intrepid SOUTH AFRICA

A VERY WARM WELCOME TO INTREPID SOUTH AFRICA 2017,

presented by Wines of South Africa. This trade tasting aims to showcase South Africa's bold and dynamic winemaking nature, which has grown in stature as the country has gained confidence, knowledge and maturity. Over 100 producers are here today, demonstrating how important the UK, as the leading export market for South African wines, is to the industry.

Trends this year are positive as South African total volume of exports to the UK are up 1 percent, with packaged exports up 16 percent, South Africa remains the fifth largest wine producing country sold in the UK market. In the on-trade South Africa is seeing positive growth in value and in two separate surveys of the independent sector South Africa was cited as a top region for sales growth in 2017.

In addition to the many fantastic producers here today, we invite you to experience the Tasting Trail with six stations around the room, presenting different themes, designed to tell the many stories around South African wines. The final station is the MCC bar, where you can taste a range of South African sparklers made in the traditional way. If you would like to hear what some of our winemakers have to say about each theme you can download videos from the WOSA website at <http://www.wosa.co.za/Intrepid/TastingTrail>. We have earphones to hand so you can listen to the presentations on your devices.

The Wines of South Africa UK team will be on hand throughout the day, if you have any questions or need assistance. We are also joined by Wines of South Africa's communications manager, Maryna Calow. Maryna joined the team in late 2016, so please introduce yourself to her.

We hope you have a very enjoyable day tasting.

Jo Wehring, UK market manager, Wines of South Africa

Claudia Pritchard, PR manager, Wines of South Africa

Buitenverwachting means 'Beyond Expectation'. The estate was formed part of the original Simon van der Stel's Constantia farm and is situated on the east-facing slopes of the Constantiaberg, looking towards the blue waters of the False Bay, barely 12km away. An ideal location, the cool climate, non-irrigated vineyards and rich ochre and red soils make Buitenverwachting a part of probably the best viticultural area in South Africa.

ADDRESS: R43, Hermanus, Hermanus, 7200, South Africa

Benguela Cove is a leading producer and wine destination, at the start of South Africa's Hermanus Wine Route. Benguela Cove's vineyards benefit from the unique conditions of the estate's location at the ocean's edge. The south-easterly sea breeze is chilled by the Benguela Current flowing up from Antarctica, to cool the grapes at night after the warm summer days, irrigated by above-average rainfall, for perfect viticulture. Our terroir is clay and calcium rich and there are very few farms like this in South Africa.

What began as a festive three barrel foot stomp event attended by a handful of friends on a south peninsula beach in 1996 saw the founding in 1997 of the first true micro-winery in the Western Cape. Catherine Marshall Wines is the first eponymous range in South Africa to be released by a woman winemaker. After scouring vineyards throughout the Western Cape, the decision was made in 2007 to source all grapes from cool climate Elgin.

The winery can process 64 tons of grapes utilising a sophisticated sorting line. Grapes are sorted and destemmed before a satellite tank transfers them to stainless steel fermentation tanks via a gravity pulley system. At Darling Cellars our wines are all about location, location, location, and our old, un-irrigated bush vines. In one word: terroir. We don't make our wines; we grow them. Darling is on the West Coast, 80 km's north of Cape Town. With unique growing conditions, the dry land farmed vineyards ensure deep-rooted vines produce wines with optimal concentration of colour, flavour and tannin structure. 96% of our vineyards are un-irrigated bush vines, yields are very low and the quality proportionately high.

While we could call ourselves 'mountain vineyards' we prefer to be known as 'garden vineyards'. In spring specially chosen wildflowers flourish between our vines. We have no doubt that a biodiverse and ecologically sensitive environment produces infinitely better grapes and the beauty of our gardens is captured in every bottle of our wine. We pipe Baroque music through our vineyards 24x7 and believe that the power of music positively influences the ripening process.

A long, slow ripening season ensures world-class clarets and red wines big in structure with soft tannins and elegance. Our white wines capture the freshness of the harvest, while irresistible rosé and a sparkling Brut completes an elegantly balanced portfolio. Springfield Estate is a family owned wine estate situated in the Western Cape of Southern Africa. The Bruwers are descended from the French Huguenots and have been farming this land for five generations. Our wine at Springfield Estate is made from single vineyards, mostly using natural yeast. This allows the character and the individuality of the grape to truly show itself. Due to our natural yeast fermentation, we strive to work as naturally as possible, both in the vineyard and the cellar.

Vondeling, meaning 'foundling', lies on the slopes of the unspoilt and undiscovered Paardeberg mountain. It was granted to Swedish immigrant Oloff Bergh in 1704, and a three-centuries-old winemaking tradition began. Today, an environmentally sensitive approach to farming and minimal intervention during the winemaking process ensure wine with a distinct fingerprint of origin. Vondeling's flagship wines, Vondeling Babiana and Vondeling Erica, are named after rare species of fynbos that are endemic to the Paardeberg mountain.

TIM ATKIN MW'S 95+ WINES

Welcome to my selection of South Africa's best wines, based on a month spent in the country this year, visiting wineries and tasting in situ. I have been going to the Cape on a regular basis since 1990 and have today published my fifth in-depth report on the country's wines.

Overall, I sampled nearly 1,700 wines this year, focusing on the contrasting 2015 and 2016 vintages. In all, I gave 95 points or more to 149 wines (see the list at the back of the catalogue) and am delighted that many of those wines are available for you taste today. To put this in context, these are my equivalent of Gold Medals.

Looking through the list, what strikes me most is its sheer diversity: Chardonnays, Chenins, Sauvignons, white blends (both Bordeaux style and Mediterranean), orange wines, bubbies, Pinots, Syrah, Cinsauts, Rhône and Bordeaux blends, Merlots, Cabernet Francs, Cabernet Sauvignons, Pinotages and stickies. The Cape can make any style of wine well these days.

The other thing that strikes me is how far the South African wine scene has come since the first fully democratic elections in 1994. Many of the wines you will taste today did not exist then. If anything, the pace of change has quickened in the last five years. I am continually surprised by the increasing quality of Cape wines and the number of new entrants to the market, many of them young, dynamic and full of ideas.

I truly believe that this is the most dynamic wine-producing country on the planet right now. More to the point, South Africa is making world-class wines that we can all afford. That may not be the case for too much longer, as these wines receive the attention (and prices) that are their due.
