. Script by Nunnally Johnson. Remade as IF I'M LUCKY.

Thanks for the Memory (1938) 77m. ½ D: George Archainbaud. Bob Hope, Shirley Ross, Charles Butterworth, Otto Kruger, Roscoe Karns, Hedda Hopper, Patricia Wilder, Laura Hope Crews, Eddie Anderson. Paper-thin romantic comedy (from a play by Albert Hackett and Frances Goodrich) reteams Hope and Ross, who sang the title tune in THE BIG BROADCAST OF 1938. Here, they're newlyweds who face a crisis: he's got to stop partying and finish his novel. Song highlight: "Two Sleepy People." ▼

Thank You All Very Much (1969-British) C-105m.  D: Waris Hussein. Sandy Dennis, Ian McKellen, Eleanor Bron, John Standing. Absorbing study of unwed mother who decides to have her baby. Realistic and touching. [M/PG]

Thank You for Smoking (2006) C-92m.  D: Jason Reitman. Aaron Eckhart, Maria Bello, Adam Brody, Katie Holmes, Cameron Bright, Robert Duvall, William H. Macy, Rob Lowe, David Koehnner, Sam Elliott, J. K. Simmons, Kim Dickens. Spot-on satire of American culture and the phenomenon of spinmeisters, focusing on Nick

Naylor (Eckhart, in a dynamic performance), who's the unapologetic spokesman for the tobacco industry in Washington, D.C. A trip to California gives the divorced dad a chance to spend time with (and explain himself to) his inquisitive and impressionable son. Impressive feature debut for director Reitman (son of Ivan), who also adapted Christopher Buckley's book. Panavision. [R] ●

Thank Your Lucky Stars (1943) 127m.  D: David Butler. Eddie Cantor, Dennis Morgan, Joan Leslie; guest stars Humphrey Bogart, Bette Davis, Olivia de Havilland, Errol Flynn, John Garfield, Ida Lupino, Ann Sheridan, etc. Very lame plot (Cantor plays both himself and look-alike cabbie) frames all-star Warner Bros. show, with Davis singing "They're Either Too Young Or Too Old," Flynn delightfully performing "That's What You Jolly Well Get," other staid stars breaking loose. ▼●●

That Certain Age (1938) 101m. ½ D: Edward Ludwig. Deanna Durbin, Melvyn Douglas, Jackie Cooper, Irene Rich, Nancy Carroll, John Halliday, Jack Searl. Deanna develops crush on her parents' houseguest, sophisticated Douglas, leaving boyfriend Cooper out in the cold—and saddled with responsibility for putting on amateur show. Silly script made bearable by stars. ▼

That Certain Feeling (1956) C-103m. BOMB D: Norman Panama, Melvin Frank. Bob Hope, Eva Marie Saint, George Sanders, Pearl Bailey, Al Capp, Jerry Mathers. Incredibly bad Hope comedy with Bob as neurotic cartoonist; Sanders gives only life to stale film. Pearl sings title song. Vista-Vision.

That Certain Woman (1937) 93m. ½ D: Edmund Goulding. Bette Davis, Henry Fonda, Ian Hunter, Donald Crisp, Anita Louise, Minor Watson, Sidney Toler. Remake of Goulding's early talkie THE TRESPASSER (with Gloria Swanson) features Bette as a gangster's widow who's trying to start life afresh and finds herself in a romantic triangle with weak-willed playboy Fonda and lawyer Hunter. Well-acted soap. ▼

That Championship Season (1982) C-110m.  D: Jason Miller. Bruce Dern, Stacy Keach, Robert Mitchum, Martin Sheen, Paul Sorvino, Arthur Franz. Disappointing adaptation of Miller's Pulitzer Prize-winning play (which took 10 years to reach the screen), about the 24th annual reunion of a high school basketball squad and their paternalistic coach. Whatever made it work on stage is missing here; the movie never catches fire, and its characters come off more as caricatures. Remade for TV in 1999. [R] ▼●

That Cold Day in the Park (1969) C-113m. *½ D: Robert Altman. Sandy Dennis, Michael Burns, Susanne Benton, John Garfield, Jr., Luana Anders, Michael Murphy. Strange, plodding film with frustrated spinner taking in young man she sees in the park. What follows is bizarre and unmoving; a far cry from Altman's later work. Filmed in Canada. [R]▼

That Darn Cat! (1965) C-116m.  D: Robert Stevenson. Hayley Mills, Dean Jones, Dorothy Provine, Roddy McDowall, Neville Brand, Elsa Lanchester, William Demarest, Frank Gorshin, Ed Wynn. Long but entertaining suspense comedy from Disney, about a cat that leads FBI man Jones on trail of kidnapped woman. Slapstick scenes and character vignettes highlight this colorful film. Remade in 1997. ▼●●

That Darn Cat (1997) C-89m. *½ D: Bob Spiers. Christina Ricci, Doug E. Doug, Dean Jones, George Dzundza, Peter Boyle, Michael McKean, Bess Armstrong, Dyan Cannon, John Ratzenberger, Megan Cavanaugh, Estelle Parsons, Rebecca Schull. Remake of the 1965 film follows basically the same plot, but without the same results; every change is for the worse. Even the cat is boring. Director Spiers hammers every joke flat, so his talented cast is helpless, though Ricci and McKean have some good moments. Doug is funny, but seems to come from a different, broader movie. [PG] ▼●●

That Forsyte Woman (1949) C-114m. ½ D: Compton Bennett. Errol Flynn, Greer Garson, Walter Pidgeon, Robert Young, Janet Leigh, Harry Davenport. Rather superficial adaptation of John Galsworthy novel of a faithless woman (Garson) who finds herself attracted to her niece's fiancé; good-looking, but no match for the later BBC-TV series The Forsyte Saga. ▼

That Funny Feeling (1965) C-93m. ½ D: Richard Thorpe. Sandra Dee, Bobby Darin, Donald O'Connor, Nita Talbot, Larry Storch, Leo G. Carroll, Robert Strauss. Funny only if you adore Darin and Dee, and even then story of footloose playboy and maid who pretends she lives in his apartment wears thin. ●

That Hagen Girl (1947) 83m. ½ D: Peter Godfrey. Ronald Reagan, Shirley Temple, Rory Calhoun, Lois Maxwell, Dorothy Peterson, Charles Kemper, Conrad Janis, Penny Edwards, Jean Porter, Harry Davenport. Obvious but fascinating time capsule about small-town small-mindedness, with teen Temple ostracized because gossips think she's illegitimate. Of interest for the casting of Temple and Reagan (playing a lawyer who supposedly is Shirley's father), and as a portrait of a time in which illegitimate children were victimized because of the circumstances of their births.

That Hamilton Woman (1941) 128m.  D: Alexander Korda. Vivien Leigh, Laurence Olivier, Alan Mowbray, Sara

Allgood, Gladys Cooper, Henry Wilcoxon, Heather Angel. Olivier and Leigh—both breathtakingly beautiful—enact ill-fated historical romance of Lord Admiral Nelson and Lady Emma Hamilton in American-made film intended to spur pro-British feelings. P.S.: It was Winston Churchill's favorite movie. Aka LADY HAMILTON. ▼●●

That Kind of Woman (1959) 92m.  D: Sidney Lumet. Sophia Loren, Tab Hunter, George Sanders, Jack Warden, Keenan Wynn, Barbara Nichols. Soldier Hunter and dishy Loren are attracted to each other on a train, but she's the mistress of elegant fatcat Sanders. Surprisingly adult comedy-drama for its era; excellent performances from all but Hunter, and even he's better than usual. Well shot by Boris Kaufman. Remake of THE SHOPWORN ANGEL, scripted by Walter Bernstein.

That Lady (1955) C-100m. ½ D: Terence Young. Olivia de Havilland, Gilbert Roland, Paul Scofield, Dennis Price, Christopher Lee. Unemotional costumer set in 16th-century Spain, with de Havilland a widowed noblewoman involved in court intrigue. Scofield's film debut. CinemaScope.

That Lady in Ermine (1948) C-89m. ½ D: Ernst Lubitsch. Betty Grable, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Cesar Romero, Walter Abel, Reginald Gardiner, Harry Davenport. Entertaining if overblown musical of mythical European kingdom where Grable is a just-married princess; her ancestors magically come to life as Fairbanks' conquering army descends on her castle. Lubitsch died during production, which was completed by Otto Preminger. Script by Samson Raphaelson.

That'll Be the Day (1974-British) C-90m.  D: Claude Whatham. David Essex, Ringo Starr, Rosemary Leach, James Booth, Billy Fury, Keith Moon. Compelling story traces British working-class youth (Essex) from adolescence to early adulthood in the 1950's, as his growing frustrations find their eventual outlet in rock music. First half of dynamic story, continued in STAR-DUST, where character's resemblance to John Lennon crystallizes. [PG] ▼●●

That Lucky Touch (1975-British) C-93m. *½ D: Christopher Miles. Roger Moore, Susannah York, Shelley Winters, Lee J. Cobb, Jean-Pierre Cassel, Raf Vallone, Sydne Rome, Donald Sinden. Tepid romantic farce with Moore cast as an arms dealer; York is the feisty journalist who conflicts with him. Moore sleepwalks through this. Of note only as Cobb's last movie (and he's the best thing in it). [PG] ▼

That Man Bolt (1973) C-105m.  D: Henry Levin, David Lowell Rich. Fred Williamson, Byron Webster, Teresa Graves, Jack Ging, Miko Mayama. Scenic actioner, filmed in Hong Kong, Las Vegas and L.A., mixes kung fu, some comedy and two songs by Graves. Plot has Williamson as international courier of syndicate money. [R]▼

That Man From Rio (1964-French) C-114m.  D: Philippe De Broca. Jean-Paul Belmondo. Françoise Dorleac, Jean Servais, Adolfo Celi, Simone Renant. Engaging spoof of Bond-type movies features Belmondo as hero, chasing double-crosser and thief in search for Brazilian treasure. Nice cinematography by Edmond Séchan complements fast-moving script. Enjoyed great international success and spawned many imitations.▼

That Naughty Girl SEE: Mam'zelle Pigalle

That Night (1992) C-90m.  D: Craig Bolotin. Juliette Lewis, C. Thomas Howell, Eliza Dushku, Helen Shaver, J. Smith-Cameron, John Dosssett, Katherine Heigl. Young suburban girl (Dushku) worships fiery teen Lewis, who embarks on an ill-fated romance with sensitive bad-boy Howell. Disappointing view of adolescent angst and a child's initial experience with grown-up emotions; about as subtle as a blaring boom-box. [PG-13]▼●

That Night in Rio (1941) C-90m. ½ D: Irving Cummings. Alice Faye, Don Ameche, Carmen Miranda, S. Z. Sakall, J. Carrol Naish, Curt Bois, Leonid Kinsky, Frank Puglia. Standard 20th Century-Fox musical of mistaken identities, uses Miranda to best advantage; Maria Montez has a tiny role. Filmed before as FOLIES BERGÈRE, and again as ON THE RIVIERA. ●

That Obscure Object of Desire (1977-Spanish-French) C-103m.  D: Luis Buñuel. Fernando Rey, Carole Bouquet, Angela Molina, Julien Bertheau, Andre Weber. Buñuel's last film is as audacious as any of his classics; wealthy sadomasochist Rey falls hard for a young maid, and she's only too happy to make him "suffer." Buñuel's bizarrest stroke is having Bouquet and Molina alternate playing the girl! Shot in French, with Rey dubbed by Michel Piccoli. Based on a Pierre Louys novel; filmed several times, most notably as THE DEVIL IS A WOMAN (1935). [R]▼●

That Old Feeling (1997) C-105m. ½ D: Carl Reiner. Bette Midler, Dennis Farina, Paula Marshall, Gail O'Grady, David Rasche, Jamie Denton, Danny Nucci. Silly but likable comedy about long-feuding ex-spouses who meet after 12 years at their daughter's wedding—and to their own shock and amazement, start having an affair. This seems to have a ricochet effect on everyone around them, in French farce fashion. Not the most believable movie ever made, but it's fun; Midler and Farina make a great couple. [PG-13]▼●

That's Dancing! (1985) C/B&W-105m. ½ D: Jack Haley, Jr. Narrated and hosted by Gene Kelly, Sammy Davis, Jr., Mikhail

Baryshnikov, Liza Minnelli, Ray Bolger. Too many mediocre selections, flat introductions by five guest hosts . . . but there's still much to enjoy in this dance compilation, from Fred and Ginger's "Pick Yourself Up" to WEST SIDE STORY. Added curio: a Bolger number cut from THE WIZARD OF OZ. 1980s selections that end the film seem lumbering and ludicrous compared to the marvels of movement that precede them. Part Widescreen. [G]▼●

That's Entertainment! (1974) C-132m. * D: Jack Haley, Jr. Hosted by Fred Astaire, Bing Crosby, Gene Kelly, Peter Lawford, Liza Minnelli, Donald O'Connor, Debbie Reynolds, Mickey Rooney, Frank Sinatra, James Stewart, Elizabeth Taylor. Stars host nostalgia bash with scenes from nearly 100 MGM musicals. There are many cherished moments with the above-named stars plus unexpectedly delightful numbers with Esther Williams, Clark Gable (singing and dancing!), Jimmy Durante, and Eleanor Powell, whose challenge dance with Astaire is unforgettable. Only complaint: why shorten the final AMERICAN IN PARIS ballet? Followed by two sequels. Part Widescreen. [G]▼●

That's Entertainment, Part 2 (1976) C-133m. ½ D: Gene Kelly. Fred Astaire and Gene Kelly host this inevitable sequel and do some engaging song-and-dance work. Film hasn't cohesion or momentum of its predecessor, but the material is irresistible. This time, comedy and drama are included along with musical numbers—Tracy and Hepburn, Marx Brothers, etc. Most imaginative segment of all is wonderful title sequence by Saul Bass. Cut to 126m. after initial showings. Part Widescreen. [G]▼●

That's Entertainment! III (1994) C-108m. ½ D: Bud Friedgen, Michael J. Sheridan. Hosted by June Allyson, Cyd Charisse, Lena Horne, Howard Keel, Gene Kelly, Ann Miller, Debbie Reynolds, Mickey Rooney, Esther Williams. Yet another collection of marvelous musical moments from the MGM library, spiked by some never-before-seen footage eliminated from the finished films, including a discarded Fred Astaire dance routine (shown in split-screen with its retake), Judy Garland singing Irving Berlin's "Mr. Monotony," Cyd Charisse and Joan Crawford singing and dancing to the same prerecorded number, Lena Horne singing "Ain't It the Truth" from CABIN IN THE SKY, and much, much more. Video release has expanded versions of some numbers cut for the theatrical print. Part Widescreen. [G]▼●

That Sinking Feeling (1979-Scottish) C-92m.  D: Bill Forsyth. Robert Buchanan, John Hughes, Billy Greenlees, Gordon John Sinclair, Janette Rankin. Forsyth's initial feature is a witty little comedy about a gang of bored teens unable to find work in dreary Glasgow. Their leader comes up with a scheme to boost their morale: pilfering sinks from a warehouse. Released in U.S. after the success of Forsyth's subsequent films (GREGORY'S GIRL, LOCAL HERO). [PG]▼●●

That's Life! (1986) C-102m.  D: Blake Edwards. Jack Lemmon, Julie Andrews, Sally Kellerman, Robert Loggia, Jennifer Edwards, Rob Knepper, Matt Lattanzi, Chris Lemmon, Cynthia Sikes, Emma Walton, Felicia Farr. Deeply felt observation of an affluent family and its members' personal crises—including Lemmon's anxiety over turning 60 and his loving wife's fear that she may have cancer. Far from perfect, but mostly believable and quite moving. Filmed at Edwards' and wife Andrews' actual Malibu home, with most of their (and Lemmon's) real-life family on-screen... including at least one pet! Panavision. [PG-13]▼●●

That's My Boy (1951) 98m.  D: Hal Walker. Dean Martin, Jerry Lewis, Marion Marshall, Eddie Mayehoff, Ruth Hussey, Polly Bergen, John McIntire. Ex-football star Mayehoff wants klutzy son Lewis to follow in his footsteps, induces Martin to coach him. Supposed comic idea is played straight, with very few laughs, maudlin situations... yet it was considered quite funny in 1951 when M&L were in their heyday. Later a TV series.▶

That's The Way of the World SEE: Shining Star

that thing you do! (1996) C-110m.  D: Tom Hanks. Tom Everett Scott, Johnathon Schaech, Steve Zahn, Ethan Embry, Liv Tyler, Tom Hanks, Charlize Theron, Bill Cobbs, Obba Babatundé, Giovanni Ribisi, Alex Rocco, Chris Isaak, Kevin Pollak, Clint Howard. Likable yarn, set in 1964, about some young people in Erie, Pa., who form a band that, improbably, soars to success with a hit record. Sunny attitude and appealing cast make this hard to resist, even if it turns out to be a "lite" version of THE COMMITMENTS. Hanks also wrote the script and some of the songs. Hanks' wife, Rita Wilson, has an amusing cameo as a cocktail waitress, and his long-ago Bosom Buddies TV costar Peter Scolarì plays a television host. Alternate version runs 155m. [PG]▼●●

That Touch of Mink (1962) C-99m. ½ D: Delbert Mann. Cary Grant, Doris Day, Gig Young, Audrey Meadows, John Astin, Dick Sargent. Attractive cast in silly piece of fluff with wealthy playboy Grant pursuing Day. Amusing at times, but wears thin; Astin is memorable as a creep with designs on poor Doris, and there's a clever sequence featuring Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris, Yogi Berra, and umpire Art Passarella. Panavision.▼●●

That Uncertain Feeling (1941) 84m. ***

D: Ernst Lubitsch. Merle Oberon, Melvyn Douglas, Burgess Meredith, Alan Mowbray, Olive Blakeney, Harry Davenport, Sig Rumann, Eve Arden. Chic little Lubitsch comedy about married couple with problems, and their absurd pianist friend. Stolen hands down by Meredith as the musical malcontent. Filmed before (in 1925) by Lubitsch as KISS ME AGAIN. Also shown in computer-colored version.▼▶

That Was Then, This Is Now (1985) C-100m. ½ D: Christopher Cain. Emilio Estevez, Craig Sheffer, Kim Delaney, Barbara Babcock, Jill Schoelen, Frank Howard, Larry B. Scott, Ramon Sheen, Morgan Freeman. Delinquent kid, alienated from society, clings to his relationship with adoptive brother—and freaks out when the older boy takes on a girlfriend, whom he sees as a threat. Estevez wrote the script, from S. E. Hinton's young-adult novel, but its intense emotions probably read better than they play out on screen. A variable film with some strong moments. [R]▼●●

Theater of Blood (1973-British) C-104m.  D: Douglas Hickox. Vincent Price, Diana Rigg, Robert Morley, Ian Hendry, Harry Andrews, Coral Browne, Robert Cote, Michael Hordern, Jack Hawkins, Diana Dors, Dennis Price, Milo O'Shea. A one-joke film, albeit a great joke: hammy Shakespearean actor Price vows revenge on critics who've blasted him, murders them one by one by recreating famous death scenes from the plays. Somewhat spoiled by incredibly gory killings; great cast has fun with it, though. [R]▼●●

Theatre of Death (1967-British) C-90m. ½ D: Samuel Gallu. Christopher Lee, Julian Glover, Lelia Goldoni, Jenny Till, Evelyn Laye, Ivor Dean. Vampire-like murders revolving around Paris' Grand Guignol stage sensation and its beautiful young starlet under sinister hypnotic trance. Solid, low-budget mystery-thriller benefits from believable performances. Aka BLOOD FIEND. Techniscope.▼▶

Thelma & Louise (1991) C-128m.  D: Ridley Scott. Susan Sarandon, Geena Davis, Harvey Keitel, Michael Madsen, Christopher McDonald, Stephen Tobolowsky, Brad Pitt, Timothy Carhart, Lucinda Jenney. Female friends leave responsibilities (as well as husband and boyfriend) behind to take a short trip, but an unexpected incident turns them into fugitives from the law. Dynamic star duo—and Callie Khouri's Oscar-winning feminist script—give this a lot of juice, though it still covers all-too-familiar road-movie territory. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Thelma Jordon SEE: File on Thelma Jordon, The

Thelonious Monk: Straight No Chaser (1988) C/B&W-90m.  D: Charlotte Zwerin. Comprehensive documentary portrait of the legendary, innovative jazz pianist-composer, crammed with footage of Monk in performance. Much of the material was shot during the late 1960s by Christian Blackwood. Executive producer is Clint Eastwood; released the same year as the latter's Charlie Parker biography, BIRD. [PG-13]▼●●

Them! (1954) 94m. ½ D: Gordon Douglas. James Whitmore, Edmund Gwenn, Joan Weldon, James Arness, Onslow Stevens. First-rate '50s sci-fi about giant ant mutations running wild in the Southwest. Intelligent script (by Ted Sherdeman, from George Worthing Yates' story) extremely well directed, with memorable climax in L.A. sewers. Fess Parker has small but memorable role. Look fast for Leonard Nimoy at a teletype machine.▼●●

Them (2006-French-Romanian) C-76m. ½ D: David Moreau, Xavier Palud. Olivia Bonamy, Michaël Cohen, Adriana Moca, Maria Roman, Camelia Maxim. Clementine and Lucas, a schoolteacher and a writer, revel in their peaceful rural weekend far from Bucharest . . . until they're awakened by shadowy, mysterious home invaders way worse than giant ants. Simple, tense, terse two-character thriller has a cold, cold heart, and rates kudos for scant grue. But the disappointing Big Reveal is just a variation on the same-old same-old, brandishing a dull and rusty cutting edge. Written by the directors. Digital Video Widescreen. [R]▶

Then She Found Me (2008) C-100m.  D: Helen Hunt. Helen Hunt, Colin Firth, Bette Midler, Matthew Broderick, Ben Shenkman, John Benjamin Hickey, Lynn Cohen. Hunt's adoptive mother dies and her feckless husband opts out of their marriage. At her most vulnerable, and desperate to have a baby, two new people enter her life: a garrulous TV talk show host who claims to be her birth mother (Midler, who's perfect) and a wounded single father (Firth) who's attracted to her. There's nary a false move in this smart, funny, timely comedy-drama, a notable feature directorial debut for Hunt, who also helped to adapt Elinor Lipman's novel. Hunt's ob-gyn is played by author Salman Rushdie. [R]▶

Theodora Goes Wild (1936) 94m. ½ D: Richard Boleslawski. Irene Dunne, Melvyn Douglas, Thomas Mitchell, Thurston Hall, Rosalind Keith, Spring Byington. Dunne's first starring comedy is a delightful story about small-town woman who writes scandalous best-seller and falls in love with sophisticated New Yorker who illustrated the book. Lots of funny twists in this engaging farce, scripted by Sidney Buchman from a Mary McCarthy story.▼

Theodore Rex (1996) C-91m. *½ D: Jonathan Betuel. Whoopi Goldberg, Armin Mueller-Stahl, Juliet Landau, Bud Cort, Stephen McHattie, Richard Roundtree, Jack Riley; voices of George Newbern, Carol Kane. Set in the future, when DNA technology has led to the reanimation of dinosaurs, police officer Goldberg teams up with a talking Tyrannosaurus Rex to solve a murder. Cheesy production and low-key performances hinder this aimless tale. Children may like the cookie-loving dino. Plans for wide theatrical release were (understandably) scrubbed; it went to video instead. [PG]▼●●

Theory of Flight, The (1998-British) C-100m.  D: Paul Greengrass. Helena Bonham Carter, Kenneth Branagh, Gemma Jones, Holly Aird, Ray Stevenson. A perpetual screwup who feels he has something to express but no clue how to do it is punished for his last stunt by having to perform community service. His assignment: to spend time with a brilliant but hostile young woman in a wheelchair suffering from motor neuron disease, whose one dream is to have sex. Frightfully contrived from the word go, this forced piece of whimsy never takes off, despite two gifted stars. [R]▼●●

There Goes My Baby (1994) C-99m.  D: Floyd Mutrux. Dermot Mulroney, Rick Schroder, Kelli Williams, Noah Wyle, Jill Schoelen, Kristin Minter, Lucy Deakins, Seymour Cassel, Paul Gleason, Andrew Robinson, Mark Ruffalo; narrated by Anne Archer. It's 1965 and a group of high school seniors pause on the brink of Real Life. If it sounds a lot like AMERICAN GRAFFITI, you're right . . . but this film takes place in 1965, not 1962. In the interim, JFK has been assassinated, the Civil Rights movement is boiling, and Vietnam has become a divisive issue. Writer-director Mutrux effectively blends nostalgia and political awareness in this entertaining film. Made in 1990. [R]▼●●

There Goes the Bride (1979-British) C-88m. BOMB D: Terence Marcel. Tom Smothers, Twiggy, Martin Balsam, Sylvia Syms, Michael Witney, Hermione Baddeley, Broderick Crawford, Phil Silvers, Jim Backus. Addle-brained father-of-the-bride Smothers throws the wedding party into a tizzy when he has a fling with 1920's-flapper model, Twiggy, whom he has conjured up and only he can see. Unfunny slapstick that comes alive for about 45 seconds when Smothers and Twiggy do an on-target, extravagantly staged Astaire-Rogers routine. Based on Ray Cooney's and John Chapman's 1974 West End farce. [PG]▼

There Goes the Neighborhood (1992) C-88m. *½ D: Bill Phillips. Jeff Daniels, Catherine O'Hara, Hector Elizondo, Rhea Perlman, Judith Ivey, Harris Yulin, Jonathan Banks, Dabney Coleman, Chazz Palminteri, Mary Gross. Feeble comedy in which various greedy characters attempt to dig up a fortune buried in the basement of a suburban house. Strong cast deserves better material than this. [PG-13]▼●●

Theremin: An Electronic Odyssey (1993) C/B&W-104m.  D: Steven M. Martin. A fascinating chronicle of the life and times of Leon Theremin, the Russian-born genius who invented the first electronic musical instrument (which was adopted by Hollywood for use in movie soundtracks during the 1940s and '50s). Music history meets political and pop-culture history in this endlessly surprising documentary, more interesting for the material it offers than for the brilliance of its presentation. Comic highlight: a passionate if incoherent interview with Beach Boy Brian Wilson, who used the theremin on his hit record "Good Vibrations." [PG] ▼●●

There's a Girl in My Soup (1970-British) C-95m. ★½ D: Roy Boulting, Peter Sellers, Goldie Hawn, Tony Britton, Nicky Henson, Diana Dors, Nicola Pagett, Christopher Cazenove. Middle-aged Sellers groping for youth, woos kookie Hawn. Silly story, just a few real laughs. [R] ▼●

There's Always Tomorrow (1956) 84m. ★½ D: Douglas Sirk. Barbara Stanwyck, Fred MacMurray, Joan Bennett, William Reynolds, Pat Crowley, Gigi Perreau, Jane Darwell. MacMurray is in a rut, at work and at home, making him particularly susceptible to old-flame Stanwyck, who comes back into his life. Sudsy but well-acted soap opera, filmed before in 1934.

Therese (1986-French) C-91m. ★★★ D: Alain Cavalier. Catherine Mouchet, Aurore Prieto, Sylvie Habault, Ghislane Mona, Helene Alexandridis. Stark, stylistically directed, fact-based story of a dreamy, intense 15-year-old girl (Mouchet) and her desire to become a Carmelite nun, to be wedded to Christ. Winner of six César Awards, including Best Picture. Remake of the 1938 film THERESE MARTIN. ▼●

Thérèse Raquin (1953-French-Italian) 103m. ★½ D: Marcel Carné. Simone Signoret, Raf Vallone, Jacques Duby, Sylvie, Roland Lesaffre, Maria Pia Casilio, Marcel André, Paul Frankeur. Complications ensue when weary Signoret, saddled with a small-minded husband and a mother-in-law from hell, begins an affair with earthy truck driver Vallone. Melodrama of passion and obsession has the right pedigree—Carné and Charles Spaak adapted Émile Zola's novel—but lacks the necessary fire to make it memorable. ●

There's No Business Like Show Business (1954) C-117m. ★½ D: Walter Lang. Ethel Merman, Dan Dailey, Donald O'Connor, Marilyn Monroe, Johnnie Ray, Mitzi Gaynor, Hugh O'Brian, Frank McHugh. Gaudy (and seemingly interminable) hokum about a show-biz family, built around catalog of Irving Berlin songs. Entertaining if not inspired, with several expensive numbers designed to fill the wide screen. Merman and Dailey are fine, Marilyn's at her sexiest, and O'Connor is in top form throughout. Then there's Johnnie Ray deciding to become a priest. . . . CinemaScope. ▼●●

There's Something About Mary (1998)

C-119m. ★ D: Bobby Farrelly, Peter Farrelly. Cameron Diaz, Matt Dillon, Ben Stiller, Lee Evans, Chris Elliott, Lin Shaye, Jeffrey Tambor, Markie Post, Keith David, Jonathan Richman, Sarah Silverman, Richard Jenkins, Brett Favre. Hugely popular comedy about a guy who's never stopped loving the girl he almost got to take to the high school prom—until a painful accident interfered. The ultimate in sophomoric comedy, reveling in politically incorrect gags, but it drags on for two hours. Only the very appealing Mary (Diaz) keeps it afloat. Extended version runs 130m. [R] ▼●●

There Was a Crooked Man . . . (1970)

C-118m. ★★★½ D: Joseph L. Mankiewicz. Kirk Douglas, Henry Fonda, Hume Cronyn, Warren Oates, Burgess Meredith, John Randolph, Michael Blodgett, Arthur O'Connell, Martin Gabel, Alan Hale, Victor French, Barbara Rhoades, Lee Grant. Bawdy, entertaining Western-comedy-prison-film with Douglas as cocky inmate at territorial prison circa 1883 who matches wits with progressive warden Fonda towards one goal: escape. Powerhouse cast, handsome production. Written by David Newman and Robert Benton. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

There Will Be Blood (2007) C-158m.

★★½ D: Paul Thomas Anderson. Daniel Day-Lewis, Paul Dano, Kevin J. O'Connor, Ciarán Hinds, Dillon Freasier, Sydney McCallister, David Willis, David Warshofsky, Colton Woodward. Day-Lewis dominates this riveting film as a turn-of-the-20th-century oilman who talks his way into a California community, determined to control its rich oil interests. At first we think he's just a slickster, but as layer after layer of truth is revealed we see his utter amorality. He meets his match in a local preacher (Dano) who's just as greedy and ambitious as he is. Fascinating piece, loosely based on Upton Sinclair's book Oil!, captures the particulars of a time and place, but it's Day-Lewis' character (with a voice borrowed from John Huston) that stands out. Chilling score by Jonny Greenwood creates a feeling of dread right from the start. Written by the director. Day-Lewis and cinematographer Robert Elswit earned Academy Awards. Panavision. [R] ●

These Are the Damned (1962-British)

96m. ★½ D: Joseph Losey. Macdonald Carey, Shirley Anne Field, Viveca Lindfors, Alexander Knox, Oliver Reed, James Villiers. Odd film chronicling American Carey's confrontation with a Teddy Boy motorcycle gang in Weymouth—after which the scenario becomes a Twilight Zone-like sci-fi drama! Original British title: THE DAMNED. Hammerscope.

These Three (1936) 93m. ★★★ D: William Wyler. Miriam Hopkins, Merle Oberon, Joel McCrea, Catherine Doucet, Alma Kruger, Bonita Granville, Marcia Mae

Jones, Margaret Hamilton, Walter Brennan. Penetrating drama of two young women (Oberon, Hopkins) running school, ruined by lies of malicious student Granville; loosely based on Lillian Hellman's The Children's Hour. Superb acting by all, with Granville chillingly impressive; scripted by the playwright. Remade in 1961 by same director as THE CHILDREN'S HOUR. ▼●

These Wilder Years (1956) 91m. ½ D: Roy Rowland. James Cagney, Barbara Stanwyck, Walter Pidgeon, Betty Lou Keim, Don Dubbins, Edward Andrews, Dean Jones, Tom Laughlin. Unusual to see Cagney in this kind of soap opera, about a man who wants to find his illegitimate son, and becomes involved with teenage unwed mother (Keim) through intervention of founding home director Stanwyck. Look for young Michael Landon in pool room.

They (2002) C-89m.  D: Robert Harmon. Laura Regan, Marc Blucas, Ethan Embry, Jon Abrahams, Dagmar Dominczyk, Jay Brazeau. Bland, predictable horror entry in which psychology student Regan is terrorized by mysterious, spiderlike creatures that thrive in the dark. Uplifted a bit by its striking finale. "Presented" by Wes Craven. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼●

They All Died Laughing SEE: Jolly Bad Fellow, A

They All Kissed the Bride (1942) 85m. ½ D: Alexander Hall. Joan Crawford, Melvyn Douglas, Roland Young, Billie Burke, Allen Jenkins. Good stars in fairly amusing film of man being arrested for kissing bride at wedding. ▼

They All Laughed (1981) C-115m. ½ D: Peter Bogdanovich. Audrey Hepburn, Ben Gazzara, John Ritter, Colleen Camp, Dorothy Stratten, Blaine Novak, Patti Hansen, George Morfogen, Sean Ferrer, Glenn Scarpelli, Elizabeth Pena. Quirky romantic comedy, long on style, short on substance, follows the adventures and amours of four private detectives. Spotlights some sharp-looking ladies, makes excellent use of N.Y.C. locations, but personal taste will have to judge its degree of success. Ferrer is the son of Hepburn and Mel Ferrer. Stratten was killed prior to film's release. [PG] ▼●●

They Call Me Bruce? (1982) C-88m. *½ D: Elliot Hong. Johnny Yune, Ralph Mauro, Pam Huntington, Margaux Hemingway. Unfunny, frequently obnoxious kung fu parody with Korean comedian Yune a doltish cook who is constantly mistaken for Bruce Lee. About two-thirds of the gags are based on TV commercials. Aka A FISTFUL OF CHOPSTICKS and followed by THEY STILL CALL ME BRUCE. [PG] ▼●

They Call Me MISTER Tibbs! (1970) C-108m.  D: Gordon Douglas. Sidney Poitier, Barbara McNair, Martin Landau, David Sheiner, Anthony Zerbe, Jeff Corey,

Ed Asner. Weak follow-up to IN THE HEAT OF THE NIGHT finds black detective Virgil Tibbs (now married and living in San Francisco) investigating murder of girl, with priest-friend Landau implicated. Followed by THE ORGANIZATION. [PG] ▼●

They Call Me Trinity (1971-Italian) C-109m. ½ D: E. B. Clucher (Enzo Barboni). Terence Hill, Bud Spencer, Farley Granger, Gisela Hahn, Stephen Zacharias, Dan Sturkie. Wild spoof of THE MAGNIFICENT SEVEN made international superstars of Hill and Spencer; they play half-brothers who try to help Mormon settlement protect itself from the inevitable band of Mexican marauders. Virtually non-stop slapstick spiced with gentle ribbing of the spaghetti Western genre; good fun. Sequel: TRINITY IS STILL MY NAME. Techniscope. [G] ▼●●

They Came From Beyond Space (1967-British) C-85m. BOMB D: Freddie Francis. Robert Hutton, Jennifer Jayne, Zia Mohyeddin, Bernard Kay, Michael Gough. Hutton is free to combat spacemen because the silver plate he carries inside his skull makes him immune to their powers. Based on Joseph Millard's The Gods Hate Kansas. ▼●

They Came From Within (1975-Canadian) C-87m. *½ D: David Cronenberg. Paul Hampton, Joe Silver, Lynn Lowry, Allen Magicovsky, Barbara Steele, Susan Petrie. Bizarre, sexually oriented parasites run rampant through dwellers in high-rise apartment building with plenty of gory violence quick to ensue. First "major" film by cult favorite Cronenberg sets the disgusting pattern for most of his subsequent pictures. Originally titled SHIVERS, then THE PARASITE MURDERS. [R] ▼●●

They Came to Cordura (1959) C-123m. ½ D: Robert Rossen. Gary Cooper, Rita Hayworth, Van Heflin, Tab Hunter, Richard Conte, Michael Callan, Dick York. Soapy oater set in 1916 Mexico. Cooper is Army officer accused of cowardice, sent to find five men worthy of Medal of Honor. Hayworth is shady lady he meets on the way. CinemaScope. ▼●●

They Came to Rob Las Vegas (1968-Spanish-French-Italian) C-128m.  D: Antonio Isasi. Gary Lockwood, Elke Sommer, Lee J. Cobb, Jack Palance. Big heist is small potatoes as armed robbers plot to intercept Vegas gambling money. Techniscope. [R]

They Died With Their Boots On (1941) 138m.  D: Raoul Walsh. Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland, Arthur Kennedy, Charley Grapewin, Gene Lockhart, Anthony Quinn, Stanley Ridges, Sydney Greenstreet, Regis Toomey, Hattie McDaniel, Walter Lippden. Sweeping Hollywood version of Little Bighorn battle, with Flynn flamboyant

as Custer. Fine vignettes amidst episodic buildup to exciting Last Stand climax. This being Errol and Olivia's final film together lends poignance to their farewell scene. Superb score by Max Steiner. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

They Drive by Night (1940) 93m. ½ D: Raoul Walsh. George Raft, Ann Sheridan, Ida Lupino, Humphrey Bogart, Gale Page, Alan Hale, Roscoe Karns. Marvelous melodrama of truck-driving brothers, Bogie and Raft, battling the dangers of the open road as well as a murder frame-up by Lupino. Unforgettable dialogue by Jerry Wald and Richard Macaulay. Partial reworking of BORDERTOWN. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

They Gave Him a Gun (1937) 94m. ½ D: W. S. Van Dyke II. Spencer Tracy, Gladys George, Franchot Tone, Edgar Dearing, Charles Frowbridge, Cliff Edwards, Mary Lou Treen. Gun-shy hayseed Tone, who was taught "thou shalt not kill," changes dramatically when he fights in WWI. Tracy is his devoted pal, who later tries to save him from a life of crime. Dramatically obvious, and falls apart with the entrance of nurse George; still, the opening montage is striking, and the war-related scenes exceptional.

They Got Me Covered (1943) 95m.  D: David Butler. Bob Hope, Dorothy Lamour, Lenore Aubert, Otto Preminger, Eduardo Ciannelli, Marion Martin, Donald MacBride, Walter Catlett, Donald Meek. Spy yarn (by Harry Kurnitz) set in Washington was topical at the time, awkward now; not up to Hope standards. ▼●●

They Knew What They Wanted (1940) 96m.  D: Garson Kanin. Carole Lombard, Charles Laughton, William Gargan, Harry Carey, Frank Fay. Laughton and Lombard are excellent in this flawed adaptation by Robert Ardrey of Sidney Howard's play (filmed twice before). He's an Italian grape-grower in California who conducts correspondence with waitress and asks her to marry him. Fay is too sanctimonious for words as local priest. Watch for Karl Malden and Tom Ewell as rowdy guests at the pre-wedding party. ▼

They Live (1988) C-97m.  D: John Carpenter. Roddy Piper, Keith David, Meg Foster, George "Buck" Flower, Peter Jason, Raymond St. Jacques, Jason Robards III, Larry Franco. Lonely drifter arrives in L.A., discovers that consumerist society is being dominated by aliens, whose human disguises and subliminal advertising messages are visible only through special glasses. Satiric sci-fi adventure begins well, degenerates into standard urban action piece, not helped by awful alien makeup. Screenwriter "Frank Armitage" (working from a short story by Ray Faraday Nelson) is actually director Carpenter. Panavision.

[R] ▼●●
They Live by Night (1949) 95m. ½ D: Nicholas Ray. Farley Granger, Cathy O'Donnell, Howard da Silva, Jay C. Flippen, Helen Craig. Director Ray's first film is sensitive, well-made story of young lovers who are fugitives from the law. Set in 1930s, it avoids clichés and builds considerable impact instead. Based on Edward Anderson's Thieves Like Us, remade in 1974 under that name. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

They Loved Life SEE: Kanal
They Made Me a Criminal (1939) 92m. ½ D: Busby Berkeley. John Garfield, Claude Rains, Gloria Dickson, May Robson, Billy Halop, Huntz Hall, Leo Gorcey, Bobby Jordan, Gabriel Dell, Barbara Pepper, Ward Bond, Ann Sheridan. Garfield takes it on the lam when he thinks he's killed a reporter, stays out West with Robson and Dead End Kids. Enjoyable, with Rains miscast as a Dick Tracy type. Remake of THE LIFE OF JIMMY DOLAN. ▼●●

They Made Me a Fugitive (1947-British) 103m.  D: Cavalcanti. Trevor Howard, Sally Gray, Griffith Jones, Rene Ray, Mary Merrall, Charles Farrell. Dilettante crook is double-crossed by his boss and seeks revenge while on the lam from police. Potent (yet little-known) British film noir packs a real punch, with no holds barred in terms of brutality (and refusal to provide a pat, happy ending). Strikingly photographed by Otto Heller. Look sharp and you'll spot young Peter Bull and Sebastian Cabot. Originally cut when released in U.S. as I BECAME A CRIMINAL; also trimmed for British reissue. Finally restored on video in 1999. ▼

They Met in Bombay (1941) 93m. ½ D: Clarence Brown. Clark Gable, Rosalind Russell, Peter Lorre, Jessie Ralph, Reginald Owen, Eduardo Ciannelli. Two jewel thieves team up in ordinary romantic comedy-actioner, spiced by Lore as money-hungry cargo-ship captain. Look for Alan Ladd in a small role. ▼

They Might Be Giants (1971) C-86m.  D: Anthony Harvey. Joanne Woodward, George C. Scott, Jack Gilford, Lester Rawlins, Al Lewis, Rue McClanahan, Theresa Merritt, Eugene Roche, James Tolkan, Kitty Winn, Sudie Bond, F. Murray Abraham, Paul Benedict, M. Emmet Walsh. Fun yarn of slightly daffy gentleman (Scott) who believes he is Sherlock Holmes, and his psychiatrist tagalong (Woodward) whose real name is Dr. Watson. Alternate version on DVD runs 91m. [G] ▼

They Only Kill Their Masters (1972) C-97m. ½ D: James Goldstone. James Garner, Katharine Ross, Hal Holbrook,

Harry Guardino, June Allyson, Christopher Connelly, Tom Ewell, Peter Lawford, Edmond O'Brien, Arthur O'Connell, Ann Rutherford. Great cast in complicated modern-day whodunit set in coastal California town; tries for Dashiell Hammett feeling, doesn't quite make it. Policeman Garner tries to solve murder of pregnant woman, with formidable Doberman pinscher figuring prominently. Not bad, but a let-down. [PG]▼

They Passed This Way SEE: Four Faces West

They're Playing With Fire (1984) C-96m. BOMB D: Howard (Hikmet) Avedis. Eric Brown, Sybil Danning, Andrew Prine, Paul Clemens, K. T. Stevens. What starts off as rehash of Brown's PRIVATE LESSONS quickly turns into sick, ugly slasher film. Danning (as a college English professor!) lures Brown into helping her with a let's-kill-Mom-and-make-off-with-my-inheritance plot—except that someone else is killing everybody in sight. Not even Danning's formidable nude scenes are reason enough to sit through this slop. [R]▼

They Saved Hitler's Brain (1963) 74m. BOMB D: David Bradley. Walter Stocker, Audrey Caire, Carlos Rivas, John Holland, Dani Lynn, Marshall Reed, Nestor Paiva. Daughter of kidnapped scientist traces him to Isle of Mandoras, where Nazis still flourish under the leadership of Hitler's still-living head. Unbelievably muddled plot results from intercutting 1950s studio pot-boiler, beautifully photographed by Stanley Cortez (MAGNIFICENT AMBERSONS) with super-cheap 1960s footage involving completely different cast. Originally titled MADMEN OF MANDORAS.▼

They Shoot Horses, Don't They? (1969) C-120m. ½ D: Sydney Pollack. Jane Fonda, Michael Sarrazin, Susannah York, Gig Young, Red Buttons, Bonnie Bedelia, Bruce Dern, Allyn Ann McLerie, Michael Conrad, Al Lewis, Severn Darden, Art Mitrano, Paul Mantee. 1930s marathon dance becomes microcosm of life, with myriad of subplots, characters' lives intertwining. Fonda is self-destructive girl who attracts aimless Sarrazin with tragic results; Young won Oscar as oily promoter of grueling "contest." Fascinating. Based on Horace McCoy's novel; script by James Poe and Robert E. Thompson. Panavision. [MPG]▼

They Still Call Me Bruce (1987) C-91m. *½ D: Johnny Yune, James Orr. Johnny Yune, David Mendenhall, Pat Paulsen, Joey Travolta, Robert Guillaume, Bethany Wright, Carl Bensen. In-name-only sequel to THEY CALL ME BRUCE has at least one thing in common with its predecessor: it's awful. This time Yune plays a Korean searching for the American GI who saved him years ago, winding up instead as a

big-brother figure for orphan Mendenhall. [PG]▼

They Went That-A-Way and That-A-Way (1978) C-95m. *½ D: Edward Montagne, Stuart E. McGowan. Tim Conway, Chuck McCann, Richard Kiel, Dub Taylor, Reni Santoni. Lame prison escape comedy (with script by Conway) puts Conway and McCann through lackluster routines as a road-company Laurel and Hardy. [PG]▼

They Were Expendable (1945) 135m. * D: John Ford. Robert Montgomery, John Wayne, Donna Reed, Jack Holt, Ward Bond, Louis Jean Heydt, Marshall Thompson, Leon Ames, Cameron Mitchell, Russell Simpson, Jack Pennick, Robert Barrat, Tom Tyler. One of the finest (and most underrated) of all WW2 films, based on the true story of America's PT boat squadron in the Philippines during the early days of the war. Moving, exquisitely detailed production (photographed by Joseph August) under Ford's distinctive hand, with real-life Naval officer Montgomery a convincing lead. Screenplay by Frank "Spig" Wead. Also shown in computer-colored version.▼

They Who Dare (1953-British) C-101m. ½ D: Lewis Milestone. Dirk Bogarde, Denholm Elliott, Akim Tamiroff, Eric Pohlmann, David Peel. Effective WW2 actioner with good character delineation, tracing commando raid on German-controlled Aegean air fields.

They Won't Believe Me (1947) 95m. ½ D: Irving Pichel. Susan Hayward, Robert Young, Jane Greer, Rita Johnson, Tom Powers, Don Beddoe, Frank Ferguson. Fine James Cain-type melodrama about a philanderer who gets involved with three women, leading to tragedy (and a terrific twist ending). Young excels in his unsympathetic role; Johnson does wonders with her scenes as his wife.▼

They Won't Forget (1937) 95m. * D: Mervyn LeRoy. Claude Rains, Gloria Dickson, Otto Kruger, Allyn Joslyn, Elisha Cook, Jr., Edward Norris. Electrifying drama begins when pretty high school student is murdered in Southern town. A man is arrested, and a big-time Northern lawyer takes the case, but everyone seems more interested in exploiting personal interests than in seeing justice triumph. No punches are pulled in this still-powerful film. Lana Turner plays the unfortunate girl, in her first important role. Script by Robert Rossen and Aben Kandel, from the book Death in the Deep South by Ward Greene; based on notorious 1913 incident later dramatized for TV as THE MURDER OF MARY PHAGAN.▼

Thief, The (1952) 85m. ½ D: Russell Rouse. Ray Milland, Rita Gam, Martin Gabel, Harry Bronson. Spy yarn set in N.Y.C. with a difference: no dialogue.

Gimmick grows wearisome, script is tame. ▼●

Thief (1981) C-122m.  D: Michael Mann. James Caan, Tuesday Weld, Willie Nelson, James Belushi, Robert Prosky, Tom Signorelli, Dennis Farina, William L. Petersen. Arresting drama about a professional thief, inventively realized by writer-director Mann (in his feature debut). Caan is excellent as the man with one drive: survival. Stylishly photographed (by Donald Thorin) and scored (by Tangerine Dream). [R] ▼●●

Thief, The (1997-Russian) C-94m.  D: Pavel Chukhrai. Vladimir Mashkov, Ekaterina Rednikova, Misha Philipchuk. Intimate character study set in post WW2 Russia: an abandoned single mother and her adorable 6-year-old son fall for a swarthy military officer, not knowing he's really a petty thief. A powerful tragedy, simply and beautifully told, with superlative performances from its three leads, particularly Mashkov, who exudes the sexy malevolence of a young Robert Mitchum. [R] ▼●●

Thief and the Cobbler, The SEE: Arabian Knight

Thief of Bagdad, The (1924) 155m. ½ D: Raoul Walsh. Douglas Fairbanks, Julianne Johnston, Anna May Wong, Sojin, Snitz Edwards, Charles Belcher, Brandon Hurst. Fairbanks is unusually balletic (and ingratiating as ever) in this elaborate Arabian Nights pantomime, designed to instill a true sense of wonder. Quite long, but never dull; one of the most imaginative of all silent films, with awesome sets by William Cameron Menzies. Remade three times (so far). ▼●●

Thief of Bagdad, The (1940-British) C-106m. * D: Ludwig Berger, Tim Whelan, Michael Powell. Sabu, John Justin, June Duprez, Conrad Veidt, Rex Ingram, Miles Malleon, Mary Morris. Remarkable fantasy of native boy Sabu outdoing evil magician Veidt in Arabian Nights fable with incredible Oscar-winning Technicolor photography by Georges Perinal and Osmond Borradaile, special effects, and art direction. Ingram gives splendid performance as a genie; vivid score by Miklos Rozsa. ▼●●

Thief of Baghdad (1961-Italian) C-90m.  D: Arthur Lubin. Steve Reeves, Georgia Moll, Arturo Dominici, Edy Vessel. Reeves searches for enchanted blue rose so he can marry Sultan's daughter. Nothing like Sabu version, but occasionally atmospheric. CinemaScope. ▼

Thief of Hearts (1984) C-100m.  D: Douglas Day Stewart. Steven Bauer, Barbara Williams, John Getz, David Caruso, Christine Ebersole, George Wendt. While ransacking a house Bauer steals woman's diaries, reads them through, and then determines to woo her—using the "secret" knowledge he's learned. Slick but curiously unappealing film written by first-time director Stewart. Reworked slightly for video, with potentially X-rated shots added. [R] ▼●●

Thief of Paris, The (1967-French) C-119m.  D: Louis Malle. Jean-Paul Belmondo, Genevieve Bujold, Marie Dubois, Francoise Fabian, Julien Guiomar. Solid comedy-drama with personal setbacks turning Belmondo to thievery for revenge on society; soon he finds that robbery has become his whole life.

Thief Who Came to Dinner, The (1973) C-105m.  D: Bud Yorkin. Ryan O'Neal, Jacqueline Bisset, Warren Oates, Jill Clayburgh, Charles Cioffi, Ned Beatty, Austin Pendleton, Gregory Sierra, Michael Murphy, John Hillerman. Disappointing caper comedy (considering cast and director) about a computer expert who becomes a jewel thief in Houston's top social circles. Clayburgh (pre-stardom) has small but telling role as O'Neal's ex-wife; script by Walter Hill. [PG] ▼

Thieves (1977) C-92m. BOMB D: John Berry. Marlo Thomas, Charles Grodin, Irwin Corey, Hector Elizondo, Mercedes McCambridge, John McMartin, Gary Merrill, Ann Wedgeworth. Pretentious, boring adaptation of Herb Gardner's play about crazy couple trying to recapture their innocence in a corrupt N.Y.C. Corey (as Thomas' cabbie father) adds only life to so-called comedy. Bob Fosse has a brief role. [PG]

Thieves (1996) SEE: Les Voleurs

Thieves' Highway (1949) 94m.  D: Jules Dassin. Richard Conte, Valentina Cortese, Lee J. Cobb, Barbara Lawrence, Jack Oakie, Millard Mitchell, Joseph Pevney. Tough postwar drama of a returning vet seeking to avenge his trucker/father's treatment at the hands of a crooked fruit dealer in San Francisco. Masterfully directed; script by A. I. Bezzerides, from his novel. Only the ending seems pat. ●

Thieves' Holiday SEE: Scandal in Paris, A

Thieves Like Us (1974) C-123m. ½ D: Robert Altman. Keith Carradine, Shelley Duvall, John Schuck, Bert Remsen, Louise Fletcher, Ann Latham, Tom Skerritt. Three misfits escape from prison camp in 1930s South, go on a crime spree; the youngest (Carradine) falls in love with a simple, uneducated girl (Duvall). Despite familiar trappings, Altman digs deep into period atmosphere and strong characterizations; this film gets better every time you look at it. Remake of THEY LIVE BY NIGHT. Scripted by Calder Willingham, Joan Tewkesbury, and Altman. [R] ▼●●

Thin Air (1969-British) C-91m. *½ D: Gerry Levy. George Sanders, Maurice Evans, Patrick Allen, Neil Connery,

Hilary Dwyer, Robert Flemyng. Parachutists keep disappearing, due to unseen forces; routine sci-fi with little to recommend it. Original British title: THE BODY STEALERS (INVASION OF THE BODY STEALERS). [G]▼

Thin Blue Line, The (1988) C-96m. * D: Errol Morris. Remarkable, perhaps even landmark, documentary, as Morris sets out to prove that a convicted hitchhiker did not kill a Dallas policeman in 1976—and that the lowlife who fingered him (and who wound up on Death Row for a subsequent murder) did. Very subjective but totally convincing, so much so that the case was reopened after film's premiere, and the defendant was exonerated. Philip Glass' score adds to hypnotic effect. ▼●●

Thing, The (1982) C-108m. *½ D: John Carpenter. Kurt Russell, A. Wilford Brimley, Richard Dysart, Richard Masur, Donald Moffat, T.K. Carter, David Clennon. Remake of 1951 film about Antarctic outpost terrorized by an alien organism. More faithful to the original story, but nonstop parade of slimy, repulsive special effects turns this into a freak show and drowns most of the suspense. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Thing About My Folks, The (2005) C-97m. ½ D: Raymond De Felitta. Peter Falk, Paul Reiser, Olympia Dukakis, Elizabeth Perkins, Mackenzie Conolly, Lydia Jordan, Ann Dowd, Claire Beckman. Confronted with the sudden news that his father intends to divorce his mother, after decades of marriage, Reiser takes his dad (Falk) on a road trip to take his mind off his troubles. Along the way, father and son bond for the first time, and the younger man learns a lot about what makes his old man tick. Labor-of-love project was written by Reiser with Falk in mind, and it shows: Falk gives an irresistible performance in this predictable but likable comedy-drama. [PG-13]●

Thing Called Love, The (1993) C-116m. ½ D: Peter Bogdanovich. River Phoenix, Samantha Mathis, Dermot Mulroney, Sandra Bullock, K. T. Oslin, Anthony Clark, Trisha Yearwood, Barry Shabaka Henley. Ordinary drama about country singer-songwriter Mathis, who yearns to make it in Nashville, and her experiences as she strives for success. At its best when depicting the friendship and rivalry among struggling artists. Of interest mostly as one of Phoenix's last films; he's good as a sulky but talented singer who covers up his emotions. Director's cut runs 118m. [PG-13]▼●●

Thing From Another World, The (1951) 87m. ½ D: Christian Nyby. Kenneth Tobey, Margaret Sheridan, Robert Cornthwaite, Douglas Spencer, James Arness, Dewey Martin, William Self, George Fenneman. Classic blend of science-fiction and horror, loosely based on John W. Campbell, Jr.'s Who Goes There? Scientists at lonely Arctic outpost dig up alien (Arness) from the permafrost and must fight for their lives when it's accidentally thawed. Tense direction (often credited to producer Howard Hawks), excellent performances, eerie score by Dimitri Tiomkin. Screenplay by Charles Lederer. Watch out for 81m. reissue prints. Remade in 1982. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Things Are Tough All Over (1982) C-92m.  D: Tom Avildsen. Cheech Marin, Thomas Chong, Shelby Fiddis, Rikki Marin, Evelyn Guerrero. Besides their standard characterizations, the boys play two Arab brothers whose paths cross C & C's as the latter drive a ritzy car to California, one that happens to have $5 million hidden inside. Superb makeup and mimicry give evidence to the team's genuine talent, but the laughs just aren't there most of the time. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Things Change (1988) C-100m. ½ D: David Mamet. Don Ameche, Joe Mantegna, Robert Prosky, J. J. Johnson, Ricky Jay, Mike Nussbaum, Jack Wallace, Dan Conway, William H. Macy, J. T. Walsh, Felicity Huffman. Simple Italian shoemaker (Ameche) agrees to take the rap for a Chicago mob murder for a fee, but the man assigned to baby-sit him for a weekend (Mantegna) decides to take the old man on a final fling before he goes to jail. Slight, sometimes flat comic fable by Mamet and Shel Silverstein is buoyed by some wonderful vignettes and endearing performances by the stars. Ameche is a joy to watch. [PG]▼●●

Things to Come (1936-British) 92m.  D: William Cameron Menzies. Raymond Massey, Cedric Hardwicke, Ralph Richardson, Maurice Braddell, Edward Chapman, Ann Todd. Stunning visualization of H. G. Wells' depiction of the future. Massey portrays leader of new world, Richardson despotic wartime ruler. Aloof but always interesting, enhanced by Menzies' sets. Vibrant music by Arthur Bliss; Wells himself wrote the screenplay. Originally released at 108m. 1979 movie THE SHAPE OF THINGS TO COME, though taking the actual title of Wells' book, has nothing in common with this film. ▼

Things To Do in Denver When You're Dead (1995) C-124m.  D: Gary Fleder. Andy Garcia, Gabrielle Anwar, Christopher Walken, Christopher Lloyd, William Forsythe, Treat Williams, Bill Nunn, Steve Buscemi, Jack Warden, Fairuza Balk, Bill Cobbs, Marshall Bell, Glenn Plummer, Sarah Trigger, Jenny McCarthy, Don Cheadle. Another entry in the post-Tarantino, faux-hip crime genre, with Garcia as a reformed crook who agrees to stage an assault to placate his evil, now-wheelchaired mentor Walken. Naturally the plans go horribly wrong. Stylized, violent, and absolutely empty, though Williams' psycho is his best part in years, and Buscemi's hit man has a great name: Mr. Shhh. [R] ▼●●

Things We Lost in the Fire (2007) C-119m.  D: Susanne Bier. Halle Berry, Benicio Del Toro, David Duchovny, Alison Lohman, John Carroll Lynch, Paula Newsome, Omar Benson Miller, Alexis Llewellyn, Micah Berry. When her husband dies unexpectedly, Berry reaches out to his life-long best friend—a druggie she never wanted anything to do with. He moves into her guest room, but when he begins to take her husband's place in the eyes of her kids she feels great resentment toward him. Interesting adult drama about grief, forgiveness, and healing, if a bit tidy in its plotting. Especially good showcase for Del Toro, who's never played such a warm, sympathetic character before. U.S. filmmaking debut for Danish director Bier. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Things You Can Tell Just By Looking at Her (2001) C-109m.  D: Rodrigo Garcia. Glenn Close, Cameron Diaz, Calista Flockhart, Kathy Baker, Amy Brenneman, Valeria Golino, Holly Hunter, Matt Craven, Gregory Hines, Miguel Sandoval, Noah Fleiss, Danny Woodburn, Penelope Allen, Roma Maffia, Elpidia Carrillo. Anthology of five intersecting stories about a diverse group of women and the physical and emotional toll everyday life takes on them. Introspective, absorbing and beautifully acted, this is a "woman's picture" in the best sense. U.S. debut on cable TV. [PG-13] ▼●●

Thing That Couldn't Die, The (1958) 69m.  D: Will Cowan. Andra Martin, William Reynolds, Robin Hughes, Carolyn Kearney, Jeffrey Stone. You never know what a dowling rod will find. In this thriller, one finds the still living, decapitated head of a 15th-century devil worshiper who's looking for his body. Cheap, and looks it, but Hughes is good in title role.

Thing With Two Heads, The (1972) C-93m.  D: Lee Frost. Ray Milland, Rosey Grier, Don Marshall, Roger Perry, Chelsea Brown. Fantastic tale of bigot who finds his head transplanted onto black man's body. Played partially for laughs, which helps a little. [PG] ▼●●

Think Dirty (1970-British) C-94m. *½ D: Jim Clark. Marty Feldman, Shelley Berman, Judy Cornwell, Julie Ege, Patrick Cargill, Jack Watson. Leering, obnoxious comedy-fantasy with adman Feldman having to use sex to promote a cereal on TV; meanwhile, his prudish wife is mounting a campaign to purify the airwaves. Original British title: EVERY HOME SHOULD HAVE ONE. ▼

Thin Line Between Love and Hate, A (1996) C-108m.  D: Martin Lawrence. Martin Lawrence, Lynn Whitfield, Regina King, Bobby Brown, Della Reese, Malinda Williams, Daryl M. Mitchell, Roger E. Mosley, Faizon Love. There is a thin line

between a movie and a vanity production as director/cowriter/executive producer/star/music supervisor Lawrence plays a young man seemingly irresistible to women. He boasts to a friend that he can bed a beautiful but hard-to-get woman they encounter, leading to a comedic FATAL ATTRACTION: she's harder to get rid of than she ever was to get! Lawrence's first foray behind the scenes is amusing only in spots. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

The Thin Man series SEE: Leonard Martin's Classic Movie Guide

Thin Man, The (1934) 93m. * D: W. S. Van Dyke. William Powell, Myrna Loy, Maureen O'Sullivan, Ned Pendleton, Minna Gombell, Cesar Romero, Natalie Moorhead, Edward Ellis, Porter Hall. Nick and Nora investigate the disappearance of an inventor in this classic blend of laughs and suspense which marked the first pairing of what was to become one of the movies' great romantic teams. Shot in just two weeks by director Woody "One-Shot" Van Dyke and cinematographer James Wong Howe, this has gone on to become the sophisticated comedy-mystery par excellence, inspiring five sequels as well as countless imitations. Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett adapted Dashiell Hammett's novel. ▼●●

Thin Man Goes Home, The (1944) 100m.  D: Richard Thorpe. William Powell, Myrna Loy, Lucile Watson, Gloria De Haven, Anne Revere, Helen Vinson, Harry Davenport, Leon Ames, Donald Meek, Edward Brophy. Nick takes the family on a vacation to Sycamore Springs to visit his parents, but naturally winds up embroiled in a murder case. Leisuredly entry, with even more comedy than usual. ▼●●

Thinner (1996) C-92m.  D: Tom Holland. Robert John Burke, Joe Mantegna, Lucinda Jenney, Joy Lenz, Michael Constantine, Sam Freed, Kari Wuhrer, John Horton, Daniel Von Bargaen. Overweight Maine lawyer Burke accidentally kills an old gypsy woman, so her even older father (Constantine) puts a curse on him; he starts losing weight, and can't stop. Though well made, with good performances and astonishingly convincing makeup by Greg Cannom, the leading characters are unsympathetic and the situation unrelentingly grim. From the novel by Stephen King (writing as "Richard Bachman"), who has his usual cameo. Aka STEPHEN KING'S THINNER (which he is). [R] ▼●●

Thin Red Line, The (1964) 99m.  D: Andrew Marton. Keir Dullea, Jack Warden, James Philbrook, Kieron Moore. Gritty adaptation of James Jones' novel about personal conflict during the bloody attack on Guadalcanal during WW2. Dullea is the sensitive, iconoclastic soldier and Warden is the brutal sergeant who won't leave him alone. Remade in 1998. CinemaScope.

Thin Red Line, The (1998) C-170m. *****
 D: Terrence Malick. Sean Penn, Adrien Brody, Jim Caviezel, Ben Chaplin, Nick Nolte, Elias Koteas, John Cusack, Woody Harrelson, Jared Leto, Dash Mihok, Tim Blake Nelson, John C. Reilly, John Savage, George Clooney, John Travolta, Nick Stahl, Shawn Hatosy. Ethereal, moodily philosophical interpretation of James Jones' novel (previously filmed in 1964) about the taking of Guadalcanal during WW2, sparked by intense character studies: a pacifistic soldier (Caviezel), his antagonistic sergeant (Penn), a captain who refuses to sacrifice his men without cause (Koteas), a lieutenant colonel who only wants to see results (Nolte). These powerful portraits are the glue that holds the film together when it begins to wander. Those wanderings turned many viewers off, but the film's strengths outweigh its imperfections. Malick also scripted. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Third Day, The (1965) C-119m. ½ D:
 Jack Smight. George Peppard, Elizabeth Ashley, Roddy McDowall, Arthur O'Connell, Mona Washbourne, Herbert Marshall, Robert Webber, Charles Drake, Sally Kellerman, Vincent Gardenia, Arte Johnson. Capable cast helps standard amnesia tale about Peppard's inability to remember events that have caused him to be accused of murder. Panavision.

Third Generation, The (1979-German) C-111m. ½ D: Rainer Werner Fassbinder. Eddie Constantine, Hanna Schygulla, Volker Spengler, Margit Carstensen, Bulle Ogier, Udo Kier, Hark Bohm. Pitch-black comedy about upper-middle-class German terrorists, their cops-and-robbers antics, and how they provide excuse for government oppression. Superb ensemble cast in one of Fassbinder's best films.●

Third Key, The (1956-British) 96m. *****
 D: Charles Frend. Jack Hawkins, John Stratton, Dorothy Alison, Geoffrey Keen, Ursula Howells. Exciting story of Scotland Yard, as Inspector Hawkins and rookie sergeant (Stratton) diligently pursue safecracking incident to its surprising conclusion. Original British title: THE LONG ARM.▼

Third Man, The (1949-British) 104m. ******
 D: Carol Reed. Orson Welles, Joseph Cotten, (Alida) Valli, Trevor Howard, Bernard Lee, Wilfrid Hyde-White. Graham Greene's account of mysterious Harry Lime (Welles) in post-WW2 Vienna is a bona fide classic, with pulp-writer Cotten on a manhunt for Harry. Anton Karas' zither rendition of "The Third Man Theme" adds just the right touch; cinematographer Robert Krasker won an Oscar. Note: there are two versions of this film. The British version features introductory narration by director Reed; the American print is narrated by Cotten, and runs 93m. Little of substance was actually cut, but the film was tightened somewhat by coproducer David O. Selznick. Also shown in computer-colored version.▼●●

Third Man on the Mountain (1959) C-105m. *****
 D: Ken Annakin. James MacArthur, Michael Rennie, Janet Munro, James Donald, Herbert Lom, Laurence Naismith. Fine Disney adventure about Swiss boy (MacArthur) determined to climb the Matterhorn (here called the Citadel) who learns more than just mountain-climbing in his dogged pursuit. Look quickly to spot MacArthur's mother, Helen Hayes, in a cameo as tourist.▼●●

Third Miracle, The (1999) C-119m. *****
 D: Agnieszka Holland. Ed Harris, Anne Heche, Armin Mueller-Stahl, Michael Rispoli, Charles Haid, James Gallanders, Caterina Scorsone, Barbara Sukowa. A priest who's struggling with his faith is assigned to investigate a statue of the Virgin Mary that's weeping blood; it's a direct link to a beloved woman in a working-class community whom many believe is worthy of nomination for sainthood. Consistently involving and surprising, with fine performances. Based on a novel by Richard Vetere. [R]▼●

Third Secret, The (1964-British) 103m. ½ D: Charles Crichton. Stephen Boyd, Jack Hawkins, Richard Attenborough, Diane Cilento, Pamela Franklin, Paul Rogers, Alan Webb, Judi Dench. Episodic whodunit with Boyd tracking down the murderer of his psychoanalyst; no surprises here. CinemaScope.●

Third Solution, The (1989-Italian) C-113m. *½ D: Pasquale Squitieri. F. Murray Abraham, Treat Williams, Danny Aiello, Rita Rusic, Robert Balchus, Rossano Brazzi, Nigel Court. Good cast is wasted in this overbaked spy melodrama, with American Williams uncovering a plot to foil the Pope's scheduled visit to the Soviet Union. Original title: RUSSICUM. Panavision.▼●

Third Voice, The (1960) 79m. *****
 D: Hubert Cornfield. Edmond O'Brien, Laraine Day, Julie London, Ralph Brooks, Roque Ybarra, Henry Delgado. Neat suspense film involving murder, impersonation, and double-crossing. CinemaScope.

Thirst (1949) SEE: Three Strange Loves

Thirst (1979-Australian) C-98m. *****
 D: Rod Hardy. Chantal Contouri, David Hemmings, Henry Silva, Max Phipps, Shirley Cameron. Strange, stylish, chilling tale of secret society trying to brainwash Contouri and transform her into a baroness-vampire. Minimum of plot and characterization but maximum suspense in this well-directed shocker. Panavision. [R]▼●

Thirsty Dead, The (1975) C-90m. BOMB
 D: Terry Becker. John Considine, Jennifer Billingsley, Judith McConnell, Tani Guthrie. Guide abducts actress and friends to jungle where strange tribe drinks human blood to regain youth. Boring Philippine-made junk. Aka BLOOD HUNT. [PG]▼

13 SEE: Eye of the Devil

Thirteen (2003) C-95m. ½ D: Catherine Hardwicke. Holly Hunter, Evan Rachel Wood, Nikki Reed, Jeremy Sisto, Brady Corbet, Deborah Kara Unger, Kip Pardue, Sarah Clarke, D.W. Moffett. Searing look at life through the eyes of an impressionable teenage girl in L.A., as she's led in the wrong direction by a "popular" classmate who all but overtakes her existence. Hunter is terrific as the girl's single mom who's simply struggling to keep her head above water. Troubling but incredibly potent, and all too believable. Written by first-time director Hardwicke (a noted production designer) and Reed, who plays the "bad" girl. Hunter coexecutive produced. [R]▼

Thirteen Chairs, The (1970-French-Italian) C-95m.  D: Nicholas Gessner. Vittorio Gassman, Sharon Tate, Orson Welles, Vittorio De Sica, Terry-Thomas, Mylene Demongeot, Tim Brooke Taylor. Slight comedy about a search for 13 antique chairs, inside one of which is hidden a fortune. Of interest mainly for its cast, including Tate, who was murdered shortly after this was completed in 1969. Mel Brooks' version of this same, oft-filmed story was called THE TWELVE CHAIRS. Original title: 12 + 1.▼

Thirteen Conversations About One Thing (2001) C-103m. ½ D: Jill Sprecher. Matthew McConaughey, John Turturro, Alan Arkin, Clea DuVall, Amy Irving, Barbara Sukowa, David Connolly, Tia Texada, Frankie Faison, William Wise, Shawn Elliott. Intriguing, moody film weaves a handful of seemingly disconnected stories together, all involving people whose lives are unfulfilled: college professor Turturro, insurance man Arkin, attorney McConaughey, house cleaner DuVall. Intelligent and interesting, but not as profound as it seems to think it is. Written by the director and her sister Karen Sprecher. [R]▼

Thirteen Days (2000) C-145m.  D: Roger Donaldson. Kevin Costner, Bruce Greenwood, Steven Culp, Dylan Baker, Michael Fairman, Henry Strozier, Frank Wood, Kevin Conway, Len Cariou, Christopher Lawford, Lucinda Jenney, James Karen, Ed Lauter. Absorbing dramatization of the 1962 Cuban missile crisis, and how President John F. Kennedy dealt with the difficult decisions at hand, with hostile opposition from his military chiefs. Seen through the eyes of JFK's political advisor Kenny O'Donnell (Costner), who seems too good to be true. [PG-13]▼

13 Frightened Girls (1963) C-89m. BOMB D: William Castle. Murray Hamilton, Joyce Taylor, Hugh Marlowe, Khigh Dhiegh. One of Castle's weirdest films (no mean feat), set in Swiss boarding school catering

to daughters of diplomats; after trading bits of info they picked up from Daddy during the holidays, the girls decide to go off and do spy stuff. Castle held a worldwide talent search to find his "stars," for whom this was their first—and no doubt last—film. A side-splitting camp classic awaiting rediscovery.▼

13 Ghosts (1960) C/B&W-88m. ½ D: William Castle. Charles Herbert, Donald Woods, Martin Milner, Jo Morrow, Rosemary DeCamp, Margaret Hamilton, John Van Dreelen. Typically tongue-in-cheek Castle spook opera, about nice, all-American family (with children named Buck and Medea!) that inherits a haunted house. Plenty of chills and chuckles, with Hamilton cleverly cast as sinister housekeeper. Some prints run 85m., minus footage of Castle introducing "Illusion-O"—movie patrons were given "ghost viewers" enabling them to see (or not see) the spirits. Remade in 2001.▼●

Thir13en Ghosts (2001) C-91m. *½ D: Steve Beck. Tony Shalhoub, Embeth Davidtz, Matthew Lillard, Shannon Elizabeth, Alec Roberts, JR Bourne, Rah Digga, F. Murray Abraham. In-name-only remake of William Castle's gimmick thriller puts a widowed father, his two kids, and their housekeeper in a diabolically designed house that's one giant maze. What's more, it houses 12 troubled, violent spirits. Neither scary nor clever . . . a poor excuse for Halloween fodder. [R]▼

13 Going on 30 (2004) C-97m. ½ D: Gary Winick. Jennifer Garner, Mark Ruffalo, Judy Greer, Christa B. Allen, Andy Serkis, Kathy Baker, Phil Reeves, Alex Black, Alexandra Kyle. A 13-year-old girl with typical adolescent problems wishes she were a grown-up and magically awakens inside a 30-year-old body. Now she has to deal with a high-powered job as a magazine editor and figure out why she's no longer friendly with her onetime soul mate, the boy who lived next door. Variation on (rip-off of?) BIG is plotter than it needs to be but is energized by the irresistible charm of Garner, in her first starring vehicle; Ruffalo is also good as her childhood pal grown up. [PG-13]▼

13 Rue Madeleine (1947) 95m.  D: Henry Hathaway. James Cagney, Annabella, Richard Conte, Frank Latimore, Walter Abel, Melville Cooper, Sam Jaffe. Gripping documentary-style WW2 story about the training of new O.S.S. operatives, their first overseas assignments, and the ferreting-out of a German enemy agent in their ranks.▼

Thirteenth Floor, The (1999-U.S.-German) C-100m. ½ D: Josef Rusnak. Craig Bierko, Armin Mueller-Stahl, Gretchen Mol, Vincent D'Onofrio, Dennis Haysbert, Steven Schub. Scientists create a virtual-reality 1937 L.A. so realistic that even the "inhabitants" have their own minds, and don't realize they and everything around them exists only in a computer... then murder links the worlds of the created and the creators. Well-produced sci-fi in film noir style is interesting throughout, but too talky, and the basic idea is familiar. Based on the novel Simulacron-3 by Daniel F. Galouye. Previously filmed for German TV by Rainer Werner Fassbinder. Super 35. [R]. ▼●

13th Letter, The (1951) 85m. ½ D: Otto Preminger. Linda Darnell, Charles Boyer, Michael Rennie, Constance Smith, Judith Evelyn. Interesting account of effect of series of poison pen letters on townsfolk, set in Canada. Remake of Henri Georges Clouzot's LE CORBEAU.

13th Warrior, The (1999) C-102m.  D: John McTiernan. Antonio Banderas, Diane Venora, Dennis Storhoi, Vladimir Kulich, Omar Sharif. In ancient times, exiled Arabian nobleman Banderas travels with some Norsemen to their homelands, there to face possibly supernatural nighttime marauders, who eat their victims. Sturdy, action-packed adventure with horror overtones, realistic but in the heroic tradition, shot on spectacular Canadian locations. Based on Michael Crichton's novel Eaters of the Dead, itself inspired by true travel writings and the medieval tale of Beowulf. Panavision. [R] ▼●

13 West Street (1962) 80m. ½ D: Philip Leacock. Alan Ladd, Rod Steiger, Jeanne Cooper, Michael Callan, Dolores Dorn. Early version of DEATH WISH has Ladd out to get gang of hoodlums; taut actioner with most capable cast. Based on novel The Tiger Among Us by Leigh Brackett.

—30— (1959) 96m. *½ D: Jack Webb. Jack Webb, William Conrad, David Nelson, Whitney Blake, Louise Lorimer, Joe Flynn, James Bell. Hackneyed, overwritten tale of a typical night on a big-city newspaper. Conrad chews the scenery as city editor, but the script's the main villain, abetted by atrocious music score. Title, by the way, is journalists' way of indicating "the end." ▼

30 Days of Night (2007-U.S.-New Zealand) C-113m. ½ D: David Slade. Josh Hartnett, Melissa George, Danny Huston, Ben Foster, Mark Boone Junior, Mark Rendall, Amber Sainsbury, Manu Bennett, Barlow, Alaska, the northernmost point in the U.S., undergoes 30 days without sun every year. The residents take it in stride, until a horde of ravenous vampires arrives one sunless day. Intensely grim, this well-crafted thriller isn't for the faint of heart, as it delivers yet another movie view of vampires. Huston is outstanding as the head bloodsucker. Based on the graphic novel by Ben Templesmith and Steve Niles (who cowrote the film). Super 35. [R] ▼

35 Up (1991-British) C/B&W-122m.  D: Michael Apted. Still compelling continuation of 28 UP, in which Apted again peeks in on the lives of the subjects he has been filming at seven-year intervals, beginning at age seven. A thoughtful, revealing look at lives lived, and dreams fulfilled and unfulfilled within the British class system. As with all prior entries, this was originally produced for British TV. Followed by 42 UP. ▼●

30-Foot Bride of Candy Rock, The (1959) 75m.  D: Sidney Miller. Lou Costello, Dorothy Provine, Gale Gordon, Charles Lane, Jimmy Conlin, Peter Leeds. Lou Costello's only starring film without Bud Abbott is nothing much, mildly entertaining, with Provine enlarged to gigantic proportions. ▼

30 Is a Dangerous Age, Cynthia (1968-British) C-98m. ½ D: Joseph McGrath. Dudley Moore, Eddie Foy, Jr., Suzy Kendall, John Bird. Man who has frittered away his life decides that within six weeks he wants to be married and famous. Funny, but sometimes falls flat. Dudley also composed the score and cowrote the screenplay. ▼

39 Steps, The (1935-British) 87m. * D: Alfred Hitchcock. Robert Donat, Madeleine Carroll, Lucie Mannheim, Godfrey Tearle, Peggy Ashcroft, John Laurie, Wylie Watson. Classic Hitchcock mystery with overtones of light comedy and romance, as innocent Donat is pulled into spy-ring activities. Memorable banter between Donat and Carroll, who thinks he's a criminal, set style for sophisticated dialogue for years. John Buchan's novel was adapted by Charles Bennett and Alma Reville; additional dialogue by Ian Hay. Remade twice and later adapted to the Broadway stage. ▼●

39 Steps, The (1959-British) C-93m. *½ D: Ralph Thomas. Kenneth More, Taina Elg, Brenda de Banzie, Barry Jones, Reginald Beckwith, Sidney James, James Hayter. Young man is accidentally involved in murder and espionage and ensnares the aid of disbelieving young woman. More and Elg are delightful in this replica of 1935 classic; though not nearly as good, it's still entertaining. ▼

Thirty-Nine Steps, The (1978-British) C-102m. ½ D: Don Sharp. Robert Powell, David Warner, Eric Porter, Karen Dotrice, John Mills, George Baker. Based more on John Buchan's book than Hitchcock adaptation, remake isn't bad but lacks panache; Powell plays innocent man pursued by villains who believe he's obtained details of their plot to hatch WW1. [PG] ▼●

Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo (1944) 138m.  D: Mervyn LeRoy. Van Johnson, Robert Walker, Spencer Tracy, Phyllis Thaxter, Scott McKay, Robert Mitchum, Don DeFore, Stephen McNally, Louis Jean Heydt, Leon Ames, Paul Langton, Bill Williams. Exciting WW2 actioner of first American attack on Japan with sturdy cast, guest appearance by Tracy as General Doolittle.

Script by Dalton Trumbo. Oscar-winning special effects. ▼●●

36 Fillette (1988-French) C-88m. ½ D: Catherine Breillat. Delphine Zentout, Etienne Chicot, Olivier Parniere, Jean-Pierre Léaud. Annoyingly uneven account of a restless, amply endowed 14-year-old (well played by Zentout): will she or won't she lose her virginity while on vacation at the beach with her family? Some effective moments, but the film goes nowhere. ▼

36 Hours (1964) 115m. ½ D: George Seaton. James Garner, Eva Marie Saint, Rod Taylor, Werner Peters, Celia Lovsky, Alan Napier. Intriguing WW2 yarn with Garner as captured spy brainwashed into thinking the war is over begins well, but peters out fast. Taylor as German officer is interesting casting. Remade for cable TV as BREAKING POINT in 1989 with Corbin Bernsen. Also shown in computer-colored version. Panavision. ▼

Thirty Two Short Films About Glenn Gould (1993-Canadian) C-93m. ½ D: Francois Girard. Colm Feore. As the title says . . . and the result is an occasionally illuminating but much too fragmented bio of the famed reclusive concert pianist. People who know Gould talk about him, key scenes from his life are enacted and his works are performed, but it doesn't quite add up, either as documentary or biography. Girard scripted, with Don McKellar. ▼

30 Years of Fun (1963) 85m. * Compiled by Robert Youngson. Charlie Chaplin, Buster Keaton, Laurel and Hardy, Harry Langdon, Sydney Chaplin, Charley Chase, etc. Without repeating from previous films, Youngson presents hilarious silent comedy footage. Included is rare sequence of Laurel and Hardy performing together for the first time in 1917's LUCKY DOG.

This Above All (1942) 110m. ½ D: Anatole Litvak. Tyrone Power, Joan Fontaine, Thomas Mitchell, Nigel Bruce, Gladys Cooper, Sara Allgood, Phillip Merivale, Alexander Knox. Fontaine, a daughter of the English aristocracy turned WAAF, falls in love with blind date Power, a bloke in civilian clothes during wartime who's obviously haunted by a Terrible Secret. Adapted by R. C. Sherriff from Eric Knight's novel, this soap opera/flag-waver suffers from miscasting of Power (making no attempt at Englishness), Fontaine's speech making, and overgenerous running time. ●

This Angry Age (1958-Italian-U.S.) C-111m.  D: René Clement. Silvana Mangano, Anthony Perkins, Alida Valli, Richard Conte, Jo Van Fleet, Nehemiah Persoff. Ludicrous mishmash set in Indo-China with Van Fleet a stereotyped, dominating mother who's convinced that her children (Perkins and Mangano) can make their rice fields a going proposition. Orig-

nally titled THE SEA WALL. Technirama.

This Boy's Life (1993) C-115m. ½ D: Michael Catton-Jones. Robert De Niro, Ellen Barkin, Leonardo DiCaprio, Jonah Blechman, Eliza Dushku, Chris Cooper, Carla Gugino, Zack Ansley, Tracey Ellis, Kathy Kinney, Gerrit Graham, Tobey Maguire. Harrowing but utterly absorbing story, set in the 1950s, of a young boy and his footloose mother who wind up living in a remote part of Washington state with a lout who both browbeats the youngster and beats him physically. Searing character study is a showcase for masterful performances (including an eye-opener for young DiCaprio), but what ultimately makes it work is learning that the story is true. Screenplay by Robert Getchell, from Tobias Wolff's memoir. Clairmont-Scope. [R] ▼●●

This Christmas (2007) C-117m. ½ D: Preston A. Whitmore II. Delroy Lindo, Idris Elba, Loretta Devine, Chris Brown, Keith Robinson, Mekhi Phifer, Regina King, Lupe Ontiveros. Pleasant holiday-themed comedy-drama, with a fine ensemble breathing fresh life into generic clichés and stock characters. When members of an extended family gather for their first Christmas reunion in four years, secrets are revealed, grievances are aired, and, of course, crises are resolved. Aptly cast as a would-be singer, Brown (a real-life R&B artist) delivers a knockout rendition of "Try a Little Tenderness" in a key scene. Written by the director. [PG-13] ●

This Could Be the Night (1957) 103m. ½ D: Robert Wise. Jean Simmons, Paul Douglas, Anthony Franciosa, Joan Blondell, Neile Adams, ZaSu Pitts, J. Carrol Naish, Ray Anthony. Forced, frantic comedy of prim teacher Simmons working as secretary to gangster Douglas, who runs a nightclub; Franciosa is the young associate who romances her. CinemaScope. ▼●

This Earth Is Mine (1959) C-125m. ½ D: Henry King. Rock Hudson, Jean Simmons, Dorothy McGuire, Claude Rains, Kent Smith, Anna Lee, Ken Scott. Disjointed soaper set in 1930s California vineyards about intertwining family romances, focusing on Hudson-Simmons love story. CinemaScope.

This Film Is Not Yet Rated (2006) C-97m.  D: Kirby Dick. Smart, often hilarious documentary focusing on the Motion Picture Association of America's movie rating system. Intertwining interviews with former panelists, directors (including Kevin Smith, John Waters, and Atom Egoyan), and studio execs, director Dick explores the flaws in the system and accusations of censorship tactics imposed by the mysterious board. Also an engrossing detective story, as the filmmaker hires a couple of determined female private eyes who use methods

Bogart would have loved in order to unmask the tight-lipped board members. Originally slapped with an NC-17, this feature was released unrated instead. ▮

This Gun for Hire (1942) 80m.  D: Frank Tuttle. Alan Ladd, Veronica Lake, Robert Preston, Laird Cregar, Tully Marshall, Marc Lawrence, Pamela Blake. Ladd came into his own as paid gunman seeking revenge on man who double-crossed him, with Lake as a fetching vis-à-vis. Script by W.R. Burnett and Albert Maltz, from Graham Greene's novel A Gun For Sale. Remade in 1957 (as SHORT CUT TO HELL) and for cable TV in 1991 (with Robert Wagner). ▼●●

This Happy Breed (1944-British) C-110m. ½ D: David Lean. Robert Newton, Celia Johnson, John Mills, Kay Walsh, Stanley Holloway, Amy Veness, Alison Leggatt. Splendidly acted saga follows British family from 1919 to 1939 in this adaptation of Noel Coward play. Scripted by director Lean, cinematographer Ronald Neame, and coproducer Anthony Havelock-Allan. Unbilled Laurence Olivier provides opening narration. ▼

This Happy Feeling (1958) C-92m.  D: Blake Edwards. Debbie Reynolds, Curt Jurgens, John Saxon, Alexis Smith, Estelle Winwood, Mary Astor, Troy Donahue, Joe Flynn. Most engaging cast gives zip to simple yarn of Reynolds enthralled by actor Jurgens, but sparked by suitor Saxon; Winwood fine as eccentric housekeeper. CinemaScope. ▼

This Is Elvis (1981) C/B&W-101m. ½ D: Malcolm Leo, Andrew Solt. David Scott, Paul Boensch III, Johnny Harra, Lawrence Koller, Rhonda Lyn, Debbie Edge, Larry Raspberry, Furry Lewis. Unusual examination of Elvis' life combines documentary footage with sequences of actors playing Presley at various stages of his life. The film is both fascinating and phony, an insightful portrayal of a tragic legend and yet another excuse to rake in profits by trading on his memory. Alternate versions run 144m. and 246m. [PG] ▼●●

This Is England (2007-British) C-103m. ½ D: Shane Meadows. Thomas Turgoose, Stephen Graham, Jo Hartley, Joe Gilgun, Andrew Shim, Vicky McClure, Rosamund Hanson, Andrew Ellis, Perry Benson, George Newton. It's 1983 in Thatcher-era, bleak coastal England. Fatherless schoolboy Shaun (Turgoose) is a hapless 12-year-old who unexpectedly falls in with the local skinhead gang. Writer-director Meadows (TWENTYFOURSEVEN) has created a canvas of disenfranchised, nihilistic young people that rings all too true in story, performance, and tone. Result is an example of a genre that the cinema has often excelled in: the loss of childhood innocence. ▮

This Island Earth (1955) C-86m.  D: Joseph Newman. Jeff Morrow, Rex Reason, Faith Domergue, Russell Johnson, Lance Fuller, Douglas Spencer. Suspenseful, intelligent science fiction about scientists lured to mysterious project, only to find they've been recruited—or more appropriately, shanghaied—by aliens to help them defend their invasion-torn planet. Thoughtful and exciting, with excellent visuals; based on Raymond F. Jones' novel. Film is spoofed in MYSTERY SCIENCE THEATER 3000: THE MOVIE. ▼●●

This Is My Affair (1937) 101m.  D: William A. Seiter. Barbara Stanwyck, Robert Taylor, Victor McLaglen, Brian Donlevy, Sidney Blackmer, John Carradine, Sig Ruman. Exciting film of undercover man Taylor joining gang of robbers on order from President McKinley; Stanwyck is saloon singer who loves Taylor (they married in real life two years later).

This is my Father (1999-Canadian-Irish) C-120m.  D: Paul Quinn. Aidan Quinn, James Caan, Stephen Rea, John Cusack, Moya Farelly, Jacob Tierney, Colm Meaney, Donal Donnelly, Brendan Gleeson. Burned-out Chicago schoolteacher (Caan) travels to his ancestral home in Ireland, with his teenage nephew in tow, to unlock the mystery of his father's identity. Played both in present day and flashback, the film aims high but doesn't succeed, despite good performances and period flavor. A labor of love for first-time writer-director Quinn; brother Aidan stars, brother Declan photographed it, and sister Marian appears briefly. All three brothers executive-produced. [R] ▼●

This Is My Life (1992) C-105m. ½ D: Nora Ephron. Julie Kavner, Samantha Mathis, Gaby Hoffmann, Carrie Fisher, Dan Aykroyd, Bob Nelson, Caroline Aaron, Danny Zorn, Joy Behar, Kathy Najimy. Single mom with two daughters pursues her dream of becoming a standup comic and, virtually overnight, her career takes off—leaving her girls in second place. Kavner is perfect, the girls are adorable, and the story is certainly credible—but somehow the film doesn't quite deliver. Directing debut for writer Ephron (who penned this script with sister Delia), based on Meg Wolitzer's novel This Is Your Life. [PG-13] ▼●●

This Is Spinal Tap (1984) C-82m.  D: Rob Reiner. Michael McKean, Christopher Guest, Harry Shearer, Rob Reiner, Tony Hendra, June Chadwick, R.J. Parnell, David Kaff, Fran Drescher. Admirably precise parody of a rock documentary, with Reiner as director Marty Di Bergi, who chronicles latest American tour of aging British rock group that's a working definition of the term "loser." Collaborative effort improvised by Reiner and his cast of colleagues; cunning satire through and through, though not always terribly funny.

Our favorite bit: the amplifier that goes to "11." Many familiar faces appear in cameos. P.S.: In the '90s the "fictitious" group reunited for a series of concerts and a TV special. Rereleased in 1995 with many new scenes. [R]▼●●

This Is the Army (1943) C-121m.  D: Michael Curtiz. George Murphy, Joan Leslie, Lt. Ronald Reagan, Sgt. Joe Louis, Kate Smith, George Tobias, Alan Hale, Charles Butterworth, Dolores Costello, Una Merkel, Stanley Ridges, Rosemary DeCamp, Frances Langford, Irving Berlin, many others. Soldiers who staged Irving Berlin's WWI musical Yip Yip Yaphank reunite to help mount similar WW2 effort; corny but enjoyable framework (with Warner Bros. cast) for filmed record of legendary 1940s show, a topical melange of songs and skits. P.S.: This is the film where George Murphy plays Ronald Reagan's father!▼●

This Land Is Mine (1943) 103m.  D: Jean Renoir. Charles Laughton, Maureen O'Hara, George Sanders, Walter Slezak, Kent Smith, Una O'Connor, Philip Merivale, George Coulouris, Nancy Gates. Meek French teacher Laughton, aroused by Nazi occupation, becomes hero. Patriotic wartime film is dated and disappointing today; written by Dudley Nichols.▼●

This Man Must Die (1970-French) C-115m. ½ D: Claude Chabrol. Michel Duchaussoy, Jean Yanne, Caroline Cellier, Lorraine Rainer, Marc DiNapoli, Guy Marly. Outstanding film about man who sets out to find the person who killed his young son in hit-and-run accident and the complications which ensue. This may be the best of many fine Chabrol dramas; Yanne and Cellier are unforgettable, the photography beautiful. [PG]▼●

This Property Is Condemned (1966) C-110m.  D: Sydney Pollack. Natalie Wood, Robert Redford, Charles Bronson, Kate Reid, Mary Badham, Robert Blake, Alan Baxter, Dabney Coleman, Jon Provost. Often absurd film version of Tennessee Williams' one-act play has doe-eyed Wood falling for Redford, the out-of-towner staying in her mama's boardinghouse. Except for James Wong Howe's photography, this is trash without the style that often makes trash enjoyable. Francis Ford Coppola was one of the screenwriters.▼●●

This Rebel Age SEE: Beat Generation, The Rebel Breed (1960) 90m. ½ D: Richard L. Bare. Rita Moreno, Mark Damon, Gerald Mohr, Jay Novello, Eugene Martin, Tom Gilson, Diane (Dyan) Cannon, Al Freeman (Jr.). Above average drama about racial tensions in a multi-ethnic high school, with Moreno well cast as a Latina teen involved with an Anglo boy (which displeases her trouble-prone brother). Cannon is amusingly cast as a gang deb! Retitled THREE SHADES OF LOVE and THE

BLACK REBELS, the latter with incongruous R-rated footage added.▼●

This Sporting Life (1963-British) 129m. ½ D: Lindsay Anderson. Richard Harris, Rachel Roberts, Alan Badel, William Hartnell, Colin Blakely, Arthur Lowe. Yorkshire coal miner "betters" himself by becoming professional rugby player. Powerful film (written by David Storey) about love, success, and disillusionment; also serves to illustrate what a grueling game rugby is. Film debut of Glenda Jackson. Originally 134m.▼●●

This Thing Called Love (1941) 98m.  D: Alexander Hall. Rosalind Russell, Melvyn Douglas, Binnie Barnes, Allyn Joslyn, Gloria Dickson, Lee J. Cobb. Adult comedy of newlyweds who set up three-month trial run for their marriage. Stars' expertise puts it over.

This Time for Keeps (1947) C-105m. ½ D: Richard Thorpe. Esther Williams, Jimmy Durante, Lauritz Melchior, Johnnie Johnston, Xavier Cugat, Dame May Whitty, Sharon McManus. Slight MGM musical with Johnston falling for aquacade star Williams, neglecting to inform her that he's engaged.▼

This Woman Is Dangerous (1952) 100m. ½ D: Felix E. Feist. Joan Crawford, Dennis Morgan, David Brian, Richard Webb, Sherry Jackson. In typical tough-girl role, Crawford finds true love after countless mishaps, including an eye operation.●

This World, Then the Fireworks (1997) C-100m.  D: Michael Oblowitz. Billy Zane, Gina Gershon, Sheryl Lee, Rue McClanahan, Seymour Cassel, Will Patton, Richard Edson. Period noir drama set in the '50s about two devoted siblings, partners in cons and murder, who seemingly find a way out of their miserable lives when a repressed policewoman enters their world. Intriguing title, nice period recreation, good performances, but we've been down this road too many times before—in better movies. Zane also coexecutive-produced. [R]▼●

Thomas and the Magic Railroad (2000-U.S.-British) C-86m. *½ D: Britt Allcroft. Alec Baldwin, Mara Wilson, Peter Fonda, Didi Conn, Michael E. Rodgers, Russell Means; voices of Eddie Glen, Colm Feore. The world's most famous choo-choo makes a movie boo-boo: a dull, dippy screen spin-off for Thomas the Tank Engine, star of the children's TV show. A foolish-looking Baldwin inherits the conductor role originated by Ringo Starr in a story about a threatening (loco) motive named Diesel 10. Fonda is a dour grandpa. Grownups should pair this with EASY RIDER on a slow night. [G]▼●

Thomas Crown Affair, The (1968) C-102m.  D: Norman Jewison. Steve McQueen, Faye Dunaway, Paul Burke, Jack Weston, Biff McGuire, Yaphet Kotto.

Glittery production complements story of supercool millionaire McQueen who plots perfect bank robbery, as insurance investigator Dunaway coldly determines to nab the gentleman-thief. Perfect nonthink entertainment; dazzling use of multi-image screens (designed by Pablo Ferro). Oscar-winning song, "The Windmills of Your Mind," by Michel Legrand and Alan and Marilyn Bergman. Remade in 1999. [R] ▼●●

Thomas Crown Affair, The (1999) C-112m. ½ D: John McTiernan. Pierce Brosnan, Rene Russo, Denis Leary, Ben Gazzara, Frankie Faison, Fritz Weaver, Charles Keating, Mark Margolis, Faye Dunaway. A handsome, wealthy, jet-setting industrialist moonlights as an art thief, and delights in playing cat-and-mouse with a beautiful insurance investigator. A distant cousin to the 1968 version (despite the presence of Dunaway, as Brosnan's shrink), this is slick and entertaining, but everyone seems to be working a bit too hard to make it look effortless. Brosnan also produced. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Thomasine & Bushrod (1974) C-95m. ½ D: Gordon Parks, Jr. Max Julien, Vonetta McGee, George Murdock, Glynn Turman, Juanita Moore. OK mixture of black exploitation and Western action with comedy, as a black "Bonnie and Clyde" team operate in 1911 Texas. Julien scripted and co-produced, along with the class-looking McGee. Shot in New Mexico. [PG] Thoroughbreds Don't Cry (1937) 80m. ½ D: Alfred E. Green. Judy Garland, Mickey Rooney, Ronald Sinclair, Sophie Tucker, C. Aubrey Smith, Frankie Darro, Henry Kolker, Helen Troy. Fairly good racetrack story with jockey Rooney involved in crooked deals, young Garland adding some songs. Mickey and Judy's first film together. ▼●●

Thoroughly Modern Millie (1967) C-138m. ½ D: George Roy Hill. Julie Andrews, James Fox, Mary Tyler Moore, Carol Channing, Beatrice Lillie, John Gavin, Jack Soo, Pat Morita, Philip Ahn. Up to a point this Ross Hunter attempt to recapture some of Andrews' Boy Friend magic is successful, but after nearly two and a half hours, one begins to yawn. 1920s farce has a fatal case of the cutes. Elmer Bernstein's score won an Oscar. Later a Broadway musical. ▼●●

Those Calloways (1965) C-131m.  D: Norman Tokar. Brian Keith, Vera Miles, Brandon de Wilde, Walter Brennan, Ed Wynn, Linda Evans, Philip Abbott. Long, episodic but rewarding Disney film about an eccentric New England man (Keith) and his family, focusing on his determined efforts to use nearby lake for bird sanctuary before it's bought up by business interests. Film debut of Linda Evans. Music score by Max Steiner. ▼●

Those Daring Young Men in their Jaunty Jalopies (1969-British-Italian-French) C-122m. ½ D: Ken Annakin. Tony Curtis, Susan Hampshire, Terry-Thomas, Eric Sykes, Gert Frobe, Peter Cook, Dudley Moore, Jack Hawkins. Slapstick adventures of participants in 1,500-mile car race to Monte Carlo during the 1920s. Some funny scenes, but backfires a bit too often. Cut for U.S. release to 93m. Original British title: MONTE CARLO OR BUST. Panavision. [G] ▼●

Those Fantastic Flying Fools (1967) C-95m. ½ D: Don Sharp. Burl Ives, Troy Donahue, Gert Frobe, Terry-Thomas, Hermione Gingold, Daliah Lavi, Lionel Jeffries. Lightweight tale of Victorian England moon race, loosely adapted from Jules Verne story (previously filmed as FROM THE EARTH TO THE MOON). Original title: BLAST-OFF. Panavision. ▼●

Those Lips, Those Eyes (1980) C-107m.  D: Michael Pressman. Frank Langella, Glynnis O'Connor, Thomas Hulce, Kevin McCarthy, Jerry Stiller, Herbert Berghof. Stagestruck adolescent learns about love the hard way while interning in Cleveland summer stock during the early '50s. Hulce is too nerdish in the key role, but Langella as down-on-his-luck actor, O'Connor as company's resident dish, are both quite good. A sleeper, written by David Shaber. [R] ▼

Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines (1965) C-132m.  D: Ken Annakin. Stuart Whitman, Sarah Miles, James Fox, Alberto Sordi, Robert Morley, Gert Frobe, Jean-Pierre Cassel, Terry-Thomas, Irina Demick, Benny Hill, Flora Robson, Sam Wanamaker, Gordon Jackson, Millicent Martin, Red Skelton, Tony Hancock; narrated by James Robertson Justice. Long but enjoyable film of great 1910 London-to-Paris airplane race involving international conflicts, cheating, and romance. Skelton has funny cameo in amusing prologue, tracing history of aviation. Clever title caricatures and designs by Ronald Searle. Todd-AO. ▼●●

Thousand Acres, A (1997) C-105m.  D: Jocelyn Moorhouse. Michelle Pfeiffer, Jessica Lange, Jason Robards, Jennifer Jason Leigh, Colin Firth, Keith Carradine, Kevin Anderson, Pat Hingle, John Carroll Lynch, Michelle Williams. When a stubborn, single-minded widowed father decides to relinquish ownership of his farm to his three daughters, a family is abruptly torn apart, and long-held secrets come out of the closet. The only thing missing from this melodrama is character motivation, which presumably did exist in Jane Smiley's Pulitzer Prize-winning novel, a variation on King Lear. A hollow film notable only for the strong performances of the two leading

women (whose companies jointly produced the film). [R]▼●●

Thousand and One Nights, A (1945) C-93m.  D: Alfred E. Green. Cornel Wilde, Evelyn Keyes, Phil Silvers, Adele Jergens, Dusty Anderson, Dennis Hoey, Rex Ingram. Wilde is a genial, singing Aladdin in this slice of Technicolor escapism, with Silvers as his very contemporary sidekick. Keyes is fun as the impish genie who emerges from a magic lamp. Ingram (who played the genie in THE THIEF OF BAGDAD) has a throwaway role here as a giant. Look fast for Shelley Winters.▼

Thousand and One Nights, A (1968-Spanish) C-86m.  D: Joe Lacy (Jose Maria Elorrieta). Jeff Cooper, Raf Vallone, Luciana Paluzzi, Perla Christal, Reuben Rojo. Tongue-in-cheek Arabian Nights fantasy with the familiar tapestry: a flying carpet, a handsome swordsman, a beautiful part-time genie, a sinister vizier. Not to be confused with the similarly titled Cornel Wilde movie of the '40s.

Thousand Clowns, A (1965) 118m. ½ D: Fred Coe. Jason Robards, Barbara Harris, Martin Balsam, Barry Gordon, Gene Saks, William Daniels. Faithful adaptation by Herb Gardner of his Broadway comedy about society dropout who's being pressured to drop in again for the sake of young nephew who lives with him. Perfectly cast, filmed in N.Y.C., with Balsam's Oscar-winning performance as Robards' brother.▼●

Thousand Eyes of Dr. Mabuse, The SEE:

1,000 Eyes of Dr. Mabuse, The
Thousands Cheer (1943) C-126m. ½ D: George Sidney. Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, Gene Kelly, Red Skelton, Eleanor Powell, Ann Sothern, Lucille Ball, Virginia O'Brien, Frank Morgan, Kathryn Grayson, Lena Horne, many others. Grayson lives with officer-father John Boles at Army base, falls for hotheaded private Kelly and decides to prepare an all-star show for the soldiers. Dubious plot is an excuse for specialty acts by top MGM stars.▼●●

Thousand Years of Good Prayers, A (2007) C-82m.  D: Wayne Wang. Faye Yu, Henry O, Vida Ghahremani. Elderly Chinese man comes to visit his daughter in Spokane, Washington, but she regards his visit as something of a nuisance. While she is off at work, he strikes up a relationship with an Iranian woman he meets at the park; in spite of their language barrier, the two senior citizens are able to communicate with a candor that's absent from his relationship with his daughter. Quiet but revealing film adapted by Yiyun Li from her short story. The two lead performers are perfect.

Thou Shalt Not Kill (1961-Italian-French-Yugoslavian) 129m. ½ D: Claude Autant-Lara. Laurent Terzieff, Horst Frank, Suzanne Flon, Mica Orlovic. Too-often sterile narrative dealing with trial of French conscientious objector, with side plot of German priest facing penalty for having killed Frenchman during WW2. Based on a true story, and quite controversial when released. Dyaliscopo.

Thrashin' (1986) C-90m.  D: David Winters. Josh Brolin, Robert Rusler, Pamela Gilday, Brooke McCarter, Brett Marx, Sherilyn Fenn. Skateboard-riding youth gangs are pitted against each other in this WEST SIDE STORY on wheels . . . minus the spirit and originality, not to mention music. [PG-13]▼●

Threads (1984-British) C-110m.  D: Mick Jackson. Karen Meagher, Reece Dinsdale, Rita May, Nicholas Lane, Victoria O'Keefe. Britain's answer to THE DAY AFTER is a powerful, if a bit over-long, drama about effect of nuclear holocaust on working-class town of Sheffield, with the focus on a pair of families whose son and daughter are about to wed. Unrelentingly graphic and grim, sobering, and shattering—as it should be. Originally produced for British television.▼

Threat, The (1949) 65m.  D: Felix Feist. Charles McGraw, Michael O'Shea, Virginia Grey, Julie Bishop, Robert Shayne, Anthony Caruso. Thug McGraw escapes prison, kidnaps cop and D.A. who put him away, plus singer he suspects of having squealed. Fast, rugged little 'B' keeps action hopping until tough conclusion.▼

Three Ages (1923) 63m.  D: Buster Keaton, Edward F. Cline. Buster Keaton, Margaret Leahy, Wallace Beery, Joe Roberts, Horace Morgan, Lillian Lawrence. Buster's comic observations on the pursuit of a mate in the Stone Age, the Roman Empire, and modern times. Entertaining silent comedy, with Keaton making a memorable entrance atop a dinosaur.▼●●

¡Three Amigos! (1986) C-105m.  D: John Landis. Steve Martin, Chevy Chase, Martin Short, Patrice Martinez, Alfonso Arau, Tony Plana, Joe Mantegna, Jon Lovitz, Phil Hartman. Silent film Western heroes are summoned to Mexico for what they think will be a public appearance, find out they're really supposed to rid a village of its bandit chieftain. Smarmy one-joke comedy has its moments but not too many; buffs may be amused to note that villain Arau was one of the key bad guys in THE WILD BUNCH. Coscripiter Randy Newman wrote the songs. [PG]▼●●

3 Bad Men (1926) 92m. ½ D: John Ford. George O'Brien, Lou Tellegen, J. Farrell MacDonald, Tom Santschi, Frank Campeau. Three gruff outlaws become benevolent protectors of young woman whose father is killed during Western settlement period. Beautiful mixture of action, drama, comedy, and sentiment in one of Ford's best

silents. An obvious variation on 3 GOD-FATHERS. ▼●

Three Bites of the Apple (1967) C-105m. *½ D: Alvin Ganzer. David McCallum, Sylva Koscina, Tammy Grimes, Harvey Korman, Domenico Modugno, Aldo Fabrizi. Good scenery is only plus of flimsy comedy about McCallum's attempts to avoid heavy taxation of money he's won in a casino on the Riviera. Panavision.

Three Brothers (1980-Italian-French) C-113m.  D: Francesco Rosi. Philippe Noiret, Charles Vanel, Michele Placido, Vittorio Mezzogiorno, Andrea Ferreol, Maddalena Crippa, Sara Tafuri, Marta Zoffoli. Wise, touching, but slow-moving account of three very different brothers who return to the country village of their youth for their mother's funeral. The recollections of their elderly peasant father (Vanel) and scenes with his young granddaughter (Zoffoli) are particularly moving. Adapted from Platonov's The Third Son. [PG] ▼●

Three Burials of Melquiades Estrada, The (2005-U.S.-French) C-116m. ½ D: Tommy Lee Jones. Tommy Lee Jones, Barry Pepper, Julio César Cedillo, Dwight Yoakam, Melissa Leo, January Jones, Levon Helm. When his Mexican comrade is shot and killed and the local cops don't care, Texas cowboy Jones makes good on a promise by taking the man's dead body home, dragging along his killer for good measure. Compelling modern-day Western parable about friendship, morality, reckoning, and forgiveness. Impressive work by Jones on both sides of the camera; this marks his theatrical feature directing debut. Written by Guillermo Arriaga. Jones' daughter Victoria appears as Leticia. Panavision. [R] ▼●

Three Caballeros, The (1945) C-70m.  D: Norman Ferguson. Aurora Miranda, Carmen Molina, Dora Luz, voices of Sterling Holloway, Clarence Nash, Jose Oliveira, Joaquin Garay. Colorful Disney pastiche that followed 1940s Good Neighbor Policy by saluting Latin America, through the eyes of Donald Duck. Filled with infectious music (including "Baia," "You Belong to My Heart"), eye-popping visuals, amusing cartoon sequences, and clever combinations of live-action and animation. Donald, Jose Carioca, and Panchito perform title song in a dazzling display of cartoon wizardry. ▼●●

Three Came Home (1950) 106m. ½ D: Jean Negulesco. Claudette Colbert, Patric Knowles, Florence Desmond, Sessue Hayakawa, Sylvia Andrew, Phyllis Morris. Stunning performances by Colbert and Hayakawa make this a must. British and American families living on Borneo during WW2 are sent to prison camps by Japanese, but cultured officer Hayakawa takes an interest in authoress Colbert. Producer

Nunnally Johnson adapted Agnes Newton Keith's autobiographical book. ▼●

Three Cases of Murder (1955-British) 99m. ½ D: Wendy Toye, David Eady, George More O'Ferrall. Alan Badel, Hugh Pryse, John Gregson, Elizabeth Sellars, Emrys Jones, Orson Welles, Maxwell Reed, Richard Wattis; introduced by Eammon Andrews. Three offbeat murder stories; opener "In the Picture" is genuinely eerie, closer "Lord Mountdrago" (from Somerset Maugham story) has Welles in absorbing tale of a pompous British government official haunted by a rival. ▼●●

Three Coins in the Fountain (1954) C-102m.  D: Jean Negulesco. Clifton Webb, Dorothy McGuire, Jean Peters, Louis Jourdan, Maggie McNamara, Rossano Brazzi, Cathleen Nesbitt. Splashy romance yarn made ultra-pleasing by Rome locations. Three women make wishes for romance at Fountain of Trevi, spurring several amorous adventures. Won Oscars for Milton Krasner's photography and the Jule Styne-Sammy Cahn title tune (sung by Frank Sinatra). Remade by same director as THE PLEASURE SEEKERS; reworked for TV in 1990 as COINS IN THE FOUNTAIN. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Three Comrades (1938) 98m. ½ D: Frank Borzage. Robert Taylor, Margaret Sullavan, Franchot Tone, Robert Young, Guy Kibbee, Lionel Atwill. Beautifully poignant film of Erich Maria Remarque's tale of post-WWI Germany, and three life-long friends who share a love for dying Sullavan. Excellent performances all around; coscripted by F. Scott Fitzgerald. ▼●

Three Days of the Condor (1975) C-117m.  D: Sydney Pollack. Robert Redford, Faye Dunaway, Cliff Robertson, Max von Sydow, John Houseman, Carlin Glynn. Redford, a reader for U.S. intelligence office, learns more than he should, and suddenly finds himself a hunted man. Dunaway is excellent as innocent woman who shelters him. Good suspense yarn. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Three . . . Extremes (2004-Hong Kong-Korean-Japanese) C-125m. ½ D: Fruit Chan, Chan Wook-Park, Takashi Miike. Miriam Yeung, Bai Ling, Tony Ka-Fai Leung, Byung-Hun Lee, Lim Won-Hee, Kang Hye-Jeong, Kyoko Hasegawa, Atsuro Watabe. Three horror stories by Asian directors. In "Dumplings," a wealthy TV star comes to an apartment in a bad part of Hong Kong to dine on very special dumplings. In "Cut," a Korean horror-movie director is taken captive in his home by a clever stranger bent on murderous revenge. "Box" concerns a successful writer who has strange dreams of being buried in a box. First two segments are graphically gory; the third is elliptical and puzzling, but is also the best. All three stories are intelligent, intended for adults. Not

for every taste, but the adventurous will find this worth checking out. The episodes were re-ordered for U.S. release. Followed by a sequel that was released direct-to-DVD in the U.S. [R]●

Three Faces of Eve, The (1957) 91m. ½ D: Nunnally Johnson. Joanne Woodward, David Wayne, Lee J. Cobb, Nancy Kulp, Vince Edwards; narrated by Alistair Cooke. Academy Award tour de force by Woodward as young woman with multiple personalities and three separate lives. Cobb is psychiatrist who tries to cure her. Johnson also produced and wrote the screenplay. CinemaScope.▼●●

Three Faces West (1940) 79m. ½ D: Bernard Vorhaus. John Wayne, Sigrid Gurie, Charles Coburn, Spencer Charters, Roland Varno, Russell Simpson. Offbeat WW2-era drama about Austrian refugees heading for Oregon under Wayne's sponsorship. Gurie is hardly typical leading lady for the Duke, but film's odd mix of frontier and Nazi elements makes it worth a look.▼●

3:15 (1986) C-95m.  D: Larry Gross. Adam Baldwin, Deborah Foreman, Rene Auberjonois, Ed Lauter, Scott McGinnis, Danny De La Paz, John Scott Clough, Mario Van Peebles. Good cast in lackluster, low-budget teenage gang film, filmed in 1984. [R]▼

Three for Bedroom C (1952) C-74m.  D: Milton Breen. Gloria Swanson, Fred Clark, James Warren, Steve Brodie, Hans Conried, Margaret Dumont. Sadly uneven comedy of romance between movie star and scientist aboard transcontinental train heading to L.A. A derailment for Swanson after her SUNSET BLVD. triumph.▼

Three for Jamie Dawn (1956) 81m.  D: Thomas Carr. Laraine Day, Ricardo Montalban, Richard Carlson, June Havoc. Diverting story poorly executed, about jury members being pressured to swing a not-guilty verdict for the defendant.

Three for the Road (1987) C-88m. *½ D: B. W. L. Norton. Charlie Sheen, Kerri Green, Alan Ruck, Sally Kellerman, Blair Tefkin, Raymond J. Barry, Alexa Hamilton. Anachronistic youth movie about the spoiled-brat daughter of a senator who travels to boarding school with Sheen and Ruck—and hits more than a few detours. Dull in the extreme. [PG]▼●●

Three for the Show (1955) C-93m.  D: H. C. Potter. Betty Grable, Marge and Gower Champion, Jack Lemmon, Myron McCormick. Tuneful music is only thing that holds slight plot together in this dud remake of W. Somerset Maugham's TOO MANY HUSBANDS. Some bright dance numbers cleverly staged for widescreen by Jack Cole. CinemaScope.▼●●

Three Fugitives (1989) C-93m. ½ D: Francis Veber. Nick Nolte, Martin Short, Sarah Rowland Doroff, James Earl Jones, Alan Ruck, Kenneth McMillan, Bruce

McGill. Bumbling bank robber—who's only pulling the heist to support his little daughter—takes a hostage with him, little dreaming that the guy is a notorious holdup man who's just finished a long stretch in prison. Fast-paced farce doesn't quite hang together, despite energetic performances; Veber's first American film is a remake of his own French comedy LES FUGITIFS. [PG-13]▼●●

Three Girls About Town (1941) 73m. ½ D: Leigh Jason. Joan Blondell, Binnie Barnes, Janet Blair, John Howard, Robert Benchley, Eric Blore, Hugh O'Connell, Una O'Connor. Wacky but amusing comedy of three sisters encountering a corpse in N.Y.C. hotel and the frantic consequences.

Three Godfathers (1936) 82m.  D: Richard Boleslawski. Chester Morris, Lewis Stone, Walter Brennan, Irene Hervey, Willard Robertson, Sidney Toler. Little-seen and underrated version of Peter B. Kyne's story (filmed twice before) about three bad guys who adopt a foundling in the desert. Beautifully shot and warmly acted.

3 Godfathers (1949) C-105m.  D: John Ford. John Wayne, Pedro Armendariz, Harry Carey, Jr., Ward Bond, Mae Marsh, Jane Darwell, Ben Johnson, Mildred Natwick. Sturdy, sentimental, sometimes beautiful rendition of Peter B. Kyne's oft-filmed saga of three bandits who "adopt" a baby born in the desert. Final scene doesn't ring true, but Ford makes up for it in balance of film. Dedicated to the director's first star, Harry Carey, Sr. Remade for TV as THE GODCHILD and as a Japanese animated feature, TOKYO GODFATHERS.▼●●

Three Hours to Kill (1954) C-77m.  D: Alfred L. Werker. Dana Andrews, Donna Reed, Dianne Foster, Stephen Elliott, Richard Webb, Carolyn Jones, Whit Bissell. Andrews plays stagecoach driver unjustly accused of killing fiancée's brother; he returns to find real killer. Tight, well done.

300 (2007) C-116m.  D: Zack Snyder. Gerard Butler, Lena Headey, Dominic West, David Wenham, Vincent Regan, Michael Fassbender, Tom Wisdom, Andrew Pleavin, Rodrigo Santoro, Stephen McHattie. Frank Miller's graphic novel becomes a living comic book, using cutting-edge computer technology. Butler is commanding as King Leonidas, who leads his elite corps of Spartans into battle against Xerxes of Persia at Thermopylae in 480 B.C. Though greatly outnumbered they use cunning, strategy, and sheer courage to hold off the invaders . . . while Leonidas' wife fights a psychological battle on the home front. Not a history lesson but an adrenaline-pumped, larger-than-life interpretation of this famous battle, drenched in comic-book blood. Super 35. [R]●

300 Spartans, The (1962) C-114m. *½ D: Rudolph Maté. Richard Egan, Ralph Richardson, Diane Baker, Barry Coe, David Farrar, Donald Houston, Kieron Moore, Laurence Naismith. Events leading up to heroic Greek stand against the Persian Army at Thermopylae; strictly cardboard, despite Mediterranean locations filmed in widescreen by Geoffrey Unsworth. However, this did have a profound effect on Frank Miller, who later created the graphic novel 300. CinemaScope. D

Three in the Attic (1968) C-92m. ½ D: Richard Wilson. Christopher Jones, Judy Pace, Yvette Mimieux, Maggie Thrett. Silly tale of youth with so much style that he works three girls at once until they get wise and decide to lock him in and drain him of his potency. [R] **▼

Three in the Cellar SEE: Up in the Cellar
Three Into Two Won't Go (1969-British) C-93m.  D: Peter Hall. Rod Steiger, Claire Bloom, Judy Geeson, Peggy Ashcroft, Paul Rogers. Marriage of Steiger and Bloom breaks up when he becomes infatuated with sexy hitchhiker Geeson. Originally an OK drama, but Universal shot extra footage and reedited original film to 100m. for television. [R]

3-Iron (2004-South Korean-Japanese) C-88m. ½ D: Kim Ki-duk. Lee Seung-yeon, Jae Hee, Kwon Hyuk-ho, Joo Jin-mo, Choi Jeong-ho. Eerie, captivating fable about a young transient who sneaks into and lives in houses whose inhabitants are out of town. He forms an unusual bond with a woman who is patronized and battered by her husband. Quietly powerful film with a main character who doesn't speak a word of dialogue. The title refers to his obsession with hitting golf balls. [R] D

Three Kings (1999) C-115m.  D: David O. Russell. George Clooney, Mark Wahlberg, Ice Cube, Spike Jonze, Nora Dunn, Jamie Kennedy, Mykelti Williamson, Cliff Curtis, Said Taghmaoui, Judy Greer. At the end of the Persian Gulf War, four renegade U.S. soldiers try to pull off a heist of Kuwaiti gold, but find themselves getting involved with innocent civilians who are being targeted by Saddam Hussein—and being left to fend for themselves by a retreating United States military. A gritty, violent action film with a brain and a point of view. Scripted by the director. Super 35. [R] **▼

Three Little Girls in Blue (1946) C-90m.  D: H. Bruce Humberstone. June Haver, George Montgomery, Vivian Blaine, Celeste Holm, Vera-Ellen, Frank Latimore, Charles Smith. Cheerful tale of three spunky sisters out to trap wealthy husbands; familiar plot with good tunes like "You Make Me Feel So Young." A remake of THREE BLIND MICE and MOON OVER MIAMI, set in turn of the century Atlantic City. Holm's film debut.

Three Little Words (1950) C-102m. ***

D: Richard Thorpe. Fred Astaire, Vera-Ellen, Red Skelton, Arlene Dahl, Keenan Wynn, Gloria De Haven, Debbie Reynolds, Carleton Carpenter. Standard MGM musical about famous songwriters Kalmar and Ruby and their climb to fame; bouncy cast, fine tunes, including "Who's Sorry Now?," "Thinking of You," title song. Debbie plays Helen Kane, but the real Helen dubbed "I Wanna Be Loved by You." **▼

Three Lives and Only One Death (1996-French-Portuguese) C-123m.  D: Raul Ruiz. Marcello Mastroianni, Anna Galiena, Marisa Paredes, Melvil Poupaud, Chiara Mastroianni, Arielle Dombasle, Feodor Atkine, Lou Castel. One of Mastroianni's last films casts him in a quartet of roles: a traveling salesman, an anthropology professor, a butler, and a wealthy industrialist. Clever, stimulating film is better seen than described, with plenty of surprises in store. Chiara Mastroianni (daughter of Marcello and Catherine Deneuve) and Poupaud play the young couple who inherit the mansion where Marcello works as a butler. **▼

Three Lives of Thomasina, The (1964) C-97m.  D: Don Chaffey. Patrick McGoohan, Susan Hampshire, Karen Dotrice, Matthew Garber, Vincent Winter, Denis Gilmore, Laurence Naismith, Finlay Currie. Charming Disney film made in England from Paul Gallico's story about a heartless veterinarian, his daughter's devotion to her pet cat, and a mystical young woman with life-giving "powers." A winner. **▼

3 Men and a Baby (1987) C-102m.  D: Leonard Nimoy. Tom Selleck, Steve Guttenberg, Ted Danson, Nancy Travis, Margaret Colin, Philip Bosco, Celeste Holm, Derek de Lint, Cynthia Harris, Lisa & Michelle Blair. Enjoyable remake of France's big hit THREE MEN AND A CRADLE, about a trio of swinging bachelor roommates who suddenly find themselves custodians of an infant. Winning performances all around help keep this buoyant comedy on-track from start to finish. Followed by 3 MEN AND A LITTLE LADY. [PG] **▼

Three Men and a Cradle (1985-French) C-106m.  D: Coline Serreau. Roland Giraud, Michel Boujenah, Andre Dussolier, Philippine Leroy Beaulieu, Dominique Lavanat, Marthe Villalonga. Very entertaining comedy about three swinging bachelors who find themselves stuck with a baby, which one of them fathered. Compassionate and funny; a real charmer. A box-office sensation in France and winner of three César awards. Remade in U.S. as 3 MEN AND A BABY. [PG-13] **▼

3 Men and a Little Lady (1990) C-100m. ½ D: Emile Ardolino. Tom Selleck, Steve Guttenberg, Ted Danson, Nancy Travis, Robin Weisman, Christopher Caze-

nove, Sheila Hancock, Fiona Shaw, John Boswall, Jonathan Lynn, Sydney Walsh. Pleasant (if unexceptional) follow-up to hit comedy has the growing tyke's mother (Travis) deciding to marry British actor Cazenove, and move to England . . . forcing the three bachelor fathers to prove that the prospective husband and father is really a rotter before it's too late. [PG] ▼●●

Three Musketeers, The (1921) 118m.  D: Fred Niblo. Douglas Fairbanks, Marguerite De La Motte, Adolphe Menjou, Barbara La Marr, Leon Barry, George Siegmann, Eugene Pallette, Nigel de Brulier, Boyd Irwin, Mary MacLaren, Sidney Franklin, Charles Stevens. Robust period adventure with Fairbanks a hearty D'Artagnan, Alexandre Dumas' swashbuckling hero who joins the King's Musketeers, becomes pals with Athos, Porthos, and Aramis, and battles evil in the court of Louis XIII. De Brulier almost steals the film as Cardinal Richelieu. Great fun! Followed by THE IRON MASK. ▼●●

Three Musketeers, The (1935) 90m.  D: Rowland V. Lee. Walter Abel, Paul Lukas, Ian Keith, Onslow Stevens, Ralph Forbes, Margot Graham, Heather Angel. Dullest version of Dumas story, with Abel miscast as D'Artagnan. ▼●●

Three Musketeers, The (1939) 73m.  D: Allan Dwan. Don Ameche, The Ritz Brothers, Lionel Atwill, Binnie Barnes, Miles Mander, Gloria Stuart, Pauline Moore, John Carradine, Joseph Schildkraut. Spirited musical, generally faithful to Dumas story; Ameche flavorful as D'Artagnan, Barnes lovely as Lady DeWinter, Ritz Brothers funny substitutes for unsuspecting musketeers. ▼●

Three Musketeers, The (1948) C-125m. ½ D: George Sidney. Lana Turner, Gene Kelly, June Allyson, Van Heflin, Angela Lansbury, Robert Coote, Frank Morgan, Vincent Price, Keenan Wynn, Gig Young. Oddball, lavish production of Dumas tale with Kelly as D'Artagnan. Occasional bright moments, but continual change of tone and Heflin's drowsy characterization as Athos bog down the action. Lana makes a stunning Lady DeWinter. ▼●●

Three Musketeers, The (1974-British) C-105m. ½ D: Richard Lester. Oliver Reed, Raquel Welch, Richard Chamberlain, Michael York, Frank Finlay, Christopher Lee, Geraldine Chaplin, Faye Dunaway, Charlton Heston, Jean-Pierre Cassel, Roy Kinnear, Spike Milligan. Delightful tongue-in-cheek version of Dumas classic, mixing swashbuckling adventure and romance with broad slapstick. One of Raquel Welch's finest hours. Followed by THE FOUR MUSKETEERS, which was actually filmed simultaneously, and THE RETURN OF THE MUSKETEERS (1989). [PG] ▼●●

Three Musketeers, The (1993) C-105m.

 D: Stephen Herek. Charlie Sheen, Kiefer Sutherland, Chris O'Donnell, Oliver Platt, Tim Curry, Rebecca De Mornay, Gabrielle Anwar, Michael Wincott, Paul McGann, Julie Delpy, Hugh O'Connor. Once again, D'Artagnan (O'Donnell) and the Three Musketeers (Sutherland, Sheen, and Platt) meet for the first time, and cross swords with the lackeys of scheming Cardinal Richelieu. Really just "Young Swords," but it's fast paced and entertaining; lots of action, handsome Austrian locations and attractive costumes. Curry's Richelieu is broad, anachronistic—and absolutely delightful, the highlight of the film. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

3 Needles (2006-Canadian) C-129m. ½ D: Thom Fitzgerald. Shawn Ashmore, Stockard Channing, Tanabadee Chokpikul-tong, Olympia Dukakis, Lucy Liu, Sandra Oh, Ian Roberts, Chloë Sevigny, Gary Farmer. Fitzgerald also scripted this three-part opus, which attempts to humanize the tragedy of the AIDS epidemic by portraying individuals from different cultures who become HIV-positive. The scenarios follow Chinese farmers who are infected by tainted needles as they give blood, a Montreal porn actor, and three missionaries who come to Africa to save the souls of those afflicted with the virus. Raw and poignant in its best moments, but also slow moving, unevenly paced, and not as emotionally involving as it ought to be. ●

3 Ninjas (1992) C-87m.  D: Jon Turteltaub. Victor Wong, Michael Treanor, Max Elliott Slade, Chad Power, Rand Kingsley, Alan McRae, Margarita Franco, Patrick Laborieux. Three young brothers take their hard-earned ninja skills and put them to use against big-time baddies who are out to kidnap them. Harmless Disney release borrows ideas from every kiddie hit of its era. A surprising box-office success. Followed by three sequels. [PG] ▼●●

3 Ninjas: High Noon at Mega Mountain (1998) C-93m.  D: Sean McNamara. Loni Anderson, Hulk Hogan, Jim Varney, Victor Wong, Mathew Botuchis, Michael J. O'Laskey II, J. P. Roeske II, Chelsey Earlywine, Alan McRae. Latest adventures of the three would-be ninjas (with new cast members) finds them putting their prowess to work unexpectedly when Anderson and a team of commando types take over an amusement park, holding the families inside hostage. OK kids' fare. [PG] ▼●

3 Ninjas Kick Back (1994) C-99m.  D: Charles T. Kanganis. Victor Wong, Max Elliott Slade, Sean Fox, Evan Bonifant, Caroline Junko King, Dustin Nguyen, Alan McRae, Margarita Franco, Jason Schombing, Angelo Tiffe, Sab Shimono, Joey Travolta. More silliness aimed straight for the sub-teen crowd, as the three brothers (two of them recast from the original film) sacri-

face a championship baseball game to fly to Japan to help their grandfather, who's been targeted by an age-old rival. A few moralistic lessons are sprinkled among the slapstick and toilet humor. [PG]▼●●

3 Ninjas Knuckle Up (1995) C-85m. *½ D: Simon S. Sheen. Victor Wong, Charles Napier, Michael Treanor, Max Elliott Slade, Chad Power, Crystle Lightning, Patrick Kirkpatrick, Rocky, Tum Tum, and Colt join their grandfather to help an Indian tribe whose land is being abused by a corrupt business tycoon (Napier). This artless blend of juvenile slapstick and martial arts was filmed in 1992, before 3 NINJAS KICK BACK, with the youthful star trio from the first film intact, but only released (barely, at that) in 1995. Followed by 3 NINJAS: HIGH NOON AT MEGA MOUNTAIN. [PG-13]▼●●

Three Nuts in Search of a Bolt (1964) C/B&W-80m. *½ D: Tommy Noonan. Mamie Van Doren, Tommy Noonan, Ziva Rodann, Paul Gilbert, John Cronin, Peter Howard, T. C. Jones, Alvy Moore, Marjorie Bennett. Neurotic stripper Mamie and her two pals hire Noonan to act out their personalities for shrink Rodann, so they can receive psychoanalysis at a discount. Because of a couple of scenes in which Mamie plies her trade, this was considered to be quite risqué back in '64; today it's merely idiotic and would be hard-pressed to earn a PG-13 rating. Some stripper and nude sequences in color although rest of film is b&w. Noonan also coproduced and coscripted.▼

Three O'Clock High (1987) C-101m. *½ D: Phil Joanou. Casey Siemaszko, Anne Ryan, Richard Tyson, Jeffrey Tambor, Philip Baker Hall, John P. Ryan, Stacey Glick, Jonathan Wise. High school journalist is assigned to do a welcome-wagon profile on the new psycho in class, finds himself challenged by this behemoth to duke it out in the parking lot after school. Steven Spielberg protégé Joanou is to the camera what James Brown is to shoes, but it's a lot of energy expended over nothing. Siemaszko is underwhelming in the lead. [PG-13]▼●●

Three of Hearts (1993) C-102m. ½ D: Yurek Bogayevicz. William Baldwin, Kelly Lynch, Sherilyn Fenn, Joe Pantoliano, Gail Strickland, Cec Verrell, Claire Callaway, Marek Johnson, Monique Mannen, Tony Amendola, Tawny Kitaen. Original little film that begins with the end of a relationship between gay couple Lynch and Fenn and goes on to have the former hire a male escort (Baldwin) to try to get her lover back. Effective first half, with a strident Lynch getting to know the cocky gigolo; unfortunately second half of film becomes a more ordinary romantic tale, with the stud falling for his prey. A conventional gangster subplot doesn't help. Still, good use of N.Y.C. locations and excellent performances by Baldwin (who's never been better) and Lynch. [R]▼●●

Three on a Couch (1966) C-109m. *½ D: Jerry Lewis. Jerry Lewis, Janet Leigh, Mary Ann Mobley, Gila Golan, Leslie Parrish, James Best, Kathleen Freeman. For psychiatrist Leigh to marry him, Lewis has to play five roles; one of them is "straight" but unintentionally funny, the other four zany, but unintentionally unfunny. The women are attractive.

Three on a Match (1932) 64m.  D: Mervyn LeRoy. Warren William, Joan Blondell, Bette Davis, Ann Dvorak, Humphrey Bogart, Lyle Talbot, Glenda Farrell, Dawn O'Day (Anne Shirley), Edward Arnold. Fine, fast-moving (and surprisingly potent) pre-Code melodrama of three girls who renew childhood friendship, only to find suspense and tragedy. Dvorak is simply marvelous. Remade as BROADWAY MUSKETEERS.▼●●

3 Penny Opera, The (1931-German) 112m. ½ D: G. W. Pabst. Rudolph Forster, Lotte Lenya, Carola Neher, Reinhold Schunzel, Fritz Rasp, Valeska Gert. Fine musical satire chronicling activities of dashing gangster Forster, his cohorts, and antagonists, with Lenya outstanding as Pirate Jenny. From Bertolt Brecht's play, with music by Kurt Weill, adapted from John Gay's The Beggar's Opera. Remade many times since.▼●●

3 Ring Circus (1954) C-103m.  D: Joseph Pevney. Dean Martin, Jerry Lewis, Joanne Dru, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Wallace Ford, Sig Ruman, Nick Cravat, Elsa Lanchester. So-so Martin and Lewis comedy has them as discharged servicemen up to trouble in a circus. Reissued in shorter version as JERICHO, THE WONDER CLOWN. Remade as ROUSTABOUT. VistaVision.

Three Seasons (1999) C-113m.  D: Tony Bui. Don Duong, Nguyen Ngoc Hiep, Tran Manh Cuong, Harvey Keitel, Zöe Bui, Nguyen Huu Duoc. Absorbing multi-character story about modern-day Saigon, where a poor boy struggles to survive on the streets, a bicycle-taxi driver falls in love with a prostitute, a young woman who harvests flowers tries to connect with her mysterious employer, and an American soldier (Keitel) returns to make amends for his past. In any other setting these stories might not have the resonance they do. Impressive debut for Vietnamese-American writer-director Bui. [PG-13]▼

Three Secrets (1950) 98m.  D: Robert Wise. Eleanor Parker, Patricia Neal, Ruth Roman, Frank Lovejoy, Leif Erickson. Sturdy melodrama; three women wait anxiously for word of which one's child survived plane crash. Remade for TV in 1999.▼

Three Shades of Love SEE: This Rebel Breed

Three Sisters (1970-British) C-165m. * D: Laurence Olivier, John Sichel. Laurence Olivier, Joan Plowright, Alan Bates, Jeanne Watts, Louise Purnell, Derek Jacobi. Brilliant rendering of Chekhov play about three daughters of deceased Russian colonel living in provinces, circa 1900. Olivier's vibrant production is definitive screen version of this classic. Released here in 1974 by American Film Theater. [PG]▼

Three Smart Girls (1936) 84m. ½ D: Henry Koster. Deanna Durbin, Binnie Barnes, Alice Brady, Ray Milland, Barbara Read, Mischa Auer, Nan Grey, Charles Winninger. Delightful musicomedy with Deanna's feature-film debut as match-making girl who brings parents back together. Songs: "Someone to Care for Me," "My Heart Is Singing." Sequel: THREE SMART GIRLS GROW UP.▼●●

Three Smart Girls Grow Up (1939) 90m.  D: Henry Koster. Deanna Durbin, Charles Winninger, Nan Grey, Helen Parrish, Robert Cummings, William Lundigan. Little Deanna still matchmaking for sisters, warming up stern father, singing "Because," winning over everyone in sight.▼●

Threesome (1994) C-95m.  D: Andrew Fleming. Lara Flynn Boyle, Stephen Baldwin, Josh Charles, Alexis Arquette, Martha Gehman. Through computer error, college student Flynn Boyle is assigned to room with two guys—shy, intellectual Charles, who may be gay, and in-your-face, sex-obsessed Baldwin—resulting in various couplings and emotional complications. Coming-of-age comedy-drama is at once intelligent and impertinent; unlike many other Hollywood films, it does not cop out in its examination of the issue of homosexuality. Fleming also scripted. [R]▼●●

Three Stooges Go Around the World in a Daze, The (1963) 94m. ½ D: Norman Maurer. Three Stooges, Jay Sheffield, Joan Freeman, Walter Burke, Peter Forster. Even those who dislike the Stooges may enjoy this funny updating of Jules Verne's tale, replete with sight gags and world travel.▼

Three Stooges in Orbit, The (1962) 87m. ½ D: Edward Bernds. The Three Stooges, Carol Christensen, Edson Stroll, Emil Sitka. Nutty scientist Sitka invents a tanklike contraption that flies and floats. The Stooges accidentally launch it and run headlong into a few Martian invaders, with usual slapstick results for younger audiences.▼

Three Stooges Meet Hercules, The (1962) 89m. ½ D: Edward Bernds. The Three Stooges, Vicki Trickett, Quinn Redeker, George N. Neise. Time machine takes the Stooges back to era of Roman legions; they are trapped on galley ship, battle Cyclops, and wind up with chariot chase. Good slapstick for kids and fans.▼

Three Strange Loves (1949-Swedish) 84m.  D: Ingmar Bergman. Eva Henning, Birger Malmsten, Birgit Tengroth, Mimi Nelson, Hasse Ekman. Interesting early

Bergman drama which foreshadows much of his future work. This one explores the dynamics of a three-cornered love relationship, from a distinctly female perspective, and examines the possibility of two women having the same personality. Bergman can be seen on camera as a train passenger. Aka THIRST.▼

Three Strangers (1946) 92m. ½ D: Jean Negulesco. Sydney Greenstreet, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Peter Lorre, Joan Lorrain, Robert Shayne, Marjorie Riordan. Greenstreet and Lorre team up with Fitzgerald as partners holding winning sweepstakes ticket under unusual circumstances. Bizarre John Huston-Howard Koch script makes fascinating viewing.

3 Strikes (2000) C-82m. *½ D: D. J. Pooh. Brian Hooks, N'Bushe Wright, Faizon Love, Starletta DuPois, George Wallace, David Alan Grier, Antonio Fargas, De'andre Bonds, Vincent Schiavelli, David Leisure, Gerald S. O'Loughlin. Alleged comedy about a newly minted ex-con (Hooks) with two felony convictions to his name; he knows that a third will land him in jail for 25 years, but he can't seem to avoid trouble. A must for fanciers of flatulence jokes and general idiocy. [R]▼

3:10 to Yuma (1957) 92m. ½ D: Delmer Daves. Van Heflin, Glenn Ford, Felicia Farr, Leora Dana, Henry Jones, Richard Jaeckel, Robert Emhardt. Extremely suspenseful Western, one of the best of the 1950s. Farmer Heflin, needing the money, agrees to hold captured outlaw Ford until the train arrives, but Ford starts to psych him out. Gripping every step of the way, with memorable George Duning theme sung by Frankie Laine. Script by Halsted Welles from an Elmore Leonard story. Remade in 2007.▼●●

3:10 to Yuma (2007) C-117m.  D: James Mangold. Russell Crowe, Christian Bale, Peter Fonda, Ben Foster, Gretchen Mol, Alan Tudyk, Logan Lerman, Dallas Roberts, Vinuesa Shaw, Luce Rains, Luke Wilson. Farmer Bale, desperate for money (and for his older son's respect), agrees to help escort notorious outlaw Crowe to a train that will send him off to trial . . . but the captor counts on his gang to rescue him. Well-filmed adaptation of Elmore Leonard's story, expanded and altered from its 1957 film version. The new ending is a mixed blessing, and the story goes on longer than it needs to, but it's still very entertaining, with fine work from Bale, Fonda, and Foster, and a charismatic performance by Crowe as the bad guy who can quote from the Bible. Super 35. [R]▼

Three the Hard Way (1974) C-93m. ½ D: Gordon Parks, Jr. Jim Brown, Fred Williamson, Jim Kelly, Sheila Frazier, Jay Robinson, Alex Rocco, Corbin Bernsen. Top black action cast in nonstop, nearly

bloodless thriller of white supremacist Robinson's insane plot to eliminate blacks with a serum in the water supply. Produced by Harry Bernsen (Corbin's father). [R]▼

3000 Miles to Graceland (2001) C-125m. BOMB D: Demian Lichtenstein. Kevin Costner, Kurt Russell, Courteney Cox, Christian Slater, Kevin Pollak, David Arquette, Jon Lovitz, Howie Long, Thomas Haden Church, Bokeem Woodbine, Ice-T, David Kaye, Paul Anka. A gang of Elvis impersonators pulls off a heist in Las Vegas. Potentially clever idea degenerates into an overlong, bloody (and bloody awful) bore. All the violence is mindless; all the plot developments are brainless. Russell actually once played Presley, in the TV movie ELVIS. Super 35. [R]▼

Three Times (2005-Taiwanese) C-135m.  D: Hou Hsiao-Hsien. Shu Qi, Chang Chen, Mei Fang, Liao Su-je, Di Mei, Chen Shih-shan, Lee Pei-hsuan. The universality and timelessness of love and communication are explored via three separate stories set in 1966, 1911, and 2005, and featuring the same male and female leads (playing different characters). Although the last part is its weakest, this languid and lyrical film, which is shot in varying styles reflecting each of its time periods, is an accomplished and moving mood piece.▶

Three to Tango (1999) C-103m. *½ D: Damon Santostefano. Matthew Perry, Neve Campbell, Dylan McDermott, Oliver Platt, Bob Balaban, Cyllk Cozart, John C. McGinley, Deborah Rush. Architect Perry is given the job of spying on the mistress of his insanely jealous—and rich—client, who mistakenly thinks he is gay, until they (predictably) fall in love. Glossy comedy of mistaken sexual identity with TV-star cast manages a couple of laughs but tries so hard to get them that it hardly seems worth the effort. [PG-13]▼▶

Three Tough Guys (1974-Italian-U.S.) C-92m. ½ D: Duccio Tessari. Lino Ventura, Fred Williamson, Isaac Hayes, Paula Kelly. Oddball but fast-moving actioner, with tough priest Ventura and ex-cop Hayes solving million-dollar bank robbery. Hayes, who also did the music, is nicely subdued as an actor. [PG]

Three Violent People (1956) C-100m. ½ D: Rudolph Maté. Charlton Heston, Anne Baxter, Gilbert Roland, Tom Tryon, Forrest Tucker, Elaine Stritch, Bruce Bennett, Barton MacLane. Adequately paced Western set in post-Civil War Texas; Heston, returning home with bride Baxter, is forced to fight carpetbaggers and deal with wife's shady past. VistaVision.▼▶

Three Wishes (1995) C-107m.  D: Martha Coolidge. Patrick Swayze, Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio, Joseph Mazzello, Seth Mumy, David Marshall Grant, Jay O. Sanders, Michael O'Keefe, John Diehl, Diane Venora, Colleen Camp, Bill Mumy. A mysterious man and his dog enter the life of a Korean War widow who's doing her best to raise two sons on her own. Is there more to this stranger than meets the eye? Flashback-framed '50s tale hints at fantasy but doesn't let it flow until the end—by which time it seems like an afterthought. Another purported family film that moves like molasses and dwells on the melancholy. D. B. Sweeney appears unbilled. [PG] ▼●●

3 Women (1977) C-125m. ½ D: Robert Altman. Sissy Spacek, Shelley Duvall, Janice Rule, Robert Fortier, Ruth Nelson, John Cromwell. Brilliant, moody, thought-provoking film about a strange young girl (Spacek) who gets a job in an old-age convalescent home and attaches herself to coworker Duvall, who fancies herself a social butterfly. Their interrelationship and involvement with a quiet, embittered woman (Rule) form the "plot." Hypnotic film for Altman fans, heavy going for others; a completely unconventional movie. Panavision. [PG]▶

3 Worlds of Gulliver, The (1960-British) C-100m.  D: Jack Sher. Kerwin Mathews, Jo Morrow, June Thorburn, Lee Patterson, Gregoire Aslan, Basil Sydney, Peter Bull. Hero is washed overboard and finds himself in the Land of Lilliput ... but that's just the beginning. Well-made adventure/fantasy designed for kids, fun for older viewers, too. Fine special effects by Ray Harryhausen, charming Bernard Herrmann score.▼●●

Three Young Texans (1954) C-78m.  D: Henry Levin. Mitzi Gaynor, Keefe Brasselle, Jeffrey Hunter, Harvey Stephens, Dan Riss. Standard Western has Hunter pulling railroad robbery to prevent crooks from forcing his father to do same job, expected complications.

Threshold (1981-Canadian) C-97m.  D: Richard Pearce. Donald Sutherland, John Marley, Sharon Ackerman, Mare Winningham, Jeff Goldblum, Michael Lerner, Allan Nicholls, Paul Hecht, Robert Joy. Excellent, surprisingly low-key drama about the first artificial heart transplant, with more humanism and offbeat touches than you'd find in typical TV treatment of this sort of thing. Goldblum and Winningham score as, respectively, the biologist who invents the artificial heart and its first recipient. Unreleased in the U.S. until 1983, when Barney Clark's real-life operation made headlines. [PG]▼

Thrill of a Romance (1945) C-105m.  D: Richard Thorpe. Van Johnson, Esther Williams, Frances Gifford, Henry Travers, Spring Byington, Carleton G. Young, Lauritz Melchior, Tommy Dorsey. Slight musical-romance with sweet Williams, abandoned by her businessman husband on their honeymoon, falling for war hero Johnson.▼

Thrill of It All, The (1963) C-108m. ***

D: Norman Jewison. Doris Day, James Garner, Arlene Francis, Edward Andrews, Reginald Owen, ZaSu Pitts, Elliott Reid. Enjoyable spoof of TV and commercials by Carl Reiner; good vehicle for Day as housewife-turned-TV-spokeswoman and Garner as her neglected husband. Reiner has a particularly funny series of cameos. ▼

Throne of Blood (1957-Japanese) 108m.

* D: Akira Kurosawa. Toshiro Mifune, Isuzu Yamada, Takashi Shimura, Minoru Chiaki. Graphic, powerful adaptation of Macbeth in a samurai setting. Gripping finale, with Taketoki Washizu (the Macbeth character, masterfully played by Mifune) attacked by arrows. ▼●●

Through a Glass, Darkly (1961-Swedish)

91m. ½ D: Ingmar Bergman. Harriet Andersson, Gunnar Bjornstrand, Max von Sydow, Lars Passgard. Four-character drama about just-released mental patient, her husband, her father, and her younger brother who spend summer together on secluded island. Moody, evocative story of insanity—well-deserved Oscar winner, one of Bergman's best. The first in the filmmaker's "faith" trilogy, followed by WINTER LIGHT and THE SILENCE. ▼●●

Throw Momma from the Train (1987)

C-88m. ½ D: Danny DeVito. Danny DeVito, Billy Crystal, Anne Ramsey, Kim Greist, Kate Mulgrew, Branford Marsalis, Rob Reiner, Bruce Kirby. Black comedy spin-off of Hitchcock's STRANGERS ON A TRAIN, with DeVito (in an excellent performance) as a childish man who tries to persuade his writing professor (Crystal) to "exchange murders" with him so he can bump off his harriard of a mother (Ramsey, who's incredible). Uneven and not as all-out funny as you might expect from the starring duo. Director DeVito has many offbeat ideas, and cinematographer Barry Sonnenfeld (who did those wild gags in RAISING ARIZONA) leaves a distinctive stamp on this film—particularly the runaway car sequence. Written by Stu Silver. [PG-13] ▼●●

Thumbelina (1994) C-86m. ½ D: Don

Bluth, Gary Goldman. Voices of Jodi Benson, Gary Imhoff, Gino Conforti, Barbara Cook, Will Ryan, Charo, June Foray, Kenneth Mars, Gilbert Gottfried, John Hurt, Carol Channing. Animated retelling of Hans Christian Andersen's classic fairy tale has the digit-sized heroine evading the clutches of various toads, moles, and beetles before she can proceed with her courtship with her dream lover, Prince Cornelius. Pleasant enough diversion for the small fry, with a handful of sweetly romantic songs from Barry Manilow. [G] ▼●●

Thumbsucker (2005) C-95m. ½ D:

Mike Mills. Lou (Taylor) Pucci, Tilda Swinton, Vincent D'Onofrio, Kelli Garner, Keanu Reeves, Benjamin Bratt, Vince

Vaughn, Chase Offerle. A 17-year-old boy who still sucks his thumb struggles to find his way while grappling with the curious dynamics of his family. Perceptive, multi-layered look at alienation and the challenges that face both kids and their parents. Disarmingly real, with a top-notch cast and a dynamite performance by Pucci. Impressive, stylish feature debut (in Widescreen) for graphic designer, music video and commercial director Mills, who also adapted Walter Kim's novel. Swinton coexecutive-produced. Panavision. [R] ●

Thumb Tripping (1972) C-94m. ½ D: Quentin Masters. Michael Burns, Meg Foster, Mariana Hill, Bruce Dern, Michael Conrad, Joyce Van Patten. Amusing as a period piece on the hippie era, with Burns and Foster as hitchhikers who decide to travel together and share experiences. [R] ▼

Thunder Alley (1967) C-90m. ½ D: Richard Rush. Annette Funicello, Fabian, Diane McBain, Warren Berlinger, Jan Murray, Maureen Arthur. Fabian's inept stockcar driving gets him suspended from racing, but unfortunately, the acting profession doesn't have the same rules. Panavision. ▼●

Thunder and Lightning (1977) C-95m.

½ D: Corey Allen. David Carradine, Kate Jackson, Roger C. Carmel, Sterling Holloway, Ed Barth, Ron Feinberg. Amiable moonshine picture with attractive pairing of Carradine and Jackson and lots of expected car smash-ups. [PG] ▼●

Thunderball (1965-British) C-129m. ½

D: Terence Young. Sean Connery, Claudine Auger, Adolfo Celi, Luciana Paluzzi, Rik Van Nutter, Martine Beswick, Bernard Lee, Lois Maxwell, Desmond Llewelyn, Roland Culver. Fourth James Bond film isn't as lively as the others. Plenty of gimmicks, and Oscar-winning special effects, as world is threatened with destruction, but film tends to bog down—especially underwater. Celi makes a formidable Bond villain. Remade eighteen years later—with Connery—as NEVER SAY NEVER AGAIN. Panavision. ▼●●

Thunder Bay (1953) C-102m.  D:

Anthony Mann. James Stewart, Joanne Dru, Gilbert Roland, Dan Duryea, Jay C. Flippen, Henry (Harry) Morgan. Action-packed account of oil-drillers vs. Louisiana shrimp fishermen, with peppery cast. ▼

Thunder Birds (1942) C-78m.  D: William Wellman. Gene Tierney, Preston Foster, John Sutton, Dame May Whitty, Reginald Denny, Jack Holt, George Barbier. Ultra-patriotic time capsule is an ode to the WW2 flyer/flying instructor. Freewheeling veteran aviator Foster and intern-turned-trainee Sutton (who's afraid of heights) compete for the affection of flirtatious Tierney. ●

Thunderbirds (1952) 98m. ½ D: John H. Auer. John Derek, John Barrymore, Jr., Mona Freeman, Gene Evans. Fact-based tale of Native Americans who fought in the 45th Infantry Division during WW2.

Thunderbirds (2004) C-95m. ½ D: Jonathan Frakes. Bill Paxton, Ben Kingsley, Anthony Edwards, Genie Francis, Brady Corbet, Dominic Colenso, Ben Torgersen, Sophia Myles. Rehash of Gerry Anderson's well-remembered British TV series of the '60s (which featured marionettes) is turned for some reason into a bloated live-action "family adventure" that's as wooden as those puppets from the original show. Plot has the heroic International Rescue family stranded in outer space as they try to save the world from The Hood (Kingsley). This one was in and out of theaters faster than you could say DVD. [PG] ▼

Thunderbolt and Lightfoot (1974) C-114m.  D: Michael Cimino. Clint Eastwood, Jeff Bridges, George Kennedy, Geoffrey Lewis, Catherine Bach, Gary Busey, Jack Dodson, Vic Tayback, Dub Taylor, Bill McKinney. Thief Eastwood and drifter Bridges team up with Clint's ex-partners (Kennedy and Lewis) to retrieve loot from previous robbery. Colorful, tough melodrama-comedy with good characterizations; Lewis is particularly fine, but Bridges steals the picture. Cimino's directorial debut. Panavision. [R] ▼

Thundercloud SEE: Colt 45

Thunderhead—Son of Flicka (1945) C-78m. ½ D: Louis King. Roddy McDowall, Preston Foster, Rita Johnson, James Bell, Diana Hale, Carleton Young. Good, colorful attempt to repeat MY FRIEND FLICKA's success; doesn't match original, but it's enjoyable. Followed by GREEN GRASS OF WYOMING.)

Thunderheart (1992) C-118m.  D: Michael Apted. Val Kilmer, Sam Shepard, Graham Greene, Fred Ward, Fred Dalton Thompson, Sheila Tousey, Chief Ted Thin Elk, John Trudell, Dennis Banks, David Crosby. Part-Sioux FBI agent Kilmer is awakened to his heritage when he's assigned to investigate a murder on an Oglala Sioux reservation. Engrossing thriller is notable for its keen attention to detail regarding Sioux customs and spirituality, and its enlightened point of view. Based on events which occurred in the 1970s at Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota, where the film was shot. Coproduced by Robert De Niro; before directing this, Apted made a documentary, INCIDENT AT OGLALA, about Indian activist Leonard Peltier. [R] ▼

Thunder in the East (1953) 98m. ½ D: Charles Vidor. Alan Ladd, Deborah Kerr, Charles Boyer, Corinne Calvet, Cecil Kellaway, John Williams. Adequate, politically loaded adventure with gunrunner Ladd caught amid tension and rebellion in rural India. Kerr and Boyer uplift the proceedings as a refined blind woman who falls for Ladd and a stubbornly pacifistic government official.

Thunder in the Sun (1959) C-81m. ½ D: Russell Rouse. Susan Hayward, Jeff Chandler, Jacques Bergerac, Blanche Yurka, Carl Esmond, Fortunio Bonanova. Hayward is romanced by wagon train scout Chandler and Bergerac, head of French Basque immigrants on way to California.

Thunder of Drums, A (1961) C-97m. ½ D: Joseph M. Newman. George Hamilton, Luana Patten, Richard Boone, Charles Bronson, Richard Chamberlain, Slim Pickens. Better than average cast saves average story of new lieutenant having rough time in cavalry. CinemaScope.

Thunder on the Hill (1951) 84m.  D: Douglas Sirk. Claudette Colbert, Ann Blyth, Robert Douglas, Anne Crawford, Gladys Cooper. Nun Colbert can't believe visitor Blyth, about to be hanged, is murderess, sets out to prove her innocent; Cooper fine as Mother Superior. Sincere, interesting drama.

Thunder Over the Plains (1953) C-82m.  D: Andre de Toth. Randolph Scott, Lex Barker, Phyllis Kirk, Henry Hull, Elisha Cook, Jr., Richard Benjamin, Charles McGraw, Fess Parker. Routine Western set in post-Civil War Texas, with Scott as Army officer sent to prevent carpetbaggers from harassing all.)

Thunder Road (1958) 92m.  D: Arthur Ripley. Robert Mitchum, Gene Barry, Jacques Aubuchon, Keely Smith, James Mitchum. Rural bootlegger takes on Feds and the Mob in cult favorite that even today continues to play in drive-ins; for many this remains the definitive moonshine picture. Jim Mitchum makes screen debut playing Bob's brother; the elder Mitchum got a hit record out of the title tune, which he also wrote! ▼

THX 1138 (1971) C-88m. ½ D: George Lucas. Robert Duvall, Donald Pleasence, Maggie McOmie, Don Pedro Colley, Ian Wolfe. Futuristic tale in the 1984 vein about robotlike society where sex is forbidden and everyone looks the same. Dull script (by Lucas and Walter Murch), but visually impressive; Lucas' first feature is expanded version of prize-winning featurette he made at USC. Revised by the director (with no change in running time) for 2004 reissue; that version is rated R. Techniscope. [PG] ▼

Tiara Tahiti (1962-British) C-100m.  D: William (Ted) Kotcheff. James Mason, John Mills, Claude Dauphin, Herbert Lom. Mild comedy-drama involving Mason and Mills as former Army officers who have an old grudge to settle; establishment of a Tahiti resort hotel sets wheels in motion. ▼

Tic Code, The (2000) C-91m.  D: Gary Winick. Gregory Hines, Polly Draper, Christopher George Marquette, Desmond Robert-

son, Carlos McKinney, Dick Berk, Tony Shalhoub, Bill Nunn, Fisher Stevens, Carol Kane, Camryn Manheim. Sincere, well-made drama about a boy with Tourette Syndrome who finds release in playing jazz piano and a soul mate in musician Hines. Written by Draper, who plays the boy's mother, inspired by her experience with husband Michael Wolff, the film's composer and producer. Shot in 1997. [R]▼

Tickets (2005-Italian-British) C-109m.  D: Ermanno Olmi, Abbas Kiarostami, Ken Loach. Carlo Delle Piane, Valeria Bruni Tedeschi, Silvana De Santis, Filippo Trojano, Martin Compston, Gary Maitland, William Ruane. Trilogy of stories by three world-renowned directors, set on a passenger train en route to Rome and connected only by some recurring characters: An elderly biochemist reflects on his life and his meeting earlier that day with an attractive young woman; a young man performing civil service to avoid military duty has to escort a general's overbearing widow; and three unruly Scottish soccer fans have a life-changing encounter with a family of Albanian refugees. Though all three segments are different in mood and style, this meditative, humorous, and poignant trip is well worth taking. ▽

Ticket to Heaven (1981-Canadian) C-107m.  D: Ralph L. Thomas. Nick Mancuso, Saul Rubinek, Meg Foster, Kim Cattrall, R. H. Thomson, Jennifer Dale, Guy Boyd. Mancuso, strung out from bad relationship, is seduced into becoming a "heavenly child" in a Moonie-like cult. Pointed drama is frightening in its relevancy. Mancuso is excellent, Rubinek and Thomson lend fine support as his best friend and a deprogrammer. [PG]▼

Ticket to Tomahawk, A (1950) C-90m.  D: Richard Sale. Dan Dailey, Anne Baxter, Rory Calhoun, Walter Brennan, Charles Kemper, Connie Gilchrist, Arthur Hunnicutt, Mauritz Hugo, Chief Yowlachie, Victor Sen Yung. Engaging comedy-Western about stagecoach company that hires gunslinger Calhoun to keep dreaded railroad from running on time. Good fun; one of the chorus girls with Dailey in a musical number is Marilyn Monroe. ▼

Tickle Me (1965) C-90m. ½ D: Norman Taurog. Elvis Presley, Jocelyn Lane, Julie Adams, Jack Mullaney, Merry Anders, Connie Gilchrist. That's the only way to get any laughs out of this one: Elvis works at all-girl dude ranch singing his usual quota of songs. Written by Elwood Ullman and Edward Bernds, both of whom worked with The Three Stooges in better days. Panavision. ▼

Ticklish Affair, A (1963) C-89m.  D: George Sidney. Shirley Jones, Gig Young, Red Buttons, Carolyn Jones, Edgar Buchanan. Amiable film of Navy commander Young falling in love with widow Jones; all

it lacks is wit, sparkle, and a fresh script. Panavision.

... tick ... tick ... tick ... (1970) C-100m.  D: Ralph Nelson. Jim Brown, George Kennedy, Fredric March, Lynn Carlin, Don Stroud, Clifton James, Janet MacLachlan. Poor man's IN THE HEAT OF THE NIGHT with black man (Brown) replacing white sheriff (Kennedy) in Southern town, flaring local hostilities. March adds film's only spice as aging, cantankerous mayor. Panavision. [PG]

Tidal Wave (1975) C-82m. *½ D: Shiro Moriana, Andrew Meyer. Lorne Greene, Kiliu Kobayashi, Rhonda Leigh Hopkins, Hiroshi Fujioka. Laughable Americanization of big-budget (and much superior) Japanese film, SUBMERSION OF JAPAN; epic special effects dwarfed by idiotic new footage with Greene, and horrible dubbing. For diehard disaster buffs only. Panavision. [PG]▼

Tideland (2006-Canadian-British) C-121m. BOMB D: Terry Gilliam. Jodelle Ferland, Brendan Fletcher, Janet McTeer, Jennifer Tilly, Jeff Bridges, Dylan Taylor, Wendy Anderson, Sally Crooks. In a golden field of Johnsongrass, inside a rotting farmhouse, a very poor little girl's junkie dad dies of an overdose, like her recently deceased unstable mom. She escapes into the rabbit hole of her imagination, guided by an all too bluntly referenced volume of Alice in Wonderland. Wrongheaded and squimmy on every count—the child prepares her father's lethal syringe and later engages in premature sexual experimentation with a brain-damaged neighbor boy. Depressing fairy tale is monumentally awful. Adapted from the 2000 novel by Mitch Cullin. Super 35. [R] ▽

Tiefland (1954-German) 98m. ½ D: Leni Riefenstahl. Leni Riefenstahl, Franz Eichberger, Bernard Minetti, Maria Koppenhofer, Luis Rainer. Blonde, dreamy shepherd Eichberger and arrogant marquis Minetti vie for Spanish dancer Riefenstahl. Atmospheric, visually poetic drama, even though the characters lack depth. Filmed between 1942 and 1945; editing wasn't completed until 1954. ▼

Tie Me Up! Tie Me Down! (1990-Spanish) C-101m. ½ D: Pedro Almodóvar. Victoria Abril, Antonio Banderas, Francisco Rabal, Loles Leon, Julieta Serrano, María Barranco. Mental patient kidnaps a former porn star/junkie, slaps her around some, then ties her to a bed; actually, he just wants to get married and have kids. Potential NOW nightmare comes off as surprisingly tame for Almodóvar, though it still has his unpredictable black humor. Thought provoking and energetically performed. Two scenes (one a loud but fairly explicit sex scene) earned this an X rating, so the distributor decided to release it unrated instead. Later rerated for video. [NC-17] ▼●●

Tie That Binds, The (1995) C-98m. BOMB D: Wesley Strick. Daryl Hannah, Keith Carradine, Moira Kelly, Vincent Spano, Julia Devin, Ray Reinhardt, Barbara Tarbuck. Two psychotic fugitives terrorize the family that's legally adopted their daughter after the youngster was taken into police custody following a foiled robbery attempt. This is what audiences get for having made THE HAND THAT ROCKS THE CRADLE a hit; film (from the same studio) is sleazy, insultingly derivative, and full of dangling plot issues. Directorial debut for screenwriter Strick. [R]▼●●

Tiger and the Pussycat, The (1967-Italian-U.S.) C-105m. ½ D: Dino Risi. Ann-Margret, Vittorio Gassman, Eleanor Parker, Antonella Stani, Fiorenzo Fiorentini. Innocuous sex-comedy of middle-aged businessman Gassman unintentionally getting involved with promiscuous young Ann-Margret. Italian and American players work well together.▼●

Tiger and the Snow, The (2006-Italian) C-114m. *½ D: Roberto Benigni. Robert Benigni, Nicoletta Braschi, Jean Reno, Emilia Fox, Amid Farid, Giuseppe Battiston, Andrea Renzi, Gianfranco Varetto, Tom Waits. Life-loving Italian poetry teacher (Benigni, who else?) longs for the woman of his dream—literally. When she is injured during a trip to Baghdad, he goes there and repeatedly risks his life to save hers. Attempt by cowriter-director Benigni to create a comedy-tragedy in the LIFE IS BEAUTIFUL mold falls flat: the Iraq war is a superficial backdrop to romantic woes and his character's constant rambling becomes insufferable. Final surprise twist is laughable . . . but not in a good way. Super 35.●

Tiger Bay (1959-British) 105m.  D: J. Lee Thompson. John Mills, Horst Buchholz, Hayley Mills, Yvonne Mitchell, Megs Jenkins, Anthony Dawson. Lonely Cardiff child witnesses a murder and is abducted by the Polish sailor-killer. A poignant, sensitive, and very different police chase story. Hayley steals the film in first major acting role.▼●

Tiger by the Tail (1968) C-99m.  D: R. G. Springsteen. Christopher George, Tippi Hedren, Dean Jagger, Charo, Glenda Farrell, Lloyd Bochner, Alan Hale, Skip Homeier, R. G. Armstrong. Vietnam war hero is accused of murdering his brother and recruits his socialite girlfriend in hunt for the real killer. Overly talkative thriller. [M/PG]

Tigerland (2000) C-109m.  D: Joel Schumacher. Colin Farrell, Matthew Davis, Clifton Collins, Jr., Thomas Guiry, Shea Whigham, Russell Richardson, Cole Hauser, Michael Shannon. Gritty, original take on the military, the specter of the Vietnam war, and its effect on raw recruits who train for combat duty. From Fort Polk, Louisiana, these disparate young men move on to a simulated

Vietnam battlefield known as Tigerland. Farrell is excellent as an iconoclast who rocks the boat—hard—but cares about his comrades. [R]▼●

Tiger Makes Out, The (1967) C-94m. ½ D: Arthur Hiller. Eli Wallach, Anne Jackson, Bob Dishy, John Harkins, David Burns, Ruth White, Rae Allen, Charles Nelson Reilly. One-man crusader against society (Wallach) symbolically kidnaps suburban housewife (Jackson). Originally a one-act, two-character play by Murray Schisgal, his expanded screenplay loses focus, relies on vivid N.Y. locations and funny cameos by character actors. Dustin Hoffman's film debut.

Tiger of Eschnapur, The (1958-German) C-101m.  D: Fritz Lang. Debra Paget, Paul Hubschmid, Walther Reyer, René Deltgen, Luciana Paluzzi. Exotic dancer Paget is desired by dastardly maharajah Reyer, but she loves architect Hubschmid; meanwhile, Reyer's subjects are plotting revolution. Slow-moving, disappointing adventure-romance of interest mostly for Lang's participation. The first of the director's Indian diptych, followed by THE INDIAN TOMB; both were originally edited down to 95m., dubbed and released as JOURNEY TO THE LOST CITY.●

Tigers Don't Cry SEE: Target of an Assassin

Tiger Shark (1932) 80m.  D: Howard Hawks. Edward G. Robinson, Richard Arlen, Zita Johann, J. Carrol Naish, Vince Barnett. Robinson gives rich, colorful performance as Portuguese tuna fisherman who marries wayward girl out of pity, then sees her fall in love with his best friend—a plot gambit Warner Bros. reused several times (SLIM, MANPOWER, etc.). Authentically filmed amid fisheries on Monterey coast.

Tigers in Lipstick (1979-Italian) C-83m.  D: Luigi Zampa. Ursula Andress, Laura Antonelli, Sylvia Kristel, Monica Vitti, Michele Placido, Roberto Benigni, Orazio Orlando. Veteran comedy director Zampa pilots a fun but overly tame throwback to '60s sex comedies that spotlights four beautiful actresses (individually) in seven separate segments, emphasizing aggressive women who take advantage of men. Best segment: "The Pickup," in which Antonelli is a frantic businesswoman who disrupts the life of an orchestra conductor. Originally titled: WILD BEDS. [R]▼

Tiger's Tale, A (1987) C-97m. *½ D: Peter Douglas. Ann-Margret, C. Thomas Howell, Charles Durning, Kelly Preston, William Zabka, Ann Wedgeworth, James Noble, Tim Thomerson, Steven Kampmann, Angel Tompkins. Unbelievable romantic comedy about a high school senior who gets involved with his girlfriend's mother, a nurse named Rose Butts. Need

we say more? Debuting writer-director Douglas (Kirk's son) has bitten off more than he can chew—or we can swallow. Ann-Margret is watchable, as always, but miscast. [R]▼●

Tiger Walks, A (1964) C-91m. ½ D: Norman Tokar. Brian Keith, Vera Miles, Pamela Franklin, Sabu, Kevin Corcoran, Peter Brown, Una Merkel, Frank McHugh, Edward Andrews, Jack Albertson. Odd-ball Disney film about young girl (Franklin) whose compassion for tiger which has broken away from circus stirs controversy and political wheeling-and-dealing. Surprisingly bitter portrait of small-town America. Sabu's last film.▼

Tiger Warsaw (1988) C-93m. *½ D: Amin Q. Chaudhri. Patrick Swayze, Piper Laurie, Lee Richardson, Mary McDonnell, Barbara Williams, Bobby DiCicco, Jenny Chrisinger, Kaye Ballard. Muddled melodrama about troubled ex-junkie Swayze and what happens when he comes home and attempts to sort out his life. Hokey and highly improbable. [R]▼●●

Tigger Movie, The (2000) C-77m. ½ D: Jun Falkenstein. Voices of Jim Cummings, John Fiedler, Nikita Hopkins, Ken Sansom, Peter Cullen, Kath Soucie; narrated by John Hurt. Tigger, who's always boasted that "he's the only one," comes to feel the need for family, and his friends in the Hundred Acre Wood try to help him. Cute movie aimed squarely at young children; not in the same class as major Disney animated features, but serves its purpose well. Best of all are the songs by Disney veterans Richard B. and Robert M. Sherman and their imaginative staging. [G]▼

Tight Little Island (1949-British) 82m. * D: Alexander Mackendrick. Basil Radford, Joan Greenwood, James Robertson Justice, Jean Cadell, Gordon Jackson, Wylie Watson, John Gregson; narrated by Finlay Currie. Hilarious, fast-paced comedy about WW2 ship sinking while loaded with whiskey and the antics of local Scottish islanders thirsting for its cargo. A solid hit. Scripted by Compton Mackenzie, the author of the novel, who has a small role as Captain Buncher. British title: WHISKY GALORE! Followed by MAD LITTLE ISLAND.▼

Tightrope (1984) C-114m. ½ D: Richard Tuggle. Clint Eastwood, Genevieve Bujold, Alison Eastwood, Jennifer Beck, Dan Hedaya. New Orleans cop finds he has much in common with the sex murderer he's pursuing. Intriguing Eastwood vehicle undone by sleaziness—and darkness. [R]▼●●

Tight Spot (1955) 97m.  D: Phil Karlson. Ginger Rogers, Edward G. Robinson, Brian Keith, Lorne Greene, Katherine Anderson. Rogers, key witness at a N.Y.C. crime lord's upcoming trial, does a lot of high-volume BORN YESTERDAY-like verbal sparring with Keith, her police lieutenant bodyguard, in this slack crime melodrama based on a flop Broadway play. A double dose of disappointment for Eddie G. fans: His screen time is short, and he plays the uninteresting role of the prosecutor!▼

Tigrero: A Film That Was Never Made (1994-Finnish-German-Brazilian) C-75m.

 D: Mika Kaurismaki. Absorbing documentary charting director Samuel Fuller's ill-fated attempt to shoot a film in Brazil among the remote Karaja tribe in 1954. Fuller is on hand, returning to the Karaja village where he describes the events to filmmaker Jim Jarmusch and screens footage he shot four decades earlier for villagers. A must for movie-history aficionados, and cultists of Jarmusch, the Kaurismaki brothers, and (especially) Fuller.▼●●

Till Dawn Do Us Part SEE: Straight on Till Morning

Till Human Voices Wake Us (2002-Australian) C-97m.  D: Michael Petroni. Guy Pearce, Helena Bonham Carter, Frank Gallacher, Lindley Joyner, Brooke Harman, Peter Curtin, Margot Knight. A boy's idyllic summer is jolted by the accidental death of his best friend, a disabled girl. The boy grows up to be a psychiatrist and lives a solitary life until he chances to meet a vulnerable young woman. Intriguing at first, but once this lugubrious movie's central idea becomes obvious—and it does—it's a sleepy ride to the conclusion. The title comes from a T. S. Eliot poem. Super 35. [R]▼

Tillie and Gus (1933) 58m. ½ D: Francis Martin. W.C. Fields, Alison Skipworth, Baby LeRoy, Edgar Kennedy, Jacqueline Wells (Julie Bishop), Clifford Jones, Barton MacLane, Clarence Wilson. Fields and Skipworth are perfectly matched as card hustlers in this very entertaining comedy, which also pits W.C. against Baby LeRoy for the first time. Nominal plot has them helping niece Wells win a crucial riverboat race.

Till Marriage Do Us Part (1974-Italian) C-97m. ½ D: Luigi Comencini. Laura Antonelli, Alberto Lionello, Michele Placido, Jean Rochefort, Karin Schubert. A naive young woman unable to consummate her marriage seeks and finds sexual fulfillment elsewhere. Light, forgettable farce featuring Antonelli at her sexiest. [R]▼●

Till the Clouds Roll By (1946) C-137m. ½ D: Richard Whorf. Robert Walker, Van Heflin, Lucille Bremer, Dorothy Patrick, many guest stars including Judy Garland, Kathryn Grayson, Lena Horne, Tony Martin, Dinah Shore, Frank Sinatra, June Allyson, Angela Lansbury, Cyd Charisse, Virginia O'Brien. Soggy biography of songwriter Jerome Kern uplifted by song numbers featuring some high-powered MGM talent. Highlights include Lansbury's

"How D'Ya Like to Spoon With Me," Lena's "Why Was I Born?," Judy's "Look for the Silver Lining," and mini-production of Show Boat. ▼●●

Till the End of Time (1946) 105m.  D: Edward Dmytryk. Dorothy McGuire, Guy Madison, Robert Mitchum, Bill Williams, Tom Tully, William Gargan, Jean Porter, Ruth Nelson. Solid, sympathetic drama of three returning WW2 veterans was released months before THE BEST YEARS OF OUR LIVES; the focus is on Madison falling for troubled war widow McGuire. Screenplay by Allen Rivkin, based on Niven Busch's novel They Dream of Home. Title song (based on Chopin's Polonaise in A-flat Major) was a big hit. ▼●●

Till There Was You (1990-U.S.-Australian) C-94m. BOMB D: John Seale. Mark Harmon, Deborah Unger, Jeroen Krabbé, Shane Briant. Saxophone player Harmon is summoned to the South Pacific island of Vanuatu by his brother, whose subsequent murder he predictably solves, after bungee jumping with the natives [R]▼ Pretty scenery can't save this one. [R]▼

Tilt (1978) C-111m.  D: Rudy Durand. Brooke Shields, Ken Marshall, Charles Durning, John Crawford, Gregory Walcott, Geoffrey Lewis. Meandering tale of pinball wizard Shields and musician Marshall traveling cross-country, eventually challenging champion Durning. Only value of film (aside from Durning) is dazzling point-of-view photography inside pinball machine. Recut by director Durand to 100m. [PG]▼

'Til There Was You (1997) C-114m.  D: Scott Winant. Jeanne Tripplehorn, Dylan McDermott, Sarah Jessica Parker, Jennifer Aniston, Craig Bierko, Nina Foch, Christine Ebersole, Michael Tucker, Steve Antin, Ken Olin, Susan Walters, Karen Allen. A man and a woman's lives mirror each other for over 20 years, and they even have several brief chance encounters. Of course, when they finally do meet, it's love at first sight. Cloying and excruciatingly overlong. It doesn't help that the actors don't really seem to believe in the material. Best moments belong to Parker as a spoiled former TV sitcom teen. [PG-13]▼●●

'Til We Meet Again (1940) 99m. ½ D: Edmund Goulding. Merle Oberon, George Brent, Pat O'Brien, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Binnie Barnes, Frank McHugh, Eric Blore, George Reeves. Overblown remake of ONE WAY PASSAGE recounts romance between suave crook Brent and fatally ill Oberon; McHugh repeats comedy-relief role from 1932 original.

Tim (1979-Australian) C-108m. ½ D: Michael Pate. Piper Laurie, Mel Gibson, Alwyn Kurts, Pat Evison, Peter Gwynne, Deborah Kennedy. Lush, well-meaning if a bit schmaltzy chronicle of the relationship between older woman (Laurie) and younger, retarded man (nicely played by Gibson). Pate wrote the screenplay from Colleen McCullough's first novel. Remade for TV in 1996 as MARY & TIM. ▼●

Timbuktu (1959) 91m.  D: Jacques Tourneur. Victor Mature, Yvonne De Carlo, George Dolenz, John Dehner, Marcia Henderson, James Fox. Mature plays adventurer involved in African story of plot to overthrow government. Script is below average; cast is uneven.

Tim Burton's Corpse Bride (2005) C-76m. ½ D: Tim Burton, Mike Johnson. Voices of Johnny Depp, Helena Bonham Carter, Emily Watson, Tracey Ullman, Paul Whitehouse, Joanna Lumley, Albert Finney, Richard E. Grant, Christopher Lee, Michael Gough, Jane Horrocks, Deep Roy, Danny Elfman. Victor Van Dort is supposed to endure an arranged marriage for his family's sake, but somehow winds up wed to a corpse who rises from her grave to be betrothed! Settings and characters are a treat for the eye and Elfman's songs suit the occasion, but the storyline is terribly disjointed in this labor-of-love feature. What's more, the classic stop-motion animation technique is so slick it looks like CG, which rather defeats the idea. [PG]●

Tim Burton's The Nightmare Before Christmas, The SEE: Nightmare Before Christmas, The

Time After Time (1979) C-112m. ½ D: Nicholas Meyer. Malcolm McDowell, David Warner, Mary Steenburgen, Charles Cioffi, Kent Williams, Patti D'Arbanville, Joseph Maher, Corey Feldman, Shelley Hack. Fanciful tale of H. G. Wells following Jack the Ripper from Victorian England to 1979 America in his time machine. Engaging premise eroded by story loopholes and halfhearted attempts at social comment. Best is Steenburgen in an appealing, star-making performance as Wells' modern American girlfriend. Vivid score by Miklos Rozsa. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Time After Time (1985-British) C-103m.  D: Bill Hays. John Gielgud, Gogie Withers, Helen Cherry, Ursula Howells, Brenda Bruce, Freddie Jones, Fiona Walker, Trevor Howard. Very funny comedy about Gielgud, living on an estate with his three elderly sisters (named April, May, and Baby June)—their eccentricities, memories, and what happens when they are visited by their manipulative, long-lost cousin (Withers). Great script by Andrew Davies, from Molly Keane's novel; hampered only by awkward direction.

Time and Tide (2001-Hong Kong) C-113m.  D: Tsui Hark. Nicholas Tse, Wu Bai, Candy Lo, Cathy Chui, Anthony Wong, Joventino Couto Remotigue, Jr. Virtually indescribable plot about an aimless young man who finds himself pitted against a friend in gangland showdown is just an excuse for action. Movie's American advertising declared, "You won't be able to tell who's shooting at who," and that's the problem: the adrenaline-pumped action scenes by past master Hark don't carry the weight they should because the story is so confusing! Fans of pure action may feel otherwise. Super 35. [R] ▼

Time Bandits (1981-British) C-110m. ½ D: Terry Gilliam. Sean Connery, Shelley Duvall, John Cleese, Katherine Helmond, Ian Holm, Michael Palin, Ralph Richardson, Peter Vaughan, David Warner, Kenny Baker, David Rappaport. Six dwarfs, pursued by the Supreme Being (Richardson), escort a young English schoolboy through time. They meet Robin Hood (Cleese), Napoleon (Holm), King Agamemnon (Connery). Imaginative, but not as funny or as thrilling as it should be. Look for young Jim Broadbent as a TV host. Written by Gilliam and Palin, of Monty Python fame. British running time 116m. [PG] ▼

Timebomb (1991) C-96m. ½ D: Avi Nesher. Michael Biehn, Patsy Kensit, Tracy Scoggins, Robert Culp, Raymond St. Jacques, Richard Jordan, Billy Blanks, Jim Maniaci, Steven J. Oliver, Ray Mancini. When mysterious people try to kill watchmaker Biehn, he finds to his surprise he has the skills to defeat them. He then kidnaps psychologist Kensit to try to find out who he really is. Intriguing premise effectively blends sci-fi and spy elements, with good performances a real plus, but soon the improbable overtakes the unlikely. [R] ▼

Timecode (2000) C-97m. ½ D: Mike Figgis. Saffron Burrows, Stellan Skarsgård, Jeanne Tripplehorn, Salma Hayek, Julian Sands, Holly Hunter, Steven Weber, Danny Huston, Leslie Mann, Alessandro Nivola, Kyle MacLachlan, Glenna Headly. Unique film shot digitally in four concurrent 90-minute takes follows 20-odd L.A. characters as their unhappy lives crisscross, both personally and professionally. Sound levels direct our attention to the most significant quadrant at any given time. As an experiment it's fresh and exciting; as entertainment it's wildly uneven, although the largely improvised dialogue is at least an improvement over THE BLAIR WITCH PROJECT. [R] ▼

Timecop (1994) C-99m. ½ D: Peter Hyams. Jean-Claude Van Damme, Mia Sara, Ron Silver, Bruce McGill, Gloria Reuben, Scott Bellis, Jason Schombing. In the year 2004, a new law enforcement agency polices time-tripping criminals; top agent Van Damme is determined to nail the ringleader of these thugs, an evil and ambitious senator (Silver). Thoroughly watchable adaptation of the comic book series, but lacks the energy and imagination to be really satisfying. Followed in 2003 by a direct-to-video sequel. Panavision. [R] ▼

Timecrimes (2008-Spanish) C-89m. ½

D: Nacho Vigalondo. Karra Elejalde, Candela Fernández, Nacho Vigalondo, Bárbara Goenaga, Ion Iqurarte. An otherwise ordinary man stumbles onto a time machine that allows him to travel an hour into the past. This propels him into a surreal, frightening journey. Occasionally clever sci-fi thriller is akin to a puzzle that's fun to put together—but too many pieces just don't fit. [R] ▼

Time for Drunken Horses, A (1999-Iranian) C-80m. ½ D: Bahman Ghobadi. Nezhad Ekhtiar-Dini, Amaneh Ekhtiar-Dini, Madi Ekhtiar-Dini, Ayoub Ahmadi, Jouvin Younessi. Heartbreaking story about a family of Kurdish orphans eking out an existence and trying to raise money for an operation to save their dying brother. The everyday struggle that these children go through just to survive is starkly, movingly conveyed. Written by the director and shot in his native village, with a cast of extraordinary non-professionals. ▼

Time for Killing, A (1967) C-88m.  D: Phil Karlson. Glenn Ford, Inger Stevens, George Hamilton, Paul Petersen, Max Baer, Timothy Carey, Kenneth Tobey, Dick Miller, (Harry) Dean Stanton. Civil War drama pits Union captain Ford against Confederate major Hamilton, when the latter kidnaps his bride-to-be. Director Karlson has done some good minor films in the past; this isn't one of them. Look for young Harrison Ford. Also known as THE LONG RIDE HOME. Panavision.

Time for Loving, A (1971-British) C-104m. ½ D: Christopher Miles. Mel Ferrer, Joanna Shimkus, Britt Ekland, Philippe Noiret, Susan Hampshire, Mark Burns, Lila Kedrova, Robert Dhery, Michel Legrand. Sophisticated Jean Anouilh liaison trilogy in the LA RONDE style. Sometimes called PARIS WAS MADE FOR LOVERS.

Time Guardian, The (1987-Australian) C-105m.  D: Brian Hannant. Tom Burlinson, Nikki Coghill, Dean Stockwell, Carrie Fisher, Tim Robertson, Peter Merrill, Wan Thye Liew, Damon Sanders. Burlinson and Fisher are sent to the 1988 Australian desert, where he teams up with geologist Coghill to battle an army of killer cyborgs from the 41st century. Confusing sci-fi adventure. Panavision. [PG] ▼

Time Indefinite (1993) C-117m. ½ D: Ross McElwee. Revealing, highly personal visual diary in which McElwee offers a glimpse into the dynamics of his family; the relationships between its members, the linking of the generations, and, most poignantly, the way it's affected by marriage and death. McElwee's unique cinematic sensibility adds immeasurably to this impressive follow-up to SHERMAN'S MARCH. ▼

Time Limit (1957) 96m.  D: Karl Malden. Richard Widmark, Richard Basehart, Dolores Michaels, June Lockhart, Rip Torn, Martin Balsam, Carl Benton Reid,

James Douglas. Imaginative direction and acting spark this courtroom drama concerning the trial of American military officer suspected of collaborating with enemy while POW in North Korea. Malden's sole foray behind the camera; Widmark coproduced.

Timeline (2003) C-116m.  D: Richard Donner. Paul Walker, Frances O'Connor, Gerard Butler, Billy Connolly, David Thewlis, Anna Friel, Neal McDonough, Matt Craven, Ethan Embry, Michael Sheen, Lambert Wilson, Marton Csokas, Rossif Sutherland. Archeologists travel back in time to rescue Walker's father, who's gotten stuck in the 14th century in the midst of the Hundred Years' War . . . but the time machine's owner, a high-tech honcho, hasn't told them all they should know about the risks involved in their adventure. Lively, noisy, convoluted story becomes so confusing it's difficult to know who's who, let alone what's what. Based on a Michael Crichton novel. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Time Lost and Time Remembered (1966-British) 91m.  D: Desmond Davis. Sarah Miles, Cyril Cusack, Julian Glover, Sean Caffrey. Thoughtful study of Miles' unhappy marriage to older man, emphasized by visit home where she discovers new set of values. Original British title: I WAS HAPPY HERE.

Time Machine, The (1960) C-103m.  D: George Pal. Rod Taylor, Alan Young, Yvette Mimieux, Sebastian Cabot, Tom Helmore, Whit Bissell, Doris Lloyd. H. G. Wells' fantasy reduced to comic book level, but still entertaining, with Taylor as single-minded turn-of-the-20th-century London scientist who invents time-travel device and has vivid experiences in the future. Oscar-winning special effects. Remade in 1978 (for TV) and 2002. ▼

Time Machine, The (2002) C-96m. ½ D: Simon Wells. Guy Pearce, Samantha Mumba, Orlando Jones, Mark Addy, Jeremy Irons, Phyllida Law, Sienna Guillory, Alan Young, Omero Mumba. Rethinking of the H. G. Wells classic has absentminded professor Pearce traveling back in time to undo a tragedy involving his fiancée, then hurtling forward into the future, where the evil Morlocks rule over the Eloi. The effects are impressive, but the story doesn't have the impact it should . . . and Pearce may not be the ideal choice for an old-fashioned hero. Directed by H. G. Wells' great-grandson! Young, who costarred in 1960, has a tiny role here. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

Time of Destiny, A (1988) C-118m.  D: Gregory Nava. William Hurt, Timothy Hutton, Melissa Leo, Stockard Channing, Megan Follows, Francisco Rabal. Major disappointment from the makers of EL NORTE. Plodding soap opera, set in the WW2 era, with tragedy and revenge coming between close friends and fellow GIs Hurt and Hutton (whose performances are far from their best). Written and produced by Anna Thomas. [PG-13] ▼

Time of Favor (2000-Israeli) C-98m.  D: Joseph Cedar. Aki Avni, Tinkerbell, Assi Dayan, Idan Alterman, Micha Selektar, Amnon Volf, Shimon Mimran. Religion and politics clash in this provocative melodrama-thriller, most of which unfolds in a contemporary West Bank settlement. Menachem (Avni), a soldier who commands a military unit comprised of yeshiva students, becomes involved with the rebellious daughter of a charismatic orthodox rabbi who commands that he instead wed a scholar—who happens to be Menachem's best friend. The love triangle is routine, but the film offers a powerful and timely examination of the fine line between religious devotion and fanaticism. ▼

Time of Indifference (1964-Italian) 84m.  D: Francesco Maselli. Rod Steiger, Shelley Winters, Claudia Cardinale, Paulette Goddard, Tomas Milian. Turgid melodrama of moral and social decay in Italy during late 1920s, focusing on one nouveau-poor family; from novel by Alberto Moravia. ▼

Time of the Gypsies (1989-Yugoslavian) C-142m. ½ D: Emir Kusturica. Davor Dujmovic, Bora Todorovic, Ljubic Adzovic, Sinolicka Trpkova, Husnija Hasimovic. Fair chronicle of the coming of age of a naive young gypsy (Dujmovic) and his initiation into the ways of petty crime. Sometimes effective, but way overlong and in no way as magical or memorable as Kusturica's WHEN FATHER WAS AWAY ON BUSINESS. However, he did earn the Best Director prize at the Cannes Film Festival. Shot in a Gypsy language called Romany, this may be the first film ever to require subtitles in every country in which it plays! [R] ▼

Time of Their Lives, The (1946) 82m.  D: Charles Barton. Bud Abbott, Lou Costello, Marjorie Reynolds, Binnie Barnes, John Shelton, Gale Sondergaard, Jess Barker. Most unusual film for A&C, and one of their best. Costello and Reynolds are killed during Revolutionary times, and their ghosts haunt a country estate where (in the 20th century) Abbott and friends come to live. Imaginative, funny, and well done. ▼

Time of the Wolf (2003-French-Austrian-German) C-114m. ½ D: Michael Haneke. Isabelle Huppert, Béatrice Dalle, Patrice Chéreau, Rona Hartner, Olivier Gourmet, Maurice Bénichou, Brigitte Rouan. In the midst of cataclysmic social collapse, a family arrives at its country vacation home and plunges into a fight for survival when sudden personal tragedy strikes. About as bleak as movies get, this despairing look at a world gone mad is not for every taste, but it's never boring. Huppert is superb, as usual, wrenching in her portrayal of a mother trying to keep her family together against all odds. Written by the director. Super 35. [R] ▼

Time of Your Life, The (1948) 106m.

 D: H. C. Potter. James Cagney, William Bendix, Wayne Morris, Jeanne Cagney, Broderick Crawford, Ward Bond, James Barton, Paul Draper, James Lydon, Gale Page, Richard Erdman. Uninspired version of William Saroyan's prizewinning morality play about the various characters who populate Nick's Saloon, Restaurant and Entertainment Palace, which is actually a waterfront dive. Interesting cast, but it just doesn't come together. ▼

Time Out (2001-French) C-130m. ½ D:

Laurent Cantet. Aurélien Recoing, Karin Viard, Serge Livrozet, Jean-Pierre Mangeot, Monique Mangeot, Nicolas Kalsch, Marie Cantet, Felix Cantet. Wrenching slice of social realism about a suddenly unemployed husband and father who pretends he has a new prestigious job and convinces his friends to make large investments that he pockets in order to keep up the lie. Another vivid story about the workplace and the economic food chain from Cantet (HUMAN RESOURCES). His own kids appear in the film. [PG-13] ▼

Time Out for Love (1961-French-Italian)

91m. ½ D: Jean Valère. Jean Seberg, Maurice Ronet, Micheline Presle, Françoise Prevost. Sometimes-effective drama chronicling the coming-of-age of young Seberg, an American living in Paris, who falls in love with capricious Ronet. ▼

Time Regained (1999-French) C-161m.

½ D: Raul Ruiz. Marcello Mazzarella, Catherine Deneuve, Emmanuelle Béart, Vincent Perez, John Malkovich, Pascal Greggory, Marie-France Pisier, Christian Vadim, Arielle Dombasle, Chiara Mastroianni, Elsa Zylberstein. Complex, elegant adaptation of the final volume of Proust's Remembrance of Things Past, with the author reflecting on his life and art while on his deathbed. Difficult to follow at times, but Ruiz creates a unique, free-floating visual and structural variation on Proust's prose that uses the film frame to examine memory, fantasy, and mortality. Sumptuous production; well acted by all. Screenplay by Ruiz and Gilles Taurand. ▼

Timerider (1983) C-93m.  D: William

Dear. Fred Ward, Belinda Bauer, Peter Coyote, Ed Lauter, Richard Masur, Tracey Walter, L. Q. Jones. Motocross bike racer is accidentally sent back in time to the Old West, circa 1875 . . . and that's where the writers fell asleep. Good premise and cast are left hanging as film crawls downhill. Produced and cowritten by Michael Nesmith. [PG] ▼

Time Runner (1993-Canadian-U.S.) C-

90m. BOMB D: Michael Mazo. Mark Hamill, Rae Dawn Chong, Brion James, Marc Baur, Gordon Tipple, Allen Forget, Barry W. Levy. Fleeing an exploding space

station in 2022 when Earth is under attack by aliens, Hamill ends up in 1992, trying to prevent the future war. Silly, poorly plotted, badly presented. [R] ▼

Times of Harvey Milk, The (1984) C-

87m. ½ D: Robert Epstein. Narrated by Harvey Fierstein. Extremely moving documentary about Harvey Milk, the first gay supervisor elected in San Francisco; mayor George Moscone; and clean-cut, respectable supervisor Dan White, who assassinated them both. Eerie, fascinating, sad, funny; as dramatic and involving as the most carefully plotted fiction. This deservedly earned a Best Documentary Academy Award. See also MILK (2008). ▼

Times Square (1980) C-111m. BOMB

D: Allan Moyle. Tim Curry, Trini Alvarado, Robin Johnson, Peter Coffield, Herbert Berghof, Miguel Pinero, Elizabeth Pena. A pair of teenage runaways, one (Alvarado) upper class, the other (Johnson) "of the streets," romp around a curiously unmenacing Times Square. Illogical, unrealistic scenario, frantic direction, music score for the hard of hearing. Script by film critic Jacob Brackman. [R] ▼

Time to Die, A (1983) C-91m. *½ D:

Matt Cimber. Rex Harrison, Rod Taylor, Edward Albert, Jr., Raf Vallone, Linn Stokke. Deadenning time-waster with WW2 veteran Albert seeking out the six killers of his wife. Based on a story by Mario Puzo, and filmed in 1979. Originally titled SEVEN GRAVES FOR ROGAN. [R] ▼

Time to Die, A (1991) C-93m.  D:

Charles Kanganis. Traci Lords, Richard Roundtree, Jeff Conaway, Robert Miano, Jesse Thomas, Nitchee Barrett. By-the-numbers programmer with ex-porn queen Lords cast as a freelance photographer attempting to make a home for her young son. Trouble comes her way when she finds herself and her camera in the right place at the wrong time. [R] ▼

Time to Kill, A (1996) C-149m.  D:

Joel Schumacher. Sandra Bullock, Samuel L. Jackson, Matthew McConaughey, Kevin Spacey, Brenda Fricker, Oliver Platt, Ashley Judd, Donald Sutherland, Kiefer Sutherland, Patrick McGoochan, Kurtwood Smith, Chris Cooper, Joe Seneca, Anthony Heald, Charles S. Dutton, Rae'ven Larrymore Kelly, John Diehl. First-rate adaptation of John Grisham's best-seller about a Mississippi town rocked by a black man's murder of two white-trashers who raped his 10-year-old daughter. Young attorney McConaughey (in a star-making performance) takes the man's case and finds himself in the midst of a firestorm that threatens his life and that of everyone around him. This TIME flies by, thanks to crackerjack storytelling and a well-chosen cast. M. Emmet

Walsh appears unbilled. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Time to Leave (2005-French) C-85m.  D: François Ozon. Melvil Poupaud, Jeanne Moreau, Valeria Bruni Tedeschi, Daniel Duval, Marie Rivière, Christian Sengewald, Louise-Anne Hippeau. Handsome, gay, 31-year-old fashion photographer (Poupaud), living in a world of glamour and vanity, gets a harsh dose of reality when he learns he is terminally ill. How will he spend his remaining days? How will he deal with his lover and the members of his family? Simple, deeply felt film cuts to the heart of how individuals choose to live their lives in the face of mortality. Moreau is luminous in her few scenes as the photographer's beloved grandmother. Written by the director. Panavision.▶

Time to Love and a Time to Die, A (1958) C-132m.  D: Douglas Sirk. John Gavin, Lilo Pulver, Jock Mahoney, Don DeFore, Keenan Wynn, Thayer David, Dana (Jim) Hutton, Klaus Kinski. Intensely dramatic love story set against background of WW2. German soldier on furlough from battle falls in love, inevitably must return to the trenches. Well-directed version of Erich Maria Remarque novel (with the author in a small role). Hutton's film debut. CinemaScope.▼

Time to Sing, A (1968) C-92m. *½ D: Arthur Dreifuss. Hank Williams, Jr., Ed Begley, Shelley Fabares, Charles Robinson, D'Urville Martin, Donald Woods, Clara Ward. Down-home tale of Williams suppressing love for singing to please uncle-guardian (Begley). Script aimed at 10-year-old mentality, matched by Williams' wooden performance. Panavision. [PG]

Time Trackers (1989) C-87m. *½ D: Howard R. Cohen. Ned Beatty, Wil Shriner, Kathleen Beller, Bridget Hoffman, Alex Hyde-White, Lee Bergere, Robert Cornthwaite. Tepid sci-fi tale about group from the future chasing down evil genius determined to use time travel to alter history in his favor. Beatty is a 20th-century cop accidentally picked up along the way. Some laughs at the beginning, but spends far too long (most of the film in fact) in medieval England. [PG]▼

Time Travelers, The (1964) C-82m. ½ D: Ib Melchior. Preston Foster, Philip Carey, Merry Anders, John Hoyt, Steve Franken. Spirited flashes of imagination heighten this sci-fi story about scientists who journey into the future and find their actions there will affect the past. Not bad, with downbeat ending; one of the first American films photographed by Vilmos Zsigmond.▼

Time Traveller, The SEE: Next One, The
Time Walker (1982) C-83m. BOMB D: Tom Kennedy. Ben Murphy, Nina Axelrod, Kevin Brophy, James Karen, Shari Belafonte-Harper, Antoinette Bower. Alien, buried in King Tut's tomb, is unwrapped and wreaks havoc. Low-budget junk. [PG]▼

Time Warp SEE: Journey to the Center of Time

Time Without Pity (1957-British) 88m.  D: Joseph Losey. Michael Redgrave, Alec McCowen, Ann Todd, Peter Cushing, Leo McKern, Renee Houston, Lois Maxwell, Joan Plowright. Tense thriller with an anti-capital punishment point-of-view, as alcoholic Redgrave has 24 hours to prove son McCowen's innocence on a murder rap. Scripted by Ben Barzman, from an Emylyn Williams play.▼●

Tin Cup (1996) C-133m.  D: Ron Shelton. Kevin Costner, Rene Russo, Don Johnson, Cheech Marin, Linda Hart, Dennis Burkley, Rex Linn. Portrait of a run-down golf pro, now operating a shabby Texas driving range, who's inspired to compete in the U.S. Open in order to impress a woman—the girlfriend of his longtime rival. Problem: he always wants to “go for it” instead of playing it safe. Costner and Russo are appealing, but this long, redundant comedy has alarmingly little to say, and takes its sweet time playing all 18 holes. Cowritten by director Shelton. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Tin Drum, The (1979-German) C-142m. * D: Volker Schlöndorff. David Bennent, Mario Adorf, Angela Winkler, Daniel Olbrychski, Katharina Thalbach, Heinz Bennent, Andrea Ferreol, Charles Aznavour. Mesmerizing adaptation of the Gunter Grass novel. Three-year-old Oskar (David Bennent) ceases to grow physically as the Nazis take power in Germany and beats out his anger on his drum. A “realistic fantasy” with superb acting, particularly by 12-year-old Bennent. Memorable sequence after memorable sequence; deservedly won a Best Foreign Film Academy Award. [R]▼●●

Tingler, The (1959) 82m. ½ D: William Castle. Vincent Price, Judith Evelyn, Darryl Hickman, Philip Coolidge, Patricia Cutts. Preposterous but original shocker: coroner Price discovers that fear causes a creepy-crawly creature to materialize on people's spines; it can be subdued only by screaming. This is the infamous picture that got moviegoers into the spirit with vibrating gizmos under selected theater seats!—a gimmick director/producer Castle billed as “Percepto.” Also noteworthy as likely the earliest film depicting an LSD trip. One critical sequence is in color.▼●●

Tin Men (1987) C-112m. ½ D: Barry Levinson. Richard Dreyfuss, Danny DeVito, Barbara Hershey, John Mahoney, Jackie Gayle, Stanley Brock, Seymour Cassel, Bruno Kirby, J.T. Walsh, Michael Tucker. Writer-director Levinson returns to DINER territory (literally—it's set in 1963 Baltimore) for a melancholy comedy-drama about a hustler (Dreyfuss) and a loser (DeVito), both in the aluminum-siding business, whose lives converge after their cars meet in an accident. Some fine comedy and pointed observations on human nature are undermined by unresolved ideas and inconsistencies in the way the characters behave. Stand-up comic Gayle is hilarious as DeVito's partner, who has Bonanza on the brain. [R]▼●●

Tin Pan Alley (1940) 94m.  D: Walter Lang. Alice Faye, Betty Grable, Jack Oakie, John Payne, Esther Ralston, Allen Jenkins, Nicholas Brothers, John Loder, Elisha Cook, Jr. Predictable plot of struggling pre-WW1 songwriters enlivened by Alfred Newman's Oscar-winning score and colorful numbers including "Sheik of Araby" with Billy Gilbert as sultan. Oakie is in top form. Remade as I'LL GET BY.▼

Tin Star, The (1957) 93m.  D: Anthony Mann. Henry Fonda, Anthony Perkins, Betsy Palmer, Neville Brand, Lee Van Cleef, John McIntire, Michel Ray. Fledgling sheriff Perkins turns to bounty hunter Fonda to help combat outlaws preying on his town; solid, well-acted Western. Scripted by Dudley Nichols. VistaVision.▼

Tintorera (1977-British-Mexican) C-91m. BOMB D: Rene Cardona, Jr. Susan George, Hugo Stiglitz, Andres Garcia, Fiona Lewis, Jennifer Ashley, Priscilla Barnes, Laura Lyons. Can two Mexican shark hunters find satisfaction with an assortment of vacationing beauties from England and the U.S.? That's the main issue of this listless JAWS rip-off, loaded with gore and nude scenes. [R]▼●

Tip on a Dead Jockey (1957) 99m.  D: Richard Thorpe. Dorothy Malone, Robert Taylor, Gia Scala, Martin Gabel, Jack Lord. Neat account of Taylor tied in with smuggling syndicate in Madrid, romancing Malone. Good Charles Lederer adaptation of Irwin Shaw story. CinemaScope.

Tis Autumn: The Search for Jackie Paris (2007) C-100m.  D: Raymond De Felitta. Homegrown documentary about the filmmaker's fascination with jazz singer Paris—and his quest to learn what kept him from achieving real success when he was so admired by fellow musicians. Somewhat ragged cinematically, but when De Felitta captures unguarded moments with his interviewees their raw emotions sear the screen. Fascinating exploration of the many factors that make up an artist's life, for better or worse. Many notable jazz figures appear on-screen.●

Titan A.E. (2000) C-95m.  D: Don Bluth, Gary Goldman. Voices of Matt Damon, Drew Barrymore, Bill Pullman, Janeane Garofalo, Nathan Lane, John Leguizamo, Ron Perlman, Tone-Loc. Boring animated sci-fi adventure set in the future. Young man with a chip on his shoulder learns that he's the only hope to save what's left of the human race. Basic good vs. evil outer-space saga has great visual effects but stock characters and situations—and the dullest voice performances in animation history. CinemaScope. [PG]▼●

Titan Find SEE: Creature

Titanic (1943-German) 85m. ½ D: Herbert Selpin, Werner Klingler. Sybille Schmitz, Hans Nielsen, Karl Schönböck, Charlotte Thiele, Otto Wernicke. Little-seen German drama about the doomed ocean liner was made during WW2, so a German officer is depicted as the only brave, outspoken man on board, while the English owner pursues an "endless quest for profit." Creditable disaster film, although the script is no more inspired than later versions of the saga. Some shots were reused in A NIGHT TO REMEMBER. Banned in Germany in 1943 because the scenes of panic were considered too potent in the midst of wartime air raids.▼●

Titanic (1953) 98m.  D: Jean Negulesco. Clifton Webb, Barbara Stanwyck, Robert Wagner, Richard Basehart, Audrey Dalton, Thelma Ritter, Brian Aherne. Hollywoodized version of sea tragedy centers on shipboard story. Not bad, but events better told in A NIGHT TO REMEMBER . . . and more spectacularly in the 1997 film. Oscar-winning script by producer Charles Brackett, Walter Reisch, and Richard Breen.▼●●

Titanic (1997) C-194m. ½ D: James Cameron. Leonardo DiCaprio, Kate Winslet, Billy Zane, Frances Fisher, Kathy Bates, David Warner, Danny Nucci, Victor Garber, Gloria Stuart, Bernard Hill, Bernard Fox, Jonathan Hyde, Bill Paxton, Suzy Amis. Sweeping romance set against the backdrop of the R.M.S. Titanic's maiden voyage in 1912—and framed by a modern-day story of a salvager who stumbles onto a heretofore unknown survivor of the sinking (beautifully played by 1930s leading lady Stuart). Spectacular in every way, an eye-filling re-creation of the sights and sounds of the grandest ship of its time, but what keeps it afloat are the magnetic performances of the young leads. Storytelling savvy and momentum make up for some banal dialogue. Some footage of the actual Titanic wreckage is sprinkled into the opening sequence. Written by the director. Winner of 11 Oscars including Best Picture, Director, Visual Effects, Music (James Horner), Song ("My Heart Will Go On"), Cinematography (Russell Carpenter), Sound, and Costumes (Deborah L. Scott). Cameron revisited the ship's watery grave with his 2003 IMAX documentary GHOSTS OF THE ABYSS. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●●

Titanic Town (1999-British-Irish) C-102m.  D: Roger Michell. Julie Walters, Ciarán Hinds, Nuala O'Neill, Elizabeth Donaghy, Ciaran McMenamin, Jaz Pollock, Doreen Hepburn. Working-class Irish Catholic housewife becomes a reluctant political activist (and ostracizes herself from her own family) when her backyard becomes a battleground between the British Army and the IRA. Distinguished by its literate script, precise emotional tone, and supercharged performances from Walters and newcomer O'Neill as a sparring mother and daughter. Based on Mary Costello's autobiographical novel.

Titfield Thunderbolt, The (1953-British) C-84m.  D: Charles Crichton. Stanley Holloway, George Relph, Naunton Wayne, John Gregson, Godfrey Tearle, Edie Martin, Hugh Griffith, Sid James, Jack MacGowran. Boisterous Ealing comedy about villagers who are attached to their antiquated railway line and run it themselves in competition with the local bus line. Lovely photography by Douglas Slocombe. Script by T.E.B. Clarke. (D)

Tito and Me (1992-Yugoslavian-French) C-104m.  D: Goran Markovic. Dimitrie Vojnov, Lazar Ristovski, Anica Dobra, Pedrag Manojlovic. Sweet, funny comedy-remembrance about Zoran (Vojnov), a pudgy 10-year-old growing up in Belgrade in 1954. He is obsessed with "Comrade Tito," his nation's leader, just as a lovesick teen pines over a movie or rock star; the heart of the film focuses on how Zoran comes to realize the folly of worshipping false idols. This reportedly is the last film to come out of war-torn Yugoslavia. (D)

Titus (1999) C-162m.  D: Julie Taymor. Anthony Hopkins, Jessica Lange, Alan Cumming, Jonathan Rhys Meyers, Angus Macfadyen, Matthew Rhys, Harry Lennix, James Frain, Colm Feore, Laura Fraser, Geraldine McEwan, Osheen Jones. Potent, time-bending adaptation of Shakespeare's Titus Andronicus, with Hopkins as a victorious Roman general whose rigid code of honor and duty proves to be his downfall. Lange is his prisoner, Tamora, queen of the Goths, who plots revenge. Impressive work by innovative theater director Taymor, who also wrote the screenplay as an examination of violence—its cause and effect—as it relates to modern society. Lennix is a standout as Aaron, the Moor. Super 35. [R] (D)

T-Men (1947) 92m.  D: Anthony Mann. Dennis O'Keefe, Alfred Ryder, Charles McGraw, Wallace Ford, Mary Meade, June Lockhart. Semidocumentary-style story of undercover treasury agents trying to get to the bottom of counterfeit ring. Vividly exciting; director Mann and cameraman John Alton went out of their way to use unusual, effective lighting and compositions in this A-1 film. (D)

TMNT (2007) C-87m. *½ D: Kevin Munroe. Voices of Chris Evans, Sarah Michelle Gellar, Mako, Kevin Smith, Patrick Stewart. Those TEENAGE MUTANT NINJA TURTLES (who starred in three movies of the 1990s) return, computerized this time around. The superheroes, having temporarily retired after defeating arch-nemesis Shredder, must reunite to battle a wealthy industrialist who has collected an army of ancient monsters in an effort to take over the world. CGI has been utilized effectively to create moody, comic-book-urban scenery, and the cool-looking monsters will probably appeal to kids. But bland characters and choppy, uninvolved fight scenes are likely to bore adults, including those who loved the turtles in their heyday. Digital Widescreen. [PG] (D)

T.N.T. Jackson (1974) C-73m.  D: Cirio Santiago. Jeanne Bell, Stan Shaw, Pat Anderson, Ken Metcalf. OK Filipino-shot black actioner with statuesque former Playmate Bell as karate expert searching for her missing brother and kicking the hell out of anyone who gets in her way. A blaxploitation favorite, no doubt for the curious way Bell's shirts get torn off at the start of every fight scene. [R] (D)

Toast of New Orleans, The (1950) C-97m. ½ D: Norman Taurog. Kathryn Grayson, Mario Lanza, David Niven, Rita Moreno, J. Carrol Naish. Lanza plays fisherman transformed into operatic star. Rest of cast good, and Lanza sings "Be My Love." (D)

Toast of New York, The (1937) 109m.  D: Rowland V. Lee. Edward Arnold, Cary Grant, Frances Farmer, Jack Oakie, Donald Meek, Clarence Kolb, Billy Gilbert, Stanley Fields. Arnold is in fine form as rags-to-riches businessman Jim Fisk in late 19th century. Grant is his partner in hokey but entertaining biographical fiction; good showcase for spirited Farmer. (D)

Tobacco Road (1941) 84m. ½ D: John Ford. Charley Grapewin, Marjorie Rameau, Gene Tierney, William Tracy, Elizabeth Patterson, Dana Andrews, Slim Summerville, Ward Bond, Grant Mitchell. Lightly entertaining but genuinely odd seriocomedy about "quaint" Georgia backwoods community; worthwhile mainly to see Grapewin repeating his stage role as cheerful ne'er-do-well Jeeter Lester. Adapted (and sanitized) by Nunnally Johnson from the long-running Broadway play by Jack Kirkland, based on Erskine Caldwell's novel. (D)

To Bed . . . or Not to Bed (1963-Italian) 103m. ½ D: Gian Luigi Polidoro. Alberto Sordi, Bernhard Tarschyn, Inger Sjostrand, Ulf Palme. Saucy sex romp. Sordi expects to find free love on business trip to Stockholm, discovers home sweet home is best. Retitled: THE DEVIL.

To Begin Again (1982-Spanish) C-93m.  D: Jose Luis Garcia. Antonio Ferrandis, Encarna Paso, Jose Bodalo, Agustin Gonzalez, Pablo Hoyo. Distinguished—and dying—professor Ferrandis revisits Spain, where he journeys through his past and romances old flame Paso. Sweetly sentimental; Oscar winner for Best Foreign Film. [PG]

To Be or Not to Be (1942) 99m. ½ D: Ernst Lubitsch. Jack Benny, Carole Lombard, Robert Stack, Lionel Atwill, Felix Bressart, Sig Ruman, Tom Dugan, Helmut Dantine, Stanley Ridges. Benny has the role of a lifetime as "that great, great actor" Joseph Tura, whose Polish theater troupe is put out of business by invading Nazis—until they become involved in espionage and find their thespian skills being put to the ultimate test. Superb black comedy scripted by Edwin Justus Mayer; the opening gag with Dugan is a gem. Lombard's final film, released after her death. Remade in 1983. ▼●●

To Be or Not to Be (1983) C-108m. ½ D: Alan Johnson. Mel Brooks, Anne Bancroft, Charles Durning, Tim Matheson, Jose Ferrer, James Haake, Christopher Lloyd, George Gaynes, George Wyner, Jack Riley, Lewis J. Stadler. Remake of 1942 classic follows the original almost scene for scene, with Brooks and Bancroft—in fine comic form—as stars of Polish theater who become involved with invading Nazis. Offers more laughs than the original film, but less substance; incessant schtick undermines occasional attempts at poignancy. [PG] ▼●●

Tobor the Great (1954) 77m. *½ D: Lee Sholem. Charles Drake, Karin Booth, Billy Chapin, Taylor Holmes, Steven Geray. Scientist allows his genius grandson to become pals with the robot of the title, leading to complications when spies try to glom onto the plans; terrible acting and dialogue. A botched attempt at a heartwarming sci-fi comedy-thriller. ▼●●

Tobruk (1967) C-110m. ½ D: Arthur Hiller. Rock Hudson, George Peppard, Nigel Green, Guy Stockwell, Jack Watson, Leo Gordon, Norman Rossington, Percy Herbert, Liam Redmond. WW2 actioner of Allies trying to destroy Rommel's fuel supply in the Sahara, bogs down in pretentiousness, much social comment, etc. Gordon also wrote the screenplay. Techniscope. ▼

Toby Tyler, or Ten Weeks with a Circus (1960) C-96m. ½ D: Charles Barton. Kevin Corcoran, Henry Calvin, Gene Sheldon, Bob Sweeney, Richard Eastham, James Drury. Likable Disney fare about a young boy who runs away to join the circus at the turn of the century. ▼●●

To Catch a Spy (1971-British-French) C-94m. *½ D: Dick Clement. Kirk Douglas, Marlene Jobert, Trevor Howard, Tom Courtenay, Patrick Mower, Bernadette Lafont, Bernard Blier. Feeble comedy-mystery of events resulting when Jobert's new husband is arrested by the Russians as a spy; Douglas is a mystery man, Courtenay a bumbling British agent. Also known as CATCH ME A SPY. ▼●

To Catch a Thief (1955) C-106m.  D: Alfred Hitchcock. Grace Kelly, Cary Grant, Jessie Royce Landis, John Williams, Charles Vanel, Brigitte Aubert. The French Riviera serves as picturesque backdrop for this entertaining (if fluffy) Hitchcock caper with Grant as reformed cat burglar suspected in new wave of jewel robberies. Chic and elegant in every way—and Kelly never looked more ravishing. Script (including much-imitated fireworks scene) by John Michael Hayes; Oscar-winning photography by Robert Burks. VistaVision. ▼●●

To Commit a Murder (1967-French) C-91m. *½ D: Edouard Molinaro. Louis Jourdan, Senta Berger, Edmond O'Brien, Bernard Blier, Fabrizio Capucci. Playboy/writer Jourdan gets involved with a plot to abduct French nuclear scientist; interesting idea poorly handled. ▼

Today We Live (1933) 113m.  D: Howard Hawks. Joan Crawford, Gary Cooper, Robert Young, Franchot Tone, Roscoe Karns. Stilted William Faulkner story of WW1 romance and heroism; despite star-studded cast, not much. Faulkner cowrote the screenplay. Torpedo attack scenes were directed by Richard Rosson. ▼●

Todd Killings, The (1971) C-93m.  D: Barry Shear. Robert F. Lyons, Richard Thomas, Barbara Bel Geddes, Sherry Miles, Gloria Grahame, Edward Asner, Belinda Montgomery, Meg Foster. Good cast in sleazy story of hip girl-getter Lyons actually involved in series of murders. Retitled A DANGEROUS FRIEND. Panavision. [R] ▼

To Die For (1989) C-90m. *½ D: Deran Sarafian. Brendan Hughes, Sydney Walsh, Amanda Wyss, Scott Jacoby, Micah Grant, Steve Bond. Dracula legend is updated to modern-day, morally decadent L.A., but the results are strictly second-rate. Vampire "Vlad Tepish" sets his sights on sexy real-estate agent Walsh—apparently unaware that realtors in L.A. are a bloodless lot. Followed by SON OF DARKNESS: TO DIE FOR II. [R] ▼●●

To Die For (1995) C-103m. ½ D: Gus Van Sant. Nicole Kidman, Matt Dillon, Joaquin Phoenix, Illeana Douglas, Casey Affleck, Alison Folland, Dan Hedaya, Wayne Knight, Kurtwood Smith, Holland Taylor, Susan Traylor, Maria Tucci, David Cronenberg. Kidman is perfect as a tightly focused sicko who'll stop at nothing, including murder, to reach her goal: a TV career. Based on the real-life case that inspired Joyce Maynard's book, this black comedy seems to make all the right moves, but plays out its story with a surprising lack of irony; by the climax it has nothing more to offer. Douglas is a particular standout as Kidman's sister-in-law, who sees through her artifice from the git-go. George Segal appears unbilled, and the film's screenwriter, Buck Henry, plays a humorless schoolteacher. [R] ▼●●

To Die of Love (1972-French) C-110m. ½ D: André Cayatte. Annie Girardot, Bruno Pradal, François Simon, Monique Melinand, Nathalie Nell, Nicolas Dumayet. Girardot's superb performance carries true story about French schoolteacher who was driven to suicide after she was forced to abandon 16-year-old student she loved. More interesting for subject matter than for execution. [PG]

To Each His Own (1946) 122m.  D: Mitchell Leisen. Olivia de Havilland, John Lund, Mary Anderson, Roland Culver, Phillip Terry, Griff Barnett. Well-turned

soaper of unwed mother giving up baby, lavishing love on him as his "aunt" without revealing truth. Fine support by Culver as aging Olivia's beau. De Havilland won Best Actress Oscar. Lund's film debut. ▼

To Elvis, With Love SEE: Touched by Love

To Find a Man (1972) C-90m.  D: Buzz Kulik. Pamela (Sue) Martin, Darren O'Connor, Lloyd Bridges, Phyllis Newman, Tom Ewell, Tom Bosley. Solid comedy-drama about two high-schoolers' attempts to find an abortionist. Study of friendships is good, and exceedingly fine acting of youthful leads is a definite plus. [PG]

To Forget Venice (1979-Italian) C-110m.  D: Franco Brusati. Erland Josephson, Mariangela Melato, Elenora Giorgi, David Pontremoli. Two pairs of homosexuals (male and female) come to grips with each other at the country estate of a dying opera star. So-so drama managed an Oscar nomination for Best Foreign Film. ▼

Together? (1979-Italian) C-100m. *½ D: Armenia Balducci. Jacqueline Bisset, Maximilian Schell, Terence Stamp, Monica Guerritore. Bisset and neurotic lover Schell argue, eat, argue, talk about sex, argue, have sex, argue some more. And the viewer gets a migraine. Originally titled I LOVE YOU, I LOVE YOU NOT. [R] ▼

Together (2000-Swedish-Swiss-Italian) C-106m. ½ D: Lukas Moodysson. Lisa Lindgren, Michael Nyqvist, Gustaf Hammarsten, Jessica Liedberg, Ola Norell. Amusing flashback to 1975 as a group of supposedly like-minded people live as a collective under one roof. Long-suffering Goran (Hammarsten) discovers that theories of free love, harmony, and anticommmercialism don't always apply in the day-to-day life at Tillsammans (Swedish for "together," the name of the commune). Likable, often perceptive social comedy; written by the director. [R] ●

Together (2002-Chinese-South Korean) C-118m. ½ D: Chen Kaige. Tang Yun, Liu Peiqi, Chen Hong, Wang Zhiwen, Chen Kaige, Cheng Qiang, Zhang Qing. Crowd-pleasing story of a 13-year-old violin prodigy who is taken to Beijing by his father, who will sacrifice anything to make sure his son gets the best teacher and the greatest opportunities. In time, the boy must make his own choice between what he's being told and what he really feels. Expertly made, the story builds to an emotional crescendo—aided in no small way by its musical score. The leading actor is in fact a musical virtuoso. Director Chen (who cowrote the film with Xue Xiaolu) also costars as the well-to-do piano teacher. [PG] ▼ ●

Together Again (1944) 100m.  D: Charles Vidor. Irene Dunne, Charles Boyer, Charles Coburn, Mona Freeman, Elizabeth Patterson. Little bit of nothing carried off beautifully by Dunne, widow mayor of small town, and Boyer, suave New Yorker whom she hires to sculpt a statue of her late husband; charming comedy. ●

Together Brothers (1974) C-94m. ½ D: William A. Graham. Anthony Wilson, Ahmad Nurradin, Glynn Turman, Richard Yniguez, Lincoln Kilpatrick, Owen Pace. Suspense thriller with five young blacks scouring ghetto for the killer of their policeman friend. Violent treatment balanced by sensitive character studies. [PG]

Togetherness (1970) C-103m.  D: Arthur Marks. George Hamilton, Peter Lawford, John Banner, Olinka Berova, Jesse White. American playboy Hamilton woos Communist athlete Berova in this dated comedy filmed in Greece. [PG]

To Gillian on Her 37th Birthday (1996) C-92m.  D: Michael Pressman. Peter Gallagher, Michelle Pfeiffer, Claire Danes, Bruce Altman, Kathy Baker, Wendy Crewson, Freddie Prinze, Jr., Laurie Fortier. Straightforward tearjerker—with ample comedy leavening—about a man unable and unwilling to let go of his wife's memory two years after her sudden death; his sister-in-law fears that his inertia and melancholy threaten his teenage daughter at a crucial time in her life. Well acted all around. Based on a play by Michael Brady, adapted and coproduced by David E. Kelley (Pfeiffer's husband). [PG-13] ▼ ● ●

To Have and Have Not (1944) 100m. ½ D: Howard Hawks. Humphrey Bogart, Walter Brennan, Lauren Bacall, Hoagy Carmichael, Dan Seymour, Marcel Dalio, Dolores Moran, Sheldon Leonard. Hemingway's "worst novel" forms the basis for Hawks' version of CASABLANCA: tough skipper-for-hire Bogart reluctantly becomes involved with French Resistance, less reluctantly woos even tougher Bacall (in her film debut). Their legendary love scenes make the movie, but there are also solid performances, taut action, and a couple of songs. (Andy Williams was hired to dub Bacall's singing, but that's her voice, after all.) Super dialogue by William Faulkner and Jules Furthman; remade as THE BREAKING POINT and THE GUN RUNNERS. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼ ● ●

To Hell and Back (1955) C-106m.  D: Jesse Hibbs. Audie Murphy, Marshall Thompson, Charles Drake, Jack Kelly, Paul Picerni, Gregg Palmer, Brett Halsey, David Janssen, Art Aragon, Rand Brooks, Denver Pyle, Susan Kohner. Murphy (the most decorated soldier of WW2) stars in very good war film based on his autobiography, with excellent battle sequences depicting Murphy's often breathtaking heroic exploits. Clichés in script are overcome by Murphy and cast's easygoing delivery. CinemaScope. ▼ ●

To Joy (1950-Swedish) 95m. ½ D: Ingmar Bergman. Stig Olin, Maj-Britt Nilsson, John Ekman, Margit Carlquist, Victor Seastrom (Sjöström), Birger Malmsten. Early Bergman drama offers a thematic prelude of what was to come from the filmmaker. Otherwise, it's a modest, occasionally insightful chronicle of Olin and Nilsson's failing marriage. ▼

To Kill a Clown (1972) C-104m.  D: George Bloomfield. Alan Alda, Blythe Danner, Heath Lambert, Eric Clavering. Couple whose marriage is on the rocks get trapped on island off New England coast by crippled, deranged Vietnam veteran. Weird mixture of traditional chiller film elements and topical considerations. [R] ▼

To Kill a Mockingbird (1962) 129m. * D: Robert Mulligan. Gregory Peck, Mary Badham, Philip Alford, John Megna, Brock Peters, Robert Duvall, Frank Overton, Rosemary Murphy, Paul Fix, Collin Wilcox, Alice Ghostley, William Windom; narrated by Kim Stanley. In a small Alabama town in the 1930s, lawyer Atticus Finch (Peck) defends a black man (Peters) accused of raping a white woman. Their father's innate decency affects his two motherless children as they learn about life, especially about that spooky house in the neighborhood. Peck won a well-deserved Best Actor Oscar; screenwriter Horton Foote received one as well. This outstanding film only gains in stature as time passes. One of the best of the 1960s. From the semi-autobiographical novel by Harper Lee. Duvall makes his screen debut as Boo Radley. Produced by Alan J. Pakula, with a memorable score by Elmer Bernstein. ▼●●

To Kill a Priest (1988-U.S.-French) C-117m.  D: Agnieszka Holland. Ed Harris, Christopher Lambert, David Suchet, Joss Ackland, Tim Roth, Joanne Whalley, Peter Postlethwaite, Timothy Spall, Cherie Lunghi. Well-intentioned but inept drama about ill-fated Polish priest Lambert (a character based on Father Jerzy Popieluszko, who supported the country's trade unionists and paid for his activism with his life); here he tangles with bullying secret policeman Harris. Director Holland may be a Polish exile, but the film only superficially explores the plight of her country. Panavision. [R] ▼●

Tokyo Decadence (1992-Japanese) C-112m. ½ D: Ryu Murakami. Miho Nikaïdo, Tenmei Kano, Yayoi Kusama, Sayoko Amano. So-so account of the various experiences of a young, wide-eyed Tokyo hooker (Nikaïdo), whose specialty is sado-masochism and whose clients are upperclass businessmen. Initially works as a look at how kinky sexual desires result from take-no-prisoners attitudes in the workplace; it eventually becomes repetitive and muddled. Scripted by Murakami, based on his novel. ▼●●

Tokyo Drifter (1966-Japanese) C-83m. ½ D: Seijun Suzuki. Tetsuya Watari, Ryuji Kita, Hideaki Esumi, Michio Hino, Tamio Kawachi, Hideaki Nitani, Chieko Matsubara. Spectacularly stylized, tongue-in-cheek thriller about a hit man who is betrayed by his boss and takes on rival gangsters and an army of assassins. Audacious and deliriously imaginative use of color, widescreen, and sound make this Suzuki's pulp masterpiece, replete with songs, choreographed gunfights, and a parody of a Western saloon brawl. Nikkatsu-Scope. ▼

Tokyo Joe (1949) 88m. ½ D: Stuart Heisler. Humphrey Bogart, Florence Marly, Sessue Hayakawa, Alexander Knox, Jerome Courtland. Lesser Bogart film about American in postwar Tokyo pulled into smuggling and blackmail for the sake of his ex-wife and child. ▼●●

Tokyo Olympiad (1965) C-170m. * D: Kon Ichikawa. Once compromised by edited versions that diminished its power, epic documentary about the 1964 Olympics is artistically mentionable in the same breath as Leni Riefenstahl's OLYMPIA—and without the Hitler baggage. Though Ichikawa had over a hundred Tohoscope cameras at his disposal, result is less a reportorial chronicle than a sensory agony/ecstasy portrayal set against panoramic crowd shots. Broad jumpers compete on a messy, muddy track and a lonely runner from Chad (a country then making its Olympics debut) finds himself . . . somewhere . . . in downtown Tokyo. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Tokyo Pop (1988) C-99m. ½ D: Fran Rubel Kazui. Carrie Hamilton, Yutaka Tadokoro, Taiji Tonoyma, Tetsuro Tamba, Masumi Harukawa. Trifling if occasionally amusing tale of what happens when punk rocker Hamilton treks off to Japan in search of celebrity. The West-meets-East theme has possibilities, but the result is curiously slight (despite Hamilton's winning performance). By the way, she's the daughter of Carol Burnett. [R] ▼●●

Tokyo Sonata (2009-Japanese-Dutch-Hong Kong) C-121m.  D: Kiyoshi Kurosawa. Teruyuki Kagawa, Kyôko Koizumi, Yû Koyanagi, Kai Inowaki, Haruka Igawa, Kanji Tsuda, Kôji Yakusho. Subtly devastating rumination on the emptiness of contemporary middle-class life, centering on a proud corporate administrator (Kagawa) who's downsized from his job but is unable to tell his loved ones. Meanwhile, his wife and sons are dealing with their own issues. Kurosawa (best known for his horror films and thrillers) effectively delineates the distances between his characters and the fragile bonds that keep them connected. [PG-13]

Tokyo Story (1953-Japanese) 134m. * D: Yasujiro Ozu. Chishu Ryu, Chieko Higashiyama, So Yamamura, Haruko Sugimura, Setsuko Hara. An elderly couple (Ryu, Higashiyama) visit their children in Tokyo, who are too busy living their lives and treat them tactlessly. Quietly powerful story of old age, the disappointments parents experience with their children, and the fears the young have of time passing. A masterpiece. Not shown in the U.S. until 1972. ▼

Tol'able David (1921) 94m. ½ D: Henry

King. Richard Barthelmess, Gladys Hulette, Ernest Torrence, Warner Richmond, Walter P. Lewis. A mild-mannered boy is forced to take his brother's place delivering the mail—and dealing with a trio of heinous criminals who've moved into their rural community. Beautifully crafted Americana, shot on location in Virginia. The finale is a rip-roaring piece of movie storytelling. Remade in 1930. ▼●●

To Live (1994-Chinese) C-132m. ½ D: Zhang Yimou. Ge You, Gong Li, Niu Ben, Guo Tao, Jiang Wu, Ni Dahong, Liu Tianchi, Zhang Lu, Xiao Cong, Dong Fei. Another stirring production from director/actress team of Zhang Yimou and Gong Li, although this time the female role is less powerful, and less pivotal, than the male lead. Film follows married couple as their fortunes rise and fall, through several decades of Chinese life, from 1940s onward. Viewer gets history lesson as time passes, children grow, and freedoms are suppressed. Ge You is outstanding as simple yet unsterotypical patriarch; only flaw is that episodic story eventually develops Edna Ferber-ish soap opera quality. Based on the novel Lifetimes by Yu Hua. ▼●●

To Live and Die in L.A. (1985) C-116m. *½ D: William Friedkin. William L. Petersen, Willem Dafoe, John Pankow, Debra Feuer, John Turturro, Darlanne Fluegel, Dean Stockwell, Robert Downey, Dwier Brown. Gritty movie equivalent of TV's Miami Vice makes it hard to root for anyone, since the good guys are as sleazy as the bad guys! Petersen plays hotshot Secret Service agent going after slimy counterfeiter—but for a crack federal agent he acts pretty dumb! One spectacular car chase is not enough to counteract bad taste the film leaves behind. [R] ▼●●

To Love a Vampire SEE: Lust for a Vampire

Tollbooth (1994) C-108m.  D: Salome Breziner. Fairuza Balk, Lenny Von Dohlen, Will Patton, Seymour Cassel, James Wilder, William Katt, Louise Fletcher. Clever, humorously macabre sleeper about a young woman (Balk) who for years has been awaiting the return of her missing father. She refuses to sleep with the man she loves (Von Dohlen) until her father shows up; the plot is set into motion when Boyfriend sets out to track down Dad. Cassel appears in two roles and offers a riveting performance as the father. ▼●

Tomahawk (1951) C-82m. ½ D: George Sherman. Yvonne De Carlo, Van Heflin, Preston Foster, Jack Oakie, Alex Nicol, Tom Tully, Rock Hudson. Colorful Western spiked with sufficient action to overcome bland account of friction between Indians and the Army. ▼

Tom and Huck (1995) C-92m. ½ D: Peter Hewitt. Jonathan Taylor Thomas, Brad Renfro, Eric Schweig, Charles Rocket, Amy Wright, Micheal McShane, Marian

Seldes, Rachael Leigh Cook, Lanny Flaherty. Umpteenth, by-the-numbers retelling of the Mark Twain classic The Adventures of Tom Sawyer, with Taylor Thomas and Renfro both doing well as the title duo. Might amuse kids who are completely unfamiliar with the story. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Tom and Jerry: The Movie (1992) C-84m.  D: Phil Roman. Voices of Richard Kind, Dana Hill, Anndi McAfee, Charlotte Rae, Tony Jay, Henry Gibson, Rip Taylor, Michael Bell, Sydney Lassick, David L. Lander. Tom and Jerry, suddenly homeless, hook up with a little girl who's trying to escape from the clutches of a cruel guardian. Flat attempt to put the lively cat & mouse duo into a feature-length story, with more lulls than highlights, and a score that's not only unmemorable but irrelevant. Released in the U.S. in 1993. [G] ▼●●

Tom & Viv (1994-British-U.S.) C-125m. ½ D: Brian Gilbert. Willem Dafoe, Miranda Richardson, Rosemary Harris, Tim Dutton, Nickolas Grace, Philip Locke. Intriguing (but only partially successful) chronicle of the relationship between poet T. S. Eliot (Dafoe) and his wife, loony socialite Vivienne Haigh-Wood (Richardson), whose psychological affliction was improperly diagnosed. Well acted by the two leads, but the drama comes in fits and starts. Lacks the necessary passion to make you care about the characters and their union. Based on a play by Michael Hastings, who coscripted. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Tomb of Ligeia, The (1964-British) C-81m.  D: Roger Corman. Vincent Price, Elizabeth Shepherd, John Westbrook, Richard Johnson, Derek Francis. Price's late wife seems to be manifesting herself all over the place, both as a cat and in new bride Shepherd. Super-stylish chiller with superb location work. The last of Corman's eight Poe adaptations; screenplay by Robert Towne. Filmed in Widescreen Colorscope. ▼●●

Tomboy (1985) C-92m. BOMB D: Herb Freed. Betsy Russell, Jerry Dinome (Gerard Christopher), Kristi Somers, Richard Erdman, Cynthia Ann Thompson. Bottom-of-the-barrel formula teenage sex tease film. Role reversal is stressed as Russell is an automotive wiz determined to outrace and win the romantic favor of handsome Dinome. [R] ▼●

Tomb Raider SEE: Lara Croft Tomb Raider

Tom Brown's Schooldays (1951-British) 93m. ½ D: Gordon Parry. John Howard Davies, Robert Newton, Diana Wynyard, Hermione Baddeley, Kathleen Byron, James Hayter, John Charlesworth, John Forrest, Michael Hordern, Max Bygraves. Well-acted film of Victorian England school life with exceptional British cast and good direction. Noel Langley scripted, from Thomas Hughes' novel. ▼●

Tombstone (1993) C-128m. ½ D: George P. Cosmatos. Kurt Russell, Val Kil-

mer, Michael Biehn, Powers Boothe, Robert Burke, Dana Delany, Sam Elliott, Stephen Lang, Terry O'Quinn, Joanna Pacula, Bill Paxton, Jason Priestley, Michael Rooker, Jon Tenney, Dana Wheeler-Nicholson, Billy Zane, Buck Taylor, Harry Carey, Jr., Thomas Haden Church, Pedro Armendariz, Jr., Frank Stallone, Billy Bob Thornton, Charlton Heston; narrated by Robert Mitchum. Wyatt Earp (Russell) attempts to leave his violent days behind him, moving to Tombstone with his two brothers . . . but the murderous gang called The Cowboys (whose members include the Clantons) dictates otherwise. Not-bad Western saga, with a forceful performance by Russell, and a likably eccentric one by Kilmer as the tubercular Doc Holliday. Delany, however, is positively goofy as Wyatt's love interest, and the story goes on way past the O.K. Corral shootout, with a series of redundant gun battles and showdowns. The real Earp's fifth cousin, Wyatt Earp, plays Billy Claiborne. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Tomcats (2001) C-92m. BOMB D: Gregory Poirier. Jerry O'Connell, Shannon Elizabeth, Jake Busey, Horatio Sanz, Jaime Pressly, Travis Fine, Joseph D. Reitman, Bill Maher, David Ogden Stiers, Bernie Casey, Dakota Fanning. After their pal's wedding, a band of male chauvinist morons creates a "kitty" to be won by the last of their lot to avoid wedding bells. Busey, one of the two remaining bachelors, once deflowered and dumped Elizabeth; his competitor (O'Connell) schemes to get them hitched. Trashy, poorly made comic dud is strictly for the litter box. Comic nadir: the plight of the cancerous testicle. [R]▼

Tom, Dick and Harry (1941) 86m. ½ D: Garson Kanin. Ginger Rogers, George Murphy, Alan Marshal, Burgess Meredith, Joe Cunningham, Jane Seymour, Phil Silvers. Spirited comic dilemma as wide-eyed Ginger chooses among three anxious suitors: sincere Murphy, wealthy Marshal, nonconformist Meredith. Silvers has hilarious role as obnoxious ice-cream man. Written by Paul Jarrico. Remade as THE GIRL MOST LIKELY.▼●●

Tom Horn (1980) C-98m. *½ D: William Wiard. Steve McQueen, Linda Evans, Richard Farnsworth, Billy Green Bush, Slim Pickens, Elisha Cook. McQueen's next-to-last film is beautifully shot, otherwise deadly Western about the final days of real-life Wyoming bounty hunter. See also MR. HORN, a TVM with David Carradine in the title role. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Tom Jones (1963-British) C-129m. * D: Tony Richardson. Albert Finney, Susannah York, Hugh Griffith, Edith Evans, Joyce Redman, Diane Cilento, Joan Greenwood, David Tomlinson, Peter Bull, David Warner; narrated by Michael MacLiammoir. High-spirited adaptation of the Henry Fielding novel about a young man's misad-

ventures and bawdy experiences in 18th-century England; rowdy, randy, and completely disarming. Academy Award winner as Best Picture, it also won Oscars for Richardson, who directed with great flair and imagination, screenwriter John Osborne, who caught the gritty flavor of the period to perfection, and composer John Addison, whose infectious score suits the picture to a tee. Film debuts of Lynn Redgrave and David Warner. Richardson cut the film by seven minutes for its 1989 reissue.▼●●

Tommy (1975-British) C-111m.  D: Ken Russell. Roger Daltrey, Ann-Margret, Oliver Reed, Elton John, Eric Clapton, Keith Moon, Robert Powell, Tina Turner, Jack Nicholson. Energetic rendering of The Who's best-selling rock opera, with standout musical performances by Clapton, John (who sings "Pinball Wizard"), and Turner. [PG]▼●●

Tommy Boy (1995) C-96m. *½ D: Peter Segal. Chris Farley, David Spade, Brian Dennehy, Bo Derek, Dan Aykroyd, Julie Warner, Sean McCann, Zack Grenier. Just out of college, perpetual foul-up Farley returns home to work in his father's factory and witness his dad's marriage to Derek. Dad's sudden death forces Farley to try and save the business—with the help of co-worker Spade. Utterly predictable comedy with scattershot laughs; Farley and Spade don't quite have the finesse of Wheeler and Woolsey. Rob Lowe appears unbilled as Derek's "son." [PG-13]▼●●

Tomorrow (1972) 103m. ½ D: Joseph Anthony. Robert Duvall, Olga Bellin, Sudie Bond, Richard McConnell, Peter Masterson, William Hawley. Overlooked Faulkner story about a handyman who cares for and eventually falls in love with an abandoned pregnant woman. Bellin is excellent, Duvall astonishingly good in best-ever screen presentation of the author's work. Screenplay by Horton Foote. [PG]▼

Tomorrow at Ten (1963-British) 80m. ½ D: Lance Comfort. John Gregson, Robert Shaw, Alec Clunes, Alan Wheatley. Taut drama involving kidnapper who dies, leaving boy in house (whereabouts unknown) with time bomb set to explode.

Tomorrow Is Forever (1946) 105m.  D: Irving Pichel. Claudette Colbert, Orson Welles, George Brent, Lucile Watson, Richard Long, Natalie Wood. Weepy rehash of Enoch Arden, with Welles as man listed dead in WW1 returning decades later with new face to find wife Colbert remarried to Brent. Bravura work by Welles; good support by Wood as his adopted daughter.▼

Tomorrow Never Comes (1977-Canadian-British) C-109m.  D: Peter Collinson. Oliver Reed, Susan George, Raymond Burr, John Ireland, Stephen McHattie, Donald Pleasence. Young man goes bananas when he learns his girlfriend has been unfaithful, leading to violent standoff with police in busy resort town. Uninvolving melodrama. [PG]▼

Tomorrow Never Dies (1997) C-119m.

½ D: Roger Spottiswoode. Pierce Brosnan, Jonathan Pryce, Michelle Yeoh, Teri Hatcher, Joe Don Baker, Ricky Jay, Götz Otto, Judi Dench, Desmond Llewelyn, Vincent Schiavelli, Geoffrey Palmer, Samantha Bond. James Bond goes after a megalomaniacal media magnate (Pryce) whose tentacles reach around the globe, and whose wife was a former flame of 007. Along the way, he teams up with Asian action-film star Yeoh, who proves a compatible screen companion. The action never flags, though it becomes somewhat mechanical after a while. Panavision. [PG-13]▼

Tomorrow, the World! (1944) 95m. ***

D: Leslie Fenton. Fredric March, Betty Field, Agnes Moorehead, Skippy Homeier, Joan Carroll. Homeier re-creates his knock-out Broadway performance as a German-raised child adopted by his American uncle, who soon discovers that the boy is a rabid Nazi with a sinister mindset. Still-potent and thoughtful drama about tolerance. Scripted by Ring Lardner, Jr., and Leopold Atlas from the play by James Gow and Armand D'Usseau.▼

Tom Sawyer (1973) C-104m.  D: Don

Taylor. Johnnie Whitaker, Celeste Holm, Warren Oates, Jeff East, Jodie Foster. Well-crafted musical remake of Tom Sawyer, the boy wonder of Hannibal, Mo., and his friends Huckleberry Finn and Becky Thatcher. Songs by Richard M. and Robert B. Sherman. Panavision. [PG]▼

tom thumb (1958) C-98m. ½ D: George

Pal. Russ Tamblyn, June Thorburn, Peter Sellers, Terry-Thomas, Alan Young, Jessie Matthews, Bernard Miles. Excellent children's picture with Tamblyn as tiny tom thumb, taken in by kindly couple but exploited by villainous Terry-Thomas and henchman Sellers. Charming Puppetoons sequences, Oscar-winning special effects, perfect Peggy Lee-Sonny Burke score. Filmed in England.▼

Toni (1935-French) 90m. ½ D: Jean

Renoir. Charles Blavette, Celia Montalvan, Jenny Helia, Max Dalban. Italian quarry worker Blavette lives with Montalvan, but falls in love with farm girl Helia—who in turn is wooed away by swaggering foreman Dalban. Renoir coscripted this simple, touching drama, which he filmed in a style that influenced the Italian Neorealist movement of the 1940s.▼

Tonight and Every Night (1945) C-92m.

 D: Victor Saville. Rita Hayworth, Janet Blair, Lee Bowman, Marc Platt, Leslie Brooks, Professor Lamberti, Florence Bates. Entertaining wartime musical of British theater that never misses a performance, despite bombings and personal hardships. Try spotting Shelley Winters as one of the chorines. Same real-life story was later the basis for MRS. HENDERSON PRESENTS.▼

Tonight at 8:30 (1952-British) C-81m.

 D: Anthony Pelissier. Valerie Hobson, Nigel Patrick, Jack Warner, Kay Walsh, Ted Ray, Martita Hunt, Stanley Holloway, Betty Ann Davies. Three Noel Coward one-act plays ideally transferred to film. Original British title: MËET ME TONIGHT.

Tonka (1958) C-97m. ½ D: Lewis R.

Foster. Sal Mineo, Philip Carey, Jerome Courtland, Rafael Campos, H. M. Wynant, Joy Page. Mineo stands out in this modest Disney film about an Indian brave's attachment to a wild horse, lone "survivor" of Little Bighorn battle, which he captures and tames. Weak resolution and cut-rate version of Custer's Last Stand detract from promising story. Retitled A HORSE NAMED COMANCHE.▼

Tony Rome (1967) C-110m. ½ D: Gordon

Douglas. Frank Sinatra, Jill St. John, Richard Conte, Sue Lyon, Gena Rowlands, Simon Oakland, Jeffrey Lynn, Lloyd Bochner. Good cast in moderately diverting detective caper. Private eye Rome (Sinatra) hired by millionaire (Oakland) to find out why his daughter would wind up drunk and unconscious in low-class Miami hotel. Sequel: LADY IN CEMENT. Panavision.▼

Too Bad She's Bad (1955-Italian) 95m.

 D: Alessandro Blasetti. Sophia Loren, Vittorio De Sica, Marcello Mastroianni, Lina Furia. Unremarkable little comedy about life and love among happy-go-lucky crooks, set in Rome.▼

Too Beautiful for You (1989-French)

C-91m.  D: Bertrand Blier. Gérard Depardieu, Josiane Balasko, Carole Bouquet, Roland Blanche, Francois Cluzet. Car dealer Depardieu cheats on beautiful, cultured wife Bouquet; the object of his affection is his plain, pudgy temporary receptionist (Balasko). Starts off brightly, but then goes absolutely nowhere. Panavision. [R]▼

Too Hot to Handle (1938) 105m.  D:

Jack Conway. Clark Gable, Myrna Loy, Walter Pidgeon, Leo Carrillo, Johnny Hines, Virginia Weidler. Gable and Pidgeon are rival newsreel photographers vying for aviatrix Loy in this fast-paced action-comedy; Gable's scene faking enemy attack on China is a gem.▼

Too Hot to Handle (1960-British) C-92m.

 D: Terence Young. Jayne Mansfield, Leo Genn, Carl Boehm, Christopher Lee, Barbara Windsor. Seamy study of chanteuse Mansfield involved with one man too many in the nightclub circuit. AKA PLAYGIRL AFTER DARK.▼

Too Late Blues (1962) 100m.  D: John

Cassavetes. Bobby Darin, Stella Stevens, John Cassavetes, Rupert Crosse, Vincent Edwards, Cliff Carnell, Seymour Cassel. Somewhat pretentious drama about jazz musician Darin becoming involved with selfish Stevens. Score by David Raksin, with on-camera performances “doubled” by such jazz greats as Benny Carter, Shelly Manne, and Jimmy Rowles.

Too Late the Hero (1970) C-133m. *****
D: Robert Aldrich. Michael Caine, Cliff Robertson, Henry Fonda, Ian Bannen, Harry Andrews, Denholm Elliott, Ronald Fraser. Two reluctant soldiers (Robertson, Caine) sent on suicide mission on Pacific island during WW2; turns into battle of wits between them and Japanese officer. Action-packed film builds to pulsating finale. Metro-scope. [R]▼

Toolbox Murders, The (1978) C-93m. *½ D: Dennis Donnelly. Cameron Mitchell, Pamelyn Ferdin, Wesley Eure, Nicholas Beauvy, Aneta Corsaut, Tim Donnelly, Evelyn Guerrero. A film that delivers exactly what its title promises: graphic slayings of young women by means of various pieces of hardware. Yecch. Remade in 2005. [R]▼

Toolbox Murders (2005) C-94m. *½ D: Tobe Hooper. Angela Bettis, Brent Roam, Juliet Landau, Greg Travis, Marco Rodriguez, Sara Downing, Adam Gierasch, Sheri Moon, Adam Weisman, Rance Howard. A black-garbed maniac is murdering one and all in a creepy old L.A. apartment building. Will Bettis, who’s just moved into this house of horrors, track him down . . . or become a victim? Decent production values do little to elevate this predictable 1970s-style gorefest, which is in fact a remake of a 1978 movie. Released theatrically overseas in 2004, but direct-to-video in the U.S. [R]▼

Too Many Girls (1940) 85m.  D: George Abbott. Lucille Ball, Richard Carlson, Eddie Bracken, Ann Miller, Hal LeRoy, Desi Arnaz, Frances Langford. Engaging Rodgers-Hart musical comedy with winning cast, sharp dialogue. Four boys are hired to keep an eye on footloose Lucy at Pottawatomie College in Stopgap, New Mexico. Stagy presentation of musical numbers seems to work fine here; Van Johnson is very noticeable as one of the chorus boys (it was his film debut, as well as Arnaz and Bracken’s). Incidentally, this is where Lucy and Desi met.▼

Too Many Husbands (1940) 84m.  D: Wesley Ruggles. Jean Arthur, Fred MacMurray, Melvyn Douglas, Harry Davenport, Dorothy Peterson, Edgar Buchanan. Jean is married to Douglas when husband #1 (MacMurray), thought dead, turns up. Excellent comedy from W. Somerset Maugham’s play Home and Beauty. Remade as THREE FOR THE SHOW.▶

Too Much Sun (1991) C-110m. *½ D: Robert Downey, Robert Downey, Jr., Laura Ernst, Jim Haynie, Eric Idle, Ralph Macchio, Andrea Martin, Leo Rossi, Howard Duff, Jennifer Rubin. Farce about competition of brother and sister to have a child

first, so as to inherit a fortune from their father; trouble is they’re both gay. Few laughs in this dopey comedy that didn’t stay long in theaters. [R]▼

Too Much, Too Soon (1958) 121m. ****
D: Art Napoleon. Dorothy Malone, Errol Flynn, Ephem Zimbalist, Jr., Ray Danton, Neva Patterson, Martin Milner, Murray Hamilton. But not enough, in sensationistic tale of Diana Barrymore’s decline. Flynn steals the show as John Barrymore.

Too Outrageous! (1987-Canadian) C-100m. ½ D: Richard Benner. Craig Russell, Hollis McLaren, David McLlraith, Ron White, Lynne Cormack, Michael J. Reynolds. Russell shines in this disappointing sequel to OUTRAGEOUS! as female impersonator Robin Turner, who’s become a smash in N.Y.C.—but will he go mainstream? Unfortunately, the scenario is too hackneyed to make you care. Best moments are his impersonations of Streisand, Mae West, etc. [R]

Too Scared to Scream (1985) C-104m. *½ D: Tony Lo Bianco. Mike Connors, Anne Archer, Leon Isaac Kennedy, Ian McShane, Ruth Ford, John Heard, Carrie Nye, Maureen O’Sullivan, Murray Hamilton. Good cast stuck in dreary film about attempts to catch a psycho killer. Filmed in 1982. [R]▼

Too Soon to Love (1960) 85m. * D: Richard Rush. Jennifer West, Richard Evans, Warren Parker, Ralph Manza, Jack Nicholson. Mildly interesting period piece about illicit teenage love, pregnancy, and abortion. An early credit for Nicholson and writer-director Rush.▶

Toots (2007) C-84m.  D: Kristi Jacobson. Delightful documentary about legendary N.Y.C. restaurateur Toots Shor made by his granddaughter, with the help of an oral history he recorded late in life. His unique approach to running a watering hole for celebrities and sports figures is lovingly recalled by such famous patrons as Walter Cronkite, Yogi Berra, Whitey Ford, Frank Gifford, and a host of other sports stars and journalists. A wonderfully evocative portrait of a colorful period in New York nightlife.▶

Tootsie (1982) C-116m.  D: Sydney Pollack. Dustin Hoffman, Jessica Lange, Teri Garr, Dabney Coleman, Charles Durning, Sydney Pollack, George Gaynes, Geena Davis, Estelle Getty, Christine Ebersole. Smashing comedy about an obnoxious N.Y. actor who finally lands a job—disguised as a woman—and soon finds himself a better person female than he ever was male! Farcical premise becomes totally credible thanks to razor-sharp script (credited to Larry Gelbart and Murray Schisgal, from Gelbart and Don McGuire’s story), fine direction, and superlative performances all around—including director Pollack’s as

Hoffman's harried agent. Lange won Best Supporting Actress Oscar. Bill Murray appears unbilled. Film debut of Geena Davis. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Topaz (1969) C-127m.  D: Alfred Hitchcock. John Forsythe, Frederick Stafford, Dany Robin, John Vernon, Karin Dor, Michel Piccoli, Philippe Noiret, Claude Jade, Roscoe Lee Browne. French Intelligence agent Stafford works with American official Forsythe to dig out info on Russia's involvement in Cuba. Whirlwind plot circles globe, maintains intrigue level; good, not great Hitchcock, scripted by Samuel Taylor from Leon Uris' best-seller. Video release includes not one but two alternate endings Hitchcock shot and then decided not to use! [M/PG] ▼●●

Topaze (1933) 78m.  D: Harry D'Abbadie D'Arrast. John Barrymore, Myrna Loy, Albert Conti, Luis Alberni, Reginald Mason, Jobyna Howland. Delightful film adapted from Marcel Pagnol's play about an impeccably honest but naive schoolteacher in France who unwittingly becomes a dupe for wealthy baron's business scheme. Barrymore is perfect. Remade as I LIKE MONEY. ▼●●

Top Banana (1954) C-100m.  D: Alfred E. Green. Phil Silvers, Rose Marie, Danny Scholl, Judy Lynn, Jack Albertson, Joey Faye, Herbie Faye. Fascinating curio is literally a filmed version of Silvers' Broadway hit about a Milton Berle-like TV comic. Full of burlesque chestnuts, and filmed (believe it or not) in 3-D. Current prints run 84m., with some musical numbers deleted. ▼

Top Dog (1995) C-87m. *½ D: Aaron Norris. Chuck Norris, Erik Von Detten, Michele Lamar Richards, Carmine Caridi, Herta Ware, Clyde Kusatsu, Francesco Quinn, Timothy Bottoms, Reno the Dog. When terrorists threaten to blow up San Diego, heroic cop Norris is forced to collaborate with a canine partner who seems to outsmart him every step of the way. Not much plot here, and needless to say, the dog steals the show. [PG-13] ▼●●

Top Gun (1986) C-110m. ½ D: Tony Scott. Tom Cruise, Kelly McGillis, Val Kilmer, Anthony Edwards, Tom Skerritt, Michael Ironside, John Stockwell, Barry Tubb, Rick Rossovich, Tim Robbins, James Tolkan, Meg Ryan, Adrian Pasdar. Young studs vie for glory, on the ground and in the air, at elite naval aviation training school. Contrived beyond belief, with dogfights that play like video games, and total lack of sexual chemistry between the two leads . . . but slickly calculated to please '80s audiences (and fans of ever-smiling Cruise). Edwards, as Cruise's sidekick, steals the show. Giorgio Moroder and Tom Whitlock won an Oscar for the song "Take My Breath Away," performed by Berlin. Super 35. [PG] ▼●●

Top Hat (1935) 99m. * D: Mark

Sandrich. Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Edward Everett Horton, Helen Broderick, Eric Blore, Erik Rhodes. What can we say? Merely a knock-out of a musical with Astaire and Rogers at their brightest doing "Cheek to Cheek," "Isn't This a Lovely Day to Be Caught in the Rain," "Top Hat, White Tie, and Tails," and the epic "Piccolino," and other Irving Berlin songs, as the duo goes through typical mistaken-identity plot. Wonderful support from rest of cast; that's Lucille Ball as the flower shop clerk. Scripted by Dwight Taylor and Allan Scott, from a play by Alexander Farago and Aladar Laszlo. Originally 101m.; some prints are 93m. ▼●●

Topkapi (1964) C-120m. * D: Jules Dassin. Melina Mercouri, Peter Ustinov, Maximilian Schell, Robert Morley, Akim Tamiroff, Despo Diamantidou. First-rate entertainment of would-be thieves who plan perfect crime in Constantinople museum; lighthearted caper has inspired many imitations. Filmed in Istanbul, with Ustinov's delightful performance copying an Academy Award. Written by Monja Danischewsky, from Eric Ambler's novel The Light of Day; memorable score by Manos Hadjidakis. ▼●●

To Please a Lady (1950) 91m. ½ D: Clarence Brown. Clark Gable, Barbara Stanwyck. Adolphe Menjou, Roland Winters, Will Geer, Emory Parnell, Frank Jenks. Unremarkable love story of reporter Stanwyck and race-car driver-heel Gable. ▼

Top o' the Morning (1949) 100m. ½ D: David Miller. Bing Crosby, Barry Fitzgerald, Ann Blyth, Hume Cronyn, John McIntire, Eileen Crowe. Crosby-Fitzgerald malarkey is wearing thin in this fanciful musical of Bing searching for thief hiding the Blarney Stone.

Topper (1937) 97m. ½ D: Norman Z. McLeod. Constance Bennett, Cary Grant, Roland Young, Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray, Eugene Palette, Arthur Lake, Hedda Hopper. Delightful gimmick comedy with ghosts Grant and Bennett dominating life of meek Young; sparkling cast in adaptation of Thorne Smith novel, scripted by Jack Jevne, Eddie Moran, and Eric Hatch. Followed by two sequels, a TV series, and a 1979 TV remake starring Kate Jackson and Andrew Stevens. Also shown in computer-colored version (the first b&w film to be "colorized," in 1985). ▼●●

Topper Returns (1941) 88m.  D: Roy Del Ruth. Joan Blondell, Roland Young, Carole Landis, Billie Burke, Dennis O'Keefe, Patsy Kelly, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson. Topper helps ghostly Blondell solve her own murder in the last of this series, with hilarious results. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Topper Takes a Trip (1939) 85m.  D: Norman Z. McLeod. Constance Bennett,

Roland Young, Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray, Verree Teasdale, Franklin Pangborn. Cary Grant is missing (except in a flashback), but rest of cast returns for repeat success as Young is frustrated on Riviera vacation by ghostess Bennett. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Top Secret! (1984) C-90m. ½ D: Jim Abrahams, David Zucker, Jerry Zucker. Val Kilmer, Lucy Gutteridge, Christopher Villiers, Jeremy Kemp, Michael Gough, Omar Sharif, Peter Cushing. Likably silly comedy from the writing-directing team that brought you AIRPLANE!, about an Elvis-like rock star who becomes embroiled in espionage work while touring East Germany—with Nazis as bad guys and French resistance fighters as allies! Lots of laughs but no real momentum—and where's the ending? [PG] ▼●●

Top Secret Affair (1957) 100m. ½ D: H. C. Potter. Susan Hayward, Kirk Douglas, Paul Stewart, Jim Backus, John Cromwell. John P. Marquand's Melville Goodwin, U.S.A. becomes fair comedy, with most credit going to Hayward as fiery publisher who knows all about the past of Senate appointee (Douglas).

Topsy-Turvy (2000-British) C-160m. ½ D: Mike Leigh. Jim Broadbent, Allan Cordaner, Lesley Manville, Eleanor David, Ron Cook, Timothy Spall, Kevin McKidd, Martin Savage, Shirley Henderson, Wendy Nottingham, Charles Simon, Alison Steadman. Fascinating, intimate portrait of Gilbert and Sullivan, and the time in which they lived, focusing on their peccadilloes and personalities, and the process of turning their latest ideas into the operetta masterpiece The Mikado. Broadbent and Corduner are superb in the leads, and Spall makes a wonderful Mikado. Overflowing with personal and period detail (including Oscar-winning Costume Design and Makeup), this long but rewarding film gets better and better as it goes along. Released in the U.S. in 1999. Their story also told in THE GREAT GILBERT AND SULLIVAN. [R] ▼●

Tora! Tora! Tora! (1970-U.S.-Japanese) C-143m.  D: Richard Fleischer, Toshio Masuda, Kinji Fukasaku. Martin Balsam, Soh Yamamura, Jason Robards, Joseph Cotten, Tatsuya Mihashi, E. G. Marshall, James Whitmore, Wesley Addy, Leon Ames, George Macready. Events leading up to (well-staged) Pearl Harbor attack, from both American and Japanese points of view. Well-documented screenplay shows major and minor blundering on both sides, then recreates attack with frightening realism. Well-made film creates incredible tension. Oscar-winning special effects. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Torch, The (1950-Mexican) 90m.  D: Emilio Fernandez. Paulette Goddard, Pedro Armendariz, Gilbert Roland, Walter Reed. Mexican revolutionary captures town and falls for daughter of nobility. Rare English-language effort by Mexico's top director; a shame it isn't better. Beautifully photographed by Gabriel Figueroa. ▼●

Torchlight (1984) C-90m.  D: Tom Wright. Pamela Sue Martin, Steve Railsback, Ian McShane, Al Corley, Rita Taggart. Married couple Martin and Railsback's world is wrecked when he becomes a cocaine addict. Below-average morality tale: its message may be important, but its dramatics are muddled. [R] ▼●●

Torch Song (1953) C-90m. ½ D: Charles Walters. Joan Crawford, Michael Wilding, Marjorie Rambeau, Gig Young, Henry (Harry) Morgan, Dorothy Patrick, Benny Rubin, Nancy Gates. Crawford is hard as nails as a Broadway musical star who chews up people for lunch—until she meets blind pianist Wilding, who isn't cowed by her. Glossy, often hilariously clichéd drama reminds us that It's Lonely at the Top. There's one absurd musical number in which Crawford appears in blackface! Her "clumsy" dance partner in the opening number is director Walters, a former dancer and choreographer. ▼●●

Torch Song Trilogy (1988) C-117m. ½ D: Paul Bogart. Anne Bancroft, Matthew Broderick, Harvey Fierstein, Brian Kerwin, Karen Young, Charles Pierce. Fierstein rewrote (and considerably compressed) his landmark Broadway play about a drag queen, and lost something in the process. Changing sensibilities in the AIDS era also affect the original material, though there are still fine moments. Fierstein reprises his stage performance as Arnold Beckoff, and Bancroft scores strongly as his mother. [R] ▼●●

Torchy Blane series SEE: Leonard Maltin's Classic Movie Guide

Torment (1944-Swedish) 100m. ½ D: Alf Sjöberg. Mai Zetterling, Stig Jarrel, Alf Kjellin, Olof Winnerstrand. Schoolboy Kjellin and girl he falls in love with (Zetterling) are hounded by sadistic teacher Jarrel. Moody and evocative, with a script by Ingmar Bergman. Also known as FRENZY. ▼●

Tormented (1960) 75m. BOMB D: Bert I. Gordon. Richard Carlson, Juli Reding, Susan Gordon, Lugene Sanders, Joe Turkel, Lillian Adams. Low-budget hogwash of guilt-ridden pianist dubious over his forthcoming marriage to society woman. Weak ghost story. ▼●

Torn Apart (1989) C-96m. ½ D: Jack Fisher. Adrian Pasdar, Cecilia Peck, Barry Primus, Machram Huri, Arnon Zadok, Margit Polak. Boy and girl grow up together and fall in love—but he's Jewish, she's Arab, and the setting is Israel. A new slant on Romeo and Juliet with a topical backdrop, this humanist drama has convincing performances and a timely message.

Peck is the daughter of Gregory Peck. [R]

Torn Between Two Values SEE: Sergeant Ryker

Torn Curtain (1966) C-128m. ½ D: Alfred Hitchcock. Paul Newman, Julie Andrews, Lila Kedrova, David Opatoshu, Ludwig Donath. Oddly unmoving Hitchcock Cold War thriller about American scientist (Newman) pretending to be defector. Slick but empty film. ▼●●

Torpedo Bay (1963-Italian-French) 91m. ½ D: Charles Frend. James Mason, Lilli Palmer, Gabriele Ferzetti, Alberto Lupo, Geoffrey Keen. British and Italian naval crews meet on neutral territory during WW2; modest but fairly interesting drama.

Torque (2004) C-81m. ½ D: Joseph Kahn. Martin Henderson, Ice Cube, Monet Mazur, Adam Scott, Matt Schulze, Jaime Pressly, Jay Hernandez, Will Yun Lee, Fredro Starr, Justina Machado, Faizon Love. Ultra-cool biker returns to his home turf, where he leads two rival gangs and the FBI on a frantic chase. Music-video-style biker movie is fast and loud, but ultra-dumb, often laughable. Even Ice Cube is reduced to cliché here. Thanks to aggressive product placement a climactic catfight turns out to be a battle between Pepsi and Mountain Dew! Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Torrent (1926) 87m.  D: Monta Bell. Ricardo Cortez, Greta Garbo, Gertrude Olmstead, Edward Connelly, Lucien Littlefield, Tully Marshall, Mack Swain. Garbo stars in her first American film as a Spanish peasant girl who becomes a famous prima donna after being deserted by nobleman Cortez, whose life is ruled by his mother. A still entertaining tale of lost love, based on a Blasco-Ibanez novel.

Torrents of Spring (1990-Italian-French) C-101m. ½ D: Jerzy Skolimowski. Timothy Hutton, Natassja Kinski, Valeria Golino, William Forsythe, Urbano Barberini, Francesca De Sapio, Jacques Herlin. No disgrace, but an almost inevitably stilted film version of an Ivan Turgenev story. Russian Hutton (!), engaged to German Golino, gets roving glands for married Kinski, who's negotiating to purchase his estate. Nicely shot (with a good dupe scene), but Hutton's regal bearing falls apart whenever he's asked to open his mouth. [PG-13] ▼●●

Torrid Zone (1940) 88m. ½ D: William Keighley. James Cagney, Ann Sheridan, Pat O'Brien, Andy Devine, Helen Vinson, Jerome Cowan, George Tobias, George Reeves. South-of-the-border comedy, action and romance with nightclub star Sheridan helping plantation owner O'Brien keep Cagney from leaving. Zesty dialogue (scripted by Richard Macaulay and Jerry Wald) in this variation on THE FRONT PAGE. ●●

Torso (1974-Italian) C-90m. ½ D: Sergio Martino. Suzy Kendall, Tina Aumont, John Richardson, Luc Merenda. A killer is carving up beautiful co-eds in this bloody potboiler. [R] ▼

Tortilla Flat (1942) 105m.  D: Victor Fleming. Spencer Tracy, Hedy Lamarr, John Garfield, Frank Morgan, Akim Tamiroff, Sheldon Leonard, Donald Meek, John Qualen, Allen Jenkins. Steinbeck's salty novel of California fishing community vividly portrayed by three top stars, stolen by Morgan as devoted dog lover. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Tortilla Heaven (2007) C-94m. ½ D: Judy Hecht Dumontet. José Zúñiga, Miguel Sandoval, Olivia Hussey, Elpidia Carrillo, Alexis Cruz, Judy Herrera, Marcelo Tubert, Irene Bedard, Lupe Ontiveros, Del Zamora, George Lopez. Isidor (Zúñiga) makes the best tortillas in Falfurrrias, New Mexico, population 73. Then one day the image of Jesus miraculously appears on one of his tortillas. Anemic farce goes nowhere . . . and takes a long time getting there. [PG-13]

Tortilla Soup (2001) C-110m.  D: María Ripoll. Hector Elizondo, Jacqueline Obradors, Tamara Mello, Nikolai Kinski, Joel Joan, Paul Rodriguez, Elizabeth Peña, Raquel Welch, Constance Marie. Engaging remake of EAT DRINK MAN WOMAN reset in L.A., with Elizondo as a stern but loving patriarch with three quite different daughters—and a penchant for communicating through cooking. Good cast makes the most of the material; Peña is especially good as a schoolteacher who blossoms as she falls in love. [PG-13] ▼

Torture Chamber of Baron Blood, The SEE: Baron Blood

Torture Chamber of Dr. Sadism, The (1967-German) C-90m. ½ D: Harald Reinl. Christopher Lee, Lex Barker, Karin Dor, Carl Lange, Vladimir Medar. A resurrected Lee seeks revenge on Barker and Dor; after luring them to his castle they are mentally and physically tortured. Based on Poe's Pit and the Pendulum. Atmospheric, but not for the squeamish. Aka THE BLOOD DEMON and CASTLE OF THE WALKING DEAD (running 75m.). Techniscope. ▼

Torture Garden (1967-British) C-93m. ½ D: Freddie Francis. Jack Palance, Burgess Meredith, Beverly Adams, Peter Cushing, Barbara Ewing, Michael Bryant, Maurice Denham. Anthology horror film revolving around sideshow weirdo Dr. Diabolo (Meredith) with power to let curious visitors see and experience their near-future. Good cast and production, but stories uneven; first and last tales best. Written by Robert Bloch. ▼

Torture Zone SEE: Fear Chamber, The To Sir, With Love (1967-British) C-105m. ½ D: James Clavell. Sidney Poitier, Judy Geeson, Christian Roberts, Suzy Kendall, Faith Brook, Geoffrey Bayldon, Patricia Routledge, Adrienne Posta, Lulu,

Michael Des Barres. Excellent film of novice teacher Poitier assigned to roughhouse London school, gradually earning respect from his students. Well acted, with nice work by British newcomers; Lulu also sings hit title song. Written and produced by Clavell, from E. R. Braithwaite's novel. Followed by a made-for-TV sequel in 1996. ▼●●

To Sleep With Anger (1990) C-102m.

 D: Charles Burnett. Danny Glover, Paul Butler, Mary Alice, Carl Lumbly, Vonetta McGee, Richard Brooks, Sheryl Lee Ralph, Ethel Ayler, Julius Harris, Sy Richardson, Jimmy Witherspoon. Evocative domestic drama about the effect storyteller/trickster Glover has on the various members of a black family. More than just a portrait of contemporary black society, it's a story of cultural differences between parents and children, of how individuals learn (or don't learn) from experience, and of how there should be no place for those who cause violence and strife. Scripted by Burnett; coexecutive produced by Glover. Screen couple Lumbly and McGee are also married in real life. [PG] ▼●●

Total Eclipse (1995-U.S.-French) C-110m.

BOMB D: Agnieszka Holland. Leonardo DiCaprio, David Thewlis, Romane Bohringer, Dominique Blanc, Felicie Pasotti Cabarbaye, Nita Klein, James Thierree, Christopher Hampton. Really bad film about 19th-century French poets Arthur Rimbaud (DiCaprio) and Paul Verlaine (Thewlis) plays like a homosexual version of AMADEUS. Well intentioned and based on fact, but just awful. Hampton adapted the script from his own play. Pick up a couple of poetry books instead. [R] ▼●●

Totally Fed Up (1993) C-85m. ½ D:

Gregg Araki. James Duval, Roko Belic, Susan Behshid, Jenee Gill, Gilbert Luna, Lance May, Alan Boyce, Craig Gilmore. Jarring, Godardian portrait of a group of bored, alienated L.A. teens. They hang out and talk about sex, relationships, and their parents; their language is littered with such words as "grossomatic" and "gagorama." And . . . they're gay, so there is no shortage of venom vented against homophobia. Not bad, but still a come-down from Araki's breakthrough film, THE LIVING END. Araki also scripted, edited, photographed and coproduced. ▼●

Total Recall (1990) C-109m.  D:

Paul Verhoeven. Arnold Schwarzenegger, Rachel Ticotin, Sharon Stone, Ronny Cox, Michael Ironside, Marshall Bell, Mel Johnson, Jr. Schwarzenegger learns he's a victim of mind-tampering in this 21st-century tale—and once he discovers his true identity, journeys to Mars to help fight a power-hungry madman there. Riveting yarn (based on Philip K. Dick's short story "We Can Remember It for You Wholesale") offers endless twists and intriguing ideas . . . and the kind of over-the-top violence for which director Verhoeven is known. Dazzling, Oscar-winning special effects throughout. Later "inspired" a cable TV series. [R] ▼●●

To the Devil—A Daughter (1976-British-

German) C-95m. ½ D: Peter Sykes. Richard Widmark, Christopher Lee, Honor Blackman, Denholm Elliott, Nastassja Kinski, Michael Goodliffe. Occult novelist Widmark is enlisted to help young girl (Kinski) who's being pursued by defrocked priest Lee for satanic ritual. Hammer Films adaptation of Dennis Wheatley book is well made but lacks punch. Aka CHILD OF SATAN. [R] ▼●

To the Ends of the Earth (1948) 109m.

½ D: Robert Stevenson. Dick Powell, Signe Hasso, Ludwig Donath, Vladimir Sokoloff, Edgar Barrier. Fast-moving thriller of government agent tracking down narcotics smuggling ring has good acting and ironic ending.

To the Victor (1948) 100m. ½ D: Delmer

Daves. Dennis Morgan, Viveca Lindfors, Victor Francen, Eduardo Ciannelli, Anthony Caruso, Tom D'Andrea, William Conrad, Dorothy Malone, Joseph Buloff, Bruce Bennett. Thought-provoking post-WW2 drama about an apolitical black marketer (Morgan) who becomes involved with a mystery woman (Lindfors) whose life is in danger. Richard Brooks' script attempts to deal with issues relating to war, peace, morality, and responsibility, but too many dull stretches do this in. Strikingly photographed on location in Paris and especially at Normandy's Omaha Beach.

Toto the Hero (1991-Belgian-French-German) C-90m.  D: Jaco van Dormael. Michel Bouquet, Mireille Perrier, Jo De Backer, Gisela Uhlen, Peter Bohlke, Thomas Godet, Sandrine Blancke. Original, immensely clever journey through the life of a character named Thomas, who is shown (through constant cross-cutting) as a child, adult, and elderly man. The young boy imagines that he'll grow up to be Toto the Hero, a secret agent; instead, he'll have to cope with his ultimate ordinariness, his memories, and his dreams. A unique blend of comedy, tragedy, and mystery, especially notable for its discerning—and unflinching—look at childhood. Writer-director van Dormael, a former circus clown, makes his feature directing debut. [PG-13] ▼●●

To Trap a Spy (1966) C-92m. ½ D: Don

Medford. Robert Vaughn, Luciana Paluzzi, Patricia Crowley, Fritz Weaver, William Marshall, Ivan Dixon, David McCallum. Adequate action/spy yarn, expanded from initial segment of The Man From U.N.C.L.E. TV series, with Napoleon Solo (Vaughn) attempting to thwart the assassination of an African head of state. McCallum, Vaughn's costar on the show, only appears briefly.

Touch, The (1971-U.S.-Swedish) C-112m. *½ D: Ingmar Bergman. Elliott Gould, Bibi Andersson, Max von Sydow, Sheila Reid. Bergman's first English-language film should be called THE TETCHED, in view of the fact that Andersson leaves doctor-husband von Sydow for boorish Gould. The two Bergman regulars are fine, but Gould is miscast and dialogue embarrassingly awkward. [R]▼

Touch (1997) C-96m. ½ D: Paul Schrader. Bridget Fonda, Christopher Walken, Skeet Ulrich, Tom Arnold, Gina Gershon, Lolita Davidovich, Paul Mazursky, Janeane Garofalo, John Doe, Conchata Ferrell, Mason Adams, Anthony Zerbe, LL Cool J, Tamlyn Tomita, Don Novello. Satirical fable about a young ex-monk who has the ability to effect miracle healings—while suffering stigmata: bleeding as Christ did on the cross. This causes no small furor among exploiters like Walken and fanatics like Arnold. Interesting and well cast (with Arnold a standout as the religious zealot), but awfully subdued; it's a film that leaves you wanting. Based on an Elmore Leonard novel, scripted by Schrader. [R]▼●●

Touchables, The (1968-British) C-97m. BOMB D: Robert Freeman. Judy Huxtable, Esther Anderson, Marilyn Richard, Kathy Simmonds. Dreary tale of four girls and a guy who try to kidnap pop singing idol. Terrible. [PG—edited from original R rating]

Touch and Die (1991) C-108m. BOMB D: Piernico Solinas. Renee Estevez, Martin Sheen, David Birney, Franco Nero. The Rome bureau chief of an American newspaper finds lots of bodies with their hands chopped off as he follows the trail of plutonium thieves. Sheen tries to keep real-life daughter Estevez locked in her hotel room, to keep her out of trouble (and off-screen), which may be a wise choice. Extremely confusing globe-trotting thriller. [R]▼

Touch and Go (1980-Australian) C-92m.  D: Peter Maxwell. Wendy Hughes, Chantal Contouri, Carmen Duncan, Jeanie Drynan, Liddy Clark. Sexy female Robin Hoods steal for worthy causes. A well-meaning comedy-caper film that is slight and forgettable. ▼

Touch and Go (1986) C-101m. ½ D: Robert Mandel. Michael Keaton, Maria Conchita Alonso, Ajay Naidu, Maria Tucci, Max Wright, Jere Burns, Lara Jill Miller. Self-centered hockey star becomes involved with delinquent kid and his mother. Aptly titled film has persuasive performances but unconvincing storyline. [R]▼●

Touched (1983) C-93m.  D: John Flynn. Robert Hays, Kathleen Beller, Ned Beatty, Gilbert Lewis, Lyle Kessler. Uninspired, poorly scripted latter-day DAVID AND LISA with Hays and Beller escaping from mental institution and trying to build a

“normal” life for themselves. Good performances, anyway. [R]▼

Touched by Love (1980) C-95m. ½ D: Gus Trikonis. Deborah Raffin, Diane Lane, Michael Learned, Cristina Raines, Mary Wickes, Clu Gulager, John Amos, Clive Shalom. Sentimental drama, based on nursing trainee Lena Canada's memoir, of cerebral palsy victim's pen-pal relationship with Elvis Presley. Fine performances by Lane and Raffin. Originally titled TO ELVIS, WITH LOVE. [PG]▼

Touchez Pas au Grisbi (1954-French) 94m. ½ D: Jacques Becker. Jean Gabin, René Dary, Jeanne Moreau, Dora Doll, Gaby Basset, Denise Clair, Michel Jourdan, Daniel Cauchy, Lino Ventura. An elegant French gangster who's pulled off a daring heist forsakes his plan to keep the loot under wraps in order to save the life of his impetuous best friend. As much an observation about a certain way of life as it is a crime thriller; unpretentious and skillfully made, with a typically commanding performance by the incomparable Gabin. Aka GRISBI. ▼●

Touching the Void (2003-British) C-106m.  D: Kevin Macdonald. Nicholas Aaron, Richard Hawking, Brendan Mackey, Joe Simpson, Simon Yates. Amazing docudrama of two climbers and their perilous journey up the Siula Grande peak in the Peruvian Andes in 1985. After reaching the top they are separated upon descent; one is left for dead by his partner but miraculously survives to tell the tale. Using actors and bridging techniques of fictional action pictures, film cuts between interviews with survivors Simpson and Yates and highly accomplished re-creations to present a real-life story that has every bit of suspense, adventure, and drama any Hollywood production could aspire to. Based on the book by Simpson. ▼●

Touch of Class, A (1973) C-105m.  D: Melvin Frank. George Segal, Glenda Jackson, Paul Sorvino, Hildegard Neil, Cec Linder, K Callan, Mary Barclay. Undeniable chemistry of Segal and Jackson can only occasionally breathe life into this stale comedy about married man who intends nothing more than having a carefree affair, only to fall genuinely in love. Jackson won Best Actress Oscar. Panavision. [PG]▼●

Touch of Evil (1958) 108m. * D: Orson Welles. Charlton Heston, Orson Welles, Janet Leigh, Joseph Calleia, Akim Tamiroff, Marlene Dietrich, Dennis Weaver, Valentin de Vargas, Mort Mills, Victor Milian, Joanna Moore, Zsa Zsa Gabor. Narc Heston and corrupt cop Welles tangle over murder investigation in sleazy Mexican border town, with Heston's bride Leigh the pawn of their struggle. Fantastic, justifiably famous opening shot merely commences stylistic masterpiece, dazzlingly photographed by Russell Metty. Great Latin rock score by Henry Mancini; neat unbilled cameos by Joseph Cotten, Ray Collins, and especially Mercedes McCambridge. Reconstructed according to Welles' notes in 1998, at 111m. Beware 95m. version. ▼●●

Touch of Pink (2004-Canadian-British) C-91m.  D: Ian Iqbal Rashid. Jimi Mistry, Kyle MacLachlan, Kristen Holden-Reid, Suleka Mathew, Brian George, Veena Sood, Raoul Bhaneja. Strained attempt to re-create the fluffy style of an early-'60s bedroom comedy that might have starred Cary Grant and Doris Day (like, say, THAT TOUCH OF MINK). The twist is that the leading man is gay, a fact he is trying to hide from his visiting mother, a devout Muslim who tries to set him up with a girl in time to attend a big family wedding. What's more, the ghost of Cary Grant appears to offer advice on life and love to our hapless hero. MacLachlan tries his best, but his impression of the peerless Grant just doesn't cut it, and neither does this well-meaning film. [R] ▼

Tough Enough (1983) C-106m.  D: Richard Fleischer. Dennis Quaid, Carlene Watkins, Stan Shaw, Pam Grier, Warren Oates, Bruce McGill, Wilford Brimley, Fran Ryan. Numerous problems plagued production of this predictable tale of would-be Country-Western singer Quaid entering Tough Man amateur boxing competitions for exposure. Inspired ROCKY rip-off wastes good cast. Shot in 1981. [PG] ▼

Tough Guys (1986) C-104m. ½ D: Jeff Kanew. Burt Lancaster, Kirk Douglas, Charles Durning, Alexis Smith, Dana Carvey, Darlaine Flugel, Eli Wallach, Monty Ash, Billy Barty. A couple of former crooks—who staged America's last train robbery 30 years ago—are finally sprung from prison and gamely try to adjust to 1980s life. Watching Burt and Kirk (in this tailor-made comedy) is a joy, but the film gets more childish and predictable as it goes along. Still watchable but what a shame! Panavision. [PG] ▼●

Tough Guys Don't Dance (1987) C-110m. ½ D: Norman Mailer. Ryan O'Neal, Isabella Rossellini, Debra Sandlund, Wings Hauser, Lawrence Tierney, Penn Jillette, Frances Fisher, John Bedford Lloyd, Clarence Williams III. Genuinely odd film noir cum black-comedy adapted by Mailer from his own novel, with O'Neal as a loser who may have committed murder—but can't remember. Peopled exclusively by weird characters who speak in purple prose . . . but it does have its moments, and a lively performance by Tierney as O'Neal's nonsensical father who wants to "deep-six the heads." Filmed in Provincetown, Massachusetts. [R] ▼●●

Tourist Trap (1979) C-85m. *½ D: David Schmoeller. Chuck Connors, Jon Van Ness, Jocelyn Jones, Robin Sherwood, Tanya Roberts, Keith McDermott. Here's an original idea for a horror movie: those life-size

dummies in Connors' "museum" are strangely lifelike, aren't they? Not so much that the idiots he lures there ever catch on. A couple of genuine scares, but mostly boring thriller. [PG] ▼●●

Tous les Matins du Monde (1991-French) C-114m. ½ D: Alain Corneau. Jean-Pierre Marielle, Gérard Depardieu, Anne Brochet, Guillaume Depardieu, Caroline Sihol, Carole Richert, Myriam Boyer, Michel Bouquet. Exquisitely detailed historical biography examining the relationship between Sainte Colombe (Marielle), the obsessive, almost mystical 17th-century baroque composer and cellist, and his protégé, Marin Marais (Gérard Depardieu), a man of far less elevated artistic aspirations, who was a celebrated court composer at Versailles. Both stars are excellent, with Depardieu's son Guillaume effectively playing the young Marin Marais. Exemplary use of music on the soundtrack. Screenplay by the director and Pascal Quignard, based on the latter's novel. A smash hit in France, where it won seven César awards. Video title: ALL THE MORNINGS OF THE WORLD. ▼●●

Tovarich (1937) 98m.  D: Anatole Litvak. Claudette Colbert, Charles Boyer, Basil Rathbone, Anita Louise, Melville Cooper, Isabel Jeans, Morris Carnovsky. Boyer and Colbert, royal Russians, flee the Revolution with court treasury but nothing for themselves; they're finally reduced to working as servants. Enjoyable but dated romantic comedy set in Paris. Based on a French play Americanized by Robert E. Sherwood.

To Walk With Lions (1999-Canadian-British-Kenyan) C-108m. ½ D: Carl Schultz. Richard Harris, John Michie, Kerry Fox, Ian Bannen, Hugh Quarshie, Honor Blackman, Geraldine Chaplin. Fact-based account of Tony Fitzjohn, an aimless young man who becomes the protégé of George Adamson (a perfectly cast Harris), the fiercely dedicated "lion man" who teaches lions born in captivity how to survive in the wild. Some of the supporting characters are underwritten, and the scenes in which the humans and lions interact are pasted together, but the film is engaging when exploring Adamson's spiritual connection to the animals. This BORN FREE follow-up did not earn a U.S. theatrical release. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Toward the Unknown (1956) C-115m. ½ D: Mervyn LeRoy. William Holden, Lloyd Nolan, Virginia Leith, Charles McGraw, James Garner, Murray Hamilton, L.Q. Jones, Paul Fix, Karen Steele. Intelligent narrative about test pilots, focusing on a tarnished air officer (Holden) eager to regain the respect of his men. Garner's film debut.

Towelhead (2008) C-124m.  D: Alan

Ball. Aaron Eckhart, Toni Collette, Maria Bello, Peter Macdissi, Summer Bishil, Eugene Jones, Matt Letscher, Chase Ellison. A 13-year-old girl leaves her mercurial mother to live with her uptight, culturally conflicted Lebanese father in the suburbs of Houston, Texas. Exploring her newfound sexuality, the girl flirts with danger at every turn, inciting and inviting the attentions of next-door neighbor Eckhart. Provocative, darkly funny adult fare, intended to shock and amuse in equal measure, explores sexual abuse, cultural stereotypes, and adolescent angst, yet somehow avoids being exploitive. Bishil is perfect in a remarkable film debut. Alicia Erian's novel was adapted by first-time director Ball (who wrote AMERICAN BEAUTY). Super 35. [R]▼

Towering Inferno, The (1974) C-165m. ½ D: John Guillermin, Irwin Allen. Steve McQueen, Paul Newman, William Holden, Faye Dunaway, Fred Astaire, Susan Blakely, Richard Chamberlain, Jennifer Jones, O. J. Simpson, Robert Vaughn, Robert Wagner, Susan Flannery, Gregory Sierra, Dabney Coleman. All-star idiocy about a burning skyscraper. Purports to pay tribute to firemen but spends most of its time devising grisly ways for people to die. The pyrotechnics are gripping, but the movie is just another cold-blooded Hollywood "product." Oscar-winner for Cinematography, Editing and Song ("We May Never Love Like This Again"). Panavision. [PG]▼●

Tower of Evil SEE: Horror on Snape Island

Tower of London (1939) 92m. ½ D: Rowland V. Lee. Basil Rathbone, Boris Karloff, Barbara O'Neil, Ian Hunter, Vincent Price, Nan Grey, Leo G. Carroll, John Sutton, Miles Mander, Donnie Dunagan. Muddled historical melodrama (not a horror film, as many believe), with Rathbone as unscrupulous, power-hungry Richard III and Karloff as his dutiful executioner Mord. Court intrigue leads to uninspired battle scenes. Remade in 1962.▼

Tower of London (1962) 79m. *½ D: Roger Corman. Vincent Price, Michael Pate, Joan Freeman, Robert Brown. Remake of 1939 film has Price, who played Duke of Clarence first time around, tackling role of Richard III in a flat, papier-mâché production.▼●

Tower of Terror SEE: In the Devil's Garden

Town & Country (2001) C-104m. *½ D: Peter Chelsom. Warren Beatty, Diane Keaton, Goldie Hawn, Garry Shandling, Andie MacDowell, Nastassja Kinski, Jenna Elfman, Josh Hartnett, Charlton Heston, Marian Seldes, Katherine Towne. Two couples celebrate their long-term marriages—just as both relationships start to come apart. A train wreck of a movie that starts out as

romantic comedy, lurches into French farce, then lumbers along to a point beyond comprehension. The cast tries its best. Cowritten by Buck Henry, who appears as a divorce lawyer. Filmed mostly in 1998. [R]▼

Town Called Hell, A (1971-British-Spanish) C-95m. BOMB D: Robert Parrish. Robert Shaw, Telly Savalas, Stella Stevens, Martin Landau, Fernando Rey. A manhunt for Mexican revolutionary Shaw. The pits. Originally titled A TOWN CALLED BASTARD. Franscope. [R]▼

Town Is Quiet, The (2001-French) C-133m. ½ D: Robert Guédiguian. Ariane Ascaride, Jean-Pierre Darroussin, Gérard Meylan, Jacques Boudet, Christine Brücher, Jacques Piellier. Slow-paced, dark, but interesting tale of life in Marseilles, a working-class French city that has been better days—as have many of the inhabitants depicted here. Beautifully atmospheric and certainly realistic, film demands more than many viewers may want to give; those who like gritty human drama will probably find this a satisfying way to spend a couple of hours.▼

Town Like Alice, A (1956-British) 107m. ½ D: Jack Lee. Virginia McKenna, Peter Finch, Maureen Swanson, Vincent Ball. Taut WW2 tale, well acted, about Japanese oppression of female British POWs in Malaysia. Based on Nevil Shute's novel, later remade as TV miniseries. Retitled: RAPE OF MALAYA.▼●

Town Tamer (1965) C-89m.  D: Lesley Selander. Dana Andrews, Terry Moore, Pat O'Brien, Lon Chaney (Jr.), Bruce Cabot, Lyle Bettger, Coleen Gray, Barton MacLane, Richard Arlen, Richard Jaeckel, Sonny Tufts. As title indicates, Andrews cleans up community, and among the rubble are some veteran actors. Routine Western has minor nostalgia value, in light of the cast. Techniscope.

Town That Dreaded Sundown, The (1977) C-90m. ½ D: Charles B. Pierce. Ben Johnson, Andrew Prine, Dawn Wells, Christine Ellsworth, Charles B. Pierce. OK thriller made from true story of a hooded killer who terrorized town of Texarkana in the mid-'40s. Ben Johnson's presence gives it some stature. Panavision. [R]▼

Town Without Pity (1961) 105m. ½ D: Gottfried Reinhardt. Kirk Douglas, E. G. Marshall, Christine Kaufmann, Robert Blake, Richard Jaeckel, Frank Sutton, Barbara Ruttig. Courtroom drama of G.I.s accused of raping German girl. Decent cast, but could have been better handled. Title song, sung by Gene Pitney, was a big hit. Filmed in Germany.▼

To Wong Foo, Thanks For Everything, Julie Newmar (1995) C-108m. *½ D: Beeban Kidron. Patrick Swayze, Wesley Snipes, John Leguizamo, Stockard Channing, Arliss Howard, Chris Penn, Melinda Dillon, Blythe Danner, Beth Grant, RuPaul,

Naomi Campbell, Quentin Crisp, Julie Newmar. Incredibly tiresome tale of three self-proclaimed drag queens heading for Hollywood whose car breaks down in a small rural town. There they befriend—and enliven—the local female population. Robin Williams appears in one scene, unbilled, and provides easily the film's funniest moments. [PG-13]▼●●

Toxic Avenger, The (1985) C-100m. ½ D: Michael Herz, Samuel Weil. Andree Maranda, Mitchell Cohen, Jennifer Baptist, Cindy Manion, Robert Prichard, Mark Torgi, Marisa Tomei. Funny spoof about 90-pound weakling Torgi, who is transformed into a monster who only does good deeds. Not without violence and gore but still entertaining; recommended mostly for fans of the genre. Followed by three sequels. [R]▼●●

Toy, The (1982) C-99m. ½ D: Richard Donner. Richard Pryor, Jackie Gleason, Scott Schwartz, Teresa Ganzel, Ned Beatty, Wilfrid Hyde-White, Annazette Chase. Stultifying remake of the Pierre Richard comedy LE JOUET with Pryor as penniless writer hired by zillionaire Gleason as plaything for spoiled son Schwartz. A few good gags are lost in a sea of you-can't-buy-friends-you-gotta-earn-them lectures, not to mention dubious taste. [PG]▼●●

Toys (1992) C-121m. ½ D: Barry Levinson. Robin Williams, Michael Gambon, Joan Cusack, Robin Wright, LL Cool J, Donald O'Connor, Arthur Malet, Jack Warden, Debi Mazar, Jamie Foxx, Blake Clark, Art Metrano, Yeadley Smith. Appallingly bad movie about one man's lifelong dream—a whimsical toy factory—turned into a nightmare by his brother, a military martinet with outsized ambitions. This was director-cowriter Levinson's longtime pet project! Aside from Ferdinando Scarfotti's ingenious production design (worth seeing at least for a few minutes) and some sweet moments at the outset, this is a heavy-handed mess. [PG-13]▼●●

Toys in the Attic (1963) 90m. ½ D: George Roy Hill. Dean Martin, Geraldine Page, Yvette Mimieux, Wendy Hiller, Gene Tierney, Larry Gates, Nan Martin. Timid adaptation (by James Poe) of Lillian Hellman play about man returning home to New Orleans with childlike bride; Page and Hiller are Martin's overprotective sisters. Panavision.▼

Toy Soldiers (1984) C-91m.  D: David Fisher. Jason Miller, Cleavon Little, Rodolfo De Anda, Terri Garber, Tracy Scoggins, Willard Pugh, Mary Beth Evans, Tim Robbins. Fast-paced but forgettable adventure has a plot resembling HIGH RISK (which also starred Little): Miller and Little help kids rescue their young friends from captivity in rebellion-torn Latin American nation. [R]▼●

Toy Soldiers (1991) C-112m. ½ D: Daniel Petrie, Jr. Sean Astin, Wil Wheaton, Keith Coogan, Andrew Divoff, Louis Gossett, Jr., Denholm Elliott, T. E. Russell, George Perez, Mason Adams, R. Lee Ermey, Tracy Brooks Swope. Prep school populated by wealthy misfit kids is taken over by Colombian terrorists—who haven't counted on the youngsters' ingenuity or determination. Mindless movie takes a seemingly idiotic premise and makes it entertaining, with likable kids and Gibraltar-like Gossett as their father-figure dean. Jerry Orbach appears unbilled. [R]▼●●

Toy Story (1995) C-80m.  D: John Lasseter. Voices of Tom Hanks, Tim Allen, Don Rickles, Jim Varney, Wallace Shawn, John Ratzenberger, Annie Potts, John Morris, Erik Von Detten, Laurie Metcalf, R. Lee Ermey. A boy's favorite toy, a cowboy doll named Woody, feels threatened (and rightly so) by the arrival of a new birthday present, a high-tech spaceman model advertised on TV. Clever, incredible-looking animated film, produced entirely on computer. A grownup story masquerading as a kid's film, this story of friendship, fickleness, and the need for acceptance features a colorful cast of characters led by Woody and his rival, Buzz Lightyear. The "acting" of the two leads—their facial expressions and body language—is as good as anything ever seen in a conventional animated cartoon. Presented by Disney, but produced by the innovative Pixar studio. Director Lasseter received a special Oscar for this animation milestone. Followed by a sequel. [G]▼●●

Toy Story 2 (1999) C-92m. ½ D: John Lasseter. Voices of Tom Hanks, Tim Allen, Joan Cusack, Kelsey Grammer, Don Rickles, Jim Varney, Wallace Shawn, John Ratzenberger, Annie Potts, Wayne Knight, John Morris, Laurie Metcalf, Estelle Harris, R. Lee Ermey, Jodi Benson. One of the few sequels to live up to—and top—the original: a clever and engaging tale of cowboy doll Woody falling into the hands of a sleazy toy dealer. Shows the relationship of toys and their owners in a canny but heartwarming way, with great gags, a heart-rending song, "When She Loved Me" by Randy Newman (sung by Sarah MacLachlan), and spectacular staging by the computer-animation folks at Pixar. Followed by a Buzz Lightyear TV series and video feature. [G]▼●

Toy Tiger (1956) C-88m. ½ D: Jerry Hopper. Jeff Chandler, Laraine Day, Tim Hovey, Cecil Kellaway, Richard Haydn, David Janssen. Pleasant remake of MAD ABOUT MUSIC with Hovey "adopting" Chandler as his father to back up tales to school chums about a real dad.

Traces of Red (1992) C-105m. ½ D: Andy Wolk. James Belushi, Lorraine Bracco, Tony Goldwyn, William Russ, Michelle

Joyner, Joe Lisi. Tawdry/silly West Palm Beach melodrama with so many suspects that its red herring line has been expanded to include blush, burgundy, and mauve. Belushi and Goldwyn are cops all but tripping over the female corpses, with Bracco a rich widow in an array of unflattering fashions. Narrated by Belushi's corpse à la SUNSET BLVD., but sorely missing anything resembling Billy Wilder's touch. [R]▼●●

Trackdown (1976) C-98m. ½ D: Richard T. Heffron. Jim Mitchum, Karen Lamm, Anne Archer, Erik Estrada, Cathy Lee Crosby, Vince Cannon. Montana rancher Mitchum comes to L.A. in search of his runaway sister, who's fallen into seamy street life. Not much depth but lots of action. [R]

Track of the Cat (1954) C-102m.  D: William Wellman. Robert Mitchum, Teresa Wright, Tab Hunter, Diana Lynn, Beulah Bondi, Philip Tonge, William Hopper, Carl (Alfalfa) Switzer. Tennessee Williams meets American Gothic in this unusually harsh drama about a household filled with bitterness, regret, and envy, and how the hunt for a killer cougar changes the dynamics of the family. A. I. Bezzerides adapted the story by Walter Van Tilburg Clark; William Clothier's "colorless" palette and daring camera angles are the film's strongest assets.▼●

Track of the Vampire SEE: Blood Bath
Tracks (1976) C-90m. ½ D: Henry Jaglom. Dennis Hopper, Taryn Power, Dean Stockwell, Topo Swope, Michael Emil, Zack Norman. Hopper escorts dead Vietnam buddy across the country by train, eventually goes bonkers. We've seen it before and almost always in less muddled fashion. Emil's and Norman's characters later got their own feature, SITTING DUCKS.▼●●

Track 29 (1988-British) C-90m. ½ D: Nicolas Roeg. Theresa Russell, Gary Oldman, Christopher Lloyd, Colleen Camp, Sandra Bernhard, Seymour Cassel, Leon Rippy, Vance Colvig. Bizarre black comedy about a love-starved woman, her nerdy husband who's obsessed with model trains, and a stranger who claims to be her long lost son! Even allowing for the usual eccentricities of director Roeg and writer Dennis Potter, this is pretty weird and not terribly entertaining. Filmed in North Carolina. [R]▼

Trade (2007-U.S.-German) C-120m.  D: Marco Kreuzpaintner. Kevin Kline, Alicia Bachleda, Paulina Gaitan, Kathleen Gati, Pasha D. Lychnikoff, Anthony Crivello, Linda Emond, Zack Ward, Cesar Ramos, Marco Pérez, Tim Reid. A 13-year-old girl is abducted by members of a sex-trafficking ring. As her older brother follows her trail, he hooks up with a Texas cop (Kline) who has his own reasons for investigating this outfit. Downbeat drama exposes a shocking, shameful situation, but it's maddeningly uneven, one minute bold and powerful (especially with Polish actress Bachleda) and the next incredibly banal. Based on a New York Times article. Super 35. [R]●

Trader Horn (1931) 120m.  D: W. S. Van Dyke II. Harry Carey, Edwina Booth, Duncan Renaldo, Olive Golden (Carey), Mutia Omoolu, C. Aubrey Smith. Early talkie classic filmed largely in African jungles still retains plenty of excitement in tale of veteran native dealer Carey encountering tribal hostility. Remade in 1973.▼

Trader Horn (1973) C-105m. ½ D: Reza S. Badiyi. Rod Taylor, Anne Heywood, Jean Sorel, Don Knight, Ed Bernard, Stack Pierce. Laughable remake of 1931 version has Taylor famed explorer and trader of African interior, accompanied by young widow. Obvious use of stock footage and the fact that cast never leaves backlot ruin all notion of believability. [PG]

Trading Hearts (1988) C-88m. ½ D: Neil Leifer. Raul Julia, Beverly D'Angelo, Jenny Lewis, Parris Buckner. Poor baseball romance in which precocious 11-year-old Lewis tries to manipulate her mother (D'Angelo), a show-biz failure, into marriage with broken-down ballplayer Julia. Look for former N.Y.C. mayor Ed Koch in a bit as a Florida tourist; scripted by Frank DeFord, who can be seen as a bartender. [PG]▼●●

Trading Mom (1994) C-82m. ½ D: Tia Breilis. Sissy Spacek, Anna Chlumsky, Aaron Michael Metchik, Asher Metchik, Maureen Stapleton, Merritt Yohnka, Andre the Giant. Three siblings who can't stand their mother (Spacek) cast a spell which makes her—and all memory of her—disappear, then go to the Mommy Market to find a replacement mom. A flat and lifeless tale with poor production values. Spacek has a field day as three wildly different moms, but a couple of humiliation scenes made us wince. Breilis adapted the screenplay, based on her mother's story "The Mummy Market." Filmed in 1992. [PG]▼●●

Trading Places (1983) C-116m. ½ D: John Landis. Dan Aykroyd, Eddie Murphy, Ralph Bellamy, Don Ameche, Denholm Elliott, Jamie Lee Curtis, Paul Gleason, Kristin Holby, Jim Belushi, Alfred Drake, Al Franken, Tom Davis, Bill Cobbs. Fine cast breathes life into time-worn comedy premise (remember those Three Stooges shorts?) testing heredity vs. environment by switching a "have" (preppie Aykroyd) and a "have-not" (street hustler Murphy). Murphy, in his second film, is a comic powerhouse, and makes up for director Landis' indulgences—like a subplot involving a horny gorilla. [R]▼●●

Traffic (1972-French) C-89m.  D: Jacques Tati. Jacques Tati, Maria Kimmyr, Marcel Fraival, H. Bostel, Tony Kneppers. Initially enjoyable outing with M. Hulot (Tati) trying to transport car from France to Dutch auto show bogs down in aimless side trips. Bright spots overwhelmed by general lethargy. [PG]▼●

Traffic (2000) C-147m.  D: Steven Soderbergh. Michael Douglas, Catherine Zeta-Jones, Benicio Del Toro, Don Cheadle, Luis Guzman, Dennis Quaid, Steven Bauer, Tomas Milian, Erika Christensen, Miguel Ferrer, Albert Finney, Tophér Grace, Benjamin Bratt, Amy Irving, James Brolin, Clifton Collins, Jr., D. W. Moffett, Peter Riegert, Jacob Vargas, Rena Sofer, Viola Davis. Absorbing look at U.S./Mexico drug scene from several points of view: battle-hardened cops on both sides of the border, the unsuspecting wife of a wealthy druglord, disaffected teenagers who seek escape, and the man who's just been named America's drug czar, who refuses to acknowledge the problem within his own family. Soderbergh also photographed, under a pseudonym. Salma Hayek appears unbilled. Loosely based on a British TV miniseries. Oscar winner for Best Director, Supporting Actor (Del Toro), Adapted Screenplay (Stephen Gaghan), and Film Editing (Stephen Mirrione). [R]▼●

Tragedy of a Ridiculous Man (1981-Italian) C-116m.  D: Bernardo Bertolucci. Ugo Tognazzi, Anouk Aimée, Laura Morante, Victor Cavallo, Ricardo Tognazzi. Disappointing drama about cheese manufacturer Tognazzi coping with son's alleged kidnapping by political terrorists. Bertolucci seems to be commenting on modern social and familial stresses and upheavals, but his message is incredibly muddled. [PG]▼

Tragedy of Othello: The Moor of Venice, The SEE: Othello (1952)

Trail of the Lonesome Pine, The (1936) C-99m.  D: Henry Hathaway. Sylvia Sidney, Henry Fonda, Fred MacMurray, Fred Stone, Fuzzy Knight, Beulah Bondi, Spanky McFarland, Nigel Bruce. Classic story of feuding families and changes that come about when railroad is built on their land. Still strong today, with fine performances, and Fuzzy Knight's rendition of "Melody from the Sky." First outdoor film in full Technicolor. Previously filmed in 1915.▼

Trail of the Pink Panther (1982) C-97m.  D: Blake Edwards. Peter Sellers, David Niven, Herbert Lom, Richard Mulligan, Joanna Lumley, Robert Wagner, Capucine, Robert Loggia, Harvey Korman, Burt Kwouk, Graham Stark, Peter Arne. Attempt to fashion a new Pink Panther film, despite the death of series star Sellers, using previously unseen footage and new linking material. It almost works—until the seams begin to show, as reporter Lumley seeks out people who knew Clouseau for a TV story. Lom does have a sidesplitting scene in which he tries to eulogize his long-time nemesis—and can't stop laughing. Filmed at the same time as subsequent CURSE OF THE PINK PANTHER. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Train, The (1964) 133m. * D: John Frankenheimer. Burt Lancaster, Paul Scofield, Jeanne Moreau, Michel Simon, Suzanne Flon, Wolfgang Preiss, Albert Remy. Gripping WW2 actioner of French Resistance trying to waylay train carting French art treasures to Germany. High-powered excitement all the way.▼●●

Training Day (2001) C-120m.  D: Antoine Fuqua. Denzel Washington, Ethan Hawke, Scott Glenn, Tom Berenger, Harris Yulin, Raymond J. Barry, Cliff Curtis, Dr. Dre, Snoop Dogg, Macy Gray, Eva Mendes, Nick Chinlund. Rookie cop (Hawke) is partnered with a corrupt veteran narcotics detective (Washington) and learns more than he ever wanted to know about the mean streets of L.A. Starts off strongly, then gets dumber and dumber, abandoning credibility for melodrama, coincidences, and a cartoonlike climax. Redeemed partially by Washington's magnetic, Oscar-winning performance. Claimont-Scope. [R]▼●

Train of Life (1998-French-Belgian-Dutch) C-103m.  D: Radu Mihaileanu. Lionel Abelanski, Rufus, Clement Harari, Marie-Jose Nat, Agathe de la Fontaine. Energetic fable set in 1941, in which the inhabitants of a small Central European Jewish village, all too aware of their imminent demise, plot to foil the Nazis by staging their own deportation to Russia. Comedic and dramatic elements occasionally clash, and some of the subplots are inconsequential, but it still works. Released in the U.S. after LIFE IS BEAUTIFUL and JAKOB THE LIAR, but this was actually the first to go into production. Widescreen. [R]▼

Train Robbers, The (1973) C-92m. ½ D: Burt Kennedy. John Wayne, Ann-Margret, Rod Taylor, Ben Johnson, Christopher George, Ricardo Montalban, Bobby Vinton, Jerry Gatlin. Interesting little chamber-Western, reminiscent of Kennedy's early Randolph Scott scripts. Outlaw's widow hires Wayne and his pals to locate buried gold so she can return it and clear family name. Low-key film emphasizes character instead of action; relaxed performances, twist ending. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Trainspotting (1996-British) C-94m.  D: Danny Boyle. Ewan McGregor, Ewen Bremner, Jonny Lee Miller, Kevin McKidd, Robert Carlyle, Kelly Macdonald. Fascinating look at the drug underground in Edinburgh, Scotland, as seen through the eyes of McGregor, who's part of that world but still somehow able to distance himself from his friends' bizarre behavior. Alternately hilarious and harrowing, with some startling surrealistic moments, this was an enormous hit in the U.K. but suffered some backlash in the U.S. for its supposed condoning of drugs—which is simply not true. Adapted by John Hodge from Irvine Welsh's novel. [R]▼●●

Traitor (2008) C-114m. ½ D: Jeffrey Nachmanoff. Don Cheadle, Guy Pearce, Neal McDonough, Said Taghmaoui, Jeff Daniels, Alyy Khan, Archie Panjabi, Lorenna Gale. Is he or is he not a traitor to his country? Witnessing a life-altering terrorist act in his youth makes Cheadle prime turncoat material and the FBI continuously dogs his tail in an effort to find out. Straightforward espionage drama attempts to seriously explore religious fervor as it applies to acts of terrorism and suicide bombers. Documentary style makes it intelligent and realistic but not terrifically entertaining. Nachmanoff's screenplay is based on a story he cowrote with Steve Martin. Super 35. [PG-13]●

Trampers, The (1966-Italian) C-105m.  D: Albert Band. Joseph Cotten, Gordon Scott, James Mitchum, Ilaria Occhini, Franco Nero. Foreign-made Western set in post-Civil War South, with Cotten the domineering father; all just an excuse for gunplay. Aka SHOWDOWN.▼

Tramp, Tramp, Tramp (1926) 62m. ½ D: Harry Edwards. Harry Langdon, Joan Crawford, Edwards Davis, Carlton Griffin, Alec B. Francis, Brooks Benedict, Tom Murray. Langdon made his feature debut in this tale of a hobo who enters a cross-country walking race to raise money for his father and impress the pretty daughter (Crawford) of a shoe manufacturer. Frank Capra was one of the writers of this cute comedy featuring some impressive stunt sequences.▼●

Trancers (1985) C-76m.  D: Charles Band. Tim Thomerson, Helen Hunt, Art La Fleur, Biff Manard, Anne Seymour, Richard Herd, Richard Erdman. Comedian Thomerson is cleverly cast as a low-budget version of Harrison Ford from BLADE RUNNER, sent back in time 300 years to 1985 L. A. to inhabit the body of one of his ancestors and change history to prevent a totalitarian state from coming into power. Sci-fi satire is most amusing and visually arresting. Also known as FUTURE COP (1985). Followed by a slew of sequels. [PG-13]▼●●

Trancers II (1991) C-86m.  D: Charles Band. Tim Thomerson, Helen Hunt, Megan Ward, Biff Manard, Richard Lynch, Martine Beswick, Jeffrey Combs, Alyson Croft, Telma Hopkins, Art La Fleur, Barbara Crampton. A cop from the future whose mind wound up in our time in the first film finds that his job isn't through as more zombie-like Trancers are on the loose. What's more, he has to contend with two wives, one from the present, one from the future. Badly structured, but scrupulously faithful to a superior original. Too cheap for its ambitions. [R]▼●●

Trancers III (1992) C-83m.  D: C. Courtney Joyner. Tim Thomerson, Melanie

Smith, Andrew Robinson, Tony Pierce, Dawn Ann Billings, Helen Hunt, Megan Ward, Stephen Macht, Telma Hopkins, R. A. Mahailoff. Time travel gets a workout here: taken from 1992 to 2352, Jack Deth (Thomerson) is then sent to 2005 to destroy those pesky (and obscurely defined) Trancers at their source. The series continues to be watchable, and Robinson provides a swell villain, but the end is a mess. [R]▼●●

Transamerica (2005) C-103m.  D: Duncan Tucker. Felicity Huffman, Kevin Zegers, Fionnula Flanagan, Elizabeth Peña, Graham Greene, Burt Young, Carrie Preston. A transsexual on the verge of having final surgery to become a woman learns she has a teenage son—in a N.Y.C. jail. Without revealing her identity she bails out the young hustler, and the ultimate odd couple (she is a fussybudget, he is a disaffected kid who hides his emotions) embarks on a cross-country trip. Comedy-drama of consciousness-raising and forgiveness becomes a somewhat conventional road movie but is elevated by Huffman's astonishing, nuanced performance as Bree. Debut feature for writer-director Tucker. [R]●

Transformers, The (1986) C-86m. BOMB D: Michael Shin. Voices of Orson Welles, Robert Stack, Leonard Nimoy, Eric Idle, Judd Nelson, Lionel Stander. Obnoxious animated feature about the title good guys, who defend the universe against an evil planet (which has a voice of its own . . . provided by Orson Welles). Deafening rock score doesn't help. Little more than a feature-length toy commercial. Reworked in live action in 2007. [PG]▼●●

Transformers (2007) C-143m. ½ D: Michael Bay. Shia LaBeouf, Megan Fox, Josh Duhamel, Tyrese Gibson, Rachael Taylor, Anthony Anderson, Jon Voight, John Turturro, Michael O'Neill, Kevin Dunn, Julie White, Bernie Mac; voices of Mark Ryan, Peter Cullen, Hugo Weaving, Robert Foxworth. After buying a beat-up used car that turns into an Autobot, a nerdy teen (LaBeouf) finds himself at the center of an epic battle to save Earth from transforming alien robots—and manages to win the hottest babe in school to boot. Slambang actioner based on the popular series of toys is surprisingly well done for a summer blockbuster—by Michael Bay, no less—with dazzling special effects, though by the time the big climactic battle comes along we just don't care anymore. Supposed 11th-grader Fox looks more like a candidate for the Pussycat Dolls. Panavision. [PG-13]●

Transmutations SEE: Underworld (1985)

Transporter, The (2002-French) C-92m. ½ D: Cory Yuen. Jason Statham, Shu Qi, Francois Berléand, Matt Schulze, Ric Young. Serviceable action yarn with calm, cool Statham (in his starring debut) as a driver-for-hire who'll take anything anywhere, so long as it's on his terms. When he discovers that the "package" in his trunk is a young Asian woman, he breaks his own code and frees her, involving himself in a fierce underworld brouhaha. Some terrific chase scenes staged by Hong Kong veteran Yuen (including a finale involving trucks) highlight this no-brainer. Coproduced and cowritten by Luc Besson. Followed by two sequels. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Transporter 2 (2005-French) C-87m. * D: Louis Leterrier. Jason Statham, Alessandro Gassman, Amber Valletta, Kate Nauta, Matthew Modine, Jason Flemyng, Keith David, Hunter Clary, François Berléand. Shiny sequel about a "chauffeur" who downshifts, improvises, and kickboxes his way through Miami to rescue a little kid whose abduction sparks a more sinister plot. Bullet-headed thriller often soars with its Audis and Uzis into the half-past ludicrous, breaking speed limits and bones in spiffy action scenes by Hong Kong vet Cory Yuen (who directed the first entry). But as the bad guy dutifully reminds us, "Wit is not a requirement of the job." Coproduced and cowritten by Luc Besson. Followed by a sequel. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Transporter 3 (2008-French) C-104m. * D: Olivier Megaton. Jason Statham, Natalya Rudakova, François Berléand, Robert Knep- per, Jeroen Krabbé, Alex Kobold, David Atrakchi, Yann Sundberg. Gassed up on adrenaline, and with a bracelet bomb for cruise control, dapper driver Frank Martin delivers another package . . . this time, the abducted daughter of a beleaguered pro-environment Ukrainian statesman. Slickly lubed slot car race across Europe offers breath-holding stunt work beyond the im- possible, once again staged by Cory Yuen, but this underplotted slugfest is running on fumes. Cowritten by producer Luc Besson. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Transsiberian (2008-Spanish-British-German-Lithuanian) C-106m. ½ D: Brad Ander- son. Woody Harrelson, Emily Mortimer, Ben Kingsley, Kate Mara, Eduardo Noriega, Thomas Kretschmann. Mortimer (typically solid) and husband Harrelson have com- pleted a humanitarian mission in China when they board the Trans-Siberian Express for the long train journey to Moscow. Among the backpackers and shady charac- ters they befriend a bohemian couple (No- riega, Mara) who lead them astray in more ways than one. Stark landscapes and brutal surprises await. Uneven action-melodrama has its moments and gets a boost from Kingsley's colorful performance as a Rus- sian cop. Super 35. [R]▼

Transylvania (1985) C-94m. BOMB D: Rudy DeLuca. Jeff Goldblum, Joseph Bologna, Ed Begley, Jr., Carol Kane, Jeffrey Jones, John Byner, Geena Davis, Michael Richards, Norman Fell, Teresa Ganzel.

Tediously unfunny horror-movie spoof that wastes a lot of talent. Shot in Yugoslavia, and should have stayed there. [PG]▼●

Trap, The (1959) C-84m. ½ D: Nor- man Panama. Richard Widmark, Lee J. Cobb, Tina Louise, Earl Holliman, Carl Benton Reid, Lorne Greene. Turgid drama set in Southwest desert town, with gang- sters on the lam intimidating the few townspeople.▼

Trap, The (1966-British) C-106m.  D: Sidney Hayers. Rita Tushingham, Oliver Reed, Rex Sevenoaks, Barbara Chilcott, Linda Goranson. Fur trapper Reed, having missed annual wife auction after three win- ters in the snow, settles for orphaned mute Rita. Vivid 1890s tale, well photographed by Robert Krasker. Panavision.▼

Trapeze (1956) C-105m.  D: Carol Reed. Burt Lancaster, Tony Curtis, Gina Lollobrigida, Katy Jurado, Thomas Gomez, Johnny Puleo. Moody love triangle with a European circus background; aerialists Lan- caster and Curtis vie in the air and on the ground for Gina's attention. Nice aerial stunt- work by various big top professionals. Cinema- Scope. ▼●

Trapped (2002) C-105m. * D: Luis Man- doki. Charlize Theron, Courtney Love, Stu- art Townsend, Kevin Bacon, Pruitt Taylor Vince, Dakota Fanning, Colleen Camp. A perfect couple and their asthmatic daughter are terrorized by sleazy kidnappers: Theron is held by Bacon at home while Townsend is locked in his convention hotel room by Love. Unconvincing thriller confuses ma- nipulation with drama. [R] ▼

Trapped Ashes (2006-U.S.-Japanese- Canadian) C-104m. * D: Sean S. Cunning- ham, Joe Dante, John Gaeta, Monte Hell- man, Ken Russell. Jayce Bartok, Amelia Cooke, Lara Harris, Scott Lowell, Luke MacFarlane, Michèle-Barbara Pelletier, Tah- moh Penikett, Rachel Veltri, John Saxon, Henry Gibson, Dick Miller. A haunted house set on a studio tour mysteriously ensnares a motley group of visitors, who tell tales of personal terror to pass the time until they're released. Old-school horror anthology of four bookended vignettes is an affectionate (if highly grisly) homage to EC Comics and Amicus Studios, but its time has passed. Creepiest sight is helmer Russell in ghostly drag. [R]▼

Trapped in Paradise (1994) C-112m. * D: George Gallo. Nicolas Cage, Jon Lovitz, Dana Carvey, John Ashton, Mädchen Amick, Donald Moffat, Richard Jenkins, Florence Stanley, Angela Paton, Vic Manni, Frank Pesce, Sean McCann, Richard B. Shull. Two larcenous siblings just sprung from jail trick their ambivalent brother into joining them on a trip to the small town of Paradise, Pennsylvania, where there's a bank just waiting to be robbed. Trouble is, the townspeople are so darned nice it seems

wrong to take advantage of them . . . especially at Christmastime. Promising idea is flattened out by vaguely drawn characters and a lack of energy. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●●

Trauma (1993-U.S.-Italian) C-86m. ½ D: Dario Argento. Christopher Rydell, Asia Argento, Laura Johnson, James Russo, Brad Dourif, Frederic Forrest, Piper Laurie. Corny theatrics and campy bloodletting effectively blend in this shocker about a traumatized teen (Asia Argento, the director's daughter) and a hooded killer who is sawing off the heads of his victims. Not a typical Argento gorefest, but the filmmaker's fans shouldn't be disappointed. Unrated video version runs 106m. Technovision. [R] ▼●●

Traveling Executioner, The (1970) C-95m. *½ D: Jack Smight. Stacy Keach, Marianna Hill, Bud Cort, Graham Jarvis, James J. Sloyan. Story of a man's love for an electric chair (spiritual) and love for a woman prisoner (sexual) may or may not be intended for laughs; either way, film is dull and the usually fine Keach gives hammy performance. Panavision. [R]

Traveller (1997) C-101m. ½ D: Jack N. Green. Bill Paxton, Mark Wahlberg, Julianna Margulies, James Gammon, Luke Askew, Nikki Deloach, Danielle Wiener, Michael Shaner, Jo Ann Pflug. Laid-back look at a band of Irish-American gypsy con artists known as "travellers." Paxton takes on the son of an ousted "family" member as his protégé, teaching him various petty scams, and finds himself falling for one of his marks, bartender Margulies. Amiable and well acted, though it doesn't really add up to much. Paxton also coproduced. Directing debut for Clint Eastwood's longtime cinematographer Green. [R] ▼●●

Travelling North (1987-Australian) C-98m. ½ D: Carl Schultz. Leo McKern, Julia Blake, Henri Szeps, Graham Kennedy, Michele Fawdon, Diane Craig. Irascible retiree falls in love with a divorcee, and they move to an idyllic retirement home in North Queensland, Australia . . . but their life together is clouded almost immediately when he learns he has a serious heart condition. Fine performances highlight this simple, straightforward adaptation of David Williamson's play—which, ultimately, may be a bit too simple and straightforward. [PG-13] ▼

Travels With Anita SEE: Lovers and Liars

Travels With My Aunt (1972) C-109m. ½ D: George Cukor. Maggie Smith, Alec McCowen, Lou Gossett, Robert Stephens, Cindy Williams. Stylish adaptation of Graham Greene book about strait-laced McCowen being swept into crazy world of his aunt (Smith) who takes him all over Europe on what turns out to be shady scheme. Deliberately paced film never really gets going, leaves viewer in midair like final tossed coin. Anthony Powell earned an Oscar for his costumes. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

T. R. Baskin (1971) C-90m. ½ D: Herbert Ross. Candice Bergen, Peter Boyle, James Caan, Marcia Rodd, Erin O'Reilly, Howard Platt. Beautiful young small-town girl tries to make it in Chicago, finds problems in the big city. Wildly uneven comedy-drama has a few nice scenes, good acting by Caan in small role. Written and produced by Peter Hyams. [PG]

Treasure Island (1934) 105m. ½ D: Victor Fleming. Wallace Beery, Jackie Cooper, Lewis Stone, Lionel Barrymore, Otto Kruger, Nigel Bruce, Douglass Dumbrille. Stirring adaptation of Robert Louis Stevenson pirate yarn of 18th-century England and journey to isle of hidden bounty; Beery is a boisterous Long John Silver in fine film with top production values. Only flaw is a stiff Cooper as Jim Hawkins. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Treasure Island (1950) C-96m. ½ D: Byron Haskin. Bobby Driscoll, Robert Newton, Basil Sydney, Walter Fitzgerald, Denis O'Dea, Ralph Truman, Finlay Currie. Vivid Disney version of Robert Louis Stevenson's classic, filmed in England, with Driscoll a fine Jim Hawkins and Newton the definitive Long John Silver. Changes the novel's original ending, but who's quibbling? ▼●●

Treasure Island (1972-British) C-94m.  D: John Hough. Orson Welles, Kim Burfield, Walter Slezak, Lionel Stander. Weak retelling of classic tale finds very hammy Welles (who also coscripted) in the role of Long John Silver. [G] ▼

Treasure of Jamaica Reef, The (1974) C-96m. *½ D: Virginia Stone. Stephen Boyd, Chuck Woolery, Roosevelt Grier, David Ladd, Cheryl Stoppelmoor (Ladd). A search for gold buried deep in the Caribbean. Of interest only for the presence of Stoppelmoor/Ladd pre-Charlie's Angels. Originally titled EVIL IN THE DEEP. Todd-AO 35. [PG] ▼

Treasure of Matecumbe (1976) C-117m. ½ D: Vincent McEveety. Robert Foxworth, Joan Hackett, Peter Ustinov, Vic Morrow, Jane Wyatt, Johnny Doran, Billy "Pop" Attmore. Two boys with treasure map are aided in their quest by Foxworth, Hackett, and Ustinov . . . and pursued by bad-guy Morrow. Ustinov adds life to Disney film, but the "quest" seems endless. Filmed in the Florida Keys. [G] ▼

Treasure of San Gennaro, The (1966-Italian-German-French) C-102m.  D: Dino Risi. Nino Manfredi, Senta Berger, Harry Guardino, Claudine Auger, Totò, Mario Adorf. American Guardino and girlfriend Berger plan to rob the treasure of Naples' patron saint, San Gennaro, in typical caper film occasionally redeemed by good comic bits. Poorly dubbed. Filmed in Panoramica.

Treasure of the Amazon, The (1985-Mexican) C-104m.  D: Rene Cardona, Jr. Stuart Whitman, Emilio Fernandez, Donald Pleasence, Bradford Dillman, Ann Sidney, John Ireland, Sonia Infante. Silly adventure film has Whitman leading South American expedition to recover treasure trove of diamonds. Mucho violence. ▼●

Treasure of the Sierra Madre, The (1948) 124m. * D: John Huston. Humphrey Bogart, Walter Huston, Tim Holt, Bruce Bennett, Barton MacLane, Alfonso Bedoya. Excellent adaptation of B. Traven's tale of gold, greed, and human nature at its worst, with Bogart, Huston, and Holt as unlikely trio of prospectors. John Huston won Oscars for Best Direction and Screenplay, and his father Walter won as Best Supporting Actor. That's John as an American tourist near the beginning, and young Robert Blake selling lottery tickets. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Treasure Planet (2002) C-95m. ½ D: John Musker, Ron Clements. Voices of Joseph Gordon-Levitt, Brian Murray, David Hyde Pierce, Emma Thompson, Michael Wincott, Martin Short, Laurie Metcalf, Patrick McGoohan, Roscoe Lee Browne, Corey Burton. Entertaining, if uninspired (and somewhat cluttered) Disney cartoon version of Treasure Island in a futuristic, sci-fi setting. Jim Hawkins finds the map that leads to a distant planet where pirates hid a king's ransom, but soon learns that many people are after that treasure, including his shipmate John Silver. It's fun listening to Pierce, as an adventure-starved astrophysicist, Thompson, as a very British ship captain, and Short, as a screw-loose robot. [PG] ▼●

Tree Grows in Brooklyn, A (1945) 128m. * D: Elia Kazan. Dorothy McGuire, Joan Blondell, James Dunn, Lloyd Nolan, Peggy Ann Garner, Ted Donaldson, James Gleason, Ruth Nelson, John Alexander. Splendid, sensitive film from Betty Smith's novel about a bright young girl trying to rise above the hardships of her tenement life in turn of the century Brooklyn, New York. Perfect in every detail. Dunn won an Oscar as the father, an incurable pipe dreamer; Garner received a special Academy Award for her performance. Screenplay by Tess Slesinger and Frank Davis. An impressive Hollywood directorial debut by Kazan. Remade for TV in 1974 with Cliff Robertson and Diane Baker. ▼●

Tree of Hands SEE: Innocent Victim

Tree of Wooden Clogs, The (1978-Italian) C-185m. * D: Ermanno Olmi. Luigi Ormighi, Francesca Moriggi, Omar Brig-noli, Antonio Ferrari. A year in the life of a community of peasants in Northern Italy, just before the turn of the century. Simple, quietly beautiful epic; a work of art. ▼●●

Trees Lounge (1996) C-94m.  D: Steve Buscemi. Steve Buscemi, Mark Boone Junior, Chloë Sevigny, Michael Buscemi, Anthony LaPaglia, Elizabeth Bracco, Danny Baldwin, Carol Kane, Bronson Dudley, Debi Mazar, Michael Imperioli, Samuel L. Jackson, Seymour Cassel, Mimi Rogers, Steve Randazzo, Rockets Redglare. Colorful, credible slice-of-life set in and around a neighborhood bar in Long Island, N.Y., where a perpetual screw-up (Buscemi) interacts with various family members and fellow barflies. Impressive writing and directing debut for character actor Buscemi, who has a good eye and ear and creates a rich gallery of characters. [R] ▼●●

Trekkies (1999) C-87m.  D: Roger Ny-gard. Former Star Trek: The Next Generation star Denise Crosby conducts this slightly condescending documentary examining the Trek fan phenomenon. Many of the actors associated with Trek are interviewed, as well as many die-hard Trekkies of varying degrees of obsession. While some are clearly 'round the bend in their fixation on the show, most are shown to be very bright, and live happy, productive lives, even if pointed ears and Klingons figure prominently in them. Followed by a direct-to-video sequel in 2004. [PG] ▼●●

Trembling Before G-d (2001-Israeli-U.S.) C-84m.  D: Sandi Simcha Dubowski. Illuminating documentary exploring the sometimes difficult lives of ultra-Orthodox and Hasidic Jewish gays and lesbians. Film focuses on a number of people who struggle with both their religious and sexual identity in this cloistered world. Interesting, somewhat controversial, and quite different look at an unfamiliar facet of the Jewish experience. ▼●

Tremors (1990) C-96m.  D: Ron Underwood. Kevin Bacon, Fred Ward, Finn Carter, Michael Gross, Reba McEntire, Bobby Jacoby, Charlotte Stewart, Tony Genaros, Victor Wong. Sharp, funny, and fast-paced, this is an effective updating of 1950s monster-movie themes. Bacon and Ward, amiable handymen, lead a misfit group in a desert valley battling against giant wormlike predators that burrow through the sand. Cast is good, the music appropriate, and special effects outstanding. A small winner all around. Followed by several video sequels and a TV series. [PG-13] ▼●●

Trenchcoat (1983) C-91m.  D: Michael Tuchner. Margot Kidder, Robert Hays, Daniel Faraldo, Gila von Weitershausen, David Suchet, Ronald Lacey. Another attempt by the Disney studio to change image finds amateur mystery writer Kidder on vacation in Malta, suddenly involved in real murder and international intrigue with undercover agent Hays. Forced mystery-comedy is reminiscent of the company's juvenile outings of the '50s and '60s, but has no Shaggy Dog to redeem it. [PG]▼

Trespass (1992) C-101m.  D: Walter Hill. Bill Paxton, Ice T, William Sadler, Ice Cube, Art Evans, De'Voreaux White, Bruce A. Young, Glenn Plummer, Stoney Jackson, John Toles-Bey. Two white firemen get wind that ancient treasure is buried in a slummy building, little knowing that the structure they've invaded is headquarters for a band of very tough drug pushers. Fast, furious, culturally disreputable entertainment filmed in potent cat-and-mouse style by director Hill—his most entertaining movie in years. Executive produced and written by Bob Gale and Robert Zemeckis. [R]▼●●

Trial (1955) 105m.  D: Mark Robson. Glenn Ford, Dorothy McGuire, John Hodiak, Arthur Kennedy, Katy Jurado, Rafael Campos. Intelligent filming of Don Mankiewicz novel, scripted by the author. Courtroomer involves Mexican boy accused of murder, but actually tied in with provs. anti-Communist politics.

Trial, The (1962-French-Italian-German) 118m. ½ D: Orson Welles. Anthony Perkins, Jeanne Moreau, Romy Schneider, Elsa Martinelli, Orson Welles, Akim Tamiroff. Gripping, if a bit confusing, adaptation of Kafka novel of man in nameless country arrested for crime that is never explained to him. Not for all tastes. ▼●●

Trial and Error (1962-British) SEE: Dock Brief, The

Trial and Error (1997) C-98m.  D: Jonathan Lynn. Michael Richards, Jeff Daniels, Charlize Theron, Rip Torn, Alexandra Wentworth, Austin Pendleton, Lawrence Pressman, Max Casella. When button-down lawyer Daniels can't appear in court (because of a bachelor party hangover), his best friend, wannabe actor Richards, tries to help by taking his place . . . but when the case is ordered to proceed, Richards has to keep up the ruse. Smart, funny farce with terrific performances by the two leads and laugh-out-loud situations; Theron is adorable as the young woman who catches Daniels' eye—even though he's about to marry the boss' daughter. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●●

Trial by Combat SEE: Dirty Knight's Work

Trial by Jury (1994) C-107m. ½ D: Heywood Gould. Joanne Whalley-Kilmer, Armand Assante, Gabriel Byrne, William Hurt, Kathleen Quinlan, Margaret Whitton, Ed Lauter, Richard Portnow, Lisa Arrindell Anderson, Jack Gwaltney, Graham Jarvis, William R. Moses, Stuart Whitman. Juror Whalley is terrorized by defendant in a murder case; meanwhile, D.A. Byrne tries to size up the jurors who'll be deciding the fate of this mobster. Improbable but still watchable, with an unusual part for Hurt as a strong-arm man. David Cronenberg appears briefly as a director. Similar premise later utilized in THE JUROR. [R]▼●●

Trial of Billy Jack, The (1974) C-175m. BOMB D: Frank Laughlin. Tom Laughlin, Delores Taylor, Victor Izay, Teresa Laughlin, William Wellman, Jr., Sacheen Littlefeather. Further adventures of Mr. Peace-through-Violence prove that Laughlin is the only actor intense enough to risk a hernia from reading lines. Laughable until final, nauseating massacre scene that renders film's constant yammering about "peace" ludicrous. Panavision. [PG]▼●

Trials of Oscar Wilde, The (1960-British) C-130m.  D: Ken Hughes. Peter Finch, Yvonne Mitchell, John Fraser, Lionel Jeffries, Nigel Patrick, James Mason. Fascinating, well-acted chronicle of Oscar Wilde's libel suit against the Marquis of Queensberry and the tragic turn his life takes because of it. Finch is superb as the once brilliant wit; stylish widescreen photography by Ted Moore. Released at the same time as OSCAR WILDE with Robert Morley. Super Technirama 70. ▼

Tribute (1980-Canadian) C-121m.  D: Bob Clark. Jack Lemmon, Robby Benson, Lee Remick, Colleen Dewhurst, John Marley, Kim Cattrall, Gale Garnett. Mawkish adaptation of Bernard Slade's play about a life-of-the-party type who's dying of cancer and wants to work out a relationship with his estranged son. Badly directed, with sledgehammer approach to sentiment. Worked much better on stage (where Lemmon created the role). Scripted by Slade. [PG]▼●●

Tribute to a Bad Man (1956) C-95m.  D: Robert Wise. James Cagney, Don Dubbins, Stephen McNally, Irene Papas, Vic Morrow, Royal Dano, Lee Van Cleef. Cagney is the whole show in this Western about a resourceful, ruthless land baron using any means possible to retain his vast possessions. CinemaScope. ▼

Trick (1999) C-89m. ½ D: Jim Fall. Christian Campbell, John Paul Pitoc, Tori Spelling, Steve Hayes, Clinton Leupp, Brad Beyer, Lorri Bagley. Shy, aspiring Broadway composer meets the go-go boy of his dreams one night but can't find any place for them to be alone together in all of Manhattan. Lightweight gay comedy-romance set in N.Y.C.'s West Village is sweet but short on plot. Campbell (brother of Neve) is an appealing, boyish lead. [R]▼●

Trick Baby (1973) C-89m.  D: Larry Yust. Kiel Martin, Mel Stewart, Darryl Edwards Hayes, Beverly Ballard. Con-man who passes for white uses trickery to cash in on society. Usual black exploitation film. Retitled DOUBLE CON. [R]▼●

Trick or Treat (1986) C-97m.  D: Charles Martin Smith. Marc Price, Tony Fields, Lisa Orgolini, Doug Savant, Gene Simmons, Ozzy Osbourne. Hey kids, rock 'n' roll really is the Devil's music! Fan of

recently killed rocker conjures the dead star by playing his unreleased last album backward—but finds his hero is evil and bent on the world's destruction. Clever and well made, but story becomes terribly trite. Debuting director Smith has a cameo as a high school teacher. [R]▼

Trick or Treats (1982) C-91m. BOMB D: Gary Graver. Jackelyn Giroux, David Carradine, Carrie Snodgrass, Steve Railsback, Peter Jason, Paul Bartel. Giroux is too old to be convincing as a terrorized babysitter in this cheap horror spoof. Orson Welles is credited as consultant; Graver is better known as the cameraman Welles relied upon in his later film projects. [R]▼

Trigger Effect, The (1996) C-98m. ½ D: David Koepf. Kyle MacLachlan, Elisabeth Shue, Dermot Mulroney, Richard T. Jones, Bill Smitrovich, Michael Rooker. Maddeningly uneven apocalyptic thriller about married suburbanites and their plight in the wake of a gigantic, never-ending blackout. Intended as an examination of contemporary insensitivity and alienation, and how society might unravel in the wake of such a catastrophe, but falls apart after a solid start. The finale is especially incongruous. Feature directorial debut for screenwriter Koepf. [R]▼

Trigger Happy SEE: Mad Dog Time

Trinity Is STILL My Name! (1972-Italian) C-117m. ½ D: E. B. Clucher (Enzo Barboni). Terence Hill, Bud Spencer, Harry Carey, Jr., Jessica Dublin, Yanti Somer. Sequel to THEY CALL ME TRINITY is even funnier, as Trinity and Bambino mosey their way through a clutch of archetypal Western situations with their usual aplomb; scene in a chic French restaurant is a hoot. Later cut to 101m.; original Italian running time 124m. Aka ALL THE WAY, TRINITY. Techniscope. [G]▼

Trinity Rides Again SEE: Boot Hill

Trinity: Tracking For Trouble SEE: Knock Out Cop, The

Trio (1950-British) 88m.  D: Ken Annakin, Harold French. James Hayter, Kathleen Harrison, Anne Crawford, Nigel Patrick, Jean Simmons, Michael Rennie. Following the success of QUARTET, three more diverting Somerset Maugham stories, "The Verger," "Mr. Know-all," and "Sanatorium." All beautifully acted.▼

Trip, The (1967) C-85m.  D: Roger Corman. Peter Fonda, Susan Strasberg, Bruce Dern, Dennis Hopper, Salli Sachse, Dick Miller, Luana Anders, Michael Nader, Peter Bogdanovich. TV commercial director Fonda takes his first LSD trip. Definitely a relic of its era, with a screenplay by Jack Nicholson.▼

Triple Cross (1966-French-British) C-126m.  D: Terence Young. Christopher Plummer, Yul Brynner, Romy Schneider, Trevor Howard, Gert Frobe, Claudine

Auger. Adequate WW2 spy yarn features Plummer as real-life British safecracker Eddie Chapman, who works both sides of the fence. A bit too long.▼

Triple Echo (1973-British) C-90m.  D: Michael Apted. Glenda Jackson, Oliver Reed, Brian Deacon, Jenny Lee Wright. High-powered talent in sensitive story of transvestite in English countryside during WW2. Young Deacon, an army deserter, is persuaded by lonely farm woman Jackson to pose as her sister, then tough tank Sergeant Reed becomes involved. Retitled SOLDIER IN SKIRTS. [R]▼

Triplets of Belleville, The (2003-Canadian-Belgian-French) C-80m.  D: Sylvain Chomet. Voices of Jean-Claude Donda, Michel Robin, Monica Viegas, Michèle Caucheteux. A bicycle racer falls into the clutches of the French Mafia; it's up to his grandmother-trainer and three strange old women (once a famed singing trio in the 1930s) to rescue him. This eccentric, strikingly designed, almost dialogue-free hand-drawn animated feature is a triumph for Chomet and succeeds as an homage to Jacques Tati, Buster Keaton, and Max Fleischer (whose cartoons are evoked in the prologue, which features the song "Belleville Rendez-vous"). Droll rather than funny, and often bizarre, with a disappointing finale . . . but any film that offers caricatures of Django Reinhardt and Josephine Baker has us rooting for it. [PG-13]▼

Tripper, The (2007) C-93m. ½ D: David Arquette. David Arquette, Courteney Cox, Jaime King, Thomas Jane, Jason Mewes, Balthazar Getty, Paul Reubens, Lukas Haas, Marsha Thomason, Richmond Arquette. A group of modern-day, drug-addled hippies at a Woodstock-like music festival are stalked by a serial killer wearing a Ronald Reagan mask and his man-eating dogs (the meanest is named Nancy). Labor of love from first-time director and cowriter Arquette (who distributed it himself) looks and feels more like a grindhouse film than GRINDHOUSE, and makes up for its meandering, redundant plot with enough gore, nudity, bizarre acid-trip sequences, and political commentary to give fans of the genre a good time. [R]▼

Trippin' (1999) C-92m.  D: David Raynr (Hubbard). Deon Richmond, Maia Campbell, Donald (Adeousn) Faison, Guy Torry, Countess Vaughn, Michael Warren. Goofy teen comedy about a Walter Mitty-esque high school senior who could win his dream girl if he started taking the future seriously. Likable cast can't compensate for clichéd material and gratuitous t&a quotient. Features a pointless cameo by Naomi Campbell. [R]▼

Trip to Bountiful, The (1985) C-106m.  D: Peter Masterson. Geraldine Page, John Heard, Carlin Glynn, Richard Bradford, Rebecca De Mornay, Kevin Conroy. Leisurely, richly textured filmization of Horton Foote's 1953 television play (later done on Broadway) about a widow, living unhappily with her son and daughter-in-law, determined to make her way home to Bountiful, Texas, for one last look. Page won well-deserved Oscar for her heartbreaking performance, but entire cast is excellent. Fine filmmaking debut for stage director Masterson. [PG]▼●

Tristana (1970-French-Spanish) C-98m.

½ D: Luis Buñuel. Catherine Deneuve, Fernando Rey, Franco Nero, Jesus Fernandez, Lola Gaos, Vincent Solder. Deneuve plays a young woman who goes to live with her guardian Rey after her mother dies. He falls in love with her but faces competition from Nero. One of Buñuel's most serene, serious yet perverse studies of Catholicism, old age, death, desire, and deformity. Beautifully filmed in Toledo, Spain. Released in Europe at 105m. [PG]▼●

Tristan and Isolde (1979) SEE: Lovespell

Tristan + Isolde (2006) C-126m. ½ D: Kevin Reynolds. James Franco, Sophia Myles, Rufus Sewell, David Patrick O'Hara, Henry Cavill, JB Blanc, Jamie King, Richard Dillane. Ireland and England—they just can't get along. England's Lord Marke (Sewell, rising above the material) is betrayed by adoptive son Tristan (Franco), who sneaks off for illicit trysts with his onetime Irish rescuer and Marke-betrothed Isolde (Myles); these two youngsters just can't stop themselves. The kind of movie Hollywood could do in its sleep during the Golden Age now benefits, at least moderately, from novelty value. Franco broods too much, but Myles has regal bearing. Respectable without being exceptional in any way. Super 35. [PG-13]●

Tristram Shandy: A Cock and Bull Story

(2006-British) C-91m.  D: Michael Winterbottom. Steve Coogan, Rob Brydon, Jeremy Northam, Raymond Waring, Dylan Moran, Keeley Hawes, Kelly Macdonald, Shirley Henderson, Stephen Fry, Naomi Harris, Ian Hart, Roger Allam, Gillian Anderson, Benedict Wong, Greg Wise, Ronni Ancona. Laurence Sterne's ribald, unconventional 18th-century novel The Life and Opinions of Tristram Shandy, Gentleman is the springboard for this very funny deconstruction of a movie in production, dealing with everything from actors' egos to location liaisons. Coogan and Brydon's straight-faced rivalry bookends the film, right through the closing credits. Score makes wonderful use of classical and contemporary source music, especially Nino Rota's theme from Fellini's AMARCORD. HD 24P Widescreen. [R]●

Triumph of Love (2001-Italian-British) C-

107m.  D: Clare Peploe. Mira Sorvino, Ben Kingsley, Fiona Shaw, Jay Rodan, Ignazio Oliva, Rachael Stirling, Luis Molteni. A princess in disguise insinuates herself into the household of a philosopher who harbors tremendous resentment toward her because her father had no right to the throne. In due course, she makes the man, his handsome son, and his flighty sister all fall in love with her! Sorvino is delightful in this rendition of the 1732 play by Pierre Marivaux, but like most stage farces it doesn't really work onscreen. Peploe co-scripted with husband Bernardo Bertolucci and Marilyn Goldin. [PG-13]▼●

Triumph of the Spirit (1989) C-121m.

 D: Robert M. Young. Willem Dafoe, Edward James Olmos, Robert Loggia, Wendy Gazelle, Kelly Wolf, Costas Mandylor, Kario Salem. Hard-hitting, heartbreaking, based-on-fact account of Salamo Arouch (Dafoe), Greek-Jewish boxer who is deported with his family to Auschwitz during WW2. Sometimes too grim, but it's a story that needs to be told and remembered. Filmed on location. [R]▼●●

Triumph of the Will (1935-German) 110m.

* D: Leni Riefenstahl. Riefenstahl's infamous documentary on Hitler's 1934 Nuremberg rallies is rightly regarded as the greatest propaganda film of all time. Fascinating and (of course) frightening to see. ▼●

Triumphs of a Man Called Horse (1983-

U.S.-Mexican) C-86m. *½ D: John Hough. Richard Harris, Michael Beck, Ana De Sade, Vaughn Armstrong, Anne Seymour, Buck Taylor. Limp sequel to THE RETURN OF A MAN CALLED HORSE with Beck, as Harris' half-breed son, attempting to shelter Sioux from greedy white settlers. Fans of the two earlier HORSES will be disappointed. [PG]▼

Trixie (2000) C-116m. *½ D: Alan Rudolph. Emily Watson, Dermot Mulroney,

Nick Nolte, Nathan Lane, Brittany Murphy, Lesley Ann Warren, Will Patton, Stephen Lang. A dimwitted young woman given to malapropisms takes a job doing undercover security at a lakeside resort, where she uncovers a shady development deal involving a local bigwig (Patton) and a bombastic senator (Nolte). Seriocomic film noir is stylized to the point where it bears no relation to any recognizable reality. In other words, a fizzle. [R]▼●

Trog (1970-British) C-91m. BOMB D:

Freddie Francis. Joan Crawford, Michael Gough, Kim Braden, David Griffin, John Hamill. Missing Link discovered by anthropologist Crawford naturally gets loose and does its thing. Do yours—don't watch it. Sadly, Crawford's last film. [PG]▼●●

Trojan Eddie (1996-British-Irish) C-

105m. ½ D: Gillies Mackinnon. Richard Harris, Stephen Rea, Brendan Gleeson, Sean McGinley, Angeline Ball, Brid Brennan. Rea is a speler who can sell anything to anyone but whose life has otherwise been in shambles; he finds himself caught in the middle when the young wife of his thuggish boss (Harris) runs off with her lover (who is Eddie's assistant). Harris and Rea offer fine, understated performances in this odd, intriguing mood piece. ▼●

Trojan Horse, The (1962-Italian) C-105m.

½ D: Giorgio Ferroni. Steve Reeves, John Drew Barrymore, Hedy Vessel, Juliette Mayniel. Above-average production values and Barrymore's presence in role of Ulysses inflates rating of otherwise stale version of Homer's epic. Techniscope. ▼

Trojan Women, The (1972-Greek-U.S.) C-105m.  D: Michael Cacoyannis. Katharine Hepburn, Irene Papas, Genevieve Bujold, Vanessa Redgrave, Patrick Magee, Brian Blessed. Euripides' tragedy about the plight of the women of Troy after its army is defeated gets a surprisingly flat (albeit faithful) rendering here, although any film which brings together four such great actresses can't be totally dismissed. [PG] ▼

Troll (1986) C-86m. *½ D: John Buechler. Michael Moriarty, Shelley Hack, Noah Hathaway, Jenny Beck, Sonny Bono, June Lockhart, Anne Lockhart, Brad Hall, Julia Louis-Dreyfus. If your idea of entertainment is seeing Sonny Bono metamorphose into an apartment of foliage, this is the movie for you. Angelic tyke is possessed by a troll, who takes over her body and starts turning the neighbors into seed pods that eventually turn into new trolls. Too close to GREMLINS; some viewers may get off on hearing June Lockhart swear. Sequel: TROLL II. [PG-13] ▼

Troll in Central Park, A (1994) C-76m.

 D: Don Bluth, Gary Goldman. Voices of Dom DeLuise, Cloris Leachman, Phillip Glasser, Tawney Sunshine Glover, Hayley Mills, Jonathan Pryce, Charles Nelson Reilly. Good-hearted troll falls from favor in Troll Land and is banished to . . . N.Y.C.! There his green thumb helps beautify Central Park and the lives of those around him, including two neglected kids. Amiable and good-looking cartoon feature will appeal mainly to the small fry. DeLuise is fun in the title role. [G] ▼

Tron (1982) C-96m.  D: Steven Lisberger. Jeff Bridges, Bruce Boxleitner, David Warner, Cindy Morgan, Barnard Hughes, Dan Shor. A computer whiz is sucked inside a powerful computer, where he must fight for his life in a giant video-game competition. State-of-the-art special effects are stunning, but the story runs out of steam too soon, with only Bridges' charisma to keep it afloat. Disappointing Disney production. Super Panavision 70. [PG] ▼

Troop Beverly Hills (1989) C-105m. ½ D: Jeff Kanew. Shelley Long, Craig T. Nelson, Betty Thomas, Mary Gross, Stephanie Beacham, Audra Lindley, Edd Byrnes, Ami Foster, Jenny Lewis. Sometimes-amusing comedy about a spoiled, wealthy Beverly Hills housewife who leads her daughter's Girl Scout troop on unique outings on which everyone learns about self-esteem—and Gucci loafers. Predictable, but undemanding fun. [PG] ▼

Tropic of Cancer (1970) C-87m. ½ D: Joseph Strick. Rip Torn, James Callahan,

Ellen Burstyn, David Bauer, Laurence Ligneris, Phil Brown. Director Strick is generally more successful with Henry Miller than he's been with James Joyce, thanks to Torn's earthy portrayal of the loose-living expatriate author amidst a string of amorous adventures in '20s Paris. Slapdash but invigorating; Burstyn makes a strong impression in tiny role as Henry's wife. [X] ▼

Tropic Thunder (2008) C-106m. ½ D: Ben Stiller. Ben Stiller, Jack Black, Robert Downey, Jr., Nick Nolte, Steve Coogan, Jay Baruchel, Danny McBride, Brandon T. Jackson, Bill Hader, Brandon Soo Hoo, Matthew McConaughey, Tom Cruise. Hollywood movie troupe heads to Vietnam to make a wartime action yarn but nothing goes quite right. How could it with star and director egos running rampant and a violent drug cartel operating in their midst? Scatter-shot comedy opens with four mock trailers that are funnier than the movie itself. Black is wasted here but Downey shines in an outrageous turn as a white Aussie actor who's playing a black man—and never goes out of character. Cruise, in heavy makeup, plays a loathsome Jewish studio exec, which is good for a few laughs but (like so much else here) goes on too long. Cowritten by Stiller. Tobey Maguire and Kevin Pollak appear unbilled. Unrated version runs 121m. Super 35. [R] ▼

Tropic Zone (1953) C-94m. *½ D: Lewis R. Foster. Ronald Reagan, Rhonda Fleming, Estelita, Noah Beery (Jr.). Blah actioner set in South America with Reagan fighting the good cause to save a banana plantation from outlaws.

Trouble Along the Way (1953) 110m.

½ D: Michael Curtiz. John Wayne, Donna Reed, Charles Coburn, Sherry Jackson, Marie Windsor, Tom Tully, Leif Erickson, Chuck Connors. Unusually sentimental Wayne vehicle casts him as divorced man trying to maintain custody of his daughter (Jackson); he earns back self-respect by coaching football team for small Catholic school. ▼

Trouble at 16 SEE: Platinum High School

Trouble Bound (1993) C-89m. *½ D: Jeffrey Reiner. Michael Madsen, Patricia Arquette, Florence Stanley, Seymour Casel, Billy Bob Thornton. Ex-con Madsen and "college" girl Arquette are on the run in this Mafia mess which features gamblers, drug dealers, hit people, strippers, and a corpse who talks. The two leads save this from being a total loss. [R] ▼

Trouble Every Day (2001-French) C-89m. BOMB D: Claire Denis. Vincent Gallo, Tricia Vessey, Beatrice Dalle, Alex Descas, Florence Loiret, Nicolas Duvauchelle. So bad it's almost funny. Atrocious French concoction deals with experiments gone terribly wrong that seem to be turning "normal" people into cannibals, who give new meaning to the idea of eating after sex. One of those woebegone cinematic mistakes that make you wonder, "What were they thinking?" "Tindersticks' score and title song are so good they belong in another movie.

Trouble in Mind (1985) C-111m. ½ D: Alan Rudolph. Kris Kristofferson, Keith Carradine, Lori Singer, Genevieve Bujold, Joe Morton, Divine, George Kirby, John Considine. Highly stylized, highly individualistic melodrama set in the near future, with Kristofferson as idealistic ex-cop, fresh from a stretch in jail, who gets involved with some young innocents who've just come to the big city. Odd, unusual, with 1940s film noir feeling but so determinedly vague and unreal that it also comes off rather cold. Still, it's an eyeful, and recommended for fans of the offbeat and Rudolph in particular. Title song sung by Marianne Faithful. [R] ▼●

Trouble in Paradise (1932) 83m. * D: Ernst Lubitsch. Miriam Hopkins, Kay Francis, Herbert Marshall, Charlie Ruggles, Edward Everett Horton, C. Aubrey Smith, Robert Grieg, Leonid Kinskey. Sparkling Lubitsch confection about two thieves (Marshall and Hopkins) who fall in love, but find their relationship threatened when he turns on the charm to their newest (female) victim. This film is a working definition of the term "sophisticated comedy." Script by Samson Raphaelson and Grover Jones. ●●

Trouble in the Glen (1954-British) C-91m.  D: Herbert Wilcox. Margaret Lockwood, Orson Welles, Forrest Tucker, Victor McLaglen. Scottish-based drama of feud over closing of road that has been used for a long time. Average-to-poor script benefits from Welles. ▼

Troublemaker, The (1964) 80m.  D: Theodore Flicker. Tom Aldredge, Joan Darling, Theodore Flicker, Buck Henry, Godfrey Cambridge, Al Freeman, Jr. Terribly dated, independently made comedy about a country bumpkin's adventures in N.Y.C.; interesting as an artifact of its time, made by the talented improvisational comedy troupe known as The Premise.

Trouble Man (1972) C-99m.  D: Ivan Dixon. Robert Hooks, Paul Winfield, Ralph Waite, William Smithers, Paula Kelly, Julius W. Harris. Hooks is superslick black troubleshooter caught in gang warfare. Cliché-ridden script includes about four hundred killings, glorifying underworld life. Well made but tasteless. [R] ●

Trouble the Water (2008) C-96m.  D: Carl Deal, Tia Lessin. Harrowing and resonant documentary about the human toll of New Orleans' disastrous Hurricane Katrina. With remarkable footage taken during the storm by one survivor (an aspiring rapper who was eventually relocated to the Superdome), the film tells the larger story of the hurricane through her attempts to help others. Pointing out that even a year later not much had been done to improve the lives of the storm's poorest victims, this film makes salient points about human spirit and survival in the wake of complete governmental meltdown. ●

Trouble With Angels, The (1966) C-112m. ½ D: Ida Lupino. Rosalind Russell, Hayley Mills, June Harding, Binnie Barnes, Mary Wickes, Gypsy Rose Lee, Camilla Sparv. Cutesy study of Pennsylvania convent school, with students Mills and Harding driving mother superior Russell to distraction. Episodic, occasionally touching comedy. Sequel: WHERE ANGELS GO . . . TROUBLE FOLLOWS. ▼●●

Trouble With Girls (and How to Get Into It), The (1969) C-104m. ½ D: Peter Tewksbury. Elvis Presley, Marilyn Mason, Nicole Jaffe, Sheree North, Edward Andrews, John Carradine. Vincent Price, Joyce Van Patten, Dabney Coleman, John Rubinstein, Duke Snider. One of the better Presley vehicles has Elvis as manager of a Chautauqua company (medicine show) in the 1920s; nice feeling for the period. Pannavision. [PG] ▼●●

Trouble With Harry, The (1955) C-99m.  D: Alfred Hitchcock. Edmund Gwenn, John Forsythe, Shirley MacLaine, Mildred Natwick, Mildred Dunnock, Jerry Mathers, Royal Dano. Offbeat, often hilarious black comedy courtesy Mr. Hitchcock and scripser John Michael Hayes about bothersome corpse causing all sorts of problems for peaceful neighbors in New England community. Gwenn is fine as usual, MacLaine appealing in her first film. Beautiful autumn locations, whimsical score (his first for Hitch) by Bernard Herrmann. VistaVision. ▼●●

Trouble With Spies, The (1987) C-91m. BOMB D: Burt Kennedy. Donald Sutherland, Ned Beatty, Ruth Gordon, Lucy Gutteridge, Michael Hordern, Robert Morley, Gregory Sierra. Awful spy comedy about incompetent British and Soviet secret agents. Good actors wasted; this one's as bad as they come. Filmed in 1984. [PG] ▼

Trout, The (1982-French) C-105m.  D: Joseph Losey. Isabelle Huppert, Jacques Spiesser, Jeanne Moreau, Jean-Pierre Cassel, Daniel Olbrychski, Alexis Smith, Craig Stevens. Elaborate but muddled account of country girl Huppert and her encounters, sexual and otherwise, in the world of high finance. Moreau is wasted as the wife of businessman Cassel; Smith and Stevens appear in cameos. Original title: LA TRUITE. Also released at 116m. [R] ▼●

Troy (2004-British-Maltese) C-162m. ½ D: Wolfgang Petersen. Brad Pitt, Eric Bana, Orlando Bloom, Diane Kruger, Brian Cox, Sean Bean, Brendan Gleeson, Peter O'Toole, Rose Byrne, Saffron Burrows, Julie Christie. When callow Trojan prince Paris (Bloom)

steals the beautiful Helen from under the nose of her husband, Menelaus, greedy King Agamemnon (a ferocious Cox) seizes the opportunity to declare war on Troy. Achilles (Pitt) is his greatest asset, but the almost superhuman warrior follows his own agenda. Spectacular production offers battle scenes unlike any ever staged before—both epic-scale and man-to-man—but it's the well-defined characters (and a gallery of strong performances) that make this so compelling. Impressive adaptation of Homer's The Iliad by David Benioff. Director's cut runs 192m. Super 35. [R]▼

Truce, The (1997-Italian-French-Swiss-German-British) C-117m.  D: Francesco Rosi. John Turturro, Massimo Ghini, Rade Serbedzija, Stefano Dionisi, Teo Celio, Roberto Citran. Moving adaptation of Primo Levi's autobiography, which follows the author's liberation from Auschwitz and his emotional reawakening as he struggles to get home to Turin, Italy. Episodic structure dilutes some of the dramatic impact, but there are many powerful, affecting moments, and Turturro is beautifully understated. An interesting companion piece to the documentary THE LONG WAY HOME. [R]▼

Truck Stop Women (1974) C-88m. ½ D: Mark Lester. Lieux Dressler, Claudia Jennings, Dennis Fimple, Jennifer Burton. Sloppy but good-natured exploitation fare about women who run truck stop as front for prostitution and truck hijacking activities. Business is so good the Mob tries to move in. Jennings is a standout in this raucous sleaze romp. Techniscope. [R]▼

Truck Turner (1974) C-91m. *½ D: Jonathan Kaplan. Isaac Hayes, Yaphet Kotto, Alan Weeks, Annazette Chase, Sam Laws, Nichelle Nichols. Extremely violent black exploiter, with Hayes only distinguishing feature as a skip-tracer (a detective who hunts bail jumpers). His original score is familiar. [R]▼

True Believer (1989) C-103m.  D: Joseph Ruben. James Woods, Robert Downey, Jr., Yuji Okumoto, Margaret Colin, Kurtwood Smith, Tom Bower, Charles Hallahan. Woods gives his usual dynamic performance as a once-idealistic lawyer, a radical hero of the '60s who's lost his scruples—until his hero-worshipping clerk (Downey) goads him into taking the near-hopeless case of an Asian-American who was apparently railroaded into prison eight years before. Contrived, but entertaining all the way. Followed by a TV series, Eddie Dodd. [R]▼

True Colors (1991) C-111m. ½ D: Herbert Ross. John Cusack, James Spader, Imogen Stubbs, Mandy Patinkin, Richard Widmark, Dina Merrill, Philip Bosco, Paul Guilfoyle. Well-acted but thoroughly obvious story of friendship, ethics, and betrayal, following two law-school roommates who take different paths in life: one goes to work for the Justice Department, determined to right wrongs; the other goes into politics, looking for any angle that can get him ahead. No surprises, thus little impact. Stubbs' British accent (in the role of senator Widmark's daughter) also gets in the way. Widmark's final film. [R]▼

True Confessions (1981) C-108m. ½ D: Ulu Grosbard. Robert De Niro, Robert Duvall, Charles Durning, Ed Flanders, Burgess Meredith, Rose Gregorio, Cyril Cusack, Kenneth McMillan, Dan Hedaya, Jeanette Nolan. Methodically slow, complex, and provocative film (adapted by John Gregory Dunne and Joan Didion from Dunne's novel) about the uneasy bond and surprising similarities between two brothers, one a hardened police detective, the other a power-wielding Monsignor in the Catholic Church. A meaty but somehow unsatisfying film (based on a true case previously filmed as a TVM, WHO IS THE BLACK DAHLIA?) with two characteristically fine performances by De Niro and Duvall. [R]▼

True Crime (1999) C-127m.  D: Clint Eastwood. Clint Eastwood, Isaiah Washington, Denis Leary, Lisa Gay Hamilton, James Woods, Bernard Hill, Diane Venora, Michael McKean, Michael Jeter, Mary McCormack, Hattie Winston, Francesca Fisher-Eastwood, Sydney Poitier, Frances Fisher, Christine Ebersole, Anthony Zerbe, William Windom, Lucy Alexis Liu. Formulaic but gripping story about a burnt-out reporter who becomes convinced that a man due to die at San Quentin that night is innocent. Bouncing back and forth between the story of the reporter—who's looking for redemption—and the stoic prisoner doesn't always work, but the suspense is undeniable. Woods is dynamite as Eastwood's sharp-tongued editor. Eastwood's wife, Dina Ruiz, ex-companion (Fisher), and young daughter all appear. [R]▼

True Grit (1969) C-128m.  D: Henry Hathaway. John Wayne, Glen Campbell, Kim Darby, Jeremy Slate, Robert Duvall, Strother Martin, Dennis Hopper, Jeff Corey. Film version of Charles Portis's wonderful novel about an over-the-hill marshal who helps 14-year-old track down her father's killer. Not as good as the book, but Wayne's Oscar-winning performance and rousing last half hour make it fine screen entertainment. Sequel: ROOSTER COGBURN. Followed by a TV movie in 1978 with Warren Oates and Lisa Pelikan. [G—edited from original M rating]▼

True Identity (1991) C-93m. ½ D: Charles Lane. Lenny Henry, Frank Langella, Charles Lane, Andreas Katsulas, Michael McKean, James Earl Jones, Melvin Van Peebles. Aspiring black actor recognizes a supposedly dead mob boss on an airplane and disguises himself as an Italian-American hit man in order to save his skin. Familiar premise with a somewhat unfamiliar variation. Serves as a passable showcase for Brit wit Henry and his great gift of mimicry. [R]▼●

True Lies (1994) C-141m.  D: James Cameron. Arnold Schwarzenegger, Jamie Lee Curtis, Tom Arnold, Bill Paxton, Tia Carrere, Art Malik, Charlton Heston, Eliza Dushku, Grant Heslov, Jane Morris. In-your-face entertainment from the Schwarzenegger/Cameron team, with Arnold as a spy in a super-secret, high-tech government agency whose wife thinks he's just a nerdy computer salesman. With humor and action in equal doses, this film makes all the right moves—until it gets bogged down in plot (and a general putdown of women) midway through. A slam-bang action finale brings it back on-course, as credibility is gleefully tossed aside. Cameron also scripted, based on a French film, LA TOTALE. Super 35. [R]▼●

True Love (1989) C-104m.  D: Nancy Savoca. Annabella Sciorra, Ron Eldard, Aida Turturro, Roger Rignack, Star Jasper, Michael J. Wolfe, Kelly Cinnante. Refreshing, low-budget slice-of-life sleeper about an Italian wedding in the Bronx. There's tons of atmosphere, and the script (by Savoca and her husband, Richard Guay) is never condescending. Fine performances with Sciorra and Eldard perfectly cast as no-nonsense bride and immature groom. [R]▼●

True Romance (1993) C-118m. ½ D: Tony Scott. Christian Slater, Patricia Arquette, Dennis Hopper, Gary Oldman, Brad Pitt, Christopher Walken, Val Kilmer, Bronson Pinchot, Michael Rapaport, Saul Rubinek, Chris Penn, Tom Sizemore, Samuel L. Jackson, James Gandolfini. A '90s twist on the young-lovers-on-the-lam genre, with hedonism, highly stylized (but potent) violence, and colorful supporting characters the main ingredients. Oldman, as a drug dealer in dreadlocks, is the standout in a first-rate cast. Hopper plays the most "normal" person in the movie! Written by Quentin Tarantino. Also available in unrated 120m. version. Panavision. [R]▼●

True Stories (1986) C-89m.  D: David Byrne. David Byrne, John Goodman, Swoosie Kurtz, Annie McEnroe, Spalding Gray, Alix Elias, Pops Staples. Smarmy, pseudo-hip tour of modern-day Texas by Talking Heads' Byrne; is there anything easier to satirize than eccentric Lone Star crazies? Photography, likable Goodman performance, and a couple of numbers make this worth a look if you're curious; mostly, though, it's depressing. Playwright Beth Henley had a part in the screenplay. [PG]▼●

True Story of Jesse James, The (1957) C-92m. ½ D: Nicholas Ray. Robert Wagner, Jeffrey Hunter, Hope Lange, Agnes Moorehead, Alan Hale (Jr.), John Carradine, Alan Baxter, Frank Gorshin. Remake of 1939 Tyrone Power/Henry Fonda classic

(JESSE JAMES) understandably lacks its star power, but there are enough offbeat Ray touches to keep things interesting (along with some stock footage from the original). Screenplay by Walter Newman. CinemaScope.●

Truly Madly Deeply (1991-British) C-107m. ½ D: Anthony Minghella. Juliet Stevenson, Alan Rickman, Bill Paterson, Michael Maloney, Christopher Rozycki, Keith Bartlett, David Ryall, Stella Maris. Young woman, unable to get over the death of her musician lover, gets the shock of her life when he turns up in her apartment—a ghost, to be sure, but seemingly alive. Minghella conceived this as a vehicle for Stevenson, and that it is (though it also serves as a showcase for Rickman, in an uncharacteristic low-key role); charmingly quirky at times, but unable to sustain its offbeat premise to the very end.▼●

Truman Show, The (1998) C-102m. ½ D: Peter Weir. Jim Carrey, Laura Linney, Ed Harris, Noah Emmerich, Natascha McElhone, Holland Taylor, Brian Delate, Paul Giamatti, Harry Shearer. Truman Burbank lives a seemingly ideal existence in a tranquil seaside community. What he doesn't know is that his life is a giant 24-hour-a-day TV show, orchestrated by electronic mastermind/artist Harris in a completely controlled environment. Satire of our voyeuristic, consumer-driven society scores some points and offers Carrey a change of pace, but after the premise is established it doesn't know where to go. Perhaps that's because it's a short-story idea, not a feature film: The Twilight Zone used to do this kind of thing—better—in half-hour segments. [PG]▼●

Trumps SEE: Enormous Changes at the Last Minute

Trunk to Cairo (1966-Israeli) C-80m. *½ D: Menahem Golan. Audie Murphy, George Sanders, Marianne Koch, Hans Von Borsodi, Joseph Yadin. Murphy, in rare non-Western role, plays still another secret agent in Cairo to investigate Sanders' attempt to build a rocket bound for the moon.

Trust (1991) C-105m.  D: Hal Hartley. Adrienne Shelly, Martin Donovan, Merritt Nelson, John McKay, Edie Falco, Marco Hunt. A pregnant high-school senior is dumped by a football star who fears for his pending college scholarship. When her dad drops dead at the news, she finds a dubious savior: a bookish fellow who can't even clean a bathroom to his own dad's satisfaction. Drollness on-screen can sometimes be had cheaply, but a perfect cast is tougher to bankroll; this original has both, enough to defuse the smugness that seems to linger in its soul. [R]▼●

Trust Me (1989) C-104m. ½ D: Bobby Houston. Adam Ant, David Packer, Talia Balsam, William DeAcutis, Joyce Van Patten, Barbara Bain. Some scattershot laughs cannot sustain this satire of the art scene. Ant plays a gallery owner who will do all he can to see artist Packer dead—so the value of his work will increase. Bright idea, uneven result. [R]▼

Trust the Man (2006) C-103m.  D: Bart Freundlich. David Duchovny, Julianne Moore, Billy Crudup, Maggie Gyllenhaal, Eva Mendes, Ellen Barkin, Garry Shandling, James Le Gros, Dagmara Dominczyk, Jim Gaffigan. Being the misadventures of two Manhattan couples having relationship problems. The women (mostly) have their feet on the ground, while the men are utterly infantile. Romantic comedy with echoes of vintage Woody Allen films (and a rosy view of N.Y.C.) has occasional bright spots but mostly lurches from one episode to another. Unsatisfying, to put it mildly. Bob Balaban appears unbilled. [R]■

Truth About Cats & Dogs, The (1996) C-97m. ½ D: Michael Lehmann. Uma Thurman, Janeane Garofalo, Ben Chaplin, Jamie Foxx, James McCaffrey. Cute comedy about a guy who falls in love with a radio talk-show host (Garofalo) before he even meets her; she, on the other hand, is self-conscious about her looks and has her knockout neighbor, a prototypical dumb blonde (Thurman), take her place. Enjoyable romantic comedy with Cyrano overtones stays afloat with three engaging performances (plus one terrific dog) but stretches credibility to the limit. [PG-13]▼●●

Truth about Charlie, The (2002) C-104m.  D: Jonathan Demme. Mark Wahlberg, Thandie Newton, Tim Robbins, Joong-Hoon Park, Ted Levine, Lisa Gay Hamilton, Christine Boisson, Stephen Dillane, Simon Abkarian, Charles Aznavour, Anna Karina, Agnès Varda, Magali Noël. Pallid remake of CHARADE, set again in Paris, has Newton as the damsel in distress, Wahlberg as her gallant new friend, and Robbins as all-too-suspicious government official. Instead of playing the story with conviction, the film distances us by calling attention to itself with dizzying camerawork, cacophonous music, and indulgent references to French New Wave cinema, including appearances by three of its leading lights (Aznavour, Karina, and Varda). Four writers are credited with complicating Peter Stone's 1963 screenplay; one of them (Peter Joshua) is a pseudonym for Stone, who earned the credit for supplying the original plot. Panavision. [PG-13]▼

Truth About Spring, The (1965-British) C-102m.  D: Richard Thorpe. Hayley Mills, John Mills, James MacArthur, Lionel Jeffries, Harry Andrews, Niall MacGinnis, David Tomlinson. Skipper Mills introduces daughter Hayley to first boyfriend, MacArthur, in enjoyable film geared for young viewers.

Truth or Consequences, N.M. (1997) C-

106m.  D: Kiefer Sutherland. Vincent Gallo, Mykelti Williamson, Kiefer Sutherland, Kevin Pollak, Kim Dickens, Grace Phillips, Max Perlich, Rod Steiger, Martin Sheen. A robbery goes awry, resulting in murder, and the four criminals take two ordinary people captive to evade Utah police. Well acted, but there's nothing at all new here, and it's pretentious to boot. Sutherland's feature debut as a director. [R]▼●●

Truth or Dare (1991) C/B&W-118m.  D: Alek Keshishian. Madonna. Revealing backstage/performance film, very much in the mold of DONT LOOK BACK, examines the phenomenon we know as ... Madonna. Authorized account, iron-fist commissioned by its subject, is simultaneously candid and manipulated, but the dynamics between Madonna and members of her family (and a couple of hilarious what-me-worry cameos by her then-squeeze Warren Beatty) are compelling. An important film even if you don't care for Madonna; overlength makes the final half-hour a mild ordeal. (The video offers additional footage!) Video title: MADONNA TRUTH OR DARE. [R]▼●●

Trygon Factor, The (1967-British) C-87m. ½ D: Cyril Frankel. Stewart Granger, Susan Hampshire, Robert Morley, Cathleen Nesbitt, James Robertson Justice. Impossible-to-follow Scotland Yard whodunit. Centers around bizarre old English family and series of interesting murders.

Try Seventeen SEE: All I Want

Tsotsi (2005-South African-British) C-94m. ½ D: Gavin Hood. Presley Chweneyagae, Terry Pheto, Kenneth Nkosi, Mothusi Magano, Zenzo Ngqobe, Zola, Rapulana Seiphemo, Nambitha Mpuhlwana. A young, steely-eyed, amoral hoodlum who lives in a Johannesburg shantytown shoots a woman, steals her car, and then discovers her baby in the backseat. How a hardened criminal gets in touch with his own humanity is the crux of this crowd-pleasing drama, adapted by Hood from Athol Fugard's novel. The characters speak an argot made up of many languages, including English and Afrikaans, and the film is fueled by pulsating South African music. Newcomer Chweneyagae is superb in the leading role. Oscar winner as Best Foreign Language Film. Super 35.■

Tucker: The Man and His Dream (1988) C-111m. ½ D: Francis Ford Coppola. Jeff Bridges, Joan Allen, Martin Landau, Frederic Forrest, Mako, Dean Stockwell, Elias Koteas, Nina Siemaszko, Christian Slater, Corky Nemec, Marshall Bell, Don Novello, Peter Donat, Dean Goodman, Patti Austin. Smart, sassy, stylish film about Preston Tucker, who tried to build "the car of the future" in the 1940s, only to be crushed by the Big Three automakers and their political cronies. Told with great flair by Coppola (who obviously felt a kinship with the indomitable, family-minded visionary), filled with fine performances, especially Landau in a poignant characterization as Tucker's unlikely partner. Lloyd Bridges (Jeff's dad) appears unbilled as an adversarial senator. Lively score by Joe Jackson. Technovision. [PG]▼●

Tuck Everlasting (1980) C-100m. ½ D: Frederick King Keller. Margaret Chamberlain, Paul Flessa, Fred A. Keller, James McGuire, Sonia Raimi, Bruce D'Auria. Lovely, sweet, entertaining fable about family, invulnerable to pain, aging, and death, and the young girl who learns their secret. Perfect for children who prefer books to video games. Produced independently in upstate New York; based on Natalie Babbitt's award-winning novel. Remade in 2002. ▼

Tuck Everlasting (2002) C-90m.  D: Jay Russell. Alexis Bledel, Sissy Spacek, William Hurt, Jonathan Jackson, Scott Bairstow, Ben Kingsley, Amy Irving, Victor Garber; narrated by Elisabeth Shue. Genteel adaptation of Natalie Babbitt's novel about a well-to-do teenage girl, living a cloistered life in the early 20th century, whose world is opened up by a chance meeting with a boy and his backwoods family. They have discovered the secret for eternal life, but what seems to be a blessing is in fact a kind of curse. Entertaining for young people, but lacks the dramatic punch that might have made it an even better movie. Panavision. [PG]▼●

Tuff Turf (1985) C-112m. *½ D: Fritz Kiersch. James Spader, Kim Richards, Paul Mones, Matt Clark, Claudette Nevins, Robert Downey (Jr.), Olivia Barash, Jack Mack & the Heart Attack. Old-fashioned, unrealistic troubled-teen melodrama with overtones of WEST SIDE STORY, set in a fantasy version of the San Fernando Valley. Pre-SEX, LIES AND VIDEOTAPE Spader, as preppe newcomer, is mannered, but Richards is good. [R]▼●●

Tugboat Annie (1933) 87m. ½ D: Mervyn LeRoy. Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery, Robert Young, Maureen O'Sullivan, Willard Robertson, Frankie Darro. Marie is skipper of the tugboat Narcissus, Beery her ne'er-do-well husband in this rambling, episodic comedy drama; inimitable stars far outclass their wobbly material. Followed by TUGBOAT ANNIE SAILS AGAIN (1940), and a 1950s TV series. ●

Tugboat Annie Sails Again (1940) 77m.  D: Lewis Seiler. Marjorie Rambeau, Alan Hale, Jane Wyman, Ronald Reagan, Clarence Kolb, Charles Halton. Airy comedy with predictable plot about Annie's job in jeopardy. Rambeau takes up where Marie Dressler left off; Reagan saves the day for her.

Tulips (1981-Canadian) C-92m. *½ D: Stan Ferris. Gabe Kaplan, Bernadette Peters, Henry Gibson, Al Waxman, David Boxer. Weak romance, with Kaplan and Peters each attempting to commit suicide, then meeting and falling in love. "Stan Ferris" is a pseudonym for Mark Warren,

Rex Bromfield, and Al Waxman—and the lack of directorial cohesion shows. [PG]▼
Tully (2002) C-102m. ½ D: Hilary Birmingham. Anson Mount, Julianne Nicholson, Glenn Fitzgerald, Catherine Kellner, Bob Burrus, Natalie Canerday, John Diehl. Low-budget indie based on Tom McNeal's short story "What Happened to Tully," this overly talky movie manages to avoid melodrama, for the most part, with a touching story of how a woman's death affects her rancher husband and their two sons. Fine performances, especially from Mount, who has real acting chops. [R]▼●

Tulsa (1949) C-90m.  D: Stuart Heisler. Susan Hayward, Robert Preston, Pedro Armendariz, Lloyd Gough, Chill Wills, Ed Begley, Jimmy Conlin. Bouncy drama of cattiewoman Hayward entering the wildcat oil business to avenge the death of her father, losing her values along the way as she becomes blinded by her success.▼●

Tumbleweeds (1925) 81m. ½ D: King Baggot. William S. Hart, Barbara Bedford, Lucien Littlefield, J. Gordon Russell, Richard R. Neill. One of the screen's most famous Westerns, with Hart deciding to get in on the opening of the Cherokee Strip in 1889, particularly if pretty Bedford is willing to marry him and settle there. Land rush scene is one of the great spectacles in silent films. Above running time does not include a poignant eight-minute introduction Hart made to accompany 1939 reissue of his classic.▼●●

Tumbleweeds (1999) C-102m.  D: Gavin O'Connor. Janet McTeer, Kimberly J. Brown, Jay O. Sanders, Lois Smith, Laurel Holloman, Michael J. Pollard, Noah Emmerich, Gavin O'Connor. Exceptional performances elevate this somewhat familiar tale of a trailer-trash Southern belle with a penchant for hooking up with crummy men, dragging her young daughter along as she moves from town to town. McTeer is terrific in the lead, matched by Brown as the girl, with cowriter-director O'Connor first rate as a truck driver who comes into their lives. [PG-13]▼●

Tune, The (1992) C-72m.  D: Bill Plympton. Offbeat, original cartoon feature from award-winning short-subject animator Plympton follows the trials and tribulations of a songwriter searching for that elusive hit. Maureen McElheron's clever songs provide the tone for a series of imaginative vignettes. Unconventional in every way (including its colored-pencil visuals, executed almost singlehandedly by Plympton) but a quiet treat, especially for animation buffs.▼●

Tune In Tomorrow . . . (1990) C-102m. ½ D: Jon Amiel. Barbara Hershey, Keanu Reeves, Peter Falk, Bill McCutcheon, Patricia Clarkon, Richard Portnow, Jerome Dempsey, Richard B. Shull. Oddball movie set in 1951 New Orleans. Reeves plays an

impressionable young man who falls in love with his sexy aunt (Hershey), while falling under the spell of Falk, a wildly eccentric writer for a radio soap opera who draws on real life in ways his young protégé cannot conceive of. Funny, funky, original; not always on target, but there are inspired moments. Falk is a howl. Familiar faces appear in amusing cameos. Music by Wynton Marsalis, who also appears on camera. Based on Mario Vargas Llosa's novel Aunt Julia and the Scriptwriter. [PG-13] ▼●●

Tunes of Glory (1960-British) C-106m.

* D: Ronald Neame. Alec Guinness, John Mills, Susannah York, Kay Walsh, Dennis Price, John Fraser, Duncan Macrae, Gordon Jackson, Allan Cuthbertson. Engrossing clash of wills in peacetime Scottish Highland regiment as popular, easygoing Lt. Col. (Guinness) is replaced by stiff-necked martinet (Mills). Outstanding performances by both men, each in a role more naturally suited to the other! Impressive bagpipe-driven score by Malcolm Arnold. Scripted by James Kennaway, from his novel. York's film debut. ▼●●

Tunnel of Love, The (1958) 98m.  D: Gene Kelly. Doris Day, Richard Widmark, Gig Young, Gia Scala. Bright comedy of married couple Widmark and Day enduring endless red tape to adopt a child. Good cast spices adaptation of Joseph Fields-Peter de Vries play. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Tunnelvision (1976) C-67m.  D: Neal Israel, Brad Swirloff. Phil Proctor, Howard Hesseman, Ernie Anderson, Edwina Anderson, James Bacon, Gerrit Graham, Betty Thomas, Chevy Chase, Roger Bowen, Al Franken, Tom Davis, William Schallert, Laraine Newman, Ron Silver. Crude, uneven parody of what TV programming will be like in the future. Of interest only for appearances by now famous performers. [R] ▼●

Tupac: Resurrection (2003) C-111m.  D: Lauren Lazin. You don't have to be a devotee of rap music to be intrigued by this introspective documentary about Tupac Shakur, the gangsta rapper who was murdered in 1996. Tupac himself narrates (his words are culled from interviews) and the result is a multidimensional portrait of the world of rap and how one complex, controversial personality is victimized by fame. Afeni Shakur, Tupac's mother, is one of the executive producers. [R] ▼●

Turbo: A Power Rangers Movie (1997-U.S.-Japanese) C-99m. 1/2 D: David Winning. Jason David Frank, Steve Cardenas, Catherine Sutherland, Johnny Yong Bosch, Nakia Burrise, Hilary Shepard Turner, Blake Foster. The Mighty Morphin Power Rangers are back in this cheesy feature, and doing battle against the evil Divatox. Kids may like the gadgets and gimmicks, but few others will. Followed by a direct-to-video sequel. [PG] ▼●●

Turbulence (1997) C-103m. 1/2 D: Robert Butler. Ray Liotta, Lauren Holly, Brendan Gleeson, Ben Cross, Rachel Ticotin, Jeffrey DeMunn, John Finn, Catherine Hicks, Hector Elizondo. As a 747 roars through a rising storm, stewardess Holly faces serial killer Liotta—alone. Though undeniably silly (a slasher movie on a plane?), this often delivers the goods through sheer brassiness, and Liotta has a high old time as the nutzoid killer. Followed by two direct-to-video sequels. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Turistas (2006) C-94m.  D: John Stockwell. Josh Duhamel, Melissa George, Olivia Wilde, Desmond Askew, Beau Garrett, Max Brown, Agles Steib, Miguel Lundari. A group of backpacking, bikini-wearing, beer-swilling young tourists are marooned in a remote Brazilian jungle village, where they soon find organ donations are not a voluntary practice. Low-budget horror item presents its main villain as a sort of modern-day Robin Hood who takes from the rich and gives to the poor, medically speaking. Largely exploitative film does have its moments, just not too many of them. Unrated version runs 102m. Super 35. [R] ●

Turkey Shoot SEE: Escape 2000

Turk 182! (1985) C-98m.  D: Bob Clark. Timothy Hutton, Robert Urich, Kim Cattrall, Robert Culp, Darren McGavin, Steven Keats, James Tolkan, Peter Boyle, Paul Sorvino, Dick O'Neill. Contrived attempt at Capra-esque comedy. Young Brooklynite turns into super-graffiti artist to protest N.Y.C.'s lack of support for his brother, an injured fireman. Hutton's brooding persona doesn't suit this comic setting. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●

Turner & Hooch (1989) C-97m.  D: Roger Spottiswoode. Tom Hanks, Mare Winningham, Craig T. Nelson, Reginald VelJohnson, Scott Paulin, J.C. Quinn, John McIntire, Beasley. Detective Hanks' only means of catching some murderers is by extracting their identity from the sole murder witness: a dog named Hooch. Hanks (who plays a neatness freak) and Hooch (a lovably ugly dog who makes a mess of everything) squeeze all the humor they can out of a paper-thin script—but even they can't make up for a bummer of an ending. [PG] ▼●●

Turning, The (1992) C-91m.  D: L. A. Puopolo. Karen Allen, Raymond J. Barry, Michael Dolan, Tess Harper, Gillian Anderson. A disturbed young man arrives in his small Virginia hometown and tries to prevent his parents' divorce, which leads instead to violence. Meant to show how loveless homes can irrevocably scar children, but leaden paced and boring. [R] ▼●

Turning Point, The (1952) 85m. 1/2 D:

William Dieterle. William Holden, Alexis Smith, Edmond O'Brien, Ed Begley, Tom Tully, Don Porter, Ted de Corsia, Neville Brand, Carolyn Jones. Tough script by Warren Duff sparks this gritty if familiar drama. O'Brien is a crime-buster investigating big-city corruption; Holden, his boyhood friend, is a cynical reporter. Scenario was inspired by the Kefauver Committee hearings into organized crime.

Turning Point, The (1977) C-119m. ½ D: Herbert Ross. Anne Bancroft, Shirley MacLaine, Mikhail Baryshnikov, Leslie Browne, Tom Skerritt, Martha Scott, Marshall Thompson. Two friends who started in ballet are reunited after many years; Bancroft is now a star ballerina, MacLaine a Midwestern housewife/dance teacher whose daughter (Browne) is embarking on her own ballet career. Promising idea bogs down in clichés, with supposedly liberated treatment of women's relationships exemplified by wild catfight. Those few dance sequences presented intact give film its only value. Written by Arthur Laurents; photographed by Robert Surtees. Baryshnikov's film debut. [PG] ▼●●

Turning to Stone (1985-Canadian) C-98m.  D: Eric Till. Nicky Guadagni, Shirley Douglas, Anne Anglin, Jackie Richardson, Bernard Behrens. Riveting psychological drama about Guadagni, a nice young girl who's busted for smuggling drugs, and her adjustment to unhappy realities of life behind bars. For once, a nonexploitation women's prison drama. Fine performances all around; expert script by Judith Thompson.

Turn It Up (2000) C-87m. ½ D: Robert Adetuyi. Pras, Ja Rule, Vondie Curtis Hall, Tamala Jones, Jason Statham. An aspiring rapper is held back by his criminal best pal and reunited with his estranged musician father. Contrived, gratuitously violent B movie manages to rip off both Jimmy Cagney and blaxploitation. In his first leading-man role, Pras (of Fugees fame) has all the charisma of a shipping crate. Not even music cameos from DJ Scribe and Faith Evans raise the pulse of this clichéd bloodbath. Turn it off! Super 35. [R] ▼●

Turn of the Screw, The (1992-British-French) C-95m.  D: Rusty Lemorande. Patsy Kensit, Stephane Audran, Julian Sands, Clare Szekees, Joseph England, Marianne Faithfull. Sands hires governess Kensit to look after his deceptively sweet-looking niece and nephew, who reside in a country manor. Wooden adaptation (by director Lemorande) of the Henry James masterpiece. Filmed far more successfully as THE INNOCENTS. ▼●

Turn the River (2008) C-92m.  D: Chris Eigeman. Famke Janssen, Jaymie Dornan, Rip Torn, Matt Ross, Lois Smith, Marin Hinkle, Terry Kinney, John Juback, Jordan Bridges, Ari Graynor. Intimate

drama about a tough cookie who ekes out a living hustling pool games for money, with some help from an old friend (Torn) who runs a billiard parlor. She also has a secret relationship with the son she gave up in infancy, who lives with his father and step-mother, and schemes to find a way they can run off together. Interesting characterizations and a great part for Janssen mark this small-scale indie; writing and directing debut for actor Eigeman, who has a small role near the end of the film. [R] ●

Turtle Beach (1992-Australian) C-85m. BOMB D: Stephen Wallace. Greta Scacchi, Joan Chen, Jack Thompson, Art Malik, Norman Kaye, Victoria Longley, Martin Jacobs. Photojournalist/mom Scacchi ankles Australia for Malaysia to cover Chen and the Vietnamese boat people, leaving herself open to charges of parental neglect. Not so much edited as patched, and even drably shot by the great Russell Boyd. This unredeemed stinker was barely released in the U.S. [R]

Turtle Diary (1985-British) C-97m.  D: John Irvin. Glenda Jackson, Ben Kingsley, Richard Johnson, Michael Gambon, Harriet Walter, Rosemary Leach, Eleanor Bron, Nigel Hawthorne. Deliciously original (if low-key) fable of two repressed people who are drawn together—and ultimately freed—by an unusual common interest: they both become concerned about the fate of captive giant turtles at the zoo. Witty, decidedly offbeat script by Harold Pinter (who does a cameo as a bookstore customer), based on Russell Hoban's novel. Johnson, who plays Jackson's jovial next-door neighbor, also produced the film. [PG] ▼●

Tuvalu (2000-German) C-87m.  D: Veit Helmer. Denis Lavant, Chulpan Hamatova, Philippe Clay, Terrence Gillespie, Djoko Rossich (Rosic). Gloriously odd, wildly whimsical creation, a virtually silent film with a hand-tinted look. This fairy tale takes place at a once-grand, now-crumbling bathhouse that stands in the middle of nowhere. The owner's son (Lavant) struggles to keep the operation alive, for the sake of his blind father, even as developers threaten to destroy it. A dreamlike movie filled with charm and invention, though it may be too bizarre for some viewers. Filmed in Bulgaria. Cinema-Scope. [R] ▼●

Tuxedo, The (2002) C-98m. BOMB D: Kevin Donovan. Jackie Chan, Jennifer Love Hewitt, Jason Isaacs, Debi Mazar, Ritchie Coster, Romany Malco, Mia Cottet, Peter Stormare, Colin Mochrie, James Brown. Dreadful concoction casts Chan as a cabbie-turned-chauffeur who must take the place of his new boss, a dashing government spy; when he dons the secret agent's specially designed tuxedo, he acquires superhuman skills. Boneheaded movie replaces (or augments) Chan's dazzling martial arts skills with special effects; what's more, the

script's t&a "humor" is a poor fit for the ever-likable star. Hewitt is incredibly obnoxious as Jackie's new partner. Bob Balaban appears unbilled. [PG-13] ▼

TV Set, The (2007) C-88m.  D: Jake Kasdan. David Duchovny, Sigourney Weaver, Ioan Gruffudd, Judy Greer, Fran Kranz, Lindsay Sloane, Justine Bateman, Lucy Davis, M. C. Gaaney, Philip Baker Hall, Andrea Martin, Willie Garson, Kathryn Joosten. Duchovny plays a TV writer-producer who has created a personal, and well-regarded, script for a potential series. But casting and shooting that pilot while appeasing the "network suits" are no easy tasks if you want to hang on to your soul. Amusing if low-key satire has the feel of being made by people who know this path all too well. Written by the director. HD Widescreen. [R] ▼

Twelfth Night (1996-British) C-134m. ½ D: Trevor Nunn. Imogen Stubbs, Helena Bonham Carter, Toby Stephens, Nigel Hawthorne, Ben Kingsley, Richard E. Grant, Mel Smith, Imelda Staunton, Nicholas Farrell, Stephen Mackintosh. Shakespeare's farce gets transported here to the 1890s, with Stubbs donning male disguise in the court of a duke after she's separated from her brother in a shipwreck. For a surprising amount of its long running time, the film plays the story straight, only to loosen up some in the later scenes—particularly those involving Malvolio. Lackluster, but easy to take. Stephens (who plays Orsino) is the son of actors Maggie Smith and Robert Stephens. [PG] ▼

12 (2007-Russian) C-154m.  D: Nikita Mikhalkov. Sergey Makovetsky, Nikita Mikhalkov, Sergey Garmash, Valentin Gaft, Alexey Petrenko, Yuri Stoyanov, Sergey Gazarov, Mikhail Efremov, Alexey Gorbunov, Sergey Artsybashev, Victor Verzhbitsky, Roman Madianov, Alexander Adabashian, Aпти Magamaev. The fate of a Chechen youth on trial for murdering his adoptive father is passionately debated by eleven jurors who want to convict him and the one holdout among the group. Mikhalkov's expanded and updated adaptation of Reginald Rose's screenplay for Sidney Lumet's 1957 classic 12 ANGRY MEN is long and talky but superbly acted. Absorbing both as drama and as a metaphor for the breakup of post-Soviet Russian society. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Twelve and Holding (2006) C-94m.  D: Michael Cuesta. Conor Donovan, Jesse Camacho, Zoe Weizenbaum, Linus Roache, Annabella Sciorra, Jeremy Renner, Jayne Atkinson, Marcia Debonis, Tom McGowan, Mark Linn-Baker, Tony Roberts, Michael Fuchs. Searing and provocative look at the painful adolescence of three friends: a boy with a twin brother trying to deal with the fallout of a family tragedy, a girl with a distracted mother who wants to assert her sexuality, and an obese boy whose attempt to reinvent himself doesn't sit well with his parents. Uncomfortably raw at times (like Cuesta's earlier film, L.I.E.) but sharply observed, with exceptional performances from the three young leads. [R] ▼

12 Angry Men (1957) 95m. * D: Sidney Lumet. Henry Fonda, Lee J. Cobb, Ed Begley, E. G. Marshall, Jack Klugman, Jack Warden, Martin Balsam, John Fiedler, George Voskovec, Robert Webber, Edward Binns, Joseph Sweeney. Brilliant film about one man who tries to convince 11 other jurors that their hasty guilty verdict for a boy on trial should be reconsidered. Formidable cast (including several character-stars-to-be); Lumet's impressive debut film. Script by Reginald Rose, from his television play. Remade for TV in 1997 and as 12 in Russia in 2007. ▼

Twelve Chairs, The (1970) C-94m.  D: Mel Brooks. Ron Moody, Frank Langella, Dom DeLuise, Mel Brooks, Bridget Brice, Robert Bernal. Impoverished Russian nobleman Moody seeks one of 12 dining chairs, now scattered, with jewels sewn into seat. DeLuise hilarious as his chief rival. Unsympathetic characters hamper film's success, though mastermind Brooks still provides many laughs. Filmed in Yugoslavia; versions of this same story have been made in Hollywood, Germany, Argentina, England, and Cuba! [G] ▼

Twelve Monkeys (1995) C-131m. ½ D: Terry Gilliam. Bruce Willis, Madeleine Stowe, Brad Pitt, Christopher Plummer, Frank Gorshin, David Morse, Jon Seda. In the bleak world of the near-future, a prisoner is sent back in time to the 1990s to discover the source of a plague that killed billions and forced society to move underground. Plays with present/past/future tense in ways both clever and confusing; the kind of movie that leaves you with plenty to talk about afterward. Inspired by Chris Marker's 1962 short film, LA JETÉE. [R] ▼

Twelve O'Clock High (1949) 132m. * D: Henry King. Gregory Peck, Hugh Marlowe, Gary Merrill, Millard Mitchell, Dean Jagger, Paul Stewart. Taut WW2 story of U.S. flyers in England, an officer replaced for getting too involved with his men (Merrill) and his successor who has same problem (Peck). Jagger won Oscar in supporting role; Peck has never been better. Written by Sy Bartlett and Beirne Lay, Jr., from their novel. Later a TV series. ▼

12:08 East of Bucharest (2006-Romanian) C-89m.  D: Corneliu Porumboiu. Mircea Andreescu, Teo Corban, Ion Sapdaru. Smart, funny, engaging comedy finds a history teacher, a senior citizen, and a TV commentator spending the bulk of a Christmastime local broadcast debating whether a revolution actually occurred in their small town 16 years earlier. With echoes of everyone from Billy Wilder to Milos Forman, this sharply effective film deals with Romanian politics by emphasizing the human factor. Impressive feature debut for writer-director Porumboiu. D

12 + 1 SEE: Thirteen Chairs, The
12 Rounds (2009) C-108m. ½ D: Renny Harlin. John Cena, Aidan Gillen, Ashley Scott, Steve Harris, Brian White, Gonzalo Menendez. Utterly preposterous but enjoyably fast-paced thriller finds World Wrestling Entertainment star Cena cast as a hard-charging New Orleans cop forced into a series of beat-the-clock, life-or-death challenges by a vengeful arms dealer (Gillen) who has kidnapped the cop's sweetheart (Scott). Director Harlin keeps pedal to metal throughout, so that nothing—not even Cena's obvious limitations as an actor—ever decelerates the high-velocity spectacle. Clever use of N.O. locations (many still bearing marks of 2005's Hurricane Katrina) is a plus. Super 35. [PG-13] D

Twentieth Century (1934) 91m. * D: Howard Hawks. John Barrymore, Carole Lombard, Walter Connolly, Roscoe Karns, Etienne Girardot, Ralph Forbes, Charles Levison (Lane), Edgar Kennedy. Super screwball comedy in which egomaniacal Broadway producer Barrymore makes shop-girl Lombard a star; when she leaves him, he does everything he can to woo her back on lengthy train trip. Barrymore has never been funnier, and Connolly and Karns are aces as his long-suffering cronies. Matchless script by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, from their play; later a hit Broadway musical. On the Twentieth Century. D

Twenty Bucks (1993) C-90m.  D: Keva Rosenfeld. Linda Hunt, Brendan Fraser, Elisabeth Shue, Steve Buscemi, Christopher Lloyd, Spalding Gray, David Rasche, George Morfogon, Concetta Tomei, Shohreh Agdashloo, Gladys Knight, William H. Macy, Diane Baker, David Schwimmer, Jeremy Piven, Kevin Kilner, Matt Frewer, Nina Siemaszko, Kamal Holloway. Intriguing concept—a $20 bill passes from hand to hand, and is briefly in the possession of a diverse group of people—but the result is slight and forgettable. Based on an unsold script written by Endre Boehm in 1935; this updated version was scripted by his son Leslie. Chloe Webb appears unbilled. [R] D

20 Dates (1999) C-88m. ½ D: Myles Berkowitz. Wannabe filmmaker Berkowitz concocts the idea of filming 20 dates—as the hook to make a movie and as a means of finding love. Contemporary comedy, told in documentary style, is original and fun to watch, with a resolution neither Berkowitz nor the audience could have foreseen. [R] D

28 Days (2000) C-104m. ½ D: Betty Thomas. Sandra Bullock, Viggo Mortensen, Dominic West, Diane Ladd, Elizabeth Perkins, Steve Buscemi, Alan Tudyk, Azura Skye, Michael O'Malley, Reni Santoni, Marianne Jean-Baptiste, Margo Martindale. Drunken N.Y. writer with an equally boozy boyfriend

checks into rehab after an alcohol-induced accident. She gradually conforms to the program after the institution's seen-it-all patients swing their hatchets at the chip on her shoulder. After a strong beginning, film takes a quick nosedive by going for too many cheap belly-laughs. Helping to a point are generally strong performances, including Bullock's best to date. [PG-13] D

28 Days Later (2002-British-U.S.) C-112m.  D: Danny Boyle. Cillian Murphy, Naomie Harris, Brendan Gleeson, Megan Burns, Christopher Eccleston, Noah Huntley. Truly frightening film that begins with an incident at a laboratory where animals are being used for medical research and leads to a deadly virus spreading like wildfire throughout England. Twenty-eight days later, it's up to a handful of still-healthy individuals to band together—and avoid contact with their rabid fellow humans before it's too late. Grim, uncomfortably believable, and scary as hell. Also released theatrically with alternate, more downbeat, ending. Written by Alex Garland. Followed by 28 WEEKS LATER. [R] D

28 Up (1985-British) C/B&W-133m.  D: Michael Apted. Unique documentary in which Apted interviews a diverse group of individuals at ages 7, 14, 21, and 28. A one-of-a-kind portrayal of dreams, aspirations, and realities; fascinating to see the subjects literally age before your eyes. Raise this rating to ½ if viewed in separate installments—the way it was originally made for TV. Followed by 35 UP. D

28 Weeks Later (2007-British-U.S.) C-99m.  D: Juan Carlos Fresnadillo. Robert Carlyle, Rose Byrne, Jeremy Renner, Harold Perrineau, Catherine McCormack, Mackintosh Muggleton, Imogen Poots, Idris Elba, Raymond Waring. Sequel to 28 DAYS LATER takes place in London months after the virus outbreak, as the city is ready to be repopulated under the supervision of U.S.-led NATO forces. Carlyle is reunited with his children (Muggleton, Poots) but lies to them about the fate of their mother, whom he left for dead amid a horde of flesh-eating zombies. Visceral and more graphic than the earlier film, this may satisfy bloodthirsty fans, but it grows tiresome, and its metaphoric relationship to the Iraqi occupation is a one-note idea. Better than many sequels, it still suffers in comparison to the original. [R] D

25th Hour, The (1967-French-Italian-Yugoslavian) C-119m.  D: Henri Vernel. Anthony Quinn, Verna Lisi, Michael Redgrave, Gregoire Aslan, Marcel Dalio, Serge Reggiani. Story of Rumanian peasant's Nazi-enforced 8-year separation from his beautiful wife is indifferently done, in spite of capable acting by stars. Franscope.

25th Hour (2002) C-134m. ½ D: Spike Lee. Edward Norton, Philip Seymour Hoffman, Barry Pepper, Rosario Dawson, Anna Paquin, Brian Cox, Tony Siragusa, Levani

Outchaneichvili, Tony Devon. A convicted Manhattan drug dealer (Norton) confronts the choices he has made in life on his last day before serving a 7-year prison sentence. Ambitious attempt to fuse intimate character studies with a larger examination of post-9/11 N.Y.C. never quite succeeds, despite powerful moments and good acting, especially by Norton and Pepper. David Bennoff adapted his own novel. Super 35. [R] ▼●

2046 (2004-Hong Kong-Chinese) C-130m. ½ D: Wong Kar Wai. Tony Leung, Gong Li, Zhang Ziyi, Takuya Kimura, Faye Wong, Maggie Cheung, Chen Chang. A writer is penning a science-fiction novel presumably titled 2046, which also happens to be the number of the hotel room next door to him, where many events unfold in this dense, atmospheric film about sexual relationships. In the film/novel a mysterious train takes its passengers to the year 2046 (the year China has set for the end of Hong Kong's current state of independence), but whether in the past, present, or future, the protagonist must deal with love, loss, and regret. A sinuous, romantic, elliptical film that seems to exist in a dream state. Leung plays a darker version of the character he introduced in IN THE MOOD FOR LOVE. Panavision. [R] ●

24 Hour Party People (2002-British) C-113m.  D: Michael Winterbottom. Steve Coogan, Lennie James, Shirley Henderson, Paddy Considine, Andy Serkis, Sean Harris, John Simm, Chris Coghill. Smart, sharp, funny, evocative film about the punk rock scene in Manchester, England, in the early 1970s, and one of its progenitors—who disarmingly tells his own story to us on camera (even commenting on the film itself). Entertaining even if you don't know much about the subject. Coogan is dynamic in the leading role. [R] ▼●

Twenty-four Hours to Kill (1965-British) C-92m. ½ D: Peter Bezencenet. Mickey Rooney, Lex Barker, Walter Slezak, Michael Medwin, Helga Sommerfeld, Wolfgang Lukschy. OK suspenser with Rooney marked for execution by Slezak's smuggling ring when his plane is forced to land in Beirut for 24 hours. Techniscope. ▼

24 Hour Woman, The (1999) C-95m.  D: Nancy Savoca. Rosie Perez, Marianne Jean-Baptiste, Patti LuPone, Karen Duffy, Diego Serrano, Wendell Pierce, Aida Turturro, Rosana De Soto, Chris Cooper. Producer of a morning TV show discovers she's pregnant, and begins to deal with the conflicts facing a career woman who's also trying to start a family. Meanwhile, a mother of three returns to the workforce as her new assistant. Credible and energetic, but the "lesson" it teaches is obvious from the start. A disappointment from talented filmmaker Savoca. [R] ▼

TwentyFourSeven (1997-British) 96m.  D: Shane Meadows. Bob Hoskins, Danny Nussbaum, James Hooton, Darren Campbell,

Justin Brady, Jimmy Hynd, Karl Collins, Johann Myers, Anthony Clarke. Poignant, hard-hitting little drama about an idealistic 1980s bumout (Hoskins) who tries to encourage the aimless, angry young men in his working-class town by setting up a boxing club. What might have been a standard, clichéd story is uplifted by a solid script (by Meadows and Paul Fraser), good performances, and plenty of grit. The first in Meadows' so-called Midlands trilogy. Followed by A ROOM FOR ROMEO BRASS and ONCE UPON A TIME IN THE MIDLANDS. [R] ▼●

20 Million Miles to Earth (1957) 82m.  D: Nathan Juran. William Hopper, Joan Taylor, Frank Puglia, Thomas Browne Henry, John Zaremba, Tito Vuolo, Bart Bradley (Braverman). First spaceship to Venus crashes into the sea off Sicily, with two survivors: pilot Hopper and a fast-growing Venusian monster that just wants to be left alone (but fights back when frightened). Climax takes place in the Colosseum in Rome. Intelligent script, fast pace, and exceptional special effects by Ray Harryhausen make this one of the best monster-on-the-loose movies ever. Unnamed monster is known as "the Ymir" to its fans. Also shown in a computer-colored version. ▼●●

Twentynine Palms (2003-French-German) C-119m. BOMB D: Bruno Dumont. Katia (Yekaterina) Golubeva, David Wissak. Smarmy, ultra-preentious "road" picture with dialogue that sounds like it was recorded from a cell phone is a ZABRISKIE (WITHOUT A) POINT for a new generation. Photographer and his unemployed girlfriend, ostensibly scouting locales for a photo shoot, drive endlessly through the California desert, frequently stopping for sexual favors on picturesque rocky slopes or in nondescript motel rooms until their idyllic interludes turn graphically violent because . . . well, that's art. TV viewing could actually improve film as nothing much happens for chunks of time, making it ideal to watch while paying bills, sorting laundry, talking to friends or writing your memoirs. Widescreen. ▼●

29th Street (1991) C-101m. ½ D: George Gallo. Danny Aiello, Anthony LaPaglia, Linnie Kazan, Frank Pesce, Donna Maghani, Rick Aiello, Vic Manni, Ron Karabatos, Robert Forster, Pete Antico, Joe Franklin. Richly seasoned look at N.Y.C. Italian-Americans through the eyes of Frank Pesce, who sees his life as blessed with luck, even though it presents itself in strange ways; the story is told in flashback on the night of New York State's first lottery drawing. Aiello and LaPaglia are dynamite as father and son, and that's the real Frank Pesce as older brother Vito; he also cowrote the story, based on his life. Directing debut for MIDNIGHT RUN screenwriter Gallo. [R] ▼●●

Twenty-one (1991-British) C-101m.  D: Don Boyd. Patsy Kensit, Jack Shepherd, Patrick Rycart, Maynard Eziashi, Rufus Sewell, Sophie Thompson. One Brit's jog around the sexual track before reaching the age of . . . guess. Her array of beaus includes one junkie, and one married jerk who openly hustles her at his own wedding. Inferior to DARLING and THE GRASSHOPPER, of an earlier generation; Kensit's first-person monologues are unusually frank but not as captivating as intended. [R] ▼●

21 (2008) C-122m. ½ D: Robert Luketic. Jim Sturgess, Kevin Spacey, Kate Bosworth, Laurence Fishburne, Aaron Yoo, Liza Lapira, Jacob Pitts, Jack McGee, Josh Gad. Working-class whiz kid (Sturgess) who's wondering how he's going to pay his way through M.I.T. is recruited by professor Spacey to join his elite team: a small group of supersmart students who've learned how to count cards and beat the blackjack tables in Las Vegas. Entertaining wish-fulfillment yarn, taken from a true story, starts to deflate toward the climax when—inevitably—Sturgess goes riding for a fall. Based on Ben Mezrich's book Bringing Down the House. HD Widescreen. [PG-13] ●

21 Grams (2003) C-125m.  D: Alejandro González Iñárritu. Sean Penn, Benicio Del Toro, Naomi Watts, Charlotte Gainsbourg, Melissa Leo, Clea DuVall, Danny Huston, Paul Calderon. Three disparate people—an ex-con who has found religion, a woman who has lost her family, and a professor given a second chance at life—are brought together through unforeseen circumstances. Arresting drama told in fragmented, nonlinear fashion (not surprising from the creators of AMORES PERROS, director Iñárritu and writer Guillermo Arriaga) that does not quite illuminate the heavy material as much as the filmmakers would like to think. Beautifully acted by the three leads. [R] ▼●

Twenty Plus Two (1961) 102m.  D: Joseph M. Newman. David Janssen, Jeanne Crain, Dina Merrill, Agnes Moorehead, Brad Dexter. Poor production values detract from potential of yarn with private eye Janssen investigating a murder, encountering a neat assortment of people.

27 Dresses (2008) C-106m. ½ D: Anne Fletcher. Katherine Heigl, James Marsden, Malin Akerman, Edward Burns, Judy Greer, Melora Hardin, Brian Kerwin. Having played the role of bridesmaid in far too many weddings, Heigl finally decides to tell her boss (Burns) that she loves him. Just then, he meets and falls in love with her beautiful sister (Akerman) and Heigl is left to plan her dream wedding for her sibling. Heigl and Marsden are fun to watch in this amiable (if conventional) film. Panavision. [PG-13] ●

20,000 Leagues Under the Sea (1954) C-127m. * D: Richard Fleischer. Kirk Douglas, James Mason, Paul Lukas, Peter Lorre, Robert J. Wilke, Carleton Young.

Superb Disney fantasy-adventure on grand scale, from Jules Verne's novel. 19th-century scientist Lukas and sailor Douglas get involved with power-hungry Captain Nemo (Mason) who operates futuristic submarine. Memorable action sequences, fine cast make this a winner. Won Oscars for Art Direction and Special Effects. First filmed in 1916. Remade in 1997 as both a miniseries and made-for-TV movie. CinemaScope. ▼●●

20,000 Years in Sing Sing (1933) 81m.  D: Michael Curtiz. Spencer Tracy, Bette Davis, Arthur Byron, Lyle Talbot, Warren Hymer, Louis Calhern, Grant Mitchell, Sheila Terry. Still-powerful prison drama has only teaming of Tracy and Davis. He's a hardened criminal, she's his girl. Based on Warden Lewis E. Lawes' book. Remade as CASTLE ON THE HUDSON.

23 Paces to Baker Street (1956) C-103m.  D: Henry Hathaway. Van Johnson, Vera Miles, Cecil Parker, Patricia Laffan, Maurice Denham, Estelle Winwood. Absorbing suspense film in London has blind playwright Johnson determined to thwart crime plans he has overheard. CinemaScope.

Twice in a Lifetime (1985) C-111m.  D: Bud Yorkin. Gene Hackman, Ann-Margret, Ellen Burstyn, Amy Madigan, Ally Sheedy, Brian Dennehy, Stephen Lang, Darrell Larson. Middle-aged man falls in love with younger woman and must endure the pain he causes not only his wife but also his children—especially his oldest daughter. Realistic look at the way different people react to situation keeps this film away from cliché and predictability; superior acting, especially by Hackman, Burstyn, and Madigan (as the angry daughter) make it special. Written by Colin Welland. [R] ▼●●

Twice-Told Tales (1963) C-119m.  D: Sidney Salkow. Vincent Price, Sebastian Cabot, Mari Blanchard, Brett Halsey, Richard Denning. Episodic adaptation of Hawthorne stories has good cast, imaginative direction, and sufficient atmosphere to keep one's interest. One of the TALES is an abbreviated HOUSE OF THE SEVEN GABLES, which also starred Price in the 1940 version. ▼●●

Twice Upon a Time (1983) C-75m. ½ D: John Korty, Charles Swenson. Voices of Lorenzo Music, Judith Kahan Kampmann, Marshall Efron, James Cranna, Julie Payne, Hamilton Camp, Paul Frees. Captivating, hilarious animated feature done in a pseudo-cut-out style called "Lumage." Evil bosses of the Murkworks intend to blanket the world with perpetual nightmares; only a looney (and indescribable) bunch of would-be heroes can stop them. Too complex and fast-paced for small children, but a real treat for everyone else. Never given a full theatrical release, despite having George Lucas as executive producer. [PG]▼●

Twice Upon a Yesterday (1998-Spanish-British) C-96m.  D: Maria Ripoll. Douglas Henshall, Lena Headey, Penélope Cruz, Gustavo Salmeron, Eusebio Lazaro, Mark Strong, Charlotte Coleman, Elizabeth McGovern. Scotsman Henshall torpedoes his longtime relationship with Headey through his constant philandering. Then two garbage men with magical powers enable him to go back in time and make things right. Odd, undernourished little film doesn't make the most of its premise. [R]▼●

Twilight (1998) C-94m. ½ D: Robert Benton. Paul Newman, Susan Sarandon, Gene Hackman, Reese Witherspoon, Stockard Channing, James Garner, Giancarlo Esposito, Liev Schreiber, Margo Martindale, John Spencer, M. Emmet Walsh. Newman does a favor for old friend Hackman and finds himself waist-deep in murder and intrigue, as skeletons tumble out of the closet. Old-fashioned private-eye yarn, set in L.A. Newman is in fine form, surrounded by a great cast, but the film lacks spark, momentum, and an original point of view. Benton cowrote this with Richard Russo, but this is no match for their earlier collaboration (with Newman), NOBODY'S FOOL. [R]▼●●

Twilight (2008) C-121m.  D: Catherine Hardwicke. Kristen Stewart, Robert Pattinson, Billy Burke, Peter Facinelli, Elizabeth Reaser, Cam Gigandet, Ashley Greene, Anna Kendrick, Nikki Reed, Taylor Lautner, Kellan Lutz, Jackson Rathbone, Michael Welch, Justin Chon, Jose Zuniga, Rachele Lefevre, Edi Gathegi. Adroit adaptation of the first book in Stephenie Meyer's wildly popular series of novels about Bella (Stewart), a misfit teen who's just moved to Forks, Washington, to live with her divorced dad. There she falls under the spell of mysterious fellow student Edward Cullen (Pattinson), who turns out to be a vampire. Blending the romantic with the supernatural, and taking itself seriously at every turn, this film touches all the bases—and neatly sets up its sequel. Super 35. [PG-13]●

Twilight for the Gods (1958) C-120m. ½ D: Joseph Pevney. Rock Hudson, Cyd Charisse, Arthur Kennedy, Leif Erickson, Charles McGraw, Ernest Truex, Richard Haydn, Wallace Ford. Ernest K. Gann book, adapted by the author, becomes turgid soap of people on run-down vessel heading for Mexico, their trials and tribulations to survive when ship goes down.

Twilight of Honor (1963) 115m. ½ D: Boris Sagal. Richard Chamberlain, Nick Adams, Joan Blackman, Claude Rains, Joey Heatherton, James Gregory, Pat Buttram, Jeanette Nolan. Routine drama of struggling lawyer who takes on murder case with assistance of older expert Rains. Look for Linda Evans in a bit part. Panavision.

Twilight of the Gods (1997) C-93m.  D: Ross Marks. Jennifer Beals, Faye Dunaway, Brendan Fraser, Garry Marshall, Sean O'Bryan, Jon Tenney, Rosie O'Donnell. Reality-based film focuses on the ensuing turmoil after a geneticist's pregnant wife undergoes genetic testing. Thought-provoking drama, outstanding cast; Fraser is particularly captivating as gay Uncle David. Based on an off-Broadway play. Debuted on cable TV before theatrical release. [PG-13]▼●●

Twilight People, The (1972-U.S.-Filipino) C-84m. BOMB D: Eddie Romero. John Ashley, Pat Woodell, Charles Macaulay, Pam Grier, Jan Merlin, Eddie Garcia. Incredibly inept rip-off of ISLAND OF LOST SOULS has former SS doctor performing hideous experiments resulting in beings half-human, half-creature. Will put insomniacs to sleep. Aka BEASTS. [PG]▼●

Twilight's Last Gleaming (1977-U.S.-German) C-146m. ½ D: Robert Aldrich. Burt Lancaster, Richard Widmark, Charles Durning, Melvyn Douglas, Paul Winfield, Burt Young, Joseph Cotten, Roscoe Lee Browne, Gerald S. O'Loughlin, Richard Jaekel, Vera Miles, Leif Erickson, Charles McGraw, John Ratzenberger. Unstable Air Force officer seizes missile installation, threatens to start World War 3 unless U.S. comes clean on its former Vietnam policy. OK if overlong; based on Walter Wager's novel Viper Three. [R]▼●

Twilight Time (1983-U.S.-Yugoslavian) C-102m. ½ D: Goran Paskaljevic. Karl Malden, Jodi Thelen, Damien Nash, Mia Roth, Pavle Vujisic, Dragon Maksimovic. Sincere but unsuccessful film about an old man saddled with the upbringing of two grandchildren in rural Yugoslavia. Malden's performance is first-rate, but uneasy blend of American and Yugoslav elements and snail's pace all but sink it. [PG]

Twilight Zone—The Movie (1983) C-102m. ½ D: John Landis, Steven Spielberg, Joe Dante, George Miller. Vic Morrow, Scatman Crothers, Bill Quinn, Selma Diamond, Kathleen Quinlan, Jeremy Licht, Kevin McCarthy, William Schallert, John Lithgow, Abbe Lane, Bill Mumy, John Larroquette, narrated by Burgess Meredith. Dan Aykroyd and Albert Brooks provide entertaining prologue for four unusual tales (three actual remakes from Rod Serling's classic TV series), but none of them provides all-important moment of revelation that made the show so memorable . . . and more tellingly, none improves on the original. Best—final segment, remake of "Nightmare at 20,000 Feet," with Lithgow as terrified airline passenger, though even this episode is more explicit (and therefore less intriguing) than '60s TV version. [PG]▼●●

Twin Dragons (1992-Hong Kong) C-89m.

 D: Ringo Lam, Tsui Hark. Jackie Chan, Maggie Cheung, Teddy Robin (Kwan), Nina Li Chi, Alfred Cheung, Lai Ying Chow, Kirk Wong. Separated at birth, twin Jackies unexpectedly meet in Hong Kong; one's a famous conductor, the other a race car mechanic whose best friend has just been kidnapped; the twins are mentally linked, Corsican Brothers-style. Fast-paced action comedy with great stunts is one of Jackie's best vehicles, if silly at times. Recedited and redubbed for 1999 U.S. theatrical release from the 100m. original. Directors Lam and Hark have cameos, as does John Woo. Original title: SEUNG LUNG WUI. Technovision. [PG-13]▼●●

Twin Falls, Idaho (1999) C-110m. ½ D: Michael Polish. Michael Polish, Mark Polish, Michele Hicks, Jon Gries, Patrick Bauchau, Lesley Ann Warren, Garrett Morris, William Katt, Holly Woodlawn. Dreamy, oddball tale of Siamese twins, one of whom falls in love with a down-on-her-luck prostitute (Hicks). Surprisingly poignant film about family ties never opts for the grotesque and has a refreshing sense of deadpan humor. Ambitious debut from the Polish brothers, who wrote and costar. Only problem is overlength. [R]▼●

Twinkle and Shine SEE: It Happened to Jane

Twinkle, Twinkle, Killer Kane SEE: Ninth Configuration, The

Twin Peaks: Fire Walk With Me (1992) C-135m. *½ D: David Lynch. Sheryl Lee, Ray Wise, Kyle MacLachlan, Mädchen Amick, Dana Ashbrook, Phoebe Augustine, David Bowie, Eric DaRe, Miguel Ferrer, Pamela Gidley, Heather Graham, Chris Isaak, Moira Kelly, Peggy Lipton, James Marshall, Jürgen Prochnow, Harry Dean Stanton, Kiefer Sutherland, Lenny Von Dohlen, Grace Zabriskie, Frank Silva, Victor Rivers, Calvin Lockhart. Prototypically weird, but also strangely indifferent, prequel to the cult TV series, chronicling the final week in the life of murdered teen Laura Palmer (Lee). Lee is rather affecting under the circumstances, but film was understandably hissed at the Cannes Film Festival and greeted by moviegoer ennui here at home. Two surreal set pieces (one in a bar, the other in a traffic jam) may make it worthwhile for Lynch completists. The director appears as FBI Bureau Chief Gordon Cole. [R]▼●●

Twins (1988) C-112m.  D: Ivan Reitman. Arnold Schwarzenegger, Danny DeVito, Kelly Preston, Chloe Webb, Bonnie Bartlett, Marshall Bell, Trey Wilson, Hugh O'Brian, Nehemiah Persoff, David Caruso, Maury Chaykin. Entertaining comedy about genetically designed twins (Schwarzenegger and DeVito!) who discover each other's existence at the age of 35. Effectively blends sentiment and roughhouse humor, with the two mismatched stars packing extra punch in their delightful performances. That's Heather

Graham as the mom-to-be in the opening scene. [PG]▼●●

Twins of Evil (1971-British) C-85m. ½ D: John Hough. Peter Cushing, Madeleine Collinson, Mary Collinson, Luan Peters, Dennis Price, Isobel Black, Harvey Hall. One of the twins is a vampire, but nobody can tell which is which. Engaging Hammer chiller makes inspired use of Playboy's first twin playmates. Follow-up to VAMPIRE LOVERS and LUST FOR A VAMPIRE [R]▼●●

Twin Town (1997-British) C-101m.  D: Kevin Allen. Llyr Evans, Rhys Ifans, Dorian Thomas, Douglas Scott, Biddig Williams, Ronnie Williams, Rachel Scorgie. Black comedy—more nasty than funny—about brothers who seek revenge on a big-wig roofing contractor after their handyman father takes a fall. Executive-produced by the makers of TRAINSPOTTING, this features the same brand of cheeky humor, and a rare look at life on the fringe in the U.K. (Swansea, Southwest Wales), but it stalls midway from absurd plotting and never recovers; we're left with irritating characters who have unintelligible dialects. The director cameos as a local TV host. [R]▼●●

Twist, The (1976-French) C-105m. *½ D: Claude Chabrol. Bruce Dern, Stephane Audran, Ann-Margret, Sydne Rome, Jean-Pierre Cassel, Curt Jurgens, Maria Schell, Charles Aznavour. Undistinguished chronicle of the infidelities of various boring upper-class characters. Lackluster direction, with a superior cast wasted. Originally titled FOLIES BOURGEOISES, and filmed in both English and French versions.▼

Twist (1992-Canadian) C/B&W-78m.  D: Ron Mann. Entertaining documentary about the early years of rock 'n' roll, culminating with the popularity of the Twist, the dance craze which swept the nation during the early 1960s. Interesting as a cultural document (showing how whites co-opted black music and styles), and great fun as a trip down memory lane.▼●●

Twist All Night (1961) 78m. BOMB D: William Hole, Jr. Louis Prima, June Wilkinson, Sam Butera and The Witnesses, Gertrude Michael, David Whorf. Stupid comedy about Prima's attempts to keep his nightclub going; sexy Wilkinson is his girlfriend. Sometimes shown with a nine-minute color prologue, TWIST CRAZE, directed by Allan David. Aka THE CONTINENTAL TWIST.

Twist and Shout (1984-Danish) C-99m.  D: Bille August. Adam Tonsberg, Lars Simonsen, Ulrikke Jul Bondo, Camilla Soeberg, Thomas Nielsen. Funny, endearing, pleasantly nostalgic tale of a pair of teen buddies in the era of The Beatles' heyday. One (Simonsen) is dominated by his stern, manipulative father, while the other (Tonsberg) experiences the joy and pain of love. Sequel to August's earlier ZAPPA. [R]▼

Twist Around the Clock (1961) 86m.  D: Oscar Rudolph. Chubby Checker, Dion, The Marcels, Vicki Spencer, Clay Cole, John Cronin, Mary Mitchell. Agent Cronin tries to book Twist performers; of course, by the finale, the dance is the rage of America. Dion performs "The Wanderer" and "Runaround Sue." Remake of ROCK AROUND THE CLOCK.▼

Twisted (1992) C-82m. *½ D: Adam Holender. Lois Smith, Christian Slater, Tandy Cronyn, Brooke Tracy, Dina Merrill, Dan Ziskie, Karl Taylor, Noelle Parker, John Cunningham, J. C. Quinn. Sadistic teenage genius Slater, already a murderer, sets his sights on babysitter Smith, a recovering mental patient. Made in 1986. Talky, slow, unconvincing and extremely unpleasant. Aka TWISTED: A STEP BEYOND INSANITY. [R]▼

Twisted (2004) C-97m.  D: Philip Kaufman. Ashley Judd, Samuel L. Jackson, Andy Garcia, David Strathairn, Russell Wong, Camryn Manheim, Bill Duke, Mark Pellegrino, Titus Welliver, D.W. Moffett, Richard T. Jones, Leland Orser. Hotshot San Francisco cop, an orphan who was raised by her dad's ex-partner (now the city police commissioner), earns a promotion to homicide inspector, but finds herself the chief suspect in a string of brutal murders. There's no one to root for in this collection of bruised and off-putting characters, least of all Judd (in yet another Ashley-in-jeopardy vehicle), who releases her inner demons in the worst possible ways. Veronica Cartwright appears unbilled. [R]▼

Twisted Obsession (1989-Spanish-French) C-103m. *½ D: Fernando Trueba. Jeff Goldblum, Miranda Richardson, Anemone, Daniel Ceccaldi, Dexter Fletcher, Liza Walker. Laughable, would-be erotic thriller, with Goldblum a writer in Paris who gets mixed up with a strange British director and his seductive 16-year-old sister. Preentious, enervated Eurotrash like this gives "art" movies a bad name . . . but where else could you see Goldblum playing an irresistible stud? Originally titled THE MAD MONKEY. Panavision. [R]▼

Twister (1988) C-94m. *½ D: Michael Almereyda. Harry Dean Stanton, Suzy Amis, Crispin Glover, Dylan McDermott, Jenny Wright, Lois Chiles. Squirrely clan comedy assembles some unlikely siblings at the old man's mansion; try imagining Stanton as any extended group's patriarch! Film's eccentricity is more off-putting than whimsical; Amis and Glover as siblings would be a challenge to any parent's reproductive tract. Based on Mary Robison's well-regarded novel OH!. [PG-13]▼

Twister (1996) C-114m.  D: Jan De Bont. Helen Hunt, Bill Paxton, Cary Elwes, Jami Gertz, Lois Smith, Alan Ruck, Philip

Seymour Hoffman, Jeremy Davies, Todd Field, Zach Grenier, Jake Busey. A wild ride of a movie, dealing with storm chasers who want to learn all they can about tornadoes—by getting inside them. The plot and characterizations are best described as lame, but the special effects are so convincing, and the storms so incredible, that they carry you along (no pun intended) from one kinetic burst to another. Great fun. Written by Michael Crichton and his wife, Anne-Marie Martin. Panavision. [PG-13]▼

Twist of Sand, A (1968-British) C-90m.  D: Don Chaffey. Richard Johnson, Honor Blackman, Jeremy Kemp, Peter Vaughan, Roy Dotrice. Ex-submarine commander Johnson leads crew of smugglers on expedition for diamonds in ordinary programmer.

Twitch of the Death Nerve (1971-Italian) C-90m.  D: Mario Bava. Claudine Auger, Claudio Volonte, Luigi Pistilli, Leopoldo Trieste, Isa Miranda, Laura Betti. The ne plus ultra of Bava's colorful horror movies, this influenced such later films as HALLOWEEN and FRIDAY THE 13TH. People in an isolated house are killed one by one in gruesome, imaginative ways. Those who love Bava don't love him for his stories, but for his extraordinary mastery of cinema technique, vividly displayed here. Aka LAST HOUSE ON THE LEFT, PART II (though it has no connection with Part I), BAY OF BLOOD, and CARNAGE—with good reason. Panoramica. [R]▼

Two Against the World (1936) 57m.  D: William McGann. Humphrey Bogart, Beverly Roberts, Linda Perry, Carlyle Moore, Jr., Henry O'Neill, Claire Dodd. Remake of FIVE STAR FINAL set in radio station is more contrived, not as effective. Retitled: ONE FATAL HOUR.

Two Bits (1995) C-93m. ½ D: James Foley. Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio, Al Pacino, Jerry Barrone, Patrick Borriello, Andy Romano, Donna Mitchell, Mary Lou Rosato, Joe Grifasi, Joanna Merlin; narrated by Alec Baldwin. Poignant memoir of growing up in South Philadelphia during the Depression, as seen through the eyes of young Gennaro (Barrone, in his movie debut), who lives with his widowed mother and his talkative grandfather (Pacino)—who insists he's going to die any day now. Beautifully acted by the leads, written with feeling by producer Joseph Stefano, but too slow and delicate to realize its full potential. Still worth seeing for a handful of crystalline moments. Panavision. [PG-13]▼

Two Brothers (2004-French-British) C-108m. ½ D: Jean-Jacques Annaud. Guy Pearce, Jean-Claude Dreyfus, Freddie Highmore, Philippine Leroy-Beaulieu, Moussa Maaskri, Vincent Scarito, Mai Anh Lê, Oanh Nguyen. Two Asian tiger cubs are separated; fate takes them on unpredictable paths and

introduces them to humans both kind and cruel. The animal footage is much more commanding than the story in this strange, off-kilter family film that contrasts the purity of the jungle with the difficulties of "civilized" life. Moments of magisterial beauty are offset by Disney-esque animal slapstick and broadly sketched, ill-defined human characters. HD 24P Widescreen. [PG] ▼

Two Can Play That Game (2001) C-90m.  D: Mark Brown. Vivica A. Fox, Morris Chestnut, Anthony Anderson, Wendy Raquel Robinson, Tamala Jones, Bobby Brown, Mo'Nique Imes Jackson, Gabrielle Union, Ray Wise. Sassy, self-possessed business exec Fox dispenses advice to her girlfriends on a regular basis, so when her boyfriend (Chestnut) strays one night, she's ready with a foolproof 10-day plan to teach him a lesson. Fun for a while, but Fox's game playing (and talking directly to the camera) soon grows tedious. Anderson adds comic energy every time he's on screen. Film ends with a novel twist: outtakes that aren't funny. [R] ▼

Two Daughters (1961-Indian) 114m. ½ D: Satyajit Ray. Anil Chatterjee, Chandana Bannerjee, Soumitra Chatterjee, Aparna Das Gupta, Sita Mukherji. A pair of episodes, adapted from the writings of Rabindranath Tagore, one good and the other superb. The former concerns the curious relationship between a postmaster and an orphan girl; the latter is the funny, gentle chronicle of what happens when a student rejects the woman his mother has chosen for his wife, deciding instead to marry the local tomboy. Ray scripted both stories. Originally released in India as part of a trilogy, running 171m. ▼

2 Days in Paris (2007-French) C-96m.  D: Julie Delpy. Julie Delpy, Adam Goldberg, Daniel Brühl, Marie Pillel, Albert Delpy. First-time director Delpy gets a boost from her own screen chemistry with costar Goldberg, as they play a N.Y.C.-based couple using travel to mend their relationship. The two end up feeling smothered in Paris-bred Delpy's apartment when they're not running into another of her former squeezes (who seem to loom around every corner). Small-scale but breezy, smart, and assured comedy milks Goldberg's increasingly funny fits of exasperation. Delpy's real-life parents play themselves. Delpy wrote, coproduced, edited, and composed the score. [R] ▼

2 Days in the Valley (1996) C-107m.  D: John Herzfeld. Danny Aiello, James Spader, Eric Stoltz, Greg Cruttwell, Jeff Daniels, Teri Hatcher, Glenna Headly, Peter Horton, Marsha Mason, Paul Mazursky, Charlize Theron, Keith Carradine, Louise Fletcher, Austin Pendleton, Lawrence Tierney. Wry crime thriller with gnarled plot involving a murder for hire, a betrayed crook, his slick partner, a dogged cop, a deadly wife, and others caroming off each other in L.A.'s San Fernando Valley. Entertaining and stylish, with fine performances, but more than a little contrived. Written by the director. Panavision. [R] ▼

Two Deaths (1995-British) C-102m.  D: Nicolas Roeg. Michael Gambon, Sonia Braga, Patrick Malahide, Ion Caramitru, Nickolas Grace. Bizarre drama about a doctor (Gambon) who has various guests in his home for an elegant dinner party while, outside, a revolution rages and the streets are filling with blood. Braga is the host's mysterious, silent housekeeper. Potentially intriguing drama is done in by its obvious symbolism and leaden pace. [R] ▼

Two English Girls (1971-French) C-108m. ½ D: François Truffaut. Jean-Pierre Léaud, Kika Markham, Stacey Tendeter, Sylvia Marriot, Marie Mansart, Philippe Leotard. Profoundly moving tale of a young writer (Léaud), and his lengthy love affair with two sisters. Fine performances and superb Nestor Almendros cinematography; directed with great feeling by Truffaut. In 1984, he added additional footage, increasing the running time to 132m.—and this version rates *, one of Truffaut's greatest achievements. ▼

Two Evil Eyes (1990-Italian) C-115m. *½ D: George Romero, Dario Argento. "The Facts in the Case of Mr. Valdemar": Adrienne Barbeau, Ramy Zada, Bingo O'Malley, Jeff Howell, E. G. Marshall. "The Black Cat": Harvey Keitel, Madeleine Potter, John Amos, Sally Kirkland, Kim Hunter, Holter Ford Graham, Martin Balsam. A pair of Poe stories poorly adapted by two leading horror directors. In the first, by Romero, a greedy wife and unscrupulous doctor leave a man hovering in limbo between life and death. In the second, by Argento, a self-obsessed photographer kills his mistress' black cat, then seals the woman behind a wall with another feline. The second is slightly more successful than the first. [R] ▼

Two-Faced Woman (1941) 94m. ½ D: George Cukor. Greta Garbo, Melvyn Douglas, Constance Bennett, Roland Young, Robert Sterling, Ruth Gordon, Frances Carson. Garbo's last film, in which MGM tried unsuccessfully to Americanize her personality. Attempted chic comedy of errors is OK, but not what viewer expects from the divine Garbo. Constance Bennett is much more at home in proceedings, stealing the film with her hilarious performance. ▼

Two Faces of Dr. Jekyll, The (1960-British) C-88m.  D: Terence Fisher. Paul Massie, Dawn Addams, Christopher Lee, David Kossoff, Francis De Wolff, Norma Marla. Uneven, sometimes unintentionally funny reworking of Stevenson story stresses Mr. and Mrs. relationship, plus fact that doctor himself is a weakling (and Hyde is suave and handsome!). Unfortunately, di-ologue and situations are boring. Look for Oliver Reed as a bouncer. Megascopé. ▼

Two Family House (2000) C-107m.  D: Raymond De Felitta. Michael Rispoli, Kelly Macdonald, Katherine Narducci, Kevin Conway, Matt Servitto, Michele Santopietro, Louis Guss, Rosemary DeAngelis, Victor Arnold, Dominic Chianese, Richard B. Shull. Charming fable about an Italian-American ne'er-do-well who bucks his wife and family to pursue a dream of operating a bar in Staten Island during the 1950s. Along the way he becomes involved with a feisty young (and pregnant) Irish woman. Warm-hearted tale written by the director, based on his own family lore; a welcome, non-clichéd look at this ethnic group. [R] ▼

2 Fast 2 Furious (2003) C-108m. ½ D: John Singleton. Paul Walker, Tyrese, Eva Mendes, Cole Hauser, Chris "Ludacris" Bridges, James Remar, Thom Barry, Michael Ealy, Devon Aoki. All but abandoning the street-racing milieu of THE FAST AND THE FURIOUS (except for a high-energy opening sequence), this sequel takes Walker to Florida, where he's recruited as an undercover fed to help capture a drug lord who hires fast drivers. Enough action to please indiscriminating fans, but the script leaves a lot to be desired. Followed by THE FAST AND THE FURIOUS: TOKYO DRIFT. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Two Flags West (1950) 92m.  D: Robert Wise. Joseph Cotten, Linda Darnell, Jeff Chandler, Cornel Wilde, Dale Robertson, Jay C. Flippen, Noah Beery, Jr. Very uneven Civil War Western. Battle scenes of good quality mixed with unappealing script and weak performances.

Two for the Money (2005) C-122m.  D: D. J. Caruso. Al Pacino, Matthew McConaughey, Rene Russo, Jeremy Piven, Armand Assante, Jaime King, Kevin Chapman, Carly Pope. Hotshot hustler who promotes sports gambling over phone lines recruits a former football player to join his team, and fashions him as a protégé—with many strings attached. Although "inspired by a true story," this needlessly convoluted yarn goes on too long and takes far too many detours to score. Pacino is compelling to watch, as always, but his character is alternately inscrutable and infuriating. Super 35. [R] ▼

Two for the Road (1967-British) C-112m.  D: Stanley Donen. Audrey Hepburn, Albert Finney, Eleanor Bron, William Daniels, Claude Dauphin, Nadia Gray, Jacqueline Bisset. Beautifully acted film of bickering couple Hepburn and Finney stopping to reminisce about their 12 years of marriage, trying to work to save their happiness. Perceptive, winning film, well directed by Donen. Lovely theme by Henry Mancini; script by Frederic Raphael. Photographed

by Christopher Challis, on luscious French locations. Panavision. ▼

Two for the Seesaw (1962) 119m. ½ D: Robert Wise. Robert Mitchum, Shirley MacLaine, Edmon Ryan, Elisabeth Fraser. Well-acted but dated drama about the evolving relationship between two imperfect, vulnerable people: wandering Nebraska lawyer Mitchum and eccentric "born victim" MacLaine. Based on the William Gibson play. Panavision. ▼

2 Friends (1986-Australian) C-76m. ½ D: Jane Campion. Kris Bickeno, Emma Coles, Kris McQuade, Peter Hehir, Kerry Dwyer, Stephen Leeder, Deborah May, Tony Barry, Steve Bisley. Campion's debut feature, produced for Australian television, is the slice-of-life portrait of a friendship between two adolescent girls, and the subtle changes in their relationship. Not without inspired moments, but lacks the assurance of Campion's later work. The scenario unravels in reverse time, a dramatic structure that seems more gimmicky than inspired. Released in the U.S. in 1996. ▼

Two Gentlemen Sharing (1969-British) C-92m.  D: Ted Kotcheff. Robin Phillips, Judy Geeson, Hal Frederick, Esther Anderson, Norman Rossington. Unusual story of mixed racial couples is done more with the sensational in mind than honest portrayal. [R]

Twogether (1994) C-122m. ½ D: Andrew Chiaromonte, Nick Cassavetes, Brenda Bakke, Damian London, Jeremy Piven, Jim Beaver. Overlong, uninvolved "relationship drama" in which a couple finds love and fights a lot, in Venice Beach, California. The bodies look good, and there are a couple of hot scenes, but there's nothing much else to recommend in this independently made feature. The leading man is John Cassavetes and Gena Rowlands' son. [R] ▼

Two Girls and a Guy (1998) C-92m.  D: James Toback. Robert Downey, Jr., Heather Graham, Natasha Gregson Wagner, Angel David, Frederique Van Der Wal. Two women—each of whom believes she has found the perfect lover—discover that they're both in love with the same man. Virtually a one-set (Downey's N.Y.C. loft) film, it's well played by the three leads but remains more of an actor's dream than a movie. Manages to be fairly funny and scathing in equal parts; also contains one serious though dimly lit sex scene. Wagner is the daughter of Natalie Wood. [R] ▼

Two Hands (1999-Australian) C-90m.  D: Gregor Jordan. Heath Ledger, Bryan Brown, Rose Byrne, Susie Porter, Steve Vidler, David Field, Tom Long, Tony Forrow, Mariel McClorey. Minor crime thriller/comedy-of-errors involving an ambitious but irresponsible young hotshot (Ledger) who becomes a courier for a Sydney mobster and screws up his first assignment. Tries to be outrageous but only intermittently succeeds; it also spotlights a hero who is impossible to root for. Released direct to DVD in the U.S. in 2005. [R] ●

Two-Headed Spy, The (1958-British) 93m.  D: Andre de Toth. Jack Hawkins, Gia Scala, Alexander Knox, Felix Aylmer, Donald Pleasence, Michael Caine, Laurence Naismith. Exciting true story of British spy (Hawkins) who operated in Berlin during WW2 is loaded with heart-stopping tension and suspense. Fine performances all around; one of Caine's earliest roles.

200 Cigarettes (1999) C-101m. *½ D: Risa Bramon Garcia. Ben Affleck, Casey Affleck, Jennifer Albano, Dave Chappelle, Guillermo Diaz, Angela Featherstone, Janeane Garofalo, Gaby Hoffmann, Kate Hudson, Catherine Kellner, Courtney Love, Brian McCardie, Jay Mohr, Nicole Parker, Martha Plimpton, Christina Ricci, Paul Rudd, David Johansen, Elvis Costello. It's New Year's Eve 1981, in N.Y.C.'s East Village, with an assortment of young people trying (not too hard) to reach a loft party thrown by frantic Plimpton. Merits some sort of prize for Most Obnoxious Ensemble... and sorely lacks a coherent script. [R] ▼●●

200 Motels (1971) C-98m. ½ D: Frank Zappa, Tony Palmer. Frank Zappa, Mothers of Invention, Theodore Bikel, Ringo Starr, Keith Moon. Visual, aural assault disguised as movie; completely berserk, freeform film (shot on videotape in England) featuring bizarre humor of Zappa and the Mothers. Some of it ingenious, some funny, but not enough to maintain entire film. Funny, raunchy animation sequence. [R] ▼●

Two If by Sea (1996) C-96m. *½ D: Bill Bennett. Denis Leary, Sandra Bullock, Stephen Dillane, Yaphet Kotto, Wayne Robson, Jonathan Tucker, Mike Starr, Michael Badalucco. Alternately boring and grating comedy about a pair of low-class lovers on the lam after he's stolen a valuable painting. Leary cowrote this unsatisfying "romantic" caper which changes moods with each scene. Bullock's charm emerges unscathed. [R] ▼●●

Two Jakes, The (1990) C-137m.  D: Jack Nicholson. Jack Nicholson, Harvey Keitel, Meg Tilly, Madeleine Stowe, Eli Wallach, Ruben Blades, Frederic Forrest, David Keith, Richard Farnsworth, Tracey Walter, Joe Mantell, James Hong, Perry Lopez, Rebecca Broussard, Luana Anders. Belated sequel to CHINATOWN set in 1948 L.A., with oil having replaced water as the natural resource of choice. Jake Gittes investigates complex case of adultery and shady real estate dealings by Keitel (excellent, as the other Jake) and cheating wife Tilly. Ponderous and convoluted beyond belief (though never boring), film will make no sense to anyone who's never seen CHI-

NATOWN; the old indecipherable plot routine that worked for THE BIG SLEEP (1946) doesn't cut it here. Faye Dunaway makes a brief (and welcome) contribution; Tom Waits appears unbilled as a policeman. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Two-Lane Blacktop (1971) C-101m. ½ D: Monte Hellman. James Taylor, Warren Oates, Laurie Bird, Dennis Wilson, David Drake, Richard Ruth, Alan Vint. Cult film about race across the Southwest between a '55 Chevy and a new GTO has intense direction to compensate for low-key script; Oates' performance is about as good as you'll ever see and should have had the Oscar. Quintessential movie of its time, with aimless characters who only know one thing: the need to race their cars. Watch for Harry Dean Stanton as a hitchhiker. Techniscope. [R] ▼●●

Two Lovers (2009-U.S.-French) C-109m. ½ D: James Gray. Joaquin Phoenix, Gwyneth Paltrow, Vinessa Shaw, Isabella Rossellini, Elias Koteas, Moni Moshonov, Julie Budd, Nick Gillie. Fragile young man (Phoenix) lives with his parents in a claustrophobic Brighton Beach, Brooklyn, apartment. Just after meeting a nice, "safe" woman (Shaw) who's interested in him—and happens to be the daughter of his father's new business partner—he encounters a beautiful but troubled neighbor and falls recklessly in love with her, despite the fact that she doesn't return his feelings. Intensely felt, emotionally direct drama from cowriter-director Gray invokes the spirit of vintage American and European films. Wonderfully observed, it makes great use of its locations and offers its stars a terrific showcase. HD Widescreen. [R] ●

Two Loves (1961) C-100m.  D: Charles Walters. Shirley MacLaine, Laurence Harvey, Jack Hawkins, Juano Hernandez, Nobu McCarthy. Plodding sudser set in New Zealand with spinster teacher MacLaine trying to decide between suitors Harvey and Hawkins. CinemaScope.

Two-Minute Warning (1976) C-115m. *½ D: Larry Peerce. Charlton Heston, John Cassavetes, Martin Balsam, Beau Bridges, Marilyn Hassett, David Janssen, Jack Klugman, Gena Rowlands, Walter Pidgeon, Brock Peters, David Groh, Mitchell Ryan, Pamela Bellwood, Andy Sidaris, Vincent Baggetta, Robert Ginty. Pointless story of attempt to catch sniper in packed football stadium. Usual mélange of hackneyed characters in this contrived Hollywood product. Merv Griffin sings the national anthem! Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Two-Moon Junction (1988) C-104m. ½ D: Zalman King. Sherilyn Fenn, Richard Tyson, Louise Fletcher, Burl Ives, Kristy McNichol, Millie Perkins, Don Galloway, Herve Villechaize, Dabbs Greer, Screamin'

Jay Hawkins. Or, Sorority Girl Goes Nympho. Well-bred Dixie beauty gets an itch south of the navel to take off with a traveling carny hunk; rich grandma Fletcher and sheriff Ives conspire to halt the union. Camp fest is just funny and sexy enough to maintain interest; McNichol has a lively cameo as a bisexual cowgirl. The title may be a pun. Followed by a sequel. [R]▼●●

Two Mrs. Carrolls, The (1947) 99m. ½ D: Peter Godfrey. Humphrey Bogart, Barbara Stanwyck, Alexis Smith, Nigel Bruce, Isobel Elsom. Shriill murder drama with Bogie as psychopathic artist who paints wives as Angels of Death, then kills them; Stanwyck registers all degrees of panic as the next marital victim. Filmed in 1945. Also shown in computer-colored version.▼

Two Much (1996-U.S.-Spanish) C-118m. ½ D: Fernando Trueba. Antonio Banderas, Melanie Griffith, Daryl Hannah, Danny Aiello, Joan Cusack, Eli Wallach, Austin Pendleton, Gabino Diego, Alan Rich, Phil Leeds, Vincent Schiavelli. Miami scam artist Banderas falls for the sister of his new fiancée and pretends to be his own twin brother in order to pursue her. Would-be screwball comedy is filled with embarrassing dialogue, which cast struggles to surmount by overacting. A fiasco . . . and an unfortunate English-language debut for the director of the Oscar-winning BELLE EPOQUE. Based on a novel by Donald E. Westlake. Panavision. [PG-13]▼●●

Two Mules for Sister Sara (1970) C-105m.  D: Don Siegel. Clint Eastwood, Shirley MacLaine, Manolo Fabregas, Alberto Morin, Armando Silvestre. Engaging story of drifter Eastwood helping nun MacLaine across Mexican desert, becoming wary of her un-pious nature. Beautifully shot (by Gabriel Figueroa), well-acted, good fun, marred by needlessly violent massacre climax. Albert Maltz wrote the screenplay, from a story by Budd Boetticher. Panavision. [M/PG]▼

Two Ninas (2001) C-90m. ½ D: Neil Turtitz. Ron Livingston, Amanda Peet, Cara Buono, Bray Poor, Linda Larkin, John Rothman, Jill Hennessy. Diverting comedy about a guy who, having reached a self-professed dead end with the opposite sex, winds up in serious relationships with two women at the same time—both of them named Nina! Made on a shoestring, but fresh and funny; written by the director. Filmed in 1998. [R]▼

Two of a Kind (1983) C-87m. BOMB D: John Herzfeld. John Travolta, Olivia Newton-John, Charles Durning, Oliver Reed, Beatrice Straight, Scatman Crothers, Castulo Guerra, Ernie Hudson, Kathy Bates; voice of Gene Hackman. Puerile fantasy-romance with a script that must have been scrawled on a gum wrapper. A quartet of angels try to persuade God to give the human race another chance—using two pretty unappealing subjects (an inventor-turned-bank robber and a not-so-innocent bank teller) as guinea pigs. Just awful. [PG]▼●●

Two of Us, The (1968-French) 86m. ½ D: Claude Berri. Michel Simon, Alain Cohen, Luce Fabiole, Roger Carel, Paul Preboist, Charles Denner. Charming film about growing relationship between young Jewish boy sent away from WW2 Paris and blustery, anti-Semitic guardian who lives in the country. Warm, funny, beautifully acted.▼

Two on a Guillotine (1965) 107m. ½ D: William Conrad. Connie Stevens, Dean Jones, Cesar Romero, Parley Baer, Virginia Gregg. To receive inheritance from her late father (Romero), a stage illusionist, Connie must spend a week in his spooky mansion. Familiar plot with some scares. Panavision.

Two or Three Things I Know About Her (1967-French) C-95m. ½ D: Jean-Luc Godard. Marina Vlady, Anny Duperey, Roger Montsoret, Jean Narboni, Juliet Berto, Claude Miller. Masterly dissection of marriage, materialism, and suburban anomie, depicting a day in the life of an attractive French housewife who goes into Paris once a week for a little casual prostitution in order to maintain her bourgeois lifestyle. Stylish and penetrating sociological study, with great photography by Raoul Coutard. Techniscope.▼

Two People (1973) C-100m. ½ D: Robert Wise. Peter Fonda, Lindsay Wagner, Estelle Parsons, Alan Fudge, Geoffrey Horne, Frances Sternhagen. Soapy, but oddly affecting drama about Army deserter returning home to face the consequences and fashion model with whom he falls in love. Beautiful photography by Gerald Hirschfeld and likable performance by Wagner in her first major role. [R]

Two Rode Together (1961) C-109m. ½ D: John Ford. James Stewart, Richard Widmark, Linda Cristal, Shirley Jones, Andy Devine, John McIntire, Mae Marsh, Henry Brandon, Anna Lee. Fair Western with Stewart as cynical marshal hired to rescue pioneers captured by the Comanches years ago; Widmark is cavalry officer who accompanies him.▼●

Two Small Bodies (1993) C-85m. ½ D: Beth B. Fred Ward, Suzy Amis. Suspicious, neurotic cop Ward investigates the mysterious disappearance of the two children of cocktail waitress Amis, who seems strangely ambivalent over the tragedy. Eerie, effective two-character psychodrama; however, both characters are so unlikely that the film occasionally becomes difficult to watch.▼

2001: A Space Odyssey (1968-British) C-139m. * D: Stanley Kubrick. Keir Dullea, William Sylvester, Gary Lockwood, Daniel Richter; voice of HAL: Douglas

Rain. A unique masterpiece, immensely influential; Kubrick starkly depicts several encounters mankind has with never-glimpsed aliens, from the dawn of Man four million years ago to the title year, when an alien artifact is found on the Moon. An expedition tracking its radio signal is launched to Jupiter, with mysterious, haunting results. A visual feast, film also boasts distinction of having put Richard Strauss into the Top 40 with "Also Sprach Zarathustra." Cut by 17 minutes after premiere, by Kubrick himself, to present length. Oscar-winning special effects. Screenplay by Arthur C. Clarke and the director, from Clarke's The Sentinel. Followed by 2010 in 1984. Super Panavision 70. [G]▼●●

2010 (1984) C-114m.  D: Peter Hyams. Roy Scheider, John Lithgow, Helen Mirren, Bob Balaban, Keir Dullea, Madolyn Smith, Dana Elcar, Elya Baskin, Savely Kramarov; voice of Douglas Rain. Ambitious sequel to 2001: A SPACE ODYSSEY written by director Hyams from the follow-up novel by Arthur C. Clarke (who has a cameo on Washington park bench). Scheider is perfect Everyman who journeys into space on joint American-Soviet mission to solve mystery of what went wrong on original Discovery flight. More concrete and therefore less mystical than 2001, with an ending that's much too literal, but still an entertaining journey, with state-of-the-art visual effects by Richard Edlund. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

2000 Years Later (1969) C-80m.  D: Bert Tenzer. Terry-Thomas, Edward Everett Horton, John Abbott, Pat Harrington, Lisa Seagram, Monti Rock III, Rudi Gernreich. Amusing story of 20th-century man exploiting a Roman soldier who comes back to life after 2000 years. [R]

Two Way Stretch (1960-British) 87m.  D: Robert Day. Peter Sellers, Wilfrid Hyde-White, Lionel Jeffries, Liz Fraser, Maurice Denham, Bernard Cribbins, David Lodge. Wry shenanigans of Sellers et al. as prisoners who devise a means of escaping to commit a robbery and then return to safety of their cells.▼

Two Weeks (2006) C-102m.  D: Steve Stockman. Sally Field, Ben Chaplin, Tom Cavanaugh, Julianne Nicholson, Glenn Howerton, Clea DuVall, James Murtaugh, Michael Hyatt, Susan Misner, Jenny O'Hara. Four squabbling siblings reunite at their dying mother's house but the quick stay they were expecting turns into an agonizing two weeks. It talks and walks like a Lifetime TV movie, un- easily blending comic moments with agonizing scenes of a cancer-ridden Field. The star is expert, as always, in a story that may feel much more comfortable on the small screen. [R]▼

Two Weeks in Another Town (1962) C-107m.  D: Vincente Minnelli. Kirk Douglas, Edward G. Robinson, Cyd Charisse, George Hamilton, Claire Trevor, Daliah Lavi, Rossana Schiaffino, Constance

Ford. Overly ambitious attempt to intellectualize Irwin Shaw novel, revolving around problems of people involved in movie-making in Rome. Reunites much of the talent from THE BAD AND THE BEAUTIFUL, footage from which is used as the film-within-a-film here. CinemaScope.▼●

Two Weeks in September (1967-French) C-96m. ½ D: Serge Bourguignon. Brigitte Bardot, Laurent Terzieff, Michael Sarne, James Robertson Justice. Bardot, mistress to older man, has fling with younger lover, can't decide between the two. Location shooting in London and Scotland enhances OK story. Franscope.▼

Two Weeks Notice (2002) C-101m. ½ D: Marc Lawrence. Sandra Bullock, Hugh Grant, Alicia Witt, Dana Ivey, Robert Klein, Heather Burns, David Haig, Dorian Missick. Community activist and lawyer (Bullock) is hired by a charming, wealthy playboy (Grant) whose development project was formerly one of her targets. She winds up running his life for him, but only when she tires of that (and serves notice) does she begin to realize how much she cares about him. A contrivance from the word go, this paper-thin romantic comedy is still enjoyable because of the two stars' charming performances. [PG-13]▼

Two Women (1960-Italian) 99m. * D: Vittorio De Sica. Sophia Loren, Raf Vallone, Eleanora Brown, Jean-Paul Belmondo. Loren deservedly won Oscar for heart-rending portrayal of Italian mother who, along with young daughter, is raped by Allied Moroccan soldiers during WW2. How they survive is an intensely moving story. Screenplay by Cesare Zavattini from an Alberto Moravia novel. Loren remade this in 1989 as a two-part Italian TVM.▼●●

Two Years Before the Mast (1946) 98m. *½ D: John Farrow. Alan Ladd, Brian Donlevy, William Bendix, Esther Fernandez, Howard da Silva, Barry Fitzgerald, Albert Dekker, Darryl Hickman. Badly scripted story of Richard Henry Dana's (Donlevy) crusade to expose mistreatment of men at sea. Da Silva is standout as tyrannical captain.▼

Tycoon (1947) C-128m. ½ D: Richard Wallace. John Wayne, Laraine Day, Cedric Hardwicke, Judith Anderson, James Gleason, Anthony Quinn, Grant Withers. Wayne plays determined railroad builder in this overlong, but well-acted drama with fine cast.▼

Tyler Perry's Daddy's Little Girls SEE: Daddy's Little Girls

Tyler Perry's Madea Goes to Jail (2009) C-103m. *½ D: Tyler Perry. Tyler Perry, Derek Luke, Keshia Knight Pulliam, David Mann, Tamela Mann, Ion Overman, Viola Davis, Sofia Vergara. Adapting yet another of his popular stage plays, writer-director Perry again stars as Madea, the trash-talking, quick-tempered matriarch of an extended Atlanta family, for his customary mix of broad comedy, sudsy sentimentality, violent slapstick, and spiritual uplift. Movie lurches clumsily between parallel plotlines: While Madea's sassy, self-absorbed antics dismay loved ones and anger law-enforcement officials, a sincere assistant DA (Luke) tries to help a fallen-from-grace former classmate (Pulliam, all grown up since The Cosby Show), greatly annoying his snooty fiancée (Overman). Madea is more obnoxious than usual, but undeniably funny in a verbal showdown with TV's Dr. Phil. Other TV personalities appear as themselves. [PG-13]◆

Tyler Perry's Madea's Family Reunion SEE: Madea's Family Reunion

Tyler Perry's Meet the Browns SEE: Meet the Browns

Tyler Perry's The Family That Preys (2008) C-11m. ½ D: Tyler Perry. Alfre Woodard, Sanaa Lathan, Rockmond Dunbar, KaDee Strickland, Cole Hauser, Taraji P. Henson, Robin Givens, Tyler Perry, Kathy Bates, Sebastian Siegel. Polished but over-the-top soapier involving the conflicts and interactions between two Southern families, one black and the other white, spotlighting the deep friendship of the matriarchs (Woodard and Bates, both well cast). Entertaining enough on a nonthink level, but don't look for subtlety or depth here. Aka THE FAMILY THAT PREYS. [PG-13]◆

Tyler Perry's Why Did I Get Married? SEE: Why Did I Get Married?

Tyson (2009) C-90m.  D: James Toback. Emotionally punchy, predominantly talking-head portrait of onetime heavyweight champion Mike Tyson, terrifyingly invincible in his prime but shockingly beatable once he lost the fire in his belly and personal demons wore him down. Given his past fascination, in print and on-screen, with actor-athlete Jim Brown, Toback was probably the best imaginable auteur to get Tyson to open up so dramatically and disturbingly about his three-year stretch in prison, his inability to trust, his disastrous marriage to actress Robin Givens, and his horrific public outbursts both in and out of the ring. And yet Tyson reveals a tender side that's as compelling as it is surprising. A keen companion to Barbara Kopple's 1993 documentary FALLEN CHAMP: THE UNTOLD STORY OF MIKE TYSON. [R]

U-Boat 29 SEE: Spy in Black, The U-571 (2000) C-116m. ½ D: Jonathan Mostow. Matthew McConaughey, Bill Paxton, Harvey Keitel, Jon Bon Jovi, Jake Weber, David Keith, T.C. Carson, Jack Noseworthy, Thomas Guiry, Erik Palladino, Dave Power, Will Estes. WW2 submarine crew has to find a way to board and overtake a German U-boat and bring back a crucial secret-code transmitter. It turns out to be more difficult than they expect. Agreeably old-fashioned WW2 submarine drama starts with a bang and holds interest throughout, but fizzles out at the end. Still pretty entertaining. Super 35. [PG-13]◆●●

UForia (1986) C-100m. ½ D: John Binder, Cindy Williams, Harry Dean Stanton, Fred Ward, Harry Carey, Jr., Beverly Hope Atkinson. Amiable if sometimes uneasy mix of MELVIN AND HOWARD and CLOSE ENCOUNTERS OF THE THIRD KIND with Williams as a kooky grocery store cashier who believes she has received a message from outer space and will become a female Noah on UFO ark. Made in 1980, this finally found a distributor (and an audience). [PG]▼
Ugetsu (1953-Japanese) 96m. ½ D: Kenji Mizoguchi. Machiko Kyo, Masayuki Mori, Kinuyo Tanaka, Sakae Ozawa. Eerie ghost story set in 16th-century Japan tells of two peasants who leave their families; one seeks wealth in the city and the other wishes to become a samurai warrior. This superbly photographed film was a Venice Film Festival prize winner. Full title UGETSU MONOGATARI.◆●●

Ugly American, The (1963) C-120m. ½ D: George H. Englund. Marlon Brando, Sandra Church, Pat Hingle, Eiji Okada, Arthur Hill, Kukrit Pramoj, Jocelyn Brando. Brando is American ambassador to Asian country; his arrival stirs up pro-communist elements, leading to havoc. Political revelations of U.S. power struggle aren't meat for exciting film. Adapted by Stewart Stern from the William J. Lederer-Eugene Burdick book.◆●

Ugly Dachshund, The (1966) C-93m.  D: Norman Tokar. Dean Jones, Suzanne Pleshette, Charlie Ruggles, Kelly Thordsen, Parley Baer. Silly, featherweight Disney comedy about husband and wife who train their respective dogs for competition at dog show. Fun for kids, but too contrived and silly for anyone else to enjoy.◆●

UHF (1989) C-97m.  D: Jay Levey. "Weird Al" Yankovic, Victoria Jackson, Kevin McCarthy, Michael Richards, David Bowe, Stanley Brock, Anthony Geary, Trinidad Silva, Gedde Watanabe, Billy Barty, John Paragon, Fran Drescher, Sue Ane Langdon, Emo Philips. Music video parodist Yankovic's starring feature debut casts him as the manager of a small-time TV station who inadvertently hits it big with his unconventional programming ideas. Story is threadbare, but some of the spoofs of commercials, movies, and TV shows are fun. Yankovic scripted with director Levey. [PG-13]◆●●

Ulee's Gold (1997) C-111m.  D: Victor Nuñez. Peter Fonda, Patricia Richardson, Jessica Biel, J. Kenneth Campbell, Christine Dunford, Steven Flynn, Dewey Weber, Tom Wood, Vanessa Zima. A small gem from writer-director Nuñez about a taciturn beekeeper in northern Florida whose ordered life is disrupted when his son sends an SOS from prison. His wife is in trouble, and while Fonda has had no use for her since she abandoned her two daughters

(whom he is raising) he tries to help—and gets caught in a quagmire involving his son's former partners in crime. Slow and steady, like the leading character, but rewarding, with Fonda a tower of strength in the best part he's ever had. [R]▼●●

Ultimate Gift, The (2006) C-117m. ★½ D: Michael O. Sajbel. Drew Fuller, James Garner, Abigail Breslin, Ali Hillis, Lee Meriwether, Brian Dennehy, Bill Cobbs. A spoiled trust-fund brat finds his world turned upside down when his recently deceased grandfather leaves him a series of tasks he must accomplish in order to collect his inheritance. On his journey, he has a variety of experiences—predominantly an encounter with a young single mother and her leukemia-stricken daughter—that help him learn important life lessons about hard work, love, Christianity, and the value of money. Well-meaning film becomes sanctimonious, and its rhetorical methods are so overt (and often shameless) that it fails to charm, move, or persuade. From the novel by Jim Stovall. [PG]●

Ultimate Solution of Grace Quigley, The SEE: Grace Quigley

Ultimate Warrior, The (1975) C-94m. ★★½ D: Robert Clouse. Yul Brynner, Max von Sydow, Joanna Miles, William Smith, Stephen McHattie, Lane Bradbury. Routine acting and directing spoil potentially intriguing futuristic sci-fi. In the 21st century, Brynner and von Sydow control a decreasing band of people fighting for whatever is left in N.Y.C. following ecological disasters. [R]▼●

Ulysses (1954-Italian) C-104m.  D: Mario Camerini. Kirk Douglas, Silvana Mangano, Anthony Quinn, Sylvie, Rossana Podesta. Hokey, lumbering costumer with Douglas as Ulysses, on his Odyssey home to Penelope after the Trojan War. Watch Kirk speak in dubbed Italian, then English. Seven writers are credited for this, including Ben Hecht and Irwin Shaw.▼●

Ulysses (1967) 124m. ★★½ D: Joseph Strick. Barbara Jefford, Milo O'Shea, Maurice Rooves, T. P. McKenna, Martin Dempsey, Sheila O'Sullivan. Idea of putting James Joyce's massive novel on the screen seemed daring in 1967, but now seems like a stupid stunt. Lots of good prose makes it to the screen, but end result is interesting curio, not a film. Shot on location in Ireland; Strick far more successfully filmed Joyce's A PORTRAIT OF THE ARTIST AS A YOUNG MAN in 1979. Panavision.▼●●

Ulysses Against Hercules (1961-Italian) C-99m. ★½ D: Mario Caiano. Georges Marchal, Michael Lane, Alessandra Panaro, Gianni Santuccio. Childish blend of myth and muscleman antics with Hercules (Lane) sent to punish Ulysses (Marchal); special effects of bird-men not up to snuff. Aka

ULYSSES AGAINST THE SON OF HERCULES.●

Ulzana's Raid (1972) C-103m. ★★½ D: Robert Aldrich. Burt Lancaster, Bruce Davison, Jorge Luke, Richard Jaeckel, Joaquin Martinez, Lloyd Bochner, Karl Swenson, Richard Farnsworth. Lancaster is a savvy, straight-talking Indian scout who leads cavalry lieutenant Davison (still wet behind the ears) and his company on a discouraging pursuit of an Apache chief. Gritty Western tale written by Alan Sharp, with jarring bursts of violence. [R]▼●●

Umberto D (1952-Italian) 89m. * D: Vittorio De Sica. Carlo Battisti, Maria Pia Casilio, Lina Gennari. Ex-bureaucrat on a meager fixed pension is about to be forced out into Rome streets with only his beloved mongrel to comfort him. De Sica is said to have considered this his greatest work, and he may have been right; subplot about Battisti's relationship with an unmarried, pregnant woman is as touching as predominant storyline. Shattering, all the way up to the tear-jerking conclusion.▼●●

Umbrellas of Cherbourg, The (1964-French) C-91m. ★★½ D: Jacques Demy. Catherine Deneuve, Nino Castelnuovo, Anne Vernon, Marc Michel, Ellen Farnen. Haunting music (score by Michel Legrand, lyrics by Demy) and gorgeous photography make this an outstanding romantic drama. All dialogue is sung. Followed by THE YOUNG GIRLS OF ROCHEFORT.▼●●

Umbrella Woman, The SEE: Good Wife, The

Unaccompanied Minors (2006) C-89m.  D: Paul Feig. Lewis Black, Wilmer Valderrama, Tyler James Williams, Dyllan Christopher, Brett Kelly, Gina Mantegna, Quinn Shephard, Paget Brewster, Rob Corddry, Dominique Saldana, Jessica Walter, Teri Garr, Rob Riggle, Michelle Sandler, David Koechner, Kevin McDonald, Bruce McCulloch, Mark McKinney. Six diverse kids, all heading from one divorced parent to another, are stranded at a Midwestern airport on Christmas Eve, where they wreak havoc and make life miserable for Black, who's in charge of "passenger relations." Low-grade time-filler for kids has neither wit nor subtlety in its shallow bag of tricks. Inspired by a story by Susan Burton first heard on the NPR show This American Life. Super 35. [PG]●

Unbearable Lightness of Being, The (1988) C-171m. * D: Philip Kaufman. Daniel Day-Lewis, Juliette Binoche, Lena Olin, Derek de Lint, Erland Josephson, Pavel Landovsky, Donald Moffat. Extraordinarily well-made adaptation of the acclaimed novel by Milan Kundera about a young Czech doctor of the 1960s who has a way with women (lots of women) and an aversion to politics but who finds himself caught up in his country's political turmoil—and a crisis of commitment with the women in his life. Kaufman and Jean-Claude Carrière's adaptation unfolds just like a good book, taking its time but never meandering as it paints a vivid picture of the character's life and times. Sensual, intelligent, and beautifully acted by the three leads; strikingly photographed by Sven Nykvist. [R] ▼●●

Unbecoming Age (1992) C-93m. ½ D: Deborah Ringel, Alfredo Ringel. Diane Salinger, John Calvin, Wallace Shawn, Colleen Camp, George Clooney, Shera Danese, Nicholas Guest, Priscilla Pointer. Salinger turns 40; depressed and bored, she blows "magic bubbles" which allow her to forget her age and recapture her youthful vigor. Cute romantic comedy-fantasy works most of the way before it runs out of steam. Video title: THE MAGIC BUBBLE. ▼●

Unbelievable Truth, The (1990) C-90m.  D: Hal Hartley. Adrienne Shelly, Robert Burke, Christopher Cooke, Julia McNeal, Mark Bailey, Gary Sauer, Katherine Mayfield, Edie Falco. Tall, mysterious man returns to his hometown after a stint in prison, causing a variety of reactions from the locals. Small, independently made black comedy may not be to everyone's taste, but it has its moments. Burke went on to replace Peter Weller as Robocop. [R] ▼●●

Unborn, The (1991) C-83m. ½ D: Rodman Flender. Brooke Adams, Jeff Hayenga, James Karen, K Callan, Jane Cameron, Kathy Cameron, Kathy Griffin, Lisa Kudrow. Young wife with a history of miscarriages is convinced that mysterious doctor (Karen) has inseminated her with mutated sperm. The result: a monstrous fetus which is so tough it outlives an attempted abortion. Convincing performances place this horror tale a notch above its exploitive subject matter. 1994 sequel: THE UNBORN II. [R] ▼●●

Unborn, The (2009) C-86m. ½ D: David S. Goyer. Odette Yustman, Gary Oldman, Cam Gigandet, Meagan Good, Idris Elba, Jane Alexander, James Remar, Carla Gugino. When she isn't taking showers or scampering about in scanty underthings, Yustman desperately seeks an explanation for creepy visitations by a twin brother who died at birth. Steeped in Jewish mysticism, and featuring one of the very few on-screen exorcisms performed by a rabbi (Oldman), writer-director Goyer's low-voltage shocker is often inadvertently comical enough to qualify as camp. Even so, some viewers may be seriously offended by this supernatural drama's exploitation of the Holocaust as a plot device. Panavision. [PG-13] ●

Unbreakable (2000) C-107m.  D: M. Night Shyamalan. Bruce Willis, Samuel L. Jackson, Robin Wright Penn, Charlayne Woodard, Spencer Treat Clark, James Handy, Eamonn Walker, Leslie Stefanson. Sullen security guard Willis, on the verge of divorce, is

pursued by a strange man who runs a comic-art gallery and is trying to convince him that he has extrasensory abilities. Somber, pin-drop drama from the writer-director of THE SIXTH SENSE, inspired by comic-book-style fiction, is like a shaggy-dog joke that doesn't seem worth the effort once you hear the punchline. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●

Uncanny, The (1977-British-Canadian) C-85m.  D: Denis Heroux. Peter Cushing, Ray Milland, Susan Penhaligon, Joan Greenwood, Alexandra Stewart, Chloe Franks, Donald Pleasence, Samantha Eggar, John Vernon. Lackluster trilogy of "super-natural" tales built around author Cushing's assertion that cats are conspiring against mankind. ▼

Un Carnet de Bal (1937-French) 109m. * D: Julien Duvivier. Marie Bell, Françoise Rosay, Louis Jouvet, Harry Baur, Pierre-Richard Willm, Raimu, Pierre Blanchar, Fernandel, Robert Lynen, Roger Legris. Wealthy widow travels to various locales, intent on looking up the former beaux who filled her dance card ("carnet de bal"). What she finds surprises her, and viewer is treated to a number of poignant vignettes (some ahead of their time) acted by the cream of 1930s France. Hugely successful, this was the inspiration for all the episodic films that followed. (Duvivier even reworked it in Hollywood in 1941 as LYDIA.) Coscripted by the director, from his story. Music by Maurice Jaubert.

Uncertain Glory (1944) 102m.  D: Raoul Walsh. Errol Flynn, Jean Sullivan, Paul Lukas, Lucile Watson, Faye Emerson, Douglass Dumbrille, Dennis Hoey, Sheldon Leonard. Wavering script about French philanderer Flynn deciding to give his life for his country. ▼

Unchained (1955) 75m.  D: Hall Bartlett. Elroy "Crazylegs" Hirsch, Barbara Hale, Chester Morris, Todd Duncan, Johnny Johnston, Peggy Knudsen, Jerry Paris. Fair drama of life at prison farm at Chino, California; highlighted by Alex North-Hy Zarek theme song: "Unchained Melody." Saxophonist Dexter Gordon is seen briefly as a musician (though his playing was dubbed by Georgie Auld).

Uncle Buck (1989) C-100m. ½ D: John Hughes. John Candy, Amy Madigan, Jean Louisa Kelly, Gaby Hoffman, Macaulay Culkin, Elaine Bromka, Garrett M. Brown, Laurie Metcalf, Jay Underwood. Ne'er-do-well bachelor Candy has to look after his brother's kids for a couple of days . . . and surprise! The perpetual foul-up turns out to be a caring and responsible uncle. Comedy with serious and sentimental strains gives Candy one of his better vehicles, though writer-director Hughes' inconsistencies keep it from scoring a bull's-eye. Followed by a TV series. [PG] ▼●●

Uncle Harry SEE: Strange Affair of Uncle Harry, The

Uncle Joe Shannon (1978) C-115m. BOMB D: Joseph C. Hanwright. Burt Young, Doug McKee, Madge Sinclair, Jason Bernard, Bert Remsen, Allan Rich. Slobbering, self-indulgent film (written by Young) about down-and-out trumpet player and young boy who tries to resist his "charm." Several hands from ROCKY—including Young—were hoping to duplicate that film's success. Maynard Ferguson dubbed Young's trumpet licks. [PG]

Uncle Nino (2003) C-104m.  D: Robert Shallcross. Joe Mantegna, Anne Archer, Pierrino Mascarino, Trevor Morgan, Gina Mantegna, Duke Doyle, Daniel Adebayo, Gary Houston, Chelcie Ross. Mascarino is the title character, a kindhearted Old World eccentric who unexpectedly visits his dysfunctional suburban American relatives and, predictably, transforms their lives. Means to be as zesty as Mama's homemade tomato sauce, but lacks originality; it plays like a well-meaning after-school TV special. This ran for a year in a Grand Rapids, Michigan, movie theater before opening nationally in 2005. Gina Mantegna is Joe's daughter. [PG]

Un Coeur en Hiver (1992-French) C-105m. ½ D: Claude Sautet. Daniel Auteuil, Emmanuelle Béart, André Dussollier. Fascinating study of what happens when two longtime business partners in the classical music world find their "friendship" split apart by the appearance of a beautiful young woman. All three stars shine in this talky, offbeat tale of love and music (specifically Ravel). An original film, admittedly not for all tastes. ▼●

Uncommon Valor (1983) C-105m. ½ D: Ted Kotcheff. Gene Hackman, Robert Stack, Fred Ward, Reb Brown, Randall "Tex" Cobb, Patrick Swayze, Harold Sylvester, Tim Thomerson, Michael Dudikoff. Formula action film about a retired Army officer who gathers motley crew of Vietnam vets to invade Laos in search of his son, still Missing in Action. Solid performances make this watchable. [R] ▼●●

Unconditional Love (2003) C-124m. *½ D: P.J. Hogan. Kathy Bates, Rupert Everett, Meredith Eaton, Dan Aykroyd, Jonathan Pryce, Lynn Redgrave, Peter Sarsgaard, Stephanie Beacham, Richard Briers, Julie Andrews, Barry Manilow. Quirky tale about a housewife, abandoned by her husband, who's mourning the death of her favorite singer. She finds herself on a journey to England (and, of course, self-discovery), where she meets the dead crooner's secret gay lover (Everett). Nothing quite works in this disappointing mess of a movie, despite a good cast. Cowritten by the director. Made in 2001; U.S. debut on cable TV. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●

Unconquered (1947) C-146m. ½ D: Cecil B. DeMille. Gary Cooper, Paulette Goddard, Howard da Silva, Boris Karloff, Cecil Kellaway, Ward Bond, Katherine De-

Mille, C. Aubrey Smith, Porter Hall, Mike Mazurki. Gargantuan DeMille colonists-vs.-Indians nonsense, one of his most ludicrous films but still fun. ▼●

Undead, The (1957) 75m.  D: Roger Corman. Richard Garland, Pamela Duncan, Allison Hayes, Mel Welles, Billy Barty, Richard Devon, Bruno VeSota. One of Corman's best early films, coscripted by Charles Griffith. A scientist, investigating the possibility of reincarnation, manages to transport himself back into the Dark Ages. Lots of atmosphere and black humor, with a neat twist ending. ▼

Undeclared, The (1969) C-119m.  D: Andrew V. McLaglen. John Wayne, Rock Hudson, Tony Aguilar, Roman Gabriel, Bruce Cabot, Lee Meriwether, Ben Johnson, Merlin Olsen, Michael (Jan-Michael) Vincent, Harry Carey, Jr., Royal Dano, Richard Mulligan, James McEachin, Gregg Palmer, Kiel Martin. Aside from interesting Wayne-Hudson teaming and the presence of football stars Gabriel and Olsen, this routine Western has little to offer. Post-Civil War tale casts two stars as Union and Confederate colonels. Best line: "The conversation sorta dried up." Panavision. [G] ▼●●

Under Capricorn (1949-British) C-117m.  D: Alfred Hitchcock. Ingrid Bergman, Joseph Cotten, Michael Wilding, Margaret Leighton, Cecil Parker. Stuffy costumer set in 19th-century Australia; Bergman is frail wife of hardened husband Cotten; Wilding comes to visit, upsetting everything. Leighton excellent in supporting role. One of Hitchcock's few duds. ▼●●

Underclassman (2005) C-94m. BOMB D: Marcos Siega. Nick Cannon, Shawn Ashmore, Roselyn Sanchez, Kelly Hu, Ian Gomez, Hugh Bonneville, Cheech Marin. Pause here for a Jack Webb "uh-huh": Instead of being canned when he precipitates half a mile's worth of car-chase damages, barely-literate cop Cannon is assigned to pose incognito as a student at a swanky prep school that's been victimized by a car-theft ring. Few clichés are missed, including Cannon's inevitable yen for the campus Spanish instructor (Sanchez). Script is in serious stupor, as if it has spent a month in a locked room with some of Cheech's old stash. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Under Cover (1987) C-94m. *½ D: John Stockwell. David Neidorf, Jennifer Jason Leigh, Barry Corbin, Kathleen Wilhoite, David Harris. Neidorf is an out-of-town cop operating undercover with female narc Leigh to catch the drug pushers who killed another cop on the case. Best known as the pilot "Cougar" in TOP GUN, Stockwell here makes an uninspired directorial debut. [R] ▼

Undercover Blues (1993) C-89m.  D: Herbert Ross. Kathleen Turner, Dennis Quaid, Fiona Shaw, Stanley Tucci, Larry Miller, Obba Babatundé, Tom Arnold, Park

Overall, Ralph Brown, Jan Triska, Richard Jenkins, Saul Rubinek, Dave Chappelle. Paper-thin comedy-romance-thriller about supercool married ex-spies Jeff and Jane Blue, parents of a baby girl, who tangle with various heavies in New Orleans. Quaid and Turner are no William Powell and Myrna Loy, and this is no THIN MAN. Tucci, however, is hilarious as thug named Muerte. [PG-13] ▼●●

Undercover Brother (2002) C-84m.  D: Malcolm D. Lee. Eddie Griffin, Chris Kattan, Denise Richards, Anjunae Ellis, Dave Chappelle, Chi McBride, Neil Patrick Harris, Billy Dee Williams, Jack Noseworthy, James Brown, Robert Townsend. When an African-American general and potential presidential candidate (Williams) mysteriously announces that he's opening a fried chicken franchise, one man is chosen to find out why: a bro with a fro in the know (Griffin). Loopy comedy has some real laughs, but its gags fall flat far too often. Based on an Internet series. Not solid. [PG-13] ▼●

Undercover Man, The (1949) 85m.  D: Joseph H. Lewis. Glenn Ford, Nina Foch, James Whitmore, Barry Kelley, Howard St. John. Realistic drama of mob leader (loosely based on Al Capone) being hunted down by Secret Service men who hope to nail him on tax-evasion charge. Whitmore's film debut.

Undercovers Hero (1974-British) C-95m. BOMB D: Roy Boulting. Peter Sellers, Lila Kedrova, Curt Jurgens, Beatrice Romand, Jenny Hanley, Rex Stallings. Inept WW2 "comedy," with Sellers in six roles, including Hitler; a total dud. Made in 1973, barely released here. British title: SOFT BEDS, HARD BATTLES. [R]

Undercurrent (1946) 116m. ½ D: Vincente Minnelli. Katharine Hepburn, Robert Taylor, Robert Mitchum, Edmund Gwenn, Marjorie Main, Jayne Meadows, Clinton Sundberg. Stale melodramatics of newly married Hepburn, whose husband (Taylor) is bitterly estranged from his brother; however, there's more to the story than she realizes. Saved only by the fine cast and usual high MGM production quality. ▼●

Underdog (2007) C-82m.  D: Frederik Du Chau. Peter Dinklage, James Belushi, Patrick Warburton, Alex Neuberger, Taylor Momsen, John Slattery, Samantha Bee; voices of Jason Lee, Amy Adams, Brad Garrett. Ordinary pup is given superpowers by a mad scientist who wants to use the dog for his own evil purposes. Live-action version of the popular 1960s TV cartoon series never takes off; CGI flying effects can't make up for stock villains and subpar plotting. Contrived and inane; uninspired voice casting of Lee as Underdog doesn't help. Where is Wally Cox when we really need him? Super 35. [PG]●

Under Fire (1983) C-128m. ½ D: Roger Spottiswoode. Nick Nolte, Gene

Hackman, Joanna Cassidy, Ed Harris, Jean-Louis Trintignant, Richard Masur, Rene Enriquez, Hamilton Camp. First-rate political thriller about journalists on the line in Managua, Nicaragua, 1979, how their lives intertwine, and how two of them risk their professionalism by becoming involved in the revolutionary conflict. One of those rare films that manages to combine real-life politics and realistic romance with a no-nonsense story. Trio of stars are superb; so is Jerry Goldsmith's music. Only problem: It goes on too long. Screenplay by Ron Shelton and Clayton Frohman. [R] ▼●●

Underground (1941) 95m.  D: Vincent Sherman. Jeffrey Lynn, Philip Dorn, Kaaren Verne, Mona Maris, Frank Reicher, Martin Kosleck. Gripping story of German underground movement, with Dorn shielding his activities from loyal soldier-brother Lynn. Kosleck is definitive Nazi swine. ▼●

Under Milk Wood (1972-British) C-90m.  D: Andrew Sinclair. Richard Burton, Elizabeth Taylor, Peter O'Toole, Glynis Johns, Sian Phillips, Vivien Merchant. Rather obscure Dylan Thomas, not in terms of his work but in the film's ambitions. Beautiful images, but rather overbearing technique weighs down the acting. [PG] ▼●

Under My Skin (1950) 86m. ½ D: Jean Negulesco. John Garfield, Michelle Presle, Luther Adler, Orley Lindgren, Noel Drayton. Pensive study of troubled, crooked jockey Garfield, attempting to reform for the sake of son Lindgren and pretty widow Presle. Based on Ernest Hemingway's My Old Man; remade for TV in 1979 under that title. ●

Underneath (1995) C-99m. ½ D: Steven Soderbergh. Peter Gallagher, Alison Elliott, William Fichtner, Adam Trese, Joe Don Baker, Paul Dooley, Elisabeth Shue, Anjanette Comer, Shelley Duvall, Joe Chrest. Ne'er-do-well returns home to Austin to attend his mother's wedding, and foolishly tries to pick up the pieces of his life before he left town. Soon he's pursuing his ex-girlfriend, annoying her gangsterish boyfriend, and cooking up a robbery scheme. Remake of the film noir favorite CRISS CROSS is stylish, intriguing, but awfully low-key. A must for fans of flashbacks. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Under Satan's Sun (1987-French) C-97m.  D: Maurice Pialat. Gérard Depardieu, Sandrine Bonnaire, Maurice Pialat, Alain Artur, Yann Dedet. A very demanding and difficult film, not for all tastes but most rewarding to those who can relate to the subject: the questions, conflicts, and torments of rural priest Depardieu. Adapted from a book by Georges Bernanos, author of Diary of a Country Priest. Video title: UNDER THE SUN OF SATAN. ▼

Under Siege (1992) C-102m. ½ D: Andrew Davis. Steven Seagal, Tommy Lee Jones, Gary Bussey, Erika Eleniak, Patrick O'Neal, Nick Mancuso, Andy Ro-

mano, Colm Meaney. DIE HARD at sea, with cook Seagal playing tiger-and-mouse with thugs plotting to steal nuclear arms from aboard a 900-foot Navy battleship. Seagal's best film to date; Jones and Busey are better villains than film deserves. Worth it just to see Steve in a chef's cap. Followed by two sequels. [R]▼●●

Under Siege 2: Dark Territory (1995) C-100m.  D: Geoff Murphy. Steven Seagal, Eric Bogosian, Katherine Heigl, Morris Chestnut, Everett McGill, Brenda Bakke, Peter Greene, Andy Romano, Nick Mancuso, Royce D. Applegate, Kurtwood Smith, Afifi. Bad guys take over a cross-continental train to seize control of a satellite particle-beam weapon; then they threaten to blow up the Eastern seaboard. But they didn't reckon with Casey the Cook (Seagal). Elaborately produced and well directed, but still just another connect-the-dots action thriller. [R]▼●●

Under Suspicion (1992-U.S.-British) C-99m.  D: Simon Moore. Liam Neeson, Laura San Giacomo, Kenneth Cranham, Alphonso Emmanuel, Maggie O'Neill, Martin Grace, Stephen Moore. Brighton, England, 1959: Ex-cop turned seedy private eye Neeson becomes chief suspect in a murder, and must (surprise!) set out to prove his innocence. Dour-looking and sluggishly paced film is helped by Neeson, good as always, and Cranham—playing his only ally on the police force. San Giacomo is unfortunately miscast as a femme fatale, mistress of a world-renowned artist; she seems absurd in the role and entire production suffers. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Under Suspicion (2000-U.S.-French) C-110m. ½ D: Stephen Hopkins. Gene Hackman, Morgan Freeman, Thomas Jane, Monica Bellucci, Nydia Caro, Miguel Ángel Suárez, Isabel Algaze. In Puerto Rico, police captain Freeman calls in political bigshot Hackman for questioning, but takes his time revealing that he's a suspect in a series of rapes and murders. Hopkins uses some imaginative techniques, and the two leads are excellent, as usual, but overall it's routine and familiar. Freeman and Hackman executive produced. Remake of the superior GARDE À VUE (1981). [R]▼●

Undertaking Betty (2003-U.S.-British-German) C-94m. ½ D: Nick Hurran. Brenda Blethyn, Alfred Molina, Naomi Watts, Christopher Walken, Lee Evans, Robert Pugh, Jerry Springer, Miriam Margolyes. Intermittently funny farce involving mortician/wannabe ballroom dancer Molina, who's long had a crush on kindhearted but unhappily married Blethyn. He agrees to help stage her "demise" so she may avoid the embarrassment of divorcing her philandering husband. Walken is a riot as an oddball rival undertaker who stages outlandish themed funerals while proclaiming,

"The root word of funeral is fun." Originally titled PLOTS WITH A VIEW. Super 35. [R]●

Under the Boardwalk (1989) C-104m. *½ D: Fritz Kiersch. Richard Joseph Paul, Danielle Von Zerneck, Steve Monarque, Keith Coogan, Roxana Zak, Hunter Von Leer, Tracey Walter, Dick Miller, Sonny Bono, Elizabeth Kaitan. Surfers from the San Fernando Valley ("Vals") square off against Venice locals ("Lokes"), with Romeo-and-Juliet-like conflict of Val boy who loves Loke girl. Anemic teen picture is a major waste of time. Oddest element: jargon-spouting narrator is 20 years in the future. [R]▼●

Under the Cherry Moon (1986) 98m. *½ D: Prince. Prince, Jerome Benton, Kristin Scott Thomas, Steven Berkoff, Francesca Annis, Emmanuelle Sallet, Alexandra Stewart, Victor Spinetti. Supremely silly vanity film with Prince self-cast as American gigolo/entertainer in the south of France who has a devastating effect on women (yes, it's a science-fiction story). Stylish-looking fairy tale/fable, filmed in black & white, is a triumph of self-adoration, and overall embarrassment. Some music throughout, but in fragmented scenes. Kristin Scott Thomas' film debut. [PG-13]▼●●

Under the Gun (1989) C-89m.  D: James Sbardellati. Sam Jones, Vanessa Williams, John Russell, Michael Halsey, Sharon Williams, Bill McKinney, Rockne Tarkington, Don Stark, Nick Cassavetes. Cop Jones teams up with lawyer Williams to go after plutonium thief who ordered the death of Jones' brother. Acceptable but familiar odd-couple crime melodrama; at least it keeps moving. [R]▼●

Under the Hula Moon (1995) C-96m. ½ D: Jeff Celentano. Stephen Baldwin, Emily Lloyd, Christopher Penn, Musetta Vander, Pruitt Taylor Vince, Edie McClurg, Carel Stuycken, R. Lee Ermy. An escaped convict holes up with his long-estranged brother, a dreamer/schemer who lives in the desert trying to make his fortune manufacturing a revolutionary sunscreen. Baldwin and Lloyd are an endearingly loopy couple in this off-kilter comedy. Written by the director. [R]▼●

Under the Rainbow (1981) C-98m. BOMB D: Steve Rash. Chevy Chase, Carrie Fisher, Eve Arden, Joseph Maher, Adam Arkin, Mako, Pat McCormick, Billy Barty. Even by today's standards this is an astoundingly unfunny and tasteless comedy about spies, undercover agents, and midgets who cross paths in a hotel during filming of THE WIZARD OF OZ. Is this film the Wicked Witch's revenge? [PG]▼

Under the Roofs of Paris (1930-French) 92m. ½ D: René Clair. Albert Préjean, Pola Illery, Gaston Modot, Edmond Greville, Paul Olivier. Mime and song, with a minimum of dialogue, tell the story in this wonderful film about two ordinary Parisians involved with the same woman. A groundbreaking link between silent and sound cinema; Lazare Meerson's sets are outstanding. Written by Clair. ▼

Under the Same Moon (2008-U.S.-Mexican) C-109m.  D: Patricia Riggen. Adrian Alonso, Kate del Castillo, Eugenio Derbez, Maya Zapata, Carmen Salinas, America Ferrera, Jesse Garcia, Los Tigres del Norte. A mother is separated from her young son when they try to cross the U.S. border. After four years she's working in L.A., still hoping to save enough to bring him to America, while he's being raised by his grandmother. Circumstances cause him to make the journey on his own, and he meets both kind and cruel people along the way. Amazing performance from young Alonso anchors this movie, which flirts with cliché but scores a bull's-eye emotionally. Aka LA MISMA LUNA. [PG-13] ▼

Under the Sand (2001-French) C-95m.  D: François Ozon. Charlotte Rampling, Bruno Cremer, Jacques Nolot, Alexandra Stewart, Pierre Vernier, Andrée Tainsy. Happily married, middle-aged woman (Rampling) goes into denial after her husband mysteriously disappears while they are vacationing at the beach. This introspective, quietly powerful drama presents a vivid exploration of the psychology of heartbreak and grief. Rampling has never been better. ▼

Under the Sun of Satan SEE: Under Satan's Sun

Under the Tuscan Sun (2003) C-115m.  D: Audrey Wells. Diane Lane, Sandra Oh, Raoul Bova, Lindsay Duncan, Vincent Riotta, Elden Henson, Mario Monicelli. While traveling through Tuscany, an American divorcee, still dazed by the collapse of her marriage, impulsively decides to buy a house and settle there, even though she doesn't know a soul. A perfect showcase for Lane, whose winning, empathic performance allows us to share her experiences. Everything looks and feels right in this entertaining fictionalization of Frances Mayes' best-selling memoir by director-screenwriter Wells. Jeffrey Tambor appears unbilled. [PG-13] ▼

Under the Volcano (1984) C-109m. ½ D: John Huston. Albert Finney, Jacqueline Bisset, Anthony Andrews, Ignacio Lopez Tarso, Katy Jurado, James Villiers. Somber but striking adaptation of Malcolm Lowry's novel about alcoholic diplomat in Mexico during the late 1930s; rich in atmosphere and texture, with a great performance by Finney. Screenplay by Guy Gallo; music by Alex North. [R] ▼

Under the Yum Yum Tree (1963) C-110m. ½ D: David Swift. Jack Lemmon, Carol Lynley, Dean Jones, Edie Adams, Imogene Coca, Paul Lynde, Robert Lansing.

Obvious sex comedy owes most of its enjoyment to Lemmon as love-hungry landlord trying to romance tenant Lynley who's living with her fiancé (Jones). ▼

Undertow (2004) C-107m. ½ D: David Gordon Green. Jamie Bell, Josh Lucas, Devon Alan, Dermot Mulroney, Kristen Stewart, Shiri Appleby, Pat Healy, Bill McKinney. Two teenaged brothers live with their widowed father on a dreary pig farm in the American South; their lives are abruptly altered by the arrival of their manipulative ex-con uncle. Atmospheric but flawed drama of family secrets and jealousies; story takes too long to develop, and when it does the result is strictly standard. Coproduced by Terrence Malick. [R] ▼

Under Two Flags (1936) 96m.  D: Frank Lloyd. Ronald Colman, Claudette Colbert, Victor McLaglen, Rosalind Russell, Gregory Ratoff, Nigel Bruce, Herbert Mundin, John Carradine, J. Edward Bromberg. Debonair legionnaire Colman is caught between two women (aristocratic Russell and camp follower Colbert), and the envy of jealous commandant McLaglen in this unbelievable but entertaining Foreign Legion story, from the book by Ouida (filmed before in 1916 and 1922). Originally ran 110m.

Underwater! (1955) C-99m.  D: John Sturges. Jane Russell, Gilbert Roland, Richard Egan, Lori Nelson, Jayne Mansfield. Standard skin-diving fare, with Roland and Egan seeking out treasure in the deep. Russell in a bathing suit is the main attraction. SuperScope. ▼

Underwater Odyssey, An SEE: Neptune Factor, The

Underworld (1985-British) C-100m. ½ D: George Pavlou. Denholm Elliott, Steven Berkoff, Larry Lamb, Miranda Richardson, Art Malik, Nicola Cowper, Ingrid Pitt. Fair thriller about mutants who live underground and who kidnap pretty hooker Cowper in order to obtain from Dr. Elliott the drug that will keep them alive. Retired gunman Lamb is hired by gang boss Berkoff to rescue her. Video title: TRANSMUTATIONS. [R] ▼

Underworld (2003-British-German-Hungarian-U.S.) C-121m.  D: Len Wiseman. Kate Beckinsale, Scott Speedman, Michael Sheen, Shane Brolly, Erwin Leder, Bill Nighy. In the foreboding setting of a dark city, war is raging between vampires and lycans (known to us as werewolves) . . . but bloodsucker Beckinsale finds herself attracted to, and protective of, Speedman, who doesn't realize his own lycanthropic fate. Should be fun, but it's inexplicably dull, even with razzle-dazzle action scenes and effects, and Beckinsale fails to deliver as a sexy, leather-clad vampire. Unrated version runs 134m. Followed by a prequel and a sequel. Super 35. [R] ▼

Underworld: Evolution (2006) C-106m. *½ D: Len Wiseman. Kate Beckinsale, Scott Speedman, Tony Curran, Derek Jacobi, Bill

Nighy, Steven Mackintosh, Shane Brolly, Brian Steele, Zita Görög, Michael Sheen. Monotonous sequel is about what you'd expect, with vampire-warrior Beckinsale and half-vampire/half-werewolf pal Speedman battling vampire Curran, who is intent on liberating his beastly, imprisoned werewolf brother. Loud, gory, and boring. Super 35. [R]▶

Underworld Informers (1965-British) 105m.  D: Ken Annakin. Nigel Patrick, Catherine Woodville, Margaret Whiting, Colin Blakely, Harry Andrews, Frank Finlay. Tight, taut crime tale as Scotland Yard inspector Patrick must clear his name by bringing in notorious gangland leaders. Vivid atmosphere, fine acting by all. Original British title: THE INFORMERS.

Underworld: Rise of the Lycans (2009) C-93m.  D: Patrick Tatopoulos. Michael Sheen, Bill Nighy, Rhona Mitra, Steven Mackintosh, Kate Beckinsale. Prequel to UNDERWORLD (2003) and UNDERWORLD: EVOLUTION (2006) should satisfy fans—if no one else. It plays like a period swashbuckler while depicting first skirmishes in the centuries-long war between aristocratic vampires and rampaging werewolves. Series regulars Sheen (leader of the werewolves) and Nighy (lord of the vampires) are in fine form, but series devotees can debate whether Mitra (as Nighy's rebellious daughter and Sheen's secret lover) is an effective substitute for the nearly-absent Beckinsale, the leather-clad vampire-warrior in previous two UNDERWORLD monster rallies, who appears only fleetingly at the very end of this one. Super 35. [R]▶

Underworld U.S.A. (1961) 99m. ½ D: Samuel Fuller. Cliff Robertson, Dolores Dorn, Beatrice Kay, Robert Emhardt, Larry Gates. Robertson sees his father murdered and develops lifetime obsession to get even with the mob responsible. One of director Fuller's most visually striking films; unfortunately, his script goes astray and doesn't fulfill initial promise.▶

Undiscovered (2005) C-98m. *½ D: Meiert Avis. Pell James, Steven Strait, Kip Pardue, Shannyn Sossamon, Ashlee Simpson, Carrie Fisher, Peter Weller, Fisher Stevens, Stephen Moyer. Young people trying to make it in show business have to deal with the dilemma of selling out or trying to remain true to themselves. Tired script goes nowhere, and dull dialogue can't put life into these clichés. Acclaimed music-video director Avis makes the action literally difficult to watch. Super 35. [PG-13]▶

Undisputed (2002) C-94m.  D: Walter Hill. Wesley Snipes, Ving Rhames, Peter Falk, Michael Rooker, Jon Seda, Wes Studi, Fisher Stevens, Dayton Callie, Amy Aquino. Simple, solid (albeit by-the-numbers) boxing melodrama in which a Mike Tyson-like champ-turned-convict (Rhames), jailed on a rape charge, butts heads with the prison's top puglist (Snipes), a lifer doing time for murder. The two stars are excellent. Followed by three direct-to-video sequels. Super 35. [R]▶

Une Femme Douce (1969-French) C-87m.  D: Robert Bresson. Dominique Sanda, Guy Frangin, Jane (Jeanne) Lobre. Sanda gives a remarkable performance in her film debut as a gentle soul who marries a tyrannical pawnbroker with tragic results. Bresson's first color film is a depressing but hypnotic portrait of loneliness and alienation. Based on a Dostoyevsky story.▶

Unfaithful (2002) C-123m. ½ D: Adrian Lyne. Richard Gere, Diane Lane, Olivier Martinez, Erik Per Sullivan, Dominic Chianese, Kate Burton, Chad Lowe, Željko Ivanek, Gary Basaraba, Margaret Colin. Devoted wife and mom Lane becomes sexually attracted to a charming Frenchman she chances to meet. Against her better judgment, she puts her marriage on the line, leaving the next move to husband Gere. Deftly directed, with careful observation of life's ordinary details, and well acted, but steers off course and drags to a doleful conclusion. Remake of Claude Chabrol's LA FEMME INFIDÈLE. [R]▶

Unfaithfully Yours (1948) 105m. * D: Preston Sturges. Rex Harrison, Linda Darnell, Rudy Vallee, Barbara Lawrence, Kurt Kreuger, Lionel Stander, Robert Greig, Edgar Kennedy, Julius Tannen, Al Bridge. Brilliant Sturges comedy of symphony conductor Harrison, who suspects his wife of infidelity and considers three courses of action (including murder) during concert. Great moments from Vallee and Kennedy; often side-splittingly funny. Remade in 1984.▶

Unfaithfully Yours (1984) C-96m. ½ D: Howard Zieff. Dudley Moore, Nastassja Kinski, Armand Assante, Albert Brooks, Cassie Yates, Richard Libertini, Richard B. Shull. Remake of Preston Sturges' wonderful film about an orchestra conductor who suspects his wife of having an affair—and plans to murder her. Pretty funny, with a perfect cast, but loses steam somewhere along the way. Certainly no match for the witty original. [PG]▶

Unfaithful Wife, The SEE: La Femme Infidèle

Unfinished Business (1984-Canadian) C-99m.  D: Don Owen. Isabelle Mejias, Peter Spence, Leslie Toth, Peter Kastner, Julie Biggs, Chuck Shamata. Appealing sequel to Owen's NOBODY WAVED GOODBYE. It's 20 years later: Kastner and Biggs, now divorced, have a rebellious offspring of their own, 17-year-old Mejias. Story focuses on her problems and anxieties as she approaches adulthood.

Unfinished Life, An (2005) C-107m.  D: Lasse Hallström. Robert Redford, Jennifer Lopez, Morgan Freeman, Josh Lucas, Camryn Manheim, Becca Gardner, Damian Lewis. Needing to escape from her abusive boyfriend, and with no money, Lopez and her 11-year-old daughter go to the only place they can: the Wyoming farm of her father-in-law (Redford), who still blames her for the death of his son. Also living on the farm is ranch hand Freeman, who was mauled by a bear a year earlier. Warmhearted, embracing story about family ties and the need for forgiveness. It's a treat to watch Redford and Freeman as two old codgers with an unshakable bond of friendship. Completed in 2003. Panavision. [PG-13] D

Unforgettable (1996) C-111m. ½ D: John Dahl. Ray Liotta, Linda Fiorentino, Peter Coyote, Christopher McDonald, Kim Cattrall, Kim Coates, David Paymer, Duncan Fraser, Caroline Elliott. Police department medical examiner who was accused of murdering his wife is obsessed with finding out the truth. When he meets a lab scientist (Fiorentino) who has discovered a way of transferring memory by injection, he experiments on himself, hoping to learn how and why his wife was killed. A solid premise (along the lines of a '50s sci-fi film) is dissipated by plodding treatment and a script that becomes ludicrous. A disappointment from director Dahl. Unendurable is more like it. [R] **▼●●

Unforgettable Summer, An (1994-French-Rumanian) C-82m. *½ D: Lucian Pintilie. Kristin Scott Thomas, Claudiu Bleont, Olga Tudorache, George Constantin, Ion Pavlescu, Marcel Iures, Razvan Vasilescu. Atmospheric 1920s tale of Rumanian military officer's wife, whose devotion to her family and concern for others causes nothing but strife. Ironic and sadly pertinent story set predominantly on remote border post where peasant Bulgarians, Macedonians, and Rumanians reside amidst constant tension and turmoil. Scott Thomas is excellent. **▼●

Unforgiven, The (1960) C-125m.  D: John Huston. Burt Lancaster, Audrey Hepburn, Audie Murphy, John Saxon, Charles Bickford, Lillian Gish, Doug McClure, Joseph Wiseman, Albert Salmi. Western set in 1850s Texas tells of two families at odds with Indians over Hepburn, whom the latter claim as one of theirs. Gish and Bickford are outstanding in stellar-cast story, with rousing Indian attack climax. Panavision. **▼●●

Unforgiven (1992) C-127m.  D: Clint Eastwood. Clint Eastwood, Gene Hackman, Morgan Freeman, Richard Harris, Jaimz Woolvett, Saul Rubinek, Frances Fisher, Anna Thomson, Anthony James. Elegiac anti-Western about a one-time mad killer, long since reformed, who comes out of "retirement" to make one more hit because he needs the money for his family. Powerful examination of morality and hypocrisy in the Old West—and the impact of killing (and being killed)—but marred by a midsection that plods. Exquisitely shot by Jack N. Green. Oscar winner for Best Picture, Best Director, Best Supporting Actor (Hackman), Best Film Editing (Joel Cox). Panavision. [R] **▼●●

Unguarded Moment, The (1956) C-95m. *½ D: Harry Keller. Esther Williams, George Nader, John Saxon, Edward Andrews, Les Tremayne, Jack Albertson. Mild drama of schoolteacher whose emotional stability is endangered by lusting pupil. Film noteworthy only for Williams' nonaquatic role; based on a story by Rosalind Russell!

Unholy, The (1988) C-100m. * D: Camilo Vila. Ben Cross, Hal Holbrook, Jill Carroll, William Russ, Trevor Howard, Ned Beatty, Claudia Robinson, Nicole Fortier. Ambitious horror film puts priest Cross to the test when archbishop Holbrook assigns him to cast out the devil from a New Orleans church. Veteran Philip Yordan's script (cowritten by film's designer Fernando Fonseca) is weird but unconvincing. Special effects are arresting, but highlight is Fortier as the supersexy demon. [R] **▼●

Unholy Rollers (1972) C-88m. *½ D: Vernon Zimmerman. Claudia Jennings, Louis Quinn, Betty Anne Rees, Roberta Collins. Behind-the-scenes life on roller derby circuit, Roger Corman-style; raunchy low-budgeter offers some fun. [R] **▼

Unhook the Stars (1996-French-U.S.) C-103m.  D: Nick Cassavetes. Gena Rowlands, Marisa Tomei, Gérard Depardieu, Moira Kelly, Jake Lloyd, David Thornton, David Sherrill, Clint Howard. Wonderful showcase for Rowlands as a widow with grown children who comes to the rescue of a flaky young neighbor and looks after her little boy one day; soon the two develop a strong bond based on their genuine need for each other. Lovely film cowritten by Cassavetes, son of Rowlands and John Cassavetes. Depardieu (who coproduced the film) has the only underwritten part in the picture. [R] **▼●●

Unidentified Flying Oddball (1979) C-93m. *½ D: Russ Mayberry. Dennis Dugan, Jim Dale, Ron Moody, Kenneth More, John LeMesurier, Rodney Bewes, Shelia White. Innocuous Disney update of Mark Twain's A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court, with young Dugan (and a look-alike robot) catapulted back to medieval times. Retitled A SPACEMAN IN KING ARTHUR'S COURT. [G] **▼●●

Uninvited, The (1944) 98m. ½ D: Lewis Allen. Ray Milland, Ruth Hussey, Donald Crisp, Gail Russell, Comelia Otis Skinner, Dorothy Stickney, Barbara Everest, Alan Napier. Eerie ghost suspenser about Russell disturbed by dead mother's specter; Milland and Hussey, new owners of haunted house, try to solve mystery. No trick ending in this ingenious film, which introduced Victor Young's melody "Stella by Starlight." Spooky cinematography by Charles Lang, Jr. Scripted by Dodie Smith and Frank Partos, from Dorothy Macardle's novel. **▼●

Uninvited, The (2009) C-87m. ½ D: The Guard Brothers. Emily Browning, Elizabeth Banks, Arielle Kebbel, David Strathairn, Maysa Massar, Kevin McNulty, Jesse Moss, Dean Paul Gibson. Two teenage sisters—one a waifish ex-mental patient (Browning), the other a smart-mouthed wild child (Kebbel)—suspect the worst when, all too soon after their mother's death, their father (Strathairn) becomes romantically involved with their late mom's former nurse (Banks). Supernatural manifestations only serve to intensify their suspicions. Based on A TALE OF TWO SISTERS, a 2003 South Korean horror movie, this familiar but effectively atmospheric thriller gets a big boost from a genuinely surprising plot twist in the final reel. Directed by British siblings Charles and Thomas Guard, who bill themselves as The Guard Brothers. [PG-13] ●

Union City (1980) C-87m. ½ D: Mark Reichert. Dennis Lipscomb, Deborah Harry, Irina Maleeva, Everett McGill, Pat Benatar, Tony Azito. Harry (of the rock group Blondie) makes her dramatic debut as the wife of neurotic businessman Lipscomb, who beats a vagrant to death. Low-budget film noir is enhanced by Lipscomb performance and moody, quirky direction. [PG] ▼ ● ●

Union Pacific (1939) 135m.  D: Cecil B. DeMille. Barbara Stanwyck, Joel McCrea, Robert Preston, Akim Tamiroff, Brian Donlevy, Anthony Quinn, Lynne Overman, Evelyn Keyes, Fuzzy Knight, J. M. Kerrigan, Regis Toomey. Brawling DeMille saga about building the first transcontinental railroad; McCrea the hero, Donlevy the villain, Stanwyck (with Irish brogue!) caught between McCrea and likable troublemaker Preston. Action scenes, including spectacular train wreck, Indian attack, and subsequent cavalry rescue via railroad flat cars are highlights. ▼ ● ●

Union Station (1950) 80m. ½ D: Rudolph Maté. William Holden, Nancy Olson, Barry Fitzgerald, Jan Sterling, Allene Roberts, Lyle Bettger. Dated police techniques, plus general implausibility, detract from well-made film about manhunt for kidnapper (Bettger) of young blind woman (Roberts). ▼

United 93 (2006-U.S.-French-British) C-111m. ½ D: Paul Greengrass. David Alan Basche, Richard Bekins, Susan Blommaert, Ray Charleson, Christian Clemenson, Khalid Abdalla, Lewis Alsamari, David Rasche, Chip Zien, Denny Dillon, Rebecca Schull, Gregg Henry. Harrowing dramatization of the flight that was hijacked on September 11, 2001, as terrorists attempted to fly the plane into the Capitol in Washington, D.C. Film follows the parallel drama of how flight controllers and military personnel first realized something was wrong and then tried to deal with it. Several key people on the ground portray themselves in this impeccably crafted, emotionally charged drama, written by the director. Super 35. [R] ●

United States of Leland, The (2004) C-104m.  D: Matthew Ryan Hoge. Don Cheadle, Ryan Gosling, Chris Klein, Jena Malone, Lena Olin, Kevin Spacey, Michelle Williams, Martin Donovan, Ann Magnuson, Kerry Washington, Sherilyn Fenn, Matt Lloyd, Ron Canada. Strikingly original mood piece/morality play about a quiet teenage boy (Gosling) consumed by the unhappiness of the world. He commits an unthinkable crime that even he can't explain, and it has repercussions on everyone around him, young and old alike, who are all trying to cope with their own problems. Told in a mosaic form, flashing back and forth in time. Written by the director. [R] ▼ ●

Universal Soldier (1992) C-104m.  D: Roland Emmerich. Jean-Claude Van Damme, Dolph Lundgren, Ally Walker, Ed O'Ross, Jerry Orbach, Leon Rippey, Tico Wells, Ralph Moeller. Van Damme and Lundgren—well, it's not exactly Tracy and March in INHERIT THE WIND. Hunks are well cast as rival cyborgs (in a runaway government experiment, natch) whose human components hated each other during Vietnam. Has the requisite number of explosions. The director slyly keeps the grocery store Muzak going during Lundgren's one big emoting scene—right after he eats raw meat from a bin. Followed by a sequel and two cable TV movies. Panavision. [R] ▼ ● ●

Universal Soldier: The Return (1999) C-82m.  D: Mic Rodgers. Jean-Claude Van Damme, Michael Jai White, Heidi Schanz, Xander Berkeley, Daniel von Bargen, Kiana Tom. The muscles from Brussels is back and must stop an out-of-control super-cyborg from world domination. Derivative but not boring rehash of the original. Features two tough heroines, Schanz and ESPN fitness guru Tom, but if you're threatened by the enlightened sexual politics, there's also a gratuitous brawl at a nude bar. In his acting debut, WCW superstar Bill Goldberg proves he has all the dramatic range of Foghorn Leghorn. [R] ▼ ● ●

Unknown (2006) C-85m. ½ D: Simon Brand. Jim Caviezel, Greg Kinnear, Bridget Moynahan, Joe Pantoliano, Barry Pepper, Jeremy Sisto, Peter Stormare, Chris Mulkey, Kevin Chapman, Mark Boone (Junior), Clayne Crawford, David Selby. A group of strangers wake up in a locked warehouse with a dead security guard, unaware of who they are and how they got there. Reasonably engaging, unpredictable mystery with a solid cast, but it comes across as little more than a puree of recent indie hits (MEMENTO, SAW). Simultaneously released in theaters and on cable. Super 35. ●

Unknown Woman, The (2006-Italian-French) C-118m.  D: Giuseppe Tornatore. Xenia Rappoport, Michele Placido, Claudia Gerini, Pierfrancesco Favino, Margherita Buy, Alessandro Haber, Piera Degli

Esposti, Clara Dossena, Angela Molina. Off-beat mystery involves a Russian woman with a checkered background who insinuates herself into the ordered lives of an upwardly-mobile Italian family. Her job as a nanny to their young daughter eventually unlocks secrets about everyone. Clearly inspired by Hitchcock, Tornatore constructs a classic puzzle; the head-scratching pieces all add up to an absorbing thriller that successfully takes the CINEMA PARADISO writer-director into brand-new territory. One of Ennio Morricone's best scores in recent years. ▽

Unlawful Entry (1992) C-111m.  D: Jonathan Kaplan. Kurt Russell, Ray Liotta, Madeleine Stowe, Roger E. Mosley, Ken Lerner, Deborah Offner, Carmen Argenti, Dick Miller, Djimon (Hounsou). A break-in at the home of Russell and Stowe leads to their befriending lonely LAPD officer Liotta. But the disturbed cop develops a fixation on the wife—and we're into another urban paranoia thriller. It has the genre's usual contrivances and plot holes, but it's tense and exciting, with a terrific performance by Liotta. [R] ▽●●

Unleashed (2005-French-British) C-102m. ½ D: Louis Leterrier. Jet Li, Morgan Freeman, Bob Hoskins, Kerry Condon, Michael Jenn, Vincent Regan, Dylan Brown, Phyllida Law. Li is kept on a leash—literally—and is raised by Glasgow gangster Hoskins since childhood to become his personal attack dog. He escapes and tries to start a new life with the aid of a blind piano tuner (Freeman), but is forced to confront his violent past. Typically slick and brutal Euro-actioner from writer-producer Luc Besson has a ludicrous premise amped up with exhilarating fight scenes choreographed by martial arts master Yuen Wo Ping. European title: DANNY THE DOG. Also available in an unrated version. Super 35. [R] ▽

Unman, Wittering and Zigo (1971-British) C-102m.  D: John Mackenzie. David Hemmings, Carolyn Seymour, Douglas Wilmer, Hamilton Dyce, Anthony Haygarth, Donald Gee. Nifty little sleeper with Hemmings as new boys' school teacher who is promptly informed by his class that they murdered his predecessor, and that he'd better stay in line . . . or else. Creepy, chilling mystery, loaded with twists and stylishly photographed by Geoffrey Unsworth. Title refers to the last three names on the roll . . . but Zigo is always absent. [PG]

Unmarried Woman, An (1978) C-124m. * D: Paul Mazursky. Jill Clayburgh, Alan Bates, Michael Murphy, Cliff Gorman, Pat Quinn, Kelly Bishop, Lisa Lucas, Michael Tucker, Jill Eikenberry. Intelligent, compassionate look at how a woman copes when her husband walks out on her. Mazursky (who also wrote script) pulls no punches and makes no compromises—his characters are living, breathing people and

his film is a gem. Clayburgh is magnificent in title role. [R] ▽●

Unreasonable Man, An (2007) C-122m. ½ D: Henriette Mantel, Steve Skrovan. Fascinating, aptly titled documentary on pioneering consumer activist Ralph Nader follows a remarkable arc: from his challenge to Goliath-like General Motors as a young man out of nowhere to a presidential run in 2000 that lost him many former allies, because they think the votes he won cost Al Gore the election. Though the film ultimately comes down on its protagonist's side by a margin a little larger than the one that separated Gore and Bush, it's hard hitting both pro and con, as it should be. Lots of supportive, disillusioned, and angry voices get their due; there's even rich footage from the episode Nader hosted of Saturday Night Live. ▽

Unremarkable Life, An (1989) C-92m. *½ D: Amin Q. Chaudhri. Patricia Neal, Shelley Winters, Mako, Rochelle Oliver, Charles Dutton, Lily Knight, Jenny Christinger. A hokey script does in this dud about two aging, very different sisters who live under the same roof and share memories and disagreements, especially when Mako starts wooing Neal. Neal and Winters try their best, but this is no WHALES OF AUGUST. [PG] ▽●●

Unsane (1982-Italian) C-101m.  D: Dario Argento. Anthony Franciosa, John Saxon, Daria Nicolodi, Giuliano Gemma, Mirella D'Angelo, John Steiner. Not as interesting as most of horror stylist Argento's thrillers, story is about novelist Franciosa becoming the subject of death threats. Extremely bloody but featuring some arresting camerawork by Luciano Tovoli, who also photographed THE PASSENGER. Originally titled: TENEBRAE. Video version runs 91m. [R] ▽●●

Unseen, The (1945) 81m.  D: Lewis Allen. Joel McCrea, Gail Russell, Herbert Marshall, Phyllis Brooks, Isobel Elsom, Norman Lloyd. Man who made THE UNINVITED with Gail Russell tries similar venture but doesn't succeed. Governess Russell haunted again by strange mystery, but film haunted by very weak ending. Screenplay by Raymond Chandler and Hagar Wilde.

Unsinkable Molly Brown, The (1964) C-128m.  D: Charles Walters. Debbie Reynolds, Harve Presnell, Ed Begley, Jack Kruschen, Hermione Baddeley, Audrey Christie, Martita Hunt, Harvey Lembeck. Big, splashy, tuneful adaptation of Broadway musical. Debbie is energetically entertaining as backwoods girl who knows what she wants, eventually gets to be wealthiest woman in Denver in the late 1800s. Based on a true story! Meredith Willson score includes "I Ain't Down Yet," "Belly Up to the Bar, Boys." Panavision. ▽●●

Unstrung Heroes (1995) C-94m. ½ D:

Diane Keaton. Andie MacDowell, John Turturro, Michael Richards, Maury Chaykin, Nathan Watt, Kendra Krull, Joey Andrews, Celia Weston, Anne DeSalvo, Candice Azzara. A boy's adventures growing up in an off-center Jewish family of the early '60s with a nutty inventor father, a loving mother (who takes ill), and two highly eccentric uncles. The characters are colorful, and the performances are first-rate, but the film never quite gels. Young Watt is a real find. Freely adapted from the autobiographical book by Franz Lidz. [PG]▼●●

Unsuitable Job for a Woman, An (1981-British) C-94m.  D: Christopher Petit. Pippa Guard, Billie Whitelaw, Paul Freeman, Dominic Guard, Elizabeth Spriggs. Moody, entertaining film noir thriller about a woman detective (P. Guard) and her investigation of an unusual murder case after her boss commits suicide. Based on a novel by P. D. James.▼

Unsuspected, The (1947) 103m. ½ D: Michael Curtiz. Claude Rains, Joan Caulfield, Audrey Totter, Constance Bennett, Hurd Hatfield. Predictable melodrama with good cast; superficially charming radio star Rains has murder on his mind, with niece Caulfield the victim.

Untamed (1955) C-111m.  D: Henry King. Tyrone Power, Susan Hayward, Agnes Moorehead, Richard Egan, Rita Moreno, John Justin. Quite vivid account of Boer trek through hostile South African country, with Power romancing Hayward. CinemaScope.

Untamed Heart (1993) C-102m. ½ D: Tony Bill. Christian Slater, Marisa Tomei, Rosie Perez, Kyle Secor, Willie Carson. Multiple-hankie romantic tale about two troubled adults. Waitress Tomei can't seem to keep a boyfriend, while shy busboy Slater is a well-meaning orphan with a heart ailment. Solid production and good performances (especially from the two stars) go a long way to offset the basically hokey story. Romantics of all ages are sure to enjoy this. [PG-13]▼●●

Untamed Youth (1957) 80m. BOMB D: Howard W. Koch. Mamie Van Doren, Lori Nelson, John Russell, Don Burnett, Eddie Cochran, Lurene Tuttle, Robert Foulk, Yvonne Lime, Jeanne Carmen, The Hollywood Rock and Rollers. Side-splitting camp masterpiece has sisters Mamie and Lori railroaded onto yucky prison work farm owned by hissably slimy Russell. You know something's wrong when Mamie sings four songs and Cochran only one. Best line: "Don't hit me in the mouth again! You'll break my dental plate!"

Until September (1984) C-95m.  D: Richard Marquand. Karen Allen, Thierry Lhermitte, Christopher Cazenove, Marie-Christina Conti, Nitzza Saul, Hutton Cobb. Temporarily stranded in Paris, Allen falls in love with handsome (and married) banker

Lhermitte. Utterly predictable romantic drama. [R]▼●

Until the End of the World (1991) C-158m.  D: Wim Wenders. William Hurt, Solveig Dommartin, Sam Neill, Max von Sydow, Jeanne Moreau, Rudiger Vogler, Ernie Dingo, Chick Ortega, Eddy Mitchell. In the near future, Dommartin joins Hurt on a mysterious global mission, which leads to the creation of a device that will enable blind people to see. Intended as the "ultimate road movie," but the story doesn't take off until almost halfway through, and the characters and themes remain a jumble. Even the locations (fifteen cities on four continents) can't help. There are some sparks from von Sydow, interesting high-definition TV effects, and an eclectic, all-star soundtrack, but it's still a major disappointment. [R]▼●

Until They Sail (1957) 95m. ½ D: Robert Wise. Paul Newman, Joan Fontaine, Jean Simmons, Sandra Dee, Piper Laurie, Charles Drake, Patrick Macnee, Dean Jones. Soaper courtroom story set in WW2 New Zealand, with sisters (Fontaine, Simmons, Laurie, and Dee) involved in love, misery, and murder. From James Michener story. CinemaScope.▼

Untouchables, The (1987) C-119m. * D: Brian De Palma. Kevin Costner, Sean Connery, Charles Martin Smith, Andy Garcia, Robert De Niro, Richard Bradford, Jack Kehoe, Brad Sullivan, Billy Drago, Patricia Clarkson. High-energy entertainment that packs a wallop: writer David Mamet's update of the well-remembered TV series tells how an earnest but naive federal agent named Eliot Ness learns (the hard way) to deal with both underworld crime and police corruption in Prohibition-era Chicago. Fluidly (and often flamboyantly) filmed, with powerhouse performances by Connery (in his Oscar-winning role), as a seasoned street cop, and De Niro, as a grandiose Al Capone. Climactic shoot-out, with echoes of POTEKIN, will have you on the edge of your seat! Photographed by Stephen H. Burum, with a rich music score by Ennio Morricone. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Untraceable (2008) C-100m. ½ D: Gregory Hoblit. Diane Lane, Billy Burke, Colin Hanks, Joseph Cross, Mary Beth Hurt, Perla Haney-Jardine. Formulaic but effective thriller about a computer-savvy psycho who devises the ultimate killer app: On his website, he offers down-streaming video of captives tormented by torture devices that grow increasingly more painful, and eventually lethal, as voyeurs worldwide click to watch. Not for the squeamish. About as satisfying as a better-than-average episode of a TV police-procedural drama. Lane is persuasive as the FBI agent on the killer's trail. Super 35. [R]▼

Unvanquished, The SEE: Aparajito
Unzipped (1995) C/B&W-72m.  D:

Douglas Keeve. Lively, if selective, documentary about N.Y. fashion designer Isaac Mizrahi, which begins with him mired in a creative slump and ends with a 1994 show that trumpets his "Eskimo line." Benefits from the ceaseless effervescence of its subject, whose oft-demonstrated tastes in movies and television extend to Bette Davis (in BABY JANE mode), Loretta Young, and his beloved Mary Tyler Moore. [R] ▼●●
Up (2009) C-96m. ½ D: Pete Docter. Voices of Ed Asner, Christopher Plummer, Jordan Nagai, Delroy Lindo, John Ratzenberger, Elie Docter. Wonderfully imaginative Pixar animated film about an old man who, just as life seems to be shutting him down, embarks on a great adventure, the kind he's dreamed about since he was a boy. He hoists his house in the air with balloons and heads for South America and the spot he and his wife always dreamed of visiting—accompanied by a well-meaning boy from an Explorer troop. Sweet, touching, exciting, funny, and constantly surprising, with great character design and attention to detail. Michael Giacchino's score perfectly supports a wide range of emotions. Written by Docter and Bob Peterson (who codirected and supplies the voice of Dug) from their story with Tom McCarthy. [PG]

Up and Down (2004-Czech) C-108m. ½ D: Jan Hřebejk. Petr Forman, Emília Vášáryová, Jan Tríska, Ingrid Timková, Kristyna Liška Boková, Jirí Macháček. A couple of small-time smugglers discover an abandoned baby, triggering a series of alternately funny and tragic consequences among a disparate group of people trying to sort out life in the complicated new ways of the Czech Republic. Well-made, quirky tale spins its web against the changing social, economic, and political landscape of a country that is learning to start over. Super 35. [R]●

Up at the Villa (2000-U.S.-British) C-115m.  D: Philip Haas. Kristín Scott Thomas, Sean Penn, Anne Bancroft, James Fox, Jeremy Davies, Derek Jacobi, Massimo Ghini. Awkward adaptation of W. Somerset Maugham novella set in 1938 Florence. Thomas takes pity on Austrian immigrant Davies and initiates one night of sex, but the young man shoots himself when she refuses to extend the relationship. Davies' dreadful performance would be enough to sink most movies by itself, but there's also a lack of chemistry between Thomas and Penn (as a roving-eyed American adventurer). As their social circle's resident gossip, Bancroft is broad enough to fit right in with the "Florence set" in the more entertaining TEA WITH MUSSO-LINI. [PG-13]▼●

Up Close & Personal (1996) C-124m.  D: Jon Avnet. Robert Redford, Michelle Pfeiffer, Stockard Channing, Joe Mantegna, Kate Nelligan, Glenn Plummer, James Rebhorn, Scott Bryce, Raymond Cruz, Dedee

Pfeiffer, Miguel Sandoval, Noble Willingham, James Karen. Ambitious young woman goes to work for veteran newsmen at a Miami TV station, where he shames and prods her into a good reporter. As their personal relationship blossoms, they both know it's time for her to move on—and up the television ladder. Paraphrase of A STAR IS BORN has everything but Pfeiffer saying "This is Mrs. Norman Maine" at the end, but it still works because of the thousand-watt charisma of its leads. Screenplay by Joan Didion and John Gregory Dunne, of all people. [PG-13]▼●●

Up From the Beach (1965) 99m. ½ D: Robert Parrish. Cliff Robertson, Red Buttons, Françoise Rosay, Irina Demick, Marius Goring, Slim Pickens, James Robertson Justice, Broderick Crawford. Static film of American sergeant Robertson involved with French civilians in love and war during Normandy invasion. CinemaScope.

Uphill All the Way (1985) C-86m. BOMB D: Frank Q. Dobbs. Roy Clark, Mel Tillis, Burl Ives, Glen Campbell, Trish Van Devere, Burt Reynolds, Frank Gorshin, Sheb Wooley. Teaming of singing stars Tillis and Clark as inept robbers in the Old West probably sounded like fun on paper but emerges as a mirthless chase film. Cameo contributions of pals Reynolds and Campbell add little. [PG]▼

Up in Arms (1944) C-106m. ½ D: Elliott Nugent. Danny Kaye, Dana Andrews, Constance Dowling, Dinah Shore, Louis Calhern, Lyle Talbot, Margaret Dumont, Elisha Cook, Jr. Danny's first feature film (about a hypochondriac in the Army) doesn't wear well, biggest asset being vivacious Dinah Shore; Virginia Mayo is one of the chorus girls. Only those great patter songs—including "The Lobby Number" and "Melody in 4F"—hold up. Based on The Nervous Wreck, filmed before with Eddie Cantor as WHOOPEE!▼

Up in Central Park (1948) 88m.  D: William A. Seiter. Deanna Durbin, Dick Haymes, Vincent Price, Albert Sharpe, Tom Powers. Disappointing screen version of Broadway musical hit (minus many of its songs) about an Irish colleen in turn-of-the-20th-century N.Y.C. who helps expose the crooked Tammany Hall tactics of Boss Tweed (Price).▼

Up in Smoke (1978) C-86m.  D: Lou Adler. Cheech Marin, Tommy Chong, Stacy Keach, Tom Skerritt, Edie Adams, Strother Martin. This silly pothead comedy breaks down all resistance with its cheerful vignettes about two dummies in search of "good grass." Nothing great, but undeniably funny; this was Cheech and Chong's first movie. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Up in the Cellar (1970) C-92m.  D: Theodore J. Flicker. Wes Stern, Joan Collins, Larry Hagman, Judy Pace. Above-average story of alluring youth who knows how to tum women on. Flicker's screenplay is exceptionally sharp. Made to cash in on success of THREE IN THE ATTIC, and was in fact retitled THREE IN THE CELLAR. [R]▼

Upper Hand, The (1966-French) C-86m. ½ D: Denys de la Patelliere. Jean Gabin, George Raft, Gert Frobe, Nadja Tiller. Labored international underworld yarn, with wooden performances by cast involved in gold smuggling. Franscope.

Up Periscope (1959) C-111m. ½ D: Gordon Douglas. James Garner, Edmond O'Brien, Andra Martin, Alan Hale, Carleton Carpenter, Frank Gifford. Garner is Navy lieutenant transferred to submarine during WW2, with usual interaction among crew as they reconnoiter Japanese held island. WarnerScope. ▼●●

Upside of Anger, The (2005) C-118m.  D: Mike Binder. Joan Allen, Kevin Costner, Erika Christensen, Evan Rachel Wood, Keri Russell, Alicia Witt, Mike Binder, Dane Christensen. Allen gives another knockout performance in this absorbing slice of life about a woman whose husband walks out on her, leaving her to cope with four daughters and an enormous well of anger. Costner is quite good as an ex-baseball-player-turned-radio-personality who insinuates himself into her life. Writer-director Binder plays Costner's producer. Filmed in England, though it takes place in the U.S. Super 35. [R]●

Upstairs and Downstairs (1961-British) C-100m.  D: Ralph Thomas. Mylene Demongeot, Michael Craig, Anne Heywood, James Robertson Justice, Daniel Massey, Claudia Cardinale. Witty study of human nature: Craig married boss' daughter (Heywood) and they must entertain firm's clients. Traces chaos of party-giving, and odd assortment of servants who come and go.

Up the Academy (1980) C-88m.  D: Robert Downey. Ron Leibman, Wendell Brown, Ralph Macchio, Tom Citera, Tom Poston, Stacey Nelkin, Barbara Bach, Leonard Frey, Robert Downey, Jr. Crude, tasteless but occasionally lively comedy about misadventures in a boys' military school. Leibman had his name taken off credits and advertising, but film isn't that bad. Aka MAD MAGAZINE PRESENTS UP THE ACADEMY, although for cable TV release all references to Mad and Alfred E. Neuman were excised. Macchio's film debut. Panavision. [R]▼●

Up the Creek (1958-British) 83m. ½ D: Val Guest. David Tomlinson, Wilfrid Hyde-White, Peter Sellers, Vera Day, Michael Goodliffe. Broad naval spoof à la MISTER ROBERTS, which leans too much on slapstick rather than barbs; Hyde-White is best as nonplussed admiral. Previously filmed as OH, MR. PORTER. Hammerscope. ▼

Up the Creek (1984) C-95m.  D: Robert Butler. Tim Matheson, Jennifer Runyon, Stephen Furst, Dan Monahan, Sandy Hel-

berg, Jeff East, Blaine Novak, James B. Sicking, John Hillerman. Silly comedy—though far from the worst of its kind—about four college losers (played by graduates of PORKY'S and ANIMAL HOUSE) who battle dastardly preppies and gung-ho military cadets to win a raft race. Plenty of skimpily clad girls, plus a genuinely funny charade scene. [R]▼●

Up the Down Staircase (1967) C-124m.  D: Robert Mulligan. Sandy Dennis, Patrick Bedford, Eileen Heckart, Ruth White, Jean Stapleton, Sorrell Booke, Roy Poole, Ellen O'Mara. Film version of Bel Kaufman's bestseller about N.Y.C. public schools is too slickly handled to be taken seriously, but generally entertaining. Good acting, especially by O'Mara as pathetic student. ▼●

Up the River (1930) 92m. ½ D: John Ford. Spencer Tracy, Claire Luce, Warren Hymer, Humphrey Bogart, William Collier, Sr. Silly but disarmingly funny comedy about a pair of habitual convicts, played by Tracy (dynamic in his feature-film debut) and Hymer, and their efforts to help fellow inmate Bogart (in his second feature), who's fallen in love with female prisoner Luce. Notable for its confluence of great talents at the beginnings of their careers—but it's also fun to watch. ●

Up the Sandbox (1972) C-97m. ½ D: Irvin Kershner. Barbra Streisand, David Selby, Jane Hoffman, John C. Becher, Jacobo Morales, Barbara Rhoades, Stockard Channing, Isabel Sanford, Conrad Bain, Paul Dooley, Anne Ramsey. Uneasy mixture of naturalism and fantasy somewhat redeemed by Streisand's performance, some funny sequences, and genuine feeling for plight of neglected young mother in N.Y.C. [R]▼●●

Up Tight (1968) C-104m.  D: Jules Dassin. Raymond St. Jacques, Ruby Dee, Frank Silvera, Julian Mayfield, Roscoe Lee Browne, Max Julien. Tough remake of THE INFORMER, ghetto-style. Black revolutionaries betrayed by one of their own. [PG—originally rated M]

Up to His Ears (1965-French-Italian) C-108m.  D: Philippe De Broca. Jean-Paul Belmondo, Ursula Andress, Maria Pacome, Valerie Lagrange, Jess Hahn. Wealthy young man decides to end his troubles by hiring a killer to do him in, then changes his mind. Energetic comedy runs hot and cold, but has many delicious moments. Beware of 94m. version.

Uptown Girls (2003) C-93m. ½ D: Boaz Yakin. Brittany Murphy, Dakota Fanning, Marley Shelton, Donald Faison, Jesse Spencer, Austin Pendleton, Heather Locklear, Fisher Stevens. Would-be fairy tale about the spoiled daughter of a rock star who suddenly discovers she's broke and is forced to take her first job ever—as nanny to a precocious

8-year-old girl whose mother ignores her. Murphy and Fanning are well cast and give the film its spark, but the muddled script wavers uneasily between comedy and drama, settling too often for formulaic glibness. [PG-13] ▼

Uptown Saturday Night (1974) C-104m. ½ D: Sidney Poitier. Sidney Poitier, Bill Cosby, Harry Belafonte, Calvin Lockhart, Flip Wilson, Richard Pryor, Rosalind Cash, Roscoe Lee Browne, Paula Kelly. Undeniably entertaining, this film still looks like an Amos 'n Andy script dusted off. Broad, silly comedy about two pals (Poitier, Cosby) who try to retrieve a stolen winning lottery ticket and get involved with an underworld kingpin (Belafonte, in an uproarious Godfather parody). A pair of follow-ups: LET'S DO IT AGAIN and A PIECE OF THE ACTION. [PG] ▼

Up Your Alley (1989) C-88m. ½ D: Bob Logan. Murray Langston, Linda Blair, Bob Zany, Kevin Benton, Ruth Buzzi, Glen Vincent, Jack Hanrahan, Melissa Shear, Johnny Dark, Yakov Smirnoff. Ambitious low-budget comedy with dramatic underpinnings. Reporter Blair pretends to be homeless to write a story about cynical street person Langston, and his innocent friend Zany. Gags too often undermine sensitive and serious moments. Cowritten by director Logan and star Langston (a.k.a. The Unknown Comic). [R] ▼

Uranus (1991-French) C-100m.  D: Claude Berri. Philippe Noiret, Gérard Depardieu, Jean-Pierre Marielle, Michel Blanc, Gérard Desarthe, Michel Galabru, Fabrice Luchini, Daniel Prevost. Communists and anti-communists, collaborators and ex-resisters lobby for power in a French village formerly held by the Nazis. Less politically ambiguous than muddled, and perhaps overplotted—but a potent showcase for some powerhouse French actors. ▼

Urban Cowboy (1980) C-135m.  D: James Bridges. John Travolta, Debra Winger, Scott Glenn, Madolyn Smith, Barry Corbin, Brooke Alderson, Mickey Gilley, Charlie Daniels Band, Bonnie Raitt. A young hardhat new to Pasadena, Texas, gravitates to the incredible honky-tonk named Gilley's, with its easy women, macho ambience, and mechanical bull, perfecting an "image" of manhood that doesn't quite work out in real life. An evocative slice of life adapted from Aaron Latham's magazine story by Latham and director Bridges. Later a Broadway musical. Panavision. [PG] ▼

Urbania (2000) C-103m.  D: Jon Shear. Dan Futterman, Alan Cumming, Matt Keeslar, Josh Hamilton, Lothaire Bluteau, Samuel Ball, Barbara Sukowa, Paige Turco, Gabriel Olds. Unusual, surreal drama of a gay New Yorker trying to cope with daily life—and the meaning of life—after apparently losing his lover. Film has an enigmatic structure, a strong cast and a superb performance by Futterman. Shear's feature directing debut; he also coscripted. ▼

Urban Legend (1998) C-99m.  D: Jamie Blanks. Jared Leto, Alicia Witt, Rebecca Gayheart, Natasha Gregson Wagner, Michael Rosenbaum, Loretta Devine, Joshua Jackson, John Neville, Robert Englund, Danielle Harris, Brad Dourif, Tara Reid. College friends are stalked by an unknown murderer, who kills them one by one in the style of famous urban legends. Clever premise is undercut by standard presentation and a truly rotten ending. Just another SCREAM clone, but a bit more entertaining than most. Followed by two sequels. Super 35. [R] ▼

Urban Legends: Final Cut (2000) C-98m. BOMB D: John Otman. Jennifer Morrison, Matthew Davis, Hart Bochner, Loretta Devine, Eva Mendes, Joseph Lawrence, Anson Mount, Jessica Cauffiel, Anthony Anderson, Michael Bacall, Marco Hofschneider. Rivalry between student filmmakers—some with mysterious pasts—seems to lead to a series of murders. Only tenuously linked to the first film, this mostly avoids the "urban legends" premise, and also avoids being worth your time. Just another slasher movie, defanged by oversensitivity to violence and gore. Rebecca Gayheart appears unbilled. Followed by URBAN LEGENDS: BLOODY MARY. Super 35. [R] ▼

Used Cars (1980) C-113m.  D: Robert Zemeckis. Kurt Russell, Jack Warden, Gerrit Graham, Frank McRae, Deborah Harmon, Joseph P. Flaherty, David L. Lander, Michael McKean, Andrew Duncan, Wendie Jo Sperber. Outrageous comedy about used car dealer rivalry that leads to spectacular and outlandish customer-getting schemes. Hilarious script by Bob Gale and Bob Zemeckis revels in bad taste, but does it so good-naturedly it's difficult to resist. And remember, $50 never killed anybody. [R] ▼

Used People (1992) C-115m. ½ D: Bebban Kidron. Shirley MacLaine, Kathy Bates, Jessica Tandy, Marcello Mastroianni, Marcia Gay Harden, Sylvia Sidney, Joe Pantoliano, Mathew Brantton, Bob Dishy, Charles Cioffi, Louis Guss, Doris Roberts. When her husband dies, a middle-aged Jewish woman (MacLaine) finds herself being courted—persistently—by an Italian man (Mastroianni) who's admired her from afar for more than 20 years! Heavily plotted family saga (adapted by actor Todd Graff from a series of his plays) offers many touching and amusing—if never quite convincing—vignettes, with an all-star lineup of actors (again, not terribly convincing, but fun to watch). [PG-13] ▼

Ushpizin (2004-Israeli) C-90m.  D: Giddi Dar. Shuli Rand, Michal Bat-Sheva Rand, Shaul Mizrahi, Ilan Ganani, Avraham Abutbul, Yonathan Danino, Daniel Dayan.

Compassionate, folksy comedy—a box-office smash in Israel—about a childless Orthodox Jewish husband and wife (played by real-life spouses) who are struggling financially as they celebrate the Sukkoth holiday with some loutish houseguests. Made by secular filmmakers in collaboration with members of Jerusalem's Orthodox community; together, they offer an insider's view of Orthodox Jewish customs while presenting characters whose experiences are universal. Shuli Rand, who plays the husband, wrote the screenplay—with the approval of his rabbi. Film's title translates to "holy guests." [PG]◆

U.S. Marshals (1998) C-133m.  D: Stuart Baird. Tommy Lee Jones, Wesley Snipes, Robert Downey, Jr., Kate Nelligan, Joe Pantoliano, Irène Jacob, Daniel Roebuck, Tom Wood, Latanya Richardson, Michael Paul Chan. The take-charge marshal (Jones) from THE FUGITIVE and his team are back on the job when a criminal suspect flees after a plane carrying him and other prisoners crash-lands. The search is helped/hampered by the addition of a Federal agent (Downey, Jr.). Action thriller scarcely takes a breath; falters toward the finale and doesn't know when to quit, but still entertaining. [PG-13]◆◆

U.S.S. Teakettle SEE: You're in the Navy Now

Usual Suspects, The (1995) C-105m. ½ D: Bryan Singer. Stephen Baldwin, Gabriel Byrne, Chazz Palminteri, Kevin Pollak, Pete Postlethwaite, Kevin Spacey, Suzy Amis, Benicio Del Toro, Giancarlo Esposito, Dan Hedaya, Paul Bartel. Five criminals of slightly different stripes are busted and put in a police lineup for a crime they didn't commit. They soon discover that fate—and perhaps more earthly forces—brought them together. Terrific cast makes the most of Christopher McQuarrie's intriguing, Oscar-winning, but convoluted script. (If you think about it, the final twist negates the entire film!) Highly praised, but to our minds, too "clever" for its own good. Spacey won an Oscar as Best Supporting Actor. Super 35. [R]◆◆

U.S. vs. John Lennon, The (2006) C/B&W-99m.  D: John Scheinfeld, David Leaf. Provocative look at how the U.S. government targeted ex-Beatle John Lennon in the early 1970s because his great popularity made his anti-Vietnam stance seem to be a threat. Historical footage is linked by interviews with Yoko Ono and leading cultural icons of the era, from Angela Davis and Bobby Seale to Walter Cronkite and Senator George McGovern. Ono's obvious devotion to Lennon comes through and provides a revealing portrait of a woman who's been demonized for years. [PG-13]◆

Utilities (1981-Canadian) C-91m. *½ D: Harvey Hart. Robert Hays, Brooke

Adams, John Marley, James Blenkins, Ben Gordon, Jane Malett, Tony Rosato. Social worker Hays declares war on the gas, electric and phone companies in this undercooked satiric comedy. [PG]◆◆

Utopia (1951-French) 82m. *½ D: Leo Joannon. Stan Laurel, Oliver Hardy, Suzy Delair, Max Elloy. L&H's final film saddles the great comics with poor script and production, despite decent premise of the duo inheriting a uranium-rich island. Aka ATOLL K and ROBINSON CRUSOE-LAND. Original European running time 98m. ◆◆

Utú (1983-New Zealand) C-104m. *½ D: Geoff Murphy. Anzac Wallace, Bruno Lawrence, Tim Elliott, Kelly Johnson, Wi Kuki Kaa. Maori tribesman (and British army subordinate) in New Zealand goes on a ritualistic rampage after his family is wiped out in a senseless raid. Downbeat, dull, and full of stereotypical characters—without the compensating power of Australia's not dissimilar THE CHANT OF JIMMY BLACKSMITH. Original running time 118m; this review is based on the shorter U.S. version. [R]◆◆

U Turn (1997) C-125m.  D: Oliver Stone. Sean Penn, Nick Nolte, Jennifer Lopez, Powers Boothe, Claire Danes, Joaquin Phoenix, Billy Bob Thornton, Jon Voight, Abraham Benrubi, Julie Hagerty, Bo Hopkins, Laurie Metcalf, Liv Tyler. Young punk heading for Vegas is forced to stop in a one-horse Arizona town when his car breaks down; he quickly finds himself in a nightmare world where everything that can go wrong does. You know what you're in for when an animal is killed during the main titles; it only gets worse. A sturdy cast does its best with this predictable, savagely unpleasant pulp nonsense. [R]◆◆

U2: Rattle and Hum (1988) C/B&W-99m. ½ D: Phil Joanou. Title Irish rock band was the late '80s' most celebrated, but scattershot documentary never really explains why to the unknowing or unconverted. Music compensates to some degree, with some of the best numbers fortunately weighted near the end; a side trip to Elvis' Graceland seems out of place. For no apparent reason, first half is in grainy b&w, second is in color. [PG-13]◆◆

Utz (1992-British-German-Italian) C-94m.  D: George Sluizer. Armin Mueller-Stahl, Brenda Fricker, Peter Riegert, Paul Scofield, Gaye Brown, Miriam Karlin. Good cast does its best in this overly sedate account of an elderly, dying man (Mueller-Stahl) and his lifelong obsession with collecting porcelain figurines. The point—the ultimate meaninglessness of materialism—is obvious. Scripted by Hugh Whitmore; based on Bruce Chatwin's novel. ◆

Vacancy (2007) C-80m. ½ D: Nimród

Antal. Kate Beckinsale, Luke Wilson, Frank Whaley, Ethan Embry, Scott G. Anderson, Mark Casella, David Doty. An estranged couple's car breaks down in a desolate area, forcing them to spend the night at a motel run by creepy Whaley, who looks like he'd make a good roommate for Norman Bates. They soon discover they have checked into a room with hidden cameras used to make snuff films and realize they are intended to star in the next production. Tight, economic thriller is helped by director Antal's inventive approach to basically sleazy material. Saul Bass-inspired title and end credit sequences are a highlight. Followed by DVD sequel. Super 35. [R]●

Vacation From Marriage (1945-British) 92m.  D: Alexander Korda. Robert Donat, Deborah Kerr, Glynis Johns, Ann Todd, Roland Culver, Elliot Mason. Donat and Kerr sparkle in story of dull couple separated by WW2, each rejuvenated by wartime romance. Johns is perky as Kerr's military friend. Clemence Dane won an Oscar for her original story. British version, titled PERFECT STRANGERS, ran 102m.

Vagabond (1985-French) C-105m. ½ D: Agnès Varda. Sandrine Bonnaire, Macha Meril, Stephane Freiss, Elaine Cortadellas, Marthe Jarnias, Yolande Moreau. Haunting drama about young drifter who wanders about hitching a ride here, sleeping there, and how those she encounters respond to her. A simple, powerful, superbly directed film about chance meetings, missed opportunities, and the price one must pay for one's choices. ▼●●

Vagabond King, The (1956) C-86m.  D: Michael Curtiz. Kathryn Grayson, Oreste, Rita Moreno, Cedric Hardwicke, Walter Hampden, Leslie Nielsen; narrated by Vincent Price. Bland remake of Rudolf Friml's operetta (filmed before in 1930), about poet-schondrel François Villon. Oreste was touted as new musical star in 1956, but didn't quite make it. Story, sans music, filmed in 1927 (THE BELOVED ROGUE) and 1938 (IF I WERE KING). VistaVision.

Vagrant, The (1992-U.S.-French) C-91m. *½ D: Chris Walas. Bill Paxton, Michael Ironside, Marshall Bell, Mitzi Kapture, Colleen Camp, Patrika Darbo, Mark McClure, Stuart Pankin, Teddy Wilson, Derek Mark Lochran. A timid, rising executive (Paxton) buys a house where an ugly, diseased hobo has been living, then finds himself terrorized by the bum. Misfired comic satire. Executive produced by Mel Brooks. [R]▼

Valachi Papers, The (1972-Italian) C-125m. ½ D: Terence Young. Charles Bronson, Lino Ventura, Jill Ireland, Joseph Wiseman, Walter Chiari, Amedeo Nazzari. Sloppy but engrossing account of Mafia life as seen through eyes of famed informer Joseph Valachi (Bronson). Lots of blood. From the book by Peter Maas. [PG—edited from original R rating] ▼●

Valdez Horses, The SEE: Chino
Valdez Is Coming (1971) C-90m. ½ D: Edwin Sherin. Burt Lancaster, Susan Clark, Jon Cypher, Barton Heyman, Richard Jordan, Frank Silvera, Hector Elizondo. OK intellectual Western with Lancaster a Mexican-American deputy sheriff forced to confront ruthless land baron after triggering local hostilities. Shot in Spain; first film for noted Broadway director Sherin. Based on a novel by Elmore Leonard. [PG]▼●●

Valentin (2003-Argentinian-Dutch) C-86m.  D: Alejandro Agresti. Julieta Cardinali, Carmen Maura, Jean Pierre Noher, Mex Urtizbera, Rodrigo Noya. With his womanizing father and absent mother separated, an 8-year-old "cupid," living with his grandmother, must use all his wits to solve his dysfunctional family's problems. Story set in Buenos Aires in the late 1960s is charming and slight, sort of an edgy THE COURTSHIP OF EDDIE'S FATHER with Argentinian seasoning. Noya, in the title role, avoids the kid actor "cutes" and scores with a winning performance. Writer-director Agresti also plays the imperfect dad who discovers that his son comes in handy when it comes to attracting women. [PG-13]●

Valentine (2001) C-126m. *½ D: Jamie Blanks. Marley Shelton, David Boreanaz, Denise Richards, Jessica Capshaw, Jessica Cauffiel, Daniel Cosgrove, Fulvio Cecere, Johnny Whitworth, Katherine Heigl, Hedy Burress. Four gorgeous friends receive ominous valentines—and then someone starts murdering them. Could it be that geek they spurned back in junior high? Handsome but dismayingly routine retro-slasher shies away from both gore and sex. Loosely based on the novel by Tom Savage. Super 35. [R]▼●

Valentino (1951) C-102m. *½ D: Lewis Allen. Anthony Dexter, Eleanor Parker, Richard Carlson, Patricia Medina, Joseph Calleia, Dona Drake, Lloyd Gough, Otto Kruger. Undistinguished, superficial biography of famed star of American silent films.

Valentino (1977) C-127m. *½ D: Ken Russell. Rudolf Nureyev, Leslie Caron, Michelle Phillips, Carol Kane, Felicity Kendal, Seymour Cassel, Peter Vaughan, Anton Diffring. Typically excessive, visually flamboyant Ken Russell "biography" offers little insight on great screen lover, and suffers further from Nureyev's awkward performance. But any film that casts Huntz Hall as movie mogul Jesse Lasky can't be all bad. [R]▼●●

Valentino Returns (1987) C-102m. ½ D: Peter Hoffman. Frederic Forrest, Veronica Cartwright, Barry Tubb, Jenny Wright, David Packer, Seth Isler, Miguel Ferrer. Meandering drama of young Tubb and his no-account father, frustrated mother, and his desperation to experience sex. Great atmosphere, so-so result. Set in 1950s California. Screenplay by Leonard Gardner (who plays Lyle), based on his short story. [R]▼●

Valerie (1957) 84m. *½ D: Gerd Oswald. Sterling Hayden, Anita Ekberg, Anthony Steel, Malcolm Atterbury. Unmemorable account (via flashbacks) of facts leading up to the wounding of Hayden's wife, and death of her parents.

Valet, The (2006-French) C-85m. ½ D: Francis Veber. Gad Elmaleh, Daniel Auteuil, Kristin Scott Thomas, Alice Taglioni, Richard Berry, Virginie Ledoyen, Michèle Garcia, Michel Jonasz, Dany Boon, Michel Aumont. Business tycoon Auteuil is photographed in a compromising moment with his mistress, a top model (Taglioni), so to throw his wife off his trail, he hires a nerdy parking valet (Elmaleh) to pretend to be the model's real boyfriend. Complications snowball for all concerned in this slick Veber farce; not one of his best but still diverting. Technovision. [PG-13]●

Valiant (2005-U.S.-British) C-80m. ½ D: Gary Chapman. Voices of Ewan McGregor, Ricky Gervais, Tim Curry, Jim Broadbent, Hugh Laurie, John Cleese, John Hurt, Pip Torrens, Rik Mayall, Olivia Williams. Cute CG-animated feature about a small but plucky bird who joins the elite Royal Homing Pigeon Service working for Britain during WW2. Before they're really ready, he and other new recruits are assigned a vital mission to deliver a message without running afoul of enemy falcons. Entertaining yarn for younger kids, with smart gags to amuse adults as well (opening b&w newsreel is called BIRDS ON THE MARCH). [G]●

Valkyrie (2008-U.S.-German) C-120m. ½ D: Bryan Singer. Tom Cruise, Kenneth Branagh, Bill Nighy, Tom Wilkinson, Carice van Houten, Thomas Kretschmann, Terence Stamp, Eddie Izzard, Kevin McNally, Christian Berkel, David Bamber, Tom Hollander, Ian McNeice, Christian Oliver. Cruise plays German hero Col. Claus von Stauffenberg, central figure in the daring scheme to assassinate Adolf Hitler in 1944. Pulling off the actual killing is simple compared to the infighting among the politicians and military bureaucrats who launch this conspiracy. After so many vivid WW2 movies in recent years this one rings hollow at first; finally hits its stride about halfway through the proceedings. [PG-13]●

Valley Girl (1983) C-95m. ½ D: Martha Coolidge. Nicolas Cage, Deborah Foreman, Colleen Camp, Frederic Forrest, Elizabeth Daily, Lee Purcell. Refreshingly nonexploitative punker-suburbanite romance is several cuts above most contemporary teen pics, but the result is still distressingly mild. Attractive leads, amusing performances by Camp and Forrest as Foreman's hippieish parents, but film never really goes anywhere. [R]▼●●

Valley of Decision, The (1945) 119m.  D: Tay Garnett. Greer Garson, Gregory Peck, Donald Crisp, Lionel Barrymore, Preston Foster, Marsha Hunt, Gladys Cooper, Reginald Owen, Dan Duryea, Jessica Tandy, Barbara Everest, Marshall Thompson, Dean Stockwell. Polished adaptation of Marcia Davenport's novel about labor and class struggles in 1870 Pittsburgh, and a star-crossed relationship between a housemaid (Garson) and the son of a steel mill owner (Peck). ▼

Valley of Gwangi (1969) C-95m. ½ D: James O'Connolly. James Franciscus, Gila Golan, Richard Carlson, Laurence Naismith, Dennis Kilbane. Standard reworking of King Kong theme: adventurers in Mexico stumble upon prehistoric monster, hit on idea to display their find in a traveling circus, make money. Script and production have holes, but film is sparked by Ray Harryhausen special effects. Based on a story by Willis O'Brien. ▼●●

Valley of Mystery (1967) C-94m.  D: Josef Leytes. Richard Egan, Peter Graves, Joby Baker, Lois Nettleton, Harry Guardino, Julie Adams, Fernando Lamas, Leonard Nimoy. Lackluster melodrama in which a plane crash-lands in the South American jungle. Expanded from a TV pilot.

Valley of the Dolls (1967) C-123m. BOMB D: Mark Robson. Barbara Parkins, Patty Duke, Sharon Tate, Susan Hayward, Paul Burke, Tony Scotti, Martin Milner, Lee Grant, Joey Bishop, George Jessel. Scattered unintentional laughs do not compensate for terribly written, acted, and directed adaptation of Jacqueline Susann novel about three young women in show biz. Author Susann has a bit role as a reporter. Look for Richard Dreyfuss in a quick backstage bit. Remade as a TV movie in 1981. Panavision. ▼●●

Valley of the Eagles (1951-British) 85m. ½ D: Terence Young. Jack Warner, John McCallum, Nadia Gray, Anthony Dawson, Mary Laura Wood, Christopher Lee, Njama Wiwstrand. Above-par chase tale of Swedish scientist tracking down his wife and assistant who stole his research data and headed for the north country. ▼

Valmont (1989-French-British) C-137m. ½ D: Milos Forman. Colin Firth, Annette Bening, Meg Tilly, Fairuza Balk, Sian Phillips, Jeffrey Jones, Henry Thomas, Fabia Drake, Ian McNeice. Ah, the bedhopping of Choderlos de Laclos's Les Liaisons Dangereuses! Meticulous retelling of the sexual shenanigans of 18th-century French aristocrats. Youthful cast makes this seem more mischievous than other versions . . . but that playfulness also softens some of its bite. Elderly Drake, who died shortly after film's release, steals every scene she's in. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Vamp (1986) C-94m. *½ D: Richard Wenk. Chris Makepeace, Sandy Baron, Robert Rusler, Dedee Pfeiffer, Gedde Watanabe, Grace Jones, Billy Drago. Fun-loving college guys run afoul of a female vampire in this dreary and distasteful horror outing. Starts out promisingly, with tongue-in-cheek, but soon drops the light touch in favor of the kinky. [R]▼●●

Vampiria SEE: Old Dracula

Vampire Circus (1971-British) C-87m. ½ D: Robert Young. John Moulder Brown, Adrienne Corri, Laurence Payne, Thorley Walters, Lynne Frederick, David Prowse. Very weird Hammer horror with unique gimmick; 19th-century European circus travels from town to town for good reason: most everyone is a vampire—including the animals! Last-minute cuts muddled the film considerably, but still well worth a look. [PG—edited from original R rating]●

Vampire in Brooklyn (1995) C-102m.  D: Wes Craven. Eddie Murphy, Angela Bassett, Allen Payne, Kadeem Hardison, John Witherspoon, Zakes Moka, Joanna Cassidy, Simbi Khali. Sleek Caribbean vampire Murphy, to perpetuate his race, needs to persuade Brooklyn cop Bassett that she's his soul mate. Oddball film has Murphy cracking jokes, but he's thoroughly evil; on the other hand, it's not scary enough to work as a horror film . . . and it's over-long, to boot. [R]▼●●

Vampire Lovers, The (1970-British) C-88m. ½ D: Roy Ward Baker. Ingrid Pitt, Pippa Steele, Madeleine Smith, Peter Cushing, George Cole, Dawn Addams, Kate O'Mara. Rather erotic Hammer chiller about lesbian vampires faithfully adapted from Sheridan Le Fanu's Carmilla, filmed many times before and since. Followed by LUST FOR A VAMPIRE and TWINS OF EVIL. [R]▼●●

Vampire Men of the Lost Planet (1970) C-85m. BOMB D: Al Adamson. John Carradine, Robert Dix, Vicki Volante, Joey Benson, Jennifer Bishop. Scientist traces epidemic of vampire attacks on earth to strange, distant planet, with the aid of stock footage from other movies. A real mish-mash, released theatrically as HORROR OF THE BLOOD MONSTERS, CREATURES OF THE PREHISTORIC PLANET, HORROR CREATURES OF THE PREHISTORIC PLANET, and SPACE MISSION OF THE LOST PLANET. [PG]▼●

Vampires (1998) C-107m.  D: John Carpenter. James Woods, Daniel Baldwin, Sheryl Lee, Thomas Ian Griffith, Maximilian Schell, Tim Guinee, Mark Boone, Jr., Gregory Sierra. Under directions from the Vatican, Woods and his team kill pesky vampires in the Southwest, while head vampire Griffith looks for the talisman that will allow his kind to exist in daylight. Like many Carpenter movies, it begins well, then crashes in a heap by the end. Based on the novel Vampire$ by John Steakley. Aka JOHN CARPENTER'S VAMPIRES. Followed by two direct-to-video sequels. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Vampire's Kiss (1989) C-96m. ½ D: Robert Bierman. Nicolas Cage, Maria Conchita Alonso, Jennifer Beals, Elizabeth Ashley, Kasi Lemmons, Bob Lujan, Jennifer Lundy. N.Y. literary agent, Reagan-era trendy, is convinced that he's been bitten by a you-know-what. Cage's conversation-piece performance is so over the top that it's conceivable the actor was bitten in real life. Amusing at times, also tasteless, with a pointed office-harassment subplot. [R]▼●●

Vampyr (1932-French-German) 73m.  D: Carl Theodor Dreyer. Julian West (Baron Nicolas de Gunzburg), Sybille Schmitz, Maurice Schutz, Henriette Gerard. Dreyer's stylized use of light, shadow, and camera angles takes precedence over the plot in this chilling vampire-in-a-castle tale. Based on the novella Carmilla by Sheridan Le Fanu; filmed several times later. Originally made in French, German, and English versions.▼●●

Van, The (1976) C-92m. *½ D: Sam Grossman. Stuart Getz, Deborah White, Danny DeVito, Harry Moses, Marcie Barkin, Bill Adler, Stephen Oliver. Shy Getz uses his fancy new van to seduce pretty girls. Innocuous idiocy of the California youth genre. Aka CHEVY VAN. [R]▼●

Van, The (1996-British) C-105m.  D: Stephen Frears. Colm Meaney, Donal O'Kelly, Ger Ryan, Caroline Rothwell, Brendan O'Carroll, Stuart Dunn. Slight, disappointing farce in which unemployed pals attempt to bring in the bucks by operating a hamburger business out of a van. The third (and by far least impressive) of Roddy Doyle's Barrytown Trilogy, following THE COMMITMENTS and THE SNAPPER. [R]▼●

Van Gogh (1991-French) C-155m.  D: Maurice Pialat. Jacques Dutronc, Alexandra London, Gérard Sety, Bernard Le Coq, Corinne Bourdon. Highly subjective chronicle focusing on Van Gogh's final months. Unlike other films, he's clearly depicted as not being deranged; the result is a solid, austere work which steers clear of any sort of sensationalism or melodrama. Dutronc offers a thoughtful lead performance. [R]▼●

Van Helsing (2004) C-132m. BOMB D: Stephen Sommers. Hugh Jackman, Kate Beckinsale, Richard Roxburgh, David Wenham, Shuler Hensley, Elena Anaya, Will Kemp, Kevin J. O'Connor, Alun Armstrong, Josie Maran, Robbie Coltrane. Working for a

secret organization bent on destroying evil, Gabriel Van Helsing is sent to Transylvania for his most difficult assignment: killing Count Dracula. He also has to deal with Frankenstein's monster and The Wolf Man. After a b&w prologue that pays homage to classic Universal horror films, this noisy, interminable, video-game-like movie discards all semblance of story or characterization. Even the charismatic Jackman is rendered dull. Edward Van Sloan, R.I.P. [PG-13]▼

Vanilla Sky (2001) C-136m.  D: Cameron Crowe. Tom Cruise, Penélope Cruz, Cameron Diaz, Kurt Russell, Jason Lee, Noah Taylor, Timothy Spall, Tilda Swinton, Michael Shannon, Alicia Witt, Johnny Galecki. A man who seems to have it all is victimized by a jealous lover after he spends the night with an alluring—and intriguing—woman he's just met. From that moment on, his life becomes a nightmare. Remake of the Spanish OPEN YOUR EYES (which also starred Cruz) combines dreams within dreams, causing its main character to wonder what's real, and what might have been. The stars look great, and Diaz is terrific, but is there a point? Crowe scripted this unfortunate misfire. Steven Spielberg appears briefly. [R]▼

Vanishing, The (1988-French-Dutch) C-101m.  D: George Sluizer. Bernard-Pierre Donnadieu, Gene Bervoets, Johanna Ter Steege. Disturbing psychodrama of a man's obsession with discovering what happened to his girlfriend, who inexplicably vanishes at a vacation rest stop. The viewer, too, becomes involved as the abductor recounts his steps leading up to the crime. A thriller without blood that maintains an uneasy tension from the beginning through its haunting (if implausible) climax. Sluizer also directed the American remake.▼

Vanishing, The (1993) C-110m.  D: George Sluizer. Jeff Bridges, Kiefer Sutherland, Nancy Travis, Sandra Bullock, Park Overall, Maggie Linderman, Lisa Eichhorn, George Hearn, Lynn Hamilton. Sutherland's girlfriend disappears at a gas station, and after three years of searching for her he's become a man obsessed. Meanwhile, her wily abductor (Bridges) considers revealing himself. Well-performed but unpleasant film can't hold a candle to Sluizer's 1988 original. [R]▼

Vanishing American, The (1955) 90m.  D: Joseph Kane. Scott Brady, Audrey Totter, Forrest Tucker, Gene Lockhart, Jim Davis, Jay Silverheels. Mild, minor film about landgrabbers trying to take Navajo territory; loosely based on Zane Grey novel, filmed before in 1925.

Vanishing Point (1971) C-99m.  D: Richard C. Sarafian. Barry Newman, Cleavon Little, Dean Jagger, Paul Koslo, Robert Donner, Severn Darden, Gilda Texter, Victoria Medlin. Told to drive a Dodge Challenger from Denver to San Francisco, Newman—for no apparent reason—decides to do it in 15 hours. Naturally, the cops are soon in hot pursuit, but Barry gets some help from blind d.j. Super Soul (Little). Existential chase thriller was a big drive-in hit, and remains a cult favorite, but is pretty much a disappointment. Exceptional rock score. British version, also on DVD, runs 106m. Remade for TV in 1997 with Viggo Mortensen. [PG]▼

Vanishing Prairie, The (1954) C-75m.  D: James Algar. Narrated by Winston Hibler. Disney's second True-Life Adventure feature provides astonishing footage of animal life in the great plains, including the birth of a buffalo calf. Fine presentation with little Disney gimmickry; Academy Award winner.▼

Vanishing Wilderness (1974) C-93m.  D: Arthur Dubs, Heinz Seilmann. Cowboy actor/singer Rex Allen narrates this stunningly photographed wildlife documentary which covers virtually all of North America—from the alligators of the Everglades to the polar bears of the Arctic. Topnotch but for excessive narration and heavenly choirs punctuating each scene. [G]▼

Vanity Fair (2004-U.S.-British) C-141m. ½ D: Mira Nair. Reese Witherspoon, Bob Hoskins, Rhys Ifans, Gabriel Byrne, Romola Garai, Jim Broadbent, Eileen Atkins, Geraldine McEwan, James Purefoy, Jonathan Rhys Meyers, Robert Pattinson. Good-looking production of Thackeray's novel about Becky Sharp, a poor girl who will stop at nothing to improve her position in society in 19th-century England. Generally well done, but overlong and heavy-handed at times. Witherspoon's star quality definitely buoys the proceedings. Filmed before in 1923, 1932, and 1935 (as BECKY SHARP). Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Vantage Point (2008) C-90m. ½ D: Pete Travis. Dennis Quaid, Sigourney Weaver, Forest Whitaker, Matthew Fox, Bruce McGill, Edgar Ramirez, Said Taghmaoui, Ayelet Zurer, Zoe Saldana, William Hurt, James Le Gros, Eduardo Noriega, Richard T. Jones. In true RASHOMON fashion, the assassination of a U.S. President in a foreign country is told from eight different perspectives (a news crew, a tourist, a terrorist, a secret service agent, et al.). Tedious at first, with stilted dialogue and laughable B-movie histrionics threatening to sink the ambitious enterprise, but as film progresses the mystery deepens and a couple of twists make the effort pay off. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Van Wilder SEE: National Lampoon's Van Wilder

Van Wilder 2: The Rise of Taj SEE: National Lampoon's Van Wilder 2: The Rise of Taj

Vanya on 42nd Street (1994) C-120m. ½ D: Louis Malle. Wallace Shawn, Phoebe Brand, George Gaynes, Jerry Mayer, Andre Gregory, Julianne Moore, Larry Pine, Brooke Smith, Lynn Cohen, Mahdur Jaffrey. Malle's final feature is a riveting, highly cinematic "filmed theater" piece, which examines the illusion that is the theater. Actors come to a crumbling midtown Manhattan stage to rehearse David Mamet's adaptation of Chekhov's Uncle Vanya; Gregory is the director, Shawn is taking the leading role (in which he is superb), and all of them remain in street clothes as the rehearsal subtly becomes the play, which intertwines with "real life." As stunningly original as Malle's MY DINER WITH ANDRE (which also featured Shawn and Gregory). [PG]▼●●

Varan, the Unbelievable (1958-Japanese-U.S.) 70m. *½ D: Ishiro Honda, Jerry Baerwitz, Myron Healey, Tsuruko Kobayashi, Kozo Nomura, Ayumi Sonoda. Typical Japanese rubber monster film except that creature defies clear definition. It's vaguely reptilian, but some insist it's a giant squirrel, since in Japanese prints it flies like a flying squirrel. Regardless, it stomps cities and scares the masses. Unbelievable is key word. Tohoscope. ▼●

Variety Girl (1947) 97m. ½ D: George Marshall. Mary Hatch, Olga San Juan, DeForest Kelley, William Demarest, Frank Faylen, Frank Ferguson. Hatcher and San Juan head for Hollywood with hopes of stardom; flimsy excuse for countless Paramount guest stars, including Gary Cooper and Ray Milland. Bob Hope and Bing Crosby come off best in amusing golfing scene. Puppetoon segment in color.▼

Variety Lights (1950-Italian) 93m. ½ D: Federico Fellini, Alberto Lattuada. Peppino De Filippo, Carla Del Poggio, Giulietta Masina, John Kitzmiller, Dante Maggio, Checco Durante. Fellini's first film (though codirected) is a rather ordinary tale of the lovely Del Poggio struggling through small-town music halls to become a star. Some funny and touching scenes featuring the usual Fellini eccentrics.▼●●

Varsity Blues (1999) C-104m. *½ D: Brian Robbins. James Van Der Beek, Jon Voight, Paul Walker, Ron Lester, Scott Caan, Ali Larter, Amy Smart. Cliché-ridden, MTV-produced high school pigskin drama about a reluctant second-string quarterback (Van Der Beek) and his nefarious steroid-distributing coach (Voight, who seems to think he's doing Eugene O'Neill). Veers between leering low comedy and heavy-handed melodrama. Lester rises above his exploitative role as an overweight lineman. [R]▼●●

Va Savoir (2001-French-Italian) C-150m.  D: Jacques Rivette. Jeanne Balibar, Sergio Castellitto, Marianne Basler, Jacques Bonnaffé, Hélène de Fougerolles, Bruno Todeschini, Catherine Rouvel, Claude Berri. Laid-back comedy follows the romantic entanglements of six characters, beginning with an actress (Balibar) who has returned to Paris to star in a Pirandello play in which the script mirrors the offstage goings-on. Rich, carefully observed movie for grown-ups. [PG-13]▼●

Vasectomy: A Delicate Matter (1986) C-90m. BOMB D: Robert Burge, Paul Sorvino, Cassandra Edwards, Abe Vigoda, Ina Balin, June Wilkinson, William Marshall, Lorne Greene, Gary Raff. Bank executive Sorvino is the father of eight. His wife gives him an ultimatum: Get a vasectomy, or it's bye-bye sex life. Utterly inane comedy that's almost (but not quite) too stupid to be offensive. [PG-13]▼

Vatel (2000-French-British) C-117m.  D: Roland Joffé. Gérard Depardieu, Uma Thurman, Tim Roth, Julian Glover, Julian Sands, Timothy Spall, Arielle Dombasle, Hywel Bennett, Richard Griffiths, Murray Lachlan Young. Richly textured study of François Vatel, who works as master steward for a retired French general in 1671. When King Louis XIV comes to visit, Vatel must stage a magnificent feast and spectacle so the King will relieve his master of his debts . . . but Louis has his own agenda. Tom Stoppard adapted Jeanne Labrune's screenplay; based on a true story of court intrigue, this also serves as a contemporary parable about personal integrity. Sumptuously filmed. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●

Vatican Affair, The (1969-Italian) C-94m.  D: Emilio Miraglia. Walter Pidgeon, Ira Furstenberg, Klaus Kinski, Tino Carraro. Pidgeon masterminds Vatican robbery in routine heist film. Colorscope. [M/PG]

Vault of Horror (1973-British) C-87m. ½ D: Roy Ward Baker. Daniel Massey, Anna Massey, Terry-Thomas, Glynis Johns, Curt Jurgens, Dawn Addams, Tom Baker, Denholm Elliott, Michael Craig, Edward Judd. Five horror tales interwoven by thin connecting thread, dealing with murder, torture, bloodthirsty vampires, voodoo; adapted from old E. C. Comics. Fine cast with so-so material. Follow-up to TALES FROM THE CRYPT; reissued as TALES FROM THE CRYPT, PART II. [PG]▼●

Vegas Vacation (1997) C-95m. ½ D: Stephen Kessler. Chevy Chase, Beverly D'Angelo, Randy Quaid, Ethan Embry, Marisol Nichols, Miriam Flynn, Shae D'Lyn, Siegfried & Roy, Wallace Shawn, Sid Caesar, Julia Sweeney, Christie Brinkley. Just what you'd expect, as the Griswold family goes to Las Vegas, where Chase locks horns with a spiteful blackjack dealer (Shawn), D'Angelo is wooed by Wayne Newton, son Embry is mistaken for a high roller, and daughter Nichols is influenced by her cousin, an exotic dancer. Quaid steals every scene he's in. That's producer Jerry Weintraub as slick gambler Jilly from Philly. [PG]▼●●

Velocity SEE: Wild Ride, The

Velocity of Gary, The (1999) C-98m. *½ D: Dan Ireland. Salma Hayek, Vincent D'Onofrio, Thomas Jane, Chad Lindberg, Olivia d'Abo, Shawn Michael Howard, Ethan Hawke. Sloppy, stilted soap opera, set amid the N.Y.C. porno-drag queen subculture, involving a love triangle between bisexual porn actor D'Onofrio, aimless hustler Jane, and frenzied waitress Hayek. AIDS (though never named) plays a key role in the story, which labors to be hip but is only affected and muddled. Clairmont-Scope. [R]▼●

Velvet Goldmine (1998-U.S.-British) C-117m. ½ D: Todd Haynes. Ewan McGregor, Jonathan Rhys Meyers, Toni Collette, Christian Bale, Eddie Izzard, Emily Woof, Michael Feast. Opulent, glittery paean to early '70s glam rock (and youth-culture head movies like QUADROPHENIA and PERFORMANCE) is such a triumph of style and excess it's easy to overlook the film's clunky CITIZEN KANE narrative structure and emotionally aloof characters. Rhys Meyers is effectively snotty as a bisexual David Bowie-esque pop star, but Collette is a standout as his neglected party-girl wife. Sandy Powell's inventive, androgynous costumes are great. [R]▼●●

Velvet Touch, The (1948) 97m. ½ D: John Gage. Rosalind Russell, Leo Genn, Claire Trevor, Sydney Greenstreet, Leon Ames, Frank McHugh, Martha Hyer. Satisfying murder mystery about a stage actress who commits perfect crime; good Leo Rosten script with a nifty ending. ▼●

Velvet Vampire, The (1971) C-80m.  D: Stephanie Rothman. Michael Blodgett, Celeste Yarnall, Sherry Miles, Jerry Daniels. Stylish transfer of vampire legend to western U.S. with Yarnall as sexy blood-sucker. Later reissued as CEMETERY GIRLS. [R]▼●●

Venetian Affair, The (1967) C-92m.  D: Jerry Thorpe. Robert Vaughn, Elke Sommer, Felicia Farr, Karl Boehm, Luciana Paluzzi, Boris Karloff, Edward Asner. Limp spy vehicle not far removed from Vaughn's Man from U.N.C.L.E. TV series. International intrigue isn't too intriguing in this one; Karloff is good in a supporting role. Panavision.

Venetian Woman, The (1986-Italian) C-84m.  D: Mauro Bolognini. Laura Antonelli, Jason Connery, Monica Guerritore, Claudio Amendola, Annie-Belle. Disarmingly straightforward 16th-century sex comedy-drama of Connery (son of Sean Connery and Diane Cilento) arriving in Venice and juggling affairs with lovely but frustrated older women. Exquisite art direction, gorgeous Antonelli, and clever musical score by Ennio Morricone heighten this little gem. Original Italian title: LA VENEXIANA.

Vengeance of Fu Manchu, The (1967-British) C-91m.  D: Jeremy Summers.

Christopher Lee, Douglas Wilmer, Tsai Chin, Horst Frank, Maria Rohm, Howard Marion Crawford. Third entry in low-budget series that keeps Sax Rohmer stories in period. This time evil genius is out to destroy world police organization, and discredit arch-nemesis Nayland Smith (Wilmer) with a double. Good cast working below capabilities; lousy script. Followed by BLOOD OF FU MANCHU. ▼

Vengeance of She, The (1968-British) C-101m.  D: Cliff Owen. John Richardson, Olinka Berova, Edward Judd, Colin Blakely. Not a sequel, but more like a remake of Hammer's 1965 version of Haggard's SHE; here, the spirit of Ayesha takes over young Berova. Pretty boring. [G]▼●●

Vengeance Valley (1951) C-83m.  D: Richard Thorpe. Burt Lancaster, Robert Walker, Joanne Dru, Sally Forrest, John Ireland, Carleton Carpenter, Hugh O'Brian. Sex in the West with Lancaster and Walker as battling brothers, Dru and Forrest their women. Walker plays slimy villain with gusto. ▼●●

Vengo (2001-French-Spanish) C-90m.  D: Tony Gatlif. Antonio Canales, Orestes Villasan Rodriguez, Antonio Perez Dechent, Bobote, Juan Luis Corrientes. A proud Andalusian gypsy tries to put an end to the blood feud between his family and a rival clan. Things get complicated when his mentally retarded nephew is targeted for death. Works marginally as an ode to Spanish flamenco dancing, but as a vendetta drama it's monotonous and melodramatic. Super 35. ▼●

Venice/Venice (1992) C-108m.  D: Henry Jaglom. Nelly Alard, Henry Jaglom, Suzanne Bertish, Melissa Leo, Daphna Kastner, David Duchovny, Diane Salinger, Zack Norman, John Landis. Jaglom pretentiously parodies himself, playing a "maverick" American filmmaker at the Venice Film Festival; Alard is cast as a French journalist who becomes involved with him. Annoyingly self-absorbed, but occasionally effective when depicting the artificial emotion at the festival. The title refers to Venice, Italy, and Venice, California. ▼●

Venom (1982-British) C-98m.  D: Piers Haggard. Klaus Kinski, Nicol Williamson, Oliver Reed, Sarah Miles, Sterling Hayden, Cornelia Sharpe, Susan George, Michael Gough. World's deadliest snake terrorizes a London town house—in the midst of a hostage crisis. Not a horror movie, as its title would indicate, and pretty short on thrills. Unusually strong cast for such an unexceptional film. [R] ▼●

Venom (2005) C-86m. *½ D: Jim Gillespie. Agnes Bruckner, Jonathan Jackson, Laura Ramsey, D. J. Cotrona, Rick Cramer, Meagan Good, Bijou Phillips, Method Man. A Creole healing woman accidentally releases supernaturally poisonous reptiles whose bites kill, then reanimate, a redneck tow-truck driver. He spends the rest of the movie decimating a small town's denizens, primarily dopey high schoolers in an old dark house on the bayou. Slavish imitation of I KNOW WHAT YOU DID LAST SUMMER—by its creators—is practically a remake (crowbar instead of fishhook) with voodoo thrown in. Standard slaughterfest is merely SNAKES ON A PLANTATION. Super 35. [R]●

Venus (2006-British) C-94m.  D: Roger Michell. Peter O'Toole, Leslie Phillips, Jodie Whittaker, Richard Griffiths, Vanessa Redgrave. O'Toole has his best film role in decades as an aged actor who forms an unlikely relationship with a friend's rough-hewn 19-year-old niece. Hanif Kureishi's screenplay examines mortality and the gradations of passion in surprising ways, but it is O'Toole who makes it special, with a performance of subtlety and consummate skill that, inevitably, draws on his own knowledge of his cinematic legacy. [R]●

Venus Beauty Institute (1999-French) C-105m.  D: Tonie Marshall. Nathalie Baye, Bulle Ogier, Mathilde Seigner, Audrey Tautou, Robert Hossein, Samuel Le Bihan, Jacques Bonnaffe. Baye plays an attendant at a fashionable Paris salon whose customers believe that treatments and beauty products will make them desirable—though she herself has never found happiness. Interesting to a point but dry and superficial—though it won four César Awards, including Best Picture. That's the filmmaker's mother, Micheline Presle, playing her Aunt Maryse, alongside Emmanuelle Riva. [R]▼●

Venus in Furs (1970-British-Italian-German) 86m. *½ D: Jess Franco. James Darren, Barbara McNair, Maria Rohm, Klaus Kinski, Dennis Price, Margaret Lee. Musician is baffled to see a woman who had previously washed ashore in a mutilated state; poor mystery. [R]▼●

Vera Cruz (1954) C-94m.  D: Robert Aldrich. Gary Cooper, Burt Lancaster, Denise Darcel, Cesar Romero, George Macready, Ernest Borgnine, Charles Bronson. Lumbering yet exciting Western set in 1860s Mexico with Cooper and Lancaster involved in plot to seize a stagecoach filled with Emperor Maximilian's gold. SuperScope.▼●●

Vera Drake (2004-British-French) C-125m.  D: Mike Leigh. Imelda Staunton, Phil Davis, Peter Wight, Adrian Scarborough, Heather Craney, Daniel Mays, Alex Kelly, Sally Hawkins, Eddie Marsan, Jim Broadbent, Allan Corduner, Ruth Sheen. Vivid re-creation of English working-class life in 1950, centered on an upbeat middle-aged woman who works hard, takes good care of her family, and puts on the kettle for a fresh pot of tea to solve any problem . . . until a crisis erupts that even she can't handle so easily: her secret life as an abortionist is

revealed to the authorities. Staunton is extraordinary in another of Leigh's kitchen-sink dramas that depicts a society that—for all its faults, some quite serious—was more civilized than ours. [R]●

Verboten! (1959) 93m. ½ D: Samuel Fuller. James Best, Susan Cummings, Tom Pittman, Paul Dubov, Dick Kallman, Steven Geray. American soldier falls in love with embittered German girl in occupied Berlin after WW2. High-pitched drama, flamboyantly directed by Fuller.▼●

Verdict, The (1946) 86m. ½ D: Don Siegel. Peter Lorre, Sydney Greenstreet, Joan Loring, George Coulouris, Arthur Shields, Rosalind Ivan, Holmes Herbert. Greenstreet and Lorre make the most of this "perfect crime" yarn, with Greenstreet as Scotland Yard inspector who's "retired" after he sends innocent man to gallows. Director Siegel's first feature. Remake of THE CRIME DOCTOR (1934).

Verdict, The (1974) SEE: Jury of One Verdict, The (1982) C-129m. * D: Sidney Lumet. Paul Newman, Charlotte Rampling, Jack Warden, James Mason, Milo O'Shea, Edward Binns, Julie Bovasso, Lindsay Crouse, Roxanne Hart, James Handy. Newman gives one of his finest performances as Boston lawyer who's hit bottom, until a medical negligence case gives him a chance to restore his self-esteem—while fighting for the kind of justice he still believes in. Director Lumet uses silence as eloquently as dialogue, and turns a story with more than a few loopholes into an emotionally charged experience. Look carefully for Bruce Willis as a courtroom spectator. Screenplay by David Mamet, from Barry Reed's novel. [R]▼●●

Verne Miller (1987) C-92m. BOMB D: Rod Hewitt. Scott Glenn, Barbara Stock, Thomas G. Waites, Lucinda Jenney, Sonny Carl Davis, Diane Salinger, Andrew Robinson. Dumb drama with Glenn in a one-note performance as a real-life ex-South Dakota sheriff who became a notorious gangster during the 1920s and '30s. All attitude and posturing. [R]▼●

Veronica Guerin (2003-Irish-British) C-96m. ½ D: Joel Schumacher. Cate Blanchett, Gerard McSorley, Ciarán Hinds, Brenda Fricker, Barry Barnes, Joe Hanley, David Murray, Gerry O'Brien, Colin Farrell. Disappointing drama about the fearless real-life newspaper reporter who continually put herself in harm's way in order to expose the drug lords who bred so many adolescent addicts. Blanchett is as watchable as ever, but it's hard to muster (or maintain) empathy for the wantonly reckless Guerin. As a final touch, this Hollywood-produced film turns sanctimonious toward the end. Joan Allen played a fictionalized Guerin in WHEN THE SKY FALLS. Super 35. [R]

▼●

Veronika Voss (1982-German) 105m. *****
D: Rainer Werner Fassbinder. Rosel Zech, Hilmar Thate, Cornelia Froboess, Annermarie Düringer, Doris Schade, Volker Spengler. Interesting saga of faded '40s movie star Zech, allegedly a friend of Goebbels, who ten years after the war's end is a morphine addict. Good, but not great, Fassbinder; the last of his trilogy about post-war Germany, following THE MARRIAGE OF MARIA BRAUN and LOLA. [R]▼

Vertical Limit (2000) C-123m. * D: Martin Campbell. Chris O'Donnell, Robin Tunney, Scott Glenn, Bill Paxton, Izabella Scorupco, Nicholas Lea, Temuera Morrison, Stuart Wilson. Over two hours of people dangling from rope over cliffs, with explosions, avalanches, and some exposition in between. O'Donnell plays a young climber who must launch a dangerous rescue mission up K2 to save his sister. Spectacular scenery (shot mostly in New Zealand) and a few good action set pieces might stop you from cutting this loose. [PG-13]▼

Vertical Ray of the Sun, The (2001-French-Vietnamese) C-112m. ½ D: Tran Anh Hung. Tran Nu Yen Khe, Nguy Nhu Quynh, Le Khanh, Ngo Quang Hai, Chu Hung. In modern-day Hanoi, three sisters prepare a memorial banquet to honor the anniversary of both their parents' deaths. Despite the Chekhovian setup, this is another sensual tone poem with nominal plotting from the director of THE SCENT OF GREEN PAPAYA; cinematographer Mark Lee Ping-Bin shoots with hothouse radiance. Frequently intoxicating... but also slow-going. [PG-13]▼

Vertigo (1958) C-128m.  D: Alfred Hitchcock. James Stewart, Kim Novak, Barbara Bel Geddes, Tom Helmore, Henry Jones, Ellen Corby, Raymond Bailey, Lee Patrick. One of Hitchcock's most discussed films. Retired police detective Stewart, who has a fear of heights, is hired by old school chum in San Francisco to keep an eye on his wife (Novak), eventually falls in love with his quarry... and that's just the beginning; to reveal more would be unthinkable. Alec Coppel and Samuel Taylor scripted, from the novel D'entre les morts by Pierre Boileau and Thomas Narcejac. Haunting, dreamlike thriller, with riveting Bernard Herrmann score to match; a genuinely great motion picture that demands multiple viewings. VistaVision.▼

Very Annie-Mary (2001-British-Welsh-French) C-105m. ½ D: Sara Sugarman. Rachel Griffiths, Jonathan Pryce, Ioan Gruffudd, Matthew Rhys, Kenneth Griffith, Ruth Madoc, Joanna Page. Alternately charming and curious concoction from writer-director Sugarman. The baker in the small Welsh town of Ogvw is also the resident ladies' man and star tenor... but he oppresses his simple-minded daughter, who yearns to break free. Full of quirky characters and incidents, but its major assets are the performances by Griffiths, as the clumsy but good-hearted Annie-Mary, and Pryce, as her quietly diabolical father. It's hard to top that opening shot!▼

Very Bad Things (1998) C-100m. * D: Peter Berg. Christian Slater, Cameron Diaz, Daniel Stern, Jeanne Tripplehorn, Jon Favreau, Jeremy Piven, Leland Orser. Black—make that really black—comedy about a guy who goes to Las Vegas with four pals for a bachelor party. The scene turns ugly very fast, leaving the friends to deal with a couple of crimes and raging guilt as the wedding draws nearer. Extreme, to say the least, but true to its dark mandate, which is awfully grim. Feature writing and directing debut for actor Berg. [R]▼

Very Brady Sequel, A (1996) C-89m. *****
D: Arlene Sanford. Shelley Long, Gary Cole, Tim Matheson, Christopher Daniel Barnes, Christine Taylor, Paul Suter, Jennifer Elise Cox, Henrietta Mantel, Jesse Lee, Olivia Hack, John Hilleman. With a better script than the first BRADY movie, this silly/funny follow-up has the '70s time-warped family thrown asunder when a man claiming to be Carol's first husband shows up. Further problems arise when Greg and Marsha find themselves unsettlingly attracted to one another! Full of the same double-entendre sexual gags as the first film, plus wonderful musical moments and a handful of gag cameos. [PG-13]▼

Very Important Person SEE: Coming-Out Party

Very Long Engagement, A (2004-French) C-133m. ½ D: Jean-Pierre Jeunet. Audrey Tautou, Gaspard Ulliel, Jérôme Kircher, Dominique Bettenfeld, Jodie Foster, Jean-Pierre Darroussin, Denis Lavant, Clovis Cornillac, Chantal Neuwirth, Dominique Pinon, Marion Cotillard, André Dussollier, Ticky Holgado, Jean-Paul Rouve, Julie Depardieu, Tchéky Karyo, Michel Vuillermoz, Jean-Claude Dreyfus. During WWI, a young woman refuses to believe that her fiancé has died, despite circumstantial evidence to the contrary; she will not rest until she finds him. Full of dazzling visuals (many recreating famous French photographs) and moments of charm and humor, as well as grim depictions of war, but goes on much longer than it should. Based on the novel by Sébastien Japrisot. Super 35. [R]▼

Very Private Affair, A (1962-French-Italian) C-95m. * D: Louis Malle. Brigitte Bardot, Marcello Mastroianni, Gregor von Rezzori, Eleonore Hirt, Dirk Sanders. Rather remote romantic drama in which Bardot plays a famous movie star (from Geneva) who is robbed of her privacy and retreats from the world. Mastroianni is her mom's former lover, a theater director now protecting Bardot. Flashy ending filmed against backdrop of the Spoleto Festival. Originally titled: LA VIE PRIVÉE. ▼

Very Special Favor, A (1965) C-104m.

*½ D: Michael Gordon. Rock Hudson, Leslie Caron, Charles Boyer, Walter Slezak, Dick Shawn, Larry Storch, Nita Talbot, Jay Novello. Too-often blah, forced comedy of Boyer asking Hudson to romance daughter Caron. **●

Very Thought of You, The (1998-British) C-88m.  D: Nick Hamm. Monica Potter, Joseph Fiennes, Rufus Sewell, Tom Hollander, Ray Winstone. Cute romantic comedy about an American woman who impulsively packs up and flies to England, where she simultaneously shakes up the lives of three men. Nicely done. Original British title: MARTHA, MEET FRANK, DANIEL AND LAURENCE. [PG-13] **▼●

V for Vendetta (2006-British-German-U.S.) C-132m.  D: James McTeigue. Natalie Portman, Hugo Weaving, Stephen Rea, Stephen Fry, John Hurt, Tim Pigott-Smith, Rupert Graves, Sinéad Cusack, Eddie Marsan. In the near future, England chafes under an Orwellian government led by Hurt. Society's savior: masked rebel V (Weaving), who, invoking the spirit of Guy Fawkes, launches the movie by blowing up Old Bailey to the strains of Tchaikovsky. Portman is quite good as the man's captive, even sporting a symbolic Joan of Arc cut in the movie's second half. Uncommonly provocative for a major-studio movie, though cloaked in comic-book ambiance. Based on the Vertigo/DC Comics graphic novel by Alan Moore, illustrated by David Lloyd. Written and produced by The Wachowski Brothers. Super 35. [R] **●

Vibes (1988) C-99m. * D: Ken Kwapis. Cyndi Lauper, Jeff Goldblum, Julian Sands, Googy Gress, Peter Falk, Michael Lerner, Ramon Bieri, Elizabeth Pena, Bill McCutcheon, Karen Akers, Park Overall, Steve Buscemi. Unsatisfactory romantic adventure comedy about psychics Lauper (in her first starring role) and Goldblum, and their quest for a supposed city of gold in the mountains of Ecuador. Unfortunate misfire from comedy writers Lowell Ganz and Babaloo Mandel. [PG] **▼●

Vice Squad (1982) C-97m. * D: Gary A. Sherman. Season Hubley, Gary Swanson, Wings Hauser, Pepe Serna, Beverly Todd. Hooker helps Hollywood cops catch sadistic pimp who sexually mutilates other prostitutes. Both dull and sleazy, but Hauser is undeniably a great movie villain. [R] **▼●●

Vice Versa (1948-British) 111m.  D: Peter Ustinov, Roger Livesey, Kay Walsh, David Hutcheson, Anthony Newley, James Robertson Justice, Petula Clark, Patricia Raine, Joan Young. Entertaining comedy about Victorian stockbroker Livesey and his schoolboy son Newley, who change places after wishing on a magic stone. Parts of it are silly, but much of it is inspired and hilarious. Justice is great as a hypocritical headmaster; Ustinov also wrote the script. Predates the father-son "comedies" of the 1980s. **▼

Vice Versa (1988) C-100m.  D: Brian Gilbert. Judge Reinhold, Fred Savage, Corinne Bohrer, Swoosie Kurtz, David Proval, Jane Kaczmarek, William Prince, Gloria Gifford. An ill-gotten mystical Thai skull enables a department store workaholic and his 11-year-old son to become each other. Not up to BIG, but better than it ought to be; Reinhold and Savage appear to be having a whale of a time in their roles. [PG] **▼●●

Vicky Cristina Barcelona (2008) C-97m.  D: Woody Allen. Javier Bardem, Penélope Cruz, Scarlett Johansson, Rebecca Hall, Patricia Clarkson, Kevin Dunn, Chris Messina, Zak Orth, Carrie Preston, Pablo Schreiber. While summering with family friends in Barcelona, two American girls are approached by a sexy artist who asks them to spend a weekend with him. One is outraged, the other intrigued, but what happens next is completely unpredictable. A light, funny concoction by Woody Allen filled with attractive people and equally attractive postcard scenery. Blithely entertaining, with a terrific showcase part for Cruz, who won Best Supporting Actress Oscar as Bardem's fiery ex-wife. [PG-13] **●

Victim (1961-British) 100m. ½ D: Basil Dearden. Dirk Bogarde, Sylvia Sims, Dennis Price, Nigel Stock, Peter McEnery, Donald Churchill, Anthony Nicholls, Hilton Edwards, Norman Bird. Fine thriller with lawyer Bogarde risking reputation by trying to confront gang of blackmailers who caused death of his onetime lover. Considered daring at the time for treatment of homosexuality. Screenplay by Janet Green and John McCormick. **▼●●

Victor Frankenstein SEE: Terror of Frankenstein

Victors, The (1963) 156m.  D: Carl Foreman. George Hamilton, George Peppard, Vince Edwards, Eli Wallach, Melina Mercouri, Romy Schneider, Jeanne Moreau, Peter Fonda, Senta Berger, Elke Sommer, Albert Finney. Sprawling WW2 drama of Allied soldiers on the march through Europe, focusing on their loving and fighting. Good cast and direction overcome Foreman's ambling script. Originally released at 175m. Panavision.

Victor/Victoria (1982) C-133m. ½ D: Blake Edwards. Julie Andrews, James Garner, Robert Preston, Lesley Ann Warren, Alex Karras, John Rhys-Davies, Graham Stark, Peter Arne. Down-and-out singer Andrews masquerades as a man and becomes the toast of Paris cabarets in the 1930s, to the delight of her gay mentor (Preston) and the confusion of an American admirer (Garner). Sophisticated, often hilarious comedy, with Henry Mancini and Leslie Bricusse earning Oscars for their song score and adaptation.

Edwards' screenplay is based on VIKTOR UND VIKTORIA, a 1933 German film (remade in 1936 as FIRST A GIRL with Jessie Matthews). Later a Broadway musical. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Victory (1981) C-110m. *½ D: John Huston. Sylvester Stallone, Michael Caine, Max von Sydow, Pele, Daniel Massey, Carole Laure. POWs get a chance to escape German prison camp but stick around to finish soccer game—just as it would have happened in real life. Only Pele's celebrated kicks save this silly bore from a BOMB rating. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Victory at Sea (1954) 108m.  Produced by Henry Salomon. Narrated by Alexander Scourby. Briskly edited version of popular TV documentary series, highlighting Allied fight during WW2. Excellent photography. Rousing score by Richard Rodgers and Robert Russell Bennett. ▼

Victory through Air Power (1943) C-63m.  D: H.C. Potter; animation directors Clyde Geronimi, Jack Kinney, James Algar. Narrated by Art Baker. Fascinating time capsule produced by Walt Disney to support Major Alexander P. de Seversky's theory that the U.S. could win WW2 if it relied more on air power. Opens with an animated history of aviation, then turns to its propagandistic theme. A unique film in Disney's career that shows how effectively his artists could use the medium of animation to do more than simply entertain. De Seversky is also quite effective as host. ●

Videodrome (1983-Canadian) C-90m.  D: David Cronenberg. James Woods, Sonja Smits, Deborah Harry, Peter Dvorsky, Les Carlson, Jack Creley, Lynne Gorman. Genuinely intriguing story premise—about pirate cable-TV programmer (Woods, in a dynamic performance) who's mesmerized by bizarre, untraceable transmissions that have hallucinatory power. Unfortunately, story gets slower—and sillier—as it goes along, with icky special effects by Rick Baker. [R] ▼●●

View From the Bridge, A (1962-French) 110m.  D: Sidney Lumet. Raf Vallone, Maureen Stapleton, Carol Lawrence, Jean Sorel, Morris Carnovsky, Harvey Lembeck, Vincent Gardenia. Effective adaptation of Arthur Miller drama set near Brooklyn waterfront, involving dock worker Vallone's rejection of wife Stapleton and suppressed love of niece Lawrence; Sorel is smuggled-in immigrant Lawrence loves. ▼

View from the Top (2003) C-87m.  D: Bruno Barreto. Gwyneth Paltrow, Christina Applegate, Mark Ruffalo, Candice Bergen, Kelly Preston, Rob Lowe, Mike Myers, Chad Everett, Stephen Tobolowsky. A poor girl pursues her dream by becoming a flight attendant, with stewardess-turned-airline-owner Bergen as her role model. Eventually she has to choose between a career and the man she loves. The cast is engaging, and the fashions are fun, but this retro fairy tale plays like a bland 1960s Hollywood movie, except for Myers, whose cross-eyed comic shtick seems to belong in an entirely different film. George Kennedy appears unbilled. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼●

View to a Kill, A (1985-British) C-131m.  D: John Glen. Roger Moore, Christopher Walken, Tanya Roberts, Grace Jones, Patrick Macnee, Patrick Bauchau, Fiona Fullerton, Alison Doody, Desmond Llewelyn, Robert Brown, Lois Maxwell, Walter Gotell, Dolph Lundgren. One of the weakest James Bond films saddles 007 with a bland villain (Walken, who wants to destroy California's lucrative Silicon Valley), a monotonous villainess (Jones), and a wimpy leading lady (Roberts). And it goes on forever. Only some spectacular stunt sequences keep it alive. (Oh, yes, there's also a gorgeous Russian spy—played by Fullerton—who disappears too soon.) Moore's final appearance as 007. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Vigil (1984-New Zealand) C-90m. ½ D: Vincent Ward. Bill Kerr, Fiona Kay, Gordon Shields, Penelope Stewart, Frank Whitten. Ward's first feature is an apt predecessor to his NAVIGATOR. It's a grim, thinly scripted, but visually arresting account of how a young farm girl reacts to the arrival of a stranger upon the death of her father. ▼

Vigilante (1982) C-90m. BOMB D: William Lustig. Robert Forster, Fred Williamson, Richard Bright, Rutanya Alda, Willie Colon, Joe Spinell, Carol Lynley, Woody Strode. Forster is driven to join DEATH WISH-type vigilantes after his family is viciously attacked by degenerate punks. Script is full of holes, and so is some of the cast after various bloody attacks. Truly distasteful. Unrated director's cut runs 89m. Originally titled STREET GANG. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Vigilante Force (1976) C-89m. ½ D: George Armitage. Kris Kristofferson, Jan-Michael Vincent, Victoria Principal, Bernadette Peters, Brad Dexter, David Doyle, Andrew Stevens. Vietnam vet Kristofferson, hired to help restore order when small California town is overrun by workers from nearby oilfields, succeeds but then takes over town himself. Minor but interesting, fast-paced film. [PG]

Vigil in the Night (1940) 96m.  D: George Stevens. Carole Lombard, Brian Aherne, Anne Shirley, Julien Mitchell, Robert Coote, Brenda Forbes, Rhys Williams, Peter Cushing. Compelling drama of provincial hospital life in England, with outstanding work by Lombard as dedicated nurse, Shirley as her flighty sister, Aherne as doctor. Potentially corny script made credible and exciting by good cast, fine direction pulling viewer into the story.

Viking Queen, The (1967-British) C-91m.  D: Don Chaffey. Don Murray, Carita, Donald Houston, Andrew Keir, Adrienne Corri, Niall MacGinnis, Wilfrid Lawson. Empty-headed Hammer Films costumer of early England under Roman rule, with plenty of gore as anarchists incite a violent uprising among the people. Murray and fine British actors are lost. ▼●●

Vikings, The (1958) C-114m. ½ D: Richard Fleischer. Kirk Douglas, Tony Curtis, Ernest Borgnine, Janet Leigh, Alexander Knox, Frank Thring; narrated by Orson Welles. Big-name cast and on-location photography in Norway and Brittany are only standouts in routine Viking adventure, sweepingly photographed by Jack Cardiff. Technirama. ▼●●

Viking Women and the Sea Serpent (1957) 66m. BOMB D: Roger Corman. Abby Dalton, Susan Cabot, Brad Jackson, Richard Devon, Jonathan Haze. The title ladies are held captive on an island. The original title of this Grade-Z hokum is THE SAGA OF THE VIKING WOMEN AND THEIR VOYAGE TO THE WATERS OF THE GREAT SEA SERPENT(!) By any name, it stinks. ▼

Village, The (2004) C-109m. *½ D: M. Night Shyamalan. Joaquin Phoenix, Adrien Brody, William Hurt, Sigourney Weaver, Bryce Dallas Howard, Brendan Gleeson, Cherry Jones, John Christopher Jones, Celia Weston, Judy Greer, Jayne Atkinson, Fran Kranz, Michael Pitt, Jesse Eisenberg, Frank Collison. Somber, straight-faced story about a sequestered community that lives a simple, ascetic life, surrounded by woods where "those we don't speak of" pose a constant threat. One young man (Phoenix) proposes venturing through the woods to "the towns" to get badly needed medicine, but the elders will not hear of it. Evolves into a self-parody at some point before becoming downright ridiculous. Impressive only as a showcase for newcomer Howard (daughter of Ron). [PG-13] ▼

Village of the Damned (1960-British) 78m.  D: Wolf Rilla. George Sanders, Barbara Shelley, Michael Gwynne, Martin Stephens, Laurence Naismith, John Phillips, Richard Vernon. Fine adaptation of John Wyndham novel (The Midwich Cuckoos) about blackout in English village followed by birth of strange, emotionless children. Eerie, well-made chiller, followed by CHILDREN OF THE DAMNED. Remade in 1995. ▼●●

Village of the Damned (1995) C-98m. ½ D: John Carpenter. Christopher Reeve, Kirstie Alley, Linda Kozlowski, Michael Paré, Mark Hamill, Meredith Salenger, Constance Forslund, Buck Flower, Thomas Dekker, Lindsey Haun. A strange mist over-

comes an idyllic coastal town, causing ten women to give birth to children who turn out to be mind-controlling demons! Carpenter's remake of the 1960 film is, naturally, more explicit and more violent, with some new characters who don't make much sense (especially Alley), but the premise is still potent enough to pull you in. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Village of the Giants (1965) C-80m. BOMB D: Bert I. Gordon. Tommy Kirk, Johnny Crawford, Beau Bridges, Ronny Howard, Tisha Sterling, Tim Rooney, Joy Harmon. Poor special effects are just one problem with this silly film about teenagers growing to tremendous heights. Based on H. G. Wells story, refilmed by Gordon in 1976 as FOOD OF THE GODS. ▼

Villain (1971-British) C-98m. *½ D: Michael Tuchner. Richard Burton, Ian McShane, Nigel Davenport, Joss Ackland, Fiona Lewis, Donald Sinden, Cathleen Nesbitt. Nasty, stomach-churning melodrama about British underworld, taken from James Barlow's novel The Burden of Proof. Burton plays vicious homosexual thug only a mother (Nesbitt) could love. Panavision. [R]

Villain, The (1979) C-89m.  D: Hal Needham. Kirk Douglas, Ann-Margret, Arnold Schwarzenegger, Paul Lynde, Foster Brooks, Ruth Buzzi, Jack Elam, Strother Martin. Lynde plays an Indian chief named Nervous Elk, and so it goes. Combination Western spoof/Road Runner cartoon makes CAT BALLOU look subtle, but may make you laugh if it hits you in a silly frame of mind. [PG] ▼●●

Villa Rides! (1968) C-125m.  D: Buzz Kulik. Yul Brynner, Robert Mitchum, Charles Bronson, Herbert Lom, Jill Ireland, Alexander Knox, Fernando Rey. Witless retelling of Villa's Mexican campaign, with broadened focus on cohort Bronson, captured pilot Mitchum. Rare chance to see Brynner with hair; screenplay by Robert Towne and Sam Peckinpah. John Ireland has an unbilled cameo near the end. Panavision. [R] ▼

Vincent (1987-Australian) C-99m.  D: Paul Cox. Engrossing, thoughtfully directed documentary look at the life and letters of Vincent van Gogh. A rare and revealing celluloid examination of an artist and his creativity. The voice of John Hurt is heard as van Gogh. Cox later used a similar approach in NIJINSKY: THE DIARIES OF VASLAV NIJINSKY. Originally titled VINCENT—THE LIFE AND DEATH OF VINCENT VAN GOGH. ▼

Vincent & Theo (1990-British-French-Italian-Netherlands) C-138m. ½ D: Robert Altman. Tim Roth, Paul Rhys, Johanna Ter Steege, Wladimir Yordanoff, Jip Wijngaarden, Anne Canovas, Hans Kesting, Jean-Pierre Cassel. Evocative, emotionally powerful look at the symbiotic relationship between Vincent van Gogh (Roth) and his brother Theo (Rhys). A far cry from the standard Hollywood bios of tortured artists, with typically unconventional Altman direction and excellent performances by the leads. Beautiful photography by Jean Lepine and art direction by Stephen Altman (the director's son). Originally a four-hour miniseries for European TV. [PG-13] ▼●●

Vincent, Francois, Paul and the Others (1974-French) C-118m. * D: Claude Sautet. Yves Montand, Michel Piccoli, Serge Reggiani, Gérard Depardieu, Stephane Audran. Melancholy, enormously satisfying life-goes-on drama about longtime male buddies who pursue their respective vocations during the week—medicine, boxing, factory ownership, etc.—then team up for food and drink on idyllic country weekends. Montand stands out in a dream French cast as a going-broke boss in perilous romantic and physical shape. ▼●

Vince Vaughn's Wild West Comedy Show: 30 Days and 30 Nights—Hollywood to The Heartland (2008) C-100m. ½ D: Ari Sandel. Vince Vaughn, Keir O'Donnell, Justin Long, Ahmed Ahmed, Peter Billingsley, John Caparulo, Bret Ernst, Sebastian Maniscalco. Vaughn leads a troupe of comics on a 30-day tour across America in this documentary/concert film, which sheds light on what the middle of the country finds funny and what this band of performers learns about the U.S. A nice idea and some very funny individual bits make this a passably entertaining journey. [R] ▼

Vindicator, The (1986-Canadian) C-88m.  D: Jean Claude Lord. Terri Austin, Richard Cox, Pam Grier, Maury Chaykin, David McIlwraith. Updating of FRANKENSTEIN saga concerns infighting among scientists working on cyborg experiments. Highlights: an impressive metallic monster design by Stan Winston plus tough-girl troubleshooter role for guest star Grier. Originally titled: FRANKENSTEIN '88. [R] ▼

Violated (1984) C-88m. BOMB D: Richard Cannistraro. J. C. Quinn, John Heard, D. Balin, April Daisy White, Kaye Dowd. Dreary exploitation film about N.Y.C. businessmen who prey on young party girls. White is a rape victim befriended by cop Quinn, who goes after the big boys. Contains a brief, standout performance by Heard as a fidgety intermediary who hires Quinn as a hit man. [R] ▼

Violent City SEE: Family, The (1970)

Violent Enemy, The (1968-British) C-94m.  D: Don Sharp. Tom Bell, Susan Hampshire, Ed Begley, Jon Laurimore, Michael Standing, Noel Purcell. Intense drama of IRA plot to blow up British power plant, and various motives involved.

Violent Men, The (1955) C-96m. ½ D: Rudolph Maté. Glenn Ford, Barbara Stanwyck, Edward G. Robinson, Dianne Foster,

Brian Keith, May Winn, Warner Anderson, Lita Milan, Richard Jaeckel, James West-erfield, Jack Kelly. Ford is a Civil War veteran who takes up the good fight against a bitter, greedy rancher (Robinson), his scheming wife (Stanwyck), and slimy brother (Keith). Some good action sequences highlight this standard horse opera. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Violent Ones, The (1967) C-84m. *½ D: Fernando Lamas. Fernando Lamas, Aldo Ray, Tommy Sands, David Carradine, Lisa Gaye, Melinda Marx. Junk about lawman Lamas' problems in getting Mexican community to refrain from lynching his prisoners when they are suspected of raping and murdering Marx. ▼

Violent Saturday (1955) C-91m.  D: Richard Fleischer. Victor Mature, Richard Egan, Stephen McNally, Virginia Leith, Tommy Noonan, Lee Marvin, Margaret (Maggie) Hayes, J. Carrol Naish, Sylvia Sidney, Ernest Borgnine, Brad Dexter. Effective study of repercussion on small Arizona town when bank robbers carry out a bloody holdup. CinemaScope.

Violets Are Blue ... (1986) C-88m.  D: Jack Fisk. Sissy Spacek, Kevin Kline, Bonnie Bedelia, John Kelllogg, Jim Standford, Augusta Dabney. Romantic drama about onetime high school sweethearts, reunited after many years, who try to pick up where they left off—though he's married and settled in their hometown and she's single and a globetrotting photojournalist. Pleasant, attractive, but dull. [PG-13] ▼●

Violette (1978-French) C-122m.  D: Claude Chabrol. Isabelle Huppert, Stephane Audran, Jean Carmet, Jean Francois Garreud, Bernadette Lafont. Slow-moving account, based on true incident of 14-year-old girl who led double life and poisoned her parents, killing her father. Huppert sleepwalks through the role, and Chabrol lacks his usual directorial flair. Full title VIOLETTE NOZIERE. [R] ▼

V.I.P.s, The (1963-British) C-119m. ½ D: Anthony Asquith. Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton, Louis Jourdan, Margaret Rutherford, Rod Taylor, Maggie Smith, Orson Welles, Linda Christian, Elsa Martinelli, Dennis Price, David Frost, Michael Hordern, Robert Coote. Glossy GRAND HOTEL plot, set in London airport. Everyone is terribly rich and beautiful; if you like watching terribly rich, beautiful people, fine. If not, it's all meaningless. Rutherford (who won an Oscar for this) is excellent, and so is Maggie Smith. Written by Terence Rattigan. Panavision. ▼●●

Virgin and the Gypsy, The (1970-British) C-92m. ½ D: Christopher Miles. Joanna Shmikus, Franco Nero, Honor Blackman, Mark Burns, Maurice Denham, Fay Compton, Kay Walsh. D. H. Lawrence's novella comes to screen as interesting, atmospheric, but unbelievable love story. Priest's daughter falls for vagabond gypsy and suffers consequences. Miles later directed Lawrence biopic, PRIEST OF LOVE. [R]▼

Virginia City (1940) 121m. ½ D: Michael Curtiz. Errol Flynn, Miriam Hopkins, Randolph Scott, Humphrey Bogart, Frank McHugh, Alan Hale, Guinn Williams, John Litel. Follow-up to DODGE CITY has big cast in lush Civil War Western, but tale of rebel spy Hopkins posing as dance hall girl doesn't live up to expectations; Bogart miscast as slimy Mexican bandito.▼

Virginian, The (1929) 90m. ½ D: Victor Fleming. Gary Cooper, Richard Arlen, Walter Huston, Mary Brian, Chester Conklin, Eugene Pallette. Owen Wister's pioneering 1902 novel becomes stiff but interesting Western, salvaged in good climactic shoot-out; Huston is slimy villain, and Cooper has one of his better early roles. Famous line: "If you want to call me that, smile." Filmed before in 1914. Remade in 1946 and 2000 (for cable TV); also a hit TV series in the 1960s.▼

Virginian, The (1946) C-90m. ½ D: Stuart Gilmore. Joel McCrea, Brian Donlevy, Sonny Tufts, Barbara Britton, Fay Bainter, Henry O'Neill, William Frawley, Vince Barnett, Paul Guilfoyle. Remake of '29 classic Western follows story closely. Good, not great, results due to story showing its age. McCrea is hero, Donlevy the villain, Tufts a good-guy-turned-bad.▼

Virgin of Nuremburg, The SEE: Horror Castle

Virgin Queen, The (1955) C-92m.  D: Henry Koster. Bette Davis, Richard Todd, Joan Collins, Herbert Marshall, Jay Robinson, Dan O'Herlihy, Rod Taylor. Davis is in full authority in her second portrayal of Queen Elizabeth I, detailing her conflicts with Walter Raleigh. CinemaScope.▼

Virgin Soldiers, The (1969-British) C-96m.  D: John Dexter. Hywel Bennett, Nigel Patrick, Lynn Redgrave, Nigel Davenport, Rachel Kempson, Tsai Chin, Jack Shepherd, David Bowie. Smooth comedy-drama about British recruits in Singapore; title refers to their lack of experience in battle as well as in bed. Solid Carl Foreman production, adapted by John Hopkins from Leslie Thomas' novel. Followed by STAND UP, VIRGIN SOLDIERS in 1977. [R]▼

Virgin Spring, The (1960-Swedish) 88m.  D: Ingmar Bergman. Max von Sydow, Birgitta Valberg, Gunnel Lindblom, Birgitta Pettersson. Brooding medieval fable of a deeply religious farming family whose daughter is raped and murdered by vagrants. Fascinating, beautifully made, an Oscar winner for Best Foreign Film. Remade as—or, more appropriately, ripped off by—LAST HOUSE ON THE LEFT.▼●●

Virgin Suicides, The (2000) C-97m. ½ D: Sofia Coppola. James Woods, Kathleen

Turner, Kirsten Dunst, Hannah Hall, Chelse Swain, A. J. Cook, Leslie Hayman, Josh Hartnett, Michael Paré, Scott Glenn, Danny DeVito, Hayden Christensen; narrated by Giovanni Ribisi. In 1970s suburbia, four lovely sisters head toward a sorry fate as a quartet of neighborhood boys become obsessed with them. First-time writer-director Coppola adapted Jeffrey Eugenides' novel, but for all its atmosphere and good performances (especially Woods and Turner as the girls' uptight, overprotective parents) it never quite comes together. [R]▼

Virgin Territory (2006-Italian-British-French-Luxembourgian) C-97m.  D: David Leland. Hayden Christensen, Mischa Barton, Anna Galiena, Matthew Rhys, Craig Parkinson, Tim Roth. Roguish Christensen, escaping his debtors, hides out as a deaf-mute gardener in a convent, while nasty Roth assails his beloved Barton. Randy Renaissance sex comedy, deflatingly set amidst the Black Plague, claims inspiration from Boccaccio's Decameron. But a pop score, lush Roberto Cavalli costumes, and even lusher historical babes sidle it closer to A KNIGHT'S TALE. Much bawd (even a pole dance!) but little wit. Written by the director. [R]●

Viridiana (1961-Spanish) 90m. ½ D: Luis Buñuel. Francisco Rabal, Silvia Pinal, Fernando Rey, Margarita Lozano. Powerful psychological study of novice nun Pinal, who loses her innocence when forced by Mother Superior to visit nasty uncle Rey. Near-perfect direction by a master filmmaker; solid performances by all.▼

Virtuosity (1995) C-105m. ½ D: Brett Leonard. Denzel Washington, Kelly Lynch, Russell Crowe, Stephen Spinella, William Forsythe, Louise Fletcher, William Fichtner, Costas Mandylor, Kevin J. O'Connor, Traci Lords. In the near future, control of the police has unwisely been given over to computer-driven technology, and both the programming nerds and their cold-blooded bosses are out of control. Ex-cop and current convict Washington is the only one who can track down a computer-generated bad guy who's been "sampled" from the world's worst serial killers! Ugly, to say the least, although it's built on a foundation of some interesting ideas. Super 35. [R]▼●●

Virus (1980-Japanese) C-155m. ½ D: Kinji Fukasaku. Sonny Chiba, Chuck Connors, Glenn Ford, Stephanie Faulkner, Masao Kusakari, Isao Natsuki, Stuart Gillard, Olivia Hussey, George Kennedy, Henry Silva, Bo Svenson, Cecil Linder, Robert Vaughn. Mankind is destroyed by a plague and nuclear war—except for 858 men and eight women. Beautiful sequences filmed in the Antarctic, adequate special effects, but overlong and meandering. Allegedly the biggest budgeted Japanese film to date. [PG]▼

virus (1999-U.S.-Japanese-German) C-

99m. BOMB D: John Bruno. Jamie Lee Curtis, William Baldwin, Donald Sutherland, Joanna Pacula, Marshall Bell, Julio Oscar Mechoso, Sherman Augustus, Cliff Curtis. In the eye of a hurricane, the crew of a tugboat boards an abandoned Russian ship possessed by what seems to be living alien electricity. This "creature" apparently considers people just another virus to be wiped out. Drearly routine, with borrowed ideas and stereotyped characters, though Curtis and Pacula try. From the comic book created by Chuck Pfarrer. Super 35. [R]▼●●

Vision Quest (1985) C-105m.  D: Harold Becker. Matthew Modine, Linda Fiorentino, Michael Schoeffling, Ronny Cox, Harold Sylvester, Roberts Blossom, Charles Hallahan, Daphne Zuniga, Forest Whitaker, Raphael Sbarge. Muddled, overlong growing-pains movie with too many familiar elements. Modine is a high-school wrestler with a philosophical bent; Fiorentino is a tough-talking older woman who turns him on. Based on a novel by Terry Davis. Madonna appears briefly onscreen singing "Crazy for You." [R]▼●●

Visions of Eight (1973) C-110m.  D: Juri Ozerov, Mai Zetterling, Arthur Penn, Michael Pfleger, Kon Ichikawa, Milos Forman, Claude Lelouch, John Schlesinger. Seemingly good idea of having eight different directors give eight different views of 1972 Olympics results in strangely disappointing film, considering all the talent involved; with possible exception of Schlesinger's final chapter on the marathon, none of the episodes is memorable. [G]▼

Visions of Light: The Art of Cinematography (1993-U.S.-Japanese) C/B&W-90m. ½ D: Arnold Glassman, Todd McCarthy, Stuart Samuels. Contemporary lens masters (E.T.'s Allen Daviau, RAGING BULL's Michael Chapman) discuss their own work and pay tribute to pioneer cinematographers of the past (BIRTH OF A NATION's Billy Bitzer, CITIZEN KANE's Gregg Toland). More than 100 films are excerpted, from critical and commercial hits to offbeat pictures and B movies. Interestingly, many of the most absorbing and amusing anecdotes concern sixties films (IN COLD BLOOD, THE GRADUATE, ROSEMARY'S BABY), a decade full of remarkable innovation and experimentation in filmmaking. Part Widescreen. ▼●●

Visit, The (1964-German-French-Italian) 100m. ½ D: Bernhard Wicki. Ingrid Bergman, Anthony Quinn, Irina Demick, Paolo Stoppa, Hans-Christian Blech, Romolo Valli, Valentina Cortese, Eduardo Ciannelli. Intriguing but uneven film parable of greed and evil; wealthy Bergman returns to European home town, offering a fantastic sum to the people there if they will legitimately kill her first seducer (Quinn). Actors struggle with melodramatic script; results are interesting if not always successful. Bowdlerized version of Friedrich Durrenmatt's play. Remade in 1992 as HYÉNES. CinemaScope.

Visit, The (2000) C-107m. ½ D: Jordan Walker-Pearlman. Hill Harper, Obba Babatundé, Rae Dawn Chong, Billy Dee Williams, Marla Gibbs, Phylicia Rashad, Talia Shire, David Clennon, Glynn Turman, Efrain Figueroa, Amy Stiller. Prisoner dying of AIDS tries to gain redemption by connecting again with his family, which has largely ignored him during his incarceration. Based on a play (inspired in turn by a true story), film is somewhat stogy but often powerful tale of a man who comes to terms with himself and his life just as it is about to end. Fine performances by Harper and particularly Williams make this worth watching. [R]▼●

Visiting Hours (1982-Canadian) C-103m. BOMB D: Jean Claude Lord. Michael Ironside, Lee Grant, Linda Purl, William Shatner, Harvey Atkin, Helen Hughes. Awful programmer, set in a hospital with demented Ironside stalking TV journalist Grant, who hopefully was well paid for this junk. [R]▼●

Visitor, The (1979-Italian) C-90m.  D: Michael J. Paradise (Giulio Paradisi). Mel Ferrer, Glenn Ford, Lance Henriksen, John Huston, Joanne Nail, Shelley Winters, Sam Peckinpah. Filmed Stateside by the BEYOND THE DOOR folks, this passable time-killer wastes a good cast in yet another OMEN rip-off; too bad Huston or Peckinpah couldn't have directed as well. Alternate version runs 108m. [R]▼●

Visitor, The (2008) C-100m. ½ D: Tom McCarthy. Richard Jenkins, Haaz Sleiman, Danai Gurira, Hiam Abbass, Marian Seldes, Michael Cumpsty, Richard Kind. Bracingly original film from the writer-director of THE STATION AGENT about a lonely widower (Jenkins) who plods along as a professor in Connecticut, but begins to embrace life anew after he chances to meet a charismatic Syrian musician (Sleiman) in Manhattan. Minimalist filmmaking at its best, a combination character study—with brilliant and nuanced performances—and commentary on the perils and pleasures of life in today's American melting pot. Alternate version runs 108m. [PG-13]●

Visitors, The (1972) C-88m. BOMB D: Elia Kazan. Patrick McVey, Patricia Joyce, James Woods, Chico Martinez, Steve Railsback. Deplorable story of two Vietnam vets who, upon release from prison for sex crime, invade the house of third vet who testified at their trial. Woods' film debut. [R]▼

Visitors, The (1993-French) C-106m. ½ D: Jean-Marie Poiré. Jean Reno, Christian Clavier, Valérie Lemercier, Marie-Anne Chazel, Christian Bujeau, Isabelle Nanty, Gérard Séty. Rollicking time-travel saga of 12th-century knight (Reno) and his loyal-but-dim

squire (Clavier) who find themselves in the contemporary French countryside, trying to make sense of their descendants, indoor plumbing, and the like. Broad hijinks should be a big hit with the kids. A smash in French cinemas, where it played as LES VISITEURS. Remade as JUST VISITING. Followed by THE CORRIDORS OF TIME: THE VISITORS II. Super 35. [R]▼●●

Visit to a Chief's Son (1974) C-92m. ½ D: Lamont Johnson. Richard Mulligan, Johnny Sekka, John Philip Hogdon, Jesse Kinaru, Chief Lomoiro, Jock Anderson. OK family drama about a self-centered father and son who become humanized on an African safari. [G]

Visit to a Small Planet (1960) 85m. ½ D: Norman Taurog. Jerry Lewis, Joan Blackman, Earl Holliman, Fred Clark, John Williams, Jerome Cowan, Lee Patrick, Gale Gordon, Buddy Rich. Gore Vidal satiric play becomes talky Lewis vehicle with Jerry the alien who comes to Earth to observe man's strange ways.

Vital Signs (1990) C-103m. *½ D: Marisa Silver. Adrian Pasdar, Diane Lane, Jimmy Smits, Norma Aleandro, Jack Gwaltney, Laura San Giacomo, Jane Adams, Tim Ransom, Bradley Whitford, Lisa Jane Persky, William Devane, James Karen, Telma Hopkins. Third-year medical students experience the usual clichés: performing rounds, undercutting rivals, questioning authority, and sneaking an occasional quickie in the hospital linen closet. Watchable, but of absolutely no distinction; stick with THE NEW INTERNS, where you can at least compare the acting styles of Dean Jones and Telly Savalas. Smits effectively projects quiet authority as the surgeon instructor. [R]▼●●

Vitus (2006-Swiss) C-123m. ½ D: Fredi M. Murer. Bruno Ganz, Fabrizio Borsani, Teo Gheorghiu, Julika Jenkins, Urs Jucker, Eleni Haupt, Daniel Rohr. Moving and involving family drama of a boy genius being pushed into the life of a piano prodigy by his demanding parents. Instead of following their wishes he sets off on his own course with the help of his eccentric grandfather. Story should appeal to young and old alike with its focus on what is truly important in life. Stirring musical sequences add to the many pleasures of a film as beautifully crafted as a Swiss watch. [PG]●

Vivacious Lady (1938) 90m.  D: George Stevens. James Stewart, Ginger Rogers, James Ellison, Beulah Bondi, Charles Coburn, Frances Mercer, Grady Sutton, Jack Carson, Franklin Pangborn, Hattie McDaniel, Willie Best. Overlong but entertaining comedy of professor Stewart marrying nightclub singer Rogers, trying to break the news to his conservative family and fiancée back home. Bondi is fun in amusing variation on her usual motherly role.▼

Viva Knievel! (1977) C-104m. BOMB D:

Gordon Douglas. Evel Knievel, Gene Kelly, Lauren Hutton, Marjoe Gortner, Red Buttons, Eric Olson, Leslie Nielsen, Cameron Mitchell, Frank Gifford, Albert Salmi, Dabney Coleman. The senses reel at this hilariously inept attempt to turn the infamous stunt driver into a movie hero. The Bad Guys plan to have Evel "accidentally" killed in Mexico, so they can use his truck to smuggle drugs back into the U.S.! Don't miss opening scene, in which Our Hero sneaks into orphanage at midnight to distribute Evel Knievel plastic model kits—whereupon one little boy miraculously throws away his crutches! Panavision. [PG]▼●

Viva Las Vegas (1964) C-86m. ½ D: George Sidney. Elvis Presley, Ann-Margret, Cesare Danova, William Demarest, Jack Carter. Elvis and Ann-Margret are well teamed in this popular Presley vehicle, with Elvis a race car driver. Songs include "The Lady Loves Me," "What'd I Say?," "I Need Somebody to Lean On," "Come On, Everybody," and classic title tune. Panavision.▼●●

Viva Maria! (1965-French-Italian) C-119m. ½ D: Louis Malle. Brigitte Bardot, Jeanne Moreau, George Hamilton, Gregor Von Rezzori, Paulette Goddard. Rollicking tale of two beautiful entertainers/revolutionaries in Mexico has inconsistent first half, then takes off for hilarious finish. Lots of fun. Panavision.▼●

Viva Max! (1969) C-92m. ½ D: Jerry Paris. Peter Ustinov, Pamela Tiffin, Jonathan Winters, John Astin, Keenan Wynn, Harry Morgan, Alice Ghostley, Kenneth Mars, Ann Morgan Guilbert, Paul Sand. Mildly amusing yarn of eccentric Mexican general recapturing Alamo, sending equally inept American militia to rout him out. Forced humor doesn't always work, but not bad; Astin is excellent as Ustinov's loyal sergeant. [G]▼

Viva Villa! (1934) 115m. ½ D: Jack Conway. Wallace Beery, Leo Carrillo, Fay Wray, Donald Cook, Stuart Erwin, George E. Stone, Henry B. Walthall, Joseph Schildkraut, Katherine DeMille. Viva Beery, in one of his best films as the rowdy rebel who led the fight for Madero's Mexican Republic. Ben Hecht's script plays with facts, but overall, film is entertaining.▼●

Viva Zapata! (1952) 113m. * D: Elia Kazan. Marlon Brando, Jean Peters, Anthony Quinn, Joseph Wiseman, Margo, Mildred Dunnock. Vibrant film about Mexican peasant's rise to a position of leadership and power. Brando is perfect in title role, Quinn equally fine in Oscar-winning performance as his brother. Script by John Steinbeck.▼●

Vivement Dimanche! SEE: Confidentially Yours

Vivre Sa Vie SEE: My Life to Live
V.I. Warshawski (1991) C-89m. BOMB D: Jeff Kanew. Kathleen Turner, Jay O. Sanders, Charles Durning, Angela Gathers, Nancy Paul, Frederick Coffin, Charles

McCaughan, Stephen Meadows, Wayne Knight, Stephen Root. Wretchedly scripted, directed, and photographed assemblage of characters taken from Sara Paretsky's series of novels. Turner is a tough Chicago private detective (and closet fashion plate) investigating the murder of a hockey player who'd once caught her fancy. On paper, the star and her character should have melded; slipshod production helps render this a hall-of-fame boo-boo. [R]▼●●

Voice of Terror SEE: Sherlock Holmes and the Voice of Terror

Voice of the Turtle, The (1947) 103m. ½ D: Irving Rapper. Ronald Reagan, Eleanor Parker, Eve Arden, Wayne Morris, Kent Smith. Delightful wartime comedy of what happens when dreamy young actress Parker (who's been hurt once too often in love) meets soldier-on-leave Reagan. Arden is at her peak as Parker's flighty friend. John van Druten adapted his own Broadway hit. Retitled ONE FOR THE BOOK.

Voices (1979) C-107m.  D: Robert Markowitz. Michael Ontkean, Amy Irving, Alex Rocco, Barry Miller, Herbert Berghof, Viveca Lindfors. Aspiring rock singer falls for deaf woman (well played by Irving) who, never having heard him sing, is able to return his love. Sincerely intentioned drama is ultimately compromised by Hollywood formulas. Musical score by Jimmy Webb. [PG]▼●

Voices of Sarafina! (1989) C-85m. ½ D: Nigel Noble. Miriam Makeba, Mbongeni Ngema. Powerful, profound documentary of young, black South African actors performing in the Broadway musical Sarafina, which chronicles the involvement of black schoolchildren in the 1976 Soweto uprising. Also details their relationship with Ngema, the show's controversial writer-director. Finale, in which exiled South African singer Makeba appears backstage after a performance, is especially moving. The show itself was filmed with Whoopi Goldberg in 1992. ▼

Volcano (1969) SEE: Krakatoa, East of Java

Volcano (1997) C-102m.  D: Mick Jackson. Tommy Lee Jones, Anne Heche, Gaby Hoffmann, Don Cheadle, Jacqueline Kim, Keith David, John Corbett, Michael Rispoli, John Carroll Lynch. Strange rumblings underground in L.A. attract the attention of the head of the Office of Emergency Management (Jones) and a scientist from Cal Tech (Heche)—who discover a volcanic eruption that can't be stopped. Good, solid disaster movie with credible characters and first-rate special effects. A few sly inside jokes will add to the fun for L.A. viewers—as compensation for seeing their home turf treated so badly. [PG-13]▼●●

Volere Volare (1991-Italian) C-92m. ½ D: Maurizio Nichetti, Guido Manuli.

Maurizio Nichetti, Angela Finocchiaro, Mariella Valentini, Patrizio Roversi, Remo Remotti, Renato Scarpa. Italian comedian and cowriter/codirector Nichetti again satirizes the frenzy and soullessness of modern life (as he did in THE ICICLE THIEF), this time playing a naive movie sound-effects technician. When he meets a woman with a hilariously naughty profession, romance blossoms—until this lover of cartoons starts turning into an animated character himself! A decidedly adult tale of childlike love, this comic spire never entirely takes flight, though its title translates as "I Want to Fly." [R]▼●●

Volunteers (1985) C-106m. *½ D: Nicholas Meyer. Tom Hanks, John Candy, Rita Wilson, Tim Thomerson, Gedde Watanabe, George Plimpton. Dismal, grimy-looking comedy about spoiled playboy who accidentally joins Peace Corps and tries running things his way in Thailand. Candy has a few good moments but not enough. Hanks and Wilson later married. [R]▼●●

Volver (2006-Spanish) C-121m. ½ D: Pedro Almodóvar. Penélope Cruz, Carmen Maura, Lola Dueñas, Blanca Portillo, Yohana Cobo, Chus Lampreave, Antonio de la Torre, Carlos Blanco, Isabel Díaz, Nieves Sanz Escobar. A woman who works hard to be a good wife, mother, sister, niece, and neighbor encounters more trouble than even she is accustomed to. Her aged aunt seems to be having visions, while her sister is talking to their mother, who died in a fire years ago. Lively, colorful Almodóvar mixture of comedy, drama, emotion, and mysticism clicks with its opening shot and never lets up. The writer-director also gives Cruz an extraordinary screen showcase. Panavision. [R]●

Von Richthofen and Brown (1971) C-97m.

 D: Roger Corman. John Phillip Law, Barry Primus, Peter Masterson, Karen Huston, Hurd Hatfield, Robert La Toumeaux. Weak historical drama of "Red Baron" of WW1 fame and aerial dogfights with his assorted enemies. Aerial work is excellent; it's the ground work which crashes. AKA BATTLE OF THE ACES. [PG]●

Von Ryan's Express (1965) C-117m. ***

D: Mark Robson. Frank Sinatra, Trevor Howard, Raffaella Carrà, Brad Dexter, Sergio Fantoni, Edward Mulhare, James Brolin, Adolfo Celi, John Leyton, Vito Scotti. Exciting WW2 saga with Sinatra a POW colonel who leads daring escape by taking over freight train that is transporting prisoners. Strong supporting cast helps. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Voodoo Bloodbath SEE: I Eat Your Skin

Voyage, The (1973-Italian) C-95m.  D: Vittorio De Sica. Sophia Loren, Richard Burton, Ian Bannen, Barbara Pilavin, Annabella Inconera, Paolo Lena. Listless adaptation of Pirandello story about star-crossed lovers Burton and Loren, forbidden to marry and shadowed by tragedy. Attractive stars and surroundings, but a draggy film. [PG]

Voyage in Italy (1954-Italian) 97m.  D: Roberto Rossellini. Ingrid Bergman, George Sanders, Paul Muller, Maria Mauban, Natalia Ray. Beautiful, meditative tale of married couple Bergman and Sanders trying to reconcile their faltering relationship while driving through Italy. Received dreadful reviews when first released, but was rediscovered (and labelled a masterpiece) by French filmmakers and critics. Originally released in U.S. as STRANGERS. ▼

Voyage of the Damned (1976-British) C-134m.  D: Stuart Rosenberg. Faye Dunaway, Oskar Werner, Max von Sydow, Orson Welles, Malcolm McDowell, Lynne Frederick, James Mason, Lee Grant, Wendy Hiller, Jose Ferrer, Luther Adler, Katharine Ross, Sam Wanamaker, Denholm Elliott, Nehemiah Persoff, Julie Harris, Maria Schell, Ben Gazzara. Absorbing fact-based drama. In 1939 a ship full of German-Jewish refugees bound for Havana, denied permission to land anywhere, was forced to return to Germany. Picture almost dissolves into separate stories, but von Sydow as ship's captain holds it together. Originally released at 158m. [PG] ▼

Voyager (1991-German-French-Greek) C-117m.  D: Volker Schlöndorff. Sam Shepard, Julie Delpy, Barbara Sukowa, Dieter Kirchlechner, Traci Lind, Deborah-Lee Furness, August Zimer, Thomas Heinze. In the 1950s, American construction engineer Shepard—an inveterate, nearly rootless traveler—meets a man with a link to his pre-WW2 student days in Europe; soon after, he encounters young German beauty Delpy and they take a romantic journey to her home in Athens. Adult tale is quite leisurely paced but well acted and directed. Long-awaited adaptation of Max Frisch's 1957 Swiss-German best-seller, Homo Faber; not without flaws, but more interesting and thought-provoking than most contemporary films. [PG-13] ▼

Voyage to the Beginning of the World (1997-Portuguese-French) C-95m.  D: Manoel de Oliveira. Marcello Mastroianni, Jean-Yves Gautier, Leonor Silveira, Diogo Doria, Isabel de Castro, Jose Pinto, Isabel Ruth. Touching, reflective road movie from octogenarian director de Oliveira about an aged filmmaker named Manoel (Mastroianni, in his final screen role) who looks back on his life as he visits various locales from his past in the company of several colleagues. Loaded with insights about life and memory, women and sexual attraction, sinning and confessing sins, and the passage of time. Aka JOURNEY TO THE BEGINNING OF THE WORLD. ▼

Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea (1961) C-105m.  D: Irwin Allen. Walter

Pidgeon, Joan Fontaine, Robert Sterling, Barbara Eden, Michael Ansara, Peter Lorre, Frankie Avalon, Henry Daniell, Regis Toomey. Entertaining, colorful nonsense about conflicts aboard massive atomic submarine, with Pidgeon the domineering admiral trying to keep the Earth from being fried by a burning radiation belt. No deep thinking, just fun. Later a TV series. CinemaScope. ▼

Voyage to the End of the Universe (1963-Czech) 81m. ½ D: Jack Pollack (Jindrich Polak). Dennis Stephens, Francis Smolen, Dana Meredith, Irene Kova, Rodney Lucas, Otto Lack. Twenty-fifth-century space crew is threatened by mysterious, radioactive dark star. Surprise ending is no surprise. Originally titled IKARIE XB 1, running 90m. CinemaScope.

Voyage to the Planet of Prehistoric Women (1968) C-80m. *½ D: Derek Thomas (Peter Bogdanovich). Mamiie Van Doren, Mary Marr, Paige Lee, Aldo Roman, Margot Hartman. Astronauts land on Venus and kill the creature worshiped by the planet's gill-women. Actually a 1962 Russian picture, PLANET OF STORMS, framed with new footage conceived (and narrated) by Bogdanovich in 1966. Still an awful movie, but of definite curio interest to film buffs. Also see next entry. ▼

Voyage to the Prehistoric Planet (1966) 80m. *½ D: Jonathan Sebastian (Curtis Harrington). Basil Rathbone, Faith Domergue, Marc Shannon, Christopher Brand. Slow, ponderous saga of an expedition to Venus in the year 2020; made up mostly of footage from handsome Russian epic PLANET OF STORMS, involving a robot, dinosaurs, other monsters, and hidden, intelligent Venusians. Rathbone's scenes were shot on the sets for PLANET OF BLOOD, made at the same time. ▼

Vulgar (2002) C-91m. BOMB D: Bryan Johnson. Brian Christopher O'Halloran, Jerry Lewkowitz, Matthew Maher, Ethan Suplee, Kevin Smith, Jason Mewes, Bryan Johnson. Children's party clown eking out meager existence opts to try entertaining adults as a gag, but instead is brutally attacked (and worse) by weirdos. Co-executive produced by Smith. Crap. [R] ▼

Vulture, The (1967-British-Canadian) C-91m. *½ D: Lawrence Huntington. Robert Hutton, Akim Tamiroff, Broderick Crawford, Diane Clark, Phillip Friend, Patrick Holt, Linda Bell. Disappointing, unsatisfying sci-fi horror with laughable mad scientist (Tamiroff) who becomes half-man, half-bird and avenges death of his ancestor. Released theatrically in b&w. ▼

W (1974) C-95m. *½ D: Richard Quine. Twiggy, Michael Witney, Dirk Benedict, John Vernon, Eugene Roche, Alfred Ryder. Twiggy struggles through story in which

sadistic Benedict, her ex-husband convicted of her supposed murder, menaces her and new husband Whitney. Flamboyant but unsuccessful thriller, retitled I WANT HER DEAD. [PG]▼

W. (2008) C-131m. ½ D: Oliver Stone. Josh Brolin, James Cromwell, Elizabeth Banks, Richard Dreyfuss, Jeffrey Wright, Thandie Newton, Toby Jones, Ellen Burstyn, Scott Glenn, Stacy Keach, Bruce McGill, Ioan Gruffudd, Dennis Boutsikaris, Noah Wyle, Jesse Bradford, Colin Hanks, Jason Ritter, Rob Corddry, Marley Shelton. Surprisingly sympathetic look at the life of George W. Bush, who failed at everything until the age of 40 and never succeeded at pleasing his father, even after ascending to the Presidency of the United States. Brolin (as W.), Cromwell (as the elder Bush), and Dreyfuss (as Dick Cheney) stand out in a vast ensemble bringing recent history to life, but the film can't effectively cover all the things it wants to and never gets inside its central character's head. It doesn't so much end as stop. Super 35. [PG-13]▶

Wabash Avenue (1950) C-92m.  D: Henry Koster. Betty Grable, Victor Mature, Phil Harris, Reginald Gardiner, James Barton, Margaret Hamilton. Bright, colorful period piece with scoundrel Mature trying to break up romance between saloon-owner Harris and his musical star, Grable. Enjoyable remake of Grable's 1943 vehicle CONEY ISLAND.

Wackiest Ship in the Army?, The (1960) C-99m.  D: Richard Murphy. Jack Lemmon, Ricky Nelson, John Lund, Chips Rafferty, Tom Tully, Joby Baker, Warren Berlinger. Comedy-drama sometimes has you wondering if it's serious or not; it succeeds most of the time. Offbeat WW2 story about broken-down sailing ship used as decoy doesn't make fun of the war, for a change, and is entertaining. Later a TV series. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Wackness, The (2008) C-99m.  D: Jonathan Levine. Ben Kingsley, Josh Peck, Famke Janssen, Olivia Thirlby, Mary-Kate Olsen, Jane Adams, Method Man, Aaron Yoo, Talia Balsam, David Wohl, Bob Dishy, Joanna Merlin. The summer of 1994 is no picnic for high school senior Peck, a gangsta wannabe who sells grass in N.Y.C. His parents are always at each other's throats and he's never had a girlfriend. A sympathetic, hippie-esque shrink (Kingsley) who trades psychiatric advice for weed says what he really needs is sex. Then Kingsley's stepdaughter (Thirlby) unexpectedly shows interest in Peck. Shrilf at first but quick to warm up, Levine's well-wrought screenplay dodges coming-of-age clichés even as it covers familiar ground, and it's not afraid to be uncynical. Kingsley is incredibly good. Super 35. [R]▶

Wacko (1981) C-90m. *½ D: Greydon

Clark. Joe Don Baker, Stella Stevens, George Kennedy, Jeff Altman, Anthony James, Andrew (Dice) Clay. A dedicated cop goes after the dreaded "lawnmower killer" who last terrorized a town 10 years ago. Heavy-handed spoof of HALLOWEEN-type horror films works hard for laughs but delivers very few. [R—edited from original PG rating]▼●

Waco (1966) C-85m. ½ D: R.G. Springsteen. Howard Keel, Jane Russell, Brian Donlevy, Wendell Corey, Terry Moore, John Smith, John Agar, Gene Evans, Richard Arlen, Ben Cooper, Jeff Richards. Gunfighter Keel comes to clean up town, but former girl friend Russell is now married to Reverend Corey. Nice veteran cast, but film is only for Western addicts. Techniscope.

Wages of Fear, The (1952-French-Italian) 156m. ½ D: H. G. Clouzot. Yves Montand, Charles Vanel, Peter Van Eyck, Vera Clouzot, Folco Lulli, William Tubbs. Marvelous, gritty, and extremely suspenseful epic set in South America, chronicling the personalities of and relationships among four men involved in long-distance driving of trucks filled with nitroglycerine. Beware: many other shorter versions exist. Remade as SORCERER. ▼●●

Wagner (1983-British-Hungarian-Austrian) C-300m.  D: Tony Palmer. Richard Burton, Vanessa Redgrave, Gemma Craven, Laszlo Galfi, John Gielgud, Ralph Richardson, Laurence Olivier, Ronald Pickup, Joan Plowright, Arthur Lowe, Franco Nero. Glossy but uninspired biography of the composer, monotonously acted by Burton. Overlong, to state the obvious. Originally a nine-hour British TV series. ▼▶

Wagon Master (1950) 86m.  D: John Ford. Ben Johnson, Joanne Dru, Harry Carey, Jr., Ward Bond, Alan Mowbray, Jane Darwell, James Arness, Jim Thorpe, Russell Simpson, Hank Worden, Francis Ford. Good Ford Western about two roaming cowhands who join a Mormon wagon train heading for Utah frontier. Fine showcase for young stars Johnson and Carey. Beautifully filmed. Inspired the later Wagon Train TV series. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●

Wagons East (1994) C-106m. *½ D: Peter Markle. John Candy, Richard Lewis, John C. McGinley, Ellen Greene, Robert Picardo, Ed Lauter, Rodney A. Grant, William Sanderson, Melinda Culea, Russell Means, Charles Rocket. Candy (who died near the end of the film's production) plays an incompetent wagonmaster who leads a group of pioneers who are sick of the wild and woolly West, and have decided to head back East. Astoundingly unfunny, even sad—given knowledge of Candy's fate. [PG-13] ▼●●

Wagons Roll at Night, The (1941) 84m. ½ D: Ray Enright. Humphrey Bogart, Sylvia Sidney, Eddie Albert, Joan Leslie,

Sig Ruman, Cliff Clark, Charley Foy, Frank Wilcox. KID GALAHAD in circus trappings is OK, thanks to cast: Bogie's the circus manager, Sidney his star, Albert the hayseed turned lion tamer. ▼

Wag the Dog (1997) C-97m.  D: Barry Levinson. Robert De Niro, Dustin Hoffman, Anne Heche, Denis Leary, Willie Nelson, Andrea Martin, Kirsten Dunst, William H. Macy, Suzie Plakson, Woody Harrelson. A desperate White House team, eager to fend off impending negative publicity about the President, hires a political fixer (De Niro) who recruits a hotshot Hollywood producer (Hoffman) to stage a nonexistent war, simply to distract the public. Pungent (and unexpectedly timely) satire grows a bit self-satisfied after a while, but it's full of funny, clever scenes. Hoffman is a standout in this first-rate cast. Screenplay by David Mamet and Hilary Henkin; based on the novel American Hero by Larry Beinhart. Craig T. Nelson appears unbilled. [R] ▼●●

Wah-Wah (2006-British-French-South African) C-99m. ½ D: Richard E. Grant. Gabriel Byrne, Miranda Richardson, Emily Watson, Julie Walters, Nicholas Hoult, Celia Imrie, Julian Wadham, Fenella Woolgar, Zachary Fox. Actor Grant's debut film as writer-director is an autobiographical story of growing up in Swaziland during the waning days of British colonial rule in the late 1960s. A boy's happy world is shattered when his mother walks out and his father takes to the bottle . . . and that's just for starters. Uneven, crammed with incident, but buoyed by outstanding performances and Grant's obvious passion for the material. His real-life daughter Olivia plays the boy's first girlfriend. First feature ever given permission to be filmed in Swaziland. Super 35. [R] ●

Waist Deep (2006) C-96m.  D: Vondie Curtis Hall. Tyrese Gibson, Meagan Good, Larenz Tate, H. Hunter Hall, Kimora Lee Simmons, The Game, Kasi Lemmons. During a virulent South L.A. heat wave, a supermarket security guard gets carjacked at a stoplight, with his son still in the backseat. It isn't a random act; it's revenge . . . but for what? Unlikelihood abounds in this by-the-numbers bullet-riddled and profane urban crime drama. Subtext weakly encourages a rally against street violence, but it's really only about running, driving, and shooting. Super 35. [R] ●

Waiting . . . (2005) C-92m. *½ D: Rob McKittrick. Ryan Reynolds, Anna Faris, Justin Long, David Koechner, Luis Guzman, Chi McBride, John Francis Daley, Kaitlin Doubleday, Alanna Ubach, Dane Cook, Jordan Ladd, Wendy Malick. A day in the life of a popular chain restaurant called ShenaniganZ, where the foul-mouthed/bored/stoned/angry/horny employees amuse themselves by dishing out lewd abuse to the customers

and each other. Amiable cast serves up a few crudely funny bits, but this plotless series of gross-out gags just may put you on a hunger strike. Unrated version runs 94m. Followed by a DVD sequel. [R] ▼●

Waiting for Guffman (1997) C-84m. ½ D: Christopher Guest. Christopher Guest, Eugene Levy, Fred Willard, Catherine O'Hara, Parker Posey, Lewis Arquette, Matt Keeslar, Bob Balaban, Paul Dooley, Paul Benedict, Larry Miller, Brian Doyle-Murray. Slight but amusing mock documentary about the mounting of a musical show celebrating the 150th anniversary of Blaine, Missouri. Guest plays the outlandish Corky St. Clair, who directs the town's amateur talent in a show he hopes will take him (and them) to Broadway. Engaging performers make this fun. Written by Guest and costar Levy. [R] ▼●●

Waiting for the Light (1990) C-94m. ½ D: Christopher Monger. Shirley MacLaine, Teri Garr, Clancy Brown, Vincent Schiavelli, John Bedford Lloyd, Jeff McCracken, Jack McGee, Colin Baumgartner, Hillary Wolf. Shirley is the whole show in this slimly plotted comic fable as Zena, beloved great-aunt of Wolf and Baumgartner, and what happens when one of her magic tricks causes a "miracle" as Americans are panicking during the 1962 Cuban missile crisis. [PG] ▼●●

Waiting for the Moon (1987) C-85m. *½ D: Jill Godmilow. Linda Hunt, Linda Bassett, Bruce McGill, Jacques Boudet, Andrew McCarthy, Bernadette Lafont. Spiritless, sleep-inducing account of the complex relationship between an ailing Gertrude Stein (Bassett) and her companion, Alice B. Toklas (Hunt). Slow, occasionally confusing, and very disappointing. A PBS American Playhouse presentation. [PG] ▼●

Waiting to Exhale (1995) C-121m.  D: Forest Whitaker. Whitney Houston, Angela Bassett, Loretta Devine, Lela Rochon, Gregory Hines, Dennis Haysbert, Mykelti Williamson, Michael Beach, Leon, Wendell Pierce, Donald Adeosun Faison. Four black women can't seem to find decent men in their lives; this may be because most men are jerks. A cinematic equivalent to easy-listening soul radio, this grows increasingly dreary as it eases along its redundant path. Based on the popular novel by Terry McMillan. Omnipresent music supervised by Kenneth "Babyface" Edmonds. Wesley Snipes and Kelly Preston appear unbilled. [R] ▼●●

Waitress! (1982) C-93m. BOMB D: Samuel Weil, Michael Herz. Carol Drake, June Martin, Renata Majer, Jim Harris, David Hunt, Calvert DeForest. If watching a chef spit in soup is your idea of fun, then you might find a couple of laughs in this moronic comedy set in a restaurant. [R] ▼●

Waitress (2007) C-104m. ½ D: Adrienne Shelly. Keri Russell, Nathan Fillion, Cheryl Hines, Adrienne Shelly, Eddie Jemison, Jeremy Sisto, Andy Griffith. Delightful film about a woman who works at a small-town Southern diner and deals with her problems by inventing new and fanciful pies. She can't escape from her self-centered pig of a husband, especially now that she's pregnant; then she meets the handsome new ob-gyn in town. Writer-director-costar Shelly creates a tangible environment and suffuses her film with warmth, honesty, and humor. Russell is remarkably good, and Griffith is great in a plum supporting role. Sadly, Shelly died before the film's release. [PG-13] ▾

Wait Until Dark (1967) C-108m.  D: Terence Young. Audrey Hepburn, Alan Arkin, Richard Crenna, Efreem Zimbalist, Jr., Jack Weston, Samantha Jones. Solid shocker with Hepburn as blind woman left alone in apartment, terrorized by psychotic Arkin and henchmen looking for heroin they think is planted there. Memorable nail-biter, flashy role for Arkin; based on Frederick Knott's Broadway hit. ▽●●

Wait Until Spring, Bandini (1989-Belgian-Italian-French) C-100m.  D: Dominique Derudder. Joe Mantegna, Ornella Muti, Faye Dunaway, Michael Bacall, Daniel Wilson, Alex Vincent, Burt Young. A boy recalls turbulent times in 1920s Colorado with his father, an Italian-American bricklayer (who thinks the world owes him a living) and his long-suffering wife. Competent but unremarkable adaptation of John Fante's novel. [PG] ▽

Wake in Fright SEE: Outback

Wake Island (1942) 87m.  D: John Farrow. Brian Donlevy, Robert Preston, Macdonald Carey, Albert Dekker, Walter Abel, Barbara Britton, William Bendix, Rod Cameron. Stirring war film of U.S.'s fight to hold Pacific island at outbreak of WW2. Nothing new here, but exciting and well done. ▽

Wake Me When It's Over (1960) C-126m.  D: Mervyn LeRoy. Dick Shawn, Ernie Kovacs, Margo Moore, Jack Warden, Don Knotts. Entertaining comedy of hustling Shawn making the most of being stationed in the Far East by building a fancy hotel with Army supplies. Kovacs lends good support. CinemaScope.

Wake of the Red Witch (1949) 106m. ½ D: Edward Ludwig. John Wayne, Gail Russell, Luther Adler, Gig Young, Adele Mara, Eduard Franz, Henry Daniell, Paul Fix. Rivalry between East Indies magnate and adventuresome ship's captain over pearls and women. Film is a bit confused, but nicely photographed by Reggie Lanning. Incidentally, Wayne took the name of his production company, Batjac, from this film's shipping firm. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▽●●

Waking Life (2001) C-99m. ½ D: Richard Linklater. Bold, innovative film uses a striking visual style—animation based on live-action video, but heightened and enhanced rather than literalized—to depict a young man's stream-of-consciousness experiences as he discusses philosophy with a variety of people he encounters. An unusually apt melding of style and substance, this film also dares to be boring at times. Toronto Film Festival notes praised the film's ability to create "metaphysical nausea," which may or may not be a worthy goal. Ethan Hawke, Julie Delpy, and Steven Soderbergh appear in animated form. [R] ▽

Waking Ned Devine (1998-British-French) C-91m. ½ D: Kirk Jones. Ian Bannen, David Kelly, Fionnula Flanagan, Susan Lynch, James Nesbitt, Maura O'Malley, Robert Hickey, Paddy Ward. Slight comedy about a tiny Irish village (pop. 52) turned asunder when one of its aged residents wins the lottery—and his neighbors try to contrive a way to share the wealth. The whimsy is laid on a bit heavily, to say the least, but it's still fun, especially with old pros like Bannen, Kelly, and Flanagan on hand. Panavision. [PG] ▽●●

Waking the Dead (2000) C-105m.  D: Keith Gordon. Billy Crudup, Jennifer Connelly, Hal Holbrook, Molly Parker, Janet McTeer, Paul Hipp, Sandra Oh, Lawrence Dane, Ed Harris. Arresting film jumps back and forth in time to tell story of a straight-arrow, blue-collar young man who feels that public service is his destiny . . . but is haunted by his undying love for a free-thinking woman. Uneven but intensely emotional, and beautifully acted by Crudup and Connelly (who never had such a great part before). Robert Dillon adapted Scott Spencer's novel. [R] ▽

Waking Up in Reno (2002) C-91m. ½ D: Jordan Brady. Billy Bob Thornton, Charlyze Theron, Natasha Richardson, Patrick Swartz, Holmes Osborne, Chelcie Ross, Penélope Cruz, Tony Orlando. Two couples on their way to a monster-truck show in Nevada get romantically entangled in ways they will regret. Picture BOB & CAROL & TED & ALICE GO TO THE OZARKS, with Jerry Springer Show-type screaming and revelations. Audiences in the mood for a redneck love quadrangle may get some laughs out of this. Cowritten by Brent Briscoe, who appears as a sheriff. [R] ▽

Walkabout (1971-Australian) C-95m.  D: Nicolas Roeg. Jenny Agutter, Lucien John, David Gulpilil, John Meillon. Lost in the wilderness of Australia, a child (John) and an adolescent (a ravishing Agutter) rely on young aborigine Gulpilil in order to survive. Roeg, in his first solo outing as director, also beautifully photographed this mind-massaging cult favorite; lush score by John Barry. John is Roeg's son and later worked with his father using the name Luc Roeg. Expanded by 5m. for its 1996 rerelease. [PG] ▽●●

Walk, Don't Run (1966) C-114m.  D: Charles Walters. Cary Grant, Samantha

Eggar, Jim Hutton, John Standing, Miiko Taka, Ted Hartley. Enjoyable fluff about Eggar unwittingly agreeing to share her apartment with businessman Grant and athlete Hutton during the Tokyo Olympics. Stars are most agreeable in this remake of THE MORE THE MERRIER. Grant's last film as an actor. Panavision. ▼●●

Walker (1987) C-90m. BOMB D: Alex Cox. Ed Harris, Marlee Matlin, Richard Masur, René Auberjonois, Peter Boyle, Miguel Sandoval, Gerrit Graham. Juvenile, intentionally anachronistic comic history of William Walker, American soldier of fortune (previously played by Marlon Brando in BURN!) who became president of 19th-century Nicaragua thanks to an assist from Cornelius Vanderbilt. Matlin's follow-up to her Oscar is actually an inglorious cameo; the sorry screenplay is by Rudy Wurlitzer. A self-indulgent mess. [R] ▼●

Walker, The (2007-U.S.-British) C-108m.  D: Paul Schrader. Woody Harrelson, Kristin Scott Thomas, Ned Beatty, Lily Tomlin, Lauren Bacall, Mary Beth Hurt, William Dafoe, Moritz Bleibtreu. An escort for some of Washington D.C.'s finest society women gets caught up in a scandalized murder mystery. Very dark, rarely involving drama could have been the gay flip side of Schrader's AMERICAN GIG-OLÓ but never settles on exactly what it wants to be. Fine cast tries valiantly but Harrelson's monotonous delivery grates on the nerves after a while. Bacall is amusing in her limited screen time. Written by the director. Super 35. [R] ●

Walk Hard: The Dewey Cox Story (2007) C-96m. ½ D: Jake Kasdan. John C. Reilly, Jenna Fischer, Kristen Wiig, Raymond J. Barry, Tim Meadows, Chris Parnell, Matt Besser, Harold Ramis, Margo Martindale, David Krumholtz, John Michael Higgins, Frankie Muniz, Craig Robinson, Ed Helms. Reilly gives a sweet, earnest performance—and does his own singing—in this uneven, sometimes hilarious comedy chronicling the rise, fall, and redemption of a legendary singer-songwriter. Spot-on spoof of biopic clichés (particularly WALK THE LINE and RAY) and various pop music styles is too often crude and juvenile. Coproduced (and cowritten) by Judd Apatow. Many music stars appear in cameos. Jack Black, Paul Rudd, Justin Long, and Jason Schwartzman play The Beatles; Jane Lynch and Jonah Hill also appear unbilled. Unrated DVD runs 120m. HD Widescreen. [R] ●

Walking and Talking (1996) C-85m. ½ D: Nicole Holofcener. Catherine Keener, Anne Heche, Todd Field, Liev Schreiber, Kevin Corrigan, Randall Batinkoff, Joseph Siravo, Allison Janney. Two longtime best friends are closing in on thirty; that's bad enough, but when Keener learns of Heche's impending marriage, she feels happy, jealous, panicked, and desolate. Amusing look at the joy and strain of friendship (not to mention dating and therapy), with fine performances all around. [R] ▼●●

Walking Dead, The (1995) C-89m.  D: Preston A. Whitmore II. Allen Payne, Eddie Griffin, Joe Morton, Vonte Sweet, Roger Floyd, Bernie Mac. Predominantly black Vietnam Marines have ended up serving for reasons beyond love of the Corps: better housing, lost jobs, legal flight from murder charges, impressing women. Filmmakers try to stylize both the combat and stateside scenes, but their ambitions outpace their abilities. Griffin stands out with his comic commentary throughout the film. [R] ▼●

Walking Stick, The (1970-British) C-101m. ½ D: Eric Till. Samantha Eggar, David Hemmings, Emyln Williams, Phyllis Calvert, Ferdy Mayne, Francesca Annis. Potentially interesting story of beautiful polio victim coerced into assisting her worthless lover in a robbery is just too low-key to be consistently absorbing. Eggar's performance helps. Panavision. [PG]

Walking Tall (1973) C-125m.  D: Phil Karlson. Joe Don Baker, Elizabeth Hartman, Gene Evans, Rosemary Murphy, Noah Beery, Felton Perry. Sickeningly violent actioner about determined Southern sheriff's one-man war against corruption. Huge theatrical success, based on real-life exploits of baseball-bat-wielding Buford Pusser; muscular performance by Baker. Followed by a pair of sequels, a 1978 TVM with Brian Dennehy (A REAL AMERICAN HERO) and a series. Remade in 2004. [R] ▼●●

Walking Tall (2004) C-86m.  D: Kevin Bray. The Rock, Johnny Knoxville, Neal McDonough, Kristen Wilson, Ashley Scott, Khleo Thomas, John Beasley, Barbara Tambuck, Michael Bowen. The Rock returns home after eight years in the service and learns that the town is "owned" lock, stock, and barrel by an old schoolmate (McDonough) who's opened a casino. With the help of a four-by-four and a trusted friend (Knoxville) he determines to set things straight. Buford Pusser is nowhere in sight, but his vigilante break-everything-in-sight spirit lives on in this yahoo action yarn based on the 1973 hit. Followed by two direct-to-video sequels. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼●

Walking Tall—Final Chapter SEE: Final Chapter—Walking Tall

Walking Tall, Part Two SEE: Part 2, Walking Tall

Walk in the Clouds, A (1995) C-103m.  D: Alfonso Arau. Keanu Reeves, Aitana Sánchez-Gijón, Anthony Quinn, Giancarlo Giannini, Angelica Aragon, Evangelina Elizondo, Freddy Rodríguez, Debra Messing. A young man just back from WW2 overseas duty helps out a beautiful woman by pretending to be her husband, in order to smooth over the expected fireworks when her father learns she's pregnant. Of course, he not only falls in love with her but with her family and their idyllic Napa Valley homestead. Blatantly old-fashioned and romantic, even comy, with household scenes reminiscent of the director's LIKE WATER FOR CHOCOLATE. If you're willing to buy into it, it actually works—until the climax. Based on a 1942 Italian film, QUATTRO POASSI FRA LE NUVOLE. [PG-13] ▼●●

Walk in the Shadow (1966-British) 93m.  D: Basil Dearden. Patrick McGeehan, Janet Munro, Paul Rogers, Megs Jenkins. Fine courtroom melodrama, as emotions flare after a girl's drowning.

Walk in the Spring Rain (1970) C-100m. ½ D: Guy Green. Anthony Quinn, Ingrid Bergman, Fritz Weaver, Katherine Crawford. Happily married Bergman has extramarital affair in this low-key romantic drama. One expects more from such a cast. Scripted and produced by Stirling Silliphant. Panavision. [M/PG] ▼

Walk in the Sun, A (1945) 117m. ½ D: Lewis Milestone. Dana Andrews, Richard Conte, Sterling Holloway, George Tyne, John Ireland, Herbert Rudley, Norman Lloyd, Lloyd Bridges, Huntz Hall. Human aspect of war explored as American battalion attacks Nazi hideout in Italy; good character studies of men in war. Adapted by Robert Rossen from Harry Brown's novel. ▼●●

Walk Like a Dragon (1960) 95m. ½ D: James Clavell. Jack Lord, Nobu McCarthy, James Shigeta, Mel Torme, Josephine Hutchinson, Rodolfo Acosta. Offbeat Western drama of Lord saving McCarthy from life of prostitution, taking her back to San Francisco, overcoming expected obstacles.

Walk Like a Man (1987) C-86m. BOMB D: Melvin Frank. Howie Mandel, Christopher Lloyd, Cloris Leachman, Colleen Camp, Amy Steel, Stephen Elliott, George DiCenzo. Mandel is returned to civilization after being raised by wolves, with the expected slapstick results. Puerile comedy with a cast that deserves much better. [PG] ▼

Walk on the Moon, A (1999) C-107m. ½ D: Tony Goldwyn. Diane Lane, Liev Schreiber, Anna Paquin, Viggo Mortensen, Tovah Feldshuh, Bobby Boriello. A family spends the summer of 1969 at a bungalow colony in the Catskills, where the young wife is drawn into an affair with "the blouse man." Meanwhile, her teenage daughter is on the verge of a first love—and aching to attend a rock concert nearby called Woodstock. Well-observed script by Pamela Gray follows a fairly predictable path, but Lane is miscast as a young Jewish hausfrau. Julie Kavner's distinctive voice is unbilled. Coproduced by Dustin Hoffman. [R] ▼●●

Walk on the Wild Side (1962) 114m. ½ D: Edward Dmytryk. Laurence Harvey, Capucine, Jane Fonda, Anne Baxter, Barbara Stanwyck. Lurid hodgepodge set in 1930s New Orleans, loosely based on Nelson Algren novel, of Harvey seeking lost love Capucine, now a member of bordello run by lesbian Stanwyck. Memorable titles by Saul Bass; fine score by Elmer Bernstein. ▼

Walk Proud (1979) C-102m.  D: Robert Collins. Robby Benson, Sarah Holcomb, Domingo Ambriz, Pepe Serna, Trinidad Silva. Sincerely intentioned but not very forceful gang picture about a Chicano (Benson) who falls for a WASP beauty who goes to his high school. [PG]

Walk the Line (2005) C-136m.  D: James Mangold. Joaquin Phoenix, Reese Witherspoon, Ginnifer Goodwin, Robert Patrick, Dallas Roberts, Dan John Miller, Larry Bagby, Shelby Lynne, Tyler Hilton. Solid, straightforward biopic of Johnny Cash and the woman who, in spite of many and varied detours, was destined to be his wife, June Carter. Story follows Cash from his hardscrabble childhood and early encounter with tragedy through young manhood, musical success, and a long battle with addiction. A premier performance piece for Phoenix and Witherspoon, who are utterly convincing—and do their own singing as well. Witherspoon won a Best Actress Oscar for her work. Director Mangold wisely tells much of the story in close-ups. Shooter Jennings plays his father Waylon; coproducer James Keach has a cameo as a prison warden. Extended cut runs 153m. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Walk the Proud Land (1956) C-88m.  D: Jesse Hibbs. Audie Murphy, Anne Bancroft, Pat Crowley, Charles Drake, Jay Silverheels. Sturdy scripting makes this oater attractive; Murphy is Indian agent trying to quell strife between redskins and settlers, with the capture of Geronimo his major feat. CinemaScope. ▼

Walk to Remember, A (2002) C-101m. ½ D: Adam Shankman. Mandy Moore, Shane West, Peter Coyote, Daryl Hannah, Lauren German, Clayne Crawford, Al Thompson, Paz de la Huerta. Pop star Moore does a creditable job as a high school misfit who doesn't care about being popular, and lives by the ideals espoused by her widowed father, a minister in their small Southern town. Bad-boy West is attracted to her in spite of—not because of—her sincerity and soon falls under her spell. Earnest hybrid of teen movie and tearjerker, with spiritual values rarely found in this kind of film; based on Nicholas Sparks' best-selling novel. Super 35. [PG] ▼●

Walk With Love and Death, A (1969) C-90m.  D: John Huston. Anjelica Huston, Assaf Dayan, Anthony Corlan, John Hallam, Robert Lang, Michael Gough. Fine period flavor but little else of note in story of young love set against turmoil of 14th-century France. Anjelica Huston's film debut; father John has small role. [M/PG]

Wall, The (1982-British) SEE: Pink Floyd—The Wall

Wallace & Gromit in The Curse of the Were-Rabbit (2005-British-U.S.) C-82m.  D: Nick Park, Steve Box. Voices of Peter Sallis, Ralph Fiennes, Helena Bonham Carter, Peter Kay, Nicholas Smith, Liz Smith, Geraldine McEwan. Cheese-loving inventor Wallace and his long-suffering canine pal Gromit retain all the quirky, inventive, distinctly British humor of Park's three award-winning shorts in this delightful clay-animated feature. Our heroes play humane pest-control experts who meet their match in an oversized rabbit that terrorizes the local British gardens. Wallace also finds love in the person of Lady Campanula Tottington, who becomes his benefactor. Engagingly silly British stereotypes are played to a fare-thee-well by Sallis, Bonham Carter, Fiennes, and other voice actors. Oscar winner as Best Animated Feature. [G]▼

Wall•E (2008) C-97m. ½ D: Andrew Stanton. Fred Willard; voices of Ben Burtt, Elissa Knight, Jeff Garlin, John Ratzenberger, Kathy Najimy, Sigourney Weaver. On a future Earth, humans are long gone and only one robotic creature, trained to gather and compact garbage, is left: WALL•E (Waste Allocation Load Lifter Earth-Class). Then a flying robot named Eve shows up to evaluate the planet, and a smitten WALL•E follows her onto her spacecraft, which exposes him to human beings for the first time. With an irresistible main character, a dynamite opening sequence, exceptional production design and imagination, this Pixar animated film starts out great but becomes heavy-handed in its message. Nevertheless, it won the hearts of audiences—and a Best Animated Feature Academy Award. Pixarvision. [G]■

Wall of Noise (1963) 112m. ½ D: Richard Wilson. Suzanne Pleshette, Ty Hardin, Dorothy Provine, Ralph Meeker, Simon Oakland, Murray Matheson. Turgid race-track drama with adultery, not horses, the focal point.

Walls of Glass (1985) C-86m. ½ D: Scott Goldstein. Philip Bosco, Geraldine Page, Linda Thorson, Olympia Dukakis, Brian Bloom, Steven Weber, Louis Zorich, William Hickey. Intriguing if uneven character study with Bosco nicely cast as a middle-aged, sonnet-spouting N.Y.C. cab driver who hates his job and yearns for success as an actor. Occasionally slow, but still effective. [R]▼

Wall Street (1987) C-124m.  D: Oliver Stone. Michael Douglas, Charlie Sheen, Daryl Hannah, Hal Holbrook, Martin Sheen, Terence Stamp, Sean Young, Sylvia Miles, James Spader, John McGinley, Saul Rubinek, Franklin Cover, James Karen, Richard Dysart, Josh Mostel, Millie Perkins, Cecilia Peck, Grant Shaud.

Young hotshot who's going nowhere in a N.Y. brokerage firm manages to button-hole the highest roller on Wall Street (Douglas, in an Oscar-winning performance) and win his confidence—but he sells his soul, so to speak, in return for admittance to that high-powered world of wheeling and dealing. Modern-day morality tale by cowriter-director Stone (whose father was a broker, and to whom the film is dedicated) is short on subtlety but completely absorbing, especially in the wake of the real-life "insider trading" scandal of 1986. Stone, Monique Van Vooren, and Liliane Montevocchi can be glimpsed. [R]▼●●

Waltz Across Texas (1982) C-99m. ½ D: Ernest Day. Terry Jastrow, Anne Archer, Richard Farnsworth, Noah Beery, Mary Kay Place, Josh Taylor, Ben Piazza. Oilman Jastrow and geologist Archer fall in love. Predictable, but far from unpleasant. The leads are husband and wife off-screen; they wrote the story, coproduced the film. [PG]▼

Waltz of the Toreadors (1962-British) C-105m.  D: John Guillermin. Peter Sellers, Dany Robin, Margaret Leighton, John Fraser. Jean Anouilh's saucy sex romp gets top notch handling with Sellers as the retired military officer who still can't keep his eye off the girls.▼●●

Waltz With Bashir (2008-Israeli-French-German) C-87m. ½ D: Ari Folman. Voices of Ari Folman, Ori Sivan, Ronny Dayag, Shmuel Frankel, Prof. Zahava Solomon, Ron Ben-Yishai, Dror Harazi. War vet with selective amnesia about being a young soldier in Israel's 1982 Beirut invasion embarks on a series of investigative interviews to recapture the truth regarding his role in a Palestinian refugee massacre. Grotesque, sometimes shocking memoir of "the terrible silence of death" is eerie, surreal, and one of a kind, rendered in consistently inventive animation, neither cartoon nor documentary, yet both. Title refers to Lebanon's assassinated Christian president. [R]■

Wanda (1971) C-101m. ½ D: Barbara Loden. Barbara Loden, Michael Higgins, Charles Dosinan, Frank Jourdan. Touching, original little drama about passive woman (Loden) who takes up with two-bit thief Higgins. Well acted. [PG]■

Wanda Nevada (1979) C-105m. *½ D: Peter Fonda. Peter Fonda, Brooke Shields, Fiona Lewis, Luke Askew, Ted Markland, Severn Darden, Paul Fix, Henry Fonda. Fonda wins Shields in a poker game, and they set out to prospect for gold in the Grand Canyon. If this film were any more laid-back it would be nonexistent. Peter and Henry's only film together. [PG]▼

Wanderers, The (1979) C-113m. ½ D: Philip Kaufman. Ken Wahl, John Friedrich, Karen Allen, Toni Kalem, Alan Rosenberg, Linda Manz, Erland van Lidth de Jeude,

Olympia Dukakis. Impressionistic look at Bronx-Italian high school life in 1963 isn't always consistent in tone, but there are dozens of privileged moments. Understandably, it's become a cult favorite. [R]▼●●

Wannsee Conference, The (1984-German-Austrian) C-87m. ½ D: Heinz Schirk. Dietrich Mattausch, Gerd Bockmann, Friedrich Beckhaus, Gunter Spoerrie, Martin Luttge, Peter Fritz. Fascinating, chilling recreation of the infamous meeting, held in a Berlin suburb in January 1942, in which Nazi bigwigs discussed implementation of the Final Solution. Participants plot the destruction of millions with a casual air, which only adds to the terror. Based on minutes taken at the conference; film's length matches the event's actual running time. Same topic covered in a TVM, CONSPIRACY.▼●●

Want a Ride, Little Girl? SEE: Impulse (1974)

Wanted (2008) C-110m.  D: Timur Bekmambetov. James McAvoy, Morgan Freeman, Angelina Jolie, Terence Stamp, Thomas Kretschmann, Common, Kristen Hager, Marc Warren, David Patrick O'Hara. Nebbishy office drone McAvoy is suddenly—and dramatically—recruited to join a secret society of assassins led by Freeman after his father (who was part of the team) is killed. Flamboyant, in-your-face action filled with innovative visual flourishes from Russian director Bekmambetov, in his Hollywood debut. Ace-high action thriller never runs out of steam. Based on the comic books by Mark Millar and J. G. Jones. Super 35. [R]●

Wanted: Babysitter SEE: Babysitter, The (1975)

Wanted: Dead or Alive (1987) C-104m. BOMB D: Gary Sherman. Rutger Hauer, Gene Simmons, Robert Guillaume, Mel Harris, William Russ, Susan McDonald, Jerry Hardin. Hauer plays Nick Randall, grandson of fellow bounty hunter Josh, the character Steve McQueen played in the identically named TV series. Link is mentioned, then ignored, in routine cheapo about the CIA's pursuit of an Arab terrorist. Bravura grenade-in-mouth finale. [R]▼●●

Wanton Contessa SEE: Senso

Wanton Countess, The SEE: Senso

War, The (1994) C-125m. ½ D: Jon Avnet. Elijah Wood, Kevin Costner, Mare Winningham, Lexi Randall, Christine Baranski, Gary Basaraba, Raynor Scheine, Latoya Chisholm, Charlette Julius. Growing up isn't easy for a brother and sister in 1970 Mississippi; their father means well, but hasn't been stable since returning from Vietnam, and his attempts to teach them tolerance and peaceful ways are hard to absorb when they're constantly bullied by a family of mean-spirited kids who live nearby. Well-intentioned message film for young people, diluted by overlength, a lack of focus, and an overabundance of dramatic climaxes. [PG-13]▼●●

War (2007) C-103m.  D: Philip G. Atwell. Jet Li, Jason Statham, John Lone, Devon Aoki, Luis Guzmán, Saul Rubinek. While a maverick FBI agent (Statham) tries to settle an old score with an infamous hit man (Li), the killer—borrowing a page from Akira Kurosawa's YOJIMBO (and Dashiell Hammett's Red Harvest)—plays two rival Asian gangs against each other in a San Francisco turf war. Teaming of action stars Li and Statham raises high expectations that are frustratingly unfulfilled by a standard-issue crime drama laced with uninspired martial artistry. Super 35. [R]●

War and Peace (1956-U.S.-Italian) C-208m. ½ D: King Vidor. Audrey Hepburn, Henry Fonda, Mel Ferrer, Vittorio Gassman, John Mills, Herbert Lom, Oscar Homolka, Anita Ekberg, Helmut Dantine, Barry Jones, Milly Vitale, Jeremy Brett, Wilfrid Lawson, Mai Britt. Tolstoy's sprawling novel fails to come alive in this overlong, oversimplified adaptation. Star-studded cast and spectacular battle scenes (directed by Mario Soldati) cannot compensate for clumsy script (by six writers, including Vidor) and some profound miscasting. Filmed far more successfully in 1968. VistaVision.▼●●

War and Peace (1968-Russian) C-373m. * D: Sergei Bondarchuk. Ludmila Savelyeva, Vyacheslav Tihonov, Hira Ivanov-Golovko, Irina Gubanova, Antonia Shuranova, Sergei Bondarchuk. Even in theaters, poor English dubbing hurt this definitive film version of Tolstoy's novel. Even so, it should be seen for production values alone; a dazzling film. Oscar winner for Best Foreign Film. Originally shown in U.S. in two parts; released in the USSR in 1966-67 in four parts, totaling 507m. Sovscope 70.▼●

War at Home, The (1996) C-123m.  D: Emilio Estevez. Emilio Estevez, Kathy Bates, Martin Sheen, Kimberly Williams, Corin Nemec, Carla Gugino, Renee Estevez. Stagey adaptation by James Duff of his own play Homefront, about recently returned Vietnam vet Estevez trying to move on with his life but haunted by his experience in combat. His family is unable to deal with the fact that the boy they sent off to war never came home. Great acting, especially by Bates, but good intentions outweigh results. Panavision. [R]▼●●

War Between Men and Women, The (1972) C-110m. ½ D: Melville Shavelson. Jack Lemmon, Barbara Harris, Jason Robards, Herb Edelman, Lisa Gerritsen, Lisa Eilbacher, Severn Darden. Fans of James Thurber won't think much of this mixture of famed writer-cartoonist's material and Hollywood schmaltz, but film occasionally makes for pleasant comedy-romance. Harris comes off best. Material had previously inspired a TV series, My World—And Welcome To It. [PG]▼

War Between the Planets (1965-Italian) C-80m. BOMB D: Anthony Dawson (Antonio Margheriti), Jack Stuart (Giacomo Rossi-Stuarti), Amber Collins (Ombretta Colli), Peter Martell, Halina Zalewska. Alien planet is on collision course with earth, but valiant efforts by scientific forces snatch victory from the jaws of boredom. Fun only if you like spaghetti sci-fi. Made at same time as other losers such as WAR OF THE PLANETS, WILD WILD PLANET, etc. Aka PLANET ON THE PROWL. ▼

Wardance (2007) C-107m.  D: Sean Fine, Andrea Nix Fine. Compassionate, uplifting documentary account of Ugandan orphans who only have known lives of war and strife. They reside in a DP camp, where they prepare to vie for a National Music Competition trophy. Despite their horror stories, the youngsters show astounding resilience, and the film is a primer on the power of music to elevate the spirit. Only flaw: it's a tad overlong. [PG-13]▶

War Game, The (1967-British) 47m.  D: Peter Watkins. Fascinating, frightening simulated documentary, which vividly projects the aftermath of a nuclear holocaust. Originally produced for television by the BBC and British Film Institute, but deemed to be too incendiary for home audiences. It did open theatrically, and earned a Best Documentary Academy Award. ▼

WarGames (1983) C-110m. ½ D: John Badham. Matthew Broderick, Dabney Coleman, John Wood, Ally Sheedy, Barry Corbin, Juanin Clay, Maury Chaykin, Michael Madsen, John Spencer. FAIL SAFE for the Pac-Man generation: a pop movie about a computer whiz-kid who taps into government early-warning system and nearly starts WW3. Entertaining to a point, but gets more contrived as it goes along, leading to finale straight out of an old B movie. Incidentally, it's easy to see why this was so popular with kids: most of the adults in the film are boos. Followed by a DVD sequel in 2008. [PG]▼●

War Gods of the Deep (1965-U.S.-British) C-85m. ½ D: Jacques Tourneur. Vincent Price, Tab Hunter, David Tomlinson, Susan Hart, John LeMesurier. Gill-men invade remote seacoast town. Actually, two films in one: establishing menace, first half has odd, almost poetic feel to it, but second half deteriorates, with shoddy underwater city. Tourneur's final feature. British title: THE CITY UNDER THE SEA. Colorscope. ▼ happy soldier Saxon who tries to help an orphan boy. Redford's film debut.▶

War Hunt (1962) 81m. ½ D: Denis Sanders. John Saxon, Robert Redford, Charles Aidman, Sydney Pollack. Well-done Korean War story focusing on kill-

War, Inc. (2008) C-107m.  D: Joshua Seftel. John Cusack, Hilary Duff, Marisa Tomei, Joan Cusack, Ben Kingsley, Dan Aykroyd, Lubomir Neikov, Ben Cross. Would-be satire of the war in Iraq features Cusack as an assassin-for-hire who takes an assignment from the former Vice President of the U.S. (Aykroyd) to rub out the oil minister of a Middle Eastern country. His "cover" is a trade show where the main distraction is the wedding of a bratty pop star (Duff). Self-satisfied poke at contemporary events has a good cast and attitude to spare but its targets are painfully obvious—and so is its approach. Cowritten by John Cusack. [R]▶

War, Italian Style (1966-Italian) C-84m.  D: Luigi Scattini. Buster Keaton, Franco and Ciccio, Martha Hyer, Fred Clark. Sloppy, meandering spy satire set in WW2 Italy, redeemed barely by Keaton's appearance. Unfortunately, this was his final film. Techniscope.

Warlock (1959) C-121m.  D: Edward Dmytryk. Richard Widmark, Henry Fonda, Anthony Quinn, Dorothy Malone, Dolores Michaels, Wallace Ford, Tom Drake, Richard Arlen, DeForest Kelley, Regis Toomey. Philosophical vigilante "sheriff" Fonda is hired to clean up the crime-infested Western town of Warlock. This sets off a complex storyline involving, among others, crippled Quinn, guilt-ridden Widmark, and embittered Malone. Literate, allegorical adult Western examines the lynch-mob mentality and the meaning of machismo. Forgotten, but worthy of rediscovery. Scripted by Robert Alan Aurthur. CinemaScope. ▼

Warlock (1991) C-102m. ½ D: Steve Miner. Julian Sands, Lori Singer, Richard E. Grant, Mary Woronov, Richard Kuss, Allan Miller, Kevin O'Brien, Anna Levine, David Carpenter. A warlock escapes from 1691 Boston to 1991 L.A., with a local witch-hunter in full time-warp pursuit; object of their squabble is the Grand Grimoire, or Satan's bible. More fun might have ensued had they ended up on a dusty street with, say, Henry Fonda, but it's worth half-a-star just to see the ever-intense Grant in a rare (for him) heroic role. Followed by two sequels. [R] ▼●

Warlock: The Armageddon (1993) C-98m. *½ D: Anthony Hickox. Julian Sands, Christopher Young, Paula Marshall, Steve Kahan, Charles Hallahan, R. G. Armstrong, Nicole Mercurio, Craig Hurley, Bruce Glover, Zach Galligan, Joanna Pacula. Evil warlock Sands is (literally) reborn, even though there is nothing connecting this entry with the first, other than Sands himself and his role as a wicked, flying sorcerer—this time trying to unleash his father (Satan) upon the world. Weak, jokey film has only Sands' sardonic performance and some good effects to recommend it. Followed by a direct-to-video sequel. [R]▼●●

War Lord, The (1965) C-123m.  D: Franklin Schaffner. Charlton Heston, Rosemary Forsyth, Richard Boone, Maurice Evans, Guy Stockwell, Niall McGinnis, James Farentino, Henry Wilcoxon, Michael Conrad. Intriguing, generally well-done adaptation of Leslie Stevens' The Lovers, with Heston as feudal knight invoking little-known law allowing him to have another man's bride on their wedding night. Title and medieval setting would seem to indicate sweeping spectacle . . . which this certainly isn't. Panavision.▼●●

Warlords of Atlantis (1978-British) C-96m. ½ D: Kevin Connor. Doug McClure, Peter Gilmore, Shane Rimmer, Lea Brodie, John Ratzenberger, Cyd Charisse, Daniel Massey. Monsters and mayhem abound in this palatable Saturday matinee item with McClure joining British scientists in search for underwater city.

Warlords of the 21st Century (1982) C-91m.  D: Harley Cokliss. Michael Beck, Annie McEnroe, James Wainwright, John Ratzenberger, Bruno Lawrence. Routine action film set after WW3 in time of an oil shortage. Wainwright (as the ruthless, right-wing military villain) virtually repeated his role in the contemporary-set Robin Williams comedy THE SURVIVORS. Filmed in New Zealand; originally titled BATTLETRUCK. [PG]▼

War Lover, The (1962-British) 105m. ½ D: Philip Leacock. Steve McQueen, Robert Wagner, Shirley Anne Field, Gary Cockrell, Michael Crawford, Al Waxman. John Hersey's thoughtful novel becomes superficial account of egocentric, psychotic WW2 pilot McQueen, who becomes unhinged when copilot Wagner begins a romantic relationship with Field. Worth seeing for McQueen's edgy, riveting presence.▼●●

Warm December, A (1973) C-100m.  D: Sidney Poitier. Sidney Poitier, Esther Anderson, Johnny Sekka, Yvette Curtis. George Baker, Earl Cameron. Story of Poitier's love for Anderson, who is dying of sickle cell anemia, isn't as sappy as it might be, but isn't particularly good, either. Anderson is attractive. Made in England. [PG]▼

Warm Water Under a Red Bridge (2001-Japanese) C-114m.  D: Shohei Imamura. Koji Yakusho, Misa Shimizu, Mitsuko Baisho, Manasaku Fuwa, Isao Natsuyagi, Kazuo Kitamura. Clever, sweetly funny comedy-drama about middle-aged Yakusho, trapped and victimized by the modern rat race, who becomes involved with a beautiful—and most unusual—woman in a small fishing village. Offbeat but profound film stresses the importance of enjoying life and exercising free will.▼

Warning Shot (1967) C-100m. ½ D: Buzz Kulik. David Janssen, Ed Begley,

Keenan Wynn, Lillian Gish, Eleanor Parker, Sam Wanamaker, Stefanie Powers, George Sanders, George Grizzard, Steve Allen, Carroll O'Connor, Joan Collins, Walter Pidgeon. Exciting action-filled melodrama about cop's attempt to clear his name after killing a supposedly innocent doctor.▶

Warning Sign (1985) C-100m. *½ D: Hal Barwood. Sam Waterston, Kathleen Quinlan, Yaphet Kotto, Jeffrey De Munn, Richard Dysart, G. W. Bailey, Jerry Hardin, Rick Rossovich, Cynthia Carle. Self-important, would-be CHINA SYNDROME about disastrous results of chemical spill at research lab that's secretly been working on germ warfare for the government. Unpleasant and ineffectual. Screenwriter Barwood's directing debut. [R]▼

War of the Buttons (1994-British-French-Japanese) C-90m. ½ D: John Roberts. Gregg Fitzgerald, John Coffey, Liam Cunningham, Johnny Murphy, Colm Meaney, Jim Bartley, Gerard Kearney, Anthony Cunningham. The children of two neighboring Irish towns gradually escalate their quarrels to outright—if painless—warfare. This pleasant comedy-drama tries to say something about war, but the point is obscured as the story begins to focus on two particular boys. Based on the 1912 Louis Pergaud novel La Guerre des Boutons, previously filmed in 1938 and 1962. [PG]▼●

War of the Colossal Beast (1958) 68m. *½ D: Bert I. Gordon. Sally Fraser, Roger Pace, Dean Parkin, Russ Bender, Charles Stewart. Sequel to THE AMAZING COLOSSAL MAN finds our oversized hero alive but not well; his face is a mess, and so is his mind, leading to the inevitable low-budget rampage. Forget it. Last shot is in color.▼

War of the Gargantuas, The (1966-U.S.-Japanese) C-93m. BOMB D: Ishiro Honda. Russ Tamblyn, Kumi Mizuno, Kipp Hamilton, Yu Fujiki. Japan is menaced by a mean, green "gargantua" (humanoid giant), with a friendly brown gargantua trying to make peace. Strange, even by Japanese monster-movie standards. Tohoscope.▼

War of the Roses, The (1989) C-116m. ½ D: Danny DeVito. Michael Douglas, Kathleen Turner, Danny DeVito, Marianne Sägebrecht, Sean Astin, Heather Fairfield, G. D. Spradlin, Peter Donat, Dan Castellaneta, Danitra Vance. When Douglas and Turner can't agree on a property settlement in their divorce proceedings, war breaks out in (and over) their exquisitely appointed house. As a satire on yuppie materialism, this very black comedy scores a bull's-eye—for about an hour. Then it continues for nearly an hour more as the couple grows increasingly vicious and irrational, literally destroying their home. Some people loved this film (the stars are perfect), so obviously

it's a matter of taste. DeVito's odd point of view and wild camera angles are an asset throughout. [R]▼●●

War of the Satellites (1958) 66m.  D: Roger Corman. Dick Miller, Susan Cabot, Richard Devon, Robert Shayne, Eric Sinclair. Ruthless combination of THE DAY THE EARTH STOOD STILL and KRONOS has unseen aliens warning Earth to cease their space exploration, brainwashing scientist Devon to make sure it's done. The day after the U.S. Explorer satellite went up, Corman told a studio he could have a film ready in two months . . . and he did. Not so hot, but any movie with Dick Miller as a heroic scientist can't be all bad.

War of the Wildcats SEE: In Old Oklahoma

War of the Worlds, The (1953) C-85m. ½ D: Byron Haskin. Gene Barry, Les Tremayne, Ann Robinson, Robert Cornthwaite, Henry Brandon, Jack Kruschen; narrated by Sir Cedric Hardwicke. Vivid, frightening adaptation of H. G. Wells' novel about a Martian invasion, transplanted from 19th-century England to contemporary USA. Dramatically sound and filled with dazzling, Oscar-winning special effects; superior sci-fi, produced by George Pal. Later a TV series. Remade three times in 2005 as WAR OF THE WORLDS, H. G. WELLS' THE WAR OF THE WORLDS and H. G. WELLS' WAR OF THE WORLDS.▼●●

War of the Worlds (2005) C-116m. ½ D: Steven Spielberg. Tom Cruise, Dakota Fanning, Miranda Otto, Justin Chatwin, Tim Robbins, Rick Gonzalez, Lisa Ann Walter, Amy Ryan; narrated by Morgan Freeman. Divorced, beer-swilling New Jersey construction worker with two kids realizes that all hell is breaking loose and hits the road, hoping to dodge the chaos of an alien invasion and reach his ex-wife's family home in Boston. Update of H. G. Wells' novel never names Mars as the source of the invaders, but wastes no time getting started, throwing action and special effects sequences at the viewer almost nonstop . . . but it ends with a whimper, not a bang, muting the entire experience. Gene Barry and Ann Robinson, stars of the 1953 version, make a welcome cameo. [PG-13]▼

War Party (1989) C-97m.  D: Franc Roddam. Billy Wirthe, Kevin Dillon, Tim Sampson, Jimmie Ray Weeks, M. Emmet Walsh, Dennis Banks, Kevyn Major Howard, Bill McKinney. Reenactment of a hundred-year-old battle between Blackfoot Indian tribe and U.S. Cavalry turns into the real thing once again when one white youth brings a loaded gun to the festivities. Basically an excuse for a cowboys and Indians movie, this intriguing premise becomes just another botched opportunity for Hollywood to shed light on the problems of the American Indian. [R]▼●

Warrior, The (2001-British-French-German) C-86m.  D: Asif Kapadia. Irfan Khan, Puru Chibber, Anupam Shyam, Noor Mani, Damayanti Marfatia, Aino Annuddin. Minimalist fable involving the title character (Khan), one of a band of killers who slaughters innocent villagers on the order of his boss, a brutal Indian warlord. His life changes dramatically when he decides to quit his job and seek spiritual redemption. Harsh, ironic reworking of a samurai/Western morality tale, stunningly filmed in the deserts and mountains of Northwestern India. Released in the U.S. in 2005. [R]▼

Warrior and the Sorceress, The (1984) C-76m. *½ D: John Broderick. David Carradine, Luke Askew, Maria Socas, Anthony DeLongis, Harry Townes, William Marin. Copycat version of both A FISTFUL OF DOLLARS and YOJIMBO transplants story of a lone fighter playing both ends against the middle to a mythical kingdom on a planet circling two suns. Lovely leading lady Socas plays the entire film topless; you also might note the very convincing makeup effects on a pretty dancer who has four breasts. [R]▼●●

Warrior Queen (1987) C-69m. BOMB D: Chuck Vincent. Sybil Danning, Donald Pleasence, Richard Hill, Josephine Jacqueline Jones, Tally Chanel, Stasia Micula (Samantha Fox). Ridiculous made-in-Italy exploitation film emphasizes sex in recreating the decadence of ancient Pompeii. Pleasence is at his hammy worst as the mayor whose wife (porn star Fox) has eyes for other men. Relies extensively on footage from the '60 LAST DAYS OF POMPEII for an apocalyptic climax. Unrated 79m. video version has more sex scenes. [R]▼●

Warriors, The (1955-British) C-85m. ½ D: Henry Levin. Errol Flynn, Joanne Dru, Peter Finch, Patrick Holt, Yvonne Furneaux, Michael Hordern, Christopher Lee. Flynn's final swashbuckler casts him as British prince protecting French conquests (and lovely Dru) from attacks by Finch and his supporters. Well made but awfully familiar. British title: THE DARK AVENGER. CinemaScope.▼

Warriors, The (1979) C-90m.  D: Walter Hill. Michael Beck, James Remar, Thomas Waites, Dorsey Wright, Brian Tyler, Deborah Van Valkenburgh, Mercedes Ruehl. Comic-book plot about N.Y.C. gang crossing rival turfs to get "home" is redeemed by lightning pace, tough action sequences, creative use of color. Notorious for the number of violent incidents it allegedly instigated in theaters, but worthy of some respect. Script by Hill and David Shaber; photographed by Andrew Laszlo. Director's cut runs 93m. [R]▼●●

Warriors of Virtue (1997) C-103m. *½ D: Ronny Yu. Angus Macfadyen, Mario Yedidia, Marley Shelton, Jack Tate, Chao-Li Chi, Doug Jones, Michael John Anderson. In-

coherent kiddie kung fu movie about an American boy (Yedidia, who's the spitting image of Elijah Wood) who gets hold of a secret Chinese manuscript that transports him to a mystical wonderland where kangaroo warriors fight against evil. Yu's English filmmaking debut is a big disappointment after his fantastical (and very adult) Hong Kong sword and sorcery epics THE BRIDE WITH WHITE HAIR, Parts 1 and 2. Macfadyen chews scenery as the villain, acting like the errant offspring of Ming the Merciless and Little Richard. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

War Room, The (1993) C-95m.  D: D. A. Pennebaker, Chris Hegedus. Compelling documentary which follows the behind-the-scenes machinations of Bill Clinton's 1992 presidential campaign. No great insights or revelations, but still an inherently interesting (and very entertaining) look at political kingmaking, done in classic cinéma vérité style. Chief political strategist James Carville (the "Ragin' Cajun") has more on-screen charisma than many Hollywood stars. ▼●●

War Wagon, The (1967) C-101m.  D: Burt Kennedy. John Wayne, Kirk Douglas, Howard Keel, Robert Walker, Keenan Wynn, Bruce Cabot, Joanna Barnes, Bruce Dern. Amiable tongue-in-cheek Western, with ex-con Wayne seeking to settle a score with villainous Cabot by plundering his gold-laden stagecoach—with the help of Douglas (who's been hired to kill Wayne on Cabot's behalf) and a motley band of associates. Keel is hilarious as wisecracking Indian. Panavision. ▼●●

War Within, The (2005) C-93m. ½ D: Joseph Castelo. Ayad Akhtar, Firdous Bamji, Nandana Sen, Sarita Choudhury, Charles Daniel Sandoval, Varun Sriram, John Ventimiglia, Mike McGlone. Introspective account of how a good-natured Pakistani student has been politicized and transformed into a suicide bomber. He comes to the U.S., where his eventual target is N.Y.C.'s Grand Central Station. Well-meaning attempt to explore the psychology of its main character; while the story is all too believable, it runs out of dramatic steam. Coscripted by Akhtar, Castelo, and Tom Glynn. [R] ▼●●

War Zone, The (1999-British-Italian) C-98m.  D: Tim Roth. Ray Winstone, Tilda Swinton, Lara Belmont, Freddie Cunliffe, Colin Farrell. Roth's directorial debut is an ultra-realistic, deeply affecting portrait of incest in a working-class British family. With devastating candor, he charts the unfolding events as 15-year-old Cunliffe suspects that his father (Winstone) is acting inappropriately with his older sister (Belmont). Sometimes difficult to watch, as Roth pulls no punches in his portrayal of this deeply troubled family. Panavision.

▼●●
Wasabi (2002-French-Japanese) C-94m. ½ D: Gérard Krawczyk. Jean Reno, Michel Muller, Ryoko Hirose, Carole Bouquet, Ludovic Berthillot, Yan Epstein, Michel Scourneau. Minor but diverting comedy-action yarn about a cop (Reno) with a penchant for punching out people who's called to Japan. It seems the love of his life—who walked out on him 19 years ago—has died, leaving him a fortune, a daughter he never knew about, and a platoon of hit men on his trail. Reno is his usual charismatic self in a hand-tailored role, and the action is sharply staged. Written and produced by Luc Besson. Super 35. [R] ▼●●

Wash, The (2001) C-96m.  D: DJ Pooh. Snoop Dogg, Dr. Dre, George Wallace, Angell Conwell, Tommy "Tiny" Lister, Jr., Alex Thomas. With director Pooh citing Michael Schultz's CAR WASH as a direct influence, you know what you're going to get in this agreeable but ragged yarn about rentowing roomies working at the same cleansing facility. Look for: full-figured women in bikini sudsing up cars, an obese cop who's made fun of, and someone having intestinal problems when there are houseguests. Any movie that gives you cameos by Shaquille O'Neal, Tommy Chong, and Pauly Shore is going the extra mile. [R] ▼●●

Washington Square (1997) C-115m.  D: Agnieszka Holland. Jennifer Jason Leigh, Albert Finney, Ben Chaplin, Maggie Smith, Judith Ivey, Betsy Brantley, Jennifer Garner, Peter Maloney. Spirited adaptation of the Henry James novel about the awkward, plain-Jane daughter of a wealthy, domineering doctor, who is suddenly courted by a poor but handsome fortune hunter in 19th-century N.Y.C. Like a number of celebrated period stories filmed in the 1990s, this one features a pointed contemporary feminist sensibility. Filmed before as THE HEIRESS. [PG] ▼●●

Wasn't That a Time! SEE: Weavers, The: Wasn't That a Time!

Wasp Woman, The (1960) 66m. ½ D: Roger Corman. Susan Cabot, Fred (Anthony) Easley, Barboura Morris, Michael Mark, William Roerick. Enjoyable Corman cheapie about cosmetics magnate Cabot, fearful of aging, using royal jelly from wasps to become young and beautiful. She also periodically turns into a wasp-monster that must kill. Minor camp classic; an unauthorized semi-remake, EVIL SPAWN, was made for video in 1987. Remade for TV in 1996. ▼●●

Wassup Rockers (2006) C-111m. ½ D: Larry Clark. Jonathan Velasquez, Francisco Pedrasa, Eddie Velasquez, Yunion Usvaldo Panameno, Eddie Velazquez, Luis Rojas-Salgado, Carlos Velasco, Iris Zelaya, Laura Cellner, Jessica Steinbaum. Lighter in tone, more accessible, and less explicit than Clark's previous forays into the world of

troubled youth (KIDS, BULLY, KEN PARK), this story of seven Latino skateboarders examines their lives not only in their home base of South Central L.A. but in the suburban environs of Beverly Hills. When they meet two rich white girls they find themselves skating down the streets and backyards of the wealthy in sequences that almost seem like an homage to THE SWIMMER. While raw and undisciplined, film offers an interesting perspective on class and race and serves as a showcase for a good young cast. [R]◆

Watched! (1972) C-95m. *½ D: John Parsons, Stacy Keach, Harris Yulin, Brigid Polk, Denver John Collins. Keach plays a former government lawyer who went underground, befriendng dopers. Yulin is chief of the narcotics squad, using lots of surveillance filming in his war of wills with Keach. Haphazard structure of this low-budget film relies upon Keach's nearly one-man show, expressing the personal transition out of 1960s culture. [R]▼

Watcher, The (2000) C-96m. *½ D: Joe Charbanic, James Spader, Marisa Tomei, Keanu Reeves, Ernie Hudson, Chris Ellis, Robert Cicchini. The millionth serial killer movie in a decade offers little in the way of novelty (not that this would be anyone's wish). FBI agent Spader has gotten so worn out trying to track down woman-preying Reeves that he's relocated from L.A. to Chicago and put himself in the care of psychoanalyst Tomei. (Guess who ends up being victimized?) Empty thriller directed by—surprise!—a former maker of rock videos. [R]▼◆

Watcher in the Woods, The (1980) C-84m. ½ D: John Hough. Bette Davis, Carroll Baker, David McCallum, Lynn-Holly Johnson, Kyle Richards, Ian Bannen, Richard Pasco. All-American family takes over British country house, where young Johnson is tormented by the spirit of owner Davis' long-missing daughter. Not bad, with atmospheric photography by Alan Hume, but awfully familiar. First shown with an abrupt conclusion, then with special effects sequence that made things worse, then reworked again and improved (by Vincent McEveety)—for 1981 rerelease! Original running time 100m. [PG]▼◆◆

Watchers (1988-U.S.-Canadian) C-92m. *½ D: Jon Hess. Corey Haim, Michael Ironside, Barbara Williams, Lala, Duncan Fraser, Dale Wilson, Blu Mankuma. Young Haim is befriended by a super-intelligent dog (the product of military research), but soon both are pursued by a swift, deadly monster. Awful adaptation of Dean R. Koontz's novel, with a ludicrous monster. Followed by three sequels. [R]▼◆◆

Watchers 2 (1990-U.S.-Canadian) C-97m.  D: Thierry Notz. Marc Singer, Tracy Scoggins, Tom Poster, Jonathan Farwell, Mary Woronov. Singer and a super-intelligent dog are pursued by a monster who's the result of the same experimentation that created the canine. More a remake of than a sequel to WATCHERS, and a better movie, though still no world-beater. Followed by two sequels. [R]▼◆◆

Watch It (1993) C-102m.  D: Tom Flynn. Peter Gallagher, Suzy Amis, John C. McGinley, Jon Tenney, Cynthia Stevenson, Lili Taylor, Tom Sizemore, Terri Hawkes, Jordana Capra. Drifter Gallagher returns to Chicago and moves in with smarmy, womanizing cousin Tenney and his crude, immature housemates. He falls for (but cannot make a commitment to) veterinarian Amis, who's had rotten luck with men. Despite some plot implausibilities and a cop-out ending, a perceptive and ingratiating film. Flynn also scripted. [R]▼◆

Watchmen (2009) C-161m.  D: Zack Snyder. Billy Crudup, Malin Akerman, Patrick Wilson, Jeffrey Dean Morgan, Jackie Earle Haley, Matthew Goode, Carla Gugino, Matt Frewer, Stephen McHattie, Robert Wisden. Slick, superficially faithful but heavily-handed adaptation of Alan Moore and Dave Gibbons' celebrated graphic novel, set in a bleak, alternate 1985 where the newest generation of vigilante superheroes has been retired by an act of Congress. Only the very naked Dr. Manhattan (Crudup) is still at work, as he holds the power to stave off impending nuclear war—but he has been drained of his humanity and can't even relate to his girlfriend anymore. And so it goes. Deliberately extreme violence and sexuality seem pointless in this highly stylized but overlong comic book saga. Haley's performance as Rorschach is the lone stand-out. Extended version runs 186m. Super 35. [R]◆

Watch on the Rhine (1943) 114m. ½ D: Herman Shumlin. Bette Davis, Paul Lukas, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Lucile Watson, Beulah Bondi, George Coulouris, Donald Woods, Henry Daniell. Fine filmization of Lillian Hellman's timely WW2 play of German Lukas and wife Davis pursued and harried by Nazi agents in Washington. Lukas gives the performance of his career, which won him an Oscar; Bette somewhat overshadowed. Script by Dashiell Hammett. ▼◆

Watch the Shadows Dance (1987-Australian-Canadian) C-87m.  D: Mark Joffe. Tom Jennings, Nicole Kidman, Joanne Samuel, Vince Martin, Craig Pearce, Doug Parkinson. Low-grade actioner involving a group of students who participate in a violent fantasy war game, with predictable results. Of interest solely for the presence of Kidman, cast as one of the players. Aka NIGHTMASTER. [R]▼◆

Water (1985-British) C-95m. BOMB D: Dick Clement. Michael Caine, Brenda Vaccaro, Leonard Rossiter, Valerie Perrine, Jimmie Walker, Billy Connolly, Dennis

Dugan. Inept comedy of errors concerns a Caribbean British colony where the local governor (Caine) juggles greedy U.S. oil interests, a comical rebellion, and other assorted looneys as a valuable mineral water is discovered. Rossiter is funny as a diplomat sent from England to calm the situation, and Maureen Lipman is terrific in a nasty caricature of Prime Minister Thatcher; Vaccaro is miscast in strained Carmen Miranda impression. Pointless cameos by Dick Shawn, Fred Gwynne, film's executive producer George Harrison, Eric Clapton, and Ringo Starr. [PG-13]▼

Water (2005-Canadian-Indian) C-117m. ½ D: Deepa Mehta. Lisa Ray, Seema Biswas, Sarala, Kulbhushan Kharbanda, Waheeda Rehman, Raghuvir Yadav, Vinay Pathak, Rishma Malik. 1930s-set drama about a group of widows living a life of poverty at a temple while struggling for independence from British Colonial rule. Tragic story focuses on one girl in particular, forced into prostitution by her superiors, who tries to have a relationship with a young man she is forbidden to see. Well-meaning, deliberately paced film sheds light on a little-known aspect of Indian life but fails to set off much dramatic spark despite exquisite filming by Toronto-based director Mehta. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Water Babies, The (1978-British-Polish) C-92m.  D: Lionel Jeffries. James Mason, Billie Whitelaw, Bernard Cribbins, Joan Greenwood, David Tomlinson, Tommy Pender, Samantha Gates. Combination live action and animated film for children, framing its fairy-tale undersea adventure with virtually unrelated story and characters in Dickensian London. Inoffensive for children, but downright boring at times. Aka SLIP SLIDE ADVENTURES.▼

Waterboy, The (1998) C-88m.  D: Frank Coraci. Adam Sandler, Kathy Bates, Fairuza Balk, Henry Winkler, Jerry Reed, Larry Gilliard, Jr., Blake Clark, Clint Howard, Rob Schneider. Dimwitted Cajun boy, sheltered by his smothering mama (Bates), lives only to serve—as a much-abused waterboy for football teams. But when a downtrodden coach (Winkler) discovers that the waterboy can, when properly motivated, run and tackle with great force, he turns him into a football star. Likable, crowd-pleasing comedy with heart. Sandler gets strong support here from Winkler and Bates. Director Coraci plays Roberto in the closing scenes; various sports figures appear as themselves. Sandler coscripted. [PG-13]▼

Waterdance, The (1992) C-106m.  D: Neal Jimenez, Michael Steinberg. Eric Stoltz, Wesley Snipes, William Forsythe, Helen Hunt, Elizabeth Pena, Grace Zabriskie. Fine, affecting story of a young novelist (Stoltz) who becomes paraplegic after a hiking accident and learns to adjust in a multi-ethnic rehabilitation center. Things haven't changed too much since THE MEN, but potentially maudlin situations are handled with directness, grace, and great humor, and the entire cast—particularly Snipes and Forsythe—is excellent. Jimenez, himself paralyzed since an accident in 1984, also wrote the screenplay. [R]▼

Waterhole #3 (1967) C-95m. ½ D: William Graham. James Coburn, Carroll O'Connor, Margaret Blye, Claude Akins, Bruce Dern, Joan Blondell, James Whitmore. Amusing Western comedy of three confederates who rob Army of a fortune in gold and bury it in desert waterhole. Produced by Blake Edwards. Techniscope.▼

Water Horse: Legend of the Deep, The (2007-U.S.-British) C-111m.  D: Jay Russell. Emily Watson, Alex Etel, Ben Chaplin, David Morrissey, Priyanka Xi, Marshall Napier, Brian Cox. The boy-and-his-pet formula gets a different spin as the pet is the mythical title character, who grows up to be the Loch Ness monster! Unusual family fare set in WW2 Scotland, where a lonely boy whose father has gone off to war finds his only real companionship in a creature who hatches from an egg he chances to find. Alternately fanciful and dark, with a winning young hero in Etel (who was so memorable in MILLIONS). Based on a book by Dick King-Smith, who also wrote the novel that became BABE. Super 35. [PG]▼

Waterland (1992-British) C-95m.  D: Stephen Gyllenhaal. Jeremy Irons, Sinead Cusack, Ethan Hawke, John Heard, Grant Warnock, Lena Headey, David Morrissey, Peter Postlethwaite. Arresting film about a desperate, middle-aged high school history teacher who's led a life of emotional upheaval, and seems trapped by his past—all of which affects the way he relates to his students. Peter Prince's screenplay effectively interprets Graham Swift's seemingly unfilmable novel. Irons is ideally cast and offers a peerless performance. The director's daughter, Maggie Gyllenhaal, appears in a small role. Technovision. [R]▼

Waterloo (1971-Italian-Russian) C-123m.  D: Sergei Bondarchuk. Rod Steiger, Christopher Plummer, Orson Welles, Jack Hawkins, Virginia McKenna, Dan O'Herlihy, Michael Wilding. Cumbersome historical film centering around Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo. Tremendous action but muddled plot. The original Russian version ran nearly four hours. Panavision. [G]▼

Waterloo Bridge (1931) 81m.  D: James Whale. Mae Clarke, Kent Douglas (Douglass Montgomery), Doris Lloyd, Frederick Kerr, Enid Bennett, Bette Davis, Ethel Griffies. Excellent early-talkie version of Robert E. Sherwood play, a tearjerker romance with an exceptional performance by Clarke as an American chorus-girl-turned-prostitute in WW1 London. Has a pre-Code

grittiness missing from its glossier, more famous 1940 remake; remake again in 1956 as GABY. One of Davis' earliest screen roles. [D]

Waterloo Bridge (1940) 103m. ½ D: Mervyn LeRoy. Vivien Leigh, Robert Taylor, Lucile Watson, Virginia Field, Maria Ouspenskaya, C. Aubrey Smith. Sentimental love story, well-acted, of soldier and ballet dancer meeting during London air raid, falling in love instantly. Cleaned-up version of the Robert E. Sherwood play, with beautiful performance by lovely Leigh. Screenplay by S.N. Behrman, Hans Rameau, and George Froeschel. First filmed in 1931, remade as GABY. Also shown in computer-colored version. [V][D]

Watermelon Man (1970) C-97m. ½ D: Melvin Van Peebles. Godfrey Cambridge, Estelle Parsons, Howard Caine, D'Urville Martin, Kay Kimberly, Mantan Moreland, Erin Moran. Provocative serio-comedy about bigoted white man who suddenly turns black and sees his life go upside down. Worth seeing, although Herman Raucher's one-joke script makes its point and then has nowhere to go. [R] [V][D]

Watership Down (1978-British) C-92m. ½ D: Martin Rosen. Voices of John Hurt, Richard Briers, Ralph Richardson, Denholm Elliott, Harry Andrews, Joss Ackland; narrated by Michael Hordern. Stylish animated-cartoon from Richard Adams' best-selling book about a family of rabbits seeking a safe place to live, encountering many perils along the way; not a kiddie film. Bird character voiced by Zero Mostel provides only comic relief in this sometimes grim cartoon. Excellent score by Angela Morley and Malcolm Williamson. One of the best non-Disney animated features ever made. [PG][V][D]

Waterworld (1995) C-135m.  D: Kevin Reynolds. Kevin Costner, Dennis Hopper, Jeanne Tripplehorn, Tina Majorino, Michael Jeter, Sab Shimono, Robert Joy, R. D. Call, Zakes Mokae, Leonardo Cimino, Gerard Murphy, Neil Giuntoli, Jack Black. Notoriously expensive movie can't live up to its price tag but does offer great action scenes and an interesting futuristic premise. In a world engulfed by water, the drifters and scavengers are pitted against bad guys called Smokers. Costner, known as The Mariner, is a hardened (and remarkably resourceful) survivor who readies himself for the ultimate Smoker showdown with a woman and child in tow. Full of eye-popping stunts and set pieces, and anchored by Costner's forceful and physical performance. Too poky at times and not fully fleshed out at the conclusion, but still solid entertainment. [PG-13][V][D]

Watts Monster, The SEE: Dr. Black, Mr. Hyde

Wattstax (1973) C-98m. ½ D: Mel

Stuart. Isaac Hayes, The Staple Singers, Luther Ingram, Rev. Jesse Jackson, Richard Pryor, Rufus Thomas, Carla Thomas, Bar-Kays, Kim Weston, The Emotions, Johnnie Taylor. Exciting, vibrant documentary with music, centering around L.A. community of Watts, and the black experience. Pryor's monologues are exceptionally good. Reissued in 2003 at 104m., with new footage of Hayes. [R][D]

Wavelength (1983) C-87m.  D: Mike Gray. Robert Carradine, Cherie Currie, Keenan Wynn. Cheap science-fiction film about aliens on Earth and a government coverup steals liberally from earlier pictures for ideas. Best thing is a varied musical score by Tangerine Dream. [PG][V][D]

Waxwork (1988) C-97m. *½ D: Anthony Hickox. Zach Galligan, Deborah Foreman, David Warner, Michelle Johnson, Patrick Macnee, Dana Ashbrook, Miles O'Keefe, John Rhys-Davies. Garbled, peculiar comedy-horror thriller set in evil magician's waxworks exhibit, with apocalyptic battle between humans and most of the famous monsters of history—Dracula, Frankenstein, the Mummy, a werewolf, Phantom of the Opera, Audrey II, etc. Followed by WAXWORK II: LOST IN TIME. [R][V][D]

Way Ahead, The (1944-British) 91m. ½ D: Carol Reed. Donald Niven, Stanley Holloway, James Donald, John Laurie, Leslie Dwyer, Hugh Burden, Jimmy Hanley, Billy Hartnell, Raymond Huntley, Reginald Tate, Leo Genn, Penelope Dudley Ward, Renée Asherson, Raymond Lovell, Peter Ustinov, Trevor Howard. Exhilarating wartime British film showing how disparate civilians come to work together as a fighting unit; full of spirit and charm, with an outstanding cast, and fine script by Eric Ambler and Peter Ustinov. Film debut of Trevor Howard. Originally released in the U.S. in a shortened, more serious version called THE IMMORTAL BATTALION (with an introduction by journalist Quentin Reynolds). Original British running time 116m. [V][D]

Way and the Body, The SEE: Whip and the Body, The

Way Down East (1920) 119m.  D: D. W. Griffith. Lillian Gish, Richard Barthelmess, Lowell Sherman, Burr McIntosh, Kate Bruce, Mary Hay, Creighton Hale. The ultimate stage melodrama—with a city slicker despoiling the innocence of a virginal heroine, who then must pay the price. Executed with conviction by Griffith and a fine cast, building up to famous climax with Gish drifting away on the ice floes. Often shown in shorter versions; restored to 148m. by the Museum of Modern Art in 1985. Remade in 1935. [V][D]

Way Home . . . , The (2002-South Korean) C-88m.  D: Jeong-Hyang Lee. Kim Eul-boon, Yu Seung-ho, Min Kyung-hoon, Yim

Eun-kyung, Dong Hyo-hee. Sweet fable about a demanding, fast food/video game-loving seven-year-old city boy and the culture shock he experiences after being left in the care of his mute, old-world grandmother in a rural mountain village. Simple, but never simplistic, tale of generational bonding exudes warmth and compassion without ever wallowing in sentimentality. [PG]▼

Wayne's World (1992) C-95m.  D: Penelope Spheeris. Mike Myers, Dana Carvey, Rob Lowe, Tia Carrere, Brian Doyle-Murray, Lara Flynn Boyle, Kurt Fuller, Colleen Camp, Donna Dixon, Meat Loaf, Ed O'Neill. Hit movie based on silly skit from TV's Saturday Night Live. Myers and Carvey are funny as the self-styled party dudes with their own cable TV show, and leading lady Carrere is certainly a "babe," but the story has too many slow spots and muffed jokes. Even casting Lowe as a slimeball doesn't pay off—because he's still so dull. Our advice: party elsewhere. Followed by a sequel. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Wayne's World 2 (1993) C-94m.  D: Stephen Surjik. Mike Myers, Dana Carvey, Tia Carrere, Christopher Walken, Kim Basinger, Ralph Brown, Ed O'Neill, Harry Shearer, James Hong, Drew Barrymore, Chris Farley. The Party Boys return with Wayne organizing a Waynestock music festival, and Garth being seduced by Honey Hornée (Basinger, in a tailor-made role she plays to the hilt). Tired gags from first film run throughout, but occasional bits and cameos (especially from "the better actor") make it worthy. [PG-13]▼

Way of the Dragon SEE: Return of the Dragon

Way of the Gun, The (2000) C-119m.  D: Christopher McQuarrie. Ryan Phillippe, Benicio Del Toro, James Caan, Juliette Lewis, Taye Diggs, Nicky Katt, Dylan Kussman, Scott Wilson, Kristin Lehman, Geoffrey Lewis, Sarah Silverman. Two young criminals decide to kidnap a surrogate mother who's supposedly carrying the child of a millionaire, and find themselves in way over their heads. Dense, often muddled, extremely violent film has some visceral action set pieces but—in spite of some pretentious narration—no discernible point. Directing debut for THE USUAL SUSPECTS screenwriter McQuarrie. [R]▼

Way Out West (1937) 65m. ½ D: James W. Home. Stan Laurel, Oliver Hardy, Sharon Lynn, James Finlayson, Rosina Lawrence, Stanley Fields, Vivien Oakland. Stan and Ollie are sent to deliver mine deed to daughter of late prospector, but crooked Finlayson leads them to wrong girl. One of their best features; moves well without resorting to needless romantic subplot. Another bonus: some charming musical interludes, and the boys perform a wonderful soft-shoe dance. Also shown in computer-colored version.▼

Way to the Stars, The (1945-British) 109m. * D: Anthony Asquith. John Mills, Michael Redgrave, Douglass Montgomery, Rosamund John, Stanley Holloway, Trevor Howard, Felix Aylmer, Bonar Colleano. Excellent drama about a British airfield and the men stationed there, focusing mainly on personal relationships in wartime. Jean Simmons appears briefly as a singer. Script by Terence Rattigan and Anatole de Grunwald. Originally released in U.S. as JOHNNY IN THE CLOUDS.

Wayward Bus, The (1957) 89m.  D: Victor Vicas. John Collins, Jayne Mansfield, Dan Dailey, Rick Jason. Low-brow version of John Steinbeck novel about interaction of passengers on bus in California. CinemaScope.

Way ... Way Out (1966) C-106m. BOMB D: Gordon Douglas. Jerry Lewis, Connie Stevens, Robert Morley, Dennis Weaver, Howard Morris, Brian Keith, Dick Shawn, Anita Ekberg, James Brolin. One of Jerry's worst. Plot concerns comedian's trip to the moon with sexy astronaut Stevens; hopefully they took the film's negative along. CinemaScope.

Way We Are, The SEE: Quiet Days in Hollywood

Way West, The (1967) C-122m. *½ D: Andrew V. McLaglen. Kirk Douglas, Robert Mitchum, Richard Widmark, Lou Albright, Michael Witney, Stubby Kaye, Sally Field, Jack Elam. Despite cast, this version of A. B. Guthrie, Jr.'s epic novel fails completely. McLaglen's lackluster direction partially to blame, but big problem is script, which may hold all-time record for undeveloped subplots. Mitchum is good through it all; Sally Field's first feature. Panavision.▼

Way We Were, The (1973) C-118m.  D: Sydney Pollack. Barbra Streisand, Robert Redford, Bradford Dillman, Murray Hamilton, Patrick O'Neal, Viveca Lindfors, Lois Chiles, Allyn Ann McLerie, Herb Edelman, James Woods, Connie Forslund, Sally Kirkland, George Gaynes, Susie Blakely, Dan Seymour. First-class love story about political activist Streisand and her opposite, Waspish Joe College-type Redford, from late '30s to early '50s. Prerelease cutting excised meatiest sequence on blacklist era in Hollywood, alas, leaving Hamilton and Lindfors with bit parts, and some confusion in last portion of plot. Still quite good, with literate Arthur Laurents script from his own novel. Marvin Hamlisch's score and title song (lyrics by Alan and Marilyn Bergman) won Oscars—and look sharp at Beverly Hills movie screening for a Hamlisch cameo. Panavision. [PG]▼

W. C. Fields and Me (1976) C-111m.  D: Arthur Hiller. Rod Steiger, Valerie Perrine, John Marley, Jack Cassidy, Paul Stewart, Bernadette Peters, Billy Barty. Story of comedian's romance with Carlotta Monti is a cut above most Hollywood bios, thanks to Steig-

er's excellent performance, authentic atmosphere, good cast. Has little relation to the truth, but still entertaining. [PG]

We All Loved Each Other So Much (1974-Italian) C/B&W-124m. ½ D: Ettore Scola. Nino Manfredi, Vittorio Gassman, Aldo Fabrizi, Stefania Sandrelli, Stefano Satta Flores, Giovanna Ralli. Spirited, wistful comedy of three friends (Gassman, Manfredi, Satta Flores) who each love Sandrelli over the course of three decades. The latter, an actress, plays a bit role in LA DOLCE VITA; the shooting of Anita Ekberg's Trevi Fountain scene is re-created, complete with Mastroianni and Fellini! A loving homage to Fellini, De Sica, and post-war Italian cinema. ▼●●

We Are Marshall (2006) C-124m.  D: McG. Matthew McConaughey, Matthew Fox, David Strathairn, Anthony Mackie, Ian McShane, Kate Mara, January Jones, Kimberly Williams-Paisley, Robert Patrick, Brian Geraghty. True story of tragic November 1970 airplane crash that took the lives of the Marshall University football team, their coaches, and key boosters as they were returning from a game. Dealing with the West Virginia town's devastation and reluctance to start over again, a new coach is recruited to do just that a year later. Highly dramatic telling could have dissolved into sports movie clichés but wisely focuses on the human element and the inherent need to move on with life when it seems most challenging. McConaughey, as the new coach, Fox, as a guilt-plagued assistant coach who traded his seat on the fateful flight, and Strathairn, as the university president, are outstanding in this worthwhile film. Super 35. [PG]●

Weather Man, The (2005) C-102m. ½ D: Gore Verbinski. Nicolas Cage, Michael Caine, Hope Davis, Michael Rispoli, Nicholas Hoult, Gemmenne de la Peña, Gil Bellows, Judith McConnell. Chicago TV weatherman is a local celebrity but finds his "success" hollow and even alienating. He's constantly at odds with his ex-wife, loves his kids but doesn't know how to communicate with them, and feels like an utter failure alongside his father, an award-winning novelist who's emotionally distant. Nobody plays lost souls quite like Cage, and he's perfect in this melancholy, keenly observant view of the American dream that unfolds like a good novel. Written by Steven Conrad. [R]●

Weavers, The: Wasn't That a Time! (1982) C-78m. * D: Jim Brown. Lee Hays, Pete Seeger, Fred Hellerman, Ronnie Gilbert. Simply wonderful documentary about a reunion of the much-loved folk-singing quartet of the 1940s and '50s, climaxed by footage of their Carnegie Hall concert. Irresistible film built on the foundation of Lee Hays' wit and indomitable spirit. ▼●●

Web of Passion (1959-French) C-101m. ½ D: Claude Chabrol. Madeleine Robinson, Antonella Lualdi, Jean-Paul Belmondo, Jacques Dacqmine. Non-conformist Belmondo insinuates himself into a family's graces, delighting in breaking down their standards, with murders resulting. Talky but intriguing drama. Aka LEDA and À DOUBLE TOUR. ●

Web of the Spider (1970-Italian) C-94m.  D: Anthony Dawson (Antonio Margheriti). Anthony Franciosa, Michele Mercier, Peter Carsten, Karen Field, Silvano Tranquilli. Overly familiar thriller about the skeptic who accepts a wager that he cannot survive the night alone in a haunted house. Franciosa and associates try vainly to give it a fresh twist. Previously made by the same director as CASTLE OF TERROR. Techniscope. ▼●

Wedding, A (1978) C-125m. ½ D: Robert Altman. Carol Burnett, Desi Arnaz, Jr., Amy Stryker, Vittorio Gassman, Geraldine Chaplin, Mia Farrow, Paul Dooley, Lillian Gish, Lauren Hutton, John Cromwell, Pat McCormick, Howard Duff, Pam Dawber, Dennis Christopher, Peggy Ann Garner, Nina Van Pallandt, Dina Merrill, John Considine, Viveca Lindfors, Dennis Franz. Unfocused look at family intrigues surrounding a nouveau riche wedding; some amusing moments and pointed characterizations, but doesn't quite gel. Panavision. [PG]▼●

Wedding Banquet, The (1993-U.S.-Taiwanese) C-108m.  D: Ang Lee. Winston Chao, May Chin, Mitchell Lichtenstein, Sihung Lung, Ah-Leh Gua, Tien Pien. Gay Taiwanese-American Chao tries to fool his parents via a fake wedding, with unexpected complications. Top-notch comedy which knowingly and poignantly examines the meaning of cultural identity and child-parent relationships. Neatly scripted by Lee, Neil Peng, and James Schamus. [R]▼●●

Wedding Bell Blues (1996) C-100m. ½ D: Dana Lustig. Illeana Douglas, Paulina Porizkova, Julie Warner, John Corbett, Jonathan Penner, Charles Martin Smith, Richard Edson, Joe Urla, Stephanie Beacham, Carla Gugino, Leo Rossi, John Capodice, Victoria Jackson, Debbie Reynolds. A trio of roommates, each about to turn 30 and feeling pressure to marry, splits for Las Vegas to find quickie husbands. Attractive cast helps maintain interest in this somewhat familiar "where-are-all-the-good-men?" saga. [R]▼●●

Wedding Crashers (2005) C-119m.  D: David Dobkin. Owen Wilson, Vince Vaughn, Christopher Walken, Rachel McAdams, Isla Fisher, Jane Seymour, Ellen Albertini Dow, Keir O'Donnell, Bradley Cooper, Ron Canada, Henry Gibson, Dwight Yoakam, Rebecca De Mornay. D.C. law partners and pals Wilson and Vaughn systematically crash weddings of all kinds in search of free food, good parties, and vulnerable women. Then, at an exclusive celebration for the daughter of a government official (Walken), Wilson falls in love with the sister of the bride. Comic complications ensue, many of them predictable, some needlessly drawn out, but this often-raunchy comedy is played with such gusto that the overall results are hilarious. Expect some fun cameos. Also available in longer unrated version. Super 35. [R] ▼

Wedding Date, The (2005) C-88m. *½ D: Clare Kilner. Debra Messing, Dermot Mulroney, Amy Adams, Jack Davenport, Sarah Parish, Jeremy Sheffield, Peter Egan, Holland Taylor. Tense New Yorker Messing hires an A-list male escort (Mulroney) to accompany her to her half-sister's London wedding, all to make the ex-fiancé who dumped her jealous. The sibling has a dark side, their parents are sweet, the ex probably needs professional help, while Mulroney doesn't register much emotion at all. Given all this, it's no surprise that director Kilner has a tough time finding a consistent tone for this failed comedy. [PG-13] ▼

Wedding Daze (2008) C-90m.  D: Michael Ian Black. Jason Biggs, Isla Fisher, Joanna Gleason, Edward Herrmann, Matt Malloy, Audra Blaser, Joe Pantoliano, Rob Corddry, Jay O. Sanders, Michael Weston, Margo Martindale, Mark Consuelos, Ebon Moss-Bachrach. Proposing to an attractive stranger (Fisher) is possibly the most rational decision Anderson (Biggs) has made recently. After she (surprisingly) says yes, they go about meeting each other's crazy family and friends. Thin, occasionally outrageous comedy may best be appreciated by dedicated fans of writer-director Black and followers of The State and Stella. Released direct to DVD in the U.S. [R] ▼

Wedding Gift, The (1993-British) C-87m.  D: Richard Loncraine. Julie Walters, Jim Broadbent, Thora Hird, Sian Thomas, Andrew Lancel, Anastasia Mulroney, Joanna McCallum. Spirited spin on "disease-of-the-week" stories, with marvelous performances by Walters and Broadbent as a loving couple whose sense of humor helps them deal with her mysterious and debilitating ailment. Based on the true story of a woman who decided to find her husband a new mate before she died. Alternately humorous and heart-rending; well worth a look. Based on the memoir by Denis Longden. Made for British TV, where it was shown as WIDE-EYED AND LEGLESS. [PG-13] ▼

Wedding in Blood (1973-French-Italian) C-98m. ½ D: Claude Chabrol. Stephane Audran, Michel Piccoli, Claude Pieplu, Clothilde Joano, Eliana de Santis. Piccoli and Audran, each married to another, are having an affair. How soon will they murder their spouses? And get caught? Medium Chabrol. [PG] ▼

Wedding in White (1972-Canadian) C-106m.  D: William Fruet. Donald Pleasence, Carol Kane, Doris Petrie, Doug McGrath, Leo Phillips. Fine performances in sad tale of girl impregnated by brother's drunken pal during WW2 and her father's efforts to save the family's honor. Panavision. [R] ▼

Wedding March, The (1928) 113m. * D: Erich von Stroheim. Erich von Stroheim, Fay Wray, ZaSu Pitts, George Fawcett, Maude George, George Nicholls, Cesare Gravina. A roguish Viennese prince (played to perfection by von Stroheim) agrees to marry for money and position to help his family, then falls in love with a poor but beautiful girl. A masterpiece, blending romance and irony, with an unforgettable finale . . . though what we see is just the first half of the film von Stroheim completed (the second no longer exists). One sequence in two-color Technicolor. ▼

Wedding Night, The (1935) 84m. ½ D: King Vidor. Gary Cooper, Anna Sten, Ralph Bellamy, Walter Brennan, Helen Vinson, Sig Ruman. Study of romance and idealism; unbelievable love yarn but entertaining. Producer Samuel Goldwyn's third and final attempt to make Anna Sten a new Garbo. ▼

Wedding Party, The (1969) 92m. *½ D: Cynthia Munroe, Brian De Palma, Wilford Leach. Jill Clayburgh, Charles Pfluger, Valda Satterfield, Raymond McNally, Jennifer Salt, John Braswell, Jill Talley, Robert De Niro, William Finley. Talky, corny, boring comic oddity detailing events preceding marriage of Clayburgh and Pfluger; the bride and her family are boorish, and the groom grows ever more reluctant. Self-consciously directed; of interest only for De Palma's participation, and initial screen appearances of Clayburgh and De Niro (spelled "DeNero" in the credits). Shot in 1963, and barely released. ▼

Wedding Planner, The (2001) C-102m.  D: Adam Shankman. Jennifer Lopez, Matthew McConaughey, Bridgette Wilson-Sampras, Justin Chambers, Judy Greer, Alex Rocco, Joanna Gleason, Charles Kimbrough, Kevin Pollak, Fred Willard, Kathy Najimy. Lopez is a wedding planner whose fast-track lifestyle doesn't allow her time for a personal life. She finds herself attracted to a doctor (McConaughey) who is otherwise engaged, but guess who's been hired to plan his nuptials? Occasional bright moments are done in by long, deadening stretches, a serious lack of chemistry between the leads, and a predictable finale. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

Wedding Singer, The (1998) C-96m.  D: Frank Coraci. Adam Sandler, Drew Barrymore, Angela Featherstone, Allen Greer, Matthew Glave, Christine Taylor, Kevin Nealon, Christina Pickles, Billy Idol. Sandler plays a genuinely sweet guy whose life is shattered when his fiancée stands him up at the altar—but finds consolation in the friendship of a waitress who he discovers is about to marry a real jerk. Sandler has never been more appealing, or Barrymore more adorable. Entertaining romantic comedy set in 1985 marred only by moments of crude dialogue that don't seem absolutely necessary. Steve Buscemi and Jon Lovitz appear unbilled. Later a Broadway musical. Unrated version runs 100m. [PG-13]▼●●

Wednesday's Child SEE: Family Life
We Don't Live Here Anymore (2004) C-101m. ½ D: John Curran. Mark Ruffalo, Laura Dern, Peter Krause, Naomi Watts. Two unhappy couples become sexually intertwined while keeping secrets from each other, which isn't healthy for any of them. Well-observed, well-acted but rather one-dimensional (and depressing) slice of life set in a small New England town. Adapted from two of Andre Dubus' short stories. Super 35. [R]▼

Weeds (1987) C-115m. ½ D: John Hancock. Nick Nolte, Rita Taggart, Lane Smith, William Forsythe, John Toles-Bey, Joe Mantegna, Ernie Hudson, Anne Ramsey, Charlie Rich. San Quentin lifer/aspiring playwright is near-miraculously sprung from prison when a newspaper critic lobbies for his release, and goes on to form a "Barbed Wire Theatre" acting troupe of ex-cons. Odd, original mix of comedy and drama based on Rick Cluchey's real-life experiences with the San Quentin Drama Group. Earnest, well acted but never quite gels. [R]▼●

Wee Geordie (1956-British) C-93m. ½ D: Frank Launder. Bill Travers, Alastair Sim, Norah Gorsen, Molly Quirkhart, Francis De Wolff. Flavorful romp with Travers a Scottish hammer thrower who goes to the Olympics. Despite predictable sight gags and romance, film makes one relish each situation.

Weekend (1967-French-Italian) C-103m. ½ D: Jean-Luc Godard. Mireille Darc, Jean Yanne, Jean-Pierre Kalfon, Valerie Lagrange, Jean-Pierre Léaud. Mind-expanding anti-Western diatribe about one woman's road to guerrillahood is among Godard's more fully realized works, with a long traffic-jam sequence that is justifiably regarded as one of the great set pieces in screen history. An essential '60s time-capsule entry. ▼

Weekend at Bernie's (1989) C-97m. ½ D: Ted Kotcheff. Andrew McCarthy, Jonathan Silverman, Catherine Mary Stewart, Terry Kiser, Don Calfa, Louis Giambalvo. Two young hustlers, far down on the corporate ladder, win an invitation to their boss' sumptuous beach house for the weekend... only to find him dead upon arrival. Slim but agreeably silly farce, written by Robert Klane. Followed by a sequel. [PG-13]▼●●

Weekend at Bernie's II (1993) C-89m. BOMB D: Robert Klane. Andrew McCarthy, Jonathan Silverman, Terry Kiser, Barry Bostwick, Troy Beyer, Tom Wright, Steve James. Witless sequel to a movie that didn't exactly cry out for a followup. Insurance execs McCarthy and Silverman are suspected of embezzlement, and can only save their skins with the help of their "dead body" buddy Bernie (Kiser). After this debacle, let's hope Bernie is allowed to rest in peace. [PG]▼●●

Weekend at Dunkirk (1965-France-Italy) C-101m.  D: Henri Verneuil. Jean-Paul Belmondo, Catherine Spaak, Georges Geret, Jean-Pierre Marielle, Pierre Mondy. Dull war film, based on well-known French novel, about four French soldiers on the Dunkirk Beach around evacuation time early in WW2. Franscope.

Week-end at the Waldorf (1945) 130m.  D: Robert Z. Leonard. Ginger Rogers, Lana Turner, Walter Pidgeon, Van Johnson, Edward Arnold, Phyllis Thaxter, Keenan Wynn, Robert Benchley, Leon Ames, Porter Hall, George Zucco, Xavier Cugat. Several "typical" days in the life of the fabled Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Ultra-glossy MGM remake of GRAND HOTEL weaves disparate characters' lives together. No resonance whatsoever, but good, slick entertainment, with Rogers and Pidgeon standing out in the attractive cast. ▼

Week-end in Havana (1941) C-80m.  D: Walter Lang. Alice Faye, Carmen Miranda, John Payne, Cesar Romero, Cobina Wright, Jr., George Barbier, Leonid Kinskey, Sheldon Leonard, Billy Gilbert. Typically entertaining, Technicolored 20th Century-Fox musical fluff with Payne showing Faye a good time in Havana for business purposes only, but falling in love with her instead. Miranda adds her usual zest. ▼

Weekend Pass (1984) C-92m. BOMB D: Lawrence Bassoff. Patrick Hauser, D. W. Brown, Chip McAllister, Peter Ellenstein, Hilary Shapiro, Pamela G. Kay. Intolerable drive-in comedy lifts its premise from ON THE TOWN: having completed basic training, four stereotypical naval recruits set off for 72 "wild" hours in L.A. 92 minutes of mine sweeping would be more entertaining. [R]▼●●

Weekend Warriors (1986) C-85m. *½ D: Bert Convy. Chris Lemmon, Vic Tayback, Lloyd Bridges, Graham Jarvis, Daniel Greene, Marty Cohen, Brian Bradley. Low-level, sloppily made comedy about some goof-offs who join the National Guard, and their subsequent hijinks. Convy's debut as director. [R]▼

Week's Vacation, A (1980-French) C-102m.  D: Bertrand Tavernier. Nathalie Baye, Gerard Lanvin, Michel Galabru, Philippe Noiret, Philippe Leotard. Subtle drama of schoolteacher Baye briefly escaping her problems by visiting her parents in Lyons. Sensitive depiction of inter-personal relations is director Tavernier's strong suit. Panavision. [R]

Wee Willie Winkie (1937) 99m.  D: John Ford. Shirley Temple, Victor McLaglen, C. Aubrey Smith, June Lang, Michael Whalen, Cesar Romero, Constance Collier, Douglas Scott. Shirley and her widowed mother come to live at a British Army outpost in India, where the moppet works hard to win over her crusty grandfather, the Colonel (Smith), and is quickly adopted by a soft-hearted sergeant (McLaglen). One of Shirley's best vehicles, "inspired" (it says here) by the Rudyard Kipling story. Beware 77m. prints. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Weight of Water, The (2002-French-U.S.) C-113m.  D: Kathryn Bigelow. Catherine McCormack, Sarah Polley, Sean Penn, Josh Lucas, Elizabeth Hurley, Ciarán Hinds, Katrina Cartledge, Vinessa Shaw. Weighty adaptation of Anita Shreve's best-seller that parallels events 100 years apart: the mysterious, brutal murder of two young women on an island off New Hampshire, and a modern-day sailing party including a photojournalist (McCormack) who's investigating the case and her moody poet husband (Penn). The story's ultimate revelations don't bring any understanding of the contemporary characters or their problems, although the acting is certainly good. [R] ▼

Weird Science (1985) C-94m. *½ D: John Hughes. Anthony Michael Hall, Kelly LeBrock, Ilan Mitchell-Smith, Bill Paxton, Suzanne Snyder, Judie Aronson, Robert Downey (Jr.), Robert Rusler. Two nerdy teens use computer to conjure up woman of their dreams (sexy LeBrock), but writer-director Hughes doesn't follow through on his own premise! Appalling excuse for comedy; tasteless and endless, unredeemed by Hughes's sharp teenage dialogue and Hall's engaging performance. Later a cable TV series. [PG-13] ▼

Welcome Home (1989) C-96m.  D: Franklin J. Schaffner. Kris Kristofferson, JoBeth Williams, Sam Waterston, Brian Keith, Thomas Wilson Brown, Trey Wilson. Please, not again. Presumed dead Air Force officer Kristofferson, 17 years in Cambodia with a new wife and two children, returns home to remarried spouse number one and their teenage son. Tolerably sincere at best, embalmed at worst. Director Schaffner's final film. [R] ▼

Welcome Home, Roscoe Jenkins (2008) C-114m.  D: Malcolm D. Lee. Martin Lawrence, James Earl Jones, Margaret Avery, Joy Bryant, Cedric the Entertainer, Nicole Ari Parker, Michael Clarke Duncan, Mike Epps, Mo'Nique, Damani Roberts. Broad, witless comedy in which out-of-touch L.A. talk show host Lawrence returns to his Georgia home for a family get-

together. A talented cast is wasted here. [PG-13] ▼

Welcome Home, Roxy Carmichael (1990) C-98m. *½ D: Jim Abrahams. Winona Ryder, Jeff Daniels, Laila Robins, Dinah Manoff, Thomas Wilson Brown, Joan McMurtry, Frances Fisher, Graham Beckel, Robin Thomas, Robby Kiger, Sachi Parker, Stephen Tobolowsky. Small Ohio town goes berserk anticipating return of sexy and mysterious hometown girl Roxy Carmichael, who's been away in Hollywood living a life of luxury. Teenage beatnik Ryder—moody, brilliant, alienated, intuitive, and adopted—starts fantasizing that Roxy is actually her mother. Flat, disjointed satiric comedy with Ryder the sole bright spot. [PG-13] ▼

Welcome Home, Soldier Boys (1972) C-91m.  D: Richard Compton. Joe Don Baker, Paul Koslo, Alan Vint, Elliott Street, Jennifer Billingsley, Billy "Green" Bush, Geoffrey Lewis, Francine York. Sensationalistic melodrama about four ex-Green Berets who adjust to civilian life by gang-raping a girl and burning down a town. Yet another one-dimensionally violent depiction of Vietnam veterans. [R]

Welcome Stranger (1947) 107m.  D: Elliott Nugent. Bing Crosby, Barry Fitzgerald, Joan Caulfield, Wanda Hendrix, Frank Faylen, Elizabeth Patterson. Entertaining musical of Crosby filling in for vacationing doctor in small community, getting involved with local girl. ▼

Welcome to Arrow Beach (1974) C-99m.  D: Laurence Harvey. Laurence Harvey, Joanna Pettet, Stuart Whitman, John Ireland, Meg Foster, Jesse Vint, Gloria LeRoy. Harvey's final film (edited by phone from his deathbed) is strange but watchable shocker. He plays a war veteran who returns to California and kills passersby to feed his newly acquired taste for human flesh. Good cast helps, especially spellbinding Foster in an early role. Retitled: TENDER FLESH. [R] ▼

Welcome to Collinwood (2002) C-86m.  D: Anthony Russo, Joe Russo. Luis Guzman, Michael Jeter, Patricia Clarkson, Andrew Davoli, Isaiah Washington, William H. Macy, Sam Rockwell, Gabrielle Union, Jennifer Esposito, George Clooney. Re-make of BIG DEAL ON MADONNA STREET set in a grimy, ethnic Cleveland suburb has flavor but no fizz. The single funniest moment replicates the highlight of the classic Italian film. Clooney (who produced the film with Steven Soderbergh) has a minor part as a safecracking expert. Written by the directors. Super 35. [R] ▼

Welcome to 18 (1987) C-89m.  D: Terry Carr. Courtney Thorne-Smith, Mariska Hargitay, Jo Ann Willette, Cristen Kaufman, John Putsch. Tired teen titillation yarn about three girlfriends who spend their first summer out of high school experiencing life in the fast lane in Nevada. Attractive newcomers (including brunette Hargitay, daughter of Jayne Mansfield) muddle through preachy, plot-heavy nonsense. [PG-13]▼

Welcome to Hard Times (1967) C-105m.

 D: Burt Kennedy. Henry Fonda, Janice Rule, Keenan Wynn, Janis Paige, John Anderson, Aldo Ray, Warren Oates, Fay Spain, Edgar Buchanan, Lon Chaney, Jr., Elisha Cook, Jr. Intriguing, symbol-laden account of run-down Western town victimized by outlaw Ray, with Fonda finally forced to shoot it out to save what's left. Adapted by Kennedy from E. L. Doctorow novel.

Welcome to L.A. (1977) C-106m. ½ D:

Alan Rudolph. Keith Carradine, Sally Kellerman, Geraldine Chaplin, Harvey Keitel, Lauren Hutton, Viveca Lindfors, Sissy Spacek, Denver Pyle, John Considine, Richard Baskin. This chronicle of lost, lonely Southern Californians who can only connect for fleeting moments between the sheets is occasionally intriguing, but pales beside some of Rudolph's later, better work. A major debit: Baskin's music, which quickly becomes monotonous. Produced by Robert Altman. [R]▼

Welcome to Mooseport (2004) C-110m.

 D: Donald Petrie. Gene Hackman, Ray Romano, Marcia Gay Harden, Maura Tierney, Christine Baranski, Fred Savage, Rip Torn, June Squibb, Wayne Robson. Easy-going hardware store owner in a Maine village where everybody knows everybody else finds himself running for mayor—and competing for the affection of his longtime girlfriend—with the cocky former President of the U.S., who's just moved to town. Amiable comedy offers Hackman a good comedy vehicle and Romano a tailor-made role. Edward Herrmann appears unbilled. [PG-13]▼

Welcome to Sarajevo (1997-British-U.S.)

C-101m.  D: Michael Winterbottom. Stephen Dillane, Woody Harrelson, Marisa Tomei, Emira Nusevic, Kerry Fox, Goran Visnjic, Emily Lloyd. Aching realistic, unsentimental look at reporters covering the Bosnian war in Sarajevo. One British TV reporter becomes especially outraged by the plight of orphaned children and finds his casual promise to a young girl—that he will lead her to safety—being put to the test. Based on a true story, and told with a compelling blend of genuine and staged footage. Difficult to watch at times, but rewarding. Super 35. [R]▼

Welcome to the Ch'tis (2008-French) C-

106m. ½ D: Dany Boon. Kad Merad, Dany Boon, Zoé Félix, Philippe Duquesne, Line Renaud, Michel Galabru, Stéphane Freiss, Guy Lecluyse, Anne Marivin, Patrick Bosso. Crowd-pleasing comedy with heart about a post-office manager, perennially cowed by his wife, who's sent to the French equivalent of Siberia: a northern province that his fellow Southerners have ridiculed and demonized. When he moves there (leaving his family behind) he learns that the rumors of poor weather and backward citizens are false, though he does have to acclimate to the openhearted people . . . and their very strange dialect. Great entertainment and a smash hit in France. Director-costar Boon also cowrote the screenplay. Aka WELCOME TO THE STICKS. Super 35.

Welcome to the Dollhouse (1996) C-87m.

½ D: Todd Solondz. Heather Matarazzo, Brendan Sexton, Jr., Hania Kalinina, Matthew Faber, Angela Pietropinto, Eric Mabius. The pain of puberty has never been portrayed so unflinchingly; smart-but-ordinary Matarazzo has to deal with her incredibly un-nurturing suburban family (which dotes on her "adorable" younger sister), and worse, the pranks and sexual threats of virtually her entire junior high school. Amid this dire lack of support and warmth is a heroine of enormous pluck and cunning. While viewer may wince as numerous unpleasant situations play out, there is also terrific satire (and guffaws) as life in the Seventh-Grade-From-Hell is depicted with dead-on clarity. Strong performances; sharply scripted by the director. [R]▼

Welcome to the Sticks SEE: Welcome to the Ch'tis

Welcome to Woop Woop (1997-Australian-British) C-96m. ½ D: Stephan Elliott. Johnathon Schaech, Rod Taylor, Susie Porter, Dee Smart, Barry Humphries, Richard Moir, Paul Mercurio, Rachel Griffiths, Maggie Kirkpatrick, Tina Louise. American con artist (Schaech) flees to the Outback, where he meets a man-hungry hitchhiker who drags him off to the very remote municipality of Woop Woop. Native Australian Taylor is outrageous as Schaech's dictatorial, unbalanced, Rodgers & Hammerstein-loving father-in-law. Raucous, raunchy farce from the director of THE ADVENTURES OF PRISCILLA, QUEEN OF THE DESERT. 2.35 Research PLC. [R]▼

Well-Digger's Daughter, The (1941-

French) 142m. ½ D: Marcel Pagnol. Raimu, Fernandel, Josette Day, Charpin, George Grey. Naive Day is seduced and abandoned—with child—and peasant father Raimu isn't very pleased. Both touching and hilarious.▼

Wendell Baker Story, The (2007) C-

102m. *½ D: Andrew Wilson, Luke Wilson. Luke Wilson, Eva Mendes, Seymour Cassel, Eddie Griffin, Kris Kristofferson, Harry Dean Stanton, Owen Wilson, Jacob Vargas, Angela Alvarado, Buck Taylor, Azura Skye, Will Ferrell. Woebegone vanity film for writer-star-codirector Wilson, playing a cocky Texan who takes his girlfriend (Mendes) for granted until he's thrown in prison and she wises up. When he gets out he tries to go straight, working at a state home for the elderly run by a slimy crook (Owen W.). Nice supporting roles for Cassel, Stanton, and Kristofferson aren't adequate compensation for sitting through this tedious trifle. Made in 2003. Super 35. [PG-13]●

Wendigo (2002) C-90m. ½ D: Larry Fessenden. Patricia Clarkson, Jake Weber, Erik Per Sullivan, John Speridakos, Christopher Wynkoop. Eerie, well-made chiller in which a N.Y.C. couple (Clarkson, Weber) and their eight-year-old son (Sullivan) head off for a weekend in the country, and a car accident involving a deer sets off a disturbing chain of events. Hampered only by a formulaic ending. The title refers to a Native American spirit that plays a key role in the story. [R]▼●

Wendy and Lucy (2008) C-80m.  D: Kelly Reichardt. Michelle Williams, Will Patton, John Robinson, Larry Fessenden, Will Oldham, Walter Dalton. Slice of life about a young woman on the road with her dog who gets stuck in a sleepy Oregon town. Like Reichardt's OLD JOY, this is an exercise in minimalist filmmaking—but vivid, immediate, and heartbreaking. Based on a story by coscreenwriter Jon Raymond. Williams gives an honest, finely tuned performance. [R]●

Went to Coney Island on a Mission from God . . . Be Back by Five (2000) C-92m.  D: Richard Schenkman. Jon Cryer, Rick Stear, Rafael Baez, Ione Skye, Frank Whaley, Peter Gerety, Dominic Chianese. Two friends spend a day wandering around the boardwalk at Coney Island in search of a childhood pal who dropped out of sight years ago. Moving series of vignettes about dreams gone astray; Schenkman (who co-wrote the script with Cryer) makes perfect use of his Coney Island locations. [R]▼●

We of the Never Never (1983-Australian) C-132m.  D: Igor Auzins. Angela Punch McGregor, Arthur Dignam, Tony Barry, Tommy Lewis, Lewis Fitz-Gerald. True story based on memoirs of first white woman to travel into Australian wilderness known as the Never Never is visually stunning but never develops narrative momentum or dramatic punch. Still, it's a pleasure to look at. Technovision. [G]▼●

We Own the Night (2007) C-117m.  D: James Gray. Joaquin Phoenix, Mark Wahlberg, Robert Duvall, Eva Mendes, Danny Hoch, Tony Musante, Antoni Corone, Moni Moshonov, Oleg Taktarov, Alex Veadov. Phoenix, the black sheep of his family, lives the high life in 1970s N.Y.C., managing a hot Brooklyn nightclub for his Russian boss, and ignoring other criminal activities taking place under his nose. But when the same Russian family threatens his brother and father, both dedicated policemen, he's forced to take sides. Writer-director Gray offers another story of fate, writ large. Not as operatic as LITTLE ODESSA or THE YARDS but considerably more effective, with pulse-pounding action scenes. Former N.Y.C. Mayor Ed Koch plays himself! [R]●

We're Back: A Dinosaur's Story (1993) C-72m. ½ D: Dick Zondag, Ralph Zondag, Phil Nibelink, Simon Wells. Voices of John Goodman, Charles Fleischer, Felicity Kendal, Rhea Perlman, Martin Short, Walter Cronkite, Julia Child, Kenneth Mars, Jay Leno. Amiable children's animated feature about a quartet of dinosaurs given the opportunity to visit modern-day N.Y.C., where they help two troubled kids—but fall prey to a devilish circus proprietor. Mostly fun, though slow at times, and the freakshow subplot is a bit eerie for younger kids. Executive-produced by Steven Spielberg, the same year he made another well-known film about dinosaurs. [G]▼●

We're No Angels (1955) C-106m. ½ D: Michael Curtiz. Humphrey Bogart, Aldo Ray, Peter Ustinov, Joan Bennett, Basil Rathbone, Leo G. Carroll. Mild entertainment as three escapees from Devil's Island find refuge with French family and extricate them from various predicaments. Remade in 1989. VistaVision.▼●●

We're No Angels (1989) C-106m. *½ D: Neil Jordan. Robert De Niro, Sean Penn, Demi Moore, Hoyt Axton, Bruno Kirby, Ray McAnally, James Russo, Wallace Shawn, John C. Reilly. Lumbering comedy about a couple of dimwitted convicts who inadvertently escape from prison and find refuge pretending to be priests visiting a nearby shrine. De Niro, who also served as executive producer, mugs as never before, playing Leo Gorcey to Penn's Huntz Hall. Handsome production design is no compensation for a lugubrious script by David Mamet, "suggested by" the play that was filmed before in 1955. Panavision. [PG-13]▼●●

We're Not Dressing (1934) 77m.  D: Norman Taurog. Bing Crosby, Carole Lombard, George Burns, Gracie Allen, Ethel Merman, Leon Errol, Ray Milland. Musical Admirable Crichton with rich-girl Lombard falling in love with sailor Crosby when entourage is ship-wrecked on desert isle. Merman is man-chasing second fiddle, with Burns and Allen on tap as local expeditionists. Great fun; Bing sings "Love Thy Neighbor."▼●●

We're Not Married! (1952) 85m.  D: Edmund Goulding. Ginger Rogers, Fred Allen, Victor Moore, Marilyn Monroe, Paul Douglas, David Wayne, Eve Arden, Louis Calhern, Zsa Zsa Gabor, James Gleason, Jane Darwell, Eddie Bracken, Mitzi Gaynor. Fine froth served up in several episodes as five married couples discover their

weddings weren't legal. Segments vary in quality but the cast generally delivers the goods. Written and produced by Nunnally Johnson. Lee Marvin has a bit. ▼

Werewolf, The (1956) 83m. ½ D: Fred F. Sears. Steven Ritch, Don Megowan, Joyce Holden, Eleanor Tanin, Harry Lauter. A stranger in a mountain town is revealed to be a werewolf, created by unscrupulous scientists seeking a cure for radiation poisoning. Surprisingly tense, with attractive use of Big Bear Lake locations, and a good performance by Ritch. ▼

Werewolf in a Girl's Dormitory (1961-Italian-Austrian) 84m. BOMB D: Richard Benson (Paolo Heusch). Carl Schell, Barbara Lass, Curt Lowens, Maurice Marsac. Superintendent at school for problem girls doubles as a werewolf. Strictly bottom-of-the-barrel. ▼

WereWolf of London (1935) 75m. ½ D: Stuart Walker. Henry Hull, Warner Oland, Valerie Hobson, Lester Matthews, Spring Byington. The first film about werewolves is dated but still effective. Scientist Hull stumbles onto curse of lycanthropy and terrorizes London as a mad killer. Oland is fun as mysterious man who warns Hull of impending doom. ▼

Werewolf of Washington, The (1973) C-90m. ½ D: Milton Moses Ginsberg. Dean Stockwell, Biff McGuire, Clifton James, Beeson Carroll, Thayer David, Jane House, Michael Dunn. Juvenile attempt to mix Watergate horrors with the more traditional kind. For the curious only. [PG] ▼

Wes Craven Presents: Dracula 2000 (2000) C-105m.  D: Patrick Lussier. Jonny Lee Miller, Christopher Plummer, Justine Waddell, Gerard Butler, Colleen Fitzpatrick, Jennifer Esposito, Danny Masterson, Jeri Ryan, Lochlyn Munro, Sean Patrick Harris, Omar Epps, Shane West. Miller heads to New Orleans to save a sweet young thing from the charms of cinema's most famous bloodsucker (Butler). Perhaps the only film in history that manages to get its producer's name, lead character and release date all in the official title, this modern-day take on the vampire classic shows why some characters are best left in their own era. Has a few good moments and better performances than you might expect. Followed by two direct-to-video sequels. Super 35. [R] ▼

Wes Craven Presents: They See: They
Wes Craven's New Nightmare (1994) C-112m.  D: Wes Craven. Robert Englund, Heather Langenkamp, Miko Hughes, David Newsom, Sara Risher, Robert Shaye, Wes Craven, John Saxon, Jeffrey John Davis. Actress Heather Langenkamp, having nightmares about the fictional murderer Freddy Krueger, gradually learns that the NIGHTMARE movies were protecting the world from a monstrous demon, who has taken on the persona of Freddy and is acting out the events in Wes Craven's new NIGHTMARE script as he writes them. And the script doesn't look like it will have a happy ending. . . . Langenkamp, Wes Craven, and others associated with the NIGHTMARE ON ELM STREET series play themselves in this complex, sophisticated thriller. Scary, intelligent, and witty, but it's also too long, and the last twenty minutes are a bit of a letdown. Followed by FREDDY VS. JASON. [R] ▼

Westerner, The (1940) 100m. ½ D: William Wyler. Gary Cooper, Walter Brennan, Fred Stone, Doris Davenport, Forrest Tucker, Chill Wills, Dana Andrews, Tom Tyler, Lillian Bond. Excellent tale of land disputes getting out of hand in the old West, with Brennan's mercurial Judge Roy Bean winning him his third Oscar. Tucker's film debut. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Western Union (1941) C-94m.  D: Fritz Lang. Robert Young, Randolph Scott, Dean Jagger, Virginia Gilmore, John Carradine, Slim Summerville, Chill Wills, Barton MacLane. Big-scale Western, in gorgeous Technicolor, focuses on renegade attempts to thwart Western Union on the last leg of its westward expansion in the 1860s. Entertaining, if not terribly inspired. ▼

We Still Kill the Old Way (1967-Italian) C-92m.  D: Elio Petri. Irene Pappas, Gian Maria Volonte, Luigi Pistilli. Crimes of honor in old Sicily purport to show old-world Mafia methods; actually nothing more than a small revenge film.

West Point Story, The (1950) 107m. ½ D: Roy Del Ruth. James Cagney, Virginia Mayo, Doris Day, Gordon MacRae, Gene Nelson, Alan Hale, Jr., Jack Kelly, Roland Winters. Silly but watchable musical about a Broadway director staging a revue at West Point. Wait till you hear "The Military Polka." Cagney hoofs in several numbers with Day and Mayo. ▼

West Side Story (1961) C-151m. * D: Robert Wise, Jerome Robbins. Natalie Wood, Richard Beymer, George Chakiris, Rita Moreno, Russ Tamblyn, Tucker Smith, David Winters, Tony Mordente, Simon Oakland, John Astin. Vivid film adaptation of the landmark Broadway musical, updating Romeo and Juliet story to youth-gang atmosphere of late 1950s N.Y.C. Wood and Beymer lack charisma, but everything surrounding them is great: Robbins' choreography, Leonard Bernstein-Stephen Sondheim score (including "Maria," "America," and "Something's Coming"). Script by Ernest Lehman, from Arthur Laurents' play. Winner of 10 Academy Awards including Best Picture, Direction, Supporting Actor and Actress (Chakiris, Moreno), Cinematography, Costumes, Art Direction-Set Decoration, Edit-

ing. Scoring; Robbins earned a special award for his choreography. Super Panavision 70. ▼●●

Westward Ho the Wagons! (1956) C-90m.  D: William Beaudine. Fess Parker, Kathleen Crowley, Jeff York, David Stollery, Sebastian Cabot, George Reeves, Juliette Compton, Iron Eyes Cody. Lackluster pioneer saga has Disney polish but no excitement as wagon train travels West. Four Mouseketeers from the Mickey Mouse Club appear—Karen Pendleton, Cubby O'Brien, Tommy Cole, and Doreen Tracy. CinemaScope. ▼

Westward the Women (1951) 118m.  D: William Wellman. Robert Taylor, Denise Darcel, Beverly Dennis, John McIntire, Hope Emerson, Lenore Lonergan, Julie Bishop, Marilyn Erskine. Intriguing Western with Taylor heading wagon train full of females bound for California to meet mail-order husbands. Based on a story by Frank Capra. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Westworld (1973) C-88m.  D: Michael Crichton. Richard Benjamin, Yul Brynner, James Brolin, Norman Bartold, Alan Oppenheimer, Victoria Shaw, Steve Franken. Adult vacation resort of the future offers opportunity to live in various fantasy worlds serviced by robots. Benjamin chooses old-time Western town, but begins to fear when the robots begin malfunctioning. Engaging story by Crichton; followed by FUTUREWORLD. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Wetherby (1985-British) C-97m. ½ D: David Hare. Vanessa Redgrave, Joely Richardson, Judi Dench, Ian Holm, Tim McInnerny, Suzanna Hamilton, Tom Wilkinson. Uninvited guest shows up for dinner at a Yorkshire schoolteacher's, then returns the next day to blow his brains out. Writer David Hare's first film as director has some excellent performances and occasionally biting dialogue but is far too self-consciously gloomy. Richardson, radiant as the younger Redgrave in the flashbacks, is real-life daughter of Vanessa and director Tony Richardson. [R] ▼

We Think the World of You (1988-British) C-94m.  D: Colin Gregg. Alan Bates, Gary Oldman, Frances Barber, Liz Smith, Max Wall, Kerry Wise. In 1950s London, middle-aged Bates becomes entwined in the lives of imprisoned boyfriend Oldman's working-class family, and Oldman's pet dog in particular. Diverting comedy-drama of unrequited love, adapted by Hugh Stoddart from Joseph R. Ackerley's semi-autobiographical novel. A must for animal lovers . . . and romantics. [PG] ▼●

Wet Hot American Summer (2001) C-97m.  D: David Wain. Janeane Garofalo, David Hyde Pierce, Michael Showalter, Marguerite Moreau, Paul Rudd, Zak Orth, Christopher Meloni, A.D. Miles, Molly Shannon, Gideon Jacobs, Ken Marino, Michael Ian Black. It's late August, 1981, on the final day of summer camp in Maine. Garofalo plays camp director trying (not too hard) to have some semblance of regimen as the counselors and campers—all of them either oversexed or undersexed—prepare to depart. Send-up of 1970s/80s teen flicks is subversive fun, with a lot of heart amid the satire. Made by several members of MTV sketch-comedy group, The State. [R] ▼

We Were Soldiers (2002) C-137m.  D: Randall Wallace. Mel Gibson, Madeleine Stowe, Greg Kinnear, Sam Elliott, Chris Klein, Keri Russell, Barry Pepper, Don Duong, Ryan Hurst, Marc Blucas, Clark Gregg, Desmond Harrington, Dylan Walsh. Lt. Col. Hal Moore (Gibson) leads U.S. forces into their first battle in Vietnam in November 1965, and while the results are bloody, he inspires his men to fight with honor and promises he will leave none behind. Gibson is square jawed, almost comy (like the film itself—especially in home-front scenes), but an old-fashioned war film would have made its point without so much graphic violence. Based on the book We Were Soldiers Once . . . and Young by Moore and Joseph Galloway. Panavision. [R] ▼

We Were Strangers (1949) 106m.  D: John Huston. Jennifer Jones, John Garfield, Pedro Armendariz, Gilbert Roland, Ramon Novarro. Intense, intriguing political drama of Garfield and Jones joining with the Cuban underground in a plot to overthrow the government. Well directed by Huston; Garfield is fine, but Roland steals the film as one of the revolutionaries. Scripted by Huston and Peter Viertel. ●

We Will All Meet in Paradise (1977-French) C-110m. ½ D: Yves Robert. Jean Rochefort, Claude Brasseur, Guy Bedos, Victor Lanoux, Daniele Delorme, Daniel Gelin. The trials and hangups of four boyish middle-aged Frenchmen. Cheerful but slight sex comedy; follow-up to PARDON MON AFFAIRE, and not as good. Aka PARDON MON AFFAIRE, TOO. Panavision. [PG] ▼

Whale Rider (2003-New Zealand) C-101m. ½ D: Niki Caro. Keisha Castle-Hughes, Rawiri Paratene, Vicky Haughton, Cliff Curtis. Contemporary retelling of an ancient Maori legend in which a young girl must go against all odds—and tradition—to prove to her grandfather that she is a natural leader. Film's title indicates where the picture is headed, but that doesn't diminish its inspirational tone. Powered by a thrilling debut performance by Castle-Hughes, who never strikes a false note. Shot on the East Coast of New Zealand's North Island, this is a family film in the best sense of the term, with standout cinematography and musical score. Based on the book by Witi Ihimaera. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Whales of August, The (1987) C-90m.

½ D: Lindsay Anderson. Bette Davis, Lillian Gish, Vincent Price, Ann Sothern, Harry Carey, Jr., Margaret Ladd, Tisha Sterling, Mary Steenburgen. Two elderly sisters live together in a cottage in Maine, with ever-patient Gish forced to care for blind and irascible Davis . . . who may be turning senile. Sothern is their ebullient friend and neighbor, Carey their veteran handyman, and Price a courtly Russian émigré who works his charms on the ladies; they're all terrific, but Gish and Davis dominate the film, a lifetime of movie memories in each classic face. An exquisitely delicate film, adapted by David Berry from his play, and beautifully directed by Anderson (in his American debut). Tisha Sterling, Sothern's real-life daughter, plays Sothern as a young woman in opening scene. Gish's and Sothern's last film. ▼●●

What SEE: Whip and the Body, The

What? (1973-Italian) C-112m. ½ D: Roman Polanski. Sydne Rome, Marcello Mastroianni, Hugh Griffith, Romolo Valli, Guido Alberti, Roman Polanski. Ribald comedy about gorgeous innocent who stays at mansion of eccentric millionaire and can't understand all the commotion she causes. Change-of-pace for Polanski is agreeable, if not outstanding; good cast—especially underrated Rome—keeps things bubbling. Later cut to 94m. and reissued as DIARY OF FORBIDDEN DREAMS. Todd-AO 35. [R] ▼

What About Bob? (1991) C-99m.  D: Frank Oz. Bill Murray, Richard Dreyfuss, Julie Hagerty, Charlie Korsmo, Kathryn Erbe, Tom Aldredge, Susan Willis, Roger Bowen, Fran Brill, Doris Belack. Phobic patient Murray pursues pompous psychiatrist Dreyfuss to his vacation retreat, where he ingratiates himself with the shrink's family—and drives the doctor crazy. Very funny outing, with Murray and Dreyfuss approaching the relationship of the Road Runner and the Coyote. Only at the very end does it succumb to silliness. [PG] ▼●●

What a Carve Up! SEE: No Place Like Homicide!

What a Girl Wants (2003) C-100m. ½ D: Dennie Gordon. Amanda Bynes, Colin Firth, Kelly Preston, Eileen Atkins, Anna Chancellor, Jonathan Pryce, Oliver James, Christina Cole. Teenage girl (Bynes), raised by her bohemian mother in N.Y.C., travels to England to meet her father, a British lord, for the first time. While her arrival disrupts his campaign to run for Parliament, he wants her to stay—unlike his scheming fiancée and her snooty daughter. Cute comedy for adolescents showcases the perky TV star and an expert cast of adults. Remake of THE RELUCTANT DEBUTANTE. Super 35. [PG] ▼●

What Alice Found (2003) C-96m. ½ D: A. Dean Bell. Judith Ivey, Bill Raymond, Emily Grace, Jane Lincoln Taylor, Justin

Parkinson, Tim Hayes, Lucas Papaalias, Kathryn Winnick. Young woman without much of a future meets a seemingly friendly couple (Ivey and Raymond) at a gas station and soon becomes part of their surprising, somewhat seedy lifestyle. Best not to know too much about this extremely low-budget film and let it take you into its well-defined world of trailer trash roaming the South. Very explicit sexual situations (not to mention rough, digital camerawork) make this drama an acquired taste, but Ivey has the role of a lifetime and she runs with it. [R] ▼●

What a Way to Go! (1964) C-111m.  D: J. Lee Thompson. Shirley MacLaine, Paul Newman, Robert Mitchum, Dean Martin, Gene Kelly, Bob Cummings, Dick Van Dyke, Reginald Gardiner, Margaret Dumont, Fifi D'Orsay. Lavish, episodic black comedy by Betty Comden and Adolph Green stars MacLaine as jinx who marries succession of men, each of whom promptly dies, leaving her even wealthier than before. Series of movie parodies is amusing, and performances are uniformly charming, especially Newman as obsessed painter and Kelly as egotistical film star. Based on a story by Gwen Davis. One of the dancers on boat deck is Teri Garr. CinemaScope. ●

What a Woman! (1943) 94m. ½ D: Irving Cummings. Rosalind Russell, Brian Aherne, Willard Parker, Alan Dinehart, Ann Savage. Literary agent Russell sells film rights to spicy novel, and unwillingly becomes involved with its bookish author (Parker) in this lightweight comedy vehicle.

What Became of Jack and Jill? (1972-British) C-93m. ½ D: Bill Bain. Vanessa Howard, Paul Nicholas, Mona Washbourne, Peter Copley, Peter Jeffrey. Game attempt at detailing modern day, no-holds-barred love affair twisted by intrusion of grandmother; defeated by smug script, odd point of view. [PG]

What Did You Do in the War, Daddy? (1966) C-119m.  D: Blake Edwards. James Coburn, Dick Shawn, Sergio Fantoni, Aldo Ray, Harry Morgan, Carroll O'Connor, Leon Askin, Giovanna Ralli. A not too funny but quite pleasant film about group of misfit American soldiers trying to tame wacky Italian town into surrender. Written by William Peter Blatty; O'Connor's blustery performance led to his being cast in All in the Family. Panavision. ▼●

What Doesn't Kill You (2008) C-100m.  D: Brian Goodman. Mark Ruffalo, Ethan Hawke, Amanda Peet, Will Lyman, Brian Goodman, Donnie Wahlberg, Angela Featherstone. Two boys grow to manhood in South Boston doing errands for a local racketeer, but when one of them tries to go straight for the sake of his family he faces the greatest challenge of his life. Strong performances by Hawke and especially Ruffalo make this tough movie well worth seeing.

Cowritten by Wahlberg, Paul T. Murray, and first-time director Goodman, who also costars as Pat Kelly—and lived this story. Super 35. [R]●

What Do You Say to a Naked Lady? (1970) C-90m.  D: Allen Funt. Amusing risqué Candid Camera effort. Accent is on sex, and some of the reactions to stunts, and queries, are hilarious. Look for Richard Roundtree! [R—edited from original X rating]▼

What Dreams May Come (1998) C-113m. BOMB D: Vincent Ward. Robin Williams, Cuba Gooding, Jr., Annabella Sciorra, Max von Sydow, Rosalind Chao, Matt Salinger, Werner Herzog, Lucinda Jenney. Off-putting gobbledygook about a man who loses his kids in a car accident, then dies himself, and tries to reach out to his loving, grieving wife on earth. Despite its pedigree (a novel by Richard Matheson, a good director and cast), this film fails to evoke any tangible emotions. It just doesn't work. Its elaborate (in fact, overelaborate) special effects won an Oscar. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●●

Whatever (1998) C-112m.  D: Susan Skoog. Liza Weil, Chad Morgan, Kathryn Rossetter, Frederic Forrest, Gary Wolf, Dan Montano. Sensitive, at times disturbing, portrait of a teenage girl (Weil) coming of age circa 1981, dealing with sex, drugs, and her reckless party-girl best friend (Morgan). Has the texture of a Joyce Carol Oates short story and features a terrific performance by Weil. Written by the director. Good period soundtrack featuring Iggy Pop, Blondie, The Ramones, and The Pretenders. [R]▼●

What Ever Happened to Aunt Alice? (1969) C-101m.  D: Lee H. Katzin. Geraldine Page, Ruth Gordon, Rosemary Forsyth, Robert Fuller, Mildred Dunnock. Eccentric Page stays wealthy by murdering her housekeepers, stealing their savings. Gordon hires on as next "victim," trying to solve missing-persons mystery. Played to the hilt; most enjoyable. [M/PG]▼●

What Ever Happened to Baby Jane? (1962) 132m. ½ D: Robert Aldrich. Bette Davis, Joan Crawford, Victor Buono, Marjorie Bennett, Anna Lee. Far-fetched, thoroughly engaging black comedy of two former movie stars; Joan's a cripple at the mercy of demented sister Baby Jane Hudson (Davis). Bette has a field day in her macabre characterization, with Buono a perfect match. Triggered a decade-long spate of older female stars in horror films. Script by Lukas Heller, from Henry Farrell's novel. Remade for TV in 1991 with Vanessa and Lynn Redgrave.▼●●

Whatever It Takes (2000) C-94m.  D: David Raynr (Hubbard). James Franco, Marla Sokoloff, Jodi Lyn O'Keefe, Shane West, Aaron Paul, Richard Schiff, Julia Sweeney. Latest screen variation on Cyrano de Bergerac is just one more teen-comedy-of-the-week. When dumb jock Franco can't get to first base

with Sokoloff, he asks her platonic next-door neighbor (West) to intervene and supply him romantic "material." As reward, he'll set up his newfound cohort with his school-dish cousin (O'Keefe)—who, in typical bad-movie fashion, is much less attractive than the next-door gal-pal. Movie is a bust down the middle, but director Raynr has some fun around the edges. [PG-13]▼●

What Happened Was ... (1993) C-91m.  D: Tom Noonan. Tom Noonan, Karen Sillas. Revealing, extremely well-acted two-character drama follows what happens to two lonely, mismatched coworkers as they experience their first date. Original film is set in real time, on one set; anyone who's ever gone on a first date will surely relate to this material. Actor Noonan also scripted and made his directorial debut with this impressive film. [R]▼●

What Happens in Vegas (2008) C-99m. ½ D: Tom Vaughan. Cameron Diaz, Ashton Kutcher, Rob Corddry, Lake Bell, Jason Sudeikis, Treat Williams, Deirdre O'Connell, Michelle Krusiec, Zach Galifianakis, Queen Latifah, Dennis Farina, Dennis Miller. Super-organized Diaz, dumped by her fiancé, and irresponsible Kutcher, fired by his father from the family business, both seek escape in Las Vegas—and wind up married to one another after a drunken evening. But dissolving the union becomes a challenge when a judge orders them to live together for six months. About what you'd expect, especially as the duo engage in dirty tricks, but as the film goes on it becomes more benign and entertaining—boosted by the two stars' engaging personalities. Super 35. [PG-13]●

What Have I Done to Deserve This? (1985-Spanish) C-100m.  D: Pedro Almodóvar. Carmen Maura, Chus Lampreave, Veronica Forque, Kiti Manver. Off-the-wall black comedy about an off-the-wall housewife (delightfully played by Maura) and her various trials and escapades. A fresh, original film, featuring a feminist heroine of classic proportions.▼●●

What Just Happened (2008) C-104m.  D: Barry Levinson. Robert De Niro, Sean Penn, Catherine Keener, John Turturro, Robin Wright Penn, Stanley Tucci, Kristen Stewart, Michael Wincott, Bruce Willis. Hotshot producer De Niro attempts to maintain appearances while juggling demands of studio heads, wobbly investors, ex- (or soon to be ex-) wives and childish, tantrum-causing stars in this darkly funny tale that answers the question, "What does a producer do?" Cutting so close to the bone it could only have been scripted by one who has walked the walk, this was based on producer Art Linson's autobiographical book. Should hold special appeal for those who appreciate Hollywood's ability to take itself to task while providing a few, albeit uncomfortable, laughs. Super 35. [R]●

What Lies Beneath (2000) C-126m. ½ D: Robert Zemeckis. Harrison Ford, Michelle Pfeiffer, Diana Scarwid, Miranda Otto, James Remar, Joe Morton, Amber Valletta, Wendy Crewson. Happily married woman senses the presence of a ghost in her idyllic Vermont home—could her husband have anything to do with it? Slickly made, with plenty of scares, but after a red-herring subplot is over, the ultimate story twist doesn't make sense . . . and there are at least three endings! Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

What Love Is (2007) C-88m. ½ D: Mars Callahan. Cuba Gooding, Jr., Matthew Lillard, Sean Astin, Mars Callahan, Andrew Daly, Gina Gershon, Anne Heche, Tamala Jones, Shiri Appleby, Jud Tylor, Terrence "T.C." Carson. On Valentine's Day, Gooding is dumped by his live-in lover. He commiserates with four of his pals, each of whom is a stereotype; they're eventually joined by five equally one-dimensional women. This loud, trite mess of a movie appears to have been edited with a hacksaw. It holds your interest . . . but not for the right reasons. Callahan also scripted, and casts himself as the most grounded of the men; Lillard chews the scenery as the most misogynistic. [R] ▼

What Planet Are You From? (2000) C-105m. ½ D: Mike Nichols. Garry Shandling, Annette Bening, Greg Kinnear, Ben Kingsley, Linda Fiorentino, John Goodman, Richard Jenkins, Caroline Aaron, Judy Greer, Nora Dunn, Ann Cusack, Camryn Manheim, Cathy Ladman. Alien is sent to earth by his planet with the mandate to find a woman who will bear his child. The last thing the interplanetary visitor expects to experience is genuine love and caring. If you're a Shandling fan, you may cut this comedy more slack than others will; it's low-key and somewhat predictable, but surprisingly good-natured. Shandling cowrote the script. Janeane Garofalo and Sarah Silverman appear unbilled. [R] ▼

What Price Glory (1926) 120m.  D: Raoul Walsh. Victor McLaglen, Edmund Lowe, Dolores Del Rio, William V. Mong, Phyllis Haver, Leslie Fenton, Barry Norton. Boisterous rivalry between Capt. Flagg (McLaglen) and Sgt. Quirt (Lowe) centers on lovely Charmaine (Del Rio) when they go to France during WWI. Zesty comedy, with plenty of fireworks for lip-readers, abruptly turns grim as focus shifts to horrors of war, only to return to Flagg-Quirt hijinks for finale. Fine entertainment, from Laurence Stallings—Maxwell Anderson play; two main characters reappeared in a handful of follow-ups, none of them as good as this. Remade in 1952. ▼

What Price Glory (1952) C-111m. ½ D: John Ford. James Cagney, Corinne Calvet, Dan Dailey, Robert Wagner, Marisa Pavan, James Gleason. Classic silent film becomes shallow Cagney-Dailey vehicle

of battling Army men Flagg and Quirt in WWI France. ▼

What Price Hollywood? (1932) 88m.  D: George Cukor. Constance Bennett, Lowell Sherman, Neil Hamilton, Gregory Ratoff, Brooks Benedict. Soused movie director Sherman helps waitress Bennett fulfill her ambition to become a movie star—while he sinks into alcoholic ruin. Surprisingly sharp-eyed look at Hollywood—both comic and dramatic—that served as inspiration for later A STAR IS BORN. From a story by Adela Rogers St. Johns. ▼

What Price Murder (1958-French) 105m. ½ D: Henri Verneuil. Henri Vidal, Mylene Demongeot, Isa Miranda, Alfred Adam. Well-turned murder mystery of hubby and secretary planning to do away with wife.

What's Cooking? (2000-U.S.-British) C-109m. ½ D: Gurinder Chadha. Alfre Woodard, Mercedes Ruehl, Joan Chen, Kyra Sedgwick, Julianna Margulies, Dennis Haysbert, A Martinez, Lainie Kazan, Maury Chaykin, Victor Rivers, Douglas Spain, Estelle Harris, Will Yun Lee. Mosaic of four ethnic families—black, Asian, Latino, Jewish—preparing for Thanksgiving in L.A., and dealing with a variety of domestic crises. Soapy at times, but the film has heart and occasional insights; bolstered by an excellent cast. [PG-13] ▼

What's Eating Gilbert Grape (1993) C-117m. ½ D: Lasse Hallström. Johnny Depp, Leonardo DiCaprio, Juliette Lewis, Mary Steenburgen, Darlene Cates, Laura Harrington, Mary Kate Schellhardt, Kevin Tighe, John C. Reilly, Crispin Glover, Penelope Branning. Middling slice-of-life about a young man in a dead-end town saddled with the responsibility of caring for his retarded younger brother, and depressed by his obese mother, who hasn't left the house in seven years. You keep thinking something significant is going to happen, but nothing ever does; still, there are some poignant vignettes and first-rate performances (especially by newcomer Cates, as the mom). [PG-13] ▼

What's Good for the Goose (1969-British) C-105m. BOMB D: Menahem Golan. Norman Wisdom, Sally Geeson, Sally Bazely, Sarah Atkinson, Terence Alexander. Weak, unfunny, sex romp wherein the object is to score as often as possible. Skip it. [R] ▼

What's Love Got to Do With It (1993) C-119m.  D: Brian Gibson. Angela Bassett, Laurence Fishburne, Vanessa Bell Calloway, Jenifer Lewis, Rae'ven Kelly, Phyllis Yvonne Stickney, Chi (Chi McBride), Khandi Alexander, Penny Johnson, Robert Guy Miranda, Pamela Tyson, Barry Shabaka Henley. Highly charged musical bio of singer Tina Turner, who joined r&b musician Ike Turner as a naive teenager and went on to become a dynamic performer—all the while suffering various forms of abuse at home. Vivid, immediate, and persuasive

(though Tina's personality is never explored, and she's painted as something of a saint), but the real attraction here is the phenomenal performances of Bassett and Fishburne as Tina and Ike. Based on I, Tina by Turner and Kurt Loder. [R]▼●●

What's New, Pussycat? (1965) C-108m.  D: Clive Donner. Peter Sellers, Peter O'Toole, Romy Schneider, Capucine, Paula Prentiss, Woody Allen, Ursula Andress. Disturbed fashion editor O'Toole goes to psychiatrist Sellers for help with his romantic problems, but Sellers is even crazier than he. Woody Allen's first feature as actor and writer, and like many of his comedies, one sits through a lot of misfired gags to get to a few undeniable gems. Hit title song by Burt Bacharach and Hal David.▼●●

What's So Bad About Feeling Good? (1968) C-94m. ½ D: George Seaton. George Peppard, Mary Tyler Moore, Dom DeLuise, John McMartin, Don Stroud, Nathaniel Frey, Susan Saint James, Charles Lane, Thelma Ritter. Amiable attempt at old-fashioned Capraesque comedy, with pixillated toucan spreading good feeling throughout N.Y.C. Doesn't hit bull's-eye, but has its moments. Written by Seaton and Robert Pirosch. Look for Cleavon Little, Moses Gunn. Techniscope.

What's the Matter with Helen? (1971) C-101m.  D: Curtis Harrington. Debbie Reynolds, Shelley Winters, Dennis Weaver, Agnes Moorehead, Michael MacLiammoir. Campy murder tale set in 1930s. Reynolds and Winters try to erase their sordid past, start anew in Hollywood with school for talented kids. Good fun; Debbie ideal in period setting. Written by Henry Farrell. [PG]▼●

What's the Worst That Could Happen? (2001) C-95m. ½ D: Sam Weisman. Martin Lawrence, Danny DeVito, John Leguizamo, Glenna Headly, Carmen Ejogo, Bernie Mac, Larry Miller, Nora Dunn, Richard Schiff, William Fichtner, Ana Gasteyer, Siobhan Fallon. Uninspired comedy about a thief who has the tables turned on him by his latest "victim," crooked business tycoon DeVito—and swears vengeance at any cost. Good cast does what it can with a mediocre script, based on the comic crime novel by Donald E. Westlake. [PG-13]▼●

What's Up, Doc? (1972) C-94m.  D: Peter Bogdanovich. Barbra Streisand, Ryan O'Neal, Kenneth Mars, Austin Pendleton, Madeline Kahn, Sorrell Booke, Michael Murphy, Liam Dunn, John Hillerman, M. Emmet Walsh. Modern-day screwball comedy with impish Streisand making life miserable for stuffy musicologist O'Neal and his fiancée (Kahn, in feature debut), becoming involved in mixup over stolen jewels. Great comic chase scenes highlight overpowering farce, Bogdanovich's bouquet to 1930s Hollywood (and BRINGING UP BABY in particular). Look for John Byner and Randy Quaid at the hotel banquet. [G]▼●●

What's Up, Tiger Lily? (1966) C-80m.

 Compiled by Woody Allen. Japanese version directed by Senkichi Taniguchi. Tatsuya Mihashi, Miya Hana, Eiko Wakabayashi, Tadao Nakamura, Woody Allen, China Lee. Slick Japanese imitation James Bond movie (KAGI NO KAG, or KEY OF KEYS, released in 1964) is redubbed by Allen into one long, very funny joke. The object of international intrigue is a valued egg-salad recipe, and the main characters are named Phil Moscovitz, Terri Yaki, and Suki Yaki. Music by The Lovin' Spoonful (who also appear in the film). One of the new voices is Louise Lasser. Tohoscope.▼●●

What the Bleep Do We Know!? (2004) C/B&W-108m. ½ D: Mark Vicente, Betsy Chasse, William Arntz, Marlee Matlin, Elaine Hendrix, Barry Newman, Robert Bailey, Jr., Armin Shimerman, John Ross Bowie. Curious, ambitious narrative-documentary hybrid attempts to explore the physical, the metaphysical, and the nature of reality. As various real-life experts discuss quantum physics, a fictional photographer (Matlin) sets out to probe the essence of her being. Some surrealist animation sequences are thrown in for good measure. Filled with imagination, good intentions, and plenty of New Age philosophizing, this little film understandably became a word-of-mouth success. The fictional sequences don't work nearly as well as the provocative nonfiction content. Followed by a direct-to-video sequel, WHAT THE BLEEP DO WE KNOW?: DOWN THE RABBIT HOLE. Aka WHAT THE #$#! DO WE KNOW!?! ▼●

What Time is it There? (2001-Taiwanese-French) C-116m.  D: Ming-liang Tsai. Kang-sheng Lee, Shiang-chyi Chen, Yi-ching Lu, Tien Miao, Jean-Pierre Léaud. Street vendor falls for a girl on her way to Paris and sets about changing all the clocks in his home city of Taipei to French time as he thinks only of her. Odd, extremely drawn-out premise shows off Tsai's directorial talents but at the end is a bit of a "so-what." Look for legendary Truffaut star Léaud playing himself.▼●

What Waits Below (1985) C-88m.  D: Don Sharp. Robert Powell, Lisa Blount, Timothy Bottoms, Richard Johnson, Anne Heywood, Liam Sullivan. Disappointing fantasy thriller of archaeologists stumbling upon a lost race of Lemurians living in South American caves. Effects aren't very special; a good cast is wasted. [PG]▼

What Women Want (2000) C-126m.  D: Nancy Meyers. Mel Gibson, Helen Hunt, Marisa Tomei, Mark Feuerstein, Lauren Holly, Ashley Johnson, Alan Alda, Judy Greer, Valerie Perrine, Delta Burke. Entertaining comedy about a cocky, chauvinistic ad agency exec who magically acquires the ability to hear what women are thinking. He puts this to especially good use with his new superior (Hunt), whose job he was in line to get. Smart, likable film lacks only a solid punchline. Bette Midler appears unbilled. [PG-13]▼

Wheeler Dealers, The (1963) C-106m.  D: Arthur Hiller. Lee Remick, James Garner, Jim Backus, Phil Harris, Shelley Berman, Chill Wills, John Astin, Louis Nye. Funny, fast-moving spoof of Texas millionaires who play with investments just for fun. Garner also catches Lee Remick along the way. Panavision.▼

Wheel of Fortune SEE: Man Betrayed, A
Wheels of Terror SEE: Misfit Brigade, The

When a Man Loves a Woman (1994) C-125m. ½ D: Luis Mandoki. Andy Garcia, Meg Ryan, Ellen Burstyn, Tina Majorino, Mae Whitman, Lauren Tom, Philip Seymour Hoffman, Eugene Roche, Gail Strickland. Wife and mother of two is forced to deal with the fact that she's an alcoholic . . . but her husband soon learns that he has as much to deal with as she does. Ryan gives a standout performance in this surprisingly frank exploration of the trauma this kind of disease can cause to a family. The film succeeds more as tract than entertainment, however. [R]▼

When a Stranger Calls (1979) C-97m. *½ D: Fred Walton. Carol Kane, Charles Durning, Colleen Dewhurst, Tony Beckley, Rachel Roberts, Ron O'Neal. Psycho murders two children after terrorizing their babysitter, returns seven years later to extend his crime. Unpleasant, improbable melodrama falls apart after OK opening 11 minutes. Based on a short subject called THE SITTER. Followed, over a decade later, by a TV sequel. Remade in 2006. [R]▼

When a Stranger Calls (2006) C-87m. *½ D: Simon West. Camilla Belle, Tommy Flanagan, Katie Cassidy, Tessa Thompson, Brian Geraghty, Clark Gregg, Derek De Lint; voice of Lance Henriksen. Remake of 1979 movie in which a babysitter is haunted by repeated phone calls that grow more terrifying as she realizes they are coming from within the house. More graphic and obvious than its predecessor and the 1993 TV movie follow-up WHEN A STRANGER CALLS BACK, geared to a generation that likes its horror in nonstop vivid close-ups rather than gradually revealed. Why this one-note concept has been so durable is a bigger mystery than anything in the film. What's next? WHEN A STRANGER E-MAILS? Super 35. [PG-13]▼

When Brendan Met Trudy (2000-Irish-British) C-95m.  D: Kieron J. Walsh. Peter McDonald, Flora Montgomery, Marie Mullen, Pauline McLynn, Maynard Eziashi. Charming bit of blamey about a pair of misfit lovers: a straitlaced boys' school teacher and a free-spirited woman who just happens to be a cat burglar. Brendan's other love is movies, which results in some clever homages to BREATHLESS, THE SEARCHERS, and SUNSET BLVD. McDonald and Montgomery are appealing screwball leads. Written by Roddy Doyle.

When Comedy Was King (1960) 81m. * Compiled by Robert Youngson. Charlie Chaplin, Buster Keaton, Laurel and Hardy, Ben Turpin, Fatty Arbuckle, Wallace Beery, Gloria Swanson. Second Youngson compilation of silent comedy clips has many classic scenes. Chaplin, Keaton, L & H, Keystone Kops, Charley Chase, and others shine in this outstanding film.▼

When Did You Last See Your Father? (2007-British) C-92m. ½ D: Anand Tucker. Jim Broadbent, Colin Firth, Juliet Stevenson, Gina McKee, Matthew Beard, Sarah Lancashire, Elaine Cassidy. Firth attends to his aged father, now a bedridden invalid, but can't help thinking about his teenage years when everything his father did caused him embarrassment—including the old man's womanizing. Well acted but bland and uninvolved. Based on Blake Morrison's best-selling memoir. Panavision. [PG-13]▼

When Dinosaurs Ruled the Earth (1970-British) C-99m.  D: Val Guest. Victoria Vetri, Robin Hawdon, Patrick Allen, Drewe Henley, Imogen Hassall, Magda Konopka, Patrick Holt. Fast-paced, enjoyable prehistoric actioner with Vetri and Hawdon lovers ostracized by respective tribes. Beautiful locations, very good special effects by Jim Danforth, and honorable attempt to simulate period, although Vetri (Playboy's 1968 Playmate of the Year—then known as Angela Dorian) seems to have ordered her wardrobe from Frederick's of Bedrock. Story by J. G. Ballard. Original U.S. release was cut by 3m. to earn G rating. [G]▼

When Do We Eat? (2006) C-93m.  D: Salvador Litvak. Michael Lerner, Lesley Ann Warren, Jack Klugman, Meredith Scott Lynn, Shiri Appleby, Milli Avital, Ben Feldman, Cynda Williams. Oy vey! Misbegotten, over-the-top ethnic comedy about a disastrous Passover Seder meal has lots of dysfunction and shouting but little heart. The family gathering goes terribly awry when a troublemaking son slips a hallucinogenic drug into dad's drink, his wife invites a mysterious man for dinner, and the kids run amok. Mildly amusing at times, but so frenetically paced you may find yourself thinking, "When do we leave?" [R]▼

When Eight Bells Toll (1971-British) C-94m.  D: Etienne Perier. Anthony Hopkins, Robert Morley, Nathalie Delon, Jack Hawkins, Ferdy Mayne, Corin Redgrave, Derek Bond. Alistair MacLean adapted his best-seller of gold piracy at sea, but the production lacks flash and finesse and Hopkins is too disagreeable a hero. Panavision. [PG]

When Father Was Away on Business (1985-Yugoslavian) C-135m. ½ D: Emir Kusturica. Moreno D'E Bartolli, Miki

Manojlovic, Mirjana Karanovic, Mustafa Nadarevic, Mira Furian, Andrew Kopperud. Captivating story about a family's efforts to get along when the head of the household is sent to a labor camp for making an indiscreet remark. Told mostly through the eyes of a six-year-old boy (D'E Bartolli), whose concerns and flights of fancy are irresistible. Set in Sarajevo in the early 1950s. [R]▼

When Harry Met Sally ... (1989) C-95m. ½ D: Rob Reiner. Billy Crystal, Meg Ryan, Carrie Fisher, Bruno Kirby, Steven Ford, Lisa Jane Persky, Michelle Nicastro, Harley Kozak. Delightful Woody Allen-ish romantic comedy set in N.Y.C. about a man and woman who carve out a genuine friendship, and struggle to keep it from becoming a romantic attachment. Full of great dialogue and knowing remarks about the way men and women view each other. Screenplay by Nora Ephron (with some distinctive Billy Crystalisms throughout). Director Reiner's myster has the movie's single funniest line, at the end of the delicatessen scene. Later adapted for the stage. [R]▼●●

When Lovers Meet SEE: Lover Come Back (1946)

When Night Is Falling (1995-Canadian) C-96m.  D: Patricia Rozema. Pascale Bussières, Rachael Crawford, Henry Czerny, Don McKellar, Tracy Wright. Though essentially soft-focus lesbian eye-candy, this is also a tremendously entertaining retelling of the myth of Cupid and Psyche. Camille (Bussières), a professor at a Calvinist college engaged to marry a fellow teacher of religion (Czerny), falls for Petra (Crawford), an uninhibited circus performer. The scenes of circus erotica resemble Red Shoe Diaries rather than Fellini, but the film's attitude is refreshingly tongue-in-cheek. (Also, both women are stunners and the story's sweet.) [R]▼

When Pigs Fly (1993-German-U.S.-Dutch) C-94m. ½ D: Sara Driver. Alfred Molina, Marianne Faithfull, Seymour Cassel, Rachel Bella, Maggie O'Neill, Freddie Brooks. Charming, oddball film about a hipster musician who's visited by a couple of ghostly spirits who need to settle accounts in their lives. With his help, they do, and of course, it helps him get his own act together. Supernatural comedy-drama is vague about where it's set; it was actually shot in Germany. Music by Joe Strummer; coexecutive-produced by Jim Jarmusch.▼

When the Boys Meet the Girls (1965) C-110m.  D: Alvin Ganzer. Connie Francis, Harve Presnell, Herman's Hermits, Louis Armstrong, Liberace, Sue Ane Langdon, Fred Clark, Sam the Sham. Rehash of GIRL CRAZY, turned into a dull guest-star showcase. Panavision. ●

When the Cat's Away (1996-French) C-91m.  D: Cédric Klapisch. Garance

Clavel, Zinedine Soualem, Renée Le Calm, Olivier Py, Romain Duris. Sweet, deft look at a side of Paris rarely seen on-screen as a young woman returns from vacation to discover her cat has disappeared. She takes off on a journey through city streets not only to find her pet but, as it turns out, herself as well. A simple, welcome film about love and loneliness. [R]▼

When the Legends Die (1972) C-105m.  D: Stuart Millar. Richard Widmark, Frederic Forrest, Luana Anders, Vito Scotti, Herbert Nelson. Offbeat story of aging rodeo cowboy who cannot accept fact that years are creeping up on him, and young Indian he befriends. [PG]▼

When the North Wind Blows (1974) C-113m. ½ D: Stewart Raffill. Henry Brandon, Herbert Nelson, Dan Haggerty. A hermit trapper protects snow tigers in Siberia. Beautiful scenery; OK fare for children. [G]▼

When the Party's Over (1992) C-114m. ½ D: Matthew Irmas. Rae Dawn Chong, Fisher Stevens, Sandra Bullock, Elizabeth Berridge, Brian McNamara, Kris Kamm, Michael Landes, Stephen Meadows. Perceptive but seriously flawed, often confusing drama about making it in L.A., focusing on three women and a gay male who share a house and are involved in each other's lives. Chong (as a manipulative yuppie careerist) and Bullock (as a cynical feminist artist) are standouts. [R]▼●●

When the Sky Falls (2000-Irish-U.S.) C-106m. *½ D: John Mackenzie. Joan Allen, Patrick Bergin, Liam Cunningham, Pete Postlethwaite, Kevin McNally, Jimmy Small-horne. Allen plays a crusading Dublin journalist whose articles about drug gangs put her life in jeopardy. Dull, plot-heavy film (based on true story of reporter Veronica Guerin) has a surprising lack of emotional pull. U.S. debut on cable TV. Same story told in VERONICA GUERIN.▼

When the Whales Came (1989-British) C-100m.  D: Clive Rees. Paul Scofield, Helen Mirren, Helen Pearce, Max Rennie, David Suchet, David Threlfall, Barbara Jefford, Jeremy Kemp. Dull dud set in 1914 with Scofield, in a performance that's not among his best, cast as a deaf old hermit who loves birds; he lives alone on a remote island and is befriended by youngsters Rennie and Pearce (the latter a nonactor discovered on Britain's Scilly Isles, where film was made). [G]▼●

When Time Ran Out ... (1980) C-121m. BOMB D: James Goldstone. Paul Newman, Jacqueline Bisset, William Holden, James Franciscus, Edward Albert, Red Buttons, Ernest Borgnine, Burgess Meredith, Valentina Cortese, Veronica Hamel, Alex Karras, Barbara Carrera. WHEN IDEAS RAN OUT, or, THE BLUBBERING INFERNNO: Irwin Allen's shameless rehash

of all his disaster-movie clichés, set on a Pacific island, is a monumental bore that even a volcanic eruption cannot save. Written by Carl Foreman and Stirling Silliphant—who were presumably well paid. Video version runs 141m. Panavision. [PG] ▼●

When We Were Kings (1996) C-92m. ½ D: Leon Gast. Muhammad Ali, George Foreman, Don King, James Brown, B. B. King, Spike Lee, Norman Mailer, George Plimpton. Highly entertaining, Oscar-winning documentary about the classic 1974 “Rumble in the Jungle” matchup in Zaire of heavyweight champions Ali and Foreman. Film chronicles the preparations for the fight, and its postponement, enabling us to learn more about The Greatest in his prime than a more conventional account could ever tell us. Full of fascinating observations from the participants as well as contemporary observers like Mailer, Plimpton, and Lee. Gast spent 23 years trying to bring this film to fruition; it was well worth the wait. [PG] ▼●

When Will I Be Loved (2004) C-81m.  D: James Toback. Neve Campbell, Fred Weller, Dominic Chianese, Karen Allen, Barry Primus, Mike Tyson, Lori Singer, James Toback. On-the-make N.Y.C. bitch Campbell has taken up with obnoxious con man Weller and becomes involved in an INDECENT PROPOSAL-style scenario with Italian kazillionaire Chianese. Unlikable film is crammed with coldhearted characters who are obsessed with big bucks, sleazy sex, and endless hustling. Toback plays a Columbia University professor; Singer, Tyson, and various Toback buddies appear as themselves; and the film is book-ended by Campbell appearing nude in a shower. Super 35. [R] ▼●

When Willie Comes Marching Home (1950) 82m. ½ D: John Ford. Dan Dailey, Corinne Calvet, Colleen Townsend, William Demarest, Mae Marsh. Schmaltzy WW2 adventures of West Virginia youth Dailey, including interlude with French underground leader Calvet. ●

When Wolves Cry SEE: Christmas Tree, The

When Women Had Tails (1970-Italian) C-110m. ½ D: Pasquale Festa Campanile. Senta Berger, Giuliano Gemma, Frank Wolff, Lando Buzzanca, Aldo Giuffrè. Cute, harmless but unfunny slapstick comedy with Berger a most attractive cave-woman. Lina Wertmuller co-wrote the screenplay. Sequel: WHEN WOMEN LOST THEIR TAILS. [R] ▼

When Worlds Collide (1951) C-81m.  D: Rudolph Maté. Richard Derr, Barbara Rush, Peter Hanson, Larry Keating, John Hoyt. Scientist tries to convince a doubting world that Earth is in path of rogue planet. Convince yourself this could happen and you'll have fun. Special effects (including submersion of Manhattan) won Oscar for this George Pal production. Based on the novel by Edwin Balmer and Philip Wylie. ▼●●

When You Comin' Back, Red Ryder? (1979) C-118m. *½ D: Milton Katselas. Marjoe Gortner, Hal Linden, Lee Grant, Peter Firth, Candy Clark, Pat Hingle, Stephanie Faracy, Audra Lindley, Bill McKinney. Stagy, unpleasant film of Mark Medoff's play about a psycho terrorizing a disparate group of people in roadside diner. Has its moments, but not enough to justify nearly two hours of viewing. [R]

Where Angels Fear to Tread (1991-British) C-112m. ½ D: Charles Sturridge. Helena Bonham Carter, Judy Davis, Rupert Graves, Giovanni Guidelli, Barbara Jefford, Helen Mirren, Thomas Wheatley, Sophie Kullman. Interesting drama of repressed and unleashed sexuality within the British upper class, based on E. M. Forster's first novel. The story follows events after British widow Mirren dallies with and weds a young Tuscan (Guidelli) while vacationing in Italy. Faithful to its source material, and the performances (particularly Bonham Carter's, as Mirren's traveling companion) are first-rate, but the presentation is less inspired than one would like. ▼●●

Where Angels Go . . . Trouble Follows (1968) C-95m. ½ D: James Neilson. Rosalind Russell, Stella Stevens, Binnie Barnes, Mary Wickes, Dolores Sutton, Susan Saint James, Barbara Hunter; guest stars Milton Berle, Arthur Godfrey, Van Johnson, William Lundigan, Robert Taylor. For Flying Nun fans only; contrived comedy follow-up to THE TROUBLE WITH ANGELS with Mother Superior Russell pitted against young, progressive nun Stevens. [G] ▼●

Where Are the Children? (1986) C-92m. *½ D: Bruce Malmuth. Jill Clayburgh, Max Gail, Harley Cross, Elisabeth Harnois, Elizabeth Wilson, Barnard Hughes, Frederic Forrester. Clayburgh's two children are kidnapped—just as, nine years before, her first two kids (by a previous marriage) also vanished. Creates some suspense but becomes more ludicrous as it unfolds. Despite a raging storm, the Cape Cod location is the most attractive aspect of the film. Based on Mary Higgins Clark's novel. [R] ▼

Where Danger Lives (1950) 82m.  D: John Farrow. Robert Mitchum, Faith Domergue, Claude Rains, Maureen O'Sullivan, Charles Kemper, Ralph Dumke, Billy House, Jack Kelly. San Francisco doctor Mitchum falls for beautiful patient Domergue. When she kills her husband (Rains), she convinces the doctor that he did it, and the two flee for Mexico. The doctor suffers a concussion, barely able to function—and then learns the woman is insane. Another film noir with Mitchum as a duped schnook who wises up too late, this is dreamlike, almost hypnotic, with an especially dangerous femme fatale. Decidedly peculiar but entertaining and involving. ▽

Where Does It Hurt? (1972) C-88m. BOMB D: Rod Amateau. Peter Sellers, Jo Ann Pflug, Rick Lenz, Harold Gould, Hope Summers, Eve Bruce, Kathleen Freeman. Abysmal, tasteless "comedy" about hospital run by corrupt Sellers, staffed by money-hungry incompetents. [R]

Where Eagles Dare (1968) C-158m. ½ D: Brian G. Hutton. Richard Burton, Clint Eastwood, Mary Ure, Michael Hordern, Patrick Wymark, Robert Beatty, Ferdie Mayne, Anton Diffring, Donald Houston, Ingrid Pitt. Modern-day version of Republic serial, with slam-bang cliff-hanger action that never lets up. Burton and company assigned to free American officer held captive in German mountain castle during WW2. Terrific; script by Alistair MacLean, from his best-selling novel. Panavision. [M/PG] ▽ ● ●

Where God Left His Shoes (2008) C-101m. ½ D: Salvatore Stabile. John Leguizamo, Leonor Varela, David Castro, Samantha M. Rose, Jerry Ferrara. Well-intentioned but rambling account of down-on-his-luck boxer Leguizamo, an ex-con and Desert Storm veteran. He and his family are evicted from their apartment and end up in a homeless shelter with Christmas just around the corner. Formulaic and long-winded, but director Stabile (who also scripted) does make excellent use of N.Y.C. locations.

Where in the World is Osama Bin Laden? (2008) C-93m.  D: Morgan Spurlock. Spurlock, who made his name targeting the fast-food industry in SUPER SIZE ME, takes on the far-less-comical war on terror when concerns for the kind of world his newborn child will face thrust him into a Rambo-like quest to find and defeat 9/11 mastermind bin Laden. Broadly staged "training" sequences and man-on-the-street encounters in several Middle Eastern countries are uncomfortably played for laughs, making Spurlock's adventure seem more ego trip than serious journey. Call it Michael Moore lite. [PG-13] ▽

Where It's At (1969) C-104m. ½ D: Garson Kanin. David Janssen, Robert Drivas, Rosemary Forsyth, Brenda Vaccaro, Don Rickles, Edy Williams. Pleasant but undistinguished comedy about strained relationship between Las Vegas casino owner and his Princeton-graduate son. [R]

Where Love Has Gone (1964) C-114m. ½ D: Edward Dmytryk. Bette Davis, Susan Hayward, Michael Connors, Jane Greer, Joey Heatherton, George Macready. Glossy drama of Heatherton killing mother Hayward's lover; Davis is the domineering grandmother, Greer is a sympathetic probation officer. Script by John Michael

Hayes, from Harold Robbins' novel. Techniscope. ▽

Where's Charley? (1952) C-97m.  D: David Butler. Ray Bolger, Allyn Ann McLerie, Robert Shackleton, Mary Germaine, Horace Cooper, Margaretta Scott. Bolger recreates Broadway role in musical adaptation of CHARLEY'S AUNT, as Oxford student whose face-saving impersonation of dowdy dowager leads to endless complications. Frank Loesser score includes "Once in Love With Amy." One of the principal dancers is Jean Marsh. Filmed in England.

Where's Jack? (1969-British) C-119m. ½ D: James Clavell. Tommy Steele, Stanley Baker, Fiona Lewis, Alan Badel, Dudley Foster, Sue Lloyd, Noel Purcell. Despite good cast and production values, surprisingly unengrossing historical adventure tale of Britain's most celebrated highwayman and escape artist, Jack Sheppard (Steele), wanted by British government and notorious mercenary (Baker). [G]

Where's Marlowe? (1999) C/B&W-97m.  D: Daniel Pyne. Miguel Ferrer, John Livingston, Dante Beze (Mos Def), John Slattery, Allison Dean, Clayton Rohner, Elizabeth Schofield, Miguel Sandoval, Bill McKinney, Heather McComb, Wendy Crewson, Lisa Jane Persky. Ambitious little film about two documentary filmmakers who latch on to a low-level L.A. private detective; while trying to chronicle his day-to-day existence, they become involved in ways they never anticipated. Some clever ideas get lost, though everyone gets an A for effort. [R] ▽ ▽

Where's Picon? (1984-Italian) C-122m.  D: Nanni Loy. Giancarlo Giannini, Lina Sastri, Aldo Giuffrè, Clelia Rondinelli, Carlo Croccolo. Giannini is hilarious in a role tailor-made for his talent; a sleazy, two-bit, ultimately hapless conniver who must live by his wits to survive on the fringes of Neapolitan society. A biting black comedy about bureaucracy and corruption Italian-style. ▽

Where's Poppa? (1970) C-82m. ½ D: Carl Reiner. George Segal, Ruth Gordon, Trish Van Devere, Ron Leibman, Rae Allen, Vincent Gardenia, Barnard Hughes, Rob Reiner, Garrett Morris, Paul Sorvino. Absurdist comedy has cult following, but grisly subject matter makes it an acquired taste; Segal plays a repressed N.Y.C. lawyer whose senile mother dominates his life. Outlandish gags involve mugging, rape, nursing homes, and other ills. Original ending was too potent, and changed. Script by Robert Klane, from his novel. Look for Penny Marshall as a courtroom spectator. Reissued as GOING APE. [R] ▽ ● ●

Where the Boys Are (1960) C-99m. ½ D: Henry Levin. Dolores Hart, George Hamilton, Yvette Mimieux, Jim Hutton,

Barbara Nichols, Paula Prentiss, Connie Francis, Frank Gorshin, Chill Wills. Not-bad film about teenagers during Easter vacation in Ft. Lauderdale. Connie Francis, in her first film, is pretty good, and sings the hit title tune; other young players seen to good advantage. Nichols is hilariously as usual as a flashy blonde. Ineptly remade in 1984. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Where the Boys Are '84 (1984) C-93m. BOMB D: Hy Averback. Lisa Hartman, Lorna Luft, Wendy Schaal, Lynn-Holly Johnson, Russell Todd, Howard McGillin, Louise Sorel, Alana Stewart. Tacky remake of 1960 film about four college girls (three horny, one virginal) who descend on Ft. Lauderdale, Florida in search of cheap sex. This Allan Carr production has all the appeal of an oil slick. [R] ▼

Where the Buffalo Roam (1980) C-96m. BOMB D: Art Linson. Peter Boyle, Bill Murray, Bruno Kirby, Rene Auberjonois, R. G. Armstrong, Rafael Campos, Leonard Frey, Mark Metcalf, Craig T. Nelson. Intended celebration of notorious "Gonzo" journalist Hunter S. Thompson will baffle those unfamiliar with his work and insult those who are. Even Neil Young's music can't save dreadful comedy. [R] ▼

Where the Bullets Fly (1966-British) C-88m. ½ D: John Gilling. Tom Adams, Dawn Addams, Tim Barrett, Michael Ripper. Well-paced super spy satire involving Adams tracking down special fuel formula. Sequel to THE SECOND BEST SECRET AGENT IN THE WHOLE WIDE WORLD. ▼

Where the Day Takes You (1992) C-105m. ½ D: Marc Rocco. Dermot Mulroney, Robert Knepper, Sean Astin, Balthazar Getty, Will Smith, James Le Gros, Ricki Lake, Lara Flynn Boyle, Peter Dobson, Kyle MacLachlan, Nancy McKeon, Adam Baldwin, Rachel Ticotin, Alyssa Milano, David Arquette, Leo Rossi, Stephen Tobolowsky, Laura San Giacomo. Alternately slick and scuzzy look at homeless L.A. street kids, as related by Mulroney (very good here) to prison psychologist San Giacomo. Wavers in quality from the reasonably compelling to the overwrought; a film that shows us junkie Astin vomiting all over himself can probably do without sappy musical montages. Christian Slater appears unbilled. [R] ▼●●

Where the Eagle Flies SEE: Pickup on 101

Where the Green Ants Dream (1984-German) C-100m. ½ D: Werner Herzog. Bruce Spence, Wandjuk Marika, Roy Marika, Ray Barrett, Norman Kaye, Colleen Clifford. Rambling account of a group of wise, noble Australian aborigines who must go up against a mining company set on bulldozing their sacred land in a quest for uranium. The theme—a clash of civilizations—is characteristic of Herzog, but the result just doesn't gel. [R] ▼

Where the Heart Is (1990) C-94m.  D: John Boorman. Dabney Coleman, Uma Thurman, Joanna Cassidy, Crispin Glover, Suzy Amis, Christopher Plummer, Maury Chaykin, David Hewlett. Disappointing farce about wealthy N.Y.C. demolitions expert Coleman, who decides to teach his family humility—and the value of money—by shutting them out and making them homeless. Well-intended hodgepodge that's too outlandish to be taken seriously. Scripted by Boorman and his daughter, Telsche; some saw this as an update of the director's earlier LEO THE LAST. [R] ▼●●

Where the Heart Is (2000) C-120m. *½ D: Matt Williams. Natalie Portman, Ashley Judd, Stockard Channing, Sally Field, Joan Cusack, James Frain, Dylan Bruno. Billie Letts' novel probably made more sense than this numbingly scattershot script about an abandoned, ill-educated young woman (a miscast Portman) and the circle of friends who nurture her after she gives birth in a Wal-Mart. A near-fatal twister? The baby's kidnapping? The rocky country-western career of the baby's father? Everything here is given equal weight, and the episodic scenes pile up without any cumulative effect. Feature directing debut for the creator/producer of such hit TV sitcoms as Roseanne and Home Improvement. [PG-13] ▼

Where the Hot Wind Blows! (1958-French-Italian) 120m.  D: Jules Dassin. Gina Lollobrigida, Pierre Brasseur, Marcello Mastroianni, Melina Mercouri, Yves Montand, Paolo Stoppa. Sure-fire cast is wasted in pedestrian drama of hypocrisy in a small Italian town. Lollobrigida is poverty-stricken wench who falls for engineer Mastroianni; Mercouri is judge's wife in love with thug Montand's son. Aka THE LAW. ▼

Where the Lilies Bloom (1974) C-96m.  D: William A. Graham. Julie Gholson, Jan Smithers, Matthew Burrill, Helen Harmon, Harry Dean Stanton, Rance Howard, Sudie Bond. Four Appalachian children carry on by themselves when their father dies—and keep the news of his death a secret, so they won't be taken away by the state. First-rate family drama scripted by Earl Hamner, Jr. and filmed on location in North Carolina. [G] ▼

Where the Money Is (2000) C-89m.  D: Marek Kaniévska. Paul Newman, Linda Fiorentino, Dermot Mulroney, Susan Barnes, Anne Pitoniak, Bruce MacVittie. Savvy convalescent-home nurse Fiorentino senses something about her newest patient, a mute stroke victim who's just been transferred from prison. She becomes convinced that with his bank-robbing background, he can help her and her husband make some easy money. Potentially clever caper goes flat, in spite of charismatic performances by Newman and Fiorentino. A real letdown. [PG-13]▼

Where the Red Fern Grows (1974) C-98m.  D: Norman Tokar. James Whitmore, Beverly Garland, Jack Ging, Lonny Chapman, Stewart Petersen. Appealing family drama about a boy's devotion to two hunting dogs, and how his experiences teach him about responsibility and growing up. Set in 1930s Oklahoma. Based on Wilson Rawls' novel. Followed years later by a sequel. Remade in 2003. [G]▼

Where There's Life ... (1947) 75m.  D: Sidney Lanfield. Bob Hope, Signe Hasso, William Bendix, George Coulouris, Vera Marshe, George Zucco, Dennis Hoey, Harry Von Zell. Wacky comedy with fast-talking Manhattan radio DJ Hope, just about to be married, earmarked as new king of Barovia, and tangling with the country's enemies, along with its top military authority—who happens to be a woman. Bendix is fun as Hope's forever-bellowing brother-in-law-to-be.▼

Where the River Runs Black (1986) C-100m. ½ D: Chris Cain. Charles Durning, Alessandro Rabelo, Marcelo Rabelo, Conchata Ferrell, Peter Horton, Dana Delany. Orphaned boy raised in the Amazon jungle is brought to civilization by a well-meaning priest who knew his father. Slow-moving story starts well but loses its grip as it leaves behind mystical elements and focuses more on child's-eye view of good guys and bad guys. Filmed on location in Brazil. Super 35. [PG]▼

Where the Rivers Flow North (1993) C-106m. ½ D: Jay Craven. Rip Torn, Tantom Cardinal, Bill Raymond, Michael J. Fox, Mark Margolis, Treat Williams, Amy Wright. Thoughtful tale of a man who holds out against authorities determined to buy his Vermont property in order to erect a dam in the late '20s. It turns out that the holdout (Torn) has a hidden agenda, which is one reason this story avoids becoming an idealized good guys vs. bad guys cliché. Fox appears in a supporting role as a heavy. Craven also coscripted.▼

Where the Sidewalk Ends (1950) 95m.  D: Otto Preminger. Dana Andrews, Gene Tierney, Gary Merrill, Karl Malden, Bert Freed, Tom Tully, Ruth Donnelly, Craig Stevens, Neville Brand. While investigating a homicide, brutal N.Y.C. cop (Andrews) inadvertently kills a man, then tries to conceal his own guilt while continuing his search for murderer. Moody crime melodrama is a good illustration of film noir. Fine characterizations, pungent script by Ben Hecht from William Stuart's novel Night Cry. Oleg Cassini (film's costume designer and Tierney's then-husband) has a cameo.▼

Where the Spies Are (1966-British) C-110m.  D: Val Guest. David Niven, Françoise Dorleac, John Le Mesurier, Cyril Cusack, Eric Pohlmann, Reginald Beckwith. Well made mixture of dry comedy and suspense in tale of doctor forced into spying. Good cast names enhance already fine movie. Panavision.

Where the Truth Lies (2005-Canadian-British) C-117m.  D: Atom Egoyan. Kevin Bacon, Colin Firth, Alison Lohman, Rachel Blanchard, David Hayman, Maury Chaykin, Kristin Adams, Sonja Bennett, Deborah Grover, Beau Starr, Don McKellar, Arsinée Khanjian, David Hemblen. In the 1970s a young female journalist is hired to help write the memoirs of a fading star who was half of a popular 1950s show business team. Her task: to uncover the truth about a woman who was found dead in their hotel room one fateful day. Would-be film noir (replete with graphic sex and nudity) is torpedoed by a lack of chemistry between the stars and a bewilderingly bad performance by Lohman. Egoyan adapted Rupert Holmes' novel, in which the characters more closely resemble Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis. Also available in R-rated version on DVD. Panavision.▼

Where Time Began (1978-Spanish) C-86m.  D: Piquer Simon. Kenneth More, Pep Munne, Jack Taylor. Mundane retelling of Jules Verne's JOURNEY TO THE CENTER OF THE EARTH, with predictable parade of sea serpents, giant turtles, and dinosaurs. Aka THE FABULOUS JOURNEY TO THE CENTER OF THE EARTH. [G]▼

Where Were You When the Lights Went Out? (1968) C-94m. *½ D: Hy Averback. Doris Day, Robert Morse, Terry-Thomas, Steve Allen, Lola Albright, Jim Backus, Patrick O'Neal, Pat Paulsen, Ben Blue, Earl Wilson. Below average Doris Day comedy centering around the massive N.Y.C. blackout on November 9, 1965. Panavision. [M/PG]▼

Which Way Is Up? (1977) C-94m. ½ D: Michael Schultz. Richard Pryor, Lonette McKee, Margaret Avery, Dolph Sweet, Morgan Woodward. Americanization of Lina Wertmuller's very funny THE SEDUCTION OF MIMI doesn't quite make it. Pryor gets to play three roles—a cotton-picking orange picker, a minister, and a dirty old man—and gets the most laughs as the latter. [R]▼

Which Way to the Front? (1970) C-96m. BOMB D: Jerry Lewis. Jerry Lewis, John Wood, Jan Murray, Kaye Ballard, Robert Middleton, Paul Winchell, Sidney Miller, Gary Crosby. One of Jerry's worst has him a 4-F millionaire playboy who enlists other 4-Fs to fight Hitler. His last completed film until HARDLY WORKING. Coscripted by Dick Miller. [G]▼

Whiffs (1975) C-91m. *½ D: Ted Post. Elliott Gould, Eddie Albert, Harry Guardino,

Godfrey Cambridge, Jennifer O'Neill, Alan Manson. Gould is guinea pig for Army Chemical Corps who has outlived his usefulness . . . but the military isn't rid of him so easily. Another sorry attempt to recapture the lunacy of MASH. Panavision. [PG]▼

While She Was Out (2008-U.S.-Canadian) C-85m. ½ D: Susan Montford. Kim Basinger, Craig Sheffer, Lukas Haas, Leonard Wu. Emotionally battered suburban soccer mom (Basinger) finds more at the mall than she went shopping for—namely, bad guys led by slimeball Haas. Nicely done noirish thriller; less-is-more approach creates enough tension at the start and finish to make up for the see-it-coming middle. Basinger, who executive produced with Guillermo del Toro, is solid to the end. Based on Edward Bryant's short story. [R]■

While the City Sleeps (1956) 100m.  D: Fritz Lang. Dana Andrews, Ida Lupino, Rhonda Fleming, George Sanders, Vincent Price, Thomas Mitchell, Sally Forrest, Howard Duff, James Craig, John Barrymore, Jr., Mae Marsh. Veteran cast and intertwining storylines keep interest in account of newspaper reporters and police on the track of a berserk killer. SuperScope. ▼●

While You Were Sleeping (1995) C-103m. ½ D: Jon Turteltaub. Sandra Bullock, Bill Pullman, Peter Gallagher, Peter Boyle, Jack Warden, Glynis Johns, Micolé Mercurio, Jason Bernard, Michael Rispoli, Ally Walker, Monica Keena. Lonely Chicago transit worker saves her dream man from muggers, and when he falls into a coma she passes herself off as his fiancée; things get stickier as she's welcomed into his family, and grows close to his brother. Bullock's first starring vehicle showcases her irresistible girl-next-door appeal, but this pleasant, well-cast comedy suffers from anemia. It's a cute story, but it should have been snappier (and shorter). [PG]▼●●

Whip and the Body, The (1963-Italian) C-91m.  D: Mario Bava. Daliah Lavi, Christopher Lee, Tony Kendall, Isli Oberon, Harriet Medin, Luciano Pigozzi, Dean Ardow. Soon after domineering Lee returns to his castle home and resumes his sado-masochistic relationship with sister-in-law Lavi, he's murdered. But then he returns as a ghost—with a whip. Perhaps horror maestro Bava's best film, moody, beautiful and deceptively simple. Lee is excellent, despite being dubbed. Aka SON OF SATAN, THE WAY AND THE BODY, and NIGHT IS THE PHANTOM. Beware of shorter version called WHAT. ■

Whipped (2000) C-82m. *½ D: Peter M. Cohen. Amanda Peet, Brian Van Holt, Judah Domke, Zorie Barber, Jonathan Abrahams, Callie Thorne. Leering, obnoxious battle-of-the-sexes comedy about a trio of chauvinist pigs who all fall for the same foxy lady. Attempts to invoke the spirit of both Neil LaBute and the Farrelly Brothers but fails. All that saves this from a BOMB is the appealing Peet. [R]▼■

Whirlpool (1949) 97m.  D: Otto Preminger. Gene Tierney, Richard Conte, Jose Ferrer, Charles Bickford, Barbara O'Neil, Eduard Franz, Fortunio Bonanova, Constance Collier. Tense melodrama of nefarious hypnotist Ferrer using innocent Tierney to carry out his evil schemes. Script by Ben Hecht and Andrew Solt, from a Guy Endore novel. ■

Whisky Galore! SEE: Tight Little Island
Whisperers, The (1966-British) 106m.  D: Bryan Forbes. Edith Evans, Eric Portman, Nanette Newman, Avis Bunnage, Gerald Sim, Ronald Fraser. Dame Edith is the whole show in this mediocre melodrama about dotty old lady who is sure she is being spied upon; things get worse when her scummy son and husband drop by. Too restrained to be really absorbing, but worth catching just for her performance; moody score by John Barry. ▼

Whispers (1990-Canadian) C-96m.  D: Douglas Jackson. Victoria Tennant, Chris Sarandon, Jean LeClerc, Peter MacNeill, Linda Sorensen, Eric Christmas. Tennant is forced to kill LeClerc when he attacks her—but he later turns up alive, puzzling police detective Sarandon. Routine, predictable thriller, though LeClerc is amusingly looney. From the best-seller by Dean R. Koontz. ▼●

Whispers in the Dark (1992) C-102m. ½ D: Christopher Crowe. Annabella Sciorra, Jamey Sheridan, Alan Alda, Jill Clayburgh, Anthony LaPaglia, John Leguizamo, Deborah Unger, Anthony Heald, Jacqueline Brookes. Psychiatrist Sciorra is troubled by her reaction to a female patient, but her failure to respond effectively leads to problems for both of them—and everyone around them. Intriguing, well-cast thriller goes on too long, with more twists and turns than necessary, not all of them plausible. Standout performances by LaPaglia, as a determined cop, and Alda, as Sciorra's psychiatry mentor. [R]▼●●

Whistle at Eaton Falls, The (1951) 96m. ½ D: Robert Siodmak. Lloyd Bridges, Dorothy Gish, Carleton Carpenter, Murray Hamilton, Anne Francis, Ernest Borgnine, Doro Merande, Arthur O'Connell. Set in New Hampshire, this documentary-style film deals with labor relation problems in a small town when new plant manager has to lay off workers. Gish is factory owner in interesting supporting role. ■

Whistle Blower, The (1986-British) C-100m.  D: Simon Langton. Michael Caine, James Fox, Nigel Havers, Felicity Dean, John Gielgud, Gordon Jackson, Barry Foster. Deftly handled thriller about a middle-aged former intelligence officer (an effectively subtle Caine), whose linguist son has a high-security government position . . . and is a bit too bright and idealistic for his own good. A literate, multileveled story, adapted by Julian Bond from John Hale's novel. [PG]▼●●

Whistle Down the Wind (1961-British) 99m. ½ D: Bryan Forbes. Hayley Mills, Alan Bates, Bernard Lee, Norman Bird, Elsie Wagstaffe. Fugitive murderer seeking refuge in a North Country barn is discovered by three children who think him to be Christ. Mills and Bates are excellent in this poignant, believable, and well-produced story of childhood innocence. Adapted from novel by Mary Hayley Bell (Hayley's mother). Forbes' directorial debut.▼

The Whistler series SEE: Leonard Maltin's Classic Movie Guide

White (1993-French) C-92m. ½ D: Krzysztof Kieslowski. Zbigniew Zamachowski, Julie Delpy, Janusz Gajos, Jerzy Stuhr. Second of Polish director Kieslowski's "Three Colors" trilogy based on the "liberty, equality, fraternity" symbolism of the blue, white, and red French flag. This story concerns a hapless Pole whose beautiful French wife (Delpy) is divorcing him for no longer being able to perform in bed. Full of irony and subtle wit; the best of the trilogy. Kieslowski wrote the screenplay with frequent collaborator Krzysztof Piesiewicz. Title onscreen is THREE COLORS: WHITE.▼●●

White Balloon, The (1995-Iranian) C-85m.  D: Jafar Panahi. Aida Mohammadkhani, Mohsen Kafil, Fereshteh Sadr Orfai, Anna Borkowska. It's the Iranian New Year, and a young girl convinces her mother to give her money to buy a goldfish; her trip to make the purchase becomes a mini-odyssey in which she experiences wide-ranging emotions while mixing with characters who run the gamut from greedy to kind. This sweet little film offers an engaging picture of everyday humanity.▼●

Whiteboyz (1999) C-97m.  D: Marc Levin. Danny Hoch, Dash Mihok, Mark Webber, Piper Perabo, Eugene Byrd, Bonz Malone, Snoop Dogg, Dr. Dre, Fat Joe, Dread Prez, Mic Geronimo, Doug E. Fresh. Hoch is terrific as a young man named Flip who's convinced he's black on the inside, and does his best to talk like an inner-city rapper. This is especially tough for people to understand in the middle of Iowa, where he lives. Fresh and funny for a while, but soon the idea is exhausted; its dramatic climax is all too predictable. [R]▼●

White Buffalo, The (1977) C-97m.  D: J. Lee Thompson. Charles Bronson, Jack Warden, Will Sampson, Kim Novak, Clint Walker, Stuart Whitman, Slim Pickens, Cara Williams, John Carradine, Martin Kove. Wild Bill Hickok is haunted by the image of a buffalo that symbolizes his fear of death; strange, murky film, with atypi-

cal Bronson role, good support from Warden and Novak. [PG]▼

White Cargo (1942) 90m.  D: Richard Thorpe. Hedy Lamarr, Walter Pidgeon, Frank Morgan, Richard Carlson, Reginald Owen. Lamarr, in one of her best-known roles, is the seductive Tondelayo who entrances all at British plantation post in Africa, with Pidgeon the expeditionist who really falls for her. Exotic love scenes, corny plot. Previously filmed in 1929.▼

White Chicks (2004) C-108m.  D: Keenen Ivory Wayans. Shawn Wayans, Marlon Wayans, Jaime King, Frankie Faison, Lochlyn Munro, John Heard, Busy Philipps, Terry Crews, Brittany Daniel, Eddie Velez, Jessica Cauffiel, Maitland Ward, Anne Dudek, Jennifer Carpenter. Two male, maverick FBI agents go deep undercover, disguised as air-headed twin sisters, to flush out a criminal. They're black but the girls are white, and that's the central joke. Logic aside (and it certainly is), this heavy-handed comedy is a fragile excuse for the Wayans brothers to do a series of broad, silly riffs, poking fun at stereotypical white people. Unrated version runs 115m. [PG-13]▼●

White Christmas (1954) C-120m.  D: Michael Curtiz. Bing Crosby, Danny Kaye, Rosemary Clooney, Vera-Ellen, Dean Jagger, Mary Wickes, Sig Ruman, Grady Sutton. Nice Irving Berlin score is unfortunately interrupted by limp plot of army buddies Crosby and Kaye boosting popularity of winter resort run by their ex-officer Jagger. "What Can You Do With a General?" stands out as Berlin's least memorable tune. Partial reworking of HOLIDAY INN, not half as good. First film released in VistaVision.▼●●

White Cliffs of Dover, The (1944) 126m.  D: Clarence Brown. Irene Dunne, Alan Marshal, Van Johnson, Frank Morgan, C. Aubrey Smith, Dame May Whitty, Roddy McDowall, Gladys Cooper, Peter Lawford. American Dunne marries Britisher Marshal in patriotic WW1 romancer that boasts wonderful cast (including young Elizabeth Taylor). Slick but shallow.▼

White Comanche (1968-Spanish) C-90m. *½ D: Gilbert Kay (Jose Briz). Joseph Cotten, William Shatner, Perla Cristal, Rossana Yanni. Boring time-killer detailing the conflict between twin boys whose mother is Indian and whose father is white.▼●

White Countess, The (2005-U.S.-British-Chinese-German) C-138m.  D: James Ivory. Ralph Fiennes, Natasha Richardson, Vanessa Redgrave, Lynn Redgrave, Madeleine Potter, Hiroyuki Sanada, John Wood, Madeleine Daly, Allan Corduner. Shanghai, 1936: former diplomat Fiennes, accustomed to his recent blindness, hopes to open a small, perfect bar. Impressed by exiled Russian Countess Sofia (Richardson), who has turned to prostitution to help her impoverished—and

largely ungrateful—family, he wants her for his hostess. Trying to live a reduced but elegant life, he is oblivious to increasing war tensions. Good but not great Merchant-Ivory production, unfortunately their last: producer Ismail Merchant died before the film was released. Richardson works here with her mother Vanessa and aunt Lynn. [PG-13]●

White Dawn, The (1974) C-109m. ½ D: Philip Kaufman. Warren Oates, Timothy Bottoms, Lou Gossett, Simonie Kopapik. Rambling adventure about three whalers in 1896 who become lost in the Arctic and their subsequent exploitation of the Eskimos who save them. Brilliant photography by Michael Chapman. [PG]▼●●

White Dog (1982) C-89m. ½ D: Samuel Fuller. Kristy McNichol, Paul Winfield, Burl Ives, Jameson Parker, Lynn Moody, Marshall Thompson, Paul Bartel, Dick Miller, Parley Baer. Young actress takes in a white dog, unaware that it's been trained to attack black people on sight; professional animal trainer Winfield takes on challenge to retrain him. Interesting but downbeat drama, undeserving of the controversy and preposterous charges of racism that kept it from being released. Script by director Fuller (who has a cameo as Kristy's agent) and Curtis Hanson, loosely based on the Romain Gary novel. [PG]●

White Fang (1972-Italian-Spanish-French) C-97m. ½ D: Lucio Fulci. Franco Nero, Vima Lisi, Fernando Rey, Rik Battaglia, Harry Carey, Jr. Scenic but needlessly violent tale of a boy and his dog in the wilds of Alaska, based on the Jack London adventure. [PG]▼

White Fang (1991) C-107m.  D: Randal Kleiser. Klaus Maria Brandauer, Ethan Hawke, Seymour Cassel, Susan Hogan, James Remar. Winning Disney version of the Jack London perennial, with Hawke a young prospector in Alaska who hooks up with Brandauer and Cassel and befriends the title wolf-dog. Fine fare for kids. Previously filmed in 1936 and 1972. Followed by a sequel. [PG]▼●●

White Fang 2: Myth of the White Wolf (1994) C-106m.  D: Ken Olin. Scott Bairstow, Charmaine Craig, Alfred Molina, Geoffrey Lewis, Al Harrington, Anthony Michael Ruivivar, Victoria Racimo, Paul Coeur. Teardrop Disney follow-up to 1991 film, with young prospector Bairstow working the Alaskan gold mine of his predecessor (played in the original by Ethan Hawke) and teaming up with wolf/dog White Fang. Boy and pet then meet Haida Indian princess and become involved with her tribal village. Lumpy blend of mysticism, villainy, romance, and adventure, aimed at kids. Hawke appears unbilled. [PG]▼●●

White Heat (1949) 114m. ½ D: Raoul Walsh. James Cagney, Virginia Mayo, Edmund O'Brien, Margaret Wycherly, Steve

Cochran. Cagney returned to gangster films, older but forceful as ever, as psychopathic hood with mother obsession; Mayo is his neglected wife, O'Brien the cop out to get him.

"Top of the World" finale is now movie legend. Written by Ivan Goff and Ben Roberts, from a Virginia Kellogg story. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

White Hunter Black Heart (1990) C-112m.  D: Clint Eastwood. Clint Eastwood, Jeff Fahey, George Dzundza, Alun Armstrong, Marisa Berenson, Timothy Spall, Mel Martin. Mature, intelligent (if somewhat one-note) adaptation of Peter Viertel's 1953 novel based on his experiences during the filming of THE AFRICAN QUEEN, and his closeup observations of its macho director, John Huston. Eastwood gives an excellent performance as the contrary, self-destructive (and fictionalized) filmmaker, who becomes obsessed with bagging an elephant while on location in Africa. May not be compelling if you're not already interested in the subject, but convincingly recreates the time and place. Scripted by Viertel, James Bridges, and Burt Kennedy. [PG]▼●●

White Lightning (1973) C-101m. ½ D: Joseph Sargent. Burt Reynolds, Jennifer Billingsley, Ned Beatty, Bo Hopkins, Matt Clark, Louise Latham, Diane Ladd. Formula melodrama with moonshiner Burt going after crooked sheriff who drowned his brother; pleasant cast helps this OK action pic. Young Laura Dern (Ladd's daughter) is visible throughout; it's her film debut. Sequel: GATOR. [PG]▼●●

White Line Fever (1975) C-92m.  D: Jonathan Kaplan. Jan-Michael Vincent, Kay Lenz, Slim Pickens, L. Q. Jones, Leigh French, Don Porter, Martin Kove. A B picture that hits bull's-eye. Vincent is a young trucker who battles corruption on the road and off, with a diesel truck as his "good buddy." [PG]▼●●

White Lions, The (1981) C-96m.  D: Mel Stuart. Michael York, Glynnis O'Connor, Donald Moffat, J. A. Preston, Roger E. Mosley. Slight tale of life in an African wildlife preserve with naturalist York and his family. Mainly for the kids. [PG]

White Man's Burden (1995) C-96m. ½ D: Desmond Nakano. John Travolta, Harry Belafonte, Kelly Lynch, Margaret Avery, Tom Bower, Carrie Snodgrass, Andrew Lawrence, Sheryl Lee Ralph. Flawed but fascinating, politically loaded allegory, set in a fictitious America in which blacks are the wealthy, white-collar majority and whites comprise the unruly, ill-kempt lower class. Travolta plays a factory worker who is fired due to a misunderstanding and chooses to take desperate action against his former boss (Belafonte). Designed to push the buttons of viewers of both races, but Nakano (who also scripted) tends to generalize a bit too often. [R]▼●●

White Men Can't Jump (1992) C-114m.

 D: Ron Shelton. Wesley Snipes, Woody Harrelson, Rosie Perez, Tyra Ferrell, Cylk Cozart, Kadeem Hardison, Ernest Harden, Jr. Smart, funny, highly profane comedy about urban basketball hustlers Snipes and Harrelson. Writer-director Shelton really knows the territory, and both stars look good on the court, though the film does become slightly redundant after a point. Perez is fun as Woody's girlfriend whose goal is to appear on Jeopardy! Some versions run 117m. [R] ▼●●

White Mischief (1988-British) C-106m.

 D: Michael Radford. Sarah Miles, Joss Ackland, John Hurt, Greta Scacchi, Charles Dance, Susan Fleetwood, Jacqueline Pearce, Murray Head, Geraldine Chaplin, Trevor Howard, Hugh Grant. Elegantly kinky tale based on James Fox's book about the British colony living in Kenya's Happy Valley during early days of WW2, and true story of a husband's response to the local stud stealing his beautiful wife. Sensual and quietly bizarre, with meticulous production detail and a fine cast, headed by Scacchi at her most stunning. [R] ▼●●

White Nights (1957-Italian) 94m.  D:

Luchino Visconti. Maria Schell, Jean Marais, Marcello Mastroianni, Clara Calamai. Shy Mastroianni comes upon mysterious Schell, who's been dumped by sailor boyfriend Marais (or so it seems). A captivating, elaborately plotted love story, and a key film in Visconti's transition away from neorealism. Based on a Dostoyevsky story. Original running time 107m. Aka LE NOTTI BIANCHE. ▼

White Nights (1985) C-135m. ½ D:

Taylor Hackford. Mikhail Baryshnikov, Gregory Hines, Isabella Rossellini, Jerzy Skolimowski, Helen Mirren, Geraldine Page, John Glover. Prominent ballet star who defected from Russia to U.S. finds himself back in the U.S.S.R. after a forced plane landing ... while American expatriate tap dancer is used as bait to wear down his resistance about fleeing the country again. Baryshnikov's powerful presence (as actor and dancer) almost makes up for contrived story. Nicest surprise is surefooted performance by director Skolimowski as KGB agent. [PG-13] ▼●●

White Noise (2005-Canadian-British) C-

98m. *½ D: Geoffrey Sax. Michael Keaton, Deborah Kara Unger, Chandra West, Ian McNeice, Sarah Strange, Nicholas Elia, Mike Dopud. Despairing over the sudden death of his wife, Keaton is taken in by McNeice, who's developed the ability to see and hear messages from the dead amidst the static on his audio and video recorders. Before long, Keaton is obsessed with E.V.P. (Electronic Voice Phenomenon), to the detriment of his mental and physical well-being. Decent-enough hook for a thriller leads us up a series of blind alleys and never delivers the goods. Followed by a direct-to-DVD sequel. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

White of the Eye (1987-British) C-110m.

 D: Donald Cammell. David Keith, Cathy Moriarty, Art Evans, Alan Rosenberg, Alberta Watson, Michael Greene, Mark Hayashi. Bizarre thriller set in a small Arizona town about psycho Keith, who's (understandably) having marital squabbles with wife Moriarty. Dazzling technique recalling the experimental films of the 1960s marks this disturbing picture, a smashing return to films for director Cammell (PERFORMANCE, DEMON SEED) and Moriarty. [R] ▼

White Oleander (2002) C-109m. ½ D:

Peter Kosminsky. Alison Lohman, Robin Wright Penn, Michelle Pfeiffer, Renée Zellweger, Billy Connolly, Svetlana Efremova, Patrick Fugit, Cole Hauser, Noah Wyle, Taryn Manning. Moving adaptation of Janet Fitch's best-selling novel about a teenage girl who tries to wrest herself from the influence of her imprisoned mother, a free-spirited artist with a cruel streak, as she moves from one foster home to another. Lohman is the focal point in this well-cast film, which miraculously manages to avoid sentimentality while spinning its unpredictable story. Impressive Hollywood feature debut for British TV and documentary director Kosminsky. Screenplay by Mary Agnes Donoghue. Incidentally, Zellweger shows Lohman footage of herself in TEXAS CHAINSAW MASSACRE: THE NEXT GENERATION. [PG-13] ▼

White Palace (1990) C-103m.  D: Luis

Mandoki. Susan Sarandon, James Spader, Jason Alexander, Kathy Bates, Eileen Brennan, Spiros Focas, Gina Gershon, Steven Hill, Rachel Levin (Chagall), Corey Parker, Renee Taylor. Superficial but entertaining story of a vulnerable yuppie who's swept away by a sexy older woman ... and then has to deal with the reality of their enormous social and ethnic differences. Sarandon is ideal in a vivid and believable performance. Reportedly, the improbable conclusion was tacked on at the last minute. Scripted by Ted Tally and Alvin Sargent, from Glenn Savan's novel. [R] ▼●●

White Rose, The (1983-German) C-108m.

 D: Michael Verhoeven. Lena Stolze, Martin Benrath, Wulf Kessler, Werner Stocker. Pointed, fascinating account of a group of Munich students who, in 1942, launched an anti-Nazi uprising. Based on fact; Stolze also played her character in Percy Adlon's THE FIVE LAST DAYS and later starred in Verhoeven's not-dissimilar THE NASTY GIRL. ▼

White Sands (1992) C-101m.  D: Roger

Donaldson. Willem Dafoe, Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio, Mickey Rourke, Sam (Samuel L.) Jackson, M. Emmet Walsh, James Rebhorn, Maura Tierney. Smalltown lawman finds a corpse, then starts snooping around into what turns out to be some dirty

undercover-narc business involving the FBI. Competently performed (even by Rourke), but with little else to distinguish it from dozens of its ilk; Mastrantonio fares best as a complex society type up to her neck in drug-dealing. Mimi Rogers, Fred Dalton Thompson, and John P. Ryan appear unbilled. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

White Sheik, The (1951-Italian) 86m. ½ D: Federico Fellini. Alberto Sordi, Brunella Bova, Leopoldo Trieste, Giulietta Masina. Fellini's first solo film as director is a minor chronicle of the adventures of a provincial couple honeymooning in Rome and the wife's involvement with a cartoon hero, The White Sheik (Sordi). Remade, more or less, as THE WORLD'S GREATEST LOVER. ▼●

White Sister, The (1933) 110m. ½ D: Victor Fleming. Helen Hayes, Clark Gable, Lewis Stone, Louise Closser Hale, May Robson, Edward Arnold. Dated but interesting remake of 1923 silent with Lillian Gish and Ronald Colman. Hayes is woman who enters convent when she thinks her lover has been killed in the war. Fine performances offset predictable story. ▼

White Sister (1973-Italian) C-104m. ½ D: Alberto Lattuada. Sophia Loren, Adriano Celentano, Fernando Rey. Strange love story of hospital Mother Superior and self-professed young Communist who helps run the wards. [R]

White Squall (1996) C-127m.  D: Ridley Scott. Jeff Bridges, Caroline Goodall, John Savage, Scott Wolf, Jeremy Sisto, Ryan Phillippe, David Lascher, Eric Michael Cole, Jason Marsden, David Selby, Julio Mechoso, Balthazar Getty, Zeljko Ivanek, Ethan (Randall) Embry, James Rebhorn. In 1960, teenage boys—many of them misfits—sign on as shipmates and students with a "floating school" skippered by hard-nosed Bridges, who wants them to learn to rely both on themselves and each other. Put down by some as a paraphrase of DEAD POETS SOCIETY, this is an involving, well-acted coming-of-age drama on its own terms. Climactic storm sequence is genuinely gripping, but the finale seems somehow tacked on. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●●

White Warrior, The (1961-Italian) C-86m. *½ D: Riccardo Freda. Steve Reeves, Georgia Moll, Renato Baldini, Gerard Herter. Tiring spectacle about tribal chieftain leading rebellion against advancing troops of Czar, set in 19th century. Dyaliscope. ▼●

White Water Summer (1987) C-90m. *½ D: Jeff Bleckner. Kevin Bacon, Sean Astin, Jonathan Ward, K.C. Martel, Matt Adler, Caroline McWilliams, Charles Siebert. Feeble account of Bacon teaching city lad Astin and his pals the ways of the wilderness. Filmed in 1985 and barely released theatrically. Aka RITES OF SUMMER. Super 35. [PG] ▼●●

White Wilderness (1958) C-73m.  D: James Algar. Narrated by Winston Hibler. Typically good Disney True-Life feature takes a look at the Arctic region; highlight is extended sequence on lemmings and their ritualistic march off a cliff. Oscar winner as Best Documentary. ▼●

White Witch Doctor (1953) C-96m. ½ D: Henry Hathaway. Susan Hayward, Robert Mitchum, Walter Slezak, Timothy Carey. Bakuba territory is scene of diverse interests of nurse Hayward who wants to bring modern medicine to natives and adventurers Mitchum and Slezak bent on finding hidden treasure.

White Zombie (1932) 73m.  D: Victor Halperin. Bela Lugosi, Madge Bellamy, Joseph Cawthorn, Robert Frazer, John Harron, Brandon Hurst, Clarence Muse. Zombie master Lugosi menaces newlyweds on Haitian sugar plantation; eerie, unique low-budget chiller. Also shown in a computer-colored version. ▼●●

Whity (1971-German) C-95m.  D: Rainer Werner Fassbinder. Ron Randall, Gunter Kaufmann, Hanna Schygulla, Katrin Schaake, Harry Baer, Ulli Lommel, Tomas Blanco, Stefano Capriati, Elaine Baker, Mark Salvage, Helga Ballhaus. For Fassbinder completists comes this avant-garde horse opera filmed in Spain on the sets of Sergio Leone's spaghetti Westerns. B-movie stalwart Randall plays a sadistic rancher whose depraved family (painted in whiteface) includes a nympho wife, two sons—one a transvestite, the other mentally retarded—and a mulatto butler who's really his illegitimate son. One of a kind, brilliantly shot in widescreen by Michael Ballhaus, and featuring Fassbinder himself as a whip-wielding barroom gambler. CinemaScope. ●

Who? (1973-British) C-93m. ½ D: Jack Gold. Elliott Gould, Trevor Howard, Joseph Bova, Ed Grover, James Noble, John Lehne. Gould plays FBI agent investigating American scientist's car crash in Russia, and subsequent reappearance with a strangely restructured face. Intriguing if not completely satisfying spy/sci-fi mix. Based on the novel by Algis Budrys. Video title: ROBO MAN. [PG] ▼●

Who Am I? SEE: Jackie Chan's Who Am I?

Who Dares Wins SEE: Final Option, The Who Done It? (1942) 75m.  D: Erle C. Kenton. Bud Abbott, Lou Costello, Patric Knowles, Louise Allbritton, William Gargan, William Bendix, Mary Wickes, Don Porter, Thomas Gomez, Jerome Cowan, Ludwig Stossel. One of A&C's best finds the boys as would-be radio writers who pretend to be detectives when the network's president is murdered, and everyone believes them—including the killer! Great supporting cast is topped by Wickes as wise-cracking secretary and Bendix as real cop who's even dumber than Lou. ▼●●

Who Done It? (1956-British) 85m. ½ D: Basil Dearden. Benny Hill, Belinda Lee, David Kossoff, Garry Marsh, George Margo, Ernest Thesiger. Hill's only star vehicle movie is a Red Skelton-type comedy about a novice private eye involved with foreign spies. No double-entendre jokes, but lots of slapstick, much of it labored and obvious. Best for kids. ▼●

Whoever Slew Auntie Roo? SEE: Who Slew Auntie Roo?

Who Fears the Devil SEE: Legend of Hillbilly John, The

Who Framed Roger Rabbit (1988) C-103m. ½ D: Robert Zemeckis. Bob Hoskins, Christopher Lloyd, Joanna Cassidy, Stubby Kaye, Alan Tilvern, and the voices of Charles Fleischer, Lou Hirsch, Mel Blanc, Mae Questel, Tony Anselmo, June Foray, Wayne Allwine. Staggering special-effects comedy places down-and-out 1940s detective Hoskins on the trail of a murderer, with cartoon star Roger Rabbit (the chief suspect) at his side. Flaws in story and characterization pale alongside the incredible blend of live-action and animation, but the ultimate feat is making us believe that Roger and his cartoon colleagues actually exist. Extra fun: spotting the many cartoon stars who make cameo appearances. Jessica Rabbit's speaking voice was done by Kathleen Turner (unbilled) and her singing voice by Amy Irving. A coproduction of the Steven Spielberg and Walt Disney companies. Animation director Richard Williams received a special Academy Award; three other Oscars included one for Special Visual Effects. [PG] ▼●●

Who Has Seen the Wind (1977-Canadian) C-100m. ½ D: Allan King. Brian Painchaud, Douglas Junor, Gordon Pinsent, Chapelle Jaffe, Jose Ferrer, Helen Shaver. OK chronicle of young Painchaud and Junor's life in Saskatchewan during the Depression. Ferrer is amusing as a bootlegger. ▼

Who is Cletis Tout? (2002-Canadian) C-92m.  D: Chris Ver Wiel. Christian Slater, Tim Allen, Richard Dreyfuss, Portia de Rossi, Billy Connolly, Peter MacNeill, Elias Zarou, RuPaul. A movie-buff hit man (Allen) encourages his captive (Slater) to tell his story as if he's pitching a script to a Hollywood producer: it's the saga of a bank heist, jailbreak, mob hit, and romance . . . but it plays like a deflated balloon. Writer-director Ver Wiel has seen a lot of movies, but can only come up with a pale imitation of a crime caper; his worst mistake is opening with a great movie scene, the finale of BREAKFAST AT TIFFANY'S. Completed in 2000. Super 35. [R] ▼●

Who Is Harry Kellerman and Why Is He Saying Those Terrible Things About Me? (1971) C-108m.  D: Ulu Grosbard.

Dustin Hoffman, Barbara Harris, Jack Warden, David Burns, Gabriel Dell, Dom DeLuise, Betty Walker. Muddled comedy-drama by Herb Gardner casts Dustin as successful rock composer-singer who finds money doesn't answer all of life's questions. Harris comes along late in film to save this debacle with an outstanding performance. [PG] ▼

Who Is Killing the Great Chefs of Europe? (1978) C-112m.  D: Ted Kotcheff. George Segal, Jacqueline Bisset, Robert Morley, Jean-Pierre Cassel, Philippe Noiret, Jean Rochefort, Madge Ryan, Joss Ackland, Nigel Havers. Slick comedy whodunit with self-explanatory title has luscious views of European scenery and food, plus a magnificently funny role for Morley as the world's premier gourmet. Script by Peter Stone, based on Nan and Ivan Lyons' novel. [PG] ▼

Who Is Killing the Stuntmen? SEE: Stunts Who Killed Mary What's'ername? (1971) C-90m. ½ D: Ernie Pintoff. Red Buttons, Alice Playten, Sylvia Miles, Sam Waterston, Dick Williams, Conrad Bain. Diabetic ex-boxer sets out to find a prostitute's murderer when he becomes angered at everyone's indifference. Whodunit isn't bad, but nothing special; acting is generally good. [PG] ▼

Who Killed Teddy Bear (1965) 91m. *½ D: Joseph Cates. Juliet Prowse, Sal Mineo, Jan Murray, Elaine Stritch, Dan Travanty (Daniel J. Travanti). Sleazy, leering low-budget suspenser about psychopathic busboy Mineo preying on discotheque hostess Prowse. A waste of talent.

Who Killed the Electric Car? (2006) C-92m.  D: Chris Paine. Narrated by Martin Sheen. Fine documentary about the mysterious death of the once-highly-touted electric car, a product that threatened to revolutionize an industry and warm the hearts of environmentalists. Instead, as this well-researched film suggests, there may have been sinister corporate forces at work behind its virtual disappearance. In addition to exploring the unplugging of a dream, Paine's potent narrative also puts a spotlight on the world's energy crisis and the urgent need for renewable sources of fuel. Fascinating and important. [PG] ●

Whole Nine Yards, The (2000) C-99m. ½ D: Jonathan Lynn. Bruce Willis, Matthew Perry, Rosanna Arquette, Michael Clarke Duncan, Amanda Peet, Natasha Henstridge, Kevin Pollak. Perry is broadly funny as a miserably married dentist who learns that his new neighbor is a notorious hit man. He figures to get something he wants by ratting out the gunman to his former Chicago gang . . . but quickly gets in over his head. Farcical black comedy has enough twists, turns, and laughs to overcome its basic silliness. Followed by a sequel. [R]▼●●

Whole Ten Yards, The (2004) C-99m. BOMB D: Howard Deutch. Bruce Willis, Matthew Perry, Amanda Peet, Kevin Polak, Natasha Henstridge. The sequel for which no one was clamoring reunites the cast of THE WHOLE NINE YARDS, a pleasant-enough film, and puts them in a frantically unfunny story about Willis (who's supposedly deceased) being forced back into the crime game to help dentist Perry rescue his kidnapped wife. Or something like that. Perry falls down and bumps into everything imaginable, a valiant effort to find laughs in a script that has none to offer. That's Willis' daughter Tallulah as the foulmouthed Buttercup Scout. [PG-13]▼●

Whole Town's Talking, The (1935) 95m.  D: John Ford. Edward G. Robinson, Jean Arthur, Wallace Ford, Arthur Hohl, Edward Brophy, Arthur Byron, Donald Meek. Entertaining comedy with meek clerk Robinson a lookalike for notorious gangster; fine performances by E. G. and Arthur. Script by Jo Swerling and Robert Riskin, from a W. R. Burnett novel.▼

Whole Wide World, The (1996) C-105m.  D: Dan Ireland. Vincent D'Onofrio, Renée Zellweger, Ann Wedgeworth, Harve Presnell, Benjamin Mouton, Michael Corbett. Poignant, based-on-fact drama, set in Texas during the 1930s and charting the complex relationship between two independent-minded souls: pulp novelist Robert E. Howard, the obsessive, overbearing creator of Conan the Barbarian, and schoolteacher/aspiring writer Novalyne Price, upon whose memoir this is based. Their dreams and realities are vividly etched in this extremely well acted film. Clairmont-Scope. [PG]▼●●

Who'll Stop the Rain (1978) C-126m.  D: Karel Reisz. Nick Nolte, Tuesday Weld, Michael Moriarty, Anthony Zerbe, Richard Masur, Ray Sharkey, David Opatoshu, Gail Strickland, Charles Haid. Robert Stone's National Book Award-winning Dog Soldiers suffers from excessively genteel treatment in telling its truly mean story about the smuggling of heroin from Vietnam to California. Strong performances in virtually every role. Aka DOG SOLDIERS. [R]▼●●

Wholly Moses (1980) C-109m. *½ D: Gary Weis. Dudley Moore, Laraine Newman, James Coco, Paul Sand, Jack Gilford, Dom DeLuise, John Houseman, Madeline Kahn, David L. Lander, Richard Pryor, John Ritter. Great cast flounders in this stale saga of "savior" Moore, who thinks God has ordained him to lead the Jews out of Egypt. Some amusing bits, notably by DeLuise; otherwise, an appalling waste. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Whoopie Boys, The (1986) C-88m. BOMB D: John Byrum. Michael O'Keefe, Paul Rodriguez, Denholm Elliott, Carole Shel-

ley, Andy Bumatai, Eddie Deezen, Marsha Warfield, Joe Spinell, Dan O'Herlihy. Awful comedy about a couple of wiseguys who try to break into Palm Beach society. Crude, to say the least. [R]▼●

Whore (1991) C-85m.  D: Ken Russell. Theresa Russell, Benjamin Mouton, Antonio Fargas, Sanjay, Elizabeth Morehead, Michael Crabtree, John Diehl, Jack Nance, Tom Villard, Ginger Lynn Allen. Reinventing the Wheel: The gist of this melodrama is that streetwalking is a dead-end profession with lots of sordid characters. Russell's performance is so broad—but sometimes so funny—that it's difficult to gauge how good or bad it is. Available on video in a 92m. uncut European release, in the 85m. NC-17 version released in U.S. theaters, in an 85m. "R" version—and in the same 85m. version that's been packaged for title-shy sellers as IF YOU CAN'T SAY IT, JUST SEE IT. Hardly worth the trouble.▼●

Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? (1966) 129m. ½ D: Mike Nichols. Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton, George Segal, Sandy Dennis. Two couples get together for an all-night session of bitter conversation; Burton and Taylor's finest hour (together) in searing Edward Albee drama. Taylor and Dennis won Oscars, as did Haskell Wexler's incisive b&w photography, Richard Sylbert's art direction, and Irene Sharaff's costumes. Film broke Hollywood taboos for adult material, would cause lesser furor today. Script by producer Ernest Lehman. Nichols' first film as director.▼●●

Who Says I Can't Ride a Rainbow? (1971) C-85m. ½ D: Edward Mann. Jack Klugman, Norma French, Reuben Figueroa, David Mann, Morgan Freeman, Esther Rolle. Offbeat story of man who feels it is the children of the world who will determine its future. Freeman's film debut. [G]

Who's Been Sleeping in My Bed? (1963) C-103m. ½ D: Daniel Mann. Dean Martin, Elizabeth Montgomery, Carol Burnett, Martin Balsam, Jill St. John, Richard Conte, Louis Nye. Undemanding fluff about TV star Martin being urged altar-ward by fiancée Montgomery. Burnett, in her film debut, is his psychiatrist's nurse. Panavision.

Whose Life Is It Anyway? (1981) C-118m. ½ D: John Badham. Richard Dreyfuss, John Cassavetes, Christine Lahti, Bob Balaban, Kenneth McMillan, Kaki Hunter, Janet Eilber, Thomas Carter. Searing black comedy in which sculptor Dreyfuss is paralyzed from the neck down in an auto accident, argues for his right to die. Remarkable performance by Dreyfuss, excellent ones by hospital chief of staff Cassavetes, doctor Lahti, judge McMillan, nurse trainee Hunter. From Brian Clark's hit play, with a script by the author and Reginald Rose. Panavision. [R]▼●

Who's Got the Action? (1962) C-93m.

½ D: Daniel Mann. Dean Martin. Lana Turner, Eddie Albert, Nita Talbot, Walter Matthau, Paul Ford, Margo, John McGiver, Jack Albertson. Strained froth of Turner combatting hubby Martin's horse-racing fever by turning bookie. Panavision. ▼

Who's Got the Black Box? SEE: Road to Corinth, The

Who's Harry Crumb? (1989) C-98m.  D: Paul Flaherty. John Candy, Jeffrey Jones, Annie Potts, Tim Thomason, Barry Corbin, Shawnee Smith, Valri Bromfield, Renee Coleman, Joe Flaherty, Lyle Alzado, James Belushi, Stephen Young. Candy is ideally cast as an inept private detective attempting to unearth a kidnapper in this uneven comedy. Has some very funny moments, but too much outright silliness. [PG-13] ▼●●

Who Shot Patakanogo? (1990) C-102m.  D: Robert Brooks. David Knight, Sandra Bullock, Kevin Otto, Aaron Ingram, Brad Randall, Allison Janney. Slight, meandering account of life at a Brooklyn vocational high school in 1957, a time when blacks were moving from the South into Northern inner cities and whites had not yet fled to the suburbs. Brooks coscripted and coedited with wife Halle; he also photographed, and she produced. Aka WHO SHOT PAT? [R] ▼●●

Who Slew Auntie Roo? (1971) C-89m.  D: Curtis Harrington. Shelley Winters, Mark Lester, Chloe Franks, Ralph Richardson, Lionel Jeffries, Hugh Griffith. Sickie about daffy old lady who steers unwitting children into her lair. Made in England; intended to be a variation of Hansel and Gretel! Aka WHOEVER SLEW AUNTIE ROO? [PG] ▼●

Who's Minding the Mint? (1967) C-97m. ½ D: Howard Morris. Jim Hutton, Dorothy Provine, Milton Berle, Joey Bishop, Bob Denver, Walter Brennan, Victor Buono, Jack Gilford, Jamie Farr, Jackie Joseph. Hilarious comedy, neglected at time of release, is tremendous fun in the classic comedy tradition, with motley gang of thieves helping U.S. Mint worker Hutton replace money he accidentally destroyed. Buono is especially funny as pompous ex-skipper. ▼

Who's Minding the Store? (1963) C-90m. ½ D: Frank Tashlin. Jerry Lewis, Agnes Moorehead, Jill St. John, John McGiver, Ray Walston, Nancy Kulp, Francesca Bellini. Jerry Lewis vehicle with bumbling idiot (guess who?) set loose in department store. Great supporting cast in stereotyped comic foil roles, plus one good inventive bit. ▼

Who's That Girl? (1987) C-94m. BOMB D: James Foley. Madonna, Griffin Dunne, Haviland Morris, John McMartin, Robert Swan, Drew Pillsbury, John Mills. Atrocious attempt at screwball comedy with Dunne as the hapless hero whose life is turned inside out when he's assigned to escort Madonna (just sprung from jail) out of town. Derivative film is missing just two things: charm and humor. [PG] ▼●●

Who's That Knocking at My Door (1968) 90m.  D: Martin Scorsese. Zina Bethune, Harvey Keitel, Anne Collette, Lennard Kuras, Michael Scala, Harry Northup, Bill Minkin. Crude but fascinating autobiographical drama from Scorsese, his first feature, focusing on relationship between streetwise Keitel, hung up by his strict Catholic upbringing, and independent young woman (Bethune). Keitel's film debut. Also released as J.R. ▼

Who's the Man? (1993) C-85m.  D: Ted Demme. Ed Lover, Doctor Dre, Badja Djola, Cheryl "Salt" James, Jim Moody, Ice T, Andre B. Blake, Rozwill Young, Colin Quinn, Bernie Mac, Denis Leary, Kurt Loder, Richard Bright, Terrence Dashon Howard, Queen Latifah. Nonsensical airhead of a movie in which MTV rap veejays Ed Lover and Doctor Dre play characters named Ed Lover and Doctor Dre, inept Harlem haircutters who somehow become N.Y.C. cops and battle a villainous real estate speculator. Loud, crude, and crammed with cameos by a variety of rap artists (Kriss Kross, B-Real, Humpty Hump). Not without laughs, but more valuable as an artifact of the early '90s. [R] ▼●●

Who's Your Caddy? (2007) C-92m. *½ D: Don Michael Paul. Antwan Andre "Big Boi" Patton, Jeffrey Jones, Tamala Jones, Sherri Shepherd, Faizon Love, Garrett Morris. Gangsta rapper C-Note (Patton) and his posse seek membership in a snooty South Carolina country club, much to the chagrin of its condescending president (Jones). Predictably, crotches are punneled, gas is passed, and stereotypes run amok while this flimsy farce alternates between crude slapstick and sappy sentiment. Failed bid for solo movie stardom for OutKast hip-hop artist Patton. [PG-13] ▼

Who Was That Lady? (1960) 115m.  D: George Sidney. Tony Curtis, Dean Martin, Janet Leigh, James Whitmore, John McIntire, Barbara Nichols, Joi Lansing. Spicy shenanigans move along at lively pace as Curtis and Martin pretend to be secret agents to confuse Tony's jealous wife Leigh; script by Norman Krasna, from his play. ▼

Why Bother to Knock (1964-British) 88m. *½ D: Cyril Frankel. Elke Sommer, Richard Todd, Nicole Maurey, Scot Finch. Trashy smut about Todd traipsing around Europe giving out keys to his pals, with the girls all turning up unexpectedly. CinemaScope.

Why Did I Get Married? (2007) C-118m. ½ D: Tyler Perry. Janet Jackson, Tyler Perry, Sharon Leal, Malik Yoba, Jill Scott, Richard T. Jones. Appreciably more subdued than his previous films, writer-director Perry's sudsy comedy-drama plays for keeps even while it's playing for laughs as four couples swap stories and air grievances during their annual semi-therapeutic get-together at a Colorado resort. Subtlety is in short supply, but the ensemble is first-rate, and a few scenes have potent emotional impact. [PG-13]●

Why Do Fools Fall in Love (1998) C-112m.  D: Gregory Nava. Halle Berry, Vivica A. Fox, Lela Rochon, Larenz Tate, Paul Mazursky, Pamela Reed, Alexis Cruz, David Barry Gray, Miguel A. Nunez, Jr., Clifton Powell, Ben Vereen, Lane Smith. Disappointing account of ill-fated 1950s rock 'n' roller Frankie Lymon (Tate), who ended up a junkie and died of an overdose in 1968 at age 26, and the three very different women he allegedly married. Superficial, to say the least, and sometimes embarrassing. Little Richard (playing himself) enlivens the proceedings whenever he is on-screen. [R] ▼●●

Why Has Bodhi-Dharma Left for the East? (1989-Korean) C-135m.  D: Bae Yong-kyun. Yi Pan-yong, Sin Won-sop, Huang Hae-jin, Ko Su-myong, Kim Hae-yong. Meditative, mind-expanding account of an elderly, dying Zen master and his two disciples, a monk and a boy; they retire to a rural monastery, away from the "turbulence of life," where the master attempts to guide the others toward a state of enlightenment. An unusual film, not for all temperaments, but most rewarding if you can immerse yourself in its flow. Premiered theatrically in the U.S. in 1993. ▼●●

Why Not! (1979-French) C-93m.  D: Coline Serreau. Sami Frey, Christine Murillo, Mario Gonzalez, Michel Aumont, Nicole Jamet, Mathe Souverbie. Frey, Murillo, and Gonzalez, trying to leave their pasts behind, are roommates—and share the same bed. Then Frey becomes involved with Jamet. Sometimes funny and touching, but not as involving as it should be. Original title: POURQUOI PAS!

Why Shoot the Teacher? (1977-Canadian) C-101m.  D: Silvio Narizzano. Bud Cort, Samantha Eggar, Chris Wiggins, Gary Reineke, John Friesen, Michael J. Reynolds. Simple, warm, enjoyable story of Cort's experiences when he takes a teaching job in a small, isolated farming town during the Depression. ▼

Why We Fight (2006-U.S.-British-Danish) C/B&W-98m.  D: Eugene Jarecki. Low-key polemic (possibly too much so) takes off from Frank Capra's pugnacious WW2 documentaries and President Eisenhower's final address that famously and presciently warned of the "military-industrial complex." Film's thesis is that the brass and big munitions companies play a game of "risky synergy" and that America has to drum up wars on which the dragon it has created can gorge. A few neoconservatives also get their say. Not a lot of revelations here, but the material and interviewees are interesting. Ever-reliable wag

Gore Vidal alludes to "the United States of Amnesia." [PG-13]●

Why Worry? (1923) 63m. ½ D: Fred Newmeyer, Sam Taylor. Harold Lloyd, Jobyna Ralston, John Aasen, Leo White, James Mason. Hilarious story of millionaire playboy Lloyd who stumbles into revolution-ridden country and inadvertently becomes involved. Packed with belly-laugh sight gags. ●

Why Would Anyone Want to Kill a Nice Girl Like You? (1969-British) C-99m.  D: Don Sharp. Eva Renzi, David Buck, Peter Vaughan, Paul Hubschmid, Sophie Hardy, Kay Walsh. A young tourist on the French Riviera thinks someone is trying to kill her, but none of the local officials will believe her. Familiar storyline handled in routine fashion.

Why Would I Lie? (1980) C-105m. *½ D: Larry Peerce. Treat Williams, Lisa Eichhorn, Gabriel Swann, Susan Heldfond, Anne Byrne, Valerie Curtin, Jocelyn Brando, Nicolas Coster, Severn Darden. Irrational dud about compulsive liar Williams, who tries to unite Swann with ex-con mother Eichhorn. Film is also odiously reactionary; the villainess (Heldfond) is a one-dimensionally manipulative, man-hating feminist. [PG]

Wicked Dreams of Paula Schultz, The (1968) C-113m. BOMB D: George Marshall. Elke Sommer, Bob Crane, Werner Klemperer, Joey Forman, John Banner, Maureen Arthur. Laughless dud about beautiful East German Olympic hopeful who polevaults over Berlin Wall to freedom; unengaging cast was mostly recruited from Hogan's Heroes.

Wicked Lady, The (1983-British) C-98m. *½ D: Michael Winner. Faye Dunaway, Alan Bates, John Gielgud, Denholm Elliott, Prunella Scales, Oliver Tobias, Glynis Barber, Joan Hickson, Marina Sirtis. Re-make of 1945 film about a scheming vixen who becomes a "highwayman" by night; hasn't the panache to turn its campy material into the romp it's intended to be. Heavy-handed stuff—including the periodic nudity. [R] ▼

Wicked Stepmother (1989) C-92m. BOMB D: Larry Cohen. Bette Davis, Barbara Carrera, Colleen Camp, David Rasche, Lionel Stander, Tom Bosley, Richard Moll, Evelyn Keyes. Complete mess, pieced together from a troubled (to say the least) production which Davis left after filming for just one week. Resulting patchwork story has Bette as a witch who marries Stander and then, for some reason, turns into Carrera. Notable only as a footnote in Davis' career; this was her final film. [PG-13]▼

Wicked, Wicked (1973) C-95m. BOMB D: Richard L. Bare. Tiffany Bolling, Scott Brady, David Bailey, Edd Byrnes. Disastrous mystery-thriller centering around series of hotel murders. Film was released in Duo-vision split-screen process with two things happening at once. Pity there was not enough material for even one. [PG]

Wicker Man, The (1973-British) C-99m. ½ D: Robin Hardy. Edward Woodward, Christopher Lee, Britt Ekland, Diane Cilento, Ingrid Pitt, Lindsay Kemp. Harrowing, absorbing thriller by Anthony Shaffer; not really a horror film as many believe. Scot police sergeant Woodward comes to small island investigating disappearance of a child, discovers a society of modern pagans. Eerie and erotic, with seemingly authentic local color and folk music; a must-see. Shown only in truncated versions for many years; beware the 87m. and 95m. prints, which may still be in circulation. Remade in 2006. [R]▼

Wicker Man, The (2006) C-102m. *½ D: Neil LaBute. Nicolas Cage, Ellen Burstyn, Kate Beahan, Frances Conroy, Molly Parker, Leelee Sobieski, Diane Delano, Aaron Eckhart, James Franco. Cop travels to an isolated island after receiving word from his ex that her child has disappeared and finds the place populated by a quietly tyrannical cult of women. Interesting (if misogynistic) reimagining of the 1973 film's concept is poorly executed: a mysterious, building dread has been replaced with the obvious presence of an evil that the hero is too dumb to figure out. Cage is sometimes hilariously hammy; only Burstyn, chillingly warm and civilized as the cult's leader, emerges unscathed. LaBute adapted Anthony Shaffer's original screenplay. Unrated 106m. version has more gore and a shortened, improved ending. Super 35. [PG-13]●

Wicker Park (2004) C-115m. *½ D: Paul McGuigan. Josh Hartnett, Rose Byrne, Matthew Lillard, Diane Kruger, Christopher Cousins, Jessica Paré, Vlasta Vrana, Amy Sobol. Adman Hartnett puts his life on hold as he becomes obsessed with a woman he spies in a restaurant; he thinks she's his ex-love, who unexpectedly departed a couple of years earlier. Muddled thriller is loaded with flashbacks and plot twists, too many of which make no sense whatsoever. Remake of the French film L'APPARTEMENT (1996). Super 35. [PG-13]▼

Wide Awake (1998) C-90m.  D: M. Night Shyamalan. Joseph Cross, Timothy Reifsnyder, Dana Delany, Denis Leary, Robert Loggia, Rosie O'Donnell, Camryn Manheim, Dan Lauria, Julia Stiles. A 10-year-old Catholic school student has loving, affluent parents, but since the recent death of his beloved grandfather, he's been trying to figure out the meaning of life. Warm, quirky, and sensitive comedy/drama/parable. Young lead Cross and costar Loggia (as the deceased grandparent, in flashbacks) stand out in fine cast. Written by the director; shot in 1995. [PG]▼●

Wide Blue Road, The (1957-Italian) C-99m. ½ D: Gillo Pontecorvo. Yves Montand, Alida Valli, Francisco Rabal, Umberto Spadaro, Peter Carsten, Federica Ranchi, Terence Hill. Moving, robust slice of life about an insular Italian fishing village and one proud, stubborn man who continues to engage in dynamite fishing (even though it's illegal), which pits him against a coast guard lieutenant—and the community. Montand was never more charismatic. Pontecorvo's debut film (which he cowrote with Franco Solinas) pays homage to neorealism but charts its own course—in breathtaking color.▼

Wide-Eyed and Legless SEE: Wedding Gift, The

Wide Sargasso Sea (1993-U.S.-Australian) C-100m.  D: John Duigan. Karina Lombard, Nathaniel Parker, Rachel Ward, Michael York, Martine Beswick, Claudia Robinson, Rowena King, Naomi Watts. In 1840s Jamaica, free-spirited Creole Antoinette (Lombard), heiress to a declining estate, marries proper Englishman Rochester (Parker); at first entranced by her powerful sensuality, he fears losing control, and coldly turns away from her, which leads to tragedy. Though attractive, a failed attempt to build real drama out of humid tropical passions. Based on Jean Rhys' novel, this is a "prequel" to Charlotte Brontë's Jane Eyre. Also available in R-rated version. [NC-17]▼●

Widow of Saint-Pierre, The (2000-French) C-108m. ½ D: Patrice Leconte. Juliette Binoche, Daniel Auteuil, Emir Kusturica, Philippe Magnan, Michel Duchaussoy. Unusual story set in a remote French island off the coast of Canada in 1850, where a condemned murderer cannot be put to death because there is no guillotine. While waiting for one to arrive, the military commandant's wife makes the prisoner's rehabilitation her pet project. Interesting but unsatisfying morality tale, with Yugoslav director Kusturica a strong presence as the prisoner. Panavision. [R]▼

Widows' Peak (1994-British) C-101m. ½ D: John Irvin. Joan Plowright, Mia Farrow, Natasha Richardson, Adrian Dunbar, Jim Broadbent, Britta Smith, Gerard McSorley. Fitfully amusing feminine slant on John Ford's brand of Blarney, with sadsack Farrow butting heads with flashy WW1 widow Richardson, who's moved to an Irish resort village in the mid 1920s. Inconsistent in tone, but three strong leads make it watchable. [PG]▼●

Wife, The (1994) C-105m. ½ D: Tom Noonan. Julie Hagerty, Tom Noonan, Wallace Shawn, Karen Young. Married New Age therapists Noonan and Hagerty are visited one evening by one of their patients (Shawn) and his seemingly emotionally disturbed wife (Young). Alternately pretentious and intriguing talkfest gets better as it goes along, but it's nowhere near as impressive as Noonan's previous film, WHAT HAPPENED WAS . . . [R]▼●●

Wifemistress (1977-Italian) C-110m. 1/2 D: Marco Vicario. Marcello Mastroianni, Laura Antonelli, Leonard Mann, Annie-Belle, Gastone Moschin, William Berger. Antonelli, repressed by philandering husband Mastroianni, sets out to explore his secret lives after he is forced into hiding and experiences her own sexual awakening. Sometimes erotic but mostly murky comedy-drama. [R]▼

Wife vs. Secretary (1936) 88m. 1/2 D: Clarence Brown. Clark Gable, Jean Harlow, Myrna Loy, May Robson, George Barbier, James Stewart, Hobart Cavanaugh. Perfect example of Hollywood gloss, with three topright stars towering over inferior material. Harlow is particularly good in tale of secretary who becomes invaluable to her boss (Gable), causing complications in both of their lives.▼●

Wigstock: The Movie (1995) C-85m.  D: Barry Shils. Campy documentary record of Wigstock, the drag ball held in N.Y.C. each Labor Day weekend. While famous drag queens like RuPaul appear, the focus is just as much on lesser-known characters such as The Lady Bunny (Wigstock's M.C.), Mistress Formica, and, best of all, the Dueling (Tallulah) Bankheads.▼●●

Wilbur Wants to Kill Himself (2002-British-Danish) C-109m.  D: Lone Scherfig. Jamie Sives, Adrian Rawlins, Shirley Henderson, Lisa McKinlay, Mads Mikkelsen, Julia Davis, Susan Vidler. Winning comedy-drama about a handful of life's lost souls, set in Glasgow. Wilbur (Sives) is forever trying to do himself in, placing a terrible burden on his brother Harbour (Rawlins) to keep a constant eye on him. Then a young woman (Henderson) with a young daughter in tow comes into their lives, causing surprising changes for all of them. A quirky sense of humor diverts us at first from the film's serious goals and its good-hearted concern for every character on-screen. The director co-scripted. HD 24P Widescreen. [R]▼●

Wilby Conspiracy, The (1975) C-101m.  D: Ralph Nelson. Sidney Poitier, Michael Caine, Nicol Williamson, Prunella Gee, Persis Khambatta, Saeed Jaffrey, Rutger Hauer. Slick chase movie about black African political activist and the reluctant white companion he drags with him on cross-country flight from the law. Memories of Poitier's earlier THE DEFIANT ONES keep focusing throughout, but the two stars maintain a light touch. Sinister Williamson steals it from them both. [PG]▼●

Wild, The (2006) C-94m.  D: Steve "Spaz" Williams. Voices of Kiefer Sutherland, James Belushi, Eddie Izzard, Janeane Garofalo, William Shatner, Richard Kind, Patrick Warburton, Laraine Newman. When his son is accidentally shipped off to the jungle, a lion and a quartet of misfit animals

leave the safety of the Central Park Zoo to rescue the cub. Disney-released CG-animated feature can't decide if it's a zany comedy or a drama with heart; it winds up being neither. Shamelessly derivative of MADAGASCAR and FINDING NEMO. Highlight is stylized opening in which the father tells his son of past battles in the jungle, including a sincere homage to earlier Disney classics. This is not destined to be one of them. [G]●

Wild America (1997) C-106m.  D: William Dear. Jonathan Taylor Thomas, Devon Sawa, Scott Bairstow, Frances Fisher, Jamey Sheridan, Tracey Walter, Don Stroud. Hohum based-on-fact account of the three adventurous Stouffer brothers, who trek across America in 1967 to film wild animals in their natural habitats. The clichéd subplots do this one in, but it's harmless enough fare for kids. The eldest brother, Marty Stouffer (Bairstow), grew up to become a noted wildlife documentary filmmaker. Danny Glover appears unbilled. Clairmont-Scope. [PG]▼●●

Wild and Wonderful (1964) C-88m. 1/2 D: Michael Anderson. Tony Curtis, Christine Kaufmann, Larry Storch, Marty Ingels, Jacques Aubuchon, Jules Munshin. Empty slapstick froth involving French poodle movie star with Curtis and Kaufmann romancing.

Wild Angels, The (1966) C-93m. *1/2 D: Roger Corman. Peter Fonda, Nancy Sinatra, Bruce Dern, Diane Ladd, Buck Taylor, Norman Alden, Michael J. Pollard, Joan Shawlee, Gayle Hunnicutt, Dick Miller. Predecessor of EASY RIDER without that film's class; Charles Griffith's story of destructive motorcycle gang is OK after about 24 beers. Peter Bogdanovich worked extensively on this film: writing, editing, second unit, etc.; he also can be glimpsed in one of the rumbles. Panavision.▼●

Wild at Heart (1990) C-127m.  D: David Lynch. Nicolas Cage, Laura Dern, Diane Ladd, Willem Dafoe, Isabella Rossellini, Harry Dean Stanton, Crispin Glover, Grace Zabriskie, J.E. Freeman, Calvin Lockhart, Marvin Kaplan, W. Morgan Sheppard, David Patrick Kelly, Freddie Jones, John Lurie, Jack Nance, Sherilyn Fenn, Sheryl Lee, Pruitt Taylor Vince. He's Elvis, she's Marilyn, they're madly in love and on the lam: they hop in her convertible and make an odyssey through Hell—or is it Oz? Diehard fans of writer-director Lynch may love this violent Southern Gothic melodrama (and there are great moments) but his utter absorption with ugliness makes it tough to take. Formidable performances all around, including real-life mother and daughter Ladd and Dern. Lynch based his screenplay on a novel by Barry Gifford. Rossellini's character went on to get a movie all her own, PERDITA DURANGO (1997). There, the role is played by Rosie Perez. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Wild Beds SEE: Tigers in Lipstick

Wild Bill (1995) C-97m.  D: Walter Hill. Jeff Bridges, Ellen Barkin, John Hurt, Diane Lane, Keith Carradine, Christina Applegate, Bruce Dern, James Gammon, David Arquette, Marjoe Gortner, James Remar. Odd revisionist take on Wild Bill Hickok, told in episodic form that creates distance from—rather than understanding of—the legendary hell-raiser of the Old West. The title of the film really should be THE ASSASSINATION OF WILD BILL, because that's what it's all about. There are those opium dreams to break the monotony . . . Barkin is fun as Calamity Jane, but other characters are superficially drawn at best. [R]▼●●

Wild Bunch, The (1969) C-134m. * D: Sam Peckinpah. William Holden, Ernest Borgnine, Robert Ryan, Edmond O'Brien, Warren Oates, Ben Johnson, Jaime Sanchez, Strother Martin, L. Q. Jones, Albert Dekker, Bo Hopkins, Emilio Fernandez, Dub Taylor. Peckinpah's best film won instant notoriety for its "beautiful" bloodletting, but seems almost restrained alongside today's films. Aging outlaws with their own code of ethics find themselves passe in 1913 and decide to retire after one final haul. Acting, dialogue, direction, score, photography, and especially editing are world class; an authentic American classic. Reissued in 1981 at 142m., with two deleted sequences restored. European theatrical version running 144m. now available on video. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Wildcats (1986) C-107m.  D: Michael Ritchie. Goldie Hawn, Swoosie Kurtz, Robyn Lively, Brandy Gold, James Keach, Jan Hooks, Bruce McGill, Nipsey Russell, Mykel T. Williamson, Wesley Snipes, Woody Harrelson, M. Emmet Walsh, George Wyner, Ann Doran, Gloria Stuart, L.L. Cool J. Football-crazy phys-ed teacher Hawn finally gets her wish—to coach a varsity team—at a rough inner-city high school. Never strays from formula but manages to deliver the laughs. Entertaining. [R]▼●●

Wild Child, The (1970-French) 85m.  D: François Truffaut. François Truffaut, Jean-Pierre Cargol, Jean Daste, Paul Ville. Initially absorbing true story of wild boy raised alone in French woods and the doctor who tries to civilize him. Simply told, deliberately old-fashioned in technique; film loses steam half-way through. Truffaut is ideal as the doctor. Set in 1700s. [G]▼●●

Wild Country, The (1971) C-100m. ½ D: Robert Totten. Steve Forrest, Vera Miles, Ronny Howard, Jack Elam, Frank deKova, Morgan Woodward, Clint Howard. Standard Disney fare, adapted from Ralph Moody's Little Britches, about joys and hardships faced by family which moves from Pittsburgh to Wyoming in 1880s. Magnificent scenery. [G]▼

Wild Drifter SEE: Cockfighter

Wild Duck, The (1983-Australian) C-96m. *½ D: Henri Safran. Liv Ullmann, Jeremy Irons, Lucinda Jones, John Meillon, Arthur Dignam, Michael Pate. Dreary, disappointing adaptation of the Ibsen play, centering on two days in the lives of the Ackland (anglicized from "Ekdal") family members and updating the story by 20-odd years. The question is: Why? Performances are OK, but it's oh so slow and pretentious. [PG]▼

Wilde (1998-British) C-115m. ½ D: Brian Gilbert. Stephen Fry, Jude Law, Tom Wilkinson, Vanessa Redgrave, Jennifer Ehle, Gemma Jones, Judy Parfitt, Michael Sheen, Zoë Wanamaker, Orlando Bloom, Ioan Gruffudd. Profile of playwright/author Oscar Wilde is much gamier (to its arguable detriment) than the two 1960 biopics. Begins choppy, drags at the end, but generally compels in a long midsection that deals with events leading up to Wilde's 1895 sodomy trial and conviction. Fry bears a striking resemblance to Wilde, while Wilkinson gives another in a string of rich performances as Wilde's chief adversary, the Marquis of Queensbury. 2.35 Research PLC. [R]▼●

Wilder Napalm (1993) C-109m. *½ D: Glenn Gordon Caron. Debra Winger, Dennis Quaid, Arliss Howard, M. Emmet Walsh, Jim Varney. Bizarre, almost incomprehensible account of brothers Quaid and Howard, who share a rare talent: when concentrating deeply enough, they can make objects burst into flames. Winger is cast as Howard's spirited wife. It's no wonder that this barely watchable film remained unreleased for quite some time. [PG-13]▼●●

Wilderness Family, Part 2, The SEE: Further Adventures of the Wilderness Family, The

Wildflowers (1999) C-97m. ½ D: Melissa Painter. Daryl Hannah, Clea DuVall, Eric Roberts, Tomas Arana, Richard Hillman, Irene Bedard, John Doe, Alan Gelfant. Introspective drama about a teen (DuVall) who grew up on a hippie commune and is looking to find herself, and her obsession with a free-spirited older woman (Hannah) who may be her mother. Slow moving at times, but extremely involving when it stays on track. Hannah coexecutive produced. [R]▼●

Wild for Kicks (1960-British) 92m.  D: Edmond T. Greville. David Farrar, Noelle Adam, Christopher Lee, Gillian Hills, Adam Faith, Shirley Anne Field, Peter McEnery, Oliver Reed. Sultry teen Hills, with a bad attitude, resents her father's pretty new French-born wife and summarily gets into all sorts of mischief. Not very good; of interest mainly as a period piece.

Original British title: BEAT GIRL. ▼

Wild Geese, The (1978-British) C-134m. ½ D: Andrew V. McLaglen. Richard Burton, Roger Moore, Richard Harris, Hardy Kruger, Stewart Granger, Jack Watson, Frank Finlay, Jeff Corey, Winston Ntshona. Silly but entertaining action yam by Reginald Rose with Burton miscast as leader of mercenaries who rescue kidnapped African leader. Better (and shorter) script would have helped. Sequel followed in 1985. [R] ▼

Wild Geese II (1985-British) C-125m.  D: Peter Hunt. Scott Glenn, Barbara Carrera, Edward Fox, Laurence Olivier, Robert Webber, Robert Freitag, Kenneth Haigh. Cluttered action-adventure about a much-wanted mercenary hired to spring arch-Nazi Rudolf Hess from Berlin's Spandau prison and the incidents this triggers. Uncomfortable mix of straight action and tongue-in-cheek. [R] ▼

Wild Guitar (1962) 87m. BOMB D: Ray Dennis Steckler. Arch Hall, Jr., Nancy Czar, William Watters (Arch Hall, Sr.), Cash Flagg (Ray Dennis Steckler). Guitar-playing, motorcycle-riding Hall is exploited by a deceitful record executive. Perfectly awful melodrama. ▼

Wild Heart, The (1950-British) C-82m.  D: Michael Powell, Emeric Pressburger. Jennifer Jones, David Farrar, Cyril Cusack, Sybil Thorndike, Edward Chapman, George Cole, Hugh Griffith, Esmond Knight. Muddled tale of strange Welsh girl in late 19th century whose life is dominated by superstitions; she marries minister but is stirred by lusty squire. Beautiful location photography by Christopher Challis. Reedited from 110m. British release called GONE TO EARTH, which plays much better.

Wild Hearts Can't Be Broken (1991) C-88m.  D: Steve Miner. Gabrielle Anwar, Michael Schoeffling, Cliff Robertson, Dylan Kussman, Kathleen York, Frank Renzulli. Absorbing Disney picture about real-life Sonora Webster, a strong-willed girl who joins a traveling show in the early 1930s and trains to become a "diving girl"—sitting astride a horse as it dives 40 feet into a tank of water. Simply told, and well acted, with Robertson first-rate as a road-company Buffalo Bill. Captures Depression-era flavor (and look) much better than many more ambitious and expensive films. Incidentally, no horses were subjected to high dives in the making of the film. [G] ▼

Wild Hogs (2007) C-99m.  D: Walt Becker. Tim Allen, John Travolta, Martin Lawrence, William H. Macy, Ray Liotta, Marisa Tomei, Kevin Durand, M. C. Gainey, Jill Hennessy, Tichina Arnold, Stephen Tobolowsky. Four middle-aged pals whose lives have stagnated decide to take a road trip together on their Harleys and

immediately get into all sorts of trouble—from camping mishaps to antagonizing a hostile biker gang. Silly, sometimes downright stupid slapstick comedy puts likable actors into the kind of sappy vehicle that Kirk Douglas and Burt Lancaster didn't make until their 70s (see—or rather, don't see—TOUGH GUYS). John C. McGinley appears unbilled, and there's a surprise cameo near the end. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

Wild Horse Hank (1979-Canadian) C-94m. ½ D: Eric Till. Linda Blair, Michael Wickott, Al Waxman, Pace Bradford, Richard Crenna. Inoffensive adventure of college student Blair trying to save horses from being butchered for dog food. A bit overlong, and Blair walks through her role; still, older children may enjoy it. ▼

Wild in the Country (1961) C-114m. ½ D: Philip Dunne. Elvis Presley, Hope Lange, Tuesday Weld, Millie Perkins, John Ireland, Gary Lockwood. Can you resist Elvis in a Clifford Odets script about a back-country hothead with literary aspirations? Clichéd if earnest, but an undeniable curiosity with some good performances, Elvis' among them. That's young Christina Crawford as Lockwood's girlfriend. CinemaScope. ▼

Wild in the Sky (1972) C-87m. ½ D: William T. Naud. Georg Stanford Brown, Brandon de Wilde, Keenan Wynn, Tim O'Connor, James Daly, Dick Gautier, Robert Lansing. Zany idea doesn't quite come off in story of three prisoners who hijack a B-52 bomber. Written by Naud, Gautier, and Peter Marshall. Original title: BLACK JACK.

Wild in the Streets (1968) C-97m. ½ D: Barry Shear. Christopher Jones, Shelley Winters, Diane Varsi, Hal Holbrook, Millie Perkins, Ed Begley, Richard Pryor, Bert Freed. Dark satire about millionaire singing idol/drug pusher who is elected President after voting age is lowered to 14. Wildly overrated by some critics, film is nonetheless enjoyable on a nonthink level. [PG—originally rated R] ▼

Wild Is the Wind (1957) 114m. ½ D: George Cukor. Anna Magnani, Anthony Quinn, Anthony Franciosa, Dolores Hart, Joseph Calleia. Turgid soaper set in the West, with Quinn marrying the sister of his dead wife, not able to separate the two. Good acting helps script along. VistaVision.

Wild Life, The (1984) C-96m. *½ D: Art Linson. Christopher Penn, Ilan Mitchell-Smith, Eric Stoltz, Jenny Wright, Lea Thompson, Rick Moranis, Hart Bochner, Michael Bowen, Randy Quaid, Sherilyn Fenn, Lee Ving, Nancy Wilson, Laura Dern, Jack Kehoe, Robert Ridgely, Dean Devlin, Ben Stein. Unfunny youth comedy about straight-arrow high school grad Stoltz deciding to leave home and move into "swinging singles" apartment. Meager attempt to clone FAST TIMES AT RIDGE-

MONT HIGH with same writer and producer (doubling here as director), and Christopher Penn trying to ape brother Sean's flaky character—unsuccessfully. Penn's real-life dad, Leo Penn, plays his father here. [R]▼●

Wild Man Blues (1998) C-105m.  D: Barbara Kopple. Oscar-winning documentarian Kopple follows Woody Allen and his companion (later wife), Soon-Yi Previn, on a 1996 European concert tour given by Allen and his New Orleans-style jazz band. A must for Woodyphiles, surprisingly revealing even in its most mundane moments; others may find it less compelling. It also helps to like the traditional, even primitive, style of music being played. [PG]▼●

Wild McCullochs, The (1975) C-93m.  D: Max Baer. Forrest Tucker, Max Baer, Julie Adams, Janice Heiden, Dennis Redfield, Don Grady, William Demarest. Forgettable QUIET MAN rip-off has Tucker as self-made Texas millionaire who tries to raise his sons in his two-fisted image, with Baer eventually forced to prove he is "a man." Yawn. [PG]▼●

Wild One, The (1954) 79m. ½ D: Laslo Benedek. Marlon Brando, Mary Murphy, Robert Keith, Lee Marvin, Jay C. Flippen, Jerry Paris, Alvy Moore, Gil Stratton, Jr. The original motorcycle film with Brando's renowned performance as pack-leader terrorizing small town; dated, but well worth viewing. Script by John Paxton, based on a story by Frank Rooney; produced by Stanley Kramer.▼●●

Wild on the Beach (1965) 77m. *½ D: Maury Dexter. Frankie Randall, Sherry Jackson, Jackie & Gayle, Sonny & Cher, Sandy Nelson. Randall and Jackson fight over the rights to a beachhouse—and fall in love. Dreary comedy notable only for the appearance of Mr. and Mrs. Bono, and as Cher's screen debut.

Wild Orchid (1990) C-111m. BOMB D: Zalman King. Mickey Rourke, Jacqueline Bisset, Carré Otis, Assumpta Serna, Bruce Greenwood, Oleg Vidov, Milton Gonçalves. Prim lawyer Otis, employed by banker Bisset, gets assaulted by Rio de Janeiro carny-time temptation: semi-public fornicators, limousine raunch, and the sight of earringed Rourke in deep bronze makeup. Notorious simulated sex scene caused a stir, but it's all for naught; this picture is enough to make any two bananas roll over in Carmen Miranda's grave. Followed by a sequel. Unrated version runs 116m. [R]▼●●

Wild Orchid 2: Two Shades of Blue (1992) C-107m. BOMB D: Zalman King. Nina Siemaszko, Wendy Hughes, Tom Skerritt, Robert Davi, Brent Fraser, Christopher McDonald, Liane Curtis, Joe Dallesandro, Lydie Denier. For viewers who haven't seen ORCHID 1, the title demands a

"what is it?" question. For those who have, it's a "why is it?" question. By day, blond Siemaszko puppy-loves a high school jock—but by night, she dons a black wig in the local brothel to entertain the same unwitting dufus. Standard heavy breathing from director King, but with even more lung congestion than usual. [R]▼●●

Wild Pack, The (1971) C-102m. *½ D: Hall Bartlett. Kent Lane, Tisha Sterling, John Rubinstein, Butch Patrick, Mark de Vries, Peter Nielsen. Fairly interesting drama, set in Brazil, about day-to-day life of a group of black and white orphans who steal food; film won grand prize at Moscow Film Festival. Originally titled THE SANDPIT GENERALS. Video title: THE DEFIANT. Panavision.▼

Wild Pair, The (1987) C-88m. *½ D: Beau Bridges. Beau Bridges, Bubba Smith, Lloyd Bridges, Gary Lockwood, Raymond St. Jacques, Danny De La Paz, Lela Rochon, Ellen Geer. Trite police thriller, with cop Smith and FBI agent Beau Bridges teaming up to bring some drug dealing racists to justice. Utterly ordinary in all departments. Bridges' first theatrical film as director. [R]▼●●

Wild Parrots of Telegraph Hill, The (2005) C-83m.  D: Judy Irving. In San Francisco, a flock of colorful parrots, descendants of escaped pets, make Telegraph Hill their base. Philosophical, unemployed Mark Bittner befriends the birds, naming them and feeding them. Documentary focuses more on ingratiating Bittner than on the parrots, and at the end unexpectedly reveals itself as a true-life love story. Charming, likeable film about charming, likeable birds and people; a quiet little gem, full of low-key surprises. [G]●

Wild Party, The (1929) 76m. *½ D: Dorothy Arzner. Clara Bow, Fredric March, Shirley O'Hara, Marceline Day, Joyce Compton, Jack Oakie. Fascinating antique about dishy new prof at all-girls' school and his on-again, off-again relationship with a sexy student who thinks college is just a lark. Absolutely awful by any objective standards, but great fun to watch.▼

Wild Party, The (1975) C-95m.  D: James Ivory. James Coco, Raquel Welch, Perry King, Tiffany Bolling, David Dukes, Royal Dano, Dena Dietrich. Uneven evocation of 1920s Hollywood with Coco as a Fatty Arbuckle-type comedian who throws a lavish party to try and save his failing career. Film has definite assets (notably its performances) but just doesn't come off. Based on the narrative poem by Joseph Moncure March; cut by its distributor, later restored by Ivory to 107m. [R]▼●

Wild Racers, The (1968) C-79m. *½ D: Daniel Haller. Fabian, Mimsy Farmer, Judy Cornwall, David Landers. Dumb racer

Fabian loves his work and one-night stands; Farmer is his latest challenge.

Wild Reeds (1994-French) C-110m. ½ D: André Téchiné. Elodie Bouchez, Gael Morel, Staphane Rideau, Frederick Gorny, Michele Moretti. Richly evocative film, set in 1962, about four young people in rural France (where the kids listen to American Top 40 songs!) coming of age and exploring their sexuality. The ideological and emotional turbulence caused by the Algerian war is felt in a quiet boarding school with the arrival of a new French-Algerian student, whose radical politics throw things into disarray. A multilayered story, masterfully directed. Winner of four César Awards including Best Picture. ▼●●

Wild Ride, The (1960) 63m. *½ D: Harvey Berman. Jack Nicholson, Georgianna Carter, Robert Bean. Amateurish low-budgeter about a hedonistic hot-rodder who's as casual about killing people as he is about stealing his buddy's girlfriend. Worth seeing only if you're curious about this early Nicholson performance. Revised for 2000 release as VELOCITY. ▼

Wild River (1960) C-110m. ½ D: Elia Kazan. Montgomery Clift, Lee Remick, Jo Van Fleet, Albert Salmi, Jay C. Flippen, James Westerfield. Clift plays Tennessee Valley Authority official trying to convince elderly Van Fleet to sell her property for new projects. Kazan's exquisite evocation of 1930s Tennessee—and moving romance between Clift and Remick—give this film its strength. Bruce Dern makes his film debut in supporting role. Screenplay by Paul Osborn, from a novel by William Bradford Huie and Borden Deal. Cinema-Scope.

Wildrose (1984) C-95m. ½ D: John Hanson. Lisa Eichhorn, Tom Bower, Jim Cada, Cinda Jackson, Dan Nemanick, Bill Schoppert. Eichhorn excels in this vivid tale of a female iron pit worker, both strong and insecure, who must deal with the resentment of her male co-workers—as well as a romance. Filmed in Minnesota, with the landscape and its inhabitants carefully, almost lovingly, etched. ▼

Wild Rovers (1971) C-109m. ½ D: Blake Edwards. William Holden, Ryan O'Neal, Karl Malden, Lynn Carlin, Tom Skerritt, Joe Don Baker, Rachel Roberts, Moses Gunn. Underrated Western about two cowpokes who become fugitives after they rob a bank on whim. Choppy script seems unimportant in light of Holden's performance, incredibly lyrical scenes. Edwards' original 136m. version has finally been restored and released, which may boost the film's maligned reputation. Panavision. [PG] ▼●

Wild Seed, The (1965) 99m.  D: Brian Hutton. Michael Parks, Celia Kaye, Ross Elliott, Woodrow Chambliss, Eva Novak. Arty yet gripping story of runaway Kaye

traveling to California, guided by road bum Parks.

Wild Side, The (1983) C-96m. BOMB D: Penelope Spheeris. Chris Pederson, Bill Coyne, Jennifer Clay, Timothy Eric O'Brien, Andrew Pece, Don Allen. Perfectly awful drama about alienated suburban teenagers, angry kids who cut their hair instead of growing it long and live in abandoned, rat-infested crash pad. Tries to "make a statement" while wallowing in gratuitous violence. Aka SUBURBIA. [R] ▼●

Wild Strawberries (1957-Swedish) 90m. * D: Ingmar Bergman. Victor Sjöström, Ingrid Thulin, Bibi Andersson, Gunnar Björnstrand, Folke Sundquist, Björn Bjelvenstam. Elderly Stockholm professor reviews the disappointments of his life, while traveling by car to receive an honorary degree. Superb use of flashbacks and brilliant performance by Sjöström make this Bergman classic an emotional powerhouse. Still a staple of any serious filmgoer's education. ▼●●

Wild Thing (1987) C-92m. *½ D: Max Reid. Rob Knepper, Kathleen Quinlan, Robert Davi, Maury Chaykin, Betty Buckley. Misguided mishmash about a boy whose parents are murdered and who grows up into a "wild thing" who protects street people from the likes of arch-villain Davi. One would like to think that screenwriter John Sayles had more in mind for this fable than what turned out on screen. [PG-13] ▼

Wild Things (1998) C-108m.  D: John McNaughton. Kevin Bacon, Matt Dillon, Neve Campbell, Theresa Russell, Denise Richards, Daphne Rubin-Vega, Robert Wagner, Bill Murray, Carrie Snodgrass. In South Florida, high school counselor Dillon is accused of rape by rich teenage sextop Richards and her tattooed trailer-trash classmate Campbell. Cop Bacon suspects there's a plot behind it, and he's right: this raunchy, entertaining neo-noir has more twists than a pretzel factory. Gorgeously photographed (by Jeffrey L. Kimball) and well played, it never takes itself too seriously. Murray is a hoot as an ambulance-chasing shyster. Followed by two in-name-only direct-to-video sequels. Unrated version runs 115m. Panavision. [R] ▼●●

Wild Thornberrys Movie, The (2002) C-108m.  D: Jeff McGrath. Cathy Malkasian. Voices of Lacey Chabert, Tom Kane, Tim Curry, Lynn Redgrave, Jodi Carlisle, Danielle Harris, Flea, Rupert Everett, Marisa Tomei, Alfre Woodard, Brock Peters, Brenda Blethyn, Obba Babatundé, Kevin Michael Richardson. Eliza Thornberry thrives on life in the African wild with her documentary-filmmaker parents, especially after she discovers she can talk to animals—but her grandmother insists she be sent to boarding school in England. Handsome, well-written feature based on the hip, funny

(and environmentally conscious) TV series, with good songs by Paul Simon and Peter Gabriel. Followed by RUGRATS GO WILD. Digital Widescreen. [PG] ▼

Wild West (1992-British) C-85m. ½ D: David Attwood. Naveen Andrews, Sarita Choudhury, Ronny Jhutti, Ravi Kapoor, Ameet Chana. A Pakistani living in a London suburb encounters typical (and not-so-typical) problems when he tries to put together a country-western band. Funny and colorful film plays on its offbeat characters and backdrop to dodge the fact that the story is actually the same old breaking-into-show-biz warhorse. ▼

Wild Westerners, The (1962) C-70m. *½ D: Oscar Rudolph. James Philbrook, Nancy Kovack, Duane Eddy, Guy Mitchell. Humdrum account of marshal and new wife overcoming obstacles to bring gold east for Yankee cause. ▼

Wild, Wild Planet (1965-Italian) C-93m. *½ D: Anthony Dawson (Antonio Margheriti). Tony Russel, Lisa Gastoni, Massimo Serato, Franco Nero, Carlo Giustini. Female alien uses robots to gain control of earth scientists by shrinking them. Fairly good ending does not redeem lackluster film. Made at same time as WAR OF THE PLANETS and other losers. ●

Wild Wild West (1999) C-107m. *½ D: Barry Sonnenfeld. Will Smith, Kevin Kline, Kenneth Branagh, Salma Hayek, Ted Levine, M. Emmett Walsh, Bai Ling, Frederique van der Wal, Musetta Vander. Rehash of 1960s TV series finds special agents James West (Smith) and inventor Artemus Gordon (Kline) on a special mission for President Grant to capture nefarious bad guy Arliss Loveless (Branagh). Overstuffed with visual gimmickry, but leaden in every way. You can hear the banter landing with a thud every few minutes. [PG-13] ▼●●

Wild, Wild Winter (1966) C-80m.  D: Lennie Weinrib. Gary Clarke, Chris Noel, Steve Franken, Don Edmonds. Light-headed ski-slope musical froth, with guest stars Jay and The Americans, The Beau Brummels, Dick and Dee Dee. Techniscope.

Willard (1971) C-95m.  D: Daniel Mann. Bruce Davison, Elsa Lanchester, Ernest Borgnine, Sondra Locke, Michael Dante, J. Pat O'Malley, Jody Gilbert, Joan Shawlee. Touching story of a boy and his rats captured public's fancy at the box office, but film's lack of style prevents it from being anything more than a second-rate thriller. Remade in 2003. Sequel: BEN. [PG] ▼●

Willard (2003) C-100m.  D: Glen Morgan. Crispin Glover, R. Lee Ermy, Laura Elena Harring, Jackie Burroughs. As if eating Ernest Borgnine in the '71 version weren't enough of a feast, those pesky rodents are back. Glover is the put-upon misfit who finds rats to be his only friends. Given how much the second floor of Glover's home resembles Norman Bates' digs, writer/director Morgan has obviously studied his Hitchcock. Not without style but stretched beyond all limits, film isn't quite bad enough to make you use "rats!" as an expletive. "Pleh!" is more like it. Bruce Davison, who starred in the original film, has an unbilled cameo. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

William Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream, A (1999)

William Shakespeare's Romeo & Juliet SEE: Romeo & Juliet (1996)

William Shakespeare's The Merchant of Venice SEE: Merchant of Venice, The

Willie and Joe Back at the Front SEE: Back at the Front

Willie and Phil (1980) C-115m.  D: Paul Mazursky. Michael Ontkean, Margot Kidder, Ray Sharkey, Jan Miner, Tom Brennan, Julie Bovasso, Louis Guss, Kathleen Maguire, Kaki Hunter, Larry Fishburne, Natalie Wood. Affectionate, perceptive, underrated retelling of JULES AND JIM. Ontkean and Sharkey meet after a screening of the Truffaut classic, become fast pals, then friends and lovers of free-spirited Kidder. A wistful tale of how chance encounters alter lives, how camaraderie between friends is everlasting, how men always do the asking but women do the deciding. [R] ▼●

Willie Dynamite (1974) C-102m.  D: Gilbert Moses. Roscoe Orman, Diana Sands, Thalmus Rasulala, Roger Robinson, George Murdock. Good black actioner set in N.Y.C., with Orman as a pimp out to topple big-shot Robinson, an outrageous homosexual. Sands is fine in her last film. [R] ▼

Willow (1988) C-125m.  D: Ron Howard. Val Kilmer, Joanne Whalley, Warwick Davis, Jean Marsh, Patricia Hayes, Billy Barty, Pat Roach, Kevin Pollak. Rolling fantasy-adventure, from a story by George Lucas (not hard to guess, since it follows a definite STAR WARS formula) about a little person (Davis) who takes on the challenge of shepherding an abandoned baby to its place of destiny—where it will destroy the evil powers of Queen Bavmorda (Marsh). Plenty of action, humor, and eye-filling special effects, though a bit intense at times for the youngsters at whom it's targeted. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Will Penny (1968) C-108m. ½ D: Tom Gries. Charlton Heston, Joan Hackett, Donald Pleasence, Lee Majors, Bruce Dern, Ben Johnson, Slim Pickens, Anthony Zerbe, Clifton James. One of the best films on the cowboy/loner ever to come out of Hollywood. Heston's character is one of great strength; supporting actors are exceptional. Written by director Gries. Memorable score by David Raksin. ▼●●

Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter? (1957)

C-94m. ½ D: Frank Tashlin. Tony Randall, Jayne Mansfield, Betsy Drake, Joan Blondell, John Williams, Henry Jones, Mickey Hargitay. Guest star, Groucho Marx. Clever satire uses George Axelrod play about ad man who tries to persuade glamorous star to endorse Stay-Put Lipstick as springboard for scattershot satire on 1950s morals, television, sex, business, etc. Director-writer Tashlin in peak form. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Willy McBean and His Magic Machine (1965-Japanese) C-94m. ½ D: Arthur Rankin, Jr. Voices of Larry Mann, Billie Richards, Alfie Scopp, Paul Ligman. Puppet novelty item about mad professor and his time machine; OK for kids. ▼

Willy Milly SEE: Something Special

Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory (1971) C-98m. ½ D: Mel Stuart. Gene Wilder, Jack Albertson, Peter Ostrum, Roy Kinnear, Aubrey Woods, Michael Bollner, Ursula Reit. Adaptation of Roald Dahl's book Charlie and the Chocolate Factory has all the ingredients of classic fantasy. Enigmatic Wilder gives kids a tour of his mystery-shrouded candy factory, but cruel edge taints film's enjoyment. Anthony Newley-Leslie Bricusse score includes "Candy Man." Scripted by Dahl, with eye-popping sets by Harper Goff. Remade in 2005 as CHARLIE AND THE CHOCOLATE FACTORY. [G] ▼●●

Wimbledon (2004-British) C-97m. ½ D: Richard Loncraine. Kirsten Dunst, Paul Bettany, Sam Neill, Jon Favreau, Bernard Hill, Eleanor Bron, Austin Nichols, Robert Lindsay, Celia Imrie, James McAvoy. Old-fashioned romantic movie about two tennis champions, one past his prime (Bettany), the other a rising star (Dunst), who fall for each other while competing at the Wimbledon tournament. Bettany is endearing and his chemistry with Dunst bolsters a pleasant but predictable script. Several famous tennis stars make cameos. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼●

Win a Date With Tad Hamilton! (2004) C-96m. ½ D: Robert Luketic. Kate Bosworth, Topher Grace, Josh Duhamel, Ginnifer Goodwin, Nathan Lane, Sean Hayes, Gary Cole, Kathryn Hahn. Cute comedy about a starstruck girl from West Virginia who wins a date with her favorite Hollywood heartthrob, much to the dismay of her best friend (Grace), who's never had the nerve to tell her he loves her. Slight at best, but put over by a winning cast that plays it for real, with no cynicism in sight. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼●

Winchester '73 (1950) 92m. ½ D: Anthony Mann. James Stewart, Shelley Winters, Dan Duryea, Stephen McNally, Charles Drake, Millard Mitchell, John McIntire, Will Geer, Jay C. Flippen, Rock Hudson, Anthony (Tony) Curtis. Exceptional Western story of Stewart tracking down a man—and his stolen rifle—through

series of interrelated episodes, leading to memorable shootout among rock-strewn hills. First-rate in every way, this landmark film was largely responsible for renewed popularity of Westerns in the 1950s. Script by Robert L. Richards and Borden Chase, from a story by Stuart N. Lake. Beautifully photographed by William Daniels; remade for TV in 1967. ▼●●

Wind, The (1928) 88m. * D: Victor Seastrom. Lillian Gish, Lars Hanson, Montagu Love, Dorothy Cumming, Edward Earle, William Orlamond. Virgin Virginian Gish battles the elements in a barren dustbowl town—marrying on the rebound a man who disgusts her, shooting the lout who rapes her. Probably Gish's greatest vehicle—and one of the last great silents—with a splendidly staged climactic desert storm sequence. Written by Frances Marion, from Dorothy Scarborough's novel. ▼●

Wind, The (1987) C-92m. BOMB D: Nico Mastorakis. Meg Foster, Wings Hauser, David McCallum, Robert Morley, Steve Railsback. Good cast is wasted in old-fashioned thriller about mystery writer Foster terrorized by Hauser in her spooky house in Greece. Unconvincing structure has hero Railsback injected artificially into the story in later reels. Released direct to video. ▼●

Wind (1992) C-125m. ½ D: Carroll Ballard. Anthony Modine, Jennifer Grey, Cliff Robertson, Jack Thompson, Stellan Skarsgard, Rebecca Miller, Ned Vaughn. Enjoyable if overly formulaic tale of competitive yacht racing, about young people determined to build their own craft and reclaim the America's Cup from Australia. Story takes a back seat to the sailing sequences, breathtakingly photographed by John Toll. [PG-13] ▼●●

Wind Across the Everglades (1958) C-93m. ½ D: Nicholas Ray. Burl Ives, Christopher Plummer, Gypsy Rose Lee, George Voskovec, Tony Galento, Emmett Kelly, Chana Eden, MacKinlay Kantor. Oddball cast in even odder story of boozy turn-of-the-century Florida game warden (Plummer) who takes it upon himself to rid the area of poachers. Matchup of director Ray and writer-producer Budd Schulberg makes this a genuine curio. Peter Falk makes his film debut in a small role.

Wind and the Lion, The (1975) C-119m. ½ D: John Milius. Sean Connery, Candice Bergen, Brian Keith, John Huston, Geoffrey Lewis, Steve Kanaly, Vladek Sheybal. Milius brings modern sensibilities to an old-fashioned adventure-romance, with uneven results. Connery is Moroccan sheik who kidnaps American woman and her children, sparking international incident in which Teddy Roosevelt (Keith) becomes involved. Loosely based on a true incident. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Wind Chill (2007) C-91m. ½ D: Gregory Jacobs. Emily Blunt, Ashton Holmes, Martin

Donovan, Ned Bellamy, Chelan Simmons. Old-fashioned supernatural chiller in which two college students sharing a ride home for Christmas take a shortcut, break down on the side of the road, and have a series of ghostly encounters. Director Jacobs eschews CGI ghost effects for character development, good performances, and slow-building, eerily evocative scares (turning the song "Rockin' Around the Christmas Tree" into an effective harbinger of dread). Falls apart in its last third, but it's easy to forgive a movie that in its first hour actually makes your spine tingle. Super 35. [R] ▾

Wind in the Willows, The (1997-British) C-83m.  D: Terry Jones. Steve Coogan, Eric Idle, Terry Jones, Antony Sher, Nicol Williamson, John Cleese, Michael Palin, Bernard Hill, Julia Sawalha. Charming, veddy British adaptation of Kenneth Grahame's classic children's story in which Rat, Badger, and Mole team up to save their wealthy, reckless friend Toad from losing his estate. Benefits from creative reteaming of many Monty Python members; Jones not only wrote and directed but plays Toad with wild comic abandon. Williamson lends excellent support as the blustery Badger. James Acheson's costumes and production design are wittily on target. Kids and adults alike should enjoy this. AKA MR. TOAD'S WILD RIDE. [G] ▾

Window, The (1949) 73m.  D: Ted Tetzlaff. Bobby Driscoll, Barbara Hale, Arthur Kennedy, Paul Stewart, Ruth Roman. Sleeper film less impressive now than in 1949; still good, with young Driscoll earning a special Academy Award for his performance as a little boy who witnesses a murder and is unable to convince his parents he's not lying. Parents' dialogue weakens credibility, but suspense still mounts; extremely well photographed (by William Steiner) and staged. Based on a story by Cornell Woolrich. Remade as THE BOY CRIED MURDER and CLOAK AND DAGGER (1984). ▾

Windows (1980) C-96m. BOMB D: Gordon Willis. Elizabeth Ashley, Talia Shire, Joseph Cortese, Kay Medford. Homicidal lesbian Ashley is in love with mousy neighbor Shire, who is in turn in love with bland detective Cortese. Reactionary, offensive thriller whose only element of mystery is why it was ever filmed. Directing debut for gifted cinematographer Willis. [R]

Windrider (1986-Australian) C-92m. ½ D: Vincent Monton. Tom Burlinson, Nicole Kidman, Charles Tingwell, Jill Perryman, Simon Chilvers. Windsurfer Burlinson and rock star Kidman become romantically involved. Occasionally appealing, but slight and forgettable. [R] ▾

Windtalkers (2002) C-134m.  D: John Woo. Nicolas Cage, Adam Beach, Christian Slater, Peter Stormare, Noah Emmerich, Mark Ruffalo, Brian Van Holt, Roger Willie, Frances O'Connor, Martin Henderson. During

WW2, two Marines are given the job of protecting a pair of Navajo code talkers (Beach, Willie) at all costs during the bloody battle of Saipan. Opportunity to learn about the Navajo-inspired code operation is squandered, as Cage's shell-shocked character takes center stage instead. Chichéd dialogue with homesick soldiers is the only respite from endless shots of gruesome combat violence. Director's cut runs 153m. Super 35. [R] ▾

Wind That Shakes the Barley, The (2006-Irish-British-German-Italian-Spanish-French) C-127m.  D: Kenneth Loach. Cillian Murphy, Padraic Delaney, Liam Cunningham, Orla Fitzgerald, Mary O'Riordan, Mary Murphy, Laurence Barry. Simple, powerful slice of Irish history, set in the early 1920s, dramatizes the transformation of a young doctor (Murphy) from passive citizen to Irish Republican Army guerrilla warrior. Scenario, penned by frequent Loach collaborator Paul Laverty, reflects the belief that those who are subjugated must acknowledge their plight, organize themselves, and fight their oppressors . . . no matter the personal toll. ▾

Windwalker (1980) C-108m. ½ D: Kieth Merrill. Trevor Howard, Nick Ramus, James Remar, Serene Hedin, Dusty Iron Wing McCrea. Indian patriarch Howard returns to life to save his family from the vengeance of his son, a twin who was stolen at birth and raised by an enemy tribe. Curious casting of Howard; however, the Utah scenery is glorious in this unusual Western. Filmed in the Cheyenne and Crow languages, and subtitled. [PG] ▾

Wind Will Carry Us, The (1999-Iranian-French) C-118m.  D: Abbas Kiarostami. Behzad Dourani. An engineer from Tehran travels to a remote mountain village in Iranian Kurdistan, claiming to be an archaeologist looking for buried treasure. In reality, he is part of a film crew that is secretly planning to record a local funeral ceremony ritual surrounding a 100-year-old woman who is dying. Slow, haunting, and poetic meditation on mortality features some surprisingly humorous moments; breathtakingly filmed in the tiny village of Siah Darih, whose residents make up most of the cast. Written by the director. ▾

Windy City (1984) C-102m.  D: Arnyan Bernstein. John Shea, Kate Capshaw, Josh Mostel, Jim Borrelli, Jeffrey DeMunn, Lewis J. Stadler. Promising but uneven film flashes back to last hurrah for some youthful pals whose lives haven't turned out quite as they'd hoped or planned. Writer Bernstein (making directorial debut) invades BIG CHILL/SECAUCUS 7 territory with extremely mixed results. [R] ▾ ●

Wing Commander (1999) C-99m. *½ D: Chris Roberts. Freddie Prinze, Jr., Saffron Burrows, Matthew Lillard, Tchéky Karyo, Jürgen Prochnow, David Suchet, David

Warner. In a 27th-century space war between humans and aliens, the outcome turns out to depend on a single fighter pilot. Well-produced, with lots of CGI effects, but instantly forgettable trifle based on a computer game. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●●

Winged Migration (2001-French-German-Spanish-Italian-Swiss) C-91m.  D: Jacques Perrin. The producer of MICROCOSMOS turns director to explore birds in flight, using revolutionary filming techniques to make us feel as if we're right alongside them (not to mention above, below, behind, and in front). The film homes in on various species as they migrate on a seasonal basis in order to survive, often spanning oceans and entire continents. Impressive and eye-opening, though without a narrative thrust one's interest can lag at times. [G]▼●

Winged Serpent, The SEE: Q

Wings (1927) 139m. ½ D: William A. Wellman. Clara Bow, Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Richard Arlen, Jobyna Ralston, Gary Cooper, El Brendel. One of the most famous silent films is, alas, not one of the best, despite rose-colored memories. Story of two all-American boys (in love with the same girl) who enlist in the Army Air Corps during WWI is much too thin to sustain such a long movie. What's important here are the combat flying sequences, among the best in Hollywood history. First Oscar winner as Best Picture.▼●

Wings of Courage (1995) C-40m.  D: Jean-Jacques Annaud. Craig Sheffer, Elizabeth McGovern, Tom Hulce, Val Kilmer, Ken Pogue, Ron Sauve, Molly Parker. Beautiful scenery aside, this is a lumbering, boring true-life adventure in which pioneer aviator Henri Guillaumet (Sheffer) must fight for survival in the Andes after his plane is forced down while on a mail run circa 1930. Dramatically speaking, it's about as lively as a 1930s Monogram programmer. Of note as the first fiction film made in IMAX 3-D. Annaud coscripted. [G]▼

Wings of Desire (1988-West German-French) C/B&W-130m. ½ D: Wim Wenders. Bruno Ganz, Solveig Dommartin, Otto Sander, Curt Bois, Peter Falk. Haunting, lyrical, fascinating meditation/fairy tale about a pair of angels who wander through the streets of West Berlin. They observe life around them and ponder what it would be like to be human. Scripted by Wenders and Peter Handke and inspired in part by some Rainer Maria Rilke poems. A must-see. Sequel: FARAWAY, SO CLOSE! Remade as CITY OF ANGELS. [PG-13]▼●●

Wings of Eagles, The (1957) C-110m. ½ D: John Ford. John Wayne, Maureen O'Hara, Dan Dailey, Ward Bond, Ken Curtis, Edmund Lowe, Kenneth Tobey, Sig Ruman. Biography of Frank "Spig" Wead, pioneer WWI aviator who later turned to screenwriting (including AIR MAIL and THEY WERE EXPENDABLE for Ford) after an accident; first half is slapstick comedy, with no sense of period detail, then abruptly changes to drama for balance of film. Very mixed bag; film buffs will have fun watching Bond play "John Dodge," spoofing director Ford.▼●

Wings of the Dove, The (1997-British-U.S.) C-101m. ½ D: Iain Softley. Helena Bonham Carter, Linus Roache, Alison Elliott, Charlotte Rampling, Elizabeth McGovern, Michael Gambon, Alex Jennings. Exquisite but emotionally uneven film (from the Henry James novel) about a young woman torn between her love for a working man (Roache) and her desire for wealth and position . . . complicated by her growing friendship with a rich, guileless American woman (Elliott). Sophisticated and intelligent, but the characters' vacillations and ambiguous feelings make it difficult to empathize with anyone. Venice has never been portrayed so beautifully, or romantically. Gambon and McGovern have thankless roles. Super 35. [R]▼●●

Winner, The (1997) C-95m. ½ D: Alex Cox. Rebecca De Mornay, Vincent D'Onofrio, Michael Madsen, Billy Bob Thornton, Delroy Lindo, Frank Whaley, Richard Edson. When word gets out that a loner (D'Onofrio) wins consistently, every Sunday night at a low-rent Las Vegas casino, the leeches begin to gather around him, including a sexy nightclub singer, an opportunistic thief from out of town, and his own homicidal brother. Interesting fable with a first-rate cast. De Mornay also coexecutive-produced. Debuted on cable TV before theatrical run.▼●

Winner Take All (1932) 68m. ½ D: Roy Del Ruth. James Cagney, Virginia Bruce, Marian Nixon, Guy Kibbee, Alan Mowbray, Dickie Moore. Minor but engaging Cagney vehicle with Jimmy as a thick-witted, cocky prizefighter torn between good-girl Nixon and fickle society-girl Bruce. Look fast for George Raft as night club händler.

Winning (1969) C-123m.  D: James Goldstone. Paul Newman, Joanne Woodward, Richard Thomas, Robert Wagner, David Sheiner, Clu Gulager. Above average racing story of man who will let nothing stand in the way of track victory. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Winning Team, The (1952) 98m. ½ D: Lewis Seiler. Doris Day, Ronald Reagan, Frank Lovejoy, Eve Miller, James Millican, Rusty Tamblyn. Biography of baseball pitching great Grover Cleveland Alexander focuses on his relationship with supportive wife whose "teamwork" helps Alexander through problems with alcoholism and lack of confidence. Reagan is fine as the Hall of Fame hurler and film boasts good reenactments of Alexander's legendary 1926 World Series heroics. Cameo appearances by real-life big leaguers Bob Lemon, Peanuts Lowrey, Hank Sauer, Gene Mauch, and others.▼●●

Win, Place or Steal (1975) C-81m.  D: Richard Bailey. Dean Stockwell, Russ Tamblyn, Alex Karras, McLean Stevenson, Alan Oppenheimer, Kristina Holland. OK racetrack caper comedy, with Tamblyn and Karras doing a Laurel and Hardy. Aka THE BIG PAYOFF. [PG]▼

Winslow Boy, The (1948-British) 117m. ½ D: Anthony Asquith. Robert Donat, Margaret Leighton, Cedric Hardwicke, Francis L. Sullivan, Frank Lawton, Basil Radford, Wilfrid Hyde-White, Ernest Thesiger. Superior courtroom melodrama from Terence Rattigan's play, headed by Donat as barrister defending innocent Naval cadet (Neil North) accused of school theft. Script by Rattigan and Anatole de Grunwald. Remade in 1999.▼

Winslow Boy, The (1999) C-110m.  D: David Mamet. Nigel Hawthorne, Rebecca Pidgeon, Jeremy Northam, Gemma Jones, Guy Edwards, Matthew Pidgeon, Colin Stinton, Aden Gillett. Absorbing remake of the Terence Rattigan play about a boy in 1910 England who's expelled from school for a petty theft. His father determines to clear his good name—nearly sacrificing his family in the process. As much about social mores and conventions as the case itself, this even-handed film benefits from a superlative performance by Hawthorne as the head of the Winslow household. Neil North, who plays the First Lord of the Admiralty, was the boy in the 1948 movie. [G]▼

Winter à Go-Go (1965) C-88m.  D: Richard Benedict. James Stacy, William Wellman, Jr., Beverly Adams, Jill Donohue, Julie Parrish. Lowbrow shenanigans at a ski resort run by Stacy for the young, affluent set.

Winter Guest, The (1997-British-U.S.) C-110m.  D: Alan Rickman. Phyllida Law, Emma Thompson, Gary Hollywood, Arlene Cockburn, Sheila Reid, Sandra Voe, Douglas Murphy, Sean Biggerstaff. A Scottish seaside town is frozen over—as is the ocean itself—on a wintry day during which four relationships are explored: a young widow and her mother, who's trying to break through her daughter's defensive shield; the widow's teenage son, who experiences his first sexual encounter; two older women whose hobby is attending funerals; and a couple of boys playing hooky. An incredibly quiet, concentrated film—which, perhaps, goes on too long. Based on a play, coadapted by Rickman (making his feature directing debut). Law and Thompson are real-life mother and daughter. [R]▼

Winterhawk (1976) C-98m.  D: Charles B. Pierce. Michael Dante, Leif Erickson, Woody Strode, Denver Pyle, Elisha Cook Jr., L. Q. Jones, Arthur Hunnicutt, Dawn Wells. Well-meaning but overly melodramatic story of Blackfoot Indian brave (Dante) who comes to white man for smallpox serum, is attacked instead, and gets revenge by kidnapping two white youngsters. Quite violent at times. Techniscope. [PG]▼

Winter in Lisbon (1990-Spanish-French-Portuguese) C-100m. ½ D: Jose Antonio

Zorilla. Christian Vadim, Dizzy Gillespie, Helene de Saint-Pere, Eusebio Poncela, Fernando Guillen. Disjointed, turgid account of jazz pianist Vadim and his torrid affair with deceitful de Saint-Pere. Of interest solely for Gillespie's bright presence as an aging, expatriate American jazzman.

Winter Kills (1979) C-97m. ½ D: William Richert. Jeff Bridges, John Huston, Anthony Perkins, Sterling Hayden, Eli Wallach, Belinda Bauer, Richard Boone, Ralph Meeker, Dorothy Malone, Toshiro Mifune, Tomas Milian, Elizabeth Taylor. Younger brother of an assassinated U.S. President tries to solve the case, opens up several cans of political worms. A failure in 1979, it was reedited in 1983 (with original ending restored) and newly appreciated as a black comedy, which not everybody recognized the first time around. Still wildly uneven, but worth a look, if only for Huston's wonderful performance as Bridges' kingpin father. Panavision. [R]▼

Winter Light (1963-Swedish) 80m. ½ D: Ingmar Bergman. Ingrid Thulin, Gunnar Bjornstrand, Max von Sydow, Gunnel Lindblom, Allan Edwall. A difficult film for non-Bergman buffs, this look at a disillusioned priest in a small village is the second of Bergman's trilogy on faith (the first, THROUGH A GLASS DARKLY; the third, THE SILENCE). Powerful, penetrating drama.▼

Winter Meeting (1948) 104m. ½ D: Bretonne Windust. Bette Davis, Janis Paige, James (Jim) Davis, John Hoyt, Florence Bates. Sluggish script of disillusioned poetess who loves embittered war hero, prevents well-acted film from achieving greater heights. Notable as only romantic lead for Jim Davis, better known for his Westerns and TV series Dallas.▼

Winter of Our Dreams, The (1981-Australian) C-90m. ½ D: John Duigan. Judy Davis, Bryan Brown, Cathy Downes, Baz Luhrmann, Peter Mochrie, Mervyn Drake. Davis is fine as a lonely prostitute who becomes involved with dissatisfied bookshop-owner Brown, married to Downes. Intriguing drama is a bit disjointed, particularly near the finale.▼

Winter Passing (2006) C-98m. ½ D: Adam Rapp. Ed Harris, Zooey Deschanel, Daniel Larson, Will Ferrell, Deirdre O'Connell, Rachel Dratch, Amy Madigan, Mandy Siegfried, Amelia Warner, Dallas Roberts, Sam Bottoms. Uninvolving misfire about an actress who is offered big bucks to produce long-lost love letters written by her reclusive novelist father to her deceased mother. When she travels back home she discovers there are new influences in his life she never knew about. Snail-paced drama can't gather dramatic momentum as talented actors fail to gel as a believable family. Normally reliable Harris chews the scenery and Deschanel

mumbles. This winter takes a loooooong time to pass. [R]●

Winter People (1989) C-110m.  D: Ted Kotcheff. Kurt Russell, Kelly McGillis, Lloyd Bridges, Mitchell Ryan, Amelia Burnette, Eileen Ryan, Jeffrey Meek. Turgid tale of backwoods clans and a blood feud that flares up when McGillis bears a child with the wrong father. Set in the 1930s, but extremely odd by any period's standards; how it came to be made in 1989 is anyone's guess. Overwrought, to say the least. Panavision. [PG-13]▼●●

Winter Rates SEE: Out of Season

Winter Solstice (2005) C-93m.  D: Josh Sternfeld. Anthony LaPaglia, Aaron Stanford, Mark Webber, Michelle Monaghan, Allison Janney, Brendan Sexton III, Ron Livingston. Subdued but well-observed slice of life about a widower and his two sons, one of whom is itching to set off on his own. Looks, glances, and body language tell as much as dialogue in this simple film about a family still reeling from loss yet inextricably tied to one another. LaPaglia is terrific as always; he also coexecutive-produced. Debut feature for writer-director Sternfeld. [R]●

Winter's Tale, The (1968-British) C-151m.  D: Frank Dunlop. Laurence Harvey, Jane Asher, Diana Churchill, Moira Redmond, Jim Dale. Filmed record of 1966 Edinburgh Festival presentation of Shakespeare's play is as static as a photographed stage play can be.

Wired (1989) C-108m. BOMB D: Larry Peerce. Michael Chiklis, Ray Sharkey, J. T. Walsh, Patti D'Arbanville, Lucinda Jenney, Alex Rocco, Gary Groomes, Jere Burns, Billy Preston. The film fiasco of its year, a numbingly wrongheaded adaptation of Bob Woodward's best-selling cautionary bio of John Belushi—complete with a cab-driving guardian angel (Sharkey). Chiklis looks a little like Belushi but conveys none of his comic genius in some clumsy Saturday Night Live recreations. Walsh, as Woodward, is an unintentional howl with the decade's most constipated performance. Sole cast survivor: D'Arbanville as Cathy Smith, the woman who administered the star's fatal drug overdose. [R]▼●●

Wisdom (1986) C-109m. BOMB D: Emilio Estevez. Emilio Estevez, Demi Moore, Tom Skerritt, Veronica Cartwright, William Allen Young, Richard Minchenberg, Ernie Brown. Recent grad Estevez can't find work because of a long-ago felony on his record; frustration launches him and girlfriend Moore on a cross-country series of bank heists to aid the American farmer's plight. Robert Wise assisted Estevez on the direction, which is certainly more competent than his wretched script; film has one of the most self-defeating wrapups you'll ever see. [R]▼●●

Wise Blood (1979) C-108m. ½ D:

John Huston. Brad Dourif, Daniel Shor, Amy Wright, Harry Dean Stanton, Ned Beatty, Mary Nell Santarocce. Brilliant translation of Flannery O'Connor's peculiar hell-and-salvation tale. Flawless cast, led by Dourif as obsessed preacher of The Church Without Christ, inhabits Southern Gothic world as though born in it. Huston (who bills himself here as Jhon Huston) appears as a preacher. Screenplay by Benedict Fitzgerald. [PG]▼●

Wise Guys (1986) C-91m. *½ D: Brian De Palma. Danny DeVito, Joe Piscopo, Harvey Keitel, Ray Sharkey, Dan Hedaya, Captain Lou Albano, Julie Bovasso, Patti LuPone. Whimsical black comedy (that's what we said) about two losers who work for small-time hood in Newark, N.J. When their efforts to double-cross him fail, he sets them up to kill each other. Unsuccessful change of pace for director De Palma is an almost total misfire; buoyed only by DeVito's comic energy. [R]▼●

Wishful Thinking (1999) C-90m.  D: Adam Park. Jennifer Beals, James Le Gros, Drew Barrymore, Jon Stewart, Eric Thal, Mel Gorham. A N.Y.C.-based movie about relationships, told in overlapping "chapters," as paranoiacally jealous Le Gros keeps finding ways to drive his lover (Beals) away . . . with a little help from his lovesick friend Barrymore. Makes clever use of footage from an old Steve Cochran movie. Never released theatrically. [R]▼●

Wishmaster (1997) C-90m. *½ D: Robert Kurtzman. Tammy Lauren, Andrew Divoff, Chris Lemmon, Wendy Benson, Tony Crane, Kane Hodder, Tony Todd, Robert Englund, Ted Raimi. An evil djinn (genie to you) is freed from captivity in a gem and sets out to grant (backfiring) wishes while seeking Lauren, because granting her wishes will enable him to destroy the world . . . or something. The mythology is too complex, the story too thin, and the plentiful gore mostly gratuitous. Followed by three direct-to-video sequels. [R]▼●●

Wish You Were Here (1987-British) C-92m.  D: David Leland. Emily Lloyd, Tom Bell, Clare Clifford, Barbara Durkin, Geoffrey Hutchings, Charlotte Barker, Chloe Leland, Jesse Birdsall, Geoffrey Durham, Pat Heywood. A troubled teenage girl expresses herself by being sexually outrageous—without understanding what the consequences might be. Bittersweet film set in early 1950s England with a knockout performance by 16-year-old Lloyd. Strong directing debut for screenwriter Leland, who based his central character on Cynthia Payne, the young madam depicted in PERSONAL SERVICES, which he wrote. [R]▼●●

Wistful Widow of Wagon Gap, The (1947) 78m. ½ D: Charles Barton. Bud Abbott, Lou Costello, Marjorie Main, George Cleveland, Gordon Jones, William

Ching, Peter Thompson, Glenn Strange, Audrey Young. Unusual Western spoof for A&C, inspired by real-life law: Lou is accused of killing a man, and is required to take care of his wife (Main) and children (seven). He then becomes sheriff, convinced that no one will dare kill him. Some slow spots, but overall, fun. ▼◆

Witchboard (1985) C-98m.  D: Kevin S. Tenney. Todd Allen, Tawny Kitaen, Stephen Nicholas, Kathleen Wilhoite, Burke Byrnes, Rose Marie, Susan Nickerson. Standard low-budget horror film with a few twists. An evil spirit, contacted by means of a Ouija board (a "witchboard"), impersonates the ghost of a small boy to kill its victims. Well plotted but routinely directed and acted. Followed by a whole bunch of sequels connected only by the Ouija board. [R] ▼◆◆

Witchcraft (1964-British) 79m.  D: Don Sharp. Lon Chaney (Jr.), Jack Hedley, Jill Dixon, Viola Keats. Standard plot of witch cult happenings in English village after grave of 300-year-old witch is unearthed. ◆

Witchery (1989-Italian) C-96m. BOMB D: Martin Newlin (Fabrizio Laurenti). Linda Blair, David Hasselhoff, Catherine Hickland, Annie Ross, Hildegard Knef, Leslie Cumming, Rick Farnsworth. Competently made but ponderous, underplotted horror tale of people isolated at old hotel on island, killed one by one by vengeful witch Knef. Horror scenes emphasize torture. Uncomfortable, predictable, and boring. Filmed in Massachusetts. ▼◆

Witches, The (1990-British) C-91m.  D: Nicolas Roeg. Anjelica Huston, Mai Zetterling, Jasen Fisher, Rowan Atkinson, Bill Paterson, Jane Horrocks, Jenny Runacre, Brenda Blethyn. A young boy's seaside vacation turns into a nightmare when he discovers that the hotel is also hosting a convention of witches! Roald Dahl stories can be cruel, and this is no exception, but as a far-flung child's-eye fantasy it's pretty good. Zetterling is wonderful as the boy's loving grandmother; Jim Henson's Creature Shop provided the incredible-looking witches—and mice. This was Henson's final feature-film project. [PG] ▼◆◆

Witches' Brew (1980) C-99m. ½ D: Richard Shorr, Herbert L. Strock. Lana Turner, Richard Benjamin, Teri Garr, Kathryn Leigh Scott, Jordan Charney. College prof Benjamin's wife Garr resorts to witchcraft in order to further his career. Turner (in her final film) is good as the veteran witch who has selfish reasons for helping Benjamin's cause. After a dull first half, this comic remake of BURN, WITCH, BURN finally hits its stride. Originally done as WEIRD WOMAN. Based on the book Conjure Wife by Fritz Leiber. [PG] ▼

Witches of Eastwick, The (1987) C-118m.  D: George Miller. Jack Nicholson, Cher, Susan Sarandon, Michelle Pfeiffer,

Veronica Cartwright, Richard Jenkins, Keith Jochim, Carel Struycken. Lively, colorful fantasy about three man-hungry women in picture-postcard New England town who, unaware of their witchly powers, conjure up the ultimate man: the devil. Magnetic performances and handsome production keep it entertaining throughout, though it careens wildly from sensual fantasy to black-comic farce to full-throttle horror, and ends up not making a lot of sense. Buoyed by an infectious John Williams score. Loosely based on John Updike's novel. Panavision. [R] ▼◆◆

Witches of Salem, The SEE: Crucible, The (1956)

Witchfinder General, The SEE: Conqueror Worm

Witching, The SEE: Necromancy

Witch Without a Broom, A (1968-Spanish) C-78m. *½ D: Joe Lacy (Jose Maria E. Lorrieta). Jeffrey Hunter, Maria Perschy, Perla Cristal, Gustavo Rojo. Jeff finds himself bewitched by a 15th-century apprentice sorceress who takes him on an odyssey from the Stone Age to a futuristic Martian jaunt. Pointless fantasy. ▼

With a Friend Like Harry . . . (2000-French) C-117m.  D: Dominik Moll. Laurent Lucas, Sergi Lopez, Mathilde Seigner, Sophie Guillemin. Hitchcockian thriller (in the best sense of that term) in which a chance encounter with a barely remembered high school classmate causes great consternation for a family on vacation as he insinuates himself into their lives. Wickedly funny and scary at the same time; a psychological exercise in suspense. Winner of four César Awards, including Best Actor for Lopez. Super 35. [R] ▼◆

With a Song in My Heart (1952) C-117m.  D: Walter Lang. Susan Hayward, Rory Calhoun, David Wayne, Thelma Ritter, Robert Wagner, Una Merkel. Well-intentioned schmaltz based on events in life of singer Jane Froman with Hayward earnest as songstress struggling to make comeback after crippling plane crash. Alfred Newman won an Oscar for Scoring. ◆

With Byrd at the South Pole (1930) 82m.  D: (none credited). The title tells all in this fascinating document of U.S. Navy Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd, his crew, and their journey by sea from N.Y.C. to the Antarctic, culminating with his Polar flight. Film plays as part historical record, part promotional film hyping Byrd (complete with rah-rah narration in the final sequence). Despite this, it's still a remarkable film. William Van der Veer and Joseph T. Rucker's stunning cinematography earned an Academy Award. ▼◆◆

With Friends Like These . . . (1999) C-105m.  D: Philip F. Messina. Robert Costanzo, Adam Arkin, Amy Madigan, David Strathairn, Laura San Giacomo, Jon

Tenney, Elle Macpherson, Lauren Tom, Beverly D'Angelo, Michael McKean, Jason Alexander, Bill Murray, Martin Scorsese, Garry Marshall. Close friends who are character actors find themselves in a fiercely competitive situation when word gets out that Martin Scorsese is casting a new film on Al Capone. How much does friendship count at a time like this? Affectionate, serio-comic look at working actors, with a fine ensemble. Written by the director. Made for theaters, debuted on cable TV. [R]▼

With Honors (1994) C-103m.  D: Alek Keshishian. Joe Pesci, Brendan Fraser, Moira Kelly, Patrick Dempsey, Josh Hamilton, Gore Vidal, Deborah Fortson, Marshall Hambro. Homeless Pesci trades pages for food after callow Ivy Leaguer Fraser meets him in Irene Dunne screwball style when his thesis falls through a grate into the Harvard boiler room where Pesci resides. Comedy-drama might be insulting if it had just a little more sting, but it's a fizzle almost from the beginning. [PG-13]▼●●

Withnail & I (1987-British) C-105m. ½ D: Bruce Robinson. Richard E. Grant, Paul McGann, Richard Griffiths, Ralph Brown, Michael Elphick. "I" is a young longhair, living in London in the last months of 1969; Withnail is his eccentric, self-absorbed roommate. Both are unemployed actors, children of their times, who endure a disastrous vacation in the country. Director Robinson wrote this autobiographical film, which has its amusing moments but eventually becomes monotonous. Best laugh: consultant credit for "Richard Starkey, M.B.E." Fellow Beatle George Harrison coexecutive-produced the film. [R]▼●●

Without a Clue (1988-British) C-106m. ½ D: Thom Eberhardt. Michael Caine, Ben Kingsley, Jeffrey Jones, Lysette Anthony, Paul Freeman, Nigel Davenport, Pat Keen, Peter Cook. Mild farce built on the premise that Sherlock Holmes was a fictional creation of wily Dr. John Watson, who is forced to hire a second-rate actor (Caine) to impersonate the now famous and sought-after detective. Scattered laughs, engaging performances by star duo. [PG]▼●●

Without a Paddle (2004) C-99m.  D: Steven Brill. Seth Green, Matthew Lillard, Dax Shepard, Ethan Suplee, Abraham Benrubi, Rachel Blanchard, Burt Reynolds, Christina Moore, Bonnie Somerville, Ray Baker. Anemic summertime comedy about three boyhood pals who reunite to take the river journey they always promised themselves they'd take, to search for the lost treasure of D. B. Cooper. Derivative mishmash of slapstick and sentiment gets what mileage it can from its three likable stars. Reynolds' presence is surely intended to evoke memories of DELIVERANCE . . . but doesn't.

Followed by a DVD sequel. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●

Without Apparent Motive (1972-French) C-102m.  D: Philippe Labro. Jean-Louis Trintignant, Dominique Sanda, Sacha Distel, Carla Gravina, Paul Crauchet, Laura Antonelli, Jean-Pierre Marielle. Powderhouse European cast can't do much for Ed McBain tale about detective Trintignant's attempts to solve series of unpredictable killings; Erich Segal plays an astrologer. [PG]

Without a Trace (1983) C-120m. ½ D: Stanley R. Jaffe. Kate Nelligan, Judd Hirsch, David Dukas, Stockard Channing, Jacqueline Brookes, Kathleen Widdoes, Caroline Aaron, Dan Lauria, W. (William) H. Macy. Story of one woman's ordeal when her six-year-old son disappears while walking to school one morning. Genteel, well-made film keeps an am's-length emotionally, especially in Nelligan's cold portrayal of the mother. The resolution is not to be believed. Based on a real-life N.Y.C. incident that had a much different outcome. Directorial debut of producer Jaffe. [PG]▼●

Without Limits (1998) C-117m.  D: Robert Towne. Billy Crudup, Donald Sutherland, Monica Potter, Jeremy Sisto, Matthew Lillard, Billy Burke, Dean Norris, Judith Ivey. Second screen bio of the late University of Oregon runner Steve Prefontaine is more polished than 1997's PREFONTAINE, especially in its re-creation of competition scenes. Produced by Tom Cruise, this barely released sleeper benefits from Sutherland's excellent performance as coach Bill Bowerman. Another plus: outstanding—and non-clichéd—use of period music. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●●

Without Love (1945) 111m.  D: Harold S. Bucquet. Spencer Tracy, Katharine Hepburn, Lucille Ball, Keenan Wynn, Carl Esmond, Patricia Morison, Felix Bressart, Gloria Grahame. Tracy and Hepburn have never been livelier, but script (by Donald Ogden Stewart, from Philip Barry's play) lets them down in story of inventor and widow who marry for convenience, later fall in love. Wynn and Ball are excellent second leads.▼●●

Without Pity (1948-Italian) 94m.  D: Alberto Lattuada. Carla Del Poggio, John Kitzmiller, Giulietta Masina, Folco Lulli, Pierre Luigi. Moving neorealist classic about a black G.I. (Kitzmiller) and his love affair with a prostitute (Del Poggio) in liberated WW2 Italy. Superb supporting performance by Masina; film was cowritten by her husband, Federico Fellini. Originally titled: SENZA PIETA.

Without Reservations (1946) 107m.  D: Mervyn LeRoy. Claudette Colbert, John Wayne, Don Defore, Anne Triola, Frank Puglia, Phil Brown, Thurston Hall, Louella Parsons, Dona Drake. Authoress Colbert meets perfect man to play hero in movie version of her new book: soldier Wayne. Engaging comedy-romance, with some amusing swipes at Hollywood, several surprise guest stars. Look fast for Raymond Burr during dance scene. ▼●●

Without Warning! (1952) 77m.  D: Arnold Laven. Adam Williams, Meg Randall, Edward Binns, Harlan Warde, John Maxwell, Angela Stevens, Byron Kane, Charles Tannen, Robert Shayne. Creepy character actor Williams shines in a rare starring role as a shy, lonely gardener with a penchant for plunging his shears into bottle-blonde bombshells who remind him of his former wife. Low-budget noir is a taut and trim little crime thriller, stylishly shot by Joseph F. Biroc, which presents an evocative look at a seedy '50s L.A. and such vanished parts of the city as Chavez Ravine before it was cleared to make way for Dodger Stadium. ●

Without Warning (1980) C-89m. *½ D: Greydon Clark. Jack Palance, Cameron Mitchell, Martin Landau, Ralph Meeker, Tarah Nutter, Sue Ane Langdon, Neville Brand, Larry Storch. Very silly horror film. Alien launches carnivorous disks at various citizens. A few scattered laughs and shudders, some intense acting, and a flagrantly bad job by Landau as a militant ex-sergeant named Fred Dobbs. AKA IT CAME WITHOUT WARNING. [R]

Without You I'm Nothing (1990) C-94m. ½ D: John Boskovich. Sandra Bernhard, John Doe, Steve Antin, Lu Leonard, Ken Foree, Cynthia Bailey, Djimon Hounsou. Adaptation of Bernhard's one-woman off-Broadway show, in which she takes on a number of roles in order to examine American pop culture, and the challenge of surviving in modern society. She's definitely an acquired taste, but the material does hit its targets more often than not—especially when Sandra does her take on Diana Ross. Video version runs 89m. [R] ▼●●

With Six You Get Eggnog (1968) C-95m.  D: Howard Morris. Doris Day, Brian Keith, Pat Carroll, Barbara Hershey, George Carlin, Alice Ghostley, Vic Tayback, Jamie Farr, William Christopher. Oft-told tale of a widow and widower who try to move their children under the same roof. Amiable but slow on laughs. Day's last film to date. Pansivision. [G] ▼●

Witless Protection (2008) C-97m. BOMB D: Charles Robert Corner. Larry the Cable Guy (Dan Whitney), Ivana Milicevic, Jenny McCarthy, Yaphet Kotto, Eric Roberts, Peter Stormare, Joe Mantegna. Another rattletrap vehicle for comic Whitney's redneck character. This time, Larry is a small-town deputy sheriff who kidnaps a beautiful government witness (Milicevic) from the crooked FBI agents assigned to "protect" her. Not just unfunny but offensive whenever good-of-'boy Larry makes snide remarks about Arabs, Asians, or African-Americans. Stormare and Mantegna mug furiously, to little effect. [PG-13] ●

Witness (1985) C-112m.  D: Peter Weir. Harrison Ford, Kelly McGillis, Josef Sommer, Lukas Haas, Jan Rubes, Alexander Godunov, Danny Glover, Patti LuPone, Viggo Mortensen. A big-city cop on the lam hides out on an Amish farm, where he and a young widow are attracted to each other. Entertaining film is marred by jarring shifts in tone, especially toward the end. Oscar winner for writers Earl W. Wallace, William Kelley, Pamela Wallace. [R] ▼●●

Witness for the Prosecution (1957) 114m. * D: Billy Wilder. Marlene Dietrich, Tyrone Power, Charles Laughton, Elsa Lanchester, John Williams, Henry Daniell, Una O'Connor, Ian Wolfe. Fantastically effective London courtroom suspenser from Agatha Christie play. Dietrich is peerless as wife of alleged killer (Power). Laughton at his best as defense attorney, and Lanchester delightful as his long-suffering nurse. Power's last completed film. Scripted by Wilder and Harry Kurnitz. Remade as a TVM. ▼●●

Witness to Murder (1954) 83m.  D: Roy Rowland. Barbara Stanwyck, George Sanders, Gary Merrill, Jesse White, Claude Akins. Stanwyck sees ex-Nazi neighbor Sanders strangle a woman, but can't convince detective Merrill. However, Sanders believes her. . . . Unconvincing and rather shrill, but suspenseful and well acted, with striking photography (by John Alton).

Wives and Lovers (1963) 103m. ½ D: John Rich. Janet Leigh, Van Johnson, Shelley Winters, Martha Hyer, Ray Walston, Jeremy Slate. Surface, slick entertainment; newly famous writer Johnson, wife Leigh and child move to suburbia. Literary agent Hyer on the make almost causes divorce; Winters is wise-cracking neighbor. Script by Edward Anhalt, from Jay Presson Allen's play.

Wiz, The (1978) C-133m.  D: Sidney Lumet. Diana Ross, Michael Jackson, Nipsey Russell, Ted Ross, Mabel King, Theresa Merritt, Thelma Carpenter, Lena Horne, Richard Pryor. Diana Ross weeps and whines her way through modern black variation on THE WIZARD OF OZ, from the Broadway show by William F. Brown and Charlie Smalls. Some good musical numbers, fine supporting cast, but dreary finale—and drearier performance by Ross—really weigh it down. Music arranged and conducted by Quincy Jones. [G] ▼●●

Wizard, The (1989) C-99m.  D: Todd Holland. Fred Savage, Luke Edwards, Jenny Lewis, Beau Bridges, Christian Slater, Will Seltzer, Jackey Vinson, Wendy Phillips, Sam McMurray. A road movie for kids, with Savage, his traumatized brother Edwards, and Lewis pursued across the Southwest by various relatives and other grown-ups. Limp, overplotted comedy suffers from heavy product plugs. ROCKY-like finish, dealing with Edwards' video-game wizardry, may thrill preteens but few others. Look for Tobey Maguire in a bit part. [PG]▼●●

Wizard of Baghdad, The (1960) C-92m.  D: George Sherman. Dick Shawn, Diane Baker, Barry Coe, John Van Dreelen, Robert F. Simon, Vaughn Taylor. Blah satire on costumers, with Shawn a lazy genie. CinemaScope.

Wizard of Loneliness, The (1988) C-111m.  D: Jenny Bowen. Lukas Haas, Lea Thompson, John Randolph, Anne Pitoniak, Dylan Baker, Lance Guest, Jeremiah Warner. Top-notch acting (especially by precocious young star Haas) fails to save a haphazardly constructed adaptation of John Nichols' novel about a youngster growing up with his grandparents in New England during WW2. His aunt (Thompson in an unusual character role) carries a dark secret that leads to a melodramatic climax. A coproduction of PBS' American Playhouse. [PG-13]▼●●

Wizard of Oz, The (1939) C/B&W-101m. * D: Victor Fleming. Judy Garland, Ray Bolger, Bert Lahr, Jack Haley, Frank Morgan, Billie Burke, Margaret Hamilton, Charley Grapewin, Clara Blandick, The Singer Midgets. A genuine American classic, based on L. Frank Baum's story of a Kansas girl who goes "Over the Rainbow" to a land of colorful characters and spirited adventure. A perfect cast in the perfect fantasy, with Harold Arlen and E. Y. Harburg's unforgettable score. Just as good the fifteenth time as it is the first time. Won Oscars for "Over the Rainbow" and Herbert Stothart's scoring, plus a special miniature award for Judy. Previously filmed in 1925; remade as THE WIZ (set in N.Y.C.), OZ (Australia), and for TV in 2005 with the Muppets. A pair of sequels: JOURNEY BACK TO OZ and RETURN TO OZ.▼●●

Wizard of Speed and Time, The (1988) C-95m. ½ D: Mike Jittlov. Mike Jittlov, Paige Moore, Richard Kaye, David Conrad, John Massari, Steve Brodie, Frank LaLoggia, Philip Michael Thomas. A young special-effects whiz and his pals buck the Hollywood system and try to make a movie. This completely self-referential low-budget comedy scores big points for gumption and enthusiasm, which helps make up for some amateurish qualities. Best of all are Jittlov's eye-popping, one-of-a-kind visual effects. Expanded from a popular short subject of the same name. [PG]▼●●

Wizards (1977) C-80m. *½ D: Ralph Bakshi. Voices of Bob Holt, Jesse Wells, Richard Romanus, David Proval, Mark Hamill. Animated sci-fi tale of future world after devastation, with warring factions that conjure up Hitler's armies. Turgid, unappealing film for adults or children. [PG]▼●●

Wolf (1994) C-122m.  D: Mike Nichols. Jack Nicholson, Michelle Pfeiffer, James Spader, Kate Nelligan, Christopher Plummer, Richard Jenkins, Eileen Atkins, David Hyde Pierce, Om Puri, Ron Rifkin, Prunella Scales, David Schwimmer, Allison Janney. Thoughtful, imaginative werewolf tale in a modern urban setting, with Nicholson as a genteel book editor who's bitten by a wolf—just as he's going through a personal and professional crisis. Literate, intriguing, though perhaps too slowly paced (and genteel) for rabid horror fans. Written by Jim Harrison and Wesley Strick, with makeup effects by Rick Baker. [R]▼●●

Wolf at the Door (1987-French-Danish) C-90m.  D: Henning Carlsen. Donald Sutherland, Max von Sydow, Valerie Morea, Sofie Grabol, Fanny Bastin, Merete Voldstedlund. Sutherland is more subdued as Gauguin than Anthony Quinn was in LUST FOR LIFE; generally interesting bio covers the middle period of the artist's life, when he returned to Paris from Tahiti—then struggled to raise the money to go back. Arouses your interest in the subject. [R]▼

Wolf Creek (2005-Australian) C-99m. *½ D: Greg McLean. John Jarratt, Cassandra Magrath, Kestie Morassi, Nathan Phillips, Gordon Poole, Guy O'Donnell. Yet another would-be BLAIR WITCH PROJECT, this even played in competition at Sundance and Cannes but isn't nearly as special as its Fest cred would indicate. Three backpacking friends are stranded in the dark, deserted, remote area of the Outback known as Wolf Creek. A seemingly friendly local truck driver offers assistance, but unfortunately he isn't that nice and tows them to . . . terror! Just another graphic showcase for gore and degradation. 104m. version also available. [R]●

Wolfen (1981) C-115m.  D: Michael Wadleigh. Albert Finney, Diane Venora, Edward James Olmos, Gregory Hines, Tom Noonan, Dick O'Neill. Detective Finney tracks mysterious beasts (werewolves?) that are terrorizing N.Y.C. Surreal, allegorical mystery is satisfying—and could have been great. Hines stands out as coroner; Gerry Fisher's ingenious cinematography is also noteworthy. Based on the novel by Whitley Streiber. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Wolf Lake (1978) C-87m. *½ D: Burt Kennedy. Rod Steiger, David Huffman, Robin Mattson, Jerry Hardin, Richard Herd, Paul Mantee. Dull revenge film. Steiger (intense as ever) and four old army buddies stay at hunting lodge run by Huffman, a Vietnam deserter who fled to Canada. Steiger lost his son in the Vietnam war and tries to take out his grief (violently) on Huffman, with tragic results. Also known as THE HONOR GUARD. [R]▼

Wolf Larsen (1975-Italian) C-92m.  D: Giuseppe Vari. Chuck Connors, Barbara Bach, Giuseppe Pambieri. Tired new version of Jack London's SEA WOLF with Connors chewing up scenery as the sadistic sea captain. Video titles: LEGEND OF SEA WOLF and LARSEN, WOLF OF THE SEVEN SEAS. ▼●

Wolf Man, The (1941) 70m. ½ D: George Waggner. Lon Chaney, Jr., Evelyn Ankers, Claude Rains, Maria Ouspenskaya, Ralph Bellamy, Patric Knowles, Warren William, Bela Lugosi, Fay Helm. One of the finest horror films ever made: Larry Talbot (Chaney) is bitten by werewolf Lugosi, survives to carry the curse himself. Outstanding cast includes Rains as Chaney's oblivious father, Ankers as perplexed girl friend, Ouspenskaya as wizened gypsy woman who foretells his fate and attempts to care for him. Literate and very engrossing, with superb makeup by Jack Pierce, atmospheric music (re-used in many other Universal chillers) by Charles Previn and Hans J. Salter. Written by Curt Siodmak. Sequel: FRANKENSTEIN MEETS THE WOLF MAN. ▼●●

Wolverine SEE: X-Men Origins: Wolverine

Woman Chaser, The (2000) 90m. ½ D: Robinson Devor. Patrick Warburton, Emily Newman, Eugene Roche, Lynette Bennett, Joe Durrenberger, Pat Crowder. Film noir-ish takeoff set in early '60s L.A. A frustrated used-car salesman puts all his efforts into making a movie; when it blows up in his face he seeks revenge on those unlucky enough to get in his way. Debuting filmmaker Devor manages to make this look as if it could have been released on the bottom half of a 1960 double bill, right down to its nostalgic black-and-white look. Wry fun for film fans with a pitch-perfect lead performance by Warburton. [R] ▼

Woman Hunt (1972-U.S.-Philippine) C-81m. BOMB D: Eddie Romero. John Ashley, Sid Haig, Laurie Rose, Lisa Todd, Eddie Garcia, Pat Woodell. Wretched knock-off of THE MOST DANGEROUS GAME, using kidnapped women as prey. Todd's dull performance as a black-leather-clad lesbian sadist wouldn't even amuse her Hee Haw fans. [R] ▼

Woman in Green, The (1945) 68m.  D: Roy William Neill. Basil Rathbone, Nigel Bruce, Hillary Brooke, Henry Daniell, Paul Cavanagh, Matthew Boulton, Eve Amber. Blackmail, hypnotism, and murdered women with their right forefingers missing are the disparate elements in this solid Sherlock Holmes outing, with sleek Brooke and suave Daniell a formidable pair of foes for Holmes and Watson. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Woman in Hiding (1949) 92m.  D: Michael Gordon. Ida Lupino, Howard Duff, Stephen McNally, Peggy Dow, John Litel, Joe Besser. Overdone dramatics do in this soap about a factory owner (Lupino) whose greedy new husband (McNally) attempts to kill her. She sets out to nail him, and is helped by war-veteran drifter Duff.

Woman in Question, The (1950-British) 89m.  D: Anthony Asquith. Jean Kent, Dirk Bogarde, John McCallum, Susan Shaw, Hermione Baddeley, Charles Victor. As a cop investigates the slaying of a fortune teller, the various suspects' conflicting perceptions of the deceased emerge. Nifty whodunit, much of which is told in flashback; Kent is excellent as many different versions of the murder victim. Retitled: FIVE ANGLES ON MURDER. ▼

Woman in Red, The (1984) C-87m.  D: Gene Wilder. Gene Wilder, Kelly LeBrock, Gilda Radner, Joseph Bologna, Charles Grodin, Judith Ivey. Broad remake of French farce PARDON MON AFFAIRE with happily married Wilder going ga-ga over beautiful LeBrock. Stevie Wonder score includes Oscar-winning "I Just Called to Say I Love You." [PG-13] ▼●●

Woman in the Dunes (1964-Japanese) 123m. ½ D: Hiroshi Teshigahara. Eiji Okada, Kyoko Kishida, Koji Mitsuui, Hiroko Ito, Sen Yano. Entomologist Okada becomes trapped in a sandpit and the prisoner of Kishida. Moving, memorable allegory, with striking direction and cinematography (by Hiroshi Segawa). ▼●

Woman in the Moon (1929-German) 156m.  D: Fritz Lang. Klaus Pohl, Willy Fritsch, Gustav von Wangenheim, Gerda Maurus, Fritz Rasp. This lesser Lang effort, his last silent film, is about a spaceship and its trip to the moon. It's slow and way overlong, and it pales beside his brilliant METROPOLIS. ▼●

Woman in the Window, The (1944) 99m. ½ D: Fritz Lang. Joan Bennett, Edward G. Robinson, Dan Duryea, Raymond Massey, Dorothy Peterson. High-grade melodrama about Robinson meeting subject of alluring painting (Bennett), becoming involved in murder and witnessing his own investigation. Surprise ending tops exciting film. Nunnally Johnson scripted. Look for Our Gang alumni Bobby Blake (as Robinson's son) and Spanky McFarland (as a scout in the newsreel). Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Woman Is a Woman, A (1961-French) C-83m. ½ D: Jean-Luc Godard. Jean-Paul Belmondo, Jean-Claude Brialy, Anna Karina, Noel Pacquin. Pert stripper Karina wants a baby; boyfriend Brialy is not interested in fatherhood, so she approaches his best friend (Belmondo). Occasionally spirited, self-indulgent trifle. Franscope. ▼●

Woman Next Door, The (1981-French) C-106m.  D: François Truffaut. Gérard Depardieu, Fanny Ardant, Henri

Garcin, Michele Baumgartner, Veronique Silver. Depardieu's new neighbor is ex-lover Ardant. Though now married, they revise their relationship. Somber, compassionate study of human nature and emotions, nicely acted by the two leads. [R]▼●●

Woman Obsessed (1959) C-102m. ½ D: Henry Hathaway. Susan Hayward, Stephen Boyd, Barbara Nichols, Dennis Holmes, Theodore Bikel, Ken Scott. Energetic stars try hard in Canadian ranch-life soap of widow Hayward who marries Boyd, with predictable clashing and making up. CinemaScope.

Woman of Affairs, A (1928) 96m.  D: Clarence Brown. Greta Garbo, John Gilbert, Lewis Stone, John Mack Brown, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Hobart Bosworth, Dorothy Sebastian. Smooth, entertaining late-silent with Garbo as reckless socialite who undertakes serious burden of making good her late husband's thefts. Fine cast; story is diluted from Michael Arlen's The Green Hat. ▼●●

Woman of Desire (1993) C-97m.  D: Robert Ginty. Jeff Fahey, Bo Derek, Steven Bauer, Robert Mitchum. Wannabe erotic thriller with down-and-out Fahey being set up for the murder of playgirl Derek's wealthy boyfriend Bauer during a yacht trip—although sly lawyer Mitchum has his doubts in court. This went straight to video with an unrated 99m. version (more Bo nudity). [R]▼●●

Woman of Distinction, A (1950) 85m.  D: Edward Buzzell. Rosalind Russell, Ray Milland, Edmund Gwenn, Janis Carter, Francis Lederer. Minor but very enjoyable slapstick, as visiting professor Milland causes scandal involving college dean Russell. Energetic cast puts this over; brief guest appearance by Lucille Ball. ▼●●

Woman of Paris, A (1923) 91m.  D: Charles Chaplin. Edna Purviance, Adolphe Menjou, Carl Miller, Lydia Knott, Charles French. French girl Purviance is set to marry her sweetheart (Miller), but a misunderstanding causes her to move to Paris, where she becomes the mistress of wealthy Menjou. Chaplin's one attempt to make a serious film (without himself as star) was quite sophisticated for its time, and remains interesting, even moving, today. It was a box-office flop in 1923; Chaplin reedited it, but waited until 1977 to reissue it, with his newly composed music score. Chaplin does a cameo as a railway porter, but he's virtually unrecognizable. ▼●●

Woman of Rome (1954-Italian) 93m.  D: Luigi Zampa. Gina Lollobrigida, Daniel Gélin, Franco Fabrizi, Raymond Pellegrin, Pina Piovani. Overbaked melodrama of beautiful young Lollobrigida, her complex relationship with her mother, and the varied men with whom she becomes involved in pre-WW2 Rome. Alberto Moravia co-scripted this severely watered-down adaptation of his novel. ▼

Woman of Straw (1964-British) C-117m.

½ D: Basil Dearden. Sean Connery, Gina Lollobrigida, Ralph Richardson, Johnny Sekka, Alexander Knox. Muddled suspenser of Connery and Lollobrigida plotting the "perfect murder" of old Richardson with ironic results. ▼

Woman of the Rumor, The (1954-Japanese) 95m. ½ D: Kenji Mizoguchi. Kinuyo Tanaka, Yoshiko Kuga, Tomoemon Otani, Eitaro Shindo. Melodramatic account of Geisha house operator Tanaka, whose lover really prefers her daughter. Minor Mizoguchi.

Woman of the Year (1942) 112m. ½ D: George Stevens. Spencer Tracy, Katharine Hepburn, Fay Bainter, Dan Tobin, Reginald Owen, Roscoe Karns, William Bendix. First teaming of Tracy and Hepburn is a joy; Kate's a world-famed political commentator brought down to earth by sports reporter Tracy, whom she later weds. Unforgettable scene of Hepburn trying to understand her first baseball game. Oscar-winning screenplay by Ring Lardner, Jr., and Michael Kanin; later a hit Broadway musical. Remade for TV in 1976. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Woman on Pier 13, The SEE: I Married a Communist

Woman on the Beach, The (1947) 71m. *½ D: Jean Renoir. Robert Ryan, Joan Bennett, Charles Bickford, Nan Leslie, Walter Sande, Irene Ryan. Overheated melodrama wastes clever gimmick: Coast Guard officer isn't completely convinced his lover's husband is really blind. Loaded with laughable dialogue and sledgehammer music cues; easy to see why this was Renoir's American swan song.

Woman on Top (2000) C-85m.  D: Fina Torres. Penélope Cruz, Murilo Benicio, Harold Perrineau, Jr., Mark Feuerstein, John de Lancie, Anne Ramsay, Ana Gasteyer. Brazilian woman who's a magnificent cook decides to come out from her restaurateur-husband's shadow. She moves to San Francisco and quickly becomes a sensation with a cooking show on TV. Strained fairy-tale romantic comedy exists solely as a vehicle for the charming Cruz. Panavision. [R]▼

Woman Rebels, A (1936) 88m.  D: Mark Sandrich. Katharine Hepburn, Herbert Marshall, Elizabeth Allan, Donald Crisp, Doris Dudley, David Manners, Lucile Watson, Van Heflin. Hepburn is marvelous as young girl whose experiences in Victorian England lead to her crusading for Women's Rights. Well-mounted soap opera remains surprisingly timely. ●

Woman's Face, A (1941) 105m.  D: George Cukor. Joan Crawford, Melvyn Douglas, Conrad Veidt, Osa Massen, Reginald Owen, Albert Bassermann, Marjorie Main, Donald Meek, Connie Gilchrist, Henry Daniell, Richard Nichols. Crawford has one of her most substantial roles in this

exciting yarn of a scarred woman whose life changes when she undergoes plastic surgery. Taut climax spotlights villain Veidt. Originally filmed in 1938 in Sweden, as EN KVINNAS ANSIKTE, with Ingrid Bergman; script by Donald Ogden Stewart and Elliot Paul. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼●●

Woman's Secret, A (1949) 85m. ½ D: Nicholas Ray. Maureen O'Hara, Melvyn Douglas, Gloria Grahame, Bill Williams, Victor Jory. Intriguing flashback drama of woman coming to hate singer she built up to success; good performances by two female stars. Just a bit too sloopy. Produced and scripted by Herman J. Mankiewicz, from a Vicki Baum novel. ▼

Woman's Tale, A (1991-Australian) C-93m. ½ D: Paul Cox. Sheila Florance, Gosia Dobrowolska, Norman Kaye, Chris Haywood, Ernest Gray, Myrtle Woods, Bruce Myles. 78-year-old woman dying of cancer is determined to live her final days with the same dignity she displayed her entire life. Simple tale—beautifully directed—is heart-breakingly real. Distinguished by the extraordinary and courageous performance of Sheila Florance, whose own illness while making the film paralleled that of her character. (She died two days after receiving Australia's Academy Award as Best Actress.) The kind of movie that, while painful to watch at times, can also illuminate our lives. [PG-13] ▼●●

Woman's World (1954) C-94m.  D: Jean Negulesco. Clifton Webb, June Allyson, Van Heflin, Arlene Dahl, Lauren Bacall, Fred MacMurray, Cornel Wilde, Elliott Reid. Slick look at diverse personalities in the world of big business as automobile mogul Webb decides to meet the wives of the men he's considering for a big promotion. CinemaScope. ▼

Woman Thou Art Loosed (2004) C-98m. ½ D: Michael Schultz. Kimberly Elise, Loretta Divine, Debbi Morgan, Michael Boatman, Clifton Powell, Idalis De Leon, Bishop T. D. Jakes, Sean Blakemore, Jordan Moseley. Evangelical preacher Bishop T. D. Jakes portrays himself in this earnest adaptation of his self-help novel and play about the downward spiral and redemption of a young black woman who ends up on death row. Straightforward morality tale dealing with sexual abuse, drug addiction, and poverty sometimes comes off like a heavy-handed sermon, but is distinguished by Elise's poignant and impassioned performance. Alternate version runs 101m. [R] ▼●

Woman Times Seven (1967) C-99m.  D: Vittorio De Sica. Shirley MacLaine, Peter Sellers, Rossano Brazzi, Vittorio Gassman, Lex Barker, Elsa Martinelli, Robert Morley, Patrick Wymark, Adrienne Corri, Alan Arkin, Michael Caine, Anita Ekberg, Philippe Noiret. A seven-episode film with MacLaine showing seven types of

women; some funny moments, some perceptive comments, but with that cast and director, it should have been much better. ▼●

Woman Under the Influence, A (1974) C-147m.  D: John Cassavetes. Peter Falk, Gena Rowlands, Katherine Cassavetes, Lady Rowlands, Fred Draper. Typically overlong, overindulgent Cassavetes film, vaguely delineating relationship of woman who's cracking up and her hardhat husband, who can't handle it. Strong performances by Rowlands and Falk are chief virtue of this one. [R] ▼●●

Wombling Free (1978-British) C-96m. *½ D: Lionel Jeffries. David Tomlinson, Frances De La Tour, Bonnie Langford, Bernard Spear, Yasuko Nagazumi, John Junkin. Silly kiddie pic has the Wombles (actors in creature suits) cleaning up after man's litter and leading a protest against pollution. They're invisible to mankind except for a little girl (Langford) who believes. Objectionable use of stereotypes; best segment has big production-number tributes to Gene Kelly and Fred Astaire. Based on a BBC-TV series and later adapted as a U.S. series with Frank Gorshin. ▼

Women, The (1939) 132m. ½ D: George Cukor. Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer, Rosalind Russell, Mary Boland, Joan Fontaine, Paulette Goddard, Lucile Watson, Marjorie Main, Virginia Weidler, Phyllis Povah, Ruth Hussey, Mary Beth Hughes, Virginia Grey, Hedda Hopper, Butterfly McQueen. All-star (and all-female) cast shines in this hilarious adaptation of Clare Boothe play about divorce, cattiness, and competition in circle of "friends." Crawford has one of her best roles as bitchy homewrecker. Fashion show sequence is in color; script by Anita Loos and Jane Murnin. Remade in 1956 (as THE OPPOSITE SEX) and in 2008. ▼●●

Women, The (2008) C-114m. ½ D: Diane English. Meg Ryan, Annette Bening, Eva Mendes, Debra Messing, Jada Pinkett Smith, Carrie Fisher, Cloris Leachman, Debi Mazar, Bette Midler, Candice Bergen, India Ennenga, Jill Flint, Ana Gasteyer, Joanna Gleason, Lynn Whitfield. Ryan has a seemingly perfect marriage, and a tight circle of female friends, but her world unravels when she learns that her husband is playing around with a perfume salesgirl from Saks. Update of Clare Boothe Luce's play and the 1939 movie manages to retain the bones of the original, but has a tougher time creating a stylized modern reality for its backdrop. Uneven but entertaining, with plenty of sharp dialogue. Writer-director English does a creditable job, given the nearly impossible task of remaking a classic. [PG-13] ●

Women in Cages (1972-U.S.-Philippine) C-78m. BOMB D: Gerry De Leon. Judy Brown, Pam Grier, Roberta Collins. Lurid prison melodrama, with the emphasis on

sadism, has the switcheroo of Grier cast as lesbian guard who tortures prisoners in her gothic chamber, known as "The Playpen." Video title: WOMEN'S PENITENTIARY III. [R]▼

Women in Limbo SEE: Limbo (1972)

Women in Love (1969-British) C-129m. ½ D: Ken Russell. Alan Bates, Oliver Reed, Glenda Jackson, Eleanor Bron, Jennie Linden, Alan Webb. Fine adaptation of D. H. Lawrence novel about two interesting love affairs. Tends to bog down toward the end, but acting and direction are really impressive, as is memorable nude wrestling scene. Jackson won her first Oscar for this performance. Followed in 1989 by Russell's THE RAINBOW, a "prequel" in which Jackson plays the mother of her character in this film. [R]▼●●

Women of the Prehistoric Planet (1966) C-87m. ½ D: Arthur C. Pierce. Wendell Corey, Keith Larsen, John Agar, Irene Tsu, Merry Anders, Adam Roarke, Stuart Margolin. One of many studio-bound sci-fi pix from the '60s, a strange lot indeed. Spaceship crashes on mysterious planet full of prehistoric inhabitants. There's a twist ending, if you stick around for it. ▼

Women on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown (1988-Spanish) C-88m. ½ D: Pedro Almodóvar. Carmen Maura, Antonio Banderas, Julieta Serrano, Maria Barranco, Rossy De Palma. Witty, outrageous, and highly stylized comedy about charmingly off-kilter actress Maura and how she responds when suddenly abandoned by her longtime lover. A real audience-pleaser, with plenty of laughs; crammed with a colorful array of supporting characters (most memorably a taxi driver with a bleached-blond pompadour whose car is a combination drugstore/bar). [R]▼●●

Women's Penitentiary I SEE: Big Doll House, The

Women's Penitentiary II SEE: Big Bird Cage, The

Women's Penitentiary III SEE: Women in Cages

Women's Prison (1955) 80m.  D: Lewis Seiler. Ida Lupino, Jan Sterling, Cleo Moore, Audrey Totter, Phyllis Thaxter, Howard Duff, Mae Clarke, Gertrude Michael, Juanita Moore. Campy 1950s programmer, with Lupino as a vicious prison superintendent riding herd over a cast that no B-movie lover could resist.

Women Without Men SEE: Blonde Bait Wonder Boys (2000) C-112m.  D: Curtis Hanson. Michael Douglas, Tobey Maguire, Frances McDormand, Robert Downey, Jr., Katie Holmes, Richard Thomas, Rip Torn, Philip Bosco, Jane Adams. Intelligent, low-key comedy about the bond that develops between a college professor (Douglas), whose personal and professional life is floundering, and a strange but gifted student (Maguire), who adds to his chaos. A midlife coming-of-age story that benefits from its freshly observed academic milieu and a strong cast; Douglas is excellent in a change-of-pace role. Steve Kloves adapted Michael Chabon's novel. Bob Dylan's soundtrack song won an Oscar. Super 35. [R]▼●

Wonderful Country, The (1959) C-96m.

½ D: Robert Parrish. Robert Mitchum, Julie London, Gary Merrill, Pedro Armendariz, Jack Oakie, Albert Dekker. Brooding Western involving Mitchum running guns along Mexico-Texas line, romancing Julie London; script by Robert Ardrey.

Wonderful, Horrible Life of Leni Riefenstahl, The (1993-German-Belgian-British) C/B&W-182m.  D: Ray Muller. Thorough, compelling portrait of Riefenstahl, infamous director of Nazi propaganda films TRIUMPH OF THE WILL and OLYMPIA, that serves as an investigation of her life (traced via film clips, and interviews made with the filmmaker in her early nineties). Was she a woman of evil—an opportunist and a collaborator in her dealings with Adolf Hitler and the Nazi Party? Or was she a feminist pioneer, an apolitical artist who became an innocent victim of circumstance? Ultimately, the film is most effective as a portrait of denial and an analysis of any filmmaker's responsibility regarding the power of the moving image. ▼●●

Wonderful Ice Cream Suit, The (1999) C-77m. ½ D: Stuart Gordon. Joe Mantegna, Esai Morales, Edward James Olmos, Clifton Gonzales Gonzales, Gregory Sierra, Liz Torres, Sid Caesar, Howard Morris, Lisa Vidal, Pedro Gonzales Gonzales. Well-meaning, upbeat adaptation of Ray Bradbury's short story and play about five L.A. Latinos who share the price of a beautiful white suit which, they believe, will help them realize their dreams. The flavor never seems genuine, and the treatment is heavy-handed, but there is still a magic to the story. Released direct to video. [PG] ▼●●

Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm, The (1962) C-129m.  D: Henry Levin,

George Pal. Laurence Harvey, Claire Bloom, Karl Boehm, Oscar Homolka, Martita Hunt, Jim Backus, Yvette Mimieux, Barbara Eden, Walter Slezak, Russ Tamblyn, Buddy Hackett, Beulah Bondi, Terry-Thomas. Fanciful adaptations of Grimm tales offset by OK look at famed brothers' lives. Best of all are Puppets sequences in toy shop, Hackett battling fire-breathing dragon. Colorful George Pal entertainment, with Oscar-winning costumes by Mary Willis, was originally shown in Cinerama. ▼●●

Wonderland (1988) SEE: Fruit Machine, The

Wonderland (1999-British) C-108m.  D: Michael Winterbottom. Shirley Henderson, Gina McKee, Molly Parker, Ian Hart, John Simm, Stuart Townsend, Kika Markham, Jack Shepherd. Dreary slice-of-life drama set in London over a long weekend, examining three unhappy generations of a single family. The mise-en-scène is impeccable, the situations completely believable, but the results are less than compelling. Super 35. ▼

Wonderland (2003) C-104m. BOMB D: James Cox. Val Kilmer, Kate Bosworth, Lisa Kudrow, Tim Blake Nelson, Dylan McDermott, Josh Lucas, Eric Bogosian, Christina Applegate, Natasha Gregson Wagner, Janeane Garofalo, Franky G., Carrie Fisher, Faizon Love, Ted Levine, Paris Hilton. Tedious look at events leading up to the grisly 1981 murders on L.A.'s Wonderland Avenue involving former porn film star John C. Holmes (Kilmer) and assorted other lowlifes. Sordid, violent, and filled with characters it's impossible to care about. [R] ▼

Wonder Man (1945) C-98m.  D: H. Bruce Humberstone. Danny Kaye, Virginia Mayo, Vera-Ellen, Donald Woods, S. Z. Sakall, Allen Jenkins, Ed Brophy, Steve Cochran, Otto Kruger, Natalie Schafer. Kaye's fun as twins, the serious one forced to take the place of his brash entertainer brother when the latter is killed. Big, colorful production with Oscar-winning special effects. ▼

Wonders of Aladdin, The (1961-U.S.-Italian) C-93m.  D: Henry Levin, Mario Bava. Donald O'Connor, Noelle Adam, Vittorio De Sica, Aldo Fabrizi. Few wonders to behold in this mild children's fantasy. CinemaScope. ▼

Won Ton Ton, the Dog Who Saved Hollywood (1976) C-92m.  D: Michael Winner. Bruce Dern, Madeline Kahn, Art Carney, Phil Silvers, Teri Garr, Ron Leibman. Fine cast struggles through inept spoof of 1920s Hollywood. Dog comes off better than dozens of veteran stars who make pointless cameo appearances (from Rhonda Fleming to the Ritz Brothers). [PG]

Woo (1998) C-83m. BOMB D: Daisy V. S. Mayer. Jada Pinkett Smith, Tommy Davidson, Duane Martin, Dave Chappelle, Michael Ralph, LL Cool J, Foxy Brown, Aida Turturro, Billy Dee Williams. Misbegotten attempt at screwball comedy in which neurotic Manhattanite Pinkett Smith leads dorky law student Davidson on an all-night blind date from hell. Substitutes stupid slapstick and misogynist, homophobic potshots for wit and charm. Wants to be a '90s BRINGING UP BABY but ends up a sub-par HOUSE PARTY. [R] ▼

Wood, The (1999) C-106m. ½ D: Rick Famuyiwa. Omar Epps, Sean Nelson, Taye Diggs, Trent Cameron, Richard T. Jones, Duane Finley, Malinda Williams, Lisarae. So-so comedy about a reluctant, AWOL bridegroom (Diggs) whose two best pals (Epps, Jones) come to his rescue; in flashbacks we learn how they became friends in their formative years. The predictability of their story is partially offset by the film's charm and humor. [R] ▼

Wooden Horse, The (1950-British) 101m.  D: Jack Lee. Leo Genn, David Tomlinson, Anthony Steel, Peter Burton, David Greene, Anthony Dawson, Bryan Forbes, Peter Finch. Sturdy, exciting POW drama of men determined to tunnel their way out of Nazi prison camp using an exercise vaulting horse for cover. Based on Eric Williams' novel The Tunnel Escape. ▼

Woods, The (2006-U.S.-British) C-91m. BOMB D: Lucky McKee. Agnes Bruckner, Patricia Clarkson, Rachel Nichols, Lauren Birkell, Emma Campbell, Marcia Bennett, Gordon Currie, Jude Beny, Bruce Campbell. Alienated teen Bruckner, burdened with an unfeeling mother, is dispatched to a woody all-girls academy that has a mysterious history and a staff and student body who are all creepy or cruel. One-note horror film is thoroughly unpleasant, when it's not dull or idiotic. A real ordeal to sit through. Released direct to DVD in the U.S. [R]

Woodsman, The (2004) C-87m.  D: Nicole Kassell. Kevin Bacon, Kyra Sedgwick, Eve, Mos Def, David Alan Grier, Benjamin Bratt, Michael Shannon, Hannah Pilkes, Carlos Leon. Just released from prison, child molester Bacon tries to acclimate to "normal" life (getting a job, having a relationship with a woman, trying to make peace with his family), but his biggest problem is battling his own demons. Provocative adult drama doesn't make its lead character sympathetic but does try to paint a three-dimensional portrait. Bacon and real-life spouse Sedgwick are exceptionally good; the climactic scene in a park is spine-tingling. Cowritten by first-time feature director Kassell and Steven Fechter from the latter's play. Bacon also coexecutive-produced. [R] ▼

Woodstock (1970) C-184m. * D: Michael Wadleigh. Joan Baez, Richie Havens, Crosby, Stills and Nash, Jefferson Airplane, Joe Cocker, Sly and the Family Stone, Ten Years After, Santana, Country Joe and the Fish, John Sebastian, The Who, Jimi Hendrix, Arlo Guthrie. 1970 Oscar winner as Best Documentary brilliantly captures unique communal experience of outdoor rock festival, along with great performances which highlighted unusual weekend bash. Among highlights: Cocker, Sly Stone, Ten Years After, The Who. Makes exceptional use of multiscreen images and a "surround sound" mix. Martin Scorsese was one of the editors. Forty minutes of previously unseen footage were added in 1994, featuring Janis Joplin, Jimi Hendrix, Canned Heat, and Jefferson Airplane, among others. The video title is WOODSTOCK: THREE DAYS OF PEACE & MUSIC (THE DIRECTOR'S CUT). Part Widescreen. [R]▼●●

Woody Guthrie: Hard Travelin' (1984) C/B&W-74m. * D: Jim Brown. Fascinating, beautifully made documentary about the wiry little drifter who is now recognized as one of the greatest American songwriters. Hosted by his son, Arlo, the film traces Woody's life from birth to his tragically lingering death. Interviewees include friends, like Pete Seeger, Herta Ware, and Ramblin' Jack Elliott, and those who were influenced by Woody, such as Joan Baez, Judy Collins, and Hoyt Axton. It leaves you singing, and wanting more. ▼

Wordplay (2006) C-94m.  D: Patrick Creadon. Entertaining documentary about the New York Times crossword puzzle and Will Shortz, its longtime editor. Amusing and affectionate look at the gold standard of puzzles, its creators, and loyal fans (with on-screen graphics that cleverly simulate the process of puzzle solving), culminating in 2005's American Crossword Puzzle Tournament. Famous crossword devotees interviewed include Bill Clinton, Jon Stewart, Ken Burns, and Bob Dole. [PG]●

Words and Music (1948) C-119m. ½ D: Norman Taugo. Mickey Rooney, Tom Drake, June Allyson, Ann Sothern, Judy Garland, Gene Kelly, Lena Horne, Vera-Ellen, Cyd Charisse, Allyn Ann McLerie, Mel Torme, Betty Garrett, Perry Como, Janet Leigh. Sappy, Hollywoodized biography of songwriters Rodgers (Drake) and Hart (Rooney) is salvaged somewhat by their wonderful music, including Kelly and Vera-Ellen's dance to "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue." ▼●●

Word Wars (2004) C-76m.  D: Eric Chaikin, Julian Petrillo. Very enjoyable cinéma vérité-style documentary about professional Scrabble players. Follows four competitors—each one uniquely eccentric—as they work their way toward the one big-money tournament of the year. No screenwriter could invent better characters or a more unusual saga. Told with visual pizzazz and a clever music score by Thor Madsen. ●

Working Class Goes to Heaven, The (1972-Italian) C-126m.  D: Elio Petri. Gian Maria Volonté, Mariangela Melato, Salvo Randone, Gino Pernice, Luigi Diberti. A hardworking lathe operator is laid off after losing a finger on the assembly line, then becomes the leader of a strike that takes some very unexpected twists and turns. Superbly directed, thought-provoking critique of capitalism, with some surprisingly funny and sensuous touches. Music by Ennio Morricone. Originally released in the U.S. as LULU THE TOOL.

Working Girl (1988) C-113m.  D: Mike Nichols. Harrison Ford, Sigourney

Weaver, Melanie Griffith, Alec Baldwin, Joan Cusack, Philip Bosco, Nora Dunn, Oliver Platt, James Lally, Kevin Spacey, Robert Easton, Olympia Dukakis, Ricki Lake, David Duchovny. Cute comedy about a naive but ambitious secretary who tries to outfox her wily boss by closing a big deal—with the help of a man she just happens to fall in love with. Star-making showcase for Griffith also gives Ford an ideal opportunity to play light comedy and Weaver a sly supporting role as the villainess. Carly Simon's music was scored by Rob Mounsey; her song "Let the River Run" won an Oscar. Later a TV series. [R]▼●●

Working Girls, The (1973) C-81m. ½ D: Stephanie Rothman. Sarah Kennedy, Laurie Rose, Lynne Guthrie, Solomon Sturges, Mary Beth Hughes, Cassandra Peterson. One of the better drive-in comedies, with three attractive girls struggling to make a success of themselves in a male-oriented world; Kennedy and Sturges (Preston's son) make an endearing couple. A staple of cable-TV because of nifty striptease performed by Peterson (better known as TV's Elvira). [R]▼●

Working Girls (1986) C-90m. ½ D: Lizzie Borden. Louise Smith, Ellen McElduff, Amanda Goodwin, Marusia Zach, Janne Peters, Helen Nicholas. Beautifully realized, on-target account of a day in a N.Y.C. brothel; the sex is more humorous and businesslike than erotic, and the profession is depicted as an economic alternative to other traditional "women's" work. First-rate all the way. ▼●

Work Is a 4-Letter Word (1967-British) C-93m. ½ D: Peter Hall. David Warner, Cilla Black, Elizabeth Spriggs, Zia Mohyeddin, Joe Gladwyn. Zany, but hit-and-miss comedy based on the play Eh? about young man who raises giant mushrooms that produce euphoria when eaten. Warner is well cast. [M/PG]

World According to Garp, The (1982) C-136m. * D: George Roy Hill. Robin Williams, Mary Beth Hurt, Glenn Close, John Lithgow, Hume Cronyn, Jessica Tandy, Swoosie Kurtz, Amanda Plummer, Warren Berlinger, Brandon Maggart. Dazzling (if somewhat loose) adaptation of John Irving's novel, about an unusual young man's journey through life—an adventure shaped in large part by his unorthodox (and unmarried) mother. Absorbing, sure-footed odyssey through vignettes of social observation, absurdist humor, satire, and melodrama; beautifully acted by all, especially Close (in her feature debut) as Garp's mother and Lithgow as a transsexual. Script by Steve Tesich. Director Hill has cameo as pilot who crashes into Garp's house; novelist Irving plays wrestling match referee. [R]▼●●

World Apart, A (1988) C-112m. ½ D:

Chris Menges. Barbara Hershey, David Suchet, Jeroen Krabbé, Jodhi May, Rosalie Crutchley, Tim Roth, Adrian Dunbar, Paul Freeman. Personal story of South African apartheid as seen through the eyes of a teenage girl whose mother, a Communist activist, is jailed under the notorious 90-day detention act in 1963. Both a story of government abuse and a look at one mother's neglect of her family because of her involvement with a larger cause . . . but too diffuse to succeed completely on either count. Young May is remarkable as the girl, however. Autobiographical script by Shawn Slovo. Directorial debut for cinematographer Menges. [PG]▼●●

World Gone Wild (1988) C-95m.  D: Lee H. Katz. Bruce Dern, Michael Paré, Catherine Mary Stewart, Adam Ant, Rick Podell, Anthony James. Post-apocalyptic science-fiction saga set in the 21st century, in the desolate village of Lost Wells, which is threatened by evil plunderers (led by Adam Ant). Who will come to the villagers' rescue? THE SEVEN SAMURAI meets MAD MAX in this marginally successful, futuristic action yarn. [R]▼●●

World in His Arms, The (1952) C-104m.  D: Raoul Walsh. Gregory Peck, Ann Blyth, John McIntire, Anthony Quinn, Andrea King, Eugenie Leontovich, Sig Ruman. Unlikely but entertaining tale of skipper Peck romancing Russian Blyth, set in 1850s San Francisco.▼●

World Is Full of Married Men, The (1979-British) C-107m.  D: Robert Young. Anthony Franciosa, Carroll Baker, Sherie Cronn, Gareth Hunt, Georgina Hale, Anthony Steel. The sexual escapades—and downfall—of advertising executive Franciosa. Slick and sleazy exploitation melodrama that ultimately gives feminism a bad name, from a novel and screenplay by Jackie Collins. [R]▼

World Is Not Enough, The (1999) C-125m. ½ D: Michael Apted. Pierce Brosnan, Sophie Marceau, Robert Carlyle, Denise Richards, Robbie Coltrane, Judi Dench, Desmond Llewelyn, John Cleese, Maria Grazia Cucinotta, Samantha Bond, Goldie, Serena Scott Thomas. OK if typically overlong James Bond outing has 007 avenging the murder of an industrialist who was a close friend of M's. Brosnan is fine, as are the action set-pieces, but film allows M (Dench) to look foolish, and absurdly casts Richards as a nuclear physicist (in shorts!) with lots of laughable dialogue. Carlyle is a good villain with an underwritten part; Marceau is delicious as Elektra. Llewelyn's final film as Q. Panavision. [PG-13]▼●

World Moves On, The (1934) 104m. ½ D: John Ford. Madeleine Carroll, Franchot Tone, Reginald Denny, Stepin Fetchit, Lumsden Hare, Raul Roulien, Louise Dresser, Sig Ruman. Long but interesting family saga covering 100 years as Louisiana family is split, three sons heading business operations in England, France, Germany, experiencing tremendous changes from peaceful 19th century through WWI.▼

World of Abbott and Costello, The (1965) 75m.  Narrated by Jack E. Leonard. Bud Abbott, Lou Costello, Marjorie Main, Bela Lugosi, Tom Ewell, others. Inept compilation of A&C footage, with curious selection of scenes, senseless narration. Still, there's "Who's on First?" and other fine routines.▼●

World of Apu, The (1959-Indian) 103m. ½ D: Satyajit Ray. Soumitra Chatterjee, Sharmila Tagore, Alok Chakravarty, Swapan Mukherji. Sadly poetic tale of the shy Apu (Chatterjee) marrying and fathering a child. Magnificently acted; last of the director's "Apu" trilogy.▼●

World of Henry Orient, The (1964) C-106m. ½ D: George Roy Hill. Peter Sellers, Tippy Walker, Merrie Spaeth, Paula Prentiss, Angela Lansbury, Phyllis Thaxter, Tom Bosley. Marvelous comedy of two teenage girls who idolize eccentric pianist (Sellers) and follow him around N.Y.C. Bosley and Lansbury are superb as Walker's parents, with Thaxter appealing as Spaeth's understanding mother. Screenplay by Nunnally and Nora Johnson, from her novel. Panavision.▼●●

World of Suzie Wong, The (1960) C-129m. ½ D: Richard Quine. William Holden, Nancy Kwan, Sylvia Syms, Michael Wilding, Laurence Naismith. Holden's sluggish performance as American artist in love with prostitute Kwan doesn't help this soaper, lavishly filmed in Hong Kong. Script by John Patrick from Paul Osborn's Broadway play.▼●●

World of Tomorrow, The (1984) C/B&W-83m.  D: Lance Bird, Tom Johnson. Lovely documentary about 1939 New York World's Fair, a compilation of newsreels, home movies, promotional films, and various other period graphics . . . much of it in color! Occasionally teeters on the edge of pretentiousness, especially in narration spoken by Jason Robards. Cut to one hour for some showings.▼

World's Fastest Indian, The (2005-U.S.-New Zealand) C-126m.  D: Roger Donaldson. Anthony Hopkins, Diane Ladd, Paul Rodriguez, Aaron Murphy, Annie Whittle, Chris Williams, Christopher Lawford, Jessica Cauffiel, Chris Bruno, Bruce Greenwood, William Lucking. Hopkins is marvelous as a spirited old man who's obsessed with his 1920 Indian Scout motorcycle and determined to take it from his little town in New Zealand to run on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah. It's the 1960s, and along the way he meets an assortment of characters, some of them almost as colorful as he. An open-hearted film, not for cynics. Written by the

director, who filmed a TV documentary about the real Burt Munro in 1972. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

World's Greatest Athlete, The (1973) C-93m.  D: Robert Scheerer. John Amos, Jan-Michael Vincent, Tim Conway, Roscoe Lee Browne, Dayle Haddon, Howard Cosell. Hard-luck coach Amos returns to his roots in Africa and discovers super-athlete Vincent; enjoyable Disney comedy with excellent special effects. Conway particularly funny in sequence in which he shrinks to Tom Thumb size. Cosell's classic line: "I've never seen anything like this in my entire illustrious career!" [G]▼

World's Greatest Lover, The (1977) C-89m. ½ D: Gene Wilder. Gene Wilder, Carol Kane, Dom DeLuise, Fritz Feld, Carl Ballantine, Michael Huddleston, Matt Collins, Ronny Graham, Danny DeVito. Sporadically funny comedy set in 1920s Hollywood, with Wilder screen-testing as new movie sheik and wife Kane deserting him for real-life Valentino. Wild slapstick combines unevenly with occasional vulgarities and moments of poignancy. Inspired by Fellini's THE WHITE SHEIK. [PG]▼

World's Greatest Sinner, The (1962) 76m. ½ D: Timothy Carey. Timothy Carey, Gil Baretto, Betty Rowland, James Farley, Gail Griffen, Tyde Rule, Grace De Carolis; narrated by Paul Frees. The great, eccentric character actor Carey gives his creepiest, most over-the-top performance in this crazed vanity project, which he wrote, produced, and directed. A disillusioned insurance salesman declares himself to be God, becomes an Elvis-like rock 'n' roll evangelist, and is enticed to run for president by a shady power broker. Technically crude but weirdly fascinating as a prescient, primal scream of rage against cults, religious and political opportunism, and celebrity worship. A very young Frank Zappa (billed simply as "Zappa") composed the score and a hilarious title song.

World, the Flesh, and the Devil, The (1959) 95m. ½ D: Randal MacDougall. Harry Belafonte, Inger Stevens, Mel Ferrer. Belafonte and Stevens are only survivors of worldwide nuclear accident; their uneasy relationship is jarred by arrival of Ferrer. Intriguing film starts well, bogs down halfway through, and presents ridiculous conclusion. Best scenes are at beginning, when Belafonte is alone in an impressively deserted Manhattan. CinemaScope.▼●

World Trade Center (2006) C-129m. ½ D: Oliver Stone. Nicolas Cage, Michael Peña, Maggie Gyllenhaal, Maria Bello, Stephen Dorff, Jay Hernandez, Michael Shannon, Frank Whaley, Donna Murphy, Patty D'Arbanville, Dorothy Lyman, Nicky Katt, Nicholas Turturro, Danny Nucci, William Mapother, Jude Ciccollella, Viola Davis. The tragedy of September 11,

2001, is vividly dramatized by following the actions of the Port Authority police squad that responded to the first tower attack. Bulk of the film is devoted to the plight of two such rescuers trapped in the rubble of the collapsed towers, while their families agonize over their fate. Superior storytelling from start to finish. Screenplay by Andrea Berloff, based on the stories of John McLoughlin and Will Jimeno. Super 35. [PG-13]▼

World Traveler (2002-U.S.-Canadian) C-104m.  D: Bart Freundlich. Billy Crudup, Julianne Moore, Cleavant Derricks, David Keith, James Le Gros, Karen Allen, Mary McCormack. A man walks out on his wife and son, takes to the road, and has a variety of encounters as he tries to sort out his life—and why he has become so completely alienated from it. Interesting in fits and starts, but unsatisfying; the ultimate revelation about its main character is both obvious and unconvincing. [R]▼

World Without End (1956) C-80m. ½ D: Edward Bernds. Hugh Marlowe, Nancy Gates, Nelson Leigh, Rod Taylor. Space flight headed for Mars breaks the time barrier and ends up on post-apocalyptic Earth in the 26th century. Pretty good sci-fi owes more than a little to H. G. Wells' The Time Machine. CinemaScope.▼

World Without Sun (1964) C-93m. * D: Jacques Cousteau. Excellent, Oscar-winning documentary of Cousteau and his oceanauts, creating an underwater adventure that challenges any fiction.

Worth Winning (1989) C-102m. ½ D: Will Mackenzie. Mark Harmon, Madeleine Stowe, Lesley Ann Warren, Maria Holvøe, Mark Blum, Andrea Martin, David Brenner. Smug Harmon bets that he can hustle a trio of women into agreeing to marry him. Occasionally obnoxious (and predictable) comedy. [PG-13]▼●

Woyzeck (1978-German) C-82m. ½ D: Werner Herzog. Klaus Kinski, Eva Mattes, Wolfgang Reichmann, Willy Semmelrogge, Josef Bierbichler. Minor Herzog features the usual wide-eyed performance by Kinski as an ostensibly normal man who goes insane and becomes a murderer. Based on Georg Büchner's drama. Remade in 1994.▼

Wraith, The (1986) C-92m.  D: Mike Marvin. Charlie Sheen, Nick Cassavetes, Randy Quaid, Sheryllyn Fenn, Griffin O'Neal, David Sherrill, Jamie Bozian, Clint Howard. A Dodge Turbo Interceptor—it's a car—strangely appears one day and takes on some auto thieves. For those who favor fast cars and lots of noise. [PG-13]▼●

Wrath of God, The (1972) C-111m.  D: Ralph Nelson. Robert Mitchum, Rita Hayworth, Frank Langella, John Colicos, Victor Buono, Ken Hutchison, Paula Pritchett, Gregory Sierra. If you take this film—about a defrocked priest in a revolution-ridden country south of the border—seriously, it's an OK action yarn. Accept it as tongue-in-cheek, it may yield greater enjoyment. Hayworth's final film. Panavision. [PG]

Wrecking Crew, The (1969) C-105m.

★½ D: Phil Karlson. Dean Martin, Sharon Tate, Elke Sommer, Nancy Kwan, Tina Louise, Nigel Green. Fourth and final theatrical Matt Helm epic, while hardly a good film, is at least a step up from the last two, thanks to a return by the original director and the re-creation (in Tate) of an engaging klutz a la Stella Stevens in THE SILENCERS. Story has Helm after crime ring that's hijacked a train carrying a billion in gold. Chuck Norris has one line with Dino in a bar and Bruce Lee is credited as film's "karate advisor." A TVM and subsequent series (Matt Helm) followed in 1975. [MPG]▼

Wreck of the Mary Deare, The (1959-U.S.-British) C-105m. ★★½ D: Michael Anderson. Gary Cooper, Charlton Heston, Michael Redgrave, Emlyn Williams, Cecil Parker, Alexander Knox, Virginia McKenna, Richard Harris. Salvage boat skipper Heston boards an apparently abandoned freighter, finds hostile Captain Cooper aboard. What really happened to the Mary Deare? Stars outshine their material in Eric Ambler's adaptation of the novel by Hammond Innes. CinemaScope. ▼●

Wrestler, The (2008-French-U.S.) C-109m.

★★½ D: Darren Aronofsky. Mickey Rourke, Marisa Tomei, Evan Rachel Wood, Mark Margolis, Todd Barry, Wass Stevens, Judah Friedlander, Ernest Miller, Ajay Naidu. Professional wrestler who's past his prime is forced to take stock of his isolated existence and his estrangement from a teenage daughter. Robert Siegel's no-holds-barred script is dramatized in documentary-like fashion on a variety of N.J. locations and populated with actual denizens of the low-end wrestling world, including fighters and fans. Rourke's performance as the pumped-up pro who knows no other way of life is a tour de force; Tomei is every bit as good as a stripper who tries to separate her working "identity" from the rest of her life. Super 35. [R]▼

Wrestling Ernest Hemingway (1993) C-122m. ★★½ D: Randa Haines. Robert Duvall, Richard Harris, Shirley MacLaine, Sandra Bullock, Piper Laurie, Nicole Mercurio, Marty Belafsky. A great actor's showcase, if not a great movie, about two older men now living in Florida: a boozy Irish ex-sea captain (Harris) and a retired Cuban barber (Duvall). They have practically nothing in common, but their need for companionship and interaction draws them together in this meandering but easy-to-take character study which was (incredibly) written by a 21-year-old, Steve Conrad. [PG-13] ▼●

Wrestling with Angels: Playwright Tony Kushner (2006) C-102m.  D: Freida Lee Mock.

Engrossing documentary about playwright and social activist Kushner (Angels in America) follows him over three years' time, covering a broad canvas, from preparations for the opening of the Broadway musical Caroline, or Change to his marriage to life partner Mark Harris. Unabashedly positive portrait includes readings of Kushner's work (by the likes of Meryl Streep and Marcia Gay Harden) and a great deal of candid footage with family, friends, and coworkers.

Wristcutters: A Love Story (2007) C-91m. ★★½ D: Goran Dukic. Patrick Fugit, Shannyn Sossamon, Shea Whigham, Leslie Bibb, John Hawkes, Mikal P. Lazarev, Mark Boone Junior, Abraham Benrubi, Mary Pat Gleason, Azura Skye, Sarah Roemer, Jake Busey, Tom Waits, Will Arnett.

After committing suicide, Fugit finds himself living in a peculiar purgatory that looks just like real life—only more desolate. When he learns that his ex-girlfriend is also "living" in this world, he sets out in search of her. Endearingly odd black comedy has a great premise but doesn't really go anywhere. [R]▼

Written on the Wind (1956) C-99m.  D: Douglas Sirk. Rock Hudson, Lauren Bacall, Robert Stack, Dorothy Malone, Robert Keith, Grant Williams. Florid melodrama of playboy-millionaire Stack, his nymphomaniac sister Malone, and how they destroy themselves and others around them. Irresistible kitsch. Malone won Oscar for her performance. ▼

Wrong Arm of the Law, The (1963-British) 94m.  D: Cliff Owen. Peter Sellers, Lionel Jeffries, Bernard Cribbins, Davy Kaye, Nanette Newman, John Le Mesurier, Dennis Price, Michael Caine. Wacky comedy spoof has Australian trio being chased by police as well as crooks because they've been dressing as cops and confiscating loot from apprehended robbers. Some very funny moments. ▼

Wrong Bet SEE: Lionheart (1991)

Wrong Box, The (1966-British) C-105m.

★★½ D: Bryan Forbes. John Mills, Ralph Richardson, Michael Caine, Peter Cook, Dudley Moore, Nanette Newman, Wilfred Lawson, Tony Hancock, Peter Sellers. Scramble for inheritance is basis for wacky black comedy set in Victorian England; aging Mills attempts to do in brother Richardson (with help from family cohorts) in order to be sole survivor. Sellers has hilarious cameo as oddball doctor. Based on a Robert Louis Stevenson story, scripted by Larry Gelbart and Burt Shevelove. ▼●

Wrongfully Accused (1998-U.S.-German)

C-85m.  D: Pat Proft. Leslie Nielsen, Richard Crenna, Kelly LeBrock, Sandra Bernhard, Michael York, Melinda McGraw.

Silly spoof of THE FUGITIVE is yet another vehicle for Nielsen's deadpan comic shtick. This time, he's on the run for a crime he didn't commit. Amidst the relentless barrage of gags are some that—while entirely obvious—are also pretty funny, if you like this sort of thing. [PG-13]▼●●

Wrong Guys, The (1988) C-86m. *½ D: Danny Bilson. Louie Anderson, Richard Lewis, Richard Belzer, Franklyn Ajaye, Tim Thomerson, Brion James, Biff Maynard, John Goodman, Ernie Hudson, Timothy Van Patten, Rita Rudner. Clumsy and unfunny comedy about a Cub Scout reunion campout that goes awry; cast of stand-up comics do battle with a stupid script. [PG]▼●●

Wrong Is Right (1982) C-117m. ½ D: Richard Brooks. Sean Connery, George Grizzard, Robert Conrad, Katharine Ross, G. D. Spradlin, John Saxon, Henry Silva, Leslie Nielsen, Robert Webber, Rosalind Cash, Hardy Kruger, Dean Stockwell, Ron Moody, Jennifer Jason Leigh. Broad, bizarre, free-swinging satire of our TV-dominated culture, keyed to superstar reporter Connery's involvement with a terrorist group, and the U.S. government's possible ties to it. Scattershot script manages to hit a few targets, and benefits from Brooks' breathless pace. [R]▼●●

Wrong Kind of Girl, The SEE: Bus Stop Wrong Man, The (1957) 105m.  D: Alfred Hitchcock. Henry Fonda, Vera Miles, Anthony Quayle, Harold J. Stone, Nehemiah Persoff, Peggy Webber. Unusual Hitchcock film done as semi-documentary, using true story of N.Y.C. musician (Fonda) falsely accused of robbery. Miles is excellent as wife who cracks under strain; offbeat and compelling. Written by Maxwell Anderson and Angus MacPhail.▼●●

Wrong Move (1975-German) C-103m. ½ D: Wim Wenders. Rudiger Vogler, Hanna Schygulla, Ivan Desny, Marianne Hoppe, Peter Kern, Hans Christian Blech, Nastassja Kinski. Overly metaphorical (but occasionally worthwhile) tale of disgruntled Vogler attempting to understand himself—and his country's past—as he rambles through Germany with various companions. Scripted by Peter Handke, loosely based on Goethe's Wilhelm Meister. Kinski's film debut. The second (and least successful) in Wenders' "road movie" trilogy, after ALICE IN THE CITIES and followed by KINGS OF THE ROAD. Original English title: WRONG MOVEMENT.▼

Wrong Rut, The SEE: Not Wanted Wrong Turn (2003) C-84m. ½ D: Rob Schmidt. Eliza Dushku, Desmond Harrington, Emmanuelle Chriqui, Jeremy Sisto, Lindy Booth, Julian Richings, Kevin Zegers. Wrong is right, as a stereotyped group of young motorists become stranded in the backwoods of West Virginia and naturally find themselves

stalked by cannibalistic, inbred hillbillies. Derivative gorefest for those who've never seen DELIVERANCE or THE TEXAS CHAIN SAW MASSACRE. Followed by a direct-to-DVD sequel. [R]▼●

WUSA (1970) C-115m. ½ D: Stuart Rosenberg. Paul Newman, Joanne Woodward, Anthony Perkins, Laurence Harvey, Pat Hingle, Cloris Leachman, Don Gordon, Leigh French, Moses Gunn, Bruce Cabot, Lou Gossett, Jr. Newman pet project casts him as cynical drifter who becomes a d.j. for an ultraright-wing New Orleans radio station and struggles with his own apathy as he grows aware of WUSA's true (and sinister) intentions. Obvious sincerity undercut by simplistic, overwritten script; still, the acting is fine and there are some truly memorable scenes. Panavision. [M/PG]

Wuthering Heights (1939) 103m. * D: William Wyler. Merle Oberon, Laurence Olivier, David Niven, Flora Robson, Donald Crisp, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Leo G. Carroll, Cecil Kellaway, Miles Mander, Hugh Williams. Stirring adaptation of Emily Brontë's novel stops at chapter 17, but viewers shouldn't despair: sensitive direction and sweeping performances propel this magnificent story of doomed love in pre-Victorian England. Haunting, a must-see film. Gregg Toland's moody photography won an Oscar; script by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur. Remade in 1953, 1970, 1992, and in 2003 for cable TV.▼●●

Wuthering Heights (1953-Mexican) 90m. ½ D: Luis Buñuel. Irasema Dilian, Jorge Mistral, Lilia Prado, Ernesto Alonso, Luis Aceves Castaneda. Strikingly directed but talky, overbaked, ultimately unsuccessful version of the Brontë classic: bitter, cold-hearted former servant Mistral, now rich, returns to disrupt the life of true love Dilian, now married to another.▼

Wuthering Heights (1970-British) C-105m.  D: Robert Fuest. Anna Calder-Marshall, Timothy Dalton, Harry Andrews, Pamela Browne, Judy Cornwell, Ian Ogilvy, Hugh Griffith, Julian Glover. Good, realistic treatment of Brontë's novel with authentic locations and atmosphere, Dalton and Calder-Marshall believable looking as Heathcliff and Cathy, but film's point of view indistinct and pace too fast. [G]▼●●

Wuthering Heights (1992-U.S.-British) C-106m. *½ D: Peter Kosminsky. Juliette Binoche, Ralph Fiennes, Janet McTeer, Sophie Ward, Simon Shepherd, Jeremy Northam. Excruciating remake of the classic Brontë novel of doomed love. Binoche plays both Cathy and her daughter exactly the same way, with a different hair color. Fiennes' torment is so intense, it's actually a relief when he dies. This was the first film produced by Paramount studio's European production wing but it made its U.S. debut several years after completion, on cable TV. Sinéad O'Connor appears unbilled as Emily Brontë. Title on-screen is EMILY BRONTË'S WUTHERING HEIGHTS. [PG]▼●●

W.W. and the Dixie Dancekings (1975) C-91m. ½ D: John G. Avildsen. Burt Reynolds, Art Carney, Conny Van Dyke, Jerry Reed, James Hampton, Ned Beatty. Lightly likable film about a conman who hooks up with struggling country-western group and stops at nothing to promote their success; Carney has oddball role as religious lawman pursuing Burt. Script by Thomas Rickman. [PG]

Wyatt Earp (1994) C-190m. ½ D: Lawrence Kasdan. Kevin Costner, Dennis Quaid, Gene Hackman, Jeff Fahey, Mark Harmon, Michael Madsen, Catherine O'Hara, Bill Pullman, Isabella Rossellini, Tom Sizemore, JoBeth Williams, Mare Winningham, James Gammon, Annabeth Gish, Betty Buckley, Mackenzie Astin, Karen Grassle, Téa Leoni, Brett Cullen, John Doe, Martin Kove. Epic-length biography shows how fate and circumstance turned the fabled Earp into a hardened and heartless man who killed in the name of law and order. Good storytelling grows ponderous toward the end, as Earp is driven by revenge against his blood enemies from the O.K. Corral. Quaid makes a colorful Doc Holliday, though his equally flashy ladyfriend Big Nosed Kate (Rossellini) disappears just as we get to meet her! Special video edition runs 20m. longer! Panavision. [R]▼●●

Wyoming Kid, The SEE: Cheyenne

X (1963) C-80m. ½ D: Roger Corman. Ray Milland, Diana Van Der Vlis, Harold J. Stone, John Hoyt, Don Rickles. Not-bad little film about scientist Milland developing serum that enables him to see through things. He lives to regret it. Advertised as X: THE MAN WITH X-RAY EYES. ▼●●

Xanadu (1980) C-96m. *½ D: Robert Greenwald. Olivia Newton-John, Gene Kelly, Michael Beck, James Sloyan, Dimitra Arliss, Katie Hanley, Sandahl Bergman, Marilyn Tokuda, John "Fee" Waybill, voices of Wilfrid Hyde-White and Coral Browne. Flashy but empty-headed remake of DOWN TO EARTH, with Olivia as muse who pops in to inspire young roller-boogie artist. Designed as a showcase for the singer, whose screen charisma is nil. Kelly (using his character name from COVER GIRL) tries to perk things up; even a brief animated sequence by Don Bluth doesn't help. Newton-John's future husband, Matt Lattanzi, plays Kelly as a young man. Later a Broadway musical. [PG] ▼●●

X-15 (1961) C-106m.  D: Richard Donner. David McLean, Charles Bronson, Ralph Taeger, Brad Dexter, Mary Tyler Moore, Patricia Owens. Mild narrative of pilots testing

the experimental space plane of the title, and their romantic and family lives. Unusual role for Bronson, even then. Panavision.▶

X-Files, The (1998) C-120m. ½ D: Rob Bowman. David Duchovny, Gillian Anderson, Martin Landau, Armin Mueller-Stahl, Blythe Danner, William B. Davis, John Neville, Mitch Pileggi, Jeffrey DeMunn, Terry O'Quinn, Glennie Headly, Lucas Black. Feature version of popular TV series serves well enough as a conspiracy yarn for newcomers to the exploits of FBI agents Mulder and Scully. After surviving the bombing of a building in Texas, they defy orders and go in search of a new lead about aliens on Earth and the question of who's running what. Overlong by at least one climax, this large-scale thriller will have additional resonance for X-Files fans. Video version runs 122m. Followed by a sequel a decade later. Super 35. [PG-13]▼●●

X Files: I Want to Believe, The (2008-U.S.-Canadian) C-104m.  D: Chris Carter. David Duchovny, Gillian Anderson, Amanda Peet, Billy Connolly, Alvin "Xzibit" Joiner, Mitch Pileggi, Callum Keith Rennie, Fagin Woodcock. When she's approached by the FBI to help investigate several abductions of women, Dana Scully (Anderson) turns for help to retired Fox Mulder (Duchovny). He believes a former priest (Connolly), jailed for pederasty, has real psychic powers; she doesn't. What follows is similar to an X-Files TV episode—but longer and less involving, centering on bizarre surgery. Devotees will likely enjoy this more than newcomers. Alternate version runs 108m. Super 35. [PG-13]▶

Xica (1978-Brazilian) C-107m. ½ D: Carlos Diegues. Zeze Motta, Walmor Chagas, Jose Wilker, Marcus Vinicius, Altair Lima. Saucy, if a bit overspiced, tale of strong-willed black slave Motta who seduces the new Royal Diamond Contractor (Chagas) in corrupt, repressive colonial Brazil. Nicely directed and acted—particularly by Motta—but curiously unmemorable. Filmed in 1976; released in the U.S. in 1982.▼

Xiu Xiu the Sent-down Girl (1999-Chinese-Hong Kong-U.S.) C-99m. ½ D: Joan Chen. Lu Lu, Lopsang, Gao Jie, Li Qianqian, Lu Yue. In 1980s China, a bright city girl (16-year-old Lu Lu) is sent to a remote rural area as part of a government cultural program, where she comes under the care of a kind Tibetan herder and horse trainer. Actress Chen's directorial debut is a well-made, richly detailed film with an intriguing story, but the resolution is unsatisfying. Banned in China for its critical stance. Chen also coscripted with Yan Geling, based on the latter's novella. [R]▼▶

X-Men (2000) C-104m.  D: Bryan Singer. Hugh Jackman, Patrick Stewart, Ian McKellen, Famke Janssen, James Marsden, Halle Berry, Anna Paquin, Tyler Mane, Ray Park, Rebecca

Romijn-Stamos, Bruce Davison. Marvel Comics-inspired saga has two disparate misfits, Wolverine (Jackman) and Rogue (Paquin), linking up and finding a safe haven with Professor X (Stewart), who hopes to find ways to assimilate all mutants into human society. His brainy counterpart, Magneto (McKellen), however, sees humans as the enemy to be conquered. Long on razzle-dazzle, fun to watch, though some of the energy is sapped away by the climax. Based on characters created for Marvel Comics by Stan Lee and Jack Kirby. Followed by three sequels. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

X2 (2003) C-134m.  D: Bryan Singer. Patrick Stewart, Hugh Jackman, Ian McKellen, Halle Berry, Famke Janssen, James Marsden, Rebecca Romijn-Stamos, Brian Cox, Alan Cumming, Bruce Davison, Shawn Ashmore, Aaron Stanford, Kelly Hu, Anna Paquin. Action-packed sequel to X-MEN turns Stewart and McKellen into temporary allies in order to combat power-crazy Cox. That's just one plot thread in this breathless film, which doesn't have enough time to spend with all of its colorful characters, including Pyro, Colossus, and the colorful Nightcrawler (well played by Cumming). There's energy to spare in this entertaining yarn based on the Marvel comic book created by Stan Lee and Jack Kirby. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

X-Men: The Last Stand (2006) C-104m.  D: Brett Ratner. Hugh Jackman, Halle Berry, Ian McKellen, Patrick Stewart, Famke Janssen, Anna Paquin, Kelsey Grammer, James Marsden, Rebecca Romijn, Shawn Ashmore, Aaron Stanford, Vinnie Jones, Ben Foster, Michael Murphy, Shohreh Aghdashloo, Josef Sommer, Bill Duke, Cameron Bright, R. Lee Ermye, Ellen Page. Development of a "cure" for genetic mutations—like the X-Men—spurs the ultimate showdown between Magneto and Dr. Xavier. Third and weakest in the comic book series short-changes character development in favor of explosions and special effects . . . so there's little emotion in spite of all the overheated goings-on. Was Foster's part (as Murphy's winged son) really meant to be so brief? Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

X-Men Origins: Wolverine (2009) C-107m. ½ D: Gavin Hood. Hugh Jackman, Liev Schreiber, Danny Huston, William, Lynn Collins, Ryan Reynolds, Kevin Durand, Dominic Monaghan, Taylor Kitsch, Daniel Henney. Proposed backstory of the indestructible Wolverine character from Marvel's X-Men comics sets up the lifelong sibling relationship (and rivalry) with his bloodthirsty brother Sabretooth (Schreiber), and, less interestingly, shows how they and other mutants were exploited by a rogue U.S. military officer (Huston) bent on creating the ultimate humanoid weapon. Slick but heavy-handed and formulaic, this film lacks the sense of wonder and discovery that marks the first two

X-MEN movies, and focuses instead on Wolverine and his adversaries beating the living daylight out of each other. Jackman gives it his best. Super 35. [PG-13]

X The Unknown (1956-British) 80m. ½ D: Leslie Norman. Dean Jagger, Leo McKern, William Lucas, Edward Chapman, Anthony Newley. Well-thought-out sci-fi production set in Scotland. Radioactive mud from Earth's center grows and kills anything in its path. Effective chiller written by Jimmy Sangster. ▼

Xtro (1983-British) C-82m. *½ D: Harry Bromley Davenport. Philip Sayer, Bernice Stegers, Danny Brainin, Maryam d'Abo, Simon Nash. Father abducted by aliens returns to Earth three years later to claim his young son, but he's not the man he used to be. Crudely directed sci-fi/horror opus is guided by gruesomeness, not logic. Overwrought but dull, with lots of sexual elements. XTRO II and XTRO: WATCH THE SKIES are sequels in title only. [R] ▼

XXX (2002) C-124m. ½ D: Rob Cohen. Vin Diesel, Samuel L. Jackson, Asia Argento, Marton Csokas, Danny Trejo, Michael Roof, Tom Everett, Richy Müller, Thomas Ian Griffith, Eve. A hooligan/extreme-sports show-off/online entrepreneur is recruited by the NSA to go underground in Prague and get the goods on a renegade Russian. Check your brains at the door and you'll have a good time with this silly, high-energy action film, with some over-the-top stunt sequences and plenty of room for Diesel to strut his stuff. If only it didn't go on so long, and try to turn this antihero into a bona fide hero. One nice touch: a musical reference to THE THIRD MAN. Diesel coexecutive-produced. Unrated version runs 132m. Followed by a sequel. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼

xx: State of the Union (2005) C-100m.  D: Lee Tamahori. Ice Cube, Samuel L. Jackson, Willem Dafoe, Scott Speedman, Peter Strauss, Xzibit, Michael Roof, Nona Gaye. In a pastoral Virginia horse-country setting where you half expect to run into Sam Shepard, a group of National Security Agency employees is slaughtered. To solve the crime, NSA honcho Jackson springs Cube from a maximum-security cooler (to replace Vin Diesel, from the original XXX film). Outlandish premise and execution are worth a few laughs, but when the Secretary of Defense is also a 4-star general played by Dafoe, you won't pull many muscles trying to determine who's behind a SEVEN DAYS IN MAY-type coup. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼

xx/xy (2003) C-91m.  D: Austin Chick. Mark Ruffalo, Kathleen Robertson, Maya Stange, Petra Wright, David Thornton, Kel O'Neill. Laid-back N.Y.C. artist hooks up with two college girls and indulges in a free-love, partying haze of sex and drugs. Story then fast-forwards as the three reconnect, years later, as "responsible" adults. Instead of just another romantic-triangle picture, this hearkens back to films of the 1960s and '70s in its examination of relationships. Good showcase for the talented Ruffalo, with strong performances from all the leads. Written by the director. [R]▼

X, Y and Zee (1972-British) C-110m.  D: Brian G. Hutton. Elizabeth Taylor, Michael Caine, Susannah York, Margaret Leighton, John Standing. Contrived, often perverse tale of a woman, her husband, another woman and the way the three are interchangeable in relationships. Original British title: ZEE AND COMPANY. [PG—edited from original R rating]▼

Yakuza, The (1975) C-112m.  D: Sydney Pollack. Robert Mitchum, Takakura Ken, Brian Keith, Herb Edelman, Richard Jordan, Kishi Keiko. Mitchum tries to rescue pal Keith's kidnapped daughter by returning to Japan after several years; he gets more than he bargains for from title organization, a kind of Oriental Mafia. Mitchum and Ken are fine in suspenseful action pic, written by Paul Schrader and Robert Towne. Retitled: BROTHERHOOD OF THE YAKUZA. Originally shown at 123m. Panavision. [R]▼

Yank at Eton, A (1942) 88m.  D: Norman Taurog. Mickey Rooney, Freddie Bartholomew, Tina Thayer, Ian Hunter, Edmund Gwenn, Alan Mowbray, Peter Lawford, Terry Kilburn. Rooney goes to school in England and it's a wonder he's not ejected immediately.

Yank at Oxford, A (1938-U.S.-British) 100m.  D: Jack Conway. Robert Taylor, Lionel Barrymore, Maureen O'Sullivan, Vivien Leigh, Edmund Gwenn. Attractive cast, including young Leigh, in familiar story of cocky American trying to adjust to Oxford, and vice versa. Remade in 1984 as OXFORD BLUES.

Yankee Doodle Dandy (1942) 126m. * D: Michael Curtiz. James Cagney, Joan Leslie, Walter Huston, Irene Manning, Rosemary DeCamp, Richard Whorf, Jeanne Cagney, S. Z. Sakall, Walter Catlett, Frances Langford, Eddie Foy, Jr., George Tobias. Cagney wraps up film in neat little package all his own with dynamic recreation of George M. Cohan's life and times; he deservedly won Oscar for rare song-and-dance performance, as did music directors Ray Heindorf and Heinz Roemheld. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Yank in the RAF, A (1941) 98m.  D: Henry King. Tyrone Power, Betty Grable, John Sutton, Reginald Gardiner, Donald Stuart, Richard Fraser. Power's only there so he can see London-based chorine Grable; they make a nice team. Songs: "Another Little Dream Won't Do Us Any Harm," "Hi-Ya Love."▼

Yank in Viet-Nam, A (1964) 80m.  D: Marshall Thompson. Marshall Thompson, Enrique Magalona, Mario Barri, Urban Drew. Low-budget topical actioner set in Saigon, with marine Thompson attempting to help the South Vietnamese. Retitled: YEAR OF THE TIGER.

Yanks (1979) C-139m. ½ D: John Schlesinger. Richard Gere, Lisa Eichhorn, Vanessa Redgrave, William Devane, Chick Vennera, Wendy Morgan, Rachel Roberts, Joan Hickson, John Ratzenberger, Antony Sher. Lavish production about WW2 romances between U.S. soldiers and British women doesn't deliver the goods, due to choppy structure and flabby direction. Gere's so-called star power seems to be a casualty of energy crisis cutbacks. [R]▼

Yards, The (2000) C-115m.  D: James Gray. Mark Wahlberg, Joaquin Phoenix, Charlize Theron, James Caan, Ellen Burstyn, Faye Dunaway, Andrew Davoli, Steve Lawrence, Tony Musante, Victor Argo, Tomas Milian. Somber N.Y.C. mood piece about an aimless young man (Wahlberg), just out of prison, who tries to go straight but winds up working with his friend (Phoenix) bending and breaking the law on behalf of his uncle, a city contractor (Caan). All the characters are doomed in this dark, operatic (but not always credible) tale of corruption . . . and fate. Panavision. [R]▼

Yearling, The (1946) C-128m. ½ D: Clarence Brown. Gregory Peck, Jane Wyman, Claude Jarman, Jr., Chill Wills, Margaret Wycherly, Henry Travers, Jeff York, Forrest Tucker, June Lockhart. Marjorie Kinnan Rawling's sensitive tale of a boy attached to a young deer was exquisitely filmed in Technicolor on location in Florida, with memorable performances. Oscar winner for Cinematography and Art Direction, and a special Oscar for newcomer Jarman. Beware 94m. reissue print. Remade as a TV movie in 1994. ▼

Year My Voice Broke, The (1987-Australian) C-103m.  D: John Duigan. Noah Taylor, Loene Carmen, Ben Mendelsohn, Graeme Blundell, Lynette Curran, Malcolm Robertson, Judi Farr. Affecting story of a teenage boy's friendship and infatuation with a troubled girl; set in a small town in the early 1960s. A cut above the usual coming-of-age film, thanks to director Duigan's touching script and amazingly natural performances by his young actors. Followed by a sequel, FLIRTING. [PG-13]▼

Year of Living Dangerously, The (1983-Australian) C-115m.  D: Peter Weir. Mel Gibson, Sigourney Weaver, Linda Hunt, Michael Murphy, Bill Kerr, Noel Ferrier. Fascinating political drama set in strife-ridden Indonesia just before Sukarno's fall in 1965 . . . much more successful as a mood-piece than as romance, however, with Weaver's flimsy character (and flimsier accent) a detriment. Diminu-tive Hunt—a woman playing a man—is mesmerizing and most deservedly won an Academy Award. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Year of the Comet (1992) C-89m.  D: Peter Yates. Penelope Ann Miller, Tim Daly, Louis Jourdan, Art Malik, Ian Richardson, Ian McNeice, Julia McCarthy. Listless, if not especially painful, variation on ROMANCING THE STONE: Wallflower Miller begins to bloom when her discovery of a priceless wine bottle lands her in the middle of some international intrigue. Agreeably performed, but a pretty slight non-event given William Goldman's first original script since BUTCH CASSIDY AND THE SUNDANCE KID. Panavision. [PG-13] ▼●●

Year of the Dog (2007) C-98m.  D: Mike White. Molly Shannon, Laura Dern, Regina King, Tom McCarthy, Peter Sarsgaard, John C. Reilly, Josh Pais. A square peg (Shannon) who holds down a mundane office job is badly shaken when her beloved dog dies. This sets off a chain reaction of funny, sad, and shocking events. White's fondness for society's oddballs (see CHUCK & BUCK, THE GOOD GIRL) flowers in his directorial debut, a serio-comedy with Shannon capturing all the nuances of her character, a good-hearted woman who's never quite fit in. Evocative score by Christophe Beck. [PG-13] ●

Year of the Dragon (1985) C-136m. ½ D: Michael Cimino. Mickey Rourke, John Lone, Ariane, Leonard Termo, Ray Barry, Caroline Kava, Eddie Jones. Highly charged, arresting melodrama scripted by Oliver Stone (from Robert Daley's book) about a Vietnam vet who's still fighting his own private war, as a N.Y.C. cop whose current target is corruption in Chinatown, and crime czar Lone in particular. Companion piece to Cimino's THE DEER HUNTER has same intensity but nearly drowns in a sea of excess and self-importance. Still worth watching. Incidentally, virtually all New York settings (including Mott Street) were recreated on location in North Carolina! J-D-C Scope. [R]▼●●

Year of the Gun (1991) C-111m.  D: John Frankenheimer. Andrew McCarthy, Valeria Golino, Sharon Stone, John Pankow, Mattia Sbragia, George Murcell. Confused thriller about a young American novelist in Rome who stumbles onto the Red Brigade's plot to kidnap then-Premier Aldo Moro. Frankenheimer (who made such great political thrillers as SEVEN DAYS IN MAY and THE MANCHURIAN CANDIDATE) struggles to keep a wandering story in focus. McCarthy is somewhat blank in the lead role, but Stone is good as an aggressive photojournalist. [R]▼●●

Year of the Quiet Sun, A (1984-Polish-German) C-106m.  D: Krzysztof Zanussi. Scott Wilson, Maja Komorowska, Hanna Skarzanka, Ewa Dalkowska, Vadim

Glowna, Daniel Webb. Stark, haunting drama, set just after WW2, detailing the evolving relationship between two lost souls who don't even speak the same language: hard-luck Polish widow Komorowska and emotionally hungry American GI Wilson. A heartfelt film, loaded with raw emotion and deep feeling. [PG]▼●●

Year of the Tiger SEE: Yank in Vietnam, A

Yella (2008-German) C-86m.  D: Christian Petzold. Nina Hoss, Devid Striesow, Hinnerk Schönemann, Burghart Klaußner, Barbara Auer, Christian Redl. Cryptic account of the title character (Hoss), who has just ended her marriage. A desperate, violent act on the part of her ex leaves her drowned in a river—or does it? Remake of CARNIVAL OF SOULS is effective as a psychological study and an acute reflection of contemporary business practices. ●

Yellowbeard (1983-British) C-101m. BOMB D: Mel Damski. Graham Chapman, Peter Boyle, Richard "Cheech" Marin, Tommy Chong, Peter Cook, Marty Feldman, Martin Hewitt, Michael Hordern, Eric Idle, Madeline Kahn, James Mason, John Cleese, Susannah York, Stacey Nelkin. Appalling waste of talent in a startlingly inept and unfunny pirate comedy. Written by costars Chapman and Cook with Bernard McKenna. They should have walked the plank for this one. This was Feldman's final film. [PG] ▼●●

Yellow Canary, The (1963) 93m. BOMB D: Buzz Kulik. Pat Boone, Barbara Eden, Steve Forrest, Jack Klugman, Jesse White, Milton Selzer, John Banner, Jeff Corey, Harold Gould. If you've lain awake nights hoping to see Pat Boone as an obnoxious pop singer in a movie written by Rod Serling, your wish has come true. But don't fret; Pat turns into a nice guy when his infant son is kidnapped and he has to go rescue him. And you thought The Twilight Zone was just a TV show! CinemaScope.

Yellow Earth (1984-Chinese) C-87m.  D: Chen Kaige. Xue Bai, Wang Xueqi, Tan Tuo, Liu Qiang. One of the earliest films of the Chinese New Wave is an engrossing, poetic account of a wandering communist soldier who arrives in a rural farming village in 1939 to learn folk songs that he will teach to his regiment; he inspires a 14-year-old girl who is bound by tradition to a life of bitterness and hardship. Photographed by Zhang Yimou; it's interesting to contrast this film's "communism equals freedom" propaganda to the political content of Yimou and Kaige's later work. ▼

Yellow Rolls-Royce, The (1964-British) C-122m.  D: Anthony Asquith. Rex Harrison, Shirley MacLaine, Ingrid Bergman, Jeanne Moreau, Edmund Purdom, George C. Scott, Omar Sharif, Art Carney, Alain Delon, Roland Culver, Wally

Cox. Slick Terence Rattigan drama involving trio of owners of title car, focusing on how romance plays a part in each of their lives; contrived but ever-so-smoothly handled. Panavision. ▼●●

Yellow Sky (1948) 98m.  D: William A. Wellman. Gregory Peck, Anne Baxter, Richard Widmark, Robert Arthur, John Russell, Henry (Harry) Morgan, James Barton. Exciting Western with Peck heading a gang of thieves who come to a ghost town, where they confront tough, mysterious Baxter and her grandfather. Similar in atmosphere to Wellman's classic THE OX-BOW INCIDENT. Script by Lamar Trotti from a W. R. Burnett story. Remade as THE JACKALS. ▼

Yellow Submarine (1968-British) C-85m. * D: George Dunning. Pure delight, a phantasmagorical animated feature with as much to hear as there is to see: Beatles' songs, puns, non sequitur jokes combined with surreal pop-art visions in story of Beatles trying to save Pepperland from the Blue Meanies. Unique, refreshing. Songs include "Lucy in the Sky With Diamonds," "When I'm Sixty-four," "All You Need Is Love." Alternate version runs 90m. and features "Hey Bulldog." [G] ▼●●

Yentl (1983) C-134m. ½ D: Barbra Streisand. Barbra Streisand, Mandy Patinkin, Amy Irving, Nehemiah Persoff, Steven Hill. A young woman in Eastern Europe at the turn of the century disguises as a boy in order to fulfill her dream and get an education. Isaac Bashevis Singer's simple short story is handled with love and care by first-time director/producer/cowriter Streisand, but goes on far longer than necessary, with 12 (count 'em) soliloquy songs by Alan and Marilyn Bergman and Michel Legrand (who also earned Oscars for their score) and a finale uncomfortably reminiscent of FUNNY GIRL. A star vehicle if there ever was one; no wonder Streisand fans love it. Alternate DVD version runs 137m. [PG] ▼●●

Yes (2005-U.S.-British) C-100m. ½ D: Sally Potter. Joan Allen, Simon Abkarian, Sam Neill, Shirley Henderson, Sheila Hancock, Samantha Bond, Stephanie Leonidas. Challenging, artfully crafted tale (written in rhyming verse) about a woman whose marriage is strained, leaving her ripe for seduction. Enter a suave Lebanese man (Abkarian). Potter's scenario veers in many directions, with astute philosophical observations about the differences between East and West, relations between the classes, and the importance of seizing the moment. Talky but never boring, with Potter offering beautifully composed shots and stunning use of color. [R] ●

Yes, Giorgio (1982) C-110m. *½ D: Franklin J. Schaffner. Luciano Pavarotti, Kathryn Harrold, Eddie Albert, Paola

Borboni, James Hong, Beulah Quo. Opera superstar Pavarotti plays . . . an opera superstar, who pursues an independent-minded lady doctor during American tour. So-called romantic comedy gives the phrase "old fashioned" a bad name; missing ingredient is a parade of character actors like Mischa Auer and Herman Bing to make it palatable. Only saving grace: Pavarotti sings. [PG] ▼●●

Yes Man (2008) C-104m. ½ D: Peyton Reed. Jim Carrey, Zooey Deschanel, Bradley Cooper, John Michael Higgins, Rhys Darby, Danny Masterson, Fionnula Flanagan, Terence Stamp, Sasha Alexander, Molly Sims, Brent Briscoe. A working drone who's been miserable since his wife dumped him falls under the influence of a self-help guru who exhorts him to say nothing but yes for the next year—quite literally—and he finds that it does in fact open up all sorts of opportunities. Perfect role for Carrey, who makes the most of it, though the script loses its initial momentum . . . and the final gag falls flat. Based on a best-selling memoir by Danny Wallace. Luis Guzmán appears unbilled. Super 35. [PG-13] ●

Yes Men, The (2004) C-83m.  D: Chris Smith, Sarah Price, Dan Ollman. Subversively hilarious documentary-satire in which a pair of merry pranksters pass themselves off as World Trade Organization hotshots. Their purpose: to infiltrate the culture of corporate executives and expose and lampoon their dubious intentions. Watching how far they carry their hoax proves again that Barnum was right. Michael Moore, sympathetic to The Yes Men's mission, appears briefly. Released in Canada in 2003. [R] ▼

Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow (1963-Italian) C-119m. * D: Vittorio De Sica. Sophia Loren, Marcello Mastroianni, Tina Pica, Giovanni Ridolfi. Oscar winner for Best Foreign Film is impeccable trio of comic tales, with Loren playing three women who use sex in various ways to get what they want. Striptease for Marcello is among the most famous scenes in her career (and remains pretty steamy). Techniscope. ▼

Yi Yi (A One and a Two) (2000-Taiwanese-Japanese) C-173m. ½ D: Edward Yang. Nien-Jen Wu, Elaine Jin, Issey Ogata, Kelly Lee, Jonathan Chang, Hsi-Sheng Chen. Smart, spare slice-of-life about a middle-class Taiwanese family and their everyday problems: a husband-father must contend with business difficulties and the presence of an old girlfriend; his wife is deeply depressed by her mother's debilitating stroke; their adolescent daughter is attempting to define herself; their eight-year-old son has troubles at school. A knowing, beautifully textured portrait of birth and death, and the cycles of life in between. Written by the director. ▼

Yojimbo (1961-Japanese) 110m. * D: Akira Kurosawa. Toshiro Mifune, Eijiro

Tono, Seizaburo Kawazu, Isuzu Yamada, Hiroshi Tachikawa, Kyu Sazanka, Tatsuya Nakada, Takashi Shimura. Superb tongue-in-cheek samurai picture, the plot of which resembles a Western; Mifune is perfection as samurai up for hire in town with two warring factions, both of whom he teaches a well-deserved lesson. Beautiful on all counts; the inspiration for FISTFUL OF DOLLARS and many other films. Later remade as LAST MAN STANDING. Sequel: SANJURO. Tohoscope. ▼●●

Yol (1982-Turkish-Swiss) C-111m.  D: Serif Goren. Tarik Akan, Serif Sezer, Halil Ergun, Meral Orhonsoy, Necmettin Cobanoglu. Incisive chronicle of the experiences of convicts who return home while on "leave" from jail. Screenplay by Yilmaz Guney, written while he was himself in prison. [PG]▼

Yolanda and the Thief (1945) C-108m. ½ D: Vincente Minnelli. Fred Astaire, Lucille Bremer, Frank Morgan, Leon Ames, Mildred Natwick, Mary Nash. Opulent musical fantasy about a con man (Astaire) who tries to convince rich convent-bred girl (Bremer) that he's her guardian angel. Unusual film that you'll either love or hate. Best musical number: "Coffee Time." ▼●●

Yor, the Hunter from the Future (1983-Italian) C-88m. BOMB D: Anthony M. Dawson (Antonio Margheriti). Reb Brown, Corinne Clery, John Steiner, Carole Andre, Alan Collins. Shamelessly idiotic muscleman movie with a nuclear-age twist. Humorously tacky at first, then just plain boring. [PG]▼●●

You and Me (1938) 90m. ½ D: Fritz Lang. Sylvia Sidney, George Raft, Barton MacLane, Harry Carey, Roscoe Karns, George E. Stone, Warren Hymer, Robert Cummings. Genuinely odd but likable film about an ex-con (Raft) who falls in love with Sidney and marries her, unaware that she's a former jailbird herself. Unusual mix of gangsterism, sentiment, Damon Runyonesque comedy, and music (by Kurt Weill)—with even some rhythmic dialogue! Story by Norman Krasna, screenplay by Virginia Van Upp. ▼

You Are What You Eat (1968) C-75m.  D: Barry Feinstein. Tiny Tim, Peter Yarrow, Paul Butterfield, Barry McGuire, Father Malcom Boyd, The Electric Flag, Harper's Bizarre, Super Spade. Documentary of the mid-'60s does, by the mere appearance of some of the era's luminaries, carry one back; however, film is ill conceived, haphazardly put together. ▼

You Belong to Me (1941) 94m.  D: Wesley Ruggles. Barbara Stanwyck, Henry Fonda, Edgar Buchanan, Roger Clark, Ruth Donnelly, Melville Cooper, Maude Eburne. Weak comedy of doctor Stanwyck and hubby Fonda who's wary of her male patients. Looks as though it was made in three days. Coscripted by Dalton Trumbo. Remade as EMERGENCY WEDDING.

You Better Watch Out (1980) C-100m.  D: Lewis Jackson. Brandon Maggart, Dianne Hull, Scott McKay, Joe Jamrog, Peter Friedman, Ray Barry, Bobby Lesser, Sam Gray. Gripping, well-made little thriller about a killer disguised as Santa Claus, with Maggart excellent as the psychopathic Kris Kringle. A sleeper, with cult status possibilities. Video titles: CHRISTMAS EVIL and TERROR IN TOYLAND. [R]▼●●

You Can Count on Me (2000) C-111m. ½ D: Kenneth Lonergan. Laura Linney, Mark Ruffalo, Matthew Broderick, Rory Culkin, Jon Tenney, Gaby Hoffmann, Amy Ryan. A woman raising an 8-year-old son on her own—in the house she grew up in—must simultaneously deal with a priggish new boss and the arrival of her much-loved but aimless brother who comes to stay for a while. Wonderful comedy-drama about the peccadilloes of sibling relationships, the workplace, and life in general, sparked by great performances and an unusually perceptive script. Directing debut for playwright/screenwriter Lonergan, who also appears as Linney's priest. [R]▼●●

You Can't Cheat an Honest Man (1939) 78m. ½ D: George Marshall. W. C. Fields, Edgar Bergen, Constance Moore, James Bush, Mary Forbes, Thurston Hall, Edward Brophy, Grady Sutton, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson. Fields (as Larson E. Whipsnade) runs circus with interference from Bergen and Charlie McCarthy in frantic comedy classic with loads of snappy one-liners and memorable ping-pong game. Most of Fields' scenes were directed by Eddie Cline. ▼●●

You Can't Get Away With Murder (1939) 78m.  D: Lewis Seiler. Humphrey Bogart, Billy Halop, Gale Page, John Littel, Henry Travers, Harvey Stephens, Joe Sawyer, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson. Cocky punk Bogart takes angry, impressionable Halop under his wing, leading to plenty of complications. Overbaked melodramatics do this one in.

You Can't Hurry Love (1988) C-92m. *½ D: Richard Martini. David Packer, Scott McGinnis, Bridget Fonda, David Leisure, Anthony Geary, Frank Bonner, Lu Leonard, Merete Van Kamp, Sally Kellerman, Charles Grodin, Kristy McNichol. Paper-thin, predictable fare about the adventures of young Packer, who's lost in the L.A. singles scene. [R]▼●●

You Can't Run Away From It (1956) C-95m.  D: Dick Powell. June Allyson, Jack Lemmon, Charles Bickford, Paul Gilbert, Jim Backus, Stubby Kaye, Henny Youngman. Slight musical remake of IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT with Lemmon the reporter, Allyson the madcap heiress. CinemaScope.

You Can't Steal Love SEE: Live a Little, Steal a Lot

You Can't Take It With You (1938) 127m. ½ D: Frank Capra. Jean Arthur, Lionel Barrymore, James Stewart, Edward Arnold, Mischka Auer, Ann Miller, Spring Byington, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, Donald Meek, Halliwell Hobbes, Dub Taylor, Samuel S. Hinds, Harry Davenport, Charles Lane. George S. Kaufman-Moss Hart play about eccentric but blissfully happy household becomes prime Capracorn, not quite as compelling today as MR. DEEDS or MR. SMITH (due to Robert Riskin's extensive rewriting), but still highly entertaining. Oscar winner for Best Picture and Director. Followed a half-century later by a TV series. ▼●●

You Can't Win 'Em All (1970) C-95m. *½ D: Peter Collinson. Tony Curtis, Charles Bronson, Michele Mercier, Patrick Magee, Gregoire Aslan. Bronson and Curtis are friendly rivals caught in war-torn Turkey during the early 1920s. Bantering stars make the most of tired script by Leo Gordon (who also has supporting role). Filmed on location. Original title: THE DUBIOUS PATRIOTS. Video title: SOLDIERS OF FORTUNE. Panavision. [PG] ▼

You Don't Mess With the Zohan (2008) C-113m. ½ D: Dennis Dugan. Adam Sandler, John Turturro, Emmanuelle Chriqui, Nick Swardson, Kevin Nealon, Lainie Kazan, Rob Schneider, Mariah Carey, Robert Smigel, Shelley Berman, Charlotte Rae, Chris Rock. Even by Sandler standards this plot defies description: super-Jew counter-terrorist Zohan has a potential world of Palestinian behinds to kick, in and around home base in Israel, but what he really wants is to come to America and professionally ape the hair-care standards of Paul Mitchell (the more dated, the better). So, uh, he does. Predictably uneven and crude but ticklishly demented much of the time; above-average Sandler comedy supplies a romance (with Chriqui, as a New York-based Palestinian salon owner) and plenty of spirited cameos, including John McEnroe, who's become a Sandler regular. Unrated version runs 117m. [PG-13] ▼

You Got Served (2004) C-94m.  D: Chris Stokes. Marques Houston, Omari Grandberry, Jarell Houston, DeMario Thornton, Dreux Frederic, Jennifer Freeman, Lil' Kim, Steve Harvey, Michael "Bear" Taliferro, Meagan Good. Impressive street dancing and a likable cast can't save this predictable tale of local boys trying to make good, eventually becoming rivals. Simplistic plotting and often unintelligible street jargon make it laughable at times, although the leads (known for their work in such groups as B2K and IMX) do a decent job. [PG-13] ▼●

You Gotta Stay Happy (1948) 100m.

½ D: H. C. Potter. Joan Fontaine, James Stewart, Eddie Albert, Roland Young, Willard Parker, Percy Kilbride, Porter Hall. OK comedy about millionairess who runs off on wedding night to find new marriage. Could have been much better. ▼

You Kill Me (2007) C-92m. ½ D: John Dahl. Ben Kingsley, Téa Leoni, Luke Wilson, Philip Baker Hall, Dennis Farina, Bill Pullman, Marcus Thomas. Kingsley is superb as an alcoholic hit man who's banished by his Polish mob family in Buffalo, N.Y., and sent to San Francisco to dry out. He's set up with a job in a mortuary and in time he actually starts a new life, joins AA, and meets a smart woman who cares about him . . . but there's still some unfinished business to take care of back home. Smart, original, genuinely funny black comedy, written by Christopher Markus and Stephen McFeely. Super 35. [R] ▼

You Light Up My Life (1977) C-90m. ½ D: Joseph Brooks. Didi Conn, Joe Silver, Michael Zaslow, Stephen Nathan, Melanie Mayron. Oscar-winning title song may be best remembered thing about this film, but Conn and Silver are worth watching in loosely structured story of show-business-oriented girl trying to break loose and establish herself while putting her life in order. Produced, directed, written, and musically supervised by Brooks. [PG] ▼

You'll Like My Mother (1972) C-92m. ½ D: Lamont Johnson. Patty Duke, Rosemary Murphy, Sian Barbara Allen, Richard Thomas, Dennis Rucker. Offbeat thriller with psychological undertones. Duke plays pregnant widow journeying to visit mother-in-law she's never met. Some good moments, but doesn't add up. [PG] ▼

You'll Never Get Rich (1941) 88m.  D: Sidney Lanfield. Fred Astaire, Rita Hayworth, John Hubbard, Robert Benchley, Osa Massen, Frieda Inescort, Guinn Williams, Cliff Nazarro. Broadway star Astaire is drafted, so producer Benchley brings the show to training camp, where Fred does his best to win over chorus girl Hayworth. Witty banter, a Cole Porter score (including "So Near and Yet So Far"), and terrific dancing by the two stars make this breezy fun. ▼●●

You, Me and Dupree (2006) C-110m. ½ D: Anthony Russo, Joe Russo. Owen Wilson, Kate Hudson, Matt Dillon, Michael Douglas, Seth Rogen, Amanda Detmer. Newlyweds Hudson and Dillon embark on married life with an unexpected glitch: his best friend (Wilson) is crashing on their living-room sofa. What's more, Dillon works for her father (Douglas), who enjoys throwing his weight around. Wilson elevates this fairly obvious comedy, as the character of Dupree turns out to be more human—and likable—than you might expect. Harry Dean Stanton appears unbilled. Wilson also coproduced. [PG-13]▼

You Must Be Joking! (1965-British) C-100m.  D: Michael Winner. Michael Callan, Lionel Jeffries, Terry-Thomas, Denholm Elliott, Wilfrid Hyde-White, James Robertson Justice, Bernard Cribbins, Gabriella Licudi. Engaging poke at British army as zany psychologist (Jeffries) rounds up five weirdos to establish, via special testing, the "complete, quick thinking" exemplary British soldier.

Young Adam (2003-British-French) C-98m.  D: David Mackenzie. Ewan McGregor, Tilda Swinton, Peter Mullan, Emily Mortimer. Murder and sex affect the dynamics on a barge where a young drifter (McGregor) has come to work for a simple man (Mullan) and his unhappy wife (Swinton). Dreary drama, set in the 1950s, benefits from McGregor's strong screen presence but sinks under its own weight. Even explicit sex scenes can't liven up this dour tale. Scripted by Mackenzie from the novel by Scottish Beat Generation writer Alexander Trocchi. Arriscope. [NC-17]▼

Young Americans (1967) C-104m.  D: Alex Grasshoff. Although this slick documentary about the "Young Americans" singing group won an Oscar (which it was forced to relinquish when it was discovered that it had played theatrically before the year of its contention), these kids sell America like those guys on TV sell machines that slice carrots 144 different ways.

Young and Innocent (1937-British) 80m.  D: Alfred Hitchcock. Derrick de Marney, Nova Pilbeam, Percy Marmont, Edward Rigby, Mary Clare, Basil Radford. A Hitchcock thriller with charm and humor; young girl helps runaway man innocently accused of murder to find the real culprit. Pleasant echoes of THE 39 STEPS; nightclub revelation scene is especially memorable. Based on a novel by Josephine Tey. ▼●●

Young and the Damned, The SEE: Los Olvidados

Young and the Immoral, The SEE: Sinister Urge, The

Young at Heart (1954) C-117m.  D: Gordon Douglas. Doris Day, Frank Sinatra, Gig Young, Ethel Barrymore, Dorothy Malone, Alan Hale, Jr. Musical remake of Fannie Hurst's FOUR DAUGHTERS with Sinatra romancing Day amid much tear-shedding. Slickly done. ▼

Young@Heart (2008-U.S.-British) C-110m.  D: Stephen Walker. Stirring documentary chronicling the musical journey of a group of senior citizens in Northampton, Massachusetts, as they prepare the latest performance of Young At Heart, a concert group originally formed in 1982 that features a revolving group of singers in their 70s, 80s and 90s performing the songs of Jimi Hendrix, The Clash, Sonic Youth, and James Brown, among others. Proving that age is all about attitude and a desire for "Stayin' Alive" (one of the highlighted tunes), this moving film captures moments of glory and sorrow as these lively subjects rehearse their remarkable show. [PG]▼

Young Bess (1953) C-112m.  D: George Sidney. Jean Simmons, Stewart Granger, Charles Laughton, Deborah Kerr, Cecil Kellaway, Leo G. Carroll, Kay Walsh. Splashy costume war with Simmons as Elizabeth I, Laughton repeating role of Henry VIII. Fine cast does quite well in historical setting. ▼

Young Billy Young (1969) C-89m. ½ D: Burt Kennedy. Robert Mitchum, Angie Dickinson, Robert Walker, David Carradine, Jack Kelly, John Anderson, Paul Fix. Sheriff Mitchum, seeking the killer of his son, takes young Walker under his wing as a surrogate. Peculiar Western, adapted by Kennedy from Will Henry's Who Rides With Wyatt, is based on the alleged friendship between Wyatt Earp and Billy Clanton; interesting, but nothing special. [G]▼

Youngblood (1986) C-109m. *½ D: Peter Markle. Rob Lowe, Cynthia Gibb, Patrick Swayze, Ed Lauter, Eric Nesterenko, George Finn, Fionnula Flanagan. Boring, utterly predictable story of Lowe joining small-time Canadian hockey team, falling in love with the daughter of his no-nonsense coach. This movie has no energy, on the ice or off! Keanu Reeves' screen debut; that's him behind the mask, as the team's goalie. [R]▼●●

Youngblood Hawke (1964) 137m. ½ D: Delmer Daves. James Franciscus, Genevieve Page, Suzanne Pleshette, Eva Gabor, Mary Astor, Lee Bowman, Edward Andrews, Don Porter. Clichéd but somehow compelling trash from Herman Wouk's novel about a naive Southerner who writes a novel and becomes the toast of N.Y.C. literary society—with several women vying for his attention.

Young Cassidy (1965-British) C-110m.  D: Jack Cardiff, John Ford. Rod Taylor, Julie Christie, Maggie Smith, Flora Robson, Michael Redgrave, Edith Evans, Jack MacGowan. Taylor's best role ever as the earthy intellectual Sean O'Casey, set in 1910 Dublin; filled with rich atmosphere and fine supporting players.

Young Dillinger (1965) 102m. ½ D: Terry O. Morse. Nick Adams, Mary Ann Mobley, Robert Conrad, John Ashley, Victor Buono, John Hoyt, Reed Hadley. Adams gives force to chronicle of gangster John Dillinger, his rise and seemingly inevitable fall; sufficient gunplay. ▼

Young Doctors, The (1961) 100m.  D: Phil Karlson. Fredric March, Ben Gazzara, Dick Clark, Eddie Albert, Ina Balin, Aline MacMahon, Edward Andrews, Arthur Hill, George Segal, Rosemary Murphy, Barnard Hughes, Dick Button, Dolph Sweet; narrated by Ronald Reagan. Sturdy cast uplifts soaper set in large city hospital. Based on an Arthur Hailey novel. Segal's first film.

Young Doctors in Love (1982) C-95m.  D: Garry Marshall. Michael McKean, Sean Young, Harry Dean Stanton, Patrick Macnee, Hector Elizondo, Dabney Coleman, Pamela Reed, Michael Richards, Taylor Negron, Saul Rubinek, Titos Vandis, Ted McGinley, Crystal Bernard. Hospital comedy has plenty of scattershot gags, but not enough laughs—and certainly not enough substance—to maintain a feature film. Many daytime soap opera stars appear in cameos (including Demi Moore and Janine Turner, both then on General Hospital). Feature directing debut of TV comedy writer-producer Marshall. [R]▼●●

Young Dracula (1974-Italian-French) SEE: Andy Warhol's Dracula

Young Dracula (1974-British) SEE: Son of Dracula

Young Einstein (1988-Australian) C-90m. ½ D: Yahoo Serious. Yahoo Serious, Odile Le Clezio, John Howard, Pee Wee Wilson, Su Cruickshank. Nutty comedy from Down Under based on the premise that Albert Einstein not only developed the theory of relativity, but also invented rock 'n' roll! The silliness continues from there ... though any movie with "cat pies" can't be all bad. Aptly named Yahoo (born Greg Pead) wrote, produced, directed, and stars in this slapstick epic. [PG]▼●●

Younger & Younger (1993-German-French-Canadian) C-99m. ½ D: Percy Adlon. Donald Sutherland, Lolita Davidovich, Brendan Fraser, Sally Kellerman, Julie Delpy, Linda Hunt, Nicholas Gunn, Matt Damon. Likably offbeat modern-day fantasy about a self-styled gay blade and bon vivant who owns a self-storage facility in Glendale, California, and lives in a rarefied world of his own, until reality comes crashing down. This may be your only chance to hear Sutherland sing! Never released theatrically in the U.S. [R]▼

Younger Generation, The (1929) 88m. ½ D: Frank Capra. Jean Hersholt, Lina Basquette, Ricardo Cortez, Rosa Rosanova, Rex Lease. Ethnic heart-tugger by Fannie Hurst about a Jewish family that suffers because of one son's determination to abandon his roots and break into N.Y.C. society. (Cortez played a similar role in Symphony of Six Million.) Director Capra pulls out all the stops in this silent film with talkie sequences.

Young Frankenstein (1974) 105m. ½ D: Mel Brooks. Gene Wilder, Peter Boyle, Marty Feldman, Teri Garr, Madeline Kahn, Cloris Leachman, Kenneth Mars, Richard Haydn. One of the funniest (and most quotable) movies of all time, a finely tuned parody of old FRANKENSTEIN pictures, scripted by Wilder and Brooks, with appropriate music (by John Morris), sets, laboratory equipment (some of it from the 1930s), and b&w camerawork (by Gerald Hirschfeld). Plus vivid characterizations by mad doctor Wilder, monster Boyle, hunchback assistant Feldman, et al. Spoof of blind-man sequence from BRIDE OF FRANKENSTEIN with Gene Hackman is uproarious. Later a Broadway musical. [PG]▼●●

Young Fury (1965) C-80m. ½ D: Christian Nyby. Rory Calhoun, Virginia Mayo, Lon Chaney (Jr.), John Agar, Richard Arlen, Linda Foster. Tired gunslinger returns home to discover son leading gang of young hellions. Standard formula plot highlighted by a cast chockfull of old stars. William Bendix's last film. Techniscope.

Young Girls of Rochefort, The (1967-French) C-124m.  D: Jacques Demy. Catherine Deneuve, Françoise Dorléac, Gene Kelly, George Chakiris, Danielle Darrieux, Grover Dale, Michel Piccoli. Director Demy's follow-up to THE UMBRELLAS OF CHERBOURG is a homage to the Hollywood musical, but what it has in style it lacks in substance; contrived story and repetitive Michel Legrand music score surely wear thin, and even Gene Kelly can't save it. Franscope. [G]▼●

Young Guns (1988) C-107m. ½ D: Christopher Cain. Emilio Estevez, Kiefer Sutherland, Lou Diamond Phillips, Charlie Sheen, Dermot Mulroney, Casey Siemaszko, Terence Stamp, Jack Palance, Terry O'Quinn, Sharon Thomas, Brian Keith, Patrick Wayne. Six young punks, taken under the wing of a civilized British gentleman (Stamp), find it hard to retain their equilibrium when they're left on their own, and whipped into a frenzy of violence by their newest recruit—William Bonney, soon to be known as Billy the Kid (Estevez). Contemporary-minded Western adopts 1980s-style language and sensibilities, and has a plot with as many holes as some of Billy's victims. Still watchable, with several strong performances. Try to spot Tom Cruise, in disguise as a bad guy who gets shot. Followed by a sequel. [R]▼●●

Young Guns II (1990) C-103m. ½ D: Geoff Murphy. Emilio Estevez, Kiefer Sutherland, Lou Diamond Phillips, Christian Slater, William Petersen, Alan Ruck, R.D. Call, James Coburn, Balthazar Getty, Jack Kehoe, Viggo Mortensen. Not-bad sequel finds Billy Bonney and his gang heading toward the safety of Old Mexico with a band of government men in hot pursuit. Slater is a standout on the trail. Great photography and a sweeping Alan Silvestri score almost make you forget the script ain't so hot. Panavision. [PG-13]▼●●

Young Hearts SEE: Promised Land

Young Hellions SEE: High School Confidential!

Young in Heart, The (1938) 90m. ½ D: Richard Wallace. Janet Gaynor, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Paulette Goddard, Roland Young, Billie Burke, Minnie Dupree, Richard Carlson. Refreshing comedy about wacky family of con artists going straight under influence of unsuspecting Dupree. Written by Paul Osborn and Charles Bennett from an I.A.R. Wylie novel. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Young Lions, The (1958) 167m. ½ D: Edward Dmytryk. Marlon Brando, Montgomery Clift, Dean Martin, Hope Lange, Barbara Rush, Maximilian Schell, May Britt, Lee Van Cleef. One of the all-time best WW2 studies, adapted by Edward Anhalt from the Irwin Shaw novel. Martin and Clift play U.S. soldiers, Brando a confused Nazi officer; effectively photographed by Joe MacDonald, with Hugo Friedhofer's fine score. CinemaScope. ▼●●

Young Lovers, The (1950) SEE: Never Fear

Young Lovers, The (1964) 109m.  D: Samuel Goldwyn, Jr. Peter Fonda, Sharon Hugueny, Nick Adams, Deborah Walley, Beatrice Straight, Joseph Campanella, Kent Smith. Amateurish, meandering drama of college youths involved in romance.

Young Man With a Horn (1950) 112m.  D: Michael Curtiz. Kirk Douglas, Lauren Bacall, Doris Day, Juano Hernandez, Hoagy Carmichael, Mary Beth Hughes. Effective drama of trumpet-player Douglas compulsively drawn to music, with Bacall the bad girl, Day the wholesome one. Carl Foreman-Edmund H. North script adapted from Dorothy Baker's book, and inspired by Bix Beiderbecke's life; Harry James dubbed Douglas' licks. ▼●●

Young Mr. Lincoln (1939) 100m. ½ D: John Ford. Henry Fonda, Alice Brady, Marjorie Weaver, Donald Meek, Richard Cromwell, Eddie Quillan, Milburn Stone, Ward Bond, Francis Ford. Fine Ford Americana with Abraham Lincoln (Fonda) facing years of struggle as a beginning lawyer in the 1800s. Brady lends solid support. ▼●●

Young Nurses, The (1973) C-77m.  D: Clinton Kimbrough. Jean Manson, Ashley Porter, Angela Gibbs, Zack Taylor, Jack LaRue, Jr., Dick Miller, Sally Kirkland, Allan Arbus. Fourth of Roger Corman's "nurse" movies is OK, focusing on drug ring working out of the hospital. Neat appearance by director Samuel Fuller as a villain, and a rather sad one by aged Mantan Moreland (in his final film). Followed by CANDY STRIPE NURSES. [R] ▼

Young One, The (1961-Mexican) 96m. *½ D: Luis Buñuel. Zachary Scott, Bernie Hamilton, Key Meersman, Graham Denton, Claudio Brook. Racist Scott, who has violated Lolita-like Meersman on an isolated island, must contend with the presence of on-the-run black jazz musician Hamilton. Turgid, much-too-obvious melodrama is a disappointment from Buñuel. ▼

Young People (1940) 78m.  D: Allan Dwan. Shirley Temple, Jack Oakie, Charlotte Greenwood, Arleen Whelan, George Montgomery, Kathleen Howard. Show-biz team Oakie and Greenwood raise orphaned Shirley and try to settle down in this weak musical, a later and lesser Temple vehicle. Good dance routine at the finish. Also shown in computer-colored version. ▼

Young Philadelphians, The (1959) 136m.  D: Vincent Sherman. Paul Newman, Barbara Rush, Alexis Smith, Brian Keith, Diane Brewster, Billie Burke, John Williams, Robert Vaughn, Otto Kruger, Adam West. Newman and Rush have memorable roles as poor lawyer who schemes to the top and society girl he hopes to win; Vaughn is hard-drinking buddy Newman defends on murder charge, Smith quite good as frustrated wife of attorney Kruger. ▼

Young Poisoner's Handbook, The (1995-British-French-German) C-99m.  D: Ben Ross. Hugh O'Conor, Antony Sher, Ruth Sheen, Roger Lloyd Pack, Charlotte Coleman. Gleeefully gruesome British black comedy about a psychopathic teen (O'Conor) who decides to become "the greatest poisoner the world has ever seen," using his clueless family as guinea pigs. Deliciously mean-spirited film (based on a true story!) is not for the squeamish. Flavored by a soundtrack of '60s pop oddities. ▼●●

Young Racers, The (1963) C-87m.  D: Roger Corman. Mark Damon, William Campbell, Patrick Magee, Luana Anders, Robert Campbell. Juvenile nonsense about sports car racing involving ex-racer turned exposé writer, trying to do a book on the sport. ●

Young Rebel (1967-French-Italian-Spanish) C-111m.  D: Vincent Sherman. Horst Buchholz, Gina Lollobrigida, Jose Ferrer, Louis Jourdan, Francisco Rabal. Despite cast, historical claptrap about Buchholz being sent to Spain by Pope Pius V to obtain help in fighting the Moors. Also known as CERVANTES. Totalscope. [M/PG]

Young Runaways, The (1968) C-91m.  D: Arthur Dreifuss. Brooke Bundy, Kevin Coughlin, Lloyd Bochner, Patty McCormack, Lynn Bari, Norman Fell. Silly B-picture about restless teenagers and how they are swept up into sordid lifestyles. Interesting mainly for early look at Richard Dreyfuss as cocky car thief. Panavision. [R]

Young Savages, The (1961) 103m.  D: John Frankenheimer. Burt Lancaster, Dina Merrill, John Davis Chandler, Shelley Winters, Terry Savalas, Edward Andrews, Chris Robinson, Pilar Seurat, Milton Selzer. Lancaster is idealistic D.A. battling all odds to see justice done in street-

gang slaying; at times brutal, too often pat. Adapted by Edward Anhalt and JP Miller from Evan Hunter's novel A Matter of Conviction. Savalas' film debut. ▼●●

Young Sherlock Holmes (1985) C-109m.  D: Barry Levinson. Nicholas Rowe, Alan Cox, Sophie Ward, Anthony Higgins, Susan Fleetwood, Freddie Jones, Nigel Stock, Michael Hordern. Promising film speculates about Conan Doyle's detective when he was a boy, introduces him to Watson, and involves him in his first great case. Knowing references to Holmes's later life, perfect Victorian atmosphere all give way to jarring 1980s special effects, inappropriate INDIANA JONES-type subplot, and action climax that doesn't make much sense. If you do watch it through, be sure to stay through the very end. Written by Chris Columbus. [PG-13] ▼●●

Young Stranger, The (1957) 84m.  D: John Frankenheimer. James MacArthur, James Daly, Kim Hunter, James Gregory, Marian Seldes, Whit Bissell. Excellent drama about a teenage boy's brush with delinquency and strained relationship with his wealthy, neglectful father. Surprisingly undated, sincere little film; MacArthur's impressive screen debut (and director Frankenheimer's, too). ●

Young Tom Edison (1940) 82m.  D: Norman Taurog. Mickey Rooney, Fay Bainter, George Bancroft, Virginia Weidler, Eugene Pallette, Victor Kilian. Inventor's early life depicted with flair by effective Rooney, who could tone down when he had to; followed by Spencer Tracy's EDISON, THE MAN. ▼●●

Young Warriors, The (1967) C-93m.  D: John Peyser. James Drury, Steve Carlson, Jonathan Daly, Robert Pine, Michael Stanwood. Clichéd WW2 yarn loosely derived from Richard Matheson novel. Panavision.

Young Warriors (1983) C-103m. *½ D: Lawrence D. Foldes. Ernest Borgnine, Richard Roundtree, Lynda Day George, James Van Patten, Anne Lockhart, Mike Norris, Dick Shawn, Linnea Quigley. Self-righteous, violent exploitation film has students turning vigilantes to put local criminals out of business. Features several second-generation actors (Van Patten, Lockhart, Norris). Semi-sequel to MALIBU HIGH. [R] ▼

Young Winston (1972-British) C-145m.  D: Richard Attenborough. Simon Ward, Anne Bancroft, Robert Shaw, John Mills, Jack Hawkins, Patrick Magee, Ian Holm, Robert Flemyng, Jane Seymour, Edward Woodward, Anthony Hopkins, Laurence Naismith. Entertaining account of Churchill's early life, from school days, through journalistic experience in Africa, up to first election to Parliament. Handsome production, good performances, and rousing battle scenes. Scripted and produced by Carl Foreman. Panavision. [PG] ▼

You Only Live Once (1937) 86m.  D: Fritz Lang. Sylvia Sydney, Henry Fonda, William Gargan, Barton MacLane, Jean Dixon, Jerome Cowan, Margaret Hamilton, Ward Bond, Guinn Williams. Beautifully crafted drama about ex-convict Fonda trying to go straight, finding that fate is against him. Loosely based on the Bonnie and Clyde legend, but impressive on its own. ▼●

You Only Live Twice (1967-British) C-116m. ½ D: Lewis Gilbert. Sean Connery, Akiko Wakabayashi, Tetsuro Tamba, Mie Hama, Karin Dor, Bernard Lee, Lois Maxwell, Desmond Llewelyn, Donald Pleasence. Big James Bond production with first look at arch-nemesis Blofeld (Pleasence), Japanese locales, but plot (SPECTRE out to cause major powers to declare war on each other) and lack of convincing, clever crisis situations are liabilities film can't shake off. Script by Roald Dahl (!), spectacular sets by Ken Adam. Panavision. [PG] ▼●●

Your Cheatin' Heart (1964) 99m.  D: Gene Nelson. George Hamilton, Susan Oliver, Red Buttons, Arthur O'Connell, Rex Ingram. One of Hamilton's best roles, as legendary country-western singer Hank Williams, who couldn't cope with fame on the ole opry circuit; songs dubbed by Hank Williams, Jr. Oliver most effective as Hank's wife. Also shown in computer-colored version. Panavision.

You're a Big Boy Now (1966) C-96m. ½ D: Francis Ford Coppola. Peter Kastner, Elizabeth Hartman, Geraldine Page, Julie Harris, Rip Torn, Michael Dunn, Tony Bill, Karen Black. Beguiling, way-out film of young man with overprotective parents learning about life from callous young actress Hartman. Will not appeal to everyone, but acting is marvelous, with Dolph Sweet hilarious as tough cop. Location filming in N.Y.C. adds to film, too. Written by Coppola, from the David Benedict novel. Title song by The Lovin' Spoonful. ▼●

You're in the Navy Now (1951) 93m.  D: Henry Hathaway. Gary Cooper, Jane Greer, Millard Mitchell, Eddie Albert, John McIntire, Ray Collins, Harry Von Zell, Lee Marvin, Jack Webb. Flat naval comedy set in WW2 with Cooper commanding a dumb crew on the U.S.S. Teakettle (the ship is outfitted with a steam engine). Film debuts for Marvin and Charles Buchinski (Bronson). Originally screened with the title U.S.S. TEAKETTLE. ●

You're Never Too Young (1955) C-102m.  D: Norman Taurog. Dean Martin, Jerry Lewis, Diana Lynn, Raymond Burr, Nina Foch, Veda Ann Borg. Fast, funny remake of THE MAJOR AND THE MINOR (which also featured Lynn) with Jerry disguised as 12-year-old at a girls' school, involved in jewel robbery. Script by Sidney Sheldon. VistaVision. ▽

You're Telling Me! (1934) 67m. ½ D: Erle C. Kenton. W. C. Fields, Joan Marsh, Larry "Buster" Crabbe, Louise Carter, Kathleen Howard, Adrienne Ames. Hilarious remake of Fields' silent film SO'S YOUR OLD MAN, with thin storyline (about a friendly foreign princess giving lowly, browbeaten Fields respectability in his home town) a perfect excuse for some of his funniest routines—including classic golf game. ▽ ▽

Your Friends & Neighbors (1998) C-99m.  D: Neil LaBute. Amy Brenneman, Jason Patric, Ben Stiller, Aaron Eckhart, Catherine Keener, Nastassja Kinski. Another somewhat smug "let's rip the lid off the hypocrisy of society" tract from writer-director LaBute about two socially and sexually dysfunctional couples and their friends. Some pungent, provocative dialogue, but as in LaBute's IN THE COMPANY OF MEN, it's not clear what the point of it all is. Patric (who also produced) has an especially potent role as a self-styled stud. Super 35. [R] ▽ ▽ ▽

Your Past Is Showing (1957-British) 92m.  D: Mario Zampi. Terry-Thomas, Peter Sellers, Peggy Mount, Shirley Eaton, Dennis Price, Georgina Cookson, Joan Sims, Miles Malleson. Scandal-sheet publisher Price is literally blackmailing celebrities to death by threatening to expose their past and present indiscretions. Several eventually band together and plot to rid themselves of their problem. Sellers (cast as a television star) is a special treat in this amusing satire. Original British title: THE NAKED TRUTH. ▽ ▽

Yours, Mine and Ours (1968) C-111m.  D: Melville Shavelson. Lucille Ball, Henry Fonda, Van Johnson, Tom Bosley, Tim Matheson. For once, a wholesome "family" picture with some intelligent scripting. Based on real situation of widowed mother of eight marrying widower with ten more children. Lucy's drunk scene is a delight in warm, well-made comedy. Among Fonda's brood: Suzanne Cupito (who grew up to be Morgan Brittany) and a very young Tracy Nelson. Remade in 2005. ▽ ▽ ▽

Yours, Mine & Ours (2005) C-88m. *½ D: Raja Gosnell. Dennis Quaid, Rene Russo, Rip Torn, Linda Hunt, Jerry O'Connell, David Koechner, Katija Pevec, Danielle Panabaker, Sean Faris. Bland, charmless update of the 1968 family comedy with Quaid and Russo replacing Henry Fonda and Lucille Ball. Here, a widowed, by-the-book Coast Guard admiral with eight offspring weds his old high school flame, a widowed, free-spirited handbag designer with ten kids. Heavy on slapstick and short on originality. Super 35. [PG] ▽ ▽

Your Three Minutes Are Up (1973) C-92m. ½ D: Douglas N. Schwartz. Beau Bridges, Ron Leibman, Janet Margolin, Kathleen Freeman, David Ketchum, Stu Nisbet. Overlooked comedy with serious undertones vividly captures two American lifestyles in story of ultra-straight Bridges hanging out with swinging buddy Leibman, who's out to beat the system. Unpretentious film says more about our society than many more "important" movies; solid performances. Written by James Dixon. [R]

Your Ticket Is No Longer Valid (1979-Canadian) C-91m. BOMB D: George Kaczender. Richard Harris, George Peppard, Jeanne Moreau, Jennifer Dale, Alexandra Stewart, Winston Rekert. Trashy adaptation of a Romain Gary novel is an embarrassment for its cast: Harris is struggling to raise cash for his failed, inherited family business while suffering from impotency and recurring fantasies of a gypsy stud making love to his girlfriend Dale; Peppard is a foulmouthed banker who is also impotent; and Moreau is a Parisian madam who procures the gypsy boy for Harris' and Dale's eventual amusement. Lurid junk. ▽

You So Crazy (1994) C-85m. *½ D: Thomas Schlamme. Martin Lawrence. Embarrassingly crude performance film full of off-color jokes, minus any of the wit or observational insights that made the Richard Pryor films classics of the standup genre. Hard to recall another instance in which a performer labored and sweated so hard for such a minimal payoff. [NC-17] ▽ ▽ ▽

Youth Without Youth (2007-U.S.-German-Italian-French-Romanian) C-124m.  D: Francis Ford Coppola. Tim Roth, Alexandra Maria Lara, Bruno Ganz, André Hennicke, Marcel Iures, Adrian Pintea. A disastrous event thrusts a mild, elderly professor back into youth on a search for the mysteries of life, love, and aging. Self-described venture into experimental filmmaking finds Coppola adapting Romanian philosopher Mircea Eliade's novella set in the days preceding WW2. Talky, didactic script never lets the audience in emotionally; all that's left is a human puzzle few will want to bother solving. Matt Damon, unbilled, appears briefly. HD Widescreen. [R] ▽

You've Got Mail (1998) C-119m.  D: Nora Ephron. Tom Hanks, Meg Ryan, Parker Posey, Greg Kinnear, Jean Stapleton, Steve Zahn, Dave Chappelle, Dabney Coleman, John Randolph. Long but entertaining remake of THE SHOP AROUND THE CORNER, with Ryan as the proud proprietor of a neighborhood bookshop, Hanks as the head of a superstore chain poised to put her out of business. They should be mortal enemies, but they're already e-mail penpals, without knowing each other's identity. Pleasant enough fluff with two irresistible stars. The use of old songs (which worked so well in Ephron's SLEEPLESS IN SEATTLE) is overbearing and unnecessary here. [PG-13]▼●●

You've Got to Walk It Like You Talk It or You'll Lose That Beat (1971) C-85m.

½ D: Peter Locke. Zalman King, Richard Pryor, Robert Downey, Sr., Liz Torres, Roz Kelly, Allen Garfield. Uneven, often crude satire focusing on the sorry escapades of a young loser, a product of the '60s. Filmed in 1968.

You Were Never Lovelier (1942) 97m.

½ D: William A. Seiter. Fred Astaire, Rita Hayworth, Adolphe Menjou, Leslie Brooks, Adele Mara, Xavier Cugat, Gus Schilling. Astaire pursuing Hayworth via matchmaking father Menjou becomes liting musical with such lovely Jerome Kern-Johnny Mercer songs as title tune, "Dearly Beloved," "I'm Old-Fashioned."▼●●

Y Tu Mamá También (2001-Mexican) C-

105m.  D: Alfonso Cuarón. Maribel Verdú, Diego Luna, Gael García Bernal, Diana Bracho, Emilio Echevarria, Ana López Mercado, María Aura. Two over-sexed Mexican teenage boys go on a joyride with an older woman—who is married to one of their cousins—and get a lot more than they bargained for. A road movie with a difference, alternately raucous and melancholy, with subtle (and not-so-subtle) ruminations on desire, fate, and politics, sexual and otherwise.▼●

Yum-Yum Girls, The (1976) C-93m. **

D: Barry Rosen. Judy Landers, Tanya Roberts, Michelle Dawn, Carey Poe, Stan Bernstein. Entertainingly trashy film, made before Landers' and Roberts' TV success, about young girls coming to N.Y.C. to become fashion models. OK cook's tour of the business, marred by unfunny script. [R]▼●●

Z (1969-French) C-127m.  D: Costa-

Gavras. Yves Montand, Irene Papas, Jean-Louis Trintignant, Charles Denner, Georges Geret, Jacques Perrin, Francois Perier, Marcel Bozzuffi. Oscar winner for Best Foreign Film and Editing, based on true-life incident, concerns political assassination of Montand and chilling aftermath. Talky film praised more for its topicality than cinematics is nonetheless gripping; good acting. [M/PG]▼●●

Zabriskie Point (1970) C-112m. ½ D:

Michelangelo Antonioni. Mark Frechette, Daria Halprin, Rod Taylor, Paul Fix, Harrison Ford. Rrambling study by a foreigner of the aggressive, materialistic, unflinching American lifestyle. Worth watching but difficult to stay with, though there's a real eye-opening finale. Sam Shepard was one of the scriptwriters. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Zachariah (1971) C-93m. ½ D: George

Englund. John Rubinstein, Pat Quinn, Don Johnson, Country Joe and The Fish, Elvin

Jones, New York Rock Ensemble, The James Gang, Dick Van Patten. Audacious rock Western with elements of a morality play and moments of sharp satire; coscripted by members of Firesign Theater. Certainly offbeat, but how much you like it is strictly personal taste. [PG]▼●

Zack and Miri Make a Porno (2008) C-

101m.  D: Kevin Smith. Seth Rogen, Elizabeth Banks, Craig Robinson, Traci Lords, Katie Morgan, Ricky Mabe, Jeff Anderson, Jason Mewes, Brandon Routh, Tom Savini, Justin Long. Rogen and Banks, platonic pals and roommates, can't pay the rent so they decide to make a quick buck by shooting, marketing (and appearing in) a porn film. Despite its premise and the expected raunchiness, this is a sweet-natured and lightly likable farce. But isn't Smith getting a wee bit old for this sort of juvenilia? [R]●

Zandalee (1991) C-100m. *½ D: Sam

Pillsbury. Nicolas Cage, Judge Reinhold, Erika Anderson, Joe Pantoliano, Viveca Lindfors, Aaron Neville, Ian Abercrombie, Marisa Tomei, Zach Galligan. In steamy New Orleans, thrill-seeking Zandalee (Anderson) falls for her now-staid husband's free-spirited friend; their affair leads to tragedy. Routine plot (with liberal doses of sex) gets sillier as it goes along; hampered, too, by unappealing characters. Released direct to video. [R]▼●●

Zandy's Bride (1974) C-116m. *½ D:

Jan Troell. Gene Hackman, Liv Ullmann, Eileen Heckart, Harry Dean Stanton, Susan Tyrrell, Sam Bottoms, Joe Santos. Two frequently wasted stars in tepid romance of a mail-order bride and her pioneer husband; no one needs these scenes from a marriage. Aka FOR BETTER, FOR WORSE. Panavision. [PG]▼

Zapped! (1982) C-96m. *½ D: Robert J.

Rosenthal. Scott Baio, Willie Aames, Felice Schachter, Heather Thomas, Robert Mandan, Greg Bradford, Scatman Crothers, Sue Ane Langdon. Attractive cast is wasted in this stupid spoof of CARRIE, in which Baio acquires telekinetic powers . . . which he's most anxious to use in undressing Thomas (or rather, her stand-in). Followed by a sequel.▼●●

Zardoz (1974-British) C-105m. ½ D:

John Boorman. Sean Connery, Charlotte Rampling, Sara Kestelman, Sally Anne Newton, John Alderton, Niall Buggy. Weird sci-fi entry, set in 2293, about technology gone wild in society run by group of eternally young intellectuals. Visually striking cult film will probably leave most viewers dissatisfied. Panavision. [R]▼●●

Zathura: A Space Adventure (2005) C-

101m.  D: Jon Favreau. Jonah Bobo, Josh Hutcherson, Dax Shepard, Kristen Stewart, Tim Robbins; voice of Frank Oz. Imaginative adaptation of Chris Van All-

burg's book (a cousin to JUMANJI) about two sparring brothers who, by playing a vintage mechanical board game, are magically transported into outer space, where every move on the game board brings new, often frightening, results. Smart, funny family film with a particularly believable relationship between the two brothers, and some cool special effects. Great opening title sequence by Kyle Cooper sets the tone for the film. [PG]▼

Zatôichi, the Blind Swordsman (2003-Japanese) C-116m.  D: Takeshi Kitano. Beat Takeshi (Takeshi Kitano), Tadanobu Asano, Michiyo Ogusu. Guadalcanal Taka, Daigoro Tachibana, Yuko Daike. Nineteenth-century blind nomad known as a gambler and masseur is also a lightning-fast master swordsman who stumbles into a town run by gangs and a powerful samurai. When he meets two geishas who are out to avenge their parents' murder, the fireworks begin. Based on the incredibly popular Japanese film series (and later TV program), which started in 1962 and ended in 1989 with the passing of its star, Shintaro Katsu. Actor-director Kitano ably fills his legendary shoes in this lively, nonstop martial arts fest. Great action set pieces make this a lot of fun. Aka THE BLIND SWORDSMAN: ZATÔICHI. [R]▼

Zazie dans le Metro (1960-French) C-88m. ½ D: Louis Malle. Catherine Demongeot, Philippe Noiret, Vittorio Caprioli, Hubert Deschamps, Carla Marlier. Superficial comedy, coscripted by Malle, about a bright but impish 12-year-old (Demongeot), who visits her female-impersonator uncle (Noiret) in Paris, and is intent on riding in the city's subway.▼

Zebra Force (1977) C-100m.  D: Joe Tornatore. Mike Lane, Richard X. Slattery, Rockne Tarkington, Glenn Wilder, Anthony Caruso. A band of Vietnam vets uses military tactics against the Mob to fatten their own pockets and "rid society of scum." Straightforward low-budgeter suffers from Grade Z performances. Todd-AO 35. [PG]▼

Zebrahead (1992) C-100m.  D: Anthony Drazan. Michael Rapaport, DeShonn Castle, N'Bushe Wright, Ron Johnson, Ray Sharkey, Paul Butler, Candy Ann Brown, Helen Shaver, Luke Reilly, Martin Priest. Refreshing, straightforward drama about a white teen (Rapaport) who attends an integrated Detroit high school. His best friend (Castle) is black, and problems arise when he becomes romantically involved with his pal's cousin (Wright). Benefits from realistic dialogue, and a candid take on the characters' lives and feelings. Drazan also scripted; Oliver Stone was one of the executive producers. [R]▼

Zebra in the Kitchen (1965) C-93m. ½ D: Ivan Tors. Jay North, Martin Milner, Andy Devine, Joyce Meadows, Jim Davis,

Dorothy Green. Wholesome family fare of young North involved with wild pets and the city zoo's attempt to keep its inmates locked up.▼

Zed & Two Noughts, A (1985-British-Dutch) C-115m.  D: Peter Greenaway. Andrea Ferreol, Brian Deacon, Eric Deacon, Frances Barber, Jess Ackland. Extremely provocative examination of birth, life, and death, focusing on Ferreol, who has lost a leg in a car crash, and two zoologist brothers (the Deacons) whose wives have been killed in the same accident and who become obsessed with decay. Difficult to watch but well worthwhile for those willing to be challenged. Not so much a film as a visual essay, exquisitely directed and photographed (by Sacha Vierny).▼

Želary (2003-Czech-Slovakian-Austrian) C-148m.  D: Ondřej Trojan. Aňa Geislerová, György Cserhalmi, Ivan Trojan, Jan Hrušínský, Miroslav Donutil, Jaroslav Dušek, Iva Bittová, Jaroslava Adamová, Jan Tríska. A young Prague medical student, on the lam from the Gestapo during WW2, hides out in a provincial village and reluctantly agrees to marry her protector, a kindly older man. As they spend time together, much is revealed about the nature of good and evil. Has its slow spots but becomes more engrossing as their relationship deepens; at its best when contrasting the idyllic rural beauty against the constant threat of violence. [R]▼

Zelig (1983) C/B&W-79m.  D: Woody Allen. Woody Allen, Mia Farrow, Garrett Brown, Stephanie Farrow, Will Holt, Sol Lomita, Mary Louise Wilson, Michael Jeter. Pseudo-documentary using remarkable re-creations of old newsreels and recordings, about a chameleonlike man named Leonard Zelig (Allen), who became a celebrity in the fad-crazy '20s. A supremely well-executed joke, more clever than funny; it might have worked even better in a shorter format. Gordon Willis' cinematography and Dick Hyman's music are standouts. [PG]▼

Zelly and Me (1988) C-87m. ½ D: Tina Rathborne. Isabella Rossellini, Glynis Johns, Alexandra Johns, Kaiulani Lee, David Lynch, Joe Morton. Uneven account of the trials and stresses in the life of wealthy, over-protected orphan Johns. Occasionally insightful but far too introspective—with too much left unexplained. [PG]▼

Zentropa (1992-Danish-Swedish-French-German) C/B&W-114m. ½ D: Lars von Trier. Barbara Sukowa, Jean-Marc Barr, Udo Kier, Ernst Hugo, Eddie Constantine. Narrated by Max von Sydow. Sukowa plays a railroad magnate's daughter who may be in synch with postwar Nazi sympathizers called "werewolves." Audacious black-comic fantasy utilizes high-tech mixed media, creative use of rear projection, and dramatic shifts in pigment. Though it feels like a stunt, this is a rare contemporary movie that makes one feel privy to the reinvention of cinema. Panavision. ▼●

Zeppelin (1971-British) C-101m.  D: Etienne Perier. Michael York, Elke Sommer, Peter Carsten, Marius Goring, Anton Diffring, Andrew Keir. Colorful cast and atmosphere (including interesting special effects) click in entertaining story of German-born British aviator emotionally torn by duty and homeland during WWI. Panavision. [G]▼

Zero Effect (1998) C-115m. ½ D: Jake Kasdan. Bill Pullman, Ben Stiller, Ryan O'Neal, Kim Dickens, Angela Featherstone. Pullman is Daryl Zero, the world's greatest (and most eccentric) private detective, who never meets his clients, but sends emissary Stiller instead. O'Neal hires him to track down a blackmailer, but Pullman finds himself becoming emotionally involved with one of his suspects. Clever, original screenplay by first-time feature director Kasdan (son of Lawrence), but he shoots himself in the foot by deadening the pace and stretching things out too long. Rate this a near miss. [R]▼●●

Zero for Conduct (1933-French) 44m. * D: Jean Vigo. Jean Daste, Robert le Flon, Louis Lefebvre, Constantin Kelber, Gerard de Bedarieux. Life in a French boarding school, where the authorities attempt to regiment the students—unsuccessfully. The kids are all wonderfully spontaneous; one of the best films ever about children among children. The inspiration for IF. . . . Written by the director. ▼

Zero Hour! (1957) 81m. ½ D: Hall Bartlett. Dana Andrews, Linda Darnell, Sterling Hayden, Elroy "Crazylegs" Hirsch, Geoffrey Toone, Jerry Paris, Peggy King, John Ashley. Effective suspense story (based on Arthur Hailey teleplay) of potential airplane disaster when pilots are felled by ptomaine poisoning. Remade for TV in 1971 as TERROR IN THE SKY, and then spoofed in 1980 as AIRPLANE!▶

Zero Kelvin (1995-Norwegian-Swedish) C-113m.  D: Hans Petter Moland. Stellan Skarsgård, Gard B. Eidsvold, Bjørn Sundquist, Camilla Martens. Potent allegorical drama set in 1925 about an idealistic poet (Eidsvold) who leaves his beloved to work as a fur trapper in Greenland in the company of two very different coworkers; he promptly clashes with one of them (Skarsgård), a crude, embittered cynic. Quietly powerful tale mirrors the reality that to survive in a harsh and unforgiving world people must stick together. Breathtaking scenery contrasts with the graphic violence that comes with the killing of animals for survival. ▼▶

Zero to Sixty (1978) C-100m. *½ D: Don Weis. Darren McGavin, Sylvia Miles, Joan Collins, Denise Nickerson, The Hudson Brothers, Lorraine Gary. McGavin is improbably cast as a schnook who hooks up with a strident, street-smart 16-year-old girl who makes her living repossessing cars. Loud, stupid comedy with more car-chase thrills than humor. [PG]▼

Zeus and Roxanne (1997) C-98m.  D: George Miller. Steve Guttenberg, Kathleen Quinlan, Arnold Vosloo, Dawn McMillan, Miko Hughes, Jessica Howell. Kids' picture paralleling the up and down relationship between two single adults, as well as his dog and her dolphin (you read that right!). Lovely Bahamas locations and exceptional animal work lift this film only slightly above an uninspired script. [PG]▼●●

Ziegfeld Follies (1946) C-110m.  D: Vincente Minnelli. William Powell, Judy Garland, Lucille Ball, Fred Astaire, Fanny Brice, Lena Horne, Red Skelton, Victor Moore, Virginia O'Brien, Cyd Charisse, Gene Kelly, Edward Arnold, Esther Williams. Variable all-star film introduced by Powell as Ziegfeld in heaven. Highlights are Brice-Hume Cronyn sketch, Astaire-Kelly dance, Moore-Arnold comedy routine, Skelton's "Guzzler's Gin," Horne's solo, Garland's "The Interview." Various segments directed by George Sidney, Roy Del Ruth, Norman Taurog, Lemuel Ayers, Robert Lewis, Merrill Pye. Filmed mostly in 1944. ▼●●

Ziegfeld Girl (1941) 131m.  D: Robert Z. Leonard. James Stewart, Lana Turner, Judy Garland, Hedy Lamarr, Tony Martin, Jackie Cooper, Ian Hunter, Edward Everett Horton, Al Shean, Eve Arden, Dan Dailey, Philip Dorn, Charles Winninger. Large-scale musical drama opens brightly, bogs down into melodrama and preposterous subplots, as the lives of three girls (Turner, Garland, Lamarr) are changed by being recruited as Ziegfeld Follies girls. Busby Berkeley's "You Stepped Out of a Dream" is most famous number, but somewhat overshadowed by Judy's "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," "Minnie from Trinidad." The MGM glitter has never been brighter. ▼●●

Ziggy Stardust and The Spiders From Mars (1983) C-91m. *½ D: D. A. Pennebaker. David Bowie. Bowie in concert as Ziggy Stardust, his androgynous alter ego. Practically unwatchable, and unlistenable: cinema verité at its worst. Shot in 1973; of interest to Bowie fans only. [PG]▼●●

Zigzag (1970) 105m. ½ D: Richard A. Colla. George Kennedy, Anne Jackson, Eli Wallach, Steve Ihnat, William Marshall, Joe Maross. Dying insurance investigator (Kennedy) plans a complicated scheme to pin a murder on himself and be executed, so his family will collect a big insurance settlement, but his plans go awry. Good performances in moderately interesting drama. Panavision. [PG]

Zina (1985-British) C/B&W-90m. ½

D: Ken McMullen. Domiziana Giordano, Ian McKellen, Philip Madoc, Ron Anderson, Micha Bergese. Extremely (and deliberately) slow exploration of the problems and obsessions of Leon Trotsky's daughter while in psychoanalysis in prewar Berlin. Bryan Loftus' cinematography is exceptional. Not for all tastes.

Zita (1968-French) C-91m.  D: Robert Enrico. Joanna Shimkus, Katina Paxinou, Suzanne Flon, Jose Marie Flotats, Paul Crauchet. Delicate story of young girl who learns about life as her beloved aunt is dying; love blossoms, as she breaks away from mother-figure to become an adult herself. Charming. [M]

Zodiac, The (2006) C-97m. *½ D: Alexander Bulkley. Justin Chambers, Robin Tunney, Rory Culkin, William Mapother, Rex Linn, Philip Baker Hall; voice of Brian Bloom. Earnest but flat examination of the infamous Northern California serial killer "The Zodiac" and the effect the murders have on a small-town detective and his family. Well-defined feel of the late 1960s is undermined by a bland performance from Chambers as a cop struggling with a puzzling case, made more intense by a panicked community and the ensuing media pressure. Film is as unsatisfying as the real-life status of these crimes. Made in 2003. [R]●

Zodiac (2007) C-156m. ½ D: David Fincher. Mark Ruffalo, Jake Gyllenhaal, Robert Downey, Jr., Anthony Edwards, Brian Cox, Chloë Sevigny, Charles Fleischer, Zach Grenier, Philip Baker Hall, Elias Koteas, Donal Logue, John Carroll Lynch, Dermot Mulroney, John Getz, Adam Goldberg, Candy Clark, James Le Gros, Clea DuVall, Barry Livingston. Riveting drama based on the case of the so-called Zodiac killer who terrorized the San Francisco Bay area in the late 1960s (and partly inspired DIRTY HARRY). Focuses more on the manhunt than the crimes and shows how this frustrating case consumed the lives of reporters and detectives alike, especially San Francisco Chronicle cartoonist Robert Grayson (Gyllenhaal), who spends decades trying to crack the case. Superbly made on every level, with meticulous re-creations of the 1970s, when most of the story takes place. Screenplay by James Vanderbilt, based on two best-selling books written by Grayson. Ione Skye appears unbilled. Director's cut runs 162m. HD Widescreen. [R]●

Zoltan, Hound of Dracula SEE: Dracula's Dog

Zombie (1979-Italian) C-91m. BOMB D: Lucio Fulci. Tisa Farrow, Ian McCulloch, Richard Johnson, Al Cliver, Annetta Gay. A zombie epidemic on a small Caribbean island. A poor imitation of George Romero's horror films, and pretty repellent. Techniscope. ▼●●

Zombie High (1987) C-93m.  D: Ron

Link. Virginia Madsen, Richard Cox, James Wilder, Paul Feig, Kay Kuter, Sherilyn Fenn, Paul Williams. Slight, silly horror film is a junior version of THE STEPFORD WIVES. Madsen is newly enrolled at a private school whose preppie students are all suspiciously docile. Aka THE SCHOOL THAT ATE MY BRAIN. [R]▼

Zombie Island Massacre (1984) C-95m. BOMB D: John N. Carter. David Broadnax, Rita Jenrette, Tom Cantrell, Diane Clayre Holub. Ex-Abscam Congressional spouse (and Playboy subject) Jenrette has three gratuitous nude scenes in the opening 20 minutes—and then they have to ruin everything by going to the stupid island. The corpses keep a-comin' in this cheapo outing. Rita warbles title tune, "Di Reggae Picnic." [R]▼●

Zontar, the Thing from Venus (1968) C-80m. BOMB D: Larry Buchanan. John Agar, Anthony Houston, Susan Bjurman, Patricia De Laney, Warren Hammack. Title alien, resembling a bat, arrives to take over with INVASION OF THE BODY SNATCHERS-like methods; it's Agar to the rescue. Crude, Texas-filmed remake of IT CONQUERED THE WORLD. ▼●

Zoolander (2001) C-89m. ½ D: Ben Stiller. Ben Stiller, Owen Wilson, Christine Taylor, Will Ferrell, Milla Jovovich, Jerry Stiller, David Duchovny, Jon Voight, Judah Friedlander. Clever comedy about an empty-headed male model who searches for meaning in his life—while a nefarious designer (Ferrell) tries to brainwash him into carrying out the evil plans of an international fashion cartel. Funny gags, satiric ideas, eye-popping production design, and celebrity cameos (Cuba Gooding, Jr., Winona Ryder, David Bowie, to name just a few) make this fun for a while, but it can't sustain an entire film. Stiller cowrote, based on a skit he performed on a VH-1 award show; his father, Jerry, mother, Anne Meara, sister, Amy, and wife, Taylor, are featured in the cast. Super 35. [PG-13] ▼●

Zoom (2006) C-88m. *½ D: Peter Hewitt. Tim Allen, Courteney Cox, Chevy Chase, Spencer Breslin, Kevin Zegers, Kate Mara, Michael Cassidy, Ryan Newman, Rip Torn. Derivative (to put it kindly) sci-fi adventure about a former superhero who's called out of retirement to train a group of kids for a secret government project. Only problem: he's lost all his powers. Cheesy and awfully similar to SKY HIGH, although based on Jason Lethcoe's graphic novel. Allen seems to be phoning this one in: a sorry excuse for "family entertainment." [PG]●

Zoot Suit (1981) C-103m.  D: Luis Valdez. Daniel Valdez, Edward James Olmos, Charles Aidman, Tyne Daly, John Anderson, Tony Plana. Fascinating, powerful, if too theatrical "stylized musical" based on railroading of Chicano gang members to San Quentin for murder in 1942 and efforts to obtain their release; adding commentary is the gang's leader (Valdez) and his zoot-suited alter ego (Olmos). Filmed on stage, with shots of an audience that is presumably watching the performance—a major distraction. Written by Luis Valdez, with music by Daniel Valdez. [R]▼●●

Zorba the Greek (1964) 146m. ½ D: Michael Cacoyannis. Anthony Quinn, Alan Bates, Irene Papas, Lila Kedrova, George Foundas. Brooding, flavorful rendering of Kazantzakis novel. Quinn is zesty in title role of earthy peasant, Bates his intellectual British cohort. Kedrova won an Oscar as a dying prostitute, as did cinematographer Walter Lassally and the art direction-set decoration. Memorable Mikis Theodorakis score. Scripted by the director, from Nikos Kazantzakis' novel. Later a Broadway musical.▼●●

Zorro (1961-Spanish) C-90m. ½ D: Joaquin Luis Romero Marchent. Frank Latimore, Mary Anderson, Ralph Marsch, Howard Vernon. Foreign-made Western with salty flavor of old California; Latimore is appropriately zealous as Zorro. Super-Scope.▼

Zorro (1975-Italian-French) C-100m.  D: Duccio Tessari. Alain Delon, Stanley Baker, Ottavia Piccolo, Moustache, Enzo Cerusico, Adriana Asti. Zesty retelling of saga of legendary masked rider and hero of the oppressed, not as distinctive as earlier versions (and set in South America rather than old California) but fun. [G]▼●

Zorro the Avenger SEE: Shadow of Zorro, The

Zorro, the Gay Blade (1981) C-93m.  D: Peter Medak. George Hamilton, Lauren Hutton, Brenda Vaccaro, Ron Leibman, Donovan Scott, James Booth. Hamilton is Don Diego Vega, foppish son of the legendary Zorro, and lookalike gay brother Bunny Wigglesworth. So-so, with Leibman overacting outrageously as the villain. Dedicated to Rouben Mamoulian! [PG]▼●

Zot! (1962) 87m.  D: William Castle. Tom Poston, Julia Meade, Jim Backus, Fred Clark, Cecil Kellaway, Margaret Dumont. Goofy attempt at humorous chiller with

Poston a teacher who finds strange coin that gives him mystical power over others.▼●

Z.P.G. (1972-British) C-95m.  D: Michael Campus. Oliver Reed, Geraldine Chaplin, Don Gordon, Diane Cilento. Sci-fi tale with style but no class. Reproduction becomes crime punishable by death in the future, but some people try to defy the law. Title, of course, stands for Zero Population Growth. [PG]▼●

Zulu (1964-British) C-138m.  D: Cy Endfield. Stanley Baker, Jack Hawkins, Ulla Jacobsson, Michael Caine, Nigel Green, James Booth; narrated by Richard Burton. True story about undermanned British forces trying to defend their African mission from attack by hordes of Zulu warriors. Dramatic elements tend toward cliché, but virtually half the film is taken up by massive battle, which is truly spectacular and exciting. Followed 15 years later by prequel, ZULU DAWN. Technirama.▼●●

Zulu Dawn (1979-U.S.-Dutch) C-121m.  D: Douglas Hickox. Burt Lancaster, Peter O'Toole, Simon Ward, John Mills, Nigel Davenport, Michael Jayston, Denholm Elliott, Ronald Lacey, Freddie Jones, Christopher Cazenove, Anna Calder-Marshall, Bob Hoskins, Nicholas Clay. A prequel to 1964's ZULU (cowritten by that film's writer-director, Cy Endfield), showing the British command's bull-headed and ineffectual handling of the Zulu nation—first in diplomacy, then in battle. Solid war drama of the period, outstanding locations, though there's nothing new here. Released theatrically in U.S. at 98m. Panavision. [PG]▼●●

Zu Warriors (2001-Hong Kong-Chinese) C-104m.  D: Tsui Hark. Erik Cheng, Cecilia Cheung, Louis Koo, Patrick Tam, Kelly Lin, Wu Jing, Sammo Hung, Zhang Ziyi. Digital effects are the star of this visually sumptuous but dramatically muddled account of a band of flying superheroes in an ancient kingdom who unite to do battle against a ferocious demon. Beautiful to behold, but the plot is hopelessly confusing and the characters seem like automatons. Hark originally filmed this story in 1983 (as SUK SAN: SUN SUK SAN GEEN HAP). Aka THE LEGEND OF ZU. Released direct to DVD in the U.S. Super 35. [PG-13]●

Index of Stars

Many older titles that no longer appear in this volume (or the index) can now be found in Leonard Maltin's Classic Movie Guide. That book also features a more extensive roster of actors whose main body of work was done before 1960.

This index includes only the films that appear in this book; therefore what follows doesn't feature a complete list of Ronald Colman's silent films, or John Wayne's B Westerns, or all the films of Gérard Depardieu.

The titles in each entry are in chronological order. Years are indicated in the reviews, and are included here to distinguish between two films of the same title, whether they are remakes (the two Thomas Crown Affairs, for example), or have nothing to do with each other (for instance, the two movies named Where the Heart Is).

When an actor directs but doesn't act in a movie, this is indicated by "(dir)" after the title; if the actor does appear, the designation is "(also dir)."

The prefix "co-" means a collaboration. "Cameo" indicates a well-known actor taking a small role, sometimes as a joke; their names almost never appear in the opening credits of a film, though in recent years, they are often listed in the end credits.

adapt	=	screenplay adaptation app	=	appearance, not a performance (as in a documentary)
dir	=	director
mus	=	composer
narr	=	narrator
scr	=	screenplay
set dec	=	set decorator
sty	=	story
uncred	=	uncredited performance

Abbott and Costello: One Night in the Tropics; Buck Privates; In the Navy; Hold That Ghost; Keep 'Em Flying; Ride 'Em Cowboy; Rio Rita; Pardon My Sarong; Who Done It? (1942); It Ain't Hay; Hit the Ice; Lost in a Harem; In Society; Here Come the Co-Eds; The Naughty Nineties; Abbott and Costello in Hollywood; Little Giant; The Time of Their Lives; Buck Privates Come Home; The Wistful Widow of Wagon Gap; The Noose Hangs High; Abbott and Costello Meet Frankenstein; Mexican Hayride; Africa Screams; Abbott and Costello Meet the Killer Boris Karloff; Abbott and Costello in the Foreign Legion; Abbott and Costello Meet the Invisible Man; Comin' Round the Mountain; Jack and the Beanstalk; Lost in Alaska; Abbott and Costello Meet Captain Kidd; Abbott and Costello Go to Mars; Abbott and Costello Meet Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde; Abbott and Costello Meet the Keystone Kops; Abbott and Costello Meet the Mummy; Dance With Me Henry; Lou Costello alone: The 30 Foot Bride of Candy Rock

Affleck, Ben: The Dark End of the Street; School Ties; Buffy the Vampire Slayer (uncred); Dazed and Confused; Mallrats; Chasing

Amy; Going All the Way; Good Will Hunting (also coscr); Phantoms; Armageddon; Shakespeare in Love; 200 Cigarettes; Forces of Nature; Dogma; Reindeer Games; Boiler Room; Bounce; Pearl Harbor; Jay and Silent Bob Strike Back; Daddy and Them; Changing Lanes; The Sum of All Fears; Daredevil; Gigli; Paycheck; Jersey Girl; Surviving Christmas; Clerks II; Hollywoodland; Smokin' Aces; Gone Baby Gone (dir, coadapt); He's Just Not That Into You; State of Play

Alda, Alan: Gone Are the Days!; Paper Lion; The Extraordinary Seaman; The Moonshine War; Jenny; The Mephisto Waltz; To Kill a Clown; California Suite; Same Time, Next Year; The Seduction of Joe Tynan (also scr); The Four Seasons (also dir, scr); Sweet Liberty (also dir, scr); A New Life (also dir, scr); Crimes and Misdemeanors; Betsy's Wedding (also dir, scr); Whispers in the Dark; Manhattan Murder Mystery; Canadian Bacon; Flirting With Disaster; Everyone Says I Love You; Murder at 1600; Mad City; The Object of My Affection; What Women Want; The Aviator (2004); Resurrecting the Champ; Diminished Capacity; Flash of Genius; Nothing But the Truth

Allen, Woody: What's New Pussycat? (also scr); What's Up, Tiger Lily? (also dir, scr); Casino Royale (1967); Take the Money and Run (also dir, coscr); Bananas (also dir, coscr); Play It Again, Sam (also adapt); Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Sex (But Were Afraid to Ask) (also dir, scr); Sleeper (also dir, coscr); Love and Death (also dir, scr); The Front; Annie Hall (also dir, coscr); Interiors (dir, scr); Manhattan (also dir, coscr); Stardust Memories (also dir, scr); A Midsummer Night's Sex Comedy (also dir, scr); Zelig (also dir, scr); Broadway Danny Rose (also dir, scr); The Purple Rose of Cairo (dir, scr); Hannah and Her Sisters (also dir, scr); Radio Days (dir, scr, narr); September (dir, scr); King Lear (1987); Another Woman (dir, scr); New York Stories (seq dir); Crimes and Misdemeanors (also dir, scr); Alice (dir, scr); Scenes From a Mall; Shadows and Fog (also dir, scr); Husbands and Wives (also dir, scr); Manhattan Murder Mystery (also dir, coscr); Bullets Over Broadway (dir, coscr); Mighty Aphrodite (also dir, scr); Everyone Says I Love You (also dir, scr); Deconstructing Harry (also dir, scr); Wild Man Blues (app); The Impositors (cameo); Antz; Celebrity (dir, scr); Sweet and Lowdown (also dir, scr); Small Time Crooks (also dir, scr); Picking Up the Pieces; Company Man; The Curse of the Jade Scorpion (also dir, scr); Hollywood Ending (also dir, scr); Anything Else (also dir, scr); Melinda and Melinda (dir, scr); Match Point (dir, scr); Scoop (also dir, scr);

Cassandra's Dream (dir, scr); Vicky Cristina Barcelona (dir, scr)

Andrews, Julie: Mary Poppins; The Americanization of Emily; The Sound of Music; Torn Curtain; Hawaii; Thoroughly Modern Millie; Star!; Darling Lili; The Tamarind Seed; 10; Little Miss Marker (1980); S.O.B.; Victor/Victoria; The Man Who Loved Women (1983); That's Life!; Duet for One; A Fine Romance; Relative Values; The Princess Diaries; Unconditional Love; Shrek 2; The Princess Diaries 2: Royal Engagement; Shrek the Third; Enchanted (narr)

Arthur, Jean: Seven Chances; The Whole Town's Talking; Diamond Jim; If You Could Only Cook; Mr. Deeds Goes to Town; The Ex-Mrs. Bradford; The Plainsman (1936); History Is Made at Night; Easy Living (1937); You Can't Take It With You; Only Angels Have Wings; Mr. Smith Goes to Washington; Too Many Husbands; Arizona; The Devil and Miss Jones; The Talk of the Town; The More the Merrier; A Lady Takes a Chance; A Foreign Affair; Shane

Astaire, Fred: Dancing Lady; Flying Down to Rio; The Gay Divorcee; Roberta; Top Hat; Follow the Fleet; Swing Time; Shall We Dance (1937); A Damsel in Distress; Carefree; The Story of Vernon & Irene Castle; Broadway Melody of 1940; Second Chorus; You'll Never Get Rich; Holiday Inn; You Were Never Lovelier; The Sky's the Limit; Yolanda and the Thief; Ziegfeld Follies; Blue Skies; Easter Parade; The Barkleys of Broadway; Three Little Words; Let's Dance; Royal Wedding; The Belle of New York; The Band Wagon; Daddy Long Legs; Funny Face; Silk Stockings; On the Beach; The Pleasure of His Company; The Notorious Landlady; Finian's Rainbow; Midas Run; The Towering Inferno; That's Entertainment! (app); That's Entertainment, Part 2 (app); The Purple Taxi; The Amazing Dobermans; Ghost Story (1981); George Stevens: A Filmmaker's Journey (app)

Bacall, Lauren: To Have and Have Not; Confidential Agent; The Big Sleep (1946); Dark Passage; Key Largo; Young Man With a Horn; Bright Leaf; How to Marry a Millionaire; Woman's World; The Cobweb; Blood Alley; Written on the Wind; Designing Woman; The Gift of Love; Flame Over India; Shock Treatment (1964); Sex and the Single Girl; Harper; Murder on the Orient Express; The Shootist; Perfect Gentlemen; H.E.A.L.T.H.; The Fan (1981); Appointment With Death; Mr. North; Innocent Victim; Misery; All I Want for Christmas; Ready to Wear (Prêt-à-Porter); The Line King (app); The Mirror Has Two Faces (1996); My Fellow Americans; Diamonds (1999); Dogville; Birth; Howl's Moving Castle; Manderlay; The Walker (2007)

Baldwin, Alec: Forever, Lulu; She's Having a Baby; Beetle Juice; Married to the

Mob; Talk Radio; Working Girl; Great Balls of Fire!; The Hunt for Red October; Miami Blues; Alice; The Marrying Man; Prelude to a Kiss; Glengarry Glen Ross; Malice; The Getaway (1994); The Shadow; Two Bits; The Juror; Heaven's Prisoners; Ghosts of Mississippi; Looking for Richard (app); The Edge; Mercury Rising; Notting Hill (cameo); Outside Providence; Thomas and the Magic Railroad; State and Main; Pearl Harbor; Cats & Dogs; Final Fantasy: The Spirits Within; The Royal Tenenbaums (nar); The Adventures of Pluto Nash; The Cooler; The Cat in the Hat; Along Came Polly; Broadway: The Golden Age (app); The Last Shot; The SpongeBob SquarePants Movie; The Aviator (2004); Elizabethtown; Fun With Dick and Jane (2005); Mini's First Time; The Departed; Running with Scissors; The Good Shepherd; Brooklyn Rules; My Best Friend's Girl; Madagascar: Escape 2 Africa; Lymelife

Bale, Christian: Empire of the Sun; Henry V (1989); Newsies; Swing Kids; Little Women (1994); Pocahontas; The Secret Agent (1996); The Portrait of a Lady; Metroland; Velvet Goldmine; A Midsummer Night's Dream (1999); American Psycho; Shaft (2000); Captain Corelli's Mandolin; Laurel Canyon; Reign of Fire; Equilibrium; The Machinist; Howl's Moving Castle; Batman Begins; Harsh Times; The New World; The Prestige; Rescue Dawn; 3:10 to Yuma (2007); I'm Not There; The Dark Knight; Terminator Salvation

Bardem, Javier: High Heels; Jamón Jamón; Mouth to Mouth (1995); Live Flesh; Before Night Falls; The Dancer Upstairs; Mondays in the Sun; Collateral; The Sea Inside; Goya's Ghosts; No Country for Old Men; Love in the Time of Cholera; Vicky Cristina Barcelona

Barrymore, Drew: Altered States; E.T. The Extra-Terrestrial; Firestarter; Irreconcilable Differences; Cat's Eye; Far from Home (1989); See You in the Morning; Doppelganger: The Evil Within; Guncrazy (1992); Poison Ivy (1992); Wayne's World 2; Bad Girls; Batman Forever; Boys on the Side; Mad Love (1995); Scream; Wishful Thinking; Everyone Says I Love You; The Wedding Singer; Ever After; Home Fries; Never Been Kissed; Titan A.E.; Charlie's Angels; Freddy Got Fingered; Skipped Parts; Donnie Darko; Riding in Cars With Boys; Confessions of a Dangerous Mind; Charlie's Angels: Full Throttle; Duplex; 50 First Dates; Fever Pitch (2005); Curious George; Music and Lyrics; Lucky You; Beverly Hills Chihuahua; He's Just Not That Into You

Basinger, Kim: Hard Country; Mother Lode; The Man Who Loved Women (1983); Never Say Never Again; The Natural; Fool for Love; 9½ Weeks; No Mercy; Blind Date (1987); Nadine; My Stepmother Is an

Alien; Batman (1989); The Marrying Man; Final Analysis; Cool World; The Real McCoy; Wayne's World 2 (cameo); The Getaway (1994); Ready to Wear (Prêt-à-Porter); L.A. Confidential; I Dreamed of Africa; Bless the Child; 8 Mile; People I Know; The Door in the Floor; Cellular; The Sentinel (2006); Even Money; While She Was Out; The Informers (2009)

Beatty, Warren: Splendor in the Grass; The Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone; All Fall Down; Lilith; Mickey One; Promise Her Anything; Kaleidoscope; Bonnie and Clyde; The Only Game in Town; McCabe & Mrs. Miller; $ (Dollars); The Parallax View; The Fortune; Shampoo (also coscr); Heaven Can Wait (1978; also codir, coadapt); Reds (also dir, coscr); George Stevens: A Filmmaker's Journey (app); Ishtar; Dick Tracy (also dir); Truth or Dare (app); Bugsy; Love Affair (1994; also coadapt); Bulworth (also dir, coscr); Town & Country

Bening, Annette: The Great Outdoors; Valmont; Postcards From the Edge; The Grifters; Guilty by Suspicion; Regarding Henry; Bugsy; Love Affair (1994); The American President; Richard III (1995); Mars Attacks!; The Siege; In Dreams; American Beauty; What Planet Are You From?; Open Range; Being Julia; Running with Scissors; The Women (2008)

Bergman, Ingrid: Intermezzo; Rage in Heaven; Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde (1941); Casablanca; For Whom the Bell Tolls; Gaslight (1944); The Bells of St. Mary's; Spellbound (1945); Saratoga Trunk; Notorious (1946); Arch of Triumph; Joan of Arc; Under Capricorn; Stromboli; The Greatest Love; Voyage in Italy; Elena and Her Men; Anastasia (1956); Indiscreet; The Inn of the Sixth Happiness; Goodbye Again; The Yellow Rolls-Royce; The Visit (1964); Cactus Flower; Walk in the Spring Rain; From the Mixed-Up Files of Mrs. Basil E. Frankweiler; Murder on the Orient Express; A Matter of Time; Autumn Sonata

Berry, Halle: Jungle Fever; Strictly Business; The Last Boy Scout; Boomerang (1992); Father Hood; The Program; The Flintstones; Losing Isaiah; Executive Decision; Race the Sun; The Rich Man's Wife; B*A*P*S; Bulworth; Why Do Fools Fall in Love; X-Men; Swordfish; Monster's Ball; Die Another Day; X2; Gothika; Catwoman; Robots; X-Men: The Last Stand; Perfect Stranger; Things We Lost in the Fire

Black, Jack: Bob Roberts; Airborne; Demolition Man; Bye Bye Love; Waterworld; Dead Man Walking; Bio-Dome; The Cable Guy; The Fan (1996); Mars Attacks!; The Jackal; I Still Know What You Did Last Summer (uncred); Enemy of the State; Cradle Will Rock; The Love Letter (uncred); Jesus' Son; High Fidelity; Saving Silverman; Shallow Hal; Orange County; Ice Age; The School of Rock; Envy; An-

chorman; The Legend of Ron Burgundy; Shark Tale; King Kong (2005); Nacho Libre; Tenacious D: The Pick of Destiny (also coscr); The Holiday (2006); Margot at the Wedding; Walk Hard: The Dewey Cox Story (uncred); Be Kind Rewind; Kung Fu Panda; Tropic Thunder

Blanchett, Cate: Paradise Road; Oscar and Lucinda; Elizabeth; An Ideal Husband (1999); Pushing Tin; The Talented Mr. Ripley; The Man Who Cried; The Gift; Bandits (2001); The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring; Charlotte Gray; The Shipping News; Heaven (2002); The Lord of the Rings: The Two Towers; Veronica Guerin; Coffee and Cigarettes; The Missing; The Lord of the Rings: The Return of the King; The Life Aquatic with Steve Zissou; The Aviator (2004); Little Fish; Babel; The Good German; Notes on a Scandal; Hot Fuzz (cameo); Elizabeth: The Golden Age; I'm Not There; Indiana Jones and the Kingdom of the Crystal Skull; The Curious Case of Benjamin Button

Bogart, Humphrey: Up the River; Three on a Match; The Petrified Forest; Bullets or Ballots; Isle of Fury; Black Legion; The Great O'Malley; Marked Woman; Kid Galahad (1937); San Quentin; Dead End; Stand-In; Crime School; Racket Busters; The Amazing Doctor Clitterhouse; Angels with Dirty Faces; King of the Underworld; The Oklahoma Kid; Dark Victory; You Can't Get Away With Murder; The Roaring Twenties; The Return of Dr. X; Invisible Stripes; Virginia City; It All Came True; Brother Orchid; They Drive By Night; High Sierra; The Wagons Roll at Night; The Maltese Falcon (1941); Across the Pacific; All Through the Night; The Big Shot; Casablanca; Action in the North Atlantic; Thank Your Lucky Stars (cameo); Sahara (1943); Passage to Marseille; To Have and Have Not; Conflict (1945); The Big Sleep (1946); Dead Reckoning; The Two Mrs. Carrolls; Dark Passage; The Treasure of the Sierra Madre; Key Largo; Knock on Any Door; Tokyo Joe; Chain Lightning; In a Lonely Place; The Enforcer (1951); Sirocco; The African Queen; Deadline U.S.A.; Battle Circus; Beat the Devil; The Caine Mutiny; Sabrina (1954); The Barefoot Contessa; We're No Angels (1955); The Left Hand of God; The Desperate Hours (1955); The Harder They Fall

Boyer, Charles: Red-Headed Woman; Private Worlds; Break of Hearts; Mayerling (1936); The Garden of Allah; Tovarich; Conquest; History Is Made at Night; Algiers; Love Affair (1939); All This, and Heaven Too; Back Street (1941); Hold Back the Dawn; Appointment for Love; Tales of Manhattan; The Constant Nymph; Flesh and Fantasy; Gaslight (1944); Together Again; Confidential Agent; Cluny Brown; A Woman's Vengeance; Arch of Triumph; The

First Legion; Thunder in the East; The 13th Letter; The Happy Time; The Earrings of Madame de . . . ; The Cobweb; Around the World in Eighty Days (1956; cameo); La Parisienne; Lucky to Be a Woman; The Buccaneer (1958); Fanny (1961); Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse (1962); Adorable Julia; Love Is a Ball; A Very Special Favor; Is Paris Burning?; How to Steal a Million; Casino Royale; Barefoot in the Park; The April Fools; The Madwoman of Chailot; The Day the Hot Line Got Hot; Lost Horizon (1973); Stavisky . . . ; A Matter of Time

Branagh, Kenneth: Coming Through; High Season; A Month in the Country; Henry V (1989; also dir, adapt); Dead Again (also dir); Peter's Friends (also dir); Swing Kids; Much Ado About Nothing (also dir, adapt); Mary Shelley's Frankenstein (also dir); Othello (1995); A Midwinter's Tale (dir, scr); Anne Frank Remembered (narr); Looking for Richard (app); Hamlet (1996; also dir, adapt); The Gingerbread Man; The Proposition (1998); Celebrity; The Theory of Flight; Wild Wild West; The Road to El Dorado; Love's Labour's Lost (also dir, adapt); How to Kill Your Neighbor's Dog; Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets; Rabbit-Proof Fence; Sleuth (2007; dir); Valkyrie

Brando, Marlon: The Men; A Streetcar Named Desire; Viva Zapata!; Julius Caesar (1953); The Wild One; On the Waterfront; Desiree; Guys and Dolls; The Teahouse of the August Moon; Sayonara; The Young Lions; The Fugitive Kind; One-Eyed Jacks (also dir); Mutiny on the Bounty (1962); The Ugly American; Bedtime Story (1964); The Saboteur, Code Name Morituri; The Chase (1966); The Appaloosa; A Countess From Hong Kong; Reflections in a Golden Eye; Candy; The Night of the Following Day; Burn!; The Nightcomers; The Godfather; Last Tango in Paris; The Missouri Breaks; Superman; Superman II (Richard Donner cut); Apocalypse Now; The Formula; A Dry White Season; The Freshman (1990); Christopher Columbus: The Discovery; Don Juan DeMarco; The Island of Dr. Moreau (1996); Free Money; The Score

Bridges, Jeff: The Company She Keeps; Halls of Anger; The Last Picture Show; Fat City; Bad Company (1972); The Last American Hero; The Iceman Cometh; Lolly Madonna XXX; Thunderbolt and Lightfoot; Rancho Deluxe; Hearts of the West; Stay Hungry; King Kong (1976); Somebody Killed Her Husband; Winter Kills; The American Success Company; Heaven's Gate; Cutter's Way; Kiss Me Goodbye; The Last Unicorn; Tron; Against All Odds (1984); Starman; Jagged Edge; 8 Million Ways to Die; The Morning After; Nadine; Tucker: The Man and His Dream; Cold Feet (1989; cameo); The Fabulous Baker Boys;

See You in the Morning; Texasville; The Fisher King; The Vanishing (1993); American Heart; Fearless; Blown Away; Wild Bill; White Squall; The Mirror Has Two Faces (1996); The Big Lebowski; Arlington Road; The Muse; Simpatico; The Contender; K-PAX; Lost in La Mancha (narr); Seabiscuit; Masked and Anonymous; The Door in the Floor; Stick It; The Amateurs; Tideland; Surf's Up; Iron Man; How to Lose Friends & Alienate People

Bronson, Charles (billed as Charles Buchinski or Buchinsky until Drum Beat): You're in the Navy Now; The People Against O'Hara; The Mob; Red Skies of Montana; My Six Convicts; The Marrying Kind (bit); Pat and Mike; Diplomatic Courier; Bloodhounds of Broadway (1952); House of Wax (1953); The Clown; Miss Sadie Thompson; Crime Wave; Riding Shotgun; Apache; Vera Cruz; Drum Beat; Jubal; Run of the Arrow; Machine-Gun Kelly; Ten North Frederick (bit); Never So Few; The Magnificent Seven; Master of the World; A Thunder of Drums; X-15; Kid Galahad (1962); The Great Escape; 4 for Texas; The Sandpiper; Battle of the Bulge; This Property Is Condemned; The Dirty Dozen; Guns for San Sebastian; Farewell, Friend; Villa Rides!; Once Upon a Time in the West; Lola (1969); Rider on the Rain; You Can't Win 'Em All; The Family (1970); Cold Sweat; Someone Behind the Door; Red Sun; The Mechanic; The Valachi Papers; Chato's Land; The Stone Killer; Chino; Mr. Majestyk; Death Wish; Breakout (1975); Hard Times; From Noon Till Three; Breakheart Pass; St. Ives; Telefon; The White Buffalo; Love and Bullets; Caboblanco; Borderline (1980); Death Hunt; Death Wish II; Ten to Midnight; The Evil That Men Do; Death Wish 3; Murphy's Law; Assassination; Death Wish 4; The Crackdown; Messenger of Death; Kinjite; Forbidden Subjects; The Indian Runner; Death Wish V: The Face of Death

Brooks, Albert: Taxi Driver; Real Life (also dir, coscr); Private Benjamin; Modern Romance (also dir, coscr); Twilight Zone—The Movie; Unfaithfully Yours (1984); Lost in America (also dir, coscr); Broadcast News; Defending Your Life (also dir, scr); I'll Do Anything; The Scout (also coscr); Mother (1996; also dir, coscr); Critical Care; Out of Sight (1998); Doctor Dolittle (1998); The Muse (also dir, coscr); My First Mister; The In-Laws (2003); Finding Nemo; Looking for Comedy in the Muslim World (also dir, scr); The Simpsons Movie

Brooks, Louise: Pandora's Box; Diary of a Lost Girl; Prix de Beauté

Bullock, Sandra: A Fool and His Money; Who Shot Patakatango?; Love Potion No. 9; When the Party's Over; The Vanishing (1993); Demolition Man; The Thing Called Love; Wrestling Ernest Hemingway; Speed (1994); While You Were Sleeping; The

Net; Two If by Sea; Fire on the Amazon; A Time to Kill; In Love and War (1996); Speed 2: Cruise Control; Hope Floats; Practical Magic; The Prince of Egypt; Forces of Nature; Gun Shy; 28 Days; Miss Congeniality; Lisa Picard is Famous (cameo); Murder By Numbers; Divine Secrets of the Ya-Ya Sisterhood; Two Weeks Notice; Miss Congeniality 2: Armed and Fabulous; Crash (2005); Loverboy; The Lake House; Infamous; Premonition (2007)

Burton, Richard: Green Grow the Rushes; My Cousin Rachel; The Desert Rats; The Robe; Demetrius and the Gladiators (cameo); Prince of Players; The Rains of Ranchipur; Alexander the Great; Sea Wife; Bitter Victory; Look Back in Anger; The Bramble Bush; Ice Palace; The Longest Day; Cleopatra (1963); The V.I.P.s; Zulu (narr); Becket; The Night of the Iguana; The Spy Who Came In From the Cold; The Sandpiper; What's New, Pussycat? (cameo); Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?; The Taming of the Shrew; Doctor Faustus; The Comedians; Boom!; Candy; Where Eagles Dare; Anne of the Thousand Days; Staircase; Villain; Raid on Rommel; The Assassination of Trotsky; Hammersmith Is Out; Bluebeard (1972); Under Milk Wood (narr); Massacre in Rome; The Voyage; The Klansman; Exorcist II: The Heretic; Equus; The Medusa Touch; The Wild Geese; Love-spell; Breakthrough (1978); Circle of Two; Absolution; Wagner; Nineteen Eighty-Four (1984)

Caan, James: Irma la Douce (bit); Lady in a Cage; The Glory Guys; Red Line 7000; El Dorado; Games; Countdown; Journey to Shiloh; Submarine X-1; The Rain People; Rabbit, Run; T.R. Baskin; The Godfather; Slither; Cinderella Liberty; The Gambler; Freebie and the Bean; The Godfather Part II (cameo); Funny Lady; Rollerball (1975); The Killer Elite; Harry and Walter Go to New York; Silent Movie (cameo); Another Man, Another Chance; A Bridge Too Far; Comes a Horseman; Chapter Two; Hide in Plain Sight (also dir); Thief; Bolero (1981); Kiss Me Goodbye; Gardens of Stone; Alien Nation; Dick Tracy (cameo); Misery; The Dark Backward (cameo); For the Boys; Honeymoon in Vegas; The Program; Flesh and Bone; Bottle Rocket; Eraser; Bulletproof (1996); This is my Father; Mickey Blue Eyes; The Way of the Gun; The Yards; Night at the Golden Eagle (cameo); City of Ghosts; Elf; Dogville; Get Smart

Cage, Nicolas: Fast Times at Ridgemont High; Valley Girl; Rumble Fish; Racing With the Moon; The Cotton Club; Birdy; The Boy in Blue; Peggy Sue Got Married; Raising Arizona; Moonstruck; Vampire's Kiss; Fire Birds; Wild at Heart; Zandalee; Honeymoon in Vegas; Amos & Andrew; Red Rock West; Deadfall (1993); Guarding Tess; It Could Happen to You; Trapped in

Paradise; Kiss of Death (1995); Leaving Las Vegas; The Rock; Con Air; Face/Off; City of Angels; Snake Eyes; 8MM; Bringing Out the Dead; Gone in Sixty Seconds (2000); The Family Man; Captain Corelli's Mandolin; Windtalkers; Adaptation.; Sonny (also dir, cameo); Matchstick Men; National Treasure; Lord of War; The Weather Man; The Ant Bully; World Trade Center; The Wicker Man (2006); Ghost Rider; Grindhouse (cameo); Next; National Treasure: Book of Secrets; Bangkok Dangerous; Knowing
Cagney, James: The Public Enemy; Smart Money; Blonde Crazy; Taxi! (1932); The Crowd Roars; Winner Take All; Hard to Handle; Lady Killer; Picture Snatcher; The Mayor of Hell; Footlight Parade; Jimmy the Gent; He Was Her Man; Here Comes the Navy; St. Louis Kid; Devil Dogs of the Air; "G" Men; The Irish in Us; Frisco Kid (1935); A Midsummer Night's Dream (1935); Ceiling Zero; Great Guy; Something to Sing About; Boy Meets Girl; Angels With Dirty Faces; The Oklahoma Kid; Each Dawn I Die; The Roaring Twenties; The Fighting 69th; Torrid Zone; City for Conquest; The Strawberry Blonde; The Bride Came C.O.D.; Captains of the Clouds; Yankee Doodle Dandy; Johnny Come Lately; Blood on the Sun; 13 Rue Madeleine; The Time of Your Life; White Heat; Kiss Tomorrow Goodbye; West Point Story; Come Fill the Cup; Starlift (cameo); What Price Glory (1952); A Lion Is in the Streets; Run for Cover; The Seven Little Foys; Love Me or Leave Me; Mister Roberts; Tribute to a Bad Man; These Wilder Years; Man of a Thousand Faces; Shake Hands With the Devil; Never Steal Anything Small; The Gallant Hours; One, Two, Three; Arizona Bushwhackers (narr); Ragtime
Caine, Michael: The Key (1958); The Two-Headed Spy; Carve Her Name With Pride; Breakout (1959); The Day the Earth Caught Fire; The Wrong Arm of the Law; Zulu; The Ipcress File; Gambit; Alfie (1966); The Wrong Box; Funeral in Berlin; Hurry Sundown; Billion Dollar Brain; Woman Times Seven; Deadfall (1968); Play Dirty; The Magus; The Italian Job (1969); Battle of Britain; Too Late the Hero; Get Carter (1970); The Last Valley; Kidnapped (1971); X, Y and Zee; Pulp; Sleuth (1972); The Destroyers (1974); The Black Windmill; The Wilby Conspiracy; The Man Who Would Be King; The Romantic Englishwoman; Peeper; Harry and Walter Go to New York; The Eagle Has Landed; A Bridge Too Far; Silver Bears; The Swarm; California Suite; Ashanti; Beyond the Poseidon Adventure; The Island (1980); Dressed to Kill (1980); The Hand (1981); Victory (1981); Deathtrap; Educating Rita; Beyond the Limit; Blame It on Rio; The Jigsaw Man; Water; The Holcroft Covenant; Hannah and Her Sisters; Sweet

Liberty; Mona Lisa; Half Moon Street; The Whistle Blower; Jaws the Revenge; The Fourth Protocol; Surrender (1987); Without a Clue; Dirty Rotten Scoundrels; Bullseye!; A Shock to the System; Mr. Destiny; Noises Off; Blue Ice; The Muppet Christmas Carol; On Deadly Ground; Blood and Wine; Curtain Call; Little Voice; The Cider House Rules; Get Carter (2000); Miss Congeniality; Quills; Last Orders; Shiner; Quicksand (2001); Austin Powers in Goldmember; The Quiet American (2002); Secondhand Lions; The Statement; Around the Bend; Batman Begins; Bewitched (2005); The Weather Man; The Prestige; Children of Men; Sleuth (2007); Flawless (2008); The Dark Knight; Is Anybody There?

Carrey, Jim: Finders Keepers (1984); Once Bitten; Peggy Sue Got Married; The Dead Pool; High Strung (cameo); Earth Girls Are Easy; Pink Cadillac; Ace Ventura, Pet Detective (also coscr); The Mask (1994); Dumb and Dumber; Batman Forever; Ace Ventura: When Nature Calls; The Cable Guy; Liar Liar; The Truman Show; Simon Birch; Man on the Moon; Me, Myself & Irene; How the Grinch Stole Christmas; The Majestic; Bruce Almighty; Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind; Lemony Snicket's A Series of Unfortunate Events; Fun With Dick and Jane (2005); The Number 23; Horton Hears a Who!; Yes Man

Chan, Jackie: The Chinese Connection (bit); Enter the Dragon (bit); Drunken Master; The Big Brawl; The Cannonball Run; Project A (also dir, coscr); Cannonball Run II; The Protector; Police Story (also dir); Armour of God (also dir); Project A, Part II (also dir, coscr); Dragons Forever; Police Story Part 2 (also dir, coscr); Miracles (also dir, scr); Armour of God 2: Operation Condor (also dir, scr); Twin Dragons; Police Story III; Supercop; Drunken Master II; Rumble in the Bronx (also coscr); Jackie Chan's First Strike; Mr. Nice Guy; Jackie Chan's Who Am I? (also dir, coscr); Rush Hour; Shanghai Noon; Rush Hour 2; The Tuxedo; Shanghai Knights; The Medallion; Around the World in 80 Days (2004); Rush Hour 3; The Forbidden Kingdom; Kung Fu Panda

Chaplin, Charles: (features only) Tillie's Punctured Romance; The Kid (also dir, scr); A Woman of Paris (dir, scr, cameo); The Gold Rush (also dir, scr); The Circus (also dir, scr); Show People (cameo); City Lights (also dir, scr); Modern Times (also dir, scr); The Great Dictator (also dir, scr); Monsieur Verdoux (also dir, scr, mus); Limelight (also dir, scr, mus); A King in New York (also dir, scr, mus); A Countess From Hong Kong (dir, scr, mus, cameo)

Cheadle, Don: Moving Violations; Hamburger Hill; Colors; Roadside Prophets; The Meteor Man; Things to Do in Denver When You're Dead; Devil in a Blue Dress; Rosewood; Volcano; Boogie Nights; Bulworth;

Out of Sight (1998); Mission to Mars; The Family Man; Traffic (2000); Manic; Swordfish; Rush Hour 2 (uncred); Ocean's Eleven (2001); The United States of Leland; The Assassination of Richard Nixon; Hotel Rwanda; After the Sunset; Ocean's Twelve; Crash (2005); Reign Over Me; Talk to Me; Ocean's Thirteen; Darfur Now (app); Traitor; Hotel for Dogs

Cher: Wild on the Beach; Alfie (1966; sings title song); Good Times; Chastity; Come Back to the 5 & Dime, Jimmy Dean, Jimmy Dean; Silkwood; Mask (1985); Moonstruck; Suspect; The Witches of Eastwick; Mermaids; The Player (cameo); Ready to Wear (Prêt-à-Porter); Faithful; Tea with Mussolini; Stuck on You

Clift, Montgomery: The Search; Red River; The Heiress; The Big Lift; A Place in the Sun; I Confess; From Here to Eternity; Indiscretion of an American Wife; Raintree County; The Young Lions; Lonelyhearts; Suddenly Last Summer (1959); Wild River; The Misfits; Judgment at Nuremberg; Freud; The Defector

Clooney, George: Return of the Killer Tomatoes!; Unbecoming Age; From Dusk Till Dawn; One Fine Day; The Peacemaker; Batman & Robin; Out of Sight (1998); The Thin Red Line (1998); South Park: Bigger, Longer & Uncut; Three Kings; The Perfect Storm; O Brother, Where Art Thou?; Spy Kids (cameo); Ocean's Eleven (2001); Welcome to Collinwood; Solaris (2002); Confessions of a Dangerous Mind (also dir); Spy Kids 3-D: Game Over (cameo); Intolerable Cruelty; Ocean's Twelve; Syriana; Good Night, And Good Luck. (also dir, coscr); The Good German; Ocean's Thirteen; Michael Clayton; Darfur Now (app); Leatherheads (also dir); Burn After Reading

Close, Glenn: The World According to Garp; The Big Chill; The Stone Boy; The Natural; Greystoke: The Legend of Tarzan, Lord of the Apes; Maxie; Jagged Edge; Fatal Attraction (1987); Dangerous Liaisons; Light Years; Immediate Family; Reversal of Fortune; Hamlet (1990); Meeting Venus; Hook; The House of the Spirits; The Paper; Anne Frank Remembered (narr); Mary Reilly; Mars Attacks!; 101 Dalmatians; Paradise Road; Air Force One; In & Out (cameo); Cookie's Fortune; Tarzan; 102 Dalmatians; Things You Can Tell Just by Looking at Her; Pinocchio (2002); The Safety of Objects; Le Divorce; The Stepford Wives (2004); Heights; Hoodwinked; Nine Lives; The Chumsclubber; Evening

Coburn, James: Ride Lonesome; The Magnificent Seven; Hell Is for Heroes; The Man From Galveston; The Great Escape; Charade; The Americanization of Emily; Major Dundee; A High Wind in Jamaica; The Loved One (cameo); Our Man Flint; What Did You Do in the War, Daddy?; Dead Heat on a Merry-Go-Round; In Like Flint; Waterhole #3; The President's Analyst; Duffy; Candy; Hard Contract; Last of the Mobile Hot-Shots; Duck, You Sucker; The Honkers; The Carey Treatment; Pat Garrett & Billy the Kid; The Last of Sheila; Harry in Your Pocket; A Reason to Live, a Reason to Die; The Internecine Project; Hard Times; Bite the Bullet; Sky Riders; The Last Hard Men; Midway; Cross of Iron; California Suite (cameo); The Muppet Movie (cameo); Circle of Iron (costy); Goldengirl; Firepower; The Baltimore Bullet; Mr. Patman; Loving Couples; Looker; High Risk; Martin's Day; Death of a Soldier; Young Guns II; Hudson Hawk; The Player (cameo); Sister Act 2: Back in the Habit; Deadfall (1993); Maverick; Eraser; The Nutty Professor (1996); Keys to Tulsa; Affliction; Payback (uncred); Monsters, Inc.; Texas Rangers (2001; narr); Snow Dogs; The Man from Elysian Fields

Colbert, Claudette: The Smiling Lieutenant; The Sign of the Cross; It Happened One Night; Cleopatra (1934); Imitation of Life (1934); The Gilded Lily; The Bride Comes Home; Under Two Flags; Tovarich; Bluebeard's Eighth Wife; Midnight (1939); Drums Along the Mohawk; It's a Wonderful World; Boom Town; Arise, My Love; Skylark (1941); Remember the Day; The Palm Beach Story; So Proudly We Hail!; No Time for Love; Since You Went Away; Tomorrow Is Forever; Without Reservations; The Secret Heart; The Egg and I; Bride for Sale; Three Came Home; The Secret Fury; Thunder on the Hill; Let's Make It Legal; Outpost in Malaya; Royal Affairs in Versailles; Texas Lady; Parrish

Colman, Ronald: Bulldog Drummond; Arrowsmith; Cynara; A Tale of Two Cities (1935); Under Two Flags; Lost Horizon (1937); The Prisoner of Zenda (1937); If I Were King; The Light That Failed; Lucky Partners; My Life With Caroline; The Talk of the Town; Random Harvest; Kismet (1944); The Late George Apley; A Double Life; Champagne for Caesar; Around the World in Eighty Days (1956; cameo); The Story of Mankind

Connery, Sean: Let's Make Up; No Road Back; Hell Drivers; Another Time, Another Place; Darby O'Gill and the Little People; Tarzan's Greatest Adventure; The Frightened City; The Longest Day; Dr. No; From Russia With Love; Marnie; Woman of Straw; Goldfinger; The Hill; Thunderball; A Fine Madness; You Only Live Twice; Shalako; The Molly Maguires; The Red Tent; The Anderson Tapes; Diamonds Are Forever; The Offence; Zardoz; Murder on the Orient Express; The Terrorists; The Wind and the Lion; The Man Who Would Be King; Robin and Marian; The Next Man; A Bridge Too Far; The Great Train Robbery; Meteor; Cuba; Time Bandits; Outland; Wrong Is Right; Five Days One Summer; Never Say Never Again; Sword of the Valiant; Highlander; The Name of the Rose;

The Untouchables; The Presidio; Memories of Me (cameo); Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade; Family Business (1989); The Hunt for Red October; The Russia House; Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves (cameo); Highlander II: The Quickening; Medicine Man; Rising Sun; A Good Man in Africa; Just Cause; First Knight; Dragonheart; The Rock; The Avengers; Playing by Heart; Entrapment; Finding Forrester; The League of Extraordinary Gentlemen

Cooper, Gary: Wings; It (1927); The Virginian (1929); Morocco; If I Had a Million; A Farewell to Arms (1932); Today We Live; Design for Living; Alice in Wonderland (1933); Now and Forever (1934); The Wedding Night; The Lives of a Bengal Lancer; Desire; Mr. Deeds Goes to Town; The General Died at Dawn; The Plainsman (1936); Souls at Sea; The Adventures of Marco Polo; Bluebeard's Eighth Wife; The Cowboy and the Lady; Beau Geste (1939); The Real Glory; The Westerner; North West Mounted Police; Meet John Doe; Sergeant York; Ball of Fire; The Pride of the Yankees; For Whom the Bell Tolls; The Story of Dr. Wassell; Casanova Brown; Along Came Jones; Saratoga Trunk; Cloak and Dagger; Variety Girl (cameo); Unconquered; Good Sam; The Fountainhead; It's a Great Feeling (cameo); Task Force; Bright Leaf; Dallas; You're in the Navy Now; Starlift (cameo); It's a Big Country; Distant Drums; High Noon; Springfield Rifle; Return to Paradise; Blowing Wild; Vera Cruz; Garden of Evil; The Court-Martial of Billy Mitchell; Friendly Persuasion; Love in the Afternoon; Ten North Frederick; Man of the West; The Hanging Tree; Alias Jesse James (cameo); They Came to Cordura; The Wreck of the Mary Deare; The Naked Edge

Costner, Kevin: Shadows Run Black; Night Shift; Chasing Dreams; Frances; Stacy's Knights; Table for Five; Testament; The Big Chill; The Gunrunner; American Flyers; Fandango; Silverado; Sizzle Beach; U.S.A.; The Untouchables; No Way Out (1987); Bull Durham; Field of Dreams; Revenge (1990); Dances With Wolves (also dir); Truth or Dare (app); Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves; JFK; The Bodyguard; A Perfect World; Wyatt Earp; The War; Waterworld; Tin Cup; The Postman (1997; also dir); Message in a Bottle; For Love of the Game; Play It to the Bone (cameo); Thirteen Days; 3000 Miles to Graceland; Dragonfly (2002); Open Range (also dir); The Upside of Anger; Rumor has it . . . ; The Guardian; Mr. Brooks; Swing Vote

Crawford, Joan: Tramp, Tramp, Tramp (1926); Our Dancing Daughters; Our Modern Maidens; Hollywood Revue of 1929; Dance, Fools, Dance; Laughing Sinners; Possessed (1931); Grand Hotel; Rain; Today We Live; Dancing Lady; Sadie McKee; Forsaking All Others; Chained; No More Ladies; I Live My Life; The Gorgeous

Hussy; Love on the Run (1936); The Last of Mrs. Cheyney; The Bride Wore Red; Mannequin (1937); The Shining Hour; Ice Follies of 1939; The Women (1939); Strange Cargo; Susan and God; A Woman's Face; They All Kissed the Bride; Reunion in France; Above Suspicion; Hollywood Canteen; Mildred Pierce; Humoresque; Possessed (1947); Daisy Kenyon; Flamingo Road; It's a Great Feeling (cameo); The Damned Don't Cry; Harriet Craig; Good-bye, My Fancy; This Woman Is Dangerous; Sudden Fear; Torch Song; Johnny Guitar; Female on the Beach; Queen Bee; Autumn Leaves; The Story of Esther Costello; The Best of Everything; What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?; The Caretakers; Strait-Jacket; I Saw What You Did; Berserk; Trog

Crosby, Bing: Reaching for the Moon; The Big Broadcast; Going Hollywood; We're Not Dressing; Mississippi; Anything Goes (1936); Rhythm on the Range; Pennies From Heaven (1936); Double or Nothing; Sing, You Sinners; Doctor Rhythm; East Side of Heaven; Rhythm on the River (1940); Road to Singapore; If I Had My Way; Birth of the Blues; Road to Zanzibar; My Favorite Blonde (cameo); Holiday Inn; Road to Morocco; Star Spangled Rhythm; Dixie; The Princess and the Pirate (cameo); Going My Way; Here Come the Waves; Road to Utopia; Duffey's Tavern; The Bells of St. Mary's; Blue Skies; Welcome Stranger; My Favorite Brunette (cameo); Road to Rio; Variety Girl (cameo); The Emperor Waltz; A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court; The Adventures of Ichabod and Mr. Toad (voice only); Top o' the Morning; Riding High; Mr. Music; Here Comes the Groom; Angels in the Outfield (1951; cameo); The Greatest Show on Earth (cameo); Son of Paleface (cameo); Just for You; Road to Bali; Little Boy Lost; Scared Stiff (1953; cameo); White Christmas; The Country Girl; Anything Goes (1956); High Society (1956); Man on Fire (1957); Alias Jesse James (cameo); Say One for Me; Let's Make Love (cameo); High Time; Pepe (cameo); The Road to Hong Kong; Robin and the 7 Hoods; Stagecoach (1966); Cancel My Reservation (cameo); That's Entertainment!

Crowe, Russell: Prisoners of the Sun; Proof; Romper Stomper; Hammers Over the Anvil; The Sum of Us; The Quick and the Dead; Rough Magic; Virtuosity; Breaking Up; L.A. Confidential; The Insider; Mystery, Alaska; Gladiator (2000); Proof of Life; A Beautiful Mind; Master and Commander: The Far Side of the World; Cinderella Man; A Good Year; 3:10 to Yuma (2007); American Gangster; Body of Lies; State of Play

Cruise, Tom: Endless Love; Taps; All the Right Moves; Risky Business; Losin' It; The Outsiders; Legend; Top Gun (1986); The Color of Money; Cocktail; Young Guns

(cameo); Rain Man; Born on the Fourth of July; Days of Thunder (also costly); Far and Away; A Few Good Men; The Firm; Interview With the Vampire; Mission: Impossible; Jerry Maguire; Eyes Wide Shut; Magnolia; Mission: Impossible II; Vanilla Sky; Minority Report; Austin Powers in Goldmember (cameo); The Last Samurai; Collateral; War of the Worlds (2005); Mission: Impossible III; Lions for Lambs; Tropic Thunder; Valkyrie

Cruz, Penélope: Jamón Jamón; Belle Époque; Live Flesh; Open Your Eyes; Twice Upon a Yesterday; Talk of Angels; The Hi-Lo Country; All About My Mother; Woman on Top; All the Pretty Horses; Blow; Captain Corelli's Mandolin; Don't Tempt Me; Vanilla Sky; Waking Up in Reno; Masked and Anonymous (cameo); Gothika; Don't Move; Head in the Clouds; Noel; Sahara (2005); Bandidas; Volver; The Good Night; Elegy; Vicky Cristina Barcelona

Curtis, Tony: Criss Cross; City Across the River; The Lady Gambles; Winchester '73; Kansas Raiders; The Prince Who Was a Thief; Flesh and Fury; No Room for the Groom; Meet Danny Wilson (cameo); Houdini; All American; Forbidden (1953); Beachhead; The Black Shield of Falworth; Six Bridges to Cross; The Square Jungle; Trapeze; The Rawhide Years; Mister Cory; Sweet Smell of Success; The Midnight Story; The Vikings; Kings Go Forth; The Defiant Ones; The Perfect Furlough; Some Like It Hot (1959); Operation Petticoat; Pepe (cameo); Who Was That Lady?; The Rat Race (1960); Spartacus; The Great Impostor; The Outsider (1961); Taras Bulba; 40 Pounds of Trouble; The List of Adrian Messenger (cameo); Captain Newman, M.D.; Wild and Wonderful; Paris—When It Sizzles (cameo); Goodbye Charlie; Sex and the Single Girl; The Great Race; Boeing Boeing; Chamber of Horrors (cameo); Not With My Wife You Don't!; Arrivederci, Baby!; Don't Make Waves; On My Way to the Crusades I Met a Girl Who . . . ; Rosemary's Baby (voice only); The Boston Strangler; Those Daring Young Men in Their Jaunty Jalopies; You Can't Win 'Em All; Suppose They Gave a War and Nobody Came?; Lepke; The Last Tycoon; Casanova & Co.; The Manitou; Sextette; The Bad News Bears Go to Japan; Little Miss Marker (1980); The Mirror Crack'd; Brainwaves; Insignificance; Club Life; Midnight (1989); Thanksgiving Day; Center of the Web; Naked in New York; The Celluloid Closet (app); Play It to the Bone (cameo)

Cusack, John: Class; Grandview, U.S.A.; Sixteen Candles; Better Off Dead (1985); The Journey of Natty Gann; The Sure Thing; One Crazy Summer; Stand By Me; Hot Pursuit; Broadcast News (cameo); Eight Men Out; Tapeheads; Fat Man and Little Boy; Say

Anything . . . ; The Grifters; True Colors; Shadows and Fog; The Player (cameo); Roadside Prophets; Bob Roberts (cameo); Map of the Human Heart; Money for Nothing; The Road to Wellville; Bullets Over Broadway; Floundering; City Hall; Grosse Pointe Blank (also coscr); Con Air; Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil; Anastasia (1997); The Thin Red Line (1998); Pushing Tin; This is my Father; Being John Malkovich; Cradle Will Rock; High Fidelity; America's Sweethearts; Serendipity; Adaptation. (cameo); Max; Identity; Runaway Jury; Must Love Dogs; The Ice Harvest; 1408; Martian Child; Joe Strummer: The Future Is Unwritten (app); The Contract (2006); Grace Is Gone; War, Inc. (also coscr); Igor

Cushing, Peter: The Man in the Iron Mask (1939; bit); A Chump at Oxford; Vigil in the Night; The Howards of Virginia (bit); Hamlet (1948); Moulin Rouge (1952); The End of the Affair (1955); Alexander the Great; Time Without Pity; Curse of Frankenstein; Horror of Dracula; Revenge of Frankenstein; Mania; The Hound of the Baskervilles (1959); John Paul Jones; The Mummy (1959); The Risk; The Brides of Dracula; Fury at Smugglers' Bay; The Hellfire Club; The Naked Edge; Night Creatures; The Man Who Finally Died; The Evil of Frankenstein; The Gorgon; Dr. Terror's House of Horrors; She (1965); Dr. Who and the Daleks; The Skull; Island of Terror; Daleks—Invasion Earth 2150 A.D.; Frankenstein Created Woman; Island of the Burning Doomed; Torture Garden; Some May Live; Corruption; Frankenstein Must Be Destroyed; Scream and Scream Again (cameo); The Vampire Lovers; The House That Dripped Blood; One More Time (cameo); Bloodsuckers; I, Monster; Twins of Evil; Fear in the Night (1972); Asylum; Dr. Phibes Rises Again!; Dracula A.D. 1972; Nothing but the Night; Tales From the Crypt; Horror Express; The Creeping Flesh; Count Dracula and His Vampire Bride; And Now the Screaming Starts; From Beyond the Grave; Frankenstein and the Monster From Hell; The Beast Must Die; Legend of the Seven Golden Vampires; Madhouse (1974); Call Him Mr. Shatter; Legend of the Werewolf; The Ghoul (1975); Shock Waves; Land of the Minotaur; At the Earth's Core; Dirty Knight's Work; The Uncanny; Star Wars; An Arabian Adventure; Monster Island; House of the Long Shadows; Top Secret!; Sword of The Valiant; Biggles: Adventures in Time

Damon, Matt: The Good Mother (extra); Mystic Pizza; Rising Son; School Ties; Gerónimo: An American Legend; Younger and Younger; Courage Under Fire; Chasing Amy; The Rainmaker (1997); Good Will Hunting (also coscr); Rounders (1998); Saving Private Ryan; Dogma; The Talented Mr. Ripley; Titan A.E.; The Legend of Bagger Vance; Finding

Forrester (uncred cameo); All the Pretty Horses; Jay and Silent Bob Strike Back; The Majestic (voice only); Ocean's Eleven (2001); Spirit; Stallion of the Cimarron; The Bourne Identity; Confessions of a Dangerous Mind (cameo); Gerry (also coscr); Stuck on You; Eurotrip; Jersey Girl; The Bourne Supremacy; Ocean's Twelve; The Brothers Grimm; Syriana; The Departed; The Good Shepherd; Ocean's Thirteen; The Bourne Ultimatum; Youth Without Youth (uncred cameo); Che (2008; cameo)

Davis, Bette: Waterloo Bridge (1931); Hell's House; The Dark Horse; The Man Who Played God; The Cabin in the Cotton; Three on a Match; 20,000 Years in Sing Sing; Ex-Lady; Bureau of Missing Persons; Fashions; The Big Shakedown; Jimmy the Gent; Fog Over Frisco; Housewife; Of Human Bondage (1934); Bordertown; Front Page Woman; Special Agent; Dangerous; The Girl From 10th Avenue; The Golden Arrow; The Petrified Forest; Satan Met a Lady; Kid Galahad (1937); Marked Woman; That Certain Woman; It's Love I'm After; Jezebel; The Sisters; The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex; Dark Victory; Juarez; The Old Maid; All This, and Heaven Too; The Letter; The Little Foxes; The Great Lie; Shining Victory (cameo); The Bride Came C.O.D.; The Man Who Came to Dinner; In This Our Life; Now, Voyager; Watch on the Rhine; Thank Your Lucky Stars; Old Acquaintance; Mr. Skeffington; Hollywood Canteen; The Corn Is Green (1945); Deception (1946); A Stolen Life; Winter Meeting; June Bride; Beyond the Forest; All About Eve; Another Man's Poison; Payment on Demand; Phone Call From a Stranger; The Star; The Virgin Queen; The Catered Affair; Storm Center; The Scapegoat; John Paul Jones; Pocketful of Miracles; What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?; The Empty Canvas; Dead Ringer; Hush . . . Hush, Sweet Charlotte; Where Love Has Gone; The Nanny; The Anniversary; Connecting Rooms; Bunny O'Hare; Burnt Offerings; Return From Witch Mountain; Death on the Nile; The Watcher in the Woods; The Whales of August; Wicked Stepmother

Day, Doris: Romance on the High Seas; My Dream Is Yours; It's a Great Feeling; Young Man With a Horn; West Point Story; Tea for Two; Storm Warning; Lullaby of Broadway; Starlift; On Moonlight Bay; I'll See You in My Dreams; The Winning Team; April in Paris; By the Light of the Silvery Moon; Calamity Jane; Lucky Me; Young at Heart; Love Me or Leave Me; Julie; The Man Who Knew Too Much (1956); The Pajama Game; Teacher's Pet (1958); The Tunnel of Love; It Happened to Jane; Pillow Talk; Midnight Lace; Please Don't Eat the Daisies; Lover Come Back (1961); That Touch of Mink; Billy Rose's

Jumbo; The Thrill of It All; Move Over, Darling; Send Me No Flowers; Do Not Disturb; The Glass Bottom Boat; Caprice; The Ballad of Josie; Where Were You When the Lights Went Out?; With Six You Get Egg Roll

Day-Lewis, Daniel: Sunday, Bloody Sunday; Gandhi; The Bounty; The Insurance Man; My Beautiful Laundrette; A Room with a View; Stars and Bars; The Unbearable Lightness of Being; Eversmile, New Jersey; My Left Foot; The Last of the Mohicans (1992); The Age of Innocence (1993); In the Name of the Father; The Crucible (1996); The Boxer (1997); Gangs of New York; The Ballad of Jack and Rose; There Will Be Blood

Dean, James: Fixed Bayonets! (bit); Sailor Beware (bit); Deadline U.S.A. (bit); Has Anybody Seen My Gal? (bit); East of Eden; Rebel Without a Cause; Giant

de Havilland, Olivia: A Midsummer Night's Dream (1935); Alibi Ike; The Irish in Us; Captain Blood (1935); Anthony Adverse; The Charge of the Light Brigade (1936); The Great Garrick; It's Love I'm After; Gold Is Where You Find It; The Adventures of Robin Hood; Four's a Crowd; Hard to Get; Dodge City; The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex; Gone With the Wind; Santa Fe Trail; The Strawberry Blonde; Hold Back the Dawn; They Died With Their Boots On; The Male Animal; In This Our Life; Thank Your Lucky Stars (cameo); Princess O'Rourke; Devotion; To Each His Own; The Dark Mirror; The Snake Pit; The Heiress; My Cousin Rachel; That Lady; Not As a Stranger; The Ambassador's Daughter; The Proud Rebel; Libel; The Light in the Piazza; Lady in a Cage; Hush . . . Hush, Sweet Charlotte; The Adventurers (1970); Pope Joan; Airport '77; The Swarm; The Fifth Musketeer

Dench, Judi: The Third Secret; He Who Rides a Tiger; A Study in Terror; A Midsummer Night's Dream (1968); Luther (1973); Langrishe, Go Down; Dead Cert; A Room with a View; 84 Charing Cross Road; A Handful of Dust; Henry V (1989); Jack & Sarah; GoldenEye; Hamlet (1996); Mrs. Brown; Tomorrow Never Dies; Shakespeare in Love; Tea with Mussolini; The World Is Not Enough; Chocolat; Iris; The Shipping News; The Importance of Being Earnest (2002); Die Another Day; Home on the Range; The Chronicles of Riddick; Ladies in Lavender; Pride & Prejudice (2005); Mrs. Henderson Presents; Doogal; Casino Royale (2006); Notes on a Scandal; Quantum of Solace

Deneuve, Catherine: The Umbrellas of Cherbourg; Male Hunt; Repulsion; A Matter of Resistance; The Young Girls of Rochefort; Belle de Jour; Benjamin; Mayerling (1968); The April Fools; Mississippi Mermaid; Tristana; Donkey Skin; It Only Happens to Others; Dirty Money; La Grande

Bourgeoise; Lovers Like Us; Hustle; March or Die; The Last Metro; Je Vous Aime; Choice of Arms; The Hunger; Fort Saganne; Let's Hope It's a Girl; Love Songs; Scene of the Crime (1986); Indochine; Ma Saison Préférée; One Hundred and One Nights; The Convent; Les Voleurs; Genealogies of a Crime; East-West; Place Vendôme; Pola X; Dancer in the Dark; Time Regained; The Musketeer; I'm Going Home; 8 Women; A Talking Picture; Changing Times; Persepolis; A Christmas Tale

De Niro, Robert: Greetings; The Wedding Party; Sam's Song; Hi, Mom!; Bloody Mama; Jennifer on My Mind; Born to Win; The Gang That Couldn't Shoot Straight; Bang the Drum Slowly; Mean Streets; The Godfather Part II; The Last Tycoon; Taxi Driver; 1900; New York New York; The Deer Hunter; Raging Bull; True Confessions; The King of Comedy; Once Upon a Time in America; Falling in Love; Brazil; The Mission; Angel Heart; The Untouchables; Midnight Run; Jacknife; We're No Angels (1989); Stanley & Iris; GoodFellas; Awakenings; Guilty by Suspicion; Backdraft; Cape Fear (1991); Mistress; Night and the City (1992); Mad Dog and Glory; This Boy's Life; A Bronx Tale (also dir); Mary Shelley's Frankenstein; One Hundred and One Nights; Casino; Heat (1995); The Fan (1996); Sleepers; Marvin's Room; Cop Land; Jackie Brown; Wag the Dog; Great Expectations (1998); Ronin; Analyze This; Flawless (1999); The Adventures of Rocky and Bullwinkle; Meet the Parents; Men of Honor; 15 Minutes; The Score; Showtime; City by the Sea; Analyze That; Godsend (2004); Shark Tale; Meet the Fockers; The Bridge of San Luis Rey (2004); Hide and Seek; The Good Shepherd (also dir); Arthur and the Invisibles; Stardust (2007); What Just Happened; Righteous Kill

Depardieu, Gérard: Going Places (1974); Stavisky . . . ; Vincent, François, Paul, and the Others; Maitresse; The Last Woman; 1900; The Left-Handed Woman; Get Out Your Handkerchiefs; Bye Bye Monkey; Buffet Froid; Loulou; Mon Oncle d'Amérique; The Last Metro; Je Vous Aime; Choice of Arms; The Woman Next Door; The Return of Martin Guerre; Danton; The Moon in the Gutter; Les Compères; Police; Fort Saganne; One Woman or Two; Ménage; Jean de Florette; I Hate Actors (cameo); Under Satan's Sun; Camille Claudel; Too Beautiful for You; I Want to Go Home; Cyrano de Bergerac (1990); Green Card; Uranus; Tous les Matins du Monde; 1492; Conquest of Paradise; Hélas Pour Moi; Germinal; My Father, the Hero; The Machine; Colonel Chabert; One Hundred and One Nights; A Pure Formality; Horseman on the Roof; Bogus; Unhook the Stars; The Secret Agent (1996); Hamlet (1996); The Man in the Iron Mask (1998);

The Bridge (1999; also codir); Vatel; 102 Dalmatians; The Closet; CQ; Between Strangers; City of Ghosts; Crime Sprees; Bon Voyage; Nathalie . . . ; Ruby & Quentin; Changing Times; Last Holiday (2006); Paris, je t'aime (also seq codir); La Vie en Rose; Babylon A.D.

Depp, Johnny: A Nightmare on Elm Street; Private Resort; Platoon; Edward Scissorhands; Cry-Baby; Freddy's Dead: The Final Nightmare (cameo); Benny & Joon; What's Eating Gilbert Grape; Arizona Dream; Ed Wood; Don Juan DeMarco; Nick of Time; Dead Man; Donnie Brasco; Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas; The Astronaut's Wife; The Ninth Gate; Sleepy Hollow; The Source (app); Before Night Falls; Chocolat; Blow; The Man Who Cried; From Hell; Lost in La Mancha; Pirates of the Caribbean: The Curse of the Black Pearl; Once Upon a Time in Mexico; Secret Window; Finding Neverland; The Libertine; Charlie and the Chocolate Factory; Tim Burton's Corpse Bride; Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Man's Chest; Pirates of the Caribbean: At World's End; Joe Strummer: The Future Is Unwritten (app); Sweeney Todd: The Demon Barber of Fleet Street (2007); Gonzo: The Life and Work of Dr. Hunter S. Thompson (narr)

Diaz, Cameron: The Mask (1994); The Last Supper; She's the One; Feeling Minnesota; Head Above Water; My Best Friend's Wedding; Keys to Tulsa; A Life Less Ordinary; Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas (cameo); There's Something About Mary; Very Bad Things; Being John Malkovich; Any Given Sunday; Charlie's Angels; The Invisible Circus; Things You Can Tell Just by Looking at Her; Shrek; Vanilla Sky; Slackers (cameo); The Sweetest Thing; Gangs of New York; Charlie's Angels: Full Throttle; Shrek 2; In Her Shoes; The Holiday (2006); Shrek the Third; What Happens in Vegas

DiCaprio, Leonardo: Poison Ivy (1992); What's Eating Gilbert Grape; This Boy's Life; Total Eclipse; The Quick and the Dead; One Hundred and One Nights; The Basketball Diaries; Romeo & Juliet; Marvin's Room; Titanic (1997); The Man in the Iron Mask (1998); Celebrity; The Beach; Catch Me If You Can; Gangs of New York; The Aviator (2004); The Departed; Blood Diamond; The 11th Hour (narr); Body of Lies; Revolutionary Road

Dietrich, Marlene: The Joyless Street (extra); The Blue Angel (1930); Morocco; Dishonored; Shanghai Express; Blonde Venus; Song of Songs; The Scarlet Empress; The Devil Is a Woman (1935); Desire; The Garden of Allah; Knight Without Armour; Angel (1937); Destry Rides Again; Seven Sinners; The Flame of New Orleans; Manpower; The Lady Is Willing; The Spoilers (1942); Pittsburgh; Follow the Boys (1944); Kismet (1944); Golden Earrings; A

Foreign Affair; Stage Fright; No Highway in the Sky; Rancho Notorious; Around the World in Eighty Days (1956; cameo); The Monte Carlo Story; Witness for the Prosecution; Touch of Evil (cameo); Judgment at Nuremberg; The Black Fox; Paris—When It Sizzles (cameo); Just a Gigolo; Marlene

Douglas, Kirk: The Strange Love of Martha Ivers; I Walk Alone; Out of the Past; Mourning Becomes Electra; My Dear Secretary; A Letter to Three Wives; Champion; Young Man With a Horn; The Glass Menagerie (1950); Along the Great Divide; The Big Carnival; Detective Story; The Big Sky; The Big Trees; The Bad and the Beautiful; The Story of Three Loves; The Juggler; Act of Love; 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea; Ulysses (1955); The Racers; Man Without a Star; The Indian Fighter; Lust for Life; Top Secret Affair; Gunfight at the O.K. Corral; Paths of Glory; The Vikings; Last Train From Gun Hill; The Devil's Disciple; Strangers When We Meet; Spartacus; The Last Sunset; Town Without Pity; Lonely Are the Brave; Two Weeks in Another Town; The Hook (1963); The List of Adrian Messenger; For Love or Money (1963); Seven Days in May; In Harm's Way; The Heroess of Telemark; Cast a Giant Shadow; Is Paris Burning?; The Way West; The War Wagon; A Lovely Way to Die; The Brotherhood; The Arrangement; There Was a Crooked Man; The Light at the Edge of the World; A Gunfight; To Catch a Spy; The Master Touch; Scalawag (also dir); Jacqueline Susann's Once Is Not Enough; Posse (1975; also dir); The Chosen (1978); The Fury; The Villain; Home Movies; Saturn 3; The Final Countdown; The Man from Snowy River; Eddie Macon's Run; Tough Guys; Oscar (cameo); Greedy; Diamonds (1999); It Runs in the Family

Douglas, Michael: Hail, Hero!; Adam at 6 A.M.; Summertime; Napoleon and Samantha; Coma; The China Syndrome; Running; It's My Turn; The Star Chamber; Romancing the Stone; A Chorus Line; The Jewel of the Nile; Fatal Attraction; Wall Street; Black Rain (1989); The War of the Roses; Shining Through; Basic Instinct; Falling Down; Disclosure; The American President; The Ghost and the Darkness; The Game; A Perfect Murder; One Day in September (narr); Wonder Boys; Traffic (2000); One Night at McCool's; Don't Say a Word; It Runs in the Family; The In-Laws (2003); The Sentinel (2006); You, Me and Dupree; King of California; Ghosts of Girlfriends Past

Downey, Robert Jr., or Downey Jr., Robert: Greaser's Palace (uncred); Up the Academy; Baby It's You; Firstborn; Tuff Turf; Weird Science; Back to School; America; The Pick-up Artist; Less Than Zero; Johnny Be Good; Rented Lips; 1969; True Believer; Chances Are; Air America;

Too Much Sun; Soapdish; Chaplin; Heart and Souls; The Last Party (app); Short Cuts; Hail Caesar; Natural Born Killers; Only You; Richard III (1995); Home for the Holidays; Restoration; One Night Stand; Two Girls and a Guy; Hugo Pool; The Gingerbread Man; U.S. Marshals; In Dreams; Friends and Lovers; Bowfinger; Black and White; Wonder Boys; The Singing Detective; Gothika; Eros; Game 6; Kiss Kiss, Bang Bang; Good Night, and Good Luck; A Guide to Recognizing Your Saints; The Shaggy Dog (2006); A Scanner Darkly; Fur: An Imaginary Portrait of Diane Arbus; Zodiac; Lucky You; Charlie Bartlett; Iron Man; The Incredible Hulk (cameo); Tropic Thunder; The Soloist

Dreyfuss, Richard: Valley of the Dolls; The Graduate (bit); The Young Runaways; Hello Down There; Dillinger (1973); American Graffiti; The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz; The Second Coming of Suzanne; Jaws; Inserts; Close Encounters of the Third Kind; The Goodbye Girl; The Big Fix; The Competition; Whose Life Is It Anyway?; The Buddy System; Down and Out in Beverly Hills; Stand By Me; Tin Men; Stakeout; Nuts; Moon Over Parador; Let It Ride; Always (1989); Postcards From the Edge; Once Around; Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead; What About Bob?; Lost in Yonkers; Another Stakeout; Silent Fall; The American President; Mr. Holland's Opus; James and the Giant Peach; Mad Dog Time; Night Falls on Manhattan; Krippendorf's Tribe; The Crew; Who Is Cletis Tout?; Silver City (2004); Poseidon; W. (2008)

Dunaway, Faye: Hurry Sundown; The Happening (1967); Bonnie and Clyde; The Thomas Crown Affair (1968); The Extraordinary Seaman; A Place for Lovers; The Arrangement; Little Big Man; Puzzle of a Downfall Child; Doc; The Deadly Trap; Oklahoma Crude; The Three Musketeers (1974); Chinatown; The Towering Inferno; The Four Musketeers; Three Days of the Condor; Voyage of the Damned; Network; Eyes of Laura Mars; The Champ (1979); The First Deadly Sin; Mommie Dearest; The Wicked Lady (1983); Ordeal by Innocence; Supergirl; Barfly; Burning Secret; The Gamble; Midnight Crossing; Wait Until Spring, Bandini; The Handmaid's Tale; The Two Jakes; Double Edge; Arizona Dream; The Temp; Don Juan DeMarco; Dunston Checks In; The Chamber; Drunks; Albino Alligator; Twilight of the Golds; The Thomas Crown Affair (1999); The Messenger: The Story of Joan of Arc; The Yards; Festival in Cannes; The Rules of Attraction

Duvall, Robert: To Kill a Mockingbird; Captain Newman, M.D.; The Chase (1966); Countdown; The Detective (1968); Bullitt; True Grit; The Rain People; MASH; The Revolutionary; THX 1138; Lawman; The Godfather; Tomorrow; The Great North-

field, Minnesota Raid; Joe Kidd; Badge 373; Lady Ice; The Conversation; The Outfit; The Godfather Part II; Breakout (1975); The Killer Elite; Network; The Seven-Percent Solution; The Eagle Has Landed; The Greatest; The Betsy; Invasion of the Body Snatchers (1978; cameo); Apocalypse Now; The Great Santini; True Confessions; The Pursuit of D. B. Cooper; Angelo, My Love (dir, scr); Tender Mercies; Hotel Colonial; The Stone Boy; The Natural; Belizaire the Cajun; The Lightship; Let's Get Harry; Colors; The Handmaid's Tale; Days of Thunder; A Show of Force; Convicts; Rambling Rose; The Plague; Newsies; Falling Down; Geronimo: An American Legend; Wrestling Ernest Hemingway; The Paper; The Stars Fell on Henrietta; Something to Talk About; The Scarlet Letter (1995); A Family Thing; Phenomenon; Sling Blade; The Apostle (also dir, scr); The Gingerbread Man; Deep Impact; A Civil Action; Gone in Sixty Seconds (2000); The 6th Day; A Shot at Glory; John Q; Gods and Generals; Assassination Tango (also dir, scr); Open Range; Secondhand Lions; Kicking & Screaming (2005); Thank You for Smoking; Lucky You; We Own the Night; Four Christmases

Eastwood, Clint: Revenge of the Creature; Lady Godiva; Tarantula; Away All Boats; Never Say Goodbye (1956); Star in the Dust; The First Traveling Saleslady; Escapade in Japan; Lafayette Escadrille; Fistful of Dollars; For a Few Dollars More; The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly; Hang 'Em High; Coogan's Bluff; Where Eagles Dare; Paint Your Wagon; Two Mules for Sister Sara; Kelly's Heroes; The Beguiled; Dirty Harry; Play Misty for Me (also dir); Joe Kidd; High Plains Drifter (also dir); Magnum Force; Breezy (dir); Thunderbolt and Lightfoot; The Eiger Sanction (also dir); The Outlaw—Josey Wales (also dir); The Enforcer (1976); The Gauntlet (also dir); Every Which Way But Loose; Escape From Alcatraz; Bronco Billy (also dir); Any Which Way You Can; Firefox (1982; also dir); Honkytonk Man (also dir); Sudden Impact (also dir); City Heat; Tightrope; Pale Rider (also dir); Heartbreak Ridge (also dir); Bird (dir); The Dead Pool; Pink Cadillac; White Hunter, Black Heart (also dir); The Rookie (1990; also dir); Unforgiven (1992; also dir); In the Line of Fire; A Perfect World (also dir); Casper (cameo); The Bridges of Madison County (also dir); Absolute Power (also dir); Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil (dir); True Crime (also dir); Space Cowboys (also dir); Blood Work (also dir); Mystic River (dir, mus); Million Dollar Baby (also dir, mus); Flags of Our Fathers (dir, mus); Letters From Iwo Jima (dir); Grace Is Gone (mus); Changing (2008; dir); Gran Torino (also dir)

Farrell, Colin: The War Zone; Ordinary Decent Criminal; Tigerland; American Outlaws; Hart's War; Minority Report; Phone Booth; The Recruit; Daredevil; Veronica Guerin; S.W.A.T.; Intermission; A Home at the End of the World; Alexander; The New World; Ask the Dust; Miami Vice; Cassandra's Dream; In Bruges; Pride and Glory

Faye, Alice: Poor Little Rich Girl; Sing, Baby, Sing; Stowaway; On the Avenue; In Old Chicago; Alexander's Ragtime Band; Hollywood Cavalcade; Rose of Washington Square; Lillian Russell; Little Old New York; Tin Pan Alley; That Night in Rio; The Great American Broadcast; Weekend in Havana; Hello Frisco, Hello; The Gang's All Here; Four Jills in a Jeep; Fallen Angel (1945); State Fair (1962); Won Ton Ton, the Dog Who Saved Hollywood; The Magic of Lassie

Ferrell, Will: Austin Powers: International Man of Mystery; A Night at the Roxbury (also coscr); The Suburbans; Austin Powers: The Spy Who Shagged Me; Dick; Superstar; Drowning Mona; The Ladies Man (2000); Jay and Silent Bob Strike Back; Zoolander; Boat Trip; Old School; Elf; Starsky & Hutch (cameo); Anchorman: The Legend of Ron Burgundy (also coscr); Melinda and Melinda; Kicking & Screaming (2005); Bewitched (2005); Wedding Crashers (cameo); The Producers (2005); Curious George; Winter Passing; Talladega Nights: The Ballad of Ricky Bobby (also coscr); Stranger Than Fiction; Blades of Glory; The Wendell Baker Story (cameo); Semi-Pro; Step Brothers

Field, Sally: The Way West; Stay Hungry; Smokey and the Bandit; Heroes; Hooper; The End; Norma Rae; Beyond the Poseidon Adventure; Smokey and the Bandit II; Back Roads; Absence of Malice; Kiss Me Goodbye; Places in the Heart; Murphy's Romance; Surrender (1987); Punchline; Steel Magnolias; Not Without My Daughter; Soapdish; Homeward Bound: The Incredible Journey; Mrs. Doubtfire; Forrest Gump; Eye for an Eye; Homeward Bound II: Lost in San Francisco; Where the Heart Is (2000); Beautiful (dir); Say It Isn't So; Legally Blonde 2: Red, White and Blonde; Two Weeks

Fields, W. C.: Sally of the Sawdust; Running Wild (1927); If I Had a Million; Million Dollar Legs; International House; Tillie and Gus; Alice in Wonderland (1933); Six of a Kind; You're Telling Me! (1934); The Old Fashioned Way (also sty, as Charles Bogle); It's a Gift (also sty, as Charles Bogle); Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch; David Copperfield (1935); Mississippi; The Man on the Flying Trapeze (also costly, as Charles Bogle); Poppy; The Big Broadcast of 1938; You Can't Cheat an Honest Man (also sty, as Charles Bogle); My Little Chickadee (also coscr); The Bank Dick (also scr, as Mahatma Kane Jeeves); Never Give a Sucker an Even Break (also sty, as Otis Cribblecoblis); Tales of Manhattan; Follow the Boys (1944); Song of the Open Road; Sensations of 1945

Finney, Albert: The Entertainer; Saturday Night and Sunday Morning; Tom Jones; The Victors; Night Must Fall (1964); Two for the Road; Charlie Bubbles (also dir); The Picasso Summer; Scrooge (1970); Gumshoe; Murder on the Orient Express; The Adventure of Sherlock Holmes' Smarter Brother (cameo); The Duellists; Loophole (1980); Looker; Wolfen; Shoot the Moon; Annie; The Dresser; Under the Volcano; Orphans; Miller's Crossing; The Playboys; Rich in Love; The Browning Version (1994); A Man of No Importance; The Run of the Country; Washington Square; Breakfast of Champions; Simpatico; Erin Brockovich; Traffic (2000); Big Fish; Ocean's Twelve (cameo); Tim Burton's Corpse Bride; A Good Year; Amazing Grace (2007); The Bourne Ultimatum; Before the Devil Knows You're Dead

Flynn, Errol: Captain Blood (1935); The Charge of the Light Brigade (1936); The Green Light; The Prince and the Pauper (1937); Another Dawn; The Perfect Specimen; The Adventures of Robin Hood; The Sisters; Four's a Crowd; The Dawn Patrol (1938); Dodge City; The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex; Virginia City; The Sea Hawk (1940); Santa Fe Trail; Footsteps in the Dark; Dive Bomber; They Died With Their Boots On; Desperate Journey; Gentleman Jim; Edge of Darkness; Thank Your Lucky Stars (cameo); Northern Pursuit; Uncertain Glory; Objective, Burma!; San Antonio; Never Say Goodbye (1946); Cry Wolf; Escape Me Never; Silver River; Adventures of Don Juan; It's a Great Feeling (cameo); That Forsyte Woman; Rocky Mountain; Kim; Mara Maru; Against All Flags; The Master of Ballantrae; Crossed Swords (1954); Let's Make Up; The Warriors (1955); Istanbul (1957); The Big Boogie; The Sun Also Rises; Too Much, Too Soon; The Roots of Heaven; Cuban Rebel Girls

Fonda, Henry: The Trail of the Lonesome Pine; That Certain Woman; You Only Live Once; Blockade; The Mad Miss Manton; Jezebel; Spawn of the North; Jesse James; The Story of Alexander Graham Bell; Let Us Live; Drums Along the Mohawk; Young Mr. Lincoln; The Grapes of Wrath; The Return of Frank James; Lillian Russell; Chad Hanna; The Lady Eve; You Belong to Me; The Male Animal; The Magnificent Dope; The Big Street; Tales of Manhattan; The Ox-Bow Incident; Immortal Sergeant; My Darling Clementine; The Fugitive (1947); Daisy Kenyon; The Long Night; Fort Apache; On Our Merry Way; Mister Roberts; War and Peace (1956); The Wrong Man; 12 Angry Men; The Tin Star; Stage Struck; Warlock (1959); The Man Who Understood Women; Advise & Consent; The Longest Day; How the West Was Won; Spencer's

Mountain; The Best Man; Fail-Safe; Sex and the Single Girl; The Rounders; In Harm's Way; Battle of the Bulge; The Dirty Game; A Big Hand for the Little Lady; Welcome to Hard Times; Firecreek; Madigan; Once Upon a Time in the West; Yours, Mine and Ours (1968); The Boston Strangler; Too Late the Hero; There Was a Crooked Man; The Cheyenne Social Club; Sometimes a Great Notion; Ash Wednesday (1973); Night Flight From Moscow; My Name Is Nobody; Midway; The Great Smokey Roadblock; Tentacles; Rollercoaster; The Great Battle; The Swarm; Fedora (cameo); Wanda Nevada (cameo); City on Fire; Meteor; On Golden Pond

Fonda, Jane: Tall Story; The Chapman Report; A Walk on the Wild Side; Period of Adjustment; In the Cool of the Day; Sunday in New York; Joy House; Circle of Love; Cat Ballou; The Chase (1966); The Game Is Over; Any Wednesday; Hurry Sundown; Barefoot in the Park; Spirits of the Dead; Barbarella; They Shoot Horses, Don't They?; Klute; F.T.A.; Steelyard Blues; A Doll's House (1973); The Blue Bird (1976); Fun With Dick and Jane (1977); Julia (1977); Coming Home; Comes a Horseman; California Suite; The China Syndrome; The Electric Horseman; 9 to 5; No Nukes; On Golden Pond; Rollover; Agnes of God; The Morning After; Old Gringo; Stanley & Iris; Monster-in-Law; Georgia Rule

Fontaine, Joan: No More Ladies (as Joan Burfield); Quality Street; A Damsel in Distress; Gunga Din; The Women (1939); Rebecca; Suspicion; This Above All; The Constant Nymph; Jane Eyre (1944); Frenchman's Creek; The Affairs of Susan; Letter From an Unknown Woman; Kiss the Blood Off My Hands; The Emperor Waltz; You Gotta Stay Happy; Born to Be Bad; September Affair; Darling, How Could You!; Othello (1952; cameo); Something to Live For; Ivanhoe; Decameron Nights; The Bigamist; Casanova's Big Night; Serenade; Beyond a Reasonable Doubt; Island in the Sun; Until They Sail; A Certain Smile; Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea; Tender Is the Night; The Devil's Own (1966)

Ford, Glenn: Texas; So Ends Our Night; Destroyer; Gilda; A Stolen Life; Framed (1947); The Loves of Carmen; The Return of October; The Man From Colorado; The Undercover Man; The Flying Missile; The Redhead and the Cowboy; Follow the Sun; Affair in Trinidad; The Man From the Alamo; The Big Heat; Appointment in Honduras; Human Desire; The Americano; The Violent Men; Interrupted Melody; Blackboard Jungle; Trial; Ransom (1956); Jubal; The Fastest Gun Alive; The Teahouse of the August Moon; 3:10 to Yuma (1957); The Sheepman; Cowboy; Imitation General; It Started With a Kiss; The Gazebo; Cimarron (1960); Cry for Happy; Pocketful of Miracles; Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse (1962); Experiment in Terror; The Courtship of Eddie's Father; Love Is a Ball; Advance to the Rear; Fate Is the Hunter; Dear Heart; The Rounders; The Money Trap; Is Paris Burning?; Rage (1966); A Time for Killing; The Last Challenge; Day of the Evil Gun; Heaven With a Gun; Smith!; Santee; Midway; Superman; The Visitor (1979); Virus (1980); Happy Birthday to Me; Border Shootout

Ford, Harrison: Dead Heat on a Merry-Go-Round; Luv; A Time for Killing; Journey to Shiloh; Zabriskie Point; Getting Straight; American Graffiti; The Conversation; Star Wars; Heroes; Force 10 From Navarone; Hanover Street; Apocalypse Now (cameo); More American Graffiti (cameo); The Frisco Kid; The Empire Strikes Back; Raiders of the Lost Ark; Blade Runner; Return of the Jedi; Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom; Witness; The Mosquito Coast; Frantic (1988); Working Girl; Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade; Presumed Innocent; Regarding Henry; Patriot Games; The Fugitive (1993); Jimmy Hollywood (cameo); Clear and Present Danger; One Hundred and One Nights; Sabrina (1995); The Devil's Own (1997); Air Force One; Six Days Seven Nights; Random Hearts; What Lies Beneath; K-19 The Widomaker; Hollywood Homicide; Firewall; Indiana Jones and the Kingdom of the Crystal Skull; Crossing Over

Foster, Jodie: Napoleon and Samantha; Kansas City Bomber; Tom Sawyer (1973); One Little Indian; Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore; Echoes of a Summer; Taxi Driver; Buggy Malone; The Little Girl Who Lives Down the Lane; Freaky Friday (1977); Candleshoe; Carny; Foxes; O'Hara's Wife; The Hotel New Hampshire; Mesmerized; Siesta; Five Corners; Stealing Home; The Accused (1988); Backtrack (1989); The Silence of the Lambs; Little Man Tate (also dir); Shadows and Fog; Sommersby; Maverick; Nell; Home for the Holidays (dir); Contact; Anna and the King; Panic Room; The Dangerous Lives of Altar Boys; A Very Long Engagement; Flightplan; Inside Man; The Brave One (2007); Nim's Island

Foxx, Jamie: Toys; The Truth About Cats & Dogs; The Great White Hype; Booty Call; The Players Club; Held Up; Any Given Sunday; Bait; Ali; Breakin' All the Rules; Collateral; Ray; Stealth; Jarhead; Miami Vice; Dreamgirls; The Kingdom; The Soloist

Freeman, Morgan: Who Says I Can't Ride a Rainbow?; Blade (1973); Brubaker; Eyewitness (1981); Death of a Prophet; Harry and Son; Teachers; Marie; That Was Then, This Is Now; Resting Place; Street Smart; Clean and Sober; Lean on Me; Driving Miss Daisy; Glory (1989); Johnny Handsome; Bonfire of the Vanities; Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves; The Power of One; Unforgiven; Bopha! (dir); The Shawshank Redemption; Outbreak;

Se7en; Moll Flanders; Chain Reaction (1996); Kiss the Girls; The Long Way Home (narr); Amistad; Hard Rain; Deep Impact; Nurse Betty; Under Suspicion (2000); Along Came a Spider; High Crimes; The Sum of All Fears; Levity; Dreamcatcher; Bruce Almighty; The Big Bounce (2004); Million Dollar Baby; Unleashed; Batman Begins; March of the Penguins (narr); War of the Worlds (2005; narr); An Unfinished Life; Edison Force; Lucky Number Slevin; 10 Items or Less; Feast of Love; Evan Almighty; The Contract (2006); Gone Baby Gone; The Bucket List; Wanted; The Dark Knight

Gable, Clark: The Easiest Way; Dance, Fools, Dance; The Finger Points; Laughing Sinners; The Secret Six; Night Nurse; A Free Soul; Susan Lenox: Her Fall and Rise; Possessed (1931); Hell Divers (1932); Strange Interlude; Red Dust (1932); No Man of Her Own (1932); Hold Your Man; Dancing Lady; Men in White; It Happened One Night; Manhattan Melodrama; Chained; For-saking All Others; After Office Hours; The Call of the Wild (1935); China Seas; Mutiny on the Bounty (1935); Wife vs. Secretary; San Francisco; Cain and Mabel; Love on the Run (1936); Parnell; Saratoga; Too Hot to Handle (1938); Test Pilot; Idiot's Delight; Gone With the Wind; Strange Cargo; Boom Town; Comrade X; They Met in Bombay; Honky Tonk; Somewhere I'll Find You; Adventure; The Hucksters; Command Decision; Homecoming; Any Number Can Play; Key to the City; To Please a Lady; Across the Wide Missouri; Callaway Went Thataway (cameo); Lone Star (1952); Never Let Me Go; Mogambo; Betrayed (1954); Soldier of Fortune; The Tall Men; The King and Four Queens; Band of Angels; Teacher's Pet (1958); Run Silent, Run Deep; But Not for Me; It Started in Naples; The Misfits

Garbo, Greta: The Atonement of Gosta Berling; Torrent; The Temptress; Flesh and the Devil; Love; The Mysterious Lady; The Kiss (1929); Wild Orchids; The Single Standard; Anna Christie; Romance; Susan Lenox: Her Fall and Rise; Inspiration; Mata Hari (1932); Grand Hotel; As You Desire Me; Queen Christina; The Painted Veil (1934); Anna Karenina (1935); Camille; Conquest; Ni-notchka; Two-Faced Woman

Gardner, Ava: Shadow of the Thin Man; H. M. Pulham, Esq.; Babes on Broadway; Kid Glove Killer; Reunion in France; Pilot #5; Lost Angel; Hitler's Madman; Music for Millions; The Killers (1946); The Hucksters; Singapore; One Touch of Venus; The Bribe; East Side, West Side; The Great Sinner; My Forbidden Past; Pandora and the Flying Dutchman; Show Boat (1951); Lone Star (1952); The Snows of Kilimanjaro; The Band Wagon (cameo); Mogambo; Knights of the Round Table; The Barefoot Contessa; Bhowani Junction; The Little Hut; The Sun Also Rises; The Naked Maja; On the Beach;

The Angel Wore Red; 55 Days at Peking; Seven Days in May; The Night of the Iguana; The Bible; Mayerling (1968); The Ballad of Tam Lin; The Life and Times of Judge Roy Bean; Earthquake; Permission to Kill; The Blue Bird (1976); The Cassandra Crossing; The Sentinel (1977); City on Fire; The Kidnapping of the President; Priest of Love

Garfield, John: Four Daughters; Juarez; They Made Me a Criminal; Daughters Courageous; Dust Be My Destiny; Saturday's Children; Castle on the Hudson; The Sea Wolf (1941); Out of the Fog; Tortilla Flat; Air Force; Destination Tokyo; Thank You Lucky Stars; The Fallen Sparrow; Between Two Worlds; Hollywood Canteen; Pride of the Marines; The Postman Always Rings Twice (1946); Nobody Lives Forever; Humoresque; Daisy Kenyon (cameo); Body and Soul (1947); Gentleman's Agreement; Force of Evil; We Were Strangers; Under My Skin; The Breaking Point; He Ran All the Way

Garland, Judy: Pigskin Parade; Thoroughbreds Don't Cry; Broadway Melody of 1938; Everybody Sing; Listen, Darling; Love Finds Andy Hardy; Babes in Arms; The Wizard of Oz; Little Nellie Kelly; Strike Up the Band; Babes on Broadway; Life Begins for Andy Hardy; Ziegfeld Girl; For Me and My Gal; Girl Crazy; Presenting Lily Mars; Thousands Cheer; Meet Me in St. Louis; The Clock; The Harvey Girls; Till the Clouds Roll By; Ziegfeld Follies; Easter Parade; The Pirate; Words and Music; In the Good Old Summertime; Summer Stock; A Star Is Born (1954); Pepe (cameo); Judgment at Nuremberg; Gay Purr-ee; A Child Is Waiting; I Could Go on Singing

Garner, James: The Girl He Left Behind; Toward the Unknown; Sayonara; Darby's Rangers; Cash McCall; Up Periscope; The Children's Hour; Boys' Night Out; The Great Escape; Move Over, Darling; The Thrill of It All; The Wheeler Dealers; 36 Hours; The Americanization of Emily; The Art of Love; Mister Buddwing; Duel at Diablo; Grand Prix; A Man Could Get Killed; Hour of the Gun; How Sweet It Is!; The Pink Jungle; Marlowe; Support Your Local Sheriff!; A Man Called Sledge; Skin Game; Support Your Local Gunfighter; They Only Kill Their Masters; One Little Indian; The Castaway Cowboy; H.E.A.L.T.H.; The Fan (1981); Victor/Victoria; Tank; Murphy's Romance; Sunset; The Distinguished Gentleman; Fire in the Sky; Maverick; My Fellow Americans; Twilight (1998); Space Cowboys; Atlantis: The Lost Empire; Divine Secrets of the Ya-Ya Sisterhood; The Notebook; The Ultimate Gift; Battle for Terra

Garson, Greer: Goodbye, Mr. Chips (1939); Pride and Prejudice (1940); Blossoms in the Dust; Mrs. Miniver; Random Harvest; Madame Curie; Mrs. Parkington; Adventure; The Valley of Decision; Desire

Me; Julia Misbehaves; That Forsyte Woman; The Miniver Story; Julius Caesar (1953); Scandal at Scourie; Strange Lady in Town; Pepe (cameo); Sunrise at Campobello; The Singing Nun; The Happiest Millionaire

Gere, Richard: Report to the Commissioner; Baby Blue Marine; Looking for Mr. Goodbar; Bloodbrothers; Days of Heaven; Yanks; American Gigolo; An Officer and a Gentleman; Beyond the Limit; Breathless (1983); The Cotton Club; King David; No Mercy; Power; Miles From Home; Internal Affairs; Pretty Woman; Monster in a Box; Rhapsody in August; Final Analysis; Sommersby; Mr. Jones; Intersection; First Knight; Primal Fear; Red Corner; The Jackal; Runaway Bride; Autumn in New York; Dr. T & the Women; The Mothman Prophecies; Unfaithful; Chicago; Shall We Dance (2004); Bee Season; The Hoax; The Hunting Party (2007); I'm Not There; Nights in Rodanthe

Giamatti, Paul: Past Midnight; Singles; Mighty Aphrodite; Sabrina (1995); Before and After (uncred); Breathing Room; Donnie Brasco; Private Parts; My Best Friend's Wedding; Deconstructing Harry; The Break; The Truman Show; Doctor Dolittle (1998; uncred); Saving Private Ryan; The Negotiator; Safe Men; Cradle Will Rock; Man on the Moon; Big Momma's House; Duets; Storytelling; Planet of the Apes (2001); Big Fat Liar; American Splendor; Confidence (2003); Paycheck; Sideways; Robots; Cinderella Man; Lady in the Water; The Illusionist; The Ant Bully; The Hawk Is Dying; Shoot 'Em Up; The Nanny Diaries; Fred Claus; Duplicity

Gibson, Mel: Summer City; Tim; Mad Max; Chain Reaction (1980); Attack Force Z; Gallipoli; The Road Warrior; The Year of Living Dangerously; The Bounty; Mrs. Soffel; The River (1984); Mad Max Beyond Thunderdome; Lethal Weapon; Tequila Sunrise; Lethal Weapon 2; Bird on a Wire; Air America; Hamlet (1990); Lethal Weapon 3; Forever Young; The Man Without a Face (also dir); Maverick; Casper (cameo); Braveheart (also dir); Pocahontas; Ransom (1996); Fathers' Day (cameo); Conspiracy Theory; Fairy Tale: A True Story (cameo); Lethal Weapon 4; Payback; Chicken Run; The Patriot; What Women Want; The Million Dollar Hotel; We Were Soldiers; Signs; The Singing Detective; The Passion of the Christ (dir, coscr); Paparazzi (cameo); Apocalypto (dir, coscr)

Glover, Danny: Escape From Alcatraz; Chu Chu and the Philly Flash; Iceman; Places in the Heart; The Color Purple; Silverado; Witness; Lethal Weapon; Bat*21; Lethal Weapon 2; Predator 2; To Sleep With Anger; Flight of the Intruder; A Rage in Harlem; Pure Luck; Grand Canyon; Lethal Weapon 3; Bopha!; The Saint of Fort Washington; Maverick (cameo); Angels in the Outfield (1994); Operation Dumbo Drop; Switchback; Wild America (cameo); Gone Fishin'; The Rainmaker (1997; unbilled); Lethal Weapon 4; Antz; Beloved; The Prince of Egypt; Boesman & Lena; The Royal Tenenbaums; Saw; The Cookout; The Shaggy Dog (2006); Manderlay; Barnyard; Dreamgirls; Shooter; Honeydripper; Be Kind Rewind; Blindness; Saw V; Battle for Terra

Goldberg, Whoopi: The Color Purple; Jumpin' Jack Flash; Burglar; Fatal Beauty; The Telephone; Clara's Heart; Beverly Hills Brats (cameo); Ghost; Homer and Eddie; The Long Walk Home; House Party 2 (cameo); Soapdish; The Player; Sister Act; Sarafina!; Made in America; National Lampoon's Loaded Weapon I (cameo); Sister Act 2: Back in the Habit; Naked in New York; The Lion King; The Little Rascals (cameo); Corrina, Corrina; Star Trek: Generations; The Pagemaster; Boys on the Side; Moonlight and Valentino; The Celluloid Closet (app); Eddie; Theodore Rex; Bordello of Blood (cameo); Bogus; The Associate; Ghosts of Mississippi; In & Out (cameo); An Alan Smithee Film: Burn Hollywood Burn; How Stella Got Her Groove Back; Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer: The Movie; The Deep End of the Ocean; Girl, Interrupted; Get Bruce! (app); The Adventures of Rocky and Bullwinkle (cameo); MonkeyBone; Kingdom Come; Rat Race (2001); Star Trek: Nemesis (cameo); Superbabies: Baby Geniuses 2; Racing Stripes; Jiminy Glick in La La Wood (cameo); The Aristocrats (app); Doogal; Everyone's Hero

Grable, Betty: The Greeks Had a Word for Them (bit); Hold 'Em Jail; The Kid From Spain; Cavalcade; The Gay Divorcee; Hips, Hips, Hooray! (bit); The Nitwits; Pigskin Parade; Follow the Fleet; College Swing; Give Me a Sailor; Down Argentine Way; Tin Pan Alley; A Yank in the RAF; I Wake Up Screaming; Moon Over Miami; Footlight Serenade; Song of the Islands; Springtime in the Rockies; Coney Island; Sweet Rosie O'Grady; Four Jills in a Jeep; Pin Up Girl; Diamond Horseshoe; The Dolly Sisters; The Shocking Miss Pilgrim; Mother Wore Tights; That Lady in Ermine; The Beautiful Blonde From Bashful Bend; Wabash Avenue; My Blue Heaven (1950); Call Me Mister; Meet Me After the Show; The Farmer Takes a Wife (1953); How to Marry a Millionaire; Three for the Show; How to Be Very, Very Popular

Grant, Cary: Blonde Venus; She Done Him Wrong; The Eagle and the Hawk (1933); I'm No Angel; Alice in Wonderland (1933); Sylvia Scarlett; Big Brown Eyes; Suzy; Topper; The Toast of New York; The Awful Truth; Bringing Up Baby; Holiday (1938); Gunga Din; Only Angels Have Wings; In Name Only; His Girl Friday; My Favorite Wife; The Howards of Virginia;

The Philadelphia Story; Penny Serenade; Suspicion; The Talk of the Town; Once Upon a Honeymoon; Mr. Lucky; Destination Tokyo; Once Upon a Time; None But the Lonely Heart; Arsenic and Old Lace; Without Reservations (cameo); Night and Day; Notorious (1946); The Bachelor and the Bobby-Soxer; The Bishop's Wife; Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House; Every Girl Should Be Married; I Was a Male War Bride; Crisis; People Will Talk (1951); Room for One More; Monkey Business (1952); Dream Wife; To Catch a Thief; The Pride and the Passion; An Affair to Remember; Kiss Them for Me; Indiscreet; Houseboat; North by Northwest; Operation Petticoat; The Grass Is Greener; That Touch of Mink; Charade; Father Goose; Walk, Don't Run; George Stevens: A Filmmaker's Journey (app)

Grant, Hugh: Maurice; White Mischief; The Lair of the White Worm; The Dawning; Crossing the Line; Impromptu; Bitter Moon; The Remains of the Day; Night Train to Venice; Sirens; Four Weddings and a Funeral; An Awfully Big Adventure; The Englishman Who Went Up a Hill but Came Down a Mountain; Sense and Sensibility; Nine Months; Restoration; Extreme Measures; Notting Hill; Mickey Blue Eyes; Small Time Crooks; Bridget Jones's Diary; About a Boy; Two Weeks Notice; Love Actually; Bridget Jones: The Edge of Reason; American Dreamz; Music and Lyrics

Guinness, Alec: Great Expectations (1946); Oliver Twist (1948); Kind Hearts and Coronets; Last Holiday (1950); The Mudlark; The Lavender Hill Mob; The Man in the White Suit; The Promoter; The Captain's Paradise; The Detective (1954); The Prisoner; The Ladykillers (1955); The Swan; All at Sea; The Bridge on the River Kwai; The Horse's Mouth (also adapt); The Scapigoat; Our Man in Havana; Tunes of Glory; A Majority of One; Damn the Defiant!; Lawrence of Arabia; The Fall of the Roman Empire; Situation Hopeless—But Not Serious; Doctor Zhivago; Hotel Paradiso; The Quiller Memorandum; The Comedians; Cromwell; Scrooge (1970); Brother Sun, Sister Moon; Hitler: The Last Ten Days; Murder by Death; Star Wars; The Empire Strikes Back; Raise the Titanic!; Lovesick; Return of the Jedi; A Passage to India; Monsignor Quixote; Little Dorrit; A Handful of Dust; Kafka; Mute Witness (cameo)

Gyllenhaal, Maggie: Waterland; A Dangerous Woman; Homegrown; Cecil B. Demented; Donnie Darko; Riding in Cars with Boys; Secretary (2002); 40 Days and 40 Nights; Adaptation.; Confessions of a Dangerous Mind; Casa de los Babys; Mona Lisa Smile; Criminal (2004); Happy Endings; The Great New Wonderful; Paris, je t'aime; Monster House; Trust the Man; SherryBaby; World Trade Center; Stranger Than Fiction; The Dark Knight

Hackman, Gene: Lilith; Hawaii; Banning; First To Fight; Bonnie and Clyde; The Split; Riot; Downhill Racer; The Gypsy Moths; Marooned; I Never Sang for My Father; Doctors' Wives; The Hunting Party; The French Connection; Cisco Pike; Prime Cut; The Poseidon Adventure; Scarecrow; The Conversation; Zandy's Bride; Young Frankenstein (cameo); French Connection II; Bite the Bullet; Night Moves; Lucky Lady; The Domino Principle; March or Die; A Bridge Too Far; Superman; Superman II; All Night Long (1981); Reds; Eureka; Under Fire (1983); Uncommon Valor; Two of a Kind (1983); Misunderstood; Twice in a Lifetime; Target (1985); Power; Hoosiers; No Way Out (1987); Superman IV: The Quest for Peace; Another Woman; Bat*21; Full Moon in Blue Water; Split Decisions; Mississippi Burning; The Package; Loose Cannons; Narrow Margin; Postcards From the Edge; Class Action; Company Business; Unforgiven; The Firm; Geronimo: An American Legend; Wyatt Earp; The Quick and the Dead; Crimson Tide; Get Shorty; The Birdcage; The Chamber; Extreme Measures; Absolute Power; Twilight; Antz; Enemy of the State; Under Suspicion (2000); The Replacements; The Mexican (cameo); Heartbreakers (2001); Heist; The Royal Tenenbaums; Behind Enemy Lines (2001); Runaway Jury; Welcome to Mooseport

Hanks, Tom: He Knows You're Alone; Bachelor Party; Splash; The Man With One Red Shoe; Volunteers; Every Time We Say Goodbye; The Money Pit; Nothing in Common; Dragnet (1987); Big; Punchline; The 'burbs; Turner and Hooch; Joe Versus the Volcano; Bonfire of the Vanities; Radio Flyer; A League of Their Own; Sleepless in Seattle; Philadelphia; Forrest Gump; Apollo 13; The Celluloid Closet (app); Toy Story; that thing you do! (also dir, scr); Saving Private Ryan; You've Got Mail; Toy Story 2; The Green Mile; Cast Away (2000); Road to Perdition; Catch Me If You Can; The Ladykillers (2004); The Terminal; The Polar Express; The Da Vinci Code; Cars (voice cameo); The Simpsons Movie (voice cameo); Charlie Wilson's War; The Great Buck Howard; Angels & Demons

Harlow, Jean: The Love Parade (bit); Hell's Angels; City Lights (bit); The Public Enemy; Platinum Blonde; The Secret Six; The Beast of the City; Red-Headed Woman; Red Dust (1932); Hold Your Man; Dinner at Eight; Bombshell; The Girl from Missouri; Reckless (1935); China Seas; Riffraff (1935); Wife vs. Secretary; Suzy; Libeled Lady; Personal Property; Saratoga

Harris, Ed: Coma (bit); Borderline (1980); Knightriders; Creepshow; The Right Stuff; Under Fire; Swing Shift; Places in the Heart; A Flash of Green; Alamo Bay; Code Name: Emerald; Sweet Dreams; Walker; Jackknife; The Abyss; State of Grace; Paris

Trout; Glengarry Glen Ross; Running Mates; The Firm; Needful Things; China Moon; Milk Money; Just Cause; Apollo 13; Nixon; Eye for an Eye; The Rock; Absolute Power; The Truman Show; Stepmom; The Third Miracle; Waking the Dead; The Prime Gig; Pollock (also dir); Enemy at the Gates; Buffalo Soldiers; A Beautiful Mind; The Hours; Masked and Anonymous (cameo); The Human Stain; Radio; A History of Violence; Winter Passing; Copying Beethoven; Gone Baby Gone; Cleaner; National Treasure: Book of Secrets; Appaloosa (2008; also dir, coadapt)

Hathaway, Anne: The Princess Diaries; The Other Side of Heaven; Nicholas Nickleby (2002); Ella Enchanted; The Princess Diaries 2: Royal Engagement; Hoodwinked; Havoc; Brokeback Mountain; The Devil Wears Prada; Becoming Jane; Get Smart; Rachel Getting Married; Passengers; Bride Wars

Hawn, Goldie: The One and Only, Genuine, Original Family Band; Cactus Flower; There's a Girl in My Soup; $ (Dollars); Butterflies Are Free; The Sugarland Express; The Girl From Petrovka; Shampoo; The Duchess and the Dirtwater Fox; Foul Play; Lovers and Liars; Private Benjamin; Seems Like Old Times; Best Friends; Swing Shift; Protocol; Wildcats; Overboard; Bird on a Wire; Deceived; CrissCross; HouseSitter; Death Becomes Her; The First Wives Club; Everyone Says I Love You; The Out-of-Towners (1999); Town & Country; The Banger Sisters

Hayek, Salma: Mi Vida Loca (My Crazy Life); Midaq Alley; Desperado; Four Rooms; Fair Game; From Dusk Till Dawn; Fled; Fools Rush In; Breaking Up; 54; The Velocity of Gary; The Faculty; Dogma; Wild Wild West; Timecode; Chain of Fools; Traffic (2000; uncred); Hotel (2002); Frida (2002); Spy Kids 3: Game Over; Once Upon a Time in Mexico; After the Sunset; Bandidas; Ask the Dust; Lonely Hearts (2007); Across the Universe (cameo)

Hayward, Susan: Hollywood Hotel (bit); The Sisters (bit); The Amazing Doctor Clitterhouse (bit); Beau Geste (1939); Reap the Wild Wind; The Forest Rangers; I Married a Witch; Star Spangled Rhythm; Jack London; The Fighting Seabees; Deadline at Dawn; Canyon Passage; Smash-up, the Story of a Woman; They Won't Believe Me; The Saxon Charm; Tulsa; House of Strangers; My Foolish Heart; I'd Climb the Highest Mountain; Rawhide; I Can Get It for You Wholesale; David and Bathsheba; With a Song in My Heart; The Snows of Kilimanjaro; The Lusty Men; The President's Lady; White Witch Doctor; Demetrius and the Gladiators; Garden of Evil; Soldier of Fortune; I'll Cry Tomorrow; The Conqueror; Top Secret Affair; I Want to Live!; Woman Obsessed; Thunder in the Sun; The Marriage-Go-Round; Ada; Back Street (1961); I Thank a Fool; The Stolen Hours; Where Love Has Gone; The Honey Pot; Valley of the Dolls; The Revengers

Hayworth, Rita: Dante's Inferno; Only Angels Have Wings; Music in My Heart; Susan and God; Angels Over Broadway; The Strawberry Blonde; Blood and Sand (1941); You'll Never Get Rich; My Gal Sal; Tales of Manhattan; You Were Never Lovelier; Cover Girl; Tonight and Every Night; Gilda; Down to Earth (1947); The Lady From Shanghai; The Loves of Carmen; Affair in Trinidad; Salome; Miss Sadie Thompson; Fire Down Below (1957); Pal Joey; Separate Tables; They Came to Cordura; The Story on Page One; The Happy Thieves; Circus World; The Money Trap; The Poppy Is Also a Flower; The Rover; The Road to Salina; The Wrath of God

Hepburn, Audrey: Laughter in Paradise (bit); The Lavender Hill Mob; Roman Holiday; Sabrina (1954); War and Peace (1956); Funny Face; Love in the Afternoon; Green Mansions; The Nun's Story; The Unforgiven (1960); Breakfast at Tiffany's; The Children's Hour; Charade; Paris—When It Sizzles; My Fair Lady; How to Steal a Million; Two for the Road; Wait Until Dark; Robin and Marian; Bloodline; They All Laughed; Always (1989)

Hepburn, Katharine: A Bill of Divorcement (1932); Christopher Strong; Morning Glory; Little Women (1933); Spitfire (1934); The Little Minister; Break of Hearts; Alice Adams; Sylvia Scarlett; Mary of Scotland; A Woman Rebels; Quality Street; Stage Door; Bringing Up Baby; Holiday (1938); The Philadelphia Story; Woman of the Year; Keeper of the Flame; Stage Door Canteen; Dragon Seed; Without Love; Undercurrent; The Sea of Grass; Song of Love; State of the Union; Adam's Rib; The African Queen; Pat and Mike; Summertime; The Rainmaker (1956); The Iron Petticoat; Desk Set; Suddenly, Last Summer; Long Day's Journey Into Night; Guess Who's Coming to Dinner?; The Lion in Winter; The Madwoman of Chaillot; The Trojan Women; A Delicate Balance; Rooster Cogburn; Olly, Olly, Oxen Free; On Golden Pond; George Stevens: A Filmmaker's Journey (app); Grace Quigley; Love Affair (1994)

Heston, Charlton: Dark City (1950); The Greatest Show on Earth; The Savage; Ruby Gentry; The President's Lady; Pony Express; Arrowhead; Bad for Each Other; The Naked Jungle; The Far Horizons; The Private War of Major Benson; Lucy Gallant; The Ten Commandments (1956); Three Violent People; Touch of Evil; The Big Country; The Buccaneer (1958); The Wreck of the Mary Deare; Ben Hur (1959); El Cid; The Pigeon That Took Rome; Diamond Head; 55 Days at Peking; The Greatest Story Ever Told; Major Dundee; The Agony and the Ecstasy; The War Lord; Khartoum; Counterpoint; Planet of the Apes (1968); Will Penny; Number One; Julius Caesar (1970); Beneath the Planet of the Apes; King; A Filmed Record . . . Montgomery to Memphis (narr); The Hawaiians; The Omega Man; Call of the Wild (1972); Skyjacked; Antony and Cleopatra (also dir); Soylent Green; Airport 1975; The Three Musketeers (1974); Earthquake; The Four Musketeers; The Last Hard Men; Midway; Two Minute Warning; Crossed Swords (1978); Gray Lady Down; The Mountain Men; The Awakening; Mother Lode (also dir); Almost an Angel (cameo); Solar Crisis; Wayne's World 2 (cameo); Tombstone; True Lies (cameo); In the Mouth of Madness; Alaska; Hamlet (1996); Hercules (1997; narr); Armageddon (narr); Any Given Sunday; Town & Country; Cats & Dogs; Planet of the Apes (2001; uncred); Bowling for Columbine (app)

Hoffman, Dustin: The Tiger Makes Out; The Graduate; Madigan's Million; Midnight Cowboy; John and Mary; Little Big Man; The Point; Who Is Harry Kellerman and Why Is He Saying Those Terrible Things About Me?; Straw Dogs; Alfredo, Alfredo; Papillon; Lenny; All the President's Men; Marathon Man; Straight Time; Agatha; Kramer vs. Kramer; Tootsie; Ishtar; Rain Man; Family Business (1989); Common Threads: Stories From the Quilt (narr); Dick Tracy; Billy Bathgate; Hook (1991); Hero (1992); Outbreak; Sleepers; American Buffalo; Mad City; Wag the Dog; Sphere; The Messenger: The Story of Joan of Arc; The Kid Stays in the Picture (app); Moonlight Mile; Confidence; Runaway Jury; i ♥ Huckabees; Finding Neverland; Lemony Snicket's A Series of Unfortunate Events (cameo); Meet the Fockers; Racing Stripes; The Lost City; Perfume: The Story of a Murderer; Stranger Than Fiction; The Holiday (2006; cameo); Mr. Magorium's Wonder Emporium; Kung Fu Panda; The Tale of Despereaux; Last Chance Harvey

Hoffman, Philip Seymour: My New Gun; Leap of Faith; Scent of a Woman; Joey Breaker; My Boyfriend's Back; Money for Nothing; The Getaway (1994); When a Man Loves a Woman; Nobody's Fool; Twister; Hard Eight; Boogie Nights; Next Stop Wonderland; The Big Lebowski; Happiness; Patch Adams; Flawless (1999); Magnolia; The Talented Mr. Ripley; State and Main; Almost Famous; Love Liza; Punch-Drunk Love; Red Dragon; 25th Hour (2002); Owning Mahowny; Cold Mountain; Along Came Polly; Capote; Mission: Impossible III; Strangers With Candy (cameo); The Savages (2007); Before the Devil Knows You're Dead; Charlie Wilson's War; Synecdoche, New York; Doubt

Holden, William: Golden Boy; Invisible Stripes; Our Town; Arizona; I Wanted Wings; Texas; The Fleet's In; Variety Girl

(cameo); Blaze of Noon; Apartment for Peggy; The Man From Colorado; Rachel and the Stranger; The Dark Past; Miss Grant Takes Richmond; Streets of Laredo; Born Yesterday (1950); Sunset Blvd.; Union Station; Submarine Command; Force of Arms; Boots Malone; The Turning Point (1952); The Moon Is Blue; Stalag 17; Forever Female; Escape From Fort Bravo; Executive Suite; The Bridges at Toko-Ri; Sabrina (1954); The Country Girl; Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing; Picnic; Toward the Unknown; The Proud and Profane; The Bridge on the River Kwai; The Key; The Horse Soldiers; The World of Suzie Wong; The Counterfeit Traitor; Satan Never Sleeps; The Lion; Paris—When It Sizzles; The 7th Dawn; Alvarez Kelly; Casino Royale (1967; cameo); The Devil's Brigade; The Christmas Tree; The Wild Bunch; Wild Rovers; The Revengers; Breezy; The Towering Inferno; Open Season (1974); Network; Damien—Omen II; Fedora; Escape to Athena; Ashanti; When Time Ran Out . . .; The Earthling; S.O.B.

Hope, Bob: The Big Broadcast of 1938; Give Me a Sailor; Never Say Die; Some Like It Hot (1939); The Cat and the Canary (1939); Road to Singapore; The Ghost Breakers; Road to Zanzibar; Caught in the Draft; Louisiana Purchase; My Favorite Blonde; Road to Morocco; Star Spangled Rhythm; They Got Me Covered; Let's Face It; The Princess and the Pirate; Road to Utopia; Monsieur Beaucaire; My Favorite Brunette; Where There's a Life; Variety Girl (cameo); Road to Rio; The Paleface; Sorrowful Jones; The Great Lover; Fancy Pants; The Lemon Drop Kid; My Favorite Spy (1951); The Greatest Show on Earth (cameo); Son of Paleface; Road to Bali; Off Limits (1953); Scared Stiff (1953; cameo); Here Come the Girls; Casanova's Big Night; The Seven Little Foys; That Certain Feeling; The Iron Petticoat; Beau James; Paris Holiday; The Five Pennies (cameo); Alias Jesse James; The Facts of Life; Bachelor in Paradise; The Road to Hong Kong; Critic's Choice; Call Me Bwana; A Global Affair; I'll Take Sweden; The Oscar (cameo); Not With My Wife You Don't! (cameo); Boy, Did I Get a Wrong Number!; Eight on the Lam; The Private Navy of Sgt. O'Farrell; How to Commit Marriage; Cancel My Reservation; The Muppet Movie (cameo); Spies Like Us (cameo)

Hopkins, Anthony: The Lion in Winter; Hamlet (1969); The Looking Glass War; When Eight Bells Toll; Young Winston; A Doll's House (1973); The Girl From Petrovka; Juggernaut; Audrey Rose; A Bridge Too Far; International Velvet; Magic; A Change of Seasons; The Elephant Man; The Bounty; The Good Father; 84 Charing Cross Road; The Dawning; A Chorus of Disapproval; Desperate Hours; The Silence of the Lambs; Freejack; Howards End; The Effi- ciency Expert; Bram Stoker's Dracula; Chaplin; The Innocent (1993); The Remains of the Day; Shadowlands (1993); The Road to Wellville; Legends of the Fall; Nixon; August (also dir, mus); Surviving Picasso; The Edge; Amistad; The Mask of Zorro; Meet Joe Black; Instinct; Titus; Mission: Impossible II; How the Grinch Stole Christmas (narr); Hannibal (2001); Hearts in Atlantis; Bad Company (2002); Red Dragon; The Human Stain; Alexander; Proof (2005); The World's Fastest Indian; All the King's Men (2006); Bobby; Fracture; Slipstream (2007; also dir, scr, mus); Beowulf

Hopper, Dennis: I Died a Thousand Times; Rebel Without a Cause; Giant; Gunfight at the O.K. Corral; The Story of Mankind; Night Tide; The Sons of Katie Elder; Planet of Blood; Cool Hand Luke; The Trip; The Glory Stompers; Panic in the City; Hang 'Em High; Easy Rider (also dir, coscr); True Grit; The Last Movie (also dir); Kid Blue; Mad Dog Morgan; Tracks; The American Friend; Apocalypse Now; Out of the Blue (1980; also dir); King of the Mountain; Human Highway; The Osterman Weekend; Rumble Fish; My Science Project; Riders of the Storm; The Texas Chainsaw Massacre 2; Blue Velvet; Hoosiers; Black Widow (1986); River's Edge; Straight to Hell; O.C. and Stiggs; The Pick-up Artist; Colors (1988; dir); Blood Red; Backtrack (1989; also dir); Flashback; Chattahoochee; The Hot Spot (dir); Superstar: The Life and Times of Andy Warhol; Paris Trout; The Indian Runner; Eye of the Storm; Nails; Boiling Point; Super Mario Bros.; Red Rock West; True Romance; Chasers (also dir); Speed; Search and Destroy (1995); Waterworld; Carried Away; Basquiat; The Last Days of Frankie the Fly; Meet the Deedles; Ed TV; Jesus' Son; The Source (app); Inside Deep Throat (narr); Land of the Dead; Sketches of Frank Gehry (app); Sleepwalking; Hell Ride; Elegy; Swing Vote; An American Carol

Hudson, Rock: Winchester '73; Double Crossbones; Tomahawk; Bright Victory; The Fat Man; Has Anybody Seen My Gal?; Bend of the River; Here Come the Nelsons; Horizons West; The Lawless Breed; Gun Fury; Seminole; The Golden Blade; Back to God's Country; Sea Devils (1953); Taza; Son of Cochise; Bengal Brigade; Magnificent Obsession (1954); Captain Lightfoot; All That Heaven Allows; One Desire; Never Say Goodbye (1956); Written on the Wind; Four Girls in Town (cameo); Giant; Battle Hymn; A Farewell to Arms (1957); Something of Value; The Tamed Angels; Twilight for the Gods; This Earth Is Mine; Pillow Talk; The Last Sunset; Lover Come Back (1961); Come September; The Spiral Road; A Gathering of Eagles; Send Me No Flowers; Man's Favorite Sport?; Strange Bedfellows; A Very Special Favor; Blindfold; Seconds; Tobruk; Ice Station Zebra; A Fine

Pair; The Undefeated; Darling Lili; Hornets' Nest; Pretty Maids All in a Row; Showdown (1973); Embryo; Avalanche (1978); The Mirror Crack'd; The Ambassador

Irons, Jeremy: Langrishe, Go Down; Nijinsky; The French Lieutenant's Woman; Moonlighting; Betrayal; The Wild Duck; Swann in Love; The Mission; Dead Ringers; A Chorus of Disapproval; Reversal of Fortune; Kafka; Damage; Waterland; M. Butterfly; The House of the Spirits; The Lion King; Die Hard With a Vengeance; Stealing Beauty; Chinese Box; Lolita (1997); The Man in the Iron Mask (1998); Dungeons & Dragons; The Time Machine (2002); And Now . . . Ladies and Gentlemen . . .; Broadway: The Golden Age (app); Callas Forever; The Merchant of Venice; Being Julia; Kingdom of Heaven; Casanova; Inland Empire; Eragon; Appaloosa (2008); Hamlet 2 (uncred narr); The Pink Panther 2

Jackman, Hugh: X-Men; Someone Like You; Swordfish; Kate & Leopold; X2; Van Helsing; X-Men: The Last Stand; Scoop; The Fountain; The Prestige; Flushed Away; Happy Feet; Deception (2008); Australia; X-Men Origins: Wolverine

Jackson, Samuel L. (formerly billed as Sam): Ragtime; Eddie Murphy Raw (bit); School Daze; Coming to America; Sea of Love; Do the Right Thing; A Shock to the System; The Return of Superfly (cameo); Mo' Better Blues; GoodFellas; The Exorcist III (bit); Def by Temptation; Betsy's Wedding (bit); Strictly Business; Jungle Fever; Johnny Suede; Jumpin at the Boneyard; Patriot Games; Juice; White Sands; National Lampoon's Loaded Weapon I; True Romance; The Meteor Man (cameo); Menace II Society; Jurassic Park; Amos & Andrew; Pulp Fiction; The New Age; Fresh; Losing Isaiah; Kiss of Death (1995); Die Hard With a Vengeance; Fluke; The Great White Hype; A Time to Kill; The Long Kiss Goodnight; The Search for One-Eyed Jimmy; Trees Lounge; Hard Eight; one eight seven; Eve's Bayou; Jackie Brown; Sphere; The Negotiator; Out of Sight (1998; cameo); Star Wars Episode I: The Phantom Menace; The Red Violin; Deep Blue Sea; Rules of Engagement; Shaft (2000); Unbreakable; The Caveman's Valentine; Changing Lanes; Star Wars Episode II: Attack of the Clones; Formula 51; No Good Deed; XXX; Basic; S.W.A.T.; Twisted (2004); Kill Bill Vol. 2; The Incredibles; Coach Carter; In My Country; XXX: State of the Union; Star Wars Episode III: Revenge of the Sith; The Man (2005); Freedomland; Snakes on a Plane; Home of the Brave (2006); Black Snake Moan; Resurrecting the Champ; 1408; Cleaner; Jumper; Iron Man (cameo); Lakeview Terrace; The Clone Wars; Soul Men; The Spirit

Johansson, Scarlett: North; Just Cause; If Lucy Fell; Manny & Lo; Home Alone 3;

The Horse Whisperer; The Man Who Wasn't There; Ghost World; An American Rhapsody; Eight Legged Freaks; Lost in Translation; Girl With a Pearl Earring; The Perfect Score; A Love Song for Bobby Long; A Good Woman; The SpongeBob Square-Pants Movie; In Good Company; The Island (2005); Match Point; Scoop; The Black Dahlia; The Prestige; The Nanny Diaries; The Other Boleyn Girl; Vicky Cristina Barcelona; The Spirit; He's Just Not That Into You

Jolie, Angelina: Lookin' to Get Out; Hackers; Love Is All There Is; Foxfire (1996); Playing God; Playing by Heart; Pushing Tin; The Bone Collector; Girl, Interrupted; Gone in Sixty Seconds (2000); Lara Croft Tomb Raider; Original Sin; Life or Something Like It; Lara Croft Tomb Raider: The Cradle of Life; Beyond Borders; Taking Lives; Shark Tale; Sky Captain and the World of Tomorrow; Alexander; Mr. & Mrs. Smith (2005); The Good Shepherd; Beowulf; A Mighty Heart; Kung Fu Panda; Wanted; Changeling (2008)

Jones, Tommy Lee: Love Story (1970); Jackson County Jail; Rolling Thunder; The Betsy; Eyes of Laura Mars; Coal Miner's Daughter; Back Roads; Nate and Hayes; The River Rat; Black Moon Rising; The Big Town; Stormy Monday; The Package; Fire Birds (1990); JFK; Under Siege; House of Cards (1993); The Fugitive (1993); Heaven & Earth; Blown Away; Natural Born Killers; The Client; Blue Sky; Cobb; Batman Forever; Volcano (1997); Men in Black; U.S. Marshals; Small Soldiers; Double Jeopardy; Rules of Engagement; Space Cowboys; Men in Black II; The Hunted (2003); The Missing (2003); Man of the House (2005); The Three Burials of Melquiades Estrada (also dir); A Prairie Home Companion; In the Valley of Elah; No Country for Old Men; In the Electric Mist

Karloff, Boris: The Criminal Code; Smart Money (bit); Five Star Final; Frankenstein; Scarface (1932); The Old Dark House (1932); The Mask of Fu Manchu; The Mummy; The Ghoul (1933); The Lost Patrol; House of Rothschild; The Black Cat (1934); Bride of Frankenstein; The Black Room; The Raven (1935); The Invisible Ray; The Man Who Lived Again; Son of Frankenstein; The Man They Could Not Hang; Tower of London (1939); Black Friday; The Man With Nine Lives; Devil's Island; Before I Hang; The Ape; The Devil Commands; The Boogie Man Will Get You; The Climax; House of Frankenstein (1944); The Body Snatcher; Isle of the Dead; Bedlam (1946); The Secret Life of Walter Mitty; Lured; Unconquered; Abbott and Costello Meet the Killer Boris Karloff; The Strange Door; The Black Castle; Abbott and Costello Meet Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde; Voodoo Island; The Haunted Stran-

Index of Directors

Many older titles that no longer appear in this volume (or the index) can now be found in Leonard Maltin's Classic Movie Guide. That book also features a more extensive roster of directors whose main body of work was done before 1960.

This selective index of directors includes only the films that appear in this book; therefore, what follows doesn't pretend to offer a complete list of John Ford's silent films, the early work of Pedro Almodóvar, or the television films made by Mike Leigh.

The titles in each entry are in chronological order. Years are indicated in the reviews and are included here only to distinguish between two films of the same title, whether they are remakes (The Manchurian Candidate, Great Expectations) or have nothing to do with each other (The Enforcer, The Chase, Bad Company, to cite three examples of names used more than once).

The prefix "co-" means a collaboration. "Seq" means a director was responsible for one sequence in a feature film.

This index is meant to be a convenient, quick-reference guide and only deals with the individuals' work as directors. It does not indicate the other functions they may have performed on a given film, whether as actor, writer, producer, composer, cinematographer, or editor.

Aldrich, Robert: Big Leaguer; Apache; Vera Cruz; Kiss Me Deadly; The Big Knife; Autumn Leaves; Attack; Ten Seconds to Hell; The Angry Hills; The Last Sunset; Sodom and Gomorrah; What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?; 4 for Texas; Hush . . . Hush, Sweet Charlotte; The Flight of the Phoenix (1965); The Dirty Dozen; The Legend of Lylah Clare; The Killing of Sister George; Too Late the Hero; The Grissom Gang; Ulzana's Raid; Emperor of the North Pole; The Longest Yard (1974); Hustle; Twilight's Last Gleaming; The Choirboys; The Frisco Kid; All the Marbles

Allen, Woody: see Index of Stars

Almodóvar, Pedro: Pepi, Luci, Bom; Labyrinth of Passion; Dark Habits; What Have I Done to Deserve This?; Matador; Law of Desire; Women on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown; Tie Me Up! Tie Me Down!; High Heels; Kika; The Flower of My Secret; Live Flesh; All About My Mother; Talk to Her; Bad Education; Volver

Altman, Robert: The Delinquents; The James Dean Story (codir); Countdown; That Cold Day in the Park; MASH; Brewster McCloud; McCabe & Mrs. Miller; Images; The Long Goodbye; Thieves Like Us; California Split; Nashville; Buffalo Bill and the Indians, or Sitting Bull's History Lesson; 3 Women; A Wedding (1978); A Perfect Couple; Quintet; H.E.A.L.T.H.; Popeye; Come Back to the 5 & Dime Jimmy Dean; Jimmy Dean; Streamers; Secret Honor; Fool for Love; O.C. & Stiggs; Beyond Therapy; Aria (seq dir); Vincent and Theo; The Player; Short Cuts; Ready to Wear (Prêt-à-Porter); Kansas City; The Gingerbread Man; Cookie's Fortune; Dr. T & the Women; Gosford Park; The Company; A Prairie Home Companion

Anderson, Paul Thomas: Hard Eight; Boogie Nights; Magnolia; Punch-Drunk Love; There Will Be Blood

Anderson, Wes: Bottle Rocket; Rushmore; The Royal Tenenbaums; The Life Aquatic with Steve Zissou; The Darjeeling Limited

Antonioni, Michelangelo: Love in the City (seq dir); Il Grido; L'Avventura; La Notte; Eclipse; Red Desert; Blow-Up; Zabriskie Point; The Passenger; The Mystery of Oberwald; Identification of a Woman; Eros (seq dir)

Beatty, Warren: see Index of Stars

Beresford, Bruce: The Adventures of Barry McKenzie; Barry McKenzie Holds His Own; Don's Party; The Getting of Wisdom; 'Breaker' Morant; The Club; Puberty Blues; Tender Mercies; King David; The Fringe Dwellers; Crimes of the Heart; Aria (seq dir); Her Alibi; Driving Miss Daisy; Mister Johnson; Black Robe; Rich in Love; A Good Man in Africa; Silent Fall; Last Dance; Paradise Road; Double Jeopardy; Bride of the Wind; Evelyn; The Contract (2006)

Bergman, Ingmar: Night Is My Future; Port of Call; The Devil's Wanton; Three Strange Loves; To Joy; Illicit Interlude; Secrets of Women; Summer with Monika; Sawdust and Tinsel; A Lesson in Love; Dreams (1955); Smiles of a Summer Night; The Seventh Seal; Wild Strawberries; Brink of Life; The Magician; The Virgin Spring; The Devil's Eye; Through a Glass, Darkly; Winter Light; The Silence; All These Women; Persona; Hour of the Wolf; Shame (1968); The Rite (also act); The Passion of Anna; The Touch; Cries and Whispers; Scenes from a Marriage; The Magic Flute; Face to Face (1976); The Serpent's Egg; Autumn Sonata; From the Life of the Marionettes; Fanny and Alexander; After the Rehearsal; Saraband (2003)

Bertolucci, Bernardo: Before the Revolution; The Spider's Stratagem; The Conformist; Last Tango in Paris; 1900; Luna; Tragedy of a Ridiculous Man; The Last Emperor; The Sheltering Sky; Little Buddha; Stealing Beauty; Besieged; The Dreamers

Boetticher, Budd (first billed as Oscar Boetticher, Jr., then Oscar Boetticher): Behind Locked Doors; Bullfighter and the Lady; The Cimarron Kid; Bronco Buster; Red Ball Express; Seminole; The Man from the Alamo; The Magnificent Matador; The Killer Is Loose; Seven Men from Now; The Tall T; Decision at Sundown; Buchanan Rides Alone; Ride Lonesome; The Rise and Fall of Legs Diamond; Comanche Station; Arruza

Bogdanovich, Peter: Voyage to the Planet of Prehistoric Women (as "Derek Thomas"); Targets; The Last Picture Show; What's Up, Doc?; Paper Moon; Daisy Miller; At Long Last Love; Nickelodeon; Saint Jack; They All Laughed; Mask; Illegally Yours; Texasville; Noises Off; The Thing Called Love; The Cat's Meow

Boorman, John: Having a Wild Weekend; Point Blank; Hell in the Pacific; Leo the Last; Deliverance; Zardoz; Exorcist II: The Heretic; Excalibur; The Emerald Forest; Hope and Glory; Where the Heart Is (1990); Beyond Rangoon; The General (1998); The Tailor of Panama; In My Country

Borzage, Frank: 7th Heaven; A Farewell to Arms (1932); Man's Castle; Little Man, What Now?; Flirtation Walk; Desire; History Is Made at Night; Big City; Mannequin; Three Comrades; The Shining Hour; Strange Cargo; The Mortal Storm; Flight Command; Smilin' Through (1941); Stage

Door Canteen; I've Always Loved You; Magnificent Doll; Moonrise; China Doll; The Big Fisherman

Boyle, Danny: Shallow Grave; Trainspotting; A Life Less Ordinary; The Beach; 28 Days Later; Millions; Sunshine; Slumdog Millionaire

Branagh, Kenneth: see Index of Stars

Brooks, Albert: see Index of Stars

Brooks, Mel: The Producers (1968); The Twelve Chairs; Blazing Saddles; Young Frankenstein; Silent Movie; High Anxiety; History of the World—Part 1; Spaceballs; Life Stinks!; Robin Hood: Men in Tights; Dracula: Dead and Loving It

Brooks, Richard: Crisis; Deadline U.S.A.; Battle Circus; Take the High Ground!; The Flame and the Flesh; The Last Time I Saw Paris; Blackboard Jungle; The Last Hunt; The Catered Affair; Something of Value; The Brothers Karamazov; Cat on a Hot Tin Roof; Elmer Gantry; Sweet Bird of Youth; Lord Jim; The Professionals; In Cold Blood; The Happy Ending; $ (Dollars); Bite the Bullet; Looking for Mr. Goodbar; Wrong Is Right; Fever Pitch (1985)

Brown, Clarence: Flesh and the Devil; A Woman of Affairs; Anna Christie (1930); Romance (1930; uncred); Inspiration; A Free Soul; Possessed (1931); Emma (1932); Sadie McKee; Chained; Anna Karenina (1935); Ah, Wilderness!; Wife vs. Secretary; The Gorgeous Hussy; Conquest; Of Human Hearts; Idiot's Delight; The Rains Came; Edison, the Man; Come Live with Me; They Met in Bombay; The Human Comedy; The White Cliffs of Dover; National Velvet; The Yearling; Song of Love; Intruder in the Dust; To Please a Lady; Angels in the Outfield (1951); It's a Big Country (seq dir); Plymouth Adventure

Buñuel, Luis: L'Age d'Or; Los Olvidados; Susana; Illusion Travels by Streetcar; El Bruto; Wuthering Heights (1953); Adventures of Robinson Crusoe; The Criminal Life of Archibaldo de la Cruz; Death in the Garden; Nazarin; The Young One; Viridiana; The Exterminating Angel; Diary of a Chambermaid (1964); Simon of the Desert; Belle de Jour; The Milky Way (1969); Tristana; The Discreet Charm of the Bourgeoisie; The Phantom of Liberty; That Obscure Object of Desire

Burton, Tim: Pee-wee's Big Adventure; Beetle Juice; Batman (1989); Edward Scissorhands; Batman Returns; Ed Wood; Mars Attacks!; Sleepy Hollow; Planet of the Apes (2001); Big Fish; Charlie and the Chocolate Factory; Tim Burton's Corpse Bride (codir); Sweeney Todd: The Demon Barber of Fleet Street (2007)

Cameron, James: Piranha II: The Spawning; The Terminator; Aliens; The Abyss; Terminator 2: Judgment Day; True Lies; Titanic (1997)

Capra, Frank: The Strong Man; Long

Pants; The Matinee Idol; The Younger Generation; Ladies of Leisure; Dirigible; The Miracle Woman; Platinum Blonde; Forbidden (1932); American Madness; The Bitter Tea of General Yen; Lady for a Day; It Happened One Night; Broadway Bill; Mr. Deeds Goes to Town; Lost Horizon (1937); You Can't Take It with You; Mr. Smith Goes to Washington; Meet John Doe; Arsenic and Old Lace; It's a Wonderful Life; State of the Union; Riding High; Here Comes the Groom; A Hole in the Head; Pocketful of Miracles

Carpenter, John: Dark Star; Assault on Precinct 13 (1976); Halloween; The Fog (1980); Escape From New York; The Thing; Christine; Starman; Big Trouble in Little China; Prince of Darkness; They Live; Memoirs of an Invisible Man; In the Mouth of Madness; Village of the Damned (1995); Escape From L.A.; Vampires; Ghosts of Mars
Cassavetes, John: Shadows; Too Late Blues; A Child Is Waiting; Faces; Husbands; Minnie and Moskowitz; A Woman Under the Influence; The Killing of a Chinese Bookie; Opening Night; Gloria (1980); Love Streams; Big Trouble

Chabrol, Claude: Le Beau Serge; The Cousins; Web of Passion; Les Bonnes Femmes; 7 Capital Sins (seq dir); Bluebeard; The Champagne Murders; The Road to Corinth; Les Biches; La Femme Infidèle; This Man Must Die; Le Boucher; Ten Days Wonder; High Heels (1972); Wedding in Blood; Nada; Dirty Hands; The Twist (1976); Blood Relatives; Violette; The Hatter's Ghost; Cop au Vin; Inspecteur Lavardin; Betty; The Story of Women; Club Extinction; Madame Bovary (1991); L'Enfer; La Cérémonie; The Swindle (1997); Merci Pour le Chocolat; The Flower of Evil; Comedy of Power; The Bridesmaid

Chaplin, Charles: see Index of Stars

Coen, Joel & Ethan: Blood Simple; Raising Arizona; Miller's Crossing; Barton Fink; The Hudsucker Proxy; Fargo; The Big Lebowski; O Brother, Where Art Thou?; The Man Who Wasn't There; Intolerable Cruelty; The Ladykillers (2004); Paris, je t'aime (seq dir); No Country for Old Men; Burn After Reading

Coppola, Francis Ford: Battle Beyond the Sun (dir of U.S. inserts as Thomas Colchart); Dementia 13; You're a Big Boy Now; Finian's Rainbow; The Rain People; The Godfather; The Conversation; The Godfather Part II; Apocalypse Now; One From the Heart; The Outsiders; Rumble Fish; The Cotton Club; Peggy Sue Got Married; Gardens of Stone; Tucker: The Man and His Dream; New York Stories (seq dir); The Godfather Part III; Bram Stoker's Dracula; Jack; The Rainmaker (1997); Youth Without Youth

Corman, Roger: Five Guns West; Gunslinger; It Conquered the World; Not of

This Earth (1957); Attack of the Crab Monsters; The Undead; Rock All Night; Teenage Doll; The Saga of the Viking Women and Their Voyage to the Waters of the Great Sea Serpent; War of the Satellites; Machine-Gun Kelly; Teenage Cave Man; I, Mobster; Bucket of Blood; The Waspy Woman; Ski Troop Attack; House of Usher; The Little Shop of Horrors (1960); The Last Woman on Earth; Creature From the Haunted Sea; Atlas; Pit and the Pendulum (1961); The Intruder (1962); The Premature Burial; Tales of Terror; Tower of London (1962); The Raven (1963); The Terror; X—the Man with X-Ray Eyes; The Haunted Palace; The Young Racers; The Secret Invasion; Masque of the Red Death; Tomb of Ligeia; The Wild Angels; The St. Valentine's Day Massacre; The Trip; Target: Harry; Bloody Mama; Gas-s-s-s; Von Richthofen and Brown; Frankenstein Unbound

Cronenberg, David: They Came From Within; Rabid; The Brood; Scanners; Videodrome; The Dead Zone; The Fly (1986); Dead Ringers; Naked Lunch; M. Butterfly; Crash (1996); eXistenZ; Spider; A History of Violence; Eastern Promises

Crowe, Cameron: Say Anything...; Singles; Jerry Maguire; Almost Famous; Vanilla Sky; Elizabethtown

Cuarón, Alfonso: Sólo Con Tu Pareja; A Little Princess; Great Expectations (1998); Y Tu Mamá También; Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban; Paris, je t'aime (seq dir); Children of Men

Cukor, George: One Hour With You (codir); What Price Hollywood?; A Bill of Divorcement (1932); Dinner at Eight; Little Women (1933); David Copperfield (1935); Sylvia Scarlett; Romeo and Juliet (1936); Camille; Holiday (1938); The Women; The Philadelphia Story; Susan and God; A Woman's Face; Two-Faced Woman; Keeper of the Flame; Gaslight (1944); A Double Life; Edward, My Son; Adam's Rib; Born Yesterday (1950); A Life of Her Own; The Model and the Marriage Broker; The Marrying Kind; Pat and Mike; The Actress; It Should Happen to You; A Star Is Born (1954); Bhowani Junction; Les Girls; Wild Is the Wind; Heller in Pink Tights; Let's Make Love; The Chapman Report; My Fair Lady; Justine; Travels With My Aunt; The Blue Bird (1976); Rich and Famous

Curtiz, Michael: Doctor X; The Cabin in the Cotton; 20,000 Years in Sing Sing; Mystery of the Wax Museum; The Kennel Murder Case; Female; Jimmy the Gent; Black Fury; Front Page Woman; Captain Blood; The Charge of the Light Brigade (1936); Kid Galahad (1937); The Perfect Specimen; Gold Is Where You Find It; The Adventures of Robin Hood (codir); Four's a Crowd; Four Daughters; Angels with Dirty Faces; Dodge City; Daughters Courageous; The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex;

Virginia City; The Sea Hawk; Santa Fe Trail; The Sea Wolf; Dive Bomber; Captains of the Clouds; Yankee Doodle Dandy; Casablanca; This Is the Army; Passage to Marseille; Roughly Speaking; Mildred Pierce; Night and Day; Life With Father; The Unsuspected; Romance on the High Seas; My Dream Is Yours; Flamingo Road; Bright Leaf; Young Man with a Horn; The Breaking Point; Force of Arms; Jim Thorpe—All American; I'll See You in My Dreams; The Story of Will Rogers; The Jazz Singer (1953); Trouble Along the Way; The Egyptian; White Christmas; We're No Angels (1955); The Vagabond King (1956); The Best Things in Life Are Free; The Helen Morgan Story; King Creole; The Proud Rebel; The Hangman; Man in the Net; The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn; A Breath of Scandal; Francis of Assisi; The Comancheros

Dante, Joe: Hollywood Boulevard (1976; codir); Piranha; The Howling; Twilight Zone—The Movie (seq dir); Gremlins; Explorers; Amazon Women on the Moon (seq dir); Innerspace; The 'burbs; Gremlins 2 The New Batch; Matinee; Small Soldiers; Looney Tunes: Back in Action; Trapped Ashes (seq dir)

del Toro, Guillermo: Cronos; Mimic; The Devil's Backbone; Blade II; Hellboy; Pan's Labyrinth; Hellboy II: The Golden Army

DeMille, Cecil B.: The Ten Commandments (1923); The King of Kings (1927); Dynamite (1929); The Sign of the Cross; Cleopatra (1934); The Crusades; The Plainsman (1936); The Buccaneer (1938); Union Pacific; North West Mounted Police; Reap the Wild Wind; The Story of Dr. Wassell; Unconquered; Samson and Delilah; The Greatest Show on Earth; The Ten Commandments (1956)

Demme, Jonathan: Caged Heat; Crazy Mama; Fighting Mad; Handle With Care; Last Embrace; Melvin and Howard; Swing Shift; Stop Making Sense; Something Wild; Swimming to Cambodia; Married to the Mob; The Silence of the Lambs; Cousin Bobby; Philadelphia; Beloved; The Truth About Charlie; The Agronomist; The Manchurian Candidate (2004); Neil Young: Heart of Gold; Jimmy Carter: Man from Plains; Rachel Getting Married

De Palma, Brian: Greetings; The Wedding Party (codir); Hi, Mom!; Get to Know Your Rabbit; Sisters (1973); Phantom of the Paradise; Carrie (1976); Obsession (1976); The Fury; Home Movies; Dressed to Kill (1980); Blow Out; Scarface (1983); Body Double; Wise Guys; The Untouchables; Casualties of War; Bonfire of the Vanities; Raising Cain; Carlito's Way; Mission: Impossible; Snake Eyes; Mission to Mars; Femme Fatale; The Black Dahlia; Redacted

Donen, Stanley: On the Town (codir); Royal Wedding; Singin' in the Rain (codir);

Love Is Better Than Ever; Give a Girl a Break; Seven Brides for Seven Brothers; Deep in My Heart; It's Always Fair Weather (codir); Funny Face; The Pajama Game (codir); Kiss Them for Me; Indiscreet; Damn Yankees (codir); Once More, With Feeling; Surprise Package; The Grass Is Greener; Charade; Arabesque; Two for the Road; Bedazzled; Staircase; The Little Prince; Lucky Lady; Movie Movie; Saturn 3; Blame It on Rio

Donner, Richard: X-15; Salt and Pepper; Lola; The Omen (1976); Superman; Superman II (Richard Donner cut); Inside Moves; The Toy; Ladyhawke; The Goonies; Lethal Weapon; Scrooged; Lethal Weapon 2; Radio Flyer; Lethal Weapon 3; Maverick; Assassins; Conspiracy Theory; Lethal Weapon 4; Timeline; 16 Blocks

Eastwood, Clint: see Index of Stars

Edwards, Blake: Mister Cory; This Happy Feeling; The Perfect Furlough; Operation Petticoat; High Time; Breakfast at Tiffany's; Experiment in Terror; Days of Wine and Roses; The Pink Panther (1964); A Shot in the Dark; The Great Race; What Did You Do in the War, Daddy?; Gunn; The Party; Darling Lili; Wild Rovers; The Carey Treatment; The Tamarind Seed; The Return of the Pink Panther; The Pink Panther Strikes Again; Revenge of the Pink Panther; 10; S.O.B.; Victor/Victoria; Trail of the Pink Panther; Curse of the Pink Panther; The Man Who Loved Women (1983); Micki + Maude; A Fine Mess; That's Life!; Blind Date (1987); Sunset; Skin Deep (1989); Switch; Son of the Pink Panther

Eisenstein, Sergei M.: Strike; Potemkin; October; Alexander Nevsky; Ivan the Terrible, Part One; Ivan the Terrible, Part Two

Ephron, Nora: This Is My Life; Sleepless in Seattle; Mixed Nuts; Michael; You've Got Mail; Lucky Numbers; Bewitched (2005)

Fassbinder, Rainer Werner: Katzelmacher; Gods of the Plague; The American Soldier; Whity; Beware of a Holy Whore; The Merchant of Four Seasons; The Bitter Tears of Petra von Kant; Jail Bait (1972); Ali—Fear Eats the Soul; Martha; Effi Briest; Fox and His Friends; Mother Kusters Goes to Heaven; I Only Want You to Love Me; Chinese Roulette; The Stationmaster's Wife; Despair; In a Year of Thirteen Moons; The Marriage of Maria Braun; The Third Generation; Berlin Alexanderplatz; Lili Marleen; Lola (1982); Veronika Voss; Querelle

Fellini, Federico: Variety Lights (codir); The White Sheik; Love in the City (seq dir); I Vitelloni; La Strada; The Swindle; Nights of Cabiria; La Dolce Vita; Boccaccio '70 (seq dir); 8½; Juliet of the Spirits; Spirits of the Dead (seq dir); Fellini Satyricon; The Clowns; Fellini's Roma; Amarcord; Fellini's Casanova; Orchestra Rehearsal; City of Women; And the Ship Sails On; Ginger and Fred; Intervista

Fincher, David: Alien ³; Se7en; The Game; Fight Club; Panic Room; Zodiac (2007); The Curious Case of Benjamin Button

Ford, John: The Iron Horse; 3 Bad Men; Hangman's House; Up the River; Arrowsmith; Airmail; Flesh; Dr. Bull; The Lost Patrol; The World Moves On; Judge Priest; The Whole Town's Talking; The Informer (1935); Steamboat 'Round the Bend; The Prisoner of Shark Island; Mary of Scotland; The Plough and the Stars; Wee Willie Winkie; The Hurricane (1937); Four Men and a Prayer; Submarine Patrol; Stagecoach (1939); Young Mr. Lincoln; Drums Along the Mohawk; The Grapes of Wrath; The Long Voyage Home; Tobacco Road; How Green Was My Valley; They Were Expendable; My Darling Clementine; The Fugitive (1947); Fort Apache; 3 Godfathers; She Wore a Yellow Ribbon; When Willie Comes Marching Home; Wagon Master; Rio Grande; The Quiet Man; What Price Glory (1952); The Sun Shines Bright; Mogambo; The Long Gray Line; Mister Roberts (codir); The Searchers; The Rising of the Moon; The Wings of Eagles; Gideon of Scotland Yard; The Last Hurrah; The Horse Soldiers; Sergeant Rutledge; Two Rode Together; The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance; How the West Was Won (seq dir); Donovan's Reef; Cheyenne Autumn; Young Cassidy (codir); 7 Women

Forman, Milos: Loves of a Blonde; The Fireman's Ball; Taking Off; Visions of Eight (seq dir); One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest; Hair; Ragtime; Amadeus; Valmont; The People Vs. Larry Flynt; Man on the Moon; Goya's Ghosts

Fosse, Bob: Sweet Charity; Cabaret; Lenny; All That Jazz; Star 80

Frankenheimer, John: The Young Stranger; The Young Savages; All Fall Down; Birdman of Alcatraz; The Manchurian Candidate (1962); Seven Days in May; The Train; Seconds; Grand Prix; The Fixer (1968); The Extraordinary Seaman; The Gypsy Moths; I Walk the Line; The Horsemen (1971); The Iceman Cometh; Story of a Love Story; 99 and 44/100% Dead; French Connection II; Black Sunday (1977); Prophecy (1979); The Challenge; The Holcroft Covenant; 52 Pick-Up; Dead-Bang; The Fourth War; Year of the Gun; The Island of Dr. Moreau (1996); Ronin; Reindeer Games

Frears, Stephen: Gumshoe; The Hit; My Beautiful Laundrette; Prick Up Your Ears; Sammy and Rosie Get Laid; Dangerous Liaisons; The Grifters; Hero (1992); The Snapper; Mary Reilly; The Van (1996); The Hi-Lo Country; High Fidelity; Liam; Dirty Pretty Things; Mrs. Henderson Presents; The Queen

Fuller, Sam: I Shot Jesse James; The Baron of Arizona; The Steel Helmet; Fixed Bayonets!; Park Row; Pickup on South Street;

Hell and High Water; House of Bamboo; Run of the Arrow; Forty Guns; China Gate; Verboten!; The Crimson Kimono; Underworld U.S.A.; Merrill's Marauders; Shock Corridor; The Naked Kiss; Shark!; Dead Pigeon on Beethoven Street; The Big Red One; White Dog

Gilliam, Terry: Monty Python and the Holy Grail (codir); Jabberwocky; Time Bandits; Brazil; The Adventures of Baron Munchausen; The Fisher King; Twelve Monkeys; Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas; Lost in La Mancha (app); The Brothers Grimm; Tideland

Godard, Jean-Luc: Breathless (1959); A Woman Is a Woman; 7 Capital Sins (seq dir); My Life to Live; Le Petit Soldat; Les Carabiniers; Contempt; Band of Outsiders; A Married Woman; Alphaville; Pierrot le Fou; Masculine-Feminine; Made in U.S.A.; Two or Three Things I Know About Her; The Oldest Profession (seq dir); La Chinoise; Weekend; Sympathy for the Devil; Numéro Deux; Every Man for Himself; Passion (1982); First Name: Carmen; Hair Mary; Detective (1985); King Lear (1987); Aria (seq dir); Nouvelle Vague; Hélas Pour Moi; For Ever Mozart; In Praise of Love; Notre Musique

Griffith, D. W.: The Birth of a Nation; Intolerance; Broken Blossoms; Way Down East; Orphans of the Storm; Abraham Lincoln

Guest, Christopher: The Big Picture; Waiting for Guffman; Almost Heroes; Best in Show; A Mighty Wind; For Your Consideration

Hawks, Howard: The Dawn Patrol (1930); The Criminal Code; The Crowd Roars; Scarface (1932); Tiger Shark; Today We Live; Twentieth Century; Barbary Coast; Ceiling Zero; The Road to Glory; Come and Get It (codir); Bringing Up Baby; Only Angels Have Wings; His Girl Friday; Sergeant York; Ball of Fire; Air Force; The Outlaw (uncred codir); To Have and Have Not; The Big Sleep (1946); Red River; A Song Is Born; I Was a Male War Bride; The Thing From Another World (uncred dir); The Big Sky; O. Henry's Full House (seq dir); Monkey Business; Gentlemen Prefer Blondes; Land of the Pharaohs; Rio Bravo; Hatari!; Man's Favorite Sport?; Red Line 7000; El Dorado; Rio Lobo

Haynes, Todd: Poison; Safe; Velvet Goldmine; Far From Heaven; I'm Not There

Herzog, Werner: Even Dwarfs Started Small; Aguirre: The Wrath of God; Every Man for Himself and God Against All; Heart of Glass; Stroszek; Nosferatu the Vampire; Woyzek; Fitzcarraldo; Where the Green Ants Dream; My Best Fiend; Invincible; Grizzly Man; Rescue Dawn; Encounters at the End of the World

Hitchcock, Alfred: The Pleasure Garden; The Lodger (1926); Downhill; Easy Virtue

(1927); The Ring (1927); The Farmer's Wife; Champagne; The Manxman; Black-mal (1929); Juno and the Paycock; Murder!; The Skin Game (1931); Rich and Strange; Number Seventeen; The Man Who Knew Too Much (1934); The 39 Steps (1935); The Secret Agent (1936); Sabotage; Young and Innocent; The Lady Vanishes (1938); Jamaica Inn; Rebecca; Foreign Correspondent; Mr. & Mrs. Smith (1941); Suspicion; Saboteur; Shadow of a Doubt; Lifeboat; Spellbound (1945); Notorious (1946); The Paradine Case; Rope; Under Capricorn; Stage Fright; Strangers on a Train; I Confess; Dial M for Murder; Rear Window; To Catch a Thief; The Trouble with Harry; The Man Who Knew Too Much (1956); The Wrong Man; Vertigo; North by Northwest; Psycho (1960); The Birds; Marnie; Torn Curtain; Topaz; Frenzy (1972); Family Plot

Hopper, Dennis: see Index of Stars

Howard, Ron: Grand Theft Auto; Night Shift; Splash; Cocoon; Gung Ho; Willow; Parenthood; Backdraft; Far and Away; The Paper; Apollo 13; Ransom (1996); Ed TV; How the Grinch Stole Christmas; A Beautiful Mind; The Missing (2003); Cinderella Man; The Da Vinci Code; Frost/Nixon; Angels & Demons

Huston, John: The Maltese Falcon (1941); In This Our Life; Across the Pacific; The Treasure of the Sierra Madre; Key Largo; We Were Strangers; The Asphalt Jungle; The Red Badge of Courage; The African Queen; Moulin Rouge (1952); Beat the Devil; Moby Dick (1956); Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison; The Barbarian and the Geisha; The Roots of Heaven; The Unforgiven (1960); The Misfits; Freud; The List of Adrian Messenger; The Night of the Iguana; The Bible; Casino Royale (1967; codir); Reflections in a Golden Eye; Sinful Davey; A Walk With Love and Death; The Kremlin Letter; Fat City; The Life and Times of Judge Roy Bean; The Mackintosh Man; The Man Who Would Be King; Wise Blood; Phobia; Victory (1981); Annie; Under the Volcano; Prizzi's Honor; The Dead

Ivory, James: The Householder; Shakespeare Wallah; The Guru (1969); Bombay Talkie; The Wild Party (1975); Autobiography of a Princess; Roseland; Hullabaloo over Georgia and Bonnie's Pictures; The Europeans; Jane Austen in Manhattan; Quartet (1981); Heat and Dust; The Bostonians; A Room with a View; Maurice; Slaves of New York; Mr. & Mrs. Bridge; Howards End; The Remains of the Day; Jefferson in Paris; Surviving Picasso; A Soldier's Daughter Never Cries; The Golden Bowl; Le Divorce; The White Countess

Jackson, Peter: Bad Taste; Dead Alive; Heavenly Creatures; The Frighteners; The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring; The Lord of the Rings: The Two

Towers; The Lord of the Rings: The Return of the King; King Kong (2005)

Jarmusch, Jim: Stranger Than Paradise; Down by Law; Mystery Train; Night on Earth; Dead Man; Ghost Dog: The Way of the Samurai; Coffee and Cigarettes; Broken Flowers; The Limits of Control

Jewison, Norman: 40 Pounds of Trouble; The Thrill of It All; Send Me No Flowers; The Art of Love; The Cincinnati Kid; The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming; In the Heat of the Night; The Thomas Crown Affair (1968); Gaily, Gaily; Fiddler on the Roof; Jesus Christ Superstar; Rollerball (1975); F.L.S.T.; . . . And Justice for All; Best Friends; A Soldier's Story; Agnes of God; Moonstruck; In Country; Other People's Money; Only You (1994); Bogus; The Hurricane (1999); The Statement

Kasdan, Lawrence: Body Heat; The Big Chill; Silverado; The Accidental Tourist; I Love You to Death; Grand Canyon; Wyatt Earp; French Kiss; Mumford; Dreamcatcher

Kazan, Elia: A Tree Grows in Brooklyn; The Sea of Grass; Boomerang!; Gentleman's Agreement; Pinky; Panic in the Streets; A Streetcar Named Desire; Viva Zapata!; Man on a Tightrope; On the Waterfront; East of Eden; Baby Doll; A Face in the Crowd; Wild River; Splendor in the Grass; America, America; The Arrangement; The Visitors (1972); The Last Tycoon

Keaton, Buster: see Index of Stars

Kelly, Gene: see Index of Stars

Kramer, Stanley: Not as a Stranger; The Pride and the Passion; The Defiant Ones; On the Beach; Inherit the Wind; Judgment at Nuremberg; It's a Mad Mad Mad Mad World; Ship of Fools; Guess Who's Coming to Dinner; The Secret of Santa Vittoria; R.P.M.; Bless the Beasts & Children; Oklahoma Crude; The Domino Principle; The Runner Stumbles

Kubrick, Stanley: Fear and Desire; Killer's Kiss; The Killing; Paths of Glory; Spartacus; Lolita (1962); Dr. Strangelove or: How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Bomb; 2001: A Space Odyssey; A Clockwork Orange; Barry Lyndon; The Shining; Full Metal Jacket; Eyes Wide Shut

Kurosawa, Akira: The Men Who Tread on the Tiger's Tail; The Most Beautiful; Stray Dog; Rashomon; The Idiot; Ikiru; Seven Samurai; Throne of Blood; The Lower Depths (1957); The Hidden Fortress; The Bad Sleep Well; Yojimbo; Sanjuro; High and Low; Red Beard; Dodes'ka-den; Dersu Uzala; Kagemusha; Ran; Akira Kurosawa's Dreams; Rhapsody in August; Madadayo

Landis, John: Schlock; The Kentucky Fried Movie; National Lampoon's Animal House; The Blues Brothers; An American Werewolf in London; Trading Places; Twilight Zone—The Movie (seq dir); Into the Night; Spies Like Us; ¡Three Amigos!; Amazon Women on the Moon (seq dir); Coming to

America; Oscar; Innocent Blood; Beverly Hills Cop III; The Stupids; Blues Brothers 2000

Lang, Fritz: The Spiders; Dr. Mabuse, the Gambler; Metropolis; Spies; Woman in the Moon; M (1931); The Testament of Dr. Mabuse; Fury; You Only Live Once; You and Me; The Return of Frank James; Western Union; Man Hunt (1941); Hangmen Also Die; The Woman in the Window; Ministry of Fear; Scarlet Street; Cloak and Dagger (1946); Secret Beyond the Door; The House by the River; American Guerilla in the Philippines; Rancho Notorious; Clash by Night; The Blue Gardenia; The Big Heat; Human Desire; Moonfleet; While the City Sleeps; Beyond a Reasonable Doubt; The Tiger of Eschnapur; The Indian Tomb; The 1,000 Eyes of Dr. Mabuse

Lean, David: In Which We Serve (codir); This Happy Breed; Blithe Spirit; Brief Encounter; Great Expectations (1946); Oliver Twist (1948); The Passionate Friends; Madeline; Breaking the Sound Barrier; Hobson's Choice; Summertime; The Bridge on the River Kwai; Lawrence of Arabia; Doctor Zhivago; Ryan's Daughter; A Passage to India

Lee, Ang: Pushing Hands; The Wedding Banquet; Eat Drink Man Woman; Sense and Sensibility; The Ice Storm; Ride with the Devil; Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon; Hulk; Brokeback Mountain; Lust, Caution

Lee, Spike: She's Gotta Have It; School Daze; Do the Right Thing; Mo' Better Blues; Jungle Fever; Malcolm X (1992); Crooklyn; Clockers; Girl 6; Get on the Bus; 4 Little Girls; He Got Game; Summer of Sam; The Original Kings of Comedy; Bamboozled; 25th Hour (2002); She Hate Me; Inside Man; Miracle at St. Anna

Leigh, Mike: Bleak Moments; Meantime; High Hopes; Life Is Sweet; Naked; Secrets & Lies; Career Girls; Topsy-Turvy; All or Nothing; Vera Drake; Happy-Go-Lucky

Leone, Sergio: The Colossus of Rhodes; Sodom and Gomorrah (codir); Fistful of Dollars; For a Few Dollars More; The Good, the Bad and the Ugly; Once Upon a Time in the West; Duck, You Sucker; Once Upon a Time in America

Lester, Richard: Ring-a-Ding Rhythm; The Mouse on the Moon; A Hard Day's Night; The Knack—And How to Get It; Help!; A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum; How I Won the War; Petulia; The Bed Sitting Room; The Three Musketeers (1974); Juggernaut; The Four Musketeers; Royal Flash; Robin and Marian; The Ritz; Butch and Sundance: The Early Days; Cuba; Superman II; Superman III; Finders Keepers (1984); The Return of the Musketeers; Get Back

Levinson, Barry: Diner; The Natural; Young Sherlock Holmes; Tin Men; Good Morning,

Vietnam; Rain Man; Avalon (1990); Bugsy; Toys; Jimmy Hollywood; Disclosure; Sleepers; Wag the Dog; Sphere; Liberty Heights; An Everlasting Piece; Bandits (2001); Envy; Man of the Year; What Just Happened

Lewis, Jerry: see Index of Stars

Linklater, Richard: Slacker; Dazed and Confused; Before Sunrise; subUrbia; The Newton Boys; Waking Life; Tape; The School of Rock; Before Sunset; Bad News Bears (2005); Fast Food Nation; A Scanner Darkly

Losey, Joseph: The Boy with Green Hair; M (1951); The Prowler; The Big Night (1951); Stranger on the Prowl (as Andrea Forzano); The Sleeping Tiger (as Victor Hanbury); Finger of Guilt (as Joseph Walton); Time Without Pity; The Concrete Jungle (1960); Eva; These Are the Damned; The Servant; King & Country; Modesty Blaise; Accident; Boom!; Secret Ceremony; Figures in a Landscape; The Go-Between; The Assassination of Trotsky; A Doll's House (1973); Galileo; The Romantic Englishwoman; Mr. Klein; The Trout; Steaming

Lubitsch, Ernst: The Student Prince in Old Heidelberg; The Love Parade; Paramount on Parade (codir); Monte Carlo; Broken Lullaby; The Smiling Lieutenant; One Hour With You (codir); Trouble in Paradise; If I Had a Million (seq dir); Design for Living; The Merry Widow (1934); Angel (1937); Bluebeard's Eighth Wife; Ninotchka; The Shop Around the Corner; That Uncertain Feeling; To Be or Not To Be (1942); Heaven Can Wait (1943); A Royal Scandal; Cluny Brown; That Lady in Ermine

Lucas, George: THX 1138; American Graffiti; Star Wars; Star Wars Episode I: The Phantom Menace; Star Wars Episode II: Attack of the Clones; Star Wars Episode III: Revenge of the Sith

Luhrmann, Baz: Strictly Ballroom; Romeo & Juliet (1996); Moulin Rouge! (2001); Australia

Lumet, Sidney: 12 Angry Men; Stage Struck; That Kind of Woman; The Fugitive Kind; A View From the Bridge; Long Day's Journey Into Night; Fail Safe; The Pawnbroker; The Hill; The Group; The Deadly Affair; Bye Bye Braverman; The Sea Gull; The Appointment; Last of the Mobile Hot-Shots; King: A Film Record . . . Montgomery to Memphis (uncred); The Anderson Tapes; Child's Play (1972); The Offence; Serpico; Lovin' Molly; Murder on the Orient Express; Dog Day Afternoon; Network; Equus; The Wiz; Just Tell Me What You Want; Prince of the City; Deathtrap; The Verdict (1982); Daniel; Garbo Talks; Power; The Morning After; Running on Empty; Family Business; Q & A; A Stranger Among Us; Guilty as Sin; Night Falls on Manhattan; Critical Care; Gloria

(1999); Find Me Guilty; Before the Devil Knows You're Dead

Lupino, Ida: Not Wanted (uncred); Never Fear; Outrage (1950); Hard, Fast and Beautiful; The Hitch-Hiker (1953); The Bigamist; The Trouble With Angels

Lynch, David: Eraserhead; The Elephant Man; Dune; Blue Velvet; Wild at Heart; Twin Peaks: Fire Walk With Me; Lost Highway; The Straight Story; Mulholland Dr.; Inland Empire

Malle, Louis: The Silent World (codir); Frantic (1957); The Lovers; Zazie Dans le Métro; A Very Private Affair; The Fire Within; Viva Maria!; The Thief of Paris; Spirits of the Dead (seq dir); Murmur of the Heart; Lacombe, Lucien; Pretty Baby; Atlantic City (1980); My Dinner With Andre; Crackers; Alamo Bay; God's Country; Au Revoir, Les Enfants; May Fools; Damage; Vanya on 42nd Street

Mamoulian, Rouben: Applause; City Streets; Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde (1931); Love Me Tonight; The Song of Songs; Queen Christina; Becky Sharp; High, Wide and Handsome; Golden Boy; The Mark of Zorro (1940); Blood and Sand (1941); Summer Holiday (1948); Silk Stockings

Mankiewicz, Joseph L.: Dragonwyck; Somewhere in the Night; The Late George Apley; The Ghost and Mrs. Muir; Escape (1948); A Letter to Three Wives; House of Strangers; No Way Out (1950); All About Eve; People Will Talk (1951); 5 Fingers; Julius Caesar (1953); The Barefoot Contessa; Guys and Dolls; The Quiet American (1958); Suddenly, Last Summer; Cleopatra (1963); The Honey Pot; There Was a Crooked Man . . . ; King: A Filmed Record . . . Montgomery to Memphis (uncred); Sleuth (1972)

Mann, Anthony: Strangers in the Night; The Great Flamarion; Strange Impersonation; Desperate; Railroaded!; T-Men; Raw Deal (1948); Reign of Terror; Border Incident; Side Street; Winchester '73; The Furies; Devil's Doorway; The Tall Target; Bend of the River; The Naked Spur; Thunder Bay; The Glenn Miller Story; The Far Country; Strategic Air Command; The Man From Laramie; Serenade; Men in War; The Tin Star; God's Little Acre; Man of the West; Cimarron (1960); El Cid; The Fall of the Roman Empire; The Heroes of Telemark; A Dandy in Aspic

Mann, Michael: Thief (1981); The Keep; Manhunter; The Last of the Mohicans (1992); Heat (1995); The Insider; Ali; Collateral; Miami Vice

Mazursky, Paul: Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice; Alex in Wonderland; Blume in Love; Harry and Tonto; Next Stop, Greenwich Village; An Unmarried Woman; Willie and Phil; Tempest; Moscow on the Hudson; Down and Out in Beverly Hills; Moon Over

Parador; Enemies, A Love Story; Scenes From a Mall; The Pickle; Faithful

Mendes, Sam: American Beauty; Road to Perdition; Jarhead; Revolutionary Road

Meyers, Nancy: The Parent Trap (1998); What Women Want; Something's Gotta Give; The Holiday (2006)

Minghella, Anthony: Truly, Madly, Deeply; Mr. Wonderful; The English Patient; The Talented Mr. Ripley; Cold Mountain; Breaking and Entering

Minnelli, Vincente: Cabin in the Sky; I Dood It; Meet Me in St. Louis; The Clock; Yolanda and the Thief; Ziegfeld Follies; Undercurrent; The Pirate; Madame Bovary (1949); Father of the Bride (1950); Father's Little Dividend; An American in Paris; The Bad and the Beautiful; The Story of Three Loves (seq dir); The Band Wagon; The Long, Long Trailer; Brigadoon; The Cobweb; Kismet (1955); Lust for Life; Tea and Sympathy; Designing Woman; Gigi (1958); The Reluctant Debutante; Some Came Running; Home From the Hill; Bells Are Ringing; Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse (1962); Two Weeks in Another Town; The Courtship of Eddie's Father; Goodbye Charlie; The Sandpiper; On a Clear Day You Can See Forever; A Matter of Time

Moore, Michael: Roger & Me; Canadian Bacon; The Big One; Bowling for Columbine; Fahrenheit 9/11; Sicko

Nichols, Mike: Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?; The Graduate; Catch-22; Carnal Knowledge; The Day of the Dolphin; The Fortune; Gilda Live; Silkwood; Heartburn; Biloxi Blues; Working Girl; Postcards From the Edge; Regarding Henry; Wolf; The birdcage; Primary Colors; What Planet Are You From?; Closer; Charlie Wilson's War

Nolan, Christopher: Following; Memento; Insomnia; Batman Begins; The Prestige; The Dark Knight

Noyce, Phillip: Backroads (1977); Newsfront; Heatwave; Echoes of Paradise; Dead Calm; Blind Fury; Patriot Games; Sliver; Clear and Present Danger; The Saint; The Bone Collector; Rabbit-Proof Fence; The Quiet American (2002); Catch a Fire

Parker, Alan: Bugsy Malone; Midnight Express; Fame; Shoot the Moon; Pink Floyd—The Wall; Birdy; Angel Heart; Mississippi Burning; Come See The Paradise; The Commitments; The Road to Wellville; Evita; Angela's Ashes; The Life of David Gale

Payne, Alexander: Citizen Ruth; Election; About Schmidt; Sideways; Paris, je t'aime (seq dir)

Peckinpah, Sam: The Deadly Companions; Ride the High Country; Major Dundee; The Wild Bunch; The Ballad of Cable Hogue; Straw Dogs; Junior Bonner; The Getaway (1972); Pat Garrett & Billy the Kid; Bring Me the Head of Alfredo Garcia;

The Killer Elite; Cross of Iron; Convoy; The Osterman Weekend

Penn, Arthur: The Left-Handed Gun; The Miracle Worker; Mickey One; The Game (1966); Bonnie and Clyde; Alice's Restaurant; Little Big Man; Visions of Eight (seq dir); Night Moves; The Missouri Breaks; Four Friends; Target (1985); Dead of Winter; Penn & Teller Get Killed; Inside

Petersen, Wolfgang: For Your Love Only; Das Boot; The NeverEnding Story; Enemy Mine; Shattered (1991); In the Line of Fire; Outbreak; Air Force One; The Perfect Storm; Troy; Poseidon

Poitier, Sidney: see Index of Stars

Polanski, Roman: Knife in the Water; Repulsion; Cul-De-Sac; The Fearless Vampire Killers or: Pardon Me, But Your Teeth Are in My Neck; Rosemary's Baby; Macbeth (1971); What?; Chinatown; The Tenant; Tess; Pirates; Frantic (1988); Bitter Moon; Death and the Maiden; The Ninth Gate; The Pianist; Oliver Twist (2005)

Pollack, Sydney: The Slender Thread; This Property Is Condemned; The Scalphunters; Castle Keep; They Shoot Horses, Don't They?; Jeremiah Johnson; The Way We Were; The Yakuza; Three Days of the Condor; Bobby Deerfield; The Electric Horseman; Absence of Malice; Tootsie; Out of Africa; Havana; The Firm; Sabrina (1995); Random Hearts; The Interpreter; Sketches of Frank Gehry

Powell, Michael: The Edge of the World; The Spy in Black; The Thief of Bagdad (1940; codir); Contraband; 49th Parallel; One of Our Aircraft Is Missing (codir); [all of Powell's films from here through 1957 were cowritten & codirected with Emeric Pressburger] The Life and Death of Colonel Blimp; A Canterbury Tale; I Know Where I'm Going!; Stairway to Heaven; Black Narcissus; The Red Shoes; The Small Back Room; The Wild Heart; The Elusive Pimpernel; Tales of Hoffman; Oh . . . Rosalinda!; Pursuit of the Graf Spee; Night Ambush; Peeping Tom; The Queen's Guards; Age of Consent

Preminger, Otto: Margin for Error; Laura; A Royal Scandal; Fallen Angel; Centennial Summer; Forever Amber; Daisy Kenyon; The Fan (1949); Whirlpool (1949); Where the Sidewalk Ends; The 13th Letter; Angel Face; The Moon Is Blue; River of No Return; Carmen Jones; The Man With the Golden Arm; The Court-Martial of Billy Mitchell; Saint Joan; Bonjour Tristesse; Porgy and Bess; Anatomy of a Murder; Exodus; Advise & Consent; The Cardinal; In Harm's Way; Bunny Lake Is Missing; Hurry Sundown; Skidoo; Tell Me That You Love Me, Junie Moon; Such Good Friends; Rosebud; The Human Factor (1979)

Raimi, Sam: The Evil Dead; Crimewave; Evil Dead II; Darkman; Army of Darkness; The Quick and the Dead (1995); A Simple

Plan; For Love of the Game; The Gift (2000); Spider-Man; Spider-Man 2; Spider-Man 3

Ray, Nicholas: They Live by Night; A Woman's Secret; Knock on Any Door; In a Lonely Place; Born to Be Bad; Flying Leathernecks; On Dangerous Ground; The Lusty Men; Johnny Guitar; Run for Cover; Rebel Without a Cause; Hot Blood; Bigger Than Life; The True Story of Jesse James; Bitter Victory; Wind Across the Everglades; Party Girl (1958); The Savage Innocents; King of Kings (1961); 55 Days at Peking

Ray, Satyajit: Pather Panchali; Aparajito; The World of Apu; Two Daughters; The Big City (1963); Distant Thunder (1973); The Home and the World; An Enemy of the People (1989)

Redford, Robert: see Index of Stars

Reiner, Rob: This Is Spinal Tap; The Sure Thing; Stand by Me; The Princess Bride; When Harry Met Sally; Misery; A Few Good Men; North; The American President; Ghosts of Mississippi; The Story of Us; Alex & Emma; Rumor has it . . . ; The Bucket List

Renoir, Jean: La Chienne; Boudu Saved From Drowning; Madame Bovary (1934); Toni; The Crime of Monsieur Lange; The Lower Depths (1936); Grand Illusion; La Marseillaise; La Bete Humaine; Rules of the Game; Swamp Water; This Land Is Mine; The Southerner; A Day in the Country; Diary of a Chambermaid (1946); The Woman on the Beach; The River (1951); The Golden Coach; French Can-Can; Elena and Her Men; The Elusive Corporal; The Little Theatre of Jean Renoir

Ritt, Martin: Edge of the City; No Down Payment; The Long Hot Summer; The Black Orchid; The Sound and the Fury; Paris Blues; Hemingway's Adventures of a Young Man; Hud; The Outrage; The Spy Who Came In From the Cold; Hombre; The Brotherhood; The Molly Maguires; The Great White Hope; Sounder; Pete 'n' Tillie; Conrack; The Front; Casey's Shadow; Norma Rae; Back Roads; Cross Creek; Murphy's Romance; Nuts; Stanley & Iris

Rodriguez, Robert: El Mariachi; Desperado; Four Rooms (seq dir); From Dusk Till Dawn; The Faculty; Spy Kids; Spy Kids 2: Island of the Lost; Spy Kids 3-D: Game Over; Once Upon a Time in Mexico; Sin City (codir); The Adventures of Shark Boy and Lava Girl 3-D; Grindhouse (codir)

Romero, George A.: Night of the Living Dead (1968); The Crazies; Martin; Dawn of the Dead (1978); Knightriders; Creepshow; Day of the Dead; Monkey Shines: An Experiment in Fear; Two Evil Eyes (seq dir); The Dark Half; Land of the Dead; Diary of the Dead

Rossellini, Roberto: Open City; Paisan; Stromboli; The Greatest Love; Voyage in

Italy; General Della Rovere; The Rise of Louis XIV

Rudolph, Alan: Welcome to L.A.; Remember My Name; Roadie; Endangered Species; Choose Me; Songwriter; Trouble in Mind; Made in Heaven; The Moderns; Love at Large; Mortal Thoughts; Equinox (1993); Mrs. Parker and the Vicious Circle; Afterglow; Breakfast of Champions; Trixie; Investigating Sex; The Secret Lives of Dentists

Russell, Ken: Billion Dollar Brain; Women in Love; The Music Lovers; The Devils; The Boy Friend; Savage Messiah; Mahler; Tommy; Lisztomania; Valentino (1977); Altered States; Crimes of Passion; Gothic; Salome's Last Dance; The Lair of the White Worm; The Rainbow; Whore; Trapped Ashes (seq dir)

Sayles, John: Return of the Secaucus Seven; Lianna; Baby It's You; The Brother from Another Planet; Matewan; Eight Men Out; City of Hope; Passion Fish; The Secret of Roan Inish; Lone Star (1996); Men With Guns; Limbo; Sunshine State; Casa de los Babys; Silver City (2004); Honeydripper

Schlesinger, John: A Kind of Loving; Billy Liar; Darling; Far From the Madding Crowd; Midnight Cowboy; Sunday Bloody Sunday; Visions of Eight (seq dir); The Day of the Locust; Marathon Man; Yanks; Honky Tonk Freeway; The Falcon and the Snowman; The Believers; Madame Sousatzka; Pacific Heights; The Innocent (1993); Cold Comfort Farm; Eye for an Eye; The Next Best Thing

Scorsese, Martin: Who's That Knocking at My Door; Boxcar Bertha; Mean Streets; Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore; Taxi Driver; New York New York; The Last Waltz; Raging Bull; The King of Comedy; After Hours; The Color of Money; The Last Temptation of Christ; New York Stories (seq dir); GoodFellas; Cape Fear (1991); The Age of Innocence (1993); Casino; Kundun; Bringing Out the Dead; Gangs of New York; The Aviator (2004); The Departed; Shine a Light

Scott, Ridley: The Duellists; Alien; Blade Runner; Legend; Someone to Watch Over Me; Black Rain (1989); Thelma & Louise; 1492: Conquest of Paradise; White Squall; G.I. Jane; Gladiator (2000); Hannibal (2001); Black Hawk Down; Matchstick Men; Kingdom of Heaven; A Good Year; American Gangster; Body of Lies

Shyamalan, M. Night: Wide Awake; The Sixth Sense; Unbreakable; Signs; The Village; Lady in the Water; The Happening (2008)

Siegel, Don (sometimes billed as Donald Siegel): The Verdict (1946); Night Unto Night; The Big Steal; The Duel at Silver Creek; Riot in Cell Block 11; Private Hell 36; An Annapolis Story; Invasion of the Body Snatchers (1956); Crime in the Streets; Baby

Face Nelson; The Lineup; The Gun Runners; Hound Dog Man; Edge of Eternity; Flaming Star; Hell Is for Heroes; The Killers (1964); Madigan; Coogan's Bluff; Death of a Gunfighter (codir); Two Mules for Sister Sara; The Beguiled; Dirty Harry; Charley Varrick; The Black Windmill; The Shooter; Telford; Escape from Alcatraz; Rough Cut; Jinxed!

Singer, Bryan: Public Access; The Usual Suspects; Apt Pupil; X-Men; X2; Superman Returns; Valkyrie

Sirk, Douglas: Hitler's Madman; Summer Storm; Thieves' Holiday; Lured; Sleep, My Love; Shockproof; The First Legion; Thunder on the Hill; No Room for the Groom; Has Anybody Seen My Gal?; Meet Me at the Fair; Take Me to Town; All I Desire; Taza, Son of Cochise; Magnificent Obsession (1954); Sign of the Pagan; Captain Lightfoot; All That Heaven Allows; There's Always Tomorrow; Written on the Wind; Battle Hymn; The Tarnished Angels; A Time to Love and a Time to Die; Imitation of Life (1959)

Smithee, Alan (aka Allen Smithee): Fade-In; Death of a Gunfighter; Stitches; Let's Get Harry; Morgan Stewart's Coming Home; Ghost Fever; The Shrimp on the Barbie; Solar Crisis; Hellraiser; Bloodline; An Alan Smithee Film: Burn Hollywood Burn

Soderbergh, Steven: sex, lies, and videotape; Kafka; King of the Hill; Underneath; Gray's Anatomy; Schizopolis; Out of Sight (1998); The Limey; Erin Brockovich; Traffic (2000); Ocean's Eleven (2001); Full Frontal; Solaris (2002); Ocean's Twelve; Eros (seq dir); Bubble (2006); The Good German; Ocean's Thirteen; Che (2008)

Solondz, Todd: Welcome to the Dollhouse; Happiness; Storytelling; Palindromes

Spielberg, Steven: The Sugarland Express; Jaws; Close Encounters of the Third Kind; 1941; Raiders of the Lost Ark; E.T. The Extra-Terrestrial; Twilight Zone—The Movie (seq dir); Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom; The Color Purple; Empire of the Sun; Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade; Always (1989); Hook (1991); Jurassic Park; Schindler's List; The Lost World: Jurassic Park; Amistad; Saving Private Ryan; AI Artificial Intelligence; Minority Report; Catch Me If You Can; The Terminal; War of the Worlds (2005); Munich; Indiana Jones and the Kingdom of the Crystal Skull

Stevens, George: Kentucky Kernels; The Nitwits; Alice Adams; Annie Oakley; Swing Time; Quality Street; A Damsel in Distress; Vivacious Lady; Gunga Din; Vigil in the Night; Penny Serenade; Woman of the Year; The Talk of the Town; The More the Merrier; I Remember Mama; A Place in the Sun; Something to Live For; Shane; Giant; The Diary of Anne Frank; The Greatest Story Ever Told; The Only Game in Town

Stone, Oliver: Seizure; The Hand (1981); Salvador; Platoon; Wall Street; Talk Radio; Born on the Fourth of July; The Doors; JFK;

Heaven & Earth; Natural Born Killers; Nixon; U Turn; Any Given Sunday; Alexander; World Trade Center; W. (2008)

Streisand, Barbra: see Index of Stars

Sturges, Preston: The Great McGinty; Christmas in July; The Lady Eve; Sullivan's Travels; The Palm Beach Story; Hail the Conquering Hero; The Miracle of Morgan's Creek; The Great Moment; The Sin of Harold Diddlebock; Unfaithfully Yours (1948); The Beautiful Blonde From Bashful Bend; The French, They Are a Funny Race

Tarantino, Quentin: Reservoir Dogs; Pulp Fiction; Four Rooms (seq dir); Jackie Brown; Kill Bill Vol. 1; Kill Bill Vol. 2; Sin City (seq dir); Grindhouse (codir)

Tashlin, Frank: Son of Paleface; Marry Me Again; Susan Slept Here; Artists and Models; The Lieutenant Wore Skirts; The Girl Can't Help It; Hollywood or Bust; Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?; Rock-a-Bye Baby; The Geisha Boy; Say One for Me; Cinderella; Bachelor Flat; It's Only Money; The Man from the Diner's Club; Who's Minding the Store?; The Disorderly Orderly; The Alphabet Murders; The Glass Bottom Boat; Caprice; The Private Navy of Sgt. O'Farrell

Tati, Jacques: Jour de Fete; Mr. Hulot's Holiday; Mon Oncle; Play Time; Traffic (1972); Parade

Tavernier, Bertrand: The Clockmaker; The Judge and the Assassin; Spoiled Children; Death Watch; A Week's Vacation; Coup de Torchon; Mississippi Blues; A Sunday in the Country; Round Midnight; Beatrice; Life and Nothing But; Daddy Nostalgia; L. 627; Capitaine Conan; It All Starts Today; Safe Conduct; Holy Lola; In the Electric Mist

Truffaut, François: The Four Hundred Blows; Shoot the Piano Player; Jules and Jim; Love at Twenty (seq dir); The Soft Skin; Fahrenheit 451; The Bride Wore Black; Stolen Kisses; Mississippi Mermaid; The Wild Child; Bed and Board; Two English Girls; Such a Gorgeous Kid Like Me; Day for Night; The Story of Adele H; Small Change; The Man Who Loved Women (1977); The Green Room; Love on the Run (1979); The Last Metro; The Woman Next Door; Confidentially Yours

Van Sant, Gus: Drugstore Cowboy; My Own Private Idaho; Even Cowgirls Get the Blues; To Die For; Good Will Hunting; Psycho (1998); Finding Forrester; Gerry; Elephant; Last Days (2005); Paris, je t'aime (seq dir); Paranoid Park; Milk

Vidor, King: The Big Parade; The Crowd; Show People; Hallelujah; Billy the Kid (1930); Street Scene; The Champ; Bird of Paradise (1932); Cynara; The Stranger's Return; Our Daily Bread; The Wedding Night; The Texas Rangers (1936); Stella Dallas; The Citadel; Northwest Passage—Book I—Rogers' Rangers; Comrade X;

H. M. Pulham, Esq.; An American Romance; Duel in the Sun; On Our Merry Way; The Fountainhead; Beyond the Forest; Ruby Gentry; Man Without a Star; War and Peace (1956); Solomon and Sheba

Visconti, Luchino: Ossessione; La Terra Trema; Bellissima; Senso; White Nights (1957); Of Life and Love (seq dir); Rocco and His Brothers; Boccaccio '70 (seq dir); The Leopard; Sandra; The Stranger (1967); The Damned (1969); Death in Venice; Ludwig; Conversation Piece; The Innocent (1976)

von Sternberg, Josef: The Last Command (1928); The Docks of New York; The Blue Angel (1930); Morocco; Dishonored; An American Tragedy; Shanghai Express; Blonde Venus; The Scarlet Empress; The Devil Is a Woman; Crime and Punishment (1935); The Shanghai Gesture; Macao; Jet Pilot

von Stroheim, Erich: Foolish Wives; Greed; The Wedding March

von Trier, Lars: The Element of Crime; Zentropa; The Kingdom; Breaking the Waves; The Idiots; Dancer in the Dark; Dogville; The Five Obstructions; Manderlay; The Boss of It All

Waters, John: Polyester; Hairspray (1988); Cry-Baby; Serial Mom; Pecker; Cecil B. Demented; A Dirty Shame

Weir, Peter: The Cars That Ate Paris; Picnic at Hanging Rock; The Last Wave; The Plumber; Gallipoli; The Year of Living Dangerously; Witness; The Mosquito Coast; Dead Poets Society; Green Card; Fearless; The Truman Show; Master and Commander: The Far Side of the World

Welles, Orson: see Index of Stars

Wellman, William A.: Wings; The Public Enemy; Night Nurse; The Hatchet Man; The Purchase Price; Midnight Mary; Heroes for Sale; The Call of the Wild; Small Town Girl (1936); A Star Is Born (1937); Nothing Sacred; Beau Geste (1939); The Light That Failed; Roxie Hart; The Great Man's Lady; Thunder Birds (1942); The Ox-Bow Incident; Lady of Burlesque; Buffalo Bill; The Story of G.I. Joe; Magic Town; The Iron Curtain; Yellow Sky; Battleground; The Happy Years; The Next Voice You Hear; Across the Wide Missouri; It's a Big Country (codir); Westward the Women; Island in the Sky; The High and the Mighty; Track of the Cat; Blood Alley; Goodbye, My Lady; Darby's Rangers; Lafayette Escadrille

Whale, James: Waterloo Bridge (1931); Frankenstein; The Old Dark House; The Invisible Man; Bride of Frankenstein; Show Boat (1936); The Man in the Iron Mask (1939)

Wilder, Billy: The Major and the Minor; Five Graves to Cairo; Double Indemnity; The Lost Weekend; The Emperor Waltz; A Foreign Affair; Sunset Blvd.; The Big Carnival; Stalag 17; Sabrina (1954); The Seven Year Itch; The Spirit of St. Louis; Love in the Afternoon; Witness for the Prosecution; Some Like It Hot (1959); The Apartment; One, Two, Three; Irma la Douce; Kiss Me, Stupid; The Fortune Cookie; The Private Life of Sherlock Holmes; Avanti!; The Front Page (1974); Fedora; Buddy Buddy

Wise, Robert: The Curse of the Cat People (codir); Mademoiselle Fifi; The Body Snatcher; A Game of Death; Born to Kill (1947); Blood on the Moon; The Set-Up; Two Flags West; Three Secrets; House on Telegraph Hill; The Day the Earth Stood Still (1951); The Captive City; Something for the Birds; The Desert Rats; Destination Gobi; So Big; Executive Suite; Tribute to a Bad Man; Somebody Up There Likes Me; This Could Be the Night; Until They Sail; Run Silent, Run Deep; I Want to Live!; Odds Against Tomorrow; West Side Story (codir); Two for the Seesaw; The Haunting (1963); The Sound of Music; The Sand Pebbles; Star!; The Andromeda Strain; Two People; The Hindenburg; Audrey Rose; Star Trek—The Motion Picture; Rooftops

Woo, John: A Better Tomorrow; The Killer (1989); Bullet in the Head; Hard-Boiled; Hard Target; Broken Arrow (1996); Face/Off; Mission: Impossible II; Windtalkers; Paycheck

Wood, Edward D., Jr.: Glen or Glenda; Jail Bait; Bride of the Monster; Plan 9 from Outer Space; Revenge of the Dead; The Sinister Urge

Wyler, William: Counsellor at Law; The Good Fairy; These Three; Dodsworth;

Come and Get It (codir); Dead End; Jezebel; Wuthering Heights (1939); The Westerner; The Letter; The Little Foxes; Mrs. Miniver; The Best Years of Our Lives; The Heiress; Detective Story; Carrie (1952); Roman Holiday; The Desperate Hours (1955); Friendly Persuasion; The Big Country; Ben-Hur (1959); The Children's Hour; The Collector; How to Steal a Million; Funny Girl; The Liberation of L.B. Jones

Zemeckis, Robert: I Wanna Hold Your Hand; Used Cars; Romancing the Stone; Back to the Future; Who Framed Roger Rabbit; Back to the Future Part II; Back to the Future Part III; Death Becomes Her; Forrest Gump; Contact; What Lies Beneath; Cast Away; The Polar Express; Beowulf

Zhang, Yimou: Red Sorghum; Ju Dou; Raise the Red Lantern; The Story of Qiu Ju; To Live; Shanghai Triad; The Road Home; Not One Less; Happy Times; Hero (2002); House of Flying Daggers; Riding Alone for Thousands of Miles; The Curse of the Golden Flower

Zinnemann, Fred: Kid Glove Killer; Eyes in the Night; The Seventh Cross; My Brother Talks to Horses; The Search; Act of Violence; The Men; Teresa; High Noon; The Member of the Wedding; From Here to Eternity; Oklahoma!; A Hatful of Rain; The Nun's Story; The Sundowners (1960); Behold a Pale Horse; A Man for All Seasons; The Day of the Jackal; Julia (1977); Five Days One Summer